

The Observer

Vol. XIII, No. 60

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and st. mary's

Tuesday, December 5, 1978

Anti-shah movement launches slowdowns

TEHRAN, Iran [AP] - Thousands of oil workers, again spearheading the anti-shah movement, launched a new round of work slowdowns yesterday hoping to topple Shah Mohannad Reza Pahlavi by drying up Iran's all-important oil revenues, reliable sources reported.

In Tehran, three days of massive and bloody anti-government protests appeared to be winding down yesterday. But in a new twist to what has been a one-sided struggle by unarmed dissidents against the military's guns, an urban guerrilla band attacked a police station, killing one officer and wounding another.

Youthful protesters also set fire to a bank in the heart of the city, causing considerable damage. But otherwise the armored military patrols stationed at key points in the city seemed generally in control.

The government reported its troops killed 17 persons and wounded 50 in Tehran and the southern city of Isfahan since the latest violence exploded Friday night. But Diplomatic sources put the death toll at more than 30 here and in provincial cities, and some of the shah's opponents claim as many as 3,000 persons have been killed, a figure most observers believe to wildly exaggerated.

"We're fighting to the death now. We have shed too much blood to stop," one militant who identified himself only as Hassan told a reporter at the burial of a half-dozen slain protesters in a Tehran cemetery.

"The shah is the enemy of the people and of Islam," he said. "We will kill all who support him." The opposition is both religious and political - orthodox Moslems who want to reverse the shah's Westernization of this traditional Islamic society, and political dissidents who want to end his authoritarian rule.

Sources said the new slow-down by many of the 37,000-man work force in Iran's southwestern Khuzestan oil fields immediately cut Iran's daily oil production by 2 million barrels, one-third of the normal level.

"We expect the slowdowns to get worse tomorrow and production to drop even further," one well-placed source said.

Sources in the oil fields said the refinery at Abadan on the Persian Gulf was not affected by the slowdown yesterday but probably would be today, along with at least two of four offshore fields in the gulf.

Iran, the world's No. 2 petroleum exporter, depends heavily on its oil revenues. A 15-day strike by oil-industry workers last month cut the flow of oil to a trickle and cost the national treasury more than 1 billion in lost revenue.

The state-run National Iranian Oil Co. was just beginning to restore normal production when hit by yesterday's job actions, obviously aimed at dealing a decisive blow to the economic underpinning of the beleaguered monarchy.

D'Antonio announces

OCH will assist students moving O-C

Editor's Note: This article is the concluding segment in the series on off-campus living. This final article will trace the steps that a student desiring to move off campus might take.

by Pat Mangan

While many students are still perplexed by the thought of living off campus, there are also many other students seriously considering to move off campus.

The last time students were lotteried off campus was in 1974; and in that case, students weren't notified until March. The transition for many of these students was sudden, troublesome, and unexpected. Consequently, there was not only a housing shortage on campus, but by the time students were told that they would have to move off campus, their selection of off-campus housing was very limited.

The fact that just five years later students are reliving the same problem perhaps justifies the current student protest, but at least the University has informed the students this early that the lottery is a "virtual" certainty.

In order to provide some realistic assistance to students, the Office of Off-Campus Housing, in conjunction with the Legal Aid Service, has traced the steps that a student might follow in moving off campus.

Dan D'Antonio, director of Off-Campus Housing (OCH), suggested that students who are seriously planning to move off campus should first decide how many people they want to live with so that they can better know what to look for.

Kevin Rochford of Legal Aid, encouraged students, who are thinking about moving off campus, to take advantage of the amount of time that they have to look for housing. He added that students should begin investigating as soon as possible.

Rochford and D'Antonio both agreed that the place to start is at the OCH, where much valuable information is condensed and readily available.

Presently, a student entering the OCH office would receive an information packet containing an "Off-Campus Housing Guide," a listing of all available University-inspected houses and apartments in the South Bend area, a list of all available apartment complexes and boarding rooms, a coded map of South Bend, a sample and "functional" rental agreement form, a first-time renter's questionnaire and a copy of the University meal plan.

D'Antonio strongly encouraged students to read the "Off-Campus Housing Guide" before actually looking for a place, so that they would have a basic understanding of what to look for in a prospective dwelling and its lease.

After familiarizing themselves with the basic consideration of selecting housing and the legal obligations of landlords and tenants, D'Antonio said that students should decide what they are looking for and then consult the OCH lists.

While there are other sources

(continued on page 4)

Wooden paneling is being added to the Huddle dining area, as the La Fortune renovation continues. [photo by Ron Szot]

Are crocodiles invading St. Mary's lake? No, it's only ice covered logs. [photo by Ron Szot]

SMC board questions fees

by Jean Powley
Saint Mary's Editor

The recent institution of a mandatory $10 charge on rooms with refrigerators underwent serious questioning by Saint Mary's Board of Governance members last night at their regular meeting. The College's controller, Jason Lindower, was present to give the administration's side of the issue.

"The refrigerator fee came about last year when we were checking the rooms during one of the breaks. Almost every room we went to had a refrigerator. Before that we were not aware that there were so many refrigerators on campus," Lindower explained.

He then had an electrician calculate the cost of running a refrigerator for a nine-month period and it turned out to be quite high.

When the senior officers of the college were working on the budget last spring, they needed additional revenue so they decided to levy an additional fee on those students with refrigerators, according to Lindower.

"Our whole philosophy is to have each area carry its own weight. Tuition should pay teachers' salaries, classroom maintenance, etc. Room fees cover the hall staffs' salaries and board pays for SAGA and maintenance of the dining hall," Lindower said. "It costs a lot to run a refrigerator and those students that have them should be responsible for their cost."

"There's no free lunch. Whatever happens on this campus has to be paid for," he continued.

"But why weren't the students informed about this charge when they were informed about increases in tuition?" Pia Trigiani, public relations commissioner, asked.

"Yes, if students had been informed, that may have swayed their decisions on whether or not to get refrigerators this year," Vice President of Student Affairs Julie Pope said.

"We have never made it a policy to announce changes in optional fees," Lindower replied, admitting, however, that it might be possible to mention the refrigerator fee in the letter which accompanies each semester's invoice.

RAs are now responsible for identifying students with refrigerators.

News Briefs.

World
Cultist faces murder charges

GEORGETOWN, Guyana [AP]-Charles E. Beikman, a 20-year veteran of the Peoples Temple, faces a preliminary hearing today on charges of murdering four other cultists on the night more than 900 died in an orgy of suicide and murder at the sect's Jonestown colony. Beikman, 43, of Indianapolis, IN., is charged with slashing the throats of Sharon Amos, the cult's public relations officer, and her three children in the sect's Georgetown headquarters Nov. 18.

National Pioneer I begins Venus probe

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. [AP]- Pioneer 1 slipped into an oval orbit around Venus yesterday to begin a 225-day probe of the cloud-shrouded planet that scientists hope will yield clues to the origins of Earth's climate and environment. The flagship of the unmanned space fleet that will conduct the study swept behind the planet at 7:56 a.m. PST, right on schedule, according to officials at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center here. The craft, shaped like a coffee can, emerged 20 minutes later from the back side of the planet. The climax of the mission will come early Saturday, when another spacecraft carrying four mini-probes will separate, pierce the planet's atmosphere and crash to its surface, transmitting valuable scientific data before it is destroyed.

Utah executions delayed

SALT LAKE CITY [AP]—The Utah Supreme Court stayed the double execution of convicted killers Dale Pierre and William Andrews on Monday, less than three days before they would have been shot. Their attorneys said issues involving race and capital punishment had not been heard. They will be able to make their arguments in an appeal before the state Supreme Court. No date has been set for that hearing. "Oh boy, we got a stay," said defense attorney John Caine as the ruling was read. Pierre and Andrews, both black, were convicted in the torture slayings of three persons during a holdup in Ogden four years ago.

Army cracks down on sex

WASHINGTON [AP]- The Army has ordered a crackdown on sexual fraternization between male and female soldiers of different rank because of "an increasing number of incidents of inappropriate relationships." The move follows a study that reported a "creeping advance of sex fraternization throughout the Army" and said man-woman relationships - particularly dating between officers or noncommissioned officers and enlisted women - are causing serious discipline and morale problems as the role of women in the Army grows.

