

Nixon Announces Cabinet Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UPI)—President-elect Richard M. Nixon has chosen his 12 cabinet appointees and will reveal their names in an unprecedented package announcement on nationwide television tomorrow night.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press spokesman, said yesterday the president-elect would go to Washington tomorrow evening to make the cabinet announcements and "possibly other major appointments" at 9 p.m. C.S.T. from the Shoreham Hotel.

It was believed to be the first time a president-elect has announced all his cabinet choices at once. It was designed for maximum impact on the prime-time television audience.

Ziegler said "you could pretty generally conclude that the final cabinet selections have been made." He added that Nixon would wait until tomorrow to announce them because "it's a matter of personal preference. He felt Washington would be an appropriate place to make an announcement of this magnitude."

The other major appointments Nixon might announce tomorrow night were expected to include the Director of the bureau of the budget, and key ambassadorial posts, including negotiators to the Paris Vietnam talks.

V C Take Heavy Losses In Meade River

SAIGON (UPI)—Allied troops closed the noose around a Viet Cong stronghold yesterday and reported killing 862 Communists near Da Nang in three weeks of fighting described as some of the heaviest of the war.

American losses were 95 Marines killed and 506 wounded.

As Operation Meade River ended 13 miles south of Da Nang, the U.S. command announced the beginning of a major new offensive to clean out seldom-patrolled waterways between Saigon and the Cambodian border.

In the air war, North Vietnamese gunners shot down an American reconnaissance plane yesterday 50 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone—the fourth such loss since the bombing halt began Nov. 1. Both crewmen aboard the RF4C Phantom jet were picked up by helicopter from the Gulf of Tonkin.

Rocky Barely Tops Paulsen In NY

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller topped comedian Pat Paulsen by only seven votes in the write in balloting for President in New York. Both ran a poor third to Sen. Eugene McCarthy, unofficial tallies showed yesterday McCarthy got 314 votes, Rockefeller 54, Paulsen 47, Sen. Edward Kennedy 22 and New York City Mayor John Lindsay 13.

Dyess And Turner Reach Black Sea

ISTANBUL (UPI)—Two U.S. Navy warships yesterday steamed into the Black Sea to show the American flag in what the Soviet Union regards virtually as its own private preserve.

The Soviets denounced the visit by the 6th Fleet destroyers to the inland sea as a "provocation" and a violation of international treaties. A similar accusation came from Communist Bulgaria which has shores on the sea.

The 3,500-ton Dyess and Turner passed through the Bosphorus Straits and into the Black Sea, past an unidentified Soviet tanker, during the early morning hours. Despite the storm of Russian propaganda, only a few persons watched them go through the historic waterway.

U.S. officials said only the Dyess and Turner would spend five days in the Black Sea conducting "routine operations in international waters."

Xmas Greeting On Way To Vietnam

HAYWARD, Calif. (UPI)—The longest Christmas card in the world—5½ miles long—was on its way to Vietnam yesterday.

The unique holiday tribute is actually a collection of almost 100,000 individual greetings collected by the Hayward Daily Review newspaper and transferred to a long ribbon of newsprint.

The "Miles of Messages to Vietnam" project contained letters from every state and overseas. Also included were greetings from Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew and entertainers Bob Hope, Red Skelton and Janet Leigh.

The scroll, which weighed about two tons, was divided into several sections to ease handling problems in connection with the airshipment to Vietnam.

Court Clears Way For Shaw Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court cleared the way yesterday for New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison to proceed with the trial of businessman Clay L. Shaw on a charge he conspired in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In a brief order without comment, the court let stand a lower court refusal to issue an injunction blocking the trial. The trial had been held up pending Shaw's appeal to the Supreme Court for a hearing on his injunction move.

An aide to Garrison, Assistant District Attorney James Alcock, said in New Orleans that a new trial date for Shaw would be set as soon as possible.

"The next move is up to us and we will be setting the Shaw case for trial just as quickly as possible," Alcock said.

Oshkosh Officials Balk

Won't Readmit Students

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—State university officials announced yesterday they will not reinstate 94 Negro students at Oshkosh State University who were suspended after a destructive campus rampage Nov. 21.

Robert J. Doyle, university system information officer, said the officials decided to use one of the options in a federal court ruling ordering reinstatement to keep the students on suspension until their cases are decided.

U.S. Judge James E. Doyle ruled earlier in the day that the students must be reinstated. But he left open two methods by which university system officials could continue the suspensions, including immediate scheduling of disciplinary hearings.

