Du Lac manual revised

By MONICA YANT
News Editor

Four areas of change were implemented this summer in du Lac, most notably the inclusion of a stricter alcohol policy and a discriminatory harassment policy.

The alcohol policy, formally implemented in 1984, was modified in response to what the University viewed as a problem of "large quantities of alcohol" being openly transported on campus, according to William Kirk, assistant vice president for Residence Life.

The new provision in du Lac states that "those of legal age may only possess or transport in any public area of campus an amount of alcohol which is consistent with the concept of responsible individual consumption."

When a student of legal age is transporting alcohol, the alcohol must be in a closed container with "suitable packaging," defined by du Lac as a bag or box.

The change also states that "alcohol may not be provided for those who are underage."

Du Lac defines "provide" as selling, lending, giving, exchanging, bartering or furnishing in "any way."

For underage students, the provision in du Lac regarding transportation remains the same, stating that "no underage person may possess or transport alcoholic beverages in any public area of campus."

Violation of the policy will be handled by rectors if the incident occurs in the residence hall. However, if the violation in another part of campus, the student will be referred to the Office of Residence Life.

Enforcement of the policy will vary from case to case, Kirk said. While he said that it is "not common" that campus security will randomly stop students transporting alcohol to check for IDs, students spotted with large quantities will be stopped "regardless of age."

While the key words of the transportation provision seem to be "responsible individual consumption," Kirk admitted that the phrase is not completely clear. He noted that rectors, residence assistants, and Security may all have different ideas about what the average individual could claim as an amount equal to responsible consumption.

"But," he said, "anything short of being a dry campus leaves a gray area."

Kirk stressed that the change is simply a modification of the overall alcohol policy. "There's no hidden agenda here," he said, "no grand scheme or plan."

He said that the change reflects the Officers of the University's opinion that an alcohol policy promoting responsible drinking is preferable to a dry campus. "If they had thought we should go dry now, they would have [decided to]."

The purpose of the policy change is twofold, according to Kirk. First, the portion aimed at underage drinkers is to "remind students of their obligation under Indiana law" that possession of alcohol is illegal.

Secondly, Kirk said the rule aimed at legal drinkers will promote a more educated and responsible attitude toward alcohol consumption.

Professor praises Yeltsin

By SANDY WIEGAND
News Writer

Pride and renewed confidence in democracy were visible on the faces of Moscow's citizens after the failed coup d'etat attempt, according to Igor Grazin, a visiting law professor from Estonia, who came to Notre Dame last week from the Soviet capital.

Grazin spoke with citizens in the streets of Moscow after Gorbachev was reinstated. The "psychological barrier" to democracy is gone now, he said. "An absolutely new nation has been born. Communist slavery is over."

Grazin listened to an independent radio station "Echo of Moscow" during the conflict and said there was little interference with the broadcast. Citizens could hear a "militantly anti-junta" account of the conflict rather than government propaganda, added Grazin.

Although he said he concentrates on his teaching profession, Grazin is no stranger to Soviet politics. He was a member of a Supreme Soviet committee for construction and architecture in 1989 and 1990 on which Boris Yeltsin served as a chairman, and he has maintained relationships with a number of Soviet leaders.

The people's only real weapons against the junta were the idea of democracy and "the personality of Yeltsin," said Grazin. According to Grazin, a turning point came when much of the Soviet army gathered to back Yeltsin, since before the attempted coup, no one was certain where the army's alliance stood, Grazin said.

"I don't know that even Yeltsin could have predicted it would last only two days," Grazin commented. "I'm not sure he knew just how strong and how powerful he really was."

Yeltsin's hour has come, Grazin said, and Gorbachev's has passed. "I'm ready to build all the monuments to him in the world, but the time for semi-measures is over," Grazin said.

There is no longer any political barrier to a Soviet - or Russian - democracy, Grazin said. Yeltsin has always stressed Russian unity rather than Soviet unity, Grazin said, as demonstrated by Yeltsin's acknowledgement of the independence of former Soviet states Estonia and Latvia.

Massive aid from the United States is not appropriate now, Grazin said, but the way is open for investment in Russia, since there is no longer any danger that the government will confiscate businesses. Technical assistance is also important, Grazin added.

Republics breaking away

MOSCOW (AP) — President Mikhail Gorbachev struggled Sunday to stem the disintegration of his authority, but a sixth Soviet republic declared independence and Russian leader Boris Yeltsin continued to assert control.

Gorbachev huddled with top advisers, preparing a speech for the national legislature on Monday. But Yeltsin and other reformers said they wanted to bypass the largely conservative legislature and convene the more reformist Congress of People's Deputies.

Yeltsin, speaking Sunday night on Russian television, said the national legislature should formally dissolve Gorbachev's Cabinet of Ministers, many of whose members were involved in last week's failed coup, including Prime Minister Valentin Pavlov.

Yeltsin said he would prefer to call a session Tuesday of the Congress, the 2,250-member body that selects the 542-member legislature.

"It's better to gather the Congress of People's Deputies a day later and decide all questions straight away on the involvement of the Cabinet of Ministers, on the replacement, the structure, new cadres — much will have to be changed," Yeltsin said in his televised remarks.

In the chaos created by the hard-line coup, the 15 Soviet republics were moving to assert their independence from Gorbachev's central government.

Byelorussian lawmakers passed an independence declaration, becoming the sixth republic to do so. The Ukraine, the second-largest republic, declared its independence a day earlier. Georgia and the three Baltic republics have also declared independence.

Said deputy Zenon Poznyak, head of Byelorussia's pro-independence People's Front faction, "This means we are leaving the Soviet Union."

The Moldavian legislature planned to discuss independence on Tuesday, the news agency Interfax reported.

Meanwhile, France, Argentina, Norway and Denmark said they were recognizing the independence declarations of the three Baltic republics — Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said he expected the United States to take the same step shortly.

Gorbachev's spokesman, Vitaly Ignatenko, acknowledged that "there's no one today to prevent the national republics from choosing their own road."

Ignatenko, interviewed on CNN, stressed that Gorbachev wanted to keep the process within legal bounds. But events appeared to avalanche beyond Gorbachev's control.

The failed coup led to a stunning upheaval of the Soviet power structure, culminating in Gorbachev's resignation Saturday as Communist Party chief.

Gorbachev also urged the party leadership to disband and barred the party from operating in the armed forces, government, police, courts and KGB secret police. And he crippled it financially by ordering its vast holdings turned over to the parliament.

In continued fallout from the coup attempt, Gorbachev's top military adviser, Marshal Sergei Akhromeyev, 68, committed suicide on Saturday, presidential aide Karen Karagezian said. He offered no details.

On his desk, investigators found a suicide note and a statement from the coup plotters telling him how to act when their putsch began, Russian television reported.

The suicide note said in part, "Everything I have devoted my life to building is collapsing," the TV reported without elaboration. A Yeltsin spokesman said he knew of no evidence linking Akhromeyev to the conspiracy.

Gorbachev, held under house arrest during the 63-hour coup attempt, met Sunday with former adviser Alexander Yakovlev and aide Yevgeny Primakov to prepare measures he will propose to the legislature for coping with the crisis. He also will address the fate of parliamentary speaker Anatoly

Notre Dame student mugged in his own front yard

By MONICA YANT
News Editor

Less than 24 hours after moving into his off-campus house on California Ave., senior Steve Kozachok was mugged and robbed in his own yard.

For Kozachok, the incident was more than a rude welcome back to school. It was a painful reminder that "you aren't safe. Anywhere."

The incident occurred around

10 p.m. Sunday evening. Kozachok and two of his roommates had walked across the street to a convenience store when they noticed a group of approximately seven youths playing nearby.

Having already met and entertained some of the neighborhood kids, the students didn't really think anything of it. "There's no way I thought that they would beat us up," he said.

Moments later, one of the youths, who Kozachok described as black males between the ages of 12-17, approached them.

By this time the group was in

INSIDE COLUMN

One year until seniors face 'Real Life'

Well, the freshmen have had their turn in the spotlight all weekend. Every R.A., rector, parent and freshman orientation committee member have devoted incredible amounts of time and energy to making this a weekend to remember.

Lisa Eaton
Managing

Now they are as ready as they are going to get to embark on the whole college experience. There is no turning back now for the freshmen— love it or not (and I'm sure that they'll do a little of both in the next four years) they are bonafide college students ready to give it their all for old Notre Dame.

But this column isn't for the freshmen, it is for those of us who are preparing to walk those last few miles to that fateful day in May when we will get our walking papers and will be able to fly this coop for parts unknown.

Love it or hate it, all of us seniors are getting ready to stare into the ugly face of reality and right now we are all hoping that we don't flinch.

The seniors are wondering about the big four letter word beginning with "L," namely LIFE. "Will I be able to get a job when I graduate?" "Where will I be living next year?" "Will I be mooching off of the parental unit for the rest of my life?" are all questions that float through the nightmares of the typical senior.

A poll should be taken to try to get some sort of an idea how many times this year's class of seniors has been asked what they are planning to do after they graduate. A cautious guess might put the total well into the trillions.

Oh sure, we've conquered the college scene with grace and style for the past three years. Most of us survived Freshman Chem, choosing a major and JPW like a troopers. We can do it all with the best of 'em. (We are THE Sesquicentennial Class, so of course anything less than the best would be unworthy of us.)

But now, the realization that very soon most of us are going to become really, really, really tiny fish in this huge, gigantic, enormous sea called "Real Life." It is kind of a scary thought.

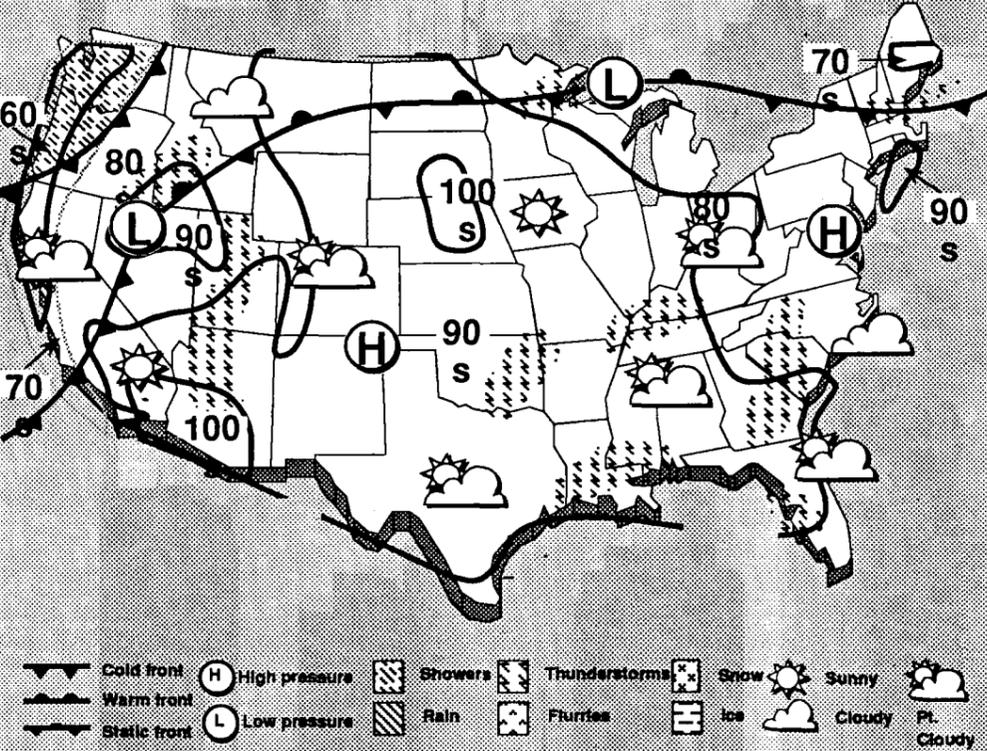

Actually, it is a really, really scary thought.

Despite the fact that the seniors are on the brink of a very serious life change, we are, of course, going to handle this with all of the style and grace that we have shown in the past three years. Sure, we are walking towards the door that will push us out into the real world, but our party isn't over yet.

So, I would like to propose a toast (sparkling grape juice for all of the freshmen and those of us who are still underage). To the freshmen, mat they have a great four years. May they love it and hate it and learn a lot regardless. To the seniors, it has been the best of times and the worst of times, but we survived it all. So here's to one final year of fun, football and friends.

Sorin Society names new chairman

Texaco Inc. Chairman of the Board Alfred C. DeCrane, Jr., a 1953 graduate of Notre Dame, has been named the new chairman of the University's Edward Frederick Sorin Society, comprised of alumni and other benefactors who contribute $1,000 or more annually in unrestricted gifts. DeCrane replaces Edmond Haggar, chairman of the board of Haggar Apparel Company, who completed his second two-year term in April. During Haggar's chairmanship, the Sorin Society tripled in size to 4,630 members and in 1990 raised a record $4.5 million. DeCrane, 60, earned a bachelor degree from Notre Dame in 1953.