Group raises abortion issue

NEW YORK [AP]- Proponents of women's abortion rights said yesterday that "an intense religious mobilization led by the Roman Catholic Church" has produced laws restricting government funding of abortions for the poor. Rhonda Copelon, an attorney for the Center for Constitutional Rights, told a federal court that the laws, particularly the Hyde amendment limiting federal funding of abortions, violate the constitutional separation of church and state. The plaintiffs in the case, women who were pregnant at the time the suit was filed, their physicians and abortion rights advocates, contend that Congress would not have restricted federal funding for abortion if the Roman Catholic Church had not made the issue its principal political concern. They presented documents to the court to show that the self-styled "right to life" movement is heavily influenced by the Roman Catholic hierarchy and church funds. Richard Caro, the assistant U.S. attorney representing the federal government, argues that opposition to abortion under a variety of circumstances may coincide with a religious belief but "can be reached philosophically or politically."

Weather

Partly sunny and windy Tuesday with highs in the mid-30s. Partly cloudy and cold Tuesday night with lows 15 to 22. Partly sunny Wednesday with highs in the low to mid-30s.

On Campus Today

- 12:15 pm mass, with rev. robert griffin, lafortune
- 5-6:30 pm sale, christmass roses, dining halls, $2 ea.
- 6:30 pm meeting, alpha phi omega, zahm basement
- 6:30 pm meeting, food advisory board, s. dining hall comm., s. dining hall, faculty dining rm.
- 7 pm meeting, for all students interested in the nd japan program, howard lounge
- 7 pm lecture, congressman phil crane, mem. lib. aud.
- 7:30 pm commercial banking night, hayes-healy aud.
- 11-12 pm wsnd, "blasts from the past," with host joe joyce, am 640.

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau

*The Observer

Night Editor: Sue Wuetcher
Asst. Night Editor: Dave Brosh
Copy Readers: Debbie Dahrling, John McGrath
Layout Staff: John Smith, Tom Monroe
Features Layout: The Adonis
Sports Layout: Mark Perry
Typists: Mardi Nevin, Tom Pipp, Rosie Rodgers and Pete McFadden
Early Morning Typist: ??????
Day Editor: John Ferrol
Ad Layout: David E. Wood
Photographer: Rot

The Observer is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $20 per year ($10 per semester) from The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame, Indiana, 46556.

The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

The ND SMC Theatre presents
Edward Albee's all over

Seating is very limited. The audience will be seated randomly within the environmental setting of the play. Please note the Wednesday performance
8pm in O'Laughlin Auditorium
Wed.-Sat. Dec. 6-9

off campus
presents
"Christmas Chaos"

thursday, 7 december 9-1
Fat Wally's - Open Bar
$5 single $9.50 couple

Tickets: Tues.-thurs. - 12-2:30
LeMans Lobby
Wed. - 12-3 - LaFortune
Or at the door

Call Cathy 288-9762/Sharon 234-1996

Christmas Bazaar

Come do your Christmas Shopping

Lemans Lobby -SMC

Tues., Dec. 5 thru Fri., Dec. 8 10-5 pm

Sponsored by SMC Social Commission

Wednesday: Gallery Lainzberg: Animated Art Sale

Thursday: Art Sale continues in LaFortune

Friday: Movie: Goodbye Girl
Saturday: 7,9,11 in Engineering Auditorium

Monday: Lecture: Karlis Kaufmanis
7pm in Library Aud.

University of Notre Dame
College of Business Administration

ACCOUNTING COURSE AVAILABLE NEXT SEMESTER

ADDITIONAL SECTION OF ACCT 261 BASIC ACCOUNTING
CLASS WILL MEET AT 8 MWF

IF INTERESTED SIGN UP IN 254 HAYES-HEALY
BEFORE DECEMBER 8

McKenna outlines achievements

by
Kevin Richardson
Senior Staff Reporter

Student Body President Andy McKenna outlined last night his administration's accomplishments during the semester. McKenna said that while progress was made on several matters, there were three major areas of improvement students could visibly notice.

"I think that we helped lay the groundwork for student input into the University decision-making process," McKenna said. "I think these gains are the result of actions we took such as the Student Rights Forum. Students proved that they are interested in controlling more aspects of their lives," he stated.

McKenna noted "the elevation of the over-crowding problem to top Administration officials and the Board of Trustees" as one of his accomplishments. He stressed the importance of helping provide a long-term perspective on the over-crowding situation to the Administration and the Board of Trustees. "I also think we were effective in raising the parietals issue," McKenna stated. "We gave it a real effort and felt that we were being as responsive as we could be to students needs," he said.

Besides the issues of student input, over-crowding and parietals, McKenna mentioned the publication of the Course Evaluation Booklet as a positive accomplishment. "It was 32 pages longer than last year's and it provides a base for future improvements," McKenna said.

"I have also been very pleased with the work John Fitzpatrick has been doing on behalf of off-campus students this semester," McKenna said. "Off-campus students have shown greater interest in being involved and we are working on getting additional things done for them," he stated.

The Third World Film Festival was another activity McKenna termed as a success. "The films were great and we are grateful to Fr. Don McNeill (Director of The Center for Experiential Learning) for his help in making the festival so successful," McKenna said.

"I am very satisfied with the way in which Student Government has cooperated and worked with other student organizations to help meet the needs of the students," McKenna said. "Student Government will definitely continue to work with other student organizations next semester and we will try to improve our collective effectiveness," he said.

McKenna noted some difficulty in dealing with a large cabinet. "It is hard to meet all their needs. We originally had a large cabinet to get more people involved but sometimes it is hard to communicate effectively with a lot of people," McKenna said. "I would spend more time reflecting on having a large cabinet before doing it again," he said.

Concerning next semester's priorities, McKenna said that the Third World Conference will be a major priority. "We want to bring Third World issues closer to the students," McKenna stated.

McKenna also predicted that the over-crowding problem will occupy a great deal of his time as well as an alcohol awareness program. Student Government is planning to hold. "Both are concerns here and I will be working to help solve these problems," McKenna said.

McNeill pleased with results of Film Festival

by Margaret R. Burke

"Notre Dame Student Government and the Center for Experiential Learning are extremely pleased with the results of the Third World Film Festival," Fr. Don McNeill, director of the Center for Experiential Learning Center, stated.

According to McNeill, an approximate total of 4,155 faculty, administrators and students attended the various films. An estimated 2,080 people attended the films of Africa in September. The films of Latin America, shown in October, drew a crowd of approximately 1,190 and 885 people were in attendance for the films of Asia shown in November.

However, McNeill qualified the approximate total of 4,155, saying, "There is no way to estimate how many different people saw at least one of the films since so many students were able to attend more

[continued on page 6]

CIA job interviews continue despite mystery pamphlets

by Pat Toomey

Last week, mysterious anti-CIA pamphlets appeared in the Notre Dame dining halls. Despite the pamphlets, the CIA conducted their scheduled job interviews on campus without incident.

The pamphlets, entitled "The CIA Comes to Notre Dame," condemned the CIA for its covert actions both in the United States and abroad. According to the pamphlets, the CIA interfered in foreign governments and violated its charter by conducting domestic political surveillance.

It is not known who distributed the pamphlets on the Notre Dame campus. Although The Center for National Security Studies authored the pamphlets, they have no knowledge of who may have distributed them.

Richard Willemin, director of the Placement Bureau, said that the University had no objection to the CIA's interviewing students.

"Although it sometimes loses sight of its mission, the CIA is a reputable employer," Willemin commented. He stated that despite the fact that some people misdirected them in the past, the CIA is needed for national security.

According to Willemin, any organization that wishes to interview on campus must be an organization in good standing, have a good credit rating, and abide by federal and state regulations in hiring practices. Because the CIA meets these requirements, Willemin sees no reason to prohibit their on-campus interviews.

ND-CIA guidelines

Notre Dame's academic community is currently establishing guidelines for faculty-CIA relations.

