

Football Review Issue

Scholastic

Notre Dame Student Magazine

January 22, 1987

Vol. 128, No. 12

The '86 Season

Game-By-Game
Recaps

All-Opponent Team

Holtz' Final Word

Irish Quarterback
Steve Beaverdon

GET A JOB!

Interested in working for Scholastic?

Then come to an introductory meeting:

Writers &
Copy Editors

Wednesday, January 28 at 7 p.m.
in Room 118 Nieuwland Science Hall

Art, Photo &
Production

Wednesday, January 28 at 8:30 p.m.
in Room 118 Nieuwland Science Hall

...DO IT FOR MOM & DAD

Keep your parents in touch with campus news, sports and special events.
Send them a subscription to Scholastic, Notre Dame's weekly student magazine.

Please send _____ years of Scholastic to:

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Please make checks payable to: Scholastic Magazine
LaFortune Student Center
Notre Dame, IN 46556

Enclosed is a check for $18.75 x _____ years = $ _____

January 22, 1987

Scholastic

Volume 128, No. 12

The 1986 Season

Lucian Niemeyer

4	Michigan	By Jon Theisen
7	MSU	By Pete Gegen
10	Purdue	By Matt O'Donnell
12	Alabama	By Mike Chmiel
15	Pitt	By Ian Larkin
18	Air Force	By Dan Coyle
23	Navy	By Frank Lipo
25	SMU	By Ed Jordanich
28	Penn State	By Kathleen McKernan
31	LSU	By Marc Parker
34	USC	By Larry Burke

20/Scholastic All-Opponent Team

38/Final Word: Lou Looks Forward and Back

36/Scoreboard: A special review of the fall season

40/Individual Honors

Scholastic

Vol. 128 January 22, 1987 No. 12

*Disce Quasi Semper Victurus
Vive Quasi Cras Moriturus*

Founded 1867

Editor: Maher Mouasher
Managing Editor: Keith Harrison
General Manager: Philip Coghlan
Editorial Staff

Sports: Larry Burke
Departments: Catherine Coffey

News: Frank Lipo

News: Kathleen McKernan

Student Life: Greg Miller

Copy: Aimee Storin

Student Life: Bob Winn

Production

Production Manager:

Matthew Bradley

Design Manager: Jim Doerfler

Photo Manager: Allan Lim

Graphic Arts Manager:

Maria Murphy

Administration

Business Manager: Dan Gamache

Comptroller: Pete Cespedes

Advertising: Julie Gschwind

Circulation: Mike Hoban

Editorial Assistants

Sports: Ed Jordanich

News: Steffanie Keller

Departments: Kathy Scarbeck

Sports: Phil Wolf

Layout

Theresa Gianoli

Susan Serrato

Cathy Stacy

Art & Photography

Lucian Niemeyer

Joe Vitacco

Ros Winner

Scholastic is represented for national advertising by CASS student advertising, Inc. Published weekly during the school year except during vacation and examination periods, Scholastic is printed at The Papers, Inc. Milford, IN 46542. The subscription rate is $18.75 a year and back issues are available from Scholastic. Please address all manuscripts to Scholastic, Notre Dame, IN 46556. All unsolicited material becomes the property of Scholastic.

© 1987 Scholastic. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or in parts without permission is prohibited.

Gays on Campus

Dear Editor,

As a gay alumnus, I have particular reasons to be pleased with your Dec. 4 issue "Homosexuality on Campus." I congratulate you on your courage in facing an issue which others seek to avoid.

The quality of reporting skills in your magazine is quite good. I wish the theological skills of Father Richard McCormack were as finely shaped.

Your editorial argument comparing gay students' need for a group with black students' formation of an NAACP chapter is just to the point: the emphasis is really human liberation.

Thanks for recognizing that "there is also a need to educate the rest of the University, as is clear by observing the attitude many students have toward homosexuality." Liberation is for all, not just some. The white community has benefitted from the liberation of blacks quite as much as blacks themselves.

What is unacceptable is the number of gays and lesbians who will never be able to acknowledge their homosexuality to themselves or their community until they leave Notre Dame. What a shame that this special atmosphere cannot allow for the diversity of its members. It is crucial that gays feel as much a part of the community as non-gays.

Phillip Schatz
ND '72, '74

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank Scholastic and the candor of the Gays and Lesbians at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's group for the articles on homosexuality on our campuses. The courage that these students showed by openly discussing their personal lives was inspiring.

At the same time, it is saddening to realize that they feel so alienated because of our ignorance and prejudice against them. In a Christian community such as ours, one would hope that we can accept people as they are without judging them.

If part of the purpose of these articles was to make us aware of this prejudice, I think it succeeded and I hope that the homosexuals on our campuses will feel more like they are a part of the Notre Dame family.

Patricia Soranno
Walsh Hall

Do you have a complaint,
comment or opinion?
Write a letter to Scholastic.

LaFortune Student Center

Notre Dame, In 46556

Hey Business Majors

Scholastic is looking for

Advertising Sales Persons

Gain valuable business experience and make some extra cash by selling ads for Scholastic.

Contact Julie Gschwind at the Scholastic office, third floor LaFortune or call 239-7569 for more information

No prior experience necessary, but access to a car is preferred.

The Holtz Era Begins

By Jon Theisen

The Irish beat Michigan everywhere but on the scoreboard as Lou Holtz began his stint as Notre Dame football coach

Bo Schembechler brought his third-ranked Wolverines to Notre Dame Stadium with the intention of beginning his quest for the national championship. After an afternoon of bumps and bruises, Bo and his boys jumped on the bus home from Notre Dame with Schembechler crying, "We came out with a victory. I don't care how you come out with them."

It is a good thing Schembechler doesn't care how his victories come; this one came by the narrowest of margins. En route to losing 24-23, Notre Dame missed on six scoring opportunities, three times turning the ball over inside the Michigan 15-yard line.

Despite the mistakes, several Notre Dame players had outstanding performances. Flanker Tim Brown gained 116 all-purpose yards, averaging 8.3 yards each time he touched the ball. The offensive line gained praise from Schembechler, Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz and halfback Mark Green who said, "I felt the offensive line really controlled Michigan's line. The guys just did a great job up front."

Notre Dame quarterback Steve Beuerlein also turned in one of the best performances of his career. He completed 21 of 33 passes, six more than Heisman Trophy candidate Jim Harbaugh of Michigan, who was 15-of-23. Unfortunately for the Irish, Beuerlein also completed a perfect pass to Michigan defensive back David Arnold in the end zone with Notre Dame trailing 24-20 with 10:54 left in the game. That was one of several costly Irish mistakes which gave the Wolverines the win.

After driving 75 yards in 13 plays, the Irish scored first in the contest. From three yards out, Brown followed Green on a slant left, then outraced defenders to the corner of the end zone.

The Wolverines responded with a scoring drive of their own. Michigan drove 80 yards before Jamie Morris was able to power across the endline to even the score.

Lucian Niemeyer

Neither Wally Kleine nor any other Irish defender managed to sack the mobile Harbaugh.

Scholastic

Lucian Niemeyer

Enthusiasm ran high as Irish fans sensed a reawakening of the echoes might be at hand.

The first Irish turnover came at the beginning of the second quarter. Reggie Ward took a pitch left and raced nine yards to the Michigan six before losing his grip on the ball. Although Michigan was unable to convert the turnover into any points, the Irish had missed on a crucial scoring opportunity.

After the defensive unit contained Michigan, the offense took the ball with renewed energy and drove for a second touchdown. The defense then held the Wolverines to a field goal and the Irish took their 14-10 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Michigan scored on its first possession of the second half. After driving 78 yards in 12 plays, Morris again did the honors. From one yard out, Morris went around the right end untouched for the score. Notre Dame failed to cover the ensuing kickoff and Michigan came up with the ball on the Irish 27-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Harbaugh showed why he was a Heisman candidate by guiding a missile into the arms of Morris. Morris' third touchdown of the day left Notre Dame down 24-14.

Despite his hat trick of touchdowns, Morris had nothing but praise for the Irish defensive line. "Notre Dame's defensive line is big. They're much stronger than they were last year," he said.

With time running out, Beuerlein took command of his offensive troops and led a successful retaliation attack. The offense showed tenacity by plowing through, spinning off and hurdling over its opponents. The touchdown came on a three-yard shot-put pass from Beuerlein to tight end Joel Williams. But John Carney's extra point attempt sailed wide left, establishing what would later prove to be the one-point margin of defeat.

The most controversial play of the game occurred with 4:26 remaining in the final quarter. With the Irish down 24-20, Williams shook off coverage in the back of the end zone and pulled down a Beuerlein pass for what appeared to be the go-ahead touchdown. However, back judge Frederick DeFilippo signaled an incompleteness. Williams, DeFilippo claimed, landed out of the end zone.

"I couldn't see that. But the Michigan ball boy said he had both feet in bounds," Holtz said.

"I couldn't see the play from where I was standing," said Schembechler.

Williams said simply, "We were robbed."

Then, on fourth and goal from the eight, Carney drove home a field goal, leaving Notre Dame down 23-24, and with 4:26 left in the game, the Irish defense took the field.

Michigan gained one first down before defensive tackle Mike Griffin and the rest of the defense stopped the Wolverines once again. Griffin made tackles on two of the next three plays after the first down and then slammed a shoulder into Michigan fullback Bob Perryman. The football popped from Perryman's grasp and was recovered by Notre Dame.

Lucian Niemeyer

Andy Heck's catch helped set up a field goal.

linebacker Wes Pritchett.

Led by the outstanding protection of Byron Spruell, Shawn Hefern, Chuck Lanza, Tom Freeman and Tom Rehder, the Irish moved the ball to the Wolverine 28. With a fourth down and 13 seconds on the clock, Notre Dame was in position to win the game. However, Carney's 45-yard field goal attempt faded left and the game ended: Michigan 24, Notre Dame 23. A series of bad breaks for Notre Dame had aided the No. 3 Wolverines in an "upset" of the unranked Irish.

Michigan

Courtesy South Bend Tribune

Reflecting on his team's four turnovers, one missed field goal and one missed extra point, Holtz said, "I've never seen so many things go wrong."

"When we came in we didn't know what they would do. The multiple formations kept us off balance."

-- Bo Schembechler, Michigan head coach

Despite the loss, many left the stadium feeling content. Many observers were discussing a new attitude about the team which seemed to emanate from first-year coach Holtz. The crowd cheered his daring when Holtz successfully sent Beuerlein up the middle on a fourth-down play and called pass plays while in the wishbone formation. The new feeling on the Irish sideline was recognized by Schembechler who admitted, "When we came in we didn't know what they would do. The multiple formations kept us off balance."

After the Michigan loss, loyal Irish fans circulated talk of bowl bids and national championships, and sportscasters compared Holtz to Knute Rockne and Ara Parseghian.

Even Michigan flanker John Kolesar used superlatives to Carney's failed field goal attempt could have been the difference in the opener.

describe the Irish. "I personally think they have the best talent in the nation," he said. "I was surprised by their offense. Notre Dame played a great game, and you can't take that away from them. They're going to have a great season."

The Scoring

1st quarter

ND - Tim Brown 3 run (John Carney kick)

UM - Jamie Morris 8 run (Pat Moons kick)

2nd quarter

ND - Mark Green 1 run (Carney kick)

UM - Moons 23 field goal

3rd quarter

UM - Morris 1 run (Moons kick)

UM - Morris 27 pass from Jim Harbaugh (Moons kick)

ND - Joel Williams 3 pass from Steve Beuerlein (kick failed)

4th quarter

ND - Carney 25 field goal

Caught Short Again

By Pete Gegen

Hurt by costly mistakes and a pair of big-play interceptions by MSU cornerback Todd Krumm, Notre Dame fell to the Spartans

Last week we felt we beat Michigan," Irish quarterback Steve Beuerlein said after the Michigan State game. "Coming out of the locker room at the end of a game where you feel like you outplayed the other team, you can hold your head up. And we'll hold our heads up coming out of here too, but it's a little bit harder."

