ND students in Innsbruck moved after verbal abuse

By TRIPP BALTZ
News Editor

Four members of the Notre Dame Innsbruck foreign study program have been moved from a student residence following an incident early last week involving a Libyan student, according to Assistant Provost Isabel Charles, director of foreign study programs.

The students were relocated to other dorms because the Libyan, who lived near two of them, had used "abusive language," Charles said.

Charles said the Libyan's comments were not just anti-American, but were "anti-everything." She said the Libyan, who had also made derogatory remarks about Frenchmen and Italians, can be described as "a negative-type person."

"(The Libyan) was saying absurd things, and what he said was upsetting the Austrians as well (as the Americans)," Charles added. "He was making himself obnoxious in the dormitory."

According to Charles, the Libyan student never threatened nor attacked any of the students. "Never once was safety an issue," Charles said. "(The students) were moved to be more at ease."

"It was not a matter of danger ever, it was a matter of discomfort," she said.

Prof. David Schindler, the on-site director of the Innsbruck program, was unavailable for comment. Repeated attempts to reach him failed.

Charles said the students have been moved to different places. She would not say where the students are now located.

The dorm from which the students were moved is inhabited by Austrian and international students, including Americans, Charles said.

There are approximately 35 Notre Dame students participating in the program, according to Charles. The students are scheduled to come home at the end of June.

Charles said she has not been told of problems in the other residences in which program members live. "There have been no other problems with the European programs," she said.

Operators prepare one of the four nuclear power plants at the Chernobyl site in the Soviet Union in December 1980. The Soviet government announced Monday that there has been a nuclear accident at one of the plants. Increased radiation levels were detected in Sweden, approximately 750 miles from the site. ## Student attacked by policeman's dog considers lawsuit

By BUD LUEPKE and
MARK PANKOWSKI
Staff Reporters

A Notre Dame student, saying he is the victim of an unprovoked police dog attack, is considering taking legal action against the South Bend Police Department after officers broke up a party at 601 Corby Street Thursday night.

Police raided a much smaller party at the house on Saturday night, "barging" into the house, "grabbing students off the porch, and striking a student in the back with a flashlight, according to senior John Scanlon, a resident of the house.

Sophomore Jeff Morgan, who was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct, public intoxication and resisting law enforcement, said he was hospitalized and treated for multiple wounds inflicted by a police dog.

Morgan said the dog had jumped him from behind, knocking him down and biting him a total of 22 times on his arms and legs. He said he received a majority of the wounds on his right arm, including five or six deep bites.

Morgan also said he received one fairly deep wound on his right leg and minor wounds and scratches on his left arm and leg. Morgan said he was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and treated before being processed for arrest.

Captain Patrick Cottrell, head of the South Bend Police Department's East Sector, said Morgan struck the officer handling the dog. "He assaulted the handler," Cottrell said. This was enough to set the dog against Morgan, said Cottrell, adding that Morgan had "brought the consequences on himself."

Morgan, however, said the attack by the dog had been unprovoked. "The only possible assault as far as I can tell is when I tried to push the dog off me," he said.

Chris Prebys, who gave the party with his housemate Scanlon, said he saw the dog bite Morgan. "Jeff (Morgan) was at the back of a crowd leaving the party," Prebys said.

"A policeman told him to get moving and Jeff turned around and lifted his arm, just in acknowledgement, and the dog attacked him and started chewing on his arm."

Prebys said police arrived at his house at about 11:30 p.m. and started taking pictures. "People were mingling in our backyard not

Experts say core meltdown occurred at plant

Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Sweden - Swedish experts yesterday said radiation blown over Northern Europe indicates a core meltdown at a Soviet nuclear plant. A radio report told of tens of thousands of evacuations from the area around the plant.

Scandinavian officials complained about Soviet handling of the accident at the Chernobyl nuclear power plant, about 60 miles from Kiev. The Soviet government yesterday said two people were killed but did not disclose details on the accident.