A subcommittee of the Academic Council is presently evaluating guidelines patterned after ones already established at Harvard. The guidelines would require any faculty member associated with the CIA to disclose this association to the University.

According to Richard Conklin, director of Information Services, the key to the guidelines is disclosure.

The subcommittee is headed by David T. Link, dean of the Law School. They may present their report at the next Academic Council meeting on Dec. 12, although the agenda has not yet been set.

SUBSCRIBERS:

to extend your subscription to

*The Observer

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame & st. marys through the spring '79 semester

send $10.00

and your address to

the OBSERVER-SUBSCRIPTIONS

BOX Q
notre dame,
indiana 46556

GIVE A GIFT
SUBSCRIPTION
for Christmas.

DormLifeCramping
Your Style?

Notre Dame Ave. Apts

2 bedrooms completely furnished

complete kitchen

off-street parking

up to 4 students

$280-300/month

call 234-6647

The Notre Dame Student Union presents

ANIMATION ART SALE

Tues-Wed. Dec. 5-6 9am until 5pm

La Fortune Student Center
(Main Lobby Area)

Sale Arranged by GALLERY LAINZBERG, Cedar Rapids, Iowa

The Hammes Notre Dame Bookstore

For your Christmas gifts

Boxed Sets

Kurt Vonnegut

Star Trek

C.S. Lewis - Chroniologies of Narnia

Tolkien

Fun to do with Winnie the Pooh

Calendars

Picasso

The Lord of the Rings

The Movie Fans

Great days in Sports

Star Wars

Grease

need posters in a hurry?

insty-prints

the wiz of the printing biz!

100 - 11 x 17 posters

only $10.00

203 n. main

Downtown So Bend 289-6977

N.D./Toronto Student Exchange

WHAT IS IT?

An educational, cultural, and social exchange open to all students at Notre Dame.

WHEN IS IT?

Feb. 2nd-5th N.D. students at Toronto
March 2nd-5th Toronto students at N.D.

HOW TO GET INVOLVED?

Sign-up will be on a first come, first serve basis. Openings available for 117 students maximum.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

A $50.00 non-refundable fee is due by Dec. 8th at the Student Government Offices. Make checks payable to Student Government Fund.

Further information can be obtained by calling Chuck DelGrande at 1938.

Committee meets to select honorary degree recipient

by Cathy Santoro

The committee to select a recipient of an honorary degree conferred by the University will meet tomorrow to draft a list of candidates.

The honorary degree is presented to someone who has made a significant contribution in his field. Dr. William Burke, assistant to the Provost, said, "It doesn't make much sense to honor someone who already has 50 degrees, however honorable his nomination would be to the University. We would rather select someone who is on his or her way to prominence—young people on their way forward."

Donna Ziemba, co-chairman of the committee, explained that the candidate can be from any field. Since each College of the University nominates a recipient, the committee will try to avoid conflicting choices when selecting a candidate.

Senior Class President Jerry Castellini appointed Ziemba and Rita Martin as co-chairmen of the committee, which he calls "the grad-task committee." Members of the Senior Advisory Council were asked by Castellini to find one student from each dormitory to serve on the committee. These students selected two faculty members, Assistant Dean Waddick of the College of Arts and Letters and Richard Hunter of the Management Department, to help nominate candidates for the degree. Two other faculty members are in the process of being chosen.

Tomorrow the committee will discuss what type of person to select and try to decide upon a list of possible candidates. Ziemba said, "We'd like to let the seniors know that they can offer nomination suggestions to any committee member, since there will not be any formal ballot, as with the Senior Class Fellow."

After the list of possible candidates has been narrowed down to three or four names, it will be given to University President Fr. Theodore Hesburgh. He will then contact the candidates in the order they appear on the list to find out whether they will be available to accept the degree, which will be presented at the graduation ceremony in May.

Although the list is presented to Hesburgh before Christmas, he will not reveal the name of the degree recipient until April—after the nomination has been approved by the University Trustees.

The recipient of the honorary degree and speaker at the commencement two years ago was President Jimmy Carter.

OHC assists students

[continued from page 1]

that a student may consult, such as classified ads in local publications, real estate agents, and current off-campus residents, D'Antonio suggested that the student first explore the OCH lists since they have been inspected and classified.

According to D'Antonio, each listing has been personally inspected and has received a grade of "fair," "good," or "superior." A "superior" rating simply means that a unit dwelling has not only met the University requirements for acceptable student housing, but exceeds it. In turn, a "good" classification describes a unit that has met all requirements and those dwellings described as "fair," which while overall are acceptable, have one or more undesirable characteristics.

D'Antonio was quick to point out, however, that in choosing housing, students shouldn't just limit themselves to the "good" or "superior" listings. "Fair listings can be very good too. Usually they are lower in rent, and the landlord may supply the materials to fix it up if you're willing to do the work," he said.

Continuing, he cited a case where four guys from Dillon moved into a real old and broken down place. The landlord offered to buy material for them if they would do the work. According to D'Antonio, when the landlord saw the work they were putting into it, they were eventually exempted from three months' rent.

Rochford added, "Generally landlords are helpful. Don't be afraid to talk to your landlord and ask for some remodeling material."

If a student thinks he has found a place he likes, according to D'Antonio, the student should check out the neighborhood and the landlord.

If a student is interested in an OCH listing, he or she would find information on the landlord in the OCH office.

Whether or not a student uses OCH listings, there is available information in the OCH office that could direct a student away from trouble spots.

[continued on page 6]

Continental's Semester Break.

Up to 50% off.

This semester break take advantage of Continental's price break on airfares. We'll take you to the snow in Colorado, the sun on either coast, or the warmth of your family circle. And you'll save enough to live it up once you get there. Fly anyplace Continental flies on the mainland and save up to 50% off regular Coach, depending on when and where you go. Of course, there are some restrictions and you must purchase your tickets in advance.

Even if you get a sudden itch to travel, Continental can save you some scratch without an advance purchase. We have the only system-wide* discount fare without restrictions. It'll save you up to 20% any night, 10% any day that we have seats available.

Call your Campus Representative, Travel Agent or Continental Airlines. We'd love to give you a break.

*mainland only

We really move our tail for you.

CONTINENTAL AIRLINES

The Proud Bird with the Golden Tail.

tool die
and plastic mold
design-electronics technology

Check into a skilled profession

FULLY ACCREDITED

Day or Evening Classes

Monthly Tuition Plan

For registration details
come in or call Mr.
Judkins or Mr. Gage
(219) 289-6391

ACME INSTITUTE OF
TECHNOLOGY

Careercrisis: Part III

Cathy Gallagher

Think positive.

I am a worthwhile human being. I have two eyes, one nose and a mouth that is sometimes capable of intelligible speech. I am waiting for my first job interview and am perfectly calm.

I have many skills. My grades are presentable and besides, I play a mean game of cribbage. My mother lives me. I am color-coordinated, my hair is combed and my teeth are brushed and...and I forgot to gargle!

I forgot to gargle and I had pepperoni pizza last night!

I had pepperoni pizza and now I have breath that could kill a moose at fifty paces!

The door opens, and the recruiter from The Company of My Choice beckons with a smile. "Please come in, Cathy. My name is Phil Maxtiecewicz."

(Maxtiecewicz! Say it twice and your tongue is forever paralyzed in pretzel position. Should I call him Phil? Or is that too intimate?)

"How do you do, sir," I say with a half-nelson handshake. "It's a pleasure to meet you."

Settling down in my chair I run a quick character analysis on Phil Maxtiecewicz: Definitely pushing fifty, but wears his pinstriped suit with the easy assurance of a Born Again Weekend Jogger. Newly-fitted contact lenses add to his youthful image but make sustained eye contact a distressingly watery experience. Phil and his wife (Karen? Trudy?) probably have two teenaged kids, and are easily pictured in their suburban backyard with a burnt orange Weber grill and three tiki torches.

(All of this is well and good. I'm from a southwest Chicago suburb myself. Some of my best friends jog. And, until we switched to high watt bug lamps last year, we had tiki torches on our patio, too. Phil and I have a lot in common. I am a shoo-in for this job.)

