

From heart attack

Pope John Paul I dies

ROME [AP] - Pope John Paul I died of a heart attack in his sleep during the night, the Vatican announced. He was 65 and had been elected just last month.

The Vatican said the pontiff died about 11 p.m. Thursday and his death was discovered when his household staff came to wake him about 5:30 a.m. Friday morning.

During his brief reign, the pontiff had already transformed the normally sedate papal audiences into informal gatherings, prepared with personal anecdotes and broken up with laughter from guests.

Just two days ago, presiding over the weekly Vatican general audience, he called up a 5th grade student and interviewed him in front of the 10,000 persons packing the hall.

"Well, you are different from the pope," the pontiff remarked. "When I was in 4th grade, I worried about making it to the 5th and when in the 5th, about passing to the 6th."

Such anecdotes had emerged as trademarks of John Paul, endearing him to the public. By contrast, his predecessor, Paul VI, was noted for his formal and intellectual approach to his general audiences, resorting to humor only on rare occasions.

Born Albino Luciani, the 263rd pontiff was the product of one of the thousands of villages that dot the Italian countryside.

"I am a little man accustomed to little things and to silence," he said before his election.

He had spent most of his life in Italy's northeast where he was born in the Alpine valley village of Forno di Canale. His father, a socialist, was for many years a migrant worker in Switzerland. His mother was a peasant, "strong and devout," as he once said.

He entered the seminary at a

At 65 years

young age and during summer vacations returned home to work in the fields.

Many in his home village remember seeing him cutting the grass wearing his black cassock that seminarian then wore.

His favorite subjects as a student were philosophy, theology and literature.

He was ordained a priest on July 7, 1935 and graduated from Rome's Gregorian University. After graduation he went back to his native village to work in the local parish, then to a nearby town where he also taught religion in a vocational school.

For the next 10 years he was deputy director in the Belluno Seminary. In 1948, Luciani became one of the top aides of the bishop of Belluno and was put in charge of teaching religion.

He concentrated on making his teaching as simple as possible so that illiterate mountain people could understand it. He recounted his experiences in a book titled "Catechism in Crumbs," now in its seventh edition.

He had been vicar general in Belluno for four years, when Pope John XXIII named him bishop of Vittorio Veneto, a diocese south of Belluno, in 1958.

In Vittorio Veneto, the bishop was immediately confronted by a financial scandal involving two priests who had piled up debts and overdrawn checking accounts.

Luciani summoned all 400 priests in the diocese and spoke to them about the need for the church to be poor. Then, he paid the two priests' debts out of diocesan income.

During the 1962-65 Vatican Council, Luciani said it was difficult for him to change his frame of mind from pre-council church attitudes toward the more liberal teachings.

"The part that caused me more problems was that on religious liberty," he said later, referring to the council decree stating the right of full and equal liberty for believers and non-believers alike.

"For years I had been teaching...theories about law according to which only the true Roman Catholic religion has rights. I convinced myself we were wrong."

The Observer

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and st. mary's

Vol. XIII, No. 24

Friday, September 29, 1978

Obtains mixed reactions

Rights forum discusses policies

by Kathleen Connelly
Senior Staff Reporter

At a Student Rights Forum last night in Washington Hall, Dean of Students James Roemer and Vice President for Student Affairs Fr. John Van Wolvlear responded to questions on the Campus Life Council (CLC), student input, parietals and the right to privacy.

About 400 students attended the forum, which lasted one and one-half hours.

Roemer and Van Wolvlear opened the forum with remarks outlining recent changes concerning student rights and judicial procedure. Both men expressed their support for the forum - what John Reid, director of Student Activities, called "a unique opportunity for students to interact with the Office of Student Affairs."

The first questions from students focused on the need for effective student input in the official decision-making mechanism of the university.

Jim O'Hare, president of Grace Hall, quoted a passage from du Lac which stated that "a major objective of the University of Notre Dame is to provide opportunities for constructive and responsible living in a democratic society."

Using the quote as a reference, O'Hare asked Van Wolvlear how he thought the University was fulfilling that objective "when students have little or no say in the rules they must follow."

Van Wolvlear responded that students do have the opportunity to make decisions and that various groups on campus have shown themselves capable of independent activity.

O'Hare countered that he felt that the students needed some "formal vehicle" for input. Van Wolvlear noted that Notre Dame's student body is a voluntary community and that students have the opportunity to express their wishes through the Student Government.

Both Roemer and Van Wolvlear stressed the availability of the CLC as an avenue for student input and enacting change.

Mike Roemer, student body vice president, noted that he heard many of the proposals from the former Vice-President for Student Affairs Bro. Just Paraguet, who had not been acted upon.

Van Wolvlear stated that he would review last year's proposals and act as quickly as possible on proposals that came to his desk this year.

The topic then shifted toward the question of parietals and the privacy of students. When asked whether he considered parietal regulations and their enforcement a violation of privacy, Roemer replied that in his view parietals demonstrated a respect for the privacy of others.

"The rationale behind parietals has nothing to do with sexuality," Roemer explained. "It is a quiet hour type of thing where certain times that hall is supposed to go quiet and other people are supposed to be out of the hall."

Several individuals raised objections to this rationale, remarking that members of the same sex may visit after hours, but that members of one sex make as much noise as the other.

Another student was concerned with illegal search of dorm rooms in connection with parietals. Roemer stated that administrative personnel need enter rooms only with the resident's permission or in an emergency situation.

In the ensuing exchange, it appeared that there was not a clear understanding of what constituted an emergency situation. The student asked if a giggle from behind a door in a men's dorm at 2:30 was an emergency situation.

Roemer responded that that kind of decision was up to the rector of the individual hall.

The possibility of letting hall judicial boards decide parietals cases was raised by Mary Paulsen, president of Dillon Hall.

"If parietals are solely to protect our privacy, why can't it be a hall judicial matter alone, not a University offense?" he asked.

Citing his lack of experience and understanding of the history of parietals, Van Wolvlear declined to comment, but Roemer stated that the hall boards do not have jurisdiction over that area, but that it would be possible to make parietals a hall offense using the CLC.

In his closing remarks, Roemer

[Continued on page 17.]

According to GOP sources

Democrat poll shows close race

by Kevin Richardson
Staff Reporter

A source at the Republican National Committee in Washington said yesterday results of a poll were leaked showing incumbent Democratic Congressman John Brademas was only one percentage point ahead of his Republican challenger, Thomas L. Thorson.

The source, who asked to remain unnamed, stated the poll was conducted under the auspices of the Indiana State Democrat Committee.

Brademas, who is Majority Whip in the House of Representatives and third ranking Democrat, represents Indiana's Third Congressional District, which includes South Bend and Notre Dame-Saint Mary's.

Brent Bahler, Thorson's campaign manager in South Bend, confirmed reports of the poll to The Observer. "I received the news about the poll from very reliable sources in Washington," he said. Bahler said the poll reflected virtual dead heat between the two candidates, with Brademas receiving 44 percent; Thorson 43 percent and 13 percent undecided.

"The importance of this poll can't be overstated," Bahler said. "It shows that the third most powerful Democrat in the House, who is a twenty-year incumbent, is very vulnerable to challenge."

Frank Sullivan, Brademas' campaign manager said, "I've never even heard of the poll. I just got back from out of town and have no knowledge of the existence of any such poll." Sullivan said that the Brademas campaign commission does its own polls, but they are "solely for internal use, we have never released the results to the press."

Sullivan declined to describe the results of the polls that had been taken on Brademas' behalf this year.

When asked about his opinions regarding the closeness of the race, Sullivan said, "I believe the Congressman is considerably stronger than he was last spring."

Bahler stated a different opinion: "I think that we've been steadily gaining ground on him (Brademas) and that we're going to win." He continued by saying "Tom (Thorson) has demonstrated himself as a capable candidate and we are confident that the voters will respond to our message of lower taxes, less bureaucracy and lower inflation."

The Almanac of American Politics describes Brademas as "probably the Congress's leading expert on the financing of higher education."

"Congressman Brademas is Chairman of the Select Subcommittee on Education which provides financial assistance for helping the mentally disabled and the handicapped. It funds programs like the ones at the Northern Indiana State Hospital and Logan Center," Sullivan said.

Brademas is a member of the Post Secondary Education Subcommittee in the House and has authored the guaranteed student loan program, and other student loan/grant bills. "All of these are used by Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Students," Sullivan.

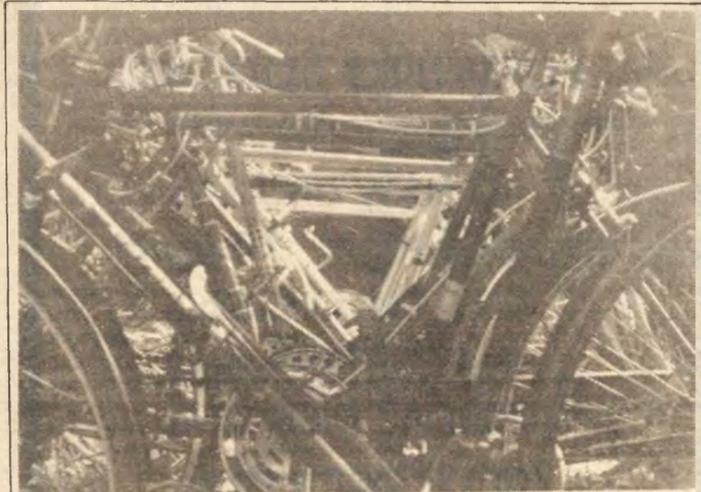

Bahler raised the fact that "Brademas voted against tuition tax credits, something very important to students of private schools such as Notre Dame."

"I don't find Brademas' record on education all that impressive. After all those millions of dollars, Johnny still can't read. Money and buildings don't solve the problems, people do," Bahler said.

Brademas is a magna cum laude graduate of Harvard University, a Phi Beta Kappa Veterans National Scholar, a Rhodes Scholar and has an honorary doctor of laws degree from Notre Dame.

He is a member of the Harvard Board of Overseers, and the Liberal Arts Advisory Council at Notre Dame.

[Continued on page 17.]

A rather artistic viewpoint of du Lac's most popular form of transportation - bicycles. [Photo by Bob Gill.]

News Briefs

Tax credit passed

WASHINGTON - Senate and House conferees agreed yesterday on a bill that would allow a tax credit of up to $250 per student each year to help offset college tuition costs. The credit would be for 35 percent of expenditures for tuition, fees and certain other costs of vocational and college education. Half-time students would become eligible for the credit starting in 1980.

Jury chosen for Soviets

NEWARK, NJ - A jury of seven women and nine men was sworn in early yesterday to hear the case against two Russian employees of the United Nations charged with espionage. The jurors, including four alternates, were questioned by a U.S. District Court judge to determine whether they might be prejudiced against Russians or communists. The trial of the two U.N. employees is to begin Friday.

Pinto to be examined

ELKHART, Ind. - Ford Motor Co., indicted for reckless homicide in a Pinto crash case, will be allowed to examine the wreckage of the car but it must notify the county prosecutor 48 hours in advance, says the judge assigned to the case. After meeting with Ford attorneys earlier this week, Elkhart Superior Court Judge Charles Hughes ruled that inspectors for the giant automaker have until Nov. 1 to check the car, which is currently being stored by a wrecker service in nearby Goshen. He added that the names of the inspectors and the time of examination must be provided to Prosecutor Michael Cosentino.

Weather

Sunny and warmer today with highs in the upper 60s to the low 70s. Fair and not so cold tonight with lows in the mid to upper 40s. Partly sunny with a chance of showers and thunderstorms tomorrow. High in the low 70s.

On Campus Today

- 11 am talk, "us operations in the third world", by gov. john j. gilligan, hayes-healy aud.
- 3:30 pm lecture, "criminal code reform: why it will take away your civil liberties", by frank wilkinson, rm. 101 law school
- 4:30 pm lecture, "control of ion movements in normal and cancer cells", by dr. effriam racker, 123 nieuwland science hall
- 4:30 pm seminar, "dna repair and the induction of chromosome aberrations in mammalian cells", by doctor edward hiss, galvin life-sci aud.
- 5:15 pm mass and supper, at the bulla shed, all welcome
- 7, 9, 11 pm film, "the french connection", engr. aud. $1
- 8 pm concert, paul clark and friends concert, lib. aud.
- 8 pm soccer, nd. vs. purdue
- saturday september 30
- 7:45 am test med-cats (medical college adm. test) engr aud.
- 9 am field hockey, smc vs. nd, madeleva field
- 1:30 pm football, nd. vs. purdue
- 8 pm concert, "aerosmith", a.c.c.
- sunday october 1
- 2 pm chess match, nd. vs. kalamazoo college, la fortune basement, all welcome
- 2 and 7 pm third world film festival, "the battle of chile" washington hall
- 2:45 pm eucharistic hour, a.c.c.
- 7 pm meeting, ham radio club meeting, grace hall penthouse
- 8 pm recital, organist Richard Resch, sacred heart church

Juniper Press begins publication

Juniper Press, the only student owned and operated publishing house in the country, is back in business. This past week, the book company ended its search for a manuscript and signed Dolores Frese, an assistant professor in the Department of English, to a publishing contract.

Frese's manuscript, tentatively entitled Virgins and Martyrs, contains one novella and five short stories. All six pieces of fiction have women as the central characters. The manuscript was written under a summer grant from the O'Brien foundation and administered through Notre Dame's Center for the Study of Man.

The author, who resides in Chicago and commutes daily to South Bend by airplane, described her work as "focusing on human experiences that are peculiar to women."

"The stories," she said, "explore women who aren't generally the subject of serious fiction and

Beach Boys lottery opens Monday

There will be a lottery Sunday at 6 p.m. for tickets to the Oct. 28 Beach Boys concert. The lottery, which will be held in the main lobby of LaFortune, will assign numbers for positions in line when tickets go on sale at the Student Union ticket office on Monday at 9 a.m.

The ACC will also be selling tickets to the concert. Lines begin forming Sunday at 6 p.m. for the 9 a.m. opening of the ACC ticket office on Monday.

Each student participating in the lottery must have his own ID and there will be a purchase limit of ten tickets per person. Measures will be taken to ensure that each student in the lottery receives only one number.

Prices are $8.50 for floor and arena seats, $7.50 for bleacher seats.

*The Observer

TONIGHT'S THEME:
BATTLESTAR GALACTICA

Commander Adama: Scoop Sullivan
Col. Tighe: Ed Nuert
Viper Warriors: Pat "Capt. Apollo" Campbell, Beth "Lt. Starbuck" Huffman, Phil "Boomer" Cackley
Count Baltar: Greg Hedges
Boxy: Muley & Cazzo
Cylons: Lisa (I missed you again) DiValerio, Kim Convey, Katie Brehl, Bill Swift, Paula Vernon
Serinas: me and the boss just having a good old time!
Lucifer: M.R. Moran
Shuttle Pilot: Phil Cackley (jack of all trades certainly not a master of copy reading)
Ovions: Chris Slatt, Beth Culler
Muffet the Dagget Bob Gil

Marty: I find editorials to be a useless tool of the observer; it definitely was binding waiting for them.

The Observer is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $20 per year ($10 per semester) from The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame, Indiana, 46556.

The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

haven't had serious fictional explanation, such as nuns and Polish mothers."

Frese's work was selected for publication from a total of 12 manuscripts that were submitted for consideration. The selection of her manuscript was a unanimous decision by the 17 student members of the company.

Frese, whose specialty is medieval literature and creative writing, has contributed fiction and poetry to numerous periodicals and has authored two novels.

Virgins and Martyrs will be the third title published by Juniper Press. The company, founded in the spring of 1977 as part of a book publishing course taught by Elizabeth Christman, first released Quick as a Dodo, a novella by Ralph M. McNery, a professor of philosophy at Notre Dame.

Juniper's second title was Cleats, co-authored by George Berry, John Gelson, and Ken MacAfee, a former Notre Dame All-American tight end in football.

The Juniper Press staff is made up of 17 senior American Studies majors, each of whom invested $35 or more to make up the company's beginning budget. Karen Caruso is the company's president and Greg Riehle is editor-in-chief. Christman serves as chairman of the board.

Christman described the company as a "do it" course where students learn by doing. She stressed, however, that even though one of the main objectives is to make a profit in the end - whereby the students can get back their original investment - a loss could be just as valuable a learning experience too.

Sunday Masses at Sacred Heart Church

5:15 p.m. Saturday	Rev. Robert Griffin, C.S.C.
9:15 a.m. Sunday	Rev. Edward O'Connor, C.S.C.
10:30 a.m. Sunday	Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C.
12:15 p.m. Sunday	Rev. William Toohey, C.S.C.
7:15 p.m. Vespers	Rev. M. J. McCafferty, C.S.C.

Italian Food

Imported & Domestic Pastas
6 different brands like Agnesi & Dececco biggest sellers in Italy

Cold Meats
Genova Salame, Primo Prosciutto, Capicollo Soprassata

- Ravioli frozen home style
- Ricotta Cheese
- Hot or Mild Capicollo
- Italian Bologna
- Italian Sausage homemade
- Imported Olive Oil Filippo Berio & Bertolli

Italian Pastry and Cannoli Gourmet Food Gadgets

5% discount for purchase $20 or more with ND-SMC ID students and faculty welcome

PUZZELLO'S SUPER MARKET

433 No. Hill St. 232-2512
Hours: Everyday 9-6:30

Goose's

Early Bird Special

Friday and Saturday Night 7-10pm
3-12oz Drafts $1.00

SATURDAY MORNING
7am til gametime:
Bloody Mary's 2 for $1

Carter threatens court action

Railroad strikers ignore back to work order

WASHINGTON [AP] - Striking railroad workers ignored President Carter's 60-day back-to-work order Thursday night and expanded their picketing to eight more railroads.

Union officials said the new picketing was set in motion after the marathon bargaining ended yesterday afternoon with no settlement between the strike-bound Norfolk & Western Railway and the striking Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

A top industry spokesman said the new picketing means virtually all U.S. lines are now affected.

"While the president of the United States was making his announcement ordering striking workers back to work immediately the unions were escalating their pickets," said Charles Hopkins, the top industry bargainer.

Dan Lang, an industry spokesman, said he understood the new pickets were ordered even before Carter issued the immediate back-to-work order.

"I don't understand what the union thinks it's doing," said Lang. Meanwhile, the railroads went to U.S. District Court here last night seeking a temporary restraining order to halt the continued walkout. It was unclear how the industry feels the action would speed a return to work, since the Carter decree called for an immediate end to the walkout.

