PRICE 4 CENTS

SELL TICKETS FOR TECH GAME

Sale Begins Today of Certificate Tickets for November 24; at Least 200 to Make Trip.

Certificate tickets for the student trip to the Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame game in Pittsburg, November 24, will be on sale today. The tickets will entitle the holder to a ticket to the game, a round-trip railroad ticket and Pullman accommodations.

Round trip tickets are $13.92; upper berth, $3.60 one way; lower berth, $4.50 one way; drawing room one way, $16.50.

At least 200 students must make the trip. It is expected, however, that more than that number will journey to Pittsburg.

The special train will leave South Bend sometime before midnight Friday, November 23, arriving in Pittsburg about 10 o'clock Saturday. On the return trip the train will leave Pittsburg at midnight Saturday and arrive in Toledo at 6:30 Sunday. Students will be enabled to attend mass and have breakfast in Toledo. The train will arrive in South Bend about noon.

Leonard M. Carroll, secretary of the Notre Dame club of Western Pennsylvania, announces that a dinner-dance will be given for the team at the Hotel Schenley in Pittsburg at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. Tickets are $3.00 a plate and any student may secure tickets from the Pittsburgh Alumni committee. Other plans for the entertainment of the student body making the trip are under way, Mr. Carroll announced.

The Notre Dame Keystone club is co-operating with the Pittsburgh alumni in providing entertainment for the trip.

Certificate tickets may be obtained from Mark Nolan, 232 Sorin; Don Miller, 6 Corby; or Robert Cahill, 205 Walsh. Students are urged to make reservations for the trip immediately as it is imperative that the Student Trip committee know how many are making the trip in order to complete arrangements.

South Bend people may take advantage of the reduced rates on the special train. Tickets for downtown people will be put on sale later.

MORE RECEIVE DURING MONTH

October Figures on Holy Communions Show Increase; Homecoming Did Not Decrease Numbers.

A decided increase has been shown in daily communions for the month of October. Figures for October, 1922, show a daily average of 642, while the figures for October of this year show a daily average of 821; an increase of 179 daily communions. The total number of communions for the past month was 25,458, and for the year thus far it is 38,023, an average of 792 communions a day.

Homecoming did not cause the decrease in daily communions this year that it did in 1922. Following are the statistics on communions over the Homecoming period for 1923 and 1922.

	1923	1922
Saturday	526	448
Sunday	600	463
Monday	703	588

The balloon pennant, sent up on Cartier field at the game Saturday, is believed to be in Lake Michigan. Floated by many balloons, a large pennant, ten feet long and six feet wide, with the Notre Dame colors on one side and the Purdue colors on the other, was sent up.

Plan to Reorganize Lifers at Notre Dame

The Lifers, unorganized for several years, will be revived soon if present plans of organization are successful.

The club's object is to keep together, as far as possible, those men who spent their first years at Notre Dame in the preparatory school or the minims. The Lifers has been one of the most active organizations on the campus, but due to the passing of the preparatory department, will die out in a few years. Requirements for membership are that the men be in his fifth or later year at Notre Dame.

POULTRY MEN TO ORGANIZE

Senior Class Plans Boxing Show; S. A. C. Thanks Homecoming Helpers.

Permission was granted to 25 students who are specializing in poultry production to organize the Notre Dame Poultry club, at a meeting of the Student Activities Committee last night. The group is composed entirely of Veterans Bureau men.

It was announced that complete reports of the band tag day, vaudeville and boxing shows, will be made in a few days. The proceeds go to the band campaign fund to pay for the new uniforms. The seniors were given permission to hold a boxing show between Thanksgiving and Christmas, to help defray expenses of the Senior ball. A petition of the Freshman class to give a smoker before Thanksgiving was granted.

The S. A. C. wishes to express its thanks to the following for courtesies and services extended during Homecoming:

Elks club for the use of their building; Kiwanis club, who donated the use of signs; Studebaker Band; Mr. Cookhill, manager of the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria; Mr. Redlick, manager of the Palais Royale.

Some students have inquired as to why the minutes of the S. A. C. meetings did not appear on the bulletin boards. This was done last year, but because of the publicity given by THE DAILY, it was decided to abandon the old method.