Phil begins the interview with the obligatory jokes about South Bend weather. I laugh appreciatively, but with appropriate restraint: one doesn't wish to appear frivolous, and I am also fearful that my pepperoni-powered "ha-ha" will strip the veneer off his desk.

Then Phil feels it's only fair that I should know a little bit about himself. I eagerly await my chance to trade tiki torch anecdotes with him and thereby clinch our rapport.

No such luck. Despite his receding hairline, it turns out that Phil and my twenty-five year old brother could have been classmates. Phil now lives in downtown Cleveland. He is unmarried.

So much for the teen-aged Maxtiecewicz' kids. So much for the suburban bungalow and Trudy's/Karen's famous charbroiled burgers. So much for my shoo-in status with The Company of My Choice. Phil and I are no longer sympathetic, and I realize I am just another unknown job applicant - distinguished perhaps by a peculiar habit of breathing inoffensively from the corner of my mouth.

But Phil is a curious fellow, and he wants to know more about me. I'm game, so long as we play by my groundrules: any question is allowed except those relating to 1) my grades or 2) why I spent my spare time at Notre Dame working crossword puzzles instead of finding the cure for the common cold. After all, some topics are just too painful to mention.

With a flagrant lack of diplomacy however, Phil goes right for the juglar: "Tell me, Cathy. Do you feel your grades are a fair reflection of your academic ability?"

What a tacky question. Shall I then concede that my pink slip in "Man & Society" means I'm forever doomed to misanthropic deviance? Or, shall I dismiss the whole issue with an airy, "Tut, tut, Phil. What is the essence of the G.P.A., anyway? A mere symbol - almost pitiful in its pretentiousness, n'est-ce pas?"

Deciding that the less said, the better, I mutter a few lines of gibberish and wait for Phil's next query. It's even better than his first: "Why did you choose to interview with Our Company over the other recruiting firms?"

(Actually, I reached this momentous decision by employing the highly acclaimed statistical sampling technique perfected by Messrs. Eenie, Meenie and Miney. Phil's Company happened to be Moe.)

Doubting Phil's appreciation for my scientific method, however, I instead explain my decision with quotes from his recruiting brochure: Phil's Company is Bigger. Brighter. Better. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back in gold watches and social security checks.

Phil is impressed with my response. Plodding ahead, with pseudo-sincere interest, he wonders, "And where do you see yourself in ten or fifteen years, Cathy?"

(Funny man, this Phil Maxtiecewicz. Here I am, taking this whole interview seriously and he's making jokes. Ten or fifteen years? I could be anywhere from the Oval Office to a padded cell by then. Forward my mail to Wall Street and, if returned unopened, try me at Skid Row. Who knows, Phil, I'm flexible.)

Common sense prevails and, barely suppressing a giggle, I begin to describe my pragmatic, tangible career expectations. I use catchy phrases like "personal development," and "self-actualization." It sounds good. It sounds really good. Almost make me wish I'd be there to see it come true.

Phil is fidgeting in his chair now and, (perceptive devil that I am), I sense that my interview is nearly finished. Politely, he asks if I have any questions for him. Feigning a moment of quiet contemplation I resist the urge to leap across the desk, throttle his scrawny neck and shriek, "Okay, you turkey, the jig's up!! AM I OR AM I NOT HIRED??"

Instead, I demure, "No, thank you, Mr. Maxtiecewicz. I've enjoyed talking with you." Chinese coolie style, maximizing precious eye-contact time, I slowly back out of the room.

Pausing a moment to breathe again, I glance around the anteroom where many of my classmates are waiting for their interviews. Everyone looks pretty much as I did before I met Phil. Three-piece suits, freshly-cut hair, eager to please. Reassured, I'm comforted that we're all on equal footing.

This happy thought of camaraderie sustains me just until I reach the outer door of the waiting room. Then, from all corners of the room it overwhelms me. The smell of Listerine...strong enough to kill a moose and with it any chance I had for that job. My Benedict Arnold classmates are shoo-in candidates for the Company of Our Choice.

No great loss. My next interview is with Tiki Torch, Inc.

ROCKNE

by Terrence Napier

I met Chet Grant shortly before his book, Before Rockne at Notre Dame, was published. As I shook his hand, I thought to myself, "Now don't be patronizing. Even if he is a senile old ND quarterback from 1921, who probably lives off his past glory and despises me because I have a beard, he might be a nice guy." As our conversation evolved, I realized that I had much to learn about legends. They don't die, they grow.

In the course of our ten minute conversation, Chet Grant revealed some essential truths about the genesis of the Notre Dame spirit. It was not Rockne alone who incorporated and epitomized the mystique of Notre Dame. It emanated from "the efforts of a fighting Frenchman, the Founder of ND, Fr. Edward Sorin." In his book, he reminisces about the great football past that has made Notre Dame the quintessential athletic Heaven on earth. His manifold experiences as a journalist, player, and coach are poignantly portrayed in the news articles, pictures, anecdotes and personal observations that occupy the pages of Before Rockne at Notre Dame. Many of Grant's reactions to this era give the book an aura of timelessness.

Chet Grant does not see the Notre Dame mystique strictly in proportion to the loudness of the cheers at football games. Instead, he believes the most important qualities which define the spirit to be love and loyalty. "These are the essence of the traditional attitude toward the institution." He does not think it is pride as much as the ineffable affection and devotion that people have for du Lac that makes Notre Dame the special place it is: a place of warmth and friendship.

He further clarified this point when he stated that "most graduates, when they say they are proud of Notre Dame, really mean that they are grateful for having been part of a great tradition which makes our university an institution unique and alluring."

At eighty-six, Chet Grant is living proof of why people love the school of Our Lady. He is a short, thin man with a warm smile. He possesses a mind capable of integrating the diversified experiences of life at ND into a story which will always fascinate the American psyche: the story of Notre Dame. Before Rockne at Notre Dame is an enjoyable and entertaining book.

Keenan Revue

Mark Rust

The "Keenan Revue" (or the "New Keenan Revue," a distinction on which I am still not very clear) was full of people with something valuable to offer. There were poets and guitarists and readers and singers and violinists and actors and dancers and comedians and jugglers. There was wit and satire, direction and drama, rock and roll, and enough classical touches to keep everyone occupied.

The music, to begin, was well done. Piano solos by Charlie Russ and Renard Gueringer were impressive. Mike Kammerdiener appeared frequently to add his guitar and voice to those of Rich Pugliese for a particularly good version of "If You Could Read My Mind," and the guitar work (if nothing else) was impressive on "The Needle and the Damage Done." "Free Bird," performed by a group of Keenan rockers, was good, especially the lead guitar. As for the bits of feedback in the jam -- what the hell. I imagine Lynyrd Skynyrd had to deal with that in the beginning too. Sean Whaley's violin recitation of Hayden was superb and an unexpected treat.

The humor, which sometimes soft-shoed over the boundaries of good taste, was genuinely funny. Life at Notre Dame cries out everyday to be satirized, and it is rare that a hall gets such a great chance to vent its collective spleen. Nice.

In all, the "New Keenan Revue" was a very agreeable experience. I'm impressed that there is so much talent in one hall, and my guess is that there is more where that came from in other halls. It is a shame that we don't have more outlets around campus to showcase it like Keenan has showcased it for everyone's entertainment. And for free. Very cool.

It is possible, and in fact it is generally the norm, to pay a lot of money in the hopes of being entertained. The thought that the entertainment might not be worth it is a rather unentertaining thought. This being counter-productive, it occurs that being entertained is really something of a gambling proposition, so one appreciates the nicest aspect of the "Keenan Revue": it is free and it is good. I had a great time Saturday evening -- it was an excellent way to start the night -- and as I turned and looked up at the completely packed house and saw a lot of other people doing the same it occurred to me that, since people really lined up for the free tickets, Keenan no doubt would have been able to sell them. But there they were, sitting there having a good time. For free. On Keenan. There is something very cool about that.

