

Happy Birthday!

Special 15th Anniversary Edition

Former top editors discuss careers, changes

Editor's note: For the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of The Observer, Executive News Editor Kelli Flint, SMC Executive News Editor Mary Agnes Carey, and News Editors Tim Vercellotti, Cathy Domanico and Dave Rickabaugh talked to former Observer Editors-in-Chief about changes in the style and operation of the newspaper over the years and the effect that working with The Observer has had on their careers.

The Observer was founded on November 1, 1966 by co-editors Robert Anson and Stephen Feldhaus.

Anson, currently a free-lance writer whose articles have appeared in magazines such as Time, Esquire, and Playboy, said his experience with The Observer helped him obtain his first job, as a correspondent for Time magazine.

On a recent trip to Notre Dame, Anson visited The Observer office, noting that the "remarkable" changes in the paper were "by and large for the better." "I was impressed by the professionalism," he said.

The Observer started a new journalistic direction for Notre Dame, according to Feldhaus, now an international lawyer who recently returned to the United States after a 5-year stay in London.

Feldhaus noted that The Observer provided him with skills that had a positive effect on his career. "The ability to deal with 56 people — coordinate conflicting schedules and meet common goals — has to help any career. It certainly helped mine.

Patrick Collins, who followed Anson and Feldhaus as editor in 1967, values the "independence" of The Observer.

"Only a few people appreciate how difficult it is to run a paper that is independent, make ends meet and put out a good product," he said.

"When we published the paper, we wondered if it would ever become what we wanted it to be — a daily publication. The paper has thus far fulfilled our hopes, particularly technologically. At this point, The Observer is a mini-version of papers like the Sun Times."

Collins is currently a reporter with WLS news, a Chicago-based ABC affiliate.

The Observer was a "pretty rank amateur" operation in 1968, according to William Luking, currently a lawyer in Chicago.

Luking added that working with The Observer was advantageous to his career "in a strange way", noting that it enabled him to develop administrative and managerial skills.

During Tim J. O'Meilia's editorship, from April, 1969 until September 1969, The Observer was "struggling to find an identity...what we could do with a daily...prove we could make it as a daily."

A features writer for The Post in West Palm

See EDITORS, page 4

Past newspaper quotes indicate period's mood

By Paul Kosidowski
Features Writer

After an enlightening afternoon basking in the nostalgia of Observers past, my effort to capture the spirit of another time through my own thoughts and words was destined to hopeless futility. The following vignettes (sometimes known as quotations) were first printed in Observers from the 1967-1968 school year.

...one quartet that has been tearing up England for some time has been unjustly ignored by the top-pop forty freaks. Quite unjustly, for this group has released good songs and was the first group to experiment with electronic distortion and feedback. Appropriately enough, they are called The Who.

Notre Dame's much touted ideal of eventually becoming a totally residential university is in serious trouble. The high rise dormitory complex to be erected north of the library...will never make this a residential university. Simply lumping a couple of hundred rooms together with a chapel does not create a resident hall...in the planned high rise halls...there will be only one lounge area for every 25 students.

Senior Class President Mike Minton has announced that he plans to speak to the Student Senate Wednesday in support of a motion which would allow for second semester, on-campus Seniors to have automobiles. ...Minton plans to outline to the Senate at least four reasons for change in the rule. The first is improvement of social conditions for Seniors, especially for those seriously thinking of marriage and needing a car to visit fiances.

See QUOTES, page 4

'All-around Service'

Observer examines role in community

By Tony Walton
Editorials Editor

As The Observer reflects upon 15 years of service to the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's campuses, it is good to pause and consider the role of the newspaper in this community. A newspaper is often cast in the role of trying to be all things to all people; it must deliver news, opinion, general information and entertainment, as well as providing a forum for exchange on pertinent issues. The Observer has considered this to be its objective and continues to strive for this all-around service.

But it's not easy. A newspaper, while accepting its many responsibilities, must also acknowledge its limitations. It must define its mission, then fulfill it to the best of its abilities. The goal of The Observer, as stated by the first editors-in-chief, is to "uncover the truth and to report it accurately." This is not always a pleasant task and it will not always satisfy everyone in the community, yet it is our job.

The Observer was created as an independent voice in the community, free of any coercive influence, be it from the university administration, the faculty or the student body. This is not an arrogant position — it is one of necessity. Living in a media-soaked society, we are continually reminded that "the truth" is often subjective, open to interpretation and argument, but a newspaper must print that which it knows to be the truth at the time. As stated by Charles Scott in 1926, "Comment is free, the facts are sacred." The Observer does its best to present those facts.

As the independent voice in the community, we are in a monopoly position of a sort. This complicates our role, as we must be self-motivating, self-critical, and self-policing. This is an area where the reader becomes a part of the journalistic process. Is the paper accurate, fair? Is it addressing relevant issues? How can it be improved? Students must let The Observer know; it is a student paper.

And perhaps that is the truest of any statement concerning a newspaper. The Observer is only as strong as the support it receives from its community. What is a newspaper without its readers? Several pieces of paper. It can only be as vital as the community surrounding it. It is a reflection of the needs, opinions and concerns of that community. The Observer is continually searching for ways to better fulfill its mission of service to the ND-SMC community. This search may at times appear to be a lack of direction, but we do not pretend to be perfect; we do promise to always deliver our best.

Fifteen years is not a long time in the newspaper business. In that short time, however, The Observer has carved a niche in the ND-SMC community, and is looking forward to many more years of service to that community.

Current editor analyzes Observer birth, future

By John M. McGrath
Editor-in-Chief 1981-82

Fifteen years ago today, The Observer published its first issue. The big news items in that first 12-page edition centered around the 1966 homecoming festivities scheduled for the upcoming weekend. There was a photo on page four of Ray Charles ("The high exalted priest of rock and roll") — the featured attraction at Saturday's homecoming concert. The pretty face of Barbara Cunneen, the 1966 homecoming queen, also graced those early pages, along with homecoming messages from Coach Ara Parseghian and Team Captain Jim Lynch and previews of the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh homecoming game matchup.

In light of our fifteenth anniversary observance, however, the most significant articles dealt with The Observer itself. At the bottom of the front page, the headline "A Promise, A Purpose, A Newspaper Is Born," attracts immediate attention now, 15 years to the day after it was printed. You see, one week before that historical first issue, The Observer's predecessor, The Voice literally died. To fill the void caused by The Voice's demise, a group of concerned student journalists huddled together to discuss the possibility of "starting from scratch" and opening another newspaper.

The result of these desperate discussions was the inauspicious birth of The Observer.

Former Voice Editor Steve Feldhaus and Sam Anson, up to that point an associate editor at Scholastic, forged an alliance and agreed to serve jointly as the fledgling paper's first Editors-in-Chief. The rest is history.

But what was the motivation behind The Observer's birth — and what keeps it in business today? Perhaps some lines culled from the the editorial page of that first edition can help answer these questions.

Under the heading, "As We Begin," The Observer's first editors wrote:

"Closing down The Voice was indeed a difficult task, for there are many fond memories. The Observer was not created out of any sentimental longing for a now-defunct publication. It is not a rebirth, but a completely new thrust in journalism.

"Editorially, The Observer will follow a liberal policy...This liberal is a man who is always on special assignment, who eschews the automatic response, the doctrinaire formula. He is wary of ideologies and absolutes. His mind is set on searching, for discovering and effecting new policies rather than conserving old ones for age's sake."

"Implementing this liberal policy on The Observer will mean an all-encompassing search for the truth, both in fact and opinion. In this quest, our editorial pens will not be confined to the campus scene, although this will be our main focus, but will from time to time roam over the national and international issues that must, by their nature, touch any University."

Fifteen years later, The Observer still strives to maintain this "liberal" thrust in its editorial policies — liberal not in the sense of any ideological persuasion, but rather in the mission of examining each issue on the basis of clear and unbiased reporting. I will be the first to admit that this ideal has — and probably never will be — realized completely by The Observer. I can assure our readers, however, that The Observer continues unrelentingly after fifteen years of existence sincerely and energetically to attempt to attain this goal. In fact, the main focus of our efforts for the remainder of this year is much the same as the goal of the first editors in 1966: to improve the quantity, depth, and objectivity of our editorial content.

What then is different about The Observer of the '80s? For one thing, we are technologically advanced when compared to our early days — and to many other college dailies in the nation today. Not only are stories written and edited on computer terminals in today's Observer newsroom, but they are also typeset

See BIRTH, page 4

Top stories and style changes highlight

The Voice then...

Editor's note: The following front pages reveal some of the top news stories covered by the Observer over the past fifteen years. These pages also reflect major style changes in the paper.

10-27-66

After three and one-half years of publication as a campus news weekly, The Voice closed its doors on Oct. 27, 1966. Explaining that The Voice would be good, or there would be no Voice at all, Editor-in-chief Stephen M. Feldhaus cited a lack of funds, newsmen and journalistic training as the reasons for the paper's demise. "The Voice was foundering," wrote Feldhaus, "and in the light of the present conditions under which it has been forced to operate, the staff decided to fold. When the impossibility of radical improvement became clear, there was no other choice. There's room for a newspaper at Notre Dame, but not The Voice under the present circumstances."

Campus Elections Stand-Off-Campus Over

SMC TO APPEAR ON GE BOWL

11-3-66 One week after the The Voice shut down, a campus newspaper created to "observe, remark, notice, comment and adhere" appeared at Notre Dame. The first issue of the Observer featured an article by Ara Parsegian concerning the birth of a newspaper, along with a series of photographs describing the Observer staff's ingredients for an ideal office situation. Robert Anson and Stephen Feldhaus co-edited the paper.

