SENATOR FERRIS OF MICHIGAN CHOSEN FOR JUNE ADDRESS

WILL BE HERE FOR COMMENCEMENT DAY CEREMONIES

Hon. Woodbridge N. Ferris, United States senator from Michigan, will deliver the commencement address to seniors on the afternoon of Sunday, June 15, according to a statement issued by Rev. Matthew Walsh, president of the university, last night.

Born In East

Senator Ferris was born in Spencer, N. Y., in 1853 and received his education in the Oswego Normal and Training school and in the medical department of the University of Michigan. He was, in his early life, principal of a business school and academy at Freeport, Ill., a professor at Rock River university, Dixon, Ill., and president of the Dixon Business College. In 1884 Senator Ferris founded Ferris institute and has since served as president of that institution. He is also president of the Big Rapids Savings Bank.

As Democratic-candidate for congress in 1892, and candidate for governor of Michigan in 1904, Senator Ferris received his start in politics. He was elected governor of Michigan in 1913 and held the office until 1916. He lives in Big Rapids, Mich.

The selection of Senator Ferris as commencement speaker practically completes preliminary arrangements as the baccalaureate speaker has already been named. He will be Bishop Conroy, of Ogdensburg, N. Y.

"Smilin' Through" Is Well Received

"Smilin' Through," Allan Langdon Martin's three act comedy drama, which was made famous on the spoken stage by Jane Cowl and on the silver sheet by Norma Talmadge, was presented in Washington hall last night by the Producing Department of the Redpath Bureau.

"Smilin' Through" is the story of a man who was cheated of his own love in his youth, and cannot bring himself to sacrifice his pride that the innocent victims of the past may be happy. The play was well acted by the Redpath players and was well received by one of the largest audiences Washington Hall has had for a visiting production this year.

Committee Plans Prom Decorations

The decorating scheme now being arranged for the prom by the committee in charge will be a spring garden effect. In preparation for the event the committee in charge of decorations has been working during the past week.

Jean Goldkette, whose orchestra will play at the Prom, has arranged with the Victor people for a release of one of his records so that it will be placed on sale the day of the Prom. The name of the release is "Where the Lazy Daisies Grow" and "In the Evening," both new popular numbers.

The WWJ broadcasting station at Detroit from which Goldkette has been broadcasting is announcing every night the fact that he is playing the Notre Dame Junior Prom. The Prom music and entertainment will be broadcasted from the Tribune station WGAZ at a special concert on Friday night.

Jim Swift Will Head Athletic Discussion

James P. Swift, chairman of the Students' Activities Council, and George Bischoff, secretary, will leave Wednesday for Knoxville, Tenn., where they will represent Notre Dame in the annual midwest student conference of colleges and universities to be held May 1, 2, and 3.

A discussion of college athletics will be led at the conference by Mr. Swift. Student government and publications will also be given consideration. Delegates from forty schools will be present at the conference.

Last Week Marked the 45th Anniversary of Destruction of The University By Fire

Students of the university 45 years ago today were already enjoying their summer vacation, the result of the disastrous fire of 1879 which almost destroyed all campus buildings.

The anniversary of the great conflagration passed on Wednesday, April 23. Immediately after the fire Father Corby, then president of the university, announced that the school term would be considered ended, and that degrees would be conferred upon seniors the following day. Plans for the rebuilding of the university were made the same afternoon, and four days later they were ratified at a general council of university officials.

Origin Unknown

To this day the origin of the fire has not been learned. Workmen had been busy on the roof of the administration building during the morning, and just before noon the youngsters on the minim playground noticed the flames blazing from the same roof. The inadequate fire equipment of those days was immediately put into use. Aid was rushed from South Bend, then cut off from the University because of the limited transportation facilities,

OBERST HANGS UP NEW JAVELIN MARK FOR PENN RELAYS

NOTRE DAME ATHLETES FAIL TO PLACE IN DRAKE RELAYS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 26 (Special).—Gene Oberst, of Notre Dame, throwing the javelin 196 feet, 5 7/8 inches, this afternoon established a new record for the Penn relays, breaking that made by Frieda, of Chicago, only yesterday.