At any rate, to the point: Talent, like a keg, is there to be tapped, and that is precisely what Keenan did this weekend (tap talents, not kegs, though it is not clear that they did not do that too). I am told that on Friday night the show ran way too long and the sound system was bad. Those two problems were improved to an extent Saturday night, but they still were noticeable. As far as running too long goes, the three hour show didn't really drag until right at the end. And as for the sound I think the poignant observation would be that it was the only thing that Keenan residents were not involved in. In fact, ironically enough, the sound men were "professionals" hired by Keenan to guard against that very thing. But, even with all that, the amount of talent coming from one hall is the thing of which one is conscious during the show.

INTELLECTUAL LIVING

Pat Byner

In the beginning, there was the proton. The proton found that he had a lot of room so he decided to sublet to migrant electrons. Then along came neutrons who became chummy with the protons, and before you know it they were applying for squatter's rights. Thus formed the atom.

Atoms comprise molecules, and molecules comprise everything else that is said to have matter, or, for that matter, matters. All matter is said to have mass, which surprises most people who didn't know that matter was so religious. Matter is subject to physical laws, the violation of which may incur large fines or exile to an Armenian neighborhood. A very "Mucho el importante", for all you continental types important physical law, and perhaps the all time favorite, is the law of gravity.

This law was discovered by Sir Isaac Newton, a scientific whiz who first gained recognition in the intellectual world by claiming that the shortest distance between two points is the Ohio Turnpike. Newton discovered gravity one sunny afternoon when an apple fell on his head, thus giving him a minor contusion whereupon he muttered, "F equals G M m/r-squared." "F", as you may well know, equals the force of gravity and is measured in units called "Newtons", which, were not named after Isaac Newton. The Newton was named for Rabbi Newton Herbinowitz, who owned a chain of laundromats and was manager at Scheckenstein Delicatessen.

Other physical laws to which matter is subject are conservation of momentum, inertia, conservation of energy, and mandatory retirement at 65.

Any discussion of matter must comment on its properties, not to mention its other assets. There properties are, as any scientist or broker will tell you, crucial to the identification of matter. Among these identifying properties are molecular configuration, hardness, electrical conductivity, color, and license plate number. Much has gone into the study of these characteristics, especially to the relationship of matter to electricity. The atom itself is composed of electrically charged particles. The electron has a negative charge, the proton has a positive charge, but the neutron insists on paying cash to avoid the paperwork.

The atom is notorious for littering the universe with such particles as electrons, photons, muons, neutrinos, latinos, pions (not to be confused with union laborers), K-mesons, and other rubbish. It might be interesting to note that the K-meson has a life span of a little more than a billionth of a second; this makes it extremely difficult for the K-meson to try to collect a pension.

It is these miniscule particles that made famous a man named Heisenberg. Heisenberg is the father of "Heisenberg's Principle" and all the little Heisenbergs. "Heisenberg's Principle" states that it is impossible to predict accurately the location of very tiny projected particles. Heisenberg first conceived tests for this principle while standing in a subway station in South Bronx. Looking down, he thought, "Feet, feet! Thousands of feet! Tens of thousands of toes and glistening nails!" He was a deranged man.

Newton put it best, however -- or was it Milton -- when he said, "A body at rest will remain at rest until it is no longer tired". It is rumored that Newton was also a deranged man.

*Observer

Features

Film results please McNeill

[continued from page 3]
than half of the films."

In cooperation with the film festival, the International Business Committee of the College of Business Administration provided a forum to discuss issues in relationship to the films and the developing areas of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Faculty members also offered some formal discussions after a few of the films. Many informal discussions also took place in the residence halls and the Student Center following these films.

The Student Government and the Center for Experiential Learning are planning another film series at the beginning of the second semester. This series "will focus on issues of social concern more directly related to the United States," McNeill said.

The festival will bring films like "On the Waterfront," "Grapes of Wrath" and others to campus during the period of January 22 to 29. If any students or faculty are interested in helping with this next film series, please call Paul Falduto (3626) or Mary Hawley (2788).

OHC assists students

[continued from page 4]

One problem, which is perhaps the most serious yet the least frequent, is neighborhood crime. "Living off campus, you are exposed to the real world just like anyone else," D'Antonio said.

He added that a close review of current crime reports, which are available at OCH, reveals that zone 6, (the area bounded by Lincolnway West and Portage avenues) and zone 10, (the area bounded by Twyckenham, Peashway, Hill and Madison avenues), are trouble spots. However, he also said that even these places could be safe if students take the proper precautions.

According to D'Antonio, the most effective way in which a student can prevent theft is to get to know his/her neighbors.

The October issue of "The OC Newsletter" suggests these precautions: dead bolt locks, good latches on windows, and marking personal property. The newsletter also urged students to give the impression that someone is home at all times, by leaving a light or a radio on and parking a car in front of the house. Students were also urged not to make their "worldly goods obvious."

MOLARITY

Michael McNeill

Once a student has found a place that he believes would satisfy him and once he has checked out the neighborhood and the landlord, the business of understanding and perhaps negotiating a lease begins.

Both Rochford and D'Antonio suggested that before a student signs his lease, he should take it to OCH and get some trained advice. Rochford pointed out, "Often what is most important is not what is in the lease, but what is not in the lease."

One point that Rochford stressed was that once a lease is signed, the student is bound to pay the full amount of rent during the specified time period designated in the lease, even if he leaves early.

Rochford said that one of the biggest problems that landlords have expressed concerns students leaving early. "Students don't realize that they're still on the book. The landlord must look for a new tenant, but the student is still responsible," he said.

D'Antonio added that if a student did find that he could no longer live up to the lease, he should go directly to OCH to obtain aid and advice. "Most of the time," he said, "you walk in, they hand you a lease, you read it and sign it. We're suggesting that you take it with you and bring it to us so we can analyze it."

"Most people don't realize that you can negotiate," Rochford added.

D'Antonio concluded, "We want to protect students and respect landlords. We want to be fair and honest and find remedies that are equitable for both parties."

The Commons

Mexican Food is our specialty

Every Wednesday 6-10

Also, on weekends:

- * Pizza
- * fish
- * chicken
- * shrimp
- * french fries
- * onion rings

Lunches Daily

carry out:

Beer— Wine—Liquor

located at Corby and Eddy

EXPONENTIAL, MY DEAR WATSON

If you have at least two years of graduate or undergraduate education ahead, and you keep getting clues that your money is running short, then a two-year Air Force ROTC scholarship may be the solution.

Currently we're seeking young men and women who would like to serve their nation as Air Force Officers. Consequently, if you're majoring in a selected technical/non-technical scientific, nursing, or pre-medical field, or can qualify for pilot, navigator, or missile training, then you may be eligible for a two-year Air Force ROTC scholarship. The scholarship pays your tuition, lab fees, (plus incidental fees), books, and $100 per month tax free. And even if you don't qualify for the two-year scholarship, you still receive the $100 a month while enrolled in the Air Force ROTC two-year program.

What do we ask in return? That you serve America at least four years as an Air Force officer. Your Air Force ROTC counselor has the details and qualification requirements. Check it out. It might even make your education finances seem elementary.

AIR FORCE

ROTC

Gateway to a great way of life.

ACADEMIA YEAR 2

Contact Capt. Davis

or Capt. Norris at 283-6634

Hair Styling

for men and women who like to look their best...

277-0734

1/2 mile north of campus, (U.S. 31 N) Across from Randall's Inn

Sir Richard's

Goose's & Budweiser present

"A Search for the Hottest Lips on Campus"

Wednesday night from 7 to 1 am

A chance to win an all expense paid weekend trip to New York for a photo session

The top four girls will have their photo's submitted in the contest

The top girl will receive $25, 2nd prize $10, 3rd & 4th Bud mirrors

Contest will be judged by N.D. football players

other specials during the night 7-11 Bud cans- 2 for $1

Free T-shirts for all contestants

NOTICES

The Ombudsman service will close for the semester at midnight on Wed., Dec. 13. Any calls for the rider board should be made by midnight Tues. (12) at the latest.

Summer programs - London (with travel in Ireland, Scotland, England and France) and Rome (with travel in France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy). Call Prof. Black (SMC) 4948.

