

The Observer

VOL. XVI, NO. 126

the independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary's

TUESDAY, APRIL 6, 1982

President Reagan commented on the Soviet Union and the economy yesterday in a speech given to the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department conference.

'International Document' Hesburgh details Vienna goal

CINDY COLDIRON
Staff Reporter

Describing a recent meeting in Vienna with top scientists from around the world, Fr. Theodore Hesburgh said yesterday that although it would be difficult, nuclear proliferation could be stopped.

Speaking to a capacity crowd in the Library Auditorium yesterday afternoon on the International Conference held in Vienna last February, Hesburgh noted that "we cannot destroy the knowledge man has on how to destroy each other by nuclear power."

He described the Vienna meeting as "a marvelous three day meeting which included a lot of indirect talks."

This meeting, Hesburgh said, was the first of four steps to compose a document on nuclear disarmament. He noted that the first one had already been undertaken successfully.

Referring to his meeting with Soviet President Brezhnev a week before the Vienna meeting, Hesburgh said that Brezhnev stated that this issue had been on his mind for years and he had also wanted a group of scientists to get together to discuss the issue.

Remarking that the Russians had been very cordial at the meeting, Hesburgh said that we had "plenty of reasons to be scared of each other."

The second meeting will take place in Rome where a Pontifical Academy will study the draft of the document to limit the buildup of nuclear arms from the first meeting and this document will then be sent to the top scientific academies of the world, Hesburgh said.

They in turn will be invited to meet in Rome around September, after they have had a chance to talk about the document with the people of their own countries.

Lastly, these people will go back to Vienna and have a meeting of world religious leaders, not just Christian leaders, according to Hesburgh. At this time, "we will hope that all of the religious groups will take this document to the world."

Hesburgh felt that the "ultimate solution is a political solution and we haven't had enough pressure on politicians to get anything done."

Since becoming involved with the issue of nuclear proliferation, Hesburgh remarked that he has been getting anywhere from 25-50 letters a week on this topic. He said that the letters, of which one-third were from overseas, showed a "spontaneous outpouring of concern."

Fr. Hesburgh

Reagan condemns USSR, wants talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan roundly condemned the Soviet Union yesterday for its actions in Afghanistan, but also held out hope that he and President Leonid Brezhnev can meet this summer to talk about arms control.

"I think it would be well if he and I had a talk," Reagan told reporters in the Oval Office.

Reagan also predicted that employment would lag behind the rest of the economy in recovering from the recession. He said the joblessness rate may climb higher than the 9 percent level it reached in March. That's the highest unemployment rate since World War II.

"There may be even more unemployment," Reagan said just before climbing into a motorcade to the hotel where he was shot a year ago. He brought with him a speech which included a plea to the recession-battered construction industry to fall in line with him and his economic program.

The speech also was highly critical of the Soviets.

"We will not remain silent when, in Afghanistan, yellow rain is dropped on innocent people, solemn agreements are flagrantly broken, and Soviet helicopters drop thousands of 'butterfly' mines which maim and blind Afghan children, who pick them up thinking they are toys," Reagan said in his prepared remarks.

He said also that Americans will "not accept martial law" in Poland. "They demand that Lech Walesa and the political prisoners of Solidarity be set free."

"Never again," Reagan said, "will we shrink from denouncing the terrible nightmare totalitarianism has wrought: occupation of an entire section of Europe; genocide in Cambodia; boat people in Vietnam; a bloody invasion of Afghanistan, and everywhere the suppression of human rights and growing want from economic failure."

Reagan spoke at the Washington Hilton Hotel at the opening of the AFL-CIO's Building and Construction Trades Department legislative and political conference. He had just finished speaking to this same group March 30 last year when he was shot outside the hotel.

On the economy, Reagan said "America faces a challenge of courage in the months ahead that will be decisive."

He said the recession might have been avoided or curtailed if the administration and Congress had not agreed to scale back his income tax-cut program and delay its starting date. "We must not compound that error," "There is good reason to believe the recession is bottoming out." Several boos pierced the restrained applause Reagan received when he was introduced to the conference delegates by Robert A. Giorgine, president of the AFL-CIO's Building and Construction Trades Department.

The president, seeming undaunted, opened his speech by thanking the delegates "for your warm welcome."

On the economy, Reagan said, "America faces a challenge of courage in the months ahead that will be decisive."

Reagan said the recession might have been avoided or curtailed if the administration and Congress had not agreed to scale back his income tax-cut program and delay its starting date. "We must not compound that error," "There is good reason to believe the recession is bottoming out."

But his address was received coolly by the delegates.

To reporters, who met with him in the first of what the White House said will be frequent informal sessions, Reagan restated his belief that the Soviet Union has a nuclear edge over the United States.

Reagan said he would address a United Nations disarmament conference in New York in June and he suggested that Brezhnev do the same. Then, he added, the super-power leaders should sit down and talk.

Reagan said he does not know if the ailing Soviet leader is healthy enough to take part in such a conference.

First meeting

Burke introduces new ideas

By DAN KOPP
News Staff

Lloyd Burke and Bob Yonchak, the Student Body President and Vice President, introduced new project ideas at the first Student Senate meeting of their administration.

Yonchak explained at the meeting, held in Hayes-Healey last night, two projects he is personally working on.

His first project is to increase the number of tickets for Notre Dame football away games. Yonchak noted that of the five thousand tickets given away, only two hundred are given to the students. "We're going to really push the ticket allocation to students for the Michigan State and Pittsburgh games," he said. "These are games the students will really want to go to."

Yonchak said he was mystified at how he was going to convince the University to give the students more tickets. "We need some way to get the students riled up about this," he said.

Secondly, the administration wants to plan a study of social events in women's dorms. "The women's dorms, as far as social events, are really lacking," Yonchak stated. "They probably have the best party space on campus." Yonchak plans to send out surveys to the rectors of the dorms to determine if this is due to hall restrictions.

In addition, Yonchak plans a feasibility study of charging girls at parties. Yonchak stated that he wants women to "share the burden, so the guys don't have to carry all the brunt. We're trying to eliminate many of the 'wanderers', girls who come in, 'steal' a beer, and leave."

Some of Murday's proposals which Burke promised to follow up on are the Academic Committee, social survey, Off Campus Co-op, lost I.D. policy, and class fund allotment. He praised Murday's work and promised to continue working to make the Student Senate a more effective organization.

Second Lady Bush speaks at lecture series

By MARGARET FOSMOE
Saint Mary's Executive Editor

Barbara Bush, wife of Vice President George Bush, will discuss her personal interests and her experiences as Second Lady of the United States in a 4 p.m. speech today in the Annenburg Auditorium of the Snite Museum.

Bush will speak as the fifth lecturer in Notre Dame's "Distinguished American Women" series, celebrating a decade of co-education at the University.

Wife of the vice president and mother of six children, Bush's personal interests include the eradication of illiteracy and volunteerism, according to Sr. John Miriam Jones, coordinator of the lecture series.

"Mrs. Bush was asked to speak in the series specifically because she is not a professional and career-oriented woman. She is the only one of the seven speakers who is involved primarily in the supportive role of wife and mother. In those terms, she is the exception to the rest of the women in the series," Jones said.

Bush has been involved in volunteer work in cancer wards with the American Cancer Society since the loss of a four-year-old daughter to leukemia.

Bush is also a frequent lecturer on China and Washington. Bush lived in China during her husband's stint as U.S. Ambassador to China in 1974-75, and returned to Peking in 1977. She later became a member of the National Committee on U.S.-China relations.

President Reagan, refusing yesterday to back away from his opinion that the Soviet Union has a nuclear edge over the United States, invited Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev to join him in addressing the United Nations on disarmament. Asked if the speech should coincide with a summit conference, Reagan told reporters: "I think it would be well if he and I had a talk." "This whole idea . . . of arms reduction, arms control, is one of the most important things that is facing us, and I hope that we'll both be able to address the (U.N.) conference," Reagan said. West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, French President Francois Mitterrand, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki are expected to address the conference, which will be held from June 7 to July 9 at the United Nations. White House spokesman David R. Gergen said he had no indication that Brezhnev would attend. Reagan was expected to take part in mid-June, after returning from economic and NATO meetings with U.S. allies in Europe. — AP

The Soviet Foreign Ministry tried to end speculation about the health of President Leonid I. Brezhnev by announcing yesterday that he "is on his regular winter rest." A foreign Ministry spokesman made the statement in response to a question from The Associated Press about published Western reports that the 75-year-old Brezhnev was ill and might be replaced as leader of the Soviet government or the Communist Party. He refused to say where Brezhnev is staying, when he began the rest, or how long he would be gone. It was the first time the Foreign Ministry has answered a question on the health or whereabouts of Brezhnev or his colleagues on the 13-member ruling Politburo. The controlled Soviet press has made no mention of Brezhnev's health nor has it commented on persistent reports from Soviet sources that he is ailing. The official news agency Tass customarily reports on Brezhnev's regular summer holidays in the Crimea when he usually is visited by heads of other East bloc countries. — AP

A British fleet primed for war sailed for the Falkland Islands yesterday and Britain's foreign secretary resigned, bowing to national outrage and humiliation over Argentina's seizure of the islands. After Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said, "We have to regain the islands," the aircraft carriers Invincible and Hermes put to sea with a send-off from tens of thousands of cheering, flag-waving Britons — some of them in tears. The carriers will lead an armada of 40 warships in a bid to reclaim the remote colonial outpost inhabited by 1,800 British shepherders. The South Atlantic islands were seized Friday by an Argentine military force. Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington resigned, saying he assessed the situation wrongly "and therefore I am responsible." He was replaced by former Defense Secretary Francis Pym, now leader of the House of Commons. Mrs. Thatcher, facing the worst crisis in her three years in office, rejected the resignation of Defense Secretary John Nott, saying he is needed "as our forces prepare for the possibility of armed action" to wrest back the islands Britain has held for 149 years. — AP

At the former U.S. Embassy in Tehran, where Iran's revolutionaries say they brought a superpower to its knees, the anti-American slogans are fading from the walls, while in their place, banners trumpet a new victory — over the Iraqi army. The 27-acre compound, prison for 52 American hostages during much of their 15-month captivity in 1979-81, remains locked, unused, and watched over by the militia-like Revolutionary Guards, assault rifles slung over their shoulders. On the sidewalks outside, where chants of "Death to America!" and "Down with Carter!" once reverberated, Iranians now remind visitors of their country's battlefield successes. "And we did it without the Americans," one man told a Western reporter. "It was an Iranian victory," said another. "There were no Russians and no Americans." The Iranians, who launched a major offensive against the Iraqi invasion force in western Iran two weeks ago, claim to have pushed the Iraqi army 25 miles back from the deepest penetration it had made into Iranian territory since the war began in September 1980. — AP

In a ringing endorsement of "robust political debate," the Supreme Court said yesterday that candidates enjoy broad free-speech rights even when making promises they cannot keep. The justices ruled unanimously that a Kentucky politician's 1979 election could not be set aside because he promised to cut his salary if elected. A Kentucky anti-bribery law prohibits candidates from offering material benefits to voters in exchange for their support. Jefferson County commissioners' salaries were fixed by law, making Carl Brown's pay-cutting pledge undeliverable. But the high court said neither the law nor the faulty promise could override Brown's free-speech rights. "The free exchange of ideas provides special vitality to the process traditionally at the heart of American constitutional democracy — the political campaign," Justice William J. Brennan wrote for the court. — AP

Windy and cold today with flurries. High in the low 30s. Tonight and tomorrow fair and cold. Diminishing winds tonight. Low tonight in the teens and high tomorrow in the upper 30s to low 40s.

Spring brings more than snow

Snow.

Once again spring has sprung in South Bend. Happily we aren't being tempted to be lax in our studies by warm weather, sunny skies, or moderate temperatures. Instead mother nature has shown a practical (sadistic?) streak and showered us with white goo. Mother Nature has a way of looking out for our academic welfare.

It seems as though Mother Nature and the University administration are in cahoots, attempting to prevent the youthful among us from enjoying the rites of spring, the traditional season of rebirth.

The snow justifiably dampens spirits. There's the poor person who took all their sweaters home at break. There is the person who wants to wear shorts to flaunt their tanned legs. In a similar vein are those who don't have tanned legs but would like to. Finally there are those poor bookstore teams, you know, the one's with the off-color names; basketball takes on a whole new personality when played in drifts.

Anybody even daring to say something nice about the snow is bound to find himself buried under it. Thus the general malaise induced by this deluge is understandable, but what about the bigger and more general malaise which affects life at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's.

It can be heard during the fall, winter, and during the albeit short spring. It is a combination of apathy and frustration that takes many forms. It can be heard from a bunch of males complaining about: "the girls that won't ever go out." It can be heard coming from girls complaining: "boys never ask us out."

The dining halls are hotbeds of ill-humor. A person who doesn't have something derogatory to say about the food is a rarity. I'm not defending the edible fare, besides turning to a neighbor and exclaiming: "Excuse me, but is your casserole moving?" is a great way to start a conversation. But many grasp a greasy pork chop as an excuse to ponder anti-social thoughts. Nothing can be gained by sneering at the workers. They don't fix the food, they don't select the food, they only slop it on your plate. Many of them work long hours to afford the food that students sneer at them about all day. It is amazing the effect that can result from asking for seconds with a smile, and uttering "Thank you" sincerely and often. Sometimes mere good spirits can produce extra helpings of an entree you actually like.