The tall Hoosier athlete had the distinction of being the first record-breaker of the meet as the javelin throw was one of the early events. In making his great throw he repeated his feat of last week when he shattered the existing mark in the Kansas relays.

Frieda, of Chicago, who made the previous mark in pentathlon competition, was second, while Barnum, of West Virginia, was third. Greenridge, of Harvard, finished fourth. Oberst was the only Notre Dame entrant in the meet.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 26 (Special).—With records toppling in four carnival events, and Charley Paddock registering a new world's mark for the 125 yard dash, Notre Dame athletes failed in their efforts to place among leaders in the annual Drake relays this afternoon.

The Irish relay teams were out-run in all events entered. Northwestern won the two-mile event, Illinois the four-mile and half mile races, and Iowa the mile contest. In the individual events, too, Notre Dame athletes were beaten. Bud Barr, who qualified in the 100 yard dash, went out in the final heats, Evans, of Illinois, capturing the event.

Frank Milbauer, shot putter, was unable to put the weight over 42 feet and Purma, of Kansas Teachers' College, Hartman, of Nebraska, and Dauber, of Iowa, finished ahead of him. Johnson lost in the high hurdles, which were won by Kinzey, of Illinois, and Harrington could not place in the record-smashing pole vault in which McKeown, of Kansas State Teachers' college, vaulted 13 feet.

Charley Paddock's remarkable run which incidentally brought him

Nolan Places Third in Interstate Meet

Mark E. Nolan, representing the state of Indiana and Notre Dame, took third place in the final contest of the Interstate Oratorical Contest held at Northwestern University on Friday night, delivering "The Guardian of the Constitution," a defense of the United States supreme court. As a reward for Nolan's placing third among contestants representing the cream of the collegiate orators of fourteen states he was awarded a bronze medal by the Interstate Oratorical Association.

First place in the contest went to Clarence R. Decker, of Carleton College, Minnesota, while second place was taken by Miss Edith Hartman, of Transylvania College, Kentucky. Mr. Decker's winning oration was entitled "Automatons of Men," a protest against the modern industrial system which makes mere automatons of our industrial workers, sacrificing individual skill and talent to machine perfection, and a plea that the daily lives of millions of industrial slaves be made more than a monotonous machine-like existence, if our civilization is not to be irreparably injured.

NOTRE DAME WINS OVER LOYOLA, 5-0, IN SECOND GAME

KEOGAN'S HITTING TEAM KEEPS VISITORS FROM SCORING

The second appearance of Coach Keogan's baseball squad on Carter field was marked by another victory when the Terriers defeated Roger Kiley's Loyola university nine, 5 to 0 yesterday afternoon. The visitors showed up well on the defense but when the Crimson ball tossers came to bat they were unable to count against the fast working Keoganites.

The work of McGrath on the mound for the Blue and Gold gave the visitors from Chicago little chance to get on the bases and the few rallies that Kiley's charges staged in a desperate endeavor to score were promptly dampened by the local ball tossers. Loyola's five hits were scattered while Notre Dame garnered seven from which the five runs were scored.

McGraw Pitches Well

Notre Dame opened the game with two counters but the opposing twirler tightened up for the next two frames and let the Irish go scoreless. The Keoganites picked one run in the fifth and sixth innings and another in the eighth.

The twirling of McGrath for the visitors was one of the features of the encounter and although he was touched for seven hits, his support failed him several times. The younger collegians made an impressive showing against the Notre Dame team yesterday considering the fact that they were playing a little out of their class. However, Kiley is developing a strong aggregation with the material that he has and competing with teams from smaller colleges, the Chicagoans should be the leaders of their class.

A Hitting Team

After the encounter yesterday, the local baseball follower can be assured that Coach Keogan is developing a hitting team. The record of the Terriers on the southern trip revealed the fact that they could hit in the pinches when a hit meant a run. Yesterday their batting power had not decreased the least and long drives into the gardens indicated a hitting power that will be needed against the conference teams.

The return of Ed Prendergast to the squad strengthened the team to no little extent while Joe Quinn performed in creditable style around the keystone sack. Gus Stange, who relieved McGrath in the seventh inning, continued the pace set by his teammate and set the opposing batters down in short order.

