At Saint Mary's

SBP Murphy discusses role

Q: What is the purpose of St. Mary's student government?

A: We see ourselves as a liaison between the administration and students. We are trying to steer away from the stereotype of only providing social activities. Basically, we are the student voice elected by the students, for the students. We are frustrated, though, because we haven't heard much from the students. We want to hear their opinions. Our voice is only as good as the students who use it. For example, we've had three students' forums where we tried to actively seek out student opinion and no one came.

Notre Dame. I just wish people would take advantage of the activities we offer at Saint Mary's. We want people to realize that they can have a good time here, and don't always have to go off campus or to Notre Dame.

Q: What type of services and activities do you have planned?

A: Some of the services we're trying to make students more aware of are the Volunteer Service Opportunities and the Academic Council. Academics is one area of student government that goes largely untapped. The Academic Council, which is chaired by Vice President for Academic Affairs, Emmie Lopez, is made up of thirteen representatives, one from each department and helps students if they have a problem with a professor or a class.

New this year is food sales on Sunday nights. It's coordinated by Maureen Sheehan and is for fund raising for clubs and organizations. So far we've had quite an enthusiastic response.

Polish Cabinet meets in emergency session

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Premier Wojciech Jaruzelski summoned his Cabinet and officials of major cities and provinces to an emergency meeting yesterday on urgent political, social and economic matters, the official news agency PAP said.

The state-run news agency quoted a government communique as saying the "state of readiness" of the government was discussed and indispensable decisions were made to prepare for "various needs and eventualities."

The communique was vaguely worded and made no reference to government warnings that authorities must crack down on the independent labor union Solidarity. PAP, without citing specifics, indicated the economic crisis was a chief topic.

Earlier yesterday, PAP said food shortages in some Polish towns have reached a "critical" point and a lack of warm clothes, shoes and meat was causing "mounting dissatisfaction."

Deputy Premier Janusz Obodowski, asked by a Polish TV reporter if the country was in a state of "war economy," said: "maybe not so black, but anyhow not so colorful."

"It is true, the situation is difficult as regards per fuel and raw materials," he said. "Production is dropping. In connection with such a situation, we must carefully cut up what we have." Obodowski is the government's economic chief.

The meeting was the second emergency session since Thursday, when the government sternly warned Solidarity's leaders that they were jeopardizing Poland's independence by strangling attempts to rebuild the economy.

The Warsaw independent newspaper Zycie Warszawy urged

Q&A

Eileen Murphy

Q: What are your general plans and goals for the year?

A: My personal number one priority is to lobby for student space in the old library. I want to make sure students are represented when space is allocated in the spring. That building is really up for grabs and I think it's more of a problem than the students realize. It seems so self-evident that the students need the social space, and it's being taken for granted that they'll get it. There are several other groups who also want that space. Students need to show their interest if they hope to get it.

Q: Have you received cooperation and support in your efforts and projects?

A: Your initial expectations will never be fulfilled. Last week we had Duke Tomatoe here, and only seventy people came. Those people who who went had a really good time. He's always well received at

Judicial system

SMC ensures due process

By MICHAEL SCHIERL
News Staff

A joint effort of Saint Mary's students and administrators has resulted in the implementation of a seemingly more coordinated and just Judicial System for the college. The administration's decision to maintain, without change, last year's experimental Judicial Constitution marks a culmination of a four year revision process. The major advantages afforded by the new system include: a guarantee of due process rights for all students; a student right to discuss his appearance before a Board of either his peers, non-peers, or a mixed group; a more standardized treatment of similar cases; and a prompt, more efficient disbursement of cases resulting from a centralized coordination.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of Student Activities and participant since the 1979 planning stage of the current system, emphasizes that the new guidelines embody the same principles inherent in the old system. "We view discipline, not as a means of educating the student in what it means to live in a community and in a society," she said.

The underlying themes of the new system seem to be cooperation, coordination, and diversity. The new guidelines encourage and, at many stages, require a consensus between student and regulator before the judicial process can continue. In addition, the entire process has been centrally coordinated and procedurally standardized to insure consistency in dealing with isolated cases. This coordination and standardization has in no way eliminated the personal touch present in the former, less structured system.

Perhaps, most importantly, the new system adds a number of diverse alternatives for dealing fairly with particular cases.

The old system centered around the individual dormitories and Resident Directors. As of five years ago there existed, in essence, three separate sanctioning bodies:

MONDAY FOCUS

the individual Resident Directors; student-faculty boards within each dorm; and a central Student Relation Board. Of the three, the Resident Directors usually wielded the most power, yet standard procedure was in no way clear. As in the new system, the Resident Director initiated the judicial process. She acted, however, in a completely individual manner when treating each case.

$3.5 million

WNDU erects facility on U.S. 33

By MARGARET FOSMOE
News Staff

Construction of the new $3.5 million facility for the WNDU television and radio stations continues on schedule, according to Charles Linster, Director of Special Projects at the stations.

Located at the corner of U.S. 33 and Dorr Road, the new building is expected to be completed by May of 1982.

Designed by Mathews, Purucker, and Annella, Inc., the finished two-story facility will be nearly 33,000 square feet. Features of the new building include two television and six radio studios which will be used for both on-air and audio production work. The building will also contain classroom and other teaching facilities to be used in conjunction with Communications classes and internships offered in cooperation with the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College.

The building will house the three WNDU stations, which include Channel 16 Television, U93-FM Radio, and 15 Country/WNDU-AM Radio. The stations are commercial, tax-paying organizations, owned and operated by a subsidiary of the University of Notre Dame.

The new building will replace the stations' original facility, located just northwest of Memorial Library. The present station was built in 1955, when WNDU-TV first came on the air.

With occupancy of the new facility scheduled for June of next year, the University plans to turn over the old building to an existing university department in need of more space. Departments being discussed for occupation of the building include the University Placement Bureau and the Experiential Learning Group.

The new facility is expected to have an excellent impact on the University in particular, in addition to the community as a whole, according to Basil O'Hagan, General Manager. He further stated The facility will allow the station to do more in the area of educational television. In addition, the increased space will allow us to better serve the needs of the audience.

