

K. OF C. COUNCIL PLANS ATTRACTIVE SPRING PROGRAM

DANCES AND INITIATION TO MARK ACTIVITIES IN COMING MONTH

At an executive committee meeting of the officers of Notre Dame council, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night following the regular business session the following calendar of events for spring was arranged:

- May 3—Informal dance.
- May 9—First degree initiation.
- May 11—Second and third degrees initiation and banquet.
- May 16—Free informal dance (tentative).

The informal dance of May 3, the night following the Junior Prom, will be held at the Oliver hotel. An invitation will be extended to all Knights of Columbus members in northern Indiana. Music for the affair will be by Harry Denny's orchestra.

Thirty-five Applicants

Conferring of the first degree will take place at Notre Dame and will be followed by the second and third degrees at Mishawaka. Thirty-five applications for membership have already been received, and it is hoped to have twice this number before the time of initiation. Following the initiation a banquet will be held with several prominent speakers on the program. The free dance to be held at the Oliver hotel will be for all Knights of Columbus at Notre Dame. This dance is tentative, however, depending upon whether the faculty dance committee approves it.

Plans are also underway for the publication of the Santa Maria, official organ of Notre Dame Council, early in May. The work is in charge of Deputy Grand Knight Ray Cunningham. These events, together with the launching of the Notre Dame Union campaign will make the present year the most noteworthy in the annals of the council.

Outlines Boy Movement

Father Thomas Irving, vice-president of the university, was the principal speaker at the meeting Tuesday night. Speaking in the absence of Brother Barnabas who was unable to be present, Father Irving briefly outlined the work of the Knights of Columbus Boy Movement.

He told of the conditions existing in every large city which have called into being much needed organizations for the guidance of boys between the ages of eight and sixteen years. He urged the members to acquaint themselves with the graduate course to be instituted at Notre Dame for the training of boy leaders, emphasizing the need of Catholic men for the work. It is hoped to have Father Barnabas here for the next meeting to further discuss the movement.

Short talks on the Notre Dame Union project were given by William Cass, Grand Knight of South Bend council, Father Paul Foik, and George Bischoff, chairman of the building fund committee. Plans for the campaign will be announced in the near future. Songs by Tommy O'Connor and refreshments of sandwiches and coffee brought the meeting to a close.

A CORRECTION

In the preamble of the constitution of the Students' Activities Council, appearing as a supplement in this issue, the sentence reading "No student council can justify its existence by a single act," should read "No student council can justify its existence by a single act."

TOMORROW

Lenten services in Sacred Heart church, 7:30.

Juniors Close Sale on Prom Tickets

Plans for the Junior Prom are rapidly nearing completion. The ticket sale formally closed yesterday, but as there are a few tickets remaining they have been placed with John Dwyer of Corby hall for disposal. The only tickets being held are those on which there is a deposit made.

Men who intend to have St. Mary's girls as their guests are requested to turn in the girls' names to a member of the ticket committee so that invitations may be mailed out.

PROSE, POETRY AND DRAMATICS ON CARD

T. A. DALY, DR. WALSH, MR. REYNOLDS, AND "SMILING THROUGH" BOOKED

Announcement was made yesterday of four important bookings for Washington hall during April by Rev. William A. Carey, C. S. C., director of the concert and lecture course. The first will be Tom Daly, while Dr. James J. Walsh, Mr. James T. Reynolds, and "Smiling Through," a play, follow.

Daly Here Wednesday

Mr. Daly is a writer of great ability and is also a columnist with the Philadelphia Ledger. He will lecture Wednesday, April 2, the title being "Alas Poor Yarick." His poems in the Italian dialect have given him a following throughout the country for his brilliant wit.

Dr. Walsh, who will talk on "Curious Cures," on Monday, April 28, is one of the leading Catholic writers of the country. He is also a famous physician and is one of the lecturers at the Catholic Summer School at Cliffhaven, N. Y. He is the author of "The Thirteenth; Greatest of Centuries," and other books.

