

Board holds budget hearing

by Reed King

The Student Government Board of Commissioners held its annual budget hearings yesterday, and allocated the student activities' funds to Student Government (SG), Student Union (SU), the Hall Presidents' Council (HPC), the Judicial Council, and various campus clubs and organizations.

The amount of money available for this year's budget totalled $131,750, an increase of almost $20,000 over last year's budget. Beau Mason, Student Government treasurer, explained the increase as a result of $20,000 being left over from last year's funds. The rest of the money, approximately $110,000, came mostly from the student activities' fees which every student pays.

Mason proceeded to outline the allocations:

The Student Government was budgeted for $23,375, which is $6000 more than last year. Mason noted that the reason for the increase was twofold. "We allocated $3200 for a Third World Conference, to be held in March, as well as an extra $2200 for a new course evaluation booklet," he explained.

The remainder of the SG allocation is to pay for telephones, printing, advertisement, staff salaries, and other office expenses, according to Mason.

Student Union was allocated $66,480 for its seven commissions, an increase of more than $6,000 over last year. The budget for SU Administration was set at $8,486. Mason explained that this money is for the fixed overhead expenses of SU, including the operation of the calendar office, campus press, and the ticket office.

A $3,000 revenue was projected for the Movie Commission, down $1400 from last year. The Academic Commission, which is responsible for bringing speakers to campus, was given $20,000 for that purpose.

A revenue of $4934 was projected for the Services Commission, which sponsors such activities as refrigerator rental, a book exchange, a plant sale, on-campus mail, and the Free University program. The Concert Commission was expecting a $9,000 revenue. $29,250 was allocated to the Cultural Arts Commission for such projects as the Collegiate Jazz Festival, the Sophomore Literary Festival, and campus performances by various drama groups.

The Social Commission was given $25,679 for such events as the Homecoming Weekend and Bull Moose Parties. A major portion of this budget, according to Mason, was the $6,000 proposed for the operation of the Naz.

Mason next explained the monies set aside for the Hall Presidents' Council. Three separate HPC funds were allocated money. The Hall Life Fund, which allows money for permanent hall improvements, was budgeted for $9500, up from $8,000 last year. Mason noted, "Soon the HPC will hold its own budget hearings, and these funds will be specifically allocated to the halls."

The HPC An Tostal Fund was given $7,000, down $800 from last year. Mason explained the decrease, "An Tostal was over-budgetted by $800 last year, so there will be no real reduction in An Tostal funding." $150 was also allocated to the HPC Contingency

by Jean Powley
St. Mary's Editor

Judy Marie Cerabona, 21, a Saint Mary's senior, died early Saturday morning from head injuries she received when the car in which she was riding was struck from the rear by a Michigan State Police car.

A resident advisor (RA) in LeMans Hall, Cerabona was a passenger in a car driven by Karen Mitchell, another Saint Mary's senior. Mitchell and the other passenger, Ann Marie Calacci, both resident of Augusta Hall, were treated and released from Niles' Pawating Hospital.

The collision occurred at approximately midnight Friday when the police car was responding to an emergency call from the Berrien County Sheriff's Department. It was driving north on U.S. 31 with its emergency lights in operation when it hit the rear of the Mitchell vehicle, which was turning onto Silverbrook Road.

Cerabona, who was in the back seat, was thrown through the rear window with the impact.

She was taken to Pawating Hospital, but later transferred to Memorial Hospital where she died a few hours later.

Neither of the troopers, Royce Alston, 26, driver of the car, and Marshall Johnson, 28, were injured.

The Niles prosecutor was expected to review the accident report today before deciding whether or not to seek charges.

A resident of Chicago, Cerabona was an English and Business Administration double major. She wrote for both The Observer and Chimes, the College's literary magazine.

In addition, she worked as a student assistant in the office of Saint Mary's president, Dr. John Duggan, and in the Career Development Center.

She is survived by her parents, Jerry and Loretta Cerabona; an older sister, Linda Battistoni; and two brothers, Robert, a freshman in Flanner, and Kenneth, who lives at home.

A memorial mass was held Saturday night in LeMans Hall's Stapleton Lounge. Approximately 200 students and faculty members attended.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in Saint Daniel the Prophet Church, Chicago.

Senior Staff Reporter

Robert Kenny, a sophomore resident of Flanner was struck and injured by a car Saturday morning while crossing Juniper Road.

The victim sustained a compound leg fracture and broken vertebrae as a result of the two car collision which occurred at 10:42 a.m.

Associate Director of Campus Ministry Sr. Jane Pitz, who witnessed the accident, said that the vehicle traveling North on Juniper Road collided with a vehicle turning left onto Juniper from the Bulla Road intersection. The northbound car hit Kenny who had crossed Juniper half-way and was waiting for the northbound lane to clear.

According to the St. Joseph County Police accident report, the driver of the vehicle turning left, 16 year old Jon Farrington of South Bend stated that the southbound lane of Juniper had cleared and that he didn't see anything approaching from the north.

The police report said that Farrington then pulled out into the intersection and hit the second car, driven by Zenon Bidzinski, 25, a second year law student at Notre Dame. Bidzinski's car then struck Kenny.

