

Buffet dinner to be served Prohibition hits Irish Wake

by Terry Keeney
News Editor

Alcoholic beverages will not be served at the Irish Wake Saturday night in compliance with last Tuesday's Indiana Court of Appeals ruling which extended legal liability to any persons serving intoxicating beverages to minors.

In a joint statement issued yesterday by the An Tostal Committee and the office of the Dean of Students, an alternative plan was announced. In place of serving beer a buffet supper will be served. The buffet supper will include over 300 pounds of various meats as well as soft drink refreshments.

"Although this is a disappointment to all those involved in the planning of the Irish Wake, it is hoped that the evening can still be one of the highlights of the weekend," read the joint statement.

Dean of Students John Macheca expressed disappointment over the change in Irish Wake plans last night at the meeting of the An Tostal committee. He emphasized that his office and the An Tostal committee had no choice but to bar serving of beer at the Wake.

New court ruling

With the new court ruling, Macheca explained, "you get into the whole area of providing or having reasonable knowledge of alcohol being served to minors. This is where the University comes in."

Right now we haven't got some place to put our feet down on solid ground with respect to serving alcohol to minors," Macheca explained.

Macheca observed that the idea of a substitute buffet is not a panacea," but it was the best idea we would come up with."

Macheca was most concerned that the new court ruling would negate the efforts of his office to provide an open atmosphere for campus parties.

Student reaction

Despite the decision not to serve beer, Irish Wake organizers are confident the event will still be a success.

"We hope this will be a classy event," said Gasior. He cited the catered buffet as an important element in the success of the evening.

"Our main concern is that people get out of the beer syndrome they are in," Gasior explained, "and consider all the time and effort that went into this."

Ron Paja, assistant chairman of An Tostal, added, "We've got everything going for us - the band, the place, the food."

Dean of Students John Macheca (above) and Wally Gasior (below) announced a buffet dinner is to be served instead of alcoholic beverages.

Gasior is quick to point out that the decision not to serve beer at the Wake was made jointly by the An Tostal Committee and the Dean of Students.

"Student Affairs is just as disappointed this feel through as we are," argued Gasior.

Paja agreed: "People are making the wrong connection between the decision and the University. Dr. Faccenda was really upset about it after all the work he'd done this year."

Other party plans

Macheca announced that along with the Irish Wake all other campus parties at which alcohol is served will not be approved by his office at the present time.

He pointed out that there will be no parties until the SLC can draw up a party policy for the university which meets the new Indiana state law.

The SLC meets this afternoon to begin action on such a new policy.

Refunds

Gasior stated yesterday that any student wishing his money back for the Irish Wake ticket can get a refund tonight from 6:30 to 8 in the Fiesta Lounge, LaFortune Student Center.

"People who got Beach Boy tickets with the Irish Wake ticket will get $2.00 back. Everybody else will get $4.00," said Gasior.

An Tostal news

Easter break should have been a great time to polish up your routines for Frivolous Friday's "Impersonation Contest" and "The Sixth Original An Tostal Amateur Hour." Freshmen are especially encouraged to enter since their acts are, well, especially fresh.

Last year's Impersonation Contest showcased Kevin O'Neil's rendition of Louie (of Louie's) and his sparkling sermonette as Keenan Hall's Fr. Griffin. Tom Parise was a stand-out as Muhammad Ali and Ara Parseghian, to name a few. Only one girl, Sally Wendrow, the courage to enter

Last year's Impersonation Contest showcased Kevin O'Neil's rendition of Louie (of Louie's) and his sparkling sermonette as Keenan Hall's Fr. Griffin. Tom Parise was a stand-out as Muhammad Ali and Ara Parseghian, to name a few. Only one girl, Sally Wendrow, had the courage to enter. She lip-synched a few songs by Cher (formerly of Sonny and ...), but more eyes were focused on her costume than her lips.

The amateur hour spotlighted "belly singers" (as opposed to dancers - you had to see it to believe it), a chorus line from St. Mary's, and winner Dan Payne's solo performances of the William Tell Overture and the Notre Dame Victory March - on his teeth.

Creativity and imagination counts. For details, call Fred Baranowski about the amateur hour (call 3209) and Kevin Maguire about the impersonation contest (call 7962).

Funds donated

A very unexpected and far-reaching extension of Indiana law, in the form of a recent decision of the Indiana Court of Appeals, has forced a change in the beverage plans for the Irish Wake. In order to compensate for this necessary change, a buffet supper is being added to the evening's festivities. Although this is a disappointment to all those involved in the planning of the Irish Wake, it is hoped that the evening can still be one of the highlights of the weekend.

As part of the Student Affairs office's continued commitment to the success of An Tostal and the Irish Wake, half of the funds needed to finance the buffet supper will be provided through a benefactor of that office.

Howl resigns from O-C position, cites possible interest conflicts

by John DeCoursey
Staff Reporter

Bob Howl, chairman of the Hall President's Council, resigned from his post as Off-Campus Commissioner. Howl succeeded Pat McLaughlin after his victory as Student Body President. He is replaced by Paul McEvily who has served as Student Body Provost.