The union was expected to ask U.S. District Judge Aubrey Robinson Jr. to order the railroads not to punish striking workers when they return to work.

Earlier, Fred Kroll, president of the striking clerks union, had refused to order the strikers back to work without assurances there would be no reprisals.

The 42-state strike has tied up shipments of autos, food, coal and other vital freight shipments, forced some worker layoffs due to parts shortages, and stranded thousands of daily rail commuters.

"This will take the railroad workers back to the job," Carter said. "If there is opposition to this action then I would not hesitate to go to federal court to enforce it." Fred Kroll, president of the striking clerks union, said in a statement following the president's announcement that the union "will determine its course of future action on the basis of the nature of the government's guarantee of a variety of protection for all railroad workers on the Norfolk & Western."

The nationwide strike began Tuesday when the union extended its 80-day strike against the N&W to most other major carriers.

Carter ordered an end to the walkout under emergency powers provided by the National Railway Labor Act.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall announced earlier that government intervention was expected, telling reporters that his efforts to help the parties negotiate an agreement had failed.

The Norfolk and Western Railway and the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks "have been unable to reach an agreement during the past 26 hours," said Marshall.

For student employees

Dining hall staff wants pay hike

by Kathleen Connelly
Senior Staff Reporter

In a letter circulated to Administration officials almost a week ago, student dining hall workers requested "a fair wage for their work."

The letter was spurred by students' disappointment that they did not receive a September pay increase that in the past has been "additional."

Dining hall workers spokesman Michael Berberich stated in the letter that "a significant number of students must use campus employment as a means of helping to meet educational costs." For this reason, and because "the kind of work we're doing merits more than $2.50 an hour," Berberich and other student workers began a month ago to try to get a commitment from the Administration to raise their salaries.

In a meeting in early September, Thomas Bull, director of Personnel, assured the Student workers that a substantial pay increase would take effect in January of this year.

Workers, however, objected that "substantial" was too vague and that the Administration "was trying to delay action on the issue in order to inhibit efforts to get a wage increase for this semester," according to Berberich.

In a subsequent private meeting with student worker representatives Berberich, Chris Conboy, and Sue Charrity, Bull stated that the decision to exclude student workers from the pay hike was a conscious one.

He stated that he did not believe the needs of students were as pressing as those of staff (non-student) workers, and that the funds in part generated by the tuition increase were allotted to staff workers.

Yesterday in an interview, Bull explained in greater depth the justifications for passing over student workers. He repeated that the primary reason the funds had been allocated to staff employees was that his office and the Office of Financial Aid had determined that the needs of the students were not as pressing as those of the staff workers.

Some of the money generated by the recent tuition increase was used to benefit non-student University employees for a number of reasons.

First, Bull stated, the staff workers are "career people and have to support families." He said, "Their needs had priority."

Bull also commented that the benefits and salaries of University employees are not at a competitive level with those of the surrounding business community. He said he sees the increase in benefits and wages as a step toward giving University employees adequate compensation for their work.

Regarding the question of financial aid, Bull cited the fact that the dining hall positions can only meet a certain level of need owing to the fragmented working schedules of the students.

"If a student has a stronger need than the dining hall positions can accommodate, he or she can be resourceful and investigate the possibilities of employment outside the University," Bull suggested, adding that if a student has that strong a need, there are better part-time jobs than working at the dining halls.

Bull also cited the fact that students eligible for financial aid employment turned down the opportunity to work and noted that their needs were being met by other forms of assistance such as loans and scholarships.

Bull acknowledged that previously there had been a tacit understanding that students would receive pay hikes in September, but explained that the funds had been used for staff benefits and that the student raise would take effect in January. "It will be substantial," he noted, "From 10 to 25 cents per hour."

Bull could not announce the raise for the students or the amount early in the semester because of a need to be cautious in the wake of the groundskeepers controversy and the National Labor Relations Board hearings.

Bull disclosed that he was hesitant to announce student pay raised because that would cause resentment on the part of staff employees.

Further, Bull explained that he could not announce staff workers' salary increases for fear of accusations from labor unions of trying to undermine efforts at organizing the workers, as happened during the groundskeeper controversy.

Berberich stated after hearing Bull's comments that the January raise would not make up for the loss of a first semester pay raise for seniors, as they cannot work as many hours second semester.

He added that he would still try for a pay hike for the first semester.

Concert series begins tonight

The Notre Dame Concert Series will present the Notre Dame Piano Trio in a recital 8:15 pm tonight in the Library Auditorium. The recital, which features works by Beethoven and Schubert, is open to the public without charge.

The Notre Dame Piano Trio is made up of faculty performers from the Notre Dame music department: Adrian Bryttan, violin; Deborah Davis, cello, and William Cerny, piano. Bryttan is also concertmaster of the South Bend Symphony, of which Ms. Davis is the principal cellist. Cerny is chairman of the Notre Dame music department.

After graduation, what?

If this is a question for you, come to the Placement Bureau, Rm. 222, Administration Building, or call 8342 to make an appointment with Sr. Kathleen Rossman, Career Counselor or Paul Reynolds, Placement Specialist.

If you are interested call 8342 to sign for one of the workshops which will be offered on a variety of dates from 11:30-12:30 (brown bag lunches welcome) several Monday's, Tuesday's and Wednesday's.

SUNSHINE PROMOTIONS PRESENT

with Special Guest
AC/DC

SATURDAY SEPT. 30 8P.M.
NOTRE DAME A.C.C.

festival seating on floor $ 8.50 / reserved seats $ 8.50 and $ 7.50 on sale now at ACC Box office

Tompsett Studio

HAVE YOUR WEDDING LOVE STORY CREATIVELY TOLD

FAMILY PORTRAITS IN THE HOME

CHILDREN

ANIMALS

INSTANT PASSPORTS & APPLICATION PHOTOS

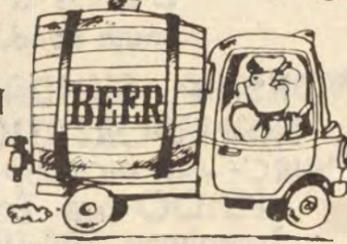

PHOTO COPY AND RESTORATION

2810 MISHAWAKA AVE
232-9963
SOUTH BEND, IN

Senior Bar

Happy Hour
Friday 4-7

Beer 3 for $1.00

Faculty, Students and Alumni invited

FORUM I 1 Mile North of NOTRE DAME on U.S. 31
No. 277-1522

Starts Tonight!

JEFF BRIDGES

FARRAH FAWCETT-MAJORS

Is this any way to begin a love affair?

SOMEBODY KILLED HER HUSBAND

SHOWTIME: FRIDAY 6:45-9:00 -SAT. SUN.- 1:45-4:10 6:45-9:00 -PG-

FORUM II HELD OVER - ADULTS ONLY

You're gonna laugh your X off!

First, there was "FRITZ, THE CAT" Then, "HEAVY TRAFFIC" And now,

TARZOON SHAME of the JUNGLE

Positively no one under 18 admitted.

Week Days 7:00-9:30 Sat. & Sun. 2:00-4:00-6:00-8:00-10:00
SPECIAL FRI. SAT.

MIDNITE SHOWS REDUCED PRICE

Student Government sponsors Third World Chilean movie

by Mary Ann Wissel

To Antonia Bellalta and Roberto Castillo, "The Battle of Chile" is not just another documentary film coming to Notre Dame. Instead, this film is part of their personal history - and a part of Chile's history.

Bellalta and Castillo, who are both Chilean students at Notre Dame, spoke yesterday to a panel consisting of faculty and students, in regard to Chile and the showing of the film on campus.

"The Battle of Chile" is one of the films in the Third World Festival which focuses on Latin American countries this month. Student Government's Third World Awareness Project and the Center for Experiential Learning (CEL), along with other groups, sponsor the film festival.

Michael Francis, director of Graduate Studies, stated, "Chile was, historically speaking, one of the oldest democracies in the world until the overthrow of the government. It is ironic that the coup that took over on Sept. 11, 1973 was taking over in the name of 'democracy for the people.'"

"President Pinochet's take-over was aided by many factors, including the United States through the CIA. The U.S. poured millions into it - it is a shameful, shameful thing," he stated.

Castillo went to a high school in Chile that is run by the Congregation of the Holy Cross. He worked with the church there and aided with projects. Immediately after the coup took over, the government took over the high school.

Castillo said he vividly remembers the period in Chile following the coup.

"At 1 a.m. on December 12, 1973, the secret police of Chile (DINA) came to my house and took me as a prisoner. After a jeep ride, I was taken to a house and tortured. I had two ribs broken, underwent electric shocks and was beaten," Castillo said.

The DINA kept asking me about certain Holy cross priests I had worked with. They also asked me to identify persons who were my acquaintances," he stated.

Castillo continued, "I was released in January of 1974. In 1975, I began studying at the Catholic University of Chile. One day while on the campus, I was forced into a car with three men from the DINA. I was again held prisoner for 15 days of torture. Then I was moved to another prison for 6 months."

"The remaining 15 months of my imprisonment was in Villa Grimaldi. My mother learned of my location and asked the police for my release. They responded that they could not release me yet because I was I was a danger to national security," Castillo stated.

Castillo has been in the United States close to two years now. "I appreciate the fact that ND-SMC students have the opportunity to see this film and understand what we went through in Chile," he said.

Bellalta said, "The ND-SMC community should take this chance to inform themselves of some of the international affairs the U.S. is in. They should also participate in the power of international pressure. If we all work together, find creative ways to respond to the injustices in Chile."

Fr. Don McNeill, director of the CEL, commented, "Most of us don't imagine that someone here (maybe sitting next to us in class) could have gone through the suffering seen in this film."

The film has won many awards including the Grand Prize at the Grenoble International Film Festival in 1976.

"The Battle of Chile" will be shown in Washington Hall on Sunday at 2 p.m. and at 7 p.m. and on Monday at 7 p.m. After each showing, an informal discussion of the film will be held.

Free CONCERT
PAUL CLARK & FRIENDS

DATE CHANGE SAT, SEPT. 30
~~Fri, Sept. 29~~ 8 pm
Notre Dame Library Aud.
(Donations will be taken)
Presented by THE SPIRITUAL ROCK of Notre Dame

BULLASHED

this friday and every friday-
5:15 mass and supper

TIMM PARTY STORE
OPEN: MON - SAT 9 am - 11 pm
SUNDAY 12 noon - 11 pm
BEER SALE
3114 S. 11 ST. NILES, MICHIGAN
1 Block North of State Line on U.S. 31

FAITH UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
E. Ewing at So. High
South Bend, Indiana

WORSHIP, SUNDAYS 10:45 am
TRANSPORTATION AVAILABLE
CHURCH VAN PICK-UP LIBRARY CIRCLE
10:00 am Each Sunday
Telephone 288-1777 or 291-4872

FREE HAIR SERVICE
for men & women .

We are taking applications for Models for advanced educational workshop.

Cutting provided by co-Designers of MICHAEL & CO
Apply in person corner of Edison & St. Rd. 23
1/2 mile East of campus.

THE KNIGHTS
277-1691
MEN'S HAIR STYLING SALON

offering: styled hair cuts air dried shampoo

$8.50 complete

TUES & WED
8:30-5:00

THURS & FRI
8:30-8:30

8:30-5:00

THE KNIGHTS 277-1691
lower level of Queen's Castle private entrance

Junior Class holds semiformal

The Junior Class Semiformal will be held tonight at the Century Center, from 9 to 2. "Britches" will provide the music.

Julia Perry, Tony Aquilino and Bill Floriano, Saint Mary's and Notre Dame Juniors will also provide music throughout the evening. They will play selections from Peter, Paul and Mary, Neil Young and some of their own compositions.

Due to mechanical difficulties (lack of a motor) the riverboat on St. Joe's River will not be running. According to Marie Bradley, Saint Mary's Junior Class President, there will be extra munchies and a $5 rebate at the door to all persons presenting a ticket.

THE NAZZ IT'S LIVE!!!!

FRI: 'DISCO AT THE NAZZ'
(if that's what you're into...)

SAT: GREG HULL 9:30-??? (12 string guitarist)

HOMEcoming PACKAGE SALE
8:00 MONDAY MORNING

LOCATION TO BE POSTED ON THE FRONT DOORS OF LAFORTUNE AT 7:00 SUNDAY NIGHT.

EACH PACKAGE INCLUDES:

- 2 G.A FOOTBALL TICKETS FOR PITTSBURGH
- 2 NEIL YOUNG CONCERT TICKETS
- 1 TICKET THAT ADMITS A COUPLE TO THE HOMEcoming DANCE
- 1 HOMEcoming MUM

● TOTAL PRICE $45
● STUDENT I.D. REQUIRED
● 1 PACKAGE PER PERSON

● NO LOTTERY, FIRST COME FIRST SERVE

"NO MATTER WHAT
WHAT'S-HIS-NAME SAYS,
I'M THE PRETTIEST AND LITE'S THE GREATEST."

Joe Frazier
Former Heavyweight
Champ

LITE[®] BEER FROM MILLER
EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED
IN A BEER. AND LESS.

*The Observer

an independent newspaper serving the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's community

Box Q
Notre Dame
Ind. 46556

The Observer is published by students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Tony Pace	Editor-in-Chief
Steve Odland	Managing Editor
John Calcutt	Executive Editor
Barb Langhenry	Executive Editor
Rosemary Mills	Editorial Editor
Phil Cackley	Copy Editor
Jean Powley	Saint Mary's Editor
Ann Gales	News Editor
Mike Lewis	News Editor
Diane Wilson	News Editor
Ray O'Brien	Sports Editor
Bryan Gruley	Features Editor
Doug Christian	Photo Editor

Mardi Nevin	Production Manager
John Tucker	Business Manager
Bob Rudy	Advertising Manager
Kevin Manion	Circulation

Friday, September 29, 1978

Student Rights Forum Questions Philosophy Shows Need for Change

The Student Rights Forum was both a success and a failure. It failed to provide an orderly session where specific questions were met with concrete answers. The forum succeeded, however, because it gave students a chance to air their gripes, because it showed the student government representatives how students feel about these issues, and because it pointed out what steps should be taken to solve student dissatisfaction.

The two most discussed topics last night were the sexuality code and parietals. The philosophy behind these regulations should be investigated. The regulations of Du Lac are based on the University being a voluntary community. When students chose to come here, they agree to abide by the rules of the community. However, the introduction to these rules states:

At the University, as in the nation and the states, generally accepted values and manners are embodied in rules and regulations. Students are required to abide by them, as they are expected to abide by the federal and state laws, but also to criticize and help improve them year by year.

At present, there is neither a mechanism by which students may improve the laws, nor great interest expressed by the administration to accept student recommendations. Students who make the decision to come to Notre Dame find their lifestyles and morals dictated to them. Students have no "legislative" power. They cannot "improve" the community unless working through a representative body.

And the only representative body which exists for this purpose - the Campus Life Council (CLC) - is ineffective. In the one semester of its existence the CLC has made several proposals to the administration concerning improvement of student life. Seven of these proposals were not acted upon by the administration and were filed away without sufficient reason given for their rejection. The CLC's power to recommend was proven impotent; and student support and CLC motivation failed.

Action must be taken to make the administration's philosophy more than just an idealistic but ignored policy. If the administration is genuinely interested in student input, if they sincerely want students "to improve them (the rules) year by year," they will heed what was said at the Student Rights Forum and provide an effective vehicle for students to institute change. If not, the university must stop hiding behind a hypocritical policy.

Prior to last night's Student Rights Forum, no one expected parietals to be the main topic of discussion. But parietals were on center stage, and, in view of the strong student discontent expressed last night, action should be taken immediately to alter the University's parietal code.

When questioned on the topic, Dean of Students James Roemer divorced parietals from the sexuality regulations. Dean Roemer said parietals were designed to protect students' privacy and to provide quiet hours. If this is a true representation of the purpose of parietals, there is no reason why the rule should apply at a university level. As with quiet hour policies, each section in each hall should be able to decide what its parietals are.

As it stands now, there is tension between students' social development and their need for privacy. Parietals are an attempt to resolve this conflict. But, because of the great diversity in the student population, a university regulation is inadequate. It does not consider that the opinions of individual students differ greatly. And until students are able to decide their own policies, the tension will continue.

Opponents might say that individual decisions would create inequality. But, as it stands now, there is gross inequality in enforcement of parietals. In some dorms, it is well known that parietals can be broken regularly, while in other dorms, rectors, and security, bang on doors after the "magic hours."

If the level of decision making for parietals is lowered to the hall level, students would have to be more responsible for both following and enforcing parietals. To confront an offender would be protecting the interest of the group. If the offense persisted, it would be up to the group to take it before the hall judicial board.

The time has come to give students the responsibility to decide how their lives should be structured. If the language in DuLac concerning a "democratic community" is not just empty rhetoric, restructuring the parietals code is the perfect opportunity to prove it.

OBSERVER

EDITORIALS

P. O. Box Q

Dear Editor:

On Sept. 26, The Observer, in covering the CLC meeting, quoted me as saying that "this was the first year that DuLac was the work of the Dean of Students." I would like to elaborate on that remark because the cold statement does not reflect the context in which it was made, and because it impugns the integrity of a man whom I highly respect, a man who, I believe, desires most to protect the rights of students.

I made the remark based on consultation with a reliable source who stated that the 1978-79 DuLac was not the work of SLC. But neither he nor I meant that Dean Roemer had arbitrarily changed DuLac. I should have gone to Dean Roemer and asked who was responsible for the changes, and why they were made. I have now done what should have been done earlier, spoken to Dean Roemer and am convinced that the changes were the result of SLC.

In fine, I did not say that Dean Roemer was responsible for the changes in this year's DuLac because I truly believe that he was not responsible, and I publicly apologize for any hurt I've caused this good man.

Rev. Mario Pedi

Dear Editor:

Each year seems to bring an increased number of men to Notre Dame who respect women athletics and ignore the old social stigma imposed on serious "female jocks".

I would like to commend the freshmen men on the attitude towards women athletes you have demonstrated this semester. The wisecracks and smirks we received in previous years have become words and smiles of encouragement. When you want to take over a basketball court, now you ASK us instead of ASSUME we are willing to give it up.

You are no longer amused by our weightlifting, for you understand that we, like you, want our bodies healthy and trim. You know that we take our football as seriously as you take yours and you no longer laugh at us from the sidelines. You jog with us and show an interest in our progress.

