UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME, NOTRE DAME, INDIANA, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1923

PRICE 4 CENTS

MISSION UNDER FR. J. DONAHUE BEGINS TODAY

Off-Campus Mission at St. Joseph's Church Directed by Rev. George Finnegan.

The annual student mission will begin this evening at 7:30 in the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, with a sermon and benediction and will continue until the solemn closing next Saturday morning. Rev. James W. Donahue, C. S. C., who will conduct the mission, will deliver a sermon on "The Modern Captain of Christ."

The mission for off-campus students will also begin tonight at St. Joseph's Church in South Bend at 8:00, under the direction of Rev. George Finnegan, C. S. C. Each morning of the week at 6:30 there will be mass and instruction, and each evening at 8:00 there will be a sermon and benediction.

A special car will run from St. Joseph's Church to the University at 7:15 a. m., and two special cars will leave the church at 7:25 a. m. The campus cafeteria will put on extra men to facilitate service and to take care of the extra number of students.

Bulletins announcing the schedule for the campus mission have been placed in the halls. Bulletins for the off-campus mission have been posted. The bulletin says: "The fruit of the mission depends upon the disposition of the individual. Daily Communion is essential to the fullest co-operation with grace; the greater the sacrifice this entails, the greater will be your reward."

Holy Communion will be distributed daily at St. Joseph's Church, and the usual facilities for late reception will be offered on the campus. Confessions will be heard each evening after benediction and each morning during mass.

Father Donahue, the conductor of the mission, gave a series of sermons last year during Lent. He is well known as a missionary throughout the country, and is one of the best speakers of the missionary fathers.

MEET TO PROVE RIGHT TO EXIST

Clubs Must Prove Why They Should Exist, If They Are to Exist, Says S. A. C. Committeeman.

In an effort to raise the standard of student organizations at the University, a meeting of all presidents of student clubs will be held at 12:30 tomorrow in the North room of the Library. They will meet there with the Student Activities Committee and will show why they should exist.

In case any club president cannot be present, Mark Nolan, of the S. A. C., says, another representative must be present.

Clubs must have a high standard and definite purpose, said Nolan, or they will not be allowed to exist. It is possible that the S. A. C. will lay down rules for the organizations, although this has not yet been decided.

"No pictures will be taken of clubs which are not recognized by the S. A. C.," Jack Scallan, editor of The Dome, said yesterday.

TODAY'S INTERHALL GAMES.

Badin vs. Corby.
Walsh vs. Brownson.
Sorin vs. Freshman.

Regis Lavelle Gets Railroad's Award

Regis I. LaLavelle, 473 Columbia street, Laetonia, Ohio, has been awarded a scholarship at the University by the Pennsylvania railroad.

Two scholarships, amounting to yearly sums of $600 each, are awarded sons of the Pennsylvania railroad employes every year. The scholarships are made possible by a memorial fund to Frank Thompson, former president of the company. Seventeen students entered the competitive examinations given last June.

DOMES CAMERAS BEGIN TO CLICK

Seniors Begin to Pose Wednesday; Freshman Class, Sophomores and Juniors to be Taken.

All Dome pictures will be taken within these two weeks, Jack Scallan, editor-in-chief, announced yesterday. The Russell Studio, of Chicago, will send their man here Monday.

Senior class pictures will be taken on the campus this year. Seniors are asked to visit the Knights of Columbus chambers in Walsh hall, between 8 and 11:30 a. m., and 1:30 to 5 p. m., beginning Wednesday for one week. No pictures will be taken after the following Wednesday, Edward Dineen, in charge of that section of the book, says.

Juniors will be in Music hall Monday evening and for a week afterward for silhouette pictures, by Charles Donahue and Al Hockwalt, Dome photographers.

The Freshman class will be on Cartier field at 12:30 Wednesday, for their pictures. The Sophomore class will be at the same place at 12:30 Thursday, and the Junior class at 12:30 Friday.

