Soviets press U.S. to accept arms offer

Associated Press

MOSCOW - State-run Soviet news media Sunday hailed Mikhail Gorbachev's offer to rid Europe of superpower medium-range nuclear missiles as a "historic chance" which the United States could not legitimately pass up.

Gorbachev announced Saturday that the Soviets were willing to negotiate a separate accord with the United States on medium-range missiles in Europe. The Kremlin had previously linked such an agreement to a demand that the United States limit testing on its Strategic Defense Initiative, or "Star Wars."

"There is the possibility in a short time to free our common European home from a signficant share of the nuclear burden," Soviet journalist Tomas Kolesnichenko said on the television program "International Panorama."

Broadcast media and the Tass news agency also highstatements from foreign leaders backing the new Soviet proposal.

The media reaction, similar to previous campaigns to marshal support for Kremlin positions, was clearly designed to put pressure on the United States to respond quickly to the Soviet offer.

Speculation arose that the new Soviet position is linked to Gorbachev's campaign for economic and social reforms in the Soviet Union and the need to trim defense spending so allocations can be increased for other uses.

Why Gorbachev chose Saturday night to make the announcement was not immediately clear. It came at a time when U.S. newspapers were preoccupied with reporting on

CIA head nominee withdraws: report

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Robert Gates has decided to withdraw this week as President Reagan's nominee for director of the CIA, according to a published report.

The decision, which was not confirmed by White House and CIA spokesmen, came as Senate leaders warned that the nomination was in trouble.

Gates reached the decision "without much prodding," The Washington Post reported in Monday editions. The newspaper cited "well-informed administration and congressional sources."

However, White House spokesman Albert Brashear said late Sunday, "Mr. Gates is still the president's nominee." CIA spokeswoman Kathy Pherson said, "He hasn't withdrawn as nominee, and as far as we know he doesn't have any plans to do so."

No word of any such withdrawal has reached the Senate Intelligence Committee, which is reviewing the nomination, said David committee Chairman David Boren.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said Sunday that the Reagan administration will decide early this week whether to withdraw the nomination.

Dole also said he didn't think it would be a good idea for Gates, the acting CIA director, to be "sort of held out there for five or six months" until special congressional committees conclude their investigations into the Iran-Contra affair.

Speculation on Reagan's upcoming speech and any changes the president might order in the wake of last week's release of the Tower report dominated discussion on weekend television interview shows.

On NBC-TV's "Meet the Press," Dole said he and other Republican leaders discussed with Reagan last Thursday what the president should say when he addresses the nation.

"Let the people know that it wasn't someone else out there who made mistakes," Dole Holliday, a spokesman for said he counseled Reagan.

Police raid ND Ave., E. Navarre parties

By MARK PANKOWSKI

Aided by undercover officers, police raided two offcampus parties early Saturday morning, arresting one person and citing 41 others.

At a party at 823 Notre Dame Ave., police cited 39 people for underage drinking, said Sgt. Gregory Deitchley of the Indiana State Excise Police.

One person, whose name was not available, was arrested for resisting law enforcement, he said.

The other raid occurred around midnight at 121 E. Navarre St., Deitchley said. Police cited one person for selling alcohol without a permit and another for minor consuming alcohol.

Undercover officers participated in both cases.

At the party on Notre Dame entered the house before the raid, which occurred at about 1 a.m. They later left the party and notified uniformed police.

Fourteen officers from the Indiana State Police, excise police and South Bend Police Department then raided the party.

Approximately 70 people were at the party when it was raided, said witnesses.

One witness said police Avenue, plainclothes officers forced those at the party to stay inside the house and submit to breathalyzer tests. Those under 21 and registering a bloodalcohol level of .01 percent or higher were given citations, she said.

Two beer kegs were located in the house's backyard, but both were empty at the time of the raid, according to one of the students living at the house.

The beer was not sold at the

Laxault: Renounce Iran initiative

Associated Press

WASHINGTON -Former Sen. Paul Laxalt said Sunday he doubts President Reagan is ready to renounce the U.S. arms-sale initiative with Iran, despite the Tower commission's condemnation of that policy and Reagan's subsequent replacement of White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan.

Laxalt of Nevada, one of Reagan's closest, longtime political confidants, said that in his address to the nation later this week, Reagan should admit "this was a flawed policy ... a trip that shouldn't have been taken. . . . I'd like to have him do that, but I don't think he's there in his own mind yet."

Reagan acknowledged in his

Jan. 27 State of the Union address that "serious mistakes were made," but he has never conceded that the administration was seeking to trade arms for hostages.

Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas joined Laxalt in publicly urging Reagan to take full responsibility for the Iran-Contra affair when the president makes his nationally broadcast speech, probably on Wednesday or Thursday.

Sharing Laxalt's view, Dole said that Reagan must "if not apologize, get very close to it" during his speech. Dole added, "I don't know if he'll do it or not."