You are not disgusted when we sweat, for you know passivity and lack of strength are not ideals of femininity. You are patient coaches of the skills we were never given the chance to learn. Unlike some men, whose fragile egos do not permit it, you even compliment us on the prowess we display. You are not indignant that we prefer to play our own games rather than cheer at yours.

You realize that we, too, can receive benefits such as pride and self-respect from sports.

We look forward to the day when our, as yet, undiscovered physical potential is fully realized. If others learn from you, who want women to experience the thrill and challenges of competition, then there is hope for women's athletics.

Renee Leuchten
Marilyn Thomassen

commentary

There is going to be another day...

Michael Kammerdiener

Perhaps I am sickened because my childhood was not sprinkled with light doses of it, hardening for the future as a vaccine does against the onslaught of disease. Perhaps, in my naivete, I believed that it was a problem my parents' generation had struggled with and handled, leaving their children to the pursuit of solutions to lesser crises. But I am finally so moved to anger, so utterly disgusted, that I will no longer hide behind a veil of anonymity, no longer quietly swallow my indignation, no longer stand guilty of lending tacit approval to a mindset which I totally abhor.

I speak of the blatantly racist attitude which is all too common amongst the allegedly intelligent group of individuals who attend this university. I have been witness to such appalling displays of human callousness and ignorance as I never thought possible. I could not conceive of such narrow-mindedness and inhumanity in my wildest dreams, and yet I find that it permeates the attitude of many individuals here.

Allow me to present just a few examples to illustrate my point: A clever little jingle in which one person says, "The only good nigger..." to which another replies, "...is a dead nigger"; the inevitable comments, while watching a televised sports contest, regarding the predominance of blacks on whichever football or basketball teams are playing; the tension surrounding the Bookstore game of a couple years ago which pitted Paterno's all-white team against Knight's all-black team; the surge of relief from the predominantly white crowd when Paterno's team emerged victorious; the incident on the shuttle bus last spring; "I keep mine in a glass case at home and water them once a week." This, I regret to say, is only a small sampling of the events I've seen and comments I've heard.

Of course, there are the explanations, the justifications, the qualifications. "He grew up in a black neighborhood, went to a black high school." "I don't mind blacks, it's niggers I can't stand. There's a difference, you know." "There's nothing wrong with a black dating a white, but you can be damned sure my daughter will never go out with a black man." "I may call them niggers, but I don't mean anything by it." Pure and simple inanity all of it, so utterly ridiculous that it needs no rebuttal. The arguments defeat themselves.

I had considered that this statement might be written in a spirit of hope, appealing to the reason and good will of those to whom it is directed. The time for such an appeal has unfortunately passed, however. I say to you instead: Grow up. Open your minds, open your hearts and realize that the hatred you foster is limiting yourselves and society in the pursuit of human fulfillment. I challenge you, any one of you, to present your own views in an open forum, to show the courage to defend your attitudes beyond the safe and comfortable confines of your circle of close friends. It is only fear or absence of conviction which moves an individual to don a mask, whatever form that mask might take.

"There is going to be another day," prophesied Chicken George as he held a badly whipped and beaten Kunte Kinte in his arms. Such hope, such determination, such vision for a man who had been shackled his entire life. Indeed, there will be another day, and it will come in spite of all you do to oppress and deny a part of the human race. The attitudes to which you cling, the unjust structures you perpetuate, all will fall, unless you choose to surrender them of your own volition. The outcome is inevitable; the climate of change - peace or confrontation - is yours to decide.

P.O. Box Q

The Former Number One

Dear Editor:

To the FORMER #1 student body in the nation

Read the headline again. Who us? Yes, we were silenced by a few hundred Michigan fans. If those few hundred are any kind of representation as the Michigan support, then they must be the #1 student body.

But wait, a few hundred Missouri fans have a claim to the same title, since they also silenced the former #1 student body.

1963 was the last time we lost two games in a row. When was the last time an offensive lineman at N.D. had to plead for support by raising his arms? Sure the cheers came, until he lowered his arms to block. Football players can't block and tackle with their arms raised in an effort to rally 8,000 apathetic students! But let's not blame ourselves; it's much easier to blame the coach, or the players, or the weather.

The week before Michigan comes to N.D.: music blazing from windows, excitement in the air, the band rehearsing the greatest of all fight songs. Right? WRONG! The question wasn't where your seats are for the greatest matchup of the football season, but rather, where your seats are for the Yes concert. Every college has rock concerts--as well they should--but only one has the N.C.A.A. National Champion Football team.

Tradition has it that George Gipp's ghost haunts the opposing team when they step into the stadium. Last week the ghost was turning over in Gipp's grave.

What about Purdue?

Jim Waclawik

Michigan superior?

Dear Editor:

After witnessing last Saturday's daytime nightmare, I was inspired to prose by the rays emanating from the Golden Dome.

After the rather disheartening loss to the Wolverines this past weekend, I really wondered how the Irish could so thoroughly beat a team and yet trail when the clock ran out. Was Michigan really a superior team? I doubt it. Did ND get homejobbed in its own stadium by the crew of Big Ten officials? No way. Did Dan Devine fail to have his charges properly prepared? Ridiculous. Did the fair-weather Notre Dame alumni and students fail the team? Possibly; especially since a large number of these so-called supporters were too drunk by the fourth quarter to know who was winning.

Anyone who knows anything about college football must realize that the better team did not emerge victorious from that Saturday Afternoon Debacle.

According to David Israel, ND could lose the rest of its games unless some radical changes are made. Mr. Israel doesn't even know about the price of a draft at Corby's! How can he claim to know anything about college football when he lacks such basic knowledge? Anyway, his column was so poor that I shouldn't have bothered to devote these four sentences to his enlightenment.

Rick Leach thinks that beating Notre Dame is the epitome of college football. That statement was fairly accurate, but it was not entirely correct. Notre Dame is college football. Last Saturday's game was important, but not as important as Purdue, Pitt, MSU, SC, etc. ND attracts national attention for every game it plays. The Irish play Purdue in another tough game next week, and the Vegas oddsmakers will probably make ND the favorite again. Who does Michigan play next week? Duke? Does anyone really care?

Can the men in green bounce back? Of course. With leaders like Dave Huffman and Joe Montana, the squad of Our Lady is due to explode. With rowdy fan support, sober and otherwise, the Irish just may demonstrate that they are the best team in the country. After all, this is not a team of physical education and communication majors.

I'll be somewhere in the stadium screaming my lungs out in the hope that Devine and company will make liars out of these nonbelievers. I hope some real ND fans will be there too. See you at kickoff.

Joseph O'Connor

Pride at Notre Dame

Dear Editor:

I write this immediately following our loss on Saturday afternoon.

I am in a state of numbness. In other similar situations, I could say we lost because of this or that, but today I can't pinpoint any one thing. Every player on the team appears to be the best qualified for their job, but for some reason the spirit of victory is absent. That entity of confidence, luck and ability seems to have left South Bend. After the great rebound last year, we are back in a state of doubt, searching for answers to the question, "What is wrong?"

I propose that the only thing that is wrong is our mental attitude. We proved last year that desire and pride pay off, why can't we prove it again. Granted a National Championship is, for all practical purposes, lost; but the season isn't over. We still have nine tough games left. Only a loser rolls over and dies.

Look at today's game. Did the fans leave? No, with less than three minutes in the game, people wanted the offense to score once, just for pride. Afterward, many students stayed around and suffered through what seemed to be an eternity of "Hail Michigan" to listen to the "Notre Dame Victory March." That took real class and pride. I was impressed, but then I realized that this University is built on pride. In fact, pride has made Notre Dame, NOTRE DAME, and it will continue to make Notre Dame, NOTRE DAME.

Remember the words of Ara Parseghian after his 1964 team lost a National Title to Southern California in the closing minutes, "We won like Notre Dame men for 9 games now we will lose like Notre Dame men." Last year we won like Notre Dame men and I guess this year we must share our glory but I hope not our pride. To beat a Notre Dame team connotes beating a good, strong, never say die team. Let's show the world that we, the people of Notre Dame, still have our pride despite (0-2). Let's dig in a little harder next week.

Shaun P. Mulligan

Dangerous Antics

Dear Editor:

Regarding the two students (better yet juveniles) at last Friday's pep rally who took it upon themselves to make a spectacle of themselves, I commend you. I'm speaking of the childish, deliberate throwing of toilet paper rolls in an attempt to do bodily harm to the cheerleaders of Notre Dame.

I speak not of the harmless throwing of toilet rolls into the air with the purpose of unravelling the roll, but rather a baseball-like throw. The object of these students' missiles was supposedly the leprechaun mascot. This in itself is ridiculous, but to hit Mr. Leon Hart in the head, and two Notre Dame cheerleaders in the eyes, is absurd and equally dangerous. I know of these events because I reprimanded the perpetrators.

To these students and any others who partake in this deplorable folly, I request an end to it at once. Let's enjoy the Purdue rally and stop the nonsense of the last rally.

To the Notre Dame cheerleaders, I regret that Notre Dame students would do such a thing, and I sincerely hope this is not a representation of other students' attitudes at Notre Dame. Let's respect the cheerleaders and what they stand for.

Mike Shanley

Courteous Treatment

Dear Editor:

On behalf of myself and all of the members of The University of Michigan Marching Band I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the members of the Notre Dame student body for the marvelous, courteous and most enthusiastic reception which they tendered us at the Michigan versus Notre Dame game this Saturday. Despite the intense rivalry of the game, we certainly felt at home in your stadium despite the many stories we had heard about things in the past. Your stadium people were magnificent and helped us in every way possible.

To you we say a great big thanks to the wonderful student body of Notre Dame. We are hoping your band comes to Michigan so we might reciprocate in a like manner.

May the Notre Dame fight song and the Victors continue to sound loudly through many other thrilling Michigan versus Notre Dame football contests.

George Cavender, Conductor
The University of Michigan
Marching Band

Off Campus Bus Service

Dear Editor:

At least 600 students who live off-campus at Campus View and Notre Dame apartments, the central off-campus housing units, have no dependable, efficient transportation to and from the university. These students often find walking to campus both inconvenient and unsafe, particularly in the evening. Women refuse to walk through the lonely field to Campus View and through the high crime district near Notre Dame avenue late at night. Those who have no cars are often isolated in their apartments, or dependent upon roommates and friends for rides. This situation makes it difficult for them to use the library and to participate in student activities.

Most universities with a large off-campus population such as Notre Dame, provide bus service to and from campus. With a slight bus schedule alteration, the Notre Dame administration could arrange a shuttle route looping around the Notre Dame apartment complex to Campus View before continuing its usual route to the Saint Mary's campus.

The administration would need only to make minor changes in the present system. The bus need stop at the apartments only during the evening. This change would not interfere with the scheduled stops timed to coincide with the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's classes. Also, the administration would need to schedule only one stop per hour at the apartments, altering just slightly the two hourly stops at St. Mary's. Excess cost would be minimal to the university.

The re-scheduling would require no extra driving if done to coincide with the deletion of a few Saint Mary's stops and most importantly, the extra gas expenditures would be absorbed in additional student fares.

Marcia Kovas

Prisoner makes Plea

Dear Editor:

At the present time I am incarcerated at the Columbus Correctional Facility here in Columbus, Ohio. I have been in prison for six years now. Don't have family or friends to visit or write.

What I am wondering is if you would print this letter in the school newspaper and invite people to send letters to me. I would love to hear from anyone and hopefully start up lasting pen-pal relationships.

My address is listed below. So anyone caring to write can send a letter to that address and I'll get it. Anyone that does write to me can feel free to write about anything and ask any questions that they may have. I'll be glad to answer all letters. Thank you.

Stanley P. McMains
Box 511 #135982
Columbus, Ohio 43816

Interhall Safety

Dear Editor:

The National Collegiate Athletic Association's requirement for new, specialized football helmets for its players is only a small step forward in the effort to eliminate injuries. The problem lies not only within the structure of the helmet, but within the incorrect ideas on hitting fundamentals.

As a participant in interhall football at Notre Dame and as a former high school player, I have not only witnessed but experienced the spinal pain that occurs from hitting with the top of the helmet. I have seen players receive concussions by using their heads as battering rams. I believe that the shoulder block, advocated by former coach Ara Parseghian, is the safest and most effective hitting method.

Unfortunately, safe hitting techniques are not taught in interhall football. The University postponed the start of the interhall season because the required helmets had not yet arrived. To further prevent injuries, the University should institute a clinic for interhall coaches and players. This clinic would teach them the advantages of the shoulder block and would explain the physiological damage resulting from improper hitting.

We are committed to take every precaution concerning interhall football because we are dealing with human lives. The paralysis of the National Football League's Darryl Stingley serves as a bitter example of the improbable event becoming reality. I believe that the acquisition of the new helmets and instruction of proper football fundamentals will help prevent such an occurrence at Notre Dame.

Philip Russo

Keep Enrollment Small

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter critical of the University of Notre Dame not because I am an enemy of it but because I care so much for it. Recently news has been published that the University has acquired a donor for the building of a new dormitory or dormitory-cafeteria complex to be located between the Flanner and Grace Towers and the Library. Our Board of Trustees' motives were either to prevent overcrowding or to place Notre Dame into the big university category.

I think this would be a drastic mistake in either case. Our present overcrowding situation does not merit such an ambitious solution and becoming a big university would lead us into the obscure world of big college enrollments. I would like to see Notre Dame small because I think our smallness is what makes us so distinct.

The reason I chose Notre Dame was because of its size and the prestige which is associated with it. Schools such as Harvard, DePaul, and Yale have resisted the expansion bug to remain small schools in a land of giants, and have obtained an amazing deal of success. People are always astonished when I tell them that Notre Dame's enrollment is 6800 undergraduates. Their usual guess is between 15,000 and 25,000 students. I enjoy their expressions of disbelief, and take pride in the fact that we are this small yet we contribute so much in the fields of education and athletics. As a student and future alumnus, I feel it is necessary that we retain our identity, and not become a member of the big university crowd.

Jim Brutz

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau

Letters to a Lonely God

Pooh-Bear to The Dearest Girl

Reverend Robert Griffin

The dearest girl in all the world has just walked me home from Darby's Place, my arm encircling her and her arm encircling me, as though we were regular sweethearts instead of an odd couple of differing generations, like Lear and his daughter, or Heidi and her grandfather. The Indiana moon watched us from a distant sky, a dowager aunt spying from an attic window; and my dog, Darby O'Gill, raced around us in all directions as though he thought I had recruited the dearest girl into our household as his much-needed mother. When we hugged each other goodbye, though it was only four a.m., the morning stars started singing together as if the sun had been lighted early to see the oddity of September being tender with April.

I hope the dearest girl in all the world doesn't mind my calling her a girl. I could call her a woman, if she insists on it, but there is a lyricism in girliness like a lovesong in springtime. Does the year, being summer, never wish to be April-young? Does a girl, becoming a woman, outgrow the language that praises her as promising, like a rosebud growing in a queen-rose garden? The dearest girl is too full of a woman's ripeness to be considered a child, but playfully I like to call her a girl, somewhat dearer than all the rest.

I'm grateful to the dearest girl for not considering me too old or too ordained for her hugs. I try not to hug secularly or with passion; and though I am an experienced hugger, I try not to make hugging a habit. A priest needs hugging at least three times a day; a girl needs to be hugged as often as her moods change. A girl needs an older man she can hug like a grownup teddy bear, and chaplains have been the teddy bears of campus life since the days of Father Sorin. A boy shoots up without mystery like a weed; but a girl's growth is full of secrets, and teddy bears keep secrets better than anyone. Teddy bears are not very smart, but they can understand tears and recognize pain. Teddy bears are loyal; they stick around after the crowd has left, and they are someone warm to hang onto when you're not sure of yourself. Teddy bears are creatures you don't have to take home to dinner. They just want to share your world like the sun and moon, and they need a hug at the end of a walk.

As Pooh-bear to the dearest girl, I watch her as she moves through the years between moppetry and marriage, a mystery of strength and grace: a gamine either wistful or teasing; an urchin utterly adorable with clumsiness; a flirt meaning no harm who weeps if she breaks your heart; a tomboy full of mischief; a lady who dances wearing flowers in her hair; a woman waiting for love to light candles in her face.

Now Pooh-bear sees that in her Senior year, the dearest girl is holding hands with a boy. Pooh-bear is not jealous any more than a father is jealous, though it is obvious that the dearest girl is falling in love. The shadows have been chased from the corners of her mouth, and sadness no longer intrudes its questions into eyes that have wondered so often.

Pooh-bears are the kept creatures, completely spoiled, who know nothing of being practical or looking after themselves. That is why the dearest girl comes to Darby's Place, knowing that Darby and I must be seen safely home before the night-germs find we are out. Who buttons Pooh-bear's coat on the coldest days of the winter? Who cheers Pooh-bear up when he feels sorry for himself? Who tells Pooh-bear to stop being grumpy? Who tells Pooh he's a silly old bear in words so sweet they're like honey found in a tree? The dearest girl in the world is my Christopher Robin, keeping me safe in the innocence of her life, in all the ways she's a child. In watching her fall in love, I wonder where a Pooh-bear goes when Christopher Robin has said goodbye to a place and time of enchantment.

Soon, Pooh-bear will be out of a job of watching. The dearest girl will graduate; and like all teddy bears belonging to the nursery, Pooh-bear will be enshrined on a shelf, and hugged sometimes when the dearest girl remembers to come back. Pooh-bears never cry. They just say: "Well, that is that, Christopher Robin." But on September nights at four a.m., when the morning stars have started to sing, and the sun is hustling the moon from the sky, this Pooh-bear will sometimes whimper. Pooh-bears never said they didn't love the dearest girl in all the world. Pooh-bears couldn't say it, because it wouldn't be true.

To the dearest girl, I just want to add: "It's been an honor to be your Pooh-bear."

In the aisles with animal house

Animal House is "interesting" in the good sense of the word because so many people have so much to say about it, and all the more so since there is essentially so little complexity to deal with. Animal House is a simple movie that uses basic satire. It is an attack on a certain slice of middle-class society through humor, vulgarity, and a sense of surrealism. In the achievement of this purpose, it is, perhaps insensitive to real social concerns, but at least it is very, very funny.

Since "funny" is the effect a good comedy seeks to achieve, its measure should be our first criteria. If someone told me before I saw Animal House that I would be laughing at a fat kid throwing up on a college dean, I'm not sure that I would have believed him. But, when I saw it, I was laughing -- I was in the aisles in fact. The element of surprise, ludicrousness, and audience involvement this movie so frequently employs makes it funny.