THE DAILY'S STAND FOR NOTRE DAME

A union building to be built as soon as possible.
A well-organized student body, residing on the campus.
True recognition of good scholarship and a better appreciation for the efforts of men in campus activities.

ABOUT BILL SHEEHAN'S NINE

Telling Notre Dame men to get out and boost a varsity team is unnecessary. They're all boosting it.

But a word about a more active support of baseball might be in order. Captain Bill Sheehan and the squad look mighty good after their southern jaunt and the first home games. Given the right kind of encouragement, the team ought to make the middle west sit up and take notice in the fashion of years gone by.

Encouragement of the right kind requires packed stands at every game, important or unimportant, that is played on Cartier field. Not merely packed stands, but a cheering mob begging every batter to hit and every fielder to do the impossible. And this not for two or three innings, but all the way until the last out in the ninth.

Tell Bill today you'll be around every afternoon his club plays.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

Major-General Henry T. Allen, in charge of the work of the American Committee for the Relief of German Children, is finding, even in America, a spirit of unforgiving hatred hampering collections and threatening the effort with failure, according to editorial comment in a recent issue of the Literary Digest.

The war is over and no matter what emotional waves of hate were aroused during its continuance, for the good of the future, that hatred should be forgotten. In Germany today there are 2,000,000 children. They will either grow up to love America, or they will grow up to hate America. The generation of today can influence them to feel whichever way, it may choose.

Kindness to these children, help in their days of need, will create in them a feeling of appreciation and admiration that will last. An attitude of disregard will have the opposite effect. If we are to build for the future, a spirit of good will between nations must be erected.

The committee is doing a great work. Every dollar collected by it goes to a child needing food, clothes or shelter. Its address is 130 West 42nd street, New York city.

DOCTOR TIME

Though certain facts may lead us to doubt the usual reasonableness of groups of the only creature with rationality—the genus boobus, as Mr. Mencken might say, we must eventually admit, not with Mr. Mencken this time, that these rational creatures are fundamentally and eventually quite rational. Though, led by fanatics, men may often do peculiar things, and though foolish ideas may seem to triumph, Doctor Time generally restores the common mind to normalcy and common sense.

In Oregon, for instance, it seemed that the tempestuous attacks on the rights of parents to educate children as they wished, whether they educated them well, had become successful. And if Oregon won such a victory, it seemed reasonable to suppose that similar victories, being waged in many other states, were likely in other states.

But though the people of Oregon were marshalled against the private schools, the judgment of a United States district court was just—emphatic and categorical. The decision, it is expected, will be sustained by the United States supreme court, and will judicially settle, probably for all time, the contention, put forth to serve the ends of bigotry, that the state has a right superior to that of the parents in deciding the character of education a child should receive. The court decided that the law that required all children of grammar school age to attend the public schools was unconstitutional, because it was an invasion of property and occupational rights, and it did not find it necessary to consider the question of religious liberty.

The judgment was deliberate and sane, and the question may now be definitely settled—thanks to Doctor Time.

Some mens' lives are like broken shoe strings. It is impossible to make ends meet.

Clothes do not make the man; nor do shell-rimmed glasses make the student.

Librarian Calls for Overdue Books

There has recently been placed in circulation by the university library a bound set of the "Chronicles of America," published by the Yale Press in fifty volumes. Great pains have been taken to make these books available to students through use of the catalog. In the preparation of these books for the shelves 420 cards were necessary. This, outside of the Smithsonian collection, is a record number of cards to be distributed throughout the catalog according to the various subject headings necessary for use.

The librarian requests that every student who has books overdue return them promptly to the library or a messenger will be sent for the books and that extraordinary service must be charged to students violating the library rules.

At Other Colleges

PURDUE UNIVERSITY—Evans Woolen, president of the Fletcher Saving and Trust Company, Indianapolis, and one of the best known bankers in the middle west, has been secured to deliver the principal address at the annual commencement exercises to be held June 10.