Community loses active volunteer

Mary Fischer, wife of Edward Fischer, professor emeritus of American studies at Notre Dame, died August 7 at Saint Joseph's Medical Center. She was 76 years old. Mrs. Fischer was an active and prominent volunteer in a wide variety of community service groups, which ranged from hosting a weekly community affairs talk show on WNIT-TV to collecting bed linen for the Catholic Worker House. She also served as a tour guide for the Office of Public Relations and Information, the Snite Museum of Art and Sacred Heart Church.

Past ND basketball coach dies

John Jordan, head basketball coach at Notre Dame from 1951-64, died in the Chicago suburb of Evergreen Park this past June. He was 80 years old. Jordan, a three-year monogram winner and captain of the 1934-35 Notre Dame team, succeeded Ed "Moose" Krause as Notre Dame's basketball coach and led ND to its first six NCAA tournament appearances. His 13-year record as head coach was 199-131. He was named the Notre Dame Monogram Club's Man of the Year in 1988.

Notre Dame suffers tragic summer losses; students will be missed by peers and faculty

Student falls asleep at wheel on way home from spring term

By DAVID KINNEY
Assistant News Editor

Caroline Schippereit, a 1991-1992 Notre Dame sophomore, was killed May 21 when she fell asleep while driving to her home in Springfield, Va.

Schippereit was driving home after her sister's graduation from Notre Dame the previous weekend. In Maryland, she and her passenger, rising ND senior John McKee, fell asleep and the car flipped; McKee was not seriously injured in the accident.

Schippereit, an engineering major, was very involved in drama throughout high school and at Notre Dame, according to roommate Agi Bardos. She participated in some freshman productions, including the Freshman Four.

Bardos said that she was also very active in the dorm. Not only did she run for freshman class office, but she was also planning to serve as an inter-dorm chairperson for Pasquerilla East this year. At home, she spent time working with her church youth group, Bardos said.

Her friends said that she was the kind of person who went after every opportunity she could find. "She wanted to experience everything that she possibly could - right now," said McKee, a close friend.

Schippereit was an outgoing individual, according to Bardos. "She'd go into a room full of strangers and ten minutes later she could be friends with all of them," she said.

Her friends agreed that she had a true zest for life. "She really liked Notre Dame a lot. She loved the people," said Bardos.

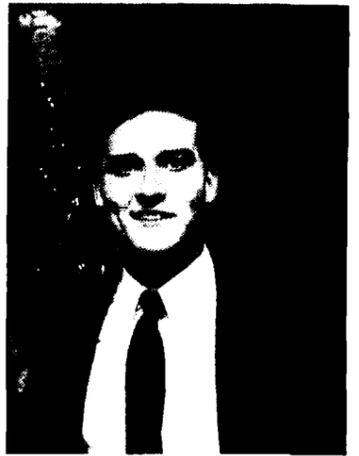

Bardos said that it has been difficult to deal with Schippereit's death. "You just don't expect it at all," she said. "We'll miss her a lot."

Schippereit's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Schippereit, plan to come to Notre Dame for a memorial service sometime this fall, Bardos said.

1991-1992 Pangborn RA dies in Memorial Day boating accident

By DAVID KINNEY
Assistant News Editor

Rising Notre Dame senior Jeff Engelmeier, of Springfield, Ohio, was killed over Memorial Day weekend after he was thrown from a boat and was unable to resurface.

Jeff Engelmeier

Engelmeier had been boating and water-skiing on the Ohio River with several friends. He suffered head injuries after the wake from a passing barge threw Engelmeier from the boat; he had removed his life jacket earlier when they had stopped the boat for gas. His body was recovered two days later on the river.

Engelmeier was an Army ROTC cadet and had been selected to be a resident assistant in Pangborn Hall. He was pursuing a double-major in German and pre-med.

Rector Wilfred Borden and several friends of Engelmeier said that he was a well-liked person in Pangborn and in his ROTC group. "He was, by far, the best person I have met here as a friend," said Dan Whitehair, his roommate for three years.

Another friend, Todd Rambasek, said that Engelmeier was a very responsible person, and "he never gave anybody a hard time." He said that as soon as Engelmeier was selected resident assistant, he tried to pull together the people that would be in his section and include them in the dorm activities.

"I could just tell he cared," Rambasek continued.

Easy-going and easy to get along with, Engelmeier was known for his sharp golf game. Much of his time was spent with ROTC work and the German club, however, according to friend Roger Vonhaefen.

About 60 people from Notre Dame attended Engelmeier's funeral services on June 3, from both Pangborn Hall and ROTC, said Vonhaefen. "I'd say he was the best-liked guy in the dorm," he said.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Engelmeier will be at Notre Dame on Thursday, August 29, for a 5 p.m. memorial service at Sacred Heart Church; University President Father Edward Malloy and Father Borden will preside.

Notre Dame ranks high in CAE annual report for 1990

Special to The Observer

The University of Notre Dame ranks first among the nation's Catholic universities and 16th among all private universities in voluntary support, according to the annual report of the Council for Aid to Education (CAE). The report covers giving to American higher education during the 1990 fiscal year.

Notre Dame received a total of $53,781,368 in private gifts, grants and bequests during fiscal 1990. This total excludes support received from federal, state and local government and their agencies, as well as from contract research.

According to CAE, Notre Dame ranked third among private universities in parental support ($3.1 million), behind only Princeton University and Boston College and third also in corporate matching gifts ($2.4 million), behind only Harvard and Yale Universities.

Notre Dame was fifth among all private universities in the percentage of solicited alumni who contributed ($1 percent), following Cornell University (62 percent), Dartmouth College (60 percent), and Duke and Lehigh Universities (52 percent). Notre Dame ranked 10th in terms of dollars contributed by alumni ($24.7 million), behind six Ivy League institutions, Stanford University, M.I.T., and Johns Hopkins University.

The market value of Notre Dame's endowment ($605.6 million) ranked 15th in the country.

In support from corporations and businesses, Notre Dame ranked 17th ($10.1 million), and in foundation grants, 24th ($8.4 million). Harvard, Yale, and Duke Universities led all schools in foundation donations, while M.I.T. along with Stanford and Cornell Universities received the most money from the business sector.

CAE reported that overall giving to American higher education was up 10 percent in 1990.

A 60 percent black screen can be used for the cross only for newspaper and magazine ads.

'Housekeeper's Week' shows appreciation to Notre Dame and Morris Inn employees

By PATRICK THOMAS
News Writer

With the approach of National Housekeeper's Week, Sept. 8-14, Notre Dame's Support Services along with the Morris Inn have planned a four-part reception for all building services personnel to take place Sept. 11.

The celebration is a recognition of all the work done on campus and at the Morris Inn in connection with building services. There are approximately 265 employees in building services, according to Alan Bigger, registered executive housekeeper.

"We want to let our personnel understand that they are appreciated and their work is not unnoticed," said Col. David Woods, director of Student Services.

Notre Dame and the Morris Inn are co-sponsoring the reception in part because of the university's high profile as the second most visited attraction in Indiana, according to Woods.

This campus recognition clearly expresses a larger community commendation which is not always wholly conspicuous, according to Woods.

Bigger and Joe Couch of the Morris Inn are the strategic organizers of this second annual event to be held on campus at 7 a.m., 1 p.m., 3 p.m., and 5 p.m. in the Support Services training room.

Notre Dame professor appointed to theology chair

Special to The Observer

Lawrence Cunningham, professor of theology at the University of Notre Dame, has been appointed chair of the University's department of theology, according to Timothy O'Meara, the University's provost.

He succeeds Father Richard McBrien, chair of the department since 1980. McBrien will continue to teach, write and conduct research as Crowley-O'Brien Walter Professor of Theology at Notre Dame.

"In the span of just three years on the Notre Dame faculty, Larry Cunningham has made a deep impression on his peers with the quality of his teaching, the distinction of his scholarship, and the evidence of his leadership qualities," O'Meara said.

"At the same time," added O'Meara, "Cunningham exemplifies the exceptional appointments made to the theology faculty during Dick McBrien's eleven years as chairman.

As the result of Dick's leadership and personal visibility, the department has strengthened its Catholic focus and earned the distinction of ranking among the premier centers of theological study in the world."

Cunningham, whose scholarship encompasses a range of studies including religion, culture and values; the nature of saintliness; and the quest for faith, came to Notre Dame in 1988 after 21 years on the faculty of Florida State University.

He is the translator of two books and the author of 11, including "The Catholic Faith: An Introduction," winner of the Catholic Press Association's 1987 award for the best book on Catholicism.

Cunningham received his masters degree and a doctorate from Florida State. He holds a bachelor's degree in philosophy from St. Bernard's College in Rochester, N.Y., and an S.T.L. in theology from the Gregorian University in Rome. Cunningham and his wife, Cecilia, have two children.

Administrators announced at SMC

Special to The Observer

Two new administrative appointments were announced recently at Saint Mary's College.

Kaye Ferguson-Patton joins the College as vice president for college relations. Ferguson-Patton is the former vice president for development and public relations for Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, with whom she had served since 1985.

From 1974 to 1985 she worked as an advertising agency executive in Memphis, Tenn., and from 1960 to 1974 held a variety of positions in the broadcasting industry, including reporting and anchor duties at KERO-TV in Bakersfield, Calif. A graduate of Michigan State University, Ferguson-Patton will oversee the areas of development, alumnae relations and college communications at Saint Mary's.

Barbara Butler Henry is the College's new director of alumnae relations. A 1985 graduate of Saint Mary's, Henry is a former account executive with Villing and Co., a Mishawaka marketing and advertising firm. Henry's responsibilities at the College include the coordination of all alumnae activities and programs.

United flight hero retires at age 60

SEATTLE (AP) — The United Airlines pilot credited with saving 184 lives when he crash-landed a crippled DC-10 in an Iowa cornfield two years ago made his final flight on Monday, joined by other survivors.

Capt. Al Haynes, who reaches the mandatory federal retirement age of 60 on Saturday, resisted being labeled a hero.

"If you're going to call me a hero, you're going to have to call everyone a hero," Haynes told about 250 people who welcomed him at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport after his last commercial run, United Flight 455 from Denver.

His wife, Darlene, said: "He's always been a hero to us all, but that doesn't excuse him from taking out the garbage."

Earlier Monday, Haynes told reporters at Denver's Stapleton International Airport he was "one of thousands" who helped save lives of those aboard Flight 232, which crashed near Sioux City, Iowa.

"That's about the size of it," said Haynes. "It was a team effort right on down the line."

On July 19, 1989, United Flight 232 lost hydraulic power. Haynes couldn't use control surfaces on the wings and tail to direct the plane.

SAT average scores slump

Average SAT scores decline

(AP) — Scholastic Aptitude Test scores fell to a record low last year in verbal skills, The College Board reported today. Math scores also sank for the first time since 1980.

The College Board, a private, non-profit education organization, sponsors the test.

Board president Donald Stewart said the drop signaled a "disturbing pattern of educational disparity" in which too many students aren't studying enough advanced high school courses to do well on the college entrance examination.

Board officials attributed the declines to factors in and out of school, including a steady increase in number of minority pupils taking the test but who generally score well below the national averages.

Such students now make up 28 percent of SAT test-takers, compared with 11 percent in 1973, the board reported.

Math averages declined two points to 474 among students taking the test in the 1990-91 school year, while scores on the verbal section averaged 422.

They also said many schools aren't assigning enough homework, aren't stressing writing, and are offering students watered-down math. Many also blame parents who allow too much television and do little to encourage outside reading.

The verbal averages were the lowest since national records were kept in 1969. Verbal scores hit a recent peak of 431 in 1985, but have slid steadily ever since.

Iowa had the highest average among the 50 states: 515 verbal, 578 math. But only 5 percent took the SAT, mainly those seeking admission to top private schools. South Carolina, where 58 percent took the test, averaged the lowest — 395 verbal, 437 math.

Both sections of the multiple choice exam taken by more than 1 million high school students are scored on a scale of 200-800, with a combined 1600 being the highest possible.

According to Kirk, over 50 percent of all incidents reported to Residence Life involve alcohol, including rapes and accidents.

"You attack so many more problems when you attack alcohol abuse," he said.

The changes to du Lac are in effect until 1993. According to Kirk, there is a "standard revisionary period" of two years, although additional changes could be made before then if a particular policy appeared to be failing.

Discriminatory Harassment Policy

A second area of change to du Lac was in the adoption of a discriminatory harassment policy that had been formally approved in April by the Academic Council. The policy is intended to complement existing rules and regulations.

The policy states that the University "believes in the intrinsic value of all human beings" and "is committed to the full peaceable participation of all its members in the educational endeavor it fosters."

The policy defines harassment as "any physical conduct intentionally inflicting injury on the person or property of another, or any intentional threat of such conduct."

The University, however, remains "committed to the free expression and advocacy of ideas," according to du Lac. "For this reason, cases of verbal harassment are defined here with great caution."

According to du Lac, harassment is "any hostile intentional, and persistent badgering, addressed directly at another, or small group of others, that is intended to intimidate its victims(s) from any University activity, or any verbal attack, intended to provoke the victim to immediate physical retaliation."

The policy further defines discriminatory harassment as any of the above that "is accompanied by intentionally demeaning expressions concerning the race, sex, religion, sexual orientation, or national origin of the victim(s)."

All types of discriminatory harassment are prohibited by the policy, and students are encouraged by du Lac to report any allegations of such behavior to University authorities as follows:

- If the incident occurs between students in the residence halls, du Lac recommends reporting it first to the Rector, who may later refer it to the Office of Residence Life.

