

Love quits as energy czar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John Love resigned as energy adviser Monday, a job he said could chop up a man, as administration sources indicated that he had lost a bureaucratic battle with the Treasury Department.

The sources said gasoline rationing—which Love supported—was at the heart of the struggle. Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, they said, wanted Love “to hold down the gloom and doom and try to sell the idea that America could solve its problems without resorting to rationing and other drastic fuel conservation measures.”

Both Love and his deputy, Chales Di Bona, resigned as the White House prepared to announce a new Federal Emergency Administration, headed by deputy Treasury Secretary William Simon. Administration sources said Love had become aware of the new administration only recently and that Simon and members of the Office of Management and Budget had put together the office “behind Love’s back.”

A White House spokesman said the announcement would be made Tuesday.

“I fully agree that the time has come for creation of a new structure to deal with the energy crisis,” Love said in a statement. “I certainly agree with the establishment of a new administration.”

At the same time, Love said in a broadcast interview with CBS News: “In wishing Mr. Simon well, let me indicate that I think that this is going to be a problem and a job that will chop up a good many people before it’s finished.” In a copyrighted story, the Denver Post said Love had become frustrated about his role. “To be honest,” he was quoted as saying, “it’s been difficult to try to do anything meaningful and even get the attention of the President.” One administration official said Love “just didn’t do the job.”

(continued on page 5)

Another season of bookstore buying ends with a 10-0 record.

Observer Insight

Hiker found dead in county jail

by Zenon Bidzinski
and
Jane Thornton
Staff Reporters

The weekend of Nov. 25 made the issue of prison reform very important in the eyes of St. Joseph County officials after a 23-year-old Detroit man was found dead in his cell in the County Jail.

Thomas S. Carter, from the Detroit area, was arrested for hitchhiking that weekend, given a six-day jail sentence and was apparently murdered by other inmates within 24 hours of his incarceration.

Police later learned that Carter had walked out of a mental hospital in Flint, Michigan two days earlier and was hitchhiking to the West Coast. He had told his arresters that his name was Thomas Center.

With the obvious assumption that something went wrong with the system, Prosecutor William E. Voor announced last Thursday morning that the St. Joseph Grand Jury is calling a special session for this week to investigate circumstances surrounding the hitchhiker’s murder.

Topics to be considered are many: Why was such a sentence given to a hitchhiker?; why was a first offender jailed in the same cell with other alleged “hardened” criminals?; who killed the Detroit youth?; and where were the prison guards around 3 p.m. that Saturday afternoon?

On Nov. 21, three days before the murder, the Grand Jury filed their latest report in the Circuit Court on the St. Joseph County Jail. Based on a Nov. 19 tour of the jail, it stated that security measures seemed “quite adequate” and that “St. Joseph County should rightly be proud of the St. Joseph County Jail and Sheriff Dean Bolerjack.” (Bolerjack is in charge of the jail.)

That session of the Grand Jury was called because of earlier problems with jail security. There have been three attempted jail-breaks this year. The last attempt, in September, was successful. Two inmates, both later apprehended, escaped then.

The same six-man Grand Jury is reconvening today. Bolerjack is expected to lead the group on their tour of jail facilities.

Deputy Prosecutor Edward Chapleau recently said, “Based on what has happened in the past year, perhaps the jail is not being run properly.” Chapleau will present the state’s case to the Grand Jury.

County Sheriff Bolerjack, Prosecutor Voor, and Deputy Prosecutor Chapleau were unavailable for comment on the case or on jail conditions. With the Grand Jury investigation pending, however, silence is a necessity for all city or county officials.

The facts of the case are simple. State police said Trooper Robert Hambright arrested Carter late Friday night for hitchhiking on the toll road after he had been warned twice not to do so.

Clay Township Justice of the Peace Le Roy G. Plank sentenced Carter to six days in the city-county jail when he was unable to pay the $25 fine. According to Trooper Hambright, Carter was hitchhiking from Detroit to California and had only 60 cents and a pack of cigarettes in his pocket.

Jail guards found Carter “unconscious” just before 3 p.m. Saturday. Detective Sergeant Michael Horvath told reporters later that night that Carter was heard shouting in the cell block before 3 p.m. but was “unconscious” when a guard arrived to investigate. County police said the city fire ambulance crew was unable to revive him and his body was taken to the McGann Funeral Home.

Police reports indicated that the guards’ television was on and the volume was turned up. It also indicated that a blanket was hung over the jail bars, further muffling any noise from the attack on the Michigan native.

Deputy County Coroner Dr. Louis Grwinski, conducting the autopsy, said death resulted from a fractured bone in the neck caused by external strangulation. He ruled the death an apparent homicide. Carter had been jailed with 14 other inmates in the cellblock. Voor said the Grand Jury has summoned seven of them to testify.

Det. Horvath said that police were attempting to locate possible relatives of the victim in Detroit and a brother in California but added that Carter earlier had listed no relatives when booked at the county jail.

The problem for Notre Dame students obviously is the one of hitchhiking. No one wants to worry about fighting off a bunch of jail inmates after getting caught for lifting a thumb to or from Michigan.

Justice of the Peace Plank said, however, that there is no cause for anyone to worry as long as they observe the simple Indiana laws for hitchhiking. The main point to remember, he said, is the hitchhiking is not allowed on expressways or interstates, but is permitted on other roads, such as U. S. 31, providing the hitchhiker is along the side of the road.

Plank explained that the fine for hitchhiking offense is $25, $24 court costs and $1 fine. Out of staters are required to pay the fine or receive a six day jail sentence.

ND-SMC students, however, Plank said, receive no jail sentence for a hitchhiking offense. The JP explained that the state knows where to find the students if they can’t pay the fine.

Carter, an out of stater, had no choice but to go to jail. As JP, Plank said he cannot dismiss the charges without the permission of the county prosecutor. The Clay Township Justice added that Carter welcomed the jail sentence because he wanted food and board. They murder while in jail was the first such occurrence in St. Joseph’s County according to the JP.

“I don’t send many to jail,” Plank said, “but the conditions were good the last time I was there.”

“I don’t know if it’s fair to put them (first offenders) in with the others, but that’s their business at the jail,” he added. “I condemn no man, God is the final judge,” Plank finalized.

The Justice of the Peace did not want to offer any solutions. But, if as he implies, the law itself is not to blame, then the enforcement of the law and its penalties are in question.

world briefs

WASHINGTON—U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica spent more than four hours Monday in a "bug-proof" room listening to President Nixon's Watergate tapes, including one with a mysterious 18-minute gap. He had "no comment" on what he heard.

Wearing earphones for privacy and with only his law clerk present, Sirica began monitoring "exact copies" of the subpoenaed tapes after months of White House delay.

Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski's staff consider the tapes "the single most important evidence" as to whether Nixon knew about the planning or cover-up of the break-in at Democratic National Headquarters in the Watergate complex in Washington last year.

LOS ANGELES—Defendants in the Ellsberg psychiatrist burglary case were narrowed down to John Ehrlichman and two other former White House aides Monday with dismissal of charges against Egil "Bud" Krogh.

On the motion of the district attorney, the one-time head of the White House "plumbers' squad" will not be prosecuted on burglary and conspiracy charges.

WASHINGTON—Former United Mine Workers president W.A. "Tony" Boyle lost an appeal to the Supreme Court Monday and probably will have to begin a five-year prison sentence in a few weeks for illegally contributing union funds to political candidates.