Radioactivity levels in the Nordic countries rose to as much as six times above normal Sunday, but were declining yesterday and Swedish weather experts said wind shifts were taking any further radiation into Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Officials said the radioactivity posed no health danger to Nordic countries.

Bengt Pettersson of Sweden's Nuclear Power Inspection Board told a news conference that the concentration and composition of radioactive fallout measured in Scandinavia indicated a core meltdown, one of the most dangerous accidents possible in a nuclear power plant.

Danish Prime Minister Paul Schluter, the first Nordic leader to publicly criticize Soviet handling of the accident, said it was "totally insufficient" that the Soviet Union had not warned that the radioactivity was coming.

"It shouldn't be that way in a modern society," he said, complaining that Soviet officials admitted the accident only after radiation was detected in the West on Sunday.

The Danish, Swedish and Norwegian ambassadors were reported to have gone to the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow to demand a verbal explanation.

Swedish television yesterday evening showed an interview with a Finnish tourist who said she had been told Sunday to leave Kiev and return to Finland.

The woman, Ritva Eloranta, said a tourist guide told them that "two reactors had exploded" and that 25,000 people had been evacuated from the plant area. But she said the guide said there was no danger of radiation in Kiev.

Danish radio reported that diplomats in Moscow had told of "tens of thousands" being evacuated from the area around the power plant.

It said a West German technician working at the facility had told the diplomats by telephone of a 18 mile security zone being set up around the plant.

A Swedish national radio reporter in Moscow cited "very well informed sources" as describing a truck convoy moving north from the area.

Hesburgh berates U.S. civil rights commission in address

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS- Father Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame and a former chairman of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, says the commission today is a mere shadow of its powerful self in the 1960's.

Hesburgh, 68, was appointed to the commission in 1957 and removed in 1972. During those years, Congress passed landmark civil rights legislation that the commission recommended.

"We changed the face of America with those bills," Hesburgh said Monday. "I disagree with what the present commission has accomplished, which is nil. We used to study things and report our findings and conclusions. Now they're making findings and conclusions without studying anything."

Hesburgh was in New Orleans to appear before the Notre Dame Club and to speak at Holy Cross School and St. Augustine High School.

He said that the civil rights commission should be dismantled until a study can be made of procedures that might further civil rights.

"I don't expect that during the Reagan administration," he said. "The commission has been gutted, there's no leadership or the kind of integrity it should have."

Hesburgh told his audience at the predominantly black St. Augustine High School that they must continue the drive that was begun during the civil rights movement, when leaders such as the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. "walked-in and prayed-in and say-in and swung-in and got laws passed."

As a result of their work "the number of black elected officials in this country has gone from six to more than 6,000. . . . People 10 years ago would have said this isn't happening. It is happening and the country is moving forward," he said.

Education is vital to that progress, Hesburgh said.

"When you get a good education and you're willing to work," he said, "you're bound to get a good job and some money to maneuver with. Then you'll be able to move up to a better home and better education for your children."

Hesburgh, Notre Dame's president since 1952, is retiring next year. New Orleans was his last stop on his final presidential swing around the country to the University's alumni clubs.

In Brief

More money was raised by Notre Dame in 1984-85 than by any other university in Indiana, according to a survey conducted by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, which showed Notre Dame received more than $33.8 million from alumni, corporations and other individuals. Indiana University received about $31.9 million; Purdue, $18.1 million; Valparaiso, $5.9 million; and DePauw, $5.6 million. The survey showed Harvard University received the most financial donations of any university in the country with more than $145.6 million. — AP

Dinosaur extinction occurred gradually over millions of years, says Notre Dame geologist Keith Rigby Jr. Based on fossils he found last year in Montana, his theory will be published in the May 2 issue of Science, the weekly journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. According to Rigby, the dinosaur and pollen fossils indicate that the dinosaurs started to die off about 72 million years ago, some seven million years before an asteroid shower supposedly struck Earth and wiped out the dinosaur population. — The Observer

Dry Rush is the word for next September at the University of Pittsburgh. The Intrafraternity Council opposed the imposition of the alcohol-free rush, but the school's administration held firm. The administration presented statistics showing that, over the last five rushes, more people were attending fraternity parties, but fewer were signing up to join. Thus, they argued, the wet rushes don't work. — The Observer

Associated Press

OLYMPIA, Wash. — Gov. Booth Gardner met with health officials and radiation monitoring was stepped up yesterday as Washington state prepared for the weekend arrival of fallout from the Soviet nuclear accident.