Dan Rourke, resident assistant at Flanner visited Kenny last night in Memorial Hospital and said that he appeared to be in good condition.

Judy Marie Cerabona died last Saturday from head injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Israeli gunboat attacks

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—An Israeli gunboat in the Gulf of Aqaba intercepted and sank a Palestinian guerrilla boat as it was speeding north to blast the Israeli port of Eilat with a barrage of rockets, the military said Sunday. The seaborne clash occurred Saturday afternoon as Eilat, Israel's southernmost town, filled up with tens of thousands of people on holiday for the long Jewish New Year weekend. Hotels were booked solid and the beaches were crowded with campers.

Bowen terms bills 'fact'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Otis R. Bowen says high energy bills are "an unfortunate fact of life," and says the blame can't be laid solely on his administration or the State Public Service Commission which he appointed. Bowen spoke Saturday night at the 100th anniversary meeting of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association in Indianapolis.

Toga! Toga!

MADISON, Wis.—The toga party craze sweeping the nation's college campuses has reached the University of Wisconsin in a big way. About 10,000 students, most of them wearing bedsheets, jammed under and around a huge tent for a raucous Saturday night and Sunday morning of beer, music, food and more beer. Inspired by the college fraternity party in the popular film "National Lampoon's Animal House," toga parties are "in" this season, and sponsors said Wisconsin's was the biggest. There were several dogs wearing little togas that appeared to be made from pillowcases. One guy was wearing what looked like a shower curtain. He said it was a waterproof toga.

Weather

Mostly sunny and mild today with highs in the low 70s. Increasing cloudiness with a chance of showers tonight with lows in the low 50s. Cloudy tomorrow with a chance of showers and possible thunderstorm. Highs in the upper 60s to around 70.

Wing presents Gilligan's speech

by Kathy Rosenthal

A speech, written by former Ohio Governor John J. Gilligan concerning problems of the Third World countries, was presented Friday morning in Hayes-Healy auditorium.

Gilligan, Head of the Agency for International Development (AID), was unable to attend because his wife was ill. His remarks were delivered by George Wing, Personal Representative of the Administrator.

Gilligan, who graduated from Notre Dame in 1943, speculated on what lies ahead for the United States and the world in the next thirty years.

"What happens in the U.S. and in the Third World in those years will shape our national life, our well-being, and possibly our very survival, to a degree almost impossible to imagine," wrote the administrator.

Gilligan conveyed that there are approximately four billion people in the world now, and by the year 2000 there will be 6.2 billion. Furthermore he explains 90 percent of the world's population will be living in what are now known as less developed countries.

Wing quoted Gilligan as follows, "do not be lulled into thinking that these are Third World problems and not ours."

He continued, "The person who believes that we can ignore the realities and needs of the developing world and at the same time extract from them the commodities vital to our very existence, is living in a fool's paradise."

"Almost 50 percent of the total population in the developing world has been by-passed by the economic development of the past few decades. ...Nations are developing but populations are starving," remarked Gilligan.

"The U.S. was once the leader in development assistance...and is now 13th down the list of nations. The president and Congress need evidence that the American people are "...ready to make the short term sacrifice for the long term victory," Wing related.

The talk was sponsored by the International Business Education Committee and Student Government.

He adds that while the demands on the world's resources increase, fisheries, forests, grasslands, and croplands decrease.

Gilligan supports President Carter's energy program as a way of coping with inflation. As another way of coping, he refers to Prime Minister Trudeau's suggestion of "...simpler life styles among the affluent and new population policies that stress stability rather than growth."

US, Soviets suspend talks

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and the Soviet Union failed to reach agreement yesterday on the remaining obstacles blocking a new arms limitation treaty and decided to suspend negotiations for three weeks.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko met for two and one-half hours in an unusual Sunday session, and both reported their discussion was "intense and useful."

But neither side claimed that progress was made. Officials had expressed hope that the two countries would be able to reach the broad outlines of an agreement during the current rounds of talks, which began Wednesday.

Vance announced that he will go to Moscow in the second half of October, probably during the third week of the month, to resume the negotiations. He said he remains hopeful that the two sides will be able to reach an agreement before the year's end, which has been the administration's target.

On Saturday, President Jimmy Carter had intervened personally in the negotiations, presiding at a White House session after Vance and Gromyko had met Wednesday and Thursday in New York.

Vance described the Saturday session as a "good and constructive meeting." Gromyko said there had been "some signs...of a certain movement forward."

Gromyko was said to have reported new U.S. proposals back to Moscow on Saturday, but it was not clear whether a Soviet response was the reason for the end of the session.

The talks appeared to be at a critical stage as yesterday's session began. Officials said the talks were in a "trade-off" phase in which one side would agree to concessions in one area only if the other did so on a different issue.

If Vance and Gromyko had been able to reach agreement on the broad outlines of a new treaty, settlement of the technical details would have been the next step, a process expected to last about a month.

But officials said earlier that failure to reach agreement here probably would require a new round of high-level negotiations.

Carter said last Thursday that he hopes for an agreement before the end of the year, but he indicated that could come about only if the Soviet side were willing to make concessions.

NSF awards SMC with $6500

The National Science Foundation (NSF) has recently announced an award of $6,500 to Saint Mary's. The award, which will be matched by the College, is to help improved undergraduate scientific instruction through the acquisition of instructional scientific equipment.