"Here" was Spartan Stadium in East Lansing, Michigan, and the hanging heads were a result of another come-from-behind-but-fall-short loss, this time to the Spartans, 20-15.

The disappointing thing about this game was that, unlike the Michigan game, nobody could claim the Irish had outplayed the Spartans. Beuerlein, for instance, had a relatively poor afternoon. Because the offense could not move the ball on the ground, Beuerlein had to put the ball up 36 times, completing 19 of them for 259 yards. But two of those passes wound up in the hands of Michigan State's Todd Krumm.

The Spartan cornerback returned his first interception 44 yards for a touchdown to give Michigan State a 7-3 lead late in the first quarter. He prolonged the Irish frustration by picking off a pass intended for Milt Jackson with 1:26 left to play. "Notre Dame is known for their quick out routes," said Krumm of his heroics. "The way Beuerlein stepped back out of the line I kind of realized what the play was."

Those two errant passes made Beuerlein the easy scapegoat for Irish fans who had patiently waited two games for a reawakening of the echoes, but other mistakes were just as much to blame. The dropped passes, a missed field goal, a personal foul and a blocked punt all helped dig the hole which the Irish could not climb out of. It was this game that caused thoughts of the previous four seasons to

Lucian Newman

"Coming out of the locker room at the end of a game where you feel like you outplayed the other team, you can hold your head up. And we'll hold our heads up coming out of here too, but it's a little bit harder."

-- Steve Beuerlein

creep into the minds of players and fans alike. "You know, I'm tired of being close," said defensive tackle Wally Kleine. "I've been close for so damn long I'm sick of it."

But this was a new season under a new coach, and Kleine wasn't about to give in to the frustration. "In certain areas we've got a lot to work on," he said. "We're not giving up. When we say the fight is back in the Irish, we still mean it."

Kleine (eight tackles), along with linebacker Mike Kovaleski (13 tackles) led a respectable performance by the Irish defense, which allowed only 13 points on the afternoon. Notre Dame's main goal was to contain then-Heisman Trophy candidate tailback Lorenzo White, who was injured later in the season. But White was healthy for this game, and Spartan head coach George Perles did not hesitate to use him, calling his number on 10 of the Spartans' first 12 offensive plays. "We tried to string it out - he's real good on cutbacks," said Kleine. "He had 140 yards, so we didn't do too well. Nobody should ever have that much."

True, White finished with 147 yards rushing, but it took him 41 carries to do it. And cornerbacks Troy Wilson (seven tackles) and Marv Spence (nine tackles) held White to short gains on sweeps.

Spence and Wilson also were preoccupied with Michigan State quarterback Dave Yarema, who had racked up 258 yards passing the previous week against Arizona State. But the Irish secondary responded for the most part, holding Yarema to only 114 yards passing. Wilson had one interception and free safety James Bobb knocked away two passes. There was one glaringly bad mark on the secondary's report card, a 40-yard touchdown pass from Yarema to Mark Ingram at the beginning of the fourth quarter which gave Michigan State a 20-15 lead.

After rolling up 455 yards of offense against Michigan, more good things were expected from the Irish offense. Instead, inconsistency was the rule as the offense could not establish the running game. Tailback Mark Green finished with 30 yards on 13 carries, and the team managed only 82 yards on the ground the entire game.

As if to emphasize the deficiency of the running game, Green was the leading Irish receiver, grabbing 6 for 53 yards. Flanker Tim Brown had four catches for 75 yards.

Lucian Niemeyer

White's busy day (41 carries, 147 yards) included some high-stepping to avoid teammate Bobby Morse and Irish linebacker Dave Butler.

Lucian Niemeyer

Green was the leading Irish runner (13 carries for 30 yards) and receiver (six catches).

Because Notre Dame could not move the ball, punter Dan Sorenson made his first appearance of the season (the Irish did not punt in the Michigan game). In just the second quarter, Sorenson kicked the ball away four times. "Our offense didn't have the consistency," said Holtz. "I know there are those who say throw the ball 80 times. But you've got to be able to run as well as throw."

The offense went to the air in the middle of the third quarter, resulting in Notre Dame's first touchdown of the game. The seven-play (six passes), 80-yard drive was capped by a 38-yard touchdown pass from Beuerlein to tight end Joel Williams. Although Beuerlein was sacked on the two-point conversion attempt, Notre Dame still trailed by just four points, 13-9.

The Irish appeared to be headed for another score when Beuerlein hit Brown at Michigan

State's five, but Spartan strong safety Dean Altobelli crunched Brown on the tackle, causing a fumble, and cornerback John Miller recovered for Michigan State.

After the defense had forced the Spartans to punt, the Irish quickly put the ball in the end zone on a four-play, 43-yard drive. Tailback Anthony Johnson scored the touchdown on a five-yard run. But once again, the Irish could not convert the two-point attempt and were left facing the task of having to put the ball in the end zone to overcome a 20-15 deficit.

At this point the similarities to the Michigan game were once again evident. The Irish defense held, forcing Michigan State to punt. Notre Dame took over at its own 34 with 2:37 remaining. Beuerlein fumbled on a second-down play, but the Irish recovered. Anxiety then turned to optimism as the senior quarterback connected with Brown for 26 yards and a first down. Beuerlein then hit Williams on the sideline and the completion, along with a roughing-the-passer penalty by Michigan State, moved Notre Dame to the Spartan 31 with a minute and a half to play.

The Scoring

1st quarter

ND - John Carney 27 field goal

MSU - Todd Krumm 44-yard interception return (Chris Caudell kick)

2nd quarter

MSU - Caudell 24 field goal

3rd quarter

MSU - Caudell 25 field goal

ND - Joel Williams 38 pass from Steve Beuerlein (pass failed)

4th quarter

MSU - Mark Ingram 40 pass from Dave Yarema (Caudell kick)

ND - Anthony Johnson 5 run (pass failed)

The crowd of 79,859 figured it was over. The Irish fans waited for the fantastic finish that never did transpire the previous weekend. Beuerlein dropped back and saw Jackson open on the sideline. He fired a pass and it was caught, not by Jackson, but by Krumm. It had happened again. Instead of the sweet smell of victory, the Irish had the bitter taste of defeat.

Third Time's A Charm

By Matt O'Donnell

In his third outing, Lou Holtz recorded his first Irish victory as Notre Dame romped over Purdue with near-perfect play

Irish fans breathed a sigh of relief. The waiting was over. Lou Holtz had won his first game as head coach at Notre Dame. There were no last-minute turnovers or key mistakes to ruin this one. In a near-perfect game Notre Dame soundly defeated Purdue, 41-9.

"It was good to win. I'm happy for the players," said Holtz. He had plenty to be happy about after an impressive performance by the Irish offense. Notre Dame rushed for 276 yards on 60 carries and completed 11 of 16 passes for 202 yards.

On its opening drive Notre Dame set the tone for the game, displaying a mixed offensive attack. Senior quarterback Steve Beuerlein, with excellent protection, connected with Tim Brown and Milt Jackson for passes of 17 and 29 yards, respectively. These, combined with Mark Green's runs of five, seven and eight yards moved the ball from the Notre Dame 26-yard line to the Purdue six. From there Brown took a pitchout from the wishbone formation and raced around right end for four yards and a first down at the two. On the next play senior fullback Pernell Taylor went off tackle for the second touchdown of his career.

The Purdue offense greatly aided the Irish effort with its turnovers. With 2:50 left in the first quarter

Lucian Niemeyer

Johnson's 13-yard run was good for his second touchdown and a 34-9 Irish lead.

Irish linebacker Cedric Figaro recovered a fumble by tailback Jerry Chaney at the Notre Dame 49. This time with Terry Andrysiak at quarterback the Irish marched all the way to the one-yard line, only to be driven back to the 25 by three consecutive penalties. John Carney then kicked a 42-yard field goal to put the Irish up 10-0.

On the first play in the second quarter, James Medlock's fumble on a handoff up the middle was recovered by Notre Dame's Dave Butler. Four plays later, the Irish capitalized once again when Anthony Johnson went off tackle for the score, putting the Irish up 17-0.

Later in the second quarter Beuerlein hit Jackson on a 35-yard touchdown strike to extend the Irish lead to 24-0 at the half. For Jackson it was the second most productive game of his career. The senior split end finished with four receptions for 107 yards on the day.

"I enjoy every game that I play here," Jackson said. "It's gratifying for me to just block and help the other guys. We told ourselves we should have won those first two games. We came out angry today."

Unfortunately for the Boilermakers, Notre Dame didn't calm down in the second half. Brown returned the opening kickoff 25 yards to the Notre Dame 30. Six plays later, Beuerlein, on a play action fake, hit Jackson on a 26-yard pass. That set up a 49-yard field goal by Carney - his longest ever in regular-season play.

On the following drive Purdue finally got on the scoreboard when Chaney took a pitch from the one and went in for a touchdown. However, when the Boilermakers went for two on the conversion attempt, Notre Dame senior captain Mike Kovalski stopped Chaney just short of the goal line on a shuffle pass from freshman quarterback Jeff George.

After Purdue placekicker Jonathan Briggs converted a 22-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter the Notre Dame offense sealed the victory. The Boilermaker's attempted onside kick was recovered by the Irish on the Purdue 42, and a strong running attack moved the ball to the 13 for Notre Dame. From there Anthony Johnson hurdled through the middle, breaking a tackle at the five and finally lunging across the goal line for his second touchdown of the day.

But some excitement was still to come for Notre Dame fans. On the next possession Green took a pitch on the left side and after zigzagging, cut back to the center of the field for a 27-yard touchdown that made the victory complete.

Braxton Banks broke loose for 34 yards on Notre Dame's last possession of the game.

However, not to go unrecognized was the Notre Dame defense, which held the Boilermakers to a mere 54 rushing yards and forced three turnovers. Wally Kleine had seven tackles on the day, while Ron Weissenhofer, Brandy Wells and Kovalski each had six.

"We didn't go to double coverage as much as we had planned," Kovalski said. "What they do well is cross their running backs in their passing scheme. But we did a good job of tackling them as soon as they got the ball. When they scored on us and moved the ball it was a matter of them getting the ball over the linebackers' heads. I really think we can do a lot better."

While Kovalski analyzed the Irish defense, Purdue coach Leon Burtnett tried to find something positive to say about his team's lopsided defeat. "I thought we played a very good game against a very physical team," he said. "Obviously they outplayed us. When you get beat that bad I'm not sure what more you could say."

Burtnett said he was pleased with his freshman quarterback, who completed 28 of 43 passes for 241 yards. "Our quarterback, Jeff George, played by far his best game," Burtnett said. "He had some receivers drop balls and that wasn't his fault."

However, even in such a lopsided victory, Holtz was able to point out mistakes made by his team. "The most discouraging thing is that we let them convert on too many fourth downs." The penalties really hurt the Irish as well, according to Holtz.

The wait was over for Notre Dame's first win, but there was no time to sit back and relax. The Irish were to face second-ranked Alabama the following Saturday. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

ND - Pernell Taylor 2 run (John Carney kick)

ND - Carney 42 field goal

2nd quarter

ND - Anthony Johnson 2 run (Carney kick)

ND - Milt Jackson 35 pass from Steve Beuerlein (Carney kick)

3rd quarter

ND - Carney 49 field goal

P - Jerry Chaney 3 run (pass failed)

4th quarter

P - Jonathan Briggs 22 field goal

ND - Johnson 13 run (Carney kick)

ND - Mark Green 27 run (Carney kick)

Down And Out In The South

By Mike Chmiel

Alabama picked up its first-ever win over Notre Dame with an awesome display before 76,000 fans at Legion Field

After finding little success in the North, the Irish took a 1-2 record from the autumn climate of the Midwest to the summery South. A field temperature of more than 100 degrees and a less-than-welcoming crowd confronted Notre Dame in its southward migration to Alabama's Legion Field to take on the second-ranked Crimson Tide.