Four Notre Dame students were admitted to St. Joseph Medical Center for treatment of injuries incurred in a single-car accident at 10:38 p.m. Thursday on Doaglas Road near the entrance to the Credit Union. Campus security officers said the driver failed to negotiate a jog in the road and struck a utility pole broadside. Receiving hospital treatment are Bruce Barron, 1104 Flanner Hall, driver of the car; Bruce Lemon, 1114 Flanner; David Creach, 1103 Flanner, and William Mulroy, a friend of James Gilroy, 1105 Flanner. Gilroy, John J. O'Sullivan, 1104 Flanner, owner of the demolished auto, and another youth known only as Tom were treated at the Student Health Center. Occupants of the auto told police they had gone to Roseland for gas and their vision was obstructed by frosty windows. — The Observer

A panel of outside advisers to federal poverty programs, in a blistering parting shot, said yesterday that President Reagan's economic policies and budgets cuts could plunge the nation into "social chaos." The lame duck National Advisory Council on Economic Opportunity predicted yesterday that Reagan's policies will substantially swell the ranks of America's 29.3 million poor as "those who hover just above the poverty level" fall below it. "The results are predictable: more crime, physical and psychological illness, broken families, racial division and the potential for violence," the council declared in its 13th and final annual report. The council, created in 1964 during Lyndon Johnson's war on poverty, will go out of business Oct. 1 when the Economic Opportunity Act expires and many health and social welfare programs are converted to block grants. — AP

Jurors in Larry Layton's murder-conspiracy trial in San Francisco, Calif., were to resume deliberations today after leaving both sides guessing over its requested review of evidence relating to the movements of slain Rep. Leo Ryan. On Saturday, the third day of deliberations, the jury asked U.S. District Judge Robert Peckham for a review of the testimony of Ryan aide Jackie Speier and a replay of three NBC-TV videotapes of events before and during the shootings. Ryan, three journalists and a defector from the Rev. Jim Jones' jungle settlement at Jonestown were gunned down in an ambush Nov. 18, 1978, at a jungle airstrip a few miles from the Guyana settlement. — AP

A key prosecutor warned Iranian parents to "watch their children closely" since even 12-year-olds could be executed for demonstrating against the regime, a Tehran newspaper said yesterday. It also said 71 opponents had been shot by firing squad in two days. "Even if a 12-year-old child is found participating in an armed demonstration, he will be shot. The age doesn't matter," Assadollah Lajavardi, prosecutor general of Tehran, was quoted as saying in the newspaper Islamic Republic. "They are young and they can be duped into counter-revolutionary activities," he said. The government has announced 694 executions since the June 22 ouster of President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr. However, Bani-Sadr said last week that the figure is actually 1,200 and a source in Tehran said officials confided that the number of executions topped 1,100 — AP

Joseph Paul Franklin, who faces the death penalty after being convicted of murder in Salt Lake City, met with his lawyers yesterday to decide whether seek sentencing from a judge or a jury. Attorney David Yocom, who helped represent Franklin at his three-week trial in the sniper slayings of two black joggers, said the 31-year-old avowed racist must decide by this morning whether to ask 3rd District Judge Jay E. Banks or the jury that convicted him to decide punishment. Utah law allows execution by firing squad or life imprisonment for conviction on charges of first-degree murder. Franklin, who acted as his own attorney in the trial, will have a chance to present mitigating evidence at the penalty phase of the trial, which begins today. AP

Florida Gov. Bob Graham owes Oklahoma a day's work harvesting wheat. But he's thinking of paying off the 9-month-old debt with a day in another type of field — oil. Either way, Graham insists he hasn't reneged on the bet he made with Oklahoma Gov. George Nigh before the 1981 Orange Bowl. Graham pledged to work a day in a wheat field if the Oklahoma Sooners beat the Florida State Seminoles. If the Oklahoma football team lost, Nigh was to spend a day picking Florida oranges. Oklahoma beat Florida State, 18-17, apparently consigning Graham to the harvest. But the Oklahoma wheat season has come and gone. And the folks in Oklahoma haven't forgotten about the bet. Graham says he hasn't backed out. He says he plans to work in Oklahoma, but not necessarily in a wheat field. He's talking about working in an oil field instead, and Nigh is willing to modify the bet agreement to let Graham work on an oil rig or as a well hand, Reid says. — AP

Latin American Week '81

One of the few drawbacks that accompany college life is the isolation of the student from the "real" world. Day in, day out we trudge to classes, write papers, take tests, etc., for the most part oblivious to what is going on outside of our campus confines. One of the benefits of a university is that there are people here who have seen parts of the world which some of us can only imagine, and through these people we can discard the blinders and expand our horizons just a bit further than Notre Dame, Indiana.

One such group of people is organizing a "Latin American Week", which will begin this Saturday, Sept. 26, and will run through the following Wednesday.

The five-day affair is being coordinated by the office of Prof. Kenneth Jameson, head of the Latin American Studies program at Notre Dame. Joan Kellenberg, student assistant to Prof. Jameson, has done a good deal of the legwork for the upcoming event.

The purpose of the presentations, entertainment, and movies that will make up the program, according to Ms. Kellenberg, is "to raise the awareness of Latin America on the international scene and to show the urgencies of the political problems and tensions." To this end, the program will focus on the economic and social growth of Latin America, as well as the role of the Church in the Hispanic world.

A mariachi band is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, the opening day of Latin American week; the time and place will be announced. The week continues with a lecture on Sunday, Sept. 27, to be given by Fr. Robert Pelton, director of the Notre Dame Institute for Clergy Education. The talk, entitled "Christian Responsibility in El Salvador", is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the Memorial Library Lounge. Ms. Kellenberg explained that Fr. Pelton, who traveled in Chile and Panama this past summer, will discuss the Catholic Church's position in this strife-torn nation.

"Fr. Pelton hopes to dispel some of the myths that people have held regarding El Salvador," she said. One of the key points in the talk will echo Pope John Paul II's position regarding El Salvador: the need for negotiations, instead of military assistance.

"President Reagan should realize that he is not playing a game. International politics is not a chessboard. There is a human element involved," Ms. Kellenberg pointed out.

On Monday, Professors Kenneth Jameson and Denis Goulet will give a joint presentation on "Mexican Development Future", at 12:15 p.m. in the Memorial Library Lounge. Both men have spent a great deal of time in Latin America. Prof. Jameson lived in a farming village in Southern Mexico this past summer; Prof. Goulet has done research in several South American nations.

Ms. Kellenberg spent a year in Mexico as part of the University's Foreign Study programs. Reflecting on her own impressions of Mexico as a developing nation, she labelled it a "country of contrast."

"Mexico is a third world nation, yet it is developing at an incredible rate. On one side of the street you'll see a high-rise, on the other side, a hovel," she said. As a result, Mexico must strike a balance between the past and the present.

"Seeds of Liberty", a Maryknoll movie centering on the role of missionaries in Latin America, will close the third day of "Latin American Week." Scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in 122 Hayes-Healy, the movie will include a segment dealing with the murder of the four Maryknoll nuns in El Salvador. Calling the movie a "defense of the Maryknoll order," Ms. Kellenberg explained that "Seeds of Liberty" also serves as an introduction to the upcoming campus visit of Sr.

Melinda Roper, head of Maryknoll, who will speak here on Oct. 5.

Ms. Kellenberg referred to Tuesday, Sept. 29, as the "cultural day" of "Latin American Week". Jaime Gatica, a graduate student in Economics from Chile, will give a concert of Latin American music. The time and place will be announced.

