

The Observer

VOL. XIII, NO. 64

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary's

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1979

Mike Costin found the South Bend snow cover to be a deterrent to his cycling plans. (photo by Dave Rumbach)

Suspect held by police in shooting

by Mark Rust
Senior Staff Reporter

A suspect is being held on a $750 bond today in the Saint Joseph County Jail on a battery charge stemming from the Dec. 11 shooting of a Notre Dame student, Joe Camarda, a senior. Battery is a felony charge.

South Bend police arrested the suspect, Bobby D. McKinstry, 18, of 914 1/2 E. Corby St. on Dec. 18, one week to the day after the shooting. The arrest took place at mid-day on the corner of Cleveland and LaPorte in the city when an on-duty policeman, according to sources close to the case, spotted the suspect wearing a coat that fit the description given them by Camarda of the coat worn by his assailant at the time of the shooting.

The suspect appeared yesterday morning in Superior Court for arraignment and was granted a continuance by Judge Robert Miller Jr. The date for the continuance was not immediately available.

Camarda was released early yesterday from the Saint Joseph County Hospital in "good" condition after an almost six week hospital stay and three operations, including major exploratory surgery. He immediately flew to Washington, DC and his home in Reston, VA.

South Bend police are holding two statements implicating McKinstry in the shooting, according to Homicide Lt. Charles Mahank. Sources close to the case say that police are still seeking a second suspect.

The shooting took place at the 902 E. Corby Street residence that Camarda shared with fellow senior Rick Lane. News of the shooting was not immediately available to students since the shooting occurred two days after the Observer's last issue of the semester.

It was the third incidence of an
[continued on page 3]

Camarda relates shooting experience

by Tim Joyce

"He was about three feet from me when he stopped, drew his gun, aimed and fired," Joe Camarda said, describing the Dec. 11 shooting by intruders in his Corby St. home.

Camarda, a senior economics major from Reston, VA was seriously wounded during the incident.

In the interview which took place Tuesday from his hospital bed, Camarda related the details of the shooting in a high voice, the result of a bullet passing through his neck. Appearing extremely weak, he has lost more than 40 pounds since the shooting.

According to Camarda, he had just gone upstairs at approximately 10 p.m. the night of the incident, and was in his room when he heard a knock at the door. At the same time, chimes above the door sounded, indicating that someone had already entered the house.

"I walked downstairs, figuring it was a friend who had just left and had forgotten something. I was halfway down the stairs when I called out 'Who's there?' I heard some noise and went down to the landing.

"I saw one guy halfway out the front door and another was near the door. The third guy ran past me and stopped.

"It was all in a split second. It happened fast. I guess when he was aiming at me, I ducked to the right, catching the bullet in my neck," Camarda related.

The bullet travelled through his esophagus, nicked and collapsed a lung and just missed his spine. Now lodged in Camarda's liver, the bullet will not be removed unless he develops complications, according to physicians.

At first, Camarda thought that the bullet had missed him. "I fell down, but got up immediately and ran up the stairs, screaming, 'I've been shot.'" At first my housemate, Rick Lane, thought was kidding and that the bang he had heard was a firecracker that a friend had set off as a joke."

Lane then told Camarda to lie down and made him comfortable. Throughout the incident, Camarda was fully conscious.

Camarda was expected to make a speedy recovery at St. Joseph's Hospital, but complications set in later that week. "I was OK, but then my neck swelled up and they had to operate."

A tracheotomy was performed on Camarda in what was to be the first of three operations.

"The second operation was to determine what organs had been hit and where the bullet really was. The other operation was to drain fluids which had built up inside," Camarda explained.

He has mixed feelings about the incident.

"I was disappointed that (University President) Fr. (Theodore) Hesburgh seemed more interested in the broad theory of gun control than in seeing that his off-campus students are secure.

"It appears to me that they (University officials) are not really interested. This is the first time this has happened, and you'd think they would take some definite action," Camarda commented.

On the positive side, he had only praise for the Campus Ministry, stating, "The Campus Ministry (staff) was great. They really helped out when I needed it most. They were always coming by to see if I needed anything. They were great to me, especially Fr. (Thomas) McNally."

According to Camarda, "All my friends really came through for me and helped out my family a great deal."

When asked about the off-campus situation, Camarda said, "Something should be done. The University (administration) must take an aggressive role and not a passive one. The off-campus office does a good job, but students themselves need to get more involved."

Camarda was released from the hospital yesterday, and was flown home to Virginia where he will be recuperating this semester. However, he said that he will return to South Bend in the spring for the trial and to see his friends.

Labor Board decides against campus workers

by Michael Ridenour
Staff Reporter

The campus workers' 17-month struggle for unionization by Teamsters Local 364 has been stymied because of a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) ruling Monday to dismiss the Teamsters' petition to represent the groundskeepers as a separate bargaining unit.

The decision will not be appealed by Teamsters Local 364.

The Teamsters wanted separate bargaining units, such as the groundskeepers and laundry workers, to vote on unionization rather than the entire campus work force.

"I think it's obvious that the Teamsters did not have that broad support of the workers," Thomas Bull, director of personnel, stated.

According to President of Teamsters Local 364 Roland Wardlow, "I don't agree with the decision of the NLRB, but I felt it would be unfair to the workers if we appealed the ruling and made them wait for the result."

Bull noted that "the NLRB justified our (Notre Dame's) position on the size of the bargaining unit. It also shows the University has not been too far out of line.

The NLRB's decision means going back to the blackboard for Teamsters Local 364. But "we'll be back," Wardlow stated.

However, Wardlow does not see a new unionization attempt by the Teamsters Local 364 in the next three months.

With the interruption of the unionization attempt, the University will continue to improve worker's benefits, including health insurance and sick leave, Bull stated.

Surgery fails to remove all cancer cells from Wayne

LOS ANGELES - John Wayne's 9½-hour cancer operation last week for the removal of his stomach failed to take all the cancer from his body and there is "a probability that it will spread," a hospital spokesman said yesterday. Cancerous cells have been discovered in the lymph nodes in the 71-year-old actor's stomach area, said the spokesman, Bernard Strohm, administrator of the UCLA Medical Center. Strohm said there is a possibility that cancer has spread to the lymph nodes throughout the body. He refused to elaborate on Wayne's prospects for recovery or further treatment. He said no decision has been made yet on whether more surgery it needed.

Schlesinger cites need for oil conservation

WASHINGTON - Tough government action may be needed, including gasoline rationing as a "last resort," if Iranian oil production is not restored by this summer, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said yesterday. Schlesinger said a successful voluntary conservation effort could easily offset the loss of Iranian oil and avoid the need for direct government action. According to Schlesinger, rationing would be extremely "disruptive" to American lifestyles. However, Senate Energy Committee Chairman Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said, "The public is going to have to make some hard choices and there are not many options left." The political upheaval in Iran has brought its oil exports to a complete halt. Much of the loss of Iranian oil is being made up by increased imports from Saudi Arabia.

Indiana bill to curtail sex education programs

INDIANAPOLIS - Sex education in Indiana public schools would be strictly controlled under a bill introduced yesterday by Republican Sen. Joan Gubbins. To conform with the bill's requirements, a sex education program in the primary grades must identify male and female roles as they relate to family and social situations. "Teachers shall stress the wonder of the creation of life and its spiritual implications," the bill stipulates. "Classroom discussion shall center on positive, normal, moral behavior." Information on contraception and abortion is flatly prohibited, even in classes at the junior and senior high school levels, as is sensitivity training and group encounters "the purpose of which is to alter values."

State senate proposes drug dealer crackdown

INDIANAPOLIS - A bill to require most convicted drug dealers to serve time behind bars won the endorsement yesterday of the Senate Judiciary Committee. The measure, sponsored by Sen. Charles E. Bosma, R-Indianapolis, was sent to the Senate floor on a 6-3 committee vote. In his appeal for mandatory jail terms, Bosma said, "we have a few counties in Indiana that have become havens for those dealing in drugs." The measure would apply to those dealing in most drugs other than marijuana. The bill would not impose stiffer maximum sentences, but would prohibit judges from suspending fines.

Weather

Partly sunny today with a high of 25 to 30. Increasing cloudiness at night with a low in the teens. Freezing rain or snow likely on Friday with highs near 32.

Campus

4 pm -- SEMINAR, "use of micellar systems in analytical chemistry," prof. w.l. hinze, wake forest univ., CONFERENCE RM. RAD. LAB.

5-6:30 pm -- PETITION, right to life congressional drive, N & S DINING HALLS.

6, 8, 10, 12 pm -- FILM, "live and let die," KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HALL, $1.

6:30 pm -- MEETING, organizational meeting--council for the retarded, LIB. AUD. & LOUNGE.

8 pm -- BASKETBALL, nd vs. san francisco, ACC.

8:15 pm -- FACULTY RECITAL, arthur lawrence, organist, SACRED HEART CHURCH.

From Cotton Bowl

ND earns million dollars

By John McGrath
Staff Reporter

After all the figures are in, Notre Dame is expected to have profited from the Cotton Bowl to the tune of nearly one million dollars.

Although Fr. Edmund Joyce, University executive vice president, points out that the totals "won't be in for months," Sports Information Director Roger Valdiserri says that the University stands to profit from the New Year's classic by the amount of $800,000 or $900,000.

Valdiserri also revealed that Notre Dame's sports programs grossed over $3.6 million for the past season. The total expenditures of all the athletic programs at the University came to about $3.3 million, indicating a net profit of approximately $270,000.

In addition to this profit, both Notre Dame and Houston received a cut of about $1.2 million from Cotton Bowl proceeds. While Houston has to split the money with eight other South-west Conference teams, the Fighting Irish, with no conference affiliations, stands to receive the full amount minus $300,000 in expenditures that were incurred during the team's 13-day stay in Dallas.

The approximately $900,000 remaining from Cotton Bowl proceeds will be transferred to the University's general fund along with the regular season's profits--a sum totalling close to $1.2 million.

According to Valdiserri, "The athletic department is not permitted to solicit, raise or retain any of the money in a separate fund."

In a precedent set in 1970, Notre Dame entered post-season bowl competition as a means of securing funds for other University programs.

"The big expense is air travel," Valdiserri commented, adding, "This year's charter rates were double last year's. We used to charter 727's, but United put all of them into passenger service...so now we have to charter DC-8's which cost twice as much."

When questioned as to why the expenditures were so high, Valdiserri explained that the money covered day-to-day expenses as well as transportation costs.

Valdiserri explained, "In 1970, the University needed at least $200,000 to start a minority scholarship fund. If we didn't do it (by entering the bowl game), the foundation would have had to look elsewhere for money."

This steady source of revenue may be in danger, however, according to the Sports Information director, who noted that Title IX of the 1972 Education Act may have a serious effect on Notre Dame's sports program. Title IX requires colleges to spend equal amounts of money on men's and women's sports.

"The big problem is the HEW guidelines," Valdiserri said, adding, "No one is sure whether basketball and football will be included under the rules or not."

Valdiserri revealed that the University offers 95 sports scholarships. This number translates to about $500,000 for football alone. The two other major scholarship sports are basketball and hockey.

"Our philosophy has always been to subsidize other sports with the money made by the most profitable programs, but look at fencing, for example. We won the national championship two years in a row without one scholarship athlete," Valdiserri remarked.

He added that golf, baseball, tennis, soccer and women's basketball are also sports for which Notre Dame does not provide scholarships.

Blizzard strikes

Midwest stalls after 30 inches

by Ray McGrath
Staff Reporter

Governor Jim Thompson of Illinois had a good solution to his personal snow problem. He declared 22 northern Illinois counties disaster areas, and then went south to Florida for a family vacation. Unfortunately, for the rest of those who happen to reside in the Midwest, troubles were less easily solved. The snow, which reached South Bend at around 4 p.m. last Friday and lasted through Sunday evening, measured about 17 inches at Michiana Regional Airport, according to National Weather Service forecasters there.

Worse hit was the Chicago area, which picked up 21 inches of new snow, and drove Chicago's total ground cover to 30 inches. O'Hare International Airport, the world's busiest airport, was forced to close, snarling air traffic around the country.

Along with Illinois, the storm, which had claimed at least 65 lives by Wednesday evening, prompted Iowa and Kansas to declare disaster areas. In Indiana, Governor Otis Bowen, M.D., has declared the four county area including LaPorte, Lake, Porter, and St. Joseph counties, a disaster area, enabling state agencies to take part in snow clearance and restoration of services. Federal aid is being sought by each of the four states.

Bowen said Tuesday that "the blizzard conditions have posed a severe threat to the safety of the people and livestock and have hampered rescue and recovery operations."

Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students have all been subjected to more than a taste of the problems which South Bend and Chicago have experienced. Besides airport closings and delays, returning students who managed to get into the four-state area found train lines, including the South Shore and Chicago lines and the Amtrak line from Detroit, shut down or running with long delays. Roads were open but slick, and driving conditions were complicated by high winds and blowing snow, thus slowing automobile and bus travel.

In spite of it all, business has gone on pretty much as usual for most of the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community. Richard Sullivan, University Registrar, estimated that about 80 percent of the Notre Dame students had registered by the end of Tuesday, and many more had made it back and were settled in academically by yesterday afternoon.

Sullivan said that, ironically, the Registrar's Office faced "no inconvenience or problems" as a result of the weather. He pointed out that the steady stream of students over the last two day simplified his office's work, and a preliminary class list had already been sent to all instructors.

Any students who return today or later can report to the Registrar's Office, Room 215 in the Administration Building to pick up their packet, and all students should process drops and adds as usual.

Elsewhere on campus, the food services and power plant are operating at normal capacity. As a closing note, it was 79 degrees yesterday in Orlando, Florida, which is only a few hours away by air, if you can get out of the airport.