But there are other areas to consider besides the "funny" factor, and all of those review favorably. Animal House is simply an adaptation of good guys versus bad, but rather than wearing white and black hats, the characters are split into conformists and non-conformists. It is a basic conflict that we each face in shaping our personalities, generally at school, so the setting of college is a logical choice. To heighten the polarity of the two units, the group characteristics are exaggerated, which achieves the same effect as the white hats versus black. When we see old cowboy movies, we laugh at the lack of subtlety involved in giving the audience such a conspicuous visual clue. It is symbolism operating on a low level. Such operation on a low level is funny, and from the very first moments of the film when the statue of Emil Faber, college founder, is shown standing over the epitaph "Knowledge is Good," we know that such low-level operation will be evident throughout the film. It is funny to exaggerate.

A Rolling Stone writer, Charles Young, has called the villainous conformist characters, particularly the dean, "a tad too serious." That misses the point entirely. The bad guys are made villainous and the good guys are made animal-like for the purpose of expressing their difference through contrast. In fact, one of the most interesting of all the technical aspects in the movie is the make-up used to make the eyes of the bad guys look hollow and sunken. It adds to their sinister presence by making their eyes glare vicious and pronounced (witness the scene in which Niedermeyer addresses his rage to the unruly Deltas in the courtroom by whipping his head, flashing a sinister glare, and hissing).

But what is the point of all this contrast? What does this all mean? In order to be good, a satirist must make use of the derisive laughter he instigates to make a point. It is not all artifice; there must be a point. Some critics think that the point of this movie is, as one reviewer put it, "a call for social irresponsibility." In a way, that could be the case. The good guys trash everything, and they dump on middle-class sensibilities in the process. By contrast, it also seems to make the point, like Stratton does after receiving the unearned wrath of the Omegas (the rival, "goody-goody" frat). "If we are the animals, I'd hate to see what those guys' are."

There are a few ways of viewing this. First, one could say that this is art, and in order to be art the creation must make some type of statement about life that is 'true.' I do not agree with the statement that middle-class morality is petty and indicative, so therefore I do not think that it deserves the rank of art. The other view, and the one with which I am most inclined to agree, is that this type of "morality" can sometimes be petty and vindictive, and the film warns us not to take it too seriously. The film acts as kind of a "You're another" argument ("We may be pretty degenerate but, in your own way, so are you").

Viewed in this context, Animal House makes us laugh at the point over and over again. John Belushi is the best "I know I'm a slob so get off my back already" character around. All the characters share a thread of identity that makes them recognizable as our roommates, hallmates, and classmates. The characters are used for all they are worth, and then they are completed with a report on their histories after their college years at Faber. These histories are absurdly fitting, and the use of the stop-action-subtitle technique is a beautiful mockery of American Graffiti, a movie set in the same time period that seemed to glorify the very values Animal House satirizes.

Animal House is pretty good stuff. We can disagree on what the point is and how true it is, but the important thing is that there is a point, which makes it satire. The point is made in a funny way, so it is good satire. If you haven't already seen Animal House, it is playing now at the Town and Country.

Mark Rust

lobotomy by byrnes

Paul Clark and Christian Rock

Paul Clark, a Christian rock artist, is giving a free concert on Sat., Sept. 30, at 8:00 pm, sponsored by a campus ministry called Spiritual Rock.

For the last six years, Clark has been actively involved in the development of contemporary gospel music. A former leader of a rock group named Rocky Mountain Goldrush, Clark has released six albums in the past eight years.

Like so many young people who were disillusioned in the 1960's, Clark's life was filled with an intense search for truth that led down an unending road of drug overdoses. As a songwriter, Clark became unsatisfied with songs of a girlfriend, the mountains, and other exhausted subjects.

At the point of suicidal desperation in Colorado, Clark received some books from his grandmother which spoke of Jesus Christ, and acquired new hope in life. Using a rock musical format, Clark began to reveal God's truth to the numerous young people who were as disillusioned as he was.

Clark, who now lives in Kansas City, is an active leader in Agape Fellowship, and he views his task as bringing encouragement, faith and maturity to the body of Christ through music. Clark admits that he gets discouraged at times, especially "seeing young people come to Christ but having nothing to be planted into. We don't really have the right to tell people to repent and come into the kingdom if there is no representation of it in a practical but supernatural environment."

Junior Pat Mangan, the president of Spiritual Rock, classifies Clark's music as "soft rock" and judges him to be "an excellent performer with high quality music." The concert promises to be "warm and personal," according to Mangan, who feels that the concert is a good way for students to experience the spiritual life at Notre Dame. Any questions about Paul Clark or the concert are welcomed by Mangan (8332) any time.

Down the Boilermakers!

Irish seek first victory of year against Purdue

by Tony Pace
Editor-in-Chief

Reeling from consecutive setbacks to Missouri and Michigan, the Notre Dame football team takes on Purdue University tomorrow afternoon in Notre Dame stadium. The Boilermakers, led by the passing of sophomore quarterback Mark Herrmann, are 2-0 with victories over Michigan State and Ohio University.

Herrmann was disappointing in Purdue's opening game against MSU as he connected on only seven of 23 pass attempts for 85 yards. The Spartans also intercepted two of Herrmann's aerials. But the Carmel, Ind., native reverted to his old form last Saturday against Ohio hitting 13 of 23 passes for 233 yards and two touchdowns. Last Saturday was the first game in Herrmann's collegiate career that he was not intercepted.

Michigan connected on two long passes to beat the Irish last Saturday, but Purdue coach Jim Young believes these pass routes were open only because of the success of the Wolverine ground attack. "Michigan hit two big passes against Notre Dame last weekend, however they hit them because Notre Dame was defending the option. We're not that type of team. Our passing is a different type of attack. Michigan passes off play action and option fakes. That makes it a different game. It wasn't just that Michigan passed, it was because Michigan got Notre Dame playing the run and then threw the ball," Young stated.

The players whose task it will be to establish the running game are senior tailback Russell Pope and sophomore fullback John Macon. Pope has carried the ball 24 times in the 1978 season for a total of 194 yards. That's a gaudy average of 8.1 yards per carry. Macon has churned for 161 markers in 30 carries or 5.4 yards per clip.

When Herrmann does choose to put the ball in the air, he has a bevy of receivers as targets. His favorite target thus far has been 6-6 sophomore tight end Dave Young. This 222 pounder has hauled in six aerials for 64 yards. The starting wide receiver is junior Ray Smith, a two-year letterman.

Replacing the graduated Reggie Arnold is junior college transfer Mike Harris. Harris has nabbed three passes for a total of 67 yards, including a 46 yard toss for a touchdown. Back-up receiver Bart Burrell, a high school teammate of Herrmann's at Carmel High School, has seen enough action to have three catches and a 19.3 average per catch.

The Boilermaker offensive line returns junior Steve McKenzie and senior John LeFeber from last year's squad. They, however, have traded positions: LeFeber is now the right guard and McKenzie is the right tackle. The center is junior Pete Quinn, a non-letterman. The new left side of the line is composed by guard Dale Schwan and tackle Henry Feil. Both Feil and Schwan lettered last season.

Purdue's defense has allowed only 14 points in their first two outings of 1978. Young says of his defense, "Overall it's a quicker defense than a year ago. Certainly, the experience helps, too. The defensive front is stronger physically than last season. And some of the things we're doing defensively are hard to block."

"But that's true of defense across the country. Defense everywhere is getting to be hard for offenses to block consistently because they do so many different things with varied looks and stunts. It's just hard to have a consistent offense against a lot of the defense in use today in college football."

The leading defender in Purdue's 5-2 alignment is junior linebacker Kevin Motts. The 6-2, 230 pound graduate of Mishawaka Marian has been in on a team leading 26 tackles, including three for negative yardage. His backer mate is junior Mike Marks.

The top tackler on the defensive line is sophomore defensive tackle Calvin Clark who has been in on 23 stops. Clark is joined up front by tackle Marcus Jackson, nose guard Ken Loushin, and ends Ruben Floyd and Keena Turner. Only Floyd is a senior.

Safeties Rock Supan and Willie Harris are the returning starters in the secondary. Supan is starting for his third year. They will be joined by cornerbacks Wayne Smith and Rick Moss.

Purdue has allowed only 204 rushing yards and 257 passing yards this season.

The Irish offense will remain much the same as it has been for the past two games. Joe Montana will be the starting quarterback. Montana went six of ten in the first half against Michigan but slipped to nine of 19 in the second half.

The running backs will again be Jerome Heavens and Vagas Ferguson, both of whom had over 70 yards rushing against Michigan. Jim Stone could see some action here. From tackle to tackle, the offensive line will read: Tim Foley, Tim Huffman, Dave Huffman, Jim Hautman and Rob Martinovich. Guard Ted Horansky is out with a foot injury.

Coach Dan Devine should continue his shuttle system at the wide receiver, wingback and tight end positions with Kris Haines, Dave Condani, Pete Holohan, Mike Courey, Kevin Hart and Nick Vehr all seeing action.

Bob Golic is the defensive leader. Last week he was in on an amazing 26 tackles, leaving him only five shy of Bob Olsen's career tackle mark of 369. For his performance, Golic was named UPI back of the week.

Two injuries will alter the starting defensive unit. Defensive end Scott Zettek was hurt late in the Michigan contest and is out this week, and will likely be red-shirted. Safety Joe Restic injured the tendons in his foot and will probably miss the game. Randy Harrison will man his backfield slot.

Tomorrow's contest is the 50th meet-int between the two schools. Notre Dame leads in the series 30-17 with two tie games. The game is scheduled to begin at 1:30 EST. It will be televised locally on WNDU and broadcast by WSND.

As a freshman, Mark Herrmann nearly led the Boilermakers to an upset victory over the Irish last year [photo by Doug Christian].

Herrmann to lead Purdue attack

by Craig Chval
Sports Writer

Tomorrow afternoon Mark Herrmann will make his debut in Notre Dame Stadium, and he will be trying to finish what he started last September.

Thanks to his brilliant passing, Purdue led Notre Dame 24-14 after three quarters. But what had been the Mark Herrmann Show quickly became the Joe Montana Show, as the Comeback Kid passed Notre Dame to 17 fourth-quarter points and a 31-24 victory.

But the Boilermakers are flying high with a 2-0 mark, while the Irish are 0-2 for the first time since 1963. That Hugh Devore-coached Notre Dame club finished the season with a 2-7 record.

After a spectacular freshman campaign, Herrmann is now a year older and a year wiser. On the other side of the coin, however, is the fact that he is now a marked man. Herrmann admits that he faces more pressure after his impressive rookie campaign.

"I think it was a little obvious in the first game (a 21-14 win over Michigan State)," said Herrmann. "I didn't play that well, but last week I settled down a little bit."

Herrmann settled down enough to riddle Ohio University's secondary for 13 completions in 23 attempts for 223 yards and two touchdowns. Perhaps the most significant aspect of Herrmann's performance against the Bobcats, was the fact that he didn't throw an interception for the first time in his 13-game collegiate career.

Although the native of Carmel, Indiana, established Notre Dame opponent records for pass attempts (51), completions (24) and passing yards (351) in a single game during last fall's contest, Herrmann was also intercepted four times.

"I know that I'll have to cut down on my interceptions this year," admitted Herrmann, who saw 29 of his tosses fall into enemy hands a year ago. "But our balance is much better, and I don't think we'll be forced to throw nearly as often. In our first two games, we've only thrown 20 to 25 times a game."

Purdue's ability to move the ball on the ground will be a critical factor in the outcome of tomorrow's game, according to Herrmann. "We know that Notre Dame is tough to run against, but we feel that we have to be able to rack up some yardage rushing. Ideally, we'd like to pass between 25 and 30 times Saturday," said Herrmann.

Herrmann isn't quite sure how to view the turnabout in the two teams' records.

The Boilermakers are listed in the number 20 position in this week's Associated Press poll, while the Irish have fallen out of the Top 20 for the first time since 1975.

"I don't really know how they'll take it," said Herrmann, who was second in the nation in passing in 1977. "They could be very mad, and just itching for a win, or they could be down. But if I had to guess, I'd say they're probably a little bit angry."

But above all, the Irish had better be ready. Herrmann threw for 351 yards against the Notre Dame defense in 1977—before Luther Bradley, Ted Burgmeier, Ross Browner and Willie Fry graduated. And last week, Michigan's Rick Leach, never accused of being in the same extraordinary class as Herrmann, burned the Irish for three second-half touchdown passes.

Herrmann insisted that the Boilermakers will be ready. "We have a tremendous attitude right now. Everybody has a great feeling," said Herrmann. "We realize that if we are 3-0 after this week, it could be a real big season."

And if Purdue is 3-0 after this week, it can only mean one thing. That Notre Dame will be 0-3 for the first time in its 75-year football history.

Down the Boilermakers!

Defensive secondary readies for Herrmann

by Brian Beglane
Sports Writer

The sweat from the just completed 24-0 rout over Ohio University had not even had a chance to dry off from his face before Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann voiced his feelings about playing Notre Dame in South Bend.

"I saw two games at Notre Dame stadium while I was in high school and I know firsthand how wild their fans can be. It is obvious they can be beaten at home but it is sure going to be a difficult task. I am looking forward to the game and I know it is going to be a big one for both teams."

Jim Browner
[Christian-photo]

Make no mistake about it, tomorrow's clash between the 0-2 Irish and the 2-0 Boilermakers is going to be a big one. Herrmann comes into the game with a renowned reputation as a passer and after three second half touchdown passes last Saturday gave Michigan a 28-14 win over ND, many people began to question the Irish pass defense. But that was a different game at a different time under different circumstances. And if Randy Harrison, Jim Browner and Dave Waymer have anything to say about it, the Irish will be back in the win column come Saturday.

"Herrmann is a pure typepasser and he is very good at it. Our job will be to stay with their receivers and hope our defensive line can get to him," noted Harrison.

"Herrmann is an excellent drop back passer who looks off well to his receivers. That is he'll look at his secondary receiver and then pass to his primary target. We will just try our best to hold off their receivers and pick off a few," said Waymer.

"Herrmann is a good spot passer but he is not good without capable receivers and Purdue has them. He likes to throw the long pass and we will just have to concentrate and stay with the receivers," noted Browner.

The Irish will be looking more to the passing game of Purdue but there will be a definite difference between the Michigan game and the passing style of Mark Herrmann.

"Tomorrow's game should be different from the Michigan contest with respect to the two quarterbacks, Rick Leach and Herrmann. Leach ran the option a lot and being a bit overly aggressive with stopping Leach on the run, our deep men were pulled away," noted Irish defensive back coach Jim Johnson. "When it seemed he would run he passed and that enable them to score on those three passes in the second half.

"Mark Herrmann is a drop back passing quarterback so we should not have to contend with guessing on the option. He is still a great passer, though, and it will by no means be an easy task to hold down their passing game."

Jim Browner has been a starter in the Irish defensive backfield for three years and played against Herrmann at Purdue last year. The 6-3 senior played outstandingly in the second half of that contest in which the Irish came back to win 31-24.

"We of course will be looking for the pass from Herrmann tomorrow because he is such a good quarterback. Their team has a lot of speed, though, and that will make it all the more difficult to stay with their receivers," noted the native of Warren, Ohio.

Browner came up with eight tackles in the season opener against Missouri and followed with six versus the Wolverines, keeping up with his season average of a year ago. The 204-pound strong safety feels not having to contend with an option running quarterback will cut down on the guesswork involved, although it will not make the job of staying with the Purdue receivers easier.

"Last week we had trouble with our depth perception on the pass defense because of Leach and the option. By that I mean we had a tendency to run closer in because we could not tell what Leach would do," noted Browner.

"We know Herrmann likes to throw the long ball so we can stay back more and concentrate on their deep men. Hopefully we will be able to improve our coverage and pass rush more to stop Purdue."

Randy Harrison is another Irish defensive back who played against Herrmann last year. The 6-1 free safety also notes the difference in Herrmann's style from that of the Michigan game.

"Herrmann does not scramble as much as Leach so we should be able to concentrate on staying back and playing for the pass. I expect they will first try to establish the running game but Herrmann is just too good a passer not to go to the air a lot. I am expecting at least 30 pass attempts from him," noted the 207-pound senior.

"This is a big game for both teams, the same way it was last year. It should be a very physical contest and there is a lot of pride involved because we are such big rivals. All we can do is do our best to stay with their receivers and hope we can get to Herrmann," continued the Indiana native.

Dave Waymer was on the opposite side of the field last year when the Irish met Purdue but notes what a great passer the sophomore is and expects to have his hands full when Herrmann goes to the air.

"Herrmann is without a doubt a passing quarterback so we will definitely have to key on Purdue's receivers. They should not be running that much so we will be able to concentrate on their deep men more, as opposed to what we had to do last week with Leach and the option," noted the 182-pound junior cornerback.

Randy Harrison
[Christian-photo]

Many people jumped on the fact that Michigan passed for three touchdowns last week as to the Boilermakers' advantage, but nobody put down that notion any quicker than Purdue coach Jim Young.

"Our passing attack is in direct

Dave Waymer
[Christian-photo]

contrast to that of Michigan. Leach is an option quarterback so many of their passes are set up on the fact that the secondary will misread him," noted Young. "There is no masking of our pass attack so those are very different circumstances and it is very unfair to say Notre Dame is susceptible to the pass based on one game."

