The Observer

VOL. XVI, NO. 55

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary's

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1981

Student Body President Don Murday (left) presents Fr. Van Wolvlear's response to the student request for a full-time Off-Campus Director to the Student Senate last night. See story below. (Photo by John Macor)

No new director for O-C

By MICHELE DIETZ
Staff Reporter

Off-Campus Housing will not get a new full-time director, according to Student Body President Don Murday in his address to the Student Senate last night.

The Campus Life Council passed the Student Senate proposal for a full-time director two weeks ago. Fr. John Van Wolvlear, vice president for Student Activities, however, makes the final decision, and rejected the proposal. Fr. Van Wolvlear sent a letter to the Senate saying he disagrees with a full-time director, that a part-time director is sufficient, and that the present situation will be improved.

The main point Van Wolvlear brought against the proposal was the insufficient amount of work warranting a full-time position. Bro. Edward Luther will finish the rest of the school year in his present capacity as part-time Off-Campus Housing Director. A new part-time director will be appointed over the summer.

According to Murday, the Student Senate will not sit idle. "If the new director can fill the requirements of the job on a part-time basis, fine, but I don't think he can do it. Our best course of action is to show the University that this is a full-time position by coming up wth some concrete ideas so they can implement them."

Another topic discussed by the Senate was the formation of a Committee on Tenure. The purpose of the committee is to thoroughly study the tenure process focusing on the student's perspective. This will entail researching the validity of the claim that "publishing is more important than teaching if one wants to be tenured."

The goal of the committee will be to develop a report that will conclude whether Notre Dame is still an excellant teaching institution, or if it has become more oriented to research and publishing. Murday stated that the task will be a long but worthwhile process, commenting that "If it be the case that the tenure is stressing research and not teaching, then the University is not fulfill-

See SENATE, page 3

Polish strikers stand firm on demands

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Provincial authorities balked yesterday at ratifying an agreement to end Poland's biggest regional strike since the independent labor movement Solidarity was formed 14 months ago, a union spokesman said.

The tentative bargain would have ended a 19-day wildcat strike by 160,000 workers in Zielona Gora that has affected nearly every walk of life in the farming province 230 miles west of Warsaw.

At Solidarity's national headquarters in Gdansk, meanwhile, union leader Lech Walesa and other ranking Solidarity officials drafted a six-point agenda for talks with the government about Poland's economic and social ills.

A union spokesman said Solidarity would like the talks to begin Friday. He said Solidarity wants mass media access, free local elections, judicial independence, creation of a social-economic council, economic reforms, and compensation to low-paid workers to offset price increases.

Solidarity's spokesman in Zielona Gora, Marion Podsada, said a tentative settlement to the wildcat strike had been hammered out in a "grueling" all-night bargaining session that ended early yesterday.

But he said provincial authorities failed to appear at the appointed hour to ratify the agreement, and were trying "to torpedo the deal" by reopening bargaining on vital portions of the accord.

"In this situation, there is no chance of ending the strike very soon," said Andrzej Berlak, a local Solidarity official.

The strike began Oct. 22 with demands by local Solidarity officials for the removal of three state farm managers for what the union called incompetency. It eventually spread to all parts of the regional economy except health services and utilities.

Podsada said the strike need not have been so extensive, "But the authorities here dug in their heels, and their resistence bred radicalism here, which is the normal chain of events in Poland."

He said the draft agreement provides for the dismissal of the three managers, the reinstatement of a Solidarity leader fired from the state farm where the strike began, amnesty for the protesting workers, and strike compensation calculated at vacation-pay rates.

If accepted, it would end the one of two remaining strikes in a wave of wildcat walkouts that swept Poland last month, idling 250,000 workers and raising the the threat of a government martial law decree.

The other wildcat strike still underway is in the coal mining city of Sosnowiec, 155 miles southwest of Warsaw. Miners are protesting a chemical throwing incident at a mine shaft last month in which 60 people were injured. The miners claim it was a provocation by the government and want time on state television to present their case.

Government officials say the frequent strikes and slowdowns in Poland are a major contributing factor in the Communist country's falling production and widespread food shortages.

Changing face

Chinatwon continues to grow

By DAVID EINSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chinatown. It glitters with restaurants and open-air markets, bazaars and jewelry stores that make it a must stop for every visitor to San Francisco.

Yet it is also a ghetto, a dark, cramped place of sweatshops and gang violence and old people who live in fear.

This is the changing face of Chinatown. What started as a neighborhood for those who had worked on the gold mines and railroads in the mid-1800s has grown to become the largest community of its kind outside the Orient.

And it's still growing. When the lid was lifted on immigration from China in 1965, 20,000 people per year began to flow into the 40-square-block area bordered by the city's financial district on one side and Italian North Beach on another.

Today the population of Chinatown stands at about 65,000, a mixture of Cantonese-speaking elders and an influx of middle-and upper-class immigrants speaking Mandarin.

Ernest Chann, president of the Chinese Historical Society of America, says that for newcomers, Chinatown is a necessary way station on the road to the American dream.

"It's a community in flux. There are immigrants who learn the language and learn the ropes and move out," he said.

"However there are also old folks who insist on staying, and you'll see many of them sitting around the few open parks, whiling away their twilight years."

The elderly live in what Chann calls a "subculture.

They only speak Chinese and never venture out of the area, even for a day's vacation. They live and die in Chinatown."

Chinatown itself nearly died before it had a chance to live, said Chann.

Most of its first settlers were men. In 1872, the federal government passed an act halting immigration for all but relatives of people who were living in America at that time.

The supply of brides cut-off, Chinatown became a bachelor's haven littered with opium dens.

What saved the community was the very event that destroyed it — the great earthquake of 1906. Many records were lost in the fire that swept through the city, freeing Chinese residents to purchase fraudulent identities of people who had lived in Chinatown before 1872. The tide of immigration resumed.

Chinatown took on its modern character in the 1920s, when the first shops and restaurants catering to tourists opened. It remained largely unchanged until 1965, when the wave of immigrants gave it a new face.

"The culture has been diluted in certain ways," Chann said. "For instance, the food is no longer strictly Cantonese. The chefs are borrowing elements from each style. And the movies are sometimes in Mandarin, sometimes in Cantonese."

Throughout its history, Chinatown has lived with violence. In the old days it was the Tong Wars. Today it's youth gangs. The violence reached a peak in September 1977 when five diners died in a hail of bullets at the Golden Dragon restaurant.

"We're concerned about it. There's always the potential for problems," said police Sgt. Mike Pera. He said the most common problem is extortion of small businessmen.

The police operate a gang task force that tries to head off trouble before it starts.

"Somebody finally gets fed up by being extorted and See CHINATOWN, page 3

Murday attempts 'break into the circle'

By FRANCES DOLAN
News Staff

Fr. John Van Wolvlear, vicospresident for Student Activities decided that a full time Off-Campus Housing Director will not be appointed.

Fr. Van Wolvear feels that there will be no implications as far as the decision is concerned. The decision was made because the job is seasonal, one that peaks at the beginning of the year and then levels off. Another reason for the decision is that most students by-pass the housing office in their search fo housing.

Although 2,385 students live offcampus this year, Fr. Van Wolvlear does not feel that next year's number will be affected by this decision as off-campus housing is used mostly by graduate and transfer students. Those students that move off-campus receive most of their housing information from their friends and never consult the housing office.

According to Don Murday, Notre Dame Student Body President there is enough work for a full time director. Murday stated that the option left for those who feel that a full time director is needed is to prove that need. The current part-time Director, Brother Edward Luther, is also the rector of Morissey Hall.

Murday commented that since the position is currently part-time it is hard to show that a full time director is needed. According to Murday, it is one vicious circle and "we have to break into the circle."

The acquisition of a full time director was the subject of the Student Senate meeting last night and will be the topic of the Campus Life Council meeting tomorrow.

News Briefs

By The Observer and The Associated Press

Government statistics released yesterday show Yugoslavia's inflation, the worst in Europe, is growing. The Consumer Price Index showed the cost of living at the end of October was up 3.7 percent from the month earlier and 42.6 percent higher than the same time a year ago. The increase appeared to reflect recent price hikes for oil, electricity, bread, eggs, milk, meat, mass transit and rents, statisticians said. Yugoslav inflation hit a rate of 40 percent last year. -AP

Ford Motor Co. of Detroit, is notifying owners of about 18,000 1981 and 1982 F-250 Series light trucks that their trucks' owner's manuals are being revised to correct wheel lug nut torque speifications, the automaker said yesterday. "The wheel lug nuts were properly torqued during vehicle assembly," said Robert H. Transou, manager of the Service Engineering Office for Ford's Parts and Service Division. But if a wheel has been replaced "using the specifications in the owner's guide," he said, the lug nuts could loosen and the wheel could come off. -AP

A 47-year-old Massachusettes man man fatally shot himself in the head while trying to show his daughters and their teen-age friend that they should not be afraid of guns, police said yesterday. Ludlow Police Chief John Jorge said Lionel Fredette removed four shells from a .357-caliber Magnum revolver Sunday night, put it to his forehead and pulled the trigger three times. It fired on the third pull. Jorge said Fredette's daughters, 13 and 19, and their 19-year-old friend were in the home at the time. -AP

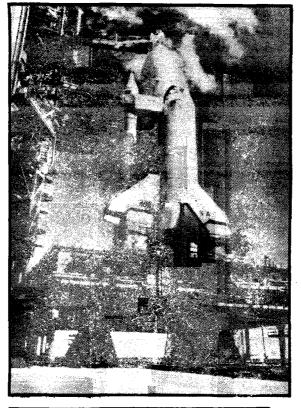

A SOCCET player visiting from Liverpool, England, was in serious condition yesterday after a traffic collision that killed two other members of his college team. Killed in a Saturday collision with a pickup truck were Sleem Malaudad, 26, of Kenya and Christian Velozo, 22, of Chile. Patrick Duggan, 20, whose spine was severely injured, may be permanently paralyzed, a spokeswoman at Scripps Memorial Hospital said. All three were attending United States International University in San Diego on soccer scholarships. A third member of the team was treated for minor injuries and released. -AP

"I have to put my fears to bed." With that explanation, singer Connie Francis grabbed a microphone yesterday and began rehearsing for her first concert since she was raped at knifepoint and sank into a seven-year slump "that was like hell." She ran through a medley of "Lipstick on Your Collar," "Who's Sorry Now" "Where the Boys Are," preparing for her return to Westbury, a Long Island community where she gave her last concert on Nov. 8, 1974, and where she was raped in her motel room after the show. "It's risky," admitted Francis, who at 42 still sings with the voice of sweet, sad adolescence. "I'm not going to get through the show without breaking down. But I'm a gutsy girl, and once I've done it there (Westbury) I can do it anywhere." -AP

A U.N. team probing alleged use of toxic chemicals by Vietnamese forces has extended its investigation for four days after hearing of new cases among Laotian refugees in northern Thailand, an Interior Ministry spokesman said yesterday. Six tribesmen who escaped from Laos claimed they were attacked with toxic chemicals. Thai authorities detained the refugees in Udon Thani province, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok, the spokesman said. He quoted members of the U.N. team as saying they had recorded testimony by alleged victims of the chemicals but have found no material evidence. The eight-member team was sent here following reports by the U.S. State Department that Vietnamese were using poison weapons in Indochina. The team was supposed to leave Saturday but will intead return to New York today to report to the U.N. General Assembly later this month. — AP

Daniel J. Keyles, professor of history from the California nia Institute of Technology, will give a lecture at 8 this evening in the Center for Continuing Education. Kevles lecture, "Science: The Development of a Profession," will address the changing role of the scientist in America and attempt to explain how science as a profession has come to be structured as it is today. After the presentation, apanel of scientists from the South Bend area will discuss the topic. Kevles holds degrees from PRinceton University and spent a year at Oxford as National Science Foundation Fellow. His book, "The Physicists: The History of the Scientific Community in Modern America," received the National Historical Society Book Prize in American History for 1979. He is writing a book on the history of genetics, a project funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Charles Warren Center at Harvard University. This lecture is the sixth in a series of eleven sponsored by Notre Dame's history department. The series, "The Professions in American History," is funded by the Schurz Communication Foundation and the Indiana Committee for the Humanities in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Humanities. The texts of the lectures will be collected and published by the University of Notre Dame Press. — The Observer

Sunny today and cool. High in the ning and upper 40s. Clear and cold tonight with a low in the upper 20s or low 30s. Mostly sunny tomorrow with a high in the low and mid 50s. -AP

CHECKING THE SUIT:

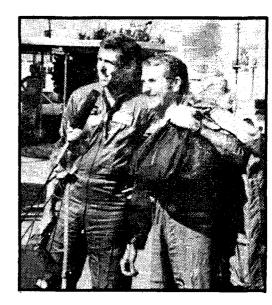

A hole in a business suit can be embarrassing, but if these suits are not in absolutely perfect condition, tragedy could result. Here, technicians inspect Richard Truly's inflated suit at Kennedy Space Center for holes and other defects.