Mr. Byrne Will Talk to Frosh Tomorrow

The Freshman class will hear Mr. Paul Byrne, reference librarian, on "How to Use the Library," at the Freshman lecture in Washington hall tomorrow.

Professor Burton Confrey, of the Department of Education, spoke on "How to Study," last week. He spoke of the essays of Rev. John Cavanaugh, former president of the University, and recommended that every freshman read them.

Prof. Confrey advocated the reading of Dante's Inferno, which he described as being of an elevating nature and worthy of study by the university man who seeks clear thought and fine writing. He gave a list of books suitable for freshmen and included especially the essays and works of Newman, Tennyson and Milton in the list.

The use of a reading-graph was recommended by Prof. Confrey in order to help the reader. He described the graph and some of its results.

Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, director of student welfare, condemned what he called an "un-Notre Dame practice by university men." He expressed himself as being utterly opposed to whistling and other boisterous displays in Washington hall as on last Saturday night.

James X. Bell, Ph. B., '23, is now traveling representative of the Allyn and Bacon company, book publishers, Chicago. Jim was at Notre Dame for Homecoming.

WILL PRESENT LAETARE MEDAL

Walter George Smith, K. S. G., Awarded Laetare Medal; Receives It on Thursday.

The Laetare medal for 1923, awarded every year by the University to some Catholic distinguished for his service to State and Church, will be officially presented to Walter George Smith, of Philadelphia, in Washington hall on Thursday evening at 8.

Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, president of the University, will make the formal address of presentation, and Lawrence F. Frick, of Philadelphia, will make an address on the medal and on the work done by its recipient. Rt. Rev. Edward F. Hogan, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, will make the formal presentation.

The presentation will be the fourth at Notre Dame since the medal was first awarded. Dr. John B. Murphy, of Chicago, Charles P. Neill, former United States Commissioner, and Dr. Joseph Monaghan, of New York, received the medal at Notre Dame.

Mr. Smith, K. S. G., was president of the Federation of Catholic Societies of Pennsylvania, president of the American Bar Association, a member of the Commission for the Near East Relief, and of the American Advisory Committee for the Limitation of Armaments. He has distinguished himself as a Catholic, a statesman and a citizen.

STAG SUPPER SET FOR DEC. 13

To Be Held at a South Bend Hotel; Juniors to Give Circus; Pins Later.

The Junior class will give a Stag Supper at one of the South Bend hotels, December 13, it was announced yesterday. The price will be $1.75, including entertainment. The members of the committee will meet in Chairman Kreider's room, 422 Badin hall, Thursday and complete the arrangements.

At the suggestion of the Department of Discipline, the Junior class has decided to wait until June 1 before wearing senior pins. Chairman Traynor of the pin committee has succeeded in signing up nearly all juniors who want pins.

A circus will be given by the Junior class sometime after Christmas in the gymnasium. This will be the first time such entertainment has been given. Paul Rahe, chairman of the ways and means committee, is in charge of the affair. Some theatrical entertainment will be given in Washington hall after Christmas. It will probably be a Notre Dame review.

Announce Contents of Next Scholastic

The year's second issue of The Scholastic will contain an article by Rev. Charles Miltner, an interpretation of the sixth centenary of Saint Thomas Aquinas.

There will be short stories by John Brennan, James Hayes, Cliff Ward, and others. "A considerable amount of verse will add a touch of sentiment to the pages. Professor William Bucknell will discuss 'Words,' and others will reflect and ponder," said Professor George Shuster, editor.

Ray Cunningham will initiate a column on other schools. Several other features are planned.

Three thousand copies of the first edition were distributed. Extra copies may be secured at The Scholastic office in the rear of the main building, or from Jerome Benning.

Corn-Husk Dance at Tribune Building

The Sophomore class Corn-husk dance will be given in the Tribune building on Saturday evening at 9. Jack Doyle, doing his 'Frisco,' will put on the feature of the entertainment.

The dance will be the sixth of the football dances arranged this fall, and will have many features. An autographed football will be given away during the evening.

Steimrich's orchestra, of Elkhart, will play. Tickets are $1.50.