"Latin American Week" closes with "Double Day," a film that deals with the dual role of Latin American women in their society. Made by the International Women's Film Project, Ms.

Kellenberg explained that "Double Day" shows the dual responsibilities of working women, both to their families and to their jobs, as well as the dual oppression, due to sex and class, that exists in Latin America. The film will be shown on Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 7:30 in the Satellite Room in O'Shaughnessy.

Ms. Kellenberg hopes to make "Latin American Week" an annual event. An organizational meeting for next year's program will be held on Sept. 30 outside the Center for Experiential Learning at 12:15 p.m.

The Dan Fogelberg concert is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 28, not Oct. 20, as it was reported in Friday's Observer. Also, the admission fee for the film "Breaker Morant" will be $1.00, not 50 cents as advertised in Friday's Observer. We regret these errors.

Maier explains role of news magazine

By MARK WORSCHER
News Staff

Frank Maier, Chicago bureau chief for Newsweek, began his lecture Friday at the Library Auditorium by saying, "you can't believe everything you read."

Maier was not apologizing to the more than 70 in attendance, but rather was beginning an explanation about the limitations and responsibilities of a major news magazine.

"My mission is to get into stories the point of view of the 10-state area I cover," said Maier, a 1955 ND graduate.

Speaking with relaxed confidence, Maier described the evolution of a story from reporter to newsstand.

Every article that his bureau writes must be sent to New York City for editing and approval. While not critical of this process, Maier admits that there are inherent problems.

"Our writers in New York will receive a 5000-word story from Chicago and find that space limits allow for only 800."

A series of Manhattan-based editors, whom he believes are "out of tune with reality just because of location," will cut the Midwestern story down to the 800-word limit.

"Here's where the subtleties can be lost," said Maier.

"When I get the story back to me it's set in concrete almost," he said. "The system lends itself to oversimplification and errors of inference."

Maier also discussed "incestuousness" in the media, saying that a great number of journalists rely on what other journalists have deemed important.

"What Dan Rather sets as his top story affects not only people, but other papers," commented Maier, referring to editors who choose headline stories on the basis of what more famous journalists have chosen.

"The power of the media to set the agenda for the rest of us is enormous."

"The particular problem of news magazines," Maier explained, "is that they influence not only readers, but influence-makers in the country."

Speaking of journalists in general, Maier called them "fallible people" and denied any claims to objectivity. "Nobody is objective. Everybody is subjective. All the best journalists try to be as fair."

Maier also spoke of cover selection with respect to Newsweek and "that other weekly news magazine."

"Newsing is supposed to say something about what life is like in 1981, some of which is silly and frivolous, he said, adding that the next Newsweek cover story would be about ABC's General Hospital.

the government to continue a line of dialogue with the independent labor federation Solidarity to prevent further social protests over consumer and political issues.

"We are aware that the mood in the factories is getting radical, that social protest against misery and chaos is growing....," the paper said.

The call for mediation rather than confrontation follows the verbal war waged by the Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies, charging Solidarity with a "large-scale anti-Soviet campaign" and telling the authorities here to crack down on the independent union.

The Bulgarian Communist daily Rabotnitschesko Delo, in a commentary distributed yesterday by the East German news agency ADN, said, "... Solidarity is striving for chaos and anarchy."

Solidarity's ruling presidium was expected to meet behind closed doors today or tomorrow in Warsaw to map a strategy and form a response to the Soviet Union's warnings.

PAP reported yesterday that some Solidarity unionists were resigning from the 9.5 million member federation because of policies pushed by the leaders but the report couldn't be independently confirmed.

"I've been one of the founders of Solidarity in our factory," said Jerzy Dubik of Cmielow. "But now it is obvious that some of its (Solidarity's) leaders are for the change of the social and political situation of our homeland."

Rumors circulated here that the Central Committee of the Polish Communist Party would meet today. Party officials could not immediately be reached for comment but have denied previous reports about a soon-to-be-held meeting.

Poland's Roman Catholic bishops, in a letter read from many pulpits Sunday, called limiting the freedom of speech "inadmissible" and said monopolizing the mass media was "unacceptable."

Access to the media, workers' rights at the factory level and the issue of rebuilding the nation's nearly bankrupt economy were among the topics to be discussed Friday when Solidarity reconvenes its national congress in Gdansk.

The Polish Parliament is expected to address the issue of "workers self-management," when it meets Thursday. The union has threatened to boycott any law passed that is not to its liking and wants a nationwide vote on worker rights.

"The Resident Director had an unlimited number of ways in which she could handle a violation complaint: she could meet with the student and sanction her; she could simply sanction her without a hearing; she could send her to another Board; or she could choose to ignore the original complaint," said O'Donnell.

Kathleen Rice, who became Dean of Student Affairs in 1976, saw an immediate need for an overhaul of the outdated system. "The old system bred an inconsistent and capricious enforcement of regulations; the regulations were unclear and students just didn't understand the whole system," said Dean Rice.

In the 1977-78 term, a group of students, faculty and administrators, led by Dean Rice, began a thorough examination of the system. Their goal was to eventually develop a simpler, fairer, and more efficient system which included a due process clause for students. "The old system, as written, was simply too cumbersome and the language was too legalistic," said Rice.

Their efforts bore fruit two years later (1980-81) with the adoption of a completely rewritten constitution containing many changes. The implementation of the new system last year was very successful and few difficulties ever arose. The identical system was approved for this school year.

The new system cites four legitimate regulatory entities of equal power: the Resident Directors; the Student Relations Board; and the newly created Dean's Hearing Board and Administrative Hearing Board. The Student Relations Board, a branch of Student Government, consists of eight students and is chaired by the Student Judicial Commissioner. The Dean of Student Affairs chairs the Dean's Hearing Board, which is completed by the Judicial Commissioner and a faculty member. The Judicial Commissioner chairperson and two other administrators compose the Administrative Hearing Board.

Procedural guidelines are succinctly stated for the handling of each and every case. Any deviation from this procedure is adequate grounds for appealing to the Appellate Board, which consists of a student, faculty member, and administrator. The student is afforded due process at each and every stage of the process.

All judicial activity must begin with the submission of an official incident report from the accusing party to the Resident Director of the accused party's hall. The Resident Director is then required to send a written notice to the accused requesting a meeting with her within 48 hours. At this meeting the student and Resident Director discuss the alleged violation and mutually decide on how the case can best be disbursed.

If both parties agree, the actual meeting can become a hearing and the Resident Director gains the authority to sanction. Otherwise, it is agreed to which of the three Boards the student will be sent.

The purpose behind the various compositions of the various boards becomes evident at this point. "It offers the student the fairest judgment possible. Maybe the violation is the sort that a student's peers would be more understanding of. Maybe she feels the authority of the Dean would be advantageous," said O'Donnell.