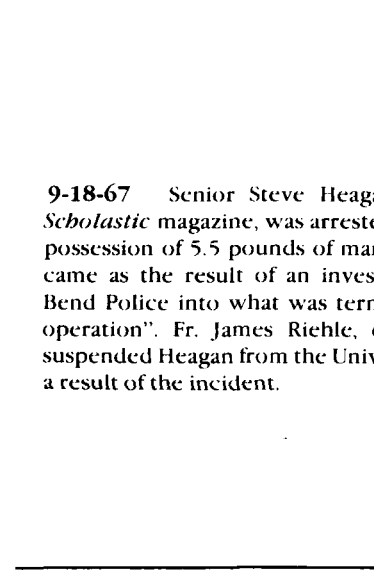

11-24-69 The University Arts Council sponsored a rally in the Fieldhouse in an effort to preserve the building for campus cultural arts. This rally followed a circulation of petitions which were signed by 2,100 Notre Dame and St. Mary's students asking that Fr. Hesburgh "hold off on the Fieldhouse demolition".

Willis Nutting on Free City

5-1-70 President Richard M. Nixon announced the night before that several thousand American troops have entered Cambodia to "wipe out Communist headquarters for all military operations against South Vietnam." Nixon announced that the U.S. would provide "small arms and other equipment" to enable Cambodia to "defend its neutrality."

9-18-67 Senior Steve Heagan, art editor for Scholastic magazine, was arrested this summer for possession of 5.5 pounds of marijuana. The arrest came as the result of an investigation by South Bend Police into what was termed "a large scale operation". Fr. James Riehle, dean of students, suspended Heagan from the University for a year as a result of the incident.

2-1-71 Apollo 14's astronauts succeeded in docking their command ship with the lunar lander, overcoming a problem that would have forced cancellation of their landing on the moon. A round of celebrations broke out at NASA control in Houston when spaceship Commander Alan B. Shepard announced that there had been a "good, hard dock."

11-8-72 Richard M. Nixon won re-election by a large majority on this date, losing only Massachusetts and the District of Columbia to his Democratic opponent, Senator George McGovern of South Dakota. It appeared certain that Nixon would claim a clear mandate for his policies of gradual disengagement from Vietnam, strong defense spending, opposition to forced busing, and a slow-down of federal spending for social programs.

3-25-68 Republican Senator Mark Hatfield received the Presidential nomination at the 1968 Mock Republican Convention. After a deadlock consisting of 11 ballots, Hatfield emerged the victor over Nelson Rockefeller of New York. The delegates selected Massachusetts Governor John A. Volpe as Hatfield's running mate.

the Observer's fifteen year progress

THE OBSERVER

AAUP claims fraud recruitment

4-30-73 Committee W of the American Association of University Professors concluded that the University was not "doing enough to recruit and hold women faculty members at the University". At the time, there were 15 women on Notre Dame's faculty of 750. Of this number, 24 were involved in teaching or research, 14 full-time. Of these women, one had tenure.

Concerned group criticizes SMC's parietals proposal

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

4-30-73 Committee W of the American Association of University Professors concluded that the University was not "doing enough to recruit and hold women faculty members at the University". At the time, there were 15 women on Notre Dame's faculty of 750. Of this number, 24 were involved in teaching or research, 14 full-time. Of these women, one had tenure.

9-9-74 President Gerald Ford granted former President Richard Nixon unconditional pardon for any Watergate offenses. Ford explained that he had acted both out of compassion for Nixon and fear that the nation would be torn apart by ugly passions if Nixon was brought to trial. Reaction in Congress was mixed. White House Press Secretary J.F. ter Horst resigned in protest of the pardon.

THE OBSERVER

Nixon pardoned by Ford

9-9-74 President Gerald Ford granted former President Richard Nixon unconditional pardon for any Watergate offenses. Ford explained that he had acted both out of compassion for Nixon and fear that the nation would be torn apart by ugly passions if Nixon was brought to trial. Reaction in Congress was mixed. White House Press Secretary J.F. ter Horst resigned in protest of the pardon.

Voter drive poses legal hassles

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

The Observer

Pope leaves Washington

10-8-79 Pope John Paul II took the United States by storm with visits across the country during his six-city, six-day tour. Observer staff members were in Washington and Chicago to chronicle the American peoples' joyful reception of the Pontiff in his historic pilgrimage.

after triumphant Chicago visit

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

SMC Student Assembly allows funds

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

*The Observer

ND named nation's best

1-19-1978 The Notre Dame Fighting Irish rolled over the Longhorns of the University of Texas, taking the Cotton Bowl by a score of 48-10, and winning the national championship. The win, along with the defeats of Oklahoma and Michigan, resulted in a number one ranking for the Irish in the post-season polls. While Alabama fans protested the polls' results, Irish head coach Dan Devine remarked that "we earned it on the field. We played the number one team and beat them."

Ford discusses world poverty and peace

President Ford discussed world poverty and peace during his visit to Notre Dame. He met with faculty and students from the University's Academic Council.

*The Observer

WELCOME PRESIDENT OF FORD

Cambodian aid defended; Ford-Rockefeller ticket upheld

President Ford and advisors meet in informal sessions on campus.

President Ford and advisors met in informal sessions on campus during his visit to Notre Dame.

3-18-75 President Ford paid a visit to the Notre Dame campus on March 17, 1975. In the course of the day Ford spoke to a convocation of 10,000 at the ACC, and met with faculty and students from the University's Academic Council. At a press conference later in the day, Ford defended his support of aid to Cambodia and confirmed a Ford-Rockefeller ticket for the 1976 presidential campaign.

11-5-80 Republican Ronald Reagan was elected the 40th President of the United States as he led his party to victories not only in the White House but also in Congress and state legislatures. On that same date, the 52 American hostages in Iran marked their 365th day of captivity.

The Observer

Republicans win big; Reagan defeats Carter

11-5-80 Republican Ronald Reagan was elected the 40th President of the United States as he led his party to victories not only in the White House but also in Congress and state legislatures. On that same date, the 52 American hostages in Iran marked their 365th day of captivity.

GOP sweeps local political contests

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

City claims 'get-tough' approach

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

4-28-76 The Notre Dame-St. Mary's Students for Reagan and the Student Union Academic Commission announced that the Republican presidential candidate would speak at Notre Dame in early May, in anticipation of the Indiana primary. On the Democratic side, former Georgia governor Jimmy Carter's campaign gained momentum with a win in Pennsylvania.

Carter sweeps Pennsylvania

Former Georgia governor Jimmy Carter's campaign gained momentum with a win in Pennsylvania.

*The Observer

Student Government backs elimination of night exams

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

Reagan comes to N.D.

President Ronald Reagan visited Notre Dame during his campaign.

*The Observer

Tavern litter prompts South Bend action

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

NO prof arrested for car smuggling

A Notre Dame Assistant Professor of Architecture, Enrico F. Plati, was arrested along with two men from Italy in connection with the Federal investigation of a ring suspected of smuggling exotic cars into the country.

Hitching causes concern

Members of the Notre Dame Student Government (ND-SG) have expressed their opposition to a proposal by the Society of Men's Council (SMC) to implement parietals on campus.

3-24-77 A Notre Dame Assistant Professor of Architecture, Enrico F. Plati, was arrested along with two men from Italy in connection with the Federal investigation of a ring suspected of smuggling exotic cars into the country. Chairman William Richardson stated that "he (Plati) was a very popular professor — good, energetic, dedicated — and most of the students really liked him." Plati was unavailable for comment.

... The Observer now

The Observer

Hostages out... Reagan in

Warm welcome greets 52 Americans in Wiesbaden - West Germany

1-21-81 The nation celebrated as the 52 American hostages returned home and Ronald Reagan was sworn in. "They are now free of Iran" said newly-sworn-in President Reagan, just two hours after his inauguration. The Notre Dame community awaited news of one hostage in particular, Thomas Ahern, Class of 1954.

President pledges strength, austerity

President Reagan pledged strength and austerity during his inaugural address.

One of 52 ND's Ahern beads home

Thomas Ahern, Class of 1954, was one of the 52 American hostages who returned home. He was welcomed by family and friends.

Sports Department comes of age over years

By MICHAEL ORTMAN

Sports Editor

The Observer is a baby in the world of collegiate publications, but Notre Dame's athletic program is the "Grand-Daddy of 'em All." Oh sure, Saint Mary's has too often been forgotten, even when the Belles were playing the Irish, but then Notre Dame's athletic tradition made the job of The Observer sports editor a relatively easy one over the last 15 years.

Over that span, some editors chose to use Notre Dame's age-old athletic tradition as a crutch, and becoming wrapped up in the Notre Dame spirit so far as to refer to any Notre Dame team as "we" and a victory as "ours." Others have gone to the opposite extreme, hunting and digging for any tidbit of journalistic information that might serve, intentionally or not, to tear down the Fighting Irish.

Most of us would like to think we've learned from the mistakes of our predecessors. At the same time though, think about any student organization you've been a part of in high school or college, especially one without a faculty moderator. Every time a new person takes over, they feel compelled to make a few obvious physical changes, just to remind people that the new regime has taken over.

Accordingly, the first Observer featured a column entitled "The Irish Eye." Some insightful sports columnist offered his thoughts on a weekly basis under that title for the next 13 years until it was abandoned in 1979. During those 13 years, the column's standing head changed its appearance 10 times.

Some things, however, never change around Notre Dame. Atop the back page of Volume 1, Number 1 was The Observer's first exclusive — a letter from the charismatic young football coach, Ara Parseghian. Although he doesn't remember that particular one 15 years later ("There were so many articles over my 11 years," he said yesterday), Parseghian was expounding on the great Notre Dame-Pittsburgh rivalry and how important that weekend's game would be. Doesn't that sound a lot like Gerry Faust's nationally syndicated "Coaches Journal?"