DELAY EXPLAINED:

This diagram of the auxiliary power unit subsystem in the space shuttle shows the area of concern that caused the delay in the second launch of the Columbia. Filters in the auxiliary power units must be removed and they and the system cleaned. The APUs are located in the rear of the craft.

SHUTTLE AT READY:

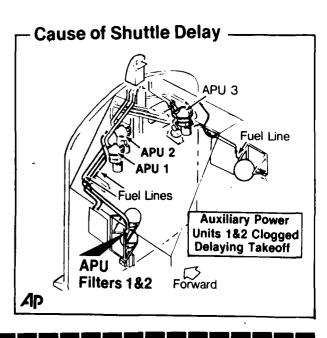

The Space Shuttle Columbia, here shown in launch configuration, was delayed Thursday, to the disappointment of the many people who had expected to watch it rise from its platform on its second voyage. The renewed countdown began at 8 a.m. EST this morning, and liftoff is planned for 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

LIFTOFF ON BIRTHDAY:

Astronaut Richard Truly, right, here pictured with shipmate Joe Engle, was reportedly delighted that the launch is now scheduled for his 44th birthday. Though they were stopped only 31 seconds from blastoff, they took the delay in stride.

AP Photo File

The Observer

Design Editor Deirdre Murphy
Design AssistantsSuzanne La Croix
Typesetter Setephen Brown
News EditorCathy Domanico
Copy Editors Kathy Murray
Valerie Evans
Sports Copy Editor Dave Dziedzic
TypistSuzanne La Croix
Systems Control Bruce Oakley
ND Day EditorKaren McMahon
SMC Day EditorCece Baliles
Ad Design Fran & Corby
PhotographerJohn Macor
Guest AppearancesHellions
Trivialities
Amazons
A duck
"I don't know what is real"
I don't know what is teal

The Observer (USPS 598 920) is published Monday through Friday and on home football Saturdays, except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College Subscriptions may be purchased for $25 per year ($15 per semester) by writing The Observer. P.O. Box Q. Notre Dame. Indiana 46556

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press All reproduction rights are reserved

Second class postage paid at Notre Dame. Indiana 46556.

0 to 530 in seconds.

The F-4 Phantom. It can reach 30,000 feet in 60 seconds. If that sounds like your speed, maybe you can be one of us.

The Marines PLC Air Program guarantees flight school after basic training. And if you qualify, we can put you in the air before college graduation with free civilian flying lessons. Contact your Marine representative now, or call toll free.

The Few. The Proud. The Marines.

Courses offered

CILA emphasizes justice

By BOB VONDERHEIDE Staff Reporter

The Community for the International Lay Apostolate composed of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students working on social issues, has compiled a list of social justice classes offered next semester at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. The classes deal with one or a series of social concerns.

"We felt a need to put together the list," said CILA Education Cochairman Mary Ann Fenwick, "because as students of a Catholic university we have a responsibility to understand social justice issues."

The classes on the list, Fenwick said, would help students reflect on justice. The courses are spread throughout the various departments, but most of the classes are offered in the Arts and Letters Studies.

The list has been published for about seven years, but this is the first year CILA, the Community for the International Lay Apostolate, has initiated the project.

Nicole Candiano, a member of CILA's educaton committee, spear-headed the project. Fenwick stressed that the list is as complete as possible although some classes may have been left out inadvertently.

Andria Schappell whose Office for Experiential Learning helped CILA with the list hoped it would make the students more aware of the array of justice classes offered here. "One of our main emphases should be education for peace and justice," she added.

The list of social justice classes follows:

Theology:

317 Women in the Bible 9TT11 Fiorenza

330 Theology and Liberation 9TT11 10TT12 Devenish

340 Corporate Conscience 1TT3 Mertensotto/Heppen (checkmarked)

342 Christian Ethics Today: The Peaceable Kingdom 9TT11 Hauerwas

344 Medical Ethics 11MWF 10TT12 Mertensotto

(Checkmarked-for Pre-Meds only) 347 War, Peace and Revolution 1TT3 Yoder

373 Theology and Community Service 3TU6 McNeill/Beattie

378 The Unseen 2TT4 McNeill (checkmarked-call 2788)

379 Reflections on Service TBA McNeill/Beattie (checkmarked-call 2788)

381 War, Law and Ethics: The Legality and Morality t of War 10TT12 Yoder (cross-listed with Philo, 249)

449 Religion i t n Latin America 1TT3 Staff (This course does not fulfill University requirement in Theology. Can be taken as elective only) Saint Mary's Courses:

RLST 331 Contemporary Moral Issues 3MW5 Cady

RLST 356 World Justice and the Church 9TT11 Ciccotelli

RLST 411 Thomas Morton Seminar 1TT3 Malits History:

301 Domination and Dependancy Sociology:

232 Social Problems 8MWF Abney

234 Criminal Justice 10TT12 Scott

301A Slavery and Race Relations: A Comparative View 9TT11 Camara 314 Sociology of Business 1TT3 Scott

332 Criminology 11MWF Vasoli 339 Corrections 9MWF Vasoli

363 Chicanos in the United States

9TT11 Samora

417 Sociology of Urban Planning 1MWF Lamanna

499 Urban Studies Internship (Checkmarked) Lamanna Economics: (1-credit)

340 Urban Economics in the Developed World 4TT6 Swartz (January 14-February 1)

343 An Economic Perspective of Thatcherism/Reaganism 2TT4 Swartz

January 14-February 1)

341 Communities and Plant Closings 4TT6 Craypo (February 16-March 25)

344 The Economy and the Social Encyclicals 2TT4 Wilber/Worland (February 16-March 25)

342 The City in Latin America 4TT6 Jameson (March 30-April 29)

345 Reaganomics and the Economics of Chile 2TT4 Jameson (March 30-April 29) (3-credit)

428 Altruism and Economics 1TT3 Croteau Philosophy:

241 Ethics 10MWF 11MWF Gar-

243 Moral Problems 1TT3 2TT4 Wachsberg

245 Medical Ethics 2MWF Lee 246 Ethics and Business 11MWF 10TT12 Kvanvig

246 Ethics and Business 11MWF 1MWF Wians Government:

341 International Relations O'Brien

403 Latin American Seminar 3:30M Bartell (cross-listed with Soc 404)

415B Equality 9MWF Cour (Feb. 15-March 26)

416 Law and Society: Indians 1TT3 O'Brien

See JUST, page 5

As the weather begins to turn colder, those whose pleasure lies in jogging are attempting to get in their last exercises. (Photo by John Macor)

Press Secretary Brady returns to press room

WASHINGTON (AP) — Press Secretary James S. Brady returned to the White House in a wheelchair yesterday, but his inconquerable wit was intact as he helped President Reagan open the refurbished White House press room.

The press secretary, whose left side is partially paralyzed as a result of the bullet that shattered in his brain during the attack on Reagan, appeared remarkably like his old self.

But the impish grin that once seemed permanently affixed to his face has been replaced by an odd melancholy look that belies his actual good cheer.

Turning to Brady, Reagan said, "We're all waiting for the day that you come back for good."

"I am too, Mr. President," Brady said through the din.

"I'll come back," Brady vowed as his wheelchair was being rolled out of the briefing room after the dedication.

Chinatown Through it all, Chinatown remains unique and charming to the tourists

continued from page 1

we get involved," Pera said.

But when the police do go to the people, as they did in investigating the Golden Dragon massacre, they get little help.

The experience of immigrants In the early years of this century as they were detained and sometimes deported has made them "very wary of government agencies," Chann said. "Many people in public housing units don't apply for welfare even though they qualify. They don't report crime, they just lock their doors."

Perhaps the biggest problem facing Chinatown today is the proliferation of sweatshops — some 170 at last count, said Chann — in which Chinese women sew clothes for piecework wages.

"The two major sources of income in Chinatown are tourism and sweatshops," Chann said. "They sew every type of garment, under very primitive conditions. But they still do it, the young and the old. Children help out turning sleeves and collars."

unique and charming to the tourists who flock there. Once you pass through the Oriental arch at the foot of Grant Avenue, you could be halfway around the world.

Senate

continued from page 1

ing the dreams they have set-namely, that the purpose of the University is for the students."

Appointed to the committee are the following: Maureen Mara, resident assistant of Pasquerilla West, Bill Sullivan, a Sophomore from Keenan, and Student Senate members Tara Kenney, Tom Lupo, and Bill Lawler. They will report back once or twice a month to the Senate.

One further announcement of the Senate is that Dining Hall hours will be extended during finals, according to Bob Robinson, Director of Food Services. The Senate wants everyone to be aware of this because the Dining Halls will not be posting these special hours.

INNOVATORS IN PEOPLE • PRODUCTS • TECHNOLOGY

coming: November 20th
Interviewing: Mechanical Engineers

PANDUIT is a leading multi-national manufacturer of electrical, electronic and mechanical components with facilities located in Southwest suburban Chicago.

If unable to meet with our Company Representative, please mail your resume to our College Recruiting Coordinator.

LITERATURE AVAILABLE
IN THE PLACEMENT OFFICE
An Equal Opportunity Employer

17301 RIDGELAND AVE . TINLEY PARK, IL 60477

Notre Dame Student Government Third World Concerns PRESENTS

JAMES GRANT Executive Director of UNICEF

"War on Hunger: Sincere Commitment or Empty Rhetoric"

Tuesday, November 10, 8:00 pm

LIBRARY AUDITORIUM

'Indian first'

Native American speaks

By JULIANNE JONES
News Staff

The legal and cultural problems faced by American Indians in modern society were the subject of "American Indians: Forgotten Americans in Transition," a movielecture presentation by Ronald Andrade, executive director of the National Congress of American Indians, delivered yesterday in the AV Theater of the the Center for Continuing Education.

As Executive Director of the NCAI, Andrade, a member of the Luiseno tribe of southern California, holds one of the most influential positions in Indian affairs. The NCAI, the largest and oldest organization representing Native Americans, lobbies in Washington, D.C., for the protection of Indian rights. Ninetynine percent of American tribes are members of the NCAI.

The presentation began with an hour-long movie depicting the activities of another national Indian group, the Native American Rights Fund. NARF provides counseling for Indians facing legal issues such as land and water rights, discrimination in public schools, and basic human rights such as free religion.

The movie studied several case histories, the actions taken by NARF, and the results of these actions. The film also expressed concern over the ability of the federal government to abrogate any treaties made with Indian tribes. The treaties, drawn up during the nineteenth century, can be terminated without renegotiation if Congress feels there is an over-riding reason to do so.

Andrade regards this as a violation of basic human rights, the basic respect between parties implicit in a treaty.

The major problem is that reservation land is not owned by Indians, only held in trust for them by the government, who can take it back whenever it wishes.

Other areas of concern expounded by Andrade were the exploitation of Indian lands for natural resources, the need for bilingual education for Native Americans, and the basic human rights of Indians. Both the movie and Andrade stressed the growing exploitation of Indian lands for cheap natural resources. Although only 25 of the 500 North American tribes own resources of any value, large corporations view Indians as "the easiest and cheapest shot" for natural resources. Many tribes are beginning to realize this and take action against it.