The system includes four types of sanctions at present: a letter of discipline; disciplinary probation; social probation; and outright dismissal from either hall or school. A student need not receive a lesser sanction before receiving the next in order of severity. The letter of probation is the final step before outright dismissal and may involve restrictions on extracurricular activities or leadership positions. The two lesser sanctions serve simply as written warnings. All letters are maintained on file at the office of the Judicial Coordinator, who provides the various Boards with all information pertinent to each case.

Dean Rice is pleased with the system thus far. "It worked very well last year and operates in a clear, consistent, and fair manner," said Rice. She added that no changes in the system are foreseeable in the near future.

A 'planned approach'

ND govt. deals with students

An examination of the structure of Notre Dame's Student Government reveals a planned approach to dealing with the concerns of students. In addition, it provides an effective link between students and the Administration.

As outlined in last week's article, Student Body President Don Murday's cabinet attempts to deal with specific areas of student life in a comprehensive manner, thus laying the groundwork for specific proposals to the Administration in these areas. Twenty — one cabinet positions exist, including five posts designed to deal with special projects which may arise during the year. The cabinet is divided into three sections, each guided by an Executive Coordinator.

Gene Barra, Don Schmid, and Frank Tighe have the responsibilities of the Coordinator positions. Barra outlines his job as "acting as middleman between individual cabinet members and the S.P.B. & S.B.V.P." Through weekly meetings with Murday and Student Body Vice — President Tara Kenney, the Executive Coordinators clarify the goals of student government and implement these principles in the various cabinet positions which they oversee. Tighe expresses his hope that "our presence will be evident in the smooth flow of ideas throughout the executive branch." His thoughts are echoed by Murday who stresses the necessity that "The Executive Coordinators serve as advisors and assistants to the S.B.P. in formulating the positions and policies of this area of student government."

Working in tandem with the cabinet as it attempts to improve campus life, the Hall President's Council works to answer the needs of the on — campus student. At a school where 80% of the students live in residence halls, the H.P.C. becomes the focal point of student concern. H.P.C. Chairman Mike Martin outlines three goals which guide this year's H.P.C. actions. The primary concern is the improvement of campus and dorm life.

examples of work in this area are the loft and keg proposals. The H.P.C. is also working to define the relationship between it and the Student Senate. Since Mike and three elected representatives from H.P.C. are senators, H.P.C. has a vital role in the drafting of all resolutions. Finally, the council is working to further its own identity as a governing body. Holy Cross President Brian Kane says "H.P.C. is the best representative the students have. We're presenting the concerns of every dorm"

Once proposals are drafted either in the cabinet or H.P.C., they are sent to the Student Senate for ratification and refinement. Any official statement to the Administration from Student Government comes out of this body. The Senate is comprised of class presidents, H.P.C. reps, Off — Campus reps, the Judicial Chairman, and four district senators, in addition to Murday, Kenney, Student Union director Bill Lawler and Student Body Treasurer Karen Kiley. The Senate works with the everyday concerns of student life, leaving the cabinet and H.P.C. free to focus on long — range goals.

"College to Career Days" and "Women's Opportunity Week." "College to Career Days" is September 27 through October 2 and will begin with a keynote address by Juliette Noone Lester, who was the Secretary of Education under Jimmy Carter. She will talk on "Planning Lifestyles and Careers After a Liberal Arts Education." Women's Opportunity Week will be held March 21-27 and will feature outstanding women in several different fields giving speeches. We would like to get more people involved in this this year including the women from Notre Dame and certainly any of the men who would like to come.

Q: Many students have spoken out against the parietal system at Saint Mary's. Is anything being done to change or revise the present system?

A: We recently sent out to the students a general student government survey which included two questions about parietals. We already have an ad hoc committee with the Board of Governance to begin working on changing the system if that is what the students want. We also sent out surveys to about thirty-five colleges similar to Saint Mary's — small, all-women's, etc. — to see what their parietal systems are like.

ENGINEERS/ COMPUTER SCIENCE GRADUATES

We're McDonnell Douglas — one of the world's leaders in fast moving, exciting fields... military and commercial aircraft, missiles, spacecraft, electronics, automation and health services.

And we're looking for people who are looking for the opportunity to put what they've learned to work — people like you.

What we offer is a wide variety of advanced technical projects and a chance to get involved, really involved, in programs on the leading edge of technology.

So, if you're an engineer or computer specialist who wants a job with real responsibility, sign up at your Placement Office for an interview.

We'll be on campus:

Junior Craig Peters fired a five-under-par 279 to capture the championship of the Notre Dame Open, held at the Burke Memorial Golf Course. Peters, with rounds of 70-69-68-72, edged senior Bob Horak, the defending champion, by four strokes, and sophomore Frank Leyes by seven. Horak shot a final round 65, one over the course record. The Observer

Lottery winners have until tomorrow at 4 p.m. to pick up their tickets for Saturday's Purdue game. Tickets not claimed by that time will be forfeited. Tickets may be picked up at the Student Union Ticket Office and Record Store. The Observer

The Notre Dame baseball team split a doubleheader with Indiana State Saturday at Jake Kiene Field to raise their fall season record to 3-1. In the first game the Sycamores coasted to a 17-7 romp with the aid of two grand slam homeruns. Bob Hickey (0-1) got the loss after relieving Steve Whitmyer in the fourth inning. The Irish fared better in the second game and took a 5-4 decision. Phil Dingle singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh inning to give Notre Dame the victory. Highly regarded freshman pitcher Bob Lopes (1-0) was the winner after starter Greg John left after three innings with the score at 3-3. The Observer

Jim Morrison belted a two-run homer to help Richard Dotson and the Chicago White Sox to an 11-3 beating Sunday of the Oakland A's. Morrison's homer, his ninth of the year, came in the sixth inning and scored Dotson. Chicago jumped to a 3-0 lead in the fifth inning. Wayne Nordhagen lined a single to center and took second when Oakland center fielder Dwayne Murphy misplayed the drive. Harold Baines singled to right to score Nordhagen, and Morrison and Tony Bernazard then drew walks from Oakland starter Mike Norris, 11-8, to force in Baines. One out later, Lamar Johnson flied to center scoring Morrison. Dotson, 9-7, breezed through the Oakland lineup for five innings, striking out six and allowing only a pair of harmless walks. But Dave McKay led off the sixth with a solo home run, his third of the year, and Rob Picciolo followed with a triple to left. One out later, Murphy's sacrifice fly to center field scored Picciolo. The White Sox clinched the triumph with a four-run seventh. — AP some fine Billiken teamwork five minutes into the second half.

But just when it looked like the Irish were running out of gas and beginning to crumble, co-captain Sami Kahale beat the entire St. Louis defense to a feed from teammate Steve Berry that changed the course of the match.

Those last 45 minutes, through the end of regulation and both overtimes, couldn't have been more evenly played as the Irish thrived on their new-found life and the Billikens pulled out all the stops, trying to escape and save face. Each team blew chances to put things away for themselves—especially Hayes who was twice denied from gimme range by Notre Dame keeper John Milligan.