Experts said radioactivity from the power plant disaster, expected to appear over the northwestern United States as early as Saturday, would probably pose no health threat in the United States, nor in the Soviet Union outside the immediate area of the power plant disaster.

"In time it will get here, there's no question about that," said John Wallace, chairman of the University of Washington Department of Atmospheric Science. "It could be any time, probably three or four days would be the minimum, and in any event it probably wouldn't take more than a week."

Wallace said that by then, the radiation would be widely dispersed and "the differences between what we get here and what they'd experience in New York a day or so later wouldn't be that great."

"There is no question there will be a sizable dilution, there's tremendous mixing in the atmosphere," said Kenneth Mossman, who directs Georgetown University Medical Center's program in radiation science in Washington, D.C.

Charlie Porter, director of the Eastern Environmental Radiation Facility in Montgomery, Ala., said fallout detection stations in all 50 states will deliver data to his agency, an arm of the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

"We're calling all the station operators and instructing them to begin taking daily samples," Porter said. Normally, readings are taken every three days.

Porter said the EPA does not believe the cloud would be dangerous. But he said there is no way to be sure without knowing the scope of the Soviet accident.

Gardner met with officials from the state's health, environment and emergency agencies to review steps the state could take in the event abnormally high radiation levels reach the Northwest.

"There is nothing to be worried about in the Northwest at this point, but we will maintain continuous monitoring of the situation," said Gardner press aide Jim Kneeland.

Filters on radiation monitors at the capital in Olympia, at Spokane and at the Hanford nuclear reservation in eastern Washington were ordered changed daily instead of the usual once a week, officials said.

Mossman said the type of radiation detected in the United States and elsewhere could provide clues as to the nature and scope of the Soviet accident.

The Soviet Union said the accident had damaged an atomic reactor at the Chernobyl power plant in the Ukraine. Radiation as much as 10 times above normal was recorded north of Stockholm, Sweden, and this included iodine and cesium compounds — both products of nuclear fission which would be produced in uranium reactor fuel.

Mossman and another expert, Richard Reba, who heads the division of nuclear medicine at George Washington University Medical Center, said the health risks to Soviet citizens might not be great even in a nearby population center such as Kiev, about 100 miles from the accident site.

obstructing anything," he said. "We had moved the kegs in once the police showed up. There was no reason for the dogs," he added.

Prebys, who said he received a $50 noise ordinance citation, estimated the size of the party at approximately 180 people. He said at least two dogs were used.

Cottrell, however, said that only one dog was used. He said the dog was used because there was "not enough man-power" to control the large crowd. Cottrell said the police broke up the party in answer to a complaint and because the party was in violation of the city noise ordinance. He said pictures were taken to show the large crowd, the litter and the blocked walls and streets.

Morgan said he is considering taking legal action against the police department but is waiting to consult more with his lawyer.

At least one other student, sophomore Andy Cross, was arrested on charges of public intoxication and resisting law enforcement at the Thursday night party.

Prebys and Scanlon complained that police again broke up a party of theirs Saturday night. However, only 30 people were in attendance at this party, Scanlon said.

According to Scanlon, approximately 12 policemen arrived at his house at 11:15 p.m. Saturday, again taking pictures. "Everyone was on the porch or inside when the police came, (then) everyone ran," he said.

"They barged into the house and searched the basement and the upstairs," Scanlon said. He added that one officer struck a student in the back with a flashlight and some students were "grabbed off the porch, no questions asked."

Scanlon said he was fined $500 for exceeding the legal noise limit by 23 decibals.