Jean L. Forster, assistant professor of Biology, is the director of the Saint Mary's grant, which will be applied to an improvement plan for cell and molecular biology.

NSF awards totaling approximately $3.5 million were granted to 281 educational institutions in 48 states and DC. The laboratory-oriented improvement projects are supported through the Instructional Scientific Equipment Program (ISEP), a major NSF program designed to improve the quality of undergraduate science instruction.

ISEP projects focus on instructional improvement through laboratory experiences with modern scientific equipment and on proper utilization of current education technology.

Permanent ID's to arrive late

Those holding temporary ID's will not receive their permanent ones for approximately two weeks. All campus facilities should continue to honor these ID's until that time. Announcements will be made in the Observer and the dining halls as to distribution of the new ID's..

Powers receives honorary doctor of letters degree

Rev. Joseph L. Powers received an honorary doctor of letters degree from the University of Portland in special ceremonies Thursday at the Morris Inn.

Bro. Raphael Wilson, University president at Portland, conferred the degree.

Powers graduated from Notre Dame in 1937 and was ordained a priest in June, 1941. He taught at Notre Dame during 1941-45 and again in 1950-51. Since then he has held a number of positions at Portland, including the office of Executive Vice President and most recently, as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. He initiated a peace studies program in the college, and served as president of the Portland World Without War Council.

Powers resides at Holy Cross House, Notre Dame.

Shelter seeking volunteers

The Women's Shelter Advisory Committee of the YWCA is seeking volunteers for its crisis service and shelter work.

The Shelter is a temporary residence for women in crisis and a support service for victims of domestic violence. Since its opening last April 3, over 200 women and children have received services from Shelter volunteers and staff.

The nature of the volunteer service is crisis intervention. Volunteers work from their homes or from the Shelter to provide confidential emotional support and, if necessary, transportation to the Shelter.

A seven-session training program will begin in October, including such topics as domestic violence, victimization, interviewing and listening techniques, and legal information.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer or learning more about the Shelter can call Hotline at 232-3344.

Crowds visit St. Peter's Square to mourn Pope

VATICAN CITY [AP] - Hundreds of thousands of mourners braving a driving rain yesterday filed solemnly through St. Peter's Square to view the body of Pope John Paul I, in a massive outpouring of affection for the "smiling pontiff."

Cardinals arriving from around the world for Wednesday's funeral and the conclave to elect a new pope that begins Oct. 14, made clear they will be seeking a man with the same pastoral background and down-to-earth traits that endeared Pope John Paul to millions, even though he reigned a mere 34 days.

Cardinal Humberto Medeiros of Boston said Pope John Paul, who died of a heart attack last Thursday at age 65, had quickly "won the hearts of men and was very valuable to the church."

"Now we put our trust in the Holy Spirit to inspire all of us reunited in the conclave and in the prayers of all the faithful that we may find another great pastor and leader of the church," Medeiros told reporters.

Long lines of mourners formed at dawn for the opening of St. Peter's Basilica at 7 a.m.

Seven abreast, they stood installation as 263rd pontiff just four weeks ago and of the funeral of Pope Paul VI three weeks before.

Workmen have begun preparing a marble sarcophagus opposite Pope Paul VI's tomb in the basilica's grottoes. Pope Paul was buried "in the simple earth," according to his stated wishes.

It is not known whether John Paul left such instructions, but Vatican Radio reported he may have written a testament, even if only notes scribbled in a book.

The report said the pontiff had told his two secretaries his brother had been enthusiastic about Pope Paul's testament, but that he, John patiently in line throughout the day, with upwards of an hour's wait. A river of umbrellas stretched a half-mile under the colonnades of the great piazza.

Among the first to view the body was the pope's brother, Edoardo Luciani, 62, who had been in Australia on a business trip when the pontiff was stricken.

The Congregation of Cardinals, running the 77-million-member church in the period between popes, took the day of and will meet again today.

The Congregation has scheduled an open-air funeral on the steps of St. Peter's, the site of John Paul's Paul, planned to write a shorter one--14 or 15 lines.

Since the papal apartments are sealed and put under watch by the Swiss Guards immediately upon the death of a pope, the existence of any such testament may not be known until a new pope is elected.

Most widely mentioned "papabili," or possible popes, are those with the basic characteristics that brought an overwhelming vote to Cardinal Albino Luciani of Venice in his election as Pope John Paul--that is, Italian and "pastoral," meaning a prelate with no connection to the Vatican's central administration.

These include Cardinals Corrado Ursi, 70, of Naples, Salvatore Pappalardo, 60, of Palermo, and Giuseppe Siri, 72, of Genoa.

ND collects United Way donations

by Marcia Kovas

Section representatives are asking each Notre Dame student living in the halls to donate $1 to United Way this week.

"Our goal is 100 percent student participation," said student director Tom Soma. Thirty-four service and charity agencies will receive funds from the drive.

Vice-presidents from each hall are coordinating door-to-door campaigns.

Brother Joe McTaggart, campaign advisor, said a one-on-one drive "makes students aware of their community responsibilities they'll have as adults." Thursday is the final day for contributions.