The actual eating areas of the Dining Halls often resemble battlefields. I have seen people almost knock others down in a mad scramble for mint-chip ice cream. Rather than sneering at someone as you step on their feet, smile happily and say: "Oops, I'm sorry" or "Excuse me." While preparing this column I took a quick trip to dinner. Finding a place for my friends and I to sit, I placed my tray down. Suddenly a female plopped hers down next to mine, and I said: "Oh excuse me, but I had hoped my friends could sit there." Her response was an

♪ I LOVE SOUTH BEND IN THE SPRINGTIME, IT'S WHERE I LOVE TO BE.
♪ WHEN THE SNOW STARTS A'FALLING IN APRIL,
♪ MY HEART LEAPS JOYOUSLY.

Ryan Ver Berkmoes
Managing Editor

Inside Tuesday

evil look followed by: "It doesn't look that way now." Somewhat taken aback I moved to the next table where my friends and I had plenty of room, and the company was friendlier. What motivated this individual to behave in a manner befitting a territorial first grader? I don't know. Even if she just got a less than satisfactory grade on a test, she has no reason to become so surly.

College is supposed to be the best years of a person's life. The all-nighters, the hangovers, incessant testing, dull boring classes, sub-sub-sub-tropical weather, and all the other aspects of college life that make it so memorable. Despite these joys, the passage of time seems to obscure the bad as is evidenced by the alumni's love for the place. But while you are here, why add to the day to day tension by having hostile attitude.

Recent studies have shown that college students have the highest number of ulcers per person then such traditional high-pressure occupations as advertising, or used car sales. Simply taking a calm and good-natured attitude in life will result in an overall better sense of well being, and be better for your stomach and mental health as well.

Christmas is the traditional time of giving, but Easter should be as well. The occasion commemorates the death of a Man who gave his life for us all. What could be more giving then that. As an individual there is not much you can do to alleviate world hunger, stop the arms race, or find cures for fatal diseases. However you can do something just as worthwhile by trying to be as nice and friendly to friends and strangers alike. Good humor won't solve all problems, but it does wonders for making them seem less hopeless.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not necessarily represent the views of The Observer or its editorial board.

Observer notes

The Observer is always looking for new reporters. If you like to write and can devote a few hours each week to reporting, visit our office on LaFortune's third floor. Talk to one of our new editors. They'll be glad to get you started.

The Observer

Design Editor Suzanne La Croix
Design Assistants Kay Holland
Troy Illig
Typesetters Stephen Brown
Steve Burg
News Editor Mike Wilkins
Copy Editor Ed Konrady
Features Layout Tari Brown
Sports Copy Editor Skip Desjardin
Sports Layout Micheal Ortmann
Typist John McCarthy
Editorial Layout Mike McCaughey
B & T Layout Alex Szilvas
ND Day Editor Karen McMahon
SNC Day Editor Julia Trimarchi
Ad Design Corby Salek
Photographer Rachel Blount
Guest Appearances Joe and his girl Leo
The office octet
Waste Products
A Broken Flasher
Across the frozen tundra comes... the radio interviewer, The Great White
North

The Observer (USPS 598 920) is published Monday through Friday and on home football Saturdays except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $25 per year ($15 per semester) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved. Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

YOUR FIRST JOB AS AN ENGINEER SHOULD LET YOU BE AN ENGINEER.

Lots of companies can give you a job that says engineer. But how many give you a real engineer's responsibility? In the Navy, you get it fast. Our nuclear propulsion officers start with a year of graduate-level engineering, at full pay. Then on to nuclear-powered submarines, with hands-on responsibility immediately. They travel the world earn $44,000 after 4 years, and get top benefits. If that sounds like your kind of opportunity, call the Navy Director of Engineering at 1-800-382-9782 or mail the coupon below for more information.

Mail to: Navy Engineering, 575 N. Pennsylvania, Rm 646, Indianapolis, IN 46204

NAME _____ PHONE _____
ADDRESS _____
COLLEGE/DEGREE _____
MAJOR _____ AGE _____ GPA _____

Leo, the close companion of Notre Dame senior Joe Skaja, is also his protection against crime. The dog has broken up three crimes at Skaja's home. See story at right. (Photo by Rachel Blount)

Fearless

Dog provides crime protection

By PETER CIOTTA
News Staff

Being the victim of a robbery has been an experience many students have encountered living off campus. Yet, Joe Skaja, with the help of Leo, has decided to fight back.

Leo, a two-year-old part-doberman, part-german shepherd, hates crime and is not afraid to make her feelings known.

Shortly after Spring break, a man was being attacked by a lone mugger outside of Joe's Frances street home. Aroused by the ensuing struggle, Leo, who was inside the house decided to take action.

Finding no open door, Leo crashed through Joe's living room window, braving the threat of flying glass.

The startled attacker fled at the sound of Leo's bark, not caring to see if she had a bite to match.

Skaja is a Notre Dame senior and lived in St. Ed's Hall until May 1980, when he purchased Leo.

Still living in St. Ed's, Skaja considered keeping the dog undercover until he was ready to move the following semester. When Skaja's rector, Fr. Mario Pedi, learned about Leo, Pedi reminded him that University rules do not allow students to have pets.

Faced with the choice of giving up Leo or immediately moving off campus, Skaja chose the latter, and claims he has no regrets.

Skaja said he kept Leo because students who had lived on Frances Street before him were robbed three times and that he wanted something to prevent this from happening to him.

Skaja trained Leo to bark on command, but it seems the dog's natural instincts are its greatest asset in its fight against crime.

Skaja's house has already been the focus of two robbery attempts, one in which robbers attempted to kick in his screen door.

Neither attempt has been successful, thanks to Leo.

In all, Leo has directly prevented three crimes while serving in her watch dog capacity. She is oblivious to risk as is evident by her window smashing leap and fearless confrontations with would-be criminals.

a mandatory meeting will be held Tuesday, April 6th, for anyone interested in participating on next year's Class Advisory Councils on the Second floor in LaFortune.

Class of '83.....5:30
'84.....6:30
'85.....8:00

Springtime campus

Maintenance primes grounds

By VIC SCIULLI
News Editor

Spring may mean warm weather and fun for students but its cleanup time for the grounds maintenance crew at Notre Dame.

"Cleanup begins immediately after the snow melts," said Bill Thistlethwaite, superintendent of Notre Dame's ground maintenance. "Winter ravages everything and a great amount of work must be done."

Four hundred tons of slag sand which is spread on the twelve miles of sidewalk during snowy weather must be picked up by snow plows. Slag sand, a byproduct of steel mills, packs down on snow better than sand or cinder, making it grittier and easier to walk on.

A great deal of sod dug up by snow plows and destroyed by the weather must be replaced each spring. "The South Quad's mud football games are a personal headache," said Thistlethwaite jokingly. "We know people are going to play on the grass, all we can do is to keep it up."

() The cost of sod compared to grass seeds is much greater but its efficiency makes up for the price, said Thistlethwaite. Once the grass is in place, it will not blow or wash away and does not need fertilizing. A great deal of maintenance cost is eliminated.

New buildings are a significant consideration for the ground maintenance crew. Traffic plans change with each new building, creating more paths in the grass. If the patterns don't change, sidewalks are put in.

Ground maintenance used a great deal of sod last summer to landscape the new Pasquerilla dorms.

A great deal of work is done to prime the campus for commencement in May. "Because of the number people present on campus, it's a good time to show off the place," said Thistlethwaite. "The fact that Alumni weekend follows this next weekend is coincidental."

Thistlethwaite described the cost of maintenance as "not that expensive." The most costly aspect of maintenance is snow removal. The increase in labor costs were an important reason for this. Often times, snow fell during off-hours and employees had to be paid overtime.

Thistlethwaite said that there are 20 employees under him, not enough to split shifts. "A lot of employees have to put in 18-19 hours of work a day. It is not uncommon to see people with 85 hours of work a week," he added.

A meteorological service is used to predict area weather but planning is still difficult. "You have to expect the worst and hope for the best," Thistlethwaite said.

Operating costs also increase during the winter months. Snow

See MESS, page 4

THE Harlem Globetrotters

SAT., APRIL 10 7:30 P.M.
Notre Dame A.C.C.

Admission: $7.50 (lower arena) $6.00 (bleachers)
$2.00 Discount Youths (12 & under) & Senior Citizens
$2.00 off also ND SMC Students - Faculty - Staff

Tickets on sale A.C.C. Box Office
9 am - 5 pm

FRESHMAN PRE—ADVANCE REGISTRATION PROGRAM

Pre-advance registration programs will be conducted for freshmen in all college program areas on Tuesday, April 6 at 6:30 pm.

At each program complete information will be given on the advance registration procedures and on the sophomore year and its relationship to the degree curriculum.

The meeting places for the programs, according to college program area, are as follows:

Arts and Letters College Programs (all, including AL Preprofessional)

Washington Hall

Business Administration College Program

Hayes-Healy Center, rooms 120, 122, & 124

Engineering College Programs

Aerospace Architecture
Chemical Civil Electrical Engineering Science
Mechanical Metallurgical

Cushing Hall, room 303
Architecture Building, room 201
Fitzpatrick Hall, room 356
Cushing, rm. 205
Cushing, rm. 212
Fitzpatrick, rm. 254
Cushing, rm. 122
Cushing, rm. 105

Science College Programs

Biology
Chemistry
Earth Sciences
Mathematics
Microbiology
Physics
Preprofessional (science only)

Galvin Life Science Center, rm. 278
Nieuwland Science Hall, rm. 341
Earth Science Bldg., rm. 101
Computing Center & Math Building, rm. 226
Galvin, rm. 109
Nieuwland, rm. 327
Nieuwland, rm. 127

ALL FRESHMEN ARE REQUIRED TO ATTEND THE PROGRAM OF THE COLLEGE OR DEPARTMENT THEY INTEND TO ENTER IN THE SOPHOMORE YEAR

"WOULD YOU CARE FOR SOME LIVERWURST?"

An evening created by Greg D'Alessandro and Anne Slowey.

April 6th & 7th 8 pm

SMC Little Theatre

Admission $1

ANND—SMC THEATRE LAB PRODUCTION.

The Most Reverend John Mackey, Bishop of Auckland, New Zealand, spoke about a bishop's perspective of the church today to an attentive audience last night in the library lounge. (Photo by Rachel Blount)

80% against

Survey shows abortion feelings

By MICHOLE MADDEN
News Staff

As a part of last week's Respect Life Week, the ND-SMC group sponsored a short survey of campus opinion concerning abortion. The pro-life group was not only pleased with the participation — 928 surveys completed — but also with the results.

Of the students whos completed surveys, 80 percent indicated that they were against abortion, with 76 percent of those favoring exceptions only in the case of rape, incest, severe handicap of the fetus, or when the physical life of the mother was endangered.

The survey brought to light a few other intersting results. Although 184 were in favor of abortion, 110 of those agree that abortion should be legally restricted after the second trimester. Also, fully 74 percent of those surveyed agreed that the unborn was either a human being, a person, a citizen or all three. In response to the sixth question, 78 percent of the group believed that life began at conception.

The purpose of the survey, according to the president of the Right To Life group, Pam Fojtik, was twofold. Their first goal was to revitalize the abortion issue here on campus. The group wants the students to be aware and concerned about the issue. The survey seemed to serve this purpose well.

Attendance and response at the lectures and movies this past week was encouraging. The Right To Life group was enthusiastic as even the conversations in the dining halls turned to the abortion issue.

The second purpose for the survey was to inform the Right To Life group as to the concerns and feelings of the campus. One thing the survey indicated was a definite need for more readily available information. 43 percent of the students were not familiar with any of the three bills mentioned — all vital to the abortion issue.

This will now become one of the goals of the Right To Life group for next year — education, awareness, and action.

... Mess

continued from page 3

plowing costs twice as much as normal plowing because more gasoline is used and equipment breaks down more frequently.

Maintenance recently purchased a 2 and 1/2 ton dump truck with snow plow at a cost of $25,000. Thistlethwaite estimates that the truck would have cost $9,000 5 years ago.

Maintenance is also responsible for taking care of the sizable sum of American elms on campus. The number of American elms in the U.S. have been greatly reduced in the past decades due to a fungal disease spread by beetles. The beetles reproduce in the bark of the dead elms.

Maintenance sprays the trees with Methoxychlor to prevent Dutch Elm disease. Methoxychlor carries only a caution label, compared to poisonous and dangerous labels carried by many insecticides. Methoxychlor completely breaks down in the environment in only 60 days.

"We will not use dangerous chemicals and we don't spray just to be safe. We only spray when necessary. We are conscious of keeping chemicals to a minimum," Thistlethwaite concluded.

Help Prevent Birth Defects —
The Nation's Number One
Child Health Problem.

Support the March of Dimes

THE DEATH PENALTY

A panel discussion on Capital pun. with 4 distiguated guests

TUES., APRIL 6
8:00-10:00 pm.

Architect. Aud.
rm. 201

Sponsored by Amnesty Intrnational

Miller times starring Miller High Life®

"Gee,
it must be great to be in a fraternity?"

'Executive in residence'

Beck serves in SMC program

Robert A. Beck, chairman and chief executive officer of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, will visit the Saint Mary's College campus April 6-8. Beck will serve as the first participant in the College's new Executive in Residence Program, which was designed to emphasize the relationship between Saint Mary's and the business world.

During his visit, Beck will conduct classes in business, meet informally with students, administrators and staff of the College and discuss curriculum with faculty members of the business department. Tomorrow evening, Beck will give a talk on "The Projected Reform of the Social Security System" for members of the Saint Mary's Business Associates Program.