Commenting on his resignation, Howl said, "I talked to Pat McLaughlin, and we agreed that the situation wouldn't be fair if some conflict arose between the HPC and student Government. In my dual role I'd be split between each governing body. We didn't anticipate any problems with my double position, but you can never predict what issues may arise."

Howl said of his replacement, "I have confidence in Paul, and I know he can do the job just as well as anybody else."

Speaking about his position as Chairman of the HPC, Howl added, "I will still work with Student Government. As HPC chairman, I am a commissioner on the Student Government cabinet."

McEvily described programs being sponsored by the off-campus office. "Most of the programs we are working on right now were initiated by Bob. The people I'm working with have started working on a comparative price list in food and drug stores," commented McEvily.

Another student is checking out the feasibility of having a food co-op on campus. He has learned that co-ops have been established in situations similar to Notre Dame's. Also, other students have made inquiries about increasing police protection in the off-campus area.

Discussion the off-campus situation, McEvily said, "It is our ambition to do more than was done last year for off-campus people. It is my opinion that the center of social life for upperclassmen is off-campus, McEvily stated.

He continued, "as freshmen, everyone wanted to live on-campus because of all the advantages. Now, however, students who have high room pick numbers are moving off-campus voluntarily. This movement to off-campus living makes my job easier, but my duties will be extended. Nevertheless, we want to do something for those who are forced off. We still want to make them feel that they are still a part of the community."

Faculty Senate votes for new pay policy

by Sue Nash
Staff Reporter

Meeting under the chairmanship of Professor Norman Haaser of the department of mathematics, the Faculty Senate, by a 19-3 margin, approved a Statement on Faculty Salaries and Retirement to be issued to all faculty members for their reaction.

After a 2½ hour debate, the Faculty Senate agreed last night to circulate the proposition calling for improved retirement benefits and higher faculty salaries at the expense of the University endowment fund and of endowed professorships.

The statement was an outgrowth of a meeting between the Faculty Senate Delegation on the Retirement Plan and representatives of the Administration.

On February 24, Drs. Haaser, James Cushing (physics), Paul McLane (English), and Joseph Tihen (biology) had consulted with Fathers Theodore Hesburgh (president), Jerome Wilson (vice president for business affairs), James Burtchael (provost), and Ferdinand Brown (associate provost and Dr. Robert Gordon (vice president for advanced studies) to discuss the Plan.

Faculty dissatisfaction with retirement benefits stems from the fact that due to a step-rate retirement plan, money set aside for retirement has decreased in the past several years. Under this system, the University contributes less money towards retirement on that part of a professor's salary which is taxed by social security.

In the last seven years, the social security base has risen from $6600 to $13,200, significantly curtailing retirement funds. Intensifying the problem is the failure of salary increases to meet rises in the cost of living.

Discussion of the statement was protracted due to several ambiguities. Principal among these was how the survey was to be utilized.

It was unclear whether the primary concern was to poll opinion or to gather support for the proposal. Agreement was finally reached that the statement would be used as substantiation of the senate's position.

A special meeting has been called to deal with these problems Tuesday night, April 23.

Saxbe believes Hearst is guilty

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — U.S. Attorney James Browning said Wednesday a grand jury will have to decide whether Patricia Hearst was a willing participant in a bank robbery. U.S. Attorney General William B. Saxbe said he thought she was and called her a "common criminal."

Browning said a grand jury was looking into the robbery Monday of the Hibernia Bank by the Symbionese Liberation Army, kidnapers of the Hearst heiress.

"The voluntariness of the actions is a question of fact the grand jury will have to decide," U.S. Attorney James Browning said.

Browning, who had said Patricia may have been coerced by her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers into taking part in the bank robbery, issued a statement saying:

"I have consistently maintained that evidence may show all participants in that robbery were acting freely and voluntarily. After the grand jury has heard all available evidence I will abide by their decision."

Browning said the grand jury would investigate both the bank robbery and the kidnaping of Patricia, who was abducted from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4.

In Washington, Saxbe said he had concluded Patricia "was not a reluctant participant" in the holdup. His opinion, he told newsmen, was based on "the way she behaved, the number of people in the bank who observed her behavior, the testimony of witnesses, and the actions in the bank."

At his home in suburban Hillsborough, Randolph A. Hearst, Patricia's father, called Saxbe's remarks "speech-making."

"Saxbe has the right to think what he thinks, and I also have that right," Hearst said. "As far as I'm concerned, it's speculation at this point."

Although Patricia was one of four women and a man who entered the bank carrying semi-automatic rifles, she was named by Browning and the FBI only as a material witness. The others, including the SLA leader who calls himself "Cinque," were charged with bank robbery.

FBI Agent-in-Charge Charles Bates and Browning said there was evidence that Patricia was coerced into taking part in the robbery because photographs showed SLA members pointing guns at her.

In another attempt to break up the small band of terrorists known as the SLA, California Attorney General Evelle J. Younger announced the issuance of warrants for the arrest of four persons he identified as associates of the kidnapers. The four are Angela Atwood, Emily Harris, William Harris and William Wolfe.

