Sports

Friday, May 14, 1993

page 40

Softball clinches MCC crown

By GEORGE DOHRMANN Sports Writer

The Notre Dame softball team put the finishing touches on coach Liz Miller's first season with a 4-3 win over Loyola to claim the Midwestern Collegiate Conference championship at Indianapolis.

The win came in the strangest of ways as catcher Sara Hayes hit an RBI single scoring freshman Michele Cline in the bottom of the eighth inning.

The Observer/Jake Peters Sara Hayes' single in the eighth led Notre Dame to the MCC title

"Sara got up there after not having a hit in the tournament and I told her that this is the spot you dream of being in and to take advantage of it," said Miller. "It only took one pitch. Sara loves being in those situations.

Hayes was Notre Dame's leading hitter during the regular season, but her and the rest of the top hitters' bats fell silent during the MCC Tournament allowing a number of unlikely heroes to step forward for the Irish.

One such player was second baseman Michele Cline who scored the winning run from second on Hayes single after freshman Jenna Knudson sacrificed to mover her to second.

Hayes' game-winning hit may have never been if the Irish hadn't battled back to tie the score in the seventh. Designated hitter Casey McMurray singled to score senior Ronny Alvarez when the Irish were down to their final out, sending the game into extra innings.

'We knew that if we got into extra innings we would win,' said Miller. "It was just a matter of tying the score before we ran out of time.'

Senior Staci Alford earned the win on the mound after pitching the last four innings in which she never allowed a batter to reach first.

Notre Dame found themselves down early 2-0 thanks to three errors. One of those errors came at the hands of first baseman Stephanie Pinter which may have been a blessing in disguise.

She (Pinter) is the type of player that gets so mad because of the error that she takes it out on the ball," said Miller, in to the reference 4-4 performance Pinter turned in after committing the early error.

Despite the performance of Pinter the Irish were unable to get the key hits until Hayes game winner. They stranded twelve runners on base and left the bases loaded in one inning.

Notre Dame advanced to the finals with a 4-0 win over Loyola earlier in the day behind freshman Terri Kobata's threehitter. It was Kobata's second shutout of the tournament and it included 13 strikeouts. She allowed only four hits in her two starts and totaled 24 strikeouts, earning tournament MVP honors.

The key to the first win over Loyola was a Alvarez triple which thanks to an error turned into a run and a built the Notre Dame lead to 2-0. Alvarez joined Kobata on the all-tournament team.

"I think Loyola knew at that k Loyola knew at that see SOFTBALL page 36 Casey McMurray had a key RBI single in the seventh inning of the MCC finals, tying the score at 3-3.

The Observer/Dave Hungeling

Saint Mary's Hall of Fame taking shape

By NICOLE MCGRATH

Saint Mary's News Editor

Saint Mary's athletic program has come a long way from the days when it was still part of NAIA and Jo-Ann Nester became director of athletics and recreation.

Out of those days have arisen Saint Mary's transition into NCAA Division III and now the creation of the Saint Mary's College Hall of Fame.

"It's been 10 years in coming. It was something that was one of my original 10 goals when I got here," Nester said. "It's a way to get alumnae to support Saint Jo-Ann Nestor Mary's athletics.

Nester's top three goals were laid out over her 10-year time at Saint Mary's. First, Nester hoped to build the sports program. Next, she said she wanted to make it a success. Finally, her last goal has begun to take effect.

"I wanted to provide something for our alumnae so they could take interest after graduation,"said Nester. That 'something' began as the Saint Mary's monogram club and now the Saint Mary's College Athletic Hall of Fame.

Colloquy 2000 recommends adding seats and revenue

By BRIAN POSNANSKI News Writer

After careful consideration by the Colloquy for the Year 2000, the question of expanding Notre Dame Stadium inched a step closer to an answer. But it is still just a question. According to recommendation 33 of the Colloquy's final report, issued to the Board of Trustees on May 7, "the University administration should move forward with concrete plans to expand the present football stadium.'

Dennis Moore, director of Public Relations. "The next step would be to formalize things that have only been general up to now."

A stadium expansion would seats at a cost of about $40 million, according to Moore. For the Board of Trustees to approve the concrete plans, the plans need to fulfill five criteria that the Colloguy set forth in University President Edward Malloy's final report. The first and foremost problem is how to pay for expansion. "The cost of the project," states the final report, "must be borne by additional revenue generated for this specific purpose." None of the University's existing funds should be used in expansion.

The final report makes it clear that financing stadium expansion is not a robably provide 20,000 additional problem, but the question is how to do it. The report of the Colloquy's Athletics subcommittee states that "even a most conservative financial plan would suggest that interim financing could proceed with taxexempt bonds with the revenue generated by the stadium addition being used to retire the bonds. Notre Dame Alumni Association Director Charles Lennon agreed. "I think the best method is the bond.' Another option, although less likely,

Tammye Radke Raster, Class of 1988, and Sarah Mayer, Class of 1991, are the first inductees into the Saint Mary's College Athletic Hall of Fame. The ceremony took place at the annual Awards Banquet on April 27th.

Raster is only one of two Saint Mary's athletes to have her jersey retired. And with good reason.

During her time playing basketball for the Belles, Raster scored a career 1,171 points. Quite a feat considering the three-point shot was not in existence during Raster's playing career at Saint Marv's.

As a four-year starter, at the guard position, see SMC page 23

Over the next year the University will develop a plan subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees. "This is one more step forward," said

see STADIUM page 38

LACROSSE

The Irish face fifth-seeded Virginia in the second round of the NCAA tournament. pages 28 & 29

CLASS OF '93 Profiles of Saint Mary's graduating athletes.

pages 24 & 25

INSIDE SPORTS

BASKETBALL

Malik Russell claims coach John MacLeod forced him and Nathion Gilmore to transfer. page 37

Today

page 39

C U T L E T S E R I N 18 Low truck or cart O V A L S C U T I N T 22 Ad infinitum 22 Ad infinitum 24 — Small Motel," 1936 Small Hotel," 1936 Song Song </th <th>r.b.i. 38 Acclamations 40 U.S. flag designer: 1818 41 Ibert's "</th> <th>Get answers to any three clues by touch-tone phone: 1-900-420- 5656 (75¢ each minute).</th> <th></th>	r.b.i. 38 Acclamations 40 U.S. flag designer: 1818 41 Ibert's "	Get answers to any three clues by touch-tone phone: 1-900-420- 5656 (75¢ each minute).
	d'Yvetot"

Circus

57 Thun's river

48 Adriatic seaport

49 Buck heroine

13 Cantinflas film:

1960

34 Except

37 Two-thirds of

The Observer would like to thank all of the graduating staff. GOOD LUCK!

Stadium

continued from page 40

would be to "sell" the rights to the new seats before built.

The final report also stated that an expansion's "additional income must not adversely affect fund raising for other crucial priorities of the University." If alumni thought the University was not honoring its promise to build academic strength primarily, general contributions could go down, the report suggests.

"The main obstacle is the public relations factor," said Lennon. "If people thought stadium expansion (funds) would go to the athletic department, with an academic shortfall, that would be disastrous."

Despite the possible negative publicity generated by a decision to expand, increased capacity would help rather than hinder Notre Dame's financial need. The final report stated that "additional revenues generated by an expanded stadium should be used to meet pressing academic and student needs."

The Subcommittee on Athletics report estimated that income from ticket sales would increase to $5 million per year if the stadium was expanded. "The increased revenue from the seats would be helpful," said Father Edmund Joyce, vicepresident emeritus. "Revenue is always helpful. Keeps your tuition down."