Boyle, who turned 72 on Saturday, also faces federal trial in Pittsburgh on charges he conspired to murder his former union rival, Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, and two members of Yablonski's family.

BRUSSELS—Denmark said Monday it will ask the foreign ministers of the European Common Market set up a common oil pool to meet the energy crisis heightened by Arab cutbacks on oil shipments to Europe.

"Just like the Common Market does not interfere in the internal cooperation between the Arab nations, so the Arab nations cannot decide what kind of a Common Market we want," Danish Foreign Trade minister Ivar Norgaard, chairman of the ministerial meeting, said.

HOUSTON—The Skylab 3 astronauts, still battling a dwindling gas supply, needed 22 per cent more fuel than predicted Monday to roll the station over for two earth resources picture-taking sweeps.

Some of the earth studies photo passes will probably be cut on the 84-day flight, but flight controllers said there would be enough gas to turn the station's telescopes toward the comet Kohoutek.

on campus today

10:00-12:00 & 1:00-3:00 p.m.—color colloquium, sponsored by art dept., art faculty speakers, library aud.

1:00-4:00 p.m.—exhibit, works from into to art, basic sculpture, welding, and wood carving, isis gallery

2:00 p.m.—film, civilization series, film seven, 'granderu and obedience,' engineering aud.

3:00 p.m.—meeting, college of arts and letters college council, room 202, cce

4:00 p.m.—lecture, afrotc lecture series, library aud.

4:30 p.m.—lecture, 'the uptake and metabolism of vitamin b12 by the cestod stromtra monsonoides,' dr. richard tkachuck, college of medicine, u. of iowa, galvin life science center aud.

4:30 p.m.—math colloquium, 'linear operators in hilbert space with indefinite metric,' prof. ky fan, room 226, computing center

7:30-9:00 p.m.—symposium, 'african socialism: a non-marxist alternative?' profs. adebisi, bellis, horan, sponsored by black studies program, library lounge

7:30 p.m.—lecture, 'political ideology and the chicano movement,' dr. chris garcia, dept. of political science, u. of new mexico, sponsored by mexican-american lecture series, room 205, s'shag.

7:30 p.m.—discussion, looking into your financial future, 'a dream home: is there one in your future?' james f peacock, carrol hall, madeleva

8:00 p.m.—lecture, 'political and civil liberties,' 'women's rights,' and 'the role of the lawyer,' harriet pilpel, ny nawayer and author, library aud.

8:30 p.m.—drama, 'thieves' carnival,' nd-smc theatre, washington hall

Israel accuses Egypt of torturing prisoners of war

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli newspapers said Monday all Israeli soldiers captured by Egypt during the October Middle East war were tortured and some were murdered in what they described as "a picture of cruelty unmatched since the Nazi era."

tortures was that of David Senesh, a soldier who was captured Oct. 7, the second day of the war when Egyptians overran his post on the Suez Canal.

During the trip to the Egyptian prison camp, Senesh told Ma'ariv, he and other Israeli captives were continuously kicked, beaten and spat upon.

Whippings and beatings were routine inside the camp, Senesh said, and the prisoners were forced to wash in foul sewer water. He said the Egyptians put one Israeli tank crew member on a "spit," bending him backward and tying his head to his heels, then rotating him on a pole while others beat him.

Senesh said the torture continued until Red Cross officials were allowed into the camp three days before the prisoner exchanges started.

Ma'ariv said most of the returning prisoners required treatment for lacerations and various internal injuries. It said some were in a state of mental shock and were unable to speak coherently.

The Jerusalem Post said Israeli military authorities were collecting evidence on the alleged torture and killings and planned to submit it to the United Nations and the International Red Cross. Israeli officials also have charged Syria with war crimes.

"All Israel prisoners of war regardless of rank were tortured," the Post said. "The facts built up to a picture of cruelty unmatched since the Nazi era..."

The newspaper said the military authorities would accuse Egyptian officials of having taken part in or permitted the murder of several prisoners, especially Israeli pilots who ejected safely from their damaged planes.

The Post said some prisoners are believed to have died while under interrogation.

Military sources said they had no information about the stories and could not comment on them.

The newspaper Ma'ariv said a typical example of the

The Observer is published daily during the college semester except vacations by the students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $8 per semester ($14 per year) from The Observer Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame, Ind. 46556.

birth defects
are forever.
unless you help.

MARCH OF DIMES

THIS SPACE CONTRIBUTED BY THE PUBLISHER

SMC to have bike storage this winter

by Judy Peterson
Staff Reporter

St. Mary's students who wish to store bikes during the winter months can do so on Thursday, December 6, from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. There will be no charge. Students are advised to bring locks and chains as St. Mary's cannot assume responsibility for the bikes.

McCandless residents will store their bikes in the trunk room of McCandless Hall, which is located in the basement. The room will not be locked and students will be able to remove bikes at will.

Residents of Holy Cross, LeMans, and Regina will store their bikes in Regina North. Temporary storage will be supplied in Regina north courtyard, which is partially enclosed. Students desiring temporary storage should have signed the lists in their halls last week. Permanent storage for bikes will be in Regina North basement and students will not have access to the bikes until spring, at which time two days will be allotted for their removal.

Hairstyling...with style

- + Award Winning Stylists
- + Unique Atmosphere
- + Roffler Styling and Products

KEN'S DEN

First Floor, 100 Center
Mishawaka, Indiana
Appointments Preferred, 255-6500

Let us help you in your photo needs.
Dave, ND Class of '71
Faye ND Class of '73

PHOTO WORLD

DIVISION OF AULT PHOTOFINISHING LABORATORIES

1431 S. MICH

234-4027

Hours: 9-6, T-F

9-8 M

convenient FREE parking

10% OFF on anything

with this coupon & ID card
expires Dec. 21, 1973

Won't 'twiddle thumbs'

Love claims no access to White House

DENVER (UPI) — John Love, who resigned Monday as energy advisor to President Nixon, said he ran into obstacles trying to make the President and top-level advisors aware of the seriousness of the nation's energy crisis. The Denver Post said in a copyrighted article Monday.

Love, in an interview with Post Washington bureau chief Leonard Larsen, said he would return to law practice rather than stay in Washington "twiddling my thumbs."

"To be honest, it's been difficult to try to do anything meaningful and even to get the attention of the President," said Love, the former governor of Colorado, who served as director of the White House Energy Policy Office.

The White House, which accepted the resignation Monday afternoon, said a new "super agency" would be established to seek solutions to the nation's energy problems. The new agency, the Federal Energy Administration (FEA), will have much more power and a larger staff than Love's office had.

"I was sitting over here with a small staff as an assistant to the President on energy matters ... that would have been a superfluous kind of thing (under the new program) and I had no reason to sit back here twiddling my thumbs," Love said.

"I don't have any regrets at coming here," he said. "It's a job that needed doing and suddenly it's become more vitally important with the Middle East situation. I am a little upset with the way the termination was handled."

Love confirmed that a large part of his troubles with the administration involved a power fight between his office and treasury officials, including Secretary George P. Shultz and his deputy secretary, William

E. Simon.

Simon has been named to head the new FEA.

Love said his strong stand in support of gasoline rationing had angered treasury officials because of what it (rationing) might do to the stock market.

"But like it or not, they're going to have to come to gasoline rationing," Love said. "I just don't think they can get a (gasoline) tax through the Congress."