QUINTET WILL PLAY TONIGHT

Cleveland Symphonic Quintet Comes to Washington Hall with Reputation; Program Announced.

The Vernon's Cleveland Symphonic Quintet, one of the best organizations of its kind, will present the third program of the year at Washington hall tonight. The quintet is composed of four men and one woman, all talented performers, who have won much praise from critics in their extended travels in the last year. It is under the personal direction of Paul Vernon, who is also first violinist. The other members are Lloyd De Costa, second violinist; William H. Cheesman, viol; Arthur George Jones, violin-cello, and Blanch Webber Vernon, piano and organ.

The program as announced yesterday is:

Allegro Moderato from quintet Op. 44 (Schumann); Molto Lento from "Music of the Spheres" (Rubinstein); Allegro from "Music of the Spheres" (Rubinstein) — String Quartet.

Dance Rustique (Squire) — Violin-cello by Mr. Jones.

Allegro non troppo from Trio in F major (Godard); Plaisir d'Amour (Martini) — Viola d'Amour solo by Mr. Jones.

Andante Cantabile (Tchaikowsky) — String Quartet.

The Last Hour (Kramer); To You (Speaks) — Baritone solo by Mr. Vernon.

Two Old Dances: Minuet (Boccherini); Loin du Bal (Gillet); Overture to Merry Wives of Windsor (Nicolai) — Quintet with organ.

Ballad and Polona (Vieuxtemps) — Violin solo by Mr. Vernon.

Humoreske on two American Folk Songs (Kramer) — String quartet.

Liebesfraud (Kreisler).

The program is subject to change. The performance will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Metropolitan Club Elect Their Heads

The Metropolitan club of Notre Dame, which includes students living within a 40-mile radius of New York City, has been reorganized, and at a meeting held on Wednesday evening in the North room of the Library elected officers for the year. Robert Cunningham, '24, of Newark, N. J., was elected president; William F. Gallagan, '24, of Tarrytown, N. Y., secretary, and Raymond A. McGee, '24, of New York City, treasurer.

The club plans to co-operate with the alumni association of the district.

Robert L. Cahill and John Q. Adams were named as a committee to prepare plans for an entertainment to be held after Thanksgiving, and committees will soon be announced to begin preparations for the annual Christmas dance to be held in New York.

GET IT BACK.

The man who took the "Welcome, Purdue" sign from the stands on Saturday is asked to return it to the gym immediately. It was borrowed property.

DOG MEET DOG TOMORROW EVE

Day Dodgers Will Hear Big Men of University; Expect Large Attendance; Tickets on Sale.

"Let's organize the Day Dogs." In an effort to get the off-campus men together, to give them an opportunity to know each other, and to further acquaint them with the Notre Dame spirit that is necessarily lessened by off-campus life, the men will be called to a meeting of organization tomorrow evening at 8. "Let's organize the Day Dogs," is the cry for convocation.

A program that includes speeches by prominent men of the University, bouts by the best boxers, music by picked orchestra men and by men who have headed vocal programs, was announced yesterday. The entertainment will be held at St. Joseph's hall, 224 North Hill street.

The program follows: Victory song, by Victor La Betz — Norbert Engels orchestra. Bout — Jack Spillane and Danny McGowan.

William Furey, '23, former president of the Glee club, solo.

Ralph Dumke and Charles Butterworth, in "Kollege Kapers."

Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, address. Bout — Tom Canny and Charles Springer.

Edward Luther, solo.

Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, address.

Peter La Cava, of the Glee club, solo.

Orchestra, selection.

Election of officers, smokes, and eats.

Rev. Joseph Burke, Rev. William Lennartz, pastor of St. Joseph's church, and Rev. William Burke, assistant, will be present.

Tickets will be sold at the car line from 7:15 for the entire day, today. From 9 to 10:30, by McCafferty and McCauley; at 10 to 11, by A. E. Cartier; from 11 to 12, by Eddie Luther and Lindeman; from 1 to 1:30, by Lightfoot and Pat Hyland; from 1:30 to 2:30, by Luke Higgins and Bernard Finnegan; from 3:30 to 4:30, by Eddie Luther. Tickets will be sold at the Off-campus office all day. Tickets sell at 35 cents.