Then came the call. Referee Blasevitch whistled Hayes for a foul when it appeared the St. Louis striker had a clean breakaway. While the Billiken bench fumed over that call, Blasevitch whistled St. Louis' Jim Kavanaugh for a foul in the penalty area and Kahale's conversion gave the Irish their miracle.

"It was a tough call to make but it's happened against us so many times," Kahale explained. "The whole thing is that it was a close game that could have gone either way. We controlled the tempo most of the way and played our game. We beat them."

Rich Hunter, the five-year architect of Notre Dame's astonishing success that has culminated in a NCAA Top Twenty rating this week, said: "The whole game isn't decided on one call. You win some and you lose some that way. St. Louis got a goal on a mistake by the referee of a rule interpretation and we didn't get a penalty kick in the last minute (of regulation) when Manta got fouled in the area.

"For our kids to even get to the point where they had a chance to beat St. Louis is something I never thought possible," he added. "We've been talking about this game for a year after they embarrassed us down there. The kids worked all winter, all spring, and all summer to get to this game and they played their hearts out. They deserve it."

Those Notre Dame kids without a single scholarship deserve it as much as their coaches. And the St. Louis kids with all their scholarships and all their history deserve what they got.

St. Louis will still go to the playoffs and Notre Dame may not. But this 1981 Irish team wrote some history of its own that should never be construed as tainted.

It isn't as if Vida's fastball has now become a milk run, or comes up to the plate like something thrown off a mail car in a sack. "It has lost some movement," Vida admits. "But you can hardly pick your teeth while watching it approach. It's still in the 90 to 93-mile-an-hour range. I can't overpower hitters the way I used to, but on my good night, they'd better have that bat moving."

The really distressing part of Blue's slider for a hitter is it looks like a fastball until — all of a sudden — the hitters realize it's an imposter. "It's almost like you see this nice little old lady coming," John McNamara once observed. "And then, when she gets right on top of you, you realize it's a guy with a knife."

Now that Vida Blue has come up with a pitch with a knife in it, is it likely the Commissioner of baseball will look the other way if he were to be traded? Or did the Commissioner just feel that the San Francisco Giants could not possibly have hurt the competitive balance unless the entire 1927 Yankees moved in? The San Francisco Giants, you see, have the finely honed competitive balance of the 1950 St. Louis Browns. But Vida Blue, who has now won 178 games, can take comfort in the fact that, for one shining moment back there, baseball had either to find a higher league for him — or make him stay in a dungeon at Oakland. Anything else would have wrecked the grand old game. No one else ever had that kind of compliment paid to him by the game.

- ☐ You're a self-starter. U.S. Steel is a company on the move, and we're looking for people with the initiative to tackle major projects and push them through to completion.
- ☐ You're a fast thinker. While the clock ticks, you may have to make decisions involving the future of thousands of U.S. Steel people—and the investment of millions of dollars.
- ☐ You're a team player. At a dynamic place like U.S. Steel, guiding and motivating others is likely to be an important part of your career in management.

Today U.S. Steel is a whole lot more than the nation's largest steelmaker.

We're in chemicals, with annual sales of over $1 billion. We're in resource development, ready to fill industry's growing needs for coal, iron ore, uranium and other vital materials. We build complex structures all over the country. We offer engineering services all over the world. And that's far from all.

Join us, and you're immediately a full-fledged member of our management team. Your opportunity for advancement is as bright as you are.

Money is good. Fringe benefits are liberal. And you can take advantage of a variety of continuing personal-development programs—including tuition refund.

Visit your placement office and check out the openings our representative plans to discuss. But don't worry if what interests you most happens not to be on the list. Just write us with your qualifications: Dave Bates, College Relations, U.S. Steel, 600 Grant St., Pittsburgh, PA 15230. An equal opportunity employer.

Georgia 'Dawgs' bite falls short of their bark

How 'bout them Tigers?

Sorry 'bout that, you Georgia Dawgs, but the Clemson Tigers stole your thunder, so they might as well swipe your theme song, too.

The fourth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs, college football's defending national champions, traveled to Death Valley, alias Clemson Memorial Stadium, and saw the nation's longest winning streak snapped at 15 games Saturday. Clemson intercepted five of Buck Belue's passes, recovered four of Georgia's five fumbles and stopped the Bulldogs 13-3.

Second-ranked USC prepared for next week's showdown with No. 3 Oklahoma, which was idle, by defeating Indiana 21-0.

Fifth-ranked Penn State had a week off while sixth-rated Texas trimmed North Texas State 23-0, No. 7 Pitt whipped Cincinnati 38-7, eighth-ranked Ohio State downed Michigan State 27-13, No. 9 UCLA flattened No. 20 Wisconsin 31-13 and 10th-ranked North Carolina crushed Miami of Ohio 49-7 as Kelvin Bryant scored five times, giving him 11 touchdowns in two games.

In the Second Ten, 12th-ranked Alabama appeared listless in beating Kentucky 19-10, No. 13 Brigham Young spoiled Billy Alton's debut as Texas-El Paso's head coach by swamping the Miners 65-8 behind Jim McMahon's four touchdown passes, No. 14 Mississippi State turned back Vanderbilt 29-9, No. 15 Washington downed Kansas State 20-3, No. 16 Miami, Fla. shaded Houston 12-7, No. 17 Nebraska trimmed Florida State 34-14 and No. 18 Arizona State held off Wichita State 33-21.

Coach Vince Dooley was philosophical about Georgia's loss.

Raiders' fullback Derrick Jensen plunged 1 yard for a touchdown early in the fourth quarter, helping preserve Oakland's victory over Seattle, 1-2. The Raiders, 2-1, led 13-3 at the half on a 13-yard touchdown run by quarterback Jim Plunkett in the first period and a 29-yard Plunkett pass to Morris Bradshaw just before the half. Seattle pulled within three when Jim Zorn passed 36 yards to Sam McCullum for a score early in the second half.

Drew Hill snared a 30-yard touchdown pass from backup quarterback Jeff Rutledge late in the third period to erase a 16-14 deficit and send Los Angeles to its first victory in three games. Cullen Bryant and Wendell Tyler scored fourth-quarter touchdowns on short runs for the Rams, who dealt Green Bay its second loss in three games.

The Giants, 2-1, got a pair of field goals from Joe Danelo, including a club record 55-yarder, and Phil Simms threw for 324 yards, including 12 yards to Gary Shirk for one of New York's touchdowns, to beat the Saints, 1-2. Danelo's long field goal broke the previous team record of 54 yards by Pete Gogolak in 1970.

quarterback Steve Smith (4-18 for 103 yards). "They really gave us something to work against. I came into this game seeing the same things I had seen in practice this week. I'd turn around and there would actually be holes opened up in the line. They did a great job."