The Irish had quite a bit at stake on this trip: they could pick up their second straight win, even their record at .500, and in beating the Tide, make great strides in regaining national recognition. Standing in the way, however, was an unbeaten Alabama team that was entertaining thoughts of a national championship.

Although the Irish had beaten Alabama in all four meetings between the two teams, the Crimson Tide appeared destined to overcome the Irish this year as it rolled to a 28-10 win before 75,808 partisan fans. The thrashing marked Notre Dame's third loss of the year against a Top 20 team, but this was the only lopsided loss of the season for the Irish.

While many believed that the Irish had little chance to knock off this highly-rated team, the Irish believed that they had the ability to head north with their second win. "We came into this game thinking it shouldn't even be close," said Irish center Chuck

"We came into this game thinking it shouldn't even be close. We had an excellent game plan, and we thought we could run our offense to their defense very well."

-- Chuck Lanza, Notre Dame center

Lanza. "We had an excellent game plan, and we thought we could run our offense to their defense very well."

After winning the coin toss to start the game, the Irish elected to kickoff and successfully halted the Tide in Alabama territory for two short-lived drives. Then, disaster struck for Notre Dame. The Irish began their second drive with a play that gave the Tide an emotional charge.

On the second Notre Dame possession, all-America candidate Cornelius Bennett blind-sided quarterback Steve Beuerlein for an eight-yard loss. The hit, which gave Beuerlein a concussion, stymied the Irish drive and charged the Alabama faithful to a fever pitch that shook Legion Field.

"That play really excited the crowd and gave them great momentum," said Irish head coach Lou Holtz after the game. "That hit he made? . . . It really did pick us up," said Alabama nose guard Curt Jarvis. "That's probably one of the most vicious licks I've ever seen on a quarterback. I think that kind of set the tempo for the rest of the game."

Two plays after the Bennett sack, the Tide revealed an abundance of team speed that left the Irish in the dust for most of the contest. Fielding a 39-yard Dan Sorenson punt on his own 34-yard line, Tide speedster Greg Richardson returned the ball 66 yards for the game's first score and a 7-0 Alabama lead with a little over five minutes left in the opening quarter.

"The punt return was something that we had been working on extremely hard this week," said Richardson. "We had been watching films and we saw that we could get a return on them because they had a lot of big guys that were real slow on their coverage teams. I made the turn and got some key blocks and walked into the endzone."

Despite the speedy return and shift in momentum, the Irish stayed in the contest with three strong drives after the score, but the turnover haunted the Irish once again in the early season. After junior quarterback Terry Andrysiak replaced an injured Beuerlein for the first time in the game, Andrysiak fumbled a handoff that Tide linebacker Greg Gilbert recovered on the Alabama 36-yard line.

Four plays later, Tide quarterback Mike Shula hit the speedy Albert Bell on a breakaway, 52-

"I knew that Alabama was a good second half team, and they didn't need any encouragement."

-- Lou Holtz

yard pass play. With seven minutes left in the first half, Alabama had amassed a 14-0 lead with two big plays.

"They ran a pretty basic offense," said Irish free safety Mike Haywood, who returned to the defensive backfield after an early leg injury. "They try to pound the ball down your throat. Then, if they don't have success in pounding the ball down your throat, they try to throw the big bomb."

Following Bell's score, the Irish came back to knock on the door deep in Alabama territory. After John Carney missed a 46-yard field goal, the Irish stopped the Tide on three straight plays, and left tackle Robert Banks recovered a Shula fumble after a hit by outside linebacker Darrell Gordon. At the eight-yard line, Tim Brown grabbed a Beuerlein pass in the flat, and ran into the end zone to cut the Tide's lead in half.

Before the half, however, Shula engineered another scoring drive for the Tide with an 18-yard pass play, a 15-yard personal foul against the Irish, a 16-yard reverse by Bell and an 11-yard touchdown pass over the middle to tight end Howard Cross.

With 59 seconds left in the half, Andrysiak helped the Irish complete their scoring with a 71-yard drive that ended with a 22-yard field goal and no time remaining. In the first half, the Irish outgained the Tide 226 yards to 149 yards and controlled the ball for 17 minutes; the 21-10 deficit, therefore, did not seem insurmountable. "When we came out in the second half, I felt really good," said Holtz.

"We felt at halftime that we were right in the game," said Beuerlein who continued to switch in and out of the line-up with Andrysiak. "We just needed to come out in the opening drive of the second half and get something out of it."

To open the second half, however, Brown fumbled the kickoff to Alabama. Shula then took the Tide into the end zone in three plays, with the points coming on a 22-yard pass to Bell. The score deflated Irish hopes and created a margin that was impossible to overcome.

Bobby Humphrey picked up 73 yards on 17 carries, but couldn't escape Wally Kleine this time.

Cross' 11-yard touchdown reception gave Alabama a 21-7 lead in the second quarter.

"I knew that Alabama was a good second half team, and they didn't need any encouragement," said Holtz. "When we received the kickoff and turned it right over, and then they converted a third down and nine. . . . From then on, they played it very conservatively."

Throughout the rest of the game, the Irish were unable to muster any solid threats. The deepest second half drive for the Irish resulted in an incomplete fourth-down and five pass from the Alabama 30-yard line.

Both teams exchanged turnovers in a lack-luster final quarter that saw Andrysiak throw two interceptions. Shula also had a pass picked off in the fourth quarter, as did Irish reserve quarterback

Steve Belles. The contest ended with Alabama advancing national championship hopes and Notre Dame remaining frustrated by turnovers.

"Alabama is an excellent football team," said Holtz of the group that Ray Perkins had inherited from the legendary Bear Bryant. "I was really impressed with them. Alabama would be very difficult to beat. They have a complete team. Their kicking game is awfully good, their offense is solid and they don't make many mistakes. Defensively, they force you into a lot of bad plays."

As the Irish approached the middle of their season, however, hope for success still existed. "We just have to have another good week of practice," said Irish split end Milt Jackson.

"Notre Dame was like I talked about all week," said Perkins after his team's fifth straight win.

"They have a chance to be a fine football team before this season is over. That will depend on what they're made of. They have some really fine talent. I know a few of our offensive linemen don't want to go up against them again. They also have some people at the skill positions that give them the opportunity to be a fine team."

For the Irish, the loss to Alabama proved to be a low point as far as the scoreboard was concerned, but against the Tide Notre Dame provided more evidence that it could play with the top teams in the country. Eliminate the turnovers and big plays, and Alabama would have found a win tough to get, even at home. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

A - Greg Richardson 66 punt return

2nd quarter

A - Albert Bell 52 pass from Mike Shula (Tiffin kick)

ND - Tim Brown 8 pass from Steve Beuerlein (Carney kick)

A - Howard Cross 11 pass from Shula (Tiffin kick)

ND - Carney 22 field goal

3rd quarter

A - Bell 22 pass from Shula (Tiffin kick)

4th quarter

none

An Inch More To The Left

By Ian Larkin

John Carney's three field goals weren't enough as his final attempt sailed wide right to give Pitt a win over the mistake-prone Irish

"It was an exceptionally depressing loss for our football players." These were Lou Holtz' words after the Irish had lost to the Pitt Panthers, 10-9. Once again, in the same fashion as in the Michigan and Michigan State games, the Irish took the ball deep into the opponent's territory with time running out, but were unable to score.

The luck of the Irish was not there for John Carney this time, as his 38-yard field goal attempt with 18 seconds left went wide to the right. It was a tough loss for the team and the home crowd, who had expected a win after coming close twice before. Notre Dame was left stunned by the frustration of letting the game slip away after having the ball and the lead with three minutes to play, then getting a second chance, only to watch it end in defeat.

Pitt entered the game led by fifth-year senior John Congemi and Notre Dame was starting junior quarterback Terry Andrysiak. Steve Beuerlein had suffered a concussion in the loss to Alabama the week before and Holtz wanted to revive an offense which had scored only 10 points against the Tide. It was a perfect football day at Notre Dame Stadium, 65 degrees and partly sunny skies, as the Irish lined up to kick-off.

The Irish defense started the game off by stopping Pitt's first possession on Cedric Figaro's fumble recovery, but Notre Dame's

Lucian Niemeyer

Pitt's defense sacked Beuerlein twice and forced one interception.

The defense was superb, racking up five sacks and pressuring Congemi every time he dropped back to pass.

offense also was stalled by the swarming defense of Pitt. What had been predicted to be a defensive battle was turning out to be just that.

Notre Dame's next possession ended with a missed 41-yard field goal by Carney. Pitt then marched down to the Notre Dame 26-yard line behind the passing of Congemi only to have a missed 43-yard field goal attempt by freshman Jeff Van Horne. Beuerlein then entered the game at the Irish helm and took Notre Dame deep into Pitt territory as the first quarter came to a close.

The second quarter started with Carney hitting a 35-yard field goal for the first score of the game. Because of Notre Dame's good kickoff coverage, Pitt was then forced to start at its own one-yard line and got nowhere under the heavy pressure of the Irish defense led by 6-9, 274 pound Wally Kleine.

Up to this point, Pitt was stymied by poor field position and the excellent defense of the Irish. Notre Dame's offense, meanwhile, stopped itself on its next two possessions with Beuerlein's inconsistent passing and two costly penalties. Andrysiak again entered the ballgame, only to turn the ball over on a fumble two plays later.

Pitt finally inherited the ball in good position - on the Notre Dame 26 - only to have its field goal attempt blocked by senior defensive tackle Mike Griffin. In the last series of the first half Beuerlein returned to the quarterback spot and drove the Irish to the Pitt 31 to set up Carney's 48-yard field goal.

The first half ended with Notre Dame leading 6-0 and each team relying on its defense. Neither the Irish quarterbacks nor Congemi were successful in sparking any kind of threat. The first half statistics favored the Panthers, but they didn't tell the whole story, as the Panthers' drives all started deep in their own territory. The Pitt offense was only in Notre Dame territory three times in the first half.

The first Irish drive of the second half ended with linebacker Steve Apke intercepting a Beuerlein pass intended for Anthony Johnson. Pitt took over at its own 17 and on a third-and-14 situation, Congemi flipped a pass to Pitt's "Refrigerator," Craig Heyward, who broke tackles for a 19-yard gain.

On the next third down play, Congemi connected with Bill Osborn, who was able to slip the grasp of Brandy Wells and gain 32 yards. Heyward took the ball on the next three plays and blasted to the Irish two yard line. Congemi scored on the next play from scrimmage to give Pitt a one point lead.

The Irish offense once again went nowhere and quick-kicked on third and 23. Three plays later, Pitt again was faced with a third down and long situation, and broke the big play - a 28-yard pass to flanker Chuck Scales. The Panthers started the fourth quarter at the Notre Dame three-yard line but were stopped cold by the Irish defense in a four-play goal line stand.

Notre Dame proceeded to regain the lead on a 20-yard field goal by Carney after driving 74 yards behind the running of Pernel Taylor. Pitt's next possession was marred by a Figaro sack and another dropped pass and the Panthers were forced to punt.

Notre Dame took control of the ball with 2:53 to play and a two-point lead. But the Irish offense generated only five yards in three plays while only eating 30 seconds off the clock. To make matters worse, Dan Sorensen's punt was blocked, which let Pitt take over at the Notre Dame 34.

This set up a 29-yard field goal by Van Horne that gave Pitt a 10-9 lead with 1:17 left to play. Beuerlein and company took over at their own 24. On the first play from scrimmage the senior quarterback hit Milt Jackson, who flew down the sideline for a gain of 31 yards. Anthony Johnson caught a 23-yarder on the very next play.