Concerning bilingual education, Andrade explained, "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or culture dies." In this modern, political society, bilingual education is a must

The status of the Native American disturbs Andrade. "We are not essentially human in US belief. We were considered animals at first, and I do not think this has changed." Reflecting the Indian concept of the tribes as sovereign states, he said, "We have not really reached the level of being equals yet, but we're not really sure if we want it." When asked if he would rather be considered an American or as a member of a sovereign state, Andrade answered, "I'd rather be Indian. I'm Indian first." Andrade cannot understand why Americans think it is such a privilege to be a citizen. "One person once told me if I didn't like it here, why didn't I go back where I came from."

Andrade is co-chairman of the World Assembly of First Americans to be held in Canada this summer. The Assembly will include representatives from all indigenous populations of the world, particularly of the Western Hemisphere.

Andrade warned, "Unless we can get the rest of the world to intercede in our behalf, we will see violence." Andrade concluded by explaining the purpose of the NCAI: raising the level of understanding of the rights of Native Americans both inside and outside the US. "We will not exist long, we cannot exist long; we cannot hold up alone...Unless the tribes generate interest among external groups, they will cease to exist."

Andrade's lecture, attended by approximately 50 people, was organized by Professor Sharon O'Brien and sponsored by the Departments of Government, Sociology, and Anthropology.

The full moon, seen in such a position only by those awake in the wee hours, made its appearance in the night sky. (Photo by John Macor)

Study uncovers possible treatment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some West African societies seem to protect themselves against the worst effects of sickle-cell anemia by the food they eat, a Stanford University anthropologist said yesterday.

And, according to Stanford's William Durham, the West Africans gain protection against malaria through the combined effects of their religious observances and the sickle-cell anemia in their blood.

Doctors in the United States are trying to learn whether the Africans' diet can lead to a treatment for sickle-cell anemia, a genetic disease suffered by many black Americans and many Americans of Mediterranean descent.

The West Africans have an unusually high rate of sickle-cell anemia but live longer than most other victims of the disease. Durham wanted to know why.

First, he discovered that sicklecell anemia was more common in societies that grew yams than in neighboring societies that grew and

No one could explain the difference, Durham told a science writers' seminar sponsored by the Council for the Advancement of Science Writing.

But Durham said he knew of research that seemed to indicate that sickle-cell anemia would protect victims against malaria, which is common in West Africa.

The malaria parasite, which causes disease by working into red blood cells, cannot live very well in the sickle-shaped red blood cells of sickle-cell anemia sufferers. The cells, because of their shape, can become trapped in the capillaries. The blood cells then rupture, and the malaria parasites die.

But sickle-cell anemia is also a dangerous disease. The cells that collect in the capillaries eventually block the flow of blood, causing blindness, pain in the extremities and death in severe cases.

So the advantages the Africans gained by surviving malaria would be lost if they died from sickle-cell anemia. But Durham discovered their diet gave some protection against sickle-cell anemia.

The Africans eat primarily the yams that grow in the region. The yams contain a chemical called thiocyanate which prevents cells from developing a sickle shape, and thus protects those who eat it.

That explained why the Africans survived sickle-cell anemia. But if the yams kept the Africans from developing sickle cells, how were the Africans fighting off malaria?

The answer was found in their religious beliefs, which provide that newly harvested yams cannot be eaten during the rainy season.

The Africans were developing sickle cells during the rainy season, because they were not eating yams, and the sickle cells were protecting them from malaria, Durham discovered.

The rainy season is the time they most need protection from malaria, he said, because the disease is carried by mosquitoes that multiply in the wet months. If you ate yams during the rainy season, you would lose your resistance to malaria, Durham said.

Now let's talk about tomorrow.

When your professional future starts taking shape.

When your early career decisions become vital.

Evaluate carefully. And include Republic Steel.

A Fortune 100 employer, in an important basic industry.

Offering challenging career opportunities.

Visit the Placement Office for more details.

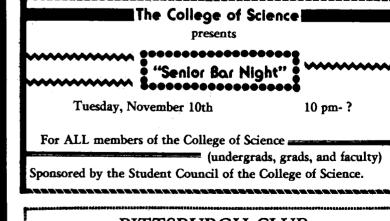

REPUBLIC STEEL WILL INTERVIEW ON

November 24

an equal opportunity employer

Republicstee

PITTSBURGH CLUB
Thanksgiving Bus Sign-ups

Wed., Nov. 11 7 pm
LaFortune Little Theatre
Buses will leave ND/SMC: Tuesday,
Nov. 24 1:00 pm Buses will return:
Sunday, Nov. 29 1 pm
Sign-ups are first come, first serve
Questions?--Call IKE at 1581

Ernie Mayor and Pete Cuozzo present Digger Phelps with a hefty check from the Knights of

Columbus for the Landon Turner fund. (Photo by Iobn Macor)

Students complain about distribution

By MICHAEL WILKINS News Staff

As the excitement from the last home football game of the season slowly dies away, the Irish eyes on campus turn hopefully to the upcoming home basketball season.

Last week, the first step in starting that season began with the distribution of season tickets to students. For many freshmen students, the first event of the season was an unhappy one.

A large number of freshmen students complained about the distribution process they had to go through in order to get certain tickets. Freshmen were offered package A or package A and B but were not allowed to purchase package B without buying package A.

This limited availability of tickets angered several freshmen who believed they had the opportunity to buy one package or the other or both packages and had decided to purchase just package B for whatever reason. These people claimed the ticket distribution rules had been changed in the middle of distribution and claimed the new process was unfair.

According to Steve Orsini of the ACC ticket office, the distribution procedure was not changed. "Freshmen and sophomores were to be offered tickets based on their availability after purchase by seniors and juniors," Orsini said. "We decided to offer freshmen package B only with package A because of the limited availability of package B."

Though this system of distribution may seem unfair to some, it did offer more tickets to freshmen who were originally going to be offered only the remainder of each of the eight game packages. Under this method, freshmen were offered up to 16 tickets instead of possibly receiving less than eight.

With the limited number of seats available to students in the ACC, there will always be students who will be disappointed at not getting tickets for a certain game. Hopefully, support at the games will be as great as the competition to get tickets.

... Just

continued from page 3

423 Southern Politics 4MW

452 Politics of Southern Africa 1MW Libby

400 Development--Third World's Quest for Justice 9TT11 Goulet (cross-listed with: Theo 470, Soc 400, Econ 400) Other Saint Mary's SMC 299 Christians, Courses: Compassion and Global Concerns

TU 6:30-9:30 SMC 395 Christians and Justice Wed 7:00p.m.

Supreme Court

Ruling of obscenity constitutes closing

WASHINGTON (AP) - States and local communities cannot shut down stores or theaters displaying sexually explicit materials before getting a court ruling that the materials are obscene, the Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

By a 6-3 vote, the justices upheld rulings that a Washington state law which would allow such closings without a court hearing was an unconstitutional "prior restraint" on free speech.

In separate actions, the court refused to protect parents of public school students from having to pay for school property vandalized by their children and agreed to decide whether the NAACP must pay for a 1960s boycott of white-owned businesses in Mississippi.

The court's affirmance in the Washington case was issued without a written opinion and without oral arguments being held.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, joined by Justices Lewis F. Powell and William H. Rehnquist, said the lower federal courts and the Supreme Court should stay out of the case until the law was used and until state courts could rule on it.

Similarly broad public nuisance laws apparently are rare. According to court papers filed in the Washington case, only Idaho has a similar law on its books. It has been upheld by that state's courts but now may come under new legal challenges.

ND student named top senior cadet

The commander of Notre Dame's Army ROTC cadet battalion, Gregory Brophy of Fort Dix, N.J., has been named winner of the coveted George C. Marshall Award as the top senior cadet and for best representing the ideals of professional excellence of the World War II leader.

Brophy, who is majoring in electrical engineering and will be commissioned as an Army second licutenant at Notre Dame next May, has also received a plaque from the commanding general of the Second Region for outstanding achievements during a summer training program at Fort Riley.

A cadet lieutenant colonel, Brophy added to his trophies when he was named winner of the 170pound divison in Notre Dame's charity boxing exhibition, the Bengal Bouts.

Laws allowing similar closings were struck down in Alabama, California, Georgia, Louisiana and North Carolina, court papers said.

The Washington law declares business establishments to be 'moral nuisances" if they exhibit "lewd films or publications." It provides for confiscation of all money from sales or admissions, and permits court orders to close the business for as long as one year.

In striking down the law, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said, "The ability of a court to close a materials 'may' have been sold, distributed or exhibited on the premises is an impermissible prior restraint."

The justices also took these actions: agreed to decide whether The Washington Post should get information the State Department says may jeopardize, if published, the safety of two men living in Iran. The newspaper filed a Freedom of Information Act lawsuit seeking to find out whether the two Iranian nationals are naturalized U.S. citizens.

 Refused to bar penalties place temporarily because obscene against insurance companies that run advertisements urging court juries to trim money awards for accident victims. Now, five companies that ran such ads face the possibility of having to pay money damages.

 Ruled that conservative Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, lacks the legal standing to challenge Abner Mikva's appointment as a federal appeals judge, thus killing McClure's lawsuit against the former Illinois congressman's appointment.

Agreed to judge the constitutionality of sweeping changes Congress made in bankruptcy law three years ago. The justices will review a federal judge's ruling that Congress exceeded its authority when creating a system of bankruptcy courts and bankruptcy

Sir Kichard's HAJR BESIGNS Open 6 days a week Just 417 DIXIEWAY across from Wendy's North of 277-0734 Campus. personalized Hair Designs

Nancy Reagan faults parents in drug abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) - Nancy Reagan all but blamed drug addiction on the nation's parents yesterday and advised them to get tough, even if it means "losing your child

The first lady, embarking on a new anti-drug crusade, labeled addiction "the most democratic illness there is," because it cuts across racial and economic lines.

"I believe parents are the answer to it all," Mrs. Reagan declared during a meeting in the state, dining room with about 40 members of the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth.

"I think for a long time parents weren't involved," the first lady said. "They shifted it to the schools or the police or the government, anybody but themselves, because it took time, it took effort, it's not pleasant.

"Sometimes you run the risk of losing your child for awhile," she added. "You have to be tough and you have to learn to say, 'no.'

"It's great to be your child's friend and pal," she said. "But sometimes, you've got to be their parent."

Mrs. Reagan said she has believed "for a long time that parents have not been involved the way they should be. I think that in the final analysis it's the parents who are going to turn this thing around. I think they're the most potent force there is.

She asked the participants at yesterday's meeting how she could help and they suggested she speak out publicly and visit parent groups and school programs in addition to drug centers.

We're all in a lot of hot water," she declared. "There's a danger of losing our whole next generation."

Mrs. Reagan said that during her visits to drug treatment centers she was fascinated "to hear these young people talk very freely, very openly, with very little embarrassment, which I expected, about what has happened to them. ... All of them mentioned the parents."

After talking with the group, Mrs. Reagan said she was now "very, very encouraged about the parents and their involvement."

In recent months, the first lady has held eight private meetings with experts on drug and alcohol abuse and has visited two residential treatment

The IBM Personal Computer is here. In College Square across from Town & Country Shopping Centre Mon. thru Fri. 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. - Thurs. Eve. to 9 p.m. - Sat. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

AWACS latest example of manipulation

Last week's Senate passage of the AWACS sale to Saudi Arabia was the fruition (as was the tax cut bill previous to it) of a persuasive strategy that the administration seems to have down to a science. A calculated move is made risking the prestige and the efficacy of the president on the passage of the legislation. A sense of urgency is cultivated, giving what is, perhaps, undo importance to the need to pass the bill. Issues become secondary and options are not discussed. It is a need to win for the sake of winning. And the ace-in-the-hole for the administration is Ronald Reagan himself. Using the sense of urgency to his full advantage he plays the part of the President as few before have, winning the public to his side with his apparently sincere eloquence and simplifications. The finese he employs one-onone with waivering, even firmly oposed congressmen leaves them dazed, newly wary of dis pleasing him, and usually won over.