Since he joined Prudential in 1951, Beck has served the company in many capacities, including executive general manager and vice president of the Newark, NJ, corporate office, senior vice president in charge of the Mid America home office in Chicago, executive vice president in charge of marketing, and president. He was elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer in February, 1978.

In addition to his duties at Prudential, Beck is involved in several professional and civic activities. He is a director of the Campbell Soup Company and of Xerox Corporation, and trustee of Syracuse University and the Committee for Economic Development. He is also a member of President Reagan's National Commission on Social Security Reform, and vice chairman of the Kennedy Center Corporate Fund board and the United Way of America. A board member of the American Council of Life Insurance, he chairs several ACLI committees and serves as a Knight of the Million Dollar Round Table Foundation and a Knight of Malta.

Beck is an alumnus of Fordham University and graduated summa cum laude from Syracuse University in 1950. He received the Chartered Life Underwriters designation from the American College in 1954 and the College's diploma in agency management in 1961. In addition, several colleges and universities have awarded Beck honorary degrees, including Monmouth College, Seton Hall University, Rider College, and St. Peter's College.

ND Student Players present

April 15 - 18, 1982 RESERVED SEATING

$3.00 one price only

Tickets go on sale

Monday April 5

S.U. Box Office SMC Programming Office

Applications are now available for the Class of '83

Senior Formal Chairpersons

in the student Activities Office in LaFortune.

Deadline for returning the applications is Tuesday April 6 at 5:00.

Questions? call Mark Mai at 1183.

RIVER CITY RECORDS

Northern Indiana's Largest Selection of Albums & Tapes.

Why pay more any place else?

$2.00 OFF! any regular record or tape with ad. Limit 1 per person Expires April 30, 1982

50970 US 31 North
3 miles North of Campus
next to Al's Supermarket

277-4242

- Open till 10 every night
- ND/SMC checks cashed up to $20 over purchase amount
- Record Crates available

New officers begin term with Board

By TERESA WELCH
News Staff

The newly-elected officers of Saint Mary's Board of Governance began their term last week. President Kathleen Murphy said she believes it will be an exciting year for her and the other two officers, Beth Tighe and Elaine Hocker.

"The transition is going smoothly," Murphy said. "The present officers have been very helpful, and we all have great expectations for the coming school year. We were really pleased with the turnout for the commissioners positions. All of the applicants were well-qualified. The decisions were tough.

"The interviews for the commissioners positions gave Elaine, Beth, and I a clearer insight into what the students really want," Murphy said, "and what they expect from the Saint Mary's Student Government."

"those interested in becoming involved, should apply."

Murphy said suggestions were more than helpful, and she hopes to incorporate them in with her objectives for next year.

"We are looking forward to working with the student body both here and at Notre Dame," Murphy said, emphasizing that there was still a place for students interested who were not chosen for the commissioners positions.

Murphy said that those interested in becoming involved in the Board of Governance should apply for positions on the boards of the incoming commissioners.

Applications for these positions will be available soon.

SUPPORT NATIONAL PLAID DAY, MAY 21, 1982...

...OR I'LL BLOW YOUR LIPS OFF.

DEAD MEN DON'T WEAR PLAID

Send in the coupon below and receive your very own National Plaid Day campaign kit, complete with buttons, posters and the all important petitions! For each petition signed by the students on your campus and returned to campaign headquarters in Hollywood, you will receive ten posters and a Plaid Day T-Shirt! Plus you'll get instructions on how to organize your plaid campaign and throw your very own Plaid Party!

MAY 21, 1982
NATIONAL PLAID DAY
BE PLAID AND BE GLAD!!
Quantities Limited So Act Now!!!

Please send me my campaign kit for NATIONAL PLAID DAY.

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP CODE _____
SEND TO:
NATIONAL PLAID DAY CAMPAIGN
PO BOX 699 • HOLLYWOOD, CA. 90028

OPENING AT A THEATER NEAR YOU

Economic Update

A majority of American consumers are worried that the proposed breakup of AT&T and legislation now before Congress could harm telephone service and lead to higher rates, a poll commissioned by A.T.&T. shows. Lou Harris, chairman of Lou Harris & Associates, the concern that conducted the survey, released its findings today. While Mr. Harris found that the public, by a margin of 57 percent to 38 percent, was worried that the breakup would lead to higher telephone bills, he also found that 83 percent of those surveyed favored the antitrust settlement "if it allows A.T. & T. to compete freely and fully with any competitors in developing new computerized uses of the telephone system."

The average interest rate charged Americans for new mortgages rose slightly to 17.5 percent in March, continuing the generally upward trend of more than a year, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board said today. The bank board report also said that the number of lenders making loans was up for the fourth consecutive month. The new average effective commitment rate on long-term, fixed-rate mortgages increased two-hundredths of a percentage point from February's 17.50 percent, the report said. The January rate was 17.34 percent, down from 17.51 percent in December, 18.16 percent in November and the record 18.17 percent in October. The rate was 15.47 percent in March of 1981.

Wall Street Update

Stock prices drifted lower in slackened trading Monday, giving up a few of the gains they recorded in the rally of the past three weeks. But precious metals issued turned in a strong showing as gold and silver prices rose sharply. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than 40 points from mid-March through last Friday, slipped 3.24 to 835.33. New York Stock Exchange volume totaled 46.90 million shares, down from 59.80 million in the previous session.

Clouds of poisonous smoke billow from the Sur-Gro Fertilizer Plant as two National Guardsmen, right, patrol the area. The blaze forced between 1,000 and 1,300 people from their homes in Falls City, Nebraska. Officials said the plant was full of insecticides, herbicides and fertilizer chemicals. (AP Laserphoto)

Concluding eleventh year

TAP aids tax return preparation

By ALEX SZILVAS
B&T Editor

For area residents feeling taxed in more ways than one at this time of year, relief can be spelled in the Notre Dame Tax Assistance Program (TAP). Entering its eleventh year in 1982, TAP provides free income tax return preparation (Federal and State of Indiana) to low income individuals in the Michiana area.

Free tax assistance is available to heads of households with incomes of $18,000 or less. Students involved in the TAP last year filed 1,618 returns which generated $251,037 in refunds for area residents. Thus far this year, the program, which began February 6 and extends through April 15, has kept pace with last year's results.

This year, the TAP has been operating out of eleven centers in South Bend, Mishawaka, Elkhart, and on the campuses of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. Unfortunately, a lawsuit filed against the Federal ACTION program caused the closing last week of four ACTION centers that the TAP had been operating out of, reducing the number of active TAP staffed centers to seven for the last few weeks of the program.

The centers are open at various times throughout the week. The Notre Dame Center is located in the Rathskeller of LaFortune Student Center while the St. Mary's Center is located in the lobby of Lemans Hall. Both are open from 2-5 PM on Wednesdays.

In addition to these centers, the TAP has two SWAT (Students Working At Taxation) teams — SWAT I covers the ACTION centers in Rochester and Plymouth on various Saturdays while SWAT II responds to calls from those unable to seek help from the TAP centers.

According to Professor Kenneth Milani, coordinator of the TAP, SWAT II is one of the key elements of the Notre Dame program that distinguish it from other university tax assistance programs. "SWAT II assists individuals who would otherwise be unable to obtain help," he said. "Some of the people SWAT II has helped include cancer patients, handicapped individuals and retirement home residents." Prof. Milani adds that another differentiating feature of the Notre Dame program is "that we go out directly to the low income neighborhoods rather than just setting up centers on campus."

Support for the TAP comes from many sources. Individuals from public accounting firms in South Bend and the Notre Dame faculty offer their services as supervisors, resource persons and tax preparers. Supplies are provided by the Internal Revenue Service and the Indiana Department of Revenue. Funds come from the College of Business Administration and the Department of Accounting.

Forty-five seniors from the College of Business Administration are participating in the program. All of the students have successfully completed the Introduction to Federal Taxation course. During the second semester, they enroll in a one-hour course that meets regularly during the first three weeks for training. Student teams are assigned to each center or to a SWAT group. The weekly commitment of time averages to about five hours per student. A final written report that focuses on reactions and recommendations is assigned and completes the course for the students involved.

"We have received very favorable feedback from the students participating in the program," Milani stated. "It has been a very eye-opening experience for those involved. They have seen a completely different side of South Bend than the one they are exposed to here at Notre Dame."

Milani also remarked that the student recommendations are taken very seriously. "SWAT II was initiated about three years ago," he noted, "based on the suggestion of one student's report."

Notre Dame hosts case competition

Graduate students in business administration at the Universities of Ohio State, Illinois and Missouri are competing against Notre Dame in the first invitational M.B.A. case competition which began Sunday, April 4 in the Center for Continuing Education. Finals of the competition, open to the public, are being held at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. today.

Funded in part by a grant from the Johnson and Johnson Companies of New Brunswick, New Jersey, the competition is designed to test the talents of students in diagnosing, isolating and defining problems; creating and evaluating alternative courses of action; and making practical and ethical decisions. Each team is allowed 24 hours to prepare a case related to business policy.

Notre Dame participants in the competition are Tom Anderson of Pelham, New York, a 1977 graduate of Lehigh University with a degree in civil engineering; John Cole of Shaftsbury, Vermont, a 1976 graduate of Bentley College with a degree in accounting; and Peter Eaton of Duluth, Minnesota, a 1978 graduate of Union College with a degree in political science and economics.

Attend

SEA SEMESTER

and receive a full semester credit at Notre Dame University.

One-semester program in oceanography and maritime affairs. Attend class for six weeks in Woods Hole and then join the R/V WESTWARD, a 125' schooner for a six-week research cruise to the North Atlantic, Caribbean, Gulf of Mexico or Sargasso Sea. Semesters start every two months year-round. For information contact:

SEA EDUCATION ASSOCIATION
Box 6a • Woods Hole MA 02543
(617) 540-3954

Sign-ups for Sophomore
Literary Festival

being taken at Student Union
Office, 2nd floor LaFortune.

ALL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

Sign-ups April 2 - 7.

FINE ARTS
AUCTION

Original Art: Signed & Numbered
Etchings, Lithographs and Serigraphs; also, Oil Paintings & Posters
ART WORK FRAMED AND READY TO HANG

Agam	Kandinsky
Amen	Klee
Alvar	Lelande
Appel	Matisse
Balet	Miro
Boulanger	Neiman
Buffet	Picasso
Calder	Renoir
Churchill	Rockwell
Chagall	Vasarely
Dali	and many
Dufy	others

SUNDAY, APRIL 11
Exhibition: 1 pm Auction: 2 pm
RAMADA INN
52890 US 33 S. Bend

FREE • Admission
• Catalog • Door Prize
Penciled signed and numbered original lithograph
Visa • Mastercard • Personal Checks • Cash
Auctioneer: Dr. Charles Keller
Presented by: THE GALLERY ART AUCTIONEERS

Many students ignore social life survey

As a freshman, one aspect of life at Notre Dame convinced me to forsake the warmth of the Texas sun in favor of the snow and slush of South Bend: the idea that the student body forms a unique and cohesive family known to all as "the Notre Dame community."

Carol Camp

Freshman Outlook

As I prepared for my first semester, I was told by both students and alumni that I was soon to become a member of "the greatest student body in the United States," yet as my first year as a Notre Dame student comes to an end, I find myself questioning the spirit of that seemingly mythical community.

Although we as students are members of an academic community, we nevertheless have responsibilities and obligations which reach beyond maintaining our grade point averages.

One of our primary responsibilities is to utilize the rare opportunity which we have been given by the administration to improve a universal problem: the lack of social space on campus and of interaction between members of the opposite sex.

On Friday, March 26, approximately 1100 questionnaires were sent out to randomly selected students, faculty, and staff members by the Office of Student Activities. The purpose of this questionnaire was to gather student input on the issue of social life at Notre Dame.

The results of this survey, along with the findings of the campus study group which traveled to several college campuses during spring break and an independent psychological study which is currently being prepared, will be presented in a report to the Board of Trustees at their annual meeting in May.

To date, only 385 completed questionnaires have been returned to the Student Activities Office, and these are separated into three categories: hence, only a very small percentage of the 825 forms which were distributed to students have been returned.

The significance of the questionnaire cannot be overemphasized, for it represents a genuine effort on the University's part to consider students' feelings, opinions, and ideas.

Granted, a survey is an indirect and somewhat impersonal communicative approach, yet it will provide the administration with the concrete input which it has previously disregarded.

An example of the administration's laissez-faire attitude toward verbal input was apparent at the Hall Presidents' Council meeting which Provost O'Meara addressed.

Although O'Meara made a sincere attempt to comprehend the student leaders' concerns, his insistence that they choose between vaguely defined priorities resulted in the administration's misinterpretation of students' needs.

As one HPC member observed, "When asked to choose between satellite centers and a new student center ten or fifteen years from now, of course you're going to pick satellite centers."

While it is unfortunate that the HPC's long-awaited meeting with Provost O'Meara failed to improve communication between the student leaders and the administration, 825 students now have the opportunity to state their views on the issue of social life at Notre Dame.

If the rate of response to the survey does not significantly increase, the efforts of the campus study group and other individuals concerned with the improvement of the quality of life at this University will be in vain.

Student Activities Director James McDonnell expressed the sentiments of the campus study group by stating, "If that's the response rate, maybe we're concerned about something that the students aren't concerned about, and through this survey, we'll find out if the views of those involved in student government, Student Union, and newspaper reflect those of the student body as a whole."

As members of the "Notre Dame community," we are challenged from the moment we arrive on campus to strive for the improvement of the world which surrounds us.