The Colloquy report also urged that "fitting attention should be given to aesthetic, logistical and community relations factors."

Although the University might expect protests from purists about expanding the traditionfilled stadium, there are few. "You get more concern about tearing it down," Lennon said.

Over the course of the next year, a committee will develop a specific plan for stadium expansion. The Board of Trustees will meet in May of 1994 to examine it.

There is no timetable for a decision about whether to expand the stadium, according to Father E. William Beauchamp, University vice-president.

There's more to temporary work than just money. . . but it's not a bad place to start.

The Choice for Staffing is looking for bright, professional, enthusiastic, college students and grads who are interested in working at banks, accounting firms, law firms and consulting companies.

Football offers symbol of four years at Notre Dame

Four years ago the University of Notre Dame's class of 1993 entered the fall semester full of promise and enthusiasm. Part of that excitement, a very large part for many, was the dawning of a new football season.

Some members of the freshman class were a little more prominent than others, though. There were names like Rick Mirer and Demetrius Du-Bose, looking in from the outside at first, high school All-Americans who came into a place filled with established stars like Tony Rice and Chris Zorich.

But now, four years later, that potential has been realized. After taking a year to learn the Notre Dame football system and find out what Notre Dame is all about, both Mirer and DuBose stepped into the lineup to begin making their presence felt.

Against Michigan in the very first game of the season, Mirer illustrated the new position of the Class of '93. It was time to start making significant contributions. The realization made us giddy, like when Mirer finished off the Wolverines in that come-from-behind, rollercoaster of a win.

6

It wasn't always easy, for some more so than others. Not all of those who started with us will finish with us. Some, like Jake Kelchner, ran into problems and couldn't finish out their years here in South Bend.

Even this year, mistakes were made on and off the field. DuBose had his troubles with the NCAA, but it served to remind us that college seniors or not, a great deal of learning still remains.

RICH KURZ Associate Sports Editor Class of 1993

As much as the football portion of our years seemed to end as the final seconds ticked off the clock at the end of the Cotton Bowl, the realization that an era had ended at Notre Dame came several weeks ago during the NFL draft.

The same people who entered the University just four short years ago were now, like most other seniors, finding out about their plans for next year. Instead of freshmen entering college somewhat unsure what the next few years would hold, classmates like Irv Smith, Reggie Brooks and Craig Hentrich, in addition to Mirer and DuBose, were on display, starting to enjoy the fruits of their labor.

This scenario isn't a unique one by any means. In a few months the Class of 1997 will be on campus, just as enthusiastic and excited as we were. They too will have their own future stars. All-American quarterback Ron Powlus is in their class, just as Mirer was with us.

Although Powlus won't have the same competition Mirer did in his freshman year, it will probably take him a year to learn the system and get a feel for Notre Dame.

And then Powlus will step into the starting line-up, taking the Class of '97 on their rollercoaster of memories. Like our class, that class will have a leader in one of the most visible positions in America. Like our class, the Class of '97 will have their football stars as a symbol of their four years at the University of Notre Dame.

Flanner Hall Congratulates its Class of 1993

E.I. Alaniz Gerald Andersen Jason Burmis James Burns Jason Catania Gary Chirhart Kevin Chouinard Darrell Clark Luke Conway Eric Cunningham John DaCosta Eric Danapilis Christopher Degiorgio Dennis Diaz Christopher Donohoe Joseph Durand William Finley John Flanagan

Justin Fortier Jacob Frost David Fulton Joseph Gallatin Robert Girous Eric Gregoire Erik Hanson Michael Hobbs Michael Hochstetler Michael Huie Michael Hunniford Timothy Jaster Michael Kane Jason Kies Kenneth Klechka Bert Koehler Gregory Koenig Lorenzo Lamadrid

Christian Langlois Daniel Langrill John Larkin Michael Liporto Michael McCarthy Timothy McCarthy Cavid Michael James Mixon Michael Navarro Brendan Nelligan Kenneth Novak Joseph Nunez Michael Nuss John O'Callaghan Paul Pearson John Prette Robert Prock Martin Pulido

Michael Rafford Matthew Rieser David Schumerth Jason Shaw Martin Sprunck DeShawn Stewart Todd Stoker David Sullivan Christopher Swetonic Richard Szabo Michael Tartaglione Stuart Tyner Joe Vasquez Limin Yan Taeseok Yoo William Matthews-Doctor of Law William Pifher-Master of Divinity

Temporary work provides an excellent opportunity to experience the wide variety of corporate environments in Chicago. Receive skill development for automated offices, bridge the gap between school and first time career placement, and. . . make money.

From marketing projects to setting up spreadsheets, to word processing, we have the assignments. Call (312) 372-4500 for more information about our benefit package (including paid lunch and holidays).

CHOICE

Chicago/Washington, D.C.

Carolyn Ho Carol Leong (MBA) Gabriel Man Trevor T. Murray Robert "Matt" Smith Jay Stone Christopher Sukow Taison Tanaka Patrick Walsh Diane Wong Aloha Aku Ia'Oukou! (Farewell To You All!)

Friday, May 14, 1993

Russell says he was forced out

By JASON KELLY Associate Sports Editor

Malik Russell is no longer a part of the Notre Dame basketball program, but he is still giving head coach John MacLeod headaches.

Russell, a 6-7 sophomore, told the South Bend Tribune that MacLeod forced he and classmate Nathion Gilmore to transfer.

"I was coming in to his office to talk about a possible transfer, whether or not to leave, when he said 'You have to leave,'" Russell said. "We got into an argument about it. I didn't think he had the right to do that."

MacLeod denies that an argument ever occurred, and he insists that he and his staff did as much as they could to help Russell reach his potential.

"No. 1, there was no argu-ment," MacLeod said. "We bent over backwards for Malik Russell. We had six coaches working with him over a twoyear period. We gave one individual more attention than the other players combined over the last two seasons.'

Russell made his decision to transfer after the season amid reports of continuing conflicts with MacLeod. He was reportedly a repeat violator of team rules, and MacLeod suspended him for the final three games of the season because of academic difficulties.

Russell will enroll at South Carolina where former Vanderbilt coach Eddie Fogler recently accepted the head coaching position. Fogler recruited Russell when he was a high school senior. It appears that the move my be in the best interests of everyone involved.

"It wasn't a good fit from the beginning," Russell said. "There was a personality conflict between me and Coach MacLeod. He made an effort with me, we just never got along." Despite the problems, Russell said he was planning to return to Notre Dame next year.

"Even after everything that happened last season, I probably would have ended up staying here next year if I could have," Russell said. "I was told to transfer. It was the same thing with Nathion."

SENIORS

Gilmore, a 6-8 forward who saw limited action as a freshman, supports Russell's story that MacLeod pressured the players to leave Notre Dame.

"He brought up transferring on media day (last October) and kept putting the idea in my head," Gilmore said. "I was getting vibes he didn't want me around. I wanted to stay. Leaving Notre Dame was the farthest thing from my mind. He said maybe I should look elsewhere.'

Gilmore announced his decision to leave one day before practice began, but MacLeod says that he didn't influence that decision

"He came in and said 'Coach, I want to transfer,' and we said maybe we can work it out,' MacLeod explained. "I called Texas and we arranged for it. We thought we had helped him.'

Whatever the circumstances surrounding their departures, Gilmore and Russell appear to be ready to settle into their new environments.

"I guess it's for the best,' Russell said. "I guess I'm glad to have a good start again."

Photo Courtest of Notre Dame Sports Information Malik Russell is one of two former Notre Dame basketball players to state that coach John MacLeod pushed them out of Notre Dame.