Mr. Reynolds is a member of the faculty and was for years in Chautauqua work. He will give a dramatic reading sometime in April, the title of which will be announced later.

Three-Act Play Due

The play, "Smilin' Through," which will be given Saturday, April 26, is the one from which the motion picture of the same name was adapted. It will be presented by a cast of eight people and will be in three acts.

There is a possibility that the St. Patrick's choir of Chicago will present a romantic comic opera under the direction of Dr. J. Lewis Browne, director of the Glee club. This is not yet assured but efforts are now being made to arrange for the number.

S. A. C. Carnival Meeting Today

A general meeting of all the 28 campus clubs that have signified their intention of entering the S. A. C. carnival, will be held in the south room of the library today at 12:30.

The S. A. C. committee has stated that all clubs that are to stage a production, as their contribution to the carnival, must send their representatives to this meeting. Positions for appearance on the program will be drawn. More particular and definite details will be given regarding the presentation of these acts, and a full report of the progress of the activities of each club's act must also be given at today's meeting.

It was announced last night that the Scholarship club would have complete charge of the refreshments to be served at the carnival. The selling of these refreshments likely will be during the intermissions on the program.

PRESIDENT SWIFT OUTLINES S.A.C. CONSTITUTION

IMPORTANT CHANGES MADE; CHANCE FOR STUDENTS TO BE FAMILIARIZED WITH IT

The revised constitution of the Students' Activities Council, printed as a supplement to this issue of the DAILY, was made public yesterday by James P. Swift, president of the council.

Outlines Changes

President Swift explains the changes in the constitution in the following statement:

"With this issue of the DAILY the S. A. C. presents its slightly revised constitution to the undergraduate body for that organization's approval. At the time the S. A. C. was originated a constitution was drawn up and approved by the administrative officials of the university and the student body. Since that time the general principles of that charter have been followed though the document has never been kept up to date.

"For some time a need has been felt for an up-to-date constitution and for a general understanding of the power and duties of the S. A. C. in order that every member of the university may have a knowledge of the workings of the student governing body and a thorough understanding of just what may be expected of the council.

New Name Chosen

"The only changes in the revised constitution are those pertaining to scholastic standing of members, rules pertaining to discipline and government of the council and a change in name. For purposes of administration it was thought expedient to change the name from the Students' Activities Committee to the Students' Activities Council and the name of the chief executive from chairman to president. The advisability of this lies in that heretofore there has been a tendency to confuse statements of sub-committees with statements of the committee as a whole and likewise there has been a confusion as to chairmen of the sub-committees and the chairman of the committee as a whole.

THE DAILY QUESTIONNAIRE

WHAT ASKED: Are you in favor of a Notre Dame Union and why?

WHERE ASKED: Main building and Walsh hall.

REV. PATRICK HAGGERTY, rector of Walsh hall: "I think it would be a fine thing. Students waste so much time in town that anything which might help to keep them on the campus will be desirable."

FRANK T. KOLARS, Journ. IV, M. B.: "A Notre Dame Union will fill a long-felt want and automatically eliminate necessity for some of the present rules regarding student's recreation."

GEORGE G. WARD, Law III, Walsh: "The Notre Dame Union house will fill a long needed want of the students. In an indirect way it will help bring back some of the old spirit of the school that has been lacking the last several years."

WILLIAM J. REID, Sophomore: "It will promote unity of friendship and provide a place of entertainment for the fellows during their recreation period. Every campus club should back the proposition wholeheartedly."

ALBERT L. DOYLE, Pre-Law, Freshman: "I am in favor of a Notre Dame Union because it will prove most beneficial to the student body."

Law Club Plans Joint Meeting Soon

Plans for an all-lawyer get-together to be held at a downtown hotel are being made by the Law club. At a gathering yesterday, it was decided to book a speaker of national prominence and to have an orchestra to entertain. Refreshments will be served.