Blasting through those holes were Wolverine backs Woolfolk (139 yards), Stan Edwards (52 yards) and Lawrence Ricks (40 yards, one touchdown). And Smith (64 yards, one touchdown) had few problems running the option, especially behind 275-pound blockers like tackle Ed Muransky.

"Notre Dame is noted for their hooting and hollering and (Bob) Crable's their main guy," Muransky related in a jubilant Michigan locker room. "So we just tattooed him a few times. We beat them the last two games, but they just got more points than we did. We knew how lucky they were, so we had to blow them out this time."

"We came back after a rather poorish performance against Wisconsin, and I'm real pleased about that," offered Schembechler. "But we're still 0-1 in the league. I'm not sure I wouldn't trade this for a win last week."

didate Anthony Carter takes on All-American John Krimm."

At first glance, one sees the scoring summary. One sees Anthony Carter and his two touchdown pass receptions, and automatically assumes that the battle was one-sided. A discerning eye, however, would have seen Krimm, matched up against the premier wide receiver in college football, and doing a damn good job.

For much of the afternoon, Krimm had to cover Carter by himself. Only occasionally did Irish coaches feel they could afford to offer the double-coverage the speedster so richly deserves. Most of the time, Krimm was on his own.

When Smith threw the knuckleball that Carter waited for, gathered in and ran in for a 71 yard touchdown, Rod Bone and Stacey Toran had drawn the assignment of covering him. When Carter got open again, and again went in for a touchdown, Dave Duerson was supposed to be there helping out.

Carter only caught one other pass all day. Krimm dropped one pass he should have intercepted. He intercepted another, and returned it eleven yards. He had another interception called back, in the end zone, on a questionable pass interference call. And he broke up another potential touchdown pass with a leap that would have done Magic Johnson proud.

Not a bad afternoon.

"Carter is the fastest receiver I've played against," Krimm said before the game. He confirmed that fact afterward. "He's the best receiver we'll go up against. He's very quick and you don't get a good piece of him."

Krimm takes the blame for the second touchdown pass. On that play, Carter proved why he is one of the top candidates for the Heisman Trophy. After making the catch, he made a move that left Krimm laying on the sidelines. Then he made another that left Duerson grasping an armful of air. But defensive coordinator Jim Johnson offered absolution.

"We really got burned on the second touchdown because we blitzed," Johnson said, "that created problems for us all day."

Carter was as respectful of his opponent in victory as Krimm was in defeat. "Krimm's a great ball player," he said after the game. "He's a great ball player, and I don't want to take anything away from him."

The Sporting News says Krimm is the best cornerback in the nation. Everybody says Carter is college football's best wide receiver. At the end of the season, the two are likely to run into one another at All-America banquets across the country. Those meetings are likely to be far more cordial than was their match-up Saturday afternoon.

All-America wide receiver Anthony Carter gives Notre Dame cornerback John Krimm a little head and shoulder fake on this Wolverine running play. While acting as a decoy for most of the game, Carter still came up with three catches for 99 yards and two touchdowns, as the Wolves won their home-opener. (Photo by John Macor)

NFL Roundup

Dolphins upset Oilers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Quarterback Don Strock, a third-quarter substitute, threw a 3-yard touchdown pass with 6:40 left to play, boosting the Miami Dolphins to a 16-10 victory over Houston in the National Football League Sunday.

Strock, replacing starter David Woodley, completed seven of 10 passes for 62 yards and engineered the drive that kept the Dolphins, 3-0, undefeated. It was the first time this year any team had scored a second-half touchdown against Houston, 2-1.

Miami's first nine points came on field goals by Uwe von Schamann of 32, 37 and 27 yards. Houston scored on a 7-yard touchdown bomb by Ken Stabler to Ken Burroughs in the first quarter and a 40-yard Toni Fritsch field goal in the third quarter.

Miami sacked Stabler eight times for 62 yards in losses. Four of the sacks were by tackle Bob Baumhower.

Coach Don Shula said he replaced Woodley with Strock to start the second half because he wanted more experience in the lineup.

"The Oilers were confusing Woodley with their coverages, and we just wanted more experience in the game," Shula said.

In other NFL games Sunday, Cleveland defeated Cincinnati 20-17, Minnesota edged Detroit 26-24, Pittsburgh clobbered the New York Jets 38-10, Atlanta downed San Francisco 34-17, St. Louis beat Washington 40-30, San Diego defeated Kansas City 42-31, Chicago beat Tampa Bay 28-17, Denver walloped Baltimore 28-10, Oakland defeated Seattle 20-10, Los Angeles downed Green Bay 35-23 and the New York Giants beat New Orleans 20-7.

The Dallas Cowboys travel to New England for the NFL's Monday night game.

Mike Pruitt, seeing spot duty with a hamstring pull, ran 12 yards for Cleveland's winning touchdown in the fourth quarter, and the Browns held on to beat the Bengals, who scored two touchdowns in the final period. Pruitt's scoring run gave the Browns, 1-2, a 20-10 lead. Cincinnati, now 2-1, closed the gap to three points with 1:57 to play on a 1-yard touchdown plunge by fullback Pete Johnson.

Rick Danmeier's 20-yard field goal with four seconds to play lifted Minnesota, 1-2, over Detroit, 1-2. The game marked the return of Vikings quarterback Tommy Kramer, who injured his knee in an Aug. 27 preseason game. Kramer drove the Vikings 81 yards in the final two minutes to set up the winning kick. His drive included passes of 18 yards to Ted Brown and 18 and 13 yards to Sammy White.

Frank Pollard, replacing the fumble-prone Sidney Thornton, rushed for two touchdowns, and quarterback Terry Bradshaw sneaked over for another TD that helped get the 1-2 Steelers on the winning track. The loss was the third in a row for the Jets, who got into the end zone only once on a fourth-quarter, 17-yard scoring pass from backup QB Pat Ryan to Freeman McNeil.

Steve Bartkowski, wearing a flak jacket to protect some cracked ribs, threw three touchdown passes, and Tom Pridemore returned an interception for 101 yards as undefeated Atlanta clobbered the 1-2 49ers. The victory gave the Falcons a 3-0 record for the first time in the club's 16-year history. Pridemore's interception came after the 49ers had driven to the Falcons' 6 with the second-half kickoff.

Jim Hart threw three touchdown passes, and rookie Stump Mitchell returned a punt 50 yards for a TD to earn St. Louis its first victory of the season. Washington, 0-3, led 10-9 after one quarter, but the Cardinals erupted for 17 points to take a 26-17 halftime lead. Washington quarterback Joe Theismann threw four touchdown passes, including a 79-yarder to Art Monk.

Dan Fouts threw for three touchdowns, and Chuck Muncie ran for two more as San Diego, 3-0, outlasted Kansas City, 2-1. San Diego led by just four points, 35-31, when Chargers linebacker Linden King deflected a Bill Kenney pass into the arms of Leroy Jones on the Chiefs 10. Jones struggled a few yards, then lateraled to Gary Johnson, who scored the clinching touchdown.