He said Notre Dame is not an entity apart from the South Bend community. "Every working adult is expected to donate to the local United Way. Not to is like not standing for the national anthem," said McTaggart.

United Way is a volunteer organization which operates independently in each metropolitan area, coordinating one major drive each year to raise funds for service and charity organizations in the area. Most of the agencies could not run extensive drives alone. Seventy percent of the students donated to United Way last year, in first ever door-to-door drive which brought $4200. Before that, bake-sales, contests, and football pools brought in about half the amount.

Pangborn Vice President Joe Solbert claims 19 of 20 students had donated to the campaign by Sunday, and others were eager to do so. Solbert says students can also write checks to United Way through the food sales service.

Ed Zier, Morrissey vice-president, said students were anxious to donate to help put Morrissey in first place among campus halls. A thermometer will be run daily in The Observer to contrast each hall's donations.

Dear Members of the Notre Dame Student Body:

As you know, this year's United Way Fund Drive is taking place this week on campus. As I have in years past, I would once again ask you to support this worthwhile cause.

I think it is important for everyone to experience the responsibility to give during the course of their college education. The United Way Fund Drive is one very good way to gain this experience. I find it admirable that the student goal is set at 100% participation rather than a total dollar figure. The emphasis on one-to-one solicitation and personal contact exemplifies a commitment to promote responsible giving and last year's student participation rate of nearly 70% was by far the highest ever.

As you know, the entire University is involved with the United Way Fund Drive of St. Joseph County. Notre Dame, as part of St. Joseph County, is asked to pledge an annual donation to the fund. Faculty, administration, staff, and students participate each year to meet this goal. Your donation to help support the many charitable organizations in the local community will be greatly appreciated by many people less fortunate than ourselves.

Last year's student response for United Way was excellent. Let's see if we can't top last year's response by reaching that 100% participation figure.

Thanking you for your cooperation and wishing you the best during the year ahead, I am

Ever devotedly in Notre Dame,

Theodore M. Hesburgh
(Rev.) Theodore M. Hesburgh, S.C.

ND mourns late John Paul I

by Joe Slovynec
Staff Reporter

University President Fr. Theodore Hesburgh has named a University representative to attend the funeral of Pope John Paul I, who died Thursday night. In a memorial mass Friday at Sacred Heart Church, Hesburgh also commented on the brief reign of the late Pope. Hesburgh revealed that Fr. Bernard Ransing, a Holy Cross priest who is a member of the congregation of the Religious in Rome will represent the University at Pope John Paul's funeral.

Because of previous speaking commitments, Hesburgh cannot attend the funeral himself. According to Information Services Director Richard Conklin, Hesburgh did attend the late Pope's Inaugural Mass at the invitation of Vice-President Walter Mondale.

Hesburgh was the principal celebrant among 38 South Bend area priests at the impressive memorial Mass on Friday with the singing of the Sacred Heart Church choir.

"Three weeks ago Sunday, I was standing in St. Peter's Square in an atmosphere of pomp and splendor," Hesburgh said in his sermon.

It was "the first time in my life as a priest that I was able to concelebrate Mass with the Holy Father" and the event showed "glory marked by simplicity," Hesburgh stated. "No one could have imagined that we would be here praying for Pope John Paul's soul," he added.

Pope John Paul's reign had "begun so well" with his "winning the hearts of all," Hesburgh said. He "reached everyone by his openness, humanity, love of the poor, and pastoral concern for all."

Hesburgh stated that the Pope's death gave the Church a "theological problem" about the "Providence of God" as the Pope died when he had his "greatest reach" to help spread Christ's message through the world.

Museum to move sculptures

by Michael Frailey

Three religious sculptures will be moved from the courtyard of O'Shaughnessy Hall to the front of that building because of the future construction of the Fred B. Snite Museum of Art.

The sculptures, done by the sculptor Ivan Mestrovic, will be moved this week according to the director of the Notre Dame art gallery, Dean A. Porter.

The largest of the three sculptures depicts the biblical story of Christ and the Samaritan woman at a well and will be situated in the front of O'Shaughnessy facing the south quad. The two other sculptures, both of evangelists, will flank the main entrance of the building.

Originally, the sculptures were to be displayed in the front of the future art museum which will face the football stadium. However, instead of providing the sculptures with a temporary home while construction of the museum takes place, Porter has decided on the front of O'Shaughnessy as their permanent location.

"The front of O'Shaughnessy, facing the south quad, is an absolutely ideal place for the Mestrovic sculptures," the director said. "After all this is the College of Arts and Letters and now we will see something that is visual as far as the arts are concerned. And what better art is there for the Notre Dame campus than that of Ivan Mestrovic," Porter added.

Mestrovic, originally from Yugoslavia, was a resident at the University from 1955 until his death in 1962. Besides the three O'Shaughnessy sculptures which he complete in 1957, many other examples of the sculptor's work are found on campus.

The move of Mestrovic's "Christ and the Samaritan Woman" sculpture has Porter concerned. "All three sculptures are bronze and can be easily moved," the director said.

"However, the well on which Christ and the Samaritan woman stand is made of marble. Weighing about six tons and already showing signs of cracks and fissures, the marble base will be difficult to move without crumbling. It is a real sticky problem, but we'll handle it," Porter stated.