The Observer

Night Editors: John Calcutt
Debbie Dabbling

Asst. Night Editors: Night
Editors and Assistants

Copy Readers: Mare Ulicny
Tim Joyce

Editorial Layout: Rosemary
Mills

Sports Layout: Paul Mullaney, Mark Perry, Ray
O'Brien

Typists: Lisa DiValerio, Tricia Meehan, Beth Willard
Early Morning Typist: Mary McCauley

Day Editor: John Ferroli

Ad Layout: Bob Rudy
Photographer: Dave
Rumbach

The Observer (USPS 598 920) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $20 per year ($10 per semester) from The Observer, P.O. box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

BULLA SHED

5:15 mass and supper

this friday
and every friday-

campus
ministry

Mary Gaskill, left, and Jayne Jakubaitis visited the latest edition to the Huddle, the Deli, yesterday. [Photo by Dave Rumbach]

... Suspect

[continued from page 1] apparent attempted break-in at the residence during the semester. Intruders involved in the first break-in, which took place just eight days after the opening of the fall term, succeeded in stealing $1000 worth of stereo equipment owned jointly by the two housemates.

It was not clear as of yesterday whether or not police could link the battery suspect to the two earlier break-ins.

According to Lane, who was in the house at the time of the shooting, both he and Camarda were upstairs when they heard a "quick" knock and the simultaneous ringing of door chimes downstairs.

Since the two were accustomed to casual entrances by their friends, the noise gave no cause for alarm, Lane said. Camarda went down the steps to greet the would-be visitors while Lane remained upstairs, preparing for his scheduled campus radio show "Night-Train's Nocturnal Night Flight."

Moments later, according to Lane, he heard Camarda say "Hey--where are you going," followed by a "popping sound, like a firecracker." An ambulance was called seconds after Camarda returned to the upstairs room, clutching his throat, shouting, "Rich--I've been shot," according to Lane.

Police arrived on the scene within two minutes after the shooting, followed by an ambulance approximately three minutes later, according to Lane. More police and a number of reporters and TV cameramen were on the scene within 15 minutes of the shooting.

Notre Dame revises hiring programs

by Michael Onufrak

University officials are complying with the U.S. Department of Labor's directive to revamp parts of Notre Dame's Affirmative Action hiring program. However, this procedure will not be completed today, the deadline originally set by the government agency.

Thomas Bull, Notre Dame director of personnel and Affirmative Action officer for non-academics, said that the University received the directive due to excessive "informality" within Notre Dame's Affirmative Action files.

The reason for this informality is the University's dependence on "intuition" rather than strict adherence to the latest government statistics.

Bull was quick to point out that the University is not being directly accused of any wrongdoing. He stated that the problem was simply the informal character of University data. This fact was discovered during a "routine" inspection of Affirmative Action records which was conducted by the Labor Department Dec. 13-15 of last year.

Bull said yesterday that University officials had done the best they could to complete the formalization process by today. Due to Christmas break and the unavailability of administrators, however, this process has not yet been completed.

Bull revealed that he expects the University will be granted a 30-day extension of the deadline by the Labor Department in coming days.

According to Bull, Notre Dame has a "good psychology" for the Affirmative Action program. He added that the Department of Labor's review and subsequent criticism of the University's record-keeping will help Notre Dame to formalize and improve those records.

Notre Dame will continue to be committed to the hiring of women and minorities and the Affirmative Action program, Bull noted.

Holy Week training program to be offered for liturgy

A training program on "Preparing Holy Week" for members of diocesan liturgy commissions, liturgy planning teams and directors of religious education will be offered by the Notre Dame Center for Pastoral Liturgy Jan. 22-26.

Dealing with theological considerations and pastoral practice in the areas of liturgical celebrations for Holy Week, the program will take place at Fatima Retreat House on the Notre Dame campus.

The following will be presented during the session:

--"The Shape of Easter in the Liturgy" and "Easter Faith" by John Gallen, S.J., director of the Center for Pastoral Liturgy and editor of Eucharistic Liturgies and Christians at Prayer.

--"The Daily Prayer of Holy Week" by Andrew Ciferri, O. Praem., liturgical minister of Daylesford Abbey and recent graduate of Notre Dame's doctoral program in liturgy.

--"Planning a Reconciliation Liturgy" and "Holy Week: Overview and Planning" by Mary Alice Piil, C.S.J., currently engaged in doctoral research on the rhythm and spirit of the Roman Missal of Paul VI.

--"The Passion Narratives of Matthew and John" and "The Resurrection Appearance of Jesus" by Eugene LaVerdiere, nationally known lecturer and scholar.

--"Planning the Music of the Triduum" by Charles Conley, a Notre Dame doctoral candidate in liturgy.

--"Celebrating the Liturgies of Holy Thursday" by Mark Searle, assistant professor of theology at Notre Dame and editor of Assembly, the Center's journal.

--"Celebrating the Liturgies of Good Friday" by John Allyn Melloh, S.M., director of the Center's on-campus training programs.

--"Celebrating the Easter Vigil" by James Lopresti, S.J., doctoral candidate at Boston University and staff member of the Center.

The training program also will include discussion, reflection and daily Eucharist, Morning Praise and Evening Prayer. Registration is limited to 40 persons. To enroll, contact the Notre Dame Center for Pastoral Liturgy at 8801.

Sr. Marita's to organize

There will be an organizational meeting Sunday, Jan. 21, at 7 p.m. in LaFortune Little Theatre for students interested in tutoring at Sr. Marita's Primary Day School.

McCafferty appointed Assistant Dean of Law

The appointment of Fr. Michael D. McCafferty as an assistant dean of the Notre Dame Law School for a two-and-one-half year period has been announced by Prof. Timothy O'Meara, University provost. McCafferty succeeds Prof. Fernand N. Dutilleul who will return to full-time teaching and research.

Currently an assistant professor of law, McCafferty will assume his new post Jan. 15. The appointment will terminate at the end of May, 1981. O'Meara noted that McCafferty will continue research in the area of constitutional law during the next three summers and be granted a sabbatical for this purpose in the academic year 1981-82.

A native of Cincinnati, the 32-year-old priest entered the Holy Cross Novitiate in 1966, three years before receiving his undergraduate degree from Notre Dame. He subsequently completed study for the M. Th. and the J.D. degrees at Notre Dame and was ordained in 1974. From 1974 to 1976, he was a trial attorney for the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's Office of General Counsel in Washington and then spent a year in private practice with Winston & Strawn, a Chicago law firm.

McCafferty received an LL.M. in constitutional law from Harvard Law School earlier this year with a thesis on "The Religion Clauses: Background, Doctrine and Continuing Dilemma."

JAM PROUDLY PRESENTS:

THE MARSHALL MAT TUCKER BAND

Saturday, January 27, 8:00 PM
 Tickets: $8.50 & $7.50

with special guest
NOTRE DAME A.C.C. FIREFALL

STUDENT LOTTERY TONIGHT
 6:00 PM
 LaFortune Ballroom
 Limit 4 tickets per person.

Student Union tickets go on sale
FRIDAY ONLY
 9:00 am-4:00 pm

Also available at ACC Gate 10
 9:00-5:00

by Robbie Moore
Staff Reporter

Logan Center volunteers to discuss new projects

The Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Council for the Retarded will hold their first organizational meeting of the spring semester tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the Library Auditorium.

Mile Wolohan, co-chairperson of the council, stresses that newcomers as well as old members are welcome. "New people come every week," Mike said, "and volunteers are always needed." At the meeting the council will discuss the different dates for future activities and determine when volunteers will be needed the most.

As in the past, the council invites all students who wish to donate some of their spare time toward working with the retarded of the South Bend-Mishawaka area. Due to the habitual generosity of the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's mentally retarded children, teenagers, adults and their families are able to participate in the various activities sponsored by the council.

Volunteers are needed for the weekly activities, which include classroom learning, speech, writing, arts & crafts, and music. These daily activities are held at Logan Center, located on the southern edge of the Notre Dame campus.

For those who would like to get some exercise, the center also provides the opportunity to participate in swimming and basketball.

Students with 45 minutes to an hour to spare between classes are always welcome to assist in these learning oriented activities. Volunteers are usually needed between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. As in all activities, volunteers have their choice of specific age levels and area of talent with which they would prefer to work.

On a more social level, the council also recruits volunteers for their weekend recreation program. These sessions are held at the center every Saturday, from 9-11:30 a.m. Students are paired with a mentally retarded child, teenager, or adult with which he works during the two and a half hour period. The general idea of these weekend sessions is to have a good time. Activities include music, arts & crafts, swimming, and gymnastics.