Vince Evans scored one touchdown and passed for another, pacing Chicago to its first win of the season. Rookie Jeff Fisher also returned a Tampa Bay punt 88 yards for a touchdown with 38 seconds left in the half, giving Chicago a 14-7 lead. Evans' scoring pass covered 18 yards to Dave Williams with 5:14 left in the game.

Craig Morton threw for 291 yards and four touchdowns, three to wide receiver Steve Watson, as Denver, 1-2, clobbered Baltimore, 1-2. Morton, who entered the game with 24,875 career passing yards, became the 15th quarterback in NFL history to top the 25,000 plateau. Denver led 14-0 at halftime after a pair of Morton scoring passes.

To 'Heater'

Vida Blue adds 'knife pitch'

By JIM MURRAY

Syndicated Columnist

Ballplayers call it "Heat." "The Ace." "Flame." "No. 1." "The Express." "Fire." "The Prince of Pitches." "The High Hard One." It was all Walter Johnson had. It was all Walter Johnson needed.

It was all Vida Rochelle Blue, Jr. had when he first came up to the big leagues. Like Johnson, he figured it was enough. So did the American League.

There never was a better looking athlete on a pitcher's mound than Vida Blue. The fastball came in so quickly, it arrived scorched. And 301 batters watched it go by his first year in the big leagues. He won the Cy Young, the MVP, 24 games, eight shutouts, and the Oakland A's were to get in five straight playoffs and three World Series with him. He not only saved the Oakland A's, he saved the American League. And every one of those years Vida pitched for them, Oakland drew more fans on the road than they did at home, sometimes twice as many. But to give you a real idea how good Vida Blue was, the Commissioner of baseball himself stepped in to block not one but two trades for him, because he said it would "throw baseball out of competitive balance."

The New York Yankees were offering everything west of the East River for him. The Cincinnati Reds made a stunning offer. The Commissioner blocked both deals but then — get this — OK'd a deal for the Reds to get Tom Seaver instead!

Vida Blue was flattered, but you can't eat flattery. So the Giants then got Vida for SEVEN players and a chunk of cash in sex — or seven — figures. Reggie Jackson cracked, "The Giants got Vida for cash and a team to be named later."

A lot of people thought Vida was making a mistake taking his one-pitch repertoire over to the dirty-uniform, stick-it-in-his-ear league which they called the National. "They eat fastballs for breakfast over there in the National," they warned Vida.

Vida had tinkered with a curve ball, but there was one thing wrong with it: it curved right out of the strike zone. One day Herm Starette, then a Giants coach, noticed Blue trying to break pitches on the sideline. What was breaking was the manager's heart. "Have you ever thought of trying a slider?" Starette wanted to know. "How do you grip it, t?" Vida wanted to know. Starette (now a coach with the Phillies) showed him. And the National League was in as big trouble as the American had been. "I realize a slider is a hazardous pitch," Vida Blue recalls now, three years since that day. "But it was comfortable for me. It has the characteristics of a fastball but it breaks and it can be thrown at different speeds."

Old-time baseball men, notably the late Fresno Thompson, used to grumble that the slider was "the pitch that got Babe Ruth's record broken." Misthrown, it is a perfect

This Day in History

Today's highlight in history:
On Sept. 21, 1949, the People's Republic of China was proclaimed by its Communist leaders.
On the same day, West Germany came into existence as the U.S., British and French occupation zones were transferred to German control.
On this date:
in 1939, Romanian Premier Armand Calinescu was assassinated.
In 1964, Malta became an independent state within the British Commonwealth.
In 1969, more than 120 people were killed in rioting in western India, which stemmed from alleged Moslem abuse of cattle, which the Hindus regard as sacred.
And in 1978, Syria, Algeria, South Yemen, and Libya severed relations with Egypt because of that nation's accord with Israel.
Ten years ago: the 26th General Assembly of the United Nations opened in New York, with Indonesia's Adam Malik as its president.
Five years ago: former Chilean foreign minister Orlando Letelier was killed when his car exploded in Washington, D.C.
One year ago: with Democratic incumbent Jimmy Carter absent in protest, Republican Ronald Reagan and Independent John Anderson staged the presidential campaign's first debate. — AP.

Michigan too much for Irish

By KELLY SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Sometime between last Saturday and this Saturday, Michigan remembered what a No. 1 football team was supposed to play like, and Notre Dame forgot.

The Wolverines learned their lesson following a loss to Wisconsin. Coach Bo Schembechler drilled his team on fundamentals during practice this week, a week tailback Butch Woolfolk called "long, hard and very intense — if you'd have been on the sidelines, you would have backed up, the hitting was so hard."

On Saturday, Michigan conducted a clinic in front of 105,888 fans and a national television audience on the basics — domination in the trenches, ball control on offense, intimidation on defense. When the lesson was over, Anthony Carter's demonstration on pass catching sent the fans home with their money's worth, while the rest of his teammates sent the Irish home to South Bend with a 25-7 defeat.

"There's no excuse," confessed Notre Dame coach Gerry Faust. "Michigan played better football than we did today. They blocked better, they tackled better. They made us not look good."

"I felt confident that if we played like Michigan, we could win based on what I knew of Notre Dame's team," offered a relieved Schembechler. "I have great respect for the character of Michigan's teams and this one didn't let me down."

It was obvious from the start that Michigan was a time bomb just waiting to go off. Showing the intensity and crispness they lacked in Wisconsin, the Wolves marched 71 yards up the field their very first possession. Though the drive came up empty on the scoreboard (a missed field goal from the 31), the emotional stage had been set.

"We didn't get any points out of that first drive, but it proved to our team that we had the right stuff to win," said Schembechler.

That "stuff" eventually came together, and Michigan exploded for four touchdowns (a pair in the air, a pair on the ground). Notre Dame's stuff (including a fake field goal and a wingback option) did not.

"That first (Michigan) touchdown was just dumb," offered Irish defensive coach Jim Johnson, when Carter outran the coverage for a 71-yard reception. "We were in a zone two-deep. The free safety (Rod Bone) was responsible for him. But Stacey (Toran) knocked Carter out of bounds for a second and that's when Rod lost him. In college, you're allowed to come back in, and that's what Carter did."

Faust acknowledged the importance of that early score. "Once Michigan got going, they outplayed us in every aspect."

Explained linebacker Mark Zavagnin: "We just let them get the momentum early and couldn't take it away from them. We thought we'd done that when we stopped them on that first drive, but we hadn't. They came out fired up and ready to play. We knew they'd be like that, but we couldn't do anything to stop it."

The Michigan defense found plenty of ways to stop the Irish offense, however. Deep in its own territory for most of the game, Notre Dame managed just 213 net yards (only 70 on the ground) while their hosts racked up 407.