GOLF TOURNEY TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

MANY PRIZES SECURED FOR WINNERS; SCHEDULE OPENS MAY 10

Another minor sport will swing into action next week when the Notre Dame Golf association stages the annual university golf tournament. Suitable prizes have been secured for the four divisions, champion class, A class, B class and Duffer class. Golf enthusiasts on the campus are urged to prepare for the tournament as the association hopes to stage the biggest tourney that has yet been seen at the University. The entry dates will be announced later.

The schedule for the varsity golf team as it is thus far completed includes four games with two matches to be staged on the home course. Northwestern will open the season here on May 10 at the Chain-of-Lakes course. The team will leave for Chicago on May 14, to meet Loyola university on May 15, and DePaul university on May 16. The officers of the club are endeavoring to close a match with another conference school and thus complete the schedule.

The officers of the association in announcing the prizes included the following names: Coach Knute K. Rockne, J. Reynolds Medart, a dozen golf balls; Krauss, South Bend jeweler, a loving cup; Berman sport store and the Max Adler Co. Medart is a graduate of the 1923 class and was prominent in golf activities while a student at the University. It was through the work of Medart that the sport attained its present place on the Notre Dame athletic card.

ROPER TALKS TO GRID MEN

Coach Bill Roper, of Princeton university, addressed a few remarks to the football candidates at the banquet which marked the close of the annual spring training period, stressing the necessity of keeping up the individual scholastic grades in order that the team would not suffer from ineligibilities.

The spring training session was characterized by the Tiger mentor as one of the most successful that he has ever directed at the Jungletown school. The six weeks of training uncovered a wealth of material which will be needed for the 1925 campaign. The Princeton coach pointed out the fact that the schedule for next year was one of the heaviest cards that the Tigers had carried in several years.

Danny McGowan Wins in Olympic Tryouts

Danny McGowan, Notre Dame boxer, by scoring a victory over Cox, of Indianapolis, in the finals of the Indiana-Kentucky A. A. U. Olympic trials at Indianapolis Friday night earned for himself a place in the Olympic boxing trials at Boston. In winning the decision over Cox, McGowan will represent the states of Indiana and Kentucky in the final Olympic trials at Boston.

The diminutive Irish flyweight boxer has been a prominent figure in Notre Dame boxing circles for the past three years during which time he has annexed several amateur titles. McGowan won the division title in the Chicago Tribune tourney two years ago and last winter defeated Cox in the Indianapolis A. C. tournament.

The competition in the Olympic trials will force the local boxer to the utmost to land a place on the team as the amateur boxing clubs through the country will be represented by some highly competent ring performers in every class.

KIPKE SIGNS TO COACH

Harry Kipke, star three sport man at the University of Michigan, has accepted a coaching position at the University of Missouri, it was reported this week. Kipke was the first Michigan man to earn nine letters since the three year rule went into effect.

EDDIE ANDERSON SIGNS CONTRACT WITH MINNESOTA

Eddie Anderson, former Notre Dame football, basketball and baseball star, captain of the 1921 eleven and selected for all-American honors the same year is reported to have signed a contract to become assistant football coach at the University of Minnesota next fall. Anderson will assist Head Coach Bill Spaulding.

The former leader of the Notre Dame eleven has been coaching at Columbia college, Dubuque, Iowa, since his graduation in June of 1922. Anderson, together with his wing mate, Rodge Kiley, now coach at Loyola university, gained national recognition for their work on the football field and were considered among the outstanding ends of the 1921 season.

ROWING AT MICHIGAN

If present plans are looked upon with favor by the authorities at the University of Michigan, the Wolverine school will add rowing to their sport program. Investigation of the surrounding water ways revealed the fact that there seems to be no reason why the Crimson athletes cannot be represented on the sport calendar with a rowing crew.

Tennis Pairings

The following men are paired for the second round in the annual University tennis tournament: O'Brien vs. Doyle, Houghton vs. Burns, Velasco vs. Morency, Barr vs. Yetzel, Gonzalez vs. Adams, Hilbert vs. Adrian.

Former Notre Dame Gridiron Star Dies

News of the death of Patrick Beacom, of Peoria, Ill., football 1903-'04-'05-'06, which was recently received at the University, marks the passing of one of the greatest of the gridiron warriors who made famous the old Notre Dame football school. Beacom played guard on the Blue and Gold eleven for four years, being captain of the team during his third year on the line.