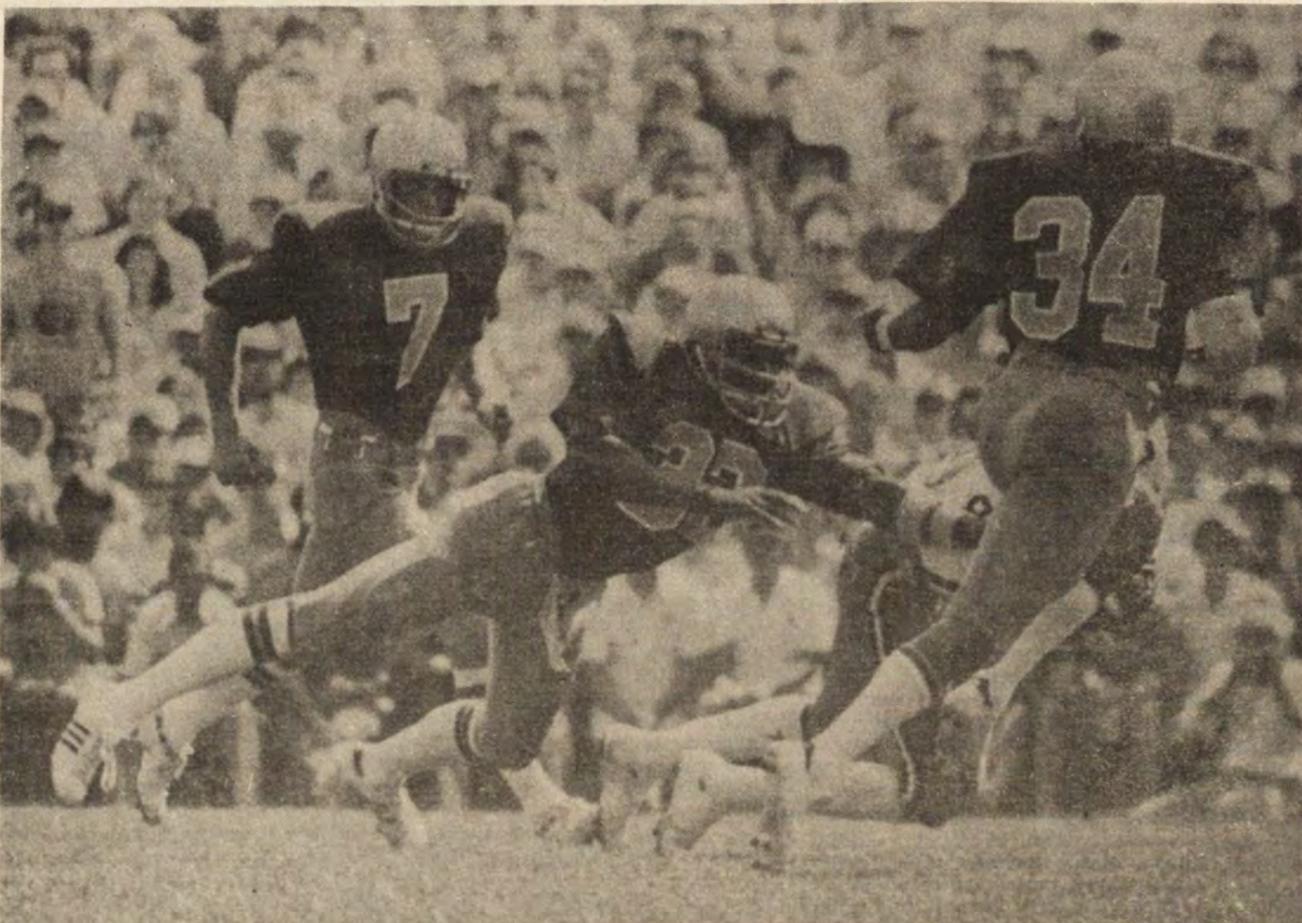

The key for the Notre Dame defense will be to get to Herrmann before he can get the ball up in the air. Last year at Purdue the Irish were able to do this in the second half and it was instrumental in changing the tide of that game.

"Herrmann showed great poise and had a hot hand in the first half of last year's game. We were not able to get to him," noted Coach Johnson. "The second half we pressured him and were able to stop him more. Hopefully we will be able to apply the pressure tomorrow."

The pressure will be on the Irish pass defense and nobody wants this game more than Notre Dame.

"I have just had enough of losing. Two losses is two too many and I sure am ready to win one," said Dave Waymer.

With the passing attack of Mark Herrmann, you know it will not be an easy task. But if Randy Harrison, Jim Browner and Dave Waymer have anything to say about it, the Irish will make the climb back into the win column tomorrow.

The swarming Irish secondary will have its hands full this weekend as they take on Purdue's Mark Herrmann [photo by Doug Christian].

Down the Boilermakers!

Editor:

Ray O'Brien

Layout and Design:

Deb Dahrling

John Calcutt

Down the Boilermakers!

ND, Purdue to vie for Shillelagh

by Gregory Solman
Sports Writer

The question always arises this time of year: what would a Boilermaker want with a Shillelagh?

But for whatever their reasons, the Boilermakers of Purdue want the honored walking stick, and tomorrow the 22nd battle for the Shillelagh will determine the trophy case in which it sits for the next year.

Mike Phipps

"It's been one of those natural rivalries where the odds simply haven't mattered," commented Notre Dame athletic director Edward "Moose" Krause. "Often times-in fact, quite often-the favored team has been upset by the underdog."

For Purdue, the Shillelagh is the newest of the three spoils of war it receives should it win certain annual campaigns (the Old Oaken Bucket is given to the victor in the Purdue/Indiana game, and the Cannon is given to the winner of the Purdue/Illinois matchup.)

The Shillelagh was donated to "Moose" Krause by the late Joe McLaughlin in 1957. McLaughlin was a merchant seaman and devoted Irish fan, who donated the trophy with the agreement that the club be recognized as an annual "spoil" of the Purdue/Notre Dame rivalry that has existed off and on for about fifty years.

In this, the 50th meeting between the two teams, the Irish lead the annual feud with 30 wins. Purdue has won seven times in Notre Dame stadium, a rather impressive statistic, indeed.

Last year was the eleventh time that Notre Dame had snatched the Shillelagh-Purdue has taken it ten times.

If crowd attendance at the matchup plays any factor in the Boilermakers wanting their Shillelagh back, then the intense rivalry is not surprise. Three of Purdue's five largest crowds in history came to watch the Boilers take on the Irish. The largest crowd of all-time in Rossade Stadium--69,795--turned out for the 1975 classic in Purdue. The Irish won that one, 71-0, but the Boilers have not been without revenge over the years. In fact, only the Trojans of Southern California have defeated the Irish more than Purdue (18 times to 17.)

Last year's contest was certainly one of the more exciting ones, featuring freshman quarterback sensation Mark Herrmann versus Joe Montana, in what would prove to be his first game as the newly installed Irish signal-caller. The "Monongahela Minuteman" came out on top, 31-24, entering the game in the fourth quarter after Gary Forystek had broken his collarbone, and leading the Irish to two quick touchdowns to clinch the Irish squeaker.

Over the last fifty years, the games between Purdue and Notre Dame have developed a rich history. Both teams have had outstanding quarterbacks and coaches.

"Moose" Krause recalls one of the earlier Notre Dame/Purdue games in which he played.

"We were favored by twenty points at the beginning of the game," he remembers, "But as usual you can just throw that out the window when talking about this series. Sure enough, Noel Kaiser ended up defeating the Irish, 19-0."

Krause also remembers Frank Leahy's forty-eight game winning streak being snapped by the Boilers.

Other interesting Purdue/Notre Dame historical highlights include the facts that quarterback Mike Phipps, when with Purdue, defeated the Irish three times, more than any other quarterback ever has --and Lenny Dawson had successful years against the Irish.

Purdue Coach Jack Mollokof won six of ten games he coached against the Irish--more than any other coach can claim.

As recently as 1974, the Boilers have wrecked havoc on the Irish's standings in the polls. That was the year they came into South Bend and left with a 31-20 victory.

Krause recalls the first game played for the Shillelagh, back in 1957. The Boilermakers defeated the Irish that day, and the Shillelagh stayed at West Lafayette.

"I remember the drive back to South Bend," said Krause. "I was with Joe McLaughlin, the man who had donated the Shillelagh to the schools. We were both very disappointed that we couldn't claim the trophy the first year."

It's in the Irish trophy case now. But with contests slated until 1990, the chances are more than good that it will see its fair share of traveling in the future.

They said it: 'I'm ready to win'

Devine

★★ ★★ ★★

Kevin Motts: "I'll be going home and everyone will get a chance to see me. It will be against a team I've heard about all my life. There will be a lot of emotion tied up in this game for me."

★★ ★★ ★★

Mark Herrmann: "I've heard a little about the fans in Notre Dame Stadium. I'm sure it'll be a little intimidating. Michigan looked a little shook in the first half last week."

★★ ★★ ★★

Dave Waymer: "Saying the loss of Ross Browner and Willie Fry has hurt us will not do us any good. Talking about it won't get the quarterback down."

Bo Schembechler: "When you win a game like that, you're always ripe for a letdown...that was Notre Dame we played. Those kids were fired up. And now if there's a letdown, well here we are with a good team in Duke coming up on us. It's a real problem...I'm nervous."

★★ ★★ ★★

Dave Waymer: "I have had enough of losing. Two losses is two too many and I am sure ready to win one."

★★ ★★ ★★

"Moose" Krause: "When talking about the Purdue /Notre Dame Series, you can just throw the point-spread out the window."

★★ ★★ ★★

Browner

Jim Browner: "Some people expect to come out and see us make history by losing and going 0-3. I'd like to disappoint them."

John Robinson on the polls: "I think the people who vote these things have no idea what's going on...and that includes myself. I always pick Penn State high because I like Joe Paterno."

★★ ★★ ★★

Dan Devine: "One of the toughest things to guard against is the team getting down on itself, especially because of mistakes and turnovers. We've got to eliminate the mistakes and turnovers and concentrate on Purdue. We can't lose confidence in ourselves because of the tremendous schedule we have ahead of us."

★★ ★★ ★★

Joe Montana: "I think this game will help us more than it will hurt us. We've still got nine more games to go and we can win them all. Not many teams in the country have 9-2 records."

Montana

Alumni and Friends of NOTRE DAME....

Now's your chance!!!

subscribe to the

Observer

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and st. mary's for only $10. per semester ($20. per year)

send payment to:

THE OBSERVER, CIRCULATION

BOX Q

NOTRE DAME IND. 46556

along with your name, address, and zip.

*The Observer

Howard fire rouses three dorms

*The Observer

Marks links trustee to CIA activities

Fire cause determined

Student Union announces Seeger, Foghat concerts

SUNNYSIDE BEVERAGES

1340 South Bend Ave.
234-1114

2 blks south of Campus
Daily 8am-4:30pm
Sat 8am-10:30pm

DRAFT TRUCK
TAPPING EQUIPMENT
CUPS AND ICE
KEG BEER ONLY
SOLD AT RETAIL

Down the Boilermakers!

Ray O'Brien

I may be wrong, but . . .

The Irish Eye

Led by Notre Dame's second half plummet, the Irish Eye barely escaped with a .500 record due to a plethora of upsets taking place. Now that the NCAA has gotten a national audience tuned in for college football, they have run out of titanic battles between the elusive members of the Top Ten. However, there are a number of close contests between the fringe members of the Top Twenty that could lead to their downfall or make their season a pleasant surprise. So with the help of Craig Chval here are this week's predictions.

Auburn at Tennessee: Auburn goes into this game 2-0 and is hoping to challenge as the dark horse in the SEC race. Johnny Majors squad is 0-1-1, blowing a sure victory against Oregon State (up by 13 with three minutes left). Auburn will be favorites but Tennessee fans can make anything happen. Say goodbye to the dark horse as the Volunteers pick up win number one as they ready for Notre Dame with a 6-point victory. Chval sees Auburn walking away with an 11-point win.

Nebraska at Indiana: The Hoosiers shocked Washington last week at home as Lee Corso continues to amaze people with his accomplishments and humor. Indiana rushed on 63-66 plays and was 0-3 and 1 interception pass in the 14-7 win. Nebraska comes off a vacation at Hawaii and seemed to have bounced back from their opening loss to 'Bama. Corso's sense of humor will be tried this Saturday as the Cornhuskers take it by 14 (unless it snows). Chval tabs Nebraska by 8.

Missouri at Oklahoma: Mizzou continues their grueling schedule but remain in the Top Twenty (14th in AP poll). The Tigers always play Barry Switzer's team tough but now that Alabama lost, the Sooners will be easily motivated to continue their winning ways. They topped the 50-point spread the Irish Eye allowed last week (52-0 halftime score). This time they will be lucky to keep a 7-point margin. Chval picks the Sooners by 14.

North Carolina at Pittsburgh: The Panthers continue to bore people with their lackadaisical offense but always manage to win which is more than some local teams can claim. North Carolina blew a lead against Maryland last week and lost by a point. I see that as another "turning point" as Pitt struggles through this one and arrives at South Bend with a perfect record. Chval figures Pitt by 17 but they will win by only 9 and score only 17.

Texas at Texas Tech: Imagine the drinking and bull being thrown before this game. It was bad enough listening to Texans before the Cotton Bowl but put two Texan teams against each other and you come up with enough fertilizer for all the grain in the Midwest. This time the Longhorn fans will be right as Fred Akers defense has been very impressive. The offense is always there as Texas stampedes (sorry about that cliché) to a 21 point laughter. Chval conservatively picks the Longhorns by 13.

Illinois at Syracuse: The Fighting Illini broke loose for 10 points last week against Stanford and seem to have found direction. They will be heading east this week to take on the Bill Hurley-less Orangemen. With Tom Schooley head-hunting on defense it should be close. Neither team has won a game and it would be too bold to predict another scoreless tie, so let's try Syracuse by 6. Beth Squires will go with Illinois by a Schooley safety.

Houston at Florida State: The Seminoles won the battle of Florida last Saturday beating Miami and upping their ranking to tenth in the nation. Houston was upset in their opener by Memphis State but definitely have upset potential on any given Saturday. With FSU playing in their own backyard, an upset is not likely so I'll pick the Seminoles to win by 7 as they finish the season undefeated. Chval also takes FSU by 10.

Louisiana State at Rice: Last year LSU edged by with a 77-0 victory and Rice was losing to Oklahoma 52-0 at the half last week. This and the fact that the Tigers are ranked eleventh in the nation qualifies this game for the sure bet of the week. Charles Alexander has been quiet so far, but the Rice defense could make a star out of a junior high second stringer. So expect this Heisman candidate to shatter the 200-yard mark as LSU claims a 38-point victory. Chval agrees.

Northwestern at Colorado: The Wildcats demanded equal time with the Fighting Illini and I kind of miss them on the schedule right about this time. Colorado is 3-0 and pushing for a place in the Top Ten listings and Northwestern is the answer to any aspiring coach's dreams. When the chips are down, the Buffalos get going as they win this one by 24. Chval gambles on Colorado by 26.

Michigan State at Southern California: The Trojans are fair game for an upset this week as they are sure to have a letdown after last week's upset over Alabama. Michigan State would be a good choice except that it looks as though they may have to start their third string quarterback and the game is at SC. Nevertheless it should be a good game for three quarters before Robinson's talented crew comes alive to garner a 10-point decision. Chval predicts the Trojans by 2 TDs.

Kentucky at Maryland: Claiborne's crew knocked off North Carolina last week and Clemson lost to Georgia leaving N.C. State and Duke the only other unbeaten teams in the ACC. But the Terrapins have the toughest schedule of the three and may be looking ahead to the encounter with N.C. State the following Saturday. Kentucky is not as good as last year but they should have enough to surprise the Terrapins by 4. Chval sticks with Maryland by 3.

Purdue at Notre Dame: All week I was going to pick Purdue but then Chval went and picked the Boilermakers. Herrmann will make the difference in this game because if he uses his head and is on target, there is little chance of stopping him (Restic is doubtful in the secondary). If the front line doesn't stop the run this will be a historic game (0-3). But Purdue hasn't been tested yet and the Irish will want to take their early season misfortune out on someone. With all that in mind I have no idea who will win but since Chval is rarely right about anything, I MAY BE WRONG BUT I'LL PICK THE IRISH BY 17.

Skystream
airlines

Indiana Toll Free 800/552-2580
South Bend 287-5313

Serving:

- Chicago Meigs
- Detroit Metro
- Grand Rapids
- Indianapolis
- Kokomo
- South Bend

THE RAMROD
IT'S FRIDAY-SO ENJOY!!

- Dance all night to live rock and country western music
- All drinks only $1.00
- Pinball and pool table
- NO COVER CHARGE

also: stop in Saturday for our afternoon Jam sessions—come show your talent.

THE RAMROD
511 S. Michigan St.
(Downtown)
289-4709

Open till 3am

must be 21

Shape up the student body . . .

Keep your shape in a shape to be studied. Turn to the fun of Sports Illustrated Court Clubs for special racquetball 'n recreation. Play vigorous singles or doubles on one of our climate-conditioned racquetball courts. If you're in the mood for a little competition, play in one of our fall leagues. Afterwards, refresh in a whirlpool or relax in a sauna...then meet your friends in the comfortable lounge area. We're open 'til midnight every night!

205 West Edison Road, Mishawaka
Phone: 259-8585

Sports Illustrated Court Clubs

SPECIAL STUDENT SAVINGS

- $20 student membership entitles you to every fine service for a year.
- Additional savings are yours at $2/per student anytime courts are not reserved.

ONE HOUR COURT-TIME FREE WITH THIS AD

Dave Gill's

WHAT'S THE WORD, BIRD?

Bars

With hall formal dances just around the first wave of exams, some of the nicer bars or cocktail lounges should be given equal time. It would be hard to make a practice of visiting these places because of the somewhat higher prices for drinks, but when you're dressed up, these are nice places to go.

Doc Pierce's Saloon; 120 N. Main, Mishawaka. A favorite watering hole of one of my housemates. The good Doctor provides a western atmosphere with much better-than-average drinks. It has been rumored that some ND profs have been seen there, so you know it can't be too expensive.

The Down Under Lounge; 910 E. Ireland. Located just west of Scottsdale Mall. The Down Under has a good atmosphere with good service.

Eddie's; 1345 N. Ironwood. Excellent piano bar and good drinks.

Holly's Landing; 1717 Lincolnway East. Even though it's a chain in a five state area, the decor and service are more than adequate for a few peaceful drinks.

Ice House; 100 Center, Mishawaka. The 100 Center is a nice place to go just for the interesting shops. The Ice House makes it even nicer.

Vegetable Buddies; Appearing this week: September 29, 30--Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys; October 2, 3--the movie The Comedy of Terrors; October 4, 5--Fat Richard and the Chicago Daily Blues. It should be noted that Fat Richard once was leader of the Luther Ellison brass section.

Movies

The Sting; October 5, 6; 7, 9:15, 11:30 pm. Engineering Auditorium. Starring Robert Redford, Paul Newman. This one isn't as good after you've seen it once, but the acting, the costumes, and the music are excellent and make it worthwhile to see again.

Somebody Killed Her Husband; Forum I; Starring Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Desi Arnaz, Jr. I won't be a sexist and say that the only good part of this movie would be Fawcett-Majors' body, but I can't believe that anything else she acts (and I use the term loosely) in can have any redeeming social or artistic value.