Porter said the financing of the move is included in the budget for construction of the Snite Museum of Art, which is expected to be completed in January of 1980.

Porter, enthusiastic over the start of the museum's construction, urges students and faculty to take interest in the art of O'Shaughnessy.

"I think we are building a pretty exciting complex as far as the cultural life of this university is concerned," remarked the director.

"The relocation of the Mestrovic sculptures is the beginning and the museum is soon to follow. Students and faculty will find it advantageous to become more a part of this building," Porter said.

Wilkinson talks to law students

by Rob Powers

"The so-called 'Criminal Code Reform Act of 1978' is a rewrite of the S.1 Bill, which was designed to impose a Watergate-type straight jacket on the American people," Frank Wilkinson, Executive Director of the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation, told a small group of law students Friday afternoon at the Law School.

According to Wilkinson, the bill, S.1437/H.R.6869, was "steam-rollered" through the Senate in January by Senators Edward Kennedy and Strom Thurmond in January, but was defeated by the House. It is presently being revised and will be voted upon next year.

"Our present criminal statutes are filled with redundancy and obsolescence," he said. "70 different crimes of theft are spread throughout 30 different sections of the law."

Wilkinson stated, however, that the solution to the problem was not through package legislation, but through "an incremental piece by piece reconstruction of the laws."

While he said the bill had many positive features, he added that a number of its sections are in violation of the First, Fourth, Fifth and Eighth Amendments.

21 separate acts, including acts of civil disobedience and the failure to obey safety orders, presently treated by the courts as simple misdemeanors, could have become "heavy felonies" if the bill became law, he said.

The dissemination of classified information could also be suppressed, he said. "Under the act, the Pentagon Papers could not only jail a Civil Libertarian, but also the New York Times."

Wilkinson, who attended committee hearings on the trial, criticized the "omnibus procedure which the Senate Judiciary committee followed on the bill. Kennedy, the Chairman of the Committee, allowed only five days of hearings. Only two to three Senators were present at the hearings.

"(The Senators) would offer amendments, and Kennedy would listen," Wilkinson said.

Sen. Jim Avarez wanted a definition of war to be made in the criminal code, but the committee, after Kennedy's encouragement, voted not to allow dialogue on the subject, Wilkinson said.

The bill states that the penalty for illegal demonstrations during peacetime is two years imprisonment; during war years, five years. As a result, Wilkinson said, these penalties can be imposed during a "police action", such as Vietnam or Korea.

Kennedy and Thurmond kept the bill a secret from the rest of the Senate Dec. 19 until Jan. 18. The bill was voted upon Jan. 19. Thurmond said this was done because "We didn't want to get involved in a public relations war."

Kennedy printed only one-half of the bill for the Senate. "The other half (more than 300 pages) was added during the last ten minutes of debate," Wilkinson said.

The bill passed the Senate on a 72-15 vote, but was defeated in the House.

Wilkinson traced the origins of the bill to the bipartisan "Brown Commission", established by President Johnson in 1966. Its recommendations were rejected by President Nixon in 1971, who initiated the work on S.1.

It was defeated in the last Congress, after intense opposition from newspapers, labor, and the churches, particularly Catholic leaders who called the bill "the list of 100 horrors" for its severe sentences. S. 1437 was an abridgement and revision of S. 1.

Wilkinson has been active in the Civil Liberties for 25 years. The National Committee Against Repressive Legislation (NCARL) has regional offices throughout the country, but only two of its seven fulltime employees are paid. Wilkinson says his weekly salary is only $150.

Governments inform OAS of will to mediate

WASHINGTON [AP] - The United States, Guatemala and the Dominican Republic have informed the Organization of American States (OAS) they are willing to mediate a solution to Nicaragua's political crisis. OAS Secretary-General Alejandro Orfila announced yesterday.

The announcement follows an agreement by Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza and opposition leaders that the three countries are acceptable to them.

Orfila's brief statement said the three governments have agreed to offer their "friendly cooperation and conciliatory efforts to establish the conditions necessary for a peaceful settlement without delay."

At a meeting of OAS foreign ministers late last month, a resolution was approved taking note of Nicaragua's willingness to accept outside conciliation.

The phrasing of Orfila's statement was similar to that of the resolution approved by the ministers.

The framework for the mediation effort was negotiated by special U.S. envoy William Jordan during meetings with Somoza and representatives of a broad-based opposition front.

Orfila said the three governments will announce the names of the three mediators shortly.

Jordan had sought a five-nation mediation team, but negotiations bogged down after the two sides agreed on the United States, Guatemala and the Dominican Republic.

The opposition front agreed to drop its insistence on Colombia if Somoza dropped his choice of El Salvador.

N&W holds up under strike

ROANOKE, VA [AP] - The president of the Norfolk & Western Railway (N&W) says about 3,500 employees handled about half the business normally done by 24,000 during the 81-day clerks' strike which ended Friday night.

No other railroad ever had moved as much freight as N&W did during the walkout that began July 10, President John P. Fishwick said as the line's operations began to return to normal under a federal court order that sent the striking clerks back to work.

Some N&W trains were running during the weekend, even though most N&W employees don't work on Saturdays, said N&W spokesman Lew Phelps.