The office of South Bend Mayor Roger Parent announced that the mayor, a police department representative and the city attorney had scheduled a press conference in front of the Corby Street house this morning. The press conference was called to discuss the large parties held by students in the northeast neighborhood last weekend.

Several students were arrested at the parties, mostly on charges of public intoxication. Their names could not be confirmed last night.

Bookstore standouts are honored

Special to the Observer
Al Martin of Leone's Stallions and Jim Dolan of The Lee's BBQ Roundhouse were the big winners as the Bookstore Basketball XV awards were announced.

Martin was named Mr. Bookstore for leading his squad to the championship game before falling to Lee's. Dolan was named the tournaments most valuable player.

Casey Newell was named the All-Star game most valuable player while Jim Reed took the Ironman award. Walking away with the final two honors were Mike Kelley, who earned the Golden Hatchet award, and Greg Rowe, who grabbed the Hoosier award.

Members of the first All-Bookstore team were Ken Schuermann, Steve Takach, Steve Treacy, Chris Perozek and Bill Sullivan.

The second team consisted of Kevin Laracey, Chris Nanni, George Baldus, Mike Huber, and Gary Sasse.

Members of the third team were Bubba Cunningham, Pat Collins, Mike O'Grady, Eric Janowsky and Kim Adams.

The All-Holtz team, composed of the top varsity football players in the tournament, included Tim Brown, Milt Jackson, Rick Dibernardo, Greg Dingsen and Steve Beuerlein.

nesota's pick, No. 8, using in to grab one of the few impact players on defense Oklahoma State end Leslie O'Neil.

Buffalo, 2-14, took advantage of San Francisco's disdain for this year's crop to grab an extra first-round pick, ahead of the Los Angeles Rams and New York Jets, and take Will Wolford, a highly-regarded offensive lineman from Vanderbilt.

Philadelphia emerged as this year's big gambler.

With his first pick, No. 10 in the first round, the Eagles' new coach, Buddy Ryan, took running back Keith Byars of Ohio State, close to Jackson in ability but suffering from a broken right foot that limits his chances of making an impact next season.

With their third pick, their second in the second round, the Eagles took linebacker Alonzo Johnson of Florida, whose rating in the draft plummeted after questions were raised about his off-field behavior. Though a letter his agent sent to all teams, Johnson offered to take a drug test as part of the customary physical exam.

The second pick behind Jackson also was a foregone conclusion - nose tackle Tony Casillas of Oklahoma by the Atlanta Falcons.

Then the Houston Oilers took quarterback Jim Everett of Purdue, perhaps with an eye toward trading $1-million-a-year incumbent Warren Moon.

Then came defensive end Jon Hand, taken by Indianapolis. The Colts had traded Monday with Dallas for quarterback Gary Hogeboom in anticipation of Everett being gone.

Indianapolis' pick was followed by the first surprise. St. Louis, which wanted Hand, took linebacker Anthony Bell of Michigan State. He had been projected as a second- or third-rounder.

Then came a pair of 300-pound offensive tackles - Jim Dombrowski of Virginia, by New Orleans, and Brian Jozwiak of West Virginia, by Kansas City.

Philadelphia took Byars, Cincinnati took Washington linebacker Joe Kelly and the Detroit Lions grabbed Chuck Long of Iowa, the second quarterback of the first round.

The Saint Mary's softball team, now 15-14, split its final two games against Notre Dame. The Belles fell 5-4 in the first game but bounced in the second game to win in five innings by a score of 11-1.

The Belles led off the scoring in the third inning when Diane Schroder walked and scored on Mary Malina's base hit.

In the fourth, the Irish tied the score when Jane Weldon walked and scored on an error.

The fifth inning brought a total of five runs for Notre Dame. Mia Faust singled and moved around the bases on a hit by Lynn Boyle. Weldon walked. Tammy Goodwin singled, and Barb Mooney added a single to drive in Boyle. On a single by Lynn McDermott, Weldon and Goodwin were driven home.

The Belles began their rally when Schroeder reached first on an error.