SENIORS

Caught in the career crisis? Seeking students to help manage family business, paid vacations and holidays, profit sharing and possible retirement plan. Call 288-8218, serious inquiries only, no tel. interviews.

Need a ride? Call Wilson Driveaway. Cars to all major cities. All you pay for is gas. Cars are brand new. For more information, Call Dan at 1783.

MORRISSEY LOAN FUND

Tuesday, Dec. 12 is the last day to apply for a loan this semester.

NEED QUALITY TYPING?

Executive, Inc.
Professional Typing Service, 12 type styles, $1/page minimum, Call 232-0898. "When you want the Best."

Central Ohio Club organizational meeting Tuesday, Dec. 5, 7:00 pm, LaFortune Amphitheater

D.C. CLUB CHRISTMAS BUS

Sign up in LaFortune Ballroom, 7-9 Thurs., Dec. 7. $20 deposit required. Questions, call Carl 3311.

Volunteers needed to work with mentally handicapped adults for 1/2 hour or hour periods anytime from 10:30 am to 12:30 pm on any weekday. Do you have an extra 1/2 hour? Help a mentally handicapped adult in the swimming pool or gymnasium. Call Mike at 1371 or Sue at 41-4832.

Government majors: Volunteer needed to serve on St. Joe County Committee for state budget proposals and legislative action concerning rights and funding for developmentally disabled citizens of St. Joe County and the State of Indiana. Call Mike at 1371 or Sue at 41-4832.

LOGAN CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

The Logan Christmas Party will be held this Saturday, Dec. 9 from 9:00 am to 11:30 am. Come, bring a friend and help all the kids enjoy Santa Claus and all the fun. Activities which will prepare for the Christmas Party include Christmas shopping for the kids, a cookie-bake session on Friday afternoon at Logan Center, and a Christmas present wrapping party at Bill Griffin's house, 127 Notre Dame Ave., Friday night at 8:00 pm. Lots of help is needed wrapping presents and with the other activities, so join in on the Christmas fun. Any questions call Mike at 1371 or Sue at 41-4832.

FOR RENT

Two car garage for rent. Two blocks from campus. 277-3604.

Come Home. Leave your campus worries behind and have an address that doesn't say "Hall" in it. Rent - $50/month plus utilities. 289-7690.

5 Bedroom. Gas heat. Furnished. Available January 1, 1979. Also accepting applications for 1979-1980 school year. Lease required. Call now. 287-1545 Henry De Rouck.

Mature students, share a spacious, furnished home in a very nice neighborhood near campus. $130 per month includes everything. Call 289-0103, nights.

LOST AND FOUND

Lost: To the person I exchanged CPO coats with Mon. nite before Thanksgiving at Corby's - I goofed. Yours is a little small and my elbows are getting cold, so please call me.
Korbs 1696.

Lost: Femal Great Dane - friendly, white with black spots. Any information please call 272-5027 evenings or 237-4038 days. Reward.

LOST: 1 PAIR GLASSES IN BRIGHT BLUE AND ORANGE FLOWERED CASE. If found, please call Kathy at 7401.

LOST: Blue parka with a white fake fur collar at Goose's Thurs. ID's in sleeve packet. I have yours as a result. Call Dve at 1138.

WANTED

WANTED: Ride to Washington D.C. area anytime after the 20th. Will share driving and expenses. Call Jim at 1789.

FOUND: A man's Timex watch in Rm. 102 O'Shaughnessy. Come to office G89 ML to identify and claim.

Part time delivery help wanted, must have own transportation and be able to work weekends. Hourly and commission - apply in person, Milano's Pizza, 815 W. McKinley after 4 p.m. 256-1853.

Need ride to I.U. Bloomington Friday, Dec. 9, will share driving expenses. Call JB, 1161.

Desperately need a ride home for Christmas break to the Philadelphia vicinity (east on the PA Turnpike). I can leave Wednesday, December 20 at 12:30 and I will gladly share all expenses and driving. Please call Tom at 1138.

OVERSEAS JOBS - Summer/full time. Europe, S. America, Australia, Asia, etc. All fields, $500-1200 monthly, expenses paid, sightseeing. Free info. - Write: International Job Center, Box 4490-14, Berkely, CA 94704.

I sure would appreciate a ride to Daytona Beach, Florida area for Christmas. Willing to share driving and expenses. Call Damian at 1003.

Babysitter needed 2-3 days/wk. for 9-month old. Schedule negotiable. Own transportation necessary. Scottsdale Mall area. 291-4530.

NEEDED: Riders to LA-San Diego area. Can leave any time after Dec. 18. Call John 7820.

Babysitter, 15 hrs. wk., beginning Jan., for 2 small boys, your home or ours. Patient, non-smoking, nutrition-minded preferred. Univ. holidays. 289-9023.

FOR SALE

1972 Ford Gran Torino, good condition, new tires and battery. Some rust. For $975. 291-4530 between 5 and 7 pm.

FOR SALE: One full season lower arena student basketball ticket - Call 272-7674.

Tired of High Prices?
Need a shirt for your club or dorm?
KENMARE INC.
Has T-shirts galore at the lowest prices on campus. KENMAR has a sales representative on campus to fill all your T-shirt, sweat shirt and jacket needs at the lowest UNBEATABLE PRICES! Contact ANTHONY TOTARO 4684.

FOR SALE: Package "A" Basketball season ticket. Include UCLA. Best offer - Call 41-4834.

1972 MG Midget, good condition. 5 Michelin radial tires - luggage carrier. Spoke wheels. $1400.00 272-0331.

MUSS SOPHOMORIC
INEE ALIENATING
GRAS BANDICOOTS
HELTER BECK
THIEVE ARE ASPS
YENTE ELS SNORT
MAGS ILL JASPER
ORT STYMIED HOE
USAGES AFT NICE
SEPIA SCI REACT
EDEN ATH DEALUP
INRI OCTOPT
ATTENDANCE ARIA
CHARIOTEER SEEN
COUNTNOSES ANDO

PERSONALS

Don't forget to bring your quarters tonight for the World Hunger Coalition's Quarter Night.

To Katie K.,
Thanks for the personnel. It was my pleasure to assist in any way possible such a gracious and dedicated individual as yourself. (really)
Your Friend and Mine

Tommy-
After Saturday night at Senior Bar - who will you enter for "The Hottest Lips on Campus"???

SMACK - Watch out for the hottest lips on campus at Goose's Wednesday at 7:00.

Maddag - Now that you've danced with your heroes, we're going to have to start reformatting you all over again.
The Corby's Crowd
(Death to the Indian!)

Mike V.,
Congratulations on winning #4 in fencing!!!
Me, of course

If you're from the Big Apple or thereabouts, you are required to call Sean at 1771 in regards to giving me a ride home for break. Thanx!

Happy Birthday,
BILL FULLER.
Love, MOM

To my sweetheart (The Wisconsin Wonder) Anne Weber of 214 Farley Hall. My Thursday nite show is dedicated to your gorgeous self: Popsicles are kinky, but fudge is a bit much. (right Apollo?)
The Adonis

Anyone witnessing or having information about a disturbance in the foyer of Fat Wally's on Friday, November 24, 1978, please contact Attorney Charles Lahey, 233-6699.

KEITH HEIL'S TRAINING STABLE
Horseback riding lessons - SMC-ND. Qualified instructors/English and Western. Semester - 11 week maximum - $100. Organizational meeting January 21st - 2:00 McCandless Piano Room. Additional information call Jo Heil 683-4467.

Tom Dowd,
Your good aim, great tackles, hung tongue and the cake really made it a memorable weekend. Hope your birthday is just as memorable! Happy B-day,
The Walsh Women

Dudley,
Do you drink your Southern Comfort out of brandy snifters? Happy Birthday. We're there, The Endangered Species

Fellow Floridians important meeting for those who need rides or riders home for break. Also to plan upcoming activities. Tuesday, December 5 - 7 pm - LaFortune upstairs off the Ballroom.

Welcome to Commercial Banking Night. Tuesday, Dec. 5 at 7:30 pm Hayes Healy Auditorium Reception at Senior Bar afterwards. BE THERE!

Skipper and Freddy still like to dance. Their captors do too - Do you?