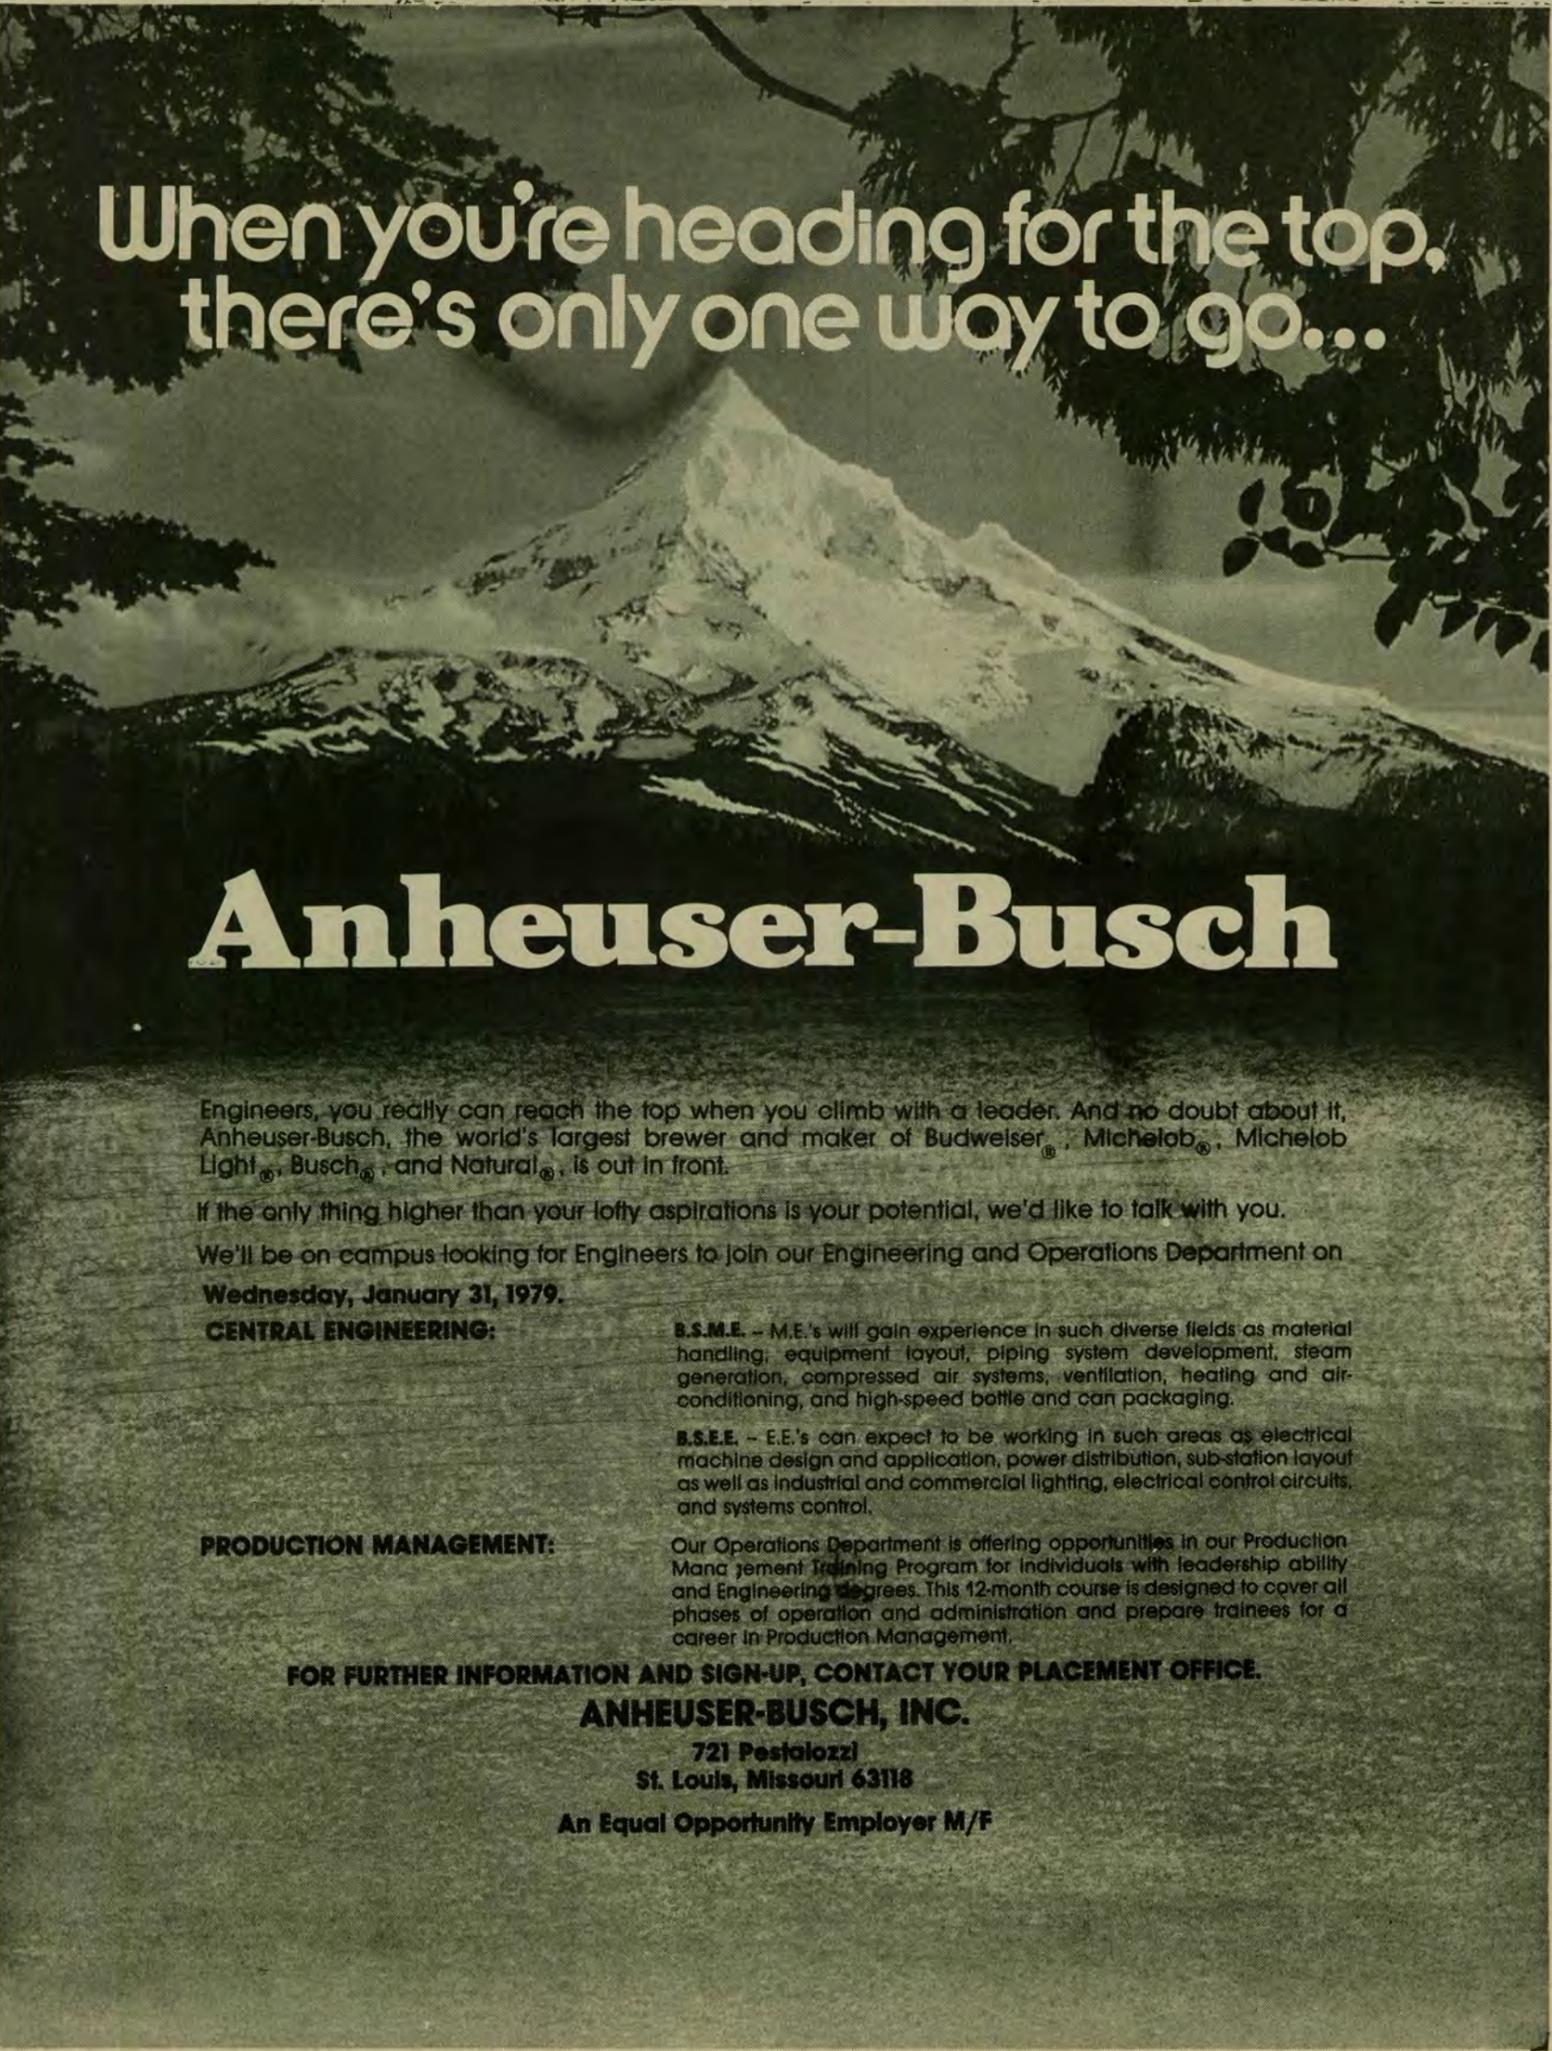

Special events are an extra plus on Saturdays. The council is always on the look-out for groups of students with a special talent who would be willing to give a small performance for weekend participants to watch. Performances in the past have been given by the Karate Club, a magician, a juggler, and piano players.

Another weekly event is the bowling session from 3-6 p.m. every Friday afternoon. Dances are scheduled on a monthly basis; the first one for this semester is scheduled for Friday, Jan. 26, 7:30-10 p.m. at Logan Center.

Other special events planned for the semester are the Ice Capades and the Notre Dame-Colorado College Hockey game, both to be held at the ACC.

Later in the Spring, the council will host its annual picnic on the lawn in front of Holy Cross, and an overnight camp-out.

When you're heading for the top,
there's only one way to go...

Anheuser-Busch

Engineers, you really can reach the top when you climb with a leader. And no doubt about it, Anheuser-Busch, the world's largest brewer and maker of Budweiser®, Michelob®, Michelob Light®, Busch®, and Natural®, is out in front.

If the only thing higher than your lofty aspirations is your potential, we'd like to talk with you.

We'll be on campus looking for Engineers to join our Engineering and Operations Department on Wednesday, January 31, 1979.

CENTRAL ENGINEERING:

B.S.M.E. - M.E.'s will gain experience in such diverse fields as material handling, equipment layout, piping system development, steam generation, compressed air systems, ventilation, heating and air-conditioning, and high-speed bottle and can packaging.

B.S.E.E. - E.E.'s can expect to be working in such areas as electrical machine design and application, power distribution, sub-station layout as well as industrial and commercial lighting, electrical control circuits, and systems control.

PRODUCTION MANAGEMENT:

Our Operations Department is offering opportunities in our Production Management Training Program for individuals with leadership ability and Engineering degrees. This 12-month course is designed to cover all phases of operation and administration and prepare trainees for a career in Production Management.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION AND SIGN-UP, CONTACT YOUR PLACEMENT OFFICE.

ANHEUSER-BUSCH, INC.

721 Pestalozzi
St. Louis, Missouri 63118

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

Plumbing repairs near the fieldhouse obstructed student walkways on the first day of class yesterday. [Photo by Dave Rumbach]

Divorce settlements may include provision for education costs

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) -- The expense of putting your spouse through college could count for something in a divorce settlement under a bill approved yesterday in the Indiana House.

The measure, sponsored by Reps. John W. Donaldson, R-Lebanon, and Joseph Summers, D-Indianapolis, would allow courts to award a financial judgment to husbands or wives for their contributions to the higher education of their now-estranged spouses.

The divorce settlement measure, Donaldson said, was prompted by a case he handled for an Indianapolis dental technician who had put her husband through dental school. After graduation, the husband left the woman and filed for divorce.

Donaldson noted that the couple had only limited property and the woman was unable to recover the cost of her husband's education.

"This is an attempt to reimburse that spouse for the limited expenses of tuition, lab fees and books," he said.

Auditions to be held

Auditions for the ND-SMC Theatre production of Spring Awakening will take place at 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 21 and 7 p.m. Monday, Jan. 22, in O'Laughlin Auditorium at Saint Mary's. Callbacks will be on Tuesday, Jan. 23. Audition materials are available at the speech and drama department office, room 108, in Moreau Hall. The script calls for 42 actors to play adults and school children. Written in 1891 by German playwright Frank Wedekind, the play is a comic, yet frank, account of the sexual awakening of school children in a world dominated by strict adults. Auditions are open to all ND-SMC students. For more information, call 284-4595.

However, the measure, which passed 83-13, drew criticism from Rep. Robert Jones, R-Indianapolis, who complained that it would spark needless litigation.

"Whatever happened to 'love, honor and obey'? Whatever happened to 'until death do us part'? he asked.

"Has marriage in the state of Indiana gone from a moral commitment to a business arrangement?"

Donaldson replied that the question of financial contributions to education arises only after a suit to dissolve the marriage has been filed.

One of two child support measures which passes would allow a judge to order payments to be deducted from the paycheck of an unwed father, Rep. Thomas J. Fruechtenicht, R-Fort Wayne, noted that the support payment would go directly to the mother, making payments regular and reliable. His bill was approved 88-6.

The House also passed a related bill which would allow courts to enforce child support orders on parents living in certain foreign countries. The measure, which passed 91-1, applies to jurisdictions with a reciprocity arrangement with Indiana.

Florida helicopter crash kills five

OPA-LOCKA, FLA. (AP) - A Coast Guard helicopter and a smaller, private helicopter collided during practice flights 200 feet above one of the nation's busiest general aviation airports yesterday. All five people aboard the two aircraft were killed.

"It was just an incredible ball of fire," said eyewitness Chuck LaBow, a pilot for the Goodyear blimp, which is based at the airfield but was not involved in the accident. "I saw the wreckage hitting the ground...It was totally engulfed in flames when it hit the ground."

Coast Guard Lt. Bob Allen flew over the scene moments after the 10:17 a.m. EST collision. "It looked like there was nothing left," Allen said. "I couldn't even tell what was down there. It was just a mess."

Two piles of debris remained at midday. Both were covered with fire-fighting foam applied by airport firemen after the flaming aircraft spun to the ground.

Two officers and two enlisted men were aboard the Coast Guard helicopter, according to Allen. Bob Ott, owner of the Burnside-Ott flying school which operated the other craft, said one person--a male flying student--was aboard the second helicopter.

The victims in the Coast Guard helicopter were identified as Lt. Robert Gregory Ausness, the pilot, a former Army flier from Miami; Lt. Robert C. Shearer, Jr., the copilot, of Pembroke Pines, Fla.; aviation mechanic Robert E. McClain, of St. Louis; and machinist's mate Jeffrey B. Case of Narrowsburg, N.Y., and Hawley, Pa. Their ages were unavailable.

The name of the student pilot was not released. "He (the student pilot) was going up and we were going down, and there was a mid-air collision," said Allen.

Ott said the student was on "a supervised solo," practicing take-offs and landings with an instructor watching from the ground.

"As he rose to 200 feet, the Coast Guard helicopter descended on top of him," Ott said.

Allen said the Coast Guard aircraft was returning to its base at the airport after practicing air-sea rescue maneuvers in the area. Ott quoted the instructor, whom he refused to identify, as saying that the Coast Guard helicopter apparently was practicing a powerless descent at the time of the collision.

Jack Barker, an Atlanta-based spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), said the two aircraft "were not under air traffic control at the time."

"They were in an area where the control tower could see them," Barker said, "but the area is used mostly for helicopter training."

He said a federal investigation of the accident was under way.

Another FAA spokesman said the Opa-Locka airport and a general aviation field near Van Nuys, Calif., compete monthly as the busiest in the nation.

Carter expresses hope in Iran; warns Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter expressed confidence yesterday that the Iranian people would be able to restore a stable government and economy to their strife-torn nation following the departure of the shah.

Carter also called on exiled Iranian religious leader Ayatollah Khomeini to support the new civilian government headed by Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar. He said the prime minister has won the support of the Iranian military "and many of the religious opponents" following the departure of the Shah of Iran on Tuesday, ending his 37-year rule of the Persian Gulf nation.

At his first news conference in five weeks, Carter said that despite the overthrow of the Cambodian government by Vietnamese-backed Cambodian insurgents, "We do not detect any immediate threat to the border of Thailand from the Vietnamese."

But in an apparent warning to Hanoi and Moscow, Vietnam's chief ally in the communist world, he said: "We have warned both the Vietnamese and the Soviets who supply them and support them against any danger that they might exhibit toward Thailand."

Turning to economic matters, the President said the fiscal 1980 budget, to be made public Monday, will more than meet his goal of a deficit of less than $30 billion.

He said that any fair analysis of the new budget, which goes into effect Oct. 1, would show that it adequately meets the needs of defense as well as "meeting the legitimate needs of those who are most depending on government."

And the president said California Gov. Edmund G. "Jerry" Brown's call for a constitutional convention with the aim of amending the Constitution to prohibit budget deficits was "extremely dangerous."

Carter defended his decision to invite former President Richard M. Nixon to a White House state dinner Jan. 29 for Deputy Prime Minister Teng Hsiao-Ping of China as "entirely proper."

Pro-life group to petition congressmen

Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Right to life will circulate a pro-life petition to South Bend congressmen in the Dining Halls today and tomorrow in commemoration of The Week of the Unborn Child. The petition will be presented Monday in Washington where more than 40 ND-SMC students will participate in the national March for Life.

A Rosary Vigil will take place Saturday morning outside the Women's Pavilion Abortion Clinic at 9 a.m. A Pro-Life March will take place in South Bend at 1 p.m. Sunday. Rides will be available at the main circle.