Ironically, it seems as though we would rather spend another boring Saturday night "with the guys" (or girls) rather than examining the issues closely and discovering alternative outlets for social interaction.

Until we are willing to take the initiative and make our actions speak louder than our well-vocalized complaints, the idea of "the Notre Dame community" will remain a mythical element of "Catholic Disneyland."

Carol R. Camp

Cartoonist Jeff MacNelly returns

Editor's Note: The editorial cartoons of Jeff MacNelly, who has won the Pulitzer Prize twice, begins today on the pages of The Observer.

MacNelly, 34, who won the Pulitzer in 1972 and 1978, returned to his editorial cartoon on March 7 after a hiatus during which he concentrated on his comic strip "Shoe."

"I thought the country straightened out eight months ago," said MacNelly in returning, "but I see we're not, so it's time to come back."

Now on the staff of The Chicago Tribune, MacNelly does three national cartoons per week.

P.O. Box Q

The knowledge of understanding

Dear Editor:

I just finished reading John Macor's article in the March 3rd issue of The Observer ("The Knowledge of Understanding") and felt compelled to write. Although I haven't always agreed with John's views, and sometimes thought he did better work with a camera than a typewriter, this is by far the best piece I have read in The Observer in the past five years. In it, John writes that "the education with books is only a small part of the college experience..." — if only more Notre Dame students would realize that! Four years of college go by too quickly to be wasted. I have seen people "come out of the woodwork" after three hard years of studying, to finally enjoy themselves in their senior year. It may be well deserved, but by then it's too late. In everything that was gained from books there was much that lost in learning.

Experience outside of the classroom has a much greater impact on personal growth than anything that can be obtained inside it. Notre Dame has much to offer and so do its students. Finding a way to balance your academic self with your personal self is not an easy thing to do. In trying to juggle my time between activities and CHEG courses, I found that something usually had to suffer, and many times it was my grades. But I have never regretted a minute of this "misspent" time. What I learned about myself during that time was more valuable than anything I've ever found in any book.

Let's face it — grades can only get you so far. You will either pass a course or you will fail one. Ten years from now, no one will remember or care which grades you got in which courses. What will matter is what kind of a person you have developed into and how you have used the knowledge gained through your academic and personal experiences. In my first performance review at work, my boss cited as my major strength not my academic background or my technical knowledge, but my personality and character which enabled me to do well and survive in the plant atmosphere.

When you have finished four years at Notre Dame you leave your grades behind — what you take with you is what you have made of those four years.

Sincerely,
Mary Beth Sterling
Class of '81

Serious issues

Dear Editor,

I wish to congratulate Edward Konrady and Randy Fahs for their concerning apathy. They have pointed out a serious problem here at Notre Dame. I wholeheartedly agree that students must channel their vast energies into "doing" instead of just complaining about what must be done. However, there is a question pertaining to the issues demanding our attention.

I honestly must ask, who cares whether beer is in a keg or in a bottle? Other more pressing issues concerning us students do exist. At this minute, a very real tragedy is occurring in El Salvador. There also exist grave injustices only three blocks from this campus. If eight thousand students are going to unite in action, it should be for a worthwhile cause. A mountain of bottles and cans piled up on campus — what an idea! Would people view the administration negatively? I doubt it. As students we must act responsibly and effectively. Overacting on self-centered, minor causes will only endanger our integrity as a student force when acting on the major issues.

The students of this campus definitely need to unite and work for social progress. As a highly respected university, we definitely have a voice. Our past traditions have given us a podium to stand at; now, we must speak and work to be heard. We must change our apathetic, selfish attitudes and do something. I only hope and pray that having beer in kegs or abstaining from one brand of candy bar is not Notre Dame's sole contributions to surrounding injustices.

Robert Bill
Moreau Seminary

Improve car parking

Dear Editor,

On the night of March 30, several cars had some of their tires slashed in student parking lot D-2. Unfortunately, all four of mine were slashed. Coincidentally, I had my car stereo stolen and other internal damages to my car occurred in D-2 nearly one and a half months ago. I realize that it is a great risk to have a car at school, and also that Notre Dame Security is not to blame for these events. But something is wrong if I am vandalized twice in a two month span and have damages of over $1500, of which my insurance company will only cover half. What I would like to know is, "Can anything be done to prevent this from happening to someone else?" I ask the new Student Government to look into this problem and discuss possible solutions. After all, everyone with a car must pay a twenty-five dollar registration fee, but where does this go? It is probably broken down where part goes to leasing a parking stall, part goes to maintenance (snow removal, etc.), and part goes to security. Security?? Tell that to my insurance company! Again, I am not holding NE Security responsible, but there must be ways to improve this situation and preventing it from happening again.

George D. Karibjanian
Business Administration

The Observer

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 239-5303

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief.....Michael Monk
Managing Editor.....Ryan Ver Berkmoes
Executive News Editor.....Kelli Flint
SMC News Editor.....Margaret Fosmoe
Sports Editor.....Chris Needles
Editorials Editor.....Paul McGinn
Features Editor.....Tari Brown
Photo Editor.....Rachel Blount

Department Managers

Business Manager.....Tony Aiello
Controller.....Eric Schulz
Advertising Manager.....Chris Owen
Production Manager.....Maura Murphy
Circulation Manager.....Ray Inglin
Systems Manager.....Bruce Oakley

Founded November 3, 1966

Concert had growing pains

Spring is the season for planting; when seeds are sown and carefully tended. It is fitting then, that Our Spring Concert, the last production of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's Dance Theatre, was presented during this season.

Tari Brown

dance review

Freshness and enthusiasm were reflected on the stage throughout the performance. However, the growing pains of a department that has only recently begun to function were evidenced by inconsistencies in the concert.

The program, divided into three pieces, began with Trois Danseuses, an abstract trio solo and the music of Milhaud. The done, duo and trio segments of the piece demonstrated one of the major problems that pervaded the entire program. Maureen Meagher, a dancer of exceptional talent and training, outshone Mary Scheiber and Frances Regas. Her technique was cleanly executed and her presence dominated the stage. She has the rare quality of being able to translate inner motivational energy into meaningful movement. Unfortunately, Scheiber and Regas lacked Meagher's enthusiastic energy which makes such a dance enjoyable to watch as well as perform. Perhaps the underlying reason for Scheiber's and Regas' problems was that the choreography was beyond their capabilities. These girls are not dance majors and consequently, their training has not adequately prepared them for such complex movement. Their Herculean effort was to be admired.

Professor Debra Stahl, choreographer, seemed to be more comfortable with the choreographic style of the second piece, The Descent Beckons as the Ascent Beckoned. Based on the poem, "The Descent" by William Carlos Williams, it traces the moment of liberation from the pain of a memory. Stahl translated the simplicity of the poetic structure into an economy of movement very well; an economy that was neglected in the previous piece.

The dramatic element was strongly portrayed by Colleen Quinn as the "One who remembers." As one who excels in gesture, she concretized the dramatic pulse of each movement well. However, the piece's reliance on gesture was its greatest weakness in that it bordered on the mimetic which caused the choreography to appear acted rather than danced. That inner force which characteristically defines dance as a form of expression was never allowed to surface. The gesture hid it to the point of disguising any catharsis in the piece.

The second movement of The Descent . . . , "Purgatory," best embodied the essence of Williams' poem. The trouble with this movement, (and it plagued the others as well), was the lack of variation utilized around any given theme. Repeatedly and redundantly, a movement such as that at the window, was danced without any expansion on the thematic idea. Like a "theme and variation" segment of a symphonic work, dance, too, needs to incorporate variation so as to develop the theme and maintain the audience's attention.

Stahl and her dancers showed the enthusiasm with which all dance should be approached in the final piece, Prague Dumka. Individual performances made this piece of drama interesting, coherent and at times, very funny. E. M. Durkin as the Old Man, Mary Beth O'Brien as the little boy, Mary E. Kelly as the Chaperone and Kevin Tindell are to be commended for bringing much character and energy to the stage.

As was the case in Trois Danseuses, the stage ultimately belonged to Maureen Meagher. Her performance revealed the depth of her experience, particularly in partnering. Michael Pirkowski appeared unsure of himself, never really understanding why he was where he was or where he was going, and confused with each of his partners. Given his limited experience, it would have perhaps been in the best interests of the entire piece if any partnering had been foreseen. Rather than fear for the safety of Scheiber, Quinn and Meagher, the audience would have been able to enjoy the dancing more.

Prague Dumka was reminiscent of an MGM musical such as Easter Parade. After rereading the program notes, it was a bit disconcerting to discover such descriptors as "melancholy," "hazy" and "autumnal." The dance was anything but these.

The costumes were very nicely done, particularly the period pieces for the Dumka. Professor Ellen Brannick created an ensemble of clothing that held together and added to the beauty of the dance.

The sets throughout were questionable as was the placement of the musicians on stage. In the first piece, the musicians were distracting, especially Jane Zwerneman on french horn. With the quintet on stage, space was constricted so much that the audience began to wonder when Meagher or Regas were going to arabesque into the platform.

Professor Thomas Leff's design for the second piece was superb in conception, but when translated onto the O'Laughlin stage it lost all of its depth. The musicians would not have been such a distraction if they had had their music memorized; page turns broke many a pregnant silence. The last piece, though weighted by an overly complex set, incorporated the musicians right into the drama.

Although this concert had its problems, it must be emphasized that the choreography was developmental in style. Stahl needs to experiment more with manipulating bodies on the stage and motivating their entrances and exits. The program showed much room for growth in that it needed to move beyond where it was. All of the artists in this production contributed to the planting of some very choice seeds. Time and care now are needed to allow them to grow and flourish.

Russian ballpoints, nuclear bombs

You can go into a strange restaurant and make a good guess about how the food is going to taste long before they've actually served you any of it. There are telltale signs that give you advance warning. When the rolls or the bread come, you know for sure how the whole meal is going to be.

This idea can be extended to everything and everybody. You can tell a lot about the whole from a very small part. You can tell a lot about how a person does everything from watching him or her do just one thing. We are all victims of our own character and we find it impossible to do something that isn't characteristic of us.

Andy Rooney

This idea applies to whole countries just as certainly as it applies to individuals. We keep doing things like Americans, the Germans keep doing things like Germans, the French like the French.

President Reagan said the other night that the Soviet Union has "a definite margin of superiority" over the United States in nuclear arms. Using my theory about being able to tell a lot from a sample, I doubt it. I've spent a good deal of time in Russia and hold some opinions about the people and the nation that no one can talk me out of.

One of my firmly held beliefs is that the Russians are not naturally mechanical people. They may acquire the ability and they may be better at it than they used to be, but working with machinery does not come naturally to the average Russian. They have a great heritage in music and literature and the arts in general, but they build terrible automobiles and don't know how to fix them when they break down.

One of the more incredible travel experiences I've ever had was a week in a Russian hotel in Moscow. The second time I stayed there they had installed telephones in every room, but the telephones were not connected through any hotel switchboard. There was no way for anyone to call the hotel and be connected with me by phone in my room.

Does this sound like a country that is apt to be ahead of us in nuclear weapons?

The Russians, in their desperate attempt to get hard Western currency away from tourists, opened what they call "Beriozkas" or "Dollar Stores." They put their best merchandise in these small shops located in their finest hotels and offer it for sale in exchange for dollars or other foreign currency, not rubles. Russian citizens can't buy there.

I've bought nail clippers, razors, razor blades and ball-point pens in those Dollar Stores and I've carefully inspected such items as cameras, camera lenses, binoculars, cigarette lighters, scissors and watches there. The best Russian goods are poor by our standards. The workmanship is inferior and the design is either imitative or clumsy.

This isn't being written by some blindly anti-Russian nut. I don't hate the Russians. I hate their oppressive government. As a matter of fact, I kind of like the Russians. They're often wonderfully free-spirited and fun to be with, but, for whatever facet of their national character it is, they do a lot of things badly. From what I've seen of their binoculars and their ball-point pens, I'd guess nuclear weapons would be one of the things they make poorly. There are some things Americans don't do well, either, but these are different things.

Obviously, the Russians have learned how to do some things. Their space program is not as sophisticated as ours but it works. I have no doubt that their nuclear bombs go off with a big bang, and I'm also sure they've built rockets that will take their missiles to New York. What I can't believe, from what I know firsthand about the Russians, is that they have more and better nuclear weapons than we do.

I can't stop myself from thinking that President Reagan is just trying to scare us into approving his huge defense budget. If the Russians could build great nuclear bombs, their hotels wouldn't be as poorly constructed as they are.

Copyright 1982 The Chicago Tribune

Duo contrasts successfully

Stormy Weather might have been an appropriate addition to the musical program presented by Eugenia and Pinchas Zukerman Tuesday night in the Elkhart Central High School auditorium. A sudden rainstorm caused the Zukermans and their pianist, Mark Neikrug, some problems in getting to the auditorium for their performance.

But from the moment the trio stepped on the stage, their problems ended. In stark contrast to Zukerman's controlled style is the expressive way in which his wife, Eugenia, plays the flute. Eugenia, counted among the world's top flautists, played 20th century selections by Andre Jolivet and Libby Larsen. In introducing the pieces, she indicated her interest in rhythmical and cyclic music. The Larsen piece, Ulloa's Ring, was written in 1980 for Eugenia Zukerman. Jolivet's works recall primitive tribal music, and Zukerman's expressive, swaying style was well suited to the elemental emotionalism of the pieces.

