Serving the Notre Dame and St. Mary's College Community

TUESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1969

Leonard Skoglund Jr.

Alumni Head

Leonard H. Skoglund, Jr., of the class of 1938 has been elected to succeed Richard A. Rosenthal '54 as President of Notre Dame's 43 thousand-member Alumni Association.

A magna cum laude graduate, and an all-American end for the football team in his senior year, Skoglund is presently vice-president of Scully-Jones and Co., a Chicago machine tools manufacturer.

In addition to the regular duties as Alumni President, Skoglund will also serve as an ex officio member of the Board of Trustees, as a result of Board action last fall.

"Our objectives will be to continue to build our current programs, especially in the area of communication among the alumni," said Skoglund yesterday. "We would like to make our alumni leaders in their respective communities, by keeping them aware of what others are doing."

Skoglund is a strong supporter of the newly-formed Alumni Senate. "We hope to meet on an annual basis, at least, in order that Alumni can keep well abreast of what is happening at Notre Dame," he said.

Founded in 1868, the Alumni Association has grown to a worldwide organization with over 175 local chapters in the United States and abroad. "The purpose of the Association has become dual," said James D. Cooney, executive director. "The initial goal of fellowship and mutual fulfillment is realized today in programs of continuing education, reunions and other club activities while a second area that of service to the University—is evident in programs of scholarship aid, endowment, public relations, and student recruitment."

Evaluation Booklet

A 154-page course evaluation booklet, covering all courses within the Arts and Letters Department, will be distributed this afternoon to students and faculty at Notre Dame and St. Mary's. The booklet was produced jointly by the Scholastic and the Academic Affairs Committee of both schools.

Barat College Rejects ND Bid - May Send Girls To Live On Campus

By TED PRICE

Although Barat College has announced that it will not move to South Bend to join Notre Dame and St. Mary's in a cluster relationship, there are plans for a number of Barat students to take up residence on the Notre Dame campus for study "in a University setting," beginning next September.

Sister Margaret Burke, President of Barat announced the plan to the parents of Barat students in a letter dated December 10.

In her letter, Sr. Burke said that Barat administrators "are discussing with the University of Notre Dame a plan that would provide a residence for Barat students who desire to pursue specialized studies or independent projects in a University setting."

Sr. Burke made the same announcement to a meeting of the entire Barat student body on December 9. At this meeting, Sr. Burke said that the program, slated to begin next September, would house the women in a dorm "vacated when Notre Dame completes their two new dorms."

University President Rev. Theodore Hesburgh said that the plans were only in the preliminary stages and spring from a conversation he had with Sr. Burke and Mr. Leonard Ellitson, Chairman of the Board of Trustees at Barat, at a luncheon at the Morris Inn last month.

"They said that they were having trouble selling their campus, and suggested that if Barat as a whole could not move to South Bend, perhaps a number of Barat students could come on a temporary basis and study here," said Fr. Hesburgh. "When they had completed the courses that they wanted from us, they would return to Barat where they would finish any other requirements for their degrees, which would be awarded by Barat."

Hesburgh said he asked that they make a more concrete formulation of this idea, and send him a letter about it.

"I only received this letter two days ago, and I have not taken any action on it so far," said Hesburgh.

After a study by Heald, Hobson Associates, which recommended that Barat move to South Bend, Sr. Burke met with administrators from Notre Dame and St. Mary's to discuss the feasibility of such a relationship.

A study, financed by the Carnegie corporation, was undertaken to examine the tripartite cluster relationship, and was scheduled for completion early this month.

Since that time, according to Dr. Theodore Marchese, of the Barat public information department, "a group of Texans who represent a Protestant sect which also operates Pepperdine College in California" made an offer to buy the Barat campus in Lake Forest.

"However they withdrew their offer in September," said Dr. Marchese, "and we haven't had anything since."

Dr. Marchese said that at the luncheon last month, Sr. Burke and Mr. Ellitson told Fr. Hesburgh that even if Barat were able to sell their campus that they would not be able to support the financial burden of a move to South Bend. Marchese said that Fr. Hesburgh "seemed reluctant to commit Notre Dame to aiding Barat in this area."

Barat has since begun to formulate plans to cooperate with Lake Forest College about a mile from the Barat campus. Dr. G. Donald Hollenhorst, a trustee of Barat, said that the plans are "quite preliminary yet."