Meanwhile, former Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas, appearing with Laxalt on ABC-

TV's "This Week With David Brinkley," said he believes Reagan, in approving the sale of U.S. arms to Tehran, "had convinced himself that selling arms to Iran was strikingly different from ransoming hostages."

Former Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, a member of the Tower commission, said in a separate interview that the panel's members were appalled at Reagan's inability to recall details of "significant occasions" in the Iran arms sale affair.

Baker's first day in the White House West Wing will be on Monday; two longtime aides to Baker took part in a transition meeting with representatives of Regan on Saturday.

A paperback edition of the Tower Commission Report is being published by Bantum books in conjunction with The New York Times. A total of 500,000 copies will be distributed to bookstores on Monday, and each will sell for $5.50. See story at left.

The question: Is Iran-contra scandal tragedy or comedy?

Somewhere in Hollywood the scriptwriters are working around the clock to copy down the latest twists and turns in the Iran-Contra arms scandal. Ronald Reagan, once president of the screen actor's guild, undoubtedly likes to see the movie industry prosper.

It was the magic of the silver screen that first brought the Great Communicator to national prominence, establishing him with the reputation, wealth, and friends with which to launch a political career. But now, much to his chagrin, the benefactor-patron relationship will be reversed and the movies will prosper at his expense.

It is only a matter of time before the first books are written. Once these are published the films will be soon to follow. Certainly those with inside knowledge of Iran-Contra affair will command handsome prices for their memoirs - this is perhaps the reason why Oliver North and John Poindexter have shrewdly held out on their testimony. When the first copies inevitably hit the street, the booksellers face the difficult decision of where to shelve the work. Potentially it could fall under the subject of history, politics, war, adventure, romance, or melodrama anything but family entertainment.

The Iran-Contra connection relies on the classic formula for entertainment success. Not only do we have the involvement of high government officials in secret arms deals, covert paramilitary operations, numbered Swiss bank deposits, and an elaborate cover-up scheme but also millions in unaccounted cash, beautiful secretaries, and an unexplained suicide attempt. Add to this the mystique of travel to foreign lands, the looming Soviet threat in Central America (Amerika?), the sudden-death danger of international terrorism, and the deafening roar of the ongoing Iran-Iraq war and you have the perfect backdrop for all the excitement. What else could a James Bond film

Whatever productions are eventually made from this Iran-Contra affair certainly will not need artificial embellishments in order to keep the audience awake.

To thicken the plot even further, there is the animosity between Nancy and Chief of Staff Donald Regan. The backstabbing behind this scene is gossip waiting to be told.

Jim Carroll

Photography Editor

Then of course there is the Gipper, who now maintains that it is possible that he forgot whether or not he took sides in a major, international war.

At this point it is uncertain whether the Iran-Contra scandal is a comedy or a tragedy. It could be either or both, and the fact that the audience does not know whether to laugh or cry is a hallmark of excellence in drama.

On the one hand, everyone finds it humorous whenever a figure of authority and respect is made to look foolish or is revealed to be the buffoon that he really is. For some reason it is hilarious to see a leader slip on a banana peel, bump his head, or publicly forget the causes he swears to defend.

On the other hand, it is tragedy to see an individual drown in his own confusion and mistakes. In a greater sense there is also sorrow to see a nation become engrossed by its own shortcomings and allegations of wrongdoing.

Sophomore parents have weekend at SMC

By PEGGY PROSSER Staff Reporter

More than 200 members of the Saint Mary's Class of 1989 hosted their parents this past weekend at the College's an-Sophomore Parents Weekend.

Most parents arrived Friday night and attended a talent show, held in the Angela Athletic Facility, to begin their weekend.

Saturday afternoon the College hosted an Open House, also in Angela. Parents and students were greeted by College President William Hickey and Vice-President College Dorothy Feigl. The College's academic departments were

A Sunday Liturgy was held Saturday afternoon in the Church of Loretto on the Saint Mary's campus.

Saturday night students were given the chance to try to outdance their parents at the dinner dance, held at the Century Center in South Bend. The evening began with a cash bar, followed by a welcome-to-parents speech by sophomore Marisa Ley, chairperson of the event.

The brunch held at the College dining hall Sunday concluded the weekend.

Ley was assisted by a committee, consisting of Kathleen Needham, Michele Kruze, Kelly Glavin, Janice Terpin and Barbara Krugh.

Elderly man kills three others then turns gun on himself

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - A man who had accused his wife of setting up a $7,000 burglary grabbed a revolver after an argument and fatally shot two neighbors and his stepdaughter before killing himself, said neighbors and police.

Ed Smith, 83, had been arguing with his 80-year-old wife, Ann, in their home for hours Saturday before he armed himself and began shooting, said Detective Steve Morgan.

"During the course of the dispute, she decided to move out and called relatives to help," said Lt. Charles Massey. The shooting began after Mrs. Smith left the couple's small, white clapboard house, and walked to the rear of a neighbor's home.

Smith fired 10 to 12 times, police said. He fired at and missed his wife, shot his stepdaughter, and then seemed to fire at random targets, fatally wounding a 91-year-old neighbor and another woman.