What a year that was on the Notre Dame campus. It marked the return to the pinnacle of success for the Notre Dame football team as the Irish won the National Championship for the first time in 17 years.

It was the year of the legendary "Game of the Century" between the nation's top two teams, Notre Dame and Michigan State. Executive Editor W. Hudson Giles, author of "The Irish Eye," wrote in the November 17 National Championship Edition, "History is marked by titanic struggles: Rome vs. Carthage, Don Juan vs. the Turks, North vs. South, East vs. West, Kennedy vs. Johnson. And this Saturday at East Lansing comes the biggest confrontation since the Berlin Wall: Notre Dame vs. Michigan State."

Giles was one of the paper's Founding Fathers. Robert Schmul, a professor of American Studies at Notre Dame today, was a freshman sports writer in 1966, the only year he worked at The Observer. He worked with Giles, then a senior, in the Sports Information Department. But Schmul's recollections of The Observer are few. "I remember how fledgling it was," he recalls. "We tried to take The Observer seriously while most people here didn't."

Certain philosophies have remained constant through these 15 years. The Observer has been able to bring the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community coverage of things that no other paper would or could — things like interhall sports, Bookstore Basketball and the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's rivalry of the '70s.

Coverage of Bookstore wasn't always so extensive. It took time for The Observer to give the tournament the campus-wide recognition it deserved. In last spring's Bookstore X supplement, the tournament's Founding Father Vince Meconi related, "The most frustrating thing about the early tournaments was the lack of Observer coverage. We'd have 1,000 players participating in a nine-day tournament and 2,000 fans watching the Final Four, and we'd get two paragraphs.

Meanwhile The Observer was writing a half-page article on some golfer. Give me a break!"

At the same time, the paper's bread and butter always has been Notre Dame football. Off and on over its history, The Observer has published special home-football Saturday editions, which evolved into Friday football supplements and now a combination of the two — Saturday editions wrapped by Friday's supplement. The Observer's sports pages no doubt will undergo more change in the future, whether Notre Dame and Saint Mary's athletics do or not. Different sports editors will have different philosophies and different interests. And perhaps that's what makes this paper such a beneficial experience for those who take advantage of the opportunity to work here — the paper's independence to make the changes or retain the things consistent with the eb and flow of the Fighting Irish and the Belles of Saint Mary's.

...Editors

continued from page 1

Beach, Fla., O'Meilie also worked for the Miami (Fla.) Herald but has spent the last nine years at The Post.

Now an attorney with Schering-Plough Corp., of Memphis, Tenn., David C. Bach watched The Observer change from three days of publication each week to five during his editorship, from Sept. 1970 to Jan. 1971.

Bach worked as a writer, night editor and design assistant while with The Observer and explained the experience improved his writing and composition skills, helping him in his present career.

Gaetano De Sapio, Observer editor from September 1969 until Spring, 1970, also served as "publisher" of the paper (taking over money concerns — "beg, borrow or steal vehicle, money and advertising") during his senior year, the year after his editorship.

De Sapio's goal was to turn The Observer into "a daily and keep it going." His year was one of "continuous crisis" in which the paper almost folded due to financial problems and a small staff (only eight people were responsible for daily publication, as compared to the current 15 staffers each evening).

An attorney with his own law practice in Baptistown, N.J., De Sapio stated that his years at The Observer taught him how to "write intelligently and work long hours with only the self-satisfaction of your work (as a reward)."

The only two year Editor-in-Chief in the history of The Observer, Glen Corso served in that position from October 1970 to March 1972. He took over after the newspaper shut down for a three day period.

Corso said that, "what had to be established after the shutdown was an Observer with stability, a firm direction and an editorial policy."

Corso graduated from Catholic University Law School after leaving Notre Dame and is currently the Deputy Legislative Council for Mortgage Bankers Association in Takoma Park, Md.

John Abowd served as the Editor-in-Chief of The Observer from March 1972 to March 1973.

"This is when The Observer became sellable to the advertising community and added full time non-student positions to the payroll," commented Abowd. "We also added responsibility to the editorial content of the paper. Poorly thought-out editorials no longer appeared without signatures."

The first photo typesetting and layout machines were acquired during this period.

After graduating from Notre Dame, Abowd received a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. He then joined the faculty of Princeton University for three years and currently serves on the faculty of the Graduate School of Business of the University of Chicago.

Jerry Lutkus was Editor-in-Chief from March 1973 to March 1974.

Lutkus commented, "We (The Observer) concentrated on two areas for improvement during that year: building credibility into the news department through improvement in the quality of writing and reporting and building a solid financial base from which to operate."

Lutkus joined the staff of The South Bend Tribune for an eight-year period in which he received numerous national awards for his reporting on education. He enrolled in Notre Dame Law School in 1979 and plans to graduate this spring. He currently serves as the Executive Editor of The Lawyer.

Tom Drape filled the position of editor-in-chief from March, 1974 to March, 1975. Drape, currently editor of Universal Press in New York City, described his term as editor-in-chief as "the best year of my professional life."

Drape recalled the "newspaper spirit" of the staff that was present during his tenure. "I felt that we had a nucleus of aspiring journalists. Even though the formal training was minimal, there was a great deal of dedication and willingness to learn," he explained.

After graduation, Drape wrote for The Kansas City Star, and Newsweek, before assuming his current position at Universal Press, a newspaper features service.

Terry Keeney succeeded Drape in March, 1975, and served as editor-in-chief until the following March. Keeney went on to Harvard Law School after graduating from Notre Dame, and is currently working in a private law firm in Washington, D.C.

Describing his time at The Observer as "exciting," and "good experience," Keeney explained that the paper "felt a responsibility to fill in the gap of national news for the student body." National and international news from the United Press International was mixed in with the campus coverage.

Tom O'Neill followed Keeney into the editor-in-chief's position.

O'Neill is now serving as managing editor for Best Publishing Co., Inc., an organization that is developing a magazine, several books, and a cable television program, all centered around "exploring the world of quality."

The first (and only, so far) Saint Mary's College student to serve as Observer editor in chief was Marti Hogan Brink, now an advertising manager for Burndy, Corp., in Norwalk, Conn.

Mrs. Brink served as editor from April, 1977 until April, 1978, and was a reporter, layout assistant and night editor before becoming editor in chief. Her main goals as editor were "to make the paper a little more professional to make sure students got their $6 worth" and to unify the ND-SMC campuses.

Tony Pace, The Observer's editor from March, 1978 until March 1979, noted design changes as the major improvement during his editorship.

An Assistant Accounting Executive for Young and Rubican, the former editor noted the importance of establishing "projects in terms of what you want to achieve."

Rosemary Mills, The Observer's second woman editor, worked to "expand coverage of national events" that occurred nearby (the controversial Ford Pinto trial was covered by an Observer reporter), place "more focus on the South Bend Community" and increase Saint Mary's coverage in Observer copy.

Now an Assistant Manager of Editorial Services for The American Institute for Certified Public Accountants, Ms. Mills said her Observer experience was helpful because she "did lots of editing" and had "to write concisely."

Last year's Observer editor Paul Mullaney, now a sportswriter for The Times in Hammond, Ind., geared his term "to computerize and modernize The Observer...put (it) on par with other small dailies around the country."

...Quotes

continued from page 1

An estimated 30 Catholic Traditionalists walked out of the 11 a.m. Sunday Mass at Sacred Heart in protest against use of the new English Canon. One woman, as the priest came forward to distribute Communion, accosted him, called the Mass "Judeo-Masonic Devil-worship," and then herself left.

...no one is quite sure of the exact enrollment at St. Mary's College, but it really doesn't make any difference. For all the girls are pretty much the same and unfortunately, what they are is not the type of girl you would want to take home to mother.

Dustin Hoffman, star of The Graduate and (Eugene) McCarthy campaigner, was mobbed by crowds of enthusiastic students in visits to Notre Dame and St. Mary's Wednesday.

For a long while now there has been a great deal of argument and debate between the student body and the administration over the question of parietal hours...What I feel necessary to point out is the overwhelming and outrageous incongruity between (Hesburgh's) adamant stand on parietal hours, on the basis of Christian commitment, and yet your permissiveness which lets an ROTC unit exist on this campus with 1500 students enrolled in it!

DELPHIC ORACLE...Open Nov. 22...featuring Old Quo Vadis...Underground Films...Captain Electric and the Flying Lapels...Psychedelic Light Show.

"A moratorium for the rest of the year on all student protests" will be asked for by Student Body President Richard Rossie in a letter to students today...Although the letter says "all student protests," Rossie said it does not include war demonstration. "The Presidential Review protest is not included, but civil disobedience protests are."

QUEEN Pam Clancy — from Wayne, New Jersey was elected Queen for Notre Dame Homecoming Ball this weekend. Pam, a 5-foot-3 blonde hair green eyed freshman at Aulwell College New Jersey will be escorted by junior Craig Fenech, a junior Economics major. Craig and Pam met three years ago at a local swim club in Wayne, New Jersey. "We're going together now," said Pam, "But we're almost positive we're going to get married in two or three years."

Twenty to twenty-five Notre Dame students were arrested while participating in a sit-in in the office of South Bend Superintendent of Schools, Charles Holt...The students were protesting...the fact that armed policemen are patrolling the halls and school yards of some South Bend Schools.

Midnight. That's NoDoz' finest hour. But you should know that NoDoz can do more than help you stay awake when you're cramming. For example, if you're tired or drowsy take a couple before the exam to help bring your mind back to its usual keen edge...NoDoz. The scholar's friend.