The Brotherhood of Railroad and Airline Clerks (BRAC) pulled down its picket lines Friday night throughout the N&W 14-state system, Phelps said, but most employees were not expected back on the job until today.

Because the strike that began against the N&W spread eventually to railroads in 42 other states, a federal judge ordered employees back to work for a 60-day cooling-off period.

The N&W chartered six commercial airplanes to return supervisory personnel to their home bases from points throughout the system to which they were sent during the strike.

Richard F. Dunlap, N&W senior vice president for operations, said the railroad ran 78 trains the first day after the strike ended. But Fishwick said it will take at least a week to resume full operations, mainly because cars and locomotives have been leased to other lines.

Senior Assembly meets

A meeting of the Saint Mary's Senior Assembly was held last night in LeMans.

The main topic of the meeting was the selling of Senior Trip raffle tickets. The tickets, which will be sold until Oct. 12, may be purchased from Senior Assembly members for $1 apiece. The raffle is for seniors only. Anyone with ideas for a Senior Trip t-shirt should bring the design to 441 LeMans.

Tentative plans were discussed for a Notre Dame-Saint Mary's senior tailgater following the Pitt game, and for a Halloween Trick or Treat with Logan Center.

The Assembly also began planning for Senior Week, which will be Nov. 6-11. Ideas for Senior Week should be submitted to SMC Senior Class President Donna Noonan.

Noonan also stated that volunteers are needed to head committees to plan activities for graduation weekend. Interested seniors should contact her.

Fund, which covers administrative costs for the HPC. The Judicial Council was awarded $1350 for the year. This money will mostly go for publicity expenses, Mason stated.

Mason noted the creation of a new Strategic Reserve Fund by the Board of Commissioners. This fund of $15,000 will be kept in reserve, either to be re-allocated next semester, or to go for emergency expenses. The first priority for this fund will be the establishment of a SU record store, Mason explained, but the status of such a store is uncertain at this time.

The Board of Commissioners decided upon a new policy for the funding of volunteer service organizations and charities. Such organizations were considered best funded from the Mardi Gras Charity Chest (now at $23,000), which is separate from the student activities' funds and managed independently of Student Government.

"In the past there was a duplication of funding," Mason noted. "The Board of Commissioners funded these charities, as well as did the Charity Chest, which is better equipped for that purpose. The Commissioners feel committed to these charities, but we feel their needs could be better met by the Mardi Gras funds. There should be no actual reduction in funding," Mason concluded.

The clubs which were allocated funds by the Board of Commissioners are as follows: BCAC, $1000; Finance Club, $100; Management Club, $100; Dancing Irish, $200; Sailing Club, $300; International Student Organization, $1500; Japan Club, $100; CILA, $500; World Hunger Coalition, $400, and the Rowing Club, $300.

The other clubs which received funds are: Lacrosse Club, $300; ND-SMC Council for Retarded, $400; Marketing Club, $100; American Chemical Society, $100; Delta Phi Omega, $200; Neighborhood Study Help Program, $200; MECHA, $800, and Community Services, $25.

$8894 is the total amount available to clubs, of which $6600 has already been allocated. According to Mason, there are three organizations which were not budgeted but will receive further consideration. These are a black student newspaper, the Class of 1979, and Right to Life. The Board of Commissioners wants to further investigate the needs of these organizations before allocating funds, Mason explained.

Student Body President Andy McKenna listed the basic criteria which the Board of Commissioners used in selecting the organizations to be funded. "First, it must be socially or educationally beneficial to the community. We next noted the apparent management of each organization. It also helped if they showed willingness to go out and raise money for themselves," McKenna explained.

"If the club met these standards, then we examined the preparation of the club's budget and the legitimacy of the figures," McKenna continued. For the large annual appropriations, the Board of Commissioners looked at the past expenses and the anticipated needs, according to McKenna. Student Union Director Bill Roche agreed with the criteria for selection listed by McKenna. "We looked very carefully at how many people would be involved in each organization," Roche explained. "We allocated funds to a club if we had the sense that the money would be well spent."

ND notches first victory of season

by Ray O'Brien
Sports Editor

It wasn't the finest display of college football. It wasn't the most exciting game in Irish history. It wasn't even convincing in its outcome but it was a win. These statements seem to sum up the feelings of most Fighting Irish fans Saturday as Notre Dame notched their first mark on the win column by narrowly defeating a previously unbeaten Purdue squad, 10-6.

It looked as though Dan Devine's team would go into the record books as the first team in Notre Dame history to lose their first three games as passing phenom Mark Herrmann led the Boilermakers downfield deep into Irish territory in three of their first four possessions. But the best Jim Young's crew could manage was a pair of field goals as a dropped end zone pass and a Browner quarterback sack forcing a fumble thwarted two drives inside ND's 15 yard line.

Scott Sovereign put Purdue on the board with field goals in the first and second quarter from 28 and 47 yards respectively. Meanwhile Notre Dame's offense went nowhere, but an ailing Joe Restic kept the Irish in the game with punts of 41 and 49 yards that the Boilermakers could not return. For the injured Restic, it was the beginning of what was to be a busy and productive day.