"there are several obstacles to this idea, as yet," said Hollenhorst. One of the more important ones is that their calendar is very much different from ours, so you can see that there will be a number of problems to solve before this becomes final." If this plan does become final, it will all but preclude a transfer to South Bend.

Ellen Kelly, President of the Barat student body, said regarding the announcement that Barat would not move to South Bend, "I wasn't very surprised. When you hear an announcement that a college is planning a move, and then hear nothing further, you begin to suspect that the deal's off."

Miss Kelly said that she did not know that there had been no announcement to the Notre Dame students at the same time as the Barat announcement.

Second Plane Crash in Two Weeks

BRADFORD, Pa (UPI) An Allegheny Airlines Convair 580 enroute from Washington, D.C. to Detroit, crashed on a snow-covered golf course while preparing to land at the Bradford regional airport last night, killing at least 11 of the 28 aboard. It was the second fatal Allegheny crash in the area in 13 days and retraced the route of the other tragic flight.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the prop jet, Allegheny Flight 737, went down on the Pine Acres golf course about 10 miles west of the airport. The accident happened at 8:30 p.m. EST, a spokesman said, and about 10 miles from the scene where 20 persons were killed and 27 injured in a Christmas Eve crash. The plane, which had landed at Harrisburg, Pa., and was scheduled to make stops at Bradford, Erie, Pa., and then fly on to Detroit, carried 25 passengers and three crew members, according to George King, a spokesman for the airlines office in Washington.

The Bradford General Hospital, which only 13 days ago had responded to a similar emergency, reported it had 17 survivors, with one in critical condition.

The earlier tragedy occurred during a blinding snow storm when sister Flight 736, carrying 41 passengers homeward-bound for Christmas and six airline personnel crashed in rugged mountain terrain about 3½ miles short of the runway.

The latest crash occurred during fair weather but with three inches of snow on the ground. The Christmas Eve tragedy came as snow was falling and seven to eight inches already accumulated, forcing rescue teams then to rush to the scene in snowmobiles.

The Christmas Eve crash occurred on the flight bound from Detroit to Erie, Bradford and Harrisburg, Pa., and then to Washington.

Ten experts from the National Transportation Safety Board, the same men who investigated the earlier wreckage, were being sent from Washington to this northwestern Pennsylvania community. A spokesman said the team was chosen because the crash was "so similar to the first one, and also because it was in the same general area and the same company."

Storehouse of Miscellaneous Information...

Hutchins Raps "Pseudo" University

Robert Hutchins, president of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions last night at St. Mary's called the American University "a pseudo university; a place where people go for the acquisition of power, not for the pursuit of knowledge." He further criticized the American university system as "A giant storehouse of miscellaneous information with no sense of community and no sense of intellectual commitment."

Hutchins' address, "Dialogue: The Technique Itself," keynoted a lecture series on education sponsored by Saint Mary's Jubilee Year, the celebration of the college's 125th anniversary. The lecture series, "Dialogue: Trends in Contemporary Education," will include eleven lectures on contemporary problems in education. Sister Maria Concepta McDermott, C.S.C., chairman of the Education Department, opened the series to the general public as a service to the South Bend area. The South Bend Community School Corp. will allow teachers to attend the series for in-service credit.

Hutchins defined dialogue in terms of what it is not. "Dialogue is opposed to a civilization based on power. Education as it stands today is used to promote the prosperity and power of the state. Education by dialogue is directly opposed to this."

He emphasized the need for the establishment of a sense of dialogue in the University of the future; Hutchins said: "Education today is becoming less and less dialectical. On the other hand, society is becoming more in need of centers of dialogue. The future of education depends on the future of dialogue."

Hutchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago, heads the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, California. The Center, using the dialogue technique, serves as an arena for the expression of rational dissent among scholars.

The next lectures in the Dialogue series will be delivered February 6 and 7 by Denforth Lecturer Hendrick D. Gideonse. Gideonse will speak on alternative futures for education. Other lecturers will include Msgr. John J. McGrath, Saint Mary's College President and an authority on the civil status of private institutions. Norman Bernier and Carlton E. Beck of the University of Wisconsin, and Howard Weaver, Dean of Yale University School of Art and Architecture, and John W. Meaney of the University of Notre Dame will lecture on educational television.