Reminder

for

Seniors Doing Service Work Next Year

Volunteer Senior Send-Off

Saturday, May 15, 1993

Washington Hall

SOUTH AFRICANS Congratulations to all graduating South Africans!

Contact Louis Van Pletsen at the Notre Dame Club of South Africa (Tel# 011-793-5933) when you return to S.A.

Still think you know all there is to know about Bookstore Basketball?

- 1. Which team was allowed to play with an illegal player in 1978? And why?
- 2. Who is the only person to play in 4 consecutive Bookstore men's finals?
- 3. Which current NFL quarterback once played for Tequila White Lightning?
- 4. True or false: Adrian Dantley was a Bookstore champ.
- 5. Bookstore Basketball has seen the likes of teams with:
 - a.) blind players
 - b.) a player with no arms
 - c.) the Dean of Students
 - d.) all of the above

page 37

Nathion Gilmore

10:30 a.m.

Reception for family and friends immediately following at the Center for Social Concerns

Find out in:

Look Out For The Manhole Cover A History Of Notre Dame's Bookstore Basketball Tournament

Available NOW in the Hammes Notre Dame Bookstore for $14.95

50 pages of the BEST TEAM Names from 1972-1992! *Over 50 photographs! *Championship teams, award winners! *Fifteen years of the women's tournament! *Useless Bookstore trivia! *And More!

page 36

Softball

continued from page 40

point that they were in trouble," said Miller. "They might have thought they could score one run off of Terri but there was no way they were going to get two.

The win boosted Notre Dame's final season record to 36-13, their second highest win total in the last five years and the fewest losses in that same span. The Irish also finished the year with a No. 5 regional ranking, their highest ranking of the season.

Notre Dame received an invitation to the National Invitational Tournament but decided earlier in the year not to participate as it would have violated the NCAA limit of 22 weeks a team can play.

We knew that if we played in the NIT that we would have to begin practice later and also that we would have been without six of our key players because they would be at gradua-tion ceremonies," said Miller. In the future the NIT may be the least of the worries for the Irish. There is a strong possibility that the NCAA Tournament field will expand to 36 for next season, including 16 bids given to conference champions.

With only 20 conferences in existence it is a strong possibility that the MCC will receive one of the automatic bids. Also a By JASON KELLY strong nucleus of talent returns under Miller for her second season. players but we have some players returning that can fill in,' said Miller. "I think this year we were able to win so many games since Broski because teams came in underestimating our abilities. That won't be the case again next year, but there are indeed some things to be excited about.'

Broski progresses slowly but steadily

Associate Sports Editor

Progress continues to be slow "We are losing some great but steady for senior Todd Broski.

> It has been weeks six suffered severe spinal cord injury in a rugby game and doctors are still unable to make a Todd Broski concrete prognosis about the extent to which he will be able to recover.

The injury occurred in a situation known as a ruck, where the forwards fight for a loose ball. In a ruck, the players collapse on top of one another, and Broski found himself propped over another person and other players then fell on top of him.

"It was a freak accident," said sophomore Nick Knowlton. "Rugby is a very physical game, but it wasn't one of the more dangerous situations."

He was rushed to South Bend's St. Joseph Medical Center before being transferred to a hospital closer to his Cleveland home.

Recovery from an injury of this magnitude is a slow process at best, but there has been definite progress.

He underwent a tracheotomy two weeks ago and his breathing has progressed enough for him to be taken off a respirator.

Wednesday he was transferred for the second time, this time moving from Case Western Hospital in Cleveland to the Metro Rehabilitation Center.

And also this week, doctors inserted a device that allows him to speak freely for the first time in a month.

"He's pretty happy about that," said senior Rugby Club member Justin Politi. "His spirits are still really high."

A compassionate spirit has been really high around campus, as the University commu-nity rallies around Broski and his family.

Nearly $6,000 was raised in last weekend's Todd Broski Invitational to help his family cover the medical costs. And a lithograph of the Notre Dame campus is being sold by the senior class for the same purpose.

"It was the classes' idea to do something for Todd and we thought this would be the best way to help out," said senior class president Joe Huston.

Although he missed the final month of the school year, Broski will graduate with his class.

But bigger accomplishments lie ahead as Broski faces a struggle much greater than his four years at Notre Dame.

Broski's teammates believe that he has the mental and physical strength to overcome this challenge.

"He's known for his toughness," said Knowlton. "If there's anyone who can get through something like this, he can.'

Contraction of the second s

Officials

First Aid

Instructors

Participants

THANKS FOR A GREAT YEAR !!!

Offense continues to lead Notre Dame on the diamond

By JENNY MARTEN Associate Sports Editor

It has been a week of offensive fireworks for the Notre Dame baseball team. In their last five games, the Irish have scored 10 runs or more as they improved their record to 34-12.

It began with Monday's 20-9 shelling of Indiana State and continued Tuesday with a 19-6 romp over Illinois-Chicago.

Wednesday against Northwestern, the Irish got on the board in the first when Ed Hartwell scored from third on a double steal. In the third, they manufactured two runs without a hit, scoring on two hit-bypitches and sacrifice flies from Ryan Topham and Bob Lisanti. Eric Danapilis then put the game out of reach with a threerun home run to give the Irish a 10-1 lead.

Starting pitcher David Sinnes went five innings and struck out three on the way to his seventh win in his last eight games.

The bats continued to sizzle as the Notre Dame baseball team swept a doubleheader from Cleveland State Thursday, winning the opener 10-8 and the nightcap 10-4.

The top half of the batting order connected for 12 of Notre Dame's 13 hits, led by Hartwell, Danapilis and Matt Haas, who each had three hits.

Notre Dame put together a three-run rally in the first inning to set the tone for the offensive fireworks that would follow.

Cleveland State connected for four runs in the first four innings against Irish starter Tim Krause, including a solo home run by Steve Horley.

Notre Dame took a 10-6 lead with three runs in the top of the seventh, but Cleveland State gave the Irish a scare after Sam Miller's two-run pinch-hit home run brought them to within two. But Chris Michalak shut the door, earning the win to improve to 9-3.

Notre Dame started slowly in the nightcap, falling behind 4-2 after three innings.

But the Irish bounced back in the fourth, collecting three runs to take a 5-4 lead that they never relinquished.

Paul Failla's solo home run in the fifth extended the Irish lead, and they added another run in the sixth and three more in the seventh on Korey Wrobleski three-run home run to seal the sweep.

Notre Dame had six stolen bases in the nightcap, including a pair from Haas.

Dan Adams went to the mound in the fourth inning, and he allowed just two hits the rest of the way, striking out three to keep the Cleveland State offense handcuffed on the way to the save.

Starting pitcher Garrett Carlson was the winner despite allowing four runs on six hits in 3 1/3 innings.

Saint Mary's College Alumnae Club of London sends warmest wishes to the Class of 1993

for a bright and prosperous future!

The Observer/Dave Hungeling

Left-fielder Eddie Hartwell (56) had four hits in Thursday's doubleheader to lead the explosive Irish offense in a sweep of Cleveland state.

The Irish are at home for four games against Dayton, with doubleheaders slated for 1 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The regular season finale is set for Monday afternoon at Central Michigan, and the Midwestern Collegiate Conference tournament opens Tuesday at Coveleski Stadium.

Congratulations to The Class of 1993

It has been our pleasure to service you during your stay here on campus. Please call us if we can be of any assistance in your future business or personal travel needs.