The process would be fascinating, even admirable, if it were not for the consequences it implies. In addition to the policies (be they good or bad) what is at issue is the nature of the politics. To me this is essentially a politics of intimidation and of scared allegiance. Perhaps not so obvious because his eyes tear up and his voice cracks when he speaks of "restoring our greatness", but intimidation nonetheless.

The President's tax cutting legislation (and only his) had to be approved (substantially unaltered) in order to turn the economy around and to avoid economic disaster. Affirming this belief and having set this goal, the President and his administration set the wheels in motion. The circumstances of the previous November's election made passage of the bill highly probable, but it was a

'THIS HERE'S CALLED THE DOOR...

resounding victory that Reagan was after

To counter the votes that Daniel Rostenkowski, Democratic chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, may have effectively "bought", Reagan merely outbid him. In exchange for votes he "spent" about 1.1 billion dollars apiece on 12 oil-state congressmen, as well as promising to veto any natural gas windfall profits tax legislation, and to back pending price supports for peanut farmers.

Insofar as this spending seems to defeat the pupose of the bill indicates how the importance of winning supercedes the specific issues at hand.

But bartering for votes is fairly commonplace. Reagan's ability and persuasive uniqueness was focused elsewhere — a nationally televised address and private sessions between Reagan and individual congressmen.

The televised address starrred

Reagan the persuasive actor who tiptoed over the eggshells of his tax policy while utilizing graphs labeld OUR BILL in prosperous green and THEIR BILL in pejorative red. Then he urged viewers to inundate their vacilating representatives with phone calls. Ending the address was an urgent rallying cry of "We have done so much and have come so far...Let us not stop now."

Capitalizing on the indirect effect of his speech on members of Congress (flooded switchboads, telegrams, etc.) Reagan next moved into eyeball-to- eyeball, one-on-one "stroking sessions" with the more pivotal members. He met with 15 waivering Democrats, 12 of whom eventually sided with the administration

Presidential memos such as: "Mission accomplished", and "We got this guy in the bag" and a champagne celebration distastefully in dicate the value placed on a win for the sake of winning. It is an us against them attitude, without the possibility of free intechange from which could come new perspectives and new ideas. In an area as unpredictable as economics such an interchange seems essential, whereas one man promising to have the solutions and proceding to intimidate (however subtly) the country and Congress into accepting them, seems to be both arrogant and ignorant. And a Congress that allows itself to be so threatened is de serving of skepticism, if not reproach.

The same process was at work in last week's AWACS vote. The sale to the Saudi's was played up as crucial. The argument was that if the sale was not approved (thus indicating an inability to keep a promise), Reagan's efficacy in conducting foreign policy would be irreparably damaged.

Jenny Pitts

This argument, for two reasons, is a bad one. First, the Reagan admin istrattion knows that all such deals must be approved by Congress. The same argument could be made for any deal made by any president, the solution to which is to give the president a free hand in making foreign policy — a ridiculous soluton.

Second, this argument was played up and hyped to such an extent that the sale became an issue in and of itself, detached from any role it played in Reagan's foreign policy as a whole. Again, because so much of the pesige of the president was invested in the passage, it became a must win situation for the administration. Specific issues were subordinated to a need to win.

As before, Reagan's persuasive powers were amazing. Working in the milieu of urgency, one in which he seems to thrive, Reagan succeeded in switching an opposition of 61 "ironclad" votes to a 52-48 Senate victory. Among his conversions (again primarily the result of one-on-one sessions) were GOP conservative Roger Jepsen of Iowa and Nebraska Democrat Edward Zorinsky, both previously emphatically anti-AWACS.

Although the administration has played these votes as exemplary of the public's confidence in its policies, I can't help but question the political process at work here. We have an administration that unjustifiably hypes an issue and then portrays the results of a loss in an exageratedly disastrous light. And we have a Congress in which members (one of whom — Jepsen — was the opposition leader) exhibit an appaent lack of backbone.

Supply-siders should go all the way

It is a pity that the White House has become something of a Tower of Babel in the matter of economic reform. Concerning which a few observations:

1) Even as Margaret Thatcher cannot, by serious observers, be said to have taken the steps required to reverse British socialism and interventionism, so Ronald Reagan cannot seriously be said to have attempted supply-side economics.

Not at this point. It becomes tiresome to say it, but the tax reduction that began Oct. I to the contrary notwithstanding, inflation plus increases in Soial Security levies will leave the American people with less at the end of the year than they disposed of before the tax cut went into effect.

In other words, the tax cut reduces only the extent of the net exaction on the consumer. So viewed, it is hardly to be expected that that first year's cut would substantially increase a) savings, b) investment, c) productivity, d) employment. The way to bring on a substantial increase in savings and a redirection in economic energies away from the almighty search for the tax shelter would have been to follow the advice of Milton Friedman: reduce the top tax rate to 25 percent, immediately.

2) Although three years down the line the tax reduction will have become (at 25 percent) substantial, even then the load is not critically lifted where it should be. It is widely unobserved that there are no plans for reducing the top tax rate from the present 50 percent. This was integral to the Kemp-Roth approach. Under K-R, rates across the board were to have been reduced by 10 percent per year. If K-R had been implemented, in three years the top rate would have gone down from 50 percent to 37.4 percent. Under the Reagan plan, the top rate stays at 50 percent. Such relief as is extended takes the form of delaying the figure at which the 50 per- cent is reached. But whether this is a net relief to the tax payer depends of ourse on the rate of inflation.

But even if inflation were totally controlled, the economy would suffer from a rate (50 percent) that skims risk capital resources and encourages tax-oriented investment policies. As things now stand, notwithstanding all the planned reductions in the Reagan program, three years hence the Amerian people will pay a one percent greater tax than they paid under President Carter.

3) We are left asking: What would Congress now consent to do, that it hasn't already done? We are left most clearly with the impression that any further reduction in federal expenses is excluded, certainly until after the elections next year. What, then?

Years ago, Milton Frieman came out with t the notion that if only as a matter of morality, the United States should issue guaranteed purchase maintenance bonds. You cannot, said Friedman the moralist, with good conscience sell someone a $100 bond paying 3 percent interest when you have every reason to know that the bond's purchasing traction will have reduced by 5 perent in a year. That argument goes beyond the moral in the rash of reent suggestions that, in effect, not only the government, but the privated sector begin indexing its loans.

William Buckley

Robert Heilbroner, the eonomist, writing to The New York Times, proposes that a mortgage, or straight loan be indexed. Thus, if you borrowed $1,000 with the obligation to repay in two years, and inflation (tied to the cost of living index) went up by 10 perent, you would owe the bank $1200. That, at first blush, is a most awful alternative -- except that if the lender is protected against inflation, he will reduce the interest to the conventional 2 percent to 3 percent

Granted, there are those who would prefer to pay 20 percent tax deductible interest and benefit from the reduction in the principal payment; but to do it right is the point of the exercise. Introducing the indexation of the national debt would cause that debt to soar: but the carrying cost would plunge.

We are at this moment selling 10year government bonds at over 15 percent interest. Guaranteeing the purchasing power of the bond would save us -- up to $100 billion per year. The reform should be explored.

P.O. Box Q

Is policy really charity?

Dear Editor:

The annual United Way fund drive is something badly mishandled. Albeit the United Way is a worthwhile charity, the "encouragement" for students to donate is definitely unwarranted. I am not criticizing the organization or its efforts to fundraise. What I object to is the University's method of promoting United Way.

The word 'charity' connotes a desire to give. The message the students receive from the administration is that they are to donate, and $2 is the suggested donation. Section leaders then come to collect. The amount of money is irrelevant. Such a method of colleting it, however, defeats the entire purpose of charity to begin with.

If the University administration feels so strongy about United Way, they ould save much time and effort by simply tacking on the suggested donation to the tuition bill.

Mary Fran Callahan Lyons Hall

The Observer

THE INDEPENDENT STUDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S FOUNDED NOV. 3, 1966

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible.

Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

P.O.BOX Q,NOTRE DAME, IN 46556 (219)283-8661

Editorial Board

Sports Editor Michael Ortman
Editorials Editor Anthony Walton
Photo Editor John Macor
Features Editor Gregory Swiercz

..John McGrath

Department Managers

Business Manager
Production Manager ......Michael Monk
Circulation Manager .......Tom MacLennan

By The Observer and The Associated Press

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is sponsoring an evening with head basketball coach Digger Phelps. The presentation will be held in the Howard Hall chapel tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. The FCA promotes Christian fellowship among athletes and coaches in the hope that this will be shared with the entire community. All are invited to attend. - The Observer

Notre Dame's Scuba Club will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the LaFortune Little Theatre. A representative from Aquapro will give a presentation on diving opportunities around the area. All are invited - The Observer

Mary D. and Digger will unveil their 1981-82 basketball squads Saturday at the ACC in the annual intrasquad games. DiStanislao's women will play at 7 p.m., and Phelps' men will play immediately following. Student tickets are 50 cents and others are $1 and available at the ACC's Gate 10 box office. Proceeds go to the Neighborhood Study Help Program and the Special Olympics. — The Observer

Package A student basketball tickets are still available. Any student, regardless of class, may purchase tickets at the second floor ticket office of the ACC. Tickets will be sold on a first-come, firstserved basis. - The Observer

ND Rugby Club will hold a meeting on Thursday, Nov. 12 in LaFortune Ballroom at 7:30 p.m. in order to elect next semester's council. - The Observer

A six-mile run for Notre Dame students, faculty, and staff will be held on Saturday, Nov. 14, at 10 a.m. Separate divisions for men and women will be established in each of the following three categories — undergraduate, graduate, and faculty-staff. If you wish to run, you must come to the interhall office (C-2 in the ACC) and complete the insurance and entry forms before Thursday, Nov. 12. The course will be entirely on the Notre Dame campus. - The Bill Allerheiligen, Notre Dame's strength and conditioning coach, will hold a weight training and conditioning clinic tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Rockne Memorial weight room. The clinic will include a lecture, demonstrations, and a question and answer period. — The Observer

Sportsboard

FOOTBALL

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE

NATIONAL CONFERENCE
	East
	W	L	T	Pct.	PF	PA
Philadelphia	8	2	0	.800	249	139
Dallas	8	2	0	.800	241	195
N.Y. Giants	5	5	0	.500	195	173
Washington	4	6	0	.400	210	243
St. Louis	3	7	0	.300	189	303
	Centr	al
Minnesota	6	4	0	.600	230	228
Tampa Bay	5	5	0	.500	173	163
Detroit	4	6	0	.400	241	223
Green Bay	4	6	0	.400	196	232
Chicago	3	7	0	.300	152	231
•	Wes	t
San Francisco	8	2	0	.800	225	168
Atlanta	5	5	0	500	277	189
Los Angeles	5	5	0	.500	227	214
New Orleans	3	7	0	.300	129	217

AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Central

Miami

N.Y. Jets

Cincinnati

Houston

Pittsburgh

Denver

San Diego Kansas City

Oakland

New England

The Top Twenty college football teams in The Associated Press poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, this season's records and total points. Points based on 20-19-18-17 etc. Notre Dame oponents are

1.	Pittsburgh (53)	8-0-0	1,34
2.	Clemson (7)	9-0-0	1,27
3.	Southern Cal (8)	8-1-0	1,23
4.	Georgia	8-1-0	1,12
5.	Penn State	7-1-1	1,04
6.	Alabama	7-1-1	93
7.	Nebraska	7-2-0	79
8.	Southern Methodist	8-1-0	79
9.	Arizona-State	7-1-0	78
10.	Texas	7-1-1	75
11.	Michigan	7-2-0	73
12.	Miami	6-2-0	67
13.	North Carolina	7-2-0	50
14.	Southern Mississippi	7-0-1	46
15.	Oklahoma	5-2-1	35
16.	Arkansas	7-2-0	35
17.	Washington State	7-1-1	22
18.	UCLA	6-2-1	18
19.	Hawaii	7-0-0	12
20.	Florida State	6-3-0	113