After the Panthers stopped the Irish at the Pitt 24 yard line with 18 seconds left, it all came down to John Carney's 38-yard field goal attempt. The kick went wide right by a matter of inches. Another heart-breaking last ditch effort by Notre Dame had failed.

the victory when they had the ball with a two-point lead and less than three minutes to play. Carney, who began the season as Notre Dame's most accurate field goal kicker, did not connect on two this day. Holtz said of the last missed attempt, "Maybe that was a little

"At halftime I told the kids we were very fortunate to be only six points down. We had bad field position all during the first half and there were a lot of dropped passes."

-- Mike Gottfried, Pittsburgh head coach

The loss left the Irish wondering what was needed to get the victories that seemed to be so elusive. The defense was superb, racking up five sacks and pressuring Congemi every time he dropped back to pass. But the Pitt defense was just as tough on the Irish, holding them to 300 total yards.

The defensive standouts for the Irish were the guys who had been doing the job all season, Wally Kleine (two sacks), Mike Kovalesski, Dave Butler and Steve Lawrence. The Irish offense could not get on track and had to rely on the three field goals by Carney while never threatening the six point paydirt.

Pitt head coach Mike Gottfried summed up the Panthers' first half position, "At halftime, I told the kids we were very fortunate to be only six points down. We had bad field position all during the first half and there were a lot of dropped passes." In the second half the Panthers didn't fare much better but the blocked punt was the break they needed for the go-ahead points.

The Irish once again did themselves in. They could have sealed too much pressure to put on one young man." Whatever the case, Notre Dame came up short again and saw its record dip to a discouraging 1-4. Air Force loomed on the horizon and the Irish had to put another tough loss behind them. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

none

2nd quarter

ND - John Carney 35 field goal

ND - Carney 48 field goal

3rd quarter

P - John Congemi 1 run (Jeff VanHorne kick)

4th quarter

ND - Carney 20 field goal

P - VanHorne 29 field goal

Breaking The Wishbone

By Dan Coyle

For the first time in five years, the Irish defense stopped the Air Force wishbone and sparked Notre Dame's offense to victory

Off we go, into the wild blue yonder,

Flying high, into the sun. . . .

Nothing can stop the U.S. Air Force.

For four years this song had haunted Notre Dame football. Beginning in 1982, when the Falcons beat the Irish 30-17, it seemed that nothing could stop Air Force from finding a way to defeat Notre Dame: blocking the potential game-winning field goal in 1983, blocking another field goal and returning it for the winning touchdown in 1985.

But this year, sparked by a smothering defense and some outstanding individual offensive efforts, the Irish blasted the Cadets back into the wild blue yonder by a 31-3 score.

The game was billed as a contest between thunder and lightning - Notre Dame's bulk against the smaller, faster Falcons. But on this day, the Irish had both size and speed. Tim Brown's 95-yard bolt for a touchdown lit the Irish fuse in the first quarter; the defense, finally outweighing and outplaying the Cadets, solved the wishbone offense. Notre Dame held Air Force, a team that was averaging 29 points and 324 yards per game heading into the contest, to 245 total yards and a single field goal.

"It was the first time, maybe, that we've really played a complete game - offense, defense and the kicking game," said Head Coach Lou Holtz, whose team improved to 2-4.

Lucian Niemeyer

Johnson's 72 rushing yards led the Irish.

Early in the game, however, this year's Irish looked more like the same team that had lost to Air Force each of the past four years. Notre Dame's first possession ended with a fumble at midfield; the second saw the Irish drive to the Falcons 15-yard line before penalties and a sack took them out of scoring range; the third was stalled by another sack and ended in a 12-yard punt by Dan Sorensen.

Sorensen's short punt set up the first score of the game, Chris Blasy's 32-yard field goal with 55 seconds left in the first quarter. "Touchdown Jesus" seemed to be throwing its arms up in despair - another Irish loss to the Cadets appeared to be on the way.

The lead, however, lasted all of 14 seconds, which was time enough for Brown to take the kickoff at the five, break a tackle at the 15, and race down the center of the field for a touchdown. Brown's run erased the Air Force lead and dashed any Falcon hopes that this Irish team would fold like that of years past.

"The guys up front did a great job of blocking," Brown said, "One guy got a hand on me, but I didn't really see him." Holtz, however, gave the credit more directly to Brown, "Tim got some great blocking, but you don't return a kickoff for a touchdown without some tremendous individual effort."

After two ineffective Notre Dame possessions, the Irish defense lit the spark under the lethargic offense with the first of four fumble recoveries. Sophomore safety George Streeter, starting in place of an injured Brandy

Lucian Niemeyer

Kleine (96), Mike Griffin (94) and Robert Banks (56) held Tomallo and the Air Force offense in check.

Wells, jarred the ball loose from Falcon quarterback Vince Tomallo. Linebacker Cedric Figaro recovered the ball on the Irish 38.

The offense responded with its first sustained drive of the day, a nine-play, 62-yard march, the Irish using their superior size and strength to move the Falcons and the ball downfield. Quarterback Steve Beuerlein capped the drive with a one-yard dive off a broken play and the score was 14-3.

Beuerlein used his legs as much as his arm to beat the Falcons, carrying 10 times for 50 yards. The Irish senior relied on smarts and guts, picking his spots and plowing slowly but surely ahead on option plays when the pitch man and full-back were covered.

"Coach was calling me 'twink-toes,'" laughed Beuerlein, who is known more for his size 14-E feet than for his speed. "I don't know what motivated him to run more today," responded Holtz, "He did what he had to do to win."

The Irish offense struck again just before the half. Dropping back from the Irish 24, Beuerlein spotted Brown racing deep down the middle, covered by two defenders. Slightly underthrown, the ball came down into a mass of players. Brown outfought two Falcons and came away with the ball and a 48-yard gain, setting up John Carney's 27-yard field goal with :01 left on the clock. The Irish went to the locker room comfortably ahead, 17-3.

It is a tradition at the academy that following an Air Force score, the cadets in the stands do push ups for every Falcon point. The Notre Dame defense permitted the visiting cadets to remain comfortably in their seats for the remainder of the afternoon, allowing zero points and only 100 yards of total offense in the second half.

The cadets might as well have sat on their hands for the second half, as their offense crossed the Irish 40-yard line only once. How did the Irish manage to suddenly control an offense that had wreaked such havoc against them in years past? "We were on top of it a little more today that we were in the past," said senior tackle Wally Kleine, "We got a little closer to it."

Outside linebacker Figaro compared the attitude of this year's defense to that of years past. "This time we came out and attacked them," he said. "Before, we played more of a slow-play defense, which I felt hurt us. But today we didn't wait for them."

The Irish offense didn't wait for the Falcons either, putting the game away in the third quarter with back-to-back touchdown drives. A 12-play, 71-yard drive ended as Pernell Taylor powered his way into the end zone from one yard out.

Notre Dame allowed the Air Force offense to have the ball all

Continued on page 22

Scholastic's 1986

All-Opponent Team

RB Bobby Humphrey
Alabama 6-1, 180, So.

QB Jim Smith
Michigan 6-2, 180, Jr.

T Randy Dixon
Pitt 6-4, 286, Sr.

WR Wendell Davis
LSU 6-0, 189, Jr.

TE Brian Siverling
Penn State 6-7, 253, Sr.

offense

C Patrick
MSU 6-2, 240, Jr.

OLB Shane Conlan
Penn State 6-3, 225, Sr.

DT Mark Messner
Michigan 6-3, 248, Jr.

NG J. Smith
SMU 6-4, 240, Jr.

CB Tom Rotello
Air Force 5-11, 179, Sr.

ILB Terry Maki
Air Force 6-2, 236, Sr.

P Greg Montgomery
MSU 6-4, 210, Jr.

defense

FS Ray Isom
Penn State 5-9, 187, Sr.

Harbaugh
5-3, 207, Sr.

RB Lorenzo White
MSU 5-11, 204, Jr.

Shurmur
35, Jr.

G Mark Hammerstein
Michigan 6-4, 285, Sr.

G Jeff Bregel
USC 6-4, 280, Sr.

WR Albert Bell
Alabama 6-0, 170, Sr.

T John Elliot
Michigan 6-7, 306, Sr.

Ferry Ball
b, 278, Sr.

DT Tony Woods
Pitt 6-4, 240, Sr.

SS Tim McDonald
USC 6-3, 205, Sr.

ILB Shane Bullough
MSU 5-11, 217, Sr.

OLB Cornelius Bennett
Alabama 6-4, 235, Sr.

CB Ron Woodson
Purdue 6-1, 200, Sr.

Continued from page 19

of one minute, and then took over for a 13-play, 62-yard drive, taking 6:30 off the clock. Anthony Johnson hurdled over the pack from one yard out, and Carney added the extra point to complete the scoring.

All that remained for the Irish in the fourth quarter was the task of holding the 31-3 lead. And they did, with a conservative offense and a defense that refused to allow the big play.

Both back-up quarterbacks Terry Andrysiak and Steve Belles saw action in the fourth quarter. Neither particularly distinguished himself. Andrysiak botched a snap from center; Belles tossed his only pass incomplete.

One back-up who did distinguish himself was Streeter. Getting his first real taste of playing time as a result of Brandy Wells' injury, Streeter spent a good deal of the afternoon in the Falcon backfield, making eight tackles, including three worth 26 yards in losses. Streeter also broke up two passes, caused a fumble and had an interception nullified by a penalty.

"It's hard to do much when you're just on the kicking team," Streeter said, "I got a chance to play at the expense of an injury to a teammate and I just tried to pick up the slack."

Holtz was less restrained in his praise of Streeter's play. "I was impressed," he said. "I'm sure that this performance will be encouraging for him."

The past four years Notre Dame had gone into its game with the Falcons favored to win, and every year Air Force had surprised the Irish. This year there seemed to be a difference in the Irish attitude, a seriousness that had been lacking.

"Going into the football game we had a tremendous amount of respect for the Air Force football team," said Holtz. Senior center Chuck Lanza put it differently. "There was no playing around this year as far as we were concerned. We had a very intense attitude. We knew it was a matter of wearing them down."

The victory was especially gratifying to those Notre Dame seniors who had played in the past losses. "It feels really good to finally beat Air Force," said captain Mike Kovaleski. "Through the years they've really been a thorn in our side."

The Scoring

1st quarter

AF - Chris Blasy 32 field goal

ND - Tim Brown 95 kickoff return (Carney kick)

2nd quarter

ND - Steve Beuerlein 1 run (Carney kick)

ND - Carney 27 field goal

3rd quarter

ND - Pernell Taylor 1 run (Carney kick)

ND - Anthony Johnson 1 run (Carney kick)

4th quarter

none

Lucian Niemeyer

Darrell Gordon made a big hit with his play against the Falcons' wishbone offense.

Halfway Is Enough

By Frank Lipo

The Irish recorded their 23rd consecutive win over Navy with a 28-0 edge in the first half and sloppy play in the second

The Notre Dame-Navy series, the nation's longest continuous intersectional college football rivalry, returned to its roots in Baltimore on November 1 for the first time since 1958. And as has been the case so often since the first meeting of the two teams in 1927, Notre Dame came away with a lopsided victory to bring its season record to 3-4.

The 33-14 Irish victory, Notre Dame's 23rd in a row over the Middies, gave the Irish a whopping 50-9-1 series lead. But although the final score showed the traditional Irish dominance, Notre Dame also showed the disturbing "split-personality" which plagued it the entire season. An excellent first half propelled the Irish to a 28-0 lead. The story in the second half, though, was a lack of Notre Dame consistency and a Navy team that wouldn't quit.

Well-executed plays filled the first half for the Irish, leading to 16 first downs and 314 yards total offense. Notre Dame held Navy to just 23 yards total offense in the half and only one first down.

On their second possession of the game the Irish steadily moved the ball down the field and scored on a two-yard pass from quarterback Steve Beuerlein to Joel Williams. The pass, which was tipped to Williams by Navy middle guard Enoch Blazis, capped a 14-play, 57-yard drive.