- Incidents of discriminatory harassment occurring between students outside the residence hall, or by a student toward a faculty member, are to be reported to the Office of Residence Life.

- If the incident involves a faculty member, it should be reported to the chair of the academic department, or "in cases involving the chair, to the dean of the college."

- Incidents of alleged discriminatory harassment by a staff member are to be reported to the Director of Human Resources.

- Incidents involving an administrator should be handled by the appropriate superior officer of the person involved.

The policy also provides for a University ombudsperson, selected by the President, to help any complainant handle the matter formally or informally.

Support Services

A new section added to du Lac involves support services for victims of rape and sexual assault.

The section states that the University is committed to confidentiality in cases of sexual assault. Furthermore, the University is dedicated to honoring "the victim's choices regarding additional reporting and follow-up." Several avenues of support are detailed in du Lac, including the following:

- Pastoral support at Campus Ministry and through hall staffs;
- Medical services at local hospitals and University Health Services;
- Counseling services at University Counseling Center;
- Disciplinary options through the Office of Residence Life and the local police;

- Rape crisis agency services through the Sex Offense Services (S.O.S.);

- Legal options through the St. Joseph County Prosecuting Attorney's office.

In addition, the section lists several key phone numbers for victims of sexual assault, as well as information about the University's position of sensitivity to victims of rape.

Personal Safety

A final addition to du Lac was a new section on personal safety, which instructs students how to be "streetwise" and safe.

Kirk said the section is designed to make students more aware of safety precautions. The section also "ties in alcohol and crime," emphasizing the danger that can accompany excessive alcohol use, he said.

The new section includes information on on and off-campus security, giving the telephone listings of Safe Walk and campus Security as well as tips for students to use in tornado or fire emergencies.

Lukyanov, described by Yeltsin as the "ideologue" of the conspiracy.

Radical legislators will fight Gorbachev's agenda, said Alexei Yablokov, a reformist lawmaker.

Leningrad's reformist mayor, Anatoly Sobchak, planned to ask the legislature to debate a resolution to recognize the independence of six republics — including the Baltics — that are refusing to sign Gorbachev's proposed Union Treaty.

Yeltsin, who led resistance to the hard-line Communist coup, capitalized on the disintegration of the central government and Communist Party over the weekend to issue decrees asserting his government's control over state-owned enterprises in the Russian Federation.

Yeltsin will demand a revision of the draft Union Treaty to "eliminate all the parts which were previously dedicated to the so-called central power," Deputy Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Fyodorov told CNN.

In other developments:

•Angry demonstrators in the Latvian capital of Riga toppled a statue to the founder of the Soviet Communist Party, Vladimir Lenin. Protesters in the Chichen-Ingush capital of Grozny in the southern Soviet Union on Saturday took down a Lenin monument, blockaded police and KGB buildings and took control of radio and television stations.

The Moscow city council on Tuesday was to debate taking down a massive Lenin statue. Mayor Gavriil Popov called on citizens to refrain from pulling down monuments without city authorization.

•In several republics, authorities stepped up actions against Communist Party branches and individuals suspected of complicity in the coup plot.

Ukrainian authorities sealed Communist Party headquarters in Kiev pending an investigation of party complicity, said Maxim Myakentiy of the independent Ukrainian Information Service.

In Moldavia, Interfax reported that authorities moved against those suspected of cooperating with the conspiracy, arresting lawmaker Gimi Pologov and issuing warrants for at least four other leaders of the Gagauz region, which has sought to secede from the republic.

•In Moscow, the new Soviet defense minister declared his support for Gorbachev's order banning party cells in the military, KGB and other security organs.

Yevgeny Shaposhnikov also said in a television interview that he will seek to replace 80 percent of the top officer corps with younger, "more loyal" officers.

He ascended to the post after refusing as commander of the Air Force to obey instructions from the coup plotters.

Shaposhnikov, speaking to the Izvestia newspaper, denied reports that any of the plotters, including some who may still be at large, had the ability to launch a nuclear strike.

Cheney said Sunday that Soviet nuclear weapons now appear to be under control of the central government.

front of Kozachok's house, and his roommates had fled the scene. The youths proceeded to punch Kozachok, breaking a bottle over his head and "body slamming" him onto the ground.

He received a broken nose, black eye and abrasions to his elbows, hands and knees. In addition, his forehead was cut by the bottle and a charley horse from being struck on his thigh, he said.

While stealing his wallet, the assailants ripped the entire back portion of Kozachok's shorts off. The attackers escaped with $25-30, a blank check, and several credit cards, he said.

The attack brings to light the growing crime problem in South Bend, according to Kozachok.

"You don't think you're in danger when you're right in front of your house," he said, "but you are."

Kozachok and his roommates are looking for a new house, fearing that the attackers' knowledge of where they live could provoke another incident. Even if they find a house in a better neighborhood, Kozachok is unconvinced that off-campus living can be completely safe.

"It's gotten worse," he said of the crime in typically student neighborhoods. "Nobody can hold their own. It's just not worth it."

Smith's attorneys want Lupo to remain on rape case

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — William Kennedy Smith's attorneys said Monday his judge should remain on the rape case, rejecting as baseless prosecutors' demands that she disqualify herself.

Claiming the state is "judge-shopping," defense attorneys criticized the Aug. 20 motion by lead prosecutor Moira Lasch that Palm Beach County Circuit Judge Mary Lupo should leave the case.

Prosecutors accused Lupo of a lack of candor about her family's friendships with attorneys on the case and alleged she showed bias toward the prosecution with her rulings and facial expressions. Lasch accused Lupo of bias for postponing the trial until Jan. 13.

The state motion was supported by an affidavit by the 30-year-old woman who says Smith, 30-year-old nephew of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., raped her March 30 at his family's Palm Beach estate. Lupo hasn't responded.

Prosecutors had warned that Smith's attorneys could use the conflicts for a later appeal. Smith's attorneys said Monday they had in effect waived an appeal by failing to act on the information months ago.

Lupo's husband and prosecutor Ellen Roberts' husband are former law partners, which the defense was informed of in May.

The defense papers said the state has tried to goad the court with "inflammatory motions" and "an abusive tone." The papers said that ruling against one side in a case doesn't prove a judge is biased.

Prosecutors said Lupo's expressions had also been cited by defense attorneys in a 1989 personal-injury case that resulted in her being removed by a state appellate court.

Smith's attorneys replied that the appellate court's decision was based on Lupo's adversarial role in a hearing, not her expressions, and that the Florida Supreme Court ruled such expressions aren't grounds for removal.

Murder plot trial begins for cheerleader's mother

HOUSTON (AP) — A woman accused of trying to hire a hitman to murder the mother of her daughter's cheerleading rival spoke of having the woman killed or sold into slavery, a prosecutor said Monday. The defense called it a set-up.

As the trial began, both sides promised to show how tangled family relationships and a bitter divorce resulted in the solicitation of capital murder and kidnapping charges against Wanda Holloway.

Defense lawyers called Holloway the victim of brothers scheming to take her children away from her.

But prosecutors said Holloway contacted Terry Lynn Harper, her ex-husband's brother, after her 13-year-old daughter, Shanna, lost a spot on the cheerleading squad again to Amber Heath.

Harper testified Monday that Holloway told him she hated Heath and her mother and wanted to do away with them.

"She asked me what I would do. I said you could get one of these Colombian drug lords and have her taken to Colombia and have her sold into white slavery," Harper said.

Amber's mother, Verna Heath, testified that she was startled to hear about the plot, but said Holloway's jealousy didn't surprise her.

"When they told me her name, I said, 'Does this have anything to do with cheerleading?' because it all kind of fell into place," Heath said.

At first, prosecutors said, Holloway wanted Amber and her mother killed or kidnapped, but then settled on only the mother because she could not afford to pay for both murders.

Holloway, a homemaker from suburban Channelview, was arrested Jan. 30 and has been free on bond. If convicted, she could be sentenced to life in prison.

Authorities say Holloway hoped Amber would be so upset about her mother's death she would drop out of the next cheerleading competition, thereby improving Shanna's chances of winning.

Prosecutors said Harper was on probation for drunken driving when he was contacted by Holloway, and in turn contacted police because he didn't want to tangle with the law again.

While Harper wore a hidden tape recorder, he and Holloway met to discuss the plan, prosecutor Mike Anderson told the jury in his opening argument.

"On the tape she will talk about death and suggest that Verna be kidnapped and sold into slavery," Anderson said. "You will hear her say, 'I don't care what you do with her, I just don't want to see her in Channelview again.'"

Authorities also allege that Holloway offered an undercover officer — posing as a hitman and referred by Harper — a pair of diamond earrings worth $2,200 as collateral for the killing, which would have cost $2,500.

"She was very concerned with the cost," Anderson said.

But defense lawyer Troy McKinney said her thrift was evidence she wasn't serious about the crime. He said she and her husband are worth $2 million and routinely keep up to $7,000 in cash in their house.

"Money would not have stood in her way," he said.

McKinney said Harper, having learned of Holloway's disappointment about Shanna's cheerleading defeat, contacted her and said: "I can take care of that for you." But Wanda said, "That's crazy."

Several times in the taped conversation, Wanda demurred on the murder plot, at one point saying, "Blow it off! I don't want to do it," McKinney said.

"Why would Terry Harper do this? Because he was the black sheep in the family."

Protestors demonstrated; clinic director injured

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — An estimated 25,000 abortion foes rallied at a stadium here, capping six weeks of protests. Hours earlier, demonstrators roughed up an abortion clinic director in one of the most violent protests yet, police said.

edly, and about 100 protesters gathered.

Clinic director Debbie Riggs was pushed and shoved by two protesters at the clinic's back entrance when she arrived at 7:30 a.m. to open the center, police said.

"She was physically roughed up, but she wasn't injured," said Deputy Police Chief Steve Trainer. "She was a little shaken."

TV evangelist Pat Robertson was among those at the rally who called on abortion foes to continue their campaign in Wichita.

"What we are trying to do is protect children from the cruel forceps of money-grubbing vultures who masquerade as men of medicine," he said.

Two officers who responded were surrounded, and one officer sprayed Mace on protesters, Trainer said. "Nobody got hurt," he said.

He also said U.S. District Judge Patrick Kelly — who has jailed abortion foes for violating his order against blocking clinics — should be impeached.

Sixty-one people were arrested Sunday, 59 on trespassing charges and two on assault charges, said Deputy U.S. Marshal Denis Amico.

"These men and women are not criminals and lawbreakers and disobedient to lawful authority," Robertson said at Wichita State University. University officials estimated the crowd at 25,000.

Authorities said patients were able to enter the clinic, one of two covered by Kelly's order barring harassment of doctors, employees or patients.

After the rally, Operation Rescue spokesman Gary McCullough said the national group would turn the Wichita anti-abortion crusade over to local leaders.

During the siege, some protesters have been arrested as many as eight times. Wichita officials estimated more than 1,400 individuals, many from out of town, have been arrested.

Police and federal marshals have made more than 2,600 arrests, mainly for trespassing, since Operation Rescue began demonstrations in mid-July.

Kelly has sentenced a handful of Operation Rescue leaders to jail terms for violating his order. Most protesters are released within hours of arrest.

Wichita has been targeted because one of its clinics performs late-term abortions.

The ProChoice Action League held a rally of its own on the banks of the Arkansas River on Saturday. About 6,000 people attended.

Earlier Sunday, Wichita Family Planning Inc. opened unexpected-

Florida murder suspect linked to Louisiana killings

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The main suspect in the slaying of five Gainesville college students may be linked to a 1989 triple murder in Louisiana, police said in an affidavit unsealed Monday.

The affidavit in support of a search warrant was released as jury selection began in a robbery trial for Danny Harold Rolling. The trial began a year to the day after the first two victims were found in Gainesville.

Last week, police in Shreveport, La., Rolling's hometown, obtained blood, saliva, and hair samples from Rolling in an investigation of the Nov. 4, 1989, triple slaying.

The affidavit from Shreveport Detective Don Ashley said Rolling's saliva will be compared to saliva swabbed from a bite mark on the breast of victim Julie Grissom, 24.

Grissom, her 55-year-old father, Tom, and 8-year-old nephew Sean, were stabbed to death. Authorities believe Grissom was the target.

The saliva found on Grissom's breast was from a person with type B blood who secretes identifying blood chemicals into other body fluids, the affidavit said. It's the same makeup Rolling is listed as having, the document said. Twenty percent to 25 percent of all males don't secrete blood chemical into their body fluids.

The affidavit also said Rolling, 37, lived in Shreveport during late 1989, jogged at the same track as Grissom and on the day of the slayings was fired from his job at a restaurant, a mile from her home.

Hair and fiber evidence from Rolling's car was turned over to the FBI for comparison to samples found at the murder scene.

"The FBI has advised the Shreveport Police Department that hair recovered from the Grissom house and Rolling's vehicle have been microscopi-cally compared and found to have similar characteristics," the affidavit said.

Shreveport investigators said fresh blood, saliva and hair samples were needed to confirm their suspicions and to create a DNA profile.