800-DOMERS2 • 800-7DOMERS

"The Official Travel Service of the University of Notre Dame" LaFortune Student Center • Phone:631-7080 • Fax:631-8504

Four Years in Review

page 34

Top 10 Sports Stories from 1989 - 1993

"Phelps ends 20-year tenure with ND hoops"

Notre Dame basketball coach Digger Phelps resigned, ending months of speculation, after a lackluster season where he felt the pressure of the administration and alumni.

April 16, 1991

May 3, 1991

"Irish basketball shocks

No. 2 UCLA"

Jan. 16, 1991

"Irish gel in finale, upset Gators 39-28"

> Notre Dame silenced the skeptics with a 39-28 win over heavily-favored Florida in the 1992 Sugar Bowl. Jerome Bettis paced the Irish attack with three second half touchdowns.

> > Jan. 15, 1992

Jan 17, 1990

Sports Fish basketball feams on for successful weekers And a state of the successful weekers

Add another upset to the storied basketball tradition at the Joyce ACC. Notre Dame stunned No. 2 UCLA 84-71 behind the leadership of seniors LaPhonso Ellis, Elmer Bennett and Daimon Sweet.

Feb. 4, 1992

Editor's Note: Selections were made by members of The Observer sports department.

By JASON KELLY Associate Sports Editor

With three freshman playing key roles, the Notre Dame women's tennis team looked at its first ever berth in the NCAA Championships as a learning experience.

Thursday against No. 2

Stanford, the Irish learned a tough lesson, but not before teaching Alabama a lesson of its own in a 5-0 opening-round win.

Miami was originally scheduled to face Notre Dame in the first round, but the Hurricanes were disqualified because they had only five players. Alabama

CONGRATULATIONS

Shannon!

Love.

Mom, Dad, B.J.

and Courtney

was notified less than 24 hours before the match that it would take Miami's place.

A three-hour delay gave the Crimson Tide a little more time to prepare, but it may have worked more in Notre Dame's favor.

"I think the delay actually helped us loosen up a little bit," Notre Dame coach Jay Louderback said. "I don't think we were this loose all season. We had a lot of time to think about things and by the time we played, we knew exactly what we needed to do."

Freshman Wendy Crabtree, ranked No. 61 in the latest Intercollegiate Tennis Association rankings, defeated No. 58 Jenny Whalen 7-5, 6-1 at No. 1 singles. It was her 11th win in her last 12 matches.

Classmate Holyn Lord continued her hot streak at No. 5 singles, defeating Amy Mascotti 6-0, 6-2 for her 22nd consecutive win. Lord hasn't lost a match since January 30.

Junior Christy Faustmann cruised at No. 3 singles, handing Lori Smith a 6-4, 6-2 loss and classmate Lisa Tholen beat Marouschka Van Dijk 6-4, 6-2 at No. 4.

Sophomore Laura Schwab closed out the match at No. 6 singles with a 6-4, 6-2 win over Chrissy Carter.

At No. 2 singles, Notre Dame freshman Sherri Vitale split the first two sets with Titia Wilmink, but the match was called after the team outcome had been determined.

Stanford gave Notre Dame a taste of its own medicine in the 5-0 second-round defeat.

The Cardinal, seeded No. 2 in this year's tournament, boasts six of the nation's top 65 players, including three of the top six. Stanford has won six of the last seven NCAA titles, and eight in the tournament's 11 year history.

Stanford's Laxmi Poruri, the nation's No. 2 singles player, knocked off Crabtree 6-3, 7-5, and it went downhill from there for the Irish.

Heather Willens, ranked 5th in the nation, handled Vitale 6-2, 6-1 at No. 2 singles, and sixth-ranked Kim Shasby defeated Faustmann 6-2, 6-4 at No. 3.

Kristine Kurth and Amy Chiminello were winners over Tholen and Schwab, respectively to clinch the victory for the Cardinal.

Stanford advances to face Georgia in the quarterfinals.

Despite the loss, Louderback still believes the experience the young players gained this week

The Observer/Jake Peters Junior Terri Vitale and the Irish couldn't overcome Stanford in yesterday's second round match. will benefit them in the future.

"The bid to the championship is a real benchmark for our program," he said. "This was a very good experience for our younger players. This was a good opportunity for them to compete at a national level."

CRABTREE CONTINUES: Thursday's loss does not mean the end of the season for freshman Wendy Crabtree. She is one of 64 players who will compete in the singles competition slated for May 17-20. Lisa Tholen will join Crabtree in next week's doubles competition.

We could hardly have done it without you -

Greg, Vince, Meghan, Latauna, Aimee, and Michelle.

Thanks and farewell!

The Snite Museum of Art

Congratulations and Best Wishes for Your Continued Success!

Office of University Computing • University of Notre Dame

ONGRATULATIONS

LIVE JAZZ & BLUES EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT

2

< -

to the graduating seniors of the Chicagoland area From all your friends at the ND Club of Chicago We're Proud of You! Keep In Touch (312) 263-6063

Rental Units Now Available

- •1/4 Mile from Library
- •Brand New Appliances
- •2 Bedrooms
- •2 Bathrooms

•Washer & Dryer Units
 •Large Closets
 •Covered Parking
 •Security System
 •Large Balconies

CALL NOW FOR APPOINTMENTS 272-0691 Going Quickly $660^{oo} per month

could lead to a high cholesterol level in your blood and eventually to a heart attack

Remember that the next time you browse through amenu. And place your order as though your very life depended on it.

Friday, May 14, 1993

The Observer

NCAA MEN'S TENNIS

The Observer/Jake Peters

KEVIN

BRISSOM

•#1 Cowboys Fan and

Ti Amo,

Brooke

Prince William Cannon's Baseball Game Food Feast Before the Game Any ND Students or Grads Invited Call Lisa Kelly, '91, (301) 460-3090 for all the info! Pick up a D.C. Welcome Book at Career and Placement, LaFortune, the Alumni Office or at the Senior Alumni Picinic

VOL. XXV. NO. 136

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S

FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1993

Notre Dame sunset

The sun sets on another day at the University of Notre Dame and on four years for the class of 1993.

Saint Mary's to graduate 400 at 146th Commencement

By JENNIFER HABRYCH Saint Mary's Editor

More than 400 Saint Mary's students will be awarded degrees at the College's 146th annual commencement tomorrow.

The ceremonies will begin at noon in the Courtyard of Le Mans Hall. Rain site for the commencement will be inside the Angela Athletic Facility.

United States Surgeon General Antonia Novello, the first woman and first Hispanic surgeon general, will deliver the commencement address and will also be awarded one of three honorary degrees conferred by the College. The 1993 valedictorian Beatriz Castillo, a psychology and French major from Cuernavaca, Mexico, will deliver the valedictory address.

Novello, who will receive an honorary doctor of science degree, was sworn in as surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service (USPHS) in 1990. As surgeon general, she serves as an advisor on matters such as AIDS, nutrition, and health concerns related to smoking. advises also She on environmental health concerns, prevention and disease immunization.

Prior to her work at the USPHS she worked in a private pediatrics and nephrology practice.

Novello began work with the USPHS in 1978 in the National Institutes of Health (NIH). She served as the deputy director of the National Institute of Children's Health and Human Development where, among her other responsibilities, she coordinated pediatric AIDS research.

She has also lead a special work group in the reorganization and revitalization of the USPHS, chaired the Department of Health and Human Services' Task Force on Pediatric HIV/AIDS and co-chaired the NIH Advisory Committee on Women's Health Issues.

While at the NIH, Novello has also made contributions to the drafting and enactment of the Organ Procurement Transplantation Act of 1984 and also was involved in the drafting of warning labels concerning the health risks of cigarette smoking

see CEREMONY/page 4

Honorary degrees will also be conferred upon Dolores Leckey, executive director of Secretariat for Family, Laity, Women and Youth for the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and Christian Dawson Scott, British writer and editor.