The Irish scored a touchdown on each of their next two possessions. Tim Brown, the standout all-purpose man for the Irish, quickly scored on a 77-yard pass from Beuerlein. Brown caught a total of 5 passes for 142 yards in the half and caught two more for 42 additional yards in the second half. The All-American's seven catches netted 184 yards, a career high for the talented junior.

After a Navy punt, Irish fullback Pernell Taylor capped a 60-yard, nine-play drive with an 11-yard touchdown run on Notre Dame's next possession.

Navy's Tony Hollinger, normally a flanker but filling in for the injured star tailback Chuck Smith, fumbled at the Navy five-yard line and the ball was recovered by Notre Dame linebacker Cedric Figaro with just more than three minutes left in the half. Two plays later Taylor scored his second touchdown of the game with a one-yard dive. Notre Dame took the 28-0 lead to the locker room.

"I think that the way we played today in the first half, we can play with and beat anybody," said senior captain Mike Kovaleski after the game.

Beuerlein, who was nine of 12 for 176 yards and two touchdowns in the first half and 15 of 22 for 248 yards in the game, agreed with his classmate. "The first half we played pretty well," Beuerlein said. "In the second half, we came out flat, and Navy was fired up. We need to get the killer instinct to finish up and do well the rest of the way."

The lack of that "killer instinct" was evident in the second half as Navy scored 14 points and moved the ball well, earning 13 first downs to Notre Dame's six. The Irish scoring was limited to only a third-quarter field goal by senior John Carney and a fourth-quarter safety by the Irish defense. Carney's field goal was his 40th at Notre Dame, breaking the previous school record of 39 set by Dave Reeve in his career from 1974-77.

Navy head coach Gary Tranquill, who was fired at the end of the season, had his offensive problems eased by the Middle defense. Led by the hard-hitting play and 18 tackles of safety Marc Firlie and the 26 tackles of linebacker Vincent McBeth, the Middies were able to slow down the Irish offense and stay in the game.

Courtesy South Bend Tribune

Beuerlein heeded Holtz's advice and went on to break the school record for career offense.

Quarterback Bob Misch started the game for Navy instead of regular starter Bill Byrne. Byrne, brother of backup Irish quarterback Tom Byrne, was benched after three consecutive losses prior to the Notre Dame game. After a dismal first half in which he was unable to lead the Middies into Notre Dame territory, Misch took charge in the second half. In the final minute of the quarter it took just two passes to Hollinger to move the Middies 40 yards into the end zone.

Byrne replaced Misch after the safety and drove Navy 77 yards down the field for its final score. Byrne's 21-yard pass to Flanker Michael Ray was his 27th career touchdown throw, a new Navy career record. Byrne looked impressive in his reserve role, completing seven of 12 passes for 88 yards. The seven completions brought his career completions total to 357, also establishing a new Middle record.

Carney and Byrne weren't the only record-breakers on this warm Baltimore night. Beuerlein's 244 yards of total offense (the 248 passing yards minus four lost rushing yards) brought his career total to 5,553 yards in that category. Joe Theismann held the previous career record for total offense, piling up 5,432 yards from 1968 to 1970. Figaro's second quarter fumble recovery gave him six for the season, establishing a new Irish single-season record. The previous record of five was held by six other Irish players.

Despite the Irish problems in the second half, the victory was still a big one for Notre Dame. The defense was strong throughout the game, holding the Middies to 218 yards in the air and minus-seven yards rushing in 23 attempts. The longest Navy run was only six yards and Misch was sacked four times. The swarming Irish defense was well-balanced, with 22 players registering tackles.

"Against Navy, we played awfully well the first half, but the second half was a different story," said Head Coach Lou Holtz. "We still are waiting to see us put together a full 60 minutes of good football against a team with minimal mistakes."

Although the Irish victory was not as impressive as Holtz had hoped, it was a much-needed win, ending an eight-game road losing streak which stretched back to a 27-20 loss to SMU in the 1984 Aloha Bowl. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

ND - Joel Williams 2 pass from Steve Beuerlein (John Carney kick)

2nd quarter

ND - Tim Brown 77 pass from Beuerlein (Carney kick)

ND - Pernell Taylor 11 run (Carney kick)

ND - Taylor 1 run (Carney kick)

3rd quarter

ND - Carney 19 field goal

NAVY - Tony Hollinger 1 run (Theodore Fundoukas kick)

4th quarter

ND - Safety (Misch intentional grounding in end zone)

NAVY - Mike Ray 21 pass from Bill Byrne (Fundoukos kick)

Brown Rides Mustangs Out Of Town

By Ed Jordanich

Dallas-born Tim Brown paced the 4-4 Irish with 235 yards as his hometown SMU Mustangs fell by a whopping 32 points

In 1966, after Notre Dame destroyed the Trojans of Southern California 51-0 in Los Angeles, USC coach John McKay was asked if he saw any weaknesses in the Irish effort. "Yeah," he replied. "Their sixth kickoff was a little short."

SMU head coach Bobby Collins could certainly empathize with McKay after taking a similar beating at the hands of the Irish, 61-29 at Notre Dame Stadium this season.

Notre Dame extended its winning streak to three games and evened its record at 4-4 by scoring more points than any Irish team since 1977 and racking up the most offensive yards by a Notre Dame team in the 1980s. Big plays on offense and defense against the Mustangs highlighted the most convincing win of the season for Lou Holtz's squad, and the Irish head coach was pleased with the results.

"We were 1-4," said Holtz. "But I had faith in these guys and all the credit goes to them. We beat a good football team in SMU and we did it in a good, sound way." The Irish win set the stage for an encounter with undefeated and third-ranked Penn State the next week. The SMU game indicated that the Irish would be ready for the Nittany Lions.

Not only did the Irish pile up 615 yards in total offense, but they received outstanding individual performances and spectacular plays from their big guns on both sides of the line of scrimmage.

Joe Vitacco

Banks earned his 28 yards the hard way, plowing through the middle of the Mustang defense.

Senior quarterback Steve Beuerlein had one of his best days in an Irish uniform with 269 yards passing on 11 completions. A big chunk of that yardage came on a third quarter bomb to junior flanker Tim Brown that covered 84 yards.

Brown had another incredible day and Holtz commented after the game that his star receiver/runner and returner had earned "two desserts." The Dallas native burned the team from his home town with 235 all-purpose yards to up his per-game average to 173.7. It was his third consecutive game of over 200 yards in total offense.

Despite the blowout indicated by the final score, Notre Dame had its hands full with the Mustangs through the first half. The game began inauspiciously, as both teams punted on their first series of downs. But what followed was a barrage of touchdowns and field goals that did not stop until the last minute of the game.

Four minutes into the game, Irish senior cornerback Troy Wilson brought the traditional capacity crowd of 59,075 to its feet with a nifty 47-yard punt return to the SMU 43-yard line. Sticking exclusively to a running game that Holtz wanted to establish, Notre Dame marched into the end zone in 10 workman-like plays. Alonzo Jefferson carried the final two yards. The senior from Florida scored for the first time in nearly two years, after sitting out almost all of 1985 with a knee injury.

SMU wasted no time in answering the Irish. Combining the deft fakes of quarterback Bobby Watters and the hard running of backs Ron Morris, Jeff Atkins, and Joe Morrison, the Mustangs hit paydirt in less than two minutes to tie the game at 7-7.

Kicker John Carney added the first of his four field goals of the day for the Irish, a 28-yard effort, to put his team ahead 10-7 at the end of the first quarter.

SMU went ahead for the last time early in the second quarter when tailback Atkins completed an 87-yard touchdown drive with a three-yard burst. The Irish defense seemed to be on its heels as Watters had little trouble moving the Mustangs down the field.

But the Irish offense also moved the ball at ease on its next possession. Beuerlein hit a streaking Brown over the middle and the flashy flanker outraced several defenders before he was forced to the sidelines at the Mustang five for a gain of 60. Freshman Anthony Johnson, a South Bend native, dove over on fourth-and-goal from the one to cap the drive and put the Irish back in front, 17-14.

Holtz sent in plenty of successful plays with receivers such as Reggie Ward.

On SMU's next possession, Irish senior defensive lineman Robert Banks came up with the defensive hit of the game and perhaps the most pivotal play of the contest. Banks beat his man to the inside and chased down Watters, causing him to fumble at the SMU 15. Outside rush specialist Cedric Figaro pounced on the loose ball and not only gave the Irish the football in prime field position, but extended a record in the process. Figaro's recovery was his seventh of 1986, a single-season school record.

Banks talked about his play after the game. "Watters had a lot of time to throw," he said, "but he scrambled right to me. I'm glad Fig was there because we needed that spark to get us going."

The Irish capitalized in one play, as Brown took a pitch out of the wishbone and followed key blocks from Johnson and Mark Green to scamper into the end zone untouched. Suddenly the Irish were up by 10 points. After the defense stopped the Mustangs in three plays, Carney added a field goal, this one from 40 yards, to end a short drive and put Notre Dame on top, 27-14.

The Irish got the ball back once more before the half, and took advantage of their opportunity. Carney converted from 30 yards for a 30-14 lead after 30 minutes.

Early third quarter action resembled the start of the game as both defenses forced punts from seemingly sluggish offenses. Another big defensive play got the Irish going in the second half and set the stage for a rout.

Freshman linebacker Mike Stonebreaker, playing for senior captain Mike Kovalski, who had suffered a concussion in the first half, picked off a Watters pass to give Beuerlein and the offense a first down at the SMU 30. From there the offensive line took over and showed the improvement it had made in the previous three games. Johnson ran four times to set up senior Pernell Taylor's seven-yard bulldozing run into the end zone. With the scoreboard reading 37-14 Irish, SMU mounted a drive to get back into the game.

Watters directed an 80-yard, 14-play march that led to a touchdown and a two-point conversion to close the gap to 37-22. The Mustangs appeared to have gotten their second wind, and at this point Holtz was still worried. "It was a real dogfight up front," said the first year Irish coach. "We kept coming at them but it was anybody's game until that big play."

That big play was Beuerlein's deep sideline fly-pattern call executed to perfection. Moments after SMU had scored, Brown hauled in the third longest touchdown pass in Irish history and put the game out of reach, 44-22. The play broke the Mustangs' spirit, and opened the floodgates for the Irish offense.

Banks recovered another Watters fumble and set up a short Carney field goal, his record-tying fourth of the day. It was the second time the Irish senior kicker had made four in a game in his productive career.

The first string was replaced by Terry Andrysiak and the second unit after an SMU punt with 10 minutes left in the game. The backups had been criticized by Holtz for a poor performance the week before against Navy. Against the Mustangs, the reserves scored two touchdowns of their own on drives of 60 and 58 yards. Tailbacks Hiawatha and D'Juan Francisco, Aaron Robb, fullbacks Tom Monahan and Braxton Banks, as well as the quick-footed Andrysiak used excellent blocking to escape the dog house.

Robb ran in from a yard out and Andrysiak made several quick moves that took him across the goal line from 20 yards out to wrap up the Irish scoring. The blur of running, passing, and scoring by the gold helmets stopped at 61 points. The Mustangs would add a late touchdown pass but SMU coach Collins acknowledged the Irish dominance following the game.

"I have to give Notre Dame credit, they played extremely well," said Collins. "They made the big play to counter our runs at them. Notre Dame has played well all year and they are a very good football team. They could play anyone in the Top 20."

Collins also commented on the brilliant play of Brown, and in the Irish locker room Lou Holtz echoed the praises of his most potent weapon who would go on to earn first-team Associated Press All-America honors.

"Timmy Brown played a tremendous game," said Holtz. "I think his success is a combination of things. You've got to have some breaks go your way. But the blocking is better, the ball is there and he's playing great."