"We just couldn't get on track today," remarked wingback Tony Hunter, who gained just 11 yards in seven tries, but caught five passes for 72 yards. "Their defense changed a few things from what we expected, they gave us a few different looks. But it was nothing so significant that we couldn't have overcome it. Our biggest problem was just an overall lack of execution."

Except for an effective drive in the first quarter and one in the fourth, there was practically no continuity on an offense that bore little resemblance to last week's motion machine. The Irish (who managed just one first down through second and third quarter play) averted a shutout only by posting a late fourth quarter score. In an unsuccessful attempt, Faust shuffled Tim Koegel (10 of 22 for 139 yards) and Blair Kiel (0 of two in the air) at quarterback. "I don't know if that made any real difference or not," he said. "I'll have to do some evaluating this week."

"Until you look at the films, it's hard to tell if any one thing is slowing our offense down," Kiel stated. "You can't really blame it on the quarterback system yet. I credit Michigan's defense. They really stuck it to us."

Koegel directed a 76 yard drive on Notre Dame's second series, but the Irish were stopped on four tries from the Michigan six yard line. Koegel was tripped up on third-and-goal, and a fake field goal pass from Dave Condeni to Hunter didn't work.

"We just made too many little mistakes," said Koegel, at the helm for 11 of Notre Dame's 12 first downs. "I thought we were ready, but we just weren't playing as intensely as Michigan. We couldn't get rolling. And that's tough on the defense when they have to be out there all the time." Especially when the Michigan offense knew exactly what to expect. Schembechler reviewed Moeller films to help him prepare for Faust's alignments on both sides of the ball.

"Our prep team showed us the way Notre Dame disguised their defensive coverages," explained

Rare defeat

Faust suffers first college loss

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — People have been curious about Gerry Faust since he arrived in South Bend. About how he would make the transition from high school coaching, about how he'd handle the pressure at the collegiate level, about how he'd succeed at Notre Dame.

And after Saturday's crushing 25-7 defeat, all America wanted to know how he would react after his first loss with the Irish.

"Is this hard, Gerry?" asked one reporter. "It's not easy," Faust said softly, managing half a grin.

He has emerged from the losing lockerroom so few times (16 in his 18 years as a coach) that people who knew him best could never predict how he'd take defeat. Linebacker Bob Crable was often asked what Faust was like after a loss. "I don't know," Crable would respond, "I've never seen him after he's lost." Crable's Moeller squads went 36-0 in his four years there.

"I don't want the kids or the coaches to get their heads down about this."

A Faust coached team hasn't lost since 1978, when Princeton beat Moeller 13-12. After that, he won 34 straight, including his first at Notre Dame. "That long streak doesn't make it any harder," he said Saturday in a quiet Irish dressing room. "It'd be just as hard to take if I hadn't lost in two or three games."

Yet as difficult as it must have been for Faust to accept on the inside, he handled himself as well as anyone could on the outside, offerring no excuses and taking most of the blame himself.

"We didn't move the football, but maybe it was my play calling. Anytime the plays don't work, it's the play calling, right?"

Faust was asked if he had second thoughts about rotating his quarterbacks. "I guess you would after you lose," he stated. "It was a good idea last week. When things go well, they're great ideas, and when they don't, they're lousy. I'm sure I'll get letters about it this week."

And he shrugged off the idea that being No. 1 had anything to do with the outcome. "Michigan would have been ready for us anyway," he said. "They're a good team. I voted for them in the top three even after their loss to Wisconsin."

"And we weren't overconfident," Faust continued. "I thought we looked good in practice this week. I felt we were ready. If we had gotten a couple of breaks, maybe the momentum would have helped us out."

There was a lot of arm-chair coaching going on after the game. Why did the offense suddenly get so conservative? "It was still a close game," explained Faust. "I didn't want to gamble." Then why the fake field goal? "I thought it would go — I just thought it would work."

Almost nothing Notre Dame did seemed to work, but the Irish coach didn't take his frustration out on his players.

"It doesn't do any good to start yelling at them right now. The team is as sad as I am that they didn't perform well. But as long as we learn something from this loss, it's been worthwhile."

What really concerns Faust is whether his troops will bounce back from the shake-up.

"I don't want the kids or the coaches to get their heads down about this," he noted. "We've got a real good football team. We just have to work harder."

Faust, 1-1 in the college ranks, doesn't want to go through many more afternoons like Saturday. "My assistants told me there'd be days like this once in a while," he added. "I just hope they're right — they'll only be once in a while."

St. Louis lacks class in defeat

The sport of soccer, for reasons that escape me at this time, has a history of violence that somehow adds a certain character to the game—quite unlike the element(s) associated with hockey, but character nonetheless. Riots, referee lynchings and civil wars have all made appearances at one time or another adding Latin and European color to the gentleman's game.

And Notre Dame, that eternally "with it" institution of higher learning, probably felt pretty left out of things when it came to grassroots immaturity on the soccer field...that is, until the St. Louis University Billikens came to town and taught us all a lesson in how to lose like children.

Last year, when the Billikens gave the Irish soccer team a clinic in soccer know-how (during a 6-1 pelting that wasn't as close as the score indicated), St. Louis couldn't have been more hospitable and sympathetic to the Notre Dame struggle for success on a national level. But things do change.

In the madness that followed the Notre Dame soccer team's stunning 4-3 win over sixth-ranked St. Louis, the abuse dealt by a number of Billiken coaches, players, and fans—including physical threats and verbal taunts—to referees Nerio Blasevitch and Laszlo Molnar for a brief moment overshadowed the miracle that belonged to the Irish players and coaches.

The frustration the Billikens were experiencing was no doubt unexpected, but St. Louis players had no one to blame but themselves for the result. The near-assault on the officials was totally unjustified. This was not the action of a team with a legendary soccer heritage that includes 22 straight NCAA playoff bids and ten national championships.

While the skepticism will no doubt persist as to the circumstances of the Irish victory—a questionable awarding of a penalty kick to Notre Dame that became the game-winning goal—the fact is that coach Rich Hunter's squad played St. Louis stride-for-stride all afternoon. Notre Dame made their own breaks and deserved to win the game.

The nationally-touted Billikens stunk the place out. They deserved to lose.

"It's our fault we kept (Notre Dame) in the game," said John Hayes, SLU's All-America striker—one of the few Billikens to accept defeat gracefully. "They've improved 100 percent since last year and that's a credit to them. Even when we went ahead they kept coming."

The Irish performed, unquestionably, to their ultimate. They were patient and poised. They stuck to their game plan, and above all, they played to win. And all the right cards fell into place.

Junior forward Mario Manta gave the Irish an early boost of confidence with a goal three minutes into the game while the Billikens stood and watched. Twenty minutes later, Manta made a gorgeous move between two Billiken fullbacks to set up a Rob Snyder goal.

Notre Dame fell behind after goals on a questionable call by an official in the last minute of the first half and