Hall Life Report Is Issued

The Hall Life Subcommittee of the Student Life Council met for five hours Sunday in its open "Day of Discussion". The purpose of the meeting was to provide a forum for exchange of views concerning hall life. The Subcommittee, consisting of Ron Mastriani, Dean of Students Rev. James Riehle, CSC, and Economics Department Chairman Rev. Ernest Bartell, CSC, will synthesize the results of the meeting and present a report with recommendations to the SLC.

The basis of the discussion was a report submitted by Phil McKenna, chairman of the Hall Presidents' Council. The report recommended changes in the physical structure of the halls, changes in the roles of hall rectors, chaplains and prefects and stressed hall autonomy.

The group generally agreed that the role of the rector should be primarily that of a counselor, practically eliminating his role as disciplinarian by increased emphasis on student-enforced Hall Judicial Boards. This did not, according to consensus, eliminate the dual role of the rector. The rector could and should be a part of the Academic Community.

Rev. Ralph Dunn, Director of Psychological Services, recommended that a professional Director of Personnel be hired to facilitate the placing of qualified counselors as rectors. This probably would mean that people other than priests could become rectors. Thus the title rector would be dropped in favor of another title such as Senior Person. Additional counselors would be placed in the halls to replace the present prefects. The group also thought the student prefects could have a place in this system if they were qualified. However, the hall presidents were adamant in insisting these students be sought by the halls and not be forced on halls by the administration as happened this year.

With the elimination of many of the functions of the rector the students would be primarily responsible for order in the halls. McKenna's report suggested that Hall Judicial Boards should consider only violations of hall rules, passed by hall councils and not University rules. At present, however, there are only four university rules: those dealing with liquor, drugs, cars and women's visiting hours.

The group recommended the formation of a Hall Review Board to examine the proceedings of Judicial Boards. This board would be responsible to the SLC.

Although generally favoring the liberalization of university rules, the members of the group reached no consensus on recommendation concerning parietal hours and other university rules.

Irish Vigilantes Confront Militants

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Vigilante groups patrolled the Roman Catholic area of this riot torn city last night to guard against any renewal of violence.

The vigilantes were formed after allegations that police units had entered the Catholic area and smashed windows in businesses and private homes. The pro Republican group armed itself with sticks and clubs and warned it would fight to protect its property.

In Belfast, the Northern Ireland cabinet met in emergency session to discuss the deteriorating situation following the weekend of Catholic Protestant violence in which some 150 persons were treated in hospital.

Nationalist reaction to Premier Terence O'Neill's speech Sunday night was angry. O'Neill blamed both civil rights student demonstrators and nationalist elements for much of the violence which climaxed a four day student protest march from Belfast to Londonderry. He had lesser censure for the bands of militant Protestants who attacked the students throughout their 70 mile march culminating in an ambush Saturday at Burntollet Bridge outside Killaloo, seven miles from Londonderry.

There was talk of a Londonderry to Belfast march by unemployed workers in the city and the proposal was said to be gaining support among Catholic elements.

In the village of Knockloughlin, outside the Protestant dominated town of Maghera, a gasoline bomb was thrown into the premises of one of the few Catholics in the village.

Lebanon Draft Bill Now Pending

BEIRUT (UPI)—Lebanon yesterday began reinforcing military defenses along the border with Israel and considered an army backed compulsory military service bill which could draft 100,000 young men and women into the armed services in 1969.

Defense Ministry sources said the army high command, which was given control of national security last week in the wake of the Israeli commando raid on Beirut airport, was determined to see the bill become law.

The Lebanese Israeli border was quiet during the day. But Jordanian spokesmen in Amman reported two machinegun duels across the Jordan River cease fire lines between Jordanian and Israeli troops. No Jordanian casualties were reported in the clashed about 22 miles south of the Sea of Galilee and near the Damiya Bridge about 35 miles north of the Dead Sea.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Finance Minister Zeev Sherf presented to parliament a $2.2 billion budget for the 1969-70 fiscal year, with 37 per cent- or $814 million- earmarked for military spending.

At the same time, a military communique issued in Jerusalem said Israel had suffered 281 killed and 1,115 wounded since the end of the six day Arab Israeli war in June of 1967. The casualties included 234 soldiers killed and 785 injured.