The Zukermans

Neikrug's accompaniment on piano was competent and unobtrusive. He played in perfect balance at all times, never dominating, but never fading out of focus. He and Pinchas Zukerman are comfortable performing together, having recorded an album in 1981 for CBS Masterworks. The two shared a light moment or two as Zukerman turned pages for Neikrug during Eugenia's two selections, which combined with her demonstrative play to create an enjoyable atmosphere for the evening.

The artists also performed two pieces as a trio, combining their talents in a delicate balance of contrast and harmony.

The trio were presented with keys to the City of Elkhart by the mayor in a warm ceremony at intermission. The concert was the last in the Elkhart Concert Club's 1981-82 series. The club's 1982-83 schedule, which commences in October, will include performances by Andre Watts, with Charles Trager; Vincent Price; Ballet Folklorica Mexicana, with Jose Greco; and the Gerry Mulligan Jazz Quartet.

Bruce Oakley

music review

ended.

Pinchas Zukerman demonstrated the remarkable clarity and richness of tone that has earned him a reputation as one of the world's top violinists. Accompanied by Neikrug, Zukerman played Sonata No. 3 in D Minor, Op. 108 by Brahms and Four Romantic Pieces, Op. 75 by Dvorak, with a controlled and graceful style. Zukerman is not an emotionally demonstrative player, but an occasional raised eyebrow or a certain set of the jaw indicated the intensity with which he plays, and the love he has for his music.

An Tostal Ping Pong Tournament registration will be held today from 7 to 9 p.m. on the second floor of LaFortune. Registration fee is $1. Dorm stars are invited to test their skills in the first campus-wide table tennis tournament in years. — The Observer

An Tostal Frisbee Golf is coming. If you can throw a frisbee, you can play. The six-hole Frisbee Open will be played Saturday, April 24. Registration is set for April 13 from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on the third floor of LaFortune. — The Observer

Four home runs, including a grand slam by Eddie Murray, powered the Baltimore Orioles to a 13-5 victory over the Kansas City Royals in the American League opener yesterday. Sammy Stewart, the winner in relief, choked off a bases-loaded threat in the fifth inning. He preserved the triumph after the Royals had battled back from a 7-1 deficit and pulled to within 7-5 on George Brett's solo homer in the seventh. But a three-run homer by Orioles newcomer Dan Ford capped a six-run rally in the bottom of the seventh. The game, played in 46-degree weather, drew a record Baltimore regular-season crowd of 52,034, which included baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, but did not include President Reagan, who declined an invitation for security reasons. — Associated Press

BOOKSTORE

Today's Games
Stepan 1
 4:00 — Five Well-Hung Jurors v. Phylis and the Pips
 4:45 — Goose v. Windex - The Glass Cleaners
 5:30 — Premature Shooters v. Lizzie Borden and the Hatchet Men
 6:15 — H.J. Connection v. Penisaurus and the Four Skins
Stepan 2
 4:00 — Brick Throwers v. The Nads
 4:45 — River City Residue Returns v. Stroking Irish Come Again
 5:30 — Endangered Feces v. Natalie Wood and the Necrophiliacs
 6:15 — Two Pats and Three Pinches v. ANONYMOUS
Stepan 3
 4:00 — Dr. Bob and the All-Star Goats v. The Generic Unit
 4:45 — Fr. Mario Padi and His Barbershop Quartet v. We're Still Not Domers
 5:30 — Packin' It v. The Rack Pack
 6:15 — The Ox and the Hot-Shooting Z-men II v. Five Guys Named Moe
Stepan 4
 4:00 — Jerry's Kids v. Two Dogs and a Coke for a Buck
 4:45 — Clyde the Glide and the Horrible Honkies v. Dip and the Dockless Wonders
 5:30 — The Blood-Sucking Monkeys v. Jerry Mathers and the Beaver Cleavers
 6:15 — The Intestinal Blasts v. Similac and the Four Dead Babies
Stepan 5
 4:00 — The Boxer Rebellion Makes a ... v. Coach Gypo's Pervone Heads
 4:45 — Five Slow White Guards v. Beer Bong
 5:30 — Pissuar and His Golden Wave v. Bill Pucell and the Voyageurs

6:15 — Agart Orange and the After Effects v. If You Can't Beat Us, You Suck
Stepan 6
 4:00 — Pistols of Love v. Hawkins and the Bad-Ases
 4:45 — We're Short But Slow v. J.T.J.
 5:30 — Mitch's and Rich's S.O.B.s v. Their Meat
 6:15 — Peanut Butter Legs v. The New Federalism
Stepan 7
 No Games Scheduled
Stepan 8
 No Games Scheduled
Bookstore 9
 4:00 — Five Men, Eight Hands v. Rhythm and Blues
 4:45 — Albemonsters v. Spiderman and the Four Avengers
 5:30 — Sums Vin v. How to How with Five Easy Guys
 6:15 — Jack Daniels and Your Mother v. The Aun-teaters
Bookstore 10
 4:00 — Barracudas v. The Gooks Plus One
 4:45 — Cherry Pickers v. Virtuals
 5:30 — Maggot's Magotts v. Two Guys Who Like to Play with Three Girls
 6:15 — Wood Distributors, Inc. v. The Laundry Bags
Lyons 11
 4:00 — Bishop Nestle and the Chocolate Cadavers v. Murray State
 4:45 — Natalie Wood Aquatic Club v. You're In 5:30 — The Hicks and Double Trouble v. James Brady and the Washington Bullets
 6:15 — B.F. and the Rearenders v. B.L.O.W.J.O.B.S.
Lyons 12
 4:00 — Grasse's Boners v. Boxer Shorts Brief Appearance
 4:45 — We Bad v. The All-Star Dogs
 5:30 — Tequila Sunrise v. Yaks in Heat
 6:15 — Rugbailers v. Quintin Dailey and Four Cocky Guys

Umpires approve four year contract

Major league umpires agreed to a new four-year contract yesterday which will raise their salaries to a top of $75,000. The agreement was reached in a 12-hour bargaining session which began Sunday night and ended early yesterday morning, and averted the second strike in three seasons by the officials. "In the first year, salaries will increase an average of 40 percent and over the four years of the contract, the increases average 60 percent," said Richie Phillips, the ump's legal representative. "In some categories, the increase is more than 100 percent over the term of the contract." Phillips cited the example of an umpire who made the first-year minimum of $18,000 in 1981. His salary goes to $26,000 this year and increases to $28,000, $30,000 and $37,000 over the life of the contract. Senior umpires will enjoy immediate pay hikes of $20,000 as a result of the agreement. — Associated Press

Classifieds

The Observer will accept classifieds Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classifieds to appear in the next issue must be received by 3 p.m. the business day prior to insertion. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or through the mail.

NOTICES

$50,000-$80,000 PER YEAR Are you bored with your job, tired of working for the other man. National company based in Lexington, Kentucky looking for five distributors in seven-county area. Call 1-800-9594

ATTENTION! ATTENTION! 2 Riders needed to St. Cloud, Minn. (or anywhere thereabouts) for Easter break. Call 7951 or 6713

HAIRCUTS! ONLY $4 FOR GUYS AND $6 FOR GIRLS -- LOT OF EXPERIENCE IN STYLING, ROTC AND PERSONALLY DESIGNED CUTS FOR YOUR FACE AND HAIR. CALL MICHAEL AT 7951

LADIES: Mad Dog's escort service now operating in the South Bend area. Safe, effective, reasonably priced, very European services offered. Mad Dog himself is often described as "the connoisseur of the sweetest fruits of his age," and a man of giant strengths and desires. Call 3335 to achieve personal services of various sorts

Death Penalty Panel Discussion 8PM tonight Architecture Auditorium

DESPERATELY NEED A RIDE TO AND/OR FROM PORTLAND, ORE. AREA. ABLE TO LEAVE ANYTIME AFTER GRADUATION. WOULD LIKE TO RETURN W/END OF JUNE 11TH IF YOU'RE GOING THAT WAY & HAVE EXTRA ROOM, PLEASE CALL ME--WILL SHARE USUAL. KEVIN-3369

Sell your texts at PANDORA'S 1-4 pm, Mon-Thurs. Regular store hours: 11-6 weekdays, 10-5 weekends. 50% off used poetry and sociology this week only. 937 South Bend Ave., 233-2342

LOST/FOUND

LOST: A strand of PEARLS. Much sentimental value. Please call Karen at 3773

REWARD: LOST GOLD NECKLACE WITH CROSS AT CAMPUS VIEW POOL. SENTIMENTAL VALUE. Please call 283-6954

Did someone lose a blue coat in Corby? I found one that says "IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHEERLEADERS." Call Michael at 289-7414 and tell me what night you think you lost your coat

Lost-contacts in case Mar 25 if found please call 3522

GREEN NOTEBOOK (pocket type) LOST on Tues or Wed. Important material is enclosed. Contact Dan Upton, 207 St. Ed's, x8822

Lost, Blue Chaucer Canterbury Tales Text in South Dining Hall on March 25. Tales are written in Middle English. Great Sentimental Value. If found, call Jim 3684

FOUND Cross pencil Tues 3-30 in E G. Aud call Mike 3242

LOST BASKETBALL. MacGregor X-6000, in vicinity of Stepan center Brian x6261

LOST A PAIR OF GLASSES BETWEEN PANGBORN AND THE STADIUM FRIDAY NIGHT APRIL 2. NEED THESE TO SEE!!! PLEASE CALL 284-4519 REWARD!!!

LOST: A GOLD CHAIN AND CRUCIFIX AT THE ROCKNE SWIM OFFICE "LOST ON TUESDAY MARCH 23, 1982 IF "FOUND" PLEASE RETURN TO 828 GRACE HALL OR CALL JOHN AT 6721. NO QUESTIONS WILL BE ASKED. HAS MUCH SENTIMENTAL VALUE.

LOST-Pair of wire-rimmed glasses in brown case. Somewhere between the law school and the parking lot just south of the engineering building. If found, call Mike at 287-7781

LOST while going to St. Ed's from the library, a black cross pen with the initials K.J.C. If found please call Kevin at 8858

FOR RENT

Student housing--clean, safe $100/mo 291-1405

4 Bdrm N Shore $270 mo total. Call Patty 3193228735 Call refunded

APT. FOR RENT 2880955

BE YOUR OWN BOSS. COMFORTABLE 5 BEDROOM, COMPLETELY FURNISHED HOUSE FOR 5 OR 6 CLOSE TO CAMPUS. PHONE 288-3942

SUMMER APT. ROOM Low rate at N.D. Apts. 234-9670 late evenings

WANTED

TYPING 28 years as a secretary--excellent typist, retired $1.00/page call Phyllis 259-2501

Need ride to SOUTH FLORIDA for Easter Break. Call Todd 1763 5 55

HELP!!! I DESPERATELY NEED A RIDE TO OKLAHOMA CITY FOR EASTER!!! MY OTHER RIDE GOT CANCELLED AND ALL MY CHOCOLATE BUNNIES WILL MELT OR GET STALE IF I DON'T GET TO THEM!!! CALL RENEE AT 7905!!!!!!!

WANTED, RIDERS TO N. CALIFORNIA leaving after finals 234-9670 late evenings

HELP! I DESPERATELY NEED A RIDE TO ATLANTA FOR EASTER!!! CAN LEAVE ANYTIME NEXT WEEK. WILL SHARE DRIVING AND EXPENSES. BE A GOOD EGG AND CALL 3351

PHILLY- NEED RIDE HOME FOR EASTER. WILL SHARE AS USUAL. CALL RON AT 6261

TYPING: EX-LEGAL SECRETARY 272-5337

Wanted: A roommate for the summer and/or fall semesters to share 1 bedroom Campus View Apt. Call Greg at 233-4381

NEED RIDE TO PITTSBURGH CAN LEAVE ANYTIME. WILL SHARE COSTS. CALL TOM 6109

Need ride to Louisville. Can leave Wed after noon. Call Al at 1782

HELP, I CAN'T SWIM, SO I NEED A RIDE TO FT. WAYNE ON APRIL 18 OR 17 TO SPEND EASTER WITH CASTAWAY FAMILY. IF YOU CAN OFFER AID, CALL PEG AT 1274.

DESPERATELY NEED RIDE TO D.C. OR VA. FOR EASTER. I AM WILLING TO RENT A CAR!! PLEASE CALL JOHN, 8331

HELP! I need 2 rides to New Jersey for Easter. Can leave Wed noon. Please call Kate 2897

XY 12 LOG 168.1 FOR TYPING, tel. 288-5855

Riders needed to Buffalo, N.Y. area. Will leave Thurs at noon. Call Jack at 3662-3667

I need ride to Milwaukee/Madison area for break. X 8837

Need riders to and from NYC Area. Leaving Thurs 8 returning Wednesday evening the 14. Share usual. Call Michael 239-5713

GOING EAST? Need ride for 2 to EXIT 7 Ohio pike, can leave WED call Steve 1816

$$$GEO. DEPT. needs tents for a weekend field trip, April 16, 17, 18. If you can rent us a tent call x6886

FOR SALE

USED BOOK SHOP. HOURS WED, SAT, SUN 9-7. CASPERSON 1303 BUCHANAN RD., NILES.

Special Discounts for Notre Dame faculty on computers and peripheral products, printers, modems, etc. Hewlett-Packard, Zenith FOURWAY COMPUTER PRODUCTS, INC., 52758 US 31 North (Across from North Village Mall) 277-7720.

TICKETS

Need extra tickets for graduation. Call Mark at 3008

WANTED grad tickets. Please call 277-0758 after 5:00 p.m.