Hall pictures will be taken beginning the following Monday. They will be taken in front of the halls.

Organizations and clubs will appear at the S. A. C. meeting Monday, and at the time they present their reasons for existing, will make dates for pictures if permitted to continue as clubs.

DEBATING WILL BEGIN IN MONTH

Four Veterans Add Strength to New Team; Wabash and DePauw Scheduled.

Debating preliminaries at Notre Dame will begin this month, according to a statement made yesterday by Reverend William A. Bolger, C. S. C., director of debating.

The subject this year is: Resolved, that the federal government should enact legislation providing for the compulsory arbitration of disputes between employers and employees in the coal and railroad industries. (Constitutionality waived.) The subject was debated at Notre Dame a number of years ago, but recent developments have revolutionized the question.

The debating schedule, which has not been entirely completed, includes Wabash and DePauw. Negotiations are being carried on with other schools and the complete schedule will be announced shortly.

Notre Dame has only a few veteran debaters. Mark Nolan, John Stanton, John Higgins, and Paul Breen, all of whom were members of the debating teams last year, are eligible. The places on these teams are open to students of all four classes.

PICK GLEEMEN FOR THIS YEAR

Meeting Monday Noon at 12:30 Will Be the First Regular One of Club; Other Men to Meet.

After two weeks of persistent effort, the personnel of the Glee club for 1923-1924 has been announced by Joseph Cassasanta, assistant director.

The task of choosing the members of the club this year was exceptionally difficult because of the general excellence of the voices tried out. All who worked faithfully during the tryouts, and those whose names are not among those listed, are asked to hold themselves in readiness to fill any vacancies that may occur.

The personnel of the club follows:

First tenors—John D. Kevill, Vernon Rickard, Thomas O'Connor, Henry Padden, Lawrence Margowski, Harlan Herman, John Curtis, Martin Smith.

Second tenors—John F. Stoeckley, Victor Lemmer, Robert Rink, Dobert Dixon, Francis Walther, S. E. Bower, Carl Paulissen, John Haley, Edward Banks, Paul DePaolis, John B. Lenihan.

First basses—George Koch, Francis Howland, Charles Baumgartner, Ray Downs, George Ward, George Malley, A. E. Foss, J. Massenich.

Second basses—Frank Aley, Robert Welsh, Robert Stone, Thomas H. Hodgson, Raymond Brady, Norbert Engels, A. L. Myers, Claude Pitzenberger.

The first regular meeting of the Glee club will be held Monday noon at 12:30. All members must attend this meeting. The following men will meet with the above mentioned: Donald Gallagher, Edmond O'Toole, John Petrich, W. E. Anderson, J. J. Hodson, Walter Moran, Carl Schaffer, Thomas O'Hearn, Herman Beitner, Harry Calhane, W. A. A'Hearn, M. E. Niedham, Jr., Jack Adams, Clifford Noonan, Robert Flynn.

Hundreds attended the Junior dance at the Tribune auditorium last night, and danced from 9 to 12.

The music was by Steimrich's orchestra, of Elkhart, with special musical features by William Furey, former president of Glee club, and James Artley, trombone soloist of Olsen's Milwaukee orchestra.

The dance was planned to raise funds for the Prom. Financial reports were not available last night.

Monsignore Visits St. Mary's College

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. McCarthy, pastor of St. Andrew's church, Pasadena, Calif., and Miss Nellie Cantwell, sister of the Rt. Rev. John M. Cantwell, bishop of the Diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles, were guests of St. Mary's College.

Miss Cantwell is returning to Tipperary, Ireland, after a visit of several months to her brother. Miss Cantwell will call on Mrs. Boland, mother of Hardy Boland, formerly secretary to Eamon De Valera. She is accompanied by Monsignor McCarthy, who while traveling with her, will visit friends who live in Ireland. In addition to paying a visit also to relatives of Brother Albeus, who reside there, he intends to go to Rome. He plans to be gone for several months. They left New York city for Ireland.