Purdue president Hansen will keynote workshop

Dr. Arthur G. Hansen, president, Purdue University, will be the keynote speaker at the Communications Workshop to be held at Saint Mary's today and tomorrow. This workshop is being sponsored by the Indiana Association of College Admissions Counselors and Indiana College Public Relations Association.

Dr. Edward L. Henry, president of Saint Mary's will welcome the group and introduce Dr. Hansen. Dr. Hansen's address, "Communications and Your Public Image," will establish the purpose of the two-day conference. This is the first joint meeting of the two associations, which are gathering together to explore ways in which public relations and admissions personnel can work together to provide more effective communications with prospective students.

Arthur G. Hansen is the eighth president of Purdue University, the first alumni to serve in this capacity. He has held that position since 1971, after serving as president of Georgia Institute of Technology.

Hansen received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering and his master's degree in mathematics at Purdue. He received his doctorate in mathematics at Case Western University.

Student bowl tickets sold in four hours

by Ellen Duffy
Staff Reporter

Student ticket sales for the Sugar Bowl game ended abruptly at approximately noon yesterday when the 1,000 tickets were sold out to seniors. Students began lining up outside the ACC Sunday night and by 8:00 a.m. there was a large crowd.

The ACC was locked, and according to Don Bouffard, ticket manager, "Some students broke into the building at 4:00 a.m." The doors were opened and students lined up at the ticket windows.

Concerning a change in future ticket distribution, Bouffard said, "This system would work fine if we could trust the integrity of the students. If a senior wants to buy a ticket, that is his option, but he shouldn't give his ID to an underclassman. This is what causes the trouble."

According to Bouffard, the great demand for tickets and the crush caused by seniors lending their ID's to underclassmen caused the disruption.

Basic Grant applications still available to freshman

Students still have time to apply for some of the $122.1 million that is available in the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants program for the 1973-74 school year.

Basic Grants, which are funded by the U.S. Office of Education, are available to first-time students who began their post-high school education or training after July 1, 1973, on a full-time basis. These grants can be used at any eligible institution including regular colleges, universities, community or junior colleges, vocational or technical schools, and hospital schools of nursing - both public and private, profit and non-profit.

Grants are based on a formula which takes into account the cost of tuition, fees, room board, books, supplies, and incidental expenses, and the amount the student and his or her family can contribute. The formula is applied consistently to all students throughout the country for the 1973-74 academic year. Awards range from $50 to a maximum of $452 for each eligible student.

John Ottina, U.S. Commissioner of Education, said, "Money that students receive under this program is free and clear; it is not a loan that has to be paid back."

Students may obtain an application form for a Basic Grant through their financial aid officer or guidance counselor, or by writing to Box G., Iowa City, Iowa 52240.

BOAC 747
EUROPE!
TALK TO THE SPECIALISTS
IN YOUTH TRAVEL
Low, Low Prices ANY Destination
CALL CLARK 234-2098

what's the roar about?

the Observer christmas party

Food

Frolics

Foam

For all Observer People
Dec. 7 8:00pm

Holy Cross Halfway House

See editors or department heads for tickets and more information

We want everyone there.

THERE ARE DIFFERENT WAYS TO:

find peace,
be of service,
live out the Gospel,
change the world.

One of them is by helping to form brotherhood among all men and women as a Holy Cross Brother.

For an opportunity to share your dreams and see how they line up with the vision of these men, see

Brother Robert Fillmore
Wednesday, December 5th, between 10:00-4:30
Placement Office, Room 222

seek, pray and work with us

A small Catholic community of the English Benedictine Congregation invites men in search of God to become monks in its monastery family.

Our active apostolate includes a varied pastoral ministry and the conduct of a college preparatory school.

Dedicated to the search for God through prayer and work, we are a young community (founded in 1953) that seeks to grow in numbers and in the service of God and of mankind. We aspire to be a living, vibrant witness to the vigor of the Catholic faith and its relevance to the spiritual, intellectual and social needs of the world today.

saint louis
priory

White Father Luke Rigby
Box 27321
St. Louis, Missouri 63141

THE OBSERVER

AN INDEPENDENT STUDENT NEWSPAPER

Art Ferranti
Executive Editor

Jerry Lufkus
Editor-in-Chief

Dan Barrett
Executive Editor

Lee Gentine
Business Manager

NEWS: 283-1715
EDITORIALS: 283-8661
BUSINESS: 283-7471

John Kloos
Advertising Manager

Tuesday, December 4, 1973

The Ticket to Integrity

Well, it happened again. With the grace and agility of a herd of buffalos, the Notre Dame student body bought their tickets to the Sugar Bowl game Monday morning. With tempers flaring, elbows jutting and even one near fist-fight, the thrice annual (football, hockey and bowl game) fiasco at the ACC ticket office rounded out its schedule for 1973-74.

The situation

It started shortly before 2 a.m., if the students claiming to be first in line can be believed, when fans gathered outside the ACC Gate 2 doors, complete with blankets, thermoses and pillows. More joined them until a crowd upwards of 100 suddenly spotted somebody running around inside around 5:30.

But the hundred sprawled before the doors of the ACC were a far cry from a "line": the one who got to the ticket window first depended on which door was opened first. And said opening caused the first of the mad rushes when the "someone inside" opened those doors early. Any "integrity" that ACC Ticket Manager Don Bouffard wished for later in the day was quite forgotten, as it always is, in the furious stampede to see who can pimp the most people in line.

But the worst was not over yet. Even though the doors were open and the students were at the ticket window, there still remained three long, lonely hours to wait for the window to open. And those three hours saw little but a continuous flow of "friends" of the original campers, taking their place in an already crowded line, pushing the 4 a.m. fans further and further back.

There remained one last insult: the traditional rush to the window 30 minutes before the opening, that memorable time when everyone tries to see if the first guy will fit through the hole in the ticket window. And with that came the additions of even more "friends."

The apathy

One would only have to wonder the reasoning behind permitting this to continue year after year. Seniors remember it from their first football line; freshmen have become initiated to Notre Dame in the most effective way possible.

And the apparent apathy on the part of the officials involved is nothing short of appalling. Ticket Manager Bouffard shrugs off the ticket sales with a vague kind of idealism, trusting in "student integrity" to allay the situation. And besides, it's over for another year, isn't it?

But while idealism is fine, something else has to be taken into consideration: human nature. Idealism and "integrity" seem to go straight down the drain when it comes to sheer greed. And when it comes to tickets to Notre Dame athletic events, greed seems to take precedence over ideals.

Hence to shrug off the problem is merely to avoid thinking about it and resolving it. And what's not needed here; what is needed is a clear-cut plan for future times.

The plan

Therefore, a suggestion of such a plan, borrowed from at least one major-league football team:

Some agency, before students begin lining up, should stand before the unopened doors of the ACC with a priority list. As each fan comes to camp out before the doors, his name is entered on the list in the order he came. At uneven times, the roll call is made, making sure everyone on the list is still present.

Once the doors are opened, potential ticket-buyers should be told that they can register only at the door of Gate 2. Once registered, they may take their place with the others inside.

With the opening of the ticket window itself, the list will once again be called out, distributing the tickets in the order which students lined up originally. Any leftover tickets after the first big crowd disappears would then go to anyone showing up at the window.