The White Rabbit...This Saturday "The Shaggs" (featuring Chuck Perrin)... "Ben Franklin's Almanak"...Not responsible for blown MINDS...Wonderful Wayne-O-WJVA-DJ...PSYCHEDELIC LIGHTS AND SOUNDS.

Over fifty students attended a meeting of the Notre Dame Students for Nixon last week...By informing people about Nixon's stands the group hopes to erase "many erroneous images" that are common.

...Birth

continued from page 1

by computer. Business, circulation, and advertising functions are computerized as well, and just a few weeks ago, The Observer acquired an in-house capability for reproducing all photos and graphics to exact printing specifications. This year, we also forged a unique agreement with The Associated Press to receive daily allotments of national and worldwide laserphotos.

Essentially, therefore, we are roughly as up-to-date as most city newspapers as we celebrate our fifteenth anniversary. And when compared with other college dailies in the nation, I feel we stack up well with the best. In some respects, we stand out from the crowd. That is, truly independent college dailies like The Observer are indeed few and far between on American campuses these days. Add to that the fact that the combined enrollment of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is only around 10,000 and the reality that Notre Dame sponsors no school of journalism, and you must admit that we are justifiably proud — and hopeful — on the occasion of our fifteenth anniversary.

The Observer

VOL. XVI, NO. 50

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary's

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1981 - page 5

A crewmember stands on the foredeck of a grounded Soviet submarine off the Baltic coast near the Karlskrona naval base. Swedish authorities said "there must be some other reason" than Soviet bureaucracy keeping a skipper aboard his grounded submarine, but they dismissed the possibility of using force to end the stalemate. See story at right. (AP Laserphoto).

Soviets permit Skipper's questioning

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Soviet Union allowed the commander of a submarine stranded deep inside Swedish waters to be questioned yesterday and Swedish tugboats refloated the sub to prevent bad weather from battering the vessel apart.

Sweden at first insisted that a satisfactory explanation for the sub's presence in restricted Swedish waters would be required before it could be taken off the rocks close to the Karlskrona naval base where it ran aground last Tuesday. The Swedes said the sub was equipped as a spy ship.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Yakovlev earlier in the day informed the Foreign Ministry that his government had approved interrogation of the skipper, paving the way for a solution to the nearly week-long impasse.

But while the sub's skipper was being questioned aboard a Swedish naval vessel, its assistant commander sent distress signals to naval headquarters at Karlskrona.

"The submarine sent Mayday signals over the radio and fired emergency red flares and asked for assistance," naval Commander Gunnar Rasmusson said to explain the change in plans. "The rough weather threatened to break up the submarine."

Winds as high as 80 mph were recorded in the area.

Two tugboats completed the salvage operation in less than an hour, and the submarine was anchored about 10 miles from the naval base. Naval staff officer Borje Johansson said the submarine's seaworthiness had yet to be determined.

Swedish authorities, saying the sub was specially modified for intelligence missions and skilled maneuvering was required for it to get into the off limits zone, had stated that an apology alone would not be sufficient.

The skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Pyotr Gushin, had said he could not leave the submarine or hand over log documents until he received permission from his superiors at Kalingrad naval base.

The interrogation took place aboard a Swedish naval ship, with a second session scheduled aboard the submarine. Two Soviet diplomats were allowed to attend.

At a news conference, Sweden's commander-in-chief Lennart Ljung said the Soviets had agreed to an inspection of the sub's navigational equipment, nautical charts and duty lists.

Foreign Minister Ola Ullsten told reporters that the submarine's officers were "guaranteed personal immunity and will, of course, not be detained against their will after the questioning."

See BEGIN, page 8

See SUB, page 7

Delegation explains

Begin requests aid against Saudi peace plan

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin asked his political opposition yesterday to join him in fighting Saudi Arabia's Mideast peace plan, which he called a prescription for Israel's liquidation.

Speaking in Parliament, Begin rejected "from start to finish" the eight-point plan proposed by Saudi Crown Prince Fahd, and admonished the United States and Europe not to consider it as a basis for negotiation.

Begin blasted Saudi Arabia as "the petrodollar state, where the darkness of the Middle Ages reigns, with the cutting off of hands and heads, with corruption that cries out to high heaven."

He proposed that a bipartisan delegation from the Knesset (Parliament) go to the United States and Western Europe "to explain the justice of our cause."

Knesset veterans told The Associated Press they could not recall the last time a prime minister initiated such a delegation to combat a specific policy. Begin had considered sending a similar delegation to lobby against the sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia, but scrapped the idea.

Opposition leader Shimon Peres said his Labor Party would join the delegation provided its propaganda line was agreed on in advance.

"Of the Saudi liquidation formula termed a peace plan, we have heard disturbing words not only in Europe but also in America," Begin said.

"Those eight points cannot serve as any basis for any discussion whatsoever. They are rejected from start to finish. There is no party in the world with whom we will be ready to conduct discussions on a plan designed for Israel's liquidation."

The parliamentary delegation was the latest step in an Israeli lobbying campaign begun last week after President Reagan and Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. both commented favorably on the Fahd plan.

Officials said the Israeli Embassy in Washington has printed up thousands of copies of a position paper on the plan. Begin's aides leaked the contents of a letter the prime minister wrote to Reagan on Friday, and the prime minister appeared on a U.S. television interview program Sunday to explain the Israeli position.

Begin said clauses in the Fahd plan calling on Israel to evacuate territory captured in 1967 and advocating a Palestinian state with Jerusalem as its capital were aimed at strangling Israel.

He rejected American assertions that a clause affirming "the right of states in the region to live in peace" implies recognition of Israel be-

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

MATAMOROS, Mexico — A radio station owner with a grandfatherly face, a handle-bar moustache and an easy smile is turning this border city upside down with his maverick brand of populist politics.

Since taking office Jan. 1, Mayor Jorge Cardenas Gonzalez has closed cantinas on Sundays, donated his $12,000 salary to illuminate crime-plagued neighborhoods and told barkeeps in the infamous "Boys' Town" red-light district to move out or shut down.

His campaign slogan was "Jorge es el cambio" — "Jorge is the change" — and he says he's trying to change everything wrong with this city across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, Texas.

"When we started the campaign, we found out that Matamoros was a sick city, politically, morally and financially. It was terribly bad," he said.

Cardenas, 55, challenged the candidate backed by Mexico's establishment party, Partido Revolucionario Institucional — the party of President Jose Lopez Portillo and most elected officials in this country.

Cardenas bolted PRI several years ago to join the opposition PARM, Partido Autentico de la Revolucion Mexicana. Despite his middle-class background and ownership of grocery stores, import-export companies, orange groves, a hotel, a rope factory and two radio stations, he has become a folk hero to many impoverished supporters — "Jorgistas" who helped elect him by a 2 to 1 margin.

His popularity contrasts starkly with feelings about his predecessor, who three years ago was dragged from his office by a mob enraged over the death of a teen-ager while in police custody.

The mob burned the municipal palace, which houses the mayor's office. Cardenas remodeled the office. He tore out a wall, replaced it with glass "to let everyone see who is here" and removed all door locks.

He promised an open government and has set aside daily "office hours" to meet the public. On a daily talk show on one of his radio stations, he takes questions and complaints from listeners.

"We want them to know how money is invested, what is going to be done with money, what errors are committed in city administration and how we messed up," he said.

Cardenas ran three times for mayor before winning his three-year term. He cannot succeed himself, so he has little to lose politically in his reform projects. Top priorities for the city of 210,000 are street and drainage improvements, he said. Some areas now turn into lakes after a heavy rain.

"We are going to close the red-light district or move it out of town," he said. "The club years came to their end and I firmly told them that this year we have to make a move or we close it. It is causing a very serious problem where it is now."

See GONZALEZ, page 7

Student Senate discusses tenure, ND social life

By HANK WAGNER
News Staff

At last night's meeting of the Student Senate, social life and a new Tenure Ad Hoc Committee were the major topics of discussion.

The meeting opened with a brief discussion of social life on campus. Ideas mentioned were mid-week movies and a winter carnival. Emphasis is being placed on alternatives to alcohol. Student Body President Don Murday stated that more interaction is needed between the Senate, hall presidents and social commissioners.

Also under consideration is the formation of a Tenure Ad Hoc Committee, consisting of a member of Murday's cabinet and four volunteers from the Senate itself. The committee's purpose is still unclear, but one of its goals will be to provide student input to the tenure process.

The Senate stressed that it does not condone the "passing up" of students during home football games. The possibility of injury (demonstrated three years ago when a student sustained a severe back injury) and the obvious danger involved make this practice "more than a game," said Murday.