A witness, Robert Livingston, said he tried to help Smith's stepdaughter, 45-yearold Linda Downard, while she was lying on the ground.

"He told me to get away from her," said Livingston, who was not injured. "I didn't think he was doing the shooting, I thought there was something wrong. He pointed the gun up, I ducked, and he fired."

"He went back to the house, reloaded his gun and again shot the daughter, who was still in the street, then went to the rear yard of the (neighbor's) house," Morgan said.

When he realized police were coming, Smith shot himself in the chest. He was pronounced dead at the scene, Morgan said.

Downard died Saturday afternoon in surgery in California Medical Center,

Tornado victims clean up after storm leaves 8 dead

Associated Press

LAUREL, Miss. - Residents and cleanup crews worked under a sunny sky Sunday to recover belongings and clear up wreckage from a tornado that left eight people dead, nearly 500 families homeless and millions of dollars in damage.

"Everybody is tired, but things are looking up," said Carl Carlos, Jones County Civil Defense director. "It's just a matter of cleanup and get back on our feet now."

The tornado left at least

145 people injured as it cut a 20-mile-long, 2-mile-wide path of destruction across mostly rural Jones County in southeastern Mississippi on Saturday morning.

Some residents camped out overnight at bonfires beside the piles of splintered lumber and brick that had been their homes, and the National Guard blocked off 15 roads and highways.

"It probably caused more damage in one county than I've ever seen," said Gov. Bill Allain.

9 cities prepare for Pope's U.S. trip

Associated Press

One of the hottest tickets in the country this year is a seat at one of the masses which Pope John Paul II will celebrate in September.

Though stadiums may be full, they won't be sold out - the tickets are free. Local church officials are depending on the generosity of Roman Catholics and corporations to defray millions of dollars in expenses for the 10-day, nine-city visit.

"There are more than a million Catholics in this diocese. I am sure we will be able to come up with the money," said the Rev. Jose Nickse, the spokesman for the Archdiocese of Miami, where the costs are estimated at up to $2 million.

There was more trepidation in San Francisco, where the pope's two-day visit is anticipated to cost $4 million. "When you have a special collection in an archdiocese like ours, $50,000 would be a big collection. That's a little piece of a million dollars," said the Rev. Miles Riley, spokesman for the San Francisco Archdiocese.

"But it really is very little money for the impact of the visit," he added. "It's $2 billion worth of publicity alone."

The pope's tentative schedule begins in Miami on Sept. 10, then on to Columbia, S.C., New Orleans, San Antonio, Texas, Phoenix, Los Angeles, Monterey, Calif., San Francisco and Detroit. The pope departs for Rome on Sept. 19.

Arrangements are being made now for security, media coverage and hotel rooms in the cities. Half a year before the pope's second extended visit to this country, the church is already saying "no" to some demands for tickets or a few minutes of the pontiff's time.

The diocese has 295,000 members and 76,000 seats for a mass at Sun Devil Stadium. Rather than sell tickets, the diocese hopes to raise nearly $1 million, plus $300,000 to spruce up St. Mary's Basilica, through private and corporate donations, and by a special collection in every parish church this month.

Diocesan officials in San Antonio reported raising about $500,000 of the required $2.5 million. "We're right on target," said Bishop Charles V. Grahmann of Victoria.

Financing is a particular pinch for the small diocese of Monterey, which is trying to raise $2 million. The diocese had proposed seeking bids for rights to televise the pope's visit, but backed down last month after broadcasters protested.

"We appreciate the problems they have, but you can't sell rights to the pope's visit as if it were the Super Bowl," said Dick Little, news director of KSCO radio in Santa Cruz.

The students living at the house said the party was not breaking the city's noise ordinance.

"It was really quiet," he said. "It was the smallest party we've ever had."

Hope for recovery lies with ring in the Grotto

I think that what has happened to me last weekend will remain very close to me, no matter how old, or how far away I find myself from these past few days, or this place.

quest column

My mother did not come to South Bend last weekend because she has cancer and is currently fighting through chemotherapy treatments. The doctors felt that she would greatly jeopardize her already fragile health if she were to come in contact with large crowds, or if she were to become too tired from the long trip from Phoenix. She stayed at home with my sister Chrissy, and Dad made the decision that he would come and share the weekend with me instead of sending a favorite aunt and uncle or close friends.

My dad and I enjoyed our time together, although I was really worried by the amount of fatigue and sadness I saw in his eyes when my neighbor and I picked him up from the bus stop on Friday afternoon. He tried so hard to smile and laugh at my frustration at being late, but I just couldn't help but feel that this was going to be one of the most emotionally involved and exhausting weekends of our lives.

'The ring on my father's hand was much more than just a symbol - it was everything my dad represented to me.'