Theology 319 holds meeting

Theology 319-World Religions will be taught this semester in Howard Hall on Sunday evenings from 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. A short, but important organizational meeting will take place tonight at 7 p.m. in Howard. The first regular session of the course is scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 21.

A new look for The Observer

In September of 1978 The Observer began planning a change in its design. The purpose of the change is to make The Observer more readable and to improve the overall appearance of the paper. The new design is in effect beginning with today's issue.

The staff is now learning how to implement this new design and how to use our new production techniques effectively. As in any learning process, mistakes are probable. Because of this, we have decided to limit the size of the newspaper until the staff becomes familiar with these new techniques. It is also possible that the new design may cause a slowdown in the production process. If this occurs, the paper may be delivered late. We would appreciate your understanding of the difficulties that we may encounter in the implementation of this new design, but we feel the new design is a necessary improvement in The Observer. And we, of course, welcome the comments of our readers.

P. O. Box Q

A campaign against handguns

Dear Editor:

When most of us read in the paper that someone has been shot by a handgun, the news doesn't affect us personally. Few of us take the time to realize how much each tragic death means to those who knew and loved the victim. And few of us take the time to realize how much each additional incident of handgun violence affects those who are touched by it--the maimed and paralyzed survivors, the horrified friends, the grief-stricken relatives. The shooting of Notre Dame student Joe Camarda Monday night drives home the fact that none of us are immune. Every hour, another American is murdered with a handgun, and every year, at least another 300,000 Americans become victims of handgun violence. And more people are affected personally, painfully. The next victim could be you--or someone you love.

Tragedies like Camarda's shooting, and every other senseless incident of handgun violence, will continue to multiply unless we do something about the uncontrolled proliferation of handguns. The 80 percent of the American public that favors handgun control is starting to make itself heard, but it will be a difficult struggle to counter the powerful and influential gun lobby. The participations of young people will make an important contribution to this effort. A decade ago, our older brothers and sisters opened American's eyes to the horror of Vietnam, and today, we can open America's eyes to the horror of handgun violence. We have even more reason to be concerned today--during the peak years of the Vietnam War (1966-1972), nearly three times as many Americans were killed here at home by handguns as died in combat in Vietnam, and the violence gets worse every day. Will we continue to watch -- in silence?

America's youth is now joining this growing citizens' movement through a new campaign, "Students for Handgun Control." We need your help--if we all work together, we can and will win the fight to end our domestic slaughter. Won't you join us?

Lauren C. Mayer
National Coordinator, Students for Handgun Control

the mentally handicapped people.

The members of these two volunteer organizations do not work for nothing. Engaging in these volunteer services, these members get the opportunities to learn through the experience of being of service to others, to know one another through working cooperatively on programs, and to explore possible future career choices. The work of these organizations is not just to have fun with the mentally retarded people. It means more than that. Their work can change the life of a retarded from a hopeless one to a most promising and colorful one. I feel that everyone of us should support The Council for the Retarded and the Big Brothers-Big Sisters in every way we can. So, let us join them and make somebody's life a meaningful one.

Roland Tang

Do students share concern?

Dear Editor:

Do fellow students there share our concern at Oregon State University that actions affecting freedom for centuries are taken at Washington, D.C., and even applauded on some campuses without any review or analysis by independent experts?

Sponsored "free" trips to mainland China paid by the present regime have seduced students and faculty to return with glowing accounts of life under the communist People's Republic of China. Such propaganda seldom if ever gets faced with facts about the more prosperous life in freedom for Chinese people in Taiwan under the Republic of China.

Numerous older students selected after indoctrination by the mainland regime of Mao and successors will arrive soon on our campuses. Will we take their stories at face value, or will we know the issues and facts so that worthwhile dialogue can ensue for freedom?

Has your campus lecture series included even one independent expert on China policy? You could select from a number of American professors having real expertise on the Far East and quite able to discuss the consequences for us college students of Pres. Carter's unilateral abrogation of the U.S. treaty with the Republic of China.

Will fellow students demand an appearance on their campuses by an independent American expert on China, or will the campus lectures ignore the issues of the controversy over the proposed treaty-breaking by Carter, the "great debate of 1979"?

Daniel S. Molner
(Oregon State Univ.)

The wisdom to know

What have been the big issues on campus this year? Certainly nothing that can compare with the loss of lives in Vietnam, or the fight for civil rights in the 1960s. No, the big issues have been: a refusal of a proposal for a parietals change; refusal of a proposed student-run record store; a proposed lottery to move seniors off campus; and, student rights. Certainly, nothing to compare with the life-and-death issues of ten years ago.

The surface issues of today, realistically, are just not that important. What is important, and so very disheartening, is the issue behind the issue. Last semester, Student Government members and groups of hall presidents and resident assistants have all spent great time and effort incongruous with the importance of the issues. Their time and effort have been met with two stone walls. One, put up by the Administration, is to be expected. The other stone wall is the true barrier. It is erected by the students.

The Administration is not about to give up 100 tuitions, bookstore profits, or the good favor of alumni without a fight. Anyone concerned with the surface issues realizes this. It makes the fight more challenging and more rewarding even if more frustrating.

The issue behind the issues is this stone wall erected by the students. We are ND. We are the future managers and leaders of the world. We are here being prepared for life.

Or so we are told.

The stone wall put up by the students is a much more formidable barrier than that of the Administration. It is made up of stones that have printed on them: "I can't, I don't have time;" "That's the Administration for you;" "Things could be worse. I like my dorm;" "Got a test next week, sorry;" "GPA = Success."

Will this stone wall be our generation of students' contribution to the Notre Dame Building Fund? If so, then only future Notre Dame students will suffer.

If not, however, we will take this wall with us when we leave and put it in front of our front doors. The stones will have printed on them: "I can't, I'm working overtime;" "That's the government for you;" "Things could be worse. I like my suburb;" "Got to fix up the boat next week, sorry;" "Money = Success."

As someone who has run up against the Administration's stone wall, I must ask myself if I added a stone to the student's wall that says "An RA shouldn't say what he feels. Not because it would hurt his working relationship with his residents, but because his contract might be terminated." Is that the same type of stone that says, "A businessman shouldn't bring his conscience to work with him. Not because it would make his job more difficult, but because he might lose his job?"

There is a saying, "Grant me the courage to change what I can, the serenity to accept what I cannot, and the wisdom to know the difference." Here at Notre Dame, we're heavy on the serenity, light on the courage, and frighteningly light on the wisdom.

Jud Weiksner

Sense of guilt prompts letter

Dear Editor:

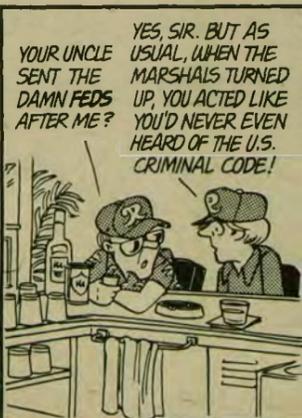

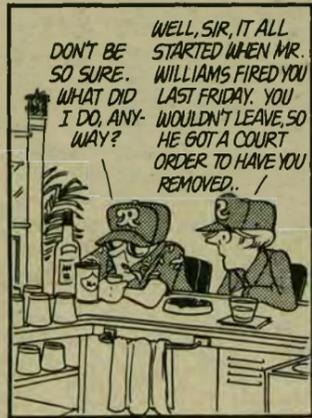

On November 11th, the ND-SMC Council for the Retarded, Big Brothers-Big Sisters, and Badin Hall took approximately 200 mentally handicapped children, adults, and underprivileged kids to the Notre Dame-Tennessee Football game.

It was a sense of guilt which made me write this letter--I did not contribute my ticket. I did not realize the importance of a football game to those mentally handicapped people; not until I saw them cheering wholeheartedly for the team. With pennants and banners in their hands, they sang the Notre Dame fight song. The spirit and enthusiasm that the kids had for the team was overwhelming.

The ND-SMC Council for the Retarded and the Big Brothers-Big Sisters never meant much to me in the past. Now, I am sorry that I took such an indifferent feeling toward them. They are always looking for the welfare of

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau

The Observer

Box Q Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor-in-Chief Tony Pace
Managing Editor Steve Odland
Executive Editor John Calcutt
Executive Editor Barb Langhenry
Editorial Editor Rosemary Mills
Copy Editor Phil Cackley
Saint Mary's Editor Ellen Buddy
News Editor Ann Gales
News Editor Mike Lewis

News Editor Diane Wilson
Sports Editor Ray O'Brien
Features Editor Chris Stewart
Photo Editor Doug Christian

Production Manager Mardi Nevin
Business Manager John Tucker
Advertising Manager Bob Rudy

... Kentucky

[continued from page 11]

points as he led the Wildcats to an 81-76 come from-behind victory.

With 13 minutes remaining, the score 52-49, the Irish tallied nine unanswered points, four by Bruce Flowers and five by Kelly Tripucka to give them their biggest lead of the game, 61-49. But this lead dissolved quickly as Anderson began his late game heroics driving past slower Notre Dame defenders for uncontested lay ups.

With four minutes remaining, the Anderson-led Wildcats had rallied to trail 70-66.

They took the lead by scoring 8 consecutive points. Anderson had six of those, including a stirring slam dunk after stealing the ball from Rich Branning.

Notre Dame never lead after the Kentucky surge as free throws by Anderson & Lavon Williams iced the game.

Kentucky coach Joe B. Hall utilized a three guard lineup to spur the Wildcat comeback.

Along with Anderson, Kyle Macy and Truman Clayton manned the guard spots, while Williams and Frosh Clarence Tillman played upfront. Kentucky had no player taller than 6'7" on the court during the last 12 minutes of the game.

"We won because we finally started getting good shots," Hall stated after the game.

In the loser's lockerroom, Irish coach Digger Phelps praised the play of Anderson. "They had him playing the high post and he's just very quick. He penetrates very well."

Phelps was also critical of the play of his charges. "There was no significant offense on our part in the last ten minutes of the game. We played poor defense, we had too many turnovers and we missed a lot of easy shots. We just didn't execute."

Notre Dame 75, Villanova 64

Notre Dame broke out of their annual Christmas jinx ten minutes into the Villanova game, as Tripucka put on a show that east coast basketball fans are not likely to forget as long as he is around, leading the Irish to a 75-64 win.

After blowing a 12-point lead to Kentucky, many ND fans feared a slump like the four-game losing streak Phelps' charges suffered in 1976, that included a loss in the same Palestra they were playing in this day.

Things looked grim as the Wildcats jumped to a five-point lead behind the muscle work of sophomore Alex Bradley. Tom Sinnkiewicz came off the bench to help out from the outside.

Notre Dame chipped away at the Villanova lead, as they began to get their timing down and Tripucka went to work. The sophomore standout took the ball to the hoop and then proceeded to carry two Wildcat players on his back as he recorded three-point plays a la Adrian Dantley.

Both teams continued to shoot poorly as neither squad could find the range from the outside. The Irish took a 30-22 lead to the locker room at halftime thanks to Tripucka.

Offensively Notre Dame showed they were back to full strength as Branning and Jackson helped Tripucka put points on the board while Villanova gradually wore out. Tripucka was named NBC's player of the Game as he garnered a career high 26 points on 10-13 from the floor and a perfect 6-6 from the foul line.

Bradley led all Wildcat scorers with 22 points. Branning, Jackson and Woolridge all hit double figures with 13, 11 and 10 points, respectively, for the Irish.

Notre Dame 95 Davidson 63

The Irish were undoubtedly tired of facing Wildcats as they traveled to Davidson in their third straight battle with a team by that name. But this group proved to be the most tame as they succumbed 95-63, upping ND's record to 7-1.

Davidson put up a good battle in the beginning with long range jumpers. The Irish expected John Gerdy to have his annual All-American showing but they did not anticipate the outstanding play of sophomore forward Todd Haynes.

Flowers proved the dominating force at both ends of the court canning early jumpers and clearing the boards with machinelike efficiency. Another sub, Stan Wilcox, relieved an injured Bill Hanlik and contributed from the outside and from the charity stripe.

Flowers finished the game with 15 points and did not miss a shot hitting all 5 field goals and free throws in addition to a game high 7 rebounds.

Gerdy closed out an outstanding career against the Irish taking scoring honors with 26 markers while Haynes pumped in 18 in the losing cause.

Notre Dame 91 Lafayette 66

Notre Dame won its first game under the title as "the number one team in the nation" Tuesday night, as they wore down an outmatched Lafayette team en route to a 91-66 decision.

The hex caused by the number-one ranking lasted for about the first 16 minutes of the opening period as Lafayette grabbed an early lead that lasted until the 4:02 mark, when Hanzlik sunk a jumper from the top of the key igniting a 16 point unanswered streak by the Irish.

The Leopards came out in a 3-2 defense that thwarted ND's outside game and then capitalized on turnovers made by the Irish guards as they pressed to get the ball inside.

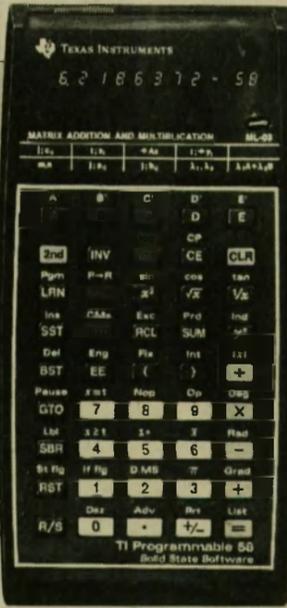

In a recurring theme, Phelps' squad wore down their opponents, enabling them to break the game open before intermission. Lafayette managed to stay close behind the outstanding play of guard Bob Falconiero who tallied 16 points in the first half. Orlando Woolridge countered with a dunking exhibition of his own, while Tripucka and Jackson started hitting from cracks in a tired zone. Lafayette trailed 46-33 at halftime despite hitting 86 percent from the floor.