"Get together," the committee urges.

McCLAVE GETS ANNUAL WORK

Dome Printing Contract Signed; Seniors Must Return Proofs; Other Pictures Tomorrow.

The contract for the printing of the 1924 Dome was signed Friday. The contract was awarded to the McClave Printing Co., of South Bend. Time for delivery was fixed at May 15.

Seniors still holding Dome proofs are asked to return them to Ray Cunningham, 333 Walsh hall. He will be in his room from 3 to 5 o'clock. Those who have not yet secured their proofs may get them from him at that time.

The Corby hall Dome pictures will be taken at noon today. Sorin, Badin and the A. I. E. E. will be taken tomorrow noon.

The Dome art staff, under the direction of Schomburg, Dupay and Mouch, is progressing rapidly in its work.

BLUE CIRCLE MEN.

All men who worked on Blue Circle committees. Friday are asked to report to their chairmen immediately, in order that classes missed may be excused.

N. C. W. C. NEWS SERVICE

Sometime, perhaps soon, the NOTRE DAME DAILY may become affiliated with the National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service. Since this is so, and since the service is of interest to every Catholic, it is pertinent to note the gratifying increase in prestige of that service.

During the past year, as shown by the report of Bishop Walsh, D.D., chairman of the Press and Publicity Department, this service has gained both in influence and in revenue. Although the receipts from July 1, 1922, to June 30, 1923, total only $22,890, they show a creditable increase over the receipts of the previous year, which were but $14,730. It may be said also that these receipts are a very inadequate representation of the activity of this service since the revenue furnishes less than one-half of the cost.

Even more important is the recognition which the N. C. W. C. News Service has won for itself in the newspaper world. One of the greatest news achievements of the year was its distribution of the first full authentic report of the trial of the Russian Catholic prelates. This was considered of such news value by The New York Times and The St. Louis Globe Democrat that, on the Sunday following its publication in the Catholic papers, they gave it a full page. In this report it was proved that the Russian Catholic prelates were innocent of any disloyal or revolutionary activity.

The service has been proved to be almost invaluable to the Catholic press. It endeavors to acquaint Catholics of what people of the faith are doing, and endeavors to get the truth on matters of Catholic interest—so often misrepresented by prejudiced reporters or editors. The interest of the national daily press in the service is significant. It indicates the value of the service, and its growing power.

PROGRESS IN TRAVEL

Scarcely a day now passes in which we do not read of some new development in travel. One day a record for speed is broken; again, some inconvenience is done away with; and, less frequently some new mode of transportation is invented. Yet in this scramble for material progress the dependence of it all upon the Creator is so often ignored that it is reassuring to learn of a case in which dependence on God is acknowledged by a pretty consideration of the religious element of travel.

Such a case is found in the recent installation of altars on the ocean steamers of the Cunard lines. Before the liner Franconia sailed from Liverpool on its maiden voyage to New York, a fully equipped altar together with four sets of vestments was placed on board to be at the disposal of any Catholic priests who might be passengers.

The first public mass was said on board the ship on the Feasts of Saints Peter and Paul by Father McCarthy, of Bangor, Maine. On Sunday mass was said by Father Mulvihill, of Limerick, Ireland. In addition to the first and second-class passengers, many Irish passengers of the third class attended, filling the entire space on the aft deck. The ship's crew furnished the altar boys.

As Archbishop Curley, of Baltimore, Monsignor Strickland and several other priests were passengers on the return voyage to England, holy mass was celebrated many times. During the round trip voyage of the Franconia mass was read twenty-two times, a record for Catholic services on a ship at sea. Since it is seldom that a trans-Atlantic liner sails without a priest on board, Catholic passengers in the future will have the opportunities for performing their religious duties daily.

This installation of altars on ocean liners for that celebration of the sacrifice of the mass seems to prove that the great part played in the lives of Catholics by their religion is gradually being recognized. Thus it may be said that the example of those allow no obstacle to keep them from hearing mass has not passed unnoticed even in the world at large. And in this proof of the power of consistent good example may be found sufficient reason for believing that the Catholic atmosphere and life of Notre Dame make a deeper impression upon those who come in contact with it than we might sometimes think.