They were charged with perjury in giving false names when applying for California driver's licenses but all have been identified as having SLA ties.

Angela Atwood is suspected of being the blonde woman who knocked at the door of Patricia's apartment the night of Feb. 4 and asked to use the phone, opening the way for the SLA kidnapers to burst in and seize the girl.

Emily Harris and her husband, Bill, are known friends of Russell Little, an SLA member who is being held on charges of murdering Oakland School Superintendent Marcus Foster last Nov. 6. In the Harrises' apartment police found SLA literature.

William Wolfe has been identified as a suspect in a bungled attempt last January to burn down a house allegedly being used as an SLA headquarters in an effort to destroy evidence.

All four named in warrants announced by Younger vanished immediately after the house was burned in Concord, across the bay east of San Francisco.

Dear Steven,

As you know, your mother and I have made great sacrifices to send you through college. The very idea of you asking us if we can send you to Europe this summer is outrageous. The nerve! Your mother and I haven't had a vacation in the last 5 years.

But knowing you, you'll get yourself to Europe some way or other. Well to show you we do want you to enjoy yourself like the other kids, I've sent this STUDENT-RAILPASS coupon your mother clipped out. Because you're a student under 26, you can get unlimited second-class rail travel in 13 countries for up to 2 months for only $165. The trains are clean, modern, punctual, fast, and comfortable. So once you get over there you can see Europe as cheaply as possible.

By the way get your STUDENT-RAILPASS here; you can't buy it in Europe. It's a great deal Steve—tax free and one beautiful way to beat currency fluctuations.

Now there are two things I suggest you do. First, send in the coupon so you can buy the ticket. Second, start saving your money.

Love,
Dad

Sucker's Punch

In a barroom brawl, it's known as a sucker's punch. Again, the students are the ones that have been clobbered; only this time it is the State of Indiana and not the university that has thrown the punch. And it's a stinger.

The recent ruling by the Indiana Court of Appeals, besides damaging plans for the new Irish Wake, now threatens destruction of the new University guidelines on alcohol. The first reaction - "the University has done it to us again" couldn't be further from the truth. It is the regressiveness of Indiana, namely its refusal to lower the drinking age and now the current ruling which holds any person or institution liable for any damage that an intoxicated minor might cause, that is to blame.

As a result of the Indiana higher court ruling stating that not only those who sell but also those who serve minors are now liable, the Student Affairs office was forced to suspend plans involving the use of alcohol at the Irish Wake. Certainly it is a disappointment but the administration's as well as the student's hands are tied by the Court of Appeals decision.

Even though the buffet dinner seems little compensation, the opportunity for an enjoyable evening for the students, provided by the students, still remains.

The larger implications of the Indiana court decision are still to be felt over the university guidelines which can not be described by any word other than tenuous. Conceivably, they could be invalidated.

Students and administration resources should be quickly organized to actively deal with the decision. An effective student lobby, coordinated with the legal and administrative talent of the university, could bear pressure in the state legislature.

Additional effectiveness could also arise with the organization and coordination of lobbies representing all Indiana college campuses. The formation of a coalition of student lobby representatives from all the universities in Indiana should become a top priority and the direct responsibility of our student government.

The Student Life Council will hold the balance in any decision changing the present party guidelines. The common realization among the SLC members - student, faculty, and administration alike, must be that the entire Notre Dame community is dependent upon their decision to continue the value oriented use of alcohol on campus.

We may be down but we are certainly not out. A swift and combined effort between student and administration must first be sought and then applied. With a solid one-two combination we'll be ready to fight.

Survey Indicative

With its first appearance in today's Observer, the survey of area food prices conducted by Student Government must be applauded. The survey reflects not only a campaign promise made good but also serves to indicate a sizeable amount of energy from an administration not yet three weeks old.

Should this prove to be indicative of the new Student Government, then it will mark the arrival of a long awaited and sorely needed student leadership.

The published survey is designed to offer the off-campus student as well as administrators, faculty, and staff weekly price comparisons of more commonly used foodstuffs at area food marts in order to help keep food expenditures down.

Continued success of the survey could serve as a definite aid to that portion of the Notre Dame community living off the campus. With the proper response it could serve as a springboard for future coordinated student government efforts. Let McLaughlin and crew know how they are doing for it will serve to ours as well as their benefit.

New Directions

The death of beauty

rick la salvia

Timmy cries when hurt and laughs when happy as any child would. He expresses his love for his mother with sighs of joy and squeals of laughter as any child would. Only when a small, yellow bus drives up one morning do you realize that Timmy is not like every child. On the side of the bus there stands out in bold lettering: Cuyahoga County School for the Retarded. Timmy is a retarded child who lives next door to me in a suburb of Cleveland. It's not important to me that Timmy is retarded. It's not important because in my eyes, Timmy is just that little five year old I see running with the wind on sunny days. But since January 1973 when the Supreme Court handed down the Roe v Wade abortion decision, a physician's pronouncement that a child will be born mentally retarded has in some cases become a death sentence for the unborn. It is the purpose of this article to chart the social consequences of the Roe v Wade decision, that is, the tragic destruction of the unborn and the increasing dominance of an ethic which holds that the value of a person can only be found in his social utility.