Notre Dame's excellent line play on offense and opportunistic defense were all good signs for Holtz and the Irish. The momentum derived from beating a quality opponent like SMU sent the Irish into the Penn State game with confidence that an upset was in the cards. Collins and his SMU team were testimony that the Nitany Lions would face an improving, explosive, and prepared group of Notre Dame players. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

ND - Alonzo Jefferson 2 run (John Carney kick)

SMU - Jeff Atkins 2 run (Brandy Brownlee kick)

ND - Carney 38 field goal

2nd quarter

SMU - Atkins 3 run (Brownlee kick)

ND - Anthony Johnson 1 run (Carney kick)

ND - Tim Brown 15 run (Carney kick)

ND - Carney 40 field goal

ND - Carney 30 field goal

3rd quarter

ND - Pernell Taylor 7 run (Carney kick)

SMU - Darryl Terrell 2 run (Albert Reese pass from Bobby Watters)

ND - Brown 84 pass from pass from Steve Beuerlein (Carney kick)

4th quarter

ND - Carney 22 field goal

ND - Aaron Robb 1 run (Carney kick)

ND - Terry Andrysiak 20 run (Carney kick)

SMU - Ron Morris 34 pass from Watters (Brownlee kick)

Upset-Me-Not

By Kathleen McKernan

The Irish came within six yards of knocking off the eventual national champs, but Penn State's defense stopped them short

It looked as though things were going to be different for the Irish as they took on the Penn State Nittany Lions on a cold mid-November afternoon.

"It was a great football game," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said of the matchup with the eventual national champions, which featured numerous momentum swings and a down-to-the-wire finish. "... if you didn't care who won. Unfortunately, we did."

It was shades of past games and a forecast of games to come for both teams when Penn State stopped the Irish deep in Penn State territory with less than 39 seconds left, after having the ball first and goal on the Lion's six-yard line to assure a Lion 24-19 victory at Notre Dame Stadium.

Penn State's coach Joe Paterno had praise for both his club and the Irish after the tight game. "I know it sounds like a cliché, but you hate to see either team lose a game like this," Paterno said. "I think they played as well as they could, and we played as well as we could."

"We beat a great team away from home in a tough stadium," he continued. "That's what you have to do to win a national championship. We didn't win it but we stayed in position."

Penn State may not have won the national championship with this ball game, but Paterno's words became an exact prognostication of things to come. In this game, as in future Lion's outings, Lou Holtz' assessment of the team from State College, Pennsylvania held true. "Penn State is used to winning," he said, "and they found a way."

Penn State scored on its second possession of the first quarter, picking up 78 yards in 11 plays on four first downs after a Steve Beuerlein fumble recovered by the Lions' Pete Giftopoulos. Tailback D.J. Dozier ran for a total of 26 yards in the drive. State's quarterback John Shaffer passed 34 yards to Ray Roundtree after Dave Butler tackled Dozier for a one-yard loss to open the possession for the Lions. After a Dozier 13-yard delayed run to the Irish six yard line, fullback Steve Smith and Dozier alternated runs for short yardage until Smith went over left tackle for the touchdown.

Notre Dame picked up its first three points on a John Carney 20-yard field goal early in the second quarter and forced Penn State to punt after tackle Mike Griffin sacked Shaffer for a ten-yard loss on second down in Penn State's short possession. The Irish picked up another three points on a 38-yard Carney field goal to come within one.

Lucian Niemeyer

Senior captain Kovaleski led the Irish with 11 tackles, two for a loss.

Notre Dame held the Lions on their next possession and forced them to punt, but on the next Irish possession, a pressured quarterback Steve Beuerlein fumbled and was saddled with a 12-yard loss. With 1:03 remaining, Penn State had the ball on its own 25 yard line. Despite advancing the ball as close as the two-yard line and calling three timeouts to set up the big play, Penn State settled for a Massimo Manca 19-yard field goal to end the half with the score: Penn State 10, Notre Dame 6.

With that field goal, as with the first touchdown, a Beuerlein fumble helped Penn State score. But at halftime, Beuerlein was trying to look beyond the fumbles to the next half.

"I wasn't feeling down at all at halftime," he said. "In fact, everybody kept coming up to me and talking to me about it, and it got a little irritating. I kept saying, 'I'm all right. I just want to go out and play like we did in the first half.' On the first fumble, I didn't see the guy until he hit me. On the second one, I wanted to throw the ball out of bounds in Mark Green's direction, but (Shane) Conlan hit my arm as I was throwing."

To open the second half, Tim Brown ran 97 yards on a kickoff return, but that was called back because of a clipping penalty on the offense. On the replay the Irish went nowhere, as did Penn State on its next possession. Notre Dame had its moments of brilliance on the next drive, gaining 92 yards in 1:49 on six plays. A 15-yard run by tailback Mark Green, a 50-yard Beuerlein pass to Milt Jackson, and Beuerlein's quick out from the 14 to Brown who ran nine yards for the touchdown contributed to the Irish seizing a 13-10 lead after Carney converted the extra point.

Courtesy South Bend Tribune

The Lions stayed on top as Dozier ran over, through, and around the Irish defense.

Penn State's Brian Siverling, a tight end, received two important passes in Penn State's third quarter scoring drive and avoided Irish strong safety George Streeter to run 22 yards and set up split end Ray Roundtree's 31 yard reception and six-yard touchdown run. With Manca's extra point conversion, Penn State reclaimed the lead, 17-13.

The Lions padded their four point lead early in the fourth quarter on a Shaffer quarterback sneak for one yard into the end zone after a balanced run-pass attack from Tim Manoa, Blair Thomas, and John Shaffer.

At this point, trailing by 11 with 11:45 remaining, the Irish began their comeback. Starting from its own 36, Notre Dame gained a first down after Beuerlein lost four on a rollout and then passed to Ray Dumas, who gained 18 yards on the run. A play later, Beuerlein hit Jackson in the middle of a secondary zone for 17.

Mark Green gained 11 yards on two plays. Brown gained seven, but then was grounded for a loss of seven by Don Graham on his next run.

Beuerlein then avoided linebacker Shane Conlan's charge to get the ball to Brown for the touchdown. With the score now 24-19, Holtz elected to try for the two point conversion to pull within three points of the Lions with plenty of time (about eight minutes) remaining in the fourth quarter. Brown and Beuerlein traded places for the attempt; Giftopoulos intercepted Brown's pass in the end zone.

Penn State could not score in its final possessions, as the Irish defense shut the Lions down. Looking back on the end of the game offensive linebacker Cedric Figaro said: "We just waited too long. We could have done it earlier, but we did stop them on their last two possessions. We should play that way the whole game."

The Irish nearly came through, in their final possession at the end of the fourth quarter. Starting at its own 20-yard line with 3:52 to go, Notre Dame gained a quick first down on a 22-yard Anthony Johnson run. Ray Dumas caught a Beuerlein nine-yard quick out pass; then Jackson caught a Beuerlein pass at the line of scrimmage and gained 15 despite safety Ray Isom's hit.

Beuerlein brought the Irish to the Penn State six-yard line after a

Courtesy South Bend Tribune

Jackson led all receivers with 118 yards.

nine-yard pass to Monahan and a 19-yard gain by Jackson.

Now, the Irish were playing on a short field with the ball on first and goal at the six with a little more than a minute left. Isom hit Brown for a loss of three. Don Graham then sacked Beuerlein for a loss of nine yards. Beuerlein said of Penn State's blitzing defense:

"Their blitzes were very timely. When we needed a big play, like at the end when they got that sack, they came up with the perfect call."

At third down, Beuerlein attempted a pass to Joel Williams in the end zone, but it slipped through his hands for a incomplete pass. On fourth down, Beuerlein passed for five yards to end Irish hopes for an upset.

"When I threw that pass to Williams I thought it was six points all the way," Beuerlein said. "That play went just as we wanted it to. We were close, but close doesn't count."

Against Penn State, as in the games against Michigan, Michigan State, and Pitt the Irish nearly pulled off a victory only to fall short in the final seconds. Closeness may not count and losing only serves to "build character," but the Irish football team continued to put out a solid effort despite difficulties.

"Like I told everybody after the Pitt game, this team is not going to give up," captain Mike Kovaleski said. "We're going to fight right up to the very end. Penn State is a very good football team, but we are too. I couldn't be prouder of our guys than I am right now. The momentum swung back and forth the whole game, but our guys never gave up. (At the third and eighteen play) I told them that they were going to score. And they looked at me and they knew they were going to score too, but it just didn't work out."

Penn State's loss was the final home game for the Irish seniors who have played through four not-so-impressive campaigns, at least not impressive in light of past Irish performances. Williams commented on the role of the seniors in the face of a season of tough losses: "I think we're really trying to establish and pass on a positive attitude that it doesn't have to be like this."

"I refuse to classify these athletes as losers," Holtz said. "We have had some bad breaks.

Other teams have made good plays against us and sometimes we don't do the little things that we need to. This football team came from a long ways down though and it's a big hump to get over - once they do, they'll be fine.

"I really don't know what else to say. It's frustrating. I guess I could cry and show you that way, but I can't tell you what's on my heart. I couldn't possibly ever be more proud of a football team.

"We have gotten better," Holtz continued, "but we still do things that are destructive. I'm proud of the players, not proud of the defeat: We will bounce back."

It took the final game in the Los Angeles Coliseum against USC for the Irish to rebound, but that final home game re-emphasized Notre Dame's capability to play with the best as well as to falter against them when Joe Paterno's group defeated the Irish 24-19 on the Lions way to a national championship. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

PS - Steve Smith 1 run (Massimo Manca kick)

2nd quarter

ND - John Carney 20 field goal

ND - Carney 38 field goal

PS - Manca 19 field goal

3rd quarter

ND - Tim Brown 14 pass from Steve Beuerlein (Carney kick) goal

PS - Ray Roundtree 37 pass from John Shaffer (Manca kick)

4th quarter

PS - Shaffer 1 run (Manca kick)

ND - Brown 8 pass from Beuerlein (pass failed)

Still No Cigar

By Marc Parker

The Irish lost their fifth close game of the season as LSU ran out the clock to preserve a 21-19 victory

It was a balmy Saturday night. The temperature was 70 degrees, and there was a chance of rain. Unfortunately for the Irish, they would be the ones with damp spirits in the locker room after the game.

After suffering a heartbreaking loss to Penn State, the demanding Irish schedule required that they challenge twice-beaten, eighth-ranked Louisiana State. To make things worse for the Irish, they had to travel to Baton Rouge to take on the Tigers. Tiger Stadium is considered to be one of the most difficult places in the country for a visiting team to play.

The game was important to both teams. For the Irish, there was still a chance to play in a bowl game if they were to win their last two games. For the Tigers, it was an opportunity to prove their worth to the Sugar Bowl selection committee. Even though the Tigers defeated SEC rival Alabama, either team could be chosen by the Sugar Bowl committee if each finished with the same conference record. If the Tigers were to play impressively and beat the Irish, they would be virtually assured of a Sugar Bowl invitation.

LSU won the toss, and ran the kickoff back to its own 29-yard line. The Tigers then drove brilli-

Courtesy South Bend Tribune

The Irish used one time-out too early.

antly, and on third and six from the Irish 13-yard line, quarterback Tom Hodson threw a touchdown pass to the nation's leading receiver, Wendell Davis. It capped an 11-play, 71-yard drive which burned 5:07 off the clock and gave the Tigers a 7-0 lead.

The downtrodden Irish needed a lift, and the always-reliable Tim

Brown provided it. He took the Tiger kickoff on his own four-yard line, broke up the middle, and cut right at midfield, outrunning the LSU coverage to score the Irish touchdown. John Carney provided the extra point, and the Irish were tied 7-7, with the offense never having taken the field.

The Tigers took the ensuing kickoff on their own 18-yard line following a fair catch by LSU return man Chris Cruz. They marched masterfully down the field for 82 yards in 17 plays to score their second touchdown. Hodson threw the touchdown pass to his other outstanding wideout, Rogie Magee.