Flowers continued his hot hand sinking 5-7 shots while performing to perfection on five trips to the charity stripe. Woolridge and Tripucka both finished with 16 points, while Jackson totaled 15. Falconiero topped all scorers with 20 points for the Leopards.

Now is the time to make a great deal on a TI programmable.

Programmable TI-58/59 Specialty Pakettes Civil Engineering

Programmable TI-58/59 Specialty Pakettes Electronic Engineering

$20 value
2 FREE
software pakettes with purchase of a TI-58.

See coupon.

TI Programmable 58

$10 REBATE
with purchase of a TI-59.

See coupon.

TI Programmable 59

A Texas Instruments programmable calculator can make a big difference in the way you work this semester ... and in the years to come. And if you buy a TI-58 or 59 between January 1 and February 28, 1979, you can take advantage of a special money-saving offer.

Choose 2 FREE software Specialty Pakettes — a $20 value — when you buy a TI-58. Choose from:

- Electronic Engineering
- Civil Engineering
- Fluid Dynamics
- Blackbody Radiation
- Oil/Gas/Energy
- 3-D Graphics
- Mathematics
- Statistical Testing
- Marketing/Sales
- Production Planning
- Astrology

The economical TI-58 key-programmable provides up to 480 program steps or up to 60 data memories. TI's Specialty Pakettes can help extend its usefulness with ready-to-use programs written by professionals in a wide variety of fields. Each pakette contains step-by-step program listings, applications notes, instructions and sample problems.† Just key-in the program you need and you can put it to work right away. TI-58, only $125.00*.

Get a $10.00 rebate when you buy a TI-59. Extra savings on the most advanced handheld programmable calculator ever made. Up to 960 program steps or up to 100 data memories. You can store the Texas Instruments technology — bringing affordable electronics to your fingertips.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
INCORPORATED

© 1979 Texas Instruments Incorporated programs you write on handy magnetic cards. Additional ready-to-use programs are available through TI's Professional Program Exchange (PPX-59). TI-59, $300.00*.

45626

The TI-58 and 59 are versatile, computer-like tools specifically designed for solving complex problems. They can get you into programming quickly and easily — allowing you to concentrate on learning while they find the solutions. Both feature Solid State Software™ libraries with plug-in modules containing up to 5000 steps of prewritten programs. The Master Library is included with each calculator — an instant "tool kit" of 25 programs in key areas. Twelve optional libraries are available.

See the TI-58 and 59 at your dealer today and take advantage of one of these limited time offers.

*U.S. suggested retail price.

†Specialty Pakettes do not include plug-in modules or magnetic cards.

I've bought my TI-58, please send me these two free TI pakettes.

1. _____
2. _____

I've bought my TI-59, please send me my $10.00 rebate.

Texas Instruments will fulfill the offer you have selected above when you: (1) return this completed coupon, including serial number, (2) along with your completed customer information card (packed in box), and (3) a dated copy of page 1 of your purchase verifying purchase of a TI Programmable 58 or 59 (whichever is applicable) between January 1 and February 28, 1979. Items must be postmarked on or before March 7, 1979, to qualify for this special offer.

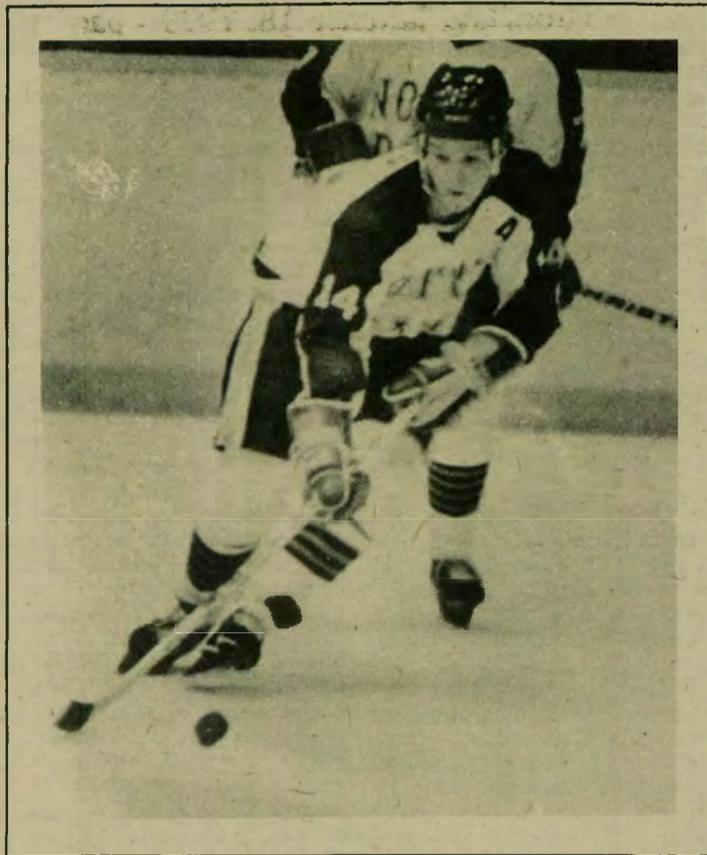

Send to: TI-58/59 Special Offer, P.O. Box 54, Lubbock, Texas 79408.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____
State _____ Zip _____
Calculator Serial Number _____ (from back of calculator)
Please allow 30 days for delivery. Offer void where prohibited by law. Offer good in U.S. only.

'Bama no. 1, ND up to 7

The Top 20 teams in The Associated Press' final college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points.

1. Alabama (38) 11-1-0	1,317
2. Southern Cal (19) 12-1-0	1,285
3. Oklahoma (11) 11-1-0	1,251
4. Penn State 11-1-0	1,168
5. Michigan 10-2-0	989
6. Clemson 11-1-0	950
7. NOTRE DAME 9-3-0	914
8. Nebraska 9-3-0	865
9. Texas 9-3-0	706
10. Houston 9-3-0	698
11. Arkansas 9-2-1	689
12. Michigan State 8-3-0	525
13. Purdue 9-2-1	493
14. UCLA 8-3-1	487
15. Missouri 8-4-0	434
16. Georgia 9-2-1	312
17. Stanford 8-4-0	306
18. North Carolina State 9-3-0	214
19. Texas A&M 8-4-0	128
20. Maryland 9-3-0	112

Tom Michalek, ND's leading scorer, failed to tally a point in the Irish's last two series. [photo by Ron Szot]

... Icers slump

[continued from page 9]

his second goal of the series. But Irish hopes vanished when Mike Burgraff put the Nodaks up for good 5-4 at 15:27. An empty net goal in the final minute closed out the scoring.

*Notre Dame 3, Michigan State 2
Michigan State 6, Notre Dame 3*

EAST LANSING--Notre Dame traveled up north to Michigan State in need of a strong series to regain some of the momentum its four game losing streak, the longest of the season, had taken away.

"It was important for us to go up there and play well," said Smith, "because after losing four in a row, we needed to get some momentum back."

Notre Dame got nothing back, although it won the first night 3-2, and came away with a weekend split and some changes facing it the next week in practice.

Dave Poulin gave the Irish a 1-0 first period lead with a power play goal at 9:58 but Gary Harpell and Leo Lynett gave MSU a 3-2 lead with goals in the second period as the Irish continued to lapse.

They woke up in the third period, though, and Greg Meredith, snapped the four-game Irish losing streak with two goals in the third period, one on a power play, as Notre Dame, despite playing only period of solid hockey, came away with a 3-2 win.

Saturday night the Spartans opened up with three goals within minute in the first period to lead 3-0. Bill Rothstein and Steve Schneider closed the gap to 3-2 with consecutive power play goals, but Lynett made it 4-2 MSU heading into the final stanza.

Schneider scored his second of the night in closing the gap to 4-3 with most of the third period to play, but the Spartans took away any momentum Notre Dame might have had with a goal one minute later and breezed to a 6-3 win.

"We just weren't able to mount anything against Michigan State," noted Smith, "and just haven't been able to play team hockey. We're in a slump and will change the lines and defense this week against Michigan Tech to try and snap out of it."

Notre Dame, although tied for fourth with Wisconsin, is still only four points away from the first place Minnesota. The Irish attempt to pick up some ground against the Huskies this Friday and Saturday, with the faceoff scheduled for 7:30 both nights at the ACC.

... Dons

[continued from page 11]

aged to score 5.6 points an outing while playing about half of each game.

"Their size will definitely be a big factor," emphasizes Irish Coach Digger Phelps, who hopes to see all students in attendance at the game at least one half-hour prior to tipoff tonight.

"They have really improved since the beginning of the season. They belong in the Top 20. The big guys, Cartwright and Bryant, complement each other really well."

While the Irish will have their hands full trying to stop the big double-pivot, they'll still have other worries tonight. Forward Doug Jemison, not too small himself at 6-6, is adding 15 points and eight rebounds to the Dons' arsenal each contest.

Even their guards aren't lacking in size. Billy Reid and Ken McAlister, both 6-5, handle the ball for San Francisco in addition to pouring in nine and eight points per game, respectively.

In addition to handling the Dons' size tonight, Phelps' squad will also be expected to live up to its current number-one national billing, something which the eighth-year coach doesn't mind all that much.

"We've got to grow from this experience," enthused Phelps, whose team won't have much time to rest before Saturday's regionally-televised contest with the always-tough South Carolina Gamecocks.

"We're faced with the same type of situation Duke and Michigan State were faced with. We're just going to have to grow from it. We can't keep avoiding it forever."

Just like the Irish can't avoid two seven-footers tonight.

Lawrence holds recital

Arthur Lawrence, associate professor of music at Saint Mary's, will open the music department's second semester concert series with a faculty recital tonight at 8:15 p.m. in Notre Dame's Sacred Heart Church. The concert will be presented in cooperation with the Notre Dame music department.

Organ masterworks by Bach, Daquin, Bohm, Dupre and Franck will be played on the new Holtkamp pipe organ which was installed in Sacred Heart last year.

Lawrence is currently acting chairman of the music department and has been a member of the faculty since 1969. Organist-choirmaster for Saint Paul's Episcopal Church in La Porte, he also serves as editor of The Diapason, the international journal for organists and harpsichordists.

CUSTOMER INFORMATION FROM GENERAL MOTORS

WHAT "STICKER PRICES" REALLY MEAN

HOW TO GET THE BEST BUY ON THE CAR THAT'S BEST FOR YOU.

Every GM dealer is an independent businessman. No one can tell him what to charge. Not the government, and not the manufacturer.

But the government can and does require that manufacturers post a suggested retail price, or "sticker price," on every new car we build. It's a good idea, because it makes it easier for you to compare one car against another.

Remember, the "sticker price" is only the suggested price. The actual selling price may be different. That's because the law of supply and demand affects the prices of cars, just as it affects most other prices. And market conditions change all the time.

For example: a very popular model may sell at the suggested price, but frequently cars will sell for less, because the automobile business is highly competitive.

The difference between the "sticker price" and the wholesale price—that's what the dealer pays us—is called the markup, or dealer's discount. This changes from time to time, but as a general rule the markup on small cars is lower than on full-size cars.

The dealer's markup helps to pay his rent, taxes, salaries, utility bills—all that it costs to run a business. And he also has to make a profit, or he can't stay in business. Last year, GM dealers reported about two cents profit on each dollar of sales. As you can see, competition doesn't leave the average dealer a very big margin of profit.

You can affect the price you pay. It depends on the marketplace, for one thing. You may get a bigger break if you choose a slower-selling model or a car the dealer already has in stock. The latest sales figures published in many newspapers will give you some idea of how cars are selling, although the demand for a particular model may be greater or less in your area.

How much optional equipment you order on your car also makes a big difference in its price. Go over the list carefully, and equip the car just the way you want it. Then it will have most value for you, and you'll enjoy it more. You shouldn't buy what you won't use, although much of the equipment you add to your new car will make it worth more when you decide it's time to trade it in.

Most buyers trade in a used car when they buy a new one. And the value of used cars varies according to demand as well as to their condition. Performance and appearance count, so it's a good idea to maintain your car and keep it clean. The more you can get for your old car, the less will be your out-of-pocket cost to replace it with a new one.

But whichever car you choose, the price should never be your only consideration. The dealer's reputation and his service capability are also important.

Our interest is in helping both you and the dealer to get a fair deal. We want you to be satisfied with your car. That's good for you, good for the dealer, and good for us.

This advertisement is part of our continuing effort to give customers useful information about their cars and trucks and the company that builds them.

General Motors

People building transportation to serve people

Irish icers slump during break, drop to fourth place in standings

by Brian Beglane
Sports Writer

The holiday blues that seem to have plagued the Notre Dame basketball team the past few years left the Irish on the hardcourt and have hit the Irish on the ice--and hit them hard.

When exams were all over and the Notre Dame hockey team left for Boston just before Christmas, it was sitting pretty in second place in the WCHA with a 9-4-1 record while sporting an overall mark of 10-4-1. But that trip east was the start of all the recent Irish woes.

Notre Dame dropped its two games to Boston College and Harvard and started off the second half of the season by being swept by North Dakota at home. Add a split against WCHA cellar dweller Michigan State last weekend and now look for the Irish in the standings--look down two spaces, that is, tied for fourth.

"We are in the midst of a slump, there's no question about that," said Irish coach Lefty Smith. "I really wish I could put my finger on the exact problem. We're just not playing together as a team like we were in the first half of the year. Our main concern right now is to climb back out, and we'll be making some changes to do that."