Bomb Kills Viet Education Minister

SAIGON (UPI)—Two terrorists riding a motor bike through heavy downtown traffic lobbed a hand grenade into a limousine yesterday killing South Vietnam's education minister and his chauffeur in Saigon's first political assassination in more than a year.

On the warfronts, a 5,000 man force of American and South Vietnamese troops advanced rapidly in the wake of dive bombing U.S. warplanes toward the abandoned American base at Khe Sanh. They reported only light contact with the enemy.

Education Minister Le Minh Tri, 43, was fatally injured as he rode to work during the morning rush hour. Police said two men riding a motor bike pulled alongside the minister's car, pitched a grenade inside and then sped away.

Shrapnel from the blast ripped into Tri's head and stomach, killed the chauffeur instantly, wounded Tri's personal bodyguard and a passerby and turned the automobile into an inferno.

N. Viets Decline Comment on Lodge

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam Monday brushed off the appointment of Henry Cabot Lodge to head the U.S. negotiating team at the Paris talks as "an internal U.S. problem."

The official North Vietnamese delegation spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le, reported Hanoi's contention that "if the United States wants to solve the Vietnam problem it must stop the aggression."

Le's comments were made at a news conference about 12 hours after President elect Richard M. Nixon announced the appointment of Lodge to replace W. Averell Harriman as the top American negotiator at the Vietnamese talks. The statements pointed up the Communist desire not to prejudice future meetings.

U.S. Ambassador Assaulted by Turks

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—Demonstrating students yesterday overturned the car of U.S. Ambassador Robert W. Komer and set it afire. He was at lunch nearby with the rector of Middle East University.

Soon afterward, the demonstrators threw mud at about 10 Peace Corps volunteers working at the university as English assistants when they left the campus in a bus.

The students also reportedly beat up the president of the university's student body when he called firemen to put out the fire.

1968 - Yes, folks, that was the year that was. Russia confirmed all the hopes and predictions that she was becoming a more moderate and friendly nation by her fraternal solicitude for a Czechoslovakia suffering from the iron rule of Alexander Dubcek. For the Czechs it was a return to the security of the womb, the womb being graciously composed of Poland, Hungary, Russia...

The Mock Political Convention showed where Notre Dame students stood by nominating Mark Hatfield, who gave his thanks to Notre Dame and his 100 per cent support to Richard Nixon;

The Viet Communists opened the year by proclaiming a Tet truce, and came up instead with a Tet offensive. At the end of the year, they prepared to go to the peace table to prepare another cease-fire, and the Allies of course, not shackled by newly learned lessons, went along with them;

Joe Blake, former conservative Mock Political Convention Chairman, announced that he "sincerely regrets having endorsed Rossie for SBP", because he is a "hopeless ideologue wrapped up in the 'beauty' of his own inflated image". Those who started the Recall Rossie movement apparently agreed, and they got 1. enough names for a recall election, and 2. slaughtered in the election;

TIME magazine, Fr. Burtchaell, and the Notre Dame theology undergrads intellectually anathematized Pope Paul's Humanitae Vitae. So did most everyone else. The only difference is that the former read it, while the latter just read TIME magazine, Fr. Burtchaell...

The Chicago Convention confirmed our highest hopes about the orderly, rational, and intelligent ways in which Democrats rise above petty quarrels and unite behind one man with one platform...Dick Daley standing on a platform of nightsticks, rocks, bandages...

Gore Vidal called William F. Buckley a "crypto-Nazi" one time too many. For once Buckley wasn't smiling when he ripped into an opponent. Vidal won the moral victory though when his Myra Breckinridge outsold Buckley's Unmaking of a Mayor. Rack one up for...pornography;

The Notre Dame radicals staged a demonstration against Dow Chemical and the CIA (a package deal, apparently). When some students acted in what (they hoped) was an illegal manner, Fr. Hesburgh and the administration answered with a vehement "tsk, tsk." The students claimed victory, but as of yesterday there were no reports that Dow was folding or that the CIA was being disbanded. Maybe next demonstration, fellas;

Mankind made it through another year despite war, riot, assassination, and assorted other blunders. A moral victory of that magnitude makes one think that maybe the celebration with which we ended 1968 was the reason that 1969 is worth living.