LEGAL NOTICE:
E.G. Inc. will here by be known as AMEN Inc.

AMEN Inc. announces offering of common stock purchasable through comptroler's office.

Paddlefish Blood Drive:
We need your blood Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday between 9 & 3:15 at the infirmary. To reserve a time call Brian (1150) or Tom (1785) today. Paddlefishers and NON-Paddlefishers are welcome to give.

Get your Christmas Roses on sale in the dining halls this week. Sponsored by APO.

A VERY HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU! DENNY!!!
Hey! How old are you anyway?
P.S. Thanx for the brown paper package. Guess Who?
P.S.S. Ha! Ha! I remembered!

Don't forget to bring your quarters tonight for the World Hunger Coalition's Quarter Night.

collegiate crossword

© Edward Julius, 1977 Collegiate CW77-20

ACROSS

- 1 — system
- 6 Disagree with, in law
- 11 Baseball hall-of-famer, — Baker
- 13 Reduces in rank
- 15 Show excessive devotion
- 16 Learned
- 17 Govern
- 18 European country (abbr.)
- 20 Wallach and Whitney
- 21 Bed support
- 22 Lowest point
- 24 Fine earth
- 25 Fedora
- 26 Large grasshopper
- 28 Zuder —
- 29 Put on a new book cover
- 31 What Edmund Hillary conquered
- 33 No —, ands, or buts
- 34 Here: Fr.
- 35 Gave a conceited smile
- 39 — Delta
- 42 Faux —
- 43 In — (behind in payment)
- 45 Dumbbell
- 47 Lubricates
- 49 Neighbor of Turkey
- 50 — one's time
- 51 Turkish chamber
- 52 Snakelike fish
- 53 Sidekick (abbr.)
- 54 Newer film versions
- 57 One TV show
- 60 Most sarcastic
- 61 Slanders
- 62 Aroma
- 63 Physician of old
- 10 Puts in a new floor
- 11 Stern
- 12 Nullify
- 13 Ridicule
- 14 Musical group
- 19 Miss Williams
- 22 Former world leader, and family
- 23 Las Vegas hotel
- 26 Novelist Franz —
- 27 Knocks down by punching
- 30 Abbreviation before a date
- 32 Dolores Del —
- 35 Animal tracks
- 36 Certain race horses
- 37 Muslim
- 38 Most arid
- 39 Dispatched
- 40 Offensive, as an odor
- 41 — Purchase
- 44 Before
- 46 Celebrations
- 48 Tree product
- 50 Fundamental
- 55 Golfer — Venturi
- 56 Superlative suffix
- 58 Slangy throw
- 59 — "nightingale..."

DOWN

- 1 Constructed with standardized units
- 2 Try to equal or surpass
- 3 Issue a new lease
- 4 Mr. Gershwin
- 5 Famous king
- 6 — Fuehrer
- 7 Flightless bird
- 8 Statistical measures
- 9 Put into service

St. Nick appears at party Wednesday in La Fortune

Attention all children of Faculty, Staff, Adminstrators, Students: St. Nicholas Day on Wednesday, Dec. 6, at 7 p.m. in La Fortune Ballroom following the lighting of the Campus Christmas Tree in front of LaFortune. St. Nick will be present - A magic show - Goodies - Elves. All are invited, especially children and those who love children.

ADVENT PENANCE SERVICES

Will be celebrated during the season

| | | |
|---------------|---------|----------------|
| Tues. Dec. 5 | 11pm | Grace |
| Wed. Dec. 6 | 10:30pm | Breen Phillips |
| Wed. Dec. 6 | 10:30pm | Howard |
| Thurs. Dec. 7 | 10pm | Pangborn |
| Mon. Dec. 11 | 10pm | Lyons |
| Mon. Dec. 11 | TBA | Holy Cross |
| Tues. Dec. 12 | 10pm | Sacred Heart |
| Wed. Dec. 13 | 10pm | Fisher |
| Wed. Dec. 13 | 11:30pm | Keenan |

classified ad rates

| | NUMBER OF DAYS | | | | |
|-----------------|----------------|------|------|------|-------|
| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 |
| NUMBER OF WORDS | | | | | |
| 1-10 | 1.00 | 1.30 | 1.75 | 2.00 | 2.25 |
| 11-15 | 1.40 | 1.85 | 2.50 | 2.80 | 3.15 |
| 16-20 | 1.80 | 2.40 | 3.25 | 3.60 | 4.05 |
| 21-25 | 2.20 | 2.95 | 4.00 | 4.40 | 5.10 |
| 26-30 | 2.60 | 3.50 | 4.75 | 5.20 | 6.15 |
| 31-35 | 3.05 | 4.10 | 5.55 | 6.20 | 7.20 |
| 36-40 | 3.50 | 4.70 | 6.35 | 7.20 | 8.25 |
| 41-45 | 3.95 | 5.30 | 7.15 | 8.20 | 9.30 |
| 46-50 | 4.40 | 5.90 | 7.95 | 9.20 | 10.35 |

DEADLINE. All classified ads must be received by 5:00 p.m., two days prior to the issue in which the ad is to run. The Observer office will accept classifieds Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

ND defeats Rice, 105-61

Flowers leads Irish in runaway win

Bruce Flowers down one of his six rebounds, as Tracy Jackson and Kelly Tripucka look on. Flowers had 17 points in Notre Dame's win over Rice last night. [photo by Mark Ricca]

by Ray O'Brien
Sports Editor

A Kevin Hawkins driving layup with 13 seconds clinched a victory for Notre Dame, as all 13 members of the Irish scored en route to a 105-61 shellacking of Rice.

Rice kept it respectable for the first 14 minutes as they played a controlled offense getting the ball into center Brett Burkholder. The Owls got as close as six points down when Notre Dame began to foul as they attempted their full court press.

"I thought Rice did an excellent job in the first half," complimented Digger Phelps. "They played with intensity and knew where their shots were and took them."

Meanwhile, the Irish maintained a hot hand but fell victim to numerous turnovers. Bruce Flowers finally got the home team moving as he scored 11 of his 13 first half points in 4½ minutes, bringing Notre Dame to a 30-18 lead.

Rich Branning also canned four of five field goal attempts while Rice's leading scorer Elbert Darden found the hot hand toward the end of the half, totaling 11 points by intermission.

Notre Dame blew their guests off the court at the outset of the second half scoring 15 unanswered points. Branning and Flowers led this surge as each chipped in four points, while Flowers dominated both the offensive and defensive boards.

"I felt Flowers did an excellent job on his shot selection, concentrated well and played a good game," praised Phelps. "We tightened things in the second half and made some defensive switches. It was great to see that kind of intensity at the start of the second half."

Mike Schuler, Rice's head coach, agreed with Phelps' diagnosis. "We had some good shots in the second half and didn't get the ball in the basket. After awhile you begin to think about it," Schuler added that, "I thought Flowers was a big spark to them. He just ignited Notre Dame when he came off the bench."

Notre Dame continued to stretch the lead throughout the half as sophomores Tracy Jackson and Kelly Tripucka continually drove the baselines for easy scores. At the other end Notre Dame continued to force the Owls to take outside shots holding them scoreless for four minutes and forty two seconds while dropping in another 12 straight points.

"Our defensive intensity is improving," emphasized Phelps.

"The key to the game was Notre Dame's domination of the boards," said Schuler. "They also bothered us with their multiple defenses which keep you constantly changing."

With eight minutes left Phelps emptied his bench with the score 89-48. The second team proceeded to take the Irish over the century mark in points for the first time this year as Marc Kelly, Tim Healy and Kevin Hawkins all got on the board while Notre Dame continued to outscore the Owls 16-13 down the stretch.

Flowers was voted the outstanding player of the game by the press as he found the range on seven of eight shots and was perfect on three attempts from the charity stripe.

"It was a big game for me because I haven't had a big game for a while," admitted Flowers. "Anyone can score for us and tonight I was in the right place at the right time. I'm ready to play now and I'm motivated to prove something in my senior year."

Branning and Tripucka totaled 14 and 13 points respectively while Darden topped all scorers with 18 markers in the losing cause.