The agency to organize such a set-up? Rightfully, it should go the ACC ticket sales office. After all, selling tickets is their business. However, if they continue to refuse to accept their responsibilities, perhaps Student Government, through the Ombudsman Service, could help out.

It really is time to correct the procedures that usually cause little but frustration, anger and injustice among students. With the above plan, perhaps that "integrity" so sorely lacking will resurface.

—Joseph Abell

the observer

Night Editor: Robert Baker
Ass't Night Editor: Tim O'Reilly
Day Editors: Tom Bundy, Marlene Zloza
Typists: C. Fourre, Barb Norcross, Howard Halle, Joe Abell
Compugraphic: Tom Wich
Copy Editor: Marlene Zloza
Photo man: (minus photos) Jerome Phillips
Night Controller: John Flannigan
Layout: Tom O'Neil

P.O. Box Q

The Rally Went Pe(e)p

Dear Editor,

In anticipation of a large crowd to welcome home the number one team in the nation, we placed our bodies and our beer high above the expected crowd in a well-placed tree in the middle of the circle. 7:00 passed . . . 7:15 passed . . . 7:30 passed and we still waited for the crowd to show. The buses showed. The number one team showed. The number one coaches showed. And most loyal fans showed. As for the rest of the student body, they take it for granted that we have been undefeated for the first time in the last 24 years. Maybe they take it for granted that Notre Dame's team HAS so much talent and so much depth, more so than any other team in the nation. When was the last time they were around, when Notre Dame was on their way to the national championship???

The Student Body showed what a difference they could make at the USC game. They won a reputation that day. They blew it Monday night. We can only hope that the team does not suffer from their lack of support.

Alabama chose to meet us in the Sugar Bowl for the national championship. That says a lot about our team. Does the STUDENT BODY think that much of our team???

Two Loyal Fans
of the No. 1 Team.

(names withheld upon request)

Editor's Note: The announcer in the dining hall would have done well to consult The Observer for the time of the team's expected arrival in the circle. Despite the editorial which urged student's arrival to the circle at 7:30, the dining hall announcer apparently felt equipped to advise an arrival at 7:45. Such expert advice led to the late arrival of much of the student body and the band. The team, though late, arrived in the circle at 7:40 p.m. Indeed, The Observer can sometimes be trusted....

An Ultimatum

Editor:

We the undersigned, students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac, and members of the United Auto Workers have discerned that the proposed 1974-1975 school year calendar will cost us in excess of one week's wages ($200.00). It is in the light of this problem that we base our grievance.

We demand that the university compensate us for wages lost due to the early return to school that will be necessary should the proposed calendar become effective.

We will be more than happy to drop our demand if the university should reconsider the calendar and decide to start the 1974-1975 school year after Labor Day, as they have in the past.

Should our demand not be met we shall be forced to take more drastic measures, for which the U.A.W. is traditionally famous.

U.A.W. local 383
Bendix Hydraulics Div.
St. Joseph Mich.
Jude Bremer

Paul M. Reimann
U.A.W. local 600
Ford Engine Plant
Dearborn, Mich.

Kenneth K. Wright
U.A.W. local 362
General Motors-Chevy Div.
Small Parts Plant
Bay City, Mich.

Provost's Pet

Editor:

Once again the administration has moved to solve a problem that does not exist, and in doing so has created a worse situation. The new calendar is as agreeable to the student body as the veal parmesan that we eat at the dining hall. So where did Father Burtchaell get the idea that we needed this new calendar?

His first alleged source came from the academic council. This council, composed of about 32 administrators, 28 faculty, and seven students, decided that students needed a break in October which forced a pre-Labor Day start. Despite many lengthy discussions concerning the pros and cons of the proposal, a 20-19 voted "conclusively decided the issue," in Father Burtchaell's words. Unfortunately, Father Burtchaell failed to agree with me that it was significant that 28 members of the council didn't even vote.

Instead, a much more informative rationale was offered by our Provost. He believes that a 9 day break in October is imperative for the student. It will break up the pressures of the first semester. It will outweigh the losses we must accept when we begin school before Labor Day; lost revenue, lost job opportunities, added expenses of an October vacation etc. .

Once again, some questions were left unanswered. With tuition expenses increasing yearly, how does cutting down the most lucrative week of the summer help the students? With increasing restrictions and costs being levied on travel, how will 2 vacations help the student? And finally, Father Burtchaell, what is a student going to do with 9 days in October? Will he go swimming? Maybe he can go skiing? I wonder what kind of 9 day jobs are open?

There are so many unanswered questions that should be covered, but space limits this. I would like to make two requests. The first involves those who oppose the calendar. Don't let the issue die! Voice your opinions. Contact the members of the Academic Council.

Father Burtchaell says everyone should know who they are. Support the HPC and SLC. If the students give up, changing the calendar will be all that much harder.

The second is directed to Father Burtchaell. Notre Dame stands out among other institutions because it possesses a strong community spirit. Don't turn your back to the people who are trying to rectify a problem that is obviously with us. Students are pleading to you now, because we don't want to go through your one year trial run. We feel that we have been unjustly represented and we aren't willing to go through an entire year of hardship because your "pet" calendar is ready to go.

Phil Byrne

doonesbury

garry Trudeau

Previews for Eight Congressmen

Nixon to reveal financial record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon called in eight congressional Republican leaders Monday to give them a preview of his personal financial records.

The White House has said Nixon will make the information available to the general public some time this week. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said it included every expenditure Nixon has made since becoming President.

"It was just sort of an advance briefing to let us know what they were doing," said Rep. John B. Anderson, Ill., one of those present at the meeting. He added that he had the impression that figures already reported "are accurate."

According to Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, Nixon spent about 20 minutes in the session, held in the Cabinet Room, and then turned the job of detailed briefing over to his aides. The meeting lasted two hours.

Warren said White House aides Bryce N. Harlow, Ronald L. Ziegler, Alexander M. Haig Jr. and William C. Timmons also attended along with Kenneth Gemmell, a Philadelphia attorney who specializes in financial matters and who is donating his time to the White House to help prepare information to refute allegations of improprieties in the President's personal finances. Anderson said lawyer H. Chapman Rose of Cleveland also was present.

The two lawyers, Anderson said, "went over some very detailed summaries" of Nixon's tax returns for the years 1969 through 1972 "and the information is going to be made available to the press in the next day or two."

One of the subjects of discussion, Anderson continued, was Nixon's donation of his vice presidential papers, valued at $500,000, to the National Archives, and taken as a deduction. He said the lawyers told him "there was physical delivery of the papers prior to July, 1969, and that they're willing to submit the question to arbitration."

Congress prevented deductions for such contributions after July, 1969. Anderson was asked what the lawyers meant about arbitration.

"They meant they recognized there wasn't any point in going to the commissioner of Internal Revenue because after all he's a presidential appointee, whereas the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue and Taxation would be the body in the other branch of government."

Attending the session were Sens. Hugh Scott, Pa.; Robert P. Griffin, Mich.; Norris Cotton, N.H.; and John Tower, Texas. Aside from Anderson, those attending from the House side were vice president-designate Gerald R. Ford, John J. Rhodes, Ariz., and Leslie C. Arends, Ill.

Plans to renovate LaFortune stalled; students are left out

by R. Thomas Thues
Staff Reporter

The LaFortune renovation project is not dead, but the student committee has been largely inactive for the past several weeks.