Like all of my other classmates, my dad and I attended every event. We were amazed at the huge crowds at the Friday night cocktail dance, and we were more than a little tired when we finally found a place to sit down. It was as the evening was drawing to a close that we ran into a good friend and his parents, and my dad pulled Dan aside and asked him if he would do a special favor for him. Dan is the "Grotto Keeper" (as I call him), and I thought that Dad might have a question about the Grotto, or maybe even a small contribution that he might like to make toward its upkeep. The Grotto has always been my dad's favorite place to visit-it is the first place he goes to and the last place he leaves every time he is at Notre Dame, and I can still remember when he told me to visit the Grotto every day.

I might help my story here if I explain a little about my father. Dad is one of those people that has a way of entering your thoughts and staying there without you even knowing it-you find yourself thinking like him and not realizing where you've heard the words before. He came to Notre Dame in 1950 and then graduated in 1954 after four years of incredible study and hard work to pay his tuition. His father died when he was eleven years old, leaving him the only man in a family which consisted of Grandma, Aunt Lou, and Dad. His father never went to college, so Dad's only notion of Notre Dame came from a man who saw this university as the only one in America. Dad told us a story at the President's dinner about when he was little and he and his dad would go to the barber shop on Saturday mornings. They would listen to Notre Dame football on the radio, and all of the older men would place their bets on the day's winner. My Grandpa always chose Notre Dame, and he would tell my dad that someday he was going to send him to Notre Dame to make a lawver out of him.

Obviously, Dad's dream and his father's dream came true, and he became a part of the Notre Dame family that they had both come to love and respect. My dad received his class ring his senior year, and he constantly reminds me that when he was here, only seniors were given the honor of wearing that special symbol. This ring was more than a special symbol in my family. I can remember tracing my hand in kindergarten and proudly drawing a ring on the fourth finger of the right hand, but it never quite looked like I wanted it to. When my teacher would ask me what the ring meant, I would tell her that my dad wore a ring that was from a really neat place called Notre Dame, and that someday I was going to have one just like it. The ring on my father's hand was much more than just a symbol - it was everything my dad represented to me. When I put my little hand on his, I could feel the heaviness of it against my fingers, and when he talked and motioned with his hands, the ring was always there. He never took it off, and the ring itself was practically worn smooth on the sides from thirtytwo years of wear.

When my dad left me this afternoon

to go back home, the ring wasn't on his finger. Earlier today, he asked me if we could make another trip to the Grotto, and as we were standing there he took it off of his hand and placed it in mine. I knew then what the sadness was in his eyes. Yes, he was very sentimental this weekend, and yes he shed more than a few tears after hearing Father Hesburgh's last address to to the Junior Parents Weekend crowd.

My dad gave this ring to me today, and he asked me to place it at the feet of the Blessed Virgin with Dan's help as soon as I could. Of course I was stunned. Just seeing that ring in my hand and not on his finger was enough to make me realize that there was something wrong. I held if for the longest time, just looking at it and thinking to myself that I was hopeless. There was no way I could fix whatever was wrong. He hugged me, and we walked to the car, and many people that we passed smiled sympathetically to themselves thinking that here was a poor junior having to say good-bye to her father after a lovely weekend.

My mom may not live very much longer. She has colon cancer, which has spread to the liver. Since October, when I found out about her illness, I have ignored it and pretended that nothing was wrong, and that the next time I went home my mom's hair would be back and she wouldn't be sick anymore. Today I found out that this dream is just that - an alcove in the Grotto. My dad told me today that he has always tried to devote his life to her, and that by placing his ring at her feet he was asking in the most profound way for a gift of a miracle. That ring was and is my dad. It represents all that I have come to believe in as a member of this thing called Notre Dame. It means all that Father Hesburgh talked about last weekend in his speech - a devotion to God and man, a sense of responsibility in society, and a spiritual oneness that comes from being under the protection of that golden statue on top of the dome. Dad calls the Grotto his anchor point in life, and by placing himself there in the form of that ring, he gave himself totally up to the faith that he has nurtured not only in himself, but in me as

This place is special. I complain and hate it sometimes just as much if not more than most of the people here. But I can't deny the fact that a man like my dad found this place important enough to devote his life and love to its precepts.

Dad will wear his ring again someday. He asked that it be kept there at the Grotto until the day I graduate, when my mom will come home and get it for him. Just knowing that he believes that she will be here for that day is strength enough for me to go and put it where someday it can be found again.

BCG: "Oh, I see. Well what kind of business experience do you have? Have you ever had a summer internship with a major corporation?"

I'm getting a broad education. I'm learning about life, I'm learning how to communicate, I'm learning how to rationalize! I think I'll crawl into a corner over here and have an acute anxiety attack while you guys check out a recurring nightmare I have. It's called, "THE JOB INTERVIEW."

You walk into a small room. It is painted blue and there are no windows. A man in a grey pinstripe suit and one of those yellow "power ties" sits behind a desk which is the only piece of furniture present. He represents a "MAJOR CORPORATION" and they are here for "ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWS."

You walk in, dressed up and feeling like you're going to your own execution. The man stands up and shakes your hand. His grip is at least four times stronger than yours. He is trying to break every bone in your hand. You wince and say, "Blugga shifff unt loole." You meant to say, "Hi I'm really glad to be here, talking to you and your huge multi-million dollar corporation. Please don't squash me like a grape."