TUESDAY
FOCUS

By The Observer and The Associated Press

Saudi Arabia's Crown Prince Fahd said yesterday the Camp David peace process has reached a "dead end" and urged the United States to support an independent Palestinian state governed by the Palestine Liberation Organization. "There is no peace without the Palestinian people and there is no Palestinian state without the PLO," he said in a statement clarifying the eight-point Mideast peace plan he announced Aug. 7. Fahd's latest remarks, carried by the official Saudi Press Agency and the state-run radio, also left the door open for Soviet participation in the peace process he proposes. Fahd called his plan a "balanced, reasonable alternative" to the Camp David formula which produced the peace treaty between Egypt and Israel but has so far failed to achieve agreement on self-rule for Palestinians living in Israeli-occupied territory. President Reagan, in an interview in the current Time magazine, reaffirmed his administration's commitment to the Camp David accords but suggested the framework include other Arab states besides Egypt. — AP

Four persons have been named to the Saint Mary's College Board of Regents. The new regents are Sr. Kathryn Callahan, Sr. M. Rose Anne Schultz, Mrs. Arthur J. Decio and Miss Kathleen Marie Conley. Callahan is Regional Superior of the Sisters of the Holy Cross in the Midwestern region. She serves on the Board of Trustees of Saint Joseph's Medical Center in South Bend and was Manager of Staff Development at the Medical Center from 1977 to 1981. Schultz has served as a corporate officer in the general administration of Saint Mary's since 1973. She was an Associate Director of the Diocesan Religious Education office from 1971 to 1973. Prior to that she served as a regional administrator in elementary education. Decio, a resident of Elkhart, has been active in community service for the past 12 years. She serves as a volunteer at Aux Chandell and Elkhart Community Day Care Board and the Stanley Clark School Parent-Teacher Board. Conley, a senior at Saint Mary's, is the student representative to the Board of Regents. She is majoring in elementary education and serves as the president of Tau Epsilon Pi, an education club. Conley is also a eucharistic minister and lector and has chaired numerous committees at Saint Mary's. — The Observer

Today's voters choose governors in New Jersey and Virginia and elect mayors in several major cities, including New York, Miami and Detroit. At the same time, voters face decisions on such local issues as whether parents of private school students should receive tuition tax credits, and whether voters should have a direct say in the cost of nuclear power plants. The governors' races are viewed not only as contests for the candidates but as tests of President Reagan's standing as well. Richard Richards, chairman of the Republican National Committee, issued a statement yesterday predicting GOP wins in both races. "In New Jersey our prospects look excellent," he said. "In Virginia, it's a very tight race but we expect to win." Virginia's gubernatorial race — the most expensive in the state's history — pits Democratic Lt. Gov. Charles Robb, son-in-law of President Lyndon B. Johnson, against Republican Attorney General Marshall Coleman. — AP

President Reagan told Jordan's King Hussein yesterday it is "imperative that we work together" for a Middle East peace, but American officials offered no hope the monarch would break ranks with Arab allies and support the Camp David accords. The administration stressed that the United States is committed to the Camp David agreement as the formula for peace in the region, and has not endorsed instead a Saudi Arabian proposal. In private meetings, Hussein complained to Reagan about Israel's "intransigence" and stressed that the Palestinian people must be included in peace negotiations, a senior administration official said. — AP

Indiana Attorney General Linley Pearson filed a motion yesterday seeking to increase the number of inmates at the Indiana State Prison allowed under a federal judge's recent order. The inmate population at Michigan City currently is about 1,930. Federal Judge Allen Sharp ordered two weeks ago that the inmate population at Michigan City be reduced to 1,615 by 1983. Pearson's motion to amend the ruling would mean that about 250 of the inmates ordered moved would stay. "We are asking Judge Sharp for a clarification of figures he used to determine the limits established for 1982 and 1983," Pearson said. "The state feels the figures used by Judge Sharp may not have taken into consideration the trustee dormitory outside the walls and the honor cellhouse inside the Michigan City prison."

Light rain and drizzle diminishing today. High in mid 60s. Light rain likely tonight and tomorrow. Low tonight in the low to mid 50s. High tomorrow in low to mid 60s. Chance of rain dropping to 20 percent today then increasing to 60 percent tonight. — AP

AP Photo File

4,000 SAVED:

A battalion of firemen approach the wreckage of ten derailed train cars that piled up in the Buffalo, N.Y. suburb of Hamburg. 4,000 area residents were evacuated as clouds of leaking methyl chloride gas filled the air. (AP Laserphoto)

THROUGH THE RUINS:

David Winter wheels his way past the ruins of a home after fire, fanned by strong winds, swept through the west San Fernando Valley area of Los Angeles, destroying six structures and blackening more than 17,000 acres. (AP Laserphoto)

SCALER STOPPED:

Daniel De Goodwin signs in at a Chicago police station where he was charged with disorderly conduct and released on a $35 cash bond after he abandoned his efforts to scale the 1,107-foot John Hancock Center building. Last May, Goodwin scaled the world's tallest building, the Chicago Sears Tower, but had to be rescued two floors up the Hancock building when his equipment failed to grip the building's surface. (AP Laserphoto)

READY TO RUMBLE:

Pennsylvania State troopers armed with tear gas and shotguns get ready to enter the Graterford State prison where several prison inmates are holding six prison employees and perhaps a few other inmates hostage. Saturday 29 hostages were freed after being held since Wednesday night following an escape attempt that failed. (AP Laserphoto)

The Observer (USPS 598 920) is published Monday through Friday and on home football Saturdays, except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $25 per year ($15 per semester) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved. Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer

Design Editor.....Deirdre Murphy
Design Assistants.....Suzanne La Croix
Layout Staff.....Amy Brecount
Bill O'Neil
Typesetter.....Stephen Brown
News Editor.....Mary Agnes Carey
Copy Editors.....Kathy Murray
Paula Groves
Supplement Layout.....Gregory Swiercz
Sports Copy Editor.....Dave Dzieladzic
Typist.....Jeanine Hynes
Systems Control.....Bruce Oakley
ND Day Editor.....Karen McMahon
SMC Day Editor.....Mary Kay Hogan
Ad Design.....Fran & Corby
Photographer.....No Exposure
Guest Appearances.....Wandering Herds
Applicants.....Joe Treanor
Moose Bell.....Cheryl Quard & Trivia
Ma Bell and Her Connections

"Long ago, it must be... I have a photograph."

JUNIPER PRESS ANNOUNCES...

Michael Molinelli's
brand New Collection of Campus Comics

Molarity:
Don't Make a Right

now available at ND/SMC bookstores

The Observer

Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible.

Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Editorial Board and Department Managers

Editor-in-Chief.....John McGrath
Executive News Editor.....Kelli Flint
News Editor.....Tim Vercellotti
News Editor.....David Rickabaugh
Sports Editor.....Michael Ortman
Editorials Editor.....Anthony Walton
Features Editor.....Gregory Swiercz
SMC Executive Editor.....Mary Agnes Carey
SMC News Editor.....Cathy Domanico
Photo Editor.....John Macor
Business Manager.....Rich Coppola
Controller.....Joe Mulflur
Advertising Manager.....Chris Owen
Production Manager.....Michael Monk
Circulation Manager.....Tom MacLennan

SMC Board contemplates new format

By MARY McINERNEY
News Staff

The Saint Mary's Board of Governance met Sunday night to discuss the introduction of a new format for meetings, interaction between Ad Hoc Committees and the Board, and a better understanding of the Board of Regents.

Eileen Murphy, Student Body President, began the meeting by announcing a more organized format for Board of Governance meetings. Murphy stated, "that the meetings should not only be informative, but should stimulate more discussion between Board members."

Donna Perrault, Vice President of Student Affairs, added, "that the focus of meetings should be more on action than announcements." The meetings will begin with current information and follow up with a discussion between members.

Discussion centered on the Library and Parietals ad hoc committees, stressing the the idea that more interaction between these groups and the Board is necessary. Emmie Lopez, Vice President of Academic Affairs said, "the committees should fill the Board in on their progress and in turn, the Board would make recommendations for improvement." Lopez and Murphy told of the progress that has been made by the Library Ad Hoc Committee. Lopez stated, "the Committee has laid the groundwork by giving survey results to the College Committee." The Board recommended that a progress report be submitted by the Parietals Ad Hoc Committee.

Katie Conley, student representative to the Board of Regents addressed the members of the Board of Governance to clarify some misconceptions concerning her role in the Board of Regents. Conley represents a student point of view, not a representation of student body views which the student government deals with. Marianne O'Donnell, Director of Student Activities, expressed the need for "student input to go through the committee channels of the Board of Regents."

Other issues discussed at the meeting were suggestions by members about presentations for future meetings, a reminder to use the Student Government Board in the Dining Hall, and an announcement of a lunch with President Duggan next Monday.

Students become 'consumers' in graduate school search

By GIGI GOLITZ
News Staff

Now is not a bad time to think about graduate schools and perhaps now may be the best time to apply, according to Donald F. Castro, director of graduate admissions for Notre Dame.

Castro spoke last night in the Library Auditorium. The lecture was sponsored by the Arts and Letters Advisory Council (ALSAC). Castro said students are the consumers, as universities are depending more on the funds from graduate students. All seniors who are interested in graduate studies must start applying now, said Castro.

To apply to graduate school, a student must take the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) and should do so by December. Castro also said to start writing universities for information about the schools' programs. He advised students to talk with faculty members in their department to find out what schools would best suit their specific interests. Castro added it's important to gather as much information as possible about the prospective schools.

Important criteria in selecting a graduate school include faculty, publications and research facilities.

Prestigious schools should not always be the first priority, said Castro. There are many schools where students can receive financial support. Eighty percent of the Notre Dame graduate students receive support. Financial support is given in the form of a fellowship or an assistantship ranging from $9,000 to $13,000, Castro said.

The credentials for graduate schools include the grade point average, scores on the GRE and three letters of recommendation. Castro concluded, reminding audience members and other interested persons to apply immediately.

Shelley Obermiller surrenders to the crowd's call to "pass her up" at Saturday's Navy game. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

The position of ADVERTISING SALES MANAGER

is available at
The Observer.

This is a paid
position.

Call Chris at 8661.

... Gonzalez

continued from page 1

Shootings and knifings within the "zona roja" have alarmed the surrounding residential areas.

"We're going to run a socially moral city, that is my aim," he said.

Local leaders learned Cardenas was beholden to no one when police arrested several sons of influential families during raids on a popular drinking and marijuana-smoking hangout.

"I don't care if you are rich or poor. Everyone is going to get the same treatment — jail," he said at the time.

Legendary corruption and favoritism among Mexican officials is another of Cardenas' targets.

"I'm going to tell you the truth," he said, breaking into a wide grin. "If we had to put them (corrupt officials) in jail, we wouldn't have the jail space. They would not fit. That is just the plain truth."