The LaFortune Renovation Committee is responsible for conception, planning and promotion of the entire renovation project. In spring of last year the project took shape under the guidance of the committee. Models were built, displays were set up and the entire student body was excited about an Irish Pub and a place to socialize.

In the fall, the committee approached the trustees with a completed proposal of a workable student center. The committee was met with enthusiastic support and many requests to "go ahead." Cost was not mentioned as a problem and the project was given a high priority.

Two weeks ago Vice President of Student Affairs Philip Faccenda announced that the project's cost was too great. He said a larger project, encompassing the entire LaFortune mall area, might be considered by the officers of the University, but that the Irish Pub would not be accepted by the Trustees.

Faccenda told the committee to be patient. The student committee hasn't met since that meeting.

Committee member and senior government major Dan Schipp said, "We're just kind of waiting to hear from the vice presidents." He added that because of the delays on the part of the officers of the University that he "felt a little let down."

Schipp noted that the committee had felt a great deal of accomplishment by "guiding the University to such a big investment." He regretted that the committee's student input wouldn't be as great within the new mall proposal.

"We'll be working as consultants to a professional architect rather than having the plans come from the committee like they should," emphasized Schipp.

Another committee member, senior pre-professional major Dave Caruso, said he was "very disappointed."

"We put in all that work and all of a sudden we just don't know where we are," said Caruso.

He added, "There's been so much student input all along that it feels like the students have been stripped of something they have a right to."

The cost factor involved in this project was the subject of a former committee member's complaint. He recalled that cost was never mentioned last year or fall of this year.

"Only not cost is being mentioned as a problem. Cost sounds like almost too pat an excuse," the former member claimed.

He also claimed that the officers have been unjust to the committee.

"The people on the renovation committee have put a lot of time into this project and they deserve more than rhetoric," he concluded.

Also speaking about project cost Terry Skeehan, a senior accounting major said that the priorities for the project have been distorted by the administration.

"The word was always go ahead.

We went ahead. Now, all of a sudden the project's out of our hands," said Skeehan.

Skeehan also observed that "most of the members of the committee are seniors and won't even benefit from the student center."

The claim that the committee was "shut off" by the officers of the University was repeated by all the committee members questioned. The delays were particularly discouraging to senior management major Steve Carter.

Carter claimed that, "The Administration lost touch with the committee. It's like a case of administrative shock."

Carter cited student input as the most valuable asset of the project. He said further that elimination of student input would be ridiculous.

"I don't know why we would be finished as a committee. I only hope the officers listen to what we have to say," said Carter.

Disappointment in the committee was not voiced by senior class members only. Sophomore American Studies intent Sue Daren summarized the frustration of the committee members by saying:

"I was really angry at first, but I'm just disappointed now. By consulting professional architects the administration really ignored us. The committee could really be behind the administration, but they've got to readapt our student philosophy. The fact is that the architecture firm can't grasp what the students need. The officers really hurt a lot of people. I wish they'd give us the chance to help again."

Free 'quiet night' concert planned

Student Government in coordination with Student Activities Director Fr. Dave Schlaver will present a "Quiet Night Concert" to the Notre Dame student body on Monday night, December 10, in Washington Hall.

Appearing in this free show will be Jon Terlep, Dave Gray, Randy Sarton, along with Jerry Beckles. Terlep, Gray, and Sarton will perform their original versions of acoustic music with Beckles accompanying on electric bass.

The concert will begin at 9:30 p.m., to prevent early evening studying conflicts with many students. A vast improvement over sound and staging of previous free Student Union concerts is promised. Students are advised to come early due to limited seating.

Love resigns

(continued from page 1)

"The problem is getting action," another source said. "Love complained that he didn't have access to the President. That shows there wasn't any action." Love said he preferred returning to Colorado and practicing law rather than, as the Post put it, "sitting back here and twiddling my thumbs in some superfluous job."

Love, who resigned as governor of Colorado at Nixon's request to take the job in July, offered to "assist the development of a new administration in any way possible, but administration sources said Love had been offered the job of ambassador to Canada and a post in the new energy administration, but he declined both of them.

MISSED OUT?

The requirement for graduation from Notre Dame is one year of PE or ROTC. Now that many of you have sampled the physical education program you might consider Army ROTC this coming semester. You can catch up with your contemporaries already in ROTC and do not have any commitment to further military service during the next year and one half. Look the program over. MS I classes are scheduled for 09TT. If you desire further information, stop by the Army ROTC offices on the Notre Dame campus or call Captain Weimer at 283-6264.

Army ROTC

DERSHAM MOTORS

special

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

★ We now offer a 12 month guarantee ★

★ on all cars. ★

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Located across from Louie's

Ph. 233-5145 Financing Available

Like to PLAY...

pinball, air hockey, foosball
or pool?

500 free games at

Nickie's

this Thursday Nite starting at 9:00 until the last game is over.

ATTENTION GIRLS:

Sign up only on this Thursday Nite for the girls' pool tournament to be held on the following Thurs. No entry fee (first 32 girls)

Prizes: 1st - $25 gift certificate

2nd - $10 gift certificate

Campus briefs . . .

Bodnar exhibits photos during December at SMC

An exhibit of photographs by Kathleen Bodnar will be on display during the month of December at the Moreau Art Gallery, Saint Mary's.

Also on display during December will be etchings by Frances Lerner, from the University of Iowa, and ceramics by the Indiana University graduate potters.

Band announces Bowl schedule

Director of Notre Dame Bands, Robert O'Brian, has announced the Band's itinerary for the Sugar Bowl trip.

Transportation has been arranged from Chicago and New York for band members on the evening of December 27th. Band rehearsals will be held in the mornings and afternoons of December 28th and 29th.

After a morning practice on December 30th, the band will participate in a parade at 6:30 p.m. The parade will start on Bourbon Street and proceed down Rampart Street to the Marriott Hotel where many Irish supporters will be staying. A pep rally will follow the parade at the hotel.

The band will have a dress rehearsal in the stadium on the 31st and will be in their game seats by 5:30 P.M.

The band members will return to South Bend on the afternoon of January 1st.

Fr. Hesburgh to lecture at Yale

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., president of the University of Notre Dame, will deliver the Terry Lectures at Yale University this Wednesday through Friday (Dec. 5-7).

Father Hesburgh's three lectures have the overall title of "The Year 2,000: Dream or Nightmare?" and deal with such issues as ecumenism, population, education, international relations, and Third World development as they might evolve in the third millennium.

The object of the endowed lecture series is the "assimilation and interpretation" of the results of scholarly research and their "application to human welfare, especially by the building of the truths of science and philosophy into the structure of a broadened and purified religion".

Father Hesburgh was given an honorary degree by Yale in 1971.

Concert poll sent to 300 students

A student survey to determine concert preferences has been sent out to a random sample of Notre Dame students. Ken Lee, a junior marketing major, in conjunction with the concert production staff of the Student Union, is in charge of the project.

The purpose of the study is not only to ascertain which artists the student body would like to see, but also whether they are willing to pay the ticket prices necessary to pay those artists.

The 300 students who received the survey are urged to return them in the enclosed stamped envelope by this Friday.

Julliard Quartet at St. Mary's on Wednesday

The Julliard String Quartet will perform in concert Wednesday, December 5, 1973, at 8:00 p.m. in O'Laughlin Auditorium, Saint Mary's. The world-famous ensemble will be appearing as part of the College's continuing Performing Arts Series.