Mary Lou Cuellar, Rolling's lawyer in the Tampa robbery trial, lost her fight last week to keep the affidavit sealed, fearing disclosure and the publicity of the Gainesville anniversary would make it impossible to pick an unbiased jury.

Rolling is charged with holding up a grocery and starting a shootout with deputies a few days after the last bodies were found in Gainesville.

Rolling has been in jail since September after pleading guilty to holding up an Ocala supermarket.

No one has been charged in the Gainesville murders, but authorities have named Rolling as the prime suspect and Edward Humphrey as a second suspect.

The Tampa charges, which carry a possible life sentence, aren't related to the student murders 80 miles away, but authorities say they are significant because the car Rolling was driving in Tampa was stolen from a Gainesville student housing complex two days after the last bodies were found.

Families of the five Gainesville dead gathered Monday in that college town for the laying of a wreath at a memorial created last year at a graffiti-covered wall. Five bouquets of white roses sat in vases at the base of the wall.

The parents of the victims attended the ceremony, but wouldn't talk to the media.

The murders focused national attention on Gainesville, a town of 85,000, during the first week of classes at the University of Florida last year and sparked intense fear among students and residents.

'Cheers' wins big at Emmy award night; Neuwirth and Alley receive top honors

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The barroom comedy "Cheers" hoisted a leading four Emmy Awards, including the prize for best comedy series and trophies for stars Kirstie Alley and Bebe Neuwirth.

NBC's "L.A. Law," won its fourth Emmy for best dramatic series at Sunday's awards ceremony.

Other major winners included: James Earl Jones of ABC's "Gabriel's Fire," best actor in a dramatic series; Patricia Wettig of ABC's "thirtysomething," best actress in a dramatic series; and Burt Reynolds of CBS's "Evening Shade," best actor in a comedy series.

"Cheers" now has a total of 26 Emmys, pulling even with "Hill Street Blues" for the second most Emmys ever for a series. "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" has the most, 29. "The Carol Burnett Show" is fourth with 22.

"I said we were good, but now we're venerable I guess," said "Cheers" director, co-creator and co-executive producer James Burrows, who also won the comedy directing trophy.

Other multiple winners included another awards program — the 63rd annual Academy Awards — which picked up three statuettes.

Winners and presenters at the 43rd annual Emmy Awards wore red ribbons on the Fox broadcast in a show of support for AIDS research and people with AIDS.

Comedian Gilbert Gottfried's wisecracks about Pee-wee Herman actor Paul Reubens' indecent-exposure arrest went out live on the East Coast, but one minute and 40 seconds were censored when the tape was shown in later time zones.

"Masturbation's a crime, I should be on death row!" Gottfried said. "To think that by age 14, I was already Al Capone!"

Kirstie Alley's win as best actress in a comedy series comes four years after she replaced Shelley Long in "Cheers."

"I only thank God I didn't have to wait as long as Ted," said Alley, who plays insecure Rebecca Howe, manager of the Boston bar. Co-star Ted Danson was nominated eight times before winning last year for best actor in a comedy.

Bebe Neuwirth captured her second consecutive Emmy for supporting actress in a comedy for her portrayal of the cold-as-ice psychotherapist Dr. Lilith Sternin-Crane.

Reynolds got the comedy actor award this year for his role as a high school football coach.

Comic Jonathan Winters won his first Emmy — best supporting comedy actor for "Davis Rules."

James Earl Jones, who opened the show with a pompous speech that ended with a scripted pie in his face, got two Emmys.

Along with recognition for his role in "Gabriel's Fire," about an ex-con who becomes a private investigator, he was named best supporting actor in a mini-series for "Heatwave," a TNT mini-series about the 1965 Watts race riots.

Wettig was honored for her portrayal of cancer victim Nancy Weston. It was her second straight Emmy for best dramatic actress and her third for "thirtysomething," which has been canceled. She won as best supporting actress 1988.

"It's a little sad," Wettig said, fighting back tears. "This is sort of my last time to say goodbye to this character."

Her co-star Timothy Busfield was named best supporting dramatic actor for his portrayal of the immature yuppie Elliot Weston.

"Cool!" said a bemused Busfield.

Saturday night, during a non-televized prelude to the Emmys ceremony, Colleen Dewhurst was honored posthumously as best guest actress in a comedy series. Dewhurst, who died of cancer Thursday, was honored for her appearances on CBS's "Murphy Brown" as Murphy Brown's mother.

PBS picked up an Emmy for best informational series, "The Civil War," and best informational special, "American Masters, Edward R. Murrow: This Reporter."

ABC led with 26 awards; CBS was second with 15, followed by NBC with 13; PBS, 12; HBO, 5; syndicated, 2; Disney, 1; Fox, 1; and TNT, 1.

"Separate But Equal," a chronicle of the U.S. Supreme Court's 1955 school desegregation ruling, won in the best drama, comedy special or mini-series category.

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, Sports Editor, News Editor, Viewpoint Editor, Accent Editor, Photo Editor, and Saint Mary's Editor. Commentaries, letters and Inside Column present the views of the authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus through letters is encouraged.

Prisoner makes plea for pen-pals

Dear Editor:

My name is Larry Evans. I am a prisoner at the Arizona State Prison.

I am writing in hopes of attaining correspondence with anyone willing to write to me.

I have been in prison for the past sixteen years now. I've lost contact with all family and friends years ago.

Everything I once knew in the "Free-World" is gone. And to be honest, I am never getting out of jail.

I am desperate to write to someone—anyone. I really enjoy writing and will answer all letters.

With all this time on my hands, I'd very much like to correspond and share experiences with anyone willing to write and share their time.

Reevaluating last year's unrest

The COTH department is to be congratulated for its choice of Arthur Miller's Crucible for its first show of this year's season. His classic play of Salem witch-hunting is not only a fine drama, but a message which is timely for our campus.

Last year we saw a local manifestation of a national movement on university campuses which demands a rethinking of traditional concepts of higher education. This many-headed dragon is known by various buzzwords—"multiculturalism," "cultural diversity," "political correctness." Students and faculty pressing this issue have done so with a righteousness approaching religious zeal.

On a national level, this phenomenon has seen the culmination of a 30-year process of revisionism in higher education, moving into its last phases, where even faculty join in attacking the very canon—works which are considered essential reading for students seeking to be educated members of Western culture.

Some arguments are worth thinking about; ethnic-American authors have been neglected by academia and American society does not need to rethink its cultural self-conception.

But it is not the issues themselves which are frightening, but the zeal and moral indignation with which their interlocutors press.

On many campuses, the purging of "wrong" ideas, professors and students holds eerie echoes of Salem and its McCarthyist inheritors.

Most disturbing is the implication given that those individuals who oppose these measures, for whatever reason, are lumped together as racist, sexist reactionaries who would like nothing better than to turn back the clock on civil rights. These "incorrect" individuals must be brought to see the light by the missionaries of multiculturalism. In another not so distant age they would claim to be doing God's work.

Rich Delevan

SUFR began in much this fashion at Notre Dame. Beginning on the Administration Building steps on a chilly, January afternoon, many minority students combined to demand charges toward "cultural diversity or else."

From curriculum reform and faculty hiring to a "multicultural center" ala the University of Michigan, these demands were pressed in demonstrations and rather silly chalk drawings with increasing fervor.

Questions and anxiety understandably developed among the student-body. After all, they were indicted along with the Administration as being racists who were leaving these students out of the Notre Dame family.

Inflaming the situation was the fact that SUFR had struck a nerve when it broke the rules of engagement for campus politics. For dialogue to occur in an open forum, there must be certain understandings which allow discussion of an issue to progress and conclude in a constructive way.

This unwritten gentlemen's agreement allows reason to govern an orderly debate. Each side agrees that it has, after all, only an opinion. But when a political policy is equated by a group with moral right, the agreement is broken and the dialogue ends.

People stop listening to words and hear only noise. This happened when SUFR reportedly help secret meetings barring whites from entrance and then proceeded to take over the Registrar's office. For a few hours, a siege mentality set in and the campus dangled over the abyss of either anarchy or repression. The issues were obscured.

Fortunately for everyone, cooler heads prevailed. Amnesty was granted by Father Malloy and SUFR began a course of moderation. It has broadened its membership and leadership along both racial and ideological lines.

SUFR has applied for recognition as an official student organization. Two open forums were held, in Lyons and here in Flanner, where members of SUFR met with students to explain their issues.

Somehow, SUFR managed to tack away from the national "movement" and form its own identity, one incorporating the principles of reason and understanding and tolerance which make Notre Dame a place worth returning to each August.

Gentlemen's agreements are again functioning between SUFR and the rest of the campus. We may in fact owe SUFR a debt of gratitude for raising the level of debate on the campus above the inane. More forums will be held.

We have avoided the hysteria and the sheer madness that Arthur Clark's Abigail and Parrish fall victim to. A process of difficult and gut-wrenching dialogue has begun. A soul-searching perhaps unprecedented on this campus has occurred and continues.

A path of self-destructive malevolence and self-righteousness has been avoided. That the future will hold no return to this path, however, is far from certain. Administration intransigence or renewed student frustration may yet provoke another round of madness. So when you watch the Crucible this fall, remember it well.

Rich Delevan is a Junior Government and Philosophy major currently serving as Co-president of Flanner Hall.

O'Hara greets students both new and returning

Dear Students:

I would like to extend to you a warm welcome on behalf of all of us who work in the Division of Student Affairs—the Offices of Residence Life, Security, Student Residences, Alcohol and Drug Education, Student Activities International Student Affairs, Minority Student Affairs, Counseling Center, Career and Placement, Health Services, Campus Ministry and Hall Staffs.

Although we provide a variety of services, we share a common desire to do everything we can to help facilitate your intellectual, spiritual and personal growth in your lives outside the classroom.

We welcome back the sophomores, juniors and seniors, as well as the returning graduate and professional students.

We extend a special welcome to our new students—the freshmen, transfer and new graduate and professional students. You join a proud community with a rich tradition that dates back one hundred and fifty years to the vision of our founder, Father Edward Sorin, C.S.C.

We hope that all of you—both those who are new and those who are returning—will be able to achieve the academic, spiritual and personal goals you set for yourselves this year.

As we begin celebration of our sesquicentennial, we open the year with a special sense of excitement. I hope that I will have the opportunity to come to know as many of you as possible in the months ahead.

Until I am able to greet you in person, please know that you have my very best wishes for a year filled with all God's good blessings.

Honoring Ireland's Prime Minister results in negative Irish stereotype

Dear Editor:

In a May of the Irish Echo newspaper, much of its front page was devoted to Notre Dame and the honors bestowed on Charles Haughey, Prime Minister of Ireland.

Throughout the years, Notre Dame has cemented into American folklore negative stereotypes of the Irish people. Because of Notre Dame, America knows that the Irish are fighters (the Fighting Irish), superstitious (the leprechauns) and of course, drunkards.

Mr. Haughey represents a government that has abandoned

Irish people in trouble (Birmingham Six); has extradited Irish citizens to England (Dessie Ellis); has suspended civil rights for Irish citizens (Article 31); and now threatens to change the Irish Constitution's claim of sovereignty.

The Catholic Hierarchy of Ireland continue a political intrigue that has been evident for two centuries—sell out needy Irish people to gain the favor of the powerful.

Happy Birthday, Notre Dame

As the University turns 150, a year-long bash is being planned

By JOHN O'BRIEN
Accent Editor

If you can't pronounce "sesquicentennial," nonetheless spell it, don't worry—you'll have plenty of time to learn.

This year marks the 150th year that the University has been in existence and students, faculty and administrators are planning a year-long celebration.

The sesquicentennial celebration kicks off on the weekend of Sept. 13 and 14 and continues until Nov. 26, 1992—the actual 150th anniversary of the University's founding, according to Dennis Moore, director of public relations and information.

By then, everyone should be able to pronounce, if not spell, "sesquicentennial."

The opening weekend will be jam-packed with events, starting with a symposium, convocation and the dedication of the Hesburgh Center for International Studies.

While there is traditionally an opening mass at the beginning of each school year, this year's mass will serve as a formal opening of the sesquicentennial celebration, Moore said.

That mass will be held in the Joyce ACC at 4 p.m. and a picnic dinner will be held on Cartier Field following the mass, Moore said.

The Committee on the Sesquicentennial of the University is being chaired by Eileen Kolman, dean of the Freshman Year of Studies, and Roger Schmitz, vice president and associate provost. Schmitz and Kolman are also chairpersons of the University Steering Committee.

Father Richard Warner, counselor to the president's office, is chairman of the University and community-wide celebrations. Nathan Hatch, vice president for graduate studies and research, is chairman of the committee in charge of concluding events.

These committees include faculty, administrators and students.

Perhaps the biggest event for most students is the revival of a Homecoming weekend, said Katie Pamenter, student committee chairwoman.

Homecoming weekend actually commences on Thursday, Oct. 31, Pamenter said. Homecoming dances will be held for both minors and those over 21, she said.

The under-21 group will have a costume party/dance in Stepan Center and the over-21 crowd will have the Halloween Party at the Alumni-Senior Club, Pamenter said. This over-21 party is sponsored by the Senior Formal committee, she added.

On Nov. 1, a parade, pep rally and casino night will be held, Pamenter said.