Dining Improvement

After a lengthy debate which explored the nature of its jurisdiction and purpose, the Student Life Council yesterday "approved and accepted" the substance of the report presented by the special dining hall committee.

Barney Gallagher, chairman of the committee, first read the report in its entirety. Specific proposals were for a board of directors to be made up of five students and three administration members, and for various improvements in the quality of the food and the appearance of the dining halls. It was also recommended that there be improvements in the management of the dining halls, including the hiring of three managers, with one overseeing the operation of both halls.

Debate by the council was devoted almost entirely to discussion of the proposed board of directors. As stated by Gallagher in the report, the directors would have in their jurisdiction all aspects of dining hall matters except the hiring and firing of personnel and the salaries of those employed by the dining hall.

Dean Lawless first raised the procedural question which led to the extensive debate. He asked if the SLC has the right to establish the extraneous standing committee proposed in the report, calling it "a first test of the jurisdiction of this committee (the SLC)."

Irish Ram Fordham

By TERRY SHIELDS

Captain Bob is back, and that's great news for ND cage fans. However, Bob Arnzen's return to his '67-'68 form was nothing but bad news for the Fordham Rams. Arnzen, who was hampered by a heel injury early this season, showed signs of cracking his slump against St. Peter's last Saturday with a 20-point performance. Last night he continued this resurgence with a 28-point effort. He also garnered 19 rebounds as he led the Irish to an 84-65 victory.

Arnzen was not alone in the destruction of Fordham. Collis Jones proved to be a very helpful playmate on the offensive boards as he hit for 15 points (12 in the second half). Most of these came on layups and tip-ins.

The Irish took the lead on Arnzen's first shot of the evening and they were never headed, although the Rams did manage to tie them with 29 seconds remaining in the first half. But Arnzen hit two charity tosses with 6 seconds to go, and the charges of Dec went to the locker room with a 37-35 lead.

In the second half the Irish took charge permanently as they controlled both boards. ND outrebounded their smaller foe 55-23, and this really tells the story. The Irish also shot with greater accuracy as they hit at a 50% clip compared to Fordham's 33%.

Two guards led the Ram scoring. They were Jack Burik and Bill Mainor. Both had 12 markers.

Coach Dec substituted freely throughout the ball game as 9 men saw action in the first half and by the final buzzer the bench had been cleared.

Convo Hosts Schoolboys

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Notre Dame's spanking new, multi-million dollar arena will entertain a regional in the 59th annual Indiana high school basketball tourney, giving South Bend a second round tourney for the first time in 15 years.

That was the No. 1 change announced Monday as the Indiana High School Athletic Association took the wraps off the tourney path the next champion of the "Hoosier Madness" must follow in four weeks of tourney warfare beginning with the 64 sectionals the last week in February.

It was a foregone conclusion that Notre Dame's beautiful facility, with a seating capacity of 11,500, would be used, barring conflicting events.

The old gymnasium previously used in South Bend has a seating capacity of only 3,700 and Logansport, which surrendered its regional, seats 4,250.

Irish split end Jim Seymour barely misses a Coley O'Brien pass during the second period of the North-South Shrine All-Star Game, Christmas Day in Miami. Pursuing is South defensive back Wally Oylar of Louisville.

ND Holiday Sports Round-up

Basketball

The Irish cagers put together a fine holiday record (5-1), but their performance was nearly overshadowed last Thursday when sophomore guard Austin Carr broke a bone in his left foot while running through a half-court drill. He was leading the team in scoring at the time with 23.3 points per contest. Austin is sidelined six weeks.

Here is a game-by-game holiday basketball summary:

ND 69, Minnesota 65

A crowd of 5,014 watched in the Convocation Center as Bob Whitmore poured in 24 points and garnered 14 rebounds to lead Notre Dame again. The Irish outscored the Gophers 20-6 in the last eight minutes of the first half and took a 37-28 advantage to the locker room. But ND missed 12 free throws in the second half as Minnesota reduced the deficit.

ND 92, American U. 67

Five players hit double figures for the Irish in Baltimore's Civic Center. They were Austin Carr 21, Bob Whitmore 17, John Pleick 15, Bob Arnzen 11 and Collis Jones 10. American U. managed a 13-13 tie, but never led after Arnzen hit the game's first shot.