The Irish had an opportunity to stop the Tigers, though. Earlier in the drive, Hodson had completed a third-down pass for enough yardage for a first down to Davis. Davis fumbled, but recovered it himself, taking the ball away from four Irish defenders who were in the area. It was the first of four LSU fumbles, and the Irish would not recover any of them.

The first quarter ended with the Tigers on top 14-7, and the Irish offense had spent only 45 seconds on the field. The offense would need to hold onto the ball so the weary defense could rest if the Irish were to have a chance to win.

Midway through the second quarter Irish quarterback Steve Beuerlein was replaced by backup Terry Andrysiak in an attempt to spark the stalled offensive unit. Andrysiak moved the Irish to mid-field. There, on first and 10, Andrysiak ran the option play right and kept the ball. He fumbled on his way down, giving the Tigers the ball.

After LSU punted, the Irish moved the ball down the field

well. With 17 seconds remaining on the clock, Irish kicker John Carney booted a 49-yard field goal. Unfortunately for the hard-luck Irish, a dead ball, offsides call on the Tigers nullified Carney's kick, and the ball was moved forward five yards to the LSU 26. Then, in keeping with the luck of the Irish, Carney's shorter 44-yard kick sailed wide left. It would be his last miss of the 1986 season.

The Irish were outplayed in the first half, but they trailed by only seven points. The feeling at half-time was that perhaps this time the Irish could win a game in which they were outplayed, instead of losing games which they won everywhere but on the scoreboard.

Also, a come-from-behind victory on the road would give the Irish the confidence they had been struggling for throughout the season. Most importantly, a victory would give the Irish momentum going into their season finale with rival Southern Cal in Los Angeles.

On their second possession of the third quarter, the Irish showed, as they had throughout the ill-fated season, that they would never quit. The spunky squad drove 52 yards in 13 plays to score three points as Carney kicked a 31-yard field goal. Notre Dame now trailed by only four.

The Irish then had another opportunity to recover a Tiger fumble. On the kickoff, a crushing tackle by freshman Mike Stonebreaker caused return man Sam Martin to fumble, but the ball rolled out of bounds before the Irish could recover it. On the Tigers' first play of that possession, Hodson dropped back and fired the ball right into the chest of Irish free safety Steve Lawrence. He picked off the pass on the LSU 30-yard line, and raced all the way to the Tiger two before he was pushed out of bounds by running back Harvey Williams. The luck of the Irish appeared to be changing. Unfortunately a comeback was not in the cards for Notre Dame.

After fullback Pernell Taylor plunged twice into the line to give the Irish a third and goal inside the LSU one-yard line, tailback Anthony Johnson was met by three LSU defenders trying to go over the top of the line. On fourth down, Irish Head Coach Lou Holtz decided to gamble and go for the touchdown. His call was a pitchout to versatile Tim Brown, who was lined up in the backfield. The Tiger defense was up to the challenge, however, and threw Brown for a four-yard loss.

Courtesy South Bend Tribune

Brown's kickoff return kept Notre Dame in the game after LSU's opening touchdown drive.

Lucian Niemeyer

Joel Williams on the right side of the endzone.

Notre Dame had only one time-out when LSU got the ball back. The Irish defensive players were tired; they had been on the field for a long time in the humid Southern air. The Tigers converted two key third-down-and-long situations with passes of 17 and 12 yards. Those first downs enabled them to keep the ball and run out the clock, escaping with a narrow 21-19 victory over the scrappy Irish.

The loss meant that Notre Dame's chances of playing in a bowl game were gone. For the Tigers, the victory almost assured them of the Sugar Bowl invitation, which they later accepted. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

LSU - Wendell Davis 13 pass from Tom Hodson (David Browndyke kick)

ND - Tim Brown 96 kickoff return (Carney kick)

LSU - Rogie Magee 4 pass from Hodson (Browndyke kick)

2nd quarter

none

3rd quarter

ND - Carney 31 field goal

4th quarter

ND - Carney 44 field goal

LSU - Brian Kinchen 4 pass from Hodson (Browndyke kick)

ND - D'Juan Francisco 14 pass from Terry Andrysiak (pass failed)

Milt Jackson was the recipient of Andrysiak's first pass of the day, good for 20 yards.

All year, the Irish had been unable to score consistently from inside their opponents' 20-yard line. In fact, the Irish failed to score on these occasions 16 times during the season. The Irish had stopped themselves again.

But Notre Dame would not give up. On their next possession, the Irish capped an 11-play, 27-yard drive with a 44-yard Carney field goal. The Notre Dame offense controlled the ball for over 11 minutes in the third quarter. The rested defense was playing well, and things were looking up for the Irish. They trailed by only one point with 11:34 left in the contest.

The Tigers took the ball on their next possession and marched impressively 79 yards in 11 plays. The conversion made the score 21-13 with 7:45 remaining.

Again, the Irish refused to give up. After getting the ball back on a Troy Wilson interception in the end zone, the Irish began to drive from their own 20-yard line. Andrysiak came out to lead the team when Holtz decided Beuerlein could not continue. Andrysiak led Notre Dame the length of the field in just 1:34 as he threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to D'Juan Francisco in the rear of the end zone. Holtz decided to go for the tie and attempt the two-point conversion, but Andrysiak's pass fluttered just past the arms of open tight end

"This Is The Game"

By Larry Burke

With those words from holder Steve Beuerlein, placekicker John Carney kicked a 19-yard field goal with no time on the clock to beat USC

For college football fans, the mention of the Notre Dame-USC rivalry conjures up memories of classic confrontations, hair-raising finales and occasionally even a little controversy. There was 1978, when USC's Frank Jordan beat Notre Dame 27-25 with a field goal in the final seconds. In the 1982 game, television replays showed that Michael Harper did not have possession of the football when he scored the game-winning touchdown in a 17-13 Trojan victory.

The 1986 edition of this historic rivalry certainly did nothing to tarnish the tradition. The Irish, who spent much of the season coming out on the short end in heartbreaking games like this, capped a thrilling, improbable comeback on a 19-yard John Carney field goal with no time remaining. Notre Dame's rally from a 17-point fourth quarter deficit stunned the 17th-ranked Trojans, along with 70,614 partisan fans in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

It was a finish that many Notre Dame players and fans saw as an important springboard for the 1987 season. The Irish, who played the nation's toughest schedule according to the NCAA computer, probably deserved a better record than their final 5-6 mark. But the dramatic victory over USC helped ease the painful memories of losses by less than a touchdown to Michigan, Michigan State, Pittsburgh, Penn State and LSU.

The game was as devastating for the Trojans as it was redeeming for the Irish. Immediately following the contest, there was speculation that the loss, regardless of the closeness of the game, may have cost USC Coach Ted Tollner his job. Before the game, it had been thought that Tollner's squad would have to finish the regular season 8-3 and earn a bowl bid if the coach was to keep his job.

The Trojans got their bowl bid - a New Year's Day date with Auburn in the Florida Citrus Bowl. But the loss to the Irish left USC at 7-4, with consecutive defeats to rivals UCLA and Notre Dame. Tollner's 1-7 career record against those two schools, some thought, would ultimately cost him his job. The speculation proved correct; the axe fell on Tollner nine days after the Notre Dame game. He was replaced by Arizona

Courtesy South Bend Tribune

Carney's field goal sent seniors Beuerlein and Joel Williams out with a big win.

coach Larry Smith in early January.

For most of the game against the Irish, things had been looking good for Tollner and his team. USC took the lead five minutes into the second quarter, and the Irish were playing catch-up most of the day.

It appeared that the Trojans' head coach would preserve his job and gain his first-ever win over Notre Dame when the USC offense lined up on a fourth down and inches at the Notre Dame five-yard line midway through the fourth quarter. Leading 37-27, Tollner elected to pass up a shot at a field goal, opting instead to go for the touchdown that would put the game out of reach.

Quarterback Rodney Peete went over the top of the pile. USC thought it had a first down, but the officials disagreed, spotting the ball short of the first-down marker and awarding possession to Notre Dame without even calling for a measurement.

"I not only thought I had made the first down, but also I thought I made it by about a yard and a half," Peete said. "Then an official marked it as losing yardage. It was a very bad call; the worst I've ever seen. They didn't even measure it. Then, I lost my cool."

That resulted in a 15-yard penalty on Peete for unsportsmanlike conduct, which helped the Irish get out of a hole and propelled them to an 80-yard touchdown drive that culminated in a five-yard scoring pass from Steve Beuerlein to Braxton Banks. Beuerlein then connected with Andy Heck for the two-point conversion that closed the gap to 37-35 and set the stage for Carney's heroics.

But the senior placekicker might never have had his moment of glory were it not for some heroics from Tim Brown. With less than three minutes remaining in the game, Holtz inserted Brown on the punt return team after the Irish had stopped the Trojans on third and three at the USC 27. Brown made Holtz look like a genius, racing 56 yards down the right sideline to the Trojan 16-yard line. "I just wanted to make sure I caught the ball," Brown said. "After that it was just watch the blocks. The guys did a great job."

Earlier, the junior All-American had run back a kickoff 57 yards to set up Notre Dame's second touchdown. Brown also had caught a 49-yard bomb from Beuerlein to set up the final Notre Dame touchdown following the Irish defensive unit's critical fourth-down stand.

From the 16, Notre Dame then ran the ball to the USC one-yard line, setting up Carney's game winner. And the importance of the moment did not escape the senior kicker. To that point, Carney had been upstaged by his USC counterpart, Don Shafer, who had kicked three field goals, including a Pac-10 record 60-yarder to close out the first half.

"There were lots of things in the back of my mind," recalled Carney. "I've been in that situation two times before and come up empty. I knew it would be my last collegiate kick, and I didn't want to have any regrets. I didn't want to think what would happen if I missed."

Beuerlein, who took over the holding duties in the sixth game of the season, wasn't about to let Carney lose sight of the magnitude of his kick. The senior quarterback, a native of Fullerton, California, remembered his words to Carney moments before the winning boot: "I said, 'Johnny, this is the game that's going to make it all worthwhile. This will make us forget about all the other games. I know it."

Sophomore Mark Green, another California native who enjoyed a big day (119 yards on 24 carries) hoped the comeback would turn out to be a positive omen. "Maybe this will carry over to next year," he suggested. If it does, 1987 could be a very good year for Notre Dame football. ■

The Scoring

1st quarter

USC - Don Shafer 48 field goal

ND - Andy Heck 5 pass from Steve Beuerlein (kick failed)

2nd quarter

USC - Louis Brock 58 interception return (Shafer kick)

USC - Leroy Holt 3 run (Shafer kick)

ND - John Carney 33 field goal

USC - Shafer 60 field goal

3rd quarter

USC - Shafer 23 field goal

ND - Carney 32 field goal

USC - Todd Steele 1 run (Shafer kick)

ND - Braxton Banks 22 pass from Beuerlein (Milt Jackson pass from Beuerlein)

4th quarter

ND - Rodney Peete 1 run (Shafer kick)

ND - Jackson 42 pass from Beuerlein (Carney kick)

ND - Banks 5 pass from Beuerlein (Heck pass from Beuerlein)

ND - Carney 19 field goal

Scoreboard

A special review of the fall season

Compiled by Ed Jordanich

Brilliant Season For ND Volleyball

ND VOLLEYBALL - The Irish posted a brilliant season under coach ART LAMBERT, finishing with a 33-7 record. Notre Dame ended the year with 13 wins over teams that were regionally ranked at some point during the season. A 17-match winning streak was a school record and it landed the Irish into the regional polls for the first time ever.

Frontline players MARY KAY WALLER, MAUREEN SHEA, ZANETTE BENNETT and MARY CUNNINGHAM keyed the Irish attack, while setters KATHY MORIN and TARYN COLLINS provided excellent support.