Leckey, who will receive an

see NOVELLO/page 6

Boehnen to deliver ND valedictory

By SARAH DORAN Associate News Editor

1993 valedictorian Scott Boehnen will leave the University of Notre Dame with a 3,993 cumulative grade point average and will deliver the valedictory address at the commencement ceremony on Sunday. Boehnen, an major nglish way that they see these issues in their lives.

Language is the central force that we as humans have at our disposal," he said. "In my address, I will call on them to take their Catholic language beyond the pulpit and engage in the issues.

Boehnen said that being the Valedictorian of his class was never a goal. never anything "There was doctorate in English. He said he plans to be an English professor.

He was awarded an Andrew Mellon Fellowship in Humanistic Studies which will pay his tuition and fees in graduate school as well provide a $12,500 stipend. The fellowship is awarded to college seniors and recent graduates of outstanding promise with the encouraging them objective of to join the humanities faculties at American colleges and universities. This year 83 Mellon Fellows were selected from more than 1,100 applicants. Outside of the classroom, Boehnen is a four year editorial staff member of the "Juggler,' Notre Dame's fine arts see BOEHNEN/page 6

Saint Mary's. 4 p.m. Baccalaureate Mass. Angela Athletic Facility, Saint Mary's. 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Graduate School Award Ceremony and

Over 2,300 Notre Dame students will receive

Tom Brokaw, anchor and managing editor of Degrees will be conferred to 1,768

Scott Boehnen, the 1993 valedictorian, will

Those unable to see the ceremonies in person

During the ceremonies, Donald Keough, recently from Medina, Ohio, said that his address will encourage his peers to take their Catholic education out

Boehnen into the world and apply it to current political issues and the

Scott

that consumed me to achieve this," he said. "Grades were always secondary.

"In fact, upon dropping me off at Notre Dame as a freshman, my parents said that they would be very pleased for me to achieve a C average," he added. Boehnen will attend Stanford University next year to pursue a Reception. Center for Continuing Education Auditorium, Notre Dame

9 p.m. to midnight. Senior Reception, Saint Mary's. Century Center.

9 p.m. to midnight. Graduation Dance. J.A.C.C., Notre Dame.

Saturday, May 15

8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Senior-Parent Brunch. Dining Hall, Saint Mary a:30 a.m. ROTE Commissioning. JACE, South Dome, Notre Dame. 10:30 a.m. Center for Social Concerns Senior Send-Off. Washington Hall, Notre Dame.

Noon Commencement, Saint Mary's. Courtyard of Le Mans Hall.

Rain site, Angela Athletic Facility. 4:20 p.m. Academic Procession. JACC, South Dome, Notre Dame. 5 p.m. Baccalaureate Mass. JACC, South Dome, Notre Dame.

Sunday, May 16

9:30 a.m. MBA Diploma Ceremony, Stepan Center, Notre Dame. 12:30 p.m. Distribution of Bachelor's and Master's Diplomas. Joyce Athletic and Convocation Center, North Dome, Notre Dame. 1:30 p.m. Academic Procession. JACC, North Dome, Notre Dame. 2 p.m. Commencement and Conferring of Degrees, Notre Dame. JACC, South Dome.

4:30 p.m. Law School Diploma Ceremony. Hesburgh Library Reflecting Poll. Rain site, Stepan Center.

Castillo named Saint Mary's valedictorian

By MARA DIVIS News Writer

Beatriz Castillo has been named the first international valedictorian of a graduating class at Saint Mary's since 1979, according to Teresa Marcy, assistant to the vice president.

Castillo, a French and Psychology major from Cuernavaca, Mexico, holds a 3.9

GPA after seven semesters. She said that she is excited that this gives her the opportunity to address her friends in the class of 1993.

"I'm very pleased that I have the opportunity to address my classmates," she said. "I'd like to thank my friends for the sense of community we've created through the years and how that encouraged our growth." An international student who attended a bilingual high school in Mexico, Castillo spoke both English and Spanish before coming to Saint Mary's. She spent her sophomore year in Angers, France, through Notre Dame's international studies program.

This gave her the chance to experience a second foreign culture and return to a home base in the United States, she

see CASTILLO/page 6

page 2

The Observer

INSIDE COLUMN

Goodbye Linebacker shoes

Sunday will be a day to emember for all of eternity. In one 24-hour period I will become a college graduate and celebrate my 22nd birthday — two big hints that adulthood has arrived for an extended visit.

Monica Yant 1992-93 Editor-in-Chief

But what may be even more exasperating than the prospect of car payments and varicose veins is a task I have dreaded for weeks. For come Sunday, against every ounce of my determination to hold onto the carefree days of college, I will retire my Linebacker shoes.

The Linebacker Lounge is to Saturday nights at Notre Dame as football games are to Saturday afternoons. And to leave this place without at least a dozen horribly embarrassing memories and several pairs of ruined shoes is a rarity.

You see, the Linebacker is what college is all about, a virtual anathema to all things civilized and mature. There's the feeling that waiting in line for an hour just for the opportunity to have drinks spilled on you is something your parents and dry cleaner just wouldn't understand.

Then there's the risk-taking for the under-21 crowd begging to get past the Commando bouncers, and the sense of satisfaction when they recognize a senior's face.

More than anything, there's the constant eminder that when you do enter the Linebacker, you've checked your pride at the door. But that's ok, because so have the other 500 people who've chosen to break the fire code just to hear Barry Manilow and Neil Dimond favorites all night. Among other things unprintable, it's been said that dancing at the Linebacker is like giving birth to triplets standing up.

So it comes as no surprise that the shoes christened so long ago have become near and dear to my heart, just as the place itself has. They were at once a respectable pair of white sneakers. They are now black and crusty, and have for some time been perched above my door due to a legitimate fear of the incredible stench.

The shoes were with me on some of the best nights of my life. They've shared countless good times and an occasional nightmare - like the night someone sprayed mace on the crowd by the bar. They got me to the bathroom through throngs of people, and learned the quickest route back to campus when I missed my ride home.

At least I know I'm not alone. All over campus, others like me will be paying their last espects to Linebacker shoes. It's not a choice but a mandate: From our mothers, and from an inner voice that we've disobeyed for almost as long, we've been told to give the shoes the Heisman.

It will be sad, but I'm planning a proper burial. Better than all the childhood eulogies for dead birds and squirrels combined.

For with my shoes will go a part of me, but not all of me.

TODAY AT A GLANCE

CAMPUS

SMC graduates donate gift to college

■ NOTRE DAME—The Saint Mary's Class of 1993 is donating an amount of money to the College to replace the sign on U.S. 33 in front of the campus as this year's senior class gift, according to Senior Class President Julie Marsh. The class board is replacing the green metallic sign with another sign that has not been chosen yet, Marsh said. The sign will be dedicated in the memory of Kate Walsh, Elizabeth Bayer and Regina Simon, the three members of the class of 1993 that died during the class' four years at the College.

Laux named Ind. employee of the year ■ NOTRE DAME—Nicole Laux, recently selected as Saint Mary's Student Employee of the Year, has been named Indiana State Student Employee of the Year by the Midwest Association of Student Employment Administrators (MASEA). Laux, a senior from Bryant, Ind., has been employed by the Saint Mary's Writing Center for over two years, where she has made significant contributions, according to Kathy Thomas, Saint Mary's writing center coordinator. Laux was chosen as the Saint Mary's student employee of the Year from a group of 10 finalists. MASEA made Laux their recipient on the basis of reliability, the quality of her work, initiative, professionalism and uniqueness of contribution to her work. She will now enter the regional competition for Student Employee of the Year.