RULES ON CUTS COMMENTED ON

Father O'Donnell Explains Absentee Regulations a Bit More; See Profs, He Says.

Attention to sections 9 and 10 of the new regulation of class absences was called yesterday by Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, Prefect of Discipline.

Section 9 states that only those cuts which a student accumulates while absent in the common interest of the University shall be cancelled by the department of discipline.

According to Father O'Donnell, students who will be absent because of athletic, musical, debating or other trips in the interest of the University need not make application for absentee slips. The method of procedure will be as follows: The faculty director of the department from which the students are to be absent will notify the prefect of discipline and he will in turn inform the professors by mail.

Section 10 states that every absence on the last day before a recess shall be penalized by a double cut. The word recess shall apply to Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter holidays.

Father O'Donnell advises all students to have the particulars of the different sections explained by their instructors so that there may be no misunderstanding.

SELECT IRISH GOLF TEAM

To Play Chain-O-Lakes Today; Seven Men Make Team in Qualifying Round.

Seven men were picked to represent Notre Dame on the golf links after the close of the qualifying rounds Saturday. The low score men were:

Jack Adams	39	39	78
Joe Foglia	41	37	78
Dan Harris	39	40	79
Ray Bartzon	38	41	79
George Ward	39	41	80
Fred Link	40	41	81
James Corbett	42	40	82

Steve Carboy and James Durcan, with 84's each, were close upon the heels of the leaders. Keen competition marked all play of the games.

The Irish golf team will go into action for the first time today against the Chain-O-Lakes. Next Saturday they will play the Christiana club of Elkhart. Play for today's game will be for 36 holes and will start at 9:00 a. m.

These fall contests will give the team the necessary experience for the spring season, when the team will be matched with golfers from other colleges.

IRISH DEFEAT LOMBARD HERE SCORE: 14 TO 0

Rockmen Use Straight Football; Visitors Open Pass Attack.

By Thomas Coman.

The Fighting Irish met the test and defeated Lombard College, 14-0, on Cartier field yesterday afternoon. The game was a battle of wits, speed; one of hard fighting. Schissler's squad proved to be every thing the dopsters had said about them and gave one of the best demonstrations of heady football seen on the local gridiron in many seasons.

Little Flashy Work.

The whole battle was fought out by steady line plunging and fast driving off the ends, that netted gains of from 5 to 20 yards for both elevens. Very little of the spectacular work that featured the game last week, was to be seen yesterday. In the last quarter, Lombard threw a scare into the Irish camp by completing several passes. Of the ten passes, only five failed to be completed. Enright and Layden proved capable of defending their goal against Lombard's last minute attempt to score on the Irish.

Captain Harvey Brown, playing a hard, fast game in the guard position, made himself feared by the opposition by his terrific tackles, one of which put Swanson out of the game. Brown's tackling proved costly to Kalamazoo last week.

Strong at Center.

Walsh and Kizer were a stone wall at center, but they faced a stone wall equally as hard, as was shown when Layden was stopped at the line three times in order when Notre Dame was within scoring distance. Tim Murphy and Noppenberger played a steady game on the line, Noppenberger making several pretty tackles and recovering a fumble. Hunsinger and Collins gave good account of their positions on the wings and Vergara smeared the Lombard backs and spoiled several runs that started out with perfect interference.

Hauser lost ground in the opening quarter, when he missed Regan's pass, but later came through with some lengthy gains. Hauser's first pass was intercepted and netted Lombard 45 yards. The first period saw Lombard putting all the fight possible into the game, in an attempt to score early. Cerney crashed the center hard and threw Murphy of Lombard for a loss, near the close of the period.

First String In.