! Parents have threatened severance from the family blood line if GRAD TIX don't materialize soon!! Please help! Will pay $$$!! Call Donna x7924 after 10pm

NEED TIX FOR GRADUATION. CALL MARTY 277-1036

PERSONALS

Cochabamba. So you're 23 today. How old is the charango? Signed: Don't listen to me, I'm just a

JVC RECRUITING APR 15! STOP IN VSO BEFORE BREAK TO GET DETAILS. SCHEDULE AFTERNOON OR EVENING APPTM

MIKE GURDAK FOR U.M.O.C.....HE REALLY WANTS IT!!!!

Eric, I anticipate you will have a felicitous solemnization of the 105 score commemoration of parturition

Mike Sakula

Happy Birthday Eric! Another one bites the dust. Ron Moracco

LYONS HALL FOODSALES OFFERS THE BEST IN FRESH, THICK CRUST PIZZA DELIVERED ANYWHERE ON SOUTH QUAD FOR THE NOMINAL CHARGE OF ON SOUTH QUAD FOR THE NOMINAL DELIVERY CHARGE OF THURSDAY NIGHTS FROM 9:30 TO 11 AND ORDER YOURS. ALSO: EVERY WEDNESDAY NIGHT IS GUEST CELEBRITY NIGHT WITH WELL-KNOWN CAMPUS-FIGURES WORKING THE COUNTER!

MIKE GURDAK FOR U.M.O.C.....HE REALLY WANTS IT!!!!

AND THE LORD SAID UNTO THEM, "LET YOUR UGLINESS SHINE FORTH AMONG MEN. UGLY MAN IS COMING"

SENIOR FELLOW NOMINATIONS: Applications available in Student Activities Office thru April 12

ND/SMC SENIOR GIRLS NIGHT OUT: Tuesday April 20 with FAST FREDDY & THE PLAYBOYS at the Music Box, 120 W. Mishawaka Avenue. Refreshments and first keg free. No men admitted until 11:00 p.m. Advance tickets $8.00, on sale now at River City Records, 50970 US 31 North.

see the hams in LIVERSWURST on April 6 and 7 in the Little Theatre at SMC.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY LINDA C. "Through the" (Kenny!) months, the parties, the tests, the phone calls, the infamous Rm 314, and the tears, you have been a dynamite roommate! (as good as TNT!) Hope your Birthday is SPECTACULAR! Too bad you won't be spending it here under the Dome! Hal Love, Pat

THE FILM CLUB PRESENTS: CHARLY APRIL 7, 9 & 11 EG. AUD. $1

Dear S & D, What is today? 10 Add 2, it equals 1. Breaks, beaches, rainy Saturday nights. We are the "KIDS!"

I Love You! The Original S & D

"...If this is what you want, you've got it." But if you get some time and change your mind... The Chef

RIDE NEEDED TO CHICAGO (N.W. Suburbs??) For Wednesday, April 7 after 12 noon Will Share Usual Call DAVE at X1418

NANCY GAIL A PROMISE IS A PROMISE...SO HERE GOES, YOUR WORSHIP! CONGRATULATIONS, HOWEVER LATE, ON YOUR ACCEPTANCE INTO TOOTH SCHOOL. BEST WISHES ALWAYS, I'M SO PROUD OF YOU--BUT I THINK YOU ALREADY KNOW THAT. COME CHECK OUT "THE MAGIC RATS" IN ACTION. MAYBE I'LL SEE YOU BEFORE GRADUATION. HAPPY EASTER! STAY SWEET!! HOPEFULLY, A FRIEND TOMORROW. SLESSON. NEGATIVITY

RIDER WANTED (1) TO INDY - leave Thurs at 4:00 PM, return Mon at 8:30 PM. Call Jack 277-1185

To a shy Islander fan, Mike Bossy is interested. Just call 8905 and ask for Scott. How could I turn down another Islander fan?

JAM. My mouth still hurts...how about yours??? Please say hello to the wife and holy one for me!! (How's that?)

ATTENTION, Eileen Clancy is 21 today. Living proof that the rare Long Island Red Fox is not extinct. XOX, The Pittsburgh Pig

TO ALL CAULIFLOWER, CARROTS & TOMATOES. ALTHOUGH OUR LEAVES HAVE NOW FALLEN 21 TIMES, IT WAS THOROUGHLY ENJOYABLE TO INCLUDE YOU IN OUR CELEBRATION. THANKS FOR MAKING OUR BIRTHDAYS MEMORABLE. HOW CAN YOU FORGET A BIRTHDAY VEGETABLE PARTY? THANKS STEVE & GREG

M.P. (N.B.M.R.): Je m'excuse. Il n'est pas un perdant mais tu l'aurais le tomber en tout cas

Dear Sue, Thanks so much for going to the trouble of getting me a room. LeMans should be great next year. I hope you, Barb, Paris, Grace and Jean are ready to go crazy next year. Thanks again. Love, Beth

CONGRATULATIONS LYNETTE! RAH! RAH! RAH! We love ya -- The Gang & Associates

Bruce Springsteen says Lynn Thomas was born to Cheerlead. We knew you'd make it. WAY TO GO, THOMAS! -- Assorted Buckeyes

The Cincinnati Reds are the Greatest!! (boy is this personal in trouble if they lost!)

Sally Bowles -- You shouldn't have the baby. And don't let that fellow Cliff convince you otherwise. Business at the Kit Kat Club is way off since you left. We need you back on stage -- Max

What good is sitting alone in your room? Life isn't that long a stay. Come to the Cabaret, old chum. Life is a Cabaret!! Tickets on sale starting April 5, for the N.D. Student Players performance of the Broadway hit CABARET

Cliff Bradshaw -- Off-Broadway or on, I think you are SPECIAL. Do you still believe in MIRACLES? Maybe a little less writing and a lot more talking will help. P.S. Venus can hardly wait till the ice melts. Your lake or mine? -- Sally

Come to the Cabaret!!! What good is sitting alone in your room when you could be supporting the student players? Come to the Cabaret! Choreography... Colleen Quinn Vocals... Anita Ramker Conducted by... Bob O'Donnell Produced by... Ed McNally Directed by a guy named Jeff (and a great guy, too.) March 15-18 Washington Hall

Dear Lance, So G Day. Welcome to Camelot. Our topic for today is birthdays so have a cold one, eh? G Day

Art and Gwen

Eric, Thanks for 21 great years. Dad

Eric, Happy 21st!! Have a good life. Love, Mona Lisa (alias MOM)

To all members of The House Of ILL-REPUTE room 425 Wild time. Katherine Why didn't you like the 9th floor? Min & Troy Why did you sleep under the table? Kate & Mike Thought you were sly having the whole bed to yourself? Plenty of brew & vino. Are you hurting as badly as we are?

Eric, You have had a successful 21 years. Congrats to you and your parents. Peggy Yates

Eric, Herzlichen Geburtstag. Have a nice birthday. Liebe Gemuse

My brain hurts from too many drinks. My nose is running from that rainy walk. My conscience feels embarrassed if I talk too much about things that pressure you. But the worst pain is that my face is sore from smiling too much!

Bogus, I won't apologize for this personal being late since it's your fault for not telling any of us about your birthday. Instead I'll just embarrass you in print. So you have to drink to have a good time, huh? Do you have any idea about some of the things you said Saturday night (or, actually, Sunday morning)? If I told you, you'd probably turn red Anyway, HAPPY BIRTHDAY (a little late)

p.s. I hope the Yankees finish below the Blue Jays this year

WOLFGANG, HERZLICHEN 21. GEBURTSTAG! TRINKE EIN BIER! HERR KLOSE-

Attention 308.310 & 313 Alumni GOTCHA!

ERIC (earwax), Happy 21! I hope you have about 21 more (Ha-Ha) Tarface

HAPPY LEGAL DAYS TO THE PRIDE OF VIA CATHERINA. LOVE WHITE LAKE

ERCK, I don't do homework that often, but you sure know when I do! Happy 21st. You're too nice to call Love, Your Sis

To Bobby C. Darling, you'll always be the only one for Heaven made you specially. Could it be I'm falling in love with you, baby? Sunshine

A MANDATORY MEETING will be held on TUESDAY, APRIL 6th for those interested in participating on next year's CLASS ADVISORY COUNCILS on the 2nd floor of LaFortune. The times are as follows: Class of '83 5:30 '84 6:30 '85 8:00

On April 13th MAGGIE BASTEDO will celebrate her 17th Birthday. We wish we could be with you to celebrate your day. Have a fantastic time!! Love, Bill and Lisa

TO ALL YOU VEGETABLES THANKS FOR UPLIFTING YOUR ROOTS & SHAKING YOUR LEAVES. Y'ALL WERE A GREAT CROP OF VEGETABLES. YOU REALLY MADE THE GARDEN ROCK. REMEMBER, THE LEAVES ARE ALWAYS GREENER ON THE STANFORD SIDE. 4 N-S AND 2 E-W STANFORD

DOUG, DRINK THAT BEER!!!! SHEILS & MART

WHEN MY DATE WORE UP-HOLSTERY, I THOUGHT SHE WAS DIFFERENT. WHEN I HAD TO TAKE HER FROM THE GRIPS OF THE POLICE, I KNEW I HAD A NOVEL TO WRITE. STILL WANT A COPY KATHERINE?

TO ALL THE FANTASTIC GIRLS FROM 3RD S REGINA & THE GUY FROM GRACE WHO MADE MY B-DAY GREAT. THANK YOU!!! IT COULD NOT HAVE BEEN ANY BETTER LOVE YA, MARY

ATTN: ALL YOU VEGETABLES THERE WAS A FEMALE LIL' GREEN SPROUT NAMED KIM PARTYING IN THE GARDEN. I WOULD GLADLY GIVE MY GREEN TIGHTS FOR HER PHONE NO. PLEASE HELP! THANKS, FROM THE REAL LIL' GREEN SPROUT PAT 8762

Yanks in a tight one

The AL East race will last until the final weekend in August, as six teams have legitimate shots at the title, with three very serious contenders. Detroit, Milwaukee and New York are contenders in any division, with Cleveland, Baltimore and Boston only a step below.

So, with a spirit of foreboding and a feeling of insanity, here are my picks:

New York (58-50) — The evolution from power to speed has been completed in New York. The Bronx Bombers still can pop the ball with Winfield, Nettles and Bob Watson. Newly-acquired Ken Griffey will replace Reggie in right, providing better defense, much more speed and more surprises with his bat than his mouth. Dave Collins will platoon with Watson at first, giving the Yankees a choice between speed and power. With Butch Hobson, no one will realize that Aurelio Rodriguez is gone.

Detroit (60-49) — With a good season from their potential superstar Kirk Gibson, the Tigers could give the Yankees a run for the title. The Tigers are strong up the middle with Lance Parrish (c), Alan Trammell (ss), Lou Whitaker (2b), and Gibson (cf). Newcomers Chet Lemon and Larry Herndon complete a solid outfield. In his option year, Lemon may have the kind of season White Sox fans always expected. The pitching is unknown but, with a little defense, will surprise a lot of people. The Tigers are in the hole is their fans, who have been waiting for a contending Tiger team since 1972.

Milwaukee (62-47) — Showing a tremendous amount of faith in their ballclub, the Brewers made no changes during the off-season. The lineup is solid, but how long can Fingers come out of the bullpen to save the floundering starters? A baseball strike that allowed Fingers arm to rest coupled with apathy by the Yankees helped the Brewers to the second-half championship. This year they won't have such luck.

Cleveland (52-51) — The Indians have beefed up a strong pitching staff adding Larry Sorenson, Silvio Martinez, Rick Sutcliffe and Ed Whitson to Len Barker, Bert Blyleven, John Denny and Rick Waits. Jack Perconte (2b) is a candidate for rookie-of-the-year honors. Bake McBride will help a sick offense, the only thing that keeps the Indians down. However, Gabe Paul probably has a deal up his sleeve to take care of that weakness, so don't count the Indians out too quickly.

Ed Konrady Sports Writer

A.L. East

Baltimore (59-46) — Earl Weaver is hoping that in his last season the Baltimore question marks all turn up positive. If so, the Orioles could be a force to reckon with. The team's backbone, pitching, is falling apart. The Cy Young trio of Palmer, Stone and Flanagan all suffered arm injuries last year. The left side of the infield is gone, with light-hitting Cal Ripken taking over at third for DeCinces, and Lenn Sakata battling rookie Bob Bonner for Mark Belanger's shortstop spot. Dan Ford (of) will help a powerful offense with Murray and Singleton.

Boston (59-49) — The Red Sox have one of the best hitting infields with batting champ Carney Lansford (3b), Glenn Hoffman (ss), Jerry Remy (2b) and Dave Stapleton (1b). The catching is adequate with Rich Gedman and Gary Allenson, but the loss of Tanana and Campbell will hurt the pitching staff. Torrez, Eckersley and Bob Ojeda are left, with rookie Luis Aponte scheduled for the bullpen. Unless the Red Sox hitting can make up for their pitching and defense, Ralph Houk will have a long season.

Toronto (37-69) — The only thing that keeps the Blue Jays from finishing eighth is another team in the division. Toronto did have the good sense to hold onto its only true star, pitcher Dave Steib. Pitching is adequate, and the rest of the team is worse. Wayne Nordhagen (of) will booster a sagging offense whose top hitter was second baseman Damaso Garcia with a .252 average. However, the Blue Jays have the most extensive minor league system, and there is talk of restructuring the league.