ND 101, St. Louis 76

A pair of free throws with three seconds remaining by Jim Hinga, "The Muncie Milkman," pushed the Irish over 100 points for the first time this season.

Bob Whitmore pounded in 31 points and snared 17 rebounds, both game-leading marks. Austin Carr added 30 markers while Sid Catlett had 16.

ND 104, Indiana 94

Big jobs by a pair of reserves pulled this one out. Mike O'Connell nabbed 13 points and sparked the Notre Dame fast break as he subbed for flu-ridden Tom Sinnott. Collis Jones spelled Bob Arnzen and contributed 12 points. It was Arnzen's first game after a two-week layoff due to an injured Achilles tendon. Indiana led 51-49 at halftime, but ND went on a 16-3 spree in the first four minutes of the second canto and it was out of the Hoosiers' reach.

Kentucky 110, ND 90

For the fourth straight year, the Wildcats knocked off the Irish in Louisville. Notre Dame was in the game for the first 30 minutes and held a 64-62 advantage early in the second half. But Kentucky, just as it did last season, spurred late in the game and ran up a huge final tally.

ND 85, St. Peter's 71

Spearheaded by the magic of 6-5 forward Elnardo Webster, the Peacocks of Jersey City, N.J., jumped out to a 43-33 halftime edge. But ND got hot after intermission, hitting 19 of 30 field goal attempts and 14 of 15 free throws. Top scorers: Ed Strong 22 and Webster 21 for St. Peter's; Arnzen 20, Whitmore 20 and Dwight Murphy 19 for the Irish.

Frosh Basketball

The Notre Dame freshman basketball squad saw its record dip to 1-1 with an 81-73 defeat Dec. 14 at Marquette. Doug Gemmell had 15 points and Jim Regelean 13 to pace the loser.

Fencing

The Irish fencing team opened its 1968-69 season with a pair of victories in a triangular meet Dec. 14. The Irish knocked over Case 20-7 and Indiana Tech 17-10.

Football

Football highlight of the holiday season was assistant head coach John Ray's resignation Dec. 14 to become head man at University of Kentucky. The surprise announcement came a few hours after Ray and Ara Parseghian had finished an emotion-choked session in Parseghian's office.

"It's quite a challenge," Ray said of his new job. "I'm 42 years old now and I have to start thinking about my family and my future. If I continued to turn down head coaching jobs, schools would figure I just wasn't interested and automatically strike me off their list of potential candidates."

In other ND grid news, Ara coached two north teams to all-star game victories—a 3-0 triumph in the Shrine Game in Miami Christmas Day, and a 13-7 victory in the Hula Bowl, Jan. 4. Halfback Bob Gladieux was named most valuable player in the Shrine Game after his 55-yard scrimmage romp set up the only score of the contest.

Hockey

Maturing with each match, the Notre Dame hockey team moved its record to 5-1-2. The Irish skaters open their home season at 4 p.m. Thursday when Ohio University visits the Convocation Center.

ND 8, Air Force 1

The Irish icers finally put it all together down in the Colorado Rockies. Freshman goalie Dick Tomasoni made 32 saves, including two breakaway stops, and the Irish offense did the rest. Scoring was paced by Phil Wittliff's first and second goals of the season. It was only the second match of the season for Wittliff, who spent the entire month of November concentrating on football.

ND 6, Gustavus Adolphus 3

It was homecoming in St. Paul for a number of Irish skaters who hail from Minnesota. Tomasoni of Chisholm, Minn., kicked out 24 of 27 shots. Gopher skaters Hoene, John Roselli and Mark Longar got four of the goals. Wittliff and Blainey tallied the other pair.

ND 4, St. Mary's 4

No Season Hockey Tix

Due to extended delay in the erection of seats for varsity hockey, printing and allocation of tickets have been held up as a result. Consequently, student tickets for the 1969 home season will be on a game to game basis. Ticket Sales Director Robert Cahill announced last night.

Students may purchase a general admission, rinkside ticket in advance at the Box Office in the Athletic and Convocation Center, or until one-half hour before each match at Gate 3 of the Fieldhouse for $1.00, upon presentation of ID card.

Out of a total of 3500 seats, approximately 66% will be available to Notre Dame students prior to the public sale at the $1.00 price.