Before and after in this week's soaps

ALL MY CHILDREN: Mark agreed to go for long-term help. Erica got Travis to agree to talk to her about her design business. Natalie and Ross made love in the hay in the stable. Phoebe planned a party for her godchild, Cecily. Matt saved Robin from being raped. Coming: Erica learns something new about Travis.

ANOTHER WORLD: Michael escaped and together with Delaney and the Coast Guard, rescued Donna. Nicole told Reginald she could never think of him as her father again. Vince was cleared and Mary cut ties with Reginald. Scott asked Reginald to tell him who his parents really are. Coming: Lisa's premonitions begin to come true.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Lucinda's growing suspicions about James led her into a dangerous situation. Meg's doubts about her abilities threatened her career. Sabrina's well-being was in doubt as the days passed. Coming: John starts to show strange reactions.

CAPITOL: Trey felt overwhelmed by the news about Laureen and Angelica's past. Myrna tried to patch up her rapidly shredding life. Kelly prepared herself for a crucial decision. Coming: Sloane has a surprise for Ali.

DALLAS: Cliff was ecstatic after dropping his bombshell and JR accused Pam of scheming with her brother to ruin Ewing Oll. Ray arrived at a painful decision about the custody battle for the child Donna was carrying. The B.D. Calhoun affair continued to gnaw at JR. Coming: Miss Ellie acts to save the family.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Patch was furious to find his father in his mother's room. Shane learned that someone made a round trip from Dallas to Salem on New Year's Eve and thought it might have been Barbara using an alias. Frankle started tutoring Jennifer in math. Shane recognized Andrew from the picture Paul showed him of Teddy. Coming: Justin does some soul searching.

FALCON CREST: Richard learned of a link between Kit Marlowe and Roland Saunders. Angela gave Vickie a reason to be proud of her ancestry. Emma married Karlotti secretly so that she could have a child with him. Chase took steps to stop the Tuscany Land Corp, from buying up the valley. Coming: Peter gets misleading information about Kit.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Camellia lied to Janet about her reasons for giving up her vocation as a nun. Frisco suspected Hilary was involved in the crime ring. Patrick and Terry made love for the first time. Felicia's theory that Kay was blackmailing the doctors seemed to be correct. Coming: Anna and Duke have to deal with a completely "new" Camellia.

GUIDING LIGHT: Christine fretted that Johnny was growing more distant. Tina continued to show her streak of independence, much to Allen's displeasure. Rusty grew impatient with the progress of the investigation. Fletcher had a surprise for Josh. Coming: Josh agonizes over when Reva might safely return.

KNOTS LANDING: Laura reconsidered the wisdom of having Anne living in the Culde-sac home after Karen began showing how upset she was. Peter was still unsure of how to act in the face of the rumors about Greg. Coming: Val takes a dangerous risk.

LOVING: Steve told Cecilia that he intended to be with Trisha no matter what she did to try to stop him. Harry accused Gwyneth of seeking him out because she had no one else in her bed now. Ava was drawn to Tony. Jim was upset to learn Shana was taking birth control pills. Coming: Clay makes a move that Nick sees as a threat.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Maria panicked when she thought Max would learn the truth about the doings at the ranch. Cord went to Argentina to try to get Tina to come home and have their baby. Max was falling in love with Tina. Tom risked his new job with Dorian to insist on going to New York with Vickie for medical attention. Coming: Jamie makes a call that puts Tina's life into jeopardy again.

RYAN'S HOPE: John told Lizzle he really cares for her. Dee and Roger looked at her apartment they could share. Evan told Pat that Melinda's herb preparations are placebos. Johnny was upset about Joe coming back into Slobhan's life. Coming: Rick decides to try to change his marriage.

SANTA BARBARA: A drunken Gina berated Mason for wanting to marry Tori. A drunken Brick accused Hayley of killing Amy. Hayley was later attacked and dragged off into the shadows. Jeffrey was wounded when the police came to arrest Kelly. Coming: Gina's bluff is called.

THE YOUNG & THE REST-LESS: John was overwhelmed when Ashley showed she recognized him. Philip pon dered his mixed feelings about Kay. Victor realized he had to change his behavior with Nikki now that she was on to the truth about her medical condition. Coming: Christian has a new surprise for Jili.

Irish try for 20th victory tonight

By BOB KEMPER Sports Writer

A sign in the Notre Dame locker room outlines what must be done to win 20 games. The Irish will attempt to reach that perennial milestone when they square off against Brooklyn College tonight at at 7:30 in the

If successful, it will be Notre Dame's fourth straight 20victory season, the 11th of Digger Phelps' 16 seasons with the Irish, and the 24th in Notre history. Dame's Kingsmen, who gained Division I status in 1982, stand at 10-15 going into the contest, which is the first ever meeting between the two schools.