At this get-together plans for the annual farewell banquet of the lawyers will probably be discussed. All lawyers are expected to attend and the pre-laws are especially invited. The general chairman of the affair is Ed Buckley, who will be assisted by house, refreshment, and entertainment committees.

ORATORICAL MEET HERE IN APRIL

INITIAL APPEARANCE OF IN- TERSTATE CONTEST AT UNIVERSITY

Notre Dame will be host to competitors in the Interstate Oratorical contest for the first time when they meet here April 4. The divisional contests of this association are held at the college homes of the orators winning the state contests. Mark Nolan, who won the state contest at Indianapolis, will represent Notre Dame.

Three Leaders Chosen

The three orators who rank highest in this divisional contest will appear at the final interstate contest which will be held at Northwestern university on April 25. The final contest will be under the auspices of the school of speech of that university. R. E. Gallagher, class of '23, won the final contest at Northwestern last year.

The states belonging to this association are divided into two sections, the eastern, to which Notre Dame is grouped, and the western. Professor W. N. Begana of Wabash was recently elected manager of the eastern division following the resignation of Professor William E. Farrell of Notre Dame. This resignation was made necessary according to the constitution of the association which provides that if the representative of the college of which he is a faculty member shall win the contest of the state association, he shall immediately resign.

Many Make Good

It is interesting to note that according to an investigation of the winners of first and second places of 29 consecutive annual contests, more than one-third appear in "Who's Who in America."

Democrats Form Club on Campus

A Notre Dame Democratic club was organized on the campus Wednesday evening with Charles Molz the acting chairman. The charter members of the senior executive committee, temporarily appointed to begin the work of organization, are Donald Gallagher, Mike Gibbons, Paul Breen and William Greavy.

The organization will work in conjunction with the St. Joseph County Democratic club, and will open communication with the Democratic National committee at once to complete the work of organization. This campus branch of the party will aid the St. Joseph county organization in the work of securing prominent speakers to address the students and the citizens of nearby communities. The primary purpose of the club, besides the work of bringing speakers, is to foster a spirit of interest among the students in political affairs.

It was announced last night that the first meeting of the executive committee will be held Friday at 12:30 in the Brownson room of the library.

ROCKNE SIGNS FOR TERM OF 10 YEARS WITH NOTRE DAME

COACH MAKES STATEMENT; WILL CELEBRATE ROCKNE DAY, APRIL 24.

The persistent rumors that have been circulating about the country for the past two weeks, intimating that Knute K. Rockne's regime as athletic director at the University of Notre Dame would terminate in 1925 were suddenly dispelled by the announcement of Rev. Mathew Walsh, president of the university, that the illustrious Irish coach and nationally honored football strategist has signed a ten-year contract to remain as athletic director at Notre Dame.

The announcement was received on the campus with hearty approbation and the feeling of uneasiness among the students that originated from the widespread rumors and which would have suddenly become a huge disappointment had Rockne extended his services to another institution, was instantly changed to one of cheerful anticipation of the future.

S. A. C. Presents Resolution

The S. A. C. in taking a very active part in the athletic situation presented a resolution to Rev. Mathew Walsh, president of the university, before the announcement of the ten-year contract was made, expressing the regard of the Notre Dame students for Rockne and pledging the support of the S. A. C. in any effort that would be put forward to retain the services of Coach Rockne.

Because the shortness of time would not permit of a widespread announcement of the mass meeting scheduled for the gym at 4:30 yesterday the support of the S. A. C. was postponed and it was decided to observe April 24 as Rockne Day. The occasion will be featured by a mass meeting in the gym at 6:30.

Rockne's Statement

"During the past year or two, there has been a number of statements appearing in the public press to the effect that I had in mind severing my connections with the University of Notre Dame, and taking up coaching work in some other school. These reports have been the cause of unusual annoyance, both to me and the university which I am privileged to serve. In the past few weeks, this rumor has been renewed, and statements which might be interpreted as coming from me have led interested people to believe that I have in mind going to another school next fall. I feel that I owe it to the University of Notre Dame to state, once and for all, that I have no intentions whatever of giving up my present associations with Notre Dame, as long as the university sees fit to retain me.