BASKETBALL

		NBA
3		Eastern Confe	rence
3 2 9 3 5		Atlantic Divis	ion
2		w	L	Pct.	GB
9	Boston	4	1	.800	_
3	Philadelphia	4	1	.800	_
5	New York	2	3	.400	2
	Washington	1	3	.250	2.5
1	New Jersey	1	4	.0	3
3	•	Central Divis	ilon
4	Milwaukee	3	1	.750	_
3	Detroit	3	2	.600	.5
)	Cleveland	3	2	.600	.5
9	Atlanta	2 3	2	.500	1
5	Chicago		4	.429	1.5
3 4 3 5 5 5 7 8	Indiana	2	3	.400	1.5
2		Western Confe	rence
)		Midwest Divi	sion
7		w	L	Pct.	GB
3	San Antonio	4	1	.800
	Denver	3	3	500	1.5
_	Utah	3 2	2	.600	1
888	Kansas City	2	2	.500	1.5
88	Houston	2	4	.333	2.5
	Dallas	1	5	.167	3.5
		Pacific Divis	ion
	Portland	6	0	1.000	_
	Phoenix	3	3	.500	3
	Golden State	2 2	3	.400	3.5
	Los Angeles	2	3	.400	3
	C D:	4	•	250

HOCKEY

L	T	Pct.	PF	PA
2	1	.750	243	189	NATIONA
4	0	.600	217	168	Top 16 team	ns quali	fy fe	or p	iayof	fs
4	1	.550	232	223		w	L	T	GF	GΑ	Pts
8	0	.200	234	240	Boston	9	2	3	65	44	21
9	0	.100	172	339	Montreal	8	2	4	77	38	20
rai					Edmonton	10	5	0	81	59	20
3	0	.700	268	193	Quebec	10	7	0	77	75	20
5	0	.500	176	213	N.Y. Islanders	8	2	3	51	42	19
5	0	.500	209	199	Minnesota	8	3	2	56	35	18
6	0	.400	183	217	Buffalo	7	3	4	51	43	18
st					Quebec	9	7	0	72	72	18
3	0	.700	196	149	Philadelphia	8	5	1	54	60	17
4	0	.600	292	247	Winnipeg	7	3	2	58	48	16
4	0	.600	240	201	Pittsburgh	7	7	2	59	64	16
6	0	.400	141	167	Chicago	5	4	5	69	66	13
7	0	.300	152	226	Detroit	6	7	2	60	58	14
					Vancouver	5	7	3	45	47	13
					Los Angeles	6	9	0	70	83	1:
					N.Y. Rangers	6	9	0	47	64	1;
					St. Louis	5	8	2	61	68	12
					Toronto	4	8	3	68	74	1
Resu	ılts				Hartford	2	6	5	42	52	٤
					Colorado	3	8	3	42	64	5

Sunday's Results

46

Minnesota 4, Boston 1 Hartford 2. Buffalo 2 (tie) Chicago 10, Calgary 4 Vancouver 5. Winnipeg Yesterday's Result Quebec 5. Detroit 3

Today's Games N.Y. Islanders at Winnipeg St. Louis at Calgary Montreal at Los Angeles

San Diego 250 Seattle Cleveland 102, Chicago 101 Today's Games

Cleveland at Indiana Roston at Washington Philadelphia at Detroit Los Angeles at San Antonio Kansas City at Chicago Phoenix at Denver Utah at San Diego Seattle at Golden State

Donations are still being accepted for The Observer-Landon Turner Fund at The Observer offices, 3rd floor LaFortune, until the end of this month. The total sum will be presented to the IU Booster Club on Tuesday, December 1, when the Irish face the Hoosiers in Bloomington.

Sunday's Results

Washington 33, Detroit 31 Miami 30, New England 27, OT Green Bay 26, N.Y. Giants 24 Houston 17, Oakland 16 Minnesota 25, Tampa Bay 10 Chicago 16, Kansas City 13, OT San Francisco 17, Atlanta 14 Cincinnati 40, San Diego 17 Denver 23, Cleveland 20, OT lew Orleans 21. Los Angeles 13 N.Y. Jets 41, Baltimore 14 Seattle 24, Pittsburgh 21

Yesterday's Ressult Dallas 27, Buffalo 14

Classifieds

The Observer will accept classifieds Monday through Friday. 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classifieds to appear in the next issue must be received by 3 p.m. the business day prior to insertion. All classifieds must be prepaid. either in person or through the mail.

NOTICES

USED BOOK SHOP. HOURS WED., SAT., SUN. 9-7. CASPERSON, 1303 BUCHANAN RD., NILES.

OVERSEAS JOBS - Summer/year round. Europe, S.Amer., Australia, Asia. All fields. $500-$1200 monthly. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, Box 52-IN-4, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

LOST/FOUND

Found: A bracelet in Lyons Hall after Sat night Halloween party, call 7865 to iden-

LOST ONE TAN WALLET: SAT AP-PROX. 11:00 AM, IF FOUND CALL JIM AT EXT. 8286; REWARD IF FOUND

LOST: A dark brown angora lady's hat between the Memorial Library and the Huddle on Monday 11/02/81. $5 Reward! Please call 6218!

LOSTI TWO CAMERAS: VIVITAR W/ INI-TIALS T.A.M. and 35 mm KONICA. PLEASE CALL 4688 SMC IF FOUND. AT LEAST RETURN THE FILM - IT'S IR-REPLACEABLE THANKS.

LOST TI30 CALCULATOR IN FRONT OF BUSINESS AD. BUILDING CALL JIM

LOST: Gold & Black STING" baseball jacket left on Alumni bench at Dillon-Alumni football game Nov. 4. Has no. 28 and initials S.G. on it. Please call Chris at 1178. I love that jacket.

LOST: One Grey Suitcoat at the PASQUERILLA WEST-MORRISSEY FORMAL Fri. Evening, If you picked it up by mistake please call John at ext. 3430

LOST! Pair of gold-framed glasses in brown case marked Rogers Optical If found call Mike at 288-3108.

LOST: Pearl & gold ring at HC/Badin for mal in Women's room. Highest sentimental value. Please call Sue at 6955.

Lost: A Set of 4 keys, perhaps in the om at Badin Hall. If found, Please call 7695

Lost: backpack, tan and blue. Made by WyEast, Inc. call Vince ext. 1238

FOR RENT

MALE ROOMMATE WANTED FOR APARTMENT FURNISHED $110/MONTH UTILITIES PAID. 287-

WANTED

Need ride to Cleveland for Thanksgiving Call John at 8450

Need ride to Cedar Rapids, Iowa for Tgiving. Can leave after 11 a.m. on Weds. Please call Lisa at 8160.

Need riders east on I-80 (preferably North Jersey). Leaving Friday. Nov. 20 about 2:30, return Sunday, 11/29, call Chris at

NEED A RIDE TO SPRINGFIELD, ILL. FOR THANKSGIVING. WILL SHARE THE USUAL, CALL FRANK AT 1794.

NEED RIDE TO WASH. D.C. area fo Thanksgiving, Will pay $$$. Call Pat 3459

Riders wanted to go to St. Louis Nov. 16-17. Call Tim ext. 3669

Going to N.Y. for Thanksgiving? I need a ride to Rochester, Syracuse, Buffalo, or vicinity. Will share usual. Call Tara 7060

NEED A RIDE TO CHICAGO THIS THURSDAY, NOV. 12 CALL BILL AT

NEED ride to St.Paul or west for turkey day. Can leave Mon. at noon. Vince at 1238 HELPIII I need a ride to the MIN-NEAPOLIS/ST. PAUL area for Thanksgiving Break. I will share driving and expenses, and can leave at your con-

NEEDED RIDERS THANKSGIVING-- To Chicago O'Hare, Wed. Nov. 12:30pm/returning Mon. Nov. 30 or late Sun. Nov. 29. Call Debbie at 2736.

I need a ride to Chicago on Fri. the 13th Call 1154

RIDERS needed to KANSAS CITY for Thanksgiving. Leave Tues. Nov. 24. Call Mike at 3655.

BOSTON THANKSGIVING-Need riders to preferably leave on Friday, maybe on Monday. Call Gib after 11 P.M.

NEED RIDE to LOUISVILLE KY for T-

FOR SALE

SURPLUS JEEPS, CARS, TRUCKS Car inv. value $2143 sold for $100. For information on purchasing similar bar Call 602-941-8014. Ext. 3648 Phone call refundable

GENESIS TIX FOR SALE---FOUR GOOD SEATS FOR THE NOV 17TH GENESIS SHOW ARE AVAILABLE. CALL KEN AT 8350-ANYTIME

Two oil space heaters and 250-gal, tank $150 for all three. Also, 8-room. 100r.old. Queen Anne house, 621 N. Lafayette, all new electrical wiring, gas furnace, newly painted inside and out new roof, under $40,000. Call 234-5686.

TICKETS

Penn St. ticket wanted please call Donna or 3008.

WANTED: PENN ST. TIXS, CALL EM-

GENESIS TIX FOR SALE---FOUR GENESISTICKETS FOR SALE---GOOD

SEATS CALL 8350 ANYTIME.

WILL PAY MEGA BUCKS FOR TICKETS TO ROLLING STONES CONCERT IN CHICAGO CONTACT MICK AT 4215

ROLLING STONES TO Up to 5 fix for Nov 23 show in Chicago. Best offer, Call Mike at 3482

ROLLING STONES TICKETS: Monda 11/23, 4th row center. Best offer. Call Mike 287-0601 7-9 p.m.

FOR SALE: TWO PENN STATE TIX Call PENN STATE ticket or tix needed. Call

John at 1947 anytime-- just make it soon! STUDENT HOCKEY TIX-$10 per pkg. or best offer, Gib-1628.

GOOD MONEY FOR PENN STATE TIX CALL 3793 NEED 4 PENN ST TIX. CALL PERRY AT

PENN STATE GA's needed. Will PAY top $. Call 287-6035 and ask for JOHN

NEED 4 PENN ST TIX. CALL PERRY AT

PERSONALS

The Society for Creative Anachronism is coming to this campus. Watch for it!

Today is Louise Mudd's 21st birthday Call her and wish her a Happy Birthday at Happy Birthday Louise!!!

Ryan's Return Looms

THE ZAHM COFFEEHOUSE IS OPEN EVERY THURSDAY FOR YOUR EXIS-TENTIAL PLEASURE. OFFERING THE FINEST IN LIVE ENTERTAINMENT. COFFEE, TEA, HOMEMADE DONUTS, FREE POPCORN AND PAT GALLAG-HER. COME DOWN AND SEE IF OUR PROFESSIONAL CONVERSATIONALISTS ARE PAID ENOUGH.
9—12 EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT, ZAHM BASEMENT

ATTENTION PITTSBURGH CLUB MEM-BERS -- Sign-ups for the THANKSGIV-ING BUS will take place on Wed., NOV Little Theatre. Buses will leave ND on Wed., NOV, 25 at 1:00 PM from the CCE and return from Pgh. on Sunday, NOV. 29 at 1:00 PM from the Greyhound Terminal Downtown, COST IS $45.00 ROUND TRIP and $29.00 ONE WAY. NO REFUNDS!!! QUESTIONS? -- CALL BRIAN EICHENLAUB at 1581.

Really cute girls! The wolfy may be sexstarved, but I want to know if Kathy Mc. really does howl.

Alliteration is cool Joliet Jake

You are the TORCH of all time, space, and goodness. How's that for recognition?

MMM000000000000000001 QUACK -- QUACK

The birds, man, Let's go look for the birds.

TO THE PERSON ON THE QUAD PLAYING QUEEN'S FAT-BOTTOM GIRLS: I hope you swallow a fish, pelican-

To the South Quad man who wears a CCHS Lacrosse jacket and who sits in Sec 33 top: Why do you stare? Call me...Ann 1257

ND/SMC SOPHOMORES!! We will be having a Friday the 13th" party this Friday at Guiseppes. $3.00 for guys and $2.00 for gals. Party starts at 9:00. Bring your student i.D.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY STUBBY (THE PRIDE OF MEDINA NY)! HOPE YOU HAD A GREAT 18TH! ARE YOU STILL BAD NOW THAT YOU'RE A MAN?
-319'S FAVORITE GROUPIES

GRAS IS ALIVE AN WELLIMINI

Anyone interested in helping with a Boy Scout troop at the Logan Center? Please call Howard 7781 for details.