"Notices will be sent before the 6 p.m. Wednesday deadline to all suspended students, 94 of them, notifying them of a hearing starting at 10 a.m. Monday, Dec. 16, in the courthouse at Oshkosh," a system spokesman said. "They will remain suspended until the hearings, which the judge said is okay," the spokesman said. He said a decision in each case must be made under the federal court order by Dec. 20.

The students were suspended after a rampage through the Oshkosh administration building, which caused thousands of dollars damage. Seven students filed the federal court suit to challenge the suspensions.

The disturbance occurred after the university president refused to sign a list of grievances presented by black students and forced the school to close down for the Thanksgiving recess three days early.

Last Friday, about 200 shouting young people disrupted a meeting of the state university regents in an effort to win

SLC Subcommittee To Hold Day of Discussion

On Sunday, January 5, the Hall Life Subcommittee of the Student Life Council will hold its "Day of Discussion." The purpose of the day, according to the committee's agenda, is "to help the sub-committee of the Student Life Council and to give the university community a chance to express their views in a discussion concerning the different aspects of hall life at Notre Dame. From this discussion the sub-committee will prepare a report to be submitted to the Student Life Council for approval.

Among the topics to be disreinstatement for the suspended students. A window in the state capitol meeting room was broken by one of the protesters.

Judge Doyle ruled the suspended students "will be irreparably harmed by a significant extension of their present suspensions.

"I find that there is not available to them the students an adequate remedy at law," Doyle said. "I find that this suspension has been imposed, and has continued to the present without due process of law."

11 Year Wish Comes True

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Carl E. Herring tried for 11 years to become a Marine. He finally made it yesterday and, for his stick-to-it-iveness, was promoted on the spot from private to private first class.

Herring, 28, of Dallas, Tex., was only 17 when he first enlisted and went to Marine boot camp here in 1957. The second week he broke his knee on the obstacle course. It failed to heal properly and he was given a medical discharge and sent home.

In the course of the next years, Herring worked at various jobs, got married and had two daughters. But he never gave up his goal of becoming a Marine and he bombarded the corps incessantly asking for another chance. He paid for an operation on his knee and said he was in great shape.

Last June, Herring was permitted to re-enlist. A month later, at the same recruit depot, he broke his arm. He was shipped off to Dallas on leave to let it heal. Herring came back to San Diego on July 27 and the next day he came down with meningitis. He spent nearly three months in Balboa Naval Hospital.

Yesterday, Herring stood proudly with his fellow boot camp graduates of the 1st Recruit Training Battalion.

Col. Dallas R. Walker, the commanding officer of the batalion, told the story of the determined Marine. He related all Herring's misfortunes. Then he announced that because of Herring's "perseverance and will to win" he was immediately promoted to private first class, the only one in the battalion.

Afro Committee Issues Statement

Arthur MacFarland, Chairman of the Notre Dame Afro-American Society today announced that the planned demonstration at the ND-UCLA game Saturday was averted largely through the agency of the newly formed University Committee for Afro-American Students.

The committee, which consists of six members of the Afro-American Society, an organization of black students at Notre Dame, and six members of the Notre Dame faculty was formed last Friday as it became clear that the demanded changes in the situation of blacks at Notre Dame might be effected and some form of demonstration would be forced.

The initial statement of the committee read, in part, as

"We are committed to the implementation of a goal stated in the statement of the Afro-American Society dated November 26, 1968. Our purpose is to reduce these goals to detailed programs and to press for their prompt full realization."

The faculty members of the committee include William Richardson, of the Department of Classical and Modern Languages, Ernest J. Bartell, c.s.c., Chairman of the Economics Department, Law Professor and legal aid counselor Thomas Shaffer, Admissions Officer John Goldrich, James Carberry, Professor of Electrical Engineering, and English graduate student and Collegiate Seminar Program Acting Director Tom Musial.

Police Quiet SFSC Campus

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police squads, including horse mounted officers, forced hard core demonstrators from San Francisco State College yesterday as community leaders huddled in hopes of resolving the campus crisis.

At least one person was arrested in the latest confrontation.

Some 300 officers swept across the strike torn campus after the militants staged their smallest noontime rally since striking early last month. Only about 400 persons turned out for the rally.

With Negro community leaders again in attendance, the demonstrators marched twice around the commons on the heart of the campus—dampened by a misty rain. Then, 200 joined in a march on the business and social science buildings.

As they shattered windows with rocks and bricks, a squad of 40 officers quickly moved between the demonstrators and the building. This was followed by a march toward the administration building office of Acting President S. I. Hayakawa. The other police joined the first squad of officers to sweep the dissidents from the campus.

For the start of classes in the second week of a get tough policy of Hayakawa, the campus was relatively quiet.

For the first time, leaflets were distributed on the campus opposing the strike.