Those changes will consist in a rearrangement of the first three lines as well as all three defensive pairings. The latter was caused in part by the loss of sophomore Don Lucia for the rest of the year to academic ineligibility. All these changes will be done to try and get the Irish back to playing like they were during the first half of the season, especially in the Wisconsin series.

Boston College 10, Notre Dame 5
Harvard 9, Notre Dame 5

BOSTON--With exams finished, the main obstacle the Irish faced was getting their minds back on hockey. Notre Dame never seemed to accomplish that, as a depleted team lost the first game to Boston College 10-5.

Joe Mullen scored the first goal of the night from an almost impossible angle just 53 seconds into the game. That seemed to set the stage for the rest of the way, especially for goalie Dave Laurion, who turned in his first poor performance of the year in this nightmare.

ND was without first line player Greg Meredith, forward Bill Rothstein and defenseman Jeff Brownschilde to begin with. Meredith and Brownschilde were over in Europe playing with the Canadian and United States national teams while Rothstein used the holidays to recover from minor surgery. They were sorely missed.

But Notre Dame was forced to switch its lines around even more when it lost Kevin Humphreys for the rest of the weekend during the first period to an ankle injury and John Cox was thrown out for fighting in the second and had to sit out the next night. To add to the Irish problems, Scott Cameron was taken to the hospital for throat x-rays after being hit in the first period. He was the only of the Irish casualties able to return the next night.

Jeff Perry gave the Irish a shortlived lead when he made the score 5-4 just into the second period, but that was all for the Irish offense. BC scored six straight the rest of the way to glide to a 10-5 trouncing.

About the only thing that changed the next night against Harvard was the site of the game, this time at Boston University's Walter Brown Arena. After a scoreless first period, both teams scored four times in the second period, but Harvard put it away in the third.

Jeff Logan notched his first career hat trick with a goal at 5:16 of the third that tied it for the last time 5-5. The Crimson scored four in the final 15 minutes, with Mike Watson getting a hat trick with a minute remaining, to cushion its win.

North Dakota 9, Notre Dame 4
North Dakota 6, Notre Dame 4

The Irish faced "their toughest opponent of the season," according to Smith, when the Fighting Sioux of North Dakota flew into South Bend for a weekend series at the ACC. Unfortunately for Notre Dame, it saved its worst performance of the year for the first game and lost badly 9-4.

The Irish were still in the game heading into the final period, as they trailed 4-3. But the Sioux blew them out with four straight, two on power plays by Bill Himmelright, to mount an invincible 8-3 lead. Dave Poulin provided the only highlight for Notre Dame with his second hat trick of the year, but it was in vain. The Sioux poured a pound of salt into the wound with a shorthanded goal on a breakaway with just three seconds remaining to cap anight each Irish skater would like to forget.

"We played 100 percent better Saturday night," said Smith, "but we just could not cash in on the opportunities--and we had them. North Dakota outplayed us in every way Friday, but the next night we knew what we were up against and played better."

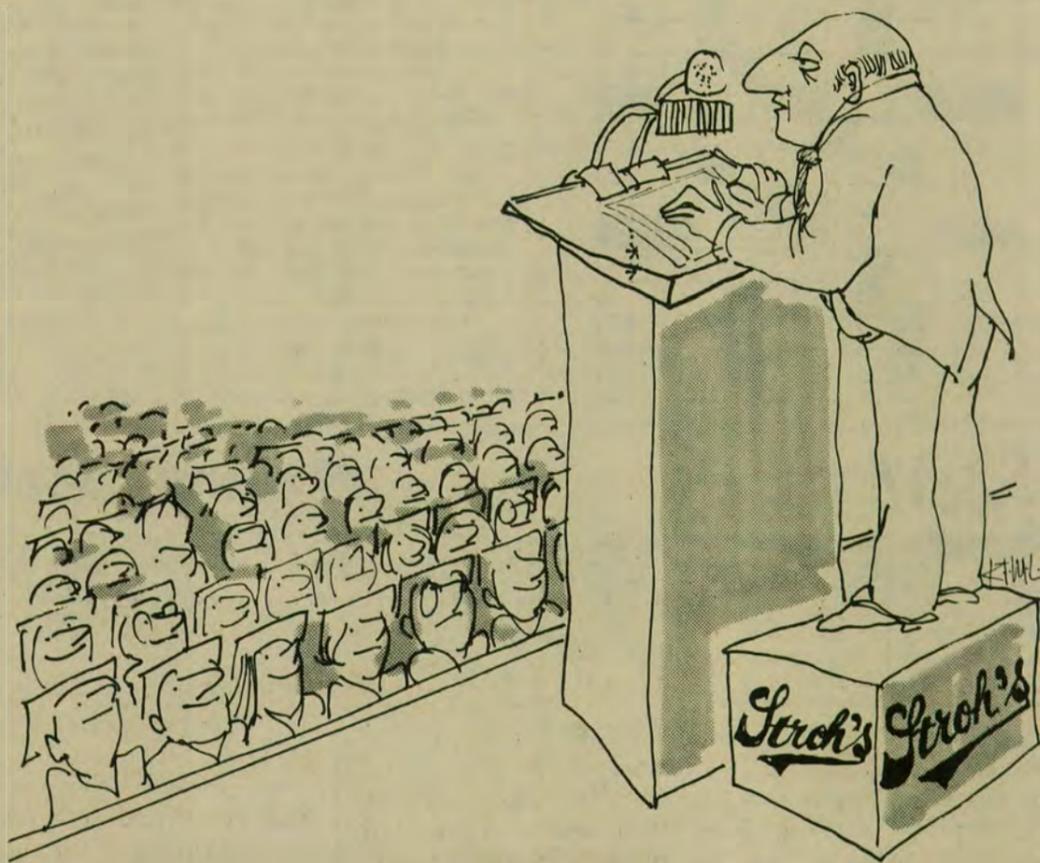

It was not good enough the next night, though, because leading 2-0 and 3-2 at times, the Irish couldn't hold on. Down 4-3 with under six minutes to play, Jeff Perry tied it for Notre Dame with

[continued on page 8]

Lefty Smith ponders his next move as the Irish Icers slump during break.

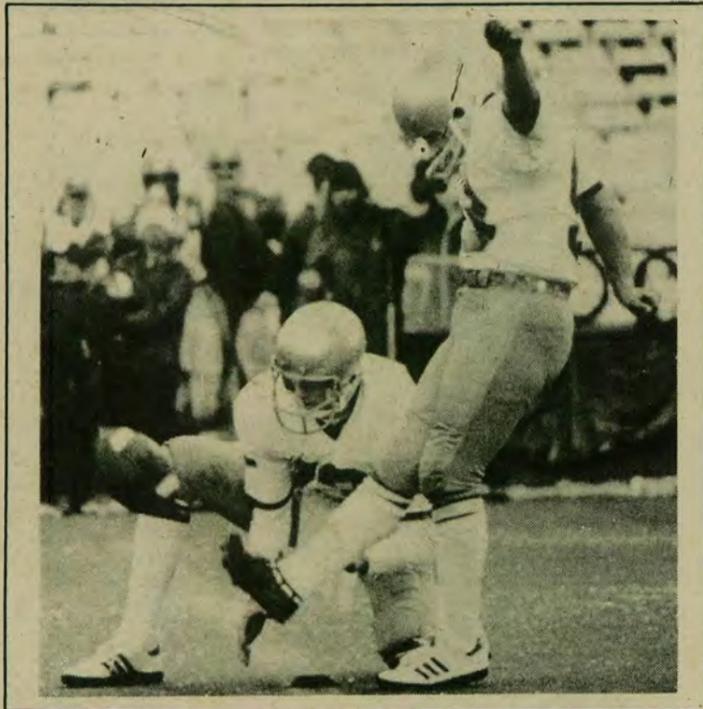

THE STROH BREWERY COMPANY, DETROIT, MICHIGAN © 1978

"You're probably wondering how I got where I am today."

Stroh's

For the real beer lover.

Joe Unis connects on the game-winning point-after-touchdown. [AP photo]

Jubilant Irish offer comments

Irish split end Kris Haines: "There was a point in the game when I was starting to feel a little sorry for myself. My leg was hurting some and I've got a terrible cold, and felt like giving up. Then, all of a sudden, I saw these guys around me weren't giving up. I realized I couldn't be selfish. They're a great bunch of guys."

(About the final touchdown pass) "It couldn't have been a more perfect pass. It looked low and outside, but that's where it was supposed to be. It's my job to catch it. This is the greatest feeling in the world. It's a team effort. There are no individuals on this team. It's a team effort all the way."

Irish center Dave Huffman: "We were determined to show them (Houston) that we weren't just gonna quit. We knew that we could score a couple more times. We knew it probably wasn't going to be enough. But we weren't going to stop. We were going to show them that we had a lot of class, too. A lot of teams in this type of situations would start up with the personal fouls. We try to play above that."

(About the end of the game) "I had looked at the scoreboard so long, and we were behind for so long. And then they shut it off after we got a point ahead. I only got to glimpse it for a second. It'll take a while to sink in. But I'm just sort of stunned right now that we were able to do what we did. It's a great tribute to the team, to the coaches and to the players. It's just another thing that's proven to me personally that this is the greatest University in the world, and the greatest bunch of guys. I'm just glad I came and proud to be associated with them."

Irish strong safety Steve Cichy: (on touchdown run) "I couldn't believe I got so wide open. I had a player holding on to each ankle, but I broke both of the tackles."

"We felt that if we could get them deep and force them to punt against the wind, we could win. As it turned out, that's just what happened."

Irish coach Dan Devine: "We approached this game differently as far as getting psyched up. It was a different type of game than last year, but the end result was the same. Our practices weren't as intense earlier. There was more free time. We just didn't approach it as intensely."

"I can't say that last year (win over Texas) was any better than this year. I really can't. Maybe there's no way you can say this can compare to winning the national championship. But right now I can."

(About Montana) "I'm kind of a one-quarterback guy, and always have been. Joe stays in until I'm absolutely positive it's time to make a move."

(About the game) "We pulled out just about anything that could have been pulled out of that turf. Our straws had been starting to run out a little. We needed that big play. I knew we'd find a way to win. I was just hoping we'd hurry up and find it."

ACROSS

- 1. Attempt
- 5. Barbecue item
- 9. Buddy
- 12. Dwell
- 13. Isolated
- 14. Regret
- 15. Eye part
- 16. Particle
- 17. Greek letter
- 18. Commonplace
- 20. Halt
- 21. Payable
- 22. Implant firmly
- 24. Asian country
- 27. It causes a disturbance
- 30. Wrath
- 31. Disgrace
- 33. Vast age
- 34. Water flask
- 36. Push gently
- 38. Information
- 39. Wine cask
- 40. Onto
- 42. Table extension: 2 wds.
- 47. Accelerate (a motor)
- 49. Sea eagle
- 50. Gosh!
- 51. Abhor
- 52. Building lot
- 53. Do wrong
- 54. Watched
- 55. Origin, as of an idea

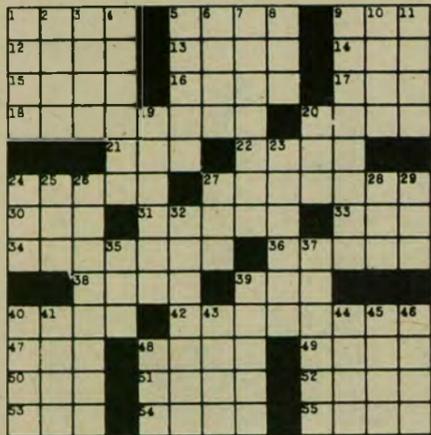

DOWN

- 1. Slender
- 2. Weary (of)
- 3. Keenly eager
- 4. Next to
- 5. Thin piece
- 6. Indigent
- 7. Meantime
- 8. P.M. gathering
- 9. — up, primed
- 10. Self. comb. form
- 11. Spring swiftly
- 19. Beginning
- 20. Habitual drunkard
- 23. Unfold: 2 wds.

24. Nervous twitch

- 25. Man's name
- 26. — and touch your toes: 2 wds.
- 27. Was a candidate
- 28. Canine
- 29. Compass point
- 32. Progress
- 35. Yellowish-brown
- 37. Except that
- 39. Carried
- 40. Encourage
- 41. Equal
- 43. Fixed charge
- 44. Lake or city
- 45. Opening bet
- 46. Nourish
- 48. That woman

CROSSWORDS

... Irish come back

[continued from page 12]

was incomplete, but Montana's quickness in releasing stopped the clock with two seconds remaining and gave the Irish one last chance.

"He asked me if I could beat him again," said Haines about his discussion with Montana in the ensuing huddle. "I said, 'Joe, I can.' He smiled and said, 'Let's do it.' And we did it."

Montana, calling for the same play twice in a row, then proceeded to hit Haines with the tying touchdown pass.

Unis, a Dallas native, came on to kick the extra point. An illegal procedure penalty nullified the winning point, so Unis had to do it all over. He did, and the miracle was history.

"Every kicker fantasizes about winning games like this," enthused Unis, who watched a muffed snap from center roll by him on the only other PAT attempt earlier.

"I just tried to put all the screaming, yelling and jumping around out of my mind. You just think of the basics, keep your head down and kick it. I didn't have time to think of being nervous."

THE VICTORY marked the second straight year the Irish posted a victory in the Cotton Bowl. Last year the boys from South Bend trounced then top-ranked Texas, 38-10, to capture the national championship.

There wasn't as much at stake this year, however. Houston carried a 9-2 record and a number nine national ranking into the contest, while the Irish has been ranked 10th due to an 8-3 slate.