The Supreme Court in the Roe v Wade decision instructed the state legislatures to rewrite their abortion statutes to conform with their ruling that a woman, with the consent of a consulting physician, may initiate an abortion anytime before viability, which is the point after which the fetus can survive outside of the womb, between six and seven months. Once the child is viable the state may prohibit abortion except in cases when the life or health of the mother is threatened. Many critics contend that the Court's use of the word "health" is so ambiguous that a woman will be able to obtain an abortion after viability not just to preserve her physical health, but also her psychological well-being.

As a consequence of this decision, abortion clinics are springing up as fast as hamburger stands throughout America. The average cost of an abortion is $200, a small price to pay for those who do not want to face the inconvenience of pregnancy, the high cost of a deformed child, or the problems involved in caring for a retarded or deformed child. During the past few years a new diagnostic tool has been increasingly used in the medical profession. This tool is called amniocentesis, which involves the analysis of the fluid from the expectant mother's womb. In some cases a number of hereditary diseases can be treated by this remarkable process. But if the child is detected to be mongoloid, a type of retardation, nothing can be done to treat him in the womb. Many doctors recommend abortion in the case of retardation and many parents are eager to go along with their doctor's advice because of the widespread, tragic belief that the retarded are subhumans. Once the retarded child is born, he will be able to reach his full potential if he is placed in an intellectually and emotionally stimulating environment.

The Roe v Wade decision has opened the door to the social engineers in the medical, legal and scientific communities who judge the value of a human being by the amount of productivity he is capable of generating. In their view a mongoloid child like Timmy should have been aborted because he would never be able to contribute to the scientific progress of mankind. They are unable to see beyond the empirical world of tissue and blood and gaze into the majesty of man's soul, the true source of his humanity.

The ethic of the social engineer is reflected in the Court's written opinion. The vital distinction was made between viable life in the womb and meaningful life after birth. Fetus life cannot be protected because in the Court's mind there is "controversy" as to whether or not the unborn's life is "meaningful". Will the Court in future decisions declare that the lives of the elderly or retarded cannot be protected because there is "controversy" over whether or not their lives are "meaningful"? Should society's economic resources be used to support the elderly or educate a retarded child like Timmy whose principle contribution will be the love which he shares with his family and neighbor?

After Roe v Wade human life is now being weighed on the scales of social convenience. We are increasingly being influenced by the social engineer for whom life has no intrinsic value beyond its potential for productivity. As members of a Catholic University we have the responsibility to state our firm belief that the value of a human being is not derived from his social usefulness, but from the fact that he was created by a God who is Good and Just. The fight must begin now to overturn the Supreme Court's decision by passing a constitutional amendment in the Congress and state legislatures which would protect the right to life for the unborn, retarded, physically handicapped, and elderly. The price of our inaction and silence will be the continued destruction of the unborn and an increasing threat to the basic constitutional right to due process and equal protection under the law for our mentally and physically handicapped citizens.

Justice Douglas recently argued in an ecology case that the swamps and woodpeckers of America should be considered legal persons entitled to due process under the law. If swamps and woodpeckers can be considered legal persons according to the Justice's logic, why does the Court continue to deny the legal right to life for the most defenseless of all beings, the unborn? The real core of America's beauty is her children. When unborn children are destroyed by abortion, we are depriving our land of great natural beauty, the sight of children like Timmy running with the wind on sunny days.

Cyclists to ride for retarded

by Jane Thornton
Staff Reporter

An estimated 500 cyclists from the Notre Dame-St. Mary's community are expected to turn out for the fund-raising event, "Ride-a-Bike for the Retarded" set for April 28 in St. Joseph's County. John (Jay) Niederman, registration committee chairman, is holding an organizational meeting tonight at 7:00 p.m. in 1-C LaFortune to enlist dorm representatives and register riders.

The state-wide charity event, sponsored by the Indiana State Teachers Association's local chapter, is promoted on campus by the ND-SMC Council for the Retarded. Proceeds will go to Logan Center and the Council for the Retarded of St. Joseph County.

The Notre Dame swimming team will serve as the pace team over the 25 mile riverside route beginning and ending at Logan Center. Prior to the 1:00 p.m. starting time, riders solicit sponsors who pledge so much money per mile. Anyone wishing to pledge ten cents or more for a rider may do so by calling Logan Center before 5 p.m. daily.

Official "stamps" at the four route checkpoints record the distance ridden. Collection of pledges will be made the following week.

Niederman, a senior sociology major, is appealing especially to off-campus and graduate students since many own bikes. O-C students may register next Monday and Tuesday in front of LaFortune's O-C office. Faculty members are requested to return their notices as soon as possible.

Proceeds, projected at $50,000 in St. Joseph's County, will implement the CFR's Community Residential Service Program.