Trish Tierney singled to move Schroeder to second. Both vase runners advanced to second and third on a delayed steal. Amy Cuti singled to drive in Schroeder and Tierney scored next on an error.

Katy Boldt's single drove in Cuti to close th gap to 5-4, but the Belles came up short as they dropped the opening game.

The winning pitcher for the Irish was Barb Mooney.

The bats were cracking early for the Belles in the second game, as Boldt led off the hitting with a single. Lorri White got to first on a fielders choice. Julie McNish tripled to bring in Boldt and White. Next, Jeanette O'Neill reached first on an error which also allowing McMish to score.

Laura Danch and Cuti were driven home on a triple by Mary Malina. She was able to score on a Notre Dame error.

These runs put the Belles in the lead, 7-0.

Tierney reached base on an error and Malina sent her home on a single in the bottom of the fourth. Notre Dame's lone run came in the top of the fifth when Mooney singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Faust.

The Belles were able to close the game early when they scored their ninth, 10th and 11th runs. Boldt scored on a walk by Danch, McNish scored on a single by Kris Pantelleria and O'Neill scored on Tierney's single.

These runs enabled the Belles to hand a loss to Notre Dame.

The winning pitcher for Saint Mary's was Tammy Scheler.

Dorsey, who joins the Giants Thursday, will be reunited with former Notre Dame tight end Mark Bavaro, New York's fourth-round choice last season, and is looking forward to that as well as showing the Giants what he can do on the field.

"I'm not going to try and emulate any of their players," said Dorsey. "I've got my own style of football. I'm going to just try and fit in. I am happy about joining Mark. We were close when he was here."

But while Dorsey's first reaction was one of surprise, Pinkett's initial reaction was one of relief.

"I wasn't disappointed at all," said Pinkett about being selected in the third round. "It was a big relief. I just thank Houston for giving me the opportunity to play professional football."

But there was also an element of surprise for the native of Sterling, Va. The Oilers were unable to reach Pinkett before they made their announcement official on cable television.

"I found out on ESPN just like everyone else," he said. "I guess Houston didn't have my phone number so they weren't able to get in touch with me first."

Pinkett is a three-time all-

America selection who finished eighth in the Heisman Trophy voting as a senior in 1985 and 16th as a sophomore in 1983. He surpassed Vegas Ferguson's record for all-time rushing yardage at Notre Dame, finishing with a total of 4,131 yards in his four-year career. He is also the all-time leading scorer in Irish history with 320 points.

While some still question the impact Pinkett can make in the NFL with his 5-9, 181-pound frame, the senior looks forward to proving his critics wrong on a young Houston team.

"I'm ready to take the next challenge," he says. "I look forward to making the next step in my football career. Their youth may help me. I don't know much about the team but I'm ready to get familiar with them. I know they have a young, strong offensive line and I look forward to running behind them."

Pinkett will join former Notre Dame teammates Mike Kelley and Larry Moriarty, who are currently with the Oilers.

Furjanic, who led the team in tackles last season, was drafted by the Bills after Buffalo received Kansas City's eighth-round pick in a trade. The 6-2, 228-pound senior was slected eighth in the round.

The 6-5, 278-pound Perrino was the 15th selection in the eighth round, and should make a strong bid for a position on the Charger offensive line.

Former Notre Dame defensive lineman Eric Dorsey (71) leaps to bat down a pass from USC quarterback Sean Salisbury (7) in a game last fall. Dorsey was a surprise first-round pick yesterday in the 1986 NFL draft. Dennis Corrigan and Marty Strasen have the details on how former Irish players fared in their story at right, while the national story appears below.

Dorsey is taken 19th; Pinkett goes in third

By DENNIS CORRIGAN and MARTY STRASEN
Sports Writers

The New York Giants delivered a surprise to everyone in yesterday's NFL draft, including former Notre Dame defensive lineman Eric Dorsey. The Giants used the 19th choice in the draft to make Dorsey their first-round pick, but when Giants head coach Bill Parcells called Dorsey to inform him of his selection, he had to get him out of bed.