Tribute to Players

"I have just gone over the whole situation with the president of the university, and in the hopes of forestalling any future annoying references, either to me or the university, I wish to go on record as saying, that if any school in the country feels the need of a coach any time within the next ten years, they will have to leave Notre Dame and myself out of consideration. Notre Dame is a part of my life, and my one ambition is to spend that life at the school that has made me whatever I am. I wish, particularly, to correct any impression that may have gone abroad to the effect that the relations between myself and Notre Dame have not always been of a most kindly nature. Notre Dame is my school. My only interest in any other institutions is to give them an opportunity, as occasion offers, to test the athletic ability of the finest type of college athletes in America."

A NOTRE DAME MAN

Knute Rockne has pledged his loyalty to his school.

In a statement made Tuesday Notre Dame's great football mentor set at rest widespread fears that he would leave the quadrangle at the expiration of his present contract. That statement and the act which preceded it, the signing of a ten year contract, will never be forgotten through the years of the University's history.

Rockne, at the peak of fame and with a score of tempting offers from colleges much larger than our own, declared to the world that as long as Notre Dame needed his services Notre Dame would have first call on them. His act explains his success. No man who ever works under Rockne will ever forget that the mentor has set the great example of faith to Notre Dame.

Rockne has written a Notre Dame loyalty code in the statement he made. It is a simple one: "Notre Dame is a part of my life, and my one ambition is to spend that life at the school that has made me whatever I am. . . . Notre Dame is my school. My only interest in other institutions is to give them an opportunity, as occasion offers, to test the athletic ability of the finest type of college athletes in America."

The world will ask what great force will so firmly bind a man to his college, but those of us who have known Notre Dame and "Rock" know the answer. Knute Rockne is a Notre Dame man.

ON GROWING OLD

To think of age in youth is only to ponder on a vague and immaterial tomorrow. For the young man there are the dim horrors of superannuation, to the superannuated there are memories. Age will always be the remembrancer and youth will persistently put aside coldly the apparition until the hair is thin and gray.

Some fortunate individuals seem to have found perpetual youth, they never pass thirty-five; they die at sixty only thirty-five. As it were, they linger at that turnstile of existence until Death smiles and swishes them away as they were just turning old.

Perhaps these are best. It is regrettable that man can not usually do the big things of life before thirty-five; that he can not enjoy success; that he can not flounder in his delirium of service. Would it not be so much more appropriate that one taste the sweetness of reward when best able to appreciate it?

Some do, but it is not the ordinary method of life. They seem to say with Chesterton:

"Men grow too old for love, my love,
 Men grow too old for wine,
 But I shall not grow too old to see
 Unclearly daylight shine,
 Changing my chamber's dust to snow
 Till I doubt if it be mine."

It is our job to remain young, to keep our youth as a trust from God, to avoid the shadow of the grave until it yawns before us. We owe our service to the world which has given us opportunity and to God who has given us body and soul. Squander youth and squander the funds God has deposited in the bank of life!

TO THE CHURCH IN AMERICA

"Wherefore we decided to elevate to the sacred purple two dignitaries of the church in the United States, who, by their personal qualities, the importance of their respective sees, and the zeal and merit of their pastoral ministry, already had shed the luster of the hierarchy on the United States. If the act is extraordinary, the moment which inspires it also is extraordinary and unexampled."

These were the words of Pope Pius in his allocution on the recent occasion of the elevation of Patrick J. Hayes, of New York, and George W. Mundelein to the college of cardinals in Rome. To every American Catholic they should not only be words of tribute, but of encouragement for the church militant in the United States.

"Men's clothes will stay up," says a current news story. We suppose that means the price, so don't throw your belts away.

To believe you cannot do a thing is a way to make it impossible.—John Wanamaker.