From Other Pens

DARWIN AND CONVOCATION

"A lamb," says Charles Darwin, "loves to frisk about upon the smallest hillock because his ancestors used to run over the peaks of the Alps. A small boy will go out of his way to climb a tree because his predecessors used to swing through a tree."

Darwin never attended a convocation at K. U.

A speaker of note comes to the platform to address the student body. Everything is quiet while they give him the "once over." Then powder supplies, notebooks, candy, and deaf-and-dumb language are produced, and the disturbance commences. With utter disregard for the feelings of the speaker, the audience proceeds to make as much noise as possible and to go through all the motions of the traditional monkey.

Convocation is no place to go to study, or to make dates. If it is necessary to get up and leave, it will not make one appear important to kick over a row of chairs during the exit. A little more respect is due to visiting speakers.—University Daily Kansan.

Hooda

Hooda was getting his picture taken.

"What," said the photographer, "what sort of view would you like?"

"What would you suggest?" said our hero.

The photographer looked at Hooda. Then he looked lovingly at an imitation gun in the corner. Then he flushed, put his finger in his mouth and pirouetted, and said, "I don't wanna tell."

"Be calm, compose yourself, collect yourself," said Hooda. "I know what you are thinking. You are thinking that I would make a good soldier. But I do not want it taken that way. Could you take a picture of me with a butterfly net in one hand and a club in the other?"

The man thought and then said, "I think it could be done, but why do you want it that way?"

"I want to represent a great European diplomat," said Hooda.

"Why not substitute the net for a pocketbook, and represent a restaurant owner?" said the man.

"No," said Hooda, "we will compromise. I will pose with a fly in one hand and an elephant in the other, and represent Ananias."

And so it went until in the end Hooda posed with a piece of cheese in one hand and no bread in the other. The effect was powerful. It brought strong light upon the old, old adage, "A piece of cheese alone is better than no sandwich."

But the photographer had aimed wrong, and when the pictures were developed they showed apparently nothing but the cheese. Closer scrutiny revealed, however, that it was nothing but Hooda's face that showed.

So they made a neat little fortune selling them for puzzles.

What They Say

IT MUST BE DONE!

[Daily Nebraskan]

With the number of seat reservations already surpassing all previous records of Nebraska football, it is probable that 30,000 persons will watch the Cornhuskers of 1923 block the victorious onrush of Rockne's Irishmen from Notre Dame.

Not alone will Nebraska lovers of the pigskin sport scan every play of our team—the nation will be sizing up Nebraska. East and west, north and south, followers and critics of football will observe with supreme interest Notre Dame's attempt at revenge for the Cornhusker victory of last year.

Thirty-three years of honorable football history have lent to the University a notable prestige, which goes on trial November 10.

Eleven men in moleskins are not the sole defenders of this reputation. Every student, every alumnus, and every friend of Nebraska must contribute to the defense of this prestige by unswerving loyalty. This University implores a victory and demands a united Husker spirit.

BEAT NOTRE DAME!

REYNOLDS SAYS SO.

[The New Orleans Item]

Howard Reynolds, sports editor of the Boston Post and known in football circles as the man who "discovered" Centre college, is in New Orleans with Mrs. Reynolds. They are stopping at the St. Charles hotel.

Mr. Reynolds will join "Bo" McMillan's Centenary college football eleven next week and accompany that team to Boston for the game of November 10. Centenary plays (Continued on Page 3.)

From Off Stage

Because he is said to be handsome, they have built a picture around Thomas Meighan in which the ladies chase the poor fellow until he is finally married. Wallace Reid was billed in such pictures and almost every man that has been said to be rather sheikish, has had the same fate. It isn't an unpleasant role, of course, but it makes us smile—reminds us of the picture in which Ben Turpin played the sheik in the "Shriek of Araby," or something like that.