Tischler awarded writing scholarshipNOTRE DAME—Stacey Tischler, a University of Notre Dame junior from Fairfield, Ohio, has been awarded the University's Red Smith Writing Scholarship for 1993-1994. An American Studies major with a career interest in sports journalism, Tischler interned last summer in the sports department of Cincinnati television station WLWT. She's a Dean's list student with a grade point average of 3.86. The scholarship is administered by the department of American Studies and is annually awarded to an outstanding student at Notre Dame. Tischler is the daughter of Lawrence and Andrea Tischler.

Libraries receive 2 millionth volume NOTRE DAME—The University of Notre Dame Libraries received their 2 millionth volume in April with the gift of a rare early printed book entitled "Index Preclare Dictorum" from the private collection of Abbot Astrik Gabriel, director of the Ambrosiana microfilm and photographic collection and director emeritus of the University's Medieval Institute. The book, a 1518 A.D. edition, is the first of a four-volume set of "Collected Works" by medieval theologian Jean Gerson. Gerson, born in 1363, was chancellor of the Cathedral of Notre Dame in France and chancellor of the University of Paris. Gabriel volume was formally presented to Robert Miller, director of libraries, at a Friends of the Library at Notre Dame dinner April 23.

,

OF INTEREST

The Volunteer send-off is Saturday, May 15 at 10:30 a.m. in Washington Hall. Family, friends, faculty and staff are invited to help celebrate the seniors who are volunteering for the next year or two with programs such as Holy Cross Associates and Peace Corps. President Fr. Edward Malloy and Lou Nanni, ∪niversitv director of the Center for the Homeless, will speak. Any seniors who did not register or were uncertain about their program, please feel free to come and bring your family and friends. Reception following at the Center for Social Concerns.

■ Of Interests are for free, one-time events of general interest. The Observer provides of interests for free as a public service to students and faculty. Of Interests are printed for one day only, the day the event is being held. If the event is held before noon, they are printed the day fore the event. The Observer r serves the right to edit all entries; of interests are not guaranteed.

Like Notre Dame, they will be missed. And like the friends and memories squeezed into our four years in God's Country, they are priceless reminders of time spent living and learning about myself and the world around me.

And like the Linebacker song, shoes, or no shoes — I will survive.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

MARKET UPDATE

Today's Staff	Production
-	Brian Kubicki
News	Kathy Fong
Meredith McCullough	Accent
Sarah Doran	, Kenya Johnson
Sports	Christy Frederick
George Dohrmann	Graphics
Jason Kelly	Brendan Regan
Viewpoint	Lab Tech
Guy Loranger	David Hungeling

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

YES	STERDAY'S TH	RADING May 13
	UME IN SHARES 355,895,500 UP 597	NYSE INDEX -2.79 to 243.27 S&P COMPOSITE -5.57 to 439.23 DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS
	UNCHANGED 1412	-34.32 to 3,479.99 GOLD
<	DOWN 523	+$0.50 to $340.00/oz SILVER +$.010 to $3.917/oz

ON THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On this day in history:

In 1914: Mexican rebels take Tampico after heavy fighting, fear Huerta naval blockade.

In 1931: In Paris, Aristide Briand proposes European customs union.

In 1945: U.S. and Britian tell Tito Trieste must remain under Allied control.

In 1967: In New York, Mickey Mantle hits his 500th home run.

In 1983: Reagan pardons Watergate burglar Eugenio Martinez, but denies pardons to Jeb Magruder and E. Howard Hunt.

Eugh NE NEAR ARAIS

Friday, May 14, 1993

The Observer

nakarti afi i i i i i sun

Colloquy lays out plans for ND's next ten years

By DAVID KINNEY Editor-in-Chief

The University must strive for excellence in graduate education while maintaining and improving undergraduate programs, University President Father Edward Malloy wrote in the final report of the Colloquy for the Year 2000, submitted to the Board of Trustees May 7.

The report, which is the culmination of 18 months of University-wide discussion involving more than 100 faculty, staff, students and administrators, sets out the priorities for the University for the next decade. Malloy then molded the results into a personal vision.

The broad-based Colloquy includes 43 recommendations addressing academics, student life, University finances, athletics and other areas.

The contents of the report will be reviewed, discussed and

Ellen and Mike

Congratulations!

Your life long dreams are a reality now, what a great accomplishment!

Enjoy your weekend - looking up for inspiration.

On Sunday - -be observant, you'll see.

Love always,

Sharon and John

Congratulations

implemented by other committees and University groups, and will provide a basis for the next fund raising campaign to begin in the fall of 1994.

Malloy held that graduate and undergraduate education go hand in hand. "Research invigorates teaching and teaching stimulates research."

In keeping with that balance, the report suggests that the University improve undergraduate education by adding 150 regular teaching and research faculty over 10 years, while seeking a $40 million endowment for the Graduate School for the recruitment and support of graduate students.

The University will also create a committee on teaching and research "to develop a comprehensive strategic plan for improving research and scholarship at Notre Dame," the report states.

Increasing financial aid to undergraduates and fellowships to graduates and professional students is another priority. The report recommends that the University strive to meet 100 percent of financial need without burdening students with loans and work. For the first time, merit scholarships were recommended.

Malloy said this is the only way the University can remain affordable and competitive for the best students.

The report addresses the need to sustain the Catholic character of the University, in particular by ensuring a faculty in which "dedicated and committed" Catholics predominate.

Malloy explained that, as a Catholic institution, Notre Dame must have an affirmative action policy in the hiring of Catholics, as well as women and minorities. But he said there has been a decline in willingness at the departmental level to seek out and hire Catholic faculty.

"If that continues, we will be a different kind of University in 10 years," he added. "I think that's unacceptable, and so do the trustees."

This aspect of the report received the most criticism from faculty members. At issue is the report's suggestion that Catholic faculty should "predominate," which some faculty think implies quotas and a focus on numbers.

Although the senate agreed with the reports' concern about

Notre Dame's Catholic character, it held that the faculty should include only a proportion of Catholics sufficient to sustain the Catholic tradition.

page 3

The University will create four committees to further study areas of the report:

• A University Curriculum committee will study the quality of undergraduate education, focusing on curriculum, courses of study, learning resources and campus environment.

• À committee on architecture and the fine and performing arts will be charged with creating a mission statement and analyzing each discipline's curriculum and future.

• As part of an focus on international education, a University Committee on International Studies will create a mission statement for the overseas programs, examine their academic strength and plan for future growth.

• A Committee on University Libraries will address the need to continue the move toward video and electronic resources, the demand for more staff and increasing space problems in the Hesburgh and individual college libraries.

Malloy emphasized that although the report will have a great impact on the discussions and plans for the coming decade, much discussion and debate remains. "Nothing is ever final at a University."

North Jersey Irish Hotline (201) 543-5887

The second is that of Doon Wintz '85, our Young Alumni Coordinator. Please call on Doon if you'd like to get actively involved in the club or just have questions about the area.

Doon Wintz '85 (201) 292-4921

Some dates to markdown for this summer.