He blames much of the problem on dismal salaries that encourage people to take money under the table.

"When I started, a policeman was making 3,250 pesos ($130) a month. Now a policeman makes 7,350 pesos ($294), which is above the minimum wage, with all kinds of benefits," he said. "I don't doubt that some of them would be corrupt. But I can sincerely say that 95 to 99 percent of public officials here are honest."

Cardenas knows Matamoros depends on tourism for revenue and has exempted tourist-oriented bars from the Sunday closing law. Tourists are not, however, exempt from random gun searches the Mexican army conducts in restaurants and bars. The pistol checks are aimed at reducing the number of barroom shootings.

The mayor doesn't worry that the checks might drive tourists away: "on the contrary, this will help tourism. I've never said it's the tourists who carry pistols. It is other people, residents of Matamoros and others who are armed and I am certain by the end of the year, things will be back to normal."

The joyous frenzy that filled Plaza Hidalgo when Cardenas won the election last December has an opposite frightening side. The mayor says he continues to receive death threats that started during the campaign.

But he is philosophical. "There is a saying in Spanish. 'Pero que ladro no meurde (a barking dog doesn't bite),' he said. "While they're barking, there's no concern for me."

... Sub

continued from page 1

The Soviets agreed last week not to refloat the sub themselves, and on Saturday the Foreign Ministry announced it had received the Soviet ambassador's formal regrets that the submarine "had entered Swedish territorial waters and a military restricted one."

OBSERVER ERROR

$2 off coupons for "GOOD TIME PIZZA" are invalid. We are sorry for any inconvenience.

Sir Richard's
HAIR DESIGNS
Open 6 days a week
Just North of Campus
417 DIXIEWAY
across from Wendy's
277-0734
personalized Hair Designs

DON'T SELL YOUR GA. TECH TICKET DONATE IT
to send a Logan Center child to the game.

Tickets will be collected this week in the Dining Halls.
campus students can drop them off at the Off Student Activities Office 2nd Floor LaFortune

I DON'T GET NO RESPECT!

RODNEY DANGERFIELD
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6 8:00
NOTRE DAME A.C.C.

TICKETS ON SALE AT THE A.C.C. BOX OFFICE. ALSO AVAILABLE AT: ROBERTSON'S IN S. BEND, AND THE CONCORD MALL, ST. JOSEPH'S BANK (MAIN BRANCH), 1st SOURCE BANK (MAIN), ELKHART TRUTH, SUSPENDED CHORD (ELKHART).

The driver of this Akron, Ohio semi-trailer truck walked away without a scratch after a bridge over Cole Creek, near Veedersburg, Ind., collapsed under the weight of 117,000 pounds of steel the truck was hauling. Police said the truck was at least 57 tons too heavy for the old structure, on Indiana 32 in Fountain County. (AP Laserphoto).

Northeast invited

Seniors sponsor 'block party'

By CAROL CAMP
News Staff

The Class of 1982 invites students, the administration and faculty of Notre Dame, and all residents of the Northeast neighborhood to its first annual Block Party, Friday from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Athletic and Convocation-Center.

Because of adverse publicity which resulted from last year's "death march," Senior Class president Tom Lupo and the senior class officers proposed that an alternative to the annual event be created.

"The idea arose from last year's negative reaction to the death march and we wanted to create a suitable alternative for seniors and give a better impression to the city," De Lupo explained.

When Lupo proposed the idea to administration officials, he met initial resistance, but after involving local officials in the planning (such as South Bend Common Council member Lou McGann), he gained administration endorsement for the activity. According to Lupo, "The University has given us their support after realizing that the event is an act of good faith and a good time for all parties involved."

Lupo met with several city officials including Suth Bend police chief Dan Thompson and Notre Dame professor Art Quigley, president of the Northeast Neighborhood Center, in an attempt to involve members of the local community in the planning stages of this event. In order to show their support, the owners of several area taverns, including Corby's, Irish Country and The Commons have consented not to open their establishments between the hours of 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. Friday.

Although the event will be similar to an "indoor picnic," Lupo promises that there will be "something attractive" for all who attend. Approximately thirty seniors who regularly bartend at Senior Bar will dispense beer and soft drinks to the crowd. A wide variety of food, including brats, steak sandwiches and hot dogs will be prepared and served by seniors.

According to Dean Roemer, the event is a celebration of the entire town and gown community — the student body and the Northeast neighborhood. Several well-known local officials, including the mayor and police chief of South Bend will attend, as well as President Theodore Hesburgh," Roemer said. Members of the Northeast neighborhood are especially encouraged to attend and will be admitted with a copy today's Observer. All proceeds will go to the Northeast Neighborhood Center.

... Begin

continued from page 1
cause it does not mention the Jewish state by name.

Besides, he added, "One can liquidate a state by stages, even a state that is recognized."

Departing from his prepared text, Begin quoted a Saudi newspaper as saying the Arabs "should recognize the Israelis — but in their graves." Anyone who read such statements would know "they are playing with fire," he said.

Visit the Falls for one day

The International Student Organization is sponsoring a one day trip to Niagra Falls on Sunday, Nov. 15. The charge is $55.00 and seats are limited. The sign-up deadline is this Wednesday, Nov. 3.

For more information, contact Dr. P.D. Eshmukh in room 256 of the Newland Science Hall or call 277-4154.

Mardi Gras
Needs a Chairperson
Inquire at Student Activities.
Deadline Friday Nov. 6

INTERNSHIPS
Information Meeting for the Counseling & Career Development
Center, SMC
Wednesday, Nov. 4th 6-7 pm.
Student Activities Conference Room
On-Campus & Off-Campus opportunities

PAX CHRISTI

(International Catholic Peace Movement)

presents the ND/ SMC

NUCLEAR WEAPONS FREEZE WEEK
CALL TO HALT THE NUCLEAR ARMS RACE

A national campaign is under way to achieve a mutual US/ Soviet freeze on nuclear weapons. The first step of this campaign requires building support for the proposal among the American people, for the proposal will become "politically viable" only after it has sufficient public support in communities across the US.

The Week: Fliers on the Freeze to each dorm room on campus; door to door Campus Petition Drive for signatures of endorsement of the above call.

Speaker: Ed Laarman, Ph.D. Candidate in theology. Nuclear War, Just War, and Christian Faithfulness.

Place: Hayes-Healy Auditorium

When: 7:00pm, Tuesday, November 3

Closing Mass: Sunday, November 8: Mass for Peace

Time: 10:30 am

Place: Farley Hall Chapel

Priest: Rev. Jack Keefe, CSC, of the Fatima Retreat Center.

... Joe

continued from page 12

Howard said Saturday. "Mike Favorite helped me all week learning the pass routes, and now everything's fine. Mike was a big help to me."

So now with Mike Boushka and Dave Condemi gone for the year, and Hunter shifted to tight end to replace the injured Dean Masztak, it would appear that the split end job is Howard's for the duration. And even though Howard won't afford Blair Kiel the luxury of a tall target like Hunter does, if he continues to scoot by defensive backs and elude defenders the way he did against Navy, the much-talked-about multi-faceted Irish offense will become a reality.

Joe Howard

... Rankings

continued from page 12

Here are this week's rankings:

- 1) Northwestern (0-8) — tied NCAA record with 28th straight loss
- 2) Colorado State (0-8) — total yards in the 1st quarter last week: -3
- 3) Stanford (1-7) — eligible for Rose Bowl
- 4) State of Oregon (2-14) — what do you get when you cross a Duck and a Beaver?
- 5) Georgia Tech (1-7) — the wreck has rambled since upsetting Alabama
- 6) Columbia (1-6) — cream of the Ivy crop
- 7) Texas-El Paso (1-7) — UTEP building a Miner dynasty
- 8) Virginia (1-7) — looking for-

- ward to basketball season
- 9) Brown (1-6) — had six passes intercepted last week
  - 10) Baltimore Colts (1-8) — lone win over New England Patsies

- Also receiving votes:
- North Texas State (1-7)
  - Colorado (2-6)
  - Pennsylvania (1-5)

Quote of the Week:

Tampa Bay quarterback Doug Williams, after Coach John McKay posted Chicago Bear quotes in the Buc clubhouse in an effort to psych his players: "We've got a lot of players on this team who can read. And the ones who can't had it explained to them."

IH football

The race for the playoffs

MEN'S FOOTBALL — In one of the biggest rivalries on campus, Stanford beat Keenan this past Sunday, 14-7. Keenan scored its only points in the first half, as good defensive play by ends Pat Kelly and Ed Carter set the pace for the defensive struggle.

To open up the second half, Stanford marched 65 yards and ate up the clock for their first score, which came on a quarterback sneak by Jim Mysliwiec. Mysliwiec threw to Gary Jbara for the two-point conversion. To wrap up the game, Jim Clevenger recovered a Keenan fumble in the endzone. Stanford ends its season with a 1-3 record.

The same day, two highly ranked teams had it out as No. 4 ranked Off-Campus rolled over no. 3 St. Ed's, 19-0. The Raiders continued their fine passing attack, scoring two of their three touchdowns in the air. O-C's tough defense, led by middle linebacker Tony Aiello, had two interceptions. The defensive line, led by Kevin Bauer, stifled St. Ed's ground game and hampered the passing with a heavy pass rush. The Raiders now post a 3-1 mark going in to their last match-up of the season. Should the Raiders defeat Carroll, they will win their division as well as a playoff berth.

Flanner moved in to our top-six poll this week as they knocked off a tough Zahm team, 3-0.