Through the service retarded individuals will move from institutions and families into group home and apartment-type living in the community. Given this greater independence and responsibility, the person's life is "normalized" to a large extent. Tentatively, Logan initiates the nation-wide development project next year.

Niederman says the ride "gives students to do something for someone less fortunate than themselves who is not given the responsibility or the independence he is capable of having."

Another advantage he sees is meeting diversified, interesting people in the South Bend community.

So far, many are endorsing the promotion, including University President Theodore M. Hesburgh, Governor Otis Bowen, and Congressman John Brademas who will cut the ceremonial ribbon, the Navy ROTC, Circle K, the Flying Club and the Neighborhood Study Help Program.

For information, instructions, etc., contact St. Mary's representative Sue Maude at 5224 or Niederman at 7819.

Two SMC sign-out books stolen

by Mary Janca
Staff Reporter

Two unidentified disguised men, believed to be Notre Dame students, removed the sign-out books from LeMans and McCandless Halls around 10:00 Sunday night.

According to St. Mary's Security Director Anthony Kovatch, the two

Chariots sought for An Tostal extravaganza

Chariot builders of the campus, take note. The finest chariots in motion picture history were on display last Friday evening when CBS presented the movie "Ben-Hur" in conjunction with the An Tostal Committee. If you tuned in to CBS last Friday you witnessed the thrilling chariot race which inspired An Tostal's exciting race of races, you might have picked up some pointers.

To reiterate the rules, the chariots must have two wheels, carry one rider, and be drawn by four horsemen. Two cases of beverages will be awarded—one to the team building the fastest chariot and another to the builders of the best-designed chariot.

There will be a parade of the racing chariots from the Grotto to the "amphitheatre" twenty minutes before the start of the race. For further information, contact "Hush" Brauweiler at 1487.

first took the books in McCandless and then 10 minutes later, stole those in LeMans.

During the theft a mild skirmish broke out in LeMans, said Kovatch. When the two men began to take the books, Brenda Lardy, LeMans Hall director, asked them to stop but was pushed aside. Another ND student who had been talking with his girlfriend in the lobby, then came over and also tried to prevent the theft, knocking off the sunglasses and hat of one of the assailants. He was subsequently "roughed up" and was scratched by the student's ring.

The two then took the books, joined a third man, and left the campus on foot, continued Kovatch.

"We (security) checked all the cars leaving the campus within minutes after it happened," he said.

The identity of those involved are not known, but an investigation is underway, he added. Descriptions of the three have been obtained, and both Lardy and the other student who attempted to halt the theft can positively identify them, Kovatch stated.

Apparently, those involved in the theft wish to remain anonymous, the Observer received the following letter last night, signed by fictitious characters.

Dear Editor,

The Sting has come to St. Mary's College. Last Easter Sunday night at 9:40 LeMans and McCandless halls found their sign-out books missing. This childish, immature, and ridiculous action could only be surpassed by the childish, immature, ridiculous, and sickening rules at St. Mary's College. But don't feel bad because you were conned by the best. We wish to apologize for the unnecessary football tactics in LeMans and for any injuries incurred. Don't bother looking for the evidence. It's been deep-sixed in St. Mary's Lake. By the way, we hope you had a happy Easter.

Yours Truly,

Harry Gondorff
Johnny Hooker
J. J. Singleton
Kid Twist

Unless the books are returned, Kovatch threatens to prosecute those students involved. Because of the expense of the books, he added, the charge against them could be considered a felony.

No relation could be drawn between this theft and a similar one which occurred in Holy Cross on April 1, he added.

"What started out as a prank has turned into petty theft and assault," commented Dean of Students Ken Mulaney on the incident.

"The school has a legal responsibility to parents who think the girls are signing in and out," she stated.

According to Brenda Lardy, a new sign-out system is being considered for next year, because many SMC students thought a revision was needed. However, she noted that the theft has caused inconvenience for the hall staffs, since "extra precautions had to be set up."

O-C Commision surveys local food prices

by Michael Dewey
Staff Reporter

The Off-Campus Commission has conducted a comparative price survey in several local groceries and supermarkets. The project, sponsored jointly by the Off-Campus Commissioner's office and InPIRG is aimed at alerting the off-campus student to the best prices found on everyday items.

Members of these organizations have contacted a number of local merchants and requested current price information on food products, including sugar, milk, ground beef, dry cereal, oranges and beef.

In some instances, store managers have been reluctant to provide such lists, according to Stan Cardenas, director of research and publication for the O-C Commission. This is usually due to crowded schedules and lack of time.

When these managers were unavailable, volunteers went from aisle to aisle, searching for specific commodities and recording the prices.

Survey returns have been compiled by Cardenas and his associates.

Cardenas explained that consideration has to be given to differences in store sizes and inventory. The survey also accounts for variations between national brand-name items and locally-distributed goods.

In the remaining weeks of the semester, two additional surveys will be taken and their results published in the Observer. These will include different commodities providing a variety in information.

Following the end of classes the Off-Campus Commissioners will evaluate the results of the experimental period.