Thu., June 3 Thu., July 1 Sat., July 11 Sun., July 25 Sat., August 28 (tent.) date t.b.a.	Young Alumni Happy Hour, Catalina Bar & Grill, Cedar Knolls Young Alumni Happy Hour, Catalina Bar & Grill, Cedar Knolls ND Family Picnic Sunday, location t.b.a. Take Me Out To The Ball Game, Yankees vs. Angels Young Alumni Bar Wars New Graduate Welcome
Name:	I'm new to the area
Planned	This is a temporary address
Address:	I want to get involved with the club
Home Phone:	Club of North Jersey, Box 2205, Morristown, NJ 07962-2205

to the Le Mans Hall Senior Women! Good Luck! We'll Miss You! and...Special Thanks to Ann Marie Jordan, our Hall Director, to our Resident Advisors and to our Senior Hall Council Officers & Members

Ceremony

continued from page 1

retired president, chief operating officer and director of The Coca-Cola Company and chairman emeritus of the Notre Dame board of trustees, will accept the University's Laetare Medal, the oldest and most prestigious award given to American Catholics. Notre Dame has presented the award annually since 1883.

Other recipients of University honorary degrees at the commencement include:

•Shirley Abrahamson, justice of Wisconsin Supreme Court. Abramson, who will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree, is the first and only woman to serve on Wisconsin's highest court. She is currently serving her second 10-year term. •Blandina Cardenas-Ramirez, professor at Southwest Texas State University. Cardenas-Ramirez, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, is a leading advocate for minority students in higher education.

•Robert Casey, governor of Pennsylvania. Casey, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, is currently serving his second term as governor. He is the country's leading pro-life Democrat, making frequent speeches in opposition to the party's position on abortion.

•Thomas Coleman, senior partner of Adler, Coleman & Co. Coleman, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, has been a member of the Notre Dame Board of Trustees since

The Observer

1984. •Benjamin Cosgrove, retired senior vice president of The Boeing Co. Cosgrove, who will receive and honorary doctor of engineering degree, is a 1949 alumnus of Notre Dame. He is and a world-renowned expert on airline safety and was instrumental in engineering every Boeing aircraft.

•Cardinal Cahal Daly, archbishop of Armagh and primate of Ireland. Daly, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, is considered the leading intellectual in the Catholic Church of Ireland for more than 20 years.

•Carla Hills, former secretary of housing and urban development (HUD) and former U.S. trade representative. Hills, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, was the nation's principle negotiator on international trade talks during the Bush administration.

•Father Henryk Jankowski, parish priest of St. Brygida Church in Gdansk, Poland. Jankowski, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, has been the spiritual leader of Poland's Solidarity labor union since its formation at the Gdansk shipyard in 1980.

•Alan Page, justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court. Page, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, is the first African American elected to the Minnesota Supreme Court.

•John Roberts, emeritus professors of chemistry at California Institute of Technology. Roberts, who will receive and honorary doctor of science degree, has conducted pioneering studies of organic reaction mechanisms and applications of carbon-13 and nitrogen-15 nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometry to organic chemistry and biochemistry.

•Albert Raboteau, dean of Princeton University Graduate School. Raboteau, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, specializes in African-American religion and American Catholicism.

•Arnold Weber, president of Northwestern University. Weber, who will receive and honorary doctor of laws degree, is the university's 14th president. He id an expert on economic policy and industrial and labor relations.

CONGRATULATIONS

LONDON PROGRAM STUDENTS in the Class of '93

Special Congratulations to Scott Boehnen, London Program, Fall '91; Valedictorian, Class of '93 Friday, May 14, 1993

The Observer

page 5

Arthur Andersen Welcomes the Following 1993 University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College Graduates to Our Firm

> William A. Allen Chicago Jennifer L. Blanchet Chicago Maureen E. Brown New York Joseph S. Burke Chicago James A. Burkhart Jr. Cleveland David D. Cathcart Atlanta William L. Dietz Minneapolis Patricia A. Fosmoe Chicago Thomas Hitselberger Baltimore Elizabeth M. Janz Chicago Scott D. Kamenick Chicago Maureen P. Kenny Chicago Susan M. Kurowski Chicago William D. LaFever Chicago R. Geoffrey Levy Atlanta Michael P. MacKinnon Boston Michael R. Malody Jr. Los Angeles Erin M. McCauley Washington, D.C.

Melissa L. Mong Houston

R. Patrick Murray II Indianapolis Kerry L. Norton

Chicago Angela C. Pearson

Chicago Kathleen M. Phares

Chicago Richard M. Riley Chicago

Eric A. Rojas Boston

Kevin A. Rule Chicago

Mark A. Schmidt Atlanta

Robert M. Silveri Stamford

Edward A. Smith Long Island

Jeffery G. Stark Milwaukee

Tricia J. Tilford Phoenix

Julie A. Vaccarella Chicago Lynn I. Vandermeulen

Chicago Scott J. Vickman Minneapolis

Kevin C. Weinman Charlotte

Kelly A. McDonough Cleveland

Arthur R. Monaghan Minneapolis

Michael E. Wendowski Indianapolis

Tina M. Wojciechowski Chicago

page 6

Novello

continued from page 1

honorary doctor of letters degree, was an official advisor to the American Bishops at synods in Rome in 1980 and 1987. She magazine, the 1991 provost's student appointment to the Committee to Evaluate the Freshman Writing Program, the 1991 advisor to the freshmen class council, and the 1990 Saint Edward's Hall representative to the freshman class council. During the fall 1991 semester, Boehnen studied in the University's London program and served as a volunteer tutor for the Saint Mary of the Angels Church in London.

Boehnen

continued from page 1

to the graduates-

has also served with public and private schools and colleges, on seminary faculties, in broadcasting, as a parish and diocesan consultant and as a conference and retreat leader.

Scott will be awarded an honorary doctor of humanities degree in recognition of her work in keeping the writings of her father, historian Christopher Dawson, in print.

Boehnen is a National Merit Scholar sponsored by the Stanley Works Corp., the Richard Hoffman Collins Scholar, and the Medina County Retired Teachers Association Scholarship winner. He also received the Meehan Medal given by the University English department for best senior essay.

The other highest ranking graduates in the University's colleges are Melissa Rodriquez, a finance major in the College of Business, Jason Wagner, a chemical engineering major in the College of Engineering, and Michael Frazier, a biology and theology major in the College of Science.

Congrats &

Best Wishes

... time does fly.

Gotcha!

Your "favorite"

yearbook advisor

Remember the sports section?!

Order your Subscription to The Observer now!

Darcy Mehling & Steve Tann- PHS '86-ND '93

The Observer

Dawson's writings on undergraduate education were used as a blueprint in establishing the College's Christian Culture (renamed Humanistic Studies) program. Saint Mary's became the first college in the United States to adopt Dawson's undergraduate interdisciplinary education plan in 1956.

Scott has held editorial positions with many British publica-

Castillo

continued from page 1

said.

"After France I was ready to come back to Saint Mary's," she said. "I missed it a lot. My junior and senior years were very reaffirming of how much I liked it here."

Castillo is highly thought of in each of her departments, Marcy said. This stems from her interest in integrating the two fields, and her interest in the liberal arts.

"I really like both fields," Castillo said. "All my interest in language and culture led me to Go against the grain. Cut down on salt. tions and served as foreign rights manager of the British Society of Authors. She is the author of "A Historian and His World," the biography of her father. Presently, Scott is the literary executor of Dawson's estate which involves arranging for publications of his work throughout the world.

The President's Medal for outstanding service to Saint study French. Psychology gives you a better understanding of people."

She has brought her international perspective to the classroom, and has added to discussion in both departments, according to Renee Kingcaid, associate professor of modern languages.

"Whatever she had to say was coming from a different perspective and background," she said. "She reads very thoughtfully and she's able to bring her insights from her Mary's and dedication to the local community will be presented to Mary McGahey Dwan, a resident of Washington, D.C.