One, signed by the "Free

Underground Press," called for resistance to "the lies of the SDS," anarchy and violence and fascism. It urged support for Hayakawa and concluded: "Do not be a cowardly majority."

Delegates

Chuck Nau, Student Body Vice-President, and Mike McCauley, Farley Hall president, were two of the delegates participating in the 20th Annual Student Conference on United States Affairs (SCUSA) held at the U.S. Military Academy December 4-7.

Students from more than 100 colleges and universities attended the conference, organized by the Cadet Debate Council and Forum with the assistance of the Department of Social Sciences.

Nau and McCauley, both seniors, participated in panel and roundtable discussions on the "Challenges of Change," the topic of this year's conference.

Major speakers during the conference included former Presidential aide Bill Moyers, now editor of NEWSDAY, and Nicholas Katzenback, former U.S. Attorney General and now Under Secretary of State.

ND Black Power

Black power is a frustrating thing at Notre Dame. It is the nearinevitable result of the increasing consciousness of the black community as it searches for its proper identity in our society. In that alone there is nothing wrong with it, but problems emerge when it is considered in the context of a University.

Black students are looking for power to compel the University to grant them certain "rights". Whether what they seek are "rights" is another question. Is it a right of black students, for instance, that they make up 10% of the students body because 10% of the U.S. is black? The answer has to be no, because coming to Notre Dame is a right for no one, a privilege for all.

The question is better put if one asks if it is reasonable for black enrollment to be increased, the change being similar to the difference between "demand" and "request". To this question the answer seems to be that the best solution is to increase black enrollment gradually, without any mandatory level to be achieved. This would have the advantages of making Notre Dame part of an effort to educate those who need the opportunity greatly, while avoiding the necessity of wholesale discrimination against white applicants in a race to bring about too sudden an influx of large numbers of black students, a sudden influx which could lead to racial tension.

A very real question though is whether anything short of their demands will reduce militancy among black students. First, compromises may be used as merely an occasion to agitate for their full demands. Second, even if demands for changes within the University are met, it is very possible that blacks will then use Notre Dame as a "base" for protesting conditions throughout our society.

Regardless of the validity of the protests, the problem is whether militancy is proper to a University community. The real question is whether any "Power" is proper in a University, which is (theoretically anyway) a community of scholars, searching for the truth about things. The answer is yes-if one conceives of University education as a thing gained primarily, or even in great part, by experience and action. But a University education is not that.

People who desire experience and action can find it in many places outside the University - Vista, the Peace Corps, one's hometown slum, or even the army for that matter. The thing which is peculiar to a University education is that it provides a time and place to stop, study, and reflect on the issues for men of all ages, together with other people searching for the answers to those great problems, and with the help of men dedicated to the search for the truth about these matters. This is the type of education which Notre Dame should be providing, and in that context militancy of any type can only be harmful to a University.

Black Power then can be desirable at Notre Dame if it involves a calm evaluation of problems, and moderate ideas and proposals. When the tune becomes an angry "demand for rights", then black power has no place in our University.

Williams To Direct Tour of Russia

A springtime study tour of the Soviet Union will be conducted March 27-April 15. The trip, open only to a limited number of St. Mary's and Notre Dame students, costs $736. Miss Dorothy Feigl of the St. Mary's Chemistry Dept., and Mr. George Williams of the Notre Dame Government Dept., are co-directors.

The SAS charter flight departs

O'Hare for Leningrad, with a one-night stop-over in Copenhagen. Six days will be spent in Leningrad, with side trips to Tsarskoe Selo to see the Summer Palace with its fountain-adorned park and to Novgorod, for five centuries ancient Russia's most important city.

During the next week in Moscow excursions will be made to the medieval monastery in Zagorsk and to the twelfth century Uspenski Cathedral in Vladimir.

The final three days include architectural and art tours of Kiev where Russian culture first flourished and reached its highest achievements. Students will return to Chicago from Copenhagen on a Viking jet, arriving back on April 15.

Prof. Williams, who teaches Soviet politics, notes that service by Intourist couriers will be available when needed. Notre Dame students who want to go can reach Prof. Williams in his office, room 212 Memorial Library.

1968 Grid Team Sets 28 Records

A 47-year-old team record for yards gained in a season heads the list of 28 records set by the 1968 Notre Dame football team. The Irish established 15 team records and 13 individual marks.

Nine of the individual marks belong to quarterback Terry Hanratty, three to split end Jim Seymour and one to placekicker Scott Hempel whose 45 extra points bettered a record of 40 set 47 years ago by Buck Shaw.

In five years under Ara Parseghian, 108 new lines of type have been placed in the Notre Dame record book. Parseghian-coached teams have also tied nine marks including the first downs by passing record this season.