After the evaluation has been made, the program will be resumed with any needed changes.

The ultimate aim of the project is to set up food coops which will sell food products to students at cost.

No profit will be made by the Commission. This dream, Cardenas concluded, will only be realized with a total effort by everyone concerned. He expressed the realization that manpower is lacking in many areas of Off-Campus organization.

Members of the Off-Campus Commission who have assisted in the completion of the first survey include Adel Tavados, Kevin Murphy and Mark Miller. Pic Petelle and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Saylor are the participating members of InPIRG.

Post-Vietnam directions explored by symposium

"American Foreign Policy in the Post-Vietnam Era" is the topic for a symposium sponsored by the Department of Government and International Studies beginning Thursday, April 18 and ending Saturday, April 20. Participants will explore answers to important questions such as "Where do we stand after Vietnam?"

All panels and addresses will be located in the Continuing Center for Education in rooms 210-214.

Professor George Brinkley, chairman of the department, and Professor Stephen Kertesz, director of International Studies, have organized the symposium in six sessions. "We will evaluate the problems in American foreign policy as they stand now and with respect to the future," commented Brinkley. "The topics will cover all areas of the world."

Although the topic generates discussion about the Vietnam War, "we will not assess the war; Vietnam is merely used as a time reference."

Four panels highlight the symposium. The first panel, entitled "Moral and Historical Perspectives on American Policy" will take place on Friday at 9:00 a.m. At 2:00 p.m., a second panel is scheduled, "U.S. Relations with the Soviet Union."

Early Saturday at 9:00a.m. another panel is scheduled titled "U.S. Relations with Eastern Europe and the Middle East." The fourth panel's topic is "Round Table on the Third World" and will take place at 2:00 p.m.

Two addresses will be presented, the first on Thursday at 8:00 entitled "Detente: Reality or Rhetoric?" and the second one, "The Status and Future of U.S. Common Market Relations" scheduled for 8:00 p.m. Friday.

Authorities on American Foreign Policy from Notre Dame and elsewhere will each present a prepared paper followed by a short question and answer session. These papers presented at the symposium will be compiled and published in a book form next fall, said Brinkley.

One of the scheduled speakers, Heldman, is not able to attend the symposium this week, but will present his topic next Tuesday in a separate lecture.

Heil's Hoops, Hogs, Ducks, Club-31 II in final four

by Bill Delaney
Staff Reporter

Exciting play was the name of the game Wednesday in the quarterfinals of the Bookstore Basketball Tournament as the 31 Club, Holy Cross Hogs, Heil's Hoops and the Ducks advanced to the semifinals, to be played tonight at 5:30 in the Bookstore. In four very close games, the widest margin of victory was seven points, indicate that the entire group's play was evenly balanced, with any one of these teams being the champion.

In the South Quad Quarterfinal action, Bedford Bruno, John Cornelius and Hawk Stevens led the Holy Cross Hogs to a 21-18 victory over the Stupendous Streakers. A well-balanced attack by the Hogs, with each player scoring around five points proved the decisive margin for the victory. In the other game, Dave Kelly's nine points and 11 rebounds were just not enough, as Mike Bonifer's Club 31 II defeated Kelly's Hogs 29-27, in a game which each team had the opportunity to put the game out of reach four times. Billy Paterno's 17 rebounds and the last minute heroics by Steve Sylvester were the highlights of the best game of the Tournament.

The North Quad Quarterfinal featured the emergence of the Cinderella team of the Tournament, Heil's Hoops, in the semifinals. Kevin Ford and Greg Garcia paced the Hoops to a 21-19 victory over Admiral Dick and the Seamen.

Ford's eight points paced the Cavanaugh team in a game where tight defense was the key. The second game between the Ducks and Canucks II resulted in a victory by the Ducks, 21-14. Roosevelt Thomas was the key player for the Ducks, who ran up an early lead and never lost it.

As the result of the games played Wednesday, the Ducks will play Heil's Hoops tonight at 5:30, and immediately following that game, the Holy Cross Hogs will play Club 31 II at 6:15. There will definitely be bleachers and a public address system for the games, so everyone who comes will be able to enjoy the semifinals of the 1974 Bookstore Basketball Tournament.

Sailors second

This past weekend, while most were on vacation, the sailors were sailing. Notre Dame and nine other schools travelled to Lakeland Community College outside of Cleveland to participate in the Laser Regatta held at Mentor Harbor Yacht Club. Buzz Reynolds sailed "A" division and Dave Constants sailed "B" division. Of the 20 races sailed, the Notre Dame team had 9 firsts, Reynolds acquiring 7 of them and the "A" Division individual award.

Notre Dame finished tied for first with Ohio State in points, each school with 45, but since O.S.U. had one more victory Notre Dame was designated second. The final standings were: O.S.U.-45, N.D.-45, Purdue-65, Ohio Wesleyan-67, Kenyon, Toledo, Lakeland, Iowa, Kent State, and Detroit.

This coming weekend, the sailors travel to an inter-sectional regatta at Ohio State.