The parade will step off from the intersection of Notre Dame and Corby Avenues at 5:30 p.m. It will proceed down Notre Dame Ave., past the stadium and end at the JACC, she said. The Notre Dame Marching Band will then lead spectators into the stadium for a pep rally, she said.

In addition to the ND band, the parade will feature community groups (including a local high school band) as well as student floats, Pamenter said. Dorms have been paired up and will work on their floats together, she said.

The pep rally will feature speeches by head football coach Lou Holtz, several players, and other special guests, she said. A student master of ceremonies for the pep rally will be chosen through a contest that will be held during September.

The pep rally will also include the selection of the Homecoming King, Queen and their court, she said.

The dorms and various student organizations will nominate two individuals who represent the "Spirit of Notre Dame," Pamenter said. Then, an election will narrow the candidates down to ten men and ten women.

Out of this group, a court of seven men and seven women will be chosen, Pamenter said, and the king and queen will be chosen from this group, she said.

A casino night, sponsored by S.U.B., will be held for parents who are in town for parents' weekend, Pamenter added.

On Saturday, Nov. 2, the Irish will play Navy in the 4 p.m. Homecoming game. The Alumni Association will host a reception for members of past football teams and their spouses, Pamenter said.

A luncheon and autograph session with these former Irish players will take place after the reception, she added.

The rest of the year will be full of cultural events, meetings and celebrations, Moore said.

- All of the colleges of the University will be holding symposia to highlight their educational and scholarly pursuits.

- A Notre Dame postcard will be issued by the post office on Oct. 15.

- An alumni social concerns workshop will be held on from Jan. 31 to Feb. 2, 1992.

- The city of South Bend will pay tribute to Notre Dame with a Community Sesquicentennial Tribute to be held downtown at Century Center on Feb. 6.

- The Fischer Graduate Complex will be dedicated on April 30.

- The Edward J. DeBartolo Classroom Building will be dedicated on Oct. 9, 1992.

- Nov. 26, 1992 is the actual date of the 150th anniversary, but no official events have been planned for that day. The last official events will take place on Oct. 12 and 13, as the concluding symposium and convocation will be held, Moore said.

For a complete calendar of the Sesquicentennial Year, a special pullout section will appear in The Observer on Friday, August 30.

NFL teams cut rosters to 47; Manley released by Cards

(AP) — Dexter Manley, Dave Duerson and a host of other one-time heroes were sent packing on Monday, the NFL's unkindest day of all.

The league's 28 teams got down to the 47-player limit by ridding themselves largely of two types — rookies and free agents and veterans who tried to hang on for another season.

"The toughest decisions I have to make are always with veterans that have contributed to the success we've had in the past," said Miami coach Don Shula, who cut linebacker Barry Krauss and cornerback Paul Lankford, who combined for 22 years of NFL experience.

For some like Manley, trying to come back from a drug suspension, it could be the end of a career.

For others it may be a day off — many are cut and brought back later in the week after teams place players they want to keep around on injured reserve.

"It's like playing poker. You're trying not to show your hand," Denver coach Dan Reeves said. "You've got to bluff somewhat."

For still others, it's a temporary interruption before they're signed by another team. Bubba Paris, left tackle for the 49ers before being cut last week, was signed by the Colts on Monday.

And for rookies, it may be a few days in limbo before they go to a developmental squad. That means they can practice but can't play unless they clear waivers again.

One man who made it against the odds was Terry Long, the veteran Pittsburgh guard, who underwent psychiatric treatment after telling police he attempted suicide following a positive test for steroids. He rejoined the Steelers last Tuesday and will begin the season as a backup Carlton Haselrig.

back Riggs if he clears waivers — his age, past injury problems and a $1 million-plus contract are expected to make teams shy away from him.

The final cut by the Redskins included Grant, the 11-year defensive tackle who was hobbled much of the preseason with a thigh injury and only returned to practice last week.

— Donald Igwebuike, who was accused of heroin smuggling last October and found innocent in April, was cut by the Vikings, meaning Fuad Reveiz will be the kicker. The Vikings also cut receiver Leo Lewis, an 11-year man, and running back Darrin Nelson, a 10-year man who had returned after being dispatched in the Herschel Walker deal.

— Linebacker Jerry Robinson, a 13-year-veteran cut by the Raiders. He goes all the way back to the Eagles' 1980 Super Bowl team — Defensive lineman Andre Townsend, 29, a part-time starter on the Broncos' three Super Bowl teams in 1986, 1987 and 1988.

— Guard Billy Ard, a starter on the Giants' 1986 Super Bowl team. He was cut by Green Bay, could be reactivated after the roster is set. The Packers also cut Mark Lee, a starting cornerback for the Packers for most of his 12-year career.

— Eddie Johnson, an 11-year veteran who was once part of one of the NFL's best linebacking corps with the Browns.

— David Galloway, once the Cards' best defensive lineman, cut by the Broncos.

— Disgruntled strong safety Terry Kinard and kick returner Gerald McNeil by the Oilers.

— Running back Stanford Jennings of the Bengals, best known for his 93-yard kickoff return for a touchdown that nearly won the 1989 Super Bowl with San Francisco.

Cincinnati Bengals running back Stanford Jennings was released yesterday as NFL teams cut their rosters down to the maximum of 47 players.

Victim wants no part of suit against Tyson

MILLEN, Ga. (AP) — A Miss Black America contestant who says boxer Mike Tyson touched her improperly nonetheless wants no part of a lawsuit against the former heavyweight champ.

"I don't think a lawsuit is necessary," said Jacqueline Boatwright of Millen, who is among 10 contestants listed as victims in the suit a pageant official has filed against Tyson. "I think the whole thing is being blown out of proportion."

The $21 million suit by pageant director J. Morris

Anderson accuses Tyson of fondling the 10 women during festivities surrounding the July event in Indianapolis.

Boatwright said she was not asked before her name was placed in the lawsuit. She said she did not tell Anderson that Tyson had "patted me on my, you know, behind" until two weeks later, when she called him to discuss something else.

"It was at that time he asked me if Mike Tyson touched me, and I told him he did," she said. "I discovered my name was on the lawsuit after the London Times called me about it a week after" the phone conversation.

Tyson, who was recruited by pageant officials to be part of the festivities, has become embroiled in controversy over his behavior there.

An Indianapolis grand jury reportedly is considering an 18-year-old contestant's allegation that Tyson raped her. And a former Miss Black America sued him for $100 million in federal court in New York earlier this month.

Some veterans who lost their jobs:

— Manley, who joined the Cards last year after being reinstated by commissioner Paul Tagliabue following a year's suspension for substance abuse. Released by Washington after the suspension, he was the often outspoken hub of the Redskins' defense during the mid '80s and is fifth on the NFL's all-time sack list with 91.

— Duerson, who won Super Bowl rings with both the Bears and Giants, was a Pro Bowler with the Bears and was cut by New York.

— Running back Gerald Riggs, 30 and defensive tackle Darryl Grant, 31, were cut by the Redskins. But coach Joe Gibbs said he hoped to bring

Saberhagen no-hits White Sox

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — On the greatest night of his much-honored career, the cheers of the crowd meant a lot more to Bret Saberhagen than simple moral support.

It told him an over-eager scoreboard operator sat red-faced in the pressbox. Most of all, it said his no-hitter against the White Sox had not died in the fifth inning, but was still alive. And that was all he needed.

"Now I know how Nolan (Ryan) feels like," Saberhagen beamed after beating the White Sox 7-0 Monday night with a no-hitter that cannot escape a twinge of controversy. "I realize what I've accomplished and it's something I'll always look back on."

The two-time Cy Young Award winner and 1985 World Series MVP retired Carlton Fisk on a liner back to the mound leading off the fifth. Then Dan Pasqua hit a slicing line drive into left.

Kirk Gibson ran back on an angle toward center and stretched at the last second on the front edge of the warning track as the ball grazed off his glove.

Pasqua reached second base and everybody waited for the decision by official scorer Del Black.

Everybody, that is, but the guy operating the giant electronic scoreboard. As Saberhagen stole a glance at the 12-story-high scoreboard, the "0" under the Chicago hit line switched to "1."

Saberhagen turned away and poured his full concentration to the next batter, Lance Johnson. But Black was studying television replays and still pondering. Then he announced an error on Gibson, and the "1" went back to a "0" and Saberhagen, his back to the scoreboard, heard a mighty cheer go up from the crowd of more than 25,000.

He didn't take a second look at the scoreboard. He didn't have to.

"You can pretty well tell by the crowd's reaction. I heard the crowd and I figured what happened," said Saberhagen, who had thrown five 2-hitters but had never taken a no-hitter past the seventh inning.

Controversial or not, the effort by the 27-year-old righthander was overpowering from start to finish. He struck out five and walked two and had only a couple of other near-hits.

"Some guys get no-hitters without no-hitter stuff," said White Sox manager Jeff Torborg, whose club lost its seventh straight. "There was no luck involved here. He earned it. After the controversial call, he just cranked it up another level. He was really throwing hard after that."

"He had good control, good command, and got his curveball over and his changeup over," Royals manager Hal McRae said. "He dominated the White Sox with a 90 mph fastball."

Spartans gunning for Rose Bowl

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bill Johnson has seen only good times as a defensive end at Michigan State.

Winning seasons capped by bowl games every year, two first-place finishes in the Big Ten and a Rose Bowl appearance.

But the fifth-year senior wants more. And so do the other five Spartans who played on the 1988 Rose Bowl team.

"We talked about it a little bit yesterday. It would be nice to end a five-year career with a national championship. That's not to say us six are going to take us there. If anybody wants it probably more than anybody else, I would say it's us, I guess," he said.

Speedy flanker Courtney Hawkins was still a senior in high school when the Spartans made their last Rose Bowl appearance, but his goal is the same as Johnson's.

"We have a national championship and a Big Ten championship in our sights. That's what we strive for. We'll see how close we can get to it," he said.

Never mind that the other Big Ten school in the state gets most of the nods for the conference championship and national crown.

"That's preseason. All the games still got to be won between the lines," said Hawkins.

Coach George Perles expects this year's squad to be as solid as last year's, with its 8-3-1 record and John Hancock Bowl victory.

"We look for a consistent program. We look to be in the race every year. We don't look for peaks and valleys," Perles said.

He brushes aside talk about preseason favorites.

"I have nothing to do with these ratings. I don't know why people are rated where they are. It's just kind of a guess that someone does and everybody follows. It's not a big deal," he said.

As far as Perles is concerned, Michigan State already has earned its right to be counted among the nation's elite football powers.

"I don't think there's another level. I think we're at the level we want to be at. We've had great success at this level," he said.

The Spartans lost seven starters each on offense and defense from the team that shared the Big Ten championship last year with three other teams.

Perles believes this year's team can improve on that record.

Last year's leader, quarterback Dan Enos, is gone. Finding a replacement will be at the top of Perles' list during fall practice.

None of the four prospects is a favorite yet. Perles will announce his choice Sept. 8, the Sunday before Michigan State opens its season with Central Michigan.

"We're looking for someone that's being rushed and can improvise, get out of trouble, take a broken play and make a winning play out of it," Perles said.

The most experienced quarterback prospect is UCLA transfer Bret Johnson. As a Bruin, he started all 11 games in 1989, completing 57.5 percent of his passes for 1,791 yards and 12 touchdowns.

But Johnson's real strength is making something out of nothing.

"That's what I think, a good quality in a quarterback is to be able to make something happen when there's nothing else there," he said.

Enos' backup, Jim Miller, played for brief stints in just four games last year. Also fighting for the job will be John Gieselman, who did not see any game action last year, and Millard Coleman, a redshirt freshman.

Whoever lands the starting job will stand behind an offensive line that averages 300 pounds.

With Hawkins and tailback Tico Duckett returning, Perles has the nucleus of an offense that can take advantage of

A's perilously close to falling out of West race

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — When figuring out if they are still alive in the AL West, the Athletics prefer psychology to math.

"We've fought through a lot of things all year, and we have to show our character again," says reliever Gene Nelson.

"We have to first realize we are still in this and take advantage of the games against Minnesota when they lose," says Dave Stewart, the four-time 20-game winner still looking for his 10th victory this season.

But in a purely mathematical sense, the numbers don't look good for Oakland to win a fourth straight AL pennant. With 36 games left, they trail the Minnesota Twins by seven. If the Twins slack off and play just .500 the rest of the way, the A's need to go 25-11 just to tie.

No matter what happens, the A's need to start winning when the Twins lose. While the Twins lost two of three in Baltimore, they still gained a game on the A's, who were swept by the Milwaukee Brewers over the weekend.

"That's damaging," said Jose Canseco. "We could have gained two games. It's over with, and we can't look back. We just have to keep going forward."

Oakland manager Tony La Russa knows his math well.

"The reason it's so important to win your own games is because the top team will lose a game or so," said La Russa. "It doesn't matter if you lose and Minnesota loses. You have gained nothing. You have to win your own games."

Just when the A's looked on the verge of dropping out of sight after a seven-game losing streak, they won four in a row, including a three-game sweep of the Angels. Nothing turns the momentum back around quicker than being outscored 28-6 in three home games by a sub-.500 team from the AL East.