Morrissey ended its season on a high note, downing Pangborn, 6-0, and raising its record to 3-1. If division-leading Dillon (3-0) defeats arch-rival Alumni (2-1) tomorrow evening, Dillon would win the division with a 4-0 record, while Morrissey would get a playoff spot as runner-up. Should Alumni win, however, all three teams would finish with 3-1 records. In the event of such a three-way tie, the playoff spots would be awarded on the basis of point differentials over the entire season. In that case, it would not look good for the Manorites since they have outscored their opponents by a relatively slim 22-12 margin. Dillon owns a 50-2 buldge over its three victims and Alumni has assaulted its three foes by a 62-6 count.

Alumni, in aid to its own cause, whipped Fisher by a score of 39-0, and head in to a must-win situation against Dillon, tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. on Cartier field.

Holy Cross extended its record to 3-1, defeating Sorin, 14-0. The "Hogs" are now in second place in the Central Division behind Off-Campus and move up to fifth in this week's ratings. Holy Cross could clinch a playoff spot by defeating St. Ed's next Sunday.

In the last of Sunday's games, Cavanaugh beat Carroll, 17-0. Cavanaugh still has a shot at a playoff spot if either Holy Cross or Off-Campus lose in their game.

These are the current standings:

NORTH	CENTRAL	SOUTH
y-Grace 3-0	Off-	Dillon 3-0
Flanner 2-1	Campus 3-1-0	Morrissey 3-1
Keenan 1-2	Holy Cross 3-1-0	Alumni 2-1
Zahm 1-2	Cavanaugh 2-1-1	Fisher 1-3
Stanford 1-3	St. Ed's 2-1-1	Pangborn 0-4
y-clinched	Carroll 1-3-0
playoff spot	Sorin 0-4-0

These are the Top Six as polled by the interhall staff: (they have no official bearing on playoff status)

MEN'S INTERHALL FOOTBALL POLL

1. Dillon (3-0)
2. y-Grace (3-0)
3. Off-Campus (3-1)
4. Morrissey (3-1)
5. Holy Cross (3-1)
6. Flanner (2-1)
- y-has clinched playoff spot

Jim Kinney Sports Writer

Inside ND Interhall

This week's final regular season schedule:

Tomorrow's games

- Alumni v. Dillon, 7 p.m. (Cartier)
- x-Flanner v. Grace, 8 p.m. (Cartier)
- Zahm v. Keenan, 9 p.m. (Cartier)
- x-to decide division title

Sunday's games

- Holy Cross v. St. Ed's, 1 p.m. (Cartier)
- Off-Campus v. Carroll, 2 p.m. (Cartier)
- Cavanaugh v. Sorin, 3 p.m. (Cartier)

The equipment exchange for men's football will be by appointment only. Contact the NVA office (C-2 ACC) or call 6100.

WOMEN'S FOOTBALL — In a top game last week, Pasquerilla East upended a strong Farley team, 16-6. Halfback Jennifer Yuhl took over at the quarterback position for the injured Theresa Reilly. Yuhl scored in the first drive on a long gainer with a stunt play. Also scoring for the Pac-East was Carla Cortez. P.E. finished the season in second place behind league power Breen-Phillips.

Walsh registered a big upset last week, overcoming Off-Campus, 16-14. O-C started off strong with a good first half and led, 14-8, going into the second half. Walsh's first score came on a center-keep play where Joan Smierciek ran for the touchdown. Maureen Milota, who took over at quarterback in the second half, scored the winning touchdown for Walsh, who is now 2-4. Peggy Owens intercepted two passes for O-C, which is now 3-3 and presently occupies fourth place.

These are the current standings:

Breen-Phillips 7-0	Lewis 3-4
Pasquerilla East 6-2	Walsh 2-4
Farley 6-2	Pasquerilla West 1-3
Off-Campus 3-3	West 1-3
	Lyons 1-5
	Badin 1-6

This week's schedule:

Thursday's games

- Off-Campus v. Pasquerilla, 6:30 p.m. (Cartier)
- Breen-Phillips v. Walsh, 7:30 p.m. (Cartier)

Sunday's games

- Lewis v. Pasquerilla West, 6:30 p.m. (Cartier)
- Off-Campus v. Lyons, 7:30 p.m. (Cartier)

SOCCER — This past Sunday, Stanford won big over Fisher, 5-0. Scoring for the "Studs" were John Keffe, Joe Mandeville, Glen Packard, and Steve Theabold. Stanford (6-1) still has yet to face Morrissey (6-1). The game should decide the division title.

Dillon II won its first game, defeating St. Ed's, 3-2. Mark Storen accounted for two of Big Red's goals in a game which ended regulation play in a 2-2 tie. Jan Kania and Chip Stahl did the scoring for St. Ed's, but a spirited Dillon II squad prevailed as the game was decided by penalty kicks.

These are the current standings:

DIVISION I		DIVISION II
Flanner 8-0	Morrissey 6-1	Zahm 8-1	Stanford 6-1
Alumni 6-2	Dillon I 5-2	Holy Cross 5-2	Carroll 5-3
Howard 3-4	Sorin 4-3	Keenan 3-5	Cavanaugh 3-4
Grace 3-6	St. Ed's 3-4	Off-Campus 3-4	Flanner 3-4
Campus 2-6	Fisher 3-4	Pangborn 1-6	Dillon II 1-6

See HALL, page 9

JUNIORS
Surveys will be taken this week concerning our Senior Trip.

ND-Surveys done in Halls by Reps.

SMC-Surveys done on Tuesday in Dining hall.

The Knights
MEN'S HAIRSTYLING

54533 Terrace Lane, South Bend (Across from Martin's on St. Rd. 23)
TUES., WED. 8:30-5:30
THURS., FRI. 8:30-8:30-SAT. 8:30-5:30
272-0312-277-1691

"Hair Kingdom For All"

COUPON
For The Total Look
Save $5.00 on a Styled Hair Cut, Shampoo, Blow Dry & Conditioner. Reg. $15.00
Now $10.00 Complete
The Knights of the Castle
277-1691 272-0312
CLIP AND SAVE!

Daughters of Isabella, Notre Dame
Circle 572
"CHARITY BALL"
Nov. 7, 1981 9:00 pm
$15:00 a couple
Century Center--Great Hall
Music by "The Innovations"
Proceeds to retarded in our community

MASTERCARD VISA SEARS
COLLEGE CREDIT CARD PROGRAM

-lenient terms
-establish your credit

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4
LA FORTUNE 11:30-11:30
APPLY IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS
SPONSORED BY FINANCE CLUB (3657)

Molarity

Michael Molinelli

RURAL DELIVERY

By Al Smith

Simon

Jeb Cashin

The Daily Crossword

- |               |                      |                  |               |                   |                    |                    |                             |               |                 |           |          |                  |                    |                      |           |                        |        |                |                          |             |                  |                                  |                     |             |                     |                   |               |           |                              |                      |                  |            |                 |                        |                             |              |             |                            |          |              |            |                      |                  |                |                |              |                          |          |             |                       |                         |                |                          |                |            |           |           |              |                |                   |             |                    |                            |                |
|---------------|----------------------|------------------|---------------|-------------------|--------------------|--------------------|-----------------------------|---------------|-----------------|-----------|----------|------------------|--------------------|----------------------|-----------|------------------------|--------|----------------|--------------------------|-------------|------------------|----------------------------------|---------------------|-------------|---------------------|-------------------|---------------|-----------|------------------------------|----------------------|------------------|------------|-----------------|------------------------|-----------------------------|--------------|-------------|----------------------------|----------|--------------|------------|----------------------|------------------|----------------|----------------|--------------|--------------------------|----------|-------------|-----------------------|-------------------------|----------------|--------------------------|----------------|------------|-----------|-----------|--------------|----------------|-------------------|-------------|--------------------|----------------------------|----------------|
| ACROSS | 1 Calendar divisions | 5 Auditor: abbr. | 8 Celebration | 12 Volcanic mount | 13 Coagulated milk | 14 Desert garments | 15 — nothing (choice words) | 16 Ask pardon | 18 Great energy | 20 Meadow | 21 Pro — | 22 Norse goddess | 23 Branching parts | 25 — hand (close by) | 28 Senger | 31 Pittsburgh products | 34 Cry | 36 Heaven: Fr. | 37 Creator of Bill Sikes | 41 Got down | 42 Homily: abbr. | 44 Neighbor of France, in France | 45 Succulent fruits | 47 Diminish | 49 Vessels of WW II | 51 Compete (with) | 52 Thou notes | 56 Arthur | 58 Independence Hall feature | 61 Underlying reason | 63 Thousand: Fr. | 64 Declare | 65 Rubber trees | 66 Confession of faith | 67 Suffix with hard or soft | 68 Gentleman | 69 Joins to | 12 Jack the former TV host | 13 Antic | 17 Unwritten | 19 Follows | 24 Southern songster | 26 Building part | 27 Wool weight | 29 Half-scores | 30 Different | 31 Spanish ladies: abbr. | 32 Lanky | 33 Bleaches | 35 Actress Jacqueline | 38 Uncle or aunt: abbr. | 40 Word signal | 43 Mardi Gras celebrator | 46 French town | 48 Fathers | 50 Cavity | 53 Fished | 54 Les girls | 55 Arctic taxi | 56 Breakfast dish | 57 Overhang | 59 Java's neighbor | 60 Social group, of a kind | 62 Govt. dept. |
|---------------|----------------------|------------------|---------------|-------------------|--------------------|--------------------|-----------------------------|---------------|-----------------|-----------|----------|------------------|--------------------|----------------------|-----------|------------------------|--------|----------------|--------------------------|-------------|------------------|----------------------------------|---------------------|-------------|---------------------|-------------------|---------------|-----------|------------------------------|----------------------|------------------|------------|-----------------|------------------------|-----------------------------|--------------|-------------|----------------------------|----------|--------------|------------|----------------------|------------------|----------------|----------------|--------------|--------------------------|----------|-------------|-----------------------|-------------------------|----------------|--------------------------|----------------|------------|-----------|-----------|--------------|----------------|-------------------|-------------|--------------------|----------------------------|----------------|