Friday, may 14, 1993

Dwan has served as a grade school teacher and a Project Head Start director in Washington, as national chair of the Madeleva Society at Saint Mary's and as a member of the College's Board of Regents.

psychology major into literature courses."

She added that the French department was not surprised that Castillo had been named number one in her class.

"We were not at all surprised," she said. "We were certainly delighted."

Castillo plans a career in international education and is still waiting to hear from the International Educational Development, a foreign program through Columbia University.

Congratulations to Melissa Lucke & all of her dear friends in the Class of '93.

- Beautifully Landscaped Grounds
- Pool &Clubhouse
- Laundry Facilities
- Balcony or Patio
- Air Conditioning
- What are you waiting for? Call or stop by today and we'll show you why you can't lose at Hickory Village.

Hurry In. For a limited time on a one-year lease.

You're A

Sure Winner

When You Live At

Hickory Village

Efficiencies from only $250 1-Bedrooms from only $265 2-Bedrooms from only $325

- 24-hour Emergency Maintenance Service
 Planned Activities
- Free Aerobics
- Close To Shopping

Congratulations and Best Wishes to our Graduating Seniors!

Jeffrey Ajhar Andrea Auyer Jeffrey Bergmann Brendan Blockowicz Thomas Buckley Heather Cameron Archie Chaney Cleveland Colston Marilyn Cragin Isac Date Charles Datz Becky DeChellis Brenda Drake Adanna Fails Thomas Fean Vincent Femenella

Christopher Ford Christopher Godino Gabriela Gonzalez Keith Grant Chinetta Hart Matthew Helminiak Craig Hentrich Dylan Hogan Jeffrey Holland Jeannette Jacot Adrian Jarrell Timothy Kalamaros Todd Kazmierski Dylan Lohonen Adam Maisano Karmeeleyah McGill Patrick McInerney Lori Miller Joseph Minutoli Tyler Moore Christopher Murnen Susan O'Connor Tamarra Otey Dawn Overstreet Joseph Parolin William Pollard Rosella Portolesi Nicholas Radkewich Melanie Richardson Anita Verdugo Diane Wong Darko Zuazo

Matthew Helminiak - Outstanding Graduate in HRM/OB Todd Kazmierski - Outstanding Graduate in MIS

From the Faculty and Staff of the Management Department

CSC to recognize seniors in volunteer send-off

By MEREDITH McCULLOUGH News Editor

Notre Dame and Saint Mary's seniors planning to participate in up to three years of social service upon graduation will be honored tomorrow at the Center For Social Concern's fourth annual Senior Volunteer Send-Off

All students heading towards post-graduate service as well as their parents, friends and rectors are invited to the one hour ceremony beginning at 10:30 a.m. in Washington Hall, according to Mary Ann Roemer coordinator of senior volunteer programs at the Center. A reception will follow at the CSC.

With speakers including University President Father Edward Malloy and Director for the Center for the Homeless Lou Nanni, the ceremony promises to be one that celebrates and affirms the students' decision to volunteer. A short slide show and a blessing by Father Don McNeill, director of the CSC, are also planned for the event.

Over 100 students have already registered to attend the ceremony, according to Roemer, but she encourages those who have not yet signed-up attend as well.

Each year, between 150 and 200 students choose post-graduation volunteer work, Roemer said. This may even be an underestimate, she added, for the count does not include those students who do not seek opportunities through the center.

"These are not 'do gooders,'" said Roemer. "They are students who have learned so much already (at college), but want to deepen their experiences—(post-graduate service) is a deeper commitment."

Many participants have already been accepted to graduate schools or have already been offered jobs, but have asked for deferments, she explained.

Volunteering "puts their career in a different perspective,' she said. Upon returning from the experience, she added, their focus is not the same. It is not as materialistic. It is really satisfying to see that you can incorporate your values into your career," she said.

The Send-Off is a way for students and parents alike to celebrate in the reality of the decision to serve, according to Roemer.

"It is great for the parents," she said. "It is important for the parents to see that their children are not the only ones participating, that their children are not stuck in a sixties time warp."

"It is good for them to hear (Father) Malloy stand up and say 'This is what we are about...This is a successful Notre Dame graduate," she added.

Last year the Send-Off was attended by over 130 graduating seniors, according to the Center. A total of 600 people took part in the ceremony.

M.J. Murray-Vachon, a 1982 Saint Mary's graduate, shared her experiences as a volunteer with the Holy Cross Associates Program.

This year, Nanni will address the students and their parents. He will reflect upon his work at the Center for the Homeless.

But the Send-Off is just the first step in preparing graduating seniors, for their service experience. Volunteers undergo through their training particular program, some starting as early as this summer.

'Every program has a different emphasis," said Roemer.

THE NOTRE DAME CLUB OF CLEVELAND Congratulates the Class of 1993

-Best wishes to Todd Broski for a speedy recovery-

Call Chris Russ '79 (219) 449-8851 for free membership information

Champagne Wishes & Caviar Dreams May your Graduation Bubble

with Excitement

Love, Mom. Dad. Ellen, Chris, DaDa & Grand-pa

Office of Residence Life and the Office of Student Affairs wishes to thank the 1992-93 Residence Hall Assistants for their hard work and dedication this year. Congratulations and Good Luck!

Ramira Alamilla Vicky Amankwa Kristin Appelget Jen Avegno Amy Bacigalupi Ellen Barresi Chris Beaudet Jennifer Beisty Robert Benedetto Lisa Benner Dennis Berry Volker Blankenstein John Boita Zulfiqar Bokhari Elizabeth Boyle Michelle Bresnahan Sheila Buckman Bracken Burns Anne Cahill Amy Campbell Andrew Campbell Dave Cathcart ndrea Cavanaugh

Doug Clark Milissa Comer Luke Conway Anthony Coury Kiernan Cressy Richard Cretella Shannon Cullinan Terese DeCoursey Chris Degiorgio Steve Deick Michael DiChiara Jean DiTullio John Donlan Mike Donnino Mike DuBay Nadine Duhan Scott Ecker Marisol Ejercito Chris Elmore William Farabaugh Jeff Fisher Robert Fitzgerald Sarah Fitzpatrick

Osie Gabiam Chris Garlitz Michael Gaunt Tony Gentine John Gillet Ben Gonring Donald Good Nancy Gozdecki Sean Green Michelle Griffin Kerry Hagan Erik Hanson Ann Marie Hartman Margaret Haugh Dan Heenan Kathleen Hitselberger Eric Horvath Amy Houm Mike Huie Chris Hunter Heather Jablonski Jen Joyce Mike Kane

Nicole Lamborne Christian Langlois Ann Leahy Tom Leahy Cara Lewis Matthew Levser Art Licygiewicz Joleen Littig Paulita Llopis Pike Ted Loehrke Tom Looby Christa Lopiccolo Timothy Loughran Paul Maloney len Martin Alix Martinez Nick Mathews Richard Mathurin Michele Miller Mike Moreland Mike Murphy Pat Murray Katie McBride

Peter Obringer Jennie O'Hea Dawn Overstreet Marc Pantarotto Angie Pearson Maureen Quinn Rob Quintos Michael Rafford Elli Reichelt Todd Rice Gene Richards Rosie Riordan Mary Rodgers Andres Rodriguez Marta Roemer Michelle Rossi Michelle Rovang Thomas Runtz Kyle Sanders Ida Sandoval Michelle Sanosi Susan Sattan Matthew Seng

Joshua Shenk Kris Sherwood Paul Shuga Time Slentz Nick Spangler Marty Sprunck Patricia Stanford DeShawn