The Irish put all their points on the board within a three minute span in the third quarter after both teams exchanged punts. The Irish, starting inside midfield thanks to a Restic punt that went out of bounds at the Boilermaker nine yard line earlier, turned to the running game of Vegas Ferguson and Jerome Heavens. Ferguson crashed for seven yards on three consecutive plays before Heavens was stopped for no gain 27 yards from the goal line. On third and three, Heavens broke through the line and straight armed his way for the first and only touchdown of the game.

"It was a dive play off guard," explained the Irish fullback. "I ran through the line and it worked just the way it was designed."

For the Irish, it was one of the few things that worked as planned as neither team could sustain a drive. As often happens in close defensive battles, a turnover made the difference.

On an attempted flea flicker play, Herrmann threw in desperation and his toss fell into the waiting hands of Randy Harrison who returned the ball back to the Boilermaker's 14 yard line. Four plays later Joe Unis kicked his first career field goal giving the home team a 10-6 lead that proved to be enough, although there were doubts in the closing minutes.

Purdue's last bid for a third consecutive win started with 4:30 remaining in the game when Herrmann went to his specialty - the pass. But as the Notre Dame secondary had performed throughout the game, the back line stretched but it didn't break. With 1:46 to play Steve Heimkreiter capped a brilliant afternoon's play intercepting a Herrmann pass at the Irish 21 yard line putting an end to a less than impressive performance by both teams.

"When I caught it all I wanted to do was get down. I didn't want to run with it and someone get a good hit and make me lose the ball," emphasized the senior linebacker.

Heimkreiter finished the game with 24 tackles, an interception and a broken up pass leading the Irish defense that allowed Herrmann 167 yards passing on 15-30 attempts but shut the door when their backs were to the wall. Sophomore Tom Gibbons started for the injured Restic and also had a fine game recording nine tackles.

"We won ten in a row and then lost two in a row. This sure is a lot better," commented a relieved Dan Devine. "It was tough test for Tom Gibbons who was starting his first game against a great quarterback, and I think he did an excellent job. Steve Heimkreiter also played a fantastic game."

Notre Dame continued to be inconsistent on offense although runningbacks Ferguson and Heavens ran for 92 and 80 yards respectively while Joe Montana's 7-11-2 statistics for 95 yards were good enough to earn him Offensive Player of the Game.

"Purdue was a good football team," said Devine. "They are not just Herrmann this year and that made it tougher to defend against them."

Notre Dame will be going after their second win of the season next Saturday in their first away game at Lansing, Michigan. Their opponent, Michigan State, sports a 1-2 record with losses to Purdue and Southern Cal.

GAME NOTES: Bob Golic's 19 tackles gives him a total of 384 tackles in his career passing Bob Olson's total of 369 for first place on the all-time list...Jerome Heavens is 185 yards shy of the all-time rushing total of 2341 held by George Gipp.

Don't ask how

The Irish Eye

"They don't ask you how; they ask you how many!" I don't know what coach first said these often repeated lines, but I would bet that it came after a game much like the one played between Notre Dame and Purdue Saturday afternoon.

The Irish and Dan Devine were in jeopardy of going into the record books as the first team in Notre Dame history to lose their first three games. More importantly, another loss could have marked the beginning of a tragic season; not that the Irish's performance last Saturday gave evidence of any kind of dramatic turnaround. But it was a win and that's what coaches get paid for.

Dan Devine earned his paycheck in this game as he not only coached but did a little officiating. "I had every right to argue," exclaimed Devine after the game. "I'm sick and tired of getting calls on Thursday telling me that the refs did make a bad call last Saturday. Herman Rohrig, head of Big Ten officials, told me that one of the refs blew a call in the Michigan game. That's not going to do me any good now!"

The referees blew two calls this week including the twelve men Purdue had on the field that everyone in the stadium saw. "If six men can't see 12 men on the field, then we need a new six men out there," blasted Devine. "If I don't fight for my team nobody will."

Devine also switched strategies a bit this week. In the past two games the Irish head coach stuck with one set of backs but chose to substitute freely, shuffling runningbacks as well as receivers last Saturday. The net result was positive although the rushing game has fallen off from what it was at the end of last year.

While the offense managed one score, the defense held up under the strain of Herrmann's accurate arm. The pass rush was mediocre but defensive coordinator Joe Yonto did a good job of calling for the "Browner blitz." Mike Whittington and Tom Gibbons also performed well in starting rolls. Both got beat on certain plays but are the kind of hitters that can cause turnovers. Whittington finished with 19 tackles while Gibbons played flawlessly in the second half.

Questions still remain concerning the ability of the defense. Rick Leach, not known for his passing, rips the secondary with three TD passes and then Herrmann is shut out after picking an All-American Irish defense as a freshman. I think that Herrmann is the kind of player you don't want to run into when he's having a good day.

Since he is rather frail and not much of a scrambler, Herrmann ends up producing the ball when he shouldn't have (29 interceptions last year.) The pass that Harrison picked off never should have been thrown. Until this passing sensation gets his head caught up to his passing ability, a lot of talent will go to waste. But give ND's defense credit for an outstanding afternoon. This squad is probably better than most people expect and should improve as the season progresses.

Steve Heimkreiter finally escaped Bob Golic's shadow as he recorded 24 tackles in addition to his game clinching catch. His total was two shy of the record of 26 set by Golic against Michigan. There is little doubt that Heimkreiter is an underrated player that could make a good pro prospect. If you don't believe me, you can go ask Steve.