"I was very surprised," said Dorsey of his early selection. "I didn't expect it at all. I'm very happy to be going (to the Giants). It's on the east coast and not far from home (in McLean, Va.)."

Dorsey joins his cousin Allen Pinkett as the only Notre Dame player to be drafted in the first seven rounds. The Houston Oilers tabbed the all-time leading Irish rusher as their third-round choice.

Other former Irish standouts selected in the draft include inside linebacker Tony Furjanic (eighth in round to Buffalo) and offensive tackle Mike Perrino (eight round to San Diego).

Dorsey, an Associated Press honorable mention All-American and an "Almost-All-America" pick by Football News, led all Notre Dame defensive linemen with 87 tackles last season, including three sacks for 15 yards in losses. Dorsey's teammates voted him the outstanding defensive player for his play last season. Irish assistant coach Joe Yonto says that Dorsey should have no problem making it in the pros.

"He's going to be a fine pro player," says Yonto. "He's a fine young man. He has the quickness and size (6-5, 270 pounds). He's got a great future ahead of him. I think he'll fit in well with the Giants. It was a good selection for the Giants."

Buccaneers make Jackson NFL's top choice

Associated Press

NEW YORK — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers made Bo Jackson the No. 1 pick in the NFL draft yesterday and made it clear they would outbid baseball for him, while other teams tried to outsmart each other with a flurry of trades.

Jackson, Auburn's Heisman Trophy-winning running back, is considered one of the best pro football prospects ever, and a pretty fair outfielder, too. The Bucs said they would match any baseball team, dollar for dollar, for his services.

Bucs president Hugh Culverhouse vowed to make him

"The highest-paid draft choice in NFL history." but Jackson was noncommittal, saying he would make no decision before baseball's June 2-4 draft of college and high school players.

Jackson is a major-league prospect, but is considered by scouts in both sports a better bet for football, particularly since he would have to put in time in baseball's minor leagues.

"I can offer him career and investment opportunities," Culverhouse said. "If it's a question of money, we'll win."

But Jackson said he didn't want people saying he had been bought,

"that he did something because somebody said they could do this or that for Bo . . . It will be because it's what I want to do."

Of more immediate concern yesterday was the draft pick maneuvering, particularly among four NFC teams with Super Bowl ambitions for 1986 - the Dallas Cowboys, New York Giants, San Francisco 49ers and Washington Redskins.

Dallas' move had the most immediate impact.

They traded up two places with San Francisco - which ended up trading downward four times in the first rounds - to jump over the Giants and grab Mike Sherrard of UCLA, the fast wide receiver in the draft.

"We were afraid the Giants would take him, so we had to do something," Coach Tom Landry said. "He was exactly what we wanted."

The Giants ended up Notre Dame defensive end Eric Dorsey and traded discontented cornerback Mark Haynes, to Denver, and the rights to USFL offensive lineman Gary Zimmerman, to Minnesota. They wound up with four second-round picks this year and an additional selection next year.

Washington, without a first-round pick for the 15th time in 18 years, made it 16 of 19 when it dealt next year's first-round choice to San Francisco to move up in the second round and grab Hawaii's Walter Murray, a wide receiver they felt they desperately needed.

San Francisco, in addition to its five trades involving draft picks, also traded backup quarterback Matt Cavanaugh to Philadelphia for a third-round pick this year and a second-round pick in 1987. And San Diego, victimized for years by a leaky defense, traded up for Min-

Hail to the 1986 Chuckie award winners

Hello again, everybody.

Don King calls it an "extravaganza." David Letterman says it is a "fethival." Stars from across the campus have turned out in droves for the 3rd . . . and the final . . . Chuckie awards.

Dearly beloved, we are gathered here today to honor the best that Notre Dame athletics has had to offer us this year. So, without further ado, may I have the envelopes, please.

Outstanding Male Athlete

The nominees, in alphabetical order are . . .

Jerry Durso, wrestling- The freshman 134-pounder from West Millington, N.J. was named to the first team of Amateur Wrestling News' all-freshman squad. He set an Irish record for most wins by a freshman and tied the record for most wins in a season.