Dr. Zhivago; October 5; 8 pm; Carroll Hall (SMC). Starring Omar Sharif. Take your winter coat because the winter scenes are real and look so cold that you'll be shivering before you know it. Excellent scenery, music, costumes. Sometimes the plot drags, but it's worth seeing once, at least once without commercials.

Up In Smoke; River Park; 7:30, 9:30 pm. Starring Cheech Marin, Tommy Chong, Stacy Keach. What can be said about Cheech and Chong? The nationally-known comedy duo has moved from albums and concert appearances to movies. If the movie is anything like their live or recorded performances, then the film should be good entertainment. The advertisement reads "Don't go straight to see this movie!", so you can make your own estimations of the film's content.

Foul Play; 2:15, 4:45, 7:15, 9:30. Town and Country II. Starring Chevy Chase and Goldie Hawn. Another "Saturday Night" graduate makes it big with this first-rate spy spoof. Hawn continues the space cadet role she played so well on "Laugh-In" so many moons ago. Good fun.

The French Connection; September 28, 29; 7, 9, 11pm. Engineering Auditorium. Starring Gene Hackman. Film Version of the New York police's bust of a major heroin ring. Fine acting and even finer cinematography.

The Battle of Chile; October 1, 2; 2, 7 pm. Washington Hall. State of Siege; October 4, 5, 6; 6:30, 9 pm. Washington Hall. The last movies (until November) of the Third World Film Festival recount the political strife that has plagued Latin America for centuries. If you haven't seen any of the Festival's previous shows, catch at least one of these.

Animal House; 1:30, 3:40, 5:45, 7:50, 10 pm. Town and Country I. Starring John Belushi. Crazy, hilarious, raunchy, good. All this and more from "Saturday Night's" resident nut, and Second City's outrageous Harold Remus. Collegiate humor at its best. Toga! Toga! Toga!

The Observer
F-page

PBS (Channel 34)

Second City; Every Saturday night, 10pm; The same type of humor that invaded St. Mary's last Thursday appears weekly for a half hour warmup to "Saturday Night Live". If you haven't seen this show before, see it--you'll laugh your ever-lovin' nadsos off.

Other

Character Analysis; 1123 S. Michigan; 272-5891; by appointment; ask for Mrs. Augustine. If things get to be unbearable because of class pressure or you're just plain bored, check this place out. I'm not sure of the cost, but it could make for an interesting evening.

Century Center; September 29; SMC Junior Class Formal.

September 29, 30, October 1; Arts and Crafts Show; 9am-7pm

September 30; Disco 8:30-1am.

October 3; Disco dance classes 6-9pm

Performance

Lu Ann Hampton Lavyer Oberlander; October 6, 7; 8 pm; O'Laughlin Auditorium. ND-SMC Theater kicks off the 1978-79 season with this production from Preston Jones' Texas Trilogy. Definitely worthwhile to see. If you can't make it this week, there will be four performances next week.

Aerosmith; September 30; 8pm. ACC. Any diehard rock and roll fan should enjoy this show as long as Steven Tyler doesn't imitate Jagger too much and as long as the band doesn't play music from their last two albums. ACDC opens for Aerosmith. I've only heard one of their albums and their name fits the music. They couldn't decide what to play or how to play it.

Phil Keaggy and Paul Clark; September 30, 8 pm; Library Auditorium. Sponsored by The Spiritual Rock of Notre Dame. Admission is free.

At The Nazz; Tonight, 'Disco at the Nazz'. Saturday night from 9:30-????, Greg Hull, 12-string guitarist.

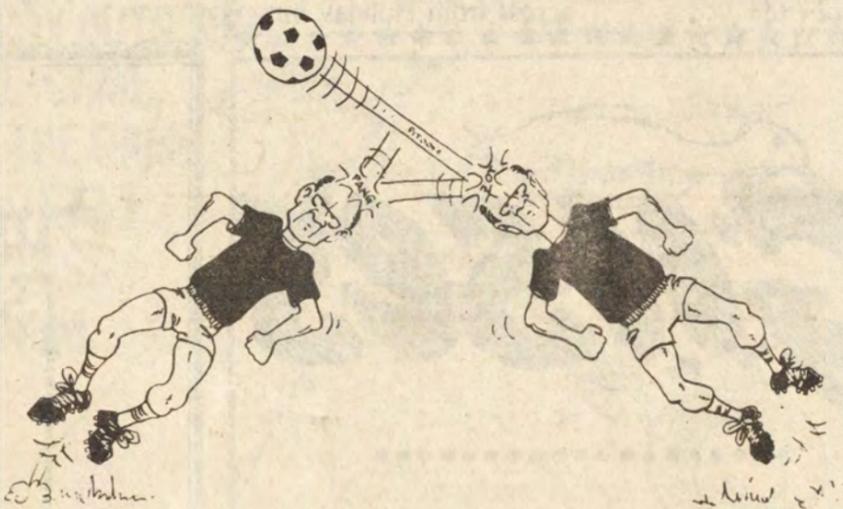

Richard Resch, organist; October 1, 8 pm; Sacred Heart Church.

Notre Dame Woodwind Quintet; October 5; Library Auditorium.

Illustrated by Patrick Byrnes

Sports

Soccer; September 29; 8 pm; Cartier Field. ND vs. Purdue. How many can Rich Hunter's boys win in a row? Catch this amazing team in action!

Cross Country; October 6; Burke Memorial Golf Course. Notre Dame Invitational.

Tennis; October 5; 2 pm; Regina Courts SMC vs. Butler.

Rugby; September 30; 10 am; Stepan Center fields. ND vs. Purdue. Check this out. It's the toughest sport I've ever seen and you might even be lucky enough to get part of the free keg the ruggers have at every game.

Football; ND vs. Purdue September 30; 1:15 pm; ND Stadium. Last week, my editor told me he couldn't go home to Detroit if we lost to Michigan. Since I'm from Indiana, if we don't win this week, both my editor and I will have to stay in South Bend during October break.

CLC sub-committee to study ND over-crowding situation

by Don Schmid

The Campus Life Council's (CLC) sub-committee on overcrowding is beginning an indepth report on the problem after being formed last Monday by Andy McKenna, student body president and chairman of the CLC.

The subcommittee was created in response to a memorandum submitted by Student Body Vice-president Mike Roohan. Members of the committee include Fr. Richard Conyers, rector of Keenan Hall, Mary Ryan, Gary Luchini, and Kurt Wesslen.

The subcommittee will not make specific proposals for change, according to Conyers, but will make a "thorough study of exactly what overcrowding is, with emphasis on objectivity and accuracy."

"Our first priority will be to arrive at a standard by which to judge overcrowding. This norm can be mathematically arrived at specifically, allowing a certain amount of space per student," Conyers stated.

"This committee will serve as the source of information for the CLC, so that it may possibly make recommendations as to the solutions of the problem," Ryan explained.

Members of the subcommittee are in the process of obtaining architectural plans of all the dorms on campus. The next step will be to analyze the numbers of people designated to live in a certain amount of space in each dorm.

Conyers noted that some residence halls such as Stanford, Keenan, Flanner, Lewis, and Grace do not allow for overcrowding. He added that other dorms such as Dillon, Carroll, Sorin, and Holy Cross can be forced into overcrowding because of their architectural design.

"The second step of our plan is to elicit the cooperation of the rectors and presidents of the dorms. We'll go in and look at the rooms with measuring stick in hand," Conyers said.

A key to committee's study will be "the rectors taking a look at their own halls to find not only overcrowding conditions, but unused space that could alleviate part of the overcrowding dilemma" according to Conyers.

Conyers added that dorms such as Carroll and Holy Cross Halls have very large rooms that can be expanded into six, seven, eight, nine man suites.

The committee will also contact Fire Inspector Jack Bland for consultation on overcrowding from a fire safety point of view.

The committee plans to report its findings at the next CLC meeting on Oct. 16.

"This study is long overdue. We don't even have a clear definition of overcrowding yet, just to illustrate how far behind we are at Notre Dame," Conyers stated.

Homecoming packages to go on sale Monday

Homecoming packages will go on sale at 8 a.m. on Monday. The location of the sale will be posted on the front doors of LaFortune at 7 p.m. Sunday night.

Each package contains two general admission tickets to the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh game; Lower arena tickets for the Neil Young concert; a homecoming mum; and a ticket to this year's homecoming dance, the African Queen.

Sale of the packages will be restricted to students and ID cards must be presented. Tickets will be sold on a first come, first serve basis.

Concert series presents Richard Resch

The Notre Dame Concert Series will present Richard Resch, organ, in a solo recital at 8 p.m. Sunday in Sacred Heart Church. The recital, which is open to the public without charge, will follow the evening vespers service in Sacred Heart.

Resch is currently seminary organist and director of music for the Kramer Chapel at Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne. He holds a Bachelor of Music in Church Music from Valparaiso University and a Master of Music in Performance and Church Music from the Eastman School of Music.

Sunday's program comprises works from the German Baroque and from 20th century France. It includes J.S. Bach's chorale prelude on "O Lamm Gottes, Unschuldig" and his Prelude and Fugue in E Minor; the choral prelude "Durch Adams Fall" by Homilius, a successor of Bach at Dresden; a choral variations on the theme "Veni Creator" by the contemporary French organist Durufle, and the Prelude and Fugue in G Minor by Dupre.

SMC
make it happen.
United Way
of St. Joseph County, Inc.

Don't Worry about "Laying an Egg"-Let Us Catch You
At GOOSE'S NEST

SMC Social Commission

Presents its 2nd Annual Octoberfest
Happy Hour

3-6 pm Friday, October 6

We're Looking for Acts NOW

Call Nancy, Francie or Sue at 4165

Deadline -MONDAY, OCT. 2, 1978

SO GET YOUR ACT TOGETHER

Freshman Council organizes

by Ryan Ver Berkmoes

The Freshman Advisory Council, (FAC), under the guidance of Emil T. Hofman, dean of Freshman Year of Studies, is busy organizing for the coming year.

The council was formed three years ago to give freshmen more say in their activities and events. It is made up on one freshman representative from each hall who is chosen by the hall president. This year's council will elect officers to preside over the meetings in a few weeks.

The council is in charge of organizing all the extra-curricular activities for the class. Last year saw Freshman Formal, a skating party, and various movies. These events will be repeated again along with other activities proposed and approved by the council.

The council does not merely concentrate on social functions. It also critiques the courses in the Freshman Year of Studies at the end of the second semester.

Hofman said, "Each year the FAC gets better." He added, "Many of those who serve on it go on to hold more important positions in student government. FAC is a training ground."

The Colonial PANCAKE HOUSE
Family Restaurant

Our Specialty:
Oven Baked
APPLE PANCAKES
Extra large, using fresh apples and pure sugar cinnamon glaze

US 31 (Dixie Hwy) North in Roseland
272-7433 across from Holiday Inn

WINNER OF 6 ACADEMY AWARDS!

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PRESENTS
A CARLO PONTI PRODUCTION
DAVID LEAN'S FILM
OF BORIS PASTERNAK'S
DOCTOR ZHIVAGO
IN PANAVISION® AND METROCOLOR

October 5 - Thursday
7 - Saturday 8:00 p.m.

Carroll Hall - SMC
Admission $1.00

sponsored by SMC Social Commission

GOLISE'S

.....

Riunite Lambrusco $2.40/fifth Whiskey & Vodka $3.99/qrt

.....

Pabst 12pk cans $3.37
Oldstyle 12pk bottles $3.46
Hamms 12pk $3.15
8 pk 8oz BUD $1.90

Chauncey's
Super Submarine Special

2 submarine sandwiches for the price of 1--
Save $1.35

coupon expires 10-1-78

Now serving ice cold fresh apple cider, frozen yogurt and dairy fresh ice cream

Chauncey's Dairy Parlor
1733 South Bend Ave.
Ph. 277-4602

Chauncey's :
it's a natural

Just 5 miles from campus, next to Krogers

Parking shortage affects all

by Margaret R. Burke

Between 12,000 and 13,000 cars invade the Notre Dame campus on an average home football weekend. Who decides where they park and how?

Joseph F. O'Brien, assistant director and business manager of Athletics, handles the issuing of stickers for the 2,600 available spaces in reserved lots A and B, East and West Red Field and the lot beside the Aerospace Building.

O'Brien said "these are the spots in demand" because of their proximity to the football stadium.

Stickers for these lots are set aside for the vehicles of the visiting team, as well as stadium workers, press, radio and television stations.

The remaining stickers are obtained through O'Brien's office by application from season ticket holders.

However, persons who obtained a season ticket recently may still have to park in green field because these stickers are renewable each season by the previous holders.

If cancellations are made, O'Brien explained, "letters received requesting stickers are reviewed and applications are sent out" to fill these cancellations.

This leaves 9,000 to 10,000 unparked cars. Only guests of the Morris Inn who have reservations are allowed to park in the inn's lot.

In order to park in the University Club's parking lot, members--which include the administration staff and faculty members--must go to the club the Monday prior to the game.

They must exchange the parking permit received with their season football tickets for a decal for one of the 237 spaces in the club's lot.

These spaces are assigned each game on a first come first serve basis.

Students are required to vacate C-3 and D-2 parking lots to provide additional paved parking for visitors. The faculty must also vacate their assigned parking spots by 11:00 a.m. the day of the game.

Arthur Pears, director of Security, said faculty and both on and off campus students "can park free before 11 a.m. in orange, yellow, blue or green fields." After 11 a.m., students and faculty, like all the visitors, must pay $2 to park their car.

Saint Mary's Junior Class plans 'Midterm Madness'

The week prior to midterms, Oct. 9-14, has been designated as "Midterm Madness" by the Junior Class at Saint Mary's. The purpose of "Midterm Madness" is to give the students a chance to relax and enjoy themselves before the pressures of tests and papers begin the following week.

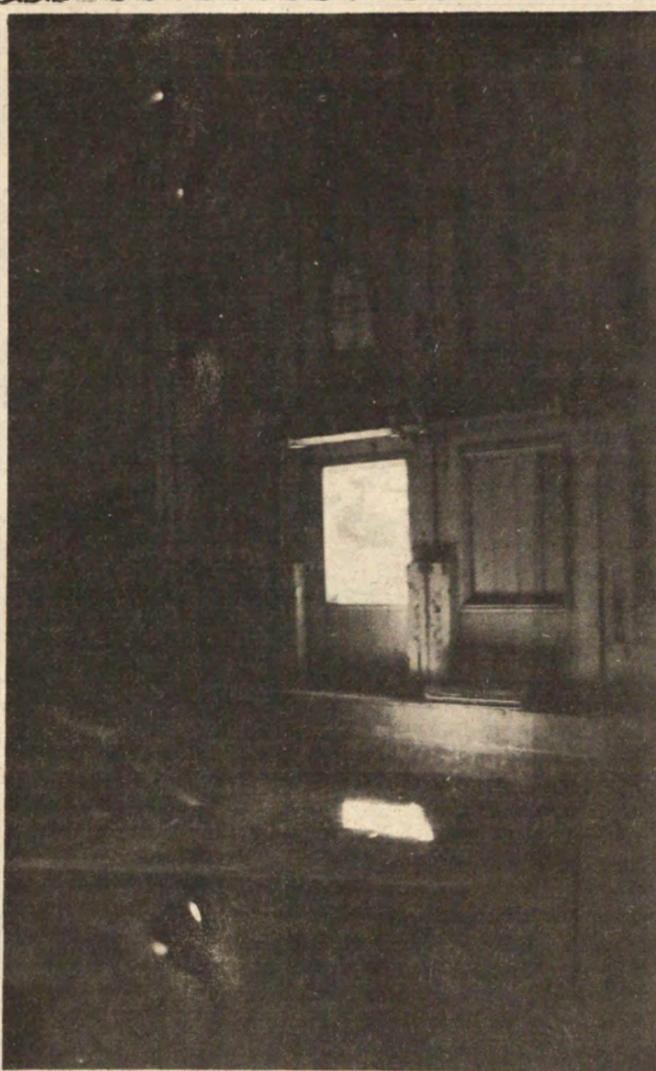

This is the first time "Midterm Madness" has been tried and some of the plans are still tentative. Activities will include a movie, Wednesday, Oct. 11 on Saint Mary's campus and it will be open to all students. Friday, Oct. 13 will offer a party with the theme "Friday the 13th", and students should be prepared to dress appropriately for admission.

Saturday, after the Pitt game, Goose's Nest has been reserved to host such contests as bobbing for apples in beer, disco dancing, and chugging contests. Winners of all events will be awarded prizes. There is also the possibility of raffling off a barrel of liquor.

According to Denise Michlewicz, co-chairperson, "We ask that you remember these plans are tentative and subject to change, but we are looking forward to a week filled with madness." There will be more definite information concerning the specifics later, so keep posted.

North dining hall committee to meet

There will be a meeting of the North Dining Hall Committee of the Food Advisory Board tonight at 6:30 p.m. on the first floor of LaFortune.

Sunlight streams into the Old Fieldhouse in one of these few last bright days. [Photo by Bob Gill.]

World Hunger Coalition meets Sunday

There will be a general meeting of the World Hunger Coalition on Sunday, at 7 p.m. in the Grace Pit. All members are asked to attend.

* BRIDGET MCGUIRE'S * SUPER SPECIALS

- Mon and Tues 7-10 25¢ drafts
- Wed. Ladies Night
All night 1/2 priced mixed drinks
- Happy Hour 4-7 M-F Beer Specials and 1/2 priced mixed drinks
- Pre-Game Special
Double Bloody Mary's $1.00
open at 10am

Great Music and Congenial Atmosphere

Discover our dinner deals!

Save 50¢

This coupon entitles the bearer to the above savings off the regular price of a Chicken Planks Dinner.

Clip this Coupon and Set Sail for Savings at Long John Silver's.