"I don't like winning a series, then losing one; that doesn't make it," said La Russa.

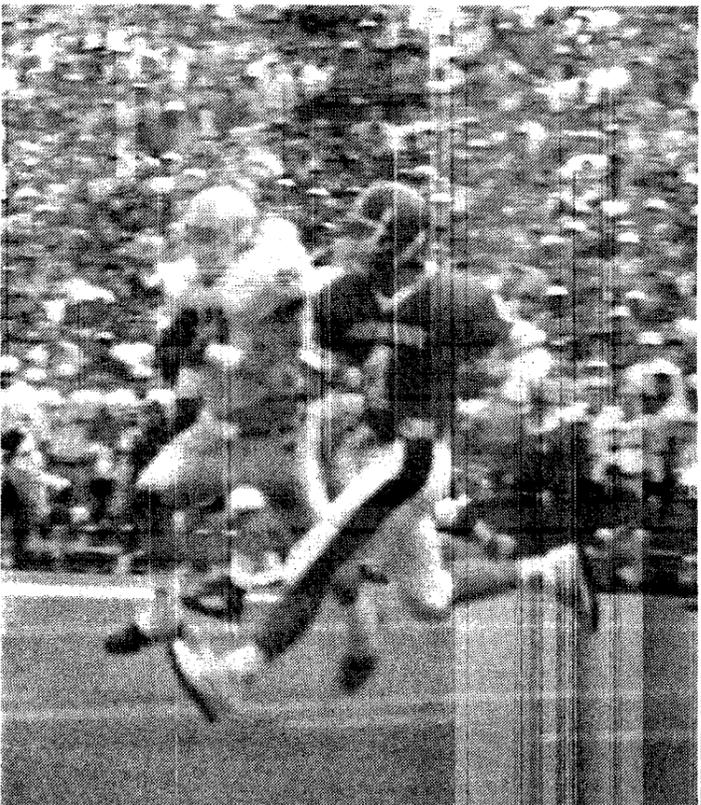

Ron Darling helped pump life into the ragged A's starting rotation, going 3-0 with a 1.69 ERA in his first four starts after the July 31 trade with Montreal. But even he's been proven human now, after allowing seven runs and 13 hits to the Brewers in an 8-2 loss Sunday.

"You can't keep playing good one series and bad the next," said Darling. "The reason we lost this series was our pitching. The reason we swept the Angels was our pitching. That's the bottom line."

"We know we can play well, and we know we can play poorly. We'd like to start working on eliminating the latter."

The A's are in the middle of their longest homestand of the season — 12 games — but the bats stayed on the road. They've scored only 13 runs in six games.

Mark McGwire may soon be headed for platoon status. The perennial All-Star first baseman is batting .202 overall and only .166 at home.

The Observer/John Cluver

One of the pressing questions at Michigan State this fall is who will replace last year's starting quarterback, Dan Enos.

$1 million donation earmarked to build new baseball field

Observer Staff Report

Franklin E. Eck, a member of the Notre Dame Class of 1944, along with Advanced Drainage Systems, Inc., have made a $1 million gift to the university for construction of a new baseball stadium.

The new facility will be named Frank E. Eck Stadium and will feature a lighted grass playing field and a permanent capacity of 1,500 spectators, with the capability of an additional 1,500 temporary seats. It will replace Jake Kline Field, the current on-campus site of Notre Dame baseball games.

"I'm ecstatic about the new stadium," Irish coach Pat Murphy said. "It's something I've dreamed about since I got the job here. It's definitely something that's badly needed for a team that has attracted the type of opposition it's been facing."

Eck previously has endowed a collection in chemical engineering at the Hesburgh Library and underwrote construction of the Eck Tennis Pavilion, the indoor tennis facility on the east edge of campus.

Advanced Drainage Systems, Inc. is a Columbus, Ohio-based producer of corrugated plastic drainage pipe for agricultural, commercial and construction.

SAFETY CONCERNS

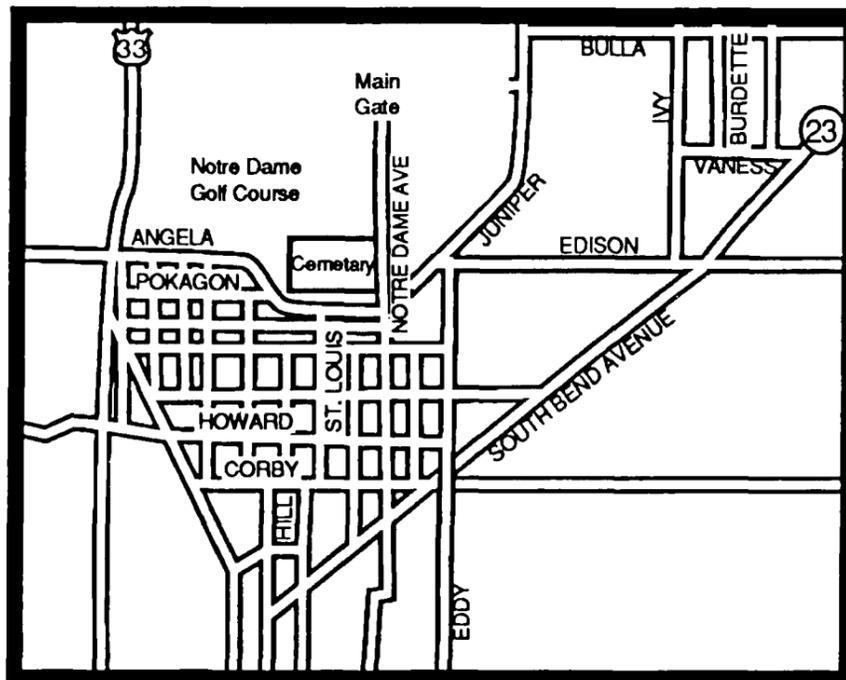

- During the past year, the off-campus area just south of the University of Notre Dame has been the site of a number of assaults involving students as victims.
- The principal area of concern is indicated on the map below, but other attacks have occurred just east and north of campus.
- The number of violent crimes on University property remains relatively low, but accostings have been reported in the area of St. Mary's Road, St. Joseph's Lake and the parking lots across from the Library.

HERE IS WHAT THE UNIVERSITY IS DOING TO PROTECT YOU

- University security and police officers provide 24 hour foot and vehicular patrols on the campus property. Additionally, security personnel are stationed at the East and Main Gates on a 24 hour basis
- A campus Emergency Call Box System has been installed. Eighteen call boxes have been located in peripheral parts of campus; these phones should be used to report suspicious activity or crimes to the Security/Police Department.
- Campus lighting has been increased. The University is continuing to evaluate the sufficiency of lighting on campus.
- The SafeWalk Escort Program has been funded by the University to provide escort service anywhere on campus from 8 pm - 2 am every night. (After these hours, contact Security for an escort.) Don't walk alone, call SafeWalk at 283-BLUE.
- The second floor of the Campus Security Building is available for all night or late night study.
- University security personnel are available for crime prevention programs, discussions and/or consultations both on and off campus. Off campus programs are cooperative efforts with the South Bend and Saint Joseph County Police Departments.
- Officials from the City of South Bend and the University meet on a regular basis to work together to make the South Bend - Notre Dame community safer.

HERE IS WHAT YOU CAN DO TO PROTECT YOURSELF

- Assaults have occurred in the area south of campus and in peripheral areas of campus. If at all possible, avoid those areas after dark.
- Don't over consume alcohol. Alcohol dulls your judgment and awareness and slows your reflexes.
- Be aware of your surroundings at all times. Is there someone in front of you or behind you? Does someone appear to be following you? If persons ahead of you appear threatening, cross the street.
- Don't walk alone. Avoid dark areas. Try to travel in groups. Note, however, some reported incidents have involved victims walking in groups of two or three.
- Use good sense. Don't provoke or otherwise instigate an incident. Avoid large threatening groups of unfamiliar people.
- If driving a car, park in well-lit areas and lock your doors.
- Use the SafeWalk Escort Service on campus from 8 pm -2 am. Call 283-BLUE; at other times, call ND Security at 283-4444 for escort assistance on campus.
- If you are a victim, don't threaten or pursue your attacker. Try to get a good description and report it to police. On campus, call 283-4444 or 239-5555. Off campus, call 911.
- Learn more about crime prevention strategies by participating in or sponsoring a crime prevention program available through Notre Dame Security/Police or area police agencies.
- Take responsibility for your personal safety and the safety of others by BEING ALERT AT ALL TIMES.

Key's 100th victory keeps Jays in hunt

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jimmy Key finally won his 100th game and the Blue Jays retained at least a share of first place in the AL East by beating the Orioles 5-2.

Devon White homered for Toronto, which entered the game in a first-place tie with Detroit.

Key (13-9) allowed seven hits and two runs in six innings, walking one and striking out two. The 30-year-old left-hander snapped a three-game losing streak and joined Dave Stieb and Jim Clancy as the only Blue Jays to win 100 games.

Mike Timlin fanned five in two innings and Tom Henke worked the ninth to get his 30th save. Dave Johnson (4-5) was the loser.

Twins 5, Indians 3

CLEVELAND — Kevin Tapani

Erickson coming to earth in second half of season

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maybe there really is nothing wrong with Scott Erickson.

Perhaps it's just no one remembers he's only in his third pro season, the first full one in the major leagues.

Erickson was arguably the best pitcher in baseball during the first half of the season. With a 12-3 record and a 1.83 ERA, the Minnesota Twins' right-hander would have started the All-Star Game if he didn't strain his right elbow in late June.

Erickson, 23, was put on the disabled list. In his nine starts since his return on July 15, he's gone 4-3 with a 7.49 ERA. The latest disaster was Sunday, when he gave up six earned runs in 4 1-3 innings of a 7-3 loss to the Baltimore Orioles.

What happened? The elbow was a factor in the early going, but Erickson no longer will use it as an excuse.

"It took awhile for me to get the arm strength back, but it's been all right the last two starts," he said.

And then? "I've just been making some bad pitches," he said. "Those aren't the pitches I can afford to make if I intend to win some games."

That much is obvious. But teammate Jack Morris, who's got 14 years of major league experience, said there's nothing wrong with Erickson that virtually every major leaguer hasn't experienced.

"It happens to all of us. You can't be perfect every time out," Morris said. "The main thing is you've got to overcome it. Adversity is part of baseball — for everybody."

It is the first time that Erickson has been in such a situation. He went 8-4 in 19 games in the latter part of last season and started brilliantly this year. Then came the elbow injury. And then, trouble.

A 5.49 ERA in July. Three losses in five starts in August. His current 3.22 ERA is the highest it's been all year, and he hasn't pitched more than seven innings in one game in over a month.

won his seventh straight decision and the Twins hit three home runs as they remained perfect against the Indians.

Shane Mack, Brian Harper and Kirby Puckett all homered for Minnesota, which is 8-0 against the Indians this season. Cleveland helped the Twins during the weekend by sweeping a three-game series from the second-place White Sox.

Tapani (12-7) allowed two runs and six hits in eight innings, improving to 10-1 in his last 16 starts. Rick Aguilera pitched the ninth for his 34th save.

Dave Otto (1-4) gave up five runs and 10 hits in eight innings.

Rangers 10, Yankees 2

NEW YORK — Rafael Palmeiro, Kevin Reimer, Geno Petralli and Julio Franco hit home runs, powering the Rangers past the Yankees.

Texas won for the fourth time in five games. New York has lost four of five.

Kevin Brown (9-10) pitched eight innings and gave up two runs on five hits. Franco hit an RBI single in the third inning and Palmeiro followed with his 22nd homer of the season off Eric Plunk (2-3). Petralli hit a three-run drive in the sixth, his first home run since June 20, 1989.

Padres 7, Pirates 5

PITTSBURGH — Tony Gwynn's two-run homer off Bob Kipper won the game in the 10th inning after Jack Howell's two-out pinch single tied it in the ninth as the Padres beat the Pirates 7-5 Monday night.

Gwynn's homer, his fourth, followed Tony Fernandez's one-out single off Bill Landrum (1-4). Kipper then replaced Landrum and promptly allowed his sixth homer in 50 2-3 innings.

The Pirates were within one out of winning it in the ninth, when Landrum, who entered with one out and none on, allowed Howell's run-scoring single.

Craig Lefferts (1-5) pitched the final two innings for his first victory since Sept. 15, 1990.

Blue Jays' closer Tom Henke picked up his 30th save last night in preserving Toronto's 5-2 victory over Baltimore. The win kept the Jays in a first-place tie with Detroit, 5-1 winners at California.

Men's cross country ranked 5th

Two All-Americans return from last year's third-place team

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

Ranked fifth nationally in the pre-season, the Notre Dame men's cross country team is looking forward to another successful season. Despite losing two of their top runners to graduation, the Irish return with a solid squad and a promising group of freshmen.

Notre Dame coach Joe Piane expects the freshmen to contribute to the success of this year's team, but the returning runners will be the heart of the team.

Senior captain Pat Kearns placed in the top 10 in every meet going into districts last year and recorded a first-place finish in the 1990 MCC championships. He will be a consistent runner that the team can depend on throughout the season.

Junior John Coyle returns after a successful season in which his All-American performance helped Notre Dame finish third in the nation last year. He also won the American World trials and competed in world championships.