That didn't detract any from the Irish win, however.

"I can't say that the feeling was much different in this win than it was a year ago," said Devine. "I'm really proud of the way this team has come back time and time again throughout the year."

"I'll remember this for the rest of my life," insisted Haines. "This team never quits. When we blocked the punt we knew we could come back."

"Some people thought it was over with 35 seconds to go, but then we remembered how USC beat us in the last 46 seconds. You can't count us out."

AT THE OUTSET of the game it appeared that Houston, if anyone, would be the team that might be counted out. Notre Dame scored two touchdowns in a first quarter stretch of two minutes and 18 seconds, as Montana scampered for three yards and freshman fullback Pete Buchanan bolted home from one yard out. Both conversions, one kick attempt and one pass attempt, failed, as the Irish were in good shape early with a 12-0 lead.

Davis, however, out of the veer offense innovated by Yeoman, led the Coogs to their first touchdown, a 15-yard strike to Willis Adams, just seconds before the conclusion of the initial stanza.

Randy Love's one-yard dive over right tackle, and Kenny Hatfield's 21-yard and 34-yard field goals highlighted a Cougar-dominated second quarter, after which Notre Dame found itself trailing, 20-12.

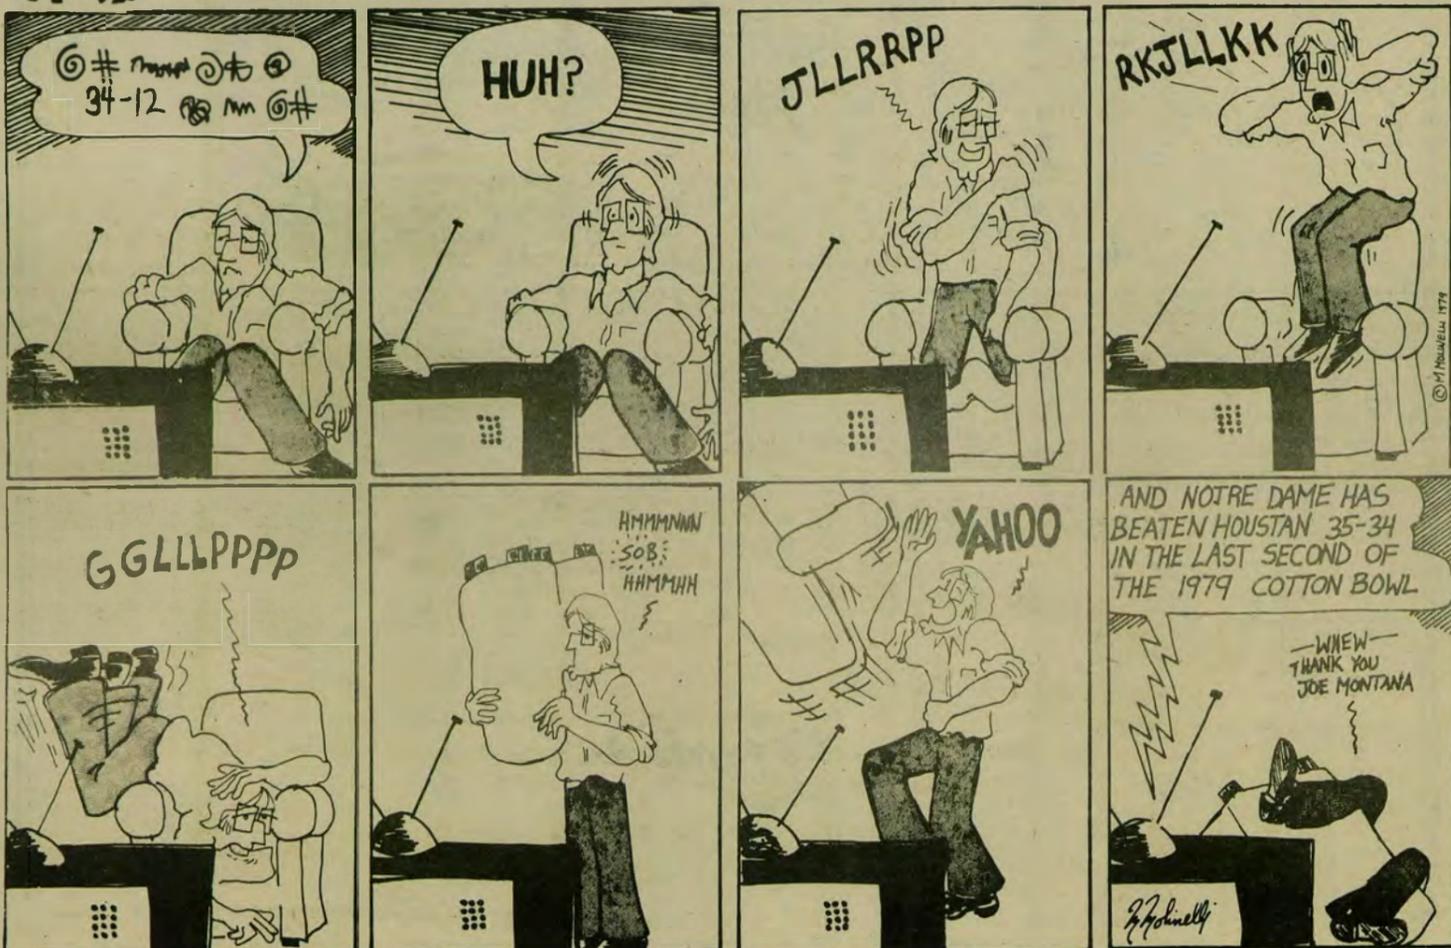

With Irish safety and punter Joe Restic injured, sophomore Dick Boushka was forced to handle kicking situations. A 32-yard punt from deep in Irish territory and another effort that was blocked by Cougar linebacker Bobby Harrison put Houston in excellent field position in the third quarter. Davis had to engineer drives of only 38 and 19 yards, respectively, both capped off by quarterback keepers to the right side.

By the end of the third quarter Houston supporters had begun to celebrate. After all, their Cougars owned a 34-12 lead, and the Irish couldn't do anything right.

Little did they know, however, that it wasn't time for the Irish to start yet.

POLARITY

Michael Molinelli

Cagers down Warriors, 65-60, claim number one poll position

by Tony Pace
Editor-in-Chief

MILWAUKEE--Neither snow, nor wind, nor the Marquette basketball team could keep the Fighting Irish from the top spot in both polls when they were given a second crack at it. Led by a sparkling second half performance by Tracy Jackson, Notre Dame overcame a seven-point deficit to defeat the Warriors in Milwaukee Arena, 65-60.

The Irish beat the blizzard to Milwaukee, but for a while it looked as though they might not beat the Warriors.

When Jackson was inserted into the lineup with 15:19 remaining in the game, the Warriors led 37-34. Baskets by Bernard Toone and Sam Worthen stretched the lead to 41-34 and the sparsely populated arena erupted. But then the sophomore from Silver Springs, Maryland showed the Milwaukee fans how the game should be played.

First, he hit a running one-hander from the lane. Then, after another Worthen basket, Jackson swished a short jump shot and set up Stan Wilcox for an easy basket. Two more Jackson jump shots and a three-point play by Bruce Flowers gave the Irish the lead 47-45.

The two teams traded baskets and the lead for the next three minutes, until Jackson dunked the rebound of a Flowers shot for a 54-53 lead. Notre Dame was never to relinquish that lead. In the span of nine minutes, Jackson had scored 13 points. Four free throws by Kelly Tripucka, three by Flowers, and two by Bill Laimbeer gave the Irish an insurmountable 63-60. Bill Hanzlik made two more free throws to close out the scoring at 63-60.

Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps pointed to the free throws which Notre Dame made at the end of the game as a key. "We made the foul shots when it counted," he said.

Another crucial factor was Marquette's loss of Bernard Toone with five fouls. The 6-9 senior captain fouled out with 4:04 remaining in the contest. Toone was the high scorer for the Warriors with 18 points, and they missed his outside shooting down the stretch. After the game Toone said, "Fouling out is just one of those things that can happen. No one likes to leave a close game, but you can't let up just because you are in foul trouble."

Jackson was his every modest self after the conquest, although he had hit an incredible nine of ten shots from the floor. "There was no game plan to get the ball to me, it just worked out that way. I had been having some troubles with my jump shot but the coaches worked with me and I think we straightened everything out."

Tripucka was held to ten points, largely because he was held to only four shots from the field, of which he connected on two, and four free throws, all of which were successful. "They were sagging on me inside, so the only way to get me the ball was to force it inside. There was no need to do that with Tracy shooting so well from the outside. We have a really deep team," he added, "so any one player can come through when we need it. Tonight it was Tracy."

Marquette coach Hank Raymonds said, "I am very proud of my team, they played well. This may have been our best game of the season. Jackson was very hot, we just couldn't stop him."

The win gave the Irish a 3-1 record over the semester break, a period which has been consistently the most difficult for them over the past few seasons.

Gil Salinas drives on Marquette's Dean Marquardt in Saturday's win at Milwaukee.

During the holidays Kentucky proves ND beatable

by Tony Pace
and Ray O'Brien
Sports Editor

Notre Dame 96 St. Francis 43

In a tuneup for Notre Dame's nationally televised encounter with Kentucky, the Irish had little trouble disposing of St. Francis (Pa.) College, December 27 at the Athletic and Convocation Center, with a 96-43 victory.

A capacity crowd of 11,345 witnessed the contest, as more than 200 interested patrons were turned away from buying the 5,000-plus tickets that were left for sale due to the absence of the student body.

After a sluggish first half, Phelps' quintet exploded to outscore the Red Flash, 57-17, in the second stanza. Orlando Woolridge, voted the most valuable Irish cager in the contest, led the onslaught with 18 points on 8-of-10 shooting from the floor.

Woolridge wasn't the only bright spot for the Green-and-Gold, however. Bruce Flowers and Kelly Tripucka netted 16 and 15 points, respectively, in an Irish attack which saw all 11 cagers score.

"We substituted more than normal to give everyone equal time on the court," said Phelps. "We started to play sound defense when we widened the margin to 17 points. When they cut the lead to nine, they proved that they are a sound ball club."

What also aided the Irish in the contest was the erratic shooting of St. Francis. The Red Flash connected on only 29 percent of its field goal attempts. Forward Nick Leasure, the leading SFC scorer, managed to hit double figures (15), but still hit only 6 of 19 floor attempts.

Kentucky 81 Notre Dame 76

LOUISVILLE-On December 30, 1976 the Notre Dame basketball team took to the floor at Freedom Hall in Louisville with a shot at the number one ranking. Previously top-ranked Michigan had been defeated, so number two Notre Dame was in line for the top spot. The Irish never got to the top, however, as the powerful Wildcats humbled the Irish 102-78.

On December 30, 1978 the Notre Dame basketball team faced a similar situation. Duke had fallen from its top-ranked perch, and the Irish were in line for the top of the heap. But again the Wildcats spoiled the Irish bid for number one.

While the Irish were stopped by a well-balanced team in 1976, it was a one-man show that did them in this season. Freshman Dwight Anderson ran around, over, and through a porous Notre Dame defense for 17 second half

[continued on page 7]

AP top 20

The Top 20 teams in the Associated Press' college basketball poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points.

1. NOTRE DAME (46) 9-1	1,106
2. North Carolina (3) 12-2	1,010
3. UCLA 11-2	978
4. Illinois (5) 15-1	949
5. Indiana State (2) 14-0	857
6. Michigan State 9-3	783
7. Louisville 12-3	689
8. Duke 10-3	688
9. Louisiana State 12-3	569
10. Georgetown 12-2	453
11. Arkansas 10-2	411
12. Syracuse 12-2	402
13. Marquette 11-2	398
14. North Carolina State 11-4	353
15. Texas A&M 13-3	335
16. Ohio State 9-4	272
17. Temple 12-1	191
18. Alabama 10-4	189
19. Maryland 11-4	90
20. Kansas 9-4	86

Irish host Dons

by Paul Mullaney
Assistant Sports Editor

It's not too often that two seven-foot ball players step on the same court at the same time, let alone the same starting lineup.

Nonetheless, that will be the case this evening when San Francisco's Dons invade the Athletic and Convocation Center to confront the top-ranked Irish beginning at 8 p.m.

Consensus pre-season All-American Bill Cartwright, at 7-1, and freshman cohort Wallace Bryant, at 7-0, provide a front court combination at which most schools would foam at the mouth.

Notre Dame students remember Cartwright from two years ago, when his USF team entered the ACC undefeated and ranked number one in the nation, only for the Irish to hand the Dons a 93-82 defeat in the ND regular-season finale.

This year the senior from Elk Grove, California, has scored 25.6 points a contest for the Dons, who have won 13 of their 16 contests thus far. Couple that with 49 blocked shots, 35 assists, a 60 percent field goal accuracy and a rebound average of 16.8 per game, and Bill Laimbeer and Bruce Flowers have something to worry about in tonight's game, which can be heard on WSNB, AM 640, starting at 7:55.

Bryant, who hails from just down the Toll Road in Gary, is still developing, and isn't quite yet into the form that first-year Coach Dan Belluomini is hoping for. Nevertheless, he has man-

[continued on page 8]

Classifieds

All classified ads must be received by 5:00 p.m., two days prior to the issue in which the ad is run. The Observer office will accept classifieds Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. All classifieds must be pre-paid, either in person or through the mail.

Notices

Attention all Logan volunteers and interested students! The ND-SMC Council for the Retarded is having it's organizational meeting Thursday night, Jan. 18th, at 6:30 p.m. in the ND Library Auditorium.