The weekend of April 6-7 did not have to go too far to find the sailors racing. It was ladies day at St. Joe's Lake and lady sailors from nine schools participated in the Women's Regatta on the lake.

Notre Dame placed third, behind Purdue and Michigan State, an easy victor. The team was led by impressive sailing by Mary Anne Zdinak, Kathy Hughes and Camille Doan. Also sailing for Notre Dame were Nancy Cueroni, Carole Froling, Jan Robert, Judy Robert, Sharon Dillion and Fidele Galey.

Women's golf

Any women interested in forming a ladies golf team should meet this evening at 6 o'clock on the putting green next to the Rock.

Ruggers down OU

by Bob Kissel
Staff Reporter

The Notre Dame rugby squad, sometimes referred to as the Irish "mudders", would like to announce the official start of spring in South Bend. Last Saturday against Ohio University, the Irish ruggers were given the experience of a dry playing field for the first time this spring season.

The Bobcats of Ohio University came to town rated as one of the strongest rugby outfits in the Midwest, having won the Mid-American conference on the strength of undefeated spring and fall seasons. The Irish, just off a clutch win at John Carroll, were eager to end the Bobcat's streak.

The Notre Dame "A" squad defeated the Bobcat "A" unit 13-8. Ed O'Connell opened up the Irish scoring by converting a penalty kick, good for three points. The first ND try was scored by Bobo Olson when he picked up the ball from a loose scrum and downed the ball for the four points. Tom Masenga scored the remaining Irish try and Ed O'Connell converted on one kick for two points.

"Ohio University was a good team," noted ruggie Larry Casey. "They hit hard, hustled, and were very quick in the backfield which set up their long-gainers."

"Our scrum forwards played consistently, controlling the set scrums," continued team secretary Casey. "We took our opportunities when they came up, like quick lineouts and loose scrums."

The Notre Dame "B" squad also came out on top, soundly trouncing the Ohio "B"s 28-0. Dave Ward scored two tries for the Irish on loose scrums, Sean McDonald scored a try on an excellent break-away, Tom Hessert also scored two tries, and Rich Arensberg scored the remaining Irish four-pointer. Chris Patterson had a superb kicking day, hitting four of five conversions kicks for eight points.

The Irish rugby teams face another stiff test this Sunny Saturday, as they go against the Fighting Illini of Illinois in a game which matches two proven Midwest rugby powers.

"Illinois placed well in the fall tournament in New Orleans," explained Casey. "They have many quick and experienced grad students who know the game of rugby well. This game will be another good test of our team, going against Big Ten champ Illinois."

The game will be played behind Stepan Center, and all are invited.

Potent 'O' highlights scrimmage

by Greg Corgan
Sports Editor

Offensive fireworks provided by the first unit, and stingy defense on the part of the first team "D" highlighted Wednesday afternoon's scrimmage session, Notre Dame's second of the spring football season.

Tom Clements and Frank Allocco directed the first team Blues to 21 points on the afternoon all against the second unit defensive squad. The number ones were never forced to give up the football during the one hour and five minute workout although Eric Penick lost a fumble and Randy Payne picked off an Allocco pass on the White one inch line.

"We improved tremendously as the scrimmage went on," offered head coach Ara Parseghian. "We started off sluggishly but as we got more and more contact we started to move as well. As the afternoon went on we got better blocking, better execution and better gang tackling by the defense."

"I would have expected to see a lot more errors since we've been off for a while, but the errors were at a minimum as far as turnovers and missed assignments were concerned, and the penalties were held to a minimum also. Still we need a lot of work."

This aspect of the team's performance was particularly encouraging since the first unit of offense worked on a wide open attack.

"We're finally getting some good weather," added Ara, "and we're getting a chance to work on our passing game."

It was the passing game which accounted for the first score of the afternoon. Clements, who, on the day, was 3 of 4 for 70 yards, drove the first unit 55 yards in five plays by virtue of the air route. Starting on the Blue 45 the junior quarterback hit split end Pete Demmerle for 23 yards, and three plays later hit tight end Robin Weber for 27 and a touchdown.

Jack Stephan added the extra point.

The second six-pointer of the day came as a result of some fancy ball-handling by Allocco and some even fancier running by freshman Al Hunter. Moving from his own 20, Allocco hit Demmerle for a 2, and after fullback Wayne Bullock picked up 12 more in three carries, slid off tackle himself for seven more.

Two more dives by Bullock and a sweep by Al Samuel got the number ones to the White 40 where Hunter took an inside handoff on the reverse and scampered all the way for the touch down.

"Al Hunter is really playing well," noted Parseghian. "He knows where the holes are and he's hitting them. He's got a good sense of the offense and he's coming along real fine."

The first unit defense allowed the second team "O" a net total of two yards on their ensuing possession, and after a Tom Lopienski punt, Clements was again at the helm.

From the White 46 Clements hit Weber for 20, Hunter got 12 and the one-two punch of Bullock and Samuel moved the ball down to the two. Hunter again moved into the spotlight taking the pitch from Clements and gliding in for his second six points of the afternoon. Junior Pat McLaughlin added the point this time and that closed out the day's scoring.