WANT TO KILL A NITTANY LION! need Penn State tix--call 1947

DEAR FANGFACE KONNITI WA. OGENKI DESU KA? DOES THAT ANSWER YOUR QUES-

P.S. YOU SHOULD'VE BEEN BOUNCED FOR INDECENT EX-POSURE! AT LEAST MY KIMONO

I AM HUNGRY AND NEED A RIDE TO D.C. OR NORTHERN VA FOR FOOD DURING THANKSGIVING BREAK, WILL PAY USUAL, CALL J.B. at 1360

Liz & Craig: Hope your Birthdays are Wholly Holy. Love, the

HI NICHOLAS ROBERT ONLIFRAK. TELL YOUR MOM AND DAD THAT I SAID "HI" TO THEM TOO.

Beware Friday the 13th!! Strange Moosehaps often occur. Don't walk under any black cats.

I NEED A RIDE TO PHILLY! or thereabouts. Will gladly share $ & bring beverages. Call Mike 1386!

Joanie: The plane had mechanical problems. Really, I hope this will do: WILL YOU MARRY ME?

Northwestern University fans celebrate the school's 29th straight football loss on Saturday by tearing down the goal post. See the Bottom Ten on page 12. (AP Photo)

Tripp

continued from pare 12

anything, that no matter what I did, it wasn't enough. In high school, it's easy to get overconfident, and my mother saw to it that I didn't get to a point where I would need an extrasize hat.

"I'm upset that they weren't here to see me Saturday," Tripp continues while discusing the subject most dear to him. "They were here last week, but they couldn't make it up this week because my mother had to work - she's a nurse.'

They may not have been in Notre Dame Stadium, but Mom and Dad still took part in Son's biggest thrill.

When she's not here, she listens to our games on the radio, all of them. She watches us on the Sunday morning replays, too. She said she tried to call after the game. As a matter of fact, I called her not five minutes after she had just tried to call me. They were both pretty thrilled, although the first thing my dad asked was 'Are you all right?'

Never fear, Mr. Tripp. Little Timmy (little, huh - he's 6-4) is just fine. Couldn't be finner, actually.

You taught him well.

This weeks playoff schedule: Tonight's games Zahm v. Morrissey, 6:30 p.m. (Cartier)

continued from page 9

Stanford v. Flanner I, 7:30 p.m. (Cartier) Thurday's final winners of Tuesday's matches, 7 p.m. (Cartier) WOMEN'S FLAG FOOTBALL - While the season is over for most of the teams, Pasquerilla West still has three games to play, giving them a chance of qualifying for the playoffs. They are scheduled to finish protested games against Lyons and Off-Campus tomorrow night at 9:15 p.m. on Cartier. If needed, they would then be scheduled against Farley, Thursday night, a game that was postponed earlier in the season. Every one of these games is a must win for P-W if they hope to qualify for the playoffs. Otherwise, Off-campus would be the fourth place team and thus win the spot.

These are the standing s:

WOMEN'S FLAG FOOTBALL

1. x-Breen-Phillips 8-0

2. y-Pasq. East 6-2

3. y-Farley

. Interhall

4. Off-Campus

5. Pasq. West 2-3 6. Lewis 3-5 7. Walsh 2-6

8. Lyons 1-6 9. Badin x-clinched division title

y-clinched playoff spot Playoff schedule:

Breen-Phillips v. (Off-Campus or P.W.), 7:30 p.m. (Cartier)

Pasquerilla East v. Farley, 8:30 p.m. (Cartier)

Final game:

winners of Sundays matches, Wednesday, Nov. 18, time and place to be announced.

NOTICES — There will be a weight training and conditioning clinic, featuring Bill Allerheiligen, tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Rockne Memorial weight room.

This Saturday, NVA will hold a six mile run for N.D. students, faculty and staff. It will start at 10 a.m. Nov. 14, and will cover the entire Notre Dame campus. Separate divisions for men and women will be set up in the different catagries: undergraduate, graduate, and faculty. Interested contestents should sign up in the interhall office (C-2 ACC) and fill out the insurance forms, by 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12.

Soccer

continued from page 10

also hard to believe and Bowling Green lead, 2-0.

The general feeling of the players is that the calls were terribly biased. There is a feeling of bitterness on the team toward the situation, but as senior Sami Kahale puts it, "We know in our hearts that we deserved a bid.'

Stein came back to score a goal with about seven minutes left to close the gap to one, but it wasn't enough. The result of the protest will be determined in the next few

Hunter is determined to do something about the incident. "I will do everything I can within the law to make sure something like this never happens again," says the fifth-year coach. "I think the Bowling Green coach acted unethically. He realized the situation beforehand." Neither the Bowling Green coach nor the referee would discuss the issue with

Nonetheless, the season as a whole must be viewed as a huge

The question mark at the start of the season was the defense. However, the defense turned out very strong this season. "I couldn't be more pleased with our defense this season," praises Hunter. "All of our fullbacks played consistently, and I can't say enough about Jim Stein." The Irish will lose only Phil Sweester and Stein at the fullback position to graduation next year. In fact, a total of only six players will be lost to graduation, four of them starters: Stein, Kahale, Ed O'Malley, and John Milligan. Midfielder Steve Kraemer and Sweester are the other

Milligan turned in a splendid year in the nets, surrendering only 1.14 goals per game. A consistent goalkeeper is essential to a quality soccer team and the Irish were certainly not lacking in that aspect this past season.

The biggest key to the success of the team had to have been the balanced scoring attack. The top five scorers: Kahale, Rob Snyder, O'Malley, Herdegen, and Mario Manta combined for a total of 56 goals on the season.

Kahale had 12 goals and 15 assists to lead the team for the season. He ranks second on the all-time scoring list, behind Kevin Lovejoy (1978-80) with 35 goals and 30 assists. O'Malley moved to fourth on the alltime list while sophomore Rob Snyder is fifth after only two years.

Kahale also viewed this season as a great success.

"This year, we just had better general skills and better ball control than in the past. We played head-tohead with the big teams and we won the close games.'

O'Malley agrees, adding, "I think a key factor this season was the Fund. "I can't say enough about character and dedication of our Notre Dame," he said. "Putting forth players. The confidence level was also higher than it's ever been another university, that really shows before. We played our game this season instead of adjusting our style in order to contain teams.'

> Although the season has just ended, preparations for next season are already underway. "We've already contacted over 100 players for next season," comments Hunter. "We will be attempting to strengthen our midfield next season and work on the technique of our forwards in the penalty area."

So, with all this improvement, what does the future hold for Notre Dame soccer? Quite frankly, a playoff bid will be tough.

"It's very difficult for a nonscholarship team to make the playoffs," explains Hunter. "We may look to revise our schedule in the future to include more teams with programs comparable to our own."

Indeed, it is virtually impossible to foresee a non-scholarship team play at the level of an Indiana University, for example, which gives all of its players free rides.

One thing is certain, though: Hunter and his troops will be there creating excitement and fielding quality soccer teams in the years to come.

Turner

continued from page 12

Knight snapped jokingly. Then, displaying his rare form that has alienated many a referee over the years, Knight tore into the helpless inquisitor as if he were one of Knight's own players:

"How can you ask a question like that?" continued Knight, mocking himself. "Digger and I have an agreement - he gets New York and I take Chicago. What kind of stupid-bleep question is that? Geez, you sound like a damned sportswriter." Knight, of course, is renowned for his dislike of the news media, having once made the comment that "all of us learn to write in the second grade; some of us go on to do other things."

The highlight of the evening, though, was an appearance by popular Irish forward Cecil Rucker, a constant target of Phelps' abuse. After some token berating by Phelps, Knight called Rucker to the front, put his arm around him, and showed his sympathy: "Cecil, don't let Digger treat you like that," Knight said. "I mean, the way your people (blacks) have been treated through the years, you don't deserve the bleep Digger's been giving you."

In all, it was an enjoyable evening for a very worthy cause. And Knight had nothing but praise for Notre Dame's efforts in the Landon Turner this kind of effort for an athlete at me something."

MATH-SCIENC

Ask a Peace Corps volunteer why she teaches math and general science to high school students in Liberia, West Africa... Ask another volunteer why he teaches biology and physics in the Pacific Islands. They'll probably say they want to help people, want to use their skills, travel, learn a new language or experience another culture. Ask them:

Register now at the Placement Bureau for interview: Thursday & Friday November 12 & 13

CALL A HALT TO THE NUCLEAR ARMS RACE!

We support the Cali To Halt The Nuclear Arms Race:

Emily M. Conway Paul F. Conway Patrick Jolin C. A. Soleta, C.S.C. Dan Argue General Council-Congregation of Holy Cross Social Justice Commission Brothers of Holy Cross(MW) Task force for World Peace United Religious Community of St. Joseph Co.

Seasons end; playoffs set

MEN'S FOOTBALL — This past week's games ended the regular season of the men's football league. Five of the six playoff spots were determined by the final games. Grace won the North Division title by defeating Flanner, 14-9. Flanner's single touchdown came on a pass from quarterback Mike Perri to flankerback Mitch Weisz. Also scoring for Flanner was kicker John Zampedro, who kicked his fourth field goal of the season. As stated, Grace finishes first in the North division with a 4-0 record and Flanner finishes third with a 2-2 record.

The game played immediately after the Grace-Flanner battle was a continuation of one of the biggest rivalries on campus. Top-ranked Dillon fought off an always tough Alumni team, 21-0. Quarterback Kevin Kenny threw two touchdown passes, one a 65-yard bomb to Bobby Wicke, and the other, a 50-yard shot to Yogi Spence. Adding to the Big Red point total were runningback Dave McMann and kicker Hart Green. Dillon finishes the season with a 4-0 record. Alumni finishes at 2-2.

Clinching the Central Division title as well as a spot in post-season play, a strong Off-Campus team beat the Vermin of Carrol, 7-0. The sole score of the game came on a 7-yard jaunt by tailback Willie Sotis. Linebacker Tony Aiello had another fine performance, recovering a fumble and intercepting a pass. The Raiders end with a 4-1 record and are seeded third going into the playoffs. Their first test will come tomorrow night when they face Keenan in the first round of post-season tournament. The game is slated for 8:15 p.m. and will be played on Cartier field.

These are the final regular season standings:

N	ORTH
	w	L.	T Pct.	PF	PΑ
x-Grace	4	0	01.000	52	9
y-Keenan	2	2	0 .500	21	37
Flanner	2	2	0 .500	27	21
Zahm	2	2	0 .500	25	32
Stanford	1	3	0 .250	27	48
x-clinched division title
y-clinched playoff spot
	NTRA	L
	w	L	T Pct.	PF	PA
x-Off-Campus	4	1	0 .800	70	8
y-Holy Cross	4	1	0 .800	43	8
Cavanaugh	3	1	1 .700	44	18
St. Ed's	2	2	1 .500	30	34
Carrol	1	4	0 .200	12	42
Sorin	0	5	0.000	12	97
x-clinched division title
y-clinched playoff spot

Jim Kinney
Sports Writer

Inside ND Interhall

s	OUTH
	w.	L	T Pct.	PF	PA
x-Dillon	4	O	01.000	71	2
y-Morrissey	3	1	0 .750	22	12
Alumni	2	2	0.500	62	27
Fisher	1	3	0 .250	14	75
Pangborn	0	4	000.0	6	59
x-clinched division title
y-clinched playoff spot

These are the top six seeds

MEN'S INTERHALL FOOTBALL SEEDINGS
	MEN'S	INTERHALL	FOOTBALL	SEEDINGS

O EXTERIOR	TE LOO LOUIL SEEDIN
1. Dillon (4-0)	4. Holy Cross (4-1)
2. Grace (4-0)	5. Morrissey (3-1)
3. Off-Campus (4-1)	6. Keenan (2-2)

This week's playoff schedule:

Tomorrow's games

Holy Cross v. Morrissey, 7 p.m. (Cartier) Off-Campus v. Keenan, 8:15 p.m. (Cartier)

Sunday's games

Dillon v. Holy Cross or Morrissey, 1 p.m. (Cartier) Grace v. Off-Campus or Keenan, 2:15 p.m. (Cartier)

SOCCER — The interhall fall soccer season has come to an end with playoffs commencing this week. This past Sunday, Morrissey defeated Stanford, 2-1, to win the Division II title out-right. These are the final regular season standings:

DIVISION		DIVISION II
1. x-Flanner I	8-1	1. x-Morrissey	8-1
2. y-Zahm	8-1	2. y-Stanford	7-2
3. Alumni	7-2	3. Dillon I	7-2
4. Holy Cross	6-3	4. Sorin	5-4
5. Grace	4-5	5. Carrol	5-4
6. Pangborn	4-5	6. Flanner II	5-4
7. Howard	3-6	7. Cavanaugh	4-5
8. Off-Campus	2-7	8. Fisher	3-6
9. Keenan	2-7	9. St. Ed's	2-7
x-clinched division	on title	10. Dillon II	1-8
y-clinched playor	ff spot	x-clinched division y-clinched playor

See INTERHALL, page 8

Mark Stewart of the Washington Huskies had a message for his mother during the UCLA-Washington game in Los Angeles Saturday. (AP Photo)

Michigan's Smith selected by AP

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan quarterback Steve Smith has been selected Midwest Player of the Week on offense by The Associated Press for his remarkable performance Saturday.