The Irish take on neighboring Northwestern on Wednesday night at the ACC. The Wildcats handed Rice a 93-71 setback on Saturday afternoon leading Rice head coach Mike Schuler to this comparison: "I think it will be a competitive ballgame but I cannot see Northwestern beating the Irish. Northwestern is not nearly as aggressive, physical or quick as Notre Dame. Unlike Notre Dame they run a simple offense and try and get the ball into their big man (Brian Jung) and let him do his thing."

Northwestern will be the last test for Phelps' Irish before they go west to take on the UCLA Bruins in Pauley Pavilion this Saturday.

AP football top 20

| | | | | | |
|---------------------|--------|-------|--------------------|-------|-----|
| 1. Penn State (48) | 11-0-0 | 1,159 | 11. Georgia | 9-1-1 | 615 |
| 2. Alabama (5) | 10-1-0 | 1,091 | 12. Michigan State | 8-3-0 | 516 |
| 3. Southern Cal (3) | 11-1-0 | 1,058 | 13. Maryland | 9-2-0 | 442 |
| 4. Oklahoma (3) | 10-1-0 | 1,027 | 14. Texas | 8-3-0 | 401 |
| 5. Michigan | 10-1-0 | 950 | 15. UCLA | 8-3-0 | 355 |
| 6. Nebraska | 9-2-0 | 856 | 16. Pittsburgh | 8-3-0 | 271 |
| 7. Clemson | 10-1-0 | 775 | 17. Purdue | 8-2-1 | 256 |
| 8. Arkansas | 9-2-0 | 733 | 18. Missouri | 7-4-0 | 173 |
| 9. Houston | 9-2-0 | 682 | 19. Iowa State | 8-3-0 | 86 |
| 10. Notre Dame | 8-3-0 | 630 | 20. Ohio State | 7-3-1 | 60 |

Wrestlers finish 11th at RIT

by Bill Marquard
Sports Writer

"Despite our eleventh-place finish, I feel we made some important strides this past weekend. Applying the experience we've gained from our early season tournaments, we should improve our showing, particularly in this week's match."

Thus does Notre Dame wrestling mentor Ray Sepeta view his squad's performance in last weekend's Rochester Invitational Tournament as the Irish matmen prepare to open their 1978-79 dual meet slate this weekend. The Irish journey to Valparaiso for an afternoon match on Saturday.

Notre Dame boasts a perfect 9-0 ledger in their series against Valparaiso, yet Sepeta is wary. "Our first dual match will be a challenge for us that's closer to home." Notre Dame's only interscholastic competition this year has been at Rochester and at the Michigan State Invitational two weeks previously.

"Hopefully we will learn from the experience we've had thus far and improve our showing," Sepeta continued. "This match undoubtedly will be easier than the tournament competition we've had already, but I think it's important that we take smaller steps toward improvement."

In last year's match, Notre Dame blitzed the Crusaders 45-4 as the Irish swept all but the heavyweight bout.

At the RIT Invitational, Ohio State garnered tourney laurels, outdistancing second-place Cortland by 5¼ points, 113 ¾ to 108 ½.

The University of Buffalo, last year's Division III National Champion and defending RIT champion, finished third.

There were several individual bright spots for the Irish. Co-captains George Gedney and Dave DiSabato finished fifth and sixth overall in the tourney, while junior Mike Wilda lost 9-7 to last year's Division III national champion when his opponent executed a five-point takedown/near fall combination in the last 30 seconds of the match. Likewise, sophomore Al Mattaliano lost to the eventual tournament champion.

"It's evident that our freshmen will be a key determining factor this season, reflected Sepeta, in his fourth year as Irish head coach. "Freshmen Curt Rood and Brian Erard wrestled for us at 134 and 150, and since it was their first collegiate match, they had a little trouble reacting but this shouldn't be a major problem."

"Jeff Moore also wrestled in his first varsity match at heavyweight after only one week of practice. The brightest spot among the freshmen was John Iglar at 177 who looked very good and strong despite his loss."

"Our dual meets in the next two weeks will be very important for the team as they try to build up their confidence for the rest of the season," Sepeta added.

SMC cagers open their season

by Beth Menke
Sports Writer

If Jerry Dallessio and the Saint Mary's basketball team have anything to say, Digger Phelps' cagers won't be the only basketball team to watch in South Bend this season.

Dallessio is the third new basketball coach in four years at SMC. Unlike his predecessors, he is the team's first male coach. He also happens to be a graduate of Notre Dame, class of '74. Dallessio originally hails from New Jersey, and is currently the guidance director at St. Joseph High School. And although Dallessio has coached basketball on the high school level, this season is his debut in women's college basketball.

Also making their debut in women's college basketball are five SMC freshmen. Making the team this year were Ann Morris, Diana Bury, Mary Zuehlke, Jean Myler, and Ellen Hoyer. These freshmen brought much experience from high school play to SMC. Diana Bury commented on the transition from high school to college basketball. "We have to work much harder here, we have more practices, and the workouts are very strenuous."

Rounding out this year's team are the returning upperclassmen, including senior tri-captains, Kathleen Cullen, Martha Kelly, and Meg Holland; and fellow seniors, Mary Liz Dunne and Diane Kluka. There is an interesting balance in the numbers of seniors and freshmen, while the middle grades are less represented. Juniors Nancy Nowalk and Trish McMahon are joined by sophomore Mo O'Brien.

The team got off to a promising start by defeating Valparaiso 68-61 in a practice game last Thursday.

Dallessio describes himself as an optimist by nature, and has found much to be excited about here at Saint Mary's. "I am very pleased with the attitude and the unity here. The team has really begun to gel. We may not play big name schools, but we play some very tough teams and I expect us to be in every game," he said.

Cullen commented on the depth of this year's team, "Due to the experience of the freshmen, this year's team has much more depth than teams of past years." Holland added, "It should be a good year. We have depth, the five seniors have played together all along, and we have very solid coaching this year."

According to Dallessio, the girls have worked hard in the preseason and are hopeful that it will pay off in the regular season which begins tonight with a 7 p.m. tip off with Huntington College at Angela Athletic facility. Dallessio remarked, "Playing in Angela is exciting for the team, because for so many years there was no home court at Saint Mary's. The kids appreciate the facilities and so should the fans."

Dallessio is hopeful for a large turnout of fans at the home games this year, and promises that those who come will see "a pretty good brand of basketball."

Swimmers take first in ND Relays

by Mark Perry
Assistant Sports Editor

Although they placed first in only one event, the Notre Dame swim team used a strong over-all effort to tie Wayne State for first place in the Notre Dame Invitational this past weekend.

The Irish placed in the top three in all nine relay events in the meet, taking seven seconds and one third in addition to winning the 200-yard backstroke relay, as they opened their 1978-79 season in impressive fashion.

Notre Dame and Wayne State share the top honors with 87 points, with Wabash third with 75 points, followed by Toledo, who pulled in 58 points.

Kevin Korowicki, John Williamowski, Pat Schneider, and Jim Link combined for the only Irish first, as they won the backstroke relay in 1:59.4, defeating the second place Toledo team by almost one second.

Although the Irish did well in the relays, head coach Dennis Stark was quick to point out that there is a big difference between the dual meets and the team relays. "The many new people on the team are used to the shorter distances that they swam in high school and in last week's relays," Stark said. "I think experience and strength will be important as we look ahead to the dual meets."

Stark did learn something that could be an asset to the team in upcoming meets. "The thing that impressed me most was the balance," Stark commented. "We finished in the top three in every event, which shows me that we're really not too weak anywhere."

The Irish swimmers begin their dual meets season this Friday at the Rockne Pool beginning at 7 p.m. Then Notre Dame has an away meet with Butler next Tuesday at 4 p.m. to close out their schedule before break.

After the break, the Irish face Wayne State, co-champions of last weekend's meet, in a return match-up at the Rock. The Irish defeated Wayne State by one point last season, another in a series of close contests between the two schools.

Grad B-ball meeting in ACC

There will be a mandatory organizational meeting for all grad school basketball team captain tomorrow at 4:30 in the ACC Auditorium.