Their appearance at Saint Mary's is part of their annual coast-to-coast tour.

Tickets for the Quartet's performance at Saint Mary's College are $3.50 for adults, $2.00 for students, and may be obtained from the College's Office of Programming.

Other events scheduled in the Performing Arts Series include the Harkness Ballet Company on February 13, 1974, and the New York City Center Repertory Theatre Company on March 3 and 4, 1974.

NOTICE

The Dec. 7 issue of The Observer will be the last of the semester.

The advertising deadline for this issue has been moved up to 5:00 p.m. Dec. 5

THE ND SMC THEATRE

SEASON 1973-74

RESERVATIONS
284-4176 Bus. Hrs.
283-7054 Show Nites

Student - Faculty
ND-SMC Staff
$1.50

Thieves' Carnival

Jean Anouilh's merry masquerade
Dec. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 at 8:30 p.m.
Washington Hall (Notre Dame)

InPIRG begins reorganization at Notre Dame after two years

by Jackie Simmons
Staff Reporter

InPIRG, the Indiana Public Interest Research Group, began its reorganization on the Notre Dame campus Monday night with an InPIRG representative from the IU Bloomington campus, Mark Riddle. Riddle, who defined InPIRG as a "Student controlled Nader's Raiders group," believes the support InPIRG received two years ago at Notre Dame can be revived.

During the spring of 1972, one hundred students were involved in a petition drive at N.D. which resulted in a favorable response from 75 per cent of the student body to the proposed voluntary $3.00 fee to be assessed to each student at the beginning of the year. However, the fee, which at the time was the only means of financial support for the group, was never established even though the administration approved it. The Indiana University group had been unable to get a similar financial system set up there. Thus the InPIRG system never reached a statewide level and the Notre Dame group dissolved.

However, with a grant from the Irwin-Sweeney Miller Foundation, InPIRG is now gaining support once again on a statewide basis. The money from this grant, as well as from students' fees is used to hire lawyers, environmental protectionists, and other professionals to help the students attack community and consumer issues such as sex and race discrimination, or tenant-landlord relations.

While independent PIRG's now exist in twenty states, examples of the work done in Indiana include a fight against the rate increase by Indian Bell Telephone as well as a protest against the cut back of South Shore service. The aim is to get positive action as a result of intensive reasearch.

On some campuses students have become involved through work-study programs, or have picked up 3-6 hours credit for their work.

While the organizers Mark

Riddle and John Bachman (a member of the first ND InPIRG group) expect some students from the 1972 group to return, new interested students are also needed.

VALUABLE COUPON
WITH COUPON
FULL ENGINE TUNE-UP
$20.95
ANY 6 CYL. U.S. AUTO
ADD $4 FOR 8 CYL. CARS
AIR COND. CARS $2 MORE
INCLUDES PLUGS, POINTS,
CONDENSER, CHECK
CHOKE, TIME ENGINE,
BALANCE CARBURETOR

VALUABLE COUPON
WITH COUPON
FRONT END ALIGNMENT
$8.95
MOST AMERICAN CARS

VALUABLE COUPON
WITH COUPON
BRAKE RELINING
$29.95
EXCEPT DISC BRAKES AND FOREIGN CARS
INCLUDES FULL INSPECTION, FLUID AND CLEAN.

VALUABLE COUPON
WITH COUPON
SHOCK SALE
$4.44
PLUS INSTALLATION

Snow Recaps

$22.95 560-15
(plus F.E.T.)

Premium 4 Ply Nylon Snow Tires

F78-14 Blackwalls start as low as $16.95
(plus F.E.T.)

20% OFF

on all tail pipes,
exhaust pipes, and
mufflers.

Discount Tire Service

50595 U.S. 31 North

272-1023

OPEN DAILY TIL 6
SATURDAY TIL 4

social commission presents
A TRADITIONAL EVENING
OF PANDEMONIUM

THIS SATURDAY AT THE
SOUTH BEND ARMORY

8:30-12:30

LIVE MUSIC
BREW - PEANUTS

LIMITED TICKETS ON SALE NOW
$2.50 per PERSON AT THE DINING
HALLS AND LA FORTUNE TICKET WINDOW.

NO TICKETS WILL BE
SOLD AT THE DOOR

FREE BUS SERVICE AVAILABLE
SCHEDULE:

Leave ND Circle: 8, 8:15, 8:30, 8:45, 9, 9:15,

Leave SMC (stop sign by Lemans): 8:05, 8:20
8:35, 8:50, 9:05, 9:20

Leave Armory: 11:30, 11:45, 12:00, 12:15, 12:30

ARMORY PARTY

THE "FINALS" FLING

Campaign spending reform bill killed after Senate filibuster

By DON PHILLIPS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate liberals, unable to break a filibuster, gave up their battle for federally financed presidential elections Monday after they were promised early action on a similar bill next year.

The compromise agreement, a victory for Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., the White House and conservative Republicans, ended a four-day-old filibuster that had threatened to leave the government unable to pay its bills or its employees after Thursday.

The liberals had attempted to attach the campaign reform measure to a bill increasing the limit on the national debt, but Allen would not give up the floor Friday — a filibuster that prevented the bill from going to a conference with the House.

The liberals gave up after the second of two cloture motions managed only a 49-39 vote to shut off debate, 10 votes less than the required two-thirds, and an Allen motion to strip the amendment from the bill failed by only one vote — 42-43.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, a cosponsor of the campaign reform measure, then offered essentially the same motion after the chairman of the Rules Committee, Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., promised to bring out a campaign spending measure within 30 days after the Senate convenes next year.

Scott called the situation "a Mexican standoff."

"We are hurting the country," Scott said. He was joined by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who introduced a series of cloture petitions to halt the debate.

The Scott motion passed 48-36, automatically passing the bill to increase the limit on the national debt to $475.7 billion. The previous limit was $465 billion, but the limit automatically dropped to $400 billion at midnight Friday, making the government legally overdrawn and unable to borrow money.

The financing amendment would have granted each major party candidate for President about $21 million in tax checkoff money and prohibited private contributions for the general election. Presidential primary candidates would have received about $7 million in matching money.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., a supporter of the campaign reform measure, issued Treasury figures showing that the government would have enough cash to continue paying bills, salaries and benefits through Thursday, but not after that.

Long made one last-ditch effort to save the campaign reform bill by trying to attach it to a bill suspending import duties on certain shoe-making machinery. But Allen, who held the floor, refused to allow the bill to be considered.

The Democratic proponents of the campaign spending bill, led by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Walter Mondale, D-Minn., Long and Mansfield, wanted to send the bill to President Nixon in some form, forcing him to veto it if he dared.

But the liberals were forced to contend not only with the filibuster and behind-the-scenes White House lobbying but with a split with the Watergate Committee, which also is looking into campaign spending reform.

Shipping cut 25 percent due to fuel shortage

NEW YORK (UPI) — The oil shortage has stranded many tankers and merchant vessels around the world, Platt's Oilgram Price Service reported Monday.

The daily newsletter for the oil industry, a McGraw-Hill publication, said deliveries of bunker oil, the common ship fuel, have been cut about 25 percent by major suppliers and that black market prices of bunker oil have jumped sky high. One major shipping line told Platt's Oilgram it is paying $85 a ton on the black market for bunker oil that sold for $25 a ton in October in Italy. A year ago the price was $12.50 a ton.