"Brooklyn will come in here with the idea of making its season by beating us," said Notre Dame head coach Digger Phelps. "They have played a lot of tough road games already this year, so that aspect shouldn't bother them. This is one of those games where you don't have much time to prepare, so we just have to come out and play hard and concentrate, especially early in the game."

The only returning starter for Head Coach Mark Reiner is 6-7 senior Keith Grady who is averaging 18.5 points and 6.5 rebounds per contest. Other probable starters include 6-6 junior transfer Frank Gregov (16.1 pts., 8.2 rebs.), 6-7 junior transfer Adam Weinstein (8.0 pts., 5.0 rebs.), 5-11 freshman Spious Kilpatrick (10 pts., 2.3 rebs.), and 5-11 junior transfer Jeff Petway (7.4 pts., 2.2 rebs.).

The Irish will be looking for their seventh consecutive victory as they head toward the NCAA tournament. They cannot afford a lapse of any sort as momentum is a vital ingredient in tournament play.

"I like the way we are playing right now and I like the confidence we've developed." said Phelps. "We're playing with a lot of consistency, and I think our players know what they can do in every different situation. Right now, we just want to be in a groove as we wind down the last week of the regular season."

Women's swim team takes sixth

By ROSE PIETRZAK Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's swim team ended its season placing sixth among a field of 12 teams in the Midwest Independent Swimming and Diving Championships at Notre Dame's Rolfs Aquatic Center. Tallying 322 points, the Irish did not match last year's third place finish, but did manage to place 25 swimmers in the top ten positions for 19 of 20 events.

"We saw some incredible teams here this weekend," said second-year coach Tim Welsh. "As a team, we swam very well also. We had significant timing drops across the board and we were able to hold our own. One of our season goals was to move up a place in the rankings this weekend, but through the season, we realized that as a team we would probably not be able to accomplish that goal. We decided to stress the individual events and the best possible performance."

The squad depended heavily on veterans Amy Darlington and Suzanne DeVine to carry the burden of the events. Darlington, a junior from Fairfield, Ohio, captured a secondplace finish in the 400-yard Individual Medley with a time of 4:38.24 to reset her own university record. Darlington also earned a third-place standing in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:06.72. As a member of the 800-yard freestyle relay Darlington helped team. change the record with a time of 7:54.93.

Senior Suzanne DeVine captured fourth place in the 100yard butterfly with a time of :59.50 and also an eighth place finish in the 200-yard Individual Medley. DeVine contributed to the 800-yard freestyle relay and also swam a leg of the sixthplace medley relay.

Other outstanding performances were put in by freshman Georgia Bosseler and sophomore Barbara Byrne. Bosseler captured eighth place in a tough field of 26 divers in the one-meter diving event and Byrne placed eighth and sixth in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke events respectively.

"We entered the season with some worries," said Welsh.

Track team utilizes depth to subdue DePaul, Marquette

By THERESA KELLY Sports Writer

The talent and depth of the Notre Dame men's track team, including a great performance by hurdler Glen Watson, were too much for DePaul and Marquette Saturday in the ACC Fieldhouse. The Irish overwhelmed the Blue Demons and the Warriors with the final team scores of Notre Dame 92, Marquette 43 and Depaul 34.

"We had a lot of kids run really well," said Coach Joe Piane. "It was a great tune-up for the IC4A's.

"We ran a lot of different guys in different events. We like a meet where we can do that.'

Piane also liked the performance of Glen Watson. The freshman set a school record in the 60 yard high hurdles. With his time of 7.29 seconds (also a meet record), Watson missed qualifying for the NCAA meet by just threetenths of a second. The NCAA standard is 7.26 seconds.

"Glen ran the race of the day," said Piane. "He was just great. He just missed qualifying for Nationals by an eyelash."

Field event standout Rick Muench won the triple jump with 47-5 1/2 and the long jump with 23-2, almost a foot better than the old meet record, and placed second in the high jump with 6-6 for the Irish.

"I was really pleased with Rick Muench," said Piane. "He did well for us Saturday and has really performed well all year."

Many meet records fell in addition to those broken by Watson and Muench. Pole vaulter Chris Matteo bettered his own meet record by 3 inches, vaulting 15'3", and the Irish mile relay team of Robert Nobles, Yan Searcy, Watson, and Chris McGuire set a new mark of 3:27.01. Tim Brown ran a record time of 6.38 seconds in the sixty vard dash and blew away the old mark of 32.35 with a 30.80 in the 300 vard dash.

Other Irish victors were

David Warth in the mile run, Searcy taking the 440 yard dash, and Nobles winning the 880 yard run.

"Tim Brown ran well. He always runs well," Piane said. "Yan (Searcy) ran really well, too. It was good to see him get

Two celebrity figures hooked up last night when Jack "The Honeymooner" Gleason sent Billy "Bob" Joel to the moon at the 1:18 mark of the third round in a super welterweight bout. One can only hope that the result of a match featuring the real celebrities might end the same way.