Meighan's picture, "Woman Proof," at the LaSalle this week, furnishes a pleasant afternoon. Meighan plays Tom Rockwood, one of a family each of whom have been willed a million, provided all are married by a certain date. In the early part of the picture Rockwood isn't affected by flappers, zippers or old-fashioned girls nor does he bother about a possible million dollars. But when Louise Halliday, played by Lila Lee, meets Rockwood he changes his mind about women. Due to the tricks of the pesky villain, he almost fails to marry the girl in time to get the million for himself, and incidentally for the other members of his family.

That's the plot, as concocted by George Ade, and in which Mary Astor and Robert Agnew have parts of prominence.

WHAT THEY SAY.

 Boston college that day in one of the big games on the schedule of the Boston Catholic institution.

Notre Dame is the best football eleven in the country today, according to the expert Mr. Reynolds, who has already seen a number of the major elevens in action. He witnessed the Notre Dame defeat of Princeton and does not believe there is an eleven in the country which can cope with the shifty, tricky, clever speed and shrewd football generalship of the Indiana Catholics.

team on your side of the Rockies to meet Knute Rockne's Notre Dame eleven in the post-season inter-sectional contest Christmas Day. We have seen Notre Dame. Twenty-five to two they slaughtered Princeton last Saturday. The two resulted from a safety. Four times the Hoosiers crossed the Tiger line for touchdowns. And for 60 minutes of actual play there was never a second that the superiority of the team of Rockne, offensively or defensively, was not established.

What a football team it is! We have never seen one quite like it. If this be treason from a Native Son, at least it is the truth.

Notre Dame has more plays letter perfect right now, with the season three weeks old, than most of these teams back here will have in the entire schedule.

Notre Dame has a collection of backs, answering to the names Crowley, Don Miller, Layden, Bergman, Stuhldreher and Reese, who can do anything with a football that ever was done, or ever will be.

Notre Dame has a line that tore holes in Princeton, and when the Tigers had the ball stopped their rushes dead in their tracks.

Notre Dame showed ability to circle the ends, smash the line, break up forward passing attack, either by hurrying the passer, knocking down his heaves, or by intercepting the tosses.

Notre Dame had three kicks blocked, one resulted in the safety. The other two were goal kicks after touchdowns, but in all that interesting afternoon, these three faults were all the closest observed could find with the young men who learned their football under Rockne.

Consider these figures. Notre Dame gained 462 yards in all, as compared with Princeton's 101—241 yards by rushing, 155 yards by end running and only 66 yards by the use of the forward pass, generally supposed to be the Notre Dame chief method of attack. Forget that stuff. Notre Dame uses the pass only when the enemy is looking for something else, and as the enemy is generally looking for the forward pass, Notre Dame, with a style of football that is 100 per cent deceptive and constructed solely on the principle of "now you see it and now you don't," Notre Dame skirts the end and slides through the lines with dexterity and ease.

Quick, Watson! the whisk broom! Rev. Julius Nieuwland, of the Chemistry department, declares that professors of chemistry took advantage of his absence last week. When he returned from his trip to Washington, he discovered them arrayed in clean, new, gray dusters.

"Professors will not be mistaken for students since the innovation," said Father Nieuwland. "What is the distinguishing mark of the chemistry professor? The duster!"

The Hon. P. H. O'Donnell, of Chicago, an orator of national reputation, gave a special lecture under the auspices of the College of the College of Commerce, entitled "Chinese Life and Customs," at Washington hall, to which all students were invited.

Mr. O'Donnell, who has been in close contact with the people of China for many years, spoke of the dislike the white man had for the Chinaman because he did everything opposite to the white man. Because the Chinese do many things differently from the white man, he said, because the Chinese begin from the left-hand side to read a newspaper, white men criticize the Chinaman and believe he is not as capable as a white man.

Mr. O'Donnell stated that the Chinaman was the most honest person in the world. He could be trusted always and as example, Mr. O'Donnell cited some fabulous sums of money that had been loaned to people of China by business men of Chicago, and which were always paid. The government and the home life of China were also commented upon.

Mr. O'Donnell expressed hopes of returning soon to deliver another lecture.

ROCKMEN MEET CORNHUSKERS

Westerners Have Two Weeks to Prime for Irish Clash; Huskers Have Two Great Veterans.