Platt's said at least 20 ships are stranded for lack of fuel in Japanese harbors, six in South African ports, and at least one large tanker is marooned in a shipyard.

SHARE THE RIDE WITH US THIS CHRISTMAS AND GET ON TO A GOOD THING.

Us means Greyhound, and a lot of your fellow students who are already on to a good thing. You leave when you like. Travel comfortably. Arrive refreshed and on by You'll save money, too, over the increased star fares. Share the ride with us on weekends. Holidays. Anytime. Go Greyhound.

GREYHOUND SERVICE

TO	ONE-WAY	ROUND-TRIP	YOU CAN LEAVE	YOU ARRIVE
Cleveland, Ohio	$13.45	$25.60	1:45pm	7:10pm
Detroit, Mich.	$10.50	$19.95	3:50pm	8:55pm
NY, NY	$39.40	$74.90	1:45pm	8:00pm
Philadelphia, PA	$35.60	$67.65	1:45pm	6:40am
Wash, DC	$33.80	$64.25	7:45am	11:15pm

Ask your agent about additional departures and return trips.

Greyhound Bus Terminal

210 West Monroe

2876541

Greyhound
A change for the better

TB TESTS

MANDATORY FOR TUTORS

given 11-2 p.m. Tues. Dec. 4

checks 11-2 p.m. Fri Dec 7
at LaFortune

all must report

call 5731 for info

The Performing Arts Series presents....

THE JULLIARD STRING QUARTET

Wed. Dec. 5 8:00 pm

O'Laughlin Auditorium

Admission: $3.50, Students - $2.00
Reservations: 4176; 239 Moreau Hall

CLASSIFIED ADS

WANTED

Need secondhand or new kick potter's wheel. Call 259-2382 or 271-7798.

Hockey shinguard s + helmet. Call Joe 1416.

RIDES WANTED

Need ride to S. Fla. Can leave Dec. 20. Call 7683.

Need ride to S. La. for Xmas. Call Rick 233-3945.

Need ride to India napolis Dec. 7. Please call 3283.

FOR SALE

MEERSCHAUM PIPES! Exceptional values, personalized service. Catalog. PMP Co. Box 444 Gaithersburg, Md. 20760.

BANKRUPTCY SALE: 1 pr Koflach Racer Plastic Ski Boots. Size 9 1/2. Excellent condition. Must see $135. Set of Wilson Clubs. 2, 3, 4 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, Irons, no woods. w. new bag. Lund skis. resurfaced over summer. with Nothlan toe and thunder heel bindings. $45. call Knute 233-3945.

IMPORTED MERCURY WATCHES: 1-17 jewels 3 styles, perpetual calendar. guaranteed. $13.50-$15. Call Frank 3119.

Selling out to get married. Best offer on Max. reg. frig., red shag, 9' x 12'. Chest of drawers, Chair, bookshelves. Call Mike 8183.

Stereo turntable 8 track speakers receiver. Used 1 semester. 1067.

10 speed bike for slae. Cheap. Asking $50. John 8549.

for some of the best christmas gifts in town at the best prices in town come by pandora's 602 n. st. louis from 10 to 7 every day.

FOR RENT

4 BR house, recreation, room, study, fireplace, wall to wall carpet, just renovated completely furnished. Jan semester or immediate occupation. Al Brassieur 289-2461.

one BR apt. near ND. Furnished nicely. Rate quite reasonable. Call after 6pm. Mrs. Kenelly 233-4487.

LOST AND FOUND

Lost class ring '75 lt. blue stone, name Mike Diener inside. Reward. No questions asked. 1470.

Stolen Mens bright orange 10 speed Atala racing bike with bookrack. From west entrance O'Shag. Please call Ann. 1346. REWARD.

Lost camel coat Le Mans. Call 4050, 5373. Reward.

Lost class ring JL W '74. Auqa stone. Reward. Call 7877.

NOTICES

Morrissey Loan Fund can loan up to $150 at 1 per cent interest. 1 day waiting period. Basement of La Fortune. 11:15-12:15 Mon Fri.

got books you dont want? come to pandora's from 22:30 -3:30 and we'll buy them paperbacks or textbooks. 602 n. st. louis.

Have your bike winterized. Will not rust, even if left out all winter. Call 272-8697.

Rides from Indy or Louisville to Sugar Bowl $50 round trip. Leave 12-8 return Jan. 1. Call (317) 257-0628.

Rides from Chicago Indy or Louisville to Sugar Bowl $50. Leave Dec. 28 return Jan. 1. Call (317) 251-4402.

Important meeting of ND ski racers Thurs. Dec. 6 7 pm. Room 1-C LaFortune.

PERSONALS

Poor Doner (Knute) selling at I worldly possession s to finance trip to sugar bowl. Experience of helping someone less fortunate than your self. See FOR SALE section for details.

To the assorted guests We'll win nest time! Bozo Deb. + Bozo Kath

Chris, Congratulations! You have recently written a PAIGE of history with your GREAt score. the mosquitoes

LOWEST YOUTH FARES TO EUROPE $200

Ages 12 thru 23

Round-trip jet, New York to Luxembourg in the heart of Europe, Sept. thru May for stays of up to a year. Show proof of age. Book within 30 days of your flight.

YOU CAN BE IN EUROPE TOMORROW!

Icelandic Airlines also offers one-week car, rail and ski tours to Europe, Nov. thru March. Get details on our youth and student fares and lowest-cost tours to Europe of any scheduled airline. See your travel agent.

To: Icelandic Airlines
630 Fifth Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10020
(212) PL 7-8585. Toll Free outside N.Y. State (800) 221-9760

Send folder ☐ on Lowest Youth Fares to Europe ☐ Tours ☐

Name _____

Street _____

City _____

State _____ Zip _____

My travel agent is _____

ICELANDIC

Irish rally, nip Buckeyes in OT

by Vic Dorr
Sports Editor

It wasn't an easy win, and it may not have been an artistic win. But nothing comes easily against Ohio State at Columbus, and at 9:30 last night none of coach Digger Phelps' young, scrappy cagers could have cared less about the aesthetic quality of their second triumph of the 1973-'74 basketball season.

What they did care about was a 76-72 overtime victory over coach Fred Taylor's Buckeyes, a victory which seemed completely out of reach on several occasions and a victory which had to be rescued, finally, by an eleventh hour shot by—who else?—junior guard Dwight Clay.

Clay connected on an 18-foot jump shot from the left side of the lane with just four seconds left in regulation to tie the game at 67, and the Irish, revitalized by Clay's heroics, surged away from the Buckeyes during the last two minutes of the extra period to claim their second win in as many outings.

But before Phelps' Irish could even look to their marvelously cool point guard, they had to thwart the homesteading Bucks' time and time again. Ohio State jumped into a quick 6-0 lead before Notre Dame could even dent the scoreboard, but the Irish battled back to tie the game at 14 and again at 20—the latter deadlock coming with 8:11 left in the opening half.

But the Buckeyes, 81-75 overtime winners against the Irish last year, weren't content with anything so shaky as a tie. They streaked to another six-point advantage, 33-27 with 2:19 left, and it took John Shumate's short jump shot just 47 seconds before the half-time break to pull Notre Dame to within four, 39-35, at intermission.

Notre Dame's shooters, perhaps disturbed by the overflow crowd in Ohio State's St. John's Arena, were badly outgunned during the first 20 minutes—44.8 per cent to 32.4 per cent—and only the bruising board work of junior center Shumate and freshman forward Adrian Dantley kept the Irish close during the first period of play.