Sophomore Mike McWilliams also had an All-American season in his freshman year. Finishing 34th in the NCAA championships, he was the number two runner for Notre Dame during the NCAA championships.

McWilliams also should emerge as a team leader this year, and according to Piane, should be "someone to be reckoned with" this season.

Rec Sports/NVA deadlines near

Observer Staff Report

For students who may not have quite the ability to compete for one of Notre Dame's varsity teams, the Rec Sports/NVA program provides an outlet for their athletic talents.

Signups for men's and women's interhall football, co-rec and 16-inch softball, men's and women's tennis and the freshman swim meet are due by September 4th. Men's interhall soccer lists are to be turned in by September 11th.

The Rec Sports/NVA office is on the first floor of the Joyce ACC's North Dome next to the equipment issue room. All participants will have to provide proof of insurance in order to compete.

Rec Sports/NVA also offers aerobics classes designed for all different types of workouts—from beginners to high intensity to water aerobics.

Classes in both karate and judo also are on tap for the fall semester. The karate program costs $15 per semester, while the judo classes cost $25 with limited enrollment.

Angels ax Rader, replace him with Buck Rodgers

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The Angels, who fell from first place to last in the AL West in a month, fired manager Doug Rader and replaced him with Buck Rodgers.

Rodgers, fired as manager by the Montreal Expos on June 2, signed a three-year contract on Monday to take over a team that has failed to win a division title under Rader despite the acquisition of such stars as Dave Winfield, Mark Langston and Gary Gaetti.

The Angels moved into first place by one percentage point over the Twins with a 44-33 record on July 3, but then lost 19 of their next 27 games to fall into last place on Aug. 4 with a 52-52 record.

California has been in last place since, with a low point coming last Thursday when a 2-1 loss to Oakland put them 15 games behind the Twins.

Rader, under contract through the 1992 season, was let go despite the Angels' three-game sweep of the Red Sox that left them 13 games behind Minnesota entering Monday night's game against the Tigers.

The 47-year-old Rader is the seventh manager to be fired this season, while Rodgers is the first of the group to be rehired. Other managers fired this season were the Indians' John McNamara, Don Zimmer of the Cubs, Nick Leyva of Phillies, John Wathan of the Royals and Frank Robinson of the Orioles.

The Angels won eight of their final 13 games under Rader but it was their inability to beat the three-time division champion Athletics, who won 12 of 13 games against California.

Rader previously managed the Rangers from 1983-85 — he was fired early in the 1985 season after the Rangers lost 23 of their first 32 games. His overall record as a manager is 388-417.

Rodgers' overall record as Montreal's manager was 520-499. He was in the final year of a contract that paid him about $500,000.

Replaced by Tom Runnels in Montreal, Rodgers was the most successful manager in Expos history. His overall record as a manager is 644-601.

New coach takes reins at Saint Mary's

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

Julie Schroeder-Biek has returned to Saint Mary's to coach a volleyball team that she used to play on.

Schroeder-Biek has been the assistant coach for the last two years at Saint Mary's. She inherits a team that was ranked in the top ten of the Division III statistics for kill average, assist average, and block average throughout last season.

"As a former player at Saint Mary's, I know how good our program really is, and am excited about the opportunity to take over and to continue to build the program that former head coach, Sue Medley, developed," said Schroeder-Biek.

The Belles face a very competitive schedule, but return a strong team and also had a good recruiting year. There is a strong possibility that this team could receive a post-season bid.

Returning for the Belles are two leaders on the team. Karen Lorton, a junior middle blocker from South Bend, led the team in kills, serve percentage, hitting, and assists last year.

Michelle Martino is a sophomore setter from Illinois who was ranked tenth in the nation in assists for Division III.

Both players should be valuable assets to the new coach as she takes over the helm.

Agassi knocked out in straight sets at Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Finalist one year, first-round flop the next, Andre Agassi spun out of control and away from the U.S. Open, the victim of another stunning ambush.

Aaron Krickstein, Agassi's tormenter on Monday, displayed none of the power and little of the precision that Pete Sampras showed in beating Agassi for the championship last year and winning his first match this year.

Sampras turned his blazing serves and pinpoint control this time in the direction of Christo van Rensburg to win 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. So overwhelming was Sampras at the start that the crowd roared when Rensburg raised his arms in triumph after finally winning the 10th game of the match.

Krickstein didn't need to be that good against a player who self-destructed in the heat and glare of the stadium court. It was only the second match of the tournament, less than four hours had passed since the first ball was struck, and one of the glamorous names in the game suddenly was gone in straight sets, 7-5, 7-6 (7-3), 6-2.

Krickstein's upset overshadowed the usual verbal battle John McEnroe waged with an umpire during a 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Glenn Layendecker and Michael Chang's easy 6-3, 6-0, 6-2 win against Mark Woodforde. Two other men's seeds lost: No. 13 Andrei Cherkasov 7-6 (7-2), 6-2, 6-2 to Jonas Svensson, and No. 15 Petr Korda 6-1, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 to Arnaud Boetsch.

The top women seeds also had little problem winning. No. 1 Steffi Graf beat Andrea Temesvari 6-1, 6-2 in 50 minutes; No. 2 Monica Seles beat Nicole Arendt 6-2, 6-0; No. 3

Gabriela Sabatini beat Nicole Provis 7-6 (7-3), 6-3 and No. 7 Jennifer Capriati dumped Eva Pfaff 6-1, 6-0 in 39 minutes.

Krickstein kept the ball deep in the first set and close enough to the sidelines to prevent Agassi from attacking. Agassi tried powering balls from the baseline, but his accuracy was off and he sprayed shots wide and deep.

"Nothing seemed to be going my way," lamented Agassi, who wound up with 55 unforced errors and six double faults, compared to Krickstein's 28 unforced errors and one double fault. "He was hitting the lines and big winners. Sometimes it seems you have to overcome so much to get through it."

The crowd that had cheered Agassi so much last year switched allegiance early and whistled for Krickstein as it sensed an upset in the making.

The Observer/John Rock

The Belles ranked among the leaders in NCAA Division III volleyball in kill percentage.

Campus golf tournament to take place next weekend at Burke

Special to the Observer

The Notre Dame men's and women's golf teams are hosting the 1991 Fall University Championship Tournament. It is an open tournament that also serves as tryouts for anyone interested in joining the varsity golf teams.

It will be a 72-hole, stroke play tournament for the men's student division, and a 36-hole stroke play tourney for the women. There is a five dollar entry fee, and entry forms are available in the golf pro shop.

The dates for the men's draw are for Saturday, August 31st and Sunday, September 1st, with a cut after Sunday's play. The remaining golfers will play two rounds on Sunday, September 8th for the championship. The women only play the first two days.

There is an entry deadline of 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 28th, and no late entries will be accepted. Students who perform exceptionally well will be contacted by the golf coach.

Youth the watchword for women's cross country

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's cross country team will have a youthful appearance as practice opens on Monday. Joining seasoned veterans Amy Blaising, Diane Bradley, and Lisa Gorski will be a significant number of freshmen and Irish coach Tim Connelly is excited about the season.

"I am expecting the freshmen to come in and help us right away," said Connelly. The freshmen class includes Eva Flood, a runner from County Dublin, Ireland who placed second in the national juniors cross country race in her country, Kala Boulware, a three time state champion in South Carolina, and Sarah Riley, who won the California State Championship her junior year.

Other freshmen who will contribute to the program this year include Becky Alfieri of Spencerport, NY, Stefanie Jensen of South Lake Tahoe, CA, Emily Husted of New Palastine, IN, and Polly Rassi of Phoenix, AZ.

Last year, the team, which is in its fifth year as a varsity program, won the Midwestern Collegiate Conference and placed second in the National Catholic Meet to Boston College.

Senior captain Amy Blaising will be a leader for the young squad. Blaising notched her personal best at the Indiana Intercollegiate with a time of 18:48 last year.

In addition to Blaising, senior Diana Bradley and junior Lisa Gorski will be other leaders for the young team. Bradley had a solid season and was the top Irish finisher against Georgetown while Gorski was the top Irish finisher at the MCC championships.

Senior captain Amy Blaising is one of only five upperclassmen on the Irish roster this season. She will be expected to provide leadership to a team with 13 freshmen.

New coach directs ND volleyball in 1991

By RENE FERRAN
Associate Sports Editor

Only three years ago, the Notre Dame volleyball team posted a 19-12 record and made its first-ever NCAA appearance. After two consecutive losing seasons and the tumultuous resignation of Art Lambert, new head coach Debbie Brown has the team pointed in that direction once again.

"She has such a good attitude," said freshman Christy Peters. "When she says something to one of us, we trust in what she's telling us."

Brown took over the program in December after resigning as an assistant coach with the U.S. national squad. Before that, she coached for six years at Arizona State, taking the Wildcats to the NCAAs in five of those seasons, and she anticipates similar results with the Irish.

"I definitely believe that we have the capability to make the NCAAs," Brown said. "We talked with the team about that being a goal that we would like to strive for, to put ourselves into position to make the tournament, and even though it's early, from what I've seen so far, I believe it's a realistic goal."

Notre Dame's inexperience plagued it throughout the 1990 season, but with the team losing only three members from that 9-27 squad, Brown has veterans at every position to choose from.

Four seniors, including two three-year monogram winners in outside hitter Christine Choquette and all-purpose performer Katie Kavanaugh, provide a nucleus around which to build.

"I am pleased with the depth we have," she said. "It's going to be hard to pick a starting lineup because all the players are so equal in their abilities."

At the crucial position of setter, however, Brown has found a winner for the starting job: sophomore Janelle Karlan.

"Janelle had done a great job, both in the spring and this fall," she said. "Our backup setters are doing well, but they're a few steps behind Janelle."

Two freshman join the Irish this year, outside hitters Nicole Coates from Princeton, Illinois and Peters, a native of Solana Beach, California. Brown has been pleased so far with their progress.

"They've both had a good pre-season," she said. "I believe they'll see a lot of court time this season."

Both freshman are acclimating to the college game with ease—but not without a little help.

"The girls on the team have made it really easy to make the transition," said Coates. "I like the atmosphere here, the closeness of the entire community."

The transition period is almost over, however. Notre Dame's season opener is next Saturday at 7:30 p.m. versus Purdue at the Joyce ACC.

■Senior David DiLucia won two medals in the tennis competition at the Pan American Games recently completed in Havana, Cuba.

DiLucia earned the silver medal in men's singles, defeating a Cuban in the semifinals in three sets before falling to Mexico's Luis Herrera 6-3, 6-1.

He combined with Pam Shriver to win the gold medal in mixed doubles, overcoming the Brazilian tandem of Claudia Chabalgoitu and N. Kyriakos 6-3, 4-6, 6-0 in the finals.

Former Notre Dame fencer Molly Sullivan won her second Pan Am gold medal as a member of the winning U.S. women's team. Sullivan was also part of the 1987 team that won the gold at Indianapolis.

■Junior Tanya Williams qualified for the U.S. Olympic trials in two events at the recently completed U.S. Senior National Swimming Championships held in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

The All-American finished third in the 400 individual medley in a time of 4:56.31 and fourth in the 100 backstroke in 1:03.96 to qualify for the trials to be held next summer.

With her performance at the Senior Nationals, Williams has moved into the top 10 among U.S. backstrokers and is expected to be among the top 25 in the world when the upcoming rankings are released.

■Freshman Mike Iorio, one of three Irish high school All-American lacrosse recruits, has been named to the U.S. Under-19 National Team. The Chester, New Jersey native will compete at the World Games next summer against teams from Australia, England, Canada, the Iriquois Nations, and possibly Japan.

"This is a great honor for a high schooler," Notre Dame lacrosse coach Kevin Corrigan said. "It means that for his age group, he is one of the top five defensemen in the country. We're excited for him, and we're also excited to have him coming here."

SMC soccer looks to build upon last year

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

As the Saint Mary's soccer team begins its second season in NCAA play, Belles coach Tom Van Meter is looking to this year's team to build on last year's successes.

"I'd like to repeat the successes we've built the last couple of years. Our obvious goal is a winning season, but ideally, we'd like an NCAA post-season bid," said Van Meter.

Last year, the team was ranked sixth in the Great Lakes region and had its strongest record (13-3-3) in the last six years. The Belles defeated nationally ranked Division III teams such as Kalamazoo, Saint Mary's-Winona and Wooster College, as well as Division I Marquette.

Leading the team are several players, including Kelly Cook, Greer Gilliland, Megen Dalaso, Kristin Crowley and Stacey Winget.

Cook, a senior from Ohio, was selected as the Most Valuable Player for the third consecutive year for her defensive play. Gilliland was the leading scorer last season and is the penalty kick specialist.

Dalaso, a sophomore from Colorado, is a second-year starter and was the second highest scorer on the team in 1990. Crowley, a junior from Wisconsin, is one of the leading defensive players and is expected to resume playing after knee surgery. Winget is also a solid player with strong ball handling skills.

"The upperclassmen have paid their dues and they deserve to reap the rewards," said Van Meter.

The Observer/John Rock

The Saint Mary's soccer team hopes to improve upon last year's 13-3-3 record, its best mark in six seasons.