Volunteers are needed in recreational and school activities during the week and on weekends. Whatever your interest, be it basketball, swimming, music, art, or one of many others, you can help a mentally handicapped child develop skill in that area. New and old volunteers welcome! Questions call Mike 1371 or Sue 4-1-4832

The first Saturday rec is this Saturday, Jan 20th, from 9:00-11:30 a.m. at Logan Center, help a mentally handicapped child and join in on the fun, questions call Mike or Sue.

Help a mentally handicapped child or adult bowl this Friday, Jan 19th from 3:15 - 6:00 p.m. Rides leave the ND Library circle at 3:15 p.m. questions call Mike 1371 or Sue 4-1-4832

Experienced typist will do all types of typing. Call 272-1401.

"Correction to Student Directory for Village Inn Pizza on U.S. 31 North at Darden Road - phone Number 272-0945"

Accurate, fast typing. Mrs. Bedford 288-2107 Hours: 8 am to 5 pm

Lost & Found

Lost: pair of new blue suede ski gloves somewhere between D-2 and Sorlin. Call 8518.

For Rent

Mature students, share a spacious, furnished home in a very nice neighborhood near campus. $130 per month includes everything. Call 289-0103, nights.

Two rooms together. $45.00 near rides. 233-1329

Tickets

2 GA and 2 STUDENT TIX FOR SAN FRANCISCO GAME. CALL 3087.

Need one student or GA ticket for UCLA Call 7409

Need Maryland B-Ball tix. Any number. Tim 288-2773.

Personals

Karen
You will have to learn to control yourself at AIRPORTS. Good luck with second semester.

David

KEITH HEIL'S TRAINING STABLE

Horseback riding lessons - $20-30
Qualified instructors / English and Western Semester - 11 week maximum - $100.
Organizational meeting
January 21st - 2:00 McCordness Piano Room
Additional information - Call Jo Hall - 683-4467

Thugs and Henchmen -
Best of luck for second semester. How long will the new frosh last?

David
FREE: Adorable 7 week old puppies. Call 272-2520 evenings.

Get in Shape! Rock workout Sat 10 am
Rockne gymnastic room sponsored by the Crew

Irish come back to edge Cougars in 43rd Cotton Bowl Classic

by Paul Mullaney
Assistant Sports Editor

DALLAS -- The Cotton Bowl Committee called it "the greatest Dallas Classic ever played, with yet the worst playing conditions ever."

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said it was "the greatest boon ever for indoor football."

Notre Dame mentor Dan Devine labeled it "the greatest of all the comebacks I've been associated with in coaching."

The greatest it may have been. But, nonetheless, it was the Comeback Kid and his Cardiac Companions putting together the type of comeback that is becoming commonplace with Notre Dame, as the Irish shocked Houston, 35-34, to capture the 43rd and coldest Cotton Bowl Classic on January 1.

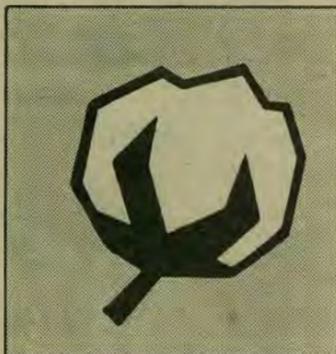

Quarterback Joe Montana, who missed most of the third quarter because of below-normal body temperature, captained an Irish rescue mission which saw the Gold-and-Green put 23 points on the board in the final seven minutes and 37 seconds, erasing a 34-12 Cougar lead in the process.

The game-winner, as if written by the most prolific of fiction writers, came with no time showing on the clock, as split end Kris Haines, both feet barely in bounds, engulfed an eight-yard Montana touchdown aerial to knot the score at 34-34. Joe Unis' conversion kick gave the Irish a miraculous triumph and a number seven ranking the season's final poll.

WHAT HAPPENED in the last 7:37 was quite mind-boggling to those super-fans who braved the ungodly Texas weather. For starters, the tide turned when freshman reserve fullback Tony Belden blocked a Jay Wyatt punt and classmate Steve Cichy picked it up in a crowd and rambled 33 yards for an Irish score. Notre Dame, electing to go for two, narrowed the deficit to 34-20 when Montana connected with tailback Vagas Ferguson in the endzone.

"That seemed to be the turning point of the game," offered Cichy afterwards. "We got the momentum back, and everything started clicking after that."

"Clicking" isn't exactly the word to describe the events which were yet to happen. After his team had forced another Wyatt punt, Montana shifted into overdrive when the Irish regained possession at their own 39-yard line with 5:40 remaining on the clock.

On three straight plays the senior signal-caller connected with freshman tight end Dean Masztak, fullback Jerome Heavens and flanker Pete Holohan for respective gains of 17, 30 and 11 (on pass interference) yards. Two plays later Montana swept left end for two yards and a touchdown. Two points were once again a must for the Irish, who brought the score to 34-28 with a Montana-to-Haines completion.

The once dumbfounded Notre Dame legions had reason to cheer all of a sudden. Their Irish were rolling, or so it seemed, until all momentum seemed gone with 2:05 left in the game. It was then when Montana fumbled after a 16-yard run to the Houston 20 and Cougar Tommy Ebner recovered. The luck of the Irish had run out, right?

Never!
THE IRISH DEFENSE stiffened, and with a fourth-and-one from the Cougar 29 and 35 seconds left, Yeoman overruled a possible punt to go for the first down that would seal a win for the Southwest Conference champions.

Houston quarterback Danny Davis brushed running back Emmett King on the handoff at left tackle, and King was stood up by yet another Irish freshman, defensive right end Joe Gramke. With senior tackle Mike Calhoun helping by hitting low, King was stopped with no gain, and the Irish took over with 28 ticks of the clock left, just 29 yards short of paydirt.

"It was my decision," Yeoman said. "I don't think anyone wanted to kick the ball anyway." "I didn't have second thoughts about going for it," said Davis, who grew up just a stone's throw from the Cotton Bowl. "I felt like the law of averages just caught up with us."

"I don't want to second guess their coach," commented Devine, undefeated in three straight post-season affairs since arriving at Notre Dame. "It was no surprise. It was a good call."

For the Irish, it turned out to be a great call.

MONTANA STARTED the last-ditch Irish effort by running for 11 yards and then threw to Haines for a gain of 10. With the clock stopped at six seconds, and Notre Dame first-and-goal at the Cougar eight, Houston called time out to regroup defensively.

On the next play Montana, the same Montana who had earlier thrown four interceptions, wasted little time getting rid of the ball, tossing it quickly to the right corner of the endzone and in the direction of Haines. The pass

[continued on page 10]

Kris Haines, after his last-second catch of Joe Montana's touchdown aerial, is joined in celebration by teammate Jim Hautman, as the Irish pulled off a 35-34 win. [AP photo]

In not-so-sunny Texas Frigid conditions hamper game

by Paul Mullaney
Assistant Sports Editor

DALLAS -- Things looked pretty good to Dan Devine and his Notre Dame football team when they arrived here on December 21 to prepare for the January 1 Cotton Bowl clash with Houston.

The temperature read 65 degrees, and the South Bend winter was 1,000 miles away.

But, as if somebody suddenly pulled the plug on the Green Machine, the conditions took a drastic change for the worse. And playing football in South Bend all of a sudden didn't seem like that bad of an idea.

An ice storm, Dallas' worst in 30 years, began on Saturday evening, December 30, about the same time as Kentucky's basketball team froze the Irish from topping the collegiate cage polls. And things didn't get any better by Monday afternoon's kickoff.

More than 28,000 homes in Dallas County were without power, including the dwelling of Mayor Robert Folsom. As many as 75,000 homes were affected in one way or another, as the frigid storm coated power lines and trees with tons of ice over the weekend, knocking out telephone service in older parts of town, and felling trees throughout the metropolitan area.

Apartment complexes and nursing homes were evacuated, as local hotels were filled rapidly. Electrical transformers erupted at times during the storm, lighting the sky with green, red and blue flashes.

All visitors to the supposed sunny climate of Dallas were somewhat shocked by the conditions, including Notre Dame's marching band, which was left without instruments at the Cotton Bowl Parade because of a frozen air hose in its equipment truck. It was understandable if some of the band members didn't feel too depressed from not being able to participate in the frigid festivities.

Even Irish center Dave Huffman, a Dallas native who has braved three past South Bend winters, couldn't handle Mother Nature's southern hospitality. "I'm goin' down farther south," he mused after his team's 35-34 thrilling win. "It better be warmer down there, because I'm not staying up this far north."

The gutsy northwest wind didn't help matters, either. The game time temperature of 20 degrees was cold enough, but as the wind gained momentum throughout the afternoon, the chill factor plummeted to minus 19 degrees by the second half.

Only 32,500 diehards of the 72,000 ticket purchasers (sell-out) were accounted for in a generous attendance figure. And only about one-half of those human icicles braved the elements long enough to witness the greatest of all Cotton Bowl finishes on a day when ticket scalpers had no real need to worry about grabbing something to eat.

As the Houston lead widened and the chill factor dropped in the third quarter, a steady stream of those fans in attendance headed for their cars, from where they either listened to the game on radio or drove to homes or hotels to catch the miraculous finish on television.

Not all of the patrons left for fear of frostbite, however. Those who remained in the Ice Bowl let their voices be heard. Among them was Notre Dame President Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, who directed the Irish band in the Notre Dame Victory March outside the victor's locker room after the game.

"I'll tell you, it was COLD," said Bob Golic, who missed the second half of the game after twisting his knee. "I've never played in anything as cold as that before. And it got a lot colder standing on the sidelines."

Huffman, when asked of the whereabouts of his father in the lockerroom after the game, quipped, "I don't know. Maybe he's frozen in his seat."

If it were anybody but the witty Huffman making the comment, it might have been adviseable to check the stands.

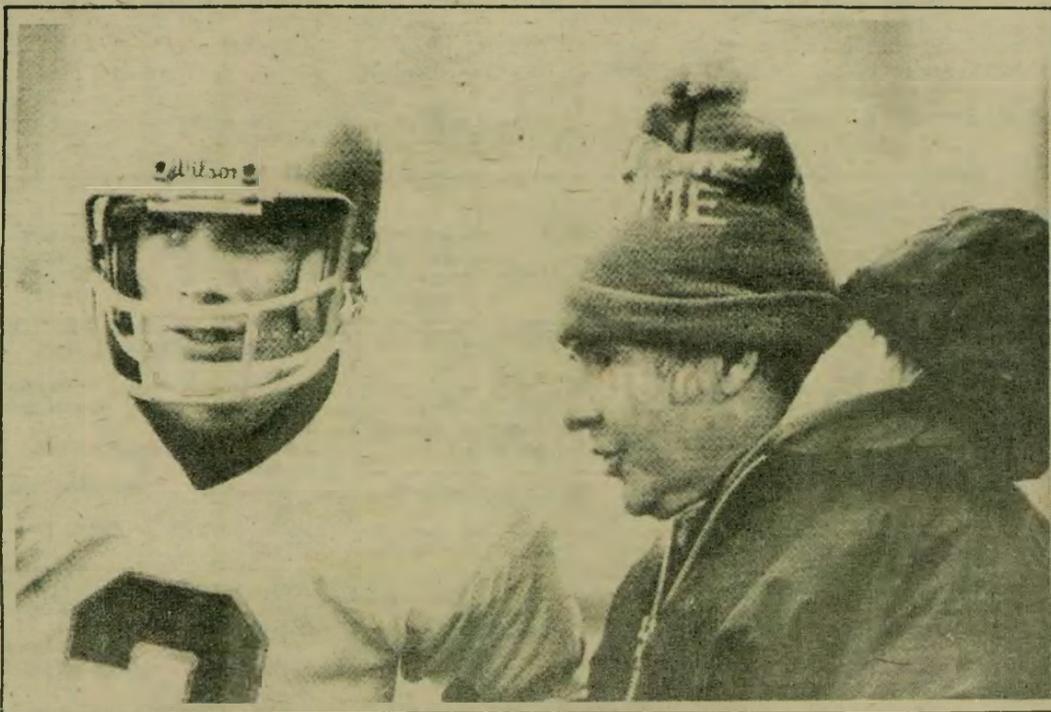

Notre Dame	12	0	0	23	- 35
Houston	7	13	14	0	- 34

ND--Montana 3 run (kick failed).
ND--Buchanan 1 run (pass failed).
Hou-Adams 15 pass from Davis (Hatfield kick).

Hou--Love 1 run (Hatfield kick).
Hou--FG Hatfield 21.
Hou--FG Hatfield 34.
Hou--Davis 2 run (Hatfield kick).
Hou--Davis 5 run (Hatfield kick).
ND--Cichy 33 blocked punt return (Ferguson pass from Montana).
ND--Montana 2 run (Haines pass from Montana).
ND--Haines 8 pass from Montana (Unis kick).
Atten.--32,500

	N. Dame	Hous.
First downs	13	16
Rushing attempts	40	63
Yards rushing	131	229
Yards passing	163	60
Passes comp-att	13-37	4-13
Had intercepted	4	0
Total yards	294	289
Fumbles-lost	3-3	6-3
Penalties-yards	8-74	6-39

INDIVIDUAL LEADERS
RUSHING--Notre Dame, Heavens 16-71, Montana, 7-26, Ferguson 10-19, Houston, Davis 19-76, King 21-74, Love 22-73.
PASSING--Notre Dame, Montana 13-34-4, 163. Houston, Davis 4-12-0, 60.
RECEIVING--Notre Dame, Heavens 4-60, Haines 4-31, Masztak 3-49. Houston, Adams 2-35, Herring 2-25.

Irish quarterback Joe Montana shares strategy with head Coach Dan Devine moments before the senior signal caller teamed with Kris Haines. [AP photo]