John McNeils, Rob Nobles, Jim Tyler, and Jef Van Wie, track- This quartet finished third in the NCAA two-mile relay and earned all-American status. At one time, they held the record for the fastest indoor two-mile relay.

Yehuda Kovacs, fencing- This freshman made the adjustment to life at Notre Dame very well, thank you. Kovacs finished second in the NCAA foil competition and was a major factor in Notre Dame's national championship season.

Allen Pinkett, football- What a brilliant career for this great running back. He gained 1100 yards last season to become Notre Dame's all-time leading rusher. It's just too bad he never got the chance to play in a major bowl.

David Rivers, basketball- Another exciting year for the Irish point guard, as he led the team back to the NCAA tournament. The team leader in scoring and assists will be back next year.

And the winner is . . . Allen Pinkett. After four years, he deserves a lot more than a Chuckie, but it's the best we can do.

Outstanding Female Athlete

Andrea Bonny, swimming- A sophomore from Colum-

Chuck Freeby Irish Items

bus, Ohio, she became the first Irish diver to qualify for the NCAA tournament. She also excelled in the classroom, posting a 3.94 grade point while majoring in biology.

Patti Gallagher, field hockey- The senior goalie set a school record, collecting 225 saves for the Irish. She was one of the keys to Notre Dame's successful 12-8-2 record this year.

Trena Keys, basketball- Find an all-time list in any category for women's basketball and she's on it. The six-foot senior from Marion, Ind. became the team's all-time leading scorer and led Notre Dame to its first season tournament.

Molly Sullivan, fencing- The words "NCAA champion" say it all. She earned All-America honors last year, but managed to go all the way to the top in only her sophomore season.

And the winner is . . . Just could not break the tie here. The Chuckie goes to Trena Keys and Molly Sullivan.

Team of the Year . . .

Basketball, men's- Okay, forget for just a moment about the Little Rock game. Think about games like Syracuse and Marquette. Think about the excitement that was generated at the ACC. It was a memorable season, and one that deserves recognition.

Basketball, women's- The best season in the team's Division I history. Mary Di's squad rolled to the championship of the North Star Conference and finished third in the Women's NIT.

Fencing, men's and women's- Mike DeCicco and Co. bringing home the first national championship since the fencers won in 1978. Meanwhile, first-year coach Yves Auriol led the women's squad to a runner-up finish. That kind of one-two punch makes this decision easy.

The winner is . . . The Notre Dame fencing teams.

Coach of the Year . . .

Mike DeCicco, fencing- In his 25 years at Notre Dame, DeCicco has put together a phenomenal .923 winning percentage. He is third among all Irish coaches in career wins and only Rockne and Leahy have won more national championships.

Tom Fallon, men's tennis- In his 30th year of coaching the Irish netters, Fallon was honored as "Coach of the Year" in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference this spring. He needs only three wins to pass Jake Kline and become the winningest coach in Notre Dame history.

And the winner is . . . Mike DeCicco.

Finally, some of the best lines of the year:

Lou Holtz — "I'm concerned with our pass rush. Last year, either the quarterback got the pass off or the quarter ended."

Larry Gallo, baseball coach- "We're just in a slump right now. It's like we're bobbing for apples without any teeth."

Lefty Smith, hockey coach- "He skates well, but it's all in one place."

Eddie White, assistant sports information director on his Bookstore opener- "I'm just glad we didn't play a team with a hyphen in its name."

Joseph Price, on teammate Tim Kempton- "When he would lose the ball, you'd see all those hands go up in the air. He scored more touchdowns than Allen Pinkett."

And last and certainly least . . .

Chuck Freeby, sports writer — "Thank you" to all the copy editors and layout people who try and make me look good, to the people who gave me information for the column, and most importantly, to all of you who have read the column. Although it's usually not worth the newsprint it is printed on, I hope you have enjoyed the column anyway.

"Goodbye (again and for the last time), everybody."