Women's soccer has high hopes

Jenkins' injury only damper on Petrucelli's optimism

By RENE FERRAN
Associate Sports Editor

Chris Petrucelli

Is three years enough time to build a playoff caliber program?

Notre Dame women's soccer coach Chris Petrucelli hopes so.

Building on last season's 16-3-1 performance and landing an NCAA berth are among the team's goals for the 1991 season to begin September 7th at home against Mercyhurst.

"We may be a year or two away, but it's definitely something we're keeping in the back of our minds," Petrucelli said. "We have a very good group of returning players and a talented group of freshmen, and I think we're looking forward to start playing some games and seeing how we stack up against other teams."

With only two seniors lost from last year's MCC champions, a strong nucleus returns to the program. The top five goal scorers from last season are back, including sophomores Alison Lester (15 goals) and Stephanie Porter (10) and senior Susie Zilvitis (10). Junior goalkeeper Michelle Lodyga (0.79 goals against average, 11 shutouts) also returns.

An injury to junior defender Shannon Jenkins, however, threatens to dampen Petrucelli's optimism. Jenkins, a two-year starter in the Irish backfield, anchors the defense, and her probable replacement, freshman Jill Matesic, while showing promise in the fall, will not fill the void completely.

"Shannon's had a knee problem since April," Petrucelli said. "We were hoping she'd be back and ready to go by now, but she's still struggling with it. She's definitely somebody we'll miss."

In an attempt to bolster its NCAA chances, gone from the Notre Dame schedule are the likes of St. Joseph's, Indiana-South Bend, and Calvin College. In their place, the Irish travel to Vanderbilt, William & Mary, and Providence.

"I think we're very positive heading into the season," Petrucelli said.

Goalkeeping was also a problem for the Irish last year, but one which they are confident of overcoming.

"We weren't as solid as we would have liked to have been, but it's not the fault of particularly anyone," stated Berticelli. "Pete Gulli stepped into a starting role with no Division I experience, and Matt Fitz was a walk-on. We really didn't have as much time to prepare as we'd have liked to have. We've got five goalkeepers working out in pre-season, and they're all showing very, very positive signs and being very competitive. Whoever starts will have to earn the spot."

•MIDFIELD. The key to any successful season, Notre Dame must find more ways to produce scoring opportunities. "We have to be a bit more creative and skillful than we have been in the midfield," observed Berticelli. "We have lots of freshmen here, though, and one player—Mike Palmer of South Bend—has had a great spring and tremendous pre-season. Palmer does a great job and he has a tremendous work ethic, so things look good for us."

•ATTACK. Scoring opportunities were infrequently translated into scores last season. "This job will probably fall to Kevin Pendergast (33 shots, 7 goals, 4 assists, 1 winner in 1990). He's had a very good pre-season. The rest of the scoring will probably come from our new players, or someone that did not score much last year will have to rise to the occasion."

If it sounds like Notre Dame is hard at work on every facet of its game, it's because that is exactly the case. Berticelli will go to any lengths to reverse last season's unlucky finish.

"Last year, we lost seven games that we could have won just as easily," ruminated the second-year coach. "It wasn't a disastrous season, it was unlucky. But I believe that you make your own luck, and we didn't make it at times like we should have."

"I think about last season every day because I learned a lot from it. I learned that you can't always fix everything that's wrong with a team, and also that it takes time to fix anything. I guess that I was humbled by the game."

The Notre Dame men's soccer team looks to return to the form that led to an appearance in the NCAA playoffs in 1988.

"I'll put our schedule up against anybody's in the nation," said MacLeod. "We play the best teams in many conferences around the country. It makes for a good level of competition and gives us good television exposure in five major markets, (Philadelphia, New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, and Texas)."

When asked about his decision to come to Notre Dame, he explains that this is a unique opportunity for any coach.

"I love the atmosphere here," declared MacLeod. "There is great tradition here, and this is a great environment for college students. I believe we can become a basketball powerhouse. This will not happen overnight; it will be a slow process."

"I never say 'x' number of wins, but we are going to work hard, have fun and learn to win."

Holtz faces tough decisions as off-season takes toll

By DAVE DIETEMAN
Sports Editor

George Poorman at quarterback?

While injuries and questions about the NBC contract, steroid abuse and play selection harried Lou Holtz and the rest of the Fighting Irish coaching staff throughout the 1990 season, this 104th season of Notre Dame football is fast approaching with new questions of its own.

Will George "Boo" Williams return to anchor the defensive line? Linemen Troy Ridgely and Todd Stoker may return soon, but how will the Irish adapt to the losses of tailback Dorsey Levens (transfer), quarterbacks B.J. Hawkins and Jake Kelchner (transfer; denied readmission from Holy Cross), fullbacks Walter Boyd and Rusty Setzer (dismissed for undisclosed reasons; withdrew from team), lineman Winston Sandri (denied fifth year eligibility), all-purpose man Raghob Ismail (early departure to the CFL) and freshmen Mike Miller, Huntley Bakich and Germaine Holden (muscle pulls)?

Of course, Williams, Sandri, and Kelchner were only possible additions to Notre Dame's already stacked depth charts, but their absence is sure to leave armchair coaches across the United States (and Europe, thanks to NBC's inter-continental telecasts) wondering what might have been.

Perhaps worst of all, Kelchner, whose attempt at readmission was hampered by a driving-under-the-influence incident, had pushed Irish quarterback Rick Mirer to keep his game at its best. The departure of B.J. Hawkins led Holtz to switch defensive back George Poorman to quarterback. While Poorman gives Notre Dame a more experienced backup, sophomore Kevin McDougal and freshman Paul Failla are also capable signal-callers.

All in all, lists of departures and disciplinary casualties should not obscure the immense wealth of talent which the Irish will throw at their rivals from September until January.

On defense, linebacker Demetrius DuBose and backs Greg Lane and Rod Smith promise to punish opposing offenses. Meanwhile, Mirer, tight end Derek Brown, offensive linemen Gene McGuire, Justin Hall and Mirko Jurkovic, as well as captain Rodney Culver, Jerome Bettis and the Brooks Brothers (Tony and Reggie) in the backfield hope to give similar workouts to the same teams' defenses.

Culver finds himself in the not-so-common position of being the sole captain—the first solitary captain since 1986—on a team where numerous individuals were voted for. In fact, the voting for captain had to be re-conducted several times because of votes cast for players no longer on the Irish roster.

The Observer/John Rock

With senior Rodney Culver's move to tailback, sophomore Jerome Bettis moves to the top of the depth chart at fullback for the Irish.

MacLeod eager to head out on recruiting trail

By ANTHONY KING
Assistant Sports Editor

It may be early to be talking about the NCAA tourney, March Madness, and Irish basketball, but for first-year coach John MacLeod there is plenty to talk about and do in preparation for the upcoming season.

MacLeod is now in the process of recruiting, a task that he has not had since his days at Oklahoma.

"I went to the Nike camp which had 125 high school players," said MacLeod. "It was very overwhelming."

But, according to MacLeod it is a skill he has not lost, and a job that he enjoys.

"Recruiting is selling, and a coach doesn't ever really lose his selling ability," explained MacLeod. "It's an easy job because we have such a great university to sell. I want to get the kids who really want to come to Notre Dame. If they don't want to be here I don't want them."

According to MacLeod, recruiting is one of the major changes he is undergoing from the shift from pro basketball. He first must adjust from a 95-game to a 30-game schedule.

"There will be a lot less games and a lot more practice time," stated MacLeod. "But that is good, because we need the time to develop and grow."

The college game has undergone a few changes since MacLeod last coached at Oklahoma. MacLeod believes, however, that his professional experience should directly apply to the collegiate level.

"With the establishment of the three-point shot and the 45-second clock, the college game has changed for the better," said MacLeod. "We had a 30-second shot clock they tried out for a couple years while I was at Oklahoma, and the basketball got much better for the fans and the athletes. But the changes have made the game more like the pro game."

Getting his team to practice together and play as a team is MacLeod's goal for the upcoming year.

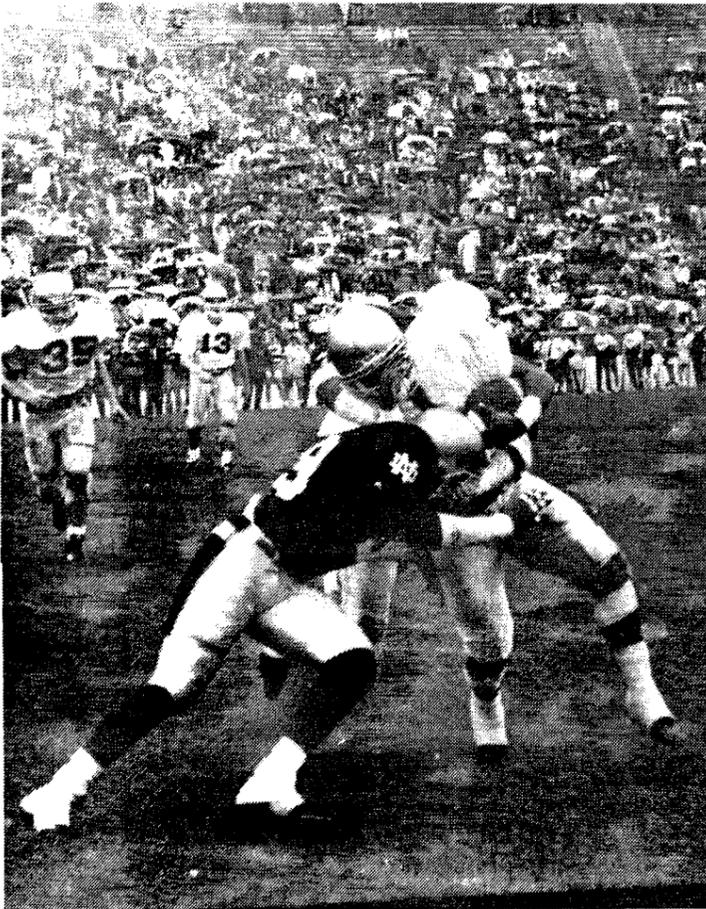

"The team's that are successful are the teams that work as a team," remarked MacLeod. "If you look at the teams like the Lakers, their teamwork is what made them the best. Their individual recognition came from their success as a team. I want to establish the importance of team play and have an unselfish team."

Irish fans can look forward to a fast pace this year. MacLeod wants to speed up the Irish offense, but don't expect to see a Loyola Marymount run-and-gun show in the Joyce ACC this year.

"I want to speed up the tempo, I want high percentage shots along with a strong defense, but I don't want bad shots put up," explained MacLeod.

Notre Dame's usual tough schedule is a plus according to MacLeod. It will test the Irish every game, and force them to play at their best.

Men's soccer hopes to rebound from '90

By DAVE DIETEMAN
Sports Editor

Although several thousand men and women will spend the next week sorting out their new homes, one man will be spending his time very differently.

Notre Dame soccer coach Mike Berticelli, on the brink of his second season with the Irish, will be busy evaluating a bumper crop of freshmen and eleven returning lettermen.

"I'm extremely pleased with our recruiting class," said Berticelli, who is coming off the first losing season in his fifteen years of coaching. "For our first year of recruiting, I'm extremely pleased with the quality of players."

And well he should be.

Not only can the Irish depth charts boast of two Parade Magazine High School All-Americans (goalkeeper Bert Bader and midfielder Jason Fox), but they can also showcase two of Gatorade's Top Eight High School players in addition to numerous players with United States National Team experience.

"This recruiting class wasn't based on our reputation as a program or as recruiters, or even on our background," explained Berticelli. "We just recruited people by saying that we are building a program. We recruited with the Notre Dame tradition of success, and with promises that soccer will be a part of that Notre Dame tradition."

"We've got a thick pile of press clippings right now, but I think that it will turn into results on the field because these kids are intense, competitive athletes. They're gonna bring a lot of excitement to the program. You have to be realistic, though, and see that we're not gonna be the best in the nation, but we'll be very, very competitive with anybody we play."

Yet the vast pool of freshman talent will not be the sole driving force behind the Irish push for success.

Co-captains Brett Hofmann and Kenyon Meyer will bolster the defense and offense respectively for Berticelli, whose team finished 4-11-3 overall and 2-6-1 in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference last season.

Hofmann, who received no playing time as a freshman, is a consistent defensive performer has started 37 of 38 games over the last two years. Meyer, on the other hand, tied for the Irish lead in goals last year (seven; winner vs. Ohio State) and notched one assist while firing 29 shots.

"The fact that our upperclassmen have shown tremendous attitude and that we've gotten firm leadership from our captains. The first three days of pre-season have been exciting, and it's exciting to think of the possibilities."

The other returning starters—midfielder Brendon Dillman, goalie Peter Gulli, forward Kevin Pendergast, defender Pat Sullivan, and sweeper Mario Tricoci—and lettermen hope to create a winning chemistry in Berticelli's second season.

Still, Notre Dame stands in need of work in several areas, most notably:

•DEFENSE. The Irish need to tighten up the unit that surrendered 32 goals last season. "We just have to be more intense on the defensive third of the field," analyzed Berticelli. "We really have to play out of the back better than we did last year, but we have the players to do that."