The Nebraska football team will face their supreme test in footballdom when Knute K. Rockne and his wonder team journey to Lincoln to play them next Saturday. The game will be of almost as much importance as the Army and Princeton games with the Irish.

The wheat-land gridders had the advantage of an off day last Saturday and during the two weeks since the Rockmen met and defeated Georgia Tech, the Cornhuskers have been preparing for their annual struggle with the Irish, which for the past five years has proven to be one of the hardest games on the schedule of both schools.

The student body at Lincoln have but one thought uppermost in their minds: "Beat Notre Dame." During the past two weeks the Nebraska mentor has stressed this one idea, for the purpose of impressing upon the minds of his moleskin warriors the immensity of the task that looms up before his men next Saturday. He also has been impressing upon them what a sweet glory and satisfaction it would be to stave off the attack of the wonder team and bury the brilliant proteges of Rockne's under the pall of defeat the Irish so deftly wrapped around the forms of three great intersectional teams.

Nebraska has two veterans in their line-up that played against the Rockmen in 1921 at Homecoming, when the Irish had a team that sent several of her stars to all-American ranks.

Noble and Lewellyn are football men in every sense of the word and are now following in the footsteps of their all-American teammate, Wellers, whose presence in the Cornhusker line-up will be sadly missed this year. Both players are fast and heavy and display some brilliant football tactics both on the defense and offense.

Nebraska has not shown that power and drive this year that they have shown in other years but it must be considered that they have met teams that were highly perfected in the manly sport, and since the season opened, have swept all opposition out of their way with their irresistible attack. To date the Cornhuskers have played a scoreless tie with the leading title contenders in the Missouri Valley conference race, and with Illinois, though they were unable to stop the drive of Bob Zuppke's sensational star, "Red" Grange.

When they stack up against the Rockmen they will meet a half dozen "Red" Granges in Miller, Layden and Crowley; Maher, Cerny and Bergman. The Cornhuskers' forward wall will also meet a line that, according to dope, will be far superior to the Illinois line. And when it comes to matching coaching wits, one remembers West Point, Princeton and Georgia Tech. But even so, the Cornhuskers have always been dangerous and are always feared.

This week will be a series of hard practice sessions for the Irish. Rockne will further perfect a few new tricks to try out on the Cornhuskers, that have not yet been displayed.

Whether or not Rockne will use his passing game against the Westerners next week will probably be a matter of last minute decision. In considering its use, it will be remembered that in the last half of the game last year, which the Irish lost 14 to 6, an aerial attack uncorked by the Hoosiers' brilliant backfield created havoc in the Nebraska ranks and with a few more minutes of play, the score would have been increased a few notches.

The passing game has been so much used by the Rockmen that it has come to be expected. Because of this Rockne has not used it as much this season as in former years, holding it for a surprise attack if needed. The running game with the speedy Hoosiers of this year, has been sufficient to place the pigskin across the enemy's goal line without great difficulty.

With Layden and Stange, of the first-water type in the kicking department, and a group of lesser-light toe artists, the punting end of the Rockmen's game is pretty well taken care of. In last Saturday's game with Purdue, Layden's punting was superior to that of Worth's and on nearly every exchange of punts the Irish were the gainers.

Rockne's ends will be well covered with Collins, Crowe, Mayl, Murphy and Hunsinger showing better form in every encounter.

New Parker D. Q.—Students' Special, $3

WHEN you buy a Parker Pen of any model, at any price, you are getting a standard that never existed before the Parker Duofold was created; and which exists today only in the Parker make.

Parker's lower priced black pens are like Parker Duofold in everything save the size and point. Yet even their points are tipped with NATIVE Tasmanian Iridium and polished to the smoothness of a costly jewel bearing.

Only the Parker crafts-guild is trained to make Duofold quality, and this same skill produces all other Parker Pens too.

If you want the Over-size Pen with lacquer-red barrel, flashing black tips and 25-year point—get Parker Duofold, $7. (Duofold Jr., or Lady Duofold, $5.)

If you want Duofold's classic lines and writing balance in a low-priced black pen of good size, get the new Parker D. Q. specially made for students, $3.

Any near-by pen counter can supply you. But be sure the pen is stamped "Geo. S. Parker" if you want the new-day improvements.