A's could repeat

This is without a doubt the most improved division in baseball. That may not sound like much, but five clubs have what it takes to win not only the division, but the AL pennant as well.

Chicago, Texas and California sport whole new looks and the others have made a few minor changes. What remains to be seen is which team has put together that much-needed winning chemistry.

The biggest problem facing pre-season prognosticators this year is that last season really can't be used effectively as a gauge because of the split season. That left many a general manager asking "Would my real team please stand up." Oakland and Chicago failed off in the second half while Kansas City was saved by it.

Oakland (64-45) — The split season didn't allow the A's lack of a bullpen to catch up with them, but other than that, this is a pennant-caliber team. Key acquisitions were Dave Lopes and Joe Rudi, both of whom can provide leadership for this young talented group. The starting rotation is unmatched. Out of their four-deep all-star outfield (Armas, Henderson, Murphy and Rudi) will come a superb DH.

Chicago (54-52) — Off-season roster changes cost the Sox depth and defense, but added more punch to an already potent offense. Fisk, Luzinski, Almon, Bernazard, LeFlore and Baines all return, but Chet Lemon (Detroit), Lamar Johnson (Texas), Pryor (Kansas City), Baumgarten (Pittsburgh), Farmer (Philadelphia), Nordhagen (Seattle), Esian and Todd Cruz (Toronto) are gone. Paciorek had the second highest average in the league last year with Seattle, and Kemp adds a lot from the left side of the plate. Burns, Dotson, Trout and Lamp make a formidable starting rotation, and Hickey, Hoyt and Kosman are adequate in the bullpen.

Texas (57-48) — The Rangers are the third team with super pitching, but they kept true to form in the off-season picking up a $450,000 starter who was 4-10 last year in Boston with a 4.02 ERA (Frank Tanana). Other acquisitions included Larry Parrish (for Al Oliver), Doug Flynn and Lamar Johnson. Bell, Flynn and Johnson are the nucleus of a superb

Michael Ortman Sports Writer

A.L. West

infield, and Sundberg is always dependable as catcher.

California (51-59) — The Angels have had all-star batting orders before, but this one takes the cake. "I think (Vice President) Buzzie (Bavasi) is trying to give me such a strong team that I can't screw it up," says manager Mauch. Too bad he didn't give you any pitchers, Gene. In '79 the Angels overcame pitiful pitching to win the West, and could do it again with super-stars Carew, Grich, Burleson and DeCinces in the infield, Bob Boerne behind the plate, and Lynn, Baylor, Brian Downing and Reggie in the outfield or at DH.

Kansas City (50-53) — Obtaining Vida Blue may have been the biggest off-season maneuver of any team in the division. He'll be a stopper on an otherwise thin pitching staff. Gura and Leonard will start and Quisenberry is the bullpen. The biggest question mark will be the many aging veterans — Do Otis, McRae, Geronimo, Splittorff and others still have it? Well, Brett may win 20 by himself.

Seattle (44-55) — Sending Paciorek to Chicago for Essian and Todd Cruz gave the Mariners two starters (catcher and shortstop) for one. Randle, Zisk and Bochte also are proven big leaguers. Pitching is mediocre at best. M's took the first step on the long road from expansion to respectability last year, their first out of the cellar. That should happen again.

Minnesota (41-68) — Quick, name five Minnesota Twins. Owner Calvin Griffith decided a few years ago to make his organization a feeder for the rest of the major leagues. Now he brags that for the first time since free agency started, he enters a season without the possibility of losing one. That's because he doesn't have anybody! Injury plagued Smalley, Wynegar, Castillo and Hatcher all must make super comebacks for this team to be respectable.

New look division

For what it's worth, two-and-a-half games separated the top three teams in this division at the end of last year's screwed up baseball season. Then there was an 11-game gap until the fourth place team.

The same upper echelon/lower class schism should exist this season, with Montreal, St. Louis and Philadelphia battling for the title. None of the other three (New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh) made significant improvements to break the barrier.

But after all the off-season maneuvers, which were more numerous here than in any other division, the key trade was last week's highway robbery of Al Oliver by the Expos. That should ensure Montreal a repeat division title.

Here's how I see it:

Montreal (60-48) — The addition of Oliver from Texas gives the Expos super balance from both sides of the plate. Gary Carter, Andre Dawson and Oliver each could be MVP's. Question marks in the infield, but the emergence of fireballer Jeff Reardon out of the bullpen to add to the best starting staff around should push the Expos as far as the World Series.

Philadelphia (59-48) — Still the best starting nine around, and new owner Bill Giles was shrewd enough to replace the obsolete parts. Larry Bowa, Bob Boone and Bake McBride were dumped in favor of the more youthful Ivan DeJesus, Bo Diaz and Bob Dernier. Health is the key here. In 1979, injuries forced a fourth-place finish. In injury free-1980, they won the World Championship. Pete Rose (bad back) and Tug McGraw (arm) are hurting. Without them, the Phils won't have a prayer. With them, along with their super supporting cast, watch out.

St. Louis (59-43) — Ozzie Smith for Garry Templeton, even up? The Cardinals lose nothing in the field, but about 100 points at the plate. And Smith isn't exactly an angel — remember the want ad he put in a San Diego paper seeking a job, claiming he was so under-

Chris Needles Sports Editor

N.L. East

paid by the Padres he couldn't make ends meet? The Cards still could hit .300 as a team, but a weak staff will give up more. The savior is Bruce Sutter, who will keep the Birds in contention until he runs out of gas.

Now, we draw the line.

New York (41-62) — New skipper George Bamberger has a powerful lineup, but all of them are righthanded and strike out a lot, including newcomer George Foster. Pitching is a giant concern, with Pat Zachry and a bunch of sore arms. Trade of Golden Glover Doug Flynn to Texas for washed-up reliever Jim Kern ranks as one of the worst of the year. The Mets could break into the upper division with a few breaks.

Chicago (38-65) — Dallas Green's motto for this year was "Making changes for changes sake." Why not? The Cubs couldn't get much worse. Only three starters return, the rest replaced by an assortment of former Phillies (Larry Bowa, Keith Moreland and Rookie-of-the-Year candidate Ryne Sandberg), plus recently-acquired Bump Wills. The starting lineup isn't that bad, really, but every player must play his absolute best for the Cubs to have any hope at all. They should improve immensely, but there's still a ways to go.

Pittsburgh (46-56) — From first in 1979 to worst in the second half in 1981 — the Pirates are going downhill fast. Bill Madlock is the only steady influence amid a bunch of bad attitudes, including Dave Parker, who is as unpopular as ever and is being sued left and right. Staff-leader Jim Bibby may be finished with shoulder miseries, making it a clean sweep on a pitching staff that is perpetually hurt. Even Chuck Tanner can't be optimistic in this situation.

Same trio on top

The Los Angeles Dodgers won their first World Championship in 16 years in '81. Never mind that they got a big assist from the players' strike. By the end of the season, they were the best team in the division, as well as in the majors. And there's no reason to think that they won't hold on to that distinction.

The Dodgers and Houston are the only two teams in the West that have remained relatively unchanged over the winter. Two teams — San Diego and Atlanta — have new managers, while the other two clubs — San Francisco and Cincinnati — have made key personnel changes.

Experience and continuity are almost as important to a baseball team as pitching. So I'm predicting a close race between the two teams that are rich in all three areas — the Dodgers and the Astros.

Los Angeles (63-47) — That famous infield of Cey, Russell, Lopes and Garvey — which played together for a record nine seasons — was broken up when the Dodgers unloaded the 35-year-old Lopes to Oakland. But rookie Steve Sax, who hit .340 in the Texas League last season before being called up for the stretch drive, will someday be better than Lopes ever was. Fernando is back in the States, even though he says he isn't happy with his contract. He is definitely not worth a million a year, as he (or his agent) was asking. Fernando probably will struggle through this season, now that the hitters have had a chance to think about his screwball. But the Dodgers are still rich with pitching, and have a solid offensive attack. The acquisition of Jorge Orta will only fortify an already-strong outfield.

Houston (61-49) — Once again the Astros are without a right-handed power hitter. But once again they may not need one. The Astros are a perfect example of a team built for its ballpark. They utilize their speed and pitching, both of which they are rich in. The acquisitions of Ray Knight at third and Phil Garner at second (he came over from Pittsburgh late last season) give the Astros an excellent infield both offensively and defensively. The pitching staff is solid all around, even if Don Sutton doesn't recover from a shattered kneecap. Niekro, Knepper, Ruhle and Ryan are proven starters. Sambito and Smith can extinguish many late-inning rallies. The Astro-Dodger race should be a dogfight.

Dave Dzedzic Assoc. Sports Editor

N.L. West

Cincinnati (66-42) — Despite what the Cincinnati fans say, the Reds were not the best team in baseball last year. And they are not any better this year. Last season's outfield is gone entirely. Griffey, Collins and Foster are all in New York now — the first two with the Yankees and the third with the Mets. The addition of Cesar Cedeno will help, but young, unproven players will be relied upon heavily. Johnny Bench finally has escaped from behind the plate, taking over for a departed Ray Knight at third. The pitching staff, with Seaver, Pastore, Soto and Berenyi, is a plus.

San Francisco (56-55) — G.M. Tom Haller traded away all four starting pitchers. The loss of Vida Blue is most notable. Leonard, Davis and Clark are a solid outfield. Inexperience among pitchers will be the downfall.

Atlanta (50-56) — New Manager Joe Torre may have a tougher time here than he did in New York. Four strong hitters (Washington, Horner, Murphy and Chambliss) cannot make up for a no-name pitching staff.

San Diego (41-69) — Dick Williams is the Padres' sixth manager in as many years and their first non-rookie one since 1977. In the words of Williams, "It may take us a couple of years to become competitive." Williams did it in Boston, Oakland and Montreal, so look out.

Each team's 1981 overall record (both halves) is listed in parentheses.

Molarity

Doonesbury

Simon

The Daily Crossword

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13				14			15		16
17				18			19
	20		21				22
		23				24
25	26	27			28	29
30				31			32	33	34
35				36			37	38
39				40			41
		42	43				44
	45	46					47
48					49	50			51	52
53				54					55		56
57				58					59
60					61				62

ACROSS

1 Delivery message letters

5 Asian big shot

9 Bucket

13 Cougar

14 Boom or barrier

16 Prefix for science

17 Tentmaker

18 Puccini opera

19 Greek letters

20 Giveaway artist

23 Diner sign

24 "— is the Kingdom"

25 Assail witheringly

28 Viscous stuff

30 — ease (uncomfortable)

31 Chimney lining

32 Viral disease

35 Beneficiaries of 48 A

39 Yellow or Red

40 Helper

41 Up tight

42 Menu

44 Blew a horn

45 Kind of bath

47 Curse

48 Big name in steel

53 — Strip

54 Very tired

55 Pinnacle

57 Southwest wind

58 WWII meeting place

59 Slay

60 Trick

61 Tall tale

62 Heraldic term

25 Tastes

26 Whodunit item

27 — Longa, Italy

28 Base approach

29 Oil job, for short

31 Dart

32 Informer

33 — majesty

34 Secondhand

36 Tasty seed

37 Repent

38 Turncoat

42 Muscle relaxant

43 One, in Edinburgh

44 Mother of Samuel

45 Result of Murphy's Law

46 Shaping tools

47 Swedish actress

48 Culture medium

49 Seafood item

50 Friend

51 Religious picture

52 Discharge

56 Chemical ending

DOWN

1 Soldier's address

2 Cesspool

3 Asian nurse

4 About life in academe

5 Manor

6 Satellites

7 MIT, e.g.

8 Opulent

9 Chicken dish

10 At full speed

11 Busy

12 Tilt

15 French explorer

21 City NNE of Helsinki

22 Electrical measurement

Monday's Solution

CHAS	CAMEL	RETE
HURT	AMATI	OVER
ALAR	BELEM	DINO
PALATINE	EDITED
TINT	CRENATE
PIPALS	GLIB
ADAGE	PRACTICAL
TELE	FLANK	NOPE
HAMMERING	HANSA
LINT	HANGON
CHOOSEY	SARI
HASTEN	HINDMOST
AMAH	DRIED	AREA
RAGE	LIEGE	TEAM
ONER	YODEL	ELLE

Michael Molinelli

Garry Trudeau

Jeb Cashin

Campus

- 4 p.m. — Lecture, Distinguished American Women Lecture Series, Mrs. Barbara Bush, Annenberg Auditorium,
- 4 p.m. — Lecture, The Future of Conservative Economics, Prof. Herbert Stein, Library Auditorium, Sponsored by College of Business Administration,
- 4:30 p.m. — Lecture, New Approach in Design of Antimalarials Selectivel, Dr. L. William Scheiber, Galvin Life Science Auditorium,
- 6 p.m. — Lecture, The Impact of Divorce, Mary Theis and Sr. Veronica Fisher, SMC, Campus Ministry apartment, Rm. 28, Holy Cross Hal, Sponsored by Counseling and Career Development Center and Campu,
- 7:30 p.m. — Film, Bottle Babies, Rm. 351 Madeleva, SMC, Sponsored by SMC Psychology Department,
- 8 p.m. — Dramatic Presentation, The Will of Zeus, Frank Fowle, Annenberg Auditorium, Sponsored by English Department,
- 8 p.m. — Theatre Presentation, Would you care for some Liverwurst?, SMC, Little Theatre, Moreau Hall, Sponsored by ND/SMC Theatre, $1.00
- 8 p.m. — Lecture, Zero Gravity, Solar Power and Astroidal Mining, 102 O'Shag, Sponsored by Society for Free University,
- — Discussion, The Death Penalty, Profs. Bernard Worling, Stanley Haverwas, Edward M, Rm. 201 Architecture Building, Sponsored by Amnesty International.