What Others Say

At the Top of the Ladder

The reason why successful men are sure that there is a great demand in the country for young men who would get ahead and achieve position and prominence, is because whenever they search for such a one they fail to find him. Now, if business stood in need of bridge sharks, crap shooters, poker players, polo fans, corner store loafers, stacombed sheiks, and collar champion Camel smokers, there would be such a plethora of help as to swamp every office and factory throughout the length and breadth of the land.

There's plenty of room at the top because every one seems to be fighting for bottom place.—Daily Northwestern.

How Should Dr. Levermore Spend His Money?

Suppose $50,000 dropped down on you one day?

Dr. Charles H. Levermore of New York won the Bok peace prize and the $50,000 that went with it. He was in comfortable circumstances and would have remained so had he never heard of Edward W. Bok.

Dr. Levermore accepted the problem of what to do with this money and didn't worry about it. Hundreds of other people did.

A small army of promoters of one kind and another have been besieging Dr. Levermore and trying by every conceivable means to separate him from his money.

Such is the way of the world. Dr. Levermore was in comfortable circumstances when this money came to him, and yet with the money came people by the scores to try to relieve him of it.

"How would you spend the $50,000 if you were just going to spend it?" the doctor was asked.

"Take a trip around the world," he answered. "A person could make such a journey on less than that amount, of course, but if he were to spend the entire sum in this way, he would have such a long and complete trip that when he got through he would be content to settle down with his memories and not worry about money or anything else."

And so the doctor's idea on how to spend the $50,000 differed from his besiegers.

Campus Briefs

Through an error in the office of the director of studies the name of Norbert Skelley, of Freshman hall, was omitted from the list of freshmen who received scholastic honors during the first semester. His average is 91 per cent and he received second honors.

A letter from D. E. Hilgartner, Jr., president of the Notre Dame Club of Chicago, brings the information that the meeting of the club at which Rev. Matthew Walsh, president of the university, will speak on March 31, will be held at the Hamilton Club, 20 South Dearborn street.

Prof. Sullivan, of the department of public speaking, yesterday stated that he was not authority for the story regarding the school of expression contemplated next year which was printed in a recent issue of the DAILY. His statement was made to correct an impression that he made the story public.

Rt. Rev. Bernard Mahoney, bishop of Sioux Falls, Ia., was a visitor at St. Mary's yesterday and expects to visit at Notre Dame today. He is an old friend of the school and of many members of the faculty.

An unusual condition existed yesterday as there were no students confined in the infirmary. However, the place was not entirely desolate, as the following minimis are confined there: Gahan Lawler, William Beck, David Rosenberg, Blair Johnson, Joseph Curriela, and John Fabry.

Rev. Charles Doremus, C. S. C., gave a talk on "Humility" at the regular Lenten devotions last evening in the Sacred Heart Church.

New Offerings on Stage and Screen

At The Orpheum

Perhaps "Black Oxen" keyed us to too high a pitch of admiration for Corinne Griffith productions. At any rate, "Lilies of the Field" falls short of the previous release.

The evil is done by a slow, uninteresting, and quite gray-haired plot. It consists of the aged tale of the wayward husband, who flops for a woman of the gilded type. He rids himself of his wife, who has, of course, the mother instinct, and a character of genuine gold.

According to tradition, he should have crawled back to the one whom he has wronged, to beg forgiveness, but the ending is a bit different.

Miss Griffith does the best she can with this moldy apparatus, and does help it to no mean extent. Conway Tearle is, as always, very good indeed. The cast retrieves this picture to a point where it may be classified on the whole as fair.—P. C. M.

Former Students Visit on Campus

Two prominent alumni of Notre Dame, William Draper, '05, and Fred Steers, '11, were visitors on the campus yesterday. Both men were actively engaged in athletics when they were undergraduates, being captains of teams.

Mr. Draper was captain of the track team for three consecutive years, 1902-4-5, and played on the football team in 1904 and 1905. When he graduated he remained here for two years, and during that time was manager of all sports and coach of the track team.

Fred Steers was also a monogram track man from 1908 until 1911, being captain of the track squad in his last year. He is now an alumni member of the board of athletic control and is president of the Central A. A. U. Both men viewed spring football practice with interest.

After College What?

STEADY progress to a responsible position in the business world—or a long period of training at minor work before you are fitted for an executive role?

To help you succeed more quickly the Babson Institute offers an intensive one-year training course in practical business.

From actual experience the fundamental principles of business are made clear. By positive examples, the student is shown how to apply these principles in the conduct of every day commercial affairs.

Dr. Browne Honored by Letter from Rome

Dr. J. Lewis Browne, director of the Glee club has been honored by the following letter from Cardinal Gasparri, secretary to His Holiness Pope Pius XI:

"I am fulfilling the pleasant charge of manifesting to you that the Holy Father has been greatly pleased to accept the homage with which you, with delicate thought, have wished to honor him in dedicating to him your sacred musical compositions.

"His Holiness thanks you for this expression of filial devotion and imparts to you most heartily, in the auspices of heavenly favors, the Apostolic Benediction. I avail myself of the opportunity to reaffirm with feeling of distinct and sincere esteem my readiness to serve you.

"P. C. GASPARRI."

Dr. Browne will give an organ recital in the church of the Sacred Heart at Notre Dame Sunday evening. It will be the first one that he has given here.

REFEREES SELECT ALL-HALL TEAMS

CARROLL HALL LEADS IN HONOR BERTHS; SEASON REPLETE WITH STARS

In conjunction with the popular custom of climaxing certain sport seasons with mythical honor teams, an All-Hall basketball team has been selected by the local game officials as a fitting close to a successful season.

Carroll, undefeated winner of the league title, leads the other halls in first team honors with four positions, while Day, Sophomore, Freshman and Cadillac each have one man on the squad. Conroy, V. McNally and Edwards were chosen for the forward berths because of their ability to sink field goals from any angle on the court. Conley and J. McNally were selected for the first team at center because of their neat handling of the ball, fast floor work and accurate shooting. Dahman, DeVault and Maxwell were given first honors at guard. These three men were brilliant performers throughout the season.

First Team

Forwards: Conroy (Day), Vince McNally (Carroll), and Edwards (Sophomore). Centers: Conley (Cadillac) and John McNally (Carroll). Guards: Dahman (Carroll), DeVault (Freshman) and Maxwell (Carroll).

Second Team

Forwards: Prendergast (Sophomore), Stuhldreher (Sorin), and Rigali (Badin). Centers: Johannes (Day), and Ash (Corby). Guards: Benda (Brownson), Kerwin (Carroll), and Bresnahan (Brownson).

Third Team

Forwards: Cullinane (Walsh), Dunn, (Cadillac), and Carey (Day). Centers: Collins (Corby), and Murphy (Sorin). Guards: Swift (Sorin), Carney (Day), and Herbert (Carroll).

Honorable mention: Crowley (Corby), Lukats and Barnabas (Freshman), Schaefer (Sophomore), Gray (Cadillac), and Burke (Walsh).

Clary, Reid, Crowe and Dwyer, men who refereed the contests for the season, were chosen to pick the teams because of their intimate connection of the contests and their close observations of the various players.

Tennis Tournament Slated for April 10

At the second meeting of the Tennis association of the year, held yesterday in the north room of the library, it was decided to close the tournament entries April 10. The drawings will take place April 11, and the tournament will be open to all students at the university. Later in the season there will be a class B tournament from which all players of varsity calibre will be barred. The open doubles tournament will be held immediately after the close of the singles.

The tournament committee is composed of Centlivre, Ward, Velasco, O'Brien and Adrian. The following have been appointed in each hall to receive entries for the tournament: Ward, Walsh; Adrian, Badin; Lutz, Sorin; Yertzel, Brownson; O'Brien, Carroll; Whitaker, Freshman; Haughton, Sophomore, and Centlivre, Corby.

It has been decided by the Notre Dame Tennis association to become affiliated with the National Intercollegiate Tennis association.

Illinois Track Team Strong in Field Events

Coach Harry Gill's nationally known Illinois track team has given up its winter quarters in favor of the outdoor track. The distance men are working out on the cinders and the weightmen are limbering up on the field.

From all indications, the Gillmen will be well fortified with a coterie of stars in the field events. With Angiers holding the American collegiate record in the javelin and several of his team-mates within a few strides of a title, the Fighting Illini will give the championship team of Walter Christie at California a nip and tuck fight for honors. The Suckers should also be a prominent figure in the outdoor western conference meet. Angier's record stands at 203 feet 3 inches.

The Illinois mentor has another high jump star who is almost a second edition of Harold Osborne. Wright looks good for a first place in the conference, having already registered a height of 6 ft. 3 1-4 in.

GOPHERS INVADE SOUTH

The University of Minnesota baseball team left this week for their annual spring training trip through the southern states. The schedule call for ten games.

ROCKNE BEGINS PRACTICAL DRILL

VETERANS DRILL LINEMEN; BASEBALL INFIELDBERS GET WORKOUT

Headgears, water pails and players with injuries have once more taken their place in the life at the university. With the continuation of acceptable weather, Coach Rockne and his squad of football aspirants are slowly rounding into gridiron form, and with no interruption in the practice schedule, scrimmage work will probably be introduced within the next ten days.

The squad was divided into the various positions last night, and several of last year's veterans, including Rip Miller, Oberst, and "Red" Maher, assisted Rockne in drilling the new candidates. The linemen were sent through more than an hour of charging and blocking and the halfbacks were given a session in side stepping. The squad was then run through 15 minutes of signals. Joe Quinn sprained his ankle during the workout.

Coach George Keogan's baseball squad is keeping pace with Rockne's track and football teams and is looking forward to outdoor practice. The program for yesterday included batting practice and infield practice as well as the usual battery practice.

CALIFORNIA SQUAD LARGE

Coach Walter Christie of the University of California is recruiting his 1924 track team from material uncovered during interhall meets. Regardless of the fact that 350 men reported for track practice this year, the veteran Bear coach is keeping close watch on the men running on the interhall teams.

The Stag

He has the pride of the peacock, the courage of the lion and the combined nerve of the whole menagerie. And why? Because he is sure of himself—and sure of his appearance.

As the last and cleverest touch, to his toilet, he smooths his mane with "Vaseline" Hair Tonic. His head stays dapper and sleek throughout the giddiest whirls.

"Vaseline" Hair Tonic improves the hair. At all drug stores and student barber shops.

Every "Vaseline" product is recommended everywhere because of its absolute purity and effectiveness.

ON THE LEVEL

By LARRY KELLY

It is quite evident that fighters are receiving sums beyond all value of services rendered. Enormous gate receipts are working greater damage to the game than anything else now on the surface. Yet a fighter is entitled to a fair percentage of what is attracted to the box office and promoters are also entitled to a fair percentage. It is not fair that the fighter who makes the large receipts possible, be given only one-fourth the amount the promoter receives.

It is suggested that a law be passed cutting the prices of admission, making the highest price somewhere between $4 and $9. This would reduce the tremendous receipts and also rich purses which have been falling into the hands of champions. The adoption of such a plan will work to the benefit of the fight fan. It is undoubtedly true that the sums paid to fighters are all out of proportion to what they give in return.

Jimmy O'Connell is probably the greatest natural hitter in baseball, according to Sam Crawford, who led the National league in extra-base hits for many years. Some of his critics contend that he can't hit a flock of rain drops with an umbrella, but this year Jimmy will hit, say McGraw and Hughey Jennings.

Perhaps the cleverest fighter that has ever been inside the resined arena was "New Orleans" Joe Mandot. This little 133-pound Frenchman directed an avalanche of gloves upon the anatomies of all the good boys in his division for ten years.

This ring tactician had every ingredient that goes to make up a champion except one—he lacked a sleep-producing punch. Mandot succeeded in getting the scalps of "Mexican" Joe Rivers, Ad Wolgast, Pal Moore, Charley White, and numerous other fistic luminaries of his time. Joe's record also shows two draws with Johnny Kilbane and Johnny Dundee.

"The sight of a band of professional golfers blowing into town for a tournament reminds one of Caesar and his army of spearmen or knighted warriors with their weapons," says Ray McCarthy.

A golf professional probably carries more baggage than any other kind of athlete and three-fourths of his equipment consist of utensils which aid him in gaining a livelihood. The other fourth is made up of attire.

Fellows like Sarazen, Hagen and Hutchinson give more attention to their clothes than to their clubs. Gene invited McCarthy out to see his garden but he evidently forgot about the garden, as he spent the afternoon bringing forth new style sweaters, knickers, stockings and shoes.

Jim Barnes is not so particular as to his attire. Jim is always well-groomed but he doesn't wear the natty clothes that adorn most professionals. Barnes never adopted knickers and he appears on the green in white flannels.

It sums up like this:

First—the very best Burley tobacco that old Kentucky grows, then—every single bit of it thoroughly aged in wood to take out the raw strength and make it mild and mellow, and give it a fine flavor.

That's what you get when you ask for Velvet Tobacco. Remember—aged in wood.

REV. HEALY TELLS ABOUT AVE MARIA

ASSISTANT EDITOR EXPLAINS TO SCRIBBLERS HOW BOOK IS PREPARED

How the "Ave Maria," religious magazine with a world-wide circulation of 41,000, is prepared for publication each week in the Ave Maria press, located on the campus, was explained by Rev. Kerndt Healy at the regular meeting of the Scribblers' Club Tuesday night.

Editor for 50 Years

"The Ave Maria, which is a magazine devoted to the Blessed Virgin, was founded 59 years ago by Father Edward Sorin," said Father Healy. "He was assisted in his work by Mother Angela and was succeeded by Father Gillespie who edited the magazine until 1874, when the present editor, Rev. D. E. Hudson, took charge. Father Hudson this month celebrates the 50th anniversary of his editorship, during which time the magazine has never missed an issue.

"The staff now includes Father Hudson as editor, Rev. Barry O'Neil and myself as assistants, and Prof. George Shuster as critic of poetry. Its circulation of 41,000 includes practically every country in the world, including India and China. Many of the articles which have appeared in its numbers have been printed in book form. Brothers of the congregation are building up its circulation, while no effort is made to secure advertising.

Many Contributions

"One of the most interesting departments of the magazine is the "Contributors' Box" through which, and I believe Father Hudson has verified this, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been secured for various charitable causes."

Father Healy's talk was the feature of the meeting which included the reading of papers by James Withey and Joseph Ryan, and a short talk by Corbin Patrick, newly elected member.

CAMPUS CARNIVAL

A spirit of intense rivalry is rapidly making its appearance among clubs on the campus to secure the feature act of the evening. Very little definite information has been advanced by club officials, but many hints have been given as to the surprises that will make their appearances in the course of the evening's entertainment. Mr. Richardson, the stage manager of the Palace theater and a former Notre Dame student, has offered his services to the S. A. C. He will assist the various club committees in staging their acts.

S. A. C. CONSTITUTION

stitution in the hope that it will serve to create a closer unity between the student body and the S. A. C. and suggests that each student read carefully the provisions of the constitution and acquaint himself with the functions of the council.

"Your co-operation and suggestions are solicited and the council is at all times happy to receive advice and recommendations from any member of the university."

President Swift urges every student to save his copy of the constitution for reference.

PROM DECORATIONS

The decorating committee for the Prom met Tuesday with Paul Kohout, and decided upon a plan of decoration. This plan was not given out, but it was stated that the entire atmosphere of the ballroom will be changed.