Tuesday's Solution

© 1981 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc. 11/3/81 All Rights Reserved

Campus

- 4:15 p.m. — colloquium, "schelling, theologian for the next century", dr. fritz marti, southern illinois university, memorial library lounge, sponsored by philosophy and theology departments.
- 4:30 p.m. — seminar, "the ups and downs of ancient trees: aspects of the post-glacial vegetational history of the adirondack mountains, new york, stephen t. jackson, indiana university, bloomington, 278 galvin life science auditorium, sponsored by department of biology.
- 6 p.m. — volleyball, nd v. bethel v. purdue calumet, vallyball, acc, all are welcome.
- 7 p.m. — speech, "nuclear war, just war and christian faithfulness, ed laarman, nd, hayes healy auditorium, sponsored by pax christi, all are welcome.
- 7:30 p.m. — meeting, american chemical society, 123 nieuwland.
- 8 p.m. — lecture, "government: the development of a profession", don k. price, harvard university, century center, south bend, sponsored by department of history, all are welcome

Television Tonight

Tuesday, November 3

- |            |                        |                               |                    |   |                               |
|------------|------------------------|-------------------------------|--------------------|---|-------------------------------|
| 7:00 p.m.  | 16 MASH                | 28 CBS News                   | 34 Joker's Wild    | 34 MacNeil/Lehrer Report                    | 46 It's Your Business         |
| 7:30 p.m.  | 16 All in the Family   | 22 Family Feud                | 28 Tic Tac Dough   | 34 Straight Talk                            | 46 God's News Behind the News |
| 8:00 p.m.  | 16 Father Murphy       | 22 Dukes of Hazzard           | 28 Happy Days      | 34 Cosmos                                   | 46 Lester Sumrall Teaching    |
| 8:30 p.m.  | 28 Laverne and Shirley | 46 Michiana Today             | 9:00 p.m.          | 22 CBS Movie: "The Princess and the Gabbic" | 28 Three's Company            |
| 9:30 p.m.  | 34 Odyssey             | 46 Today with Lester Sumrall  | 10:00 p.m.         | 28 Too Close For Comfort                    | 16 Flamingo Road              |
| 11:00 p.m. | 16 Hart To Hart        | 34 The Duchess of Duke Street | 46 Dwight Thompson | 11:30 p.m.                                  | 16 Tonight Show               |
| 12:00 p.m. | 22 Newswatch 28        | 34 The Dick Cavett Show       | 46 Praise the Lord | 12:30 p.m.                                  | 16 Tomorrow Coast to Coast    |
| 12:30 p.m. | 46 Light and Lively    |                               |                    |   |                               |

Today in History

Today's highlight in history:
 In 1534, England's parliament transferred to Henry VII; all judicial and political powers formerly exercised in England by the pope.
 On this date:
 In 1935, a Greek plebescite recalled exiled King George II
 In 1946, power in Japan was transferred from the emperor to an elected assembly.
 In 1970, Marxist Salvador Allende became president of Chile.
 And in 1979, thousands of soldiers, policemen and civilians lined the funeral procession route of South Korea's assassinated President, Park Chung-Hee.

Registration for the Penn State Lottery will be Tues. and Wed. the 3rd and 4th from 10-4 at the SU ticket office 1st Floor LaFortune bring ID's
 Winners allowed 2 tickets each and will be announced in Friday's Observer

Go out to dinner with George McGovern! Win the Student Union Lottery and be the one person to dine with him before his speech on Thursday Nov.5. Sign up at front desk in the SU office before 7 pm Wednesday Nov. 4.
 McGovern will speak on "Conservatism in America"

Starting split end

Howard rises to the top

By MICHAEL ORTMAN
Sports Editor

"Gerry, if a boy that size could play football, then our boys could too."

"Honey, our boys can't run that fast."

It was a new experience for both parties. For Joe Howard, it was his initial post-game press conference at Notre Dame. For many of the sports writers, it was the first time they ever had interviewed a Notre Dame football player eye-level to eye-level.

Howard seemed to be taking all the attention in stride, but it was more physical exhaustion than non-chalance that kept the 5-9, 165-pound speedster low-keyed. "I'm more tired than anything else," he said after accounting for two Notre Dame touchdowns in Saturday's 38-0 thrashing of Navy. "After the first half, I had to remind myself that there was still another half to play. I just haven't run that much before."

Howard's road from multi-talented high school athlete to Notre Dame's starting split end, was an unusual one. He wasn't your cut-and-dry prep all-everything with football recruiters banging down his door. "We were hesitant about offering him a scholarship because of his size," remembers Irish recruiting coordinator Brian Boulac. "Because of his size, he wasn't exactly a blue chip prospect, although he did show up on several rating systems."

Howard's real forte in high school actually was basketball. "He was recruited more so for basketball than for football," says Boulac. "But we knew because many major college basketball schools were interested in him, that he must be some kind of athlete."

(Perhaps the Notre Dame committee will get a look at the other Joe Howard if he decides to participate in Bookstore XI. He may be the only 5-9 guard in captivity who can slam dunk from a standing start!)

So here is a high school athlete who had played tailback, split end, wingback and free safety at Carroll High School in Washington, D.C., but was eight inches shorter than Tony Hunter, and couldn't even bench press his weight. What could Notre Dame possibly want with him?

"We were concerned about his size," admits Boulac, "but after watching films of him (playing football) and watching him play basketball, we knew he was a fine athlete. We felt we needed more speed in our recruiting and Joe could give us that."

Howard's 9.8 speed in the 100-yard dash, then, was the decisive factor in Notre Dame's interest in the two-sport standout. Late in the basketball season and just a few days before the national signing date, the Irish coaching staff made it official, finally offering Howard the ride he was looking for. But like most recruits, they certainly weren't counting on him to contribute as early as he has.

"We never count on freshmen to make major contributions," says Boulac. "There's too much of an adjustment involved. When they do, it's an added bonus, like what Joe has done for us."

Howard never figured things would happen quite this fast either. "I never thought I'd be playing (as a freshman)," he admitted after Saturday's game. "The coaches asked me where I'd prefer playing, and I told them anywhere on offense. They gave me that chance, and I think I've made the most of it."

Injuries throughout the Irish receiving corp had a silver lining for Howard. After beginning the season at wingback behind Tony Hunter, Howard moved to split end just eight days ago. "It came out at practice Monday (after USC) that I was the split end, and that was that,"

See JOE, page 10

Tampa Bay Buccaneers' quarterback Doug Williams (12) can read. But some of his teammates can't. Read The Bottom Ten for details. (AP Photo)

ASU list includes Devine

Former Irish football Coach Dan Devine is interested in returning to a college campus next year, possibly at Arizona State University, as director of the school's athletic booster group, the Associated Press reported yesterday. Devine is reportedly one of the leading candidates for the vacant position of executive director of "The Sun Angels" at ASU. "If I don't coach again, it is the type of job I feel I'm qualified for, and I would certainly be interested," Devine said. "But by the same token, I haven't applied, and they haven't burned up the wires to get in touch with me."

However, Devine will be in Tempe, Ariz., on Nov. 21 when he and his wife, Jo, serve as grand marshals of the ASU homecoming parade. Devine said he plans to talk to school officials at that time.

After a year of retirement now, Devine said he would like to return to a college campus, and "all of a sudden, people are showing interest in me ... I think I've made the decision to listen."

Devine confirmed the reports last night, but told The Observer that the ASU job was just one of many options. He also indicated that he had been offered coaching jobs in recent months. — The Observer

Tampa Bucs are semi-literate

Flotsam and jetsam from the notebooks of astute voters:

Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden gained a niche in Bottom Ten history this week. FSU tailback Greg Allen was a mere 44 yards short of the all-time NCAA rushing record of 366 yards. With seven minutes to go in the game, Bowden took Allen out. "I probably made a mistake," he said later.

Dateline: ANN ARBOR — Oct. 18. Bo Schembechler on the Big Ten race: "Our chances are nil, zip, zero."

Dateline: ANN ARBOR — Nov. 1. Bo Schembechler on the Big Ten race: "We're back in the hunt."

Who says there's violence in sports? A Texas A&M cadet charged onto the field during the second quarter of the Aggies' 27-7 loss to Southern Methodist, brandishing his saber at an SMU cheerleader. The cheerleader had run out onto the field to celebrate a Mustang touchdown, violating Aggie rules banning people from the field during games. The cadet knelt another cheerleader before being dragged off the field.

Al "The Amazing" Groh, head coach at Wake Forest, astonished his assistants by successfully predicting the outcome of the Deacons' game with Clemson. "I told

Skip Desjardin
Rob Simari

The Bottom Ten

them I was concerned whether we would ever be able to stop them." They didn't. Final score: Clemson 82, Wake Forest 24.

Headline in the Wisconsin student newspaper before last week's game: "Thank God. It's only Northwestern."

A few Bottom Ten votes from elsewhere in sports: Dan Roundfield of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks, who had a game-high 31 points against Philadelphia Saturday, went up for a slam dunk at the buzzer ... and missed. The Hawks lost, 108-106.

The Chicago Bulls' Ricky Sobers tipped in a half-court pass with just three seconds left and won the game Friday night ... for the Indiana Pacers.

See RANKINGS, page 10

Irish split end Joe Howard evades one Navy defender...

...gets a key block from Tony Hunter (85)...

...and high steps into the end zone to give the Irish a 14-0 lead. (photos by John Macor)