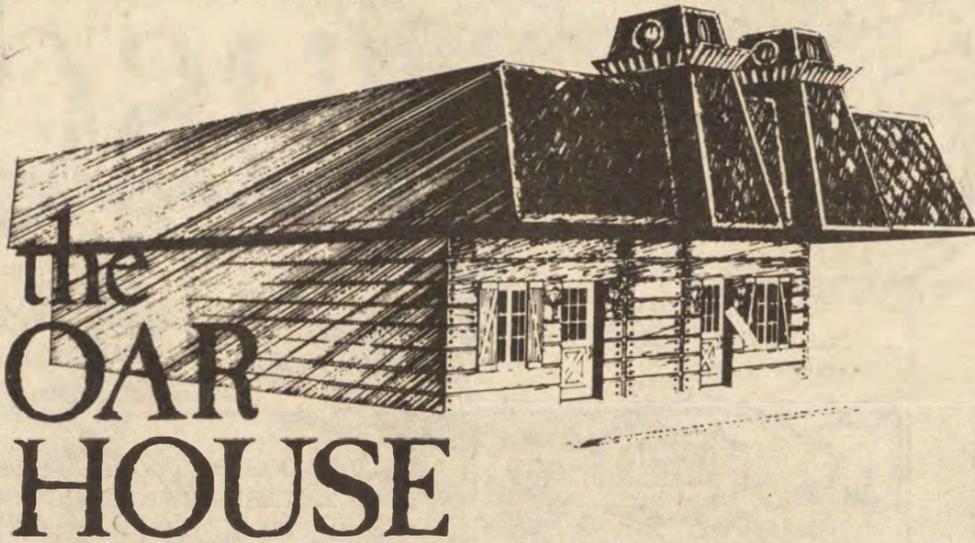

Offer limited: One coupon per person, per visit.

exp 6 Oct. 1978

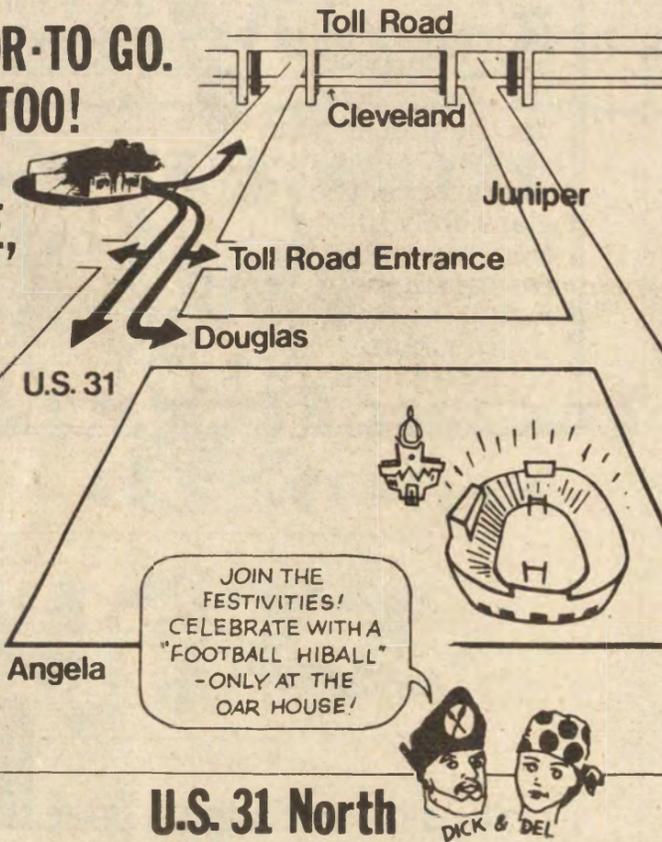

Long John Silver's
SEAFOOD SHOPPES

Good only at:

Roseland Shoppe

BEER, WINE, LIQUOR-TO GO.
HOT CARRY OUTS TOO!
FOR PRE-GAME,
DURING THE GAME,
OR POST-GAME.
EASY ACCESS TO STADIUM.

Phone 272-7818
Carry outs

U.S. 31 North
Bar and dancing till 3 am

Mountaineering #1.

FUNDAMENTALS OF MOUNTAINEERING

What is mountaineering all about? Funny you should ask. Because we just happen to have an answer. (Ah-h, life's little coincidences.) Mountaineering is a skill, a science and an art. Yet anyone with a thirst for excellence and normally developed motor skills can master it. Simply study these fundamentals and follow them faithfully.

1. Step one, appropriately enough, starts by selecting the correct site. To do so, pick up a bottle of Busch. This is commonly called heading for the mountains.

2. Okay, here's where the fun begins. Hold the mountain firmly in your left hand, grasp the mountain top with your right hand and twist the little fella off. There you go.

3. Now for the tricky part. Neophytes, listen up: the proper pour is straight down the center of the glass. Only in this way will the cold, invigorating taste of the mountain come to a head.

4. Once poured, pacing becomes paramount. As any seasoned mountaineer will tell you, the only way to down a mountain is slowly, smoothly and steadily - savoring every swallow of the brew that is Busch. If you're a bit awkward at first, don't be discouraged. Perfection takes practice. Soon enough, having emptied your glass and filled your soul, you too will be a mountaineer.

Fig. 1 Before Mountaineering. Fig. 2 During Mountaineering. Fig. 3 After Mountaineering.

BUSCH[®]

Don't just reach for a beer. BUSCH Head for the mountains.

Wilkinson speaks on 'repressive legislation'

Frank Wilkinson, executive director of the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation, will speak today at 3:30 p.m. in Room 101 of the Law School Building on the topic "Criminal Code Reform: Why It Will Take Away Your Civil Liberties."

In 1973, major legislation was proposed to reform the federal criminal laws. Although many of the changes merely involve codification and simplification of existing laws, there are also many new provisions which would increase the penalties for certain crimes.

Some new provisions would authorize additional wiretapping surveillance, and would have adverse effects on the freedom of press, speech and assembly. The possible passage of this proposed legislation—which is known as Bill

Poll shows Brademas slightly ahead

[Continued from page 1.]

He is also a member of the boards of Saint Mary's, American University and the Woodrow Wilson Center for Scholars. Brademas is also a member of the Trilateral Commission.

Thorson is a political science professor at Indiana University at South Bend. He received his doctorate from Princeton in 1960 and has masters degrees from both Princeton and Indiana University at Bloomington.

Thorson has served on the faculties of the University of Wisconsin at Madison, the University of California at Berkeley, the University of the Philippines, Northwestern University and the University of Toronto. In the spring of 1975 he was Fulbright Professor of American civilization at the University of Trondheim in Norway.

In 1963, Thorson received a Guggenheim Fellowship to Oxford University in England.

Thorson returned to the 3rd district permanently in 1970 to head the political science department at IUSB. In addition, Thorson has written several books on politics.

Saint Mary's announces College-to-Career Days

by Beth Mitchell

Saint Mary's alumnae who are presently employed in different fields will be invited to hold informal discussions with students interested in their career. "College-to-Career Days," a series of discussions, workshops and demonstrations from Nov. 7 to 9, will be open to all students to explore career possibilities.

The activity is co-sponsored by Saint Mary's Student Government and the Counseling and Career Department.

Students will be able to ask questions on the advantages of certain majors, as opposed to others, as well as what courses alumnae would recommend for a particular field.

The graduates will have the chance to describe their experiences in the business world, from their days as Saint Mary's to their present positions. The students will have the opportunity to receive first-hand information on careers.

"College-to-Career Day's" was born when members of the Student government and Counseling and Career Department found that there was a desire for a program to give additional exposure and direction in students' anticipated careers.

For three days, discussions, workshops and demonstrations will be held continuously throughout campus. All students are cordially invited to attend. Because final plans have not yet been set,

S. 1—raises important constitutional issues.

Wilkinson has been a strong advocate for civil rights and civil liberties for 25 years. He has written a number of articles in these areas, and has given hundreds of talks to student, professional, business and labor organizations.

The entire University community is invited to his talk which is sponsored by Joseph Bauer, associate professor of law, and the Indiana Civil Liberties Union.

Paul Clark

presents concert

Paul Clark will present a concert Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Library Auditorium. For the last six years, Clark has been actively involved in the development of contemporary gospel music. He presently lives in Kansas City and is an active leader in Agape Fellowship.

Forum discusses policies

[Continued from page 1.]

indicated that he believed the forum to be inadequate for getting at the complex type of issues that were raised. "The only way I know of doing it is through your hall situation and through the CLC, to make appropriate changes and be heard," he added.

After the forum, student body president Andy McKenna noted that although the turnout was a clear demonstration of student concern, he wished that there could have been more of an exchange of ideas.

"A lot of important issues were raised," he said, "But we can't deal with these things conclusively in this forum - the place for it is the CLC."

"We have the vehicle for change, but it hasn't been used," he continued. "With the open attitude of Fr. Van, the CLC can be used effectively."

requests for specific fields to be represented may be taken to the Counseling and Career Department for additional investigation.

These people are engaged in planning the 1978 United Way campaign: Back Row: Prof. F. Dutile, Prof. P. Gleason, Prof. K. Lauer, John Monhaut, Rev. Richard Congers. Middle Row: Mrs. M. J. Lloyd, Charles DelGrande, Michele Renaldo. Front Row: Thomas Soma, Robert Fesler, Prof. J. Daschbach. [Photo by David Rumbach]

ND vs Purdue

Kegger Special

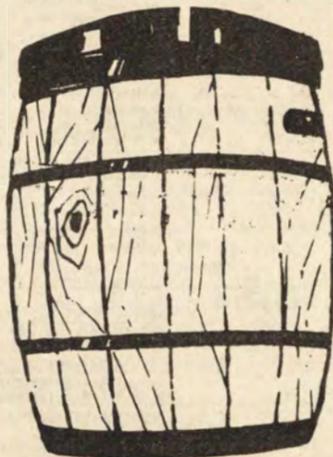

at

WAYNE'S OAK DAIRY PARTY STORE

WITH EACH KEG PURCHASED

Keg Party Package

WE WILL SUPPLY AT NO CHARGE

50 cups

27lbs of ice

tapper rental

tub rental

open 9 to midnight mon-sat

• open 12 to midnight sunday

call 684-4950

STATELINE ROAD IN NILES ONE BLOCK EAST OF US 31

SU Social Commission presents:

NAZZ Disco

Where: Nazz, basement of La Fortune

NAZZ

Time: 9-1 am
Friday Sept. 29

Free

Classified Ads

NOTICES

Typing done my home. Fast, accurate, reasonable. Close to campus. Phone 272-7866

Organizational Meeting Society for Jungian/Archetypal Psychology Sunday, October 1 7:30 P.M. Wilson Commons

Special Discount to all N.D. and SMC students on automotive parts. All you need is your ID card. Hoffman Bros. Auto Electric 1101 E. Madison South Bend.

Contact Lens Wearers. Save on brand name hard or soft lens supplies. Send for free illustrated catalog. Contact Lens Supplies, Box 7453 Phoenix, Arizona 85011

Get happy. at Pandora's inaugural Happy Hour. Half price special on used books from 3-6 p.m. Pandora's 233-2342

Gay students of Notre Dame Gay Information Write P.O. Box 206

NOTICE

Wanted: organizations desiring $$$ for their treasury gain by selling visors at Purdue game - Ace- 234-1720

Morrissey Loan Fund
Student Loans $20-$150 1 percent interest Due in 30 days one day wait. LaFortune Basement M-F 11:30-12:30

Typist will do typing. Neat, accurate. Reasonable rates. Call: 287-5162

FOR RENT

no ads today - sorry

LOST & FOUND

Lost: Men's black billfold outside O' Shaughnessy on Tuesday September 26. Need desperately. If found call 233-8622. Reward.

Found: 1 student season football ticket. Call and Identify - 3441.

Found: pair of glasses behind Stepan Center. Photo-gray with brown frames. Contact the Observer and Identify them and they're yours again

Lost: light blue warmup jacket in front of Morrissey Hall. If found please call #3679

Lost: Gold bracelet in or around N.D. Math Building. Pat 4-1-5425

Lost: from black jacket in Stadium - Photo desk Brown frames prescription glasses in brown case. Reward. Call Chris Robins WNDU 233-7111

FOR SALE

Have 1 GA Pitt ticket will trade for 1 GA Miami and $5 Joe 1069

/&#? VW convertible extra sharp rebuild engine and transmission. 277-4082

/&#? FIAT 124 Sports Convertible Very good condition throughout 277-4082

DOES YOUR WARDROBE HAVE THE BACK TO SCHOOL BLUES? Dress it up with 14-18K Gold Jewelry! Call Marilyn for a display of exquisite chains, bracelets, rings, etc...3848

ND faculty member selling 1970 Chrysler. Excellent running condition. Roomy $850. 288-6013

For Sale: a real snow bird. 1964 Rambler Classic V8 54,000 miles. Never saw snow or rust. Florida driven. Power steering, brakes, and windows. Automatic, air conditioned. This car is in mint condition! one of a kind - $1000.00 Privately owned 255-8660 after 6 pm

WANTED

I have money do you have 2 GA Purdue tix Call Jenni 8008

Need two tickets to any home game. Call Dan. 3401

Klebie's buddy needs 4 GA and 1 student ticket for Purdue. Call 8872

Need ride to Phila. or Allentown during break. Will share driving and expenses Call Bill - 1487

Wanted: 2 Purdue tix Call Higgs 4578

Want tix to Pitt, Tennessee. Call Steve 1478

Need many Purdue tickets. (sorry: GA's only for all you pessimists) call 1419 the money will be as good as the tickets. Ask for Joe or Ralph

My in-laws will be here for the Purdue game. Need 20 GA or student tickets. Call 272-5626 before 10 p.m.

Need one Purdue ticket student or GA ticket Please. Call Linda 4-1-4614

Need two GA tickets to Tennessee. Call Tony 6718

Need two G.A. Purdue and Miami tickets. Call Joan: 1293

Wanted: Purdue GA tix- big bucks available - Call Chris- 4578

I need 1 GA tix to Miami Call Bill 3169

Wealthy father needs 2-4 GAs for Purdue Call Mark 8605

Need 2 GA Purdue tickets Call John 234-1821

Need 1-3 G.A. tickets for Purdue. Call Jim 6939

Desperately do not need any football tix for any game whatsoever. Money is an object. Will not pay big bucks. Don't call Scoop at 1771.

I need 4 GA Purdue tickets. I can't pay a lot, but will listen to all offers. I'd appreciate any help, Thanks, John 283-1044

Need 2 or 4 GA tix for Purdue Mike 1610

Need GA tickets for Purdue. Call 8685.

I need one student Purdue ticket. Ask for John - 1044

Need two GA tickets to Pitt game. Call Pete 1460

Big Bucks!!! Need 2 GA's for Purdue. Call Walt 1586

Wanted: 2 GA tickets for Purdue game. Call Mike 7838

Wanted: 2 or 4 GA tickets for any home football game. Call Mike 7838

Need 2 GA tickets for Purdue. Call Herman 3549

Need 4 GA Purdue tickets Call Jeananne 6561

Need 1 Purdue ticket, Student or GA. Please Call Jeff at 1000 Will pay$$$

I will pay someone excellent money for 2 Purdue GA's. Call me now at 8518

Need 2 GA Pitt tix badly - Call Ken 289-8657

Wanted: 2 Purdue GA's for my parents who think I already have them. Call Brad at 3504

I need 2 Purdue student tickets. Call John at 1991

Wanted: tickets to any and all remaining home games. Call 3498. Ask for Marty or Mark.

Needed-Purdue G.A. tix Call John 1874

LSAT tutor wanted to teach small classes. Excellent pay. Call collect (317) 403-7541

Needed Purdue GA tickets Call 8432

Desperately need 2 GA Purdue tickets. Chuck 289-6721

I need 5 GA Miami tickets (not necessarily together) Call John at 1991

HELP WANTED station attendant needed. Experience preferred. Evenings and weekend. Apply in person. Mike's Maple Lane Amoco 18492 St. Rd. 23

Desperately Need 2 GA tickets for Tennessee and 5 others for any home game. Call John at 6934

Needed! Purdue tickets!!! Call 5754. Sue Pay Bucks

Need 1 or 2 GA Purdue tickets. Money no problem. Call Tom 3010

Help. I need Purdue tickets!!! Call Anne # 4236

Wanted: one student football ticket for Purdue game. Call 4-1-4243

Addressers Wanted Immediately! Work at home-no experience necessary-- excellent pay. Write American Service, 8350 Park Lane, Suite 127, Dallas, TX 75231

Need GA tix for Purdue and Pitt Joe 1478

Need GA's to Pitt Money no object!!! Call Tom 277-1071

Wanted: 2-4 GA tix for Purdue. Please help! I'm desperate. Call Laura 6731

Help wanted: Anastasio's Restaurant 1611 South Main Street. Call: 234-325 WELCOME ND-SMC STUDENTS!!!

Need Purdue tix, student or GA Call 1842

Need GA Purdue tix Steve 8422

I am really sick and tired of all these people who need Purdue tickets...

Mom and Dad desperately need 2 Purdue tickets. Call Dan 8252

Angels' star buried

Friends mourn Bostock

LOS ANGELES [AP] - Funeral services were held Thursday for baseball star Lyman Bostock, and California Angels teammate Ken Brett told mourners: "He enlivened our clubhouse and took us out of the darkness of defeat. But he was a winner. He enjoyed life so much because he had so little at the beginning."

Bostock, 27, was shot to death Saturday night while riding in a car in Gary, Ind. After three seasons with the Minnesota Twins, he had signed a five-year contract with the Angels calling for $2.7 million.

"When he found the road to success, his first thoughts were to help the people who had helped him," said Brett, who is the Angels' player representative.

"We are all better people for having known Lyman and having him touch our lives."

There was a standing room throng of about 1,000 for the services at the Vermont Square United Methodist Church and another 500 were outside.

The Rev. John C. Bain said, "Lyman was compassionate, fair, honest, a strong competitor and generally full of fun."

The entire Angels' squad, headed by General Manager Buzzie Bavasi and Manager Jim Fregosi attended the services. Owner Gene Autry does not attend funerals because of personal religious beliefs.

Bostock's widow, Youvene, and his mother, Annie, were flanked by the teammates and Lyman's four brothers. His father, Lyman Sr., who had played in the Negro American League, also was in attendance along with several players from other major league baseball clubs.

There were flowers from virtually every club. The Angels' floral display depicted their scoreboard.

Following the funeral, burial was in Inglewood Cemetery.

Bostock was killed while the Angels were in Chicago on their last road trip of the 1978 season, their most successful ever.

He was visiting relatives in nearby Gary when the fatal shotgun blast was fired through the window of a car driven by Bostock's uncle, Thomas Turner.

Police said the target apparently was one of the two women in the car, Barbara Smith, the estranged wife of Leonard Smith, who was arrested on a murder charge.

Bostock was active in helping youth and one of the youth activities supported by the player was give $1,000 by former President Richard Nixon on Wednesday. Nixon wrote Autry:

During his three years with Minnesota, Bostock became one of major league baseball's top hitters and his .336 average in 1977 was second in the American League only to teammate Rod Carew.

Becoming a free agent at the end of last season, Bostock chose to sign with the Angels after several other teams bid for his services.