Following a 12-21 record last year, the Irish achievements and improvements were spectacular. Dominated by underclassmen, Notre Dame's move to national recognition will meet a formidable challenge next year as the squad plays the toughest schedule in the program's history.

ND FIELD HOCKEY - Notre Dame concluded a rebuilding year with a 6-12-1 record in the fall of 1986.

Head Coach JILL LINDENFELD loses senior tri-captains

MARY WAGNER, MEG McGLINN, and all-time scoring leader CORINNE DiGIACOMO to graduation.

Lucian Niemeyer

The volleyball team had its best season ever.

Defensive specialists CAROLINE BEREZNY and BENET DeBERRY will be among 18 players returning next fall.

ND SOCCER - Notre Dame's 13-7-2 season was a pivotal one in the development of the Irish program as Coach DENNIS GRACE'S squad made a strong transition to a high caliber of competition. The productive 1986 season was marked by strong performances against several very talented, nationally-ranked opponents.

Offensive firepower will return in abundance as junior scoring leader TIGER McCURT, mid-field threat JOE STERNBERG, and forward RANDY MORRIS all will be back next year. On defense, captain STEVE LOWNEY, JOHN GUIGNON, and PAT McCLANAHAN will try to keep the ball out of the goal vacated by senior keeper HUGH BRESLIN.

ND WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY - A 20th-place finish in the NCAA District IV meet completed the first varsity season in which the Irish competed in women's cross country.

Irish coach DAN RYAN'S team was led by JULIA MERKEL, THERESA RICE, KATHLEEN LEHMAN, LINDA FILAR, and WENDY MURRAY. All will return next year.

ND MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY - 1986 was a season of maturation for the young Irish team coached by JOE PIANE. The squad, composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores, experienced disappointment in the form of injuries and a 1-3 record in dual meets.

Led by sophomores DAN GARRETT and RON MARKEZ-ICH, the Irish defeated Michigan State in a dual meet and ended the year with a 15th-place finish the District IV meet.

SMC VOLLEYBALL - Saint Mary's completed its best varsity campaign ever with a record of 22-8. The Belles finished the season ranked third out of Indiana's 19 NAIA women's volleyball teams.

Head Coach MARY JO LAMBERT'S team placed two members on the All-State team, senior JULIE SCHROEDER and freshman MARY MCCARTHY. Schroeder led the team in kills and finished second in the state in blocks with 3.9 per game. Senior MARY REIDY ended the year averaging 3.4 blocks per game. Schroeder had a .365 attack percentage to lead the Belles, and McCarthy was Lambert's top player in assists. Schroeder was also named to the Northern Indiana District 21 All-District team.

Despite losing Schroeder and Reidy, the team's other senior co-captain, Saint Mary's will return four starters to a squad bolstered by strong recruiting after a successful season. The Belles will be coached by Notre Dame graduate SUE MEDLEY next year, with Lambert serving as an assistant.

SMC TENNIS - With a 14-3 record, a second place finish in the NAIA District 21 tournament, and three individual state champions, Saint Mary's ended its 1986 fall season with the program's best performance in the last three years.

Guided by district Coach of the Year, DEBBIE LAVERIE, the Belles head into the spring season powers and several NCAA schools, the young team, coached by JOHN AKERS and ERIC EVANS, benefitted from senior leadership and freshman talent.

Senior captains GLORIA ELEUTERI, STACY SNYDER, ANN - NORA EHRET, and

Sophomore Bruce "Tiger" McCourt led a young Irish soccer team to a 13-7-2 record with 16 goals and six assists in 1986. McCourt is in 12th place on Notre Dame's all-time scoring list.

looking for their sixth consecutive berth in the NAIA nationals. Losing in the fall to only three opponents, all of whom were NCAA Division-I programs, Saint Mary's fielded a young team with one senior.

State champions included BUFFY HEINZ, CHARLENE SZAJKO, and KIM DRAHOTA. Four players also made the all-district team, including Szajko, Heinz, JENNIFER BLOCK, and KATE McDEVITT.

SMC SOCCER - In their second season as a varsity team, the Belles neared the .500 mark with a 7-9-1 record. Playing a challenging schedule composed of NAIA

MARY ANN PERRI combined with freshman MOLLY MEEHAN to lead the team. Meehan finished the fall season as Saint Mary's leader in shots with 47, in goals with seven, and in assists with five. KAREN CHANDLER was second to Meehan in shots and assists.

Other key players that will return for the Belles include LANDRY CLEMENT, KAREN CHANDLER, and goalie PATTY HATFIELD.

Saint Mary's begins its indoor season with a tournament at Marquette in February and will host its own tournament soon afterwards. ■

Lucian Niemeyer

Lou Looks Forward And Back

By Lou Holtz

Head Coach Lou Holtz reflects on his first season at Notre Dame and discusses the future objectives for the Irish squad

When the field goal attempt went through the uprights on the last play of the game with Southern Cal to climax a come-from-behind 38-37 victory for the Irish, it culminated my first year at Notre Dame and hopefully set the tempo for the 1987 season. Unfortunately, not all the games ended on such a positive note; we lost five games by a total of 14 points. However, I do believe the foundation has been laid to build a successful program in the future.

My experiences at Notre Dame the first year have been extremely positive. Never have I been associated with an organization or institution that more personifies the words trust, commitment, love and faith.

We are all aware of the leadership that Father Hesburgh and Father Joyce and their administration have provided, and I am confident that Father Malloy, Father Beauchamp and Father Tyson will continue in that tradition. I have consistently been impressed by the dedication the people of Notre Dame exhibit in their performances, and the special spirit the University has. It is an exhilarating experience to attend the team

Mass on game days and listen to the sermon by Father Riehle, the team's chaplain, or to visit the Grotto or Sacred Heart Church when troubled.

Two of the most remarkable people I have come in contact with here are Emil Hofman, dean of the Freshman Year of Studies, and Mike DeCicco, who is the academic advisor for our varsity athletes. I am happy to report that overall our athletes performed reasonably well in the classroom. Last year we set a goal of a 2.5 GPA for the team, and, while it seemed difficult to achieve at that time, I'm happy to report that we attained it for the fall semester. The credit for this improvement must go to our football players, as well as to Dr. Hofman, Dr. DeCicco, and the tireless efforts of a committed and unselfish faculty. A few players were disappointing in their performances in the classroom, but we hope to rectify this in the very near future. We would like to raise the overall average from our players even higher in the semesters to come.

Football games are not won because of a player, a coach, a kicker or an official, nor are they lost for any of these reasons. We win and lose as a team. I'm often asked which loss bothers me the most, and for me the worst loss is not a game, but rather the loss of some fine seniors to graduation. They were not only excellent athletes, they were outstanding individuals.

There is no way to minimize the loss of such players as Mike Kovaleski, Ron Weissenhofer, Wally Kleine, Robert Banks, Dave Butler, Steve Lawrence, Troy Wilson, Mike Haywood, John Carney, Dan Sorenson, Steve Beuerlein, Milt Jackson, Shawn Heffern, Joel Williams and Hiawatha Francisco. We lose some other seniors whose names may not be as familiar to you, but I can assure you they were no less important to us.

No one could prepare me for the avalanche of requests for interviews from the media that are made upon the football coach at Notre Dame. Roger Valdiserri and his staff in the Sports Information office do an incredible job of dealing with reporters. Without their expertise it would be difficult, if not impossible, to handle the everyday responsibilities that a coach has at a major university like Notre Dame.

As we look back on the 1986 season, I would like to emphasize the positive steps the football program has taken. I have great respect for Gerry Faust and the contributions he has made to this institution, and when we achieve our goals and our objectives, he should feel a part of it. We do have fine young men on this team, and they desire to reach the top. They played with the Notre Dame spirit and conducted themselves, for the most part, with a great deal of class. Their enthusiasm for the game and their desire to succeed was impressive.

Matthew Bradley

I do believe there is room for improvement, and I expect we will. I, like so many other people, am impatient and want to get back on top as soon as possible. Gene Corrigan, who I think is a great leader and administrator and who is also a friend, reminds me that Rome wasn't built in a day. Although my reply to him is, "That's because you weren't the foreman," Gene does seem to put this, and any situation, in the proper perspective. Whenever I get down, I can always talk to him.

It also is a great advantage to be able to talk to a living legend like "Moose" Krause, who is one of a kind. It is people like this that make you realize how fortunate we are to be at Notre Dame. Attend a pep rally or walk through the tunnel on game day, and I promise you that chills will run up and down your spine when the band plays the Notre Dame Victory March.

It is imperative that we have a great recruiting year, and all indications are that we will, although of course there is no way to know for certain what will happen on the signing date. The last two years were not great recruiting classes, even though we lettered nine true freshmen. In planning for the next few years, our needs are numerous and critical. Some running backs, a power fullback, a skilled quarterback, quality receivers, at least two tight ends, several defensive backs, linebackers both inside and out, offensive and defensive linemen who can dominate a game, a punter, and a placekicker are imperative to our future if we hope to reach our objectives.

Head Coach Lou Holtz

The one incident that bothered me the most over the past year is the suggestion that we may desire to win at the cost of academic excellence. Nothing can be further from the truth. When we recruited two fine young athletes last year, each had the 16 core curriculum courses that Notre Dame requires and each had compiled better-than-average grades.

We had not received the SAT scores of these young men when we offered them scholarships. We were quite surprised when they did not do well on their SATs, as all indications were that they would. Notre Dame decided to honor their scholarships with the resolution that all decisions in the future would be made after receiving test scores. Both young men are attending Notre Dame, and they acquitted themselves reasonably well in the classroom last semester.

I have often said that the reason we have eyes in the front of our head rather than behind is so that we can see where we are going rather than where we have been. With this thought in mind, we are looking forward to next season. Even though we won't be as talented this year as last, there is a chance we will be a better team. How much better will depend upon the improvement we make during the off-season.

Our questionable areas for the 1987 season are: 1) quarterback, 2) defensive line, 3) secondary, 4) kicking game, both field goal and punting, and 5) depth. We do have positive qualities going for us this fall, though, and while the schedule will be more difficult than last year, I am hopeful that not only will we be competitive, we will also be successful.

As we celebrate the 100th anniversary of Notre Dame football, we should pause and reflect on the illustrious names of players, coaches and administrators who built the great traditions of Notre Dame. I can assure you that all of us involved in the football program are committed to the same principles, values and standards as those who preceded us. ■

Individual Honors

Robert Banks

- Outstanding Irish Lineman Award from the Moose Krause Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame
- East-West Shrine Game participant

Steve Beuerlein

- Outstanding Irish Offensive Player
- Honorable Mention Associated Press All-American
- Blue-Gray Game participant

Tim Brown

- Irish Most Valuable Player
- 1st Team Associated Press All-American
- 1st Team United Press International All-American
- 1st Team The Sporting News All-American
- 1st Team Football News All-American

John Carney

- Blue-Gray Game participant

Cedric Figaro

- Honorable Mention Associated Press All-American
- 3rd Team Football News All-American

Shawn Heffern

- Hula Bowl participant

Milt Jackson

- Scholar-Athlete Award from the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley

Wally Kleine

- Honorable Mention United Press International All-American
- 2nd Team Football News All-American
- Blue-Gray Game participant

Mike Kovaleski

- Outstanding Irish Defensive Player
- Honorable Mention Associated Press All-American
- Japan Bowl participant

Chuck Lanza

- Honorable Mention Associated Press All-American

Steve Lawrence

- Blue-Gray Game participant

Troy Wilson

- Blue-Gray Game participant

THE CARTOON
WITH THOSE
LITTLE RABBITS
IN IT

©1986 BY MATT
GROENING

Distributed by Acme Features Syndicate

WHAT ALARMS KIDS

BULK RATE
U.S. POSTAGE
PAID
Notre Dame, Indiana
Permit No. 10

Fall Sports Scoreboard