The number one defense allowed drives of 26, six, and two yards by the second unit "O" with Luther Bradley, picking off a Fred Trosko pass early in the workout.

The rest of the time was devoted to scrimmage between the third and fourth team offense and the third and fourth unit defense.

Again there were no real serious injuries. Art Best is still nursing a sore shoulder suffered during last weekend's scrimmage, and guard Cal Balliet had to leave early after sustaining a leg injury.

The Irish will continue workouts the remainder of the week with another scrimmage scheduled for Saturday.

Al Hunter follows guard Gerry Dinardo around right end for substantial yardage in yesterday's scrimmage won by the first team 21 - 0.

Irish nine come up short; drop a pair to Wisconsin

by John Higgins

The pleasant spring weather brought out the best in the hitters yesterday at Cartier Field as the Irish and visiting Wisconsin sprayed hits all over the turf at the expense of the shellshocked pitching staffs. Unfortunately for Notre Dame, who outthit the Badgers 20-17 and played almost error-free defense, the scoreboard showed the Irish on the wrong end of the twinbill scores, 6-3, and 7-6.

In the first game, Wisconsin came out swinging against Irish hurler Mitch Stoltz, who relied almost exclusively on his blazing fastball, and they hit the sophomore pitcher hard in the early going. Pesky leadoff man Lee Bauman opened with a ground single to left, easily swiped second base, and quickly brought home the game's first score on Designated Hitter Steve Ploetz's sharp single to center.

Following two quick outs in the second frame, Stoltz walked ninth-place hitter Tom Popovics who also stole second base handily. Bauman returned with a second "cheap" single and then combined with All-Big 10 outfielder Tom Shipley on a perfect hit-and-run which scored Popovics. Bauman hustled home soon after on Steve Bennett's infield chop.

Stoltz began to settle down in the third and threw only 4 pitches in the inning, but one turned into a gopher ball which catcher Daryl Fuchs parked just inches over the left field fence to run the margin to 3-0.

In the bottom half, the Irish finally got untracked against pitcher Bob Jeffers, who went all the way for the win. Ron Goodman's grounder was booted by shortstop Rick Larso, and on the next play, second baseman Popovics hesitated in getting rid of Tom Miller's bouncer and both runners were safe. Nussbaum, who had two hits for the Irish in the opener, advanced his mates with a sacrifice bunt and Captain Tom Hansen brought one run home with a groundout.

The Irish exploded in their fourth for four straight hits, the big blast being shortstop Jim Smith's triple with Dh Mike O'Neill, who had singled, coming home.

Pat Coleman, the leading Irish hitter with a .314 average, then delivered a run-producing single to close the spread to one. Wisconsin's Duane Gustavson killed any further chances of an Irish comeback, however, as he scored in the fifth after a free ticket to first and a steal to second and in the seventh on a long four-bagger for the final 6-3 margin.

In the nightcap, the pitchers amazingly kept the batsmen at bay for the first three innings, although the Irish loaded the bases in the first with no outs and failed to get on the scoreboard. Huge Irish pitcher Kevin Fanning ran into trouble in the fourth, though, as Gustavson singled, Ploetz drew a walk, and Randy Schawel grounded up the middle to load the bases. Dave Olle brought in one run with a poke through the infield and two more scored when second baseman Tom Miller committed a throwing error on the tail end of a double play ball.

Gustavson continued to feast on Irish pitching in the fifth with his fourth hit after two were out. Fanning walked DH Ploetz for the second straight time, and then Larson delivered a solid shot up the middle to widen the gap to 4-0. Notre Dame finally solved Badger pitcher John Beckman in their half of the fifth, and once again it was Jim Smith supplying the firepower. With Hansen on base with two outs, Smith rifled a fast ball well over the left field barrier for his third roundtripper of the season. Ron Goodman showed his halfback speed in beating out a second consecutive infield hit, and that finished Beckman as he yielded to Dan Domski who retired the side after Coleman's single.

Southpaw Paul Morisseau relieved Fanning in the sixth, but his stay was brief as the Badgers took advantage of a walk, a fumbled bunt, a perfect sacrifice, and Shipley's triple to the fence to score twice. Bennett's double finished Morisseau and brought in Shipley with the winning marker. Freshman Jim Sholl was brilliant in relief, retiring five straight batters, including Gustavson on a clutch strikeout.

The Irish staged a gallant comeback effort in the sixth on pinch hitter Gary Meyer's double, a triple by Nussbaum, Hansen's looping single, and Bob Stratta's single which was misplayed into extra bases in the outfield. Ron Goodman chased Stratta home with his third straight hit, but the Irish could get no closer after that. A golden opportunity was snuffed out when Ken Shuster opened the seventh with his second hit of the game but was called out on a close play trying to stretch it to a double.

The Irish, who stranded ten runners in the second game and banged out twelve hits, now drop to 8-14 on the year. The next action is Friday against Northwestern at Evanston for a double-header and the Irish return home Saturday to play Valparaiso.