Smith, a 6-foot, 191-pound sophomore from Grand Blanc, Mich., rallied the Wolverines to a 70-21 victory over Illinois after the Illini had led 21-7.

Smith completed 9 of 15 passes for 224 yards and 3 touchdowns and also rushed for 116 yards and 3 more touchdowns.

Even with those statistics, Smith barely edged out Minnesota quarterback Mike Hohensee for the honor. Hohensee completed 37 of 67 passes for 444 yards and 5 touchdowns in a 35-31 victory over Ohio

Also nominated was Michigan wide receiver Anthony Carter, who caught 6 passes for 154 yards and returned a total of 5 punts and kick-offs for 146 yards.

A WORLD OF WINE II

This Thurs., Nov. 12 at the Notre Dame A.C.C.

Only a $5 donation for wine & cheese

**********

- For the benefit of the Musular Dystrophy Association
- Coordinated by

OVER 180 WINES!!!

Tickets available at any King's Cellar or at the door.

Irish soccer team ends fifth season

By RICK KRIST Sports Writer

The Notre Dame soccer team wound up its fifth year of varsity play in style Saturday, as it rolled over Louisville, 4-1. Freshman Richard Herdegen tallied twice to wind up with 11 goals for the season. Junior Mario Manta and senior midfielder Ed O'Malley also scored for the Irish who, in the second half, played what coach Rich Hunter described as "the best we've ever played."

The win was an impressive one, especially coming off the bitter outcome of the Bowling Green game on Thursday.

Although the Irish lost, 2-1, Hunter protested the game and there is a glimmer of hope. If the NCAA rules in favor of Notre Dame, a playoff bid is still a possibility.

The controversy surrounding the game concerns Dr. Michael Long, the referee for the contest, who called two penalty kicks against the Irish within one minute of each other, both of which resulted in Bowling Green goals

While this in itself may not seem unusual, there has been a history of this type of thing happening whenever Long referees a Notre Dame

Long has refereed four Notre Dame games since 1978, and has issued a total of six penalty kicks against the Irish. Until the Bowling Green game, Notre Dame had not been called for a single penalty kick this season. Also, last year against Michigan State, Long gave out a total of five red cards (ejections) in a game which got completely out of hand and turned into a total disaster.

As a result of last year's incident, Hunter sent a letter to Great Lakes Regional Chairman Jerry Yeagley, of Indiana Univ., explaining the situation and suggesting that Long not be scheduled to do Notre Dame games, in light of the events which had transpired in the past. Hunter also sent a letter to Bowling Green coach Gary Palmisano explaining the situa-

In NCAA soccer, home team coaches have a say as to who the referees will be. Apparantly, Palmisano had knowledge of Long's history of conflict with Notre Dame but went ahead with Long as the referee

The first call went against center fullback Jim Stein. "I never touched their man. When I heard the whistle, I thought the call was against Bowling Green," claims Stein. The referee, when asked what the foul was, said that Stein "kicked" the Bowling Green man. The result: Bowling Green takes a 1-0 lead.

Exactly one minute later, Joe Holterman was called for a foul while jumping for a headball. This call was

See SOCCER, page 8

Digger Phelps (right) looks distraught as Indiana University basketball coach Bobby Knight clowns with a friend. Phelps and Knight played to

Phelps speaks

FCA gaining in popularity

By MICHAEL OLENIK Sports Writer

It almost seems ironic that a place like Notre Dame isn't the bastion of an organization such as the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, but it is true. At a school probably best known for both athletics and its Christian roots, the FCA is a relatively small and obscure group that is finally being lead into the campus spotlight.

Dale Fronk, a sophomore from Columbus, Ohio is the president of Notre Dame's FCA and seems to think that this campus is ready for the outlet that such an organization provides.

"All we're trying to do is to promote Christian fellowship either athletics or academics. " explains Fronk. "You don't necessarily have to be both an athlete and a student to like what we have to offer.'

Already, the FCA has offered two speakers of campus prominence in an open forum setting, and both have worked out well.

Both Irish assistant football Coach Tom Lichtenberg and head baseball Coach Larry Gallo have met with interested students to discuss the role of Christianity in sports, and both meetings seemed to have made their mark on those who attended.

"Both speakers have done an excellent job of getting across to the students, mostly with just stories from their lives or their personal view of Christian athletics. We've been very happy with our progress, and we're looking forward to the rest of our forums."

The next speaker in the series will McLaughlin hopes to have a good this tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m.

"We hope that people will show nout should really help us get on our at the Sorin Chapel.

This is by no means the first attempt at a FCA organization on the Notre Dame campus, as Fronk is quick to explain. "About eight years ago, there was a rather large FCA movement here on campus. At that time, they did a lot of charitable activities during home football games. I don't know why things died out, but they did, and that's why we're trying to renew interest."

"All we're trying to do 🕻 is promote Christian fellowship through athletics academics."

I f the FCA does attract a suitable number of members, Fronk intends to actively pursue the type of activities that will make the FCA a helpful group in the South Bend

"We hope to do some community service work as soon as possible. Hopefully, the Christmas season will give us the opportunity to help the needy of the community, while having a meaningful experience at the same time."

For those who have interest in getting involved with an organization of the FCA's nature and national stature, you are urged to attend the be Irish basketball Coach Digger forum this tomorrow night or any of Phelps, and FCA organizer Rich the following meetings that will transpire this year: Jan. 20 turnout in the chapel of Howard Hall manager Steve Orsini at the Farley Chapel, Feb. 17 — track Coach Ed Kelly at the Dillon Chapel, March 3 up to see what he has to say, because — Athletic Director Gene Corrigan he usually can be pretty entertain- at the Walsh Chapel, and April 7 ing," offers McLaughlin. "A good tur- hockey Coach Charles 'Lefty' Smith

tuesday night at

lee's B-B-q

$2.00 pitchers of beer with a dinner

CONVOCATION ON THE THREAT OF NUCLEAR WAR

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11

12:15 PM Mass for peace, Sacred Heart Church Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., Celebrant

2000000000

Convocation--Library Auditorium 4:00 PM Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C. Comments and introduction

> James E. Muller, M.D. (N.D. '65) Faculty, Harvard Medical School Founder of International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War "The Medical Consequences of Nuclear War"

EVERYONE WELCOME

Notre Dame participating with over 140 other campuses

000000000

Today

Molarity

I'M SIGNING YOU UP FOR OUR REFRESHER COURSES SO THAT YOU CAN GIVE THE KIDS WHAT THEY WANT

EXCUSE ME BUT I DON'T THINK THERE'S AWYTHING THAT'S THE FIRST SIGN, PADRE, IT'S NOW CALLED "CELEBRATIME THE LITURGY" E

Michael Molinelli

Garry Trudeau

Jeb Cashin

Doonesbury

SOCCER IS GROWING KID. OUR IGURES SAY THAT BY 1988 A UMBER ONE SOCCER TEAM AT D. COULD PACK THE STADIUM IN

.. NORMALLY AN OF

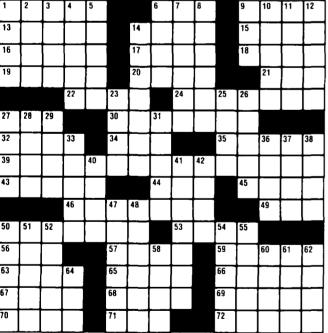

THE SPRING SEASON

The Daily Crossword

©1981 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc All Rights Reserved

ACROSS Bender 6 Dry, as

9 Like frills 13 Winds around

14 Soft drink 15 Wings "... and well" 17 General Bradley

18 Bird-girl

in "Green Mansions" Medit. island 20 Scruff Jujube

22 Nestling

24 Meeting 27 Train stop:

abbr. 30 Word-forword 32 English

composer 34 Pretty picture 35 Famous code

39 Civil War epic 43 Cubic meter 44 Toward: Scot.

45 Ornamental button 46 Hoosier State 49 Conceit

Monday's Solution

65 — de force 66 Zodiac sian 67 Over again 68 In between 69 Come to maturity 70 Unique Russian letters 72 Billiard

50 Showered

53 Secret

57 Bean

59 Rude

63 Put on frozenly

society

56 Source of energy

shelter

freight

stroke DOWN Crooked operation 2 Negri of the silents Brook

Choice part Composition 6 Body of an organism Pass by 8 Vocation 9 Roman household god 10 Ĕxcuse

11 Anaglyph 12 Long (for) 14 Be made up (of) 23 Jai — 25 Alike 26 Retards 27 Slouches

28 Easy pace - of Cleves City on the Nile 33 Uncanny

36 Formal procedure 37 Cozy 38 Taro root

40 Left 41 Mug with a lid 42 Mend 47 Greek letters

Type of energy 51 Vine 52 Presbyter 54 Siren

Expressions

55 Wate wheel 58 Scottish naturalist

60 Dunks 61 Commands to a horse 62 Slave of old 64 Farm animal

Campus

•12:10 p.m. — art lecture, "justinian and byzantine art", dr. dean porter, annenberg auditorium, sponsored by snite museum of art, all are welcome •4 p.m. — lecture, "benjamin franklin's image in the enlightenment", gary wills, annenberg auditorium, sponsored by department of american studies, all are welcome

•4 p.m. — lecture, "changing views on the changing u.s. economy", michael j. boskin, stanford university, johns-manville american enterprise lecture series, sponsored by memorial library

•4:15 p.m. — workshop, "basic needs of children in the development strategy", james grant, unicef, 105 o'shaughnessy, sponsored by economics department

•4:30 p.m. — seminar, "asian freshwater snails and schistosomes infecting man: their origin, evolution, coevolution and adaptive radiation", george m. davis, the academy of natural sciences, galvin auditorium, sponsored by biology department

•7:30 p.m. — ladies of nd, "an affair of the arts", stepan center

•8 p.m. — lecture, "war on hunger: sincere commitment or empty rhetoric", james grant, unicef, memorial library auditorium, sponsored by student government

•8 p.m. — lecture, "science: the development of a profession", daniel j. kavles, california institute of technology, center for continuing education auditorium, sponsored by department of history

•8:15 p.m. — university artists series, angela d'antuono, soprano, accompanied by john van buskirk, annenberg auditorium, tickets $2 at the door

Television Tonight

16 7:00 p.m. MASH 22 CBS News 28 loker's Wild MacNeil/Lehrer Report 46 It's Your Business 7:30 p.m. 16 All in the Family 22 Family Feud Tic Tac Dough Straight Talk God's News Behind the News 8:00 p.m. Father Murphy Bugs Bunny's Thanksgiving Diet 28 Happy Days Cosmos Lester Sumrall Teaching CBS Special Movie:"10 8:30 p.m. Laverne and Shirley Michiana Today 9:00 p.m. 16 The First All-American Ultra Quiz Three's Company Odyssey Today with Lester Sumrall

Today in History

Today's highlight in history:

In 1928, Hirohito was enthroned as emperor of Japan.