The Irish must now prepare for their first road test of the season and hopefully a change of scenery will do them some good. Attitudes should improve as Devine's team looks to even their record and turn their season around. Michigan State lost to USC, 30-9, out on the west coast. They must be down after entering the season with such high hopes.

Eddie Smith is back at quarterback for the Spartans but still has not regained his form of sophomore year when he led the Big Ten in passing. The MSU defense has been inconsistent, giving up the big play in crucial situations. The longest play from scrimmage for the Irish so far has been only 26 yards. So maybe the offense can open up a little. Talk about predictable, Notre Dame ran on first and ten situations 24-25 times for 96 yards. The one first down pass was complete for 16 yards. If this continues, Montana and company may see a ten man line this week.

Yanks, Sox to playoff

BOSTON [AP] - Veteran Luis Tiant, Boston's Mr. Clutch, pitched a brilliant two-hitter as the Red Sox blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 5-0 Sunday, forcing only the second playoff in American League history.

The Red Sox, in a dramatic finish, caught the New York Yankees on the final day of the regular season, necessitating a tie-breaking playoff for the American League East title here Monday afternoon. The Yankees blew a chance to win the division crown by bowing to Cleveland 9-2 Sunday in New York.

Both teams finished with 99-63 records. The playoff game will start at 2:30 p.m. EDT and will be nationally televised by ABC.

New York will send its ace left-hander, Ron Guidry, against Boston's Mike Torrez, a former Yankee.

Tiant, considered to be older than his listed age of 38, pitched the Red Sox into the tie, allowing only singles by Roy Howell in the fourth inning and John Mayberry in the seventh.

The Red Sox picked up a pair of unearned runs in the fifth and two more on Rick Burleson's fifth homer in the seventh.

Jim Rice, the first AL player to amass 400 total bases in a season since Hall of Famer Joe DiMaggio in 1937, capped the Boston scoring with his 46th homer in the eighth. That gave Rice 405 total bases for the season in which he played in all 162 games.

The Red Sox rolled to their eighth consecutive victory and their 12th in the last 14 games.

NEW YORK [AP] - Andre Thornton and Gary Alexander tagged Catfish Hunter for home runs in the first two innings Sunday and the Cleveland Indians posted a 9-2 victory over New York that prevented the Yankees from clinching the American League East Division flag.

The Yankees held a one-game lead over Boston going into Sunday's action. Boston met Toronto Sunday, needing a victory to force a one-game playoff between the Yankees and Red Sox on Monday.

St. Mary's Welsh scores five Belles topple Notre Dame, 5-2

by Mary Pat Bringardner and
Debbie Dahrling
Sports Writers

The Saint Mary's field hockey team captured its first victory of the year as they upset the Irish of Notre Dame by the score of 5-2.

Playing in cold and rainy weather throughout the game, the Saint Mary's squad totally dominated the second half of play, outscoring the Irish, 4-1, to capture their first victory as a varsity sport.

Center-forward Beth Welsh led the Belles attack as she scored all five goals for Saint Mary's.

Twelve minutes into the game, the Irish opened the scoring when Mary Ann Dooley fired a shot by Bonnie Keyes, the Saint Mary's goalie, to give Notre Dame a 1-0 edge. Four minutes later Welsh tied the score for the Belles when she received a pass from Patty Meagher and slipped a shot into the Notre Dame goalie, Mary Ann Dooley, whose view had been obscured by several players in front of the net.

The rest of the first half was marked by close-checking defense. Both teams attempted several shots on goal, but neither squad could come up with a score. The first half ended with the score deadlocked, 1-1.

Immediately after the start of the second half, Notre Dame went on the attack to attempt to break the deadlock in the score. But an offside call against Notre Dame nullified the Irish drive, and Saint Mary's gained control of the ball. After two exchanges of possession and a lot of action, Saint Mary's flooded the area in front of the Notre Dame goal, and Welsh netted her second goal for the day to give the Belles a lead that they would never relinquish.

Five minutes later, Welsh beat the Irish goalie again as the Belles went ahead, 3-1.

Immediately after the Saint Mary's goal, the Irish began to apply the pressure on the home team in order to cut the margin in the score. For five minutes, the Notre Dame squad controlled the ball in the Belles' zone, but the Irish offensive attack could not produce a score.

Notre Dame's aggressiveness appeared to work against them, though, when Welsh slipped by all but one of the Irish defensemen and fired a shot past the goalie for her fourth goal of the day.

With three minutes remaining in the contest, Kelly Sullivan passed to Welsh; she scored the last goal for the Belles to make the score 5-1.

After the faceoff, the Irish gained possession of the ball, and, within a minute, Mary Ann Dooley scored her second goal to bring the score to 5-2.

After the game, Ann Deitle, the Saint Mary's coach, commented, "This was the best that we ever played as a team. We finally got it together today." Nanette Krauss, a SMC fullback, added, "We worked so hard to prepare for this game because Notre Dame is our biggest rival. We really wanted to win this one."

When asked to comment about the contest, Notre Dame's coach, Astrid Hotvedt, said, "Saint Mary's really played a good game today."