The first string replaced the second and let loose all the energy and fight that had been accumulating on the benches during the quarter. In this period, Brown displayed his severe tackling qualities and Stange tried a 50-yard drop kick that fell short by 10 yards. The Rockmen suddenly broke away from the clinging Lombard crew and Miller went through tackle for 31 yards. Crowley carrying the ball on the next play, left his interference in a burst of speed that netted him 15 yards. The stands were going wild and yelling for a touchdown. Crowley made a brilliant run through tackle and was hit by five

FACIT, ERGO EST

To be or not to be.

That is the question to be decided in the cases of the clubs when they come before the tribunal of the Students Activities Committee tomorrow. They must prove that they have a right to exist or they will be considered as mythical organizations.

The S. A. C. should be patted on the back for this move, and patted again if they tap many clubs on the head tomorrow. All of us have been clamoring for a clubbing of the clubs. No one, except a fond parent who was delighted to hear that Frankie was elected vice-president of the Round Table or Keeper of Wampum for the Oklahoma Braves, thought the clubs meant anything.

Once upon a time they did. That was when activities at Notre Dame were few.

Now Frankie cannot afford to attend regular meetings of the Oklahoma Braves, the Press Club, the Round Table, le Cercle Francais, the Shakespeare club, the Travelers, and the Tuesday-Thursday club, all of which, because of his course, he has a right to belong to.

Some of the organizations existed in order that the club section of The Dome might be voluminous, that Johnny might show Helen a picture of himself as treasurer of the Carolinians. The fee for Dome pictures last year caused the temporary death of a few clubs—but only a few.

Some of the clubs have a purpose. They may form a valuable adjunct to class work. Some of the course clubs have died in the last few years—and they are well dead.

But the city and state clubs, excepting possibly the Rochester, Chicago, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, and a few other clubs, are foolishly aimless.

One club began the year with plans for hometown publicity for their members—hoping to attract more men to Notre Dame, on the principle that the publicity would evoke comments: "If Oscar Smith is going so well out there, I can become somebody there, too"—and with plans for organizing the men from their state at Homecoming. Good plans. Much like these made by other clubs in other years. They may be carried out.

The S. A. C. has a pretty problem for tomorrow. They should be merciless with their slashing bludgeon. If they make clubs fight to live, only the fittest will survive.

"BLOWING AND BOOSTING"

This year's band has begun well. A drum major has been selected and the members of the organization have already been measured for natty uniforms which will arrive in time for the student trip to Pittsburgh. This year the band men will receive credit for their work and it is difficult to see how the organization can fall short of a wonderful success. It is a steady breeze, however, that makes a high wave high and continued wind will be necessary to keep the band's enthusiasm at top pitch.

There are three kinds of wind at Notre Dame. The first is blown through instruments and may be called "educated wind." Much of this is going to waste on the campus; too many instruments are lying unused in their cases and too many fellows, who should be helping Professor Parreant, are depriving Notre Dame of a talent that could not be used better than in the service of the school. The man who plays a band instrument and does not belong to the band, should talk over the situation with a friend; another viewpoint might be enlightening.

The second type of wind, beyond its oxygen-bearing qualities, can only knock. This wind belongs to the type of man which Notre Dame could do without. If this man cannot do or praise, he does better to retain his wind which he might use.

The third type of wind belongs to he who boosts. Such wind, and the wind of those who let it pass through instruments, is worthwhile. Such wind makes good bands.

But this editorial is not intended to be a mere treatise on winds. It is intended as an appeal for the band. It is intended to urge every man who plays an instrument to lend his talents to the efforts of those who have already made the band certain of success.

Let us all blow or boost and assure the best season the band has ever had.

The villain (for Hooda guessed it was he, or perhaps rather, he guessed that he was it)—the villain—but need we describe the villain? Is the wretch worth it? We will see.

A man of fairly odd years, he stood six feet, two and a half inches from the girl in his stocking feet. Treachery, perfidy, infidelity, and profanity lurked all over his face. Or rather, treachery, profanity, and the other two (I forget them) lurked on a part of his face, while bigamy, poverty, and alchemy squatted on what was left. The rest of him to the waist line was a rhapsody of gluttony, and from there on down to the carpet he was a parody. In fact, Hooda decided that he looked downright unneighborly. A villain of the blackest die, and all the more so because all the above marks were completely disguised under the cloak of a frank, earnest, and gentlemanly young college chap.