In 1776, the U.S. Marine Corps was founded at Tun's Tavern in Philadelphia.

In 1871, explorer Henry Stanley located the missing Scottish missionary, David Livingston, in Central Africa.

In 1963, it was reported that a cholera epidemic in India and Pakistan had taken more that 1,500

Nov. 20, 1981--A night IAMBOREE of lively entertainment!

11/10/81

Featuring The Ozark Mountain Daredevils, John Bayley, and Buck Stove and the Range

Tickets: $5 in advance

$6 at the door

So bring a friend and blanket to this extravaganza!

BUT WHAT DOES THE STUDENT UNION RECORD STORE HAVE FOR ME?

CHEAPER PRICES PRICES... Save 24-32% off list prices! MOST CURRENT SINGLES-$6.50 (compare at $8.99 list). Cut-outs...$2.98 to $5.98

> CONVENIENCE...The NDSU Record Store is located on the Main floor of LaFortune and is open 10-4

> PLUS- ordered albums take 1 week only!

GREAT SELECTION...Springsteen, Fogelberg, Moody Blues, Stevie Nicks, Cristopher Cross, Pat Benatar, Journey, and many more.

ALSO...recorded and blank tapes available.

SO...for CHEAPER PRICES, MORE CONVENIENCE, and a GREAT SELECTION stop by the S.U. Record Store today!!

Digger and Bobby put on show

By CHRIS NEEDLES

It's ironic that last night's "Digger and Bobby Show" at the Engineering Auditorium didn't begin until 10:30. By then, the "family hour" was over and all young ears were safely tucked away in bed.

Two of college basketball's premiere coaches - Bobby Knight, head coach of reigning NCAA champion Indiana University, and Notre Dame's Digger Phelps - held a riotous question-and-answer session before an overflow crowd of nearly 600. Emil should have such an attentive audience!

The event, co-sponsored by Alumni and St. Edward's Halls, was held in conjunction with The Observer-Landon Turner Fund, campus-sponsored designed to offset some of the enormous medical expenses accrued by the former IU basketball star who was left paralyzed by a summertime auto accident.

All told, about $800 was raised for the fund last night, including a sizable $500 contribution by the ND chapter of the Knights of Columbus.

Fittingly, the audience was first treated to the 1981 NCAA Final Four highlight film, in which Turner played a key role in the Hoosiers' march to the title.

But, then, the real fun began. After appearing at events most of the evening in South Bend, including a $50a-plate dinner at the Century Center and a talk at the Morris Civic Auditorium sponsored by IUSB, Knight and Phelps entered to a standing ovation. From there, it was

Knight, wearing his familiar redchecked sport coat, set the tone for the 75-minute session by requesting that the crowd "not ask any bleepbleep dumb questions, OK?" From there, he fielded questions on a variety of topics:

On his escapades in Puerto Rico while coaching the Pan American team a couple of years back, when he was arrested for reportedly assaulting a policeman: "As the plane left San Juan, I mooned them out the airplane window - I figured that's the last view I wanted them to have of me. Would I ever go back? Hell, I don't even go to southern Indiana anymore."

•On former IU All-American guard Isiah Thomas turning pro: "It was defintely the best time for him to do it. I figured he would never get that kind of combination - a national championship, MVP of the NCAA Tournament, and All-America status - all in the same year again."

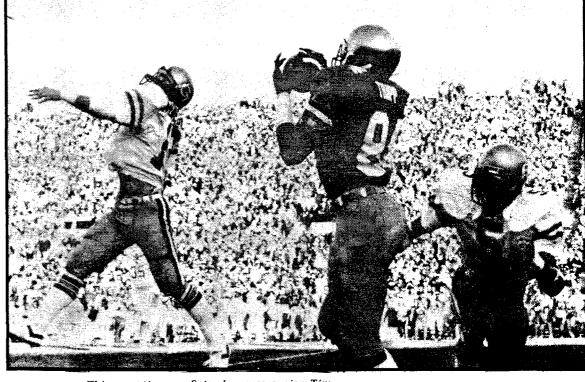

On his recruiting philosophy: "Today, it's common for some players to get as much as $50,000 to $100,000 to sign, believe it or not. I could easily go out tomorrow, make a few phone calls to alumni, and get the money to sign a high school star, if I really wanted to. But Digger and I both feel that it takes away from the game too much."

On Notre Dame's sub-par recruiting year: "Well, I know we were pleased with it.'

Interspersed among the questions was the expected R-rated banter between Knight and Phelps, both of whom are well-known for their flamboyant and sarcastic personalities.

One questioner in the front row was particularly unfortunate. As he stuttered through a question about recruiting in the Chicago area, he was quickly lambasted by Knight. "What are you, a speech major?"

See TURNER, page 8

This reception on Saturday was senior Tim Tripp's first touchdown ever for the Fighting Irish.

(photo by Tom O'Brien)

Finally!

Tripp's hard work pays off

By MARK HANNUKSELA

Despite what the reports said, the stadium wasn't quite full.

Still, it was only a few bus-loads shy of reaching its 59,075 capacity.

Chances are, not more than two or three of the multitude heard the cry of joy which came from the very depths of the Notre Dame player who lay, nearly motionless, in the corner of the stadium's south endzone, his eyes staring up at a powdery blue, cloudless sky.

"Finally," he yelled to no one in particular. Then he stood up and turned into the waiting embrace of Bernie Adell. Tim Koegel was also there, offering a congratulations that went beyond a mere handshake and a pat on the behind.

And then reality set in for Tim

After four years of classes and practices and films and meetings and games and injuries and more practices and more games and more injuries - a cycle viscious enough to test even the strongest of characters - he finally had a catch that went in a column other than the one marked Rec. This one would go under TD. And it certainly gave the senior native of Dayton, Ohio cause for celebration.

'Yeah, it was a pretty big thrill," he says in a tone somewhat subdued after two days of reliving his greatest thrill in an Irish uniform. "After four years, it finally happened.'

The memorable play, a 10-yard hookup with Koegel, came with just six minutes remaining in the last home game for both players. The characters were significant since neither often had the luxury of being No. 1 at his particular position.

"I was glad that it was Timmy who threw the pass," says Tripp. "We've been close ever since we've been here - he's never been No. 1 and I've never been No. 1 — and we've tried to help each other out a lot. We never have hooked up in a game before, so this kind of rounded it out for us."

Don't believe that stuff about No. 1. It's not exactly true. Koegel has been one of two No. 1 quarterbacks in Gerry Faust's eyes all season long. And Tripp was No.1 last spring and early this fall at a different position wingback.

"I liked the switch a lot," Tripp says now after returning to his former split end position, a move necessitated by the knee injury he suffered in the tirst fall scrimmage. "I felt it was a more important position in the offense, and would make me a more vital part of the team. With guys like Greg Bell and John Mosley around now, there's no need for me to move back. They fit in better there than I do."

Now we're starting to get somewhere in the saga of Tim Tripp. His coaches say that he was moved back to split end because of his precarious physical condition. "We felt it was in Tim's best interest to get him away from a position that demands a lot of man-on-man, intight blocking," says Notre Dame backfield coach Greg Blache. "We thought he could contribute quicker back at split end."

Tripp had no business coming back to contribute at all, actually. Many people, including Tim, never thought he would come back to play again this season. And as far as the senior electrical engineering major was concerned, there would be no future Notre Dame seasons for him if he didn't.

When I got hurt," he says, "I thought I was out for the season. I wasn't going to try to come back - I didn't think I would be able to come back. I wasn't hurt as bad as Dean Masztak or Dave Condeni - I didn't really need surgery. The doctors told me I had a 50-50 chance of playing again without surgery, and I just took my 50-50 chance.

"The reason I worked so hard," Tripp continues, "is because of all the injuries we had. I felt that if I didn't try to come back, I would be letting down the other players. I felt I owed it to the rest of the team, the upperclassmen, the seniors.'

Remember this is a non-starter saying this. A guy who averaged one catch per season in his first three

Remember also that this is a man who is on schedule for the receipt of his May, '82 diploma, a man who having had five interviews with prospective employers arranged through the university's placement bureau, has been requested to make five office appearances at various sights across the country in this second and final part of the screening process.

It would be quite the understate ment to say that this is a man who has no more need for football, a mar who could easily use what's left o his college years as the calm before the storm, as it were, the relaxation period that will be none too com mon once the pressures of life in the mythical real world set in.

And yet, here he was, risking per manent injury in the few remaining games of a season that started out se dismally.

"I guess you could say that m mother was the force that pushe me," Tripp says, "and my father wa the backbone. He taught me at a early age that I never should qui

See TRIPP, page 8

The Dyche breaks Halt decline at 29?

Some teams will go to great lengths to lose ball games. A quality Bottom Ten contender can find any number of ways and means to drop the big game.

Take Illinois, for instance. They were about to put the final nail in Michigan's coffin when they realized that they were in grave danger of winning. Ahead 21-7 and driving for another score just 18 minutes into the game Saturday, Tony Eason smartly threw an interception. The Wolverines proceeded to score nine unanswered touchdowns to give the Illini a come-from-ahead loss, 70-21. Said Coach Mike White, "The dike broke."

That's not all the dike-breaking that went on Saturday. Up at Northwestern's Dyche Stadium, fans poured on the field chanting "we're the worst," and tore down the goal posts after the Mildcats were run over by Michigan State, 61-14.

Earlier this season Northwestern assured themselves of a Bottom Ten bowl bid when they clinched the championship of the first half of the split season. This week there was more cause for celebration, however. The loss was Northwestern's 29th straight, a feat never before accomplished.

"Every now and and then something mystical happens," said Coach Dennis Green after the game. "But it didn't happen here today."

Out west, they have a patent on losing.

Colorado State did it with their pass defense. They allowed BYU QB Jim McMahon to break four NCAA records en route to a 63-14 loss at home. McMahon completed 44 passes for 538 yards and seven TD's.

At Kansas St., they did it with ball control. The Wildcats lead 21-0 at one point and were still ahead 21-13 with just seven minutes to go in the game. They fought back, however, and managed to lose to Oklahoma, 28-21.

There was still more to cheer about for fans in Illinois. In the epic battle of the Concordias, it was Concordia 58, Concordia 6 — with Illinois' Concordia coming out on the bottom. Sorry, Nebraska.

Still, sometimes, no matter how hard you try, no matter how many times you lose, no matter you play your players, it isn't enough.

Take the case of the Montreal Alouettes of the CFL. They're 3-13 and have given up twice as many points as

Skip Desjardin Rob Simari

The Bottom Ten

they've scored. But they made the playoffs anyway. Rumor has it that Bowie Kuhn is looking into the CFL's playoff format.

Here are this week's rankings:

1) Northwestern (0-9) — "Halt decline at 29?"

2) Colorado St. (0-9) — tied for NCAA lead in losses and Washington

4) Memphis St. (1-9) — not the same since Elvis

5) Georgia Tech (1-9) - may start tight end at quar-6) UTEP (1-8) — no pot of gold after 35-7 loss to

Rainbows of Hawaii 7) Baltimore Colts (1-9) — Colt Coach Mike Mc

Cormick: "I feel sick."

8) Virginia (1-7) — Boo-Hoo for Yahoos

9) Texas Tech (1-7-1) — Red Raiders of the Lost

10) Columbia (1-7) - Lions cowered before Dartmouth

Also receiving votes: Eastern Michigan (0-9) Pennsylvania (1-6) Colorado (2-7) Kansas St. (2-7) Indiana (2-7)

Quote of the Week:

Indiana Pacer forward George McGinnis to rookie Herb Williams after Williams' game-winning shot in his first game: "I wish I could have broken in my first game that way. I stunk. After that I was great."