New plan wo burden on in

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — A new plan to reduce the federal deficit would place a heavy burden on industries, according to a report released by the Congressional Budget Office. The report states that the plan would require industries to pay a significant portion of the cost of the deficit reduction. This would result in higher taxes and increased costs for many businesses, which could lead to job losses and economic hardship. The report also notes that the plan would have a disproportionately large impact on small and medium-sized businesses, which may not have the resources to absorb the additional costs. The plan is part of a broader effort to address the federal budget deficit, but critics argue that it is unfair to place the burden on industries.