Phelps was also rankled by the events of the previous evening. When the Irish checked in to their hotel near the MEC-CA, the Marquette College of Business Administration was holding a function in the same hotel. When the Marquette students found out the location of the Notre Dame rooms, they caused several altercations by banging on doors and ringing the rooms until approximately 3:30 a.m., according to a Notre Dame official.

Dukiet termed the incident "a pep rally."

Notre Dame's execution in the second half was a big lift in the game, according to Phelps.

"I think we did a good job of spreading the defense and Phelps said. "I driving," thought the execution of our team in the second half was as well as we've played all year."

For Marquette, it was a oneman show, as has been the case too often for Head Coach Bob Dukiet. David Boone finished the game with 20 points and eight rebounds. Sims was the only other Warrior in double figures, with 12.

out of line here."

A column on the front-page of the Milwaukee Journal sports section castigated the Marquette fans for their latest example of poor behavior and called for the Marquette administration to begin to curb its students.

But the full impact from this weekend's incidents may not be felt until later. This is third and final year of the Great Independents round-robin series involving Notre Dame, Marquette, Dayton and DePaul. Notre Dame Athletic Director Gene Corrigan, who has been concerned of late with the behavior of the Irish partisans, was in attendance at Saturday's game. With the contract up for possible renewal this summer, the behavior of the Warrior faithful may cast doubt on the continuance of the

ND women take two in Wisconsin in Bunek, Botham homecomings

By MARTY STRASEN Assistant Sports Editor

MADISON, Wis. - Wisconsin natives Sandy Botham and Heidi Bunek did what you might call rubbing it in in their respective hometowns of Milwaukee and Madison this weekend, as the Notrte Dame women's basketball team swept a pair of games from Marquette and the University of Wisconsin.

Bunek scored 16 and pulled down nine rebounds last night as ND topped Wisconsin 80-70 in front of a record crowd of "The officials did not particularly favor Heidi tonight," said Notre Dame head coach Mary DiStanislao. Bunek fouled out with 3:07 to go in the game. "She gave us some very good minutes out there and she had a lot of clean blocks that were called fouls."

Freshman Annie Schwartz led Notre Dame with 22 points, hitting on 9-of-13 from the field over an aggresive Badger zone.

Botham scored 13 for Notre Dame, leaving her two points shy of her 1,000th career point.

"Having the home crowd behind me was really nice," Botham said. "It was a lot of fun. I had butterflies at the beginning but started to cool down in the second half, and hearing those cheers really got me pumped."

The Irish up their record to 11-15 with the two victories and kept their winning streak alive

"Annie Scwartz is a clutch player for us ," DiStanislao said. "She's really been a key for us winning in February. We've finally found a consistent outside shooter and that takes a lot of pressure off Sandy and Heidi in the middle."

Notre Dame led 37-31 at halftime and never trailed in the second half, although constant Badger pressure kept the game up for grabs until the final two minutes.

The Irish hit 15-of-16 free throws down the stretch and earned a lot of easy buckets after breaking the Wisconsin press.

Lisa Bonnell led the Badgers with 22 points, while fellow senior Karen O'Malley added

The Irish outshot Wisconsin 54.7 percent to 42.4 percent and sank 10 more free throws than Wisconsin.

Saturday afternoon saw Notre Dame at Milwaukee. where the Irish whipped North Star Conference rival Marquette for the second time this season, this time by a 77-53 score.

Mary Gavin dished out an Irish record 17 assists in the contest many of those coming at five games.

on inside feeds to Botham, who connected for 18 points.

"It feels good to have the record," said Gavin, who also held the old mark of 15. "It's really nice when your teammmates are hitting. I think I was trying to go to Heidi a little too much in the beginning, and that hurt us a bit. But once we settled down, we handled their zone well."

The Irish, trailing 10-4 early in the game, rattled off 16consecutive points to take a 20-10 lead. They never had that margin cut below seven the rest of the way.

"Marquette had a choice," said Distanislao. "They were either going to build a fence around Heidi or Sandy, and they picked Heidi because her numbers are a little bit better. That's where the defense went, and both Sandy and Heidi did a good job getting open.'

Bunek only scored nine points in the contest, but swatted away six Warrior shots.

"It's good to be home," Bunek said. "I was really nervous, and I think that affected my game. I went after my game and tried to make something happen instead of letting the game come to me. It's tough coming home for the first time, but I guess that's only natural."

SportsIrish whip Warriors,

environment, 72-60

By RICK RIETBROCK Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE - In an "NCAA-type atmosphere" at the MECCA, Notre Dame ended a super month of basketball with a 72-60 win over Marquette. The Irish used a 33-23 rebounding advantage and hot shooting, 60 percent, that spilled beer from the Marquette student section could not even cool to capture its eighthstraight win in the rivalry between the two independents.

Irish head coach Digger Phelps said the environment prepared his team for what the NCAA Tournament will be like.

"This was like playing the first- or second-round game in the NCAA Tournament on the road, with this type of crowd, these types of conditions and the excitement," he said. "We came into the game knowing that Marquette may have to beat Notre Dame and DePaul to get an NCAA Tournament bid, so we expected them to really be up, have the emotion going, and have the crowd going, and yet we took it to them early.