Need two GA Purdue tickets. Call Mark at 6718

Sister and fianca need 2 GA tickets for Michigan State Call Anne 6816

Needed desperately: 2 GA tickets for Purdue. Will pay good bucks 2-4996 Leslie

Sister and Cuz want to see Purdue boil! Call Ken 3597

Help! Need GA for Pitt. Will buy or trade student pass to any remaining home game. Call Rose 1320

Need VOLUNTEERS to sell Tennessee GA tix. Call Chris 1764

Need two GA Purdue tickets. For a lifelong friend plus cash call 1702!

Help me prove that we have a better team than Northwestern. I need two Purdue GA or student tickets for doubting friends. Bob 8717

Need 1 student ticket for Purdue John 8549

Needed: 2 or 3 GA Purdue tix. Call Mike 3003

Need 4 Purdue tickets Tim 3646

Need 8 GA Purdue tickets. Call Ruth 7136

Need up to 10 Purdue ga tickets. Please call Tim or Joe at 1850 or 1775. Thanks.

Need 2 or 3 GA Purdue. Call Barb 8038

Need Purdue tickets. Call 8928 or 8991

Need 2 Purdue tickets. Call Bill 862

Need 2 GA tix for Tennessee. Call Jim- 1816

Female grad student seeks serious dance partner. (6 feet or over) Call Carole 7770

Wanted: Accounting major to set up business working at leisure hours. $5.00 per hour. 283-7735/36 Call for Basil, leave phone number

WANTED: Two GA or Student tickets for Purdue - call 3489

Would appreciate 2 GA Pitt tickets. Please call Teri 7993

I need just 1 GA or student ticket for Pitt game. Call Jan 8154 anytime.

Need two GA tickets for Pitt and Tennessee. Call Susan 4-4541

PERSONALS

To Mrs. Popovich,
Thank for letting me write so many personals without getting mad at me... at least, not too mad at me! Scoop

Why is it that the new YES album "Tourmate" was released last Monday, (Jon Anderson told me so...) and these stupid midwest record stores won't get it until Friday?! PS- Happy belated birthday Rick!

To whomever call the 911 Club last nite, loved your voice. If you're really as "lonely" as you say, come to the section party Saturday. There will be lots of guys there...

The Club

Wiggs, P.P. Jules-C, Love you loads!

Morg-Z

Goo Goo Eyes:
How about some positive reinforcement? Practice makes perfect! Love, Your phenomenal SMC chick

For anyone who doubted-Michele Kelly, Sarah Kunst, Jane Knight and Rosemary Mills are still living in 353 Farley. The question is - When is anybody home?

Dear D.K. (king as in disco duck) and S.M. Reporter. As a victim of your column I am happy today - It is your birthday - Have a Happy One! (HA HA!) I hope you make a number of trips back fro from the lake, wet from curly head to webbed feet (those banana boats)! B.N.

I hate disco.
I hate disco!

Take notice. Oct. 1 is Don Pasquale's birthday. The family wants you to wish him a happy birthday - or else we will make you an offer you cannot refuse. Truly, Sons of Lucca Brazzi.

Seal, Happy 18th Birthday, Sunday Better take two aspirin Monday morning - you'll need it! Doc

Oink!Oink! Happy Birthday Early, CE CE... Love, The Porquers

Ravishing aphrodite sought to accompany humble adonis to aeromsmith concert. Must have strong Dionysian proclivities. Call after -6:00 pm explaining why you qualify. #3748

Q What is an Urban Plunge?
A Something very much worth looking into.

Wanted: 2 GA tickets to Pittsburgh. Call Nick collect at (315) 457-5586.

There is a meeting of the ND Ham Radio Club on Sunday night at 7:00 on the 12th floor of Grace - Come join us!

Mom and Dad, Ready for a wild weekend? Love, Keith, Carolee, Sheri, Kathy.

George, Happy 21st and many more

Bird

Bill, Louisville, the Falls or Route 44 It's yours on your half!!! Trouble

AMERICAN FOXES! Czechoslovakian swingers Jorge and Yortuk still on campus! Call them on the party line - 3489 ask for action!

Dear 4 Mini-Moons, I'd howl under your stars any night!!!! Wolfman

Father George - We want to know who SHE is! Love, Sticks and Fingers

Dear B-SMC Please say something "meaningful and relevant!"
your majors in Yo-Yoism

Drugs - I'm hooked! (any suggestions?)

ME

To Mari Jean and Kathleen, Congratulations Love, 3EW Stanford

Momma Cuz, Happy "39" from my end of the country! Keep up the good work! Lovek your favorite son

RKD, Happy belated fifteenth from me. I never thought Li! Abner could do this. P.J.D. PS Double Ditto

Pat Gunning - DAP (two of them!) From 5-A Flanner

Don't hibernate on Oct. 14. Join Skipper and Freddy at the African queen Homecoming Dance.
Lisa
Happy Birthday (one day later)

To All Those It May Concern: herewith is your raminder that the party is tonite at 9:00 until? The address is 711 West Colfax. So try and come!

Andy

P.S. That means you Mr. Gorham, Carey, M.B., Antonia, Mr. Hull, Ann

Today is Chris Simony's birthday 4-1-5773 - call her up and sing a bar of "Happy Birthday"

SWS, Happy 23 and many more to come. Love, TDH

Jim Macke on 4th floor St. Ed's Wish you best of luck Sat. on MCATS

We hereby officially nominate Dick "Geek" Norton for the office of Dome Princess. Dick will accept congratulatory calls personally at phone no. 3467

John Baby, Get rid of that Polly chick and we can go to the formal in style...You've heard of "Weekend in Cotton" well how about "Weekend in Cleveland?"

Kissy Lips

Bob, if you crawl over to my room on your knees, maybe I'll forgive you for breaking our dinner date! Kim 329

Mom Russell, Great to have you here. Thanks for bringin the sun too!

Tune in to WSND-AM Tuesday night at 11 pm and get blasted with Joe Joyce on "blasts from the past" -where all the good songs have gone.-

Joe Stachura, welcome to Notre Dame. Hope you don't get too "boiled" when the Irish stomp Purdue!!!! Tim and Joe

To anyone who cares in the least-the section party has now been rescheduled for SATURDAY not Friday. Be there!!! 911 Club

PS-Tracy, your friend Alby can stay as long as you come to the party with 2000 female friends

Hey there Margie Baby - How you be? Thanks for everything!!!!

To Tom Soma on his 21st birthday: may you make friends with whom you please, and please those whom you befriend, and cherish the difference in the snow. A Rose

Toots,
T.G.I.F.

228 Breen-Phillips.
You wanted a personal, you got a personal. Hi Kathy.

C.C.
Flanner Hall is in a frenzy.

The winner of the Marie Osmond look-alike contest is...

MEMO TO: Mr. Tom Behney FROM: The Boss
There will be no more S&M staff boxes. There will be no more S&M personals. Please. SAO

Everyone who thinks Caria McCaughey is beautiful, talented, charming, witty, and graceful, give her a call and tell her so. (Even if you don't think so, call her anyway. She's a very lonely girl!) 1283.

Mary C. - One Flow Over the Jailbird's Nest.

For Mary on turning 21.
Time for kisses and much fun.
Now you can legally drink.
Never again wind up in the klink.
So go to the Library and have a few glasses.
Then tell the vice squad they are all a--s.
Signed Kibi, Labatia, Mervin, Kit Lola, Murph, Singer, Nanci, Brillo, and Lowri

I hate to tell you, but there is no Library any more. It is now something else.

Guidry four-hits Blue Jays; Yanks maintain game lead

NEW YORK [AP] - Lefthander Ron Guidry fired a four-hitter for his 24th victory of the season as the first-place New York Yankees defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 3-1 Thursday night, edging a notch closer to a third straight American League East championship.

The victory reduced the Yanks' magic number for clinching the division title to three, and helped keep their lead over second-place Boston at one game.

Guidry, 24-3, struck out nine, shattering the club record of 239 set by Hall of Famer Jack Chesbro in 1904. Guidry finished the game with 243.

The Yankee ace was locked in a tight duel with Balor Moore, 6-9, with the score tied 1-1 until the sixth inning. Thurman Munson opened the Yankee sixth with a single and moved to second as Reggie Jackson walked. When Moore fell behind Lou Piniella on the count, Tom Buskey relieved for the Blue Jays.

Piniella's roller advanced the runners and Graig Nettles was walked intentionally, loading the bases. Chris Chambliss grounded to first, but Doug Ault, trying for the fourth play at the plate, threw the ball away, allowing Munson and Jackson to score.

Bosox 1, Tigers 0

BOSTON [AP] - Jim Rice drilled his 45th home run and Mike Torrez pitched a three-hitter for his first victory since Aug. 18 as the Boston Red Sox edged the Detroit Tigers, 1-0, Thursday night for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Torrez, 0-6 in eight starts during his prolonged slump, survived unusual wildness in overpowering the Tigers as the Red Sox completed a three-game series sweep with their ninth victory in their last 11 games. He walked seven.

The Red Sox backed Torrez, now 16-12, with four double plays, each coming after a Detroit batter had led off an inning with a walk.

Torrez also was saved by center fielder Fred Lynn, who fielded a single by Milt May with two out in the fourth and fired a strike to the plate to cut down Jason Thompson trying to score from second.

Detroit rookie Kip Young, 6-7 since being called up from the minors July 20, allowed three hits, but was victimized by Rice leading off the fourth.

Valpo first victim of Belles

by Beth Huffman
Sports Writer

Saint Mary's volleyball team rolled over Valparaiso in a major upset to begin its season play on Wednesday evening. SMC held its own during the first game of the tight match, but ended on the losing side, 12-15. Saint Mary's then blasted away three straight game wins, 15-13, 15-12, and 15-12, to take the match.

Coach Wilma Aitcheson described the Valparaiso team as "star-studded" and loaded with scholarship players. Both coach Aitcheson and fellow SMC coach Betty Maroni expresses deep satisfaction with the team in the upset win.

Coach Maroni commented with enthusiasm: "I thought it (match) was fantastic!"

Freshman setter, Amy Morris, led the team in performance, along with good spiking by Amy Terry and Mary King. Other starters included Kathy Cahill, co-captain Kathy Monahan and captain Joanie Imler.

SMC boosted its season record to 2-0 by tromping the Notre Dame gals, Thursday night, 15-13 and 15-5. Monahan headed the team's attack with excellent setting.

Monahan and Imler spirited the team with excellent leadership. Saturday, Angela Athletic Facility will be the site for a tri-match with Huntington, Notre Dame, and Saint Mary's. Match play will begin at 8 a.m.

Irish win second straight

by Kathy Campanella
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's field hockey team traveled to Taylor

University on Wednesday, and recorded its second win of the season by defeating the home team by a score of 1-0.

As the score would indicate, it was largely a defensive contest. The first half remained a scoreless period despite the offensive efforts of both teams. During the first half, Taylor was awarded thirteen penalty corners, each of which is considered an advantageous situation in which to score. The Irish were not intimidated by this, as they showed their defensive skill by continually breaking up the play.

Overall, Taylor dominated the half, leading in both possession time of the ball and shots on goal. It was the outstanding play of the Notre Dame goal defense, led by goalkeeper Mary Hums and sweeper Ann Boland, which kept Taylor from scoring.

During the second half, the Irish rallied their offense against the defensively strong Taylor team. With a renewed team effort, Notre Dame repeatedly drove the ball into the Taylor half of the field, and with 11:23 gone by, thruster Carrie Rooney scored.

Heated play continued throughout the period as Taylor strove to tie the game. But the Irish held on, even to the very end when Taylor put together its final offensive drive with less than ten seconds left in the game.

This win gives Notre Dame a record of 2-0. On Saturday, the Irish will defend their record against the field hockey team from Saint Mary's College.

Rally scheduled

The "Beat Purdue" pep rally will be held at 7 p.m. today at Stepan Center. Featured speakers for the warm-up to Saturday's game include Irish linebacker coach George Kelly, players Mike Calhoun and Vagas Ferguson, and Notre Dame names of the past Terry Brennan, Jim Lynch and Nick Rassas.

Bengal workouts

The Novice Bengal Bout Workouts are currently being held from 3:30 to 5:00 Monday through Friday at the Boxing Room in the Hockey Arena of the ACC. All novices are encouraged to come out.

Notre Dame will attempt to snare its 25th successive soccer victory tonight at Cartier Field against Purdue. [Photo by Lee Sender]

Weekend of WSND sports

Join WSND, AM 640, this weekend for the following special sports programming.

Saturday

1:25 p.m. - Notre Dame vs. Purdue Football, live from Notre Dame Stadium with Tony Pace and Greg Meredith.

6:00 p.m. - Sports Extra and College Football Scoreboard with Lou Severino.

Craig Chval

11:00 p.m. - Notre Dame Football Highlights with Paul Stauder and Lou Severino.

Sunday

6:00 p.m. - Campus Corner with Brian Beglane.

6:30 p.m. - Pro Football Report with Tony Pace and Greg Meredith.

9:00 p.m. - Speaking of Sports with Paul Stauder, Lou Severino, Frank LaGrotta and Brian Beglane.

Tony Pace

Classic Blunders

Referees

The referees of the National Football League are beginning to feel pressure, the pressure of making poor calls. Calls which affect the outcome of a game.

Last season there were several poor calls, including two which conceivably altered the division title winners in the AFC East and Central Divisions.

Baltimore won the Eastern Division title when a referee's whistle nullified an obvious fumble in the season's finale. Commissioner Pete Rozelle publicly apologized to the Houston Oilers after a referee's mistake. Had that game been awarded to the Oilers they would have been the Central Division champs.

In the four weeks of the 1978 season there have already been two classic blunders. The Raiders stole a game from the Chargers by throwing, pushing and kicking, a "fumble" into the end zone. Dave Casper fell on the ball in the end zone and the Raiders had a cheap touchdown and victory.

Last Sunday the Steelers and Browns were tied 9-9 after regulation play and went into overtime. The Steelers won the coin toss and chose to receive. Larry Anderson took the kickoff near the goal line and raced up field. Anderson either slipped or tripped over the feet of one of his blockers about the 20-yard line. Knowing he was not down, Anderson got up and continued to run. He subsequently fumbled and the Browns recovered deep in Pittsburgh territory. Just kick a field goal and win, right? Wrong, the referee said it was no fumble. The Steelers then drove for the winning touchdown.

What do these mistakes prove? Something that has been known all along: referees are human and make mistakes.

Should there be some system whereby referees' calls can be reviewed and changed if needed? Yes, but only in crucial game situations. Maybe each team could have the opportunity to review one call per game. If they asked for a review and it was determined that the referees were correct, they should be assessed a penalty - maybe fifteen yards and loss of down. This penalty would discourage use of the review mechanism unless it was necessary.

If the NFL does not put in some sort of review procedure, this could be another season when referees' calls are the most talked about matter in professional football.

Grid Dust - Claude Humphrey's retirement from the Atlanta Falcons, effective immediately, came as a shock to everyone. The once-stingy Falcon defense has been a little easier to penetrate this season, and Humphrey's loss should make it even weaker. . . . Jet quarterback Richard Todd is the fourth signal caller to be seriously injured this season.

The Jets will suffer without Todd because only second-year man Matt Robinson and rookie Pat Ryan back up Todd. . . . Calvin Hill sure regained his desire to play football in a hurry. After retiring from the Redskins this summer he waited about six weeks before he decided to sign with the Cleveland Browns. He'll be in uniform this Sunday. . . . Seattle linebacker Sammy Green has been charged with second degree rape, but the Seattle management thinks he's innocent and is backing him all the way. They said they want him to "clear his name". . . . Packers' running back Terrell Middleton has played well thus far and has helped greatly in the Pack's three wins.

A Growing Game

Spectating

Notre Dame's soccer team is a little bit like the overweight 12-year-old who didn't really fit in with his classmates. Instead, he would terrorize the younger schoolboys every chance he got. But in the end, he would get his come-uppance from someone his age.

The Irish have done more than their share of pounding lumps on overmatched opponents this fall. Eight straight wins to open the season have given Notre Dame a 24-game winning streak, the longest in the nation. The Irish have yet to lose since becoming a varsity sport early in the 1977 season.

Tonight, however, when the Irish look across the field during warm-ups, they will not see jerseys bearing names of colleges that they can't pronounce.

Tonight, the Irish will be ripe for their come-uppance.

Other than wins over Michigan and Indiana Tech, Notre Dame has yet to be tested while outscoring its opposition, 53-4. But the Irish will have more than ample opportunity to prove themselves in the upcoming four weeks. Looming on the horizon are road games at Dayton and perennial power Indiana, and a return match at home with Dayton.

The game with Purdue tonight has great significance for head coach Rich Hunter's team. The Boilermakers were Notre Dame's first opponent after becoming a varsity sport, and the Irish responded with a 2-1 victory.

But with the help of "the world's greatest student body", the game could take on an added importance. Because the Irish, despite their flawless record, are fighting for recognition. And a healthy crowd at Cartier Field would put the pressure on the Irish kickers. Nobody needs to be reminded how fickle Notre Dame fans are.

Hunter and his players are fighting an uphill battle in their quest to be noticed. The day when soccer players were automatically placed in one of two categories--commies or fags--is only a painful memory. But public acceptance of soccer as a spectator sport is agonizingly slow.

Nobody is more aware of that than Hunter, who predicts that it will be several years before soccer builds a strong following among Notre Dame students. "Notre Dame is still very football-orientated," says Hunter, "which is good. I just think it will take some time before the student body takes to soccer."

Part of the problem may lie in the nature of collegiate soccer. While most students can easily differentiate between good and bad teams in football and basketball, it's not so easy to separate the wheat from the chaff in soccer.

Just the other day, Hunter received a letter from the soccer coach at Rockhurst College in Kansas City. The coach wrote to recommend a player who was interested in the Notre Dame soccer program.

Almost as an afterthought, he mentioned that he was interested in starting a home-and-home series between the two schools. "Rockhurst would probably kill us," said Hunter. "It would be great for their program to be able to say that they beat Notre Dame--that's the Notre Dame mystique. If we did beat them, everybody would say big deal, but if we lost, everybody would wonder how we lost to Rockhurst."

Hunter doesn't seem to be on a frantic timetable to take the campus by storm. "We have to build a winning program first," says Hunter. "And then we'll build student interest."

With the nation's longest winning streak, though, it looks like Hunter has held up his part of the bargain already. Now it's up to the only student body ever to be named the MVP of a nationally-televised basketball game.