But you couldn't fool Hooda. He had read too much to be misled by exterior appearances. He had seen too much on Michigan street to trust his eyes to any great extent. The play went on—(To be continued.)

SHE'S A CARD.

Last night I held a little hand,
While in her parlor chair,
She did not seem to be content,
And somehow seemed to care.
I looked right straight into her eyes
To see if we'd agree.
I saw our minds were not the same,
For plainly could I see
That she was pointing to her heart,
But I had thrown away
The only heart I ever had,
And this I dared not say;
For in a poker game you can't Tell all the cards you know.
I had three aces and a king,
But could not tell her so.

WHY NOT "THE HALFBACK OF N. D."?

Sir: The W. G. N.'s letting us know of the Army-Notre Dame football excitement reminds me to tell you that, as I stood looking at display-frames of the movie made from "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," a New Yorker behind me said to his companion: "This picture attobe great! Notre Dayme is one of them Western colleges."

Just how much of a fool is Ed. Wynn? After witnessing his musical concoction at the Oliver Friday evening, one is inclined to believe that the gentleman is anything but foolish. In the first place, the book, lyrics, and music are his own work, and in the production, he works tirelessly. It is hard to say wherein the secret of his success lies; he does not dance, he does not sing, as do other comedians. His efforts consist for the most part in giving the audience an idea of what is not coming next, and in refusing to hire artists who come to him highly recommended by theatrical magnates.

The Wynn opus is good entertainment and it has none of faults nor none of the dragging moments which mar most musical offerings. Wynn seems to proceed on the principle that his public should be given its money's worth, and if it does not get it, he is resolved that it shall be through no fault of his.

"The Perfect Fool" is of a uniformly high standard. The principals, Flo Newton, True Rice, Nydia D'Arnell, Arthur Burekly, and John Dale sang or danced as the occasion demanded as if they had imbibed some of the spirit of the star. The chorus, the weak spot in too many musical comedies and revues, is far above the average. The singing was good, and the dancing showed exceptional training.

A BIG
you through

This is a great pen for college men and women! It is made by the makers of Eversharp pencil. It has a huge ink capacity! And the Wahl filling device fills it plumb full every time. It's a big pen. But it is so nicely balanced and proportioned that it fits into the fist most comfortably.

The Wahl Signature Pen writes the instant the point touches paper. The ink begins to flow evenly—always enough, never too much. The patented comb feed makes shaking unnecessary.

The everlasting nib is a wonder. Experts say it is the ultimate in nib-making. It suits itself to any hand—to any style. It is extra heavy. The 14-karat gold is tipped with the hardest and finest grade of iridium that money can buy.

The patented construction of the cap makes it impossible for the pen to leak in the pocket. The cap cannot split, for it is strengthened by the plain gold band. There are two sizes of the Wahl Signature Pen—one at $5 for women, and one at $7 for men! Other Wahl Pens, $2.50 up!

would-be tacklers before he was downed after a 14 yard gain. The Irish had the ball under the Lombard goal posts and Miller came through with the first score when he dove through the line for 12 yards.

The opening of the third quarter, saw some brilliant line plunging on the part of both teams. Lombard defied the hard drives of Layden, who tried to cross the line on center plunges. Notre Dame was off-side on the next play when Layden went over the line and the ball was recalled. Lombard took the ball on downs. On the next march to the Lombard goal, Layden attempted a kick and was hurt on the play, but he returned to the game.

For the first time in the game Lombard approached the Notre Dame goal line, when it was Lombard's ball on the Irish 35-yard line.

Miller and Crowley put a final kick into the game by reeling off two runs that netted 53 yards. Miller made it again for 12 yards and Stuhldreher went over on a beautiful line charge, that made the final score 14-0.