Take it to them they did. The Irish exploded at the outset, breaking out to a 23-10 lead. But Marquette responded with a 16-2 run of their own, and when Mike Flory hit a driving layup, the Warriors had a 26-25 lead. Donald Royal and Flory traded baskets before the Irish went on a 6-2 run that gave them a 35-30 halftime edge.

The Irish continued the surge at the beginning of the second half. After Michael Sims hit a jumper to open the scoring, Scott Hicks, Mark Stevenson and Royal connected to give Notre Dame a nine-point advantage.

But Marquette was not about to fold that easily. Copa and David Boone scored four points apiece to help Marquette into a tie at 48 with 11:24 left to play.

The Irish came back with six quick points, punctuated by a Royal driving dunk, with David Rivers sitting on the bench. Copa scored on a nice assist from Sims to close the Irish lead down to four, 54-50, but the Warriors never got any closer.

Rivers came back into the game at the 7:50 mark, ran the show from there on. He found Hicks on an inbounds pass for a layup, and after Voce rebounded and put in Rivers' miss, the Irish point guard put in a driving basket. He then helped to salt the game away with four-for-four free throw shooting and two field goals when the Irish spread out the offense.

The Irish backcourt duo of Rivers and Hicks scored 21 and 17 points to lead the Irish, while Donald Royal also had 17, in-

MU's beer-throwing students lead to post-game fireworks

By DENNIS CORRIGAN Sports Editor

MILWAUKEE - If there is one thing people think of most often in connection with the city of Milwaukee, it's beer. Saturday night, Milwaukee's best played a decidedly lessthan-proud part in Notre Dame's 72-60 victory over Marquette.

As the Irish were leaving the court at halftime, fans pelted them with beer cups, not all of them empty. Notre Dame forward Donald Royal was hit in the eye, and had to have it flushed with a lotion in the lockerroom.

If that wasn't bad enough, the rain of debris continued into the second half. After the game was over, the Irish had to be escorted of the court by a phalanx of security guards, and the normal scene of two coaches shaking hands was instead an angry confrontation between Irish head coach Digger Phelps and Warrior head man Bob Dukiet.

"Digger said our fans were bush league," alleged Dukiet afterward at the post-game press conference. "Our students are great. I know they beat us on the floor. I'll swallow that medicine, but I'm not going to have him tell me how our students should behave.

"It's been a tough year, and I'd had enough. I know he's a big man, a powerful guy, but I don't have to have him tell me how our kids should behave. I think he was out of line.'

Phelps, for his part, commented as little as was possible about the incident.

"That's up to (Dukiet) to talk about," said Phelps. "When we came off the court at halftime, the fans were throwing beer on our players going into the lockerroom. I don't think beer should be at college events. That's something we can correct if people want to correct it.

"If you want to talk about the game, fellas, let's talk about the game. That's my

Comebacks highlight Bengal Bouts in weekend's early-round contests

By TERRY LYNCH Sports Writer

In an improbable comeback, Steve "Slim" Riedl survived a first-round knockdown to claim a split-decison victory over Gerry "The Boston Strangler" Graf in the quaterfinal round of the 57th annual Bengal Bouts last night at the Stepan Center.

Riedl, a sophomore Grace resident from Columbus, Ohio, used a late flurry of punches in the third round of the junior middleweight to claim the victory. Graf appeared to have the advantage through two rounds, but Riedl drew blood from Graf, who seemed to lose both energy and momentum after the bloody nose.

Three freshmen are making strong bids for titles in their respective divisions. David 'Sugar'' Cane won a split decision over Mike "Candy Man"

Canavan to continue his rise in the junior welterweight division. Cane, who scored a knockout in his first match on Friday, used an opening flurry of punches to stagger Canavan.

But Canavan, by this point sporting a bloody nose, put Cane on the ropes in the second round. It was not enough, however, as Cane, a South Bend native, claimed the win.

"The Annhilator" Angrick, a Grace freshman from Clive, Iowa, lived up to his billing in the cruiserweight class with a win over Tim "The Jersey Devil" Lyons. Angrick overpowered his opponent from the opening bell, and stopped Lyons with a standing eight count in the first round.

The bell saved Lyons in the first round, but the referee stopped the bout only 20 seconds into the second round.

In the bloodiest bout of the evening, Steve "The Delaware Destroyer" Freschi mauled freshman Glenn Scamman in the light heavyweight class. After receiving a standing eight count early in the first round, Scamman started bleeding from the nose.

Scamman was slapped with another standing eight count in the second round, and after that the bout was a bloodbath. If it had been at the infirmary, Scamman would have been given a complimentary donut and glass of orange juice.

Unbelievably, Scamman put together two successive flurries of punches in a thirdround comeback effort against the senior Freschi. By this time Scamman's face was completely covered with blood, and the referee decided to end the bout at the 1:06 mark of the