But if the Irish had to rely mainly on their rebounding skills during the first half, they parlayed both shooting and rebounding into a second half comeback that had the Buckeye crowd in a frenzy up until the final gun.

A pair of short-range jump shots by Shumate sliced Ohio State's lead to two, 39-37, just moments into the second half, but the Bucks answered with a pair of buckets of their own to pull back to a six-point cushion. Dan Gerhard's long bomb made it 45-39 with 17:47 left, but that Buckeye tally triggered an Irish spurt which kept the game close the rest of the way.

Four unanswered scores—the first a layup by Shumate, the last an eight-footer by forward Gary Novak—gave Notre Dame its first lead of the second half, 47-45, and neither team held a lead larger than two points during 15 minutes or regulation time.

With just under four minutes left in the game, Novak whirled down the lane with a lead pass from Dantley and scored from close range to tie the game again at 65. But OSU's 6-7 Wardell Jackson canned a jumper with 2:05 left to make it 67-65, and the two clubs traded time outs, steals, missed shots and fouls during the next two minutes until Clay worked himself into position for his tying shot.

Ohio State had a chance to ice the game with :09 remaining, when Gary Brokaw committed his fifth personal foul and sent OSU's Jackson to the line with a one-and-one.

But Jackson missed the front end, and the Irish converted the rebound into another patented Dwight Clay finish. The diminutive guard came back with a fall-away jumper one minute into the overtime frame to give the Irish the lead for good, 71-69, and five ND free throws over the last 90 seconds—one by Shumate, two by Dantley, and two by Clay—put the game away for Phelps' cagers.

John Shumate, who is molding his early 1973 pace after his late '72 pace, led all scorers with 25 points. Brokaw collected 15, Clay 15, and Dantley 12 for the Irish, while Ohio State's Ratella netted 16, Dan Gebhard 15, and Steve Wenner 11.

Notre Dame's next basketball outing will be a Thursday road game against the Northwestern Wildcats. Tip-off time for that game is set for 8:05 p.m., cst.

Dwight Clay tied last night's game with Ohio State with an 18-foot jumper with 0:04 showing.

OBSERVER SPORTS

Split salvages ND's ice hockey weekend

by John Fineran

It had been a long week for the Notre Dame hockey team. It started after the second loss, an overtime one, to Colorado College during Thanksgiving break, continued when Ian Williams and Brian Walsh were suspended, and reached its peak Friday night when Denver handed Notre Dame a 6-4 loss.

But, it was fitting Walsh would be the hero yesterday afternoon. The freshman's goal at 2:18 in overtime gave the Irish the win they desired, 4-3, and a split with Denver. The victory broke Notre Dame's three game losing string and made the Irish 3-6-1 for the season.

Notre Dame had led 3-1 going into the third period, but Alex Shibicky's bouncing goal and Rick Bragnalo's deflection with three seconds remaining in regulation sent the game into the sudden-death session. Denver had pulled goalie Pete Presti for the sixth attacker.

"It was a good, team effort," coach Lefty Smith said. "It showed that our team has great character. It would have been easy to take and sag after Bragnalo's goal, but we took it right to Denver."

Ric Schafer, who has been outstanding all season despite the Notre Dame record, came up with the shot which Walsh deflected for the winner. Eddie Bumbacco, who scored his second goal of the season during the Notre Dame three-goal outburst against Lo Presti in the first stanza, fed the pass to Schafer.

Denver broke out in front at 4:15 when Rick Preston deflected Bragnalo's wide shot in mid-air past Kronholm. Notre Dame came back, and when Ray DeLorenzi attempted to shoot, he was hooked by Lindsay Thompson and checked by an undeterminable player, reinjuring his right shoulder. Thompson went off for his misdemeanor at 6:20.

Smith sent freshman Roger Bourque over the boards for the Irish powerplay, and the newcomer got results. After breaking up a play at center ice, Bourque saw Pat Conroy steaming down the left wing, fed him the puck, and Conroy's 40-foot wrister beat Lo Presti.

Notre Dame made it 2-1 at 13:52 when Bumbacco, Alex Pirus and Schafer so confused the Pioneer defense with their stickhandling that Bumbacco was left unattended to Lo Presti's right for an easy feed from Schafer. Eddie waited to make sure the Denver goalie would commit himself, and then put it by Lo Presti for his second goal of the year.

The same trio accounted for Notre Dame's third goal at 18:43. Schafer dropped the puck to Bumbacco, and the resulting slapshot stunned Lo Presti long enough for Pirus to hit one of his own into the net. It was the freshman's first goal at Notre Dame.

DeLorenzi returned to the ice in the scoreless second period, but Notre Dame was to suffer two other injuries during the game. Paul Clarke was hit in his right foot with a shot, and X-rays will be taken to determine the extent of the injury.

Steve Curry went sprawling into the Irish net after taking a Denver skatetip back in the head. After being administered to on the bench, he returned.

Mark Kronholm made 37 saves in the game, as did Lo Presti, some the them brilliant, and he received help when needed from his teammates, particularly defensemen Curry, Jack Brownschidle, Les Notre Dame's ice hockey team ended a string of setbacks on Sunday afternoon, with a 4-3 OT win over Denver.

Larson, Clarke, and Bourque.

The referees, Bob Gilray and John McGonigal, called only 15 penalties, surprisingly only four of them, two each game, against the Irish. Notre Dame had entered the series with 165 penalty minutes in eight contests.

With a little bit of Irish luck, Notre Dame could have won Friday's encounter as well. Four times, Denver took a one-goal lead, and four times, Notre Dame dug down and came up with the tying goal. The leading goal just didn't bounce Notre Dame's way, and after defenseman John Pearson's third-period marker gave Denver a 5-4 lead, the Irish were defeated.

With the Pioneers leading 1-0 early in the game, sophomore Tim Byers and senior Mike Tardani got Notre Dame a shorthanded goal. Tardani fed Byers, who lackadaisically slapped the puck. Perhaps Byers' shot was unexpected, for Lo Presti hardly moved as the puck ripped into the net at 6:17.

Denver took a 2-1 lead into the second period, only to have Conroy tie it at 53 seconds. The Pioneers went up 3-2 on Bruce Affleck's shortnaded goal, but Conroy's left wing, Larry Israelson, tipped in a pass from DeLorenzi at 9:54. Denver's Mike Busniuk and Notre Dame's DeLorenzi traded third-period goals to make it 4-4, but it could have easily been 5-4 Notre Dame.

DeLorenzi was tripped from behind with 1:29 left in the second stanza, and referee McGonigal awarded the Irish player a penalty shot. Raymond took the puck at the blueline, skated in on Lo Presti, but the goaltender cut the angle down sufficiently to prevent a score.

After Pearson's goal, Notre Dame attempted to tie by pulling Kronholm. The strategy backfired, however, as Preston hammered one into an open net with 18 seconds remaining for the 6-4 final.

"I'm still convinced Notre Dame is going to win some hockey games—and a lot of them," Murray Armstrong, the Denver coach, said afterwards. "They are a big team, the biggest we've seen this year. They skate well."

"They got four goals on us," Armstrong concluded. "They could have scored many more."

Indeed, Notre Dame could have Friday night, but four goals was all the Irish needed Sunday afternoon to make what could have been a disappointing weekend a very pleasant one instead.