T.V. Tonight

- | | | |
|------------|----|-------------------------------------|
| 7:00 p.m. | 16 | MASH |
| | 22 | CBS News |
| | 28 | Joker's Wild |
| | 34 | The MacNeil/Lehrer Report |
| 7:30 p.m. | 16 | The Muppet Show |
| | 22 | Family Feud |
| | 28 | Tic Tac Dough |
| | 34 | Straight Talk |
| 8:00 p.m. | 16 | Daffy Duck Easter Show |
| | 22 | Q.E.D. |
| | 28 | Happy Days |
| | 34 | Life on Earth |
| 8:30 p.m. | 16 | The Bernstein Bears Easter Surprise |
| | 28 | Joanie Loves Chachi |
| 9:00 p.m. | 16 | Steve Martin's Best Show Ever |
| | 22 | CBS Movie: "Love and Bullets" |
| | 28 | Three's Company |
| | 34 | American Playhouse |
| 9:30 p.m. | 28 | Too Close For Comfort |
| 10:00 p.m. | 16 | The Shape of Things |
| | 28 | Hart to Hart |
| 10:30 p.m. | 34 | The City is Ours |
| 11:00 p.m. | 16 | NewsCenter 16 |
| | 22 | 22 Eyewitness News |
| | 28 | Newswatch 28 |
| | 34 | The Dick Cavett Show |
| 11:30 p.m. | 16 | Tonight Show |
| | 22 | Alice/WKRP/McCloud |
| | 28 | ABC News Nightline |
| | 34 | Captioned ABC News |
| 12:00 a.m. | 28 | Fantasy Island |
| 12:30 p.m. | 16 | Late Night With David Letterman |

Herbert Stein, A. Willis Robertson professor of economics at the University of Virginia, will give a lecture (Tuesday) April 6 at 4:00 p.m. in the University of Notre Dame's Memorial Library Auditorium.

The Student Union presents:

Dan Peek

formerly of America

April 17, 1982

8PM at Stepan Center

Tickets are $5 in advance.
and $6 at the door

You can buy your tickets right now on campus at the SU Ticket Office or at the ACC Box Office

The Student Union Social Commission is now taking applications for the Social Commission Staff. This is a great opportunity to get involved in the S.U. the coming school year!

Call Dave Droulliard at 3181 or 239-7757

The worst weather in the history of Bokstore basketball was not enough to deter some 385 people from playing in the classic yesterday. Play continues today — snow and all. (Photo by Rachel Blount)

April snowball

Bookstore slides into action

By SKIP DESJARDIN
Sports Writer

Etched against a chalk-white April sky, Bookstore basketball rode again.

In days past they were marked by sunshine, clouds, tornadoes, sleet and hail. But yesterday the games were played under the most adverse conditions in the tournament's ten years.

Fueled by the winds of Lake Michigan, the snow howled across the Indiana plains. It froze fingers and toes. It covered the sidelines, soaked the score sheets and reduced visibility to near zero.

But it did not stop the games. "Incredible," said Commissioner Emeritus Rob Simari of the brutal afternoon. "We had only three forfeits out of 40 games. And there were actually people who came out in this simply to watch the games."

BOOKSTORE XI

Undoubtedly, there will be stories told of this day. Years from now, people will tell of how "5 Scottish Boxers... defeated 'Chloe Monsters' in an incredible overtime game on the Stepan Courts. Harder to believe than the final 22-20 score — snow is a great equalizer — was the fact that played the second half of the game in boxer shorts and bare legs.

Commissioner Emeritus "Bone"

Bourret confirmed that the only other time snow accumulated during the tournament was 1974. That day, only enough stayed on the ground to hamper the last part of the days last games — including a win for then-freshman Billy Paterno's team, in which dribbling was impossible.

Perhaps, eight years from now, people will talk about the Gales family. Three brothers, a sister, and a cousin competed as "Nicole's Dad, Aunt, and Three Uncles," and downed "Lou Costello and the Mosquitoes," 21-13.

Without question, however, there will always be stories about the "Esophagus Constrictors."

They played in shorts, button-down white shirts and ties. They strapped calculators to their belts and wore thick glasses. The team, consisting of Pat Kennedy, Joel Alu, Dave Prouly, Dave Sullivan and Mark English, even brought their own cheerleaders.

The plays were unique, to say the least. 'The Benzene Ring' consisted of four players, holding hands and protecting the dribbler as he brought the ball down the court. The ring broke, and the shooter emerged. 'Georgetown' called for a guard to pass the ball to the other team, urging them to score. "Carbo-Carbon Double Bond" had four players forming a tunnel for the shooter to run through, while "1812" featured a tape of the classic music.

"We'd like to apologize for the game taking so long," said Kennedy, whose team lost to "Nestle's Crunch..." 21-5. "We lost some valuable study time."

Meanwhile, history was very nearly made on Stepan courts. "McNamara's Band" put the ball in the wrong basket just after halftime — forgetting about the change of directions after one team reaches 11. It was the only point "D.J. and the Phytig Photons" could muster, and Bookstore's first-ever shutout was thereby avoided.

"Today exemplified the spirit of this tournament," said a weary Commissioner Dave Dziedzic after it was all over. "This is what Bookstore is all about.

"Do you realize that roughly 385 people played today? That's unbelievable."

Dziedzic also expressed his gratitude to the scorekeepers, whom he says have "the toughest job of anyone."

One unfortunate incident marred the proceedings, as Dziedzic was forced to eject one player from the remainder of the tournament for unsportsmanlike conduct.

"The rules are clear on this matter," he said. "The player involved was the cause of several incidents during the game. Such actions simply will not be tolerated. I didn't even have to think twice about the matter."

Play continues tomorrow — regardless of the weather.

Basketball tourney results

Bookstore Tournament

Yesterday's Results

Stepan 1

Judge Dixon and the Well-Hung Jury 21, Uncle Snagglepuss 18
Johnny the Wad Holmes 21, F Buddies 14
Unidentified Flying Penguin Trotters 21, 4 Human Beings 13
McNamara's Band 21, Dr. J. and the Phytig Photons 1

Stepan 2

Five Scottish Boxers 22, The Chloe Monsters 20 (OT)
John Belushi Takes the Pepsi Challenge 21, Steely Dan 9
Nicole's Dad, Aunt, etc. 21, Lou Costello and the Mosquitoes 13
B.P.'s Peen-Wags 21, The Jetsons 4

Stepan 3

Quintin Dailey and 4 Guys 13, def. 6-C Party Nuts by forfeit
Dribbling Dyx 21, Christie Brinkley and the Louisville Sluggers 13
Buford Never Gets Laid 21, Electric-Aid Kids 8
Public Cube def. Uncoordinates by forfeit

Stepan 4

Badfinger 21, Bizzos 13
We Did It Our Way 21, Beerhunters 8
Jacktip 21, Five Neat Guys 4
Grab Your Ankles 21, The Well-Lubed Scoring Machine 13

Stepan 5

Beecher Meat and Liquor 21, Lizard King 7
R. Cranium 21, Shroomyowow 13
Kamikazees 21, ACC All-Stars 15
We're Playing For a Michelob Light 21, S.C. 13

Stepan 6

Snite Museum and Four 21, Cash Cows 3
Pete McDonald 21, Shoes Were Made for Sucking Face with Dogs 15
Moon's Goons 21, Clueless 18
How the Burn Cookies with 21, Chieftan and His Tribe 13

Bookstore 9

Lick My Greasy Balls 21, RECON II 10
Even Less Jacksonless Five 21, Bill Granger and Four Other 12
Absence of Talent 21, No, But Seriously, Where Are 13

Bookstore 10

M.B.A. Five 21, Roemer's Narc Squad 12
Nestle's Crunch and the Bloated Stomachs 21, Esophagus Constrictors 5
Fat Eddie and the Boys 21, Throb Knobs 15
Beecher Tool and Dye 21, Nancy and Sluggo Suck Face 15

Lyons 11

Crime Doesn't Pay over Four Hits of Meece and Shrooms by forfeit
The Shooting Wads 21, Dribble, Penetrate, Shoot and Layup 7
Cocoons III 21, Four Awesome Guys 15
Who the Hell Are These Guys 21, Apostolic Succession 19

Lyons 12

Hey! Where are the White Women At 21, Buck Naked 7
Doctors of Layup 21, Toxic Shock and the 9
Four Whalers and the Grabber 21, We'll Steal an NIT Bid 14
Up and Coming 21, Joe Mama 3

Freshman recruit

Gann gets a shot as a starter

By DAPHNE BAILLE
Sports Writer

If you'd told Mike Gann a year ago that he'd be starting on Notre Dame's defensive line this spring, he wouldn't have believed you.

Heck, he almost didn't come to Notre Dame at all.

"My brother plays tight end at Oklahoma and I was going to go there too," recalls the freshman flip tackle. "I had even signed a Big Eight letter of intent to play there."

But the Lakewood, Colorado native finally shunned the warmer climates to head north. "I wanted to attend a school with a good football program, but I wanted a school with a good academic reputation too. So I chose Notre Dame."

After Gann's campus visit, it's a wonder he decided to come to South Bend. "I went home with a limp," he laughs. "It was snowy and slippery here — I was falling all over the place."

One of the thirteen Parade All-Americans included in Faust's first recruiting crop, Gann wanted to do more than just "watching and waiting."

"I was surprised I got to play so much because there were a lot of good players on the line," recalls the 6-4 lineman. "I came here thinking that freshman year would be mostly a learning experience, and that I'd get to contribute in the following three years. But I got my chance early."

Gann's first chance came in the very first game of 1981.

"The LSU game was like a dream, smiles Mike, who joins Joe Johnson and Joe Howard as the only sophomores-to-be currently penciled in as starters on the squad. "It was something else playing in front of all those people — I'd never played for a crowd like that in high school. It was kinda fun."

But it wasn't always easy. "At the beginning I was a little scared," admits the Stanford Hall resident. "I got a lot of help though. The older guys — Tim Marshall, Bob Clasby, Kevin Griffith, and Joe Gramke — were really helpful. They gave all the freshmen a lot of support. They still do," he adds.

Spring Football '82

Gann traveled with the team but didn't see a lot of action until right end Griffith got hurt early in the Air Force game. By season's end, the freshman had seen considerable playing time, but was not happy with the 5-6 year.

"I was glad I got to play, but I'd rather win. The team record is more important than individual play. I'm sure everyone on the team would feel the same way."

Despite the team's losing record, Gann never doubted that he had come to the right school. "I've never regretted coming here," he states emphatically. "I really like this place for what it has to offer."

Mike believes this university offers a lot in both schooling and athletics. And lately, education has become a part of football.

"We've been doing a lot of learning this spring," says the marketing major. "Last year we did a lot of head-butting, but this year we're concentrating more on technique. We have new defensive schemes with Coach Robertson. People still make a lot of mistakes, but we're adjusting pretty well. Everyone is showing improvement."

Defensive line coach Greg Blache has been impressed with Gann this spring. "Mike tries to do exactly what we ask of him," he says. "That's 90 percent of the battle."

Gann is optimistic about the future for the Irish. "We've got the player talent and the coaching talent," he figures. "We've just got to put it all together."

IRISH ITEMS: Saturday's practice was moved inside because of the April snow, and Monday's practice was cancelled. The team will work out on Tuesday and Wednesday before the Easter break... On the casualty list, defensive end Jon Autry is nursing a pulled muscle, and receiver Joe Howard, a sore elbow.

Lacrosse team fights weather, Wesleyan

By MIKE SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

The Irish lacrosse team expected a tough game when it traveled to Ohio last Saturday to take on perennial midwest power and nationally-ranked Ohio Wesleyan and it was not let down as it succumbed by a score of 12-9.

This game, like most of the team's other games, was played in adverse conditions. Not only did the Irish have Ohio Wesleyan to worry about, but they also had to deal with rapidly dropping temperatures, strong winds, and sleet. While both teams had to deal with the bad conditions, it took the Irish longer to get their offense untracked. However, by that time, the game was out of reach.

Ironically, it was Notre Dame who opened the scoring. Steve Linehan hit Bill Bonde with a pass as Bonde cut in front of the goal. Bonde put the ball in the goal and the Irish were ahead, 1-0.

The lead did not last long, however. Ohio Wesleyan scored four unanswered goals over the rest of the first quarter. Both teams scored two goals in the second quarter to make the score 6-3 at the half.

Whatever hopes the Irish had for an upset disappeared completely in the third quarter when Ohio Wesleyan scored five goals in a row. The Irish finally got untracked in the last quarter, outscoring Ohio Wesleyan 5-1, but it was too late.

Linehan led the team with four goals and an assist. Bonde and Dan Pace each had two goals and Joe Hart had one. Goalie Rob Simpson played the whole game and came up with 13 saves.

"Ohio Wesleyan has a good, young team," said Irish Coach Rich O'Leary. "They did lose to Denison (the other midwest lacrosse power) last week, but their coach told me that they didn't play well."

STICK CHECKS — The loss gave the Irish a 1-1 record in the Midwest Lacrosse Association... They have two more games this week, both at home... On Wednesday, division rival Ashland College visits Cartier Field at 3:30... Wooster College is the opponent on Saturday. The game will be held at 1:30 at Cartier.

Inside:

Baseball preview

p. 10

Bookstore schedule

p. 9