The season of 1903 was completed with a clean slate, the Notre Dame eleven playing a nine-game card. The Michigan Aggies, DePauw, Northwestern and Wabash were defeated and total points for the season reached 292.

The following year, with an eight game card, the varsity lost to Wisconsin, Kansas and Purdue. 1905 was another banner year featured by a 142 to 0 score against the American Medical college. Jerry "Bud" Sheehan, of Peoria, was with Beacom when the veteran griddier died. Sheehan was a monogram member of Notre Dame football teams during the time of Beacom's playing.

NOLAN PLACES THIRD

The other contestants in the final contest were Oliver Petersen, of North Dakota University; John W. Dodds, of Worcester College, Ohio; and E. Foster Patterson, of Tarkio College, Missouri.

The Interstate Oratorical Association includes practically all of the universities and colleges of the states of Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas. Each of the more than one hundred colleges in these states has its own contest, similar to Notre Dame's Breen Medal Contest, to select its best orator. Each of the fourteen states then holds a state contest, at which the winners of the various college contests in that particular state compete for the honor of representing the state in the divisional contest. In the state contests only one man is picked. The fourteen states are then divided into eastern and western divisions, the eastern division consisting of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Kentucky, and Pennsylvania, while the western division includes the seven states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas.

Each of the two divisions then holds a divisional contest, the eastern divisional being held at Notre Dame this year, at which the winners of the various state contests of that division compete again. From each of the two divisional contests three orators are selected, without being rated individually, to appear in the final contest.

What Others Say

Seeing is Believing

For the benefit of the man who "never believes anything he hears and only half what he sees" the Union Memorial Building is now in a position to demonstrate effectively that it is nearing the stage where it can convince the skeptic of its existence. There is an air of permanence about the putting into place of solid stone, there is an atmosphere surrounding any enclosure with window frames in place which leads the beholder to believe that it may some day be a building, there is an exhilaration in watching a concrete mixer work and a crew of men pour the fluid into molds from which a block of solid stone will emerge. It is the idea that he is creating something that compensates the writer and builder with a sense of contentment as much as the check he receives fills the wants of his daily life and it is the result of the efforts of either that signify to the world that he is actively engaged in his work with a purpose in view. Of course the Union Memorial building is but an expression of sentiment, without that sentiment, without active college life flowing through its halls and being bettered and strengthened by that process it would be erected in vain; but the appearance of stone and brick in their proper places for the future completion of the building is enough evidence that the other elements are shortly to be added to elevate the spirits of those who have the project at heart.—M. A. C. Record.

Determination

Determination can affect much in anything one does. If a student concentrates upon one extra-curriculum activity and determines to do his best in it, he will make a success. If, on the other hand, he dissipates his energies over athletics, society, dramatics, professional clubs, and what not, he may achieve some degree of success, but never the full amount which he might attain in one field. The smaller educational institution is handicapped by having a limited number of students for student offices. The university gives one major honor to a student, with the understanding that he is to concentrate upon that one position. Another argument for the point activity system! — The Holcad.

UTAH AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE—The college is holding a "high school day," May 9, at which time over 500 students from all over the state will visit and be entertained by the college.

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY—A system of unannounced tests has been instituted in the hope that it will do away with cramming.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON—The university will send two rowing crews east to defend the national title and to compete for representing America in the Olympics.

SENIOR BALL COMMITTEE TO MEET TOMORROW NOON

An important meeting of the members of the Senior Ball committee will be held in the library at 12:30 tomorrow noon, it was announced by Don Gallagher, president of the class, last night. Every member of the committee is urged to be present. Plans for the program will be announced and the ticket sale, which closes May 10, will be discussed. Gallagher pointed out that every senior intending to attend the Ball must make a deposit this week in order that names may be engraved on the favors.

his tenth world's record, was one of 12 seconds in the 125 yard dash. Other records were made in the two mile college relay won by Monmouth, the shot put by Purma, and the broad jump by Hubbard, of Michigan.

Schjoll, of Minnesota, threw the javelin 196 feet, 9 inches, in winning the event, thus bettering Gene Oberst's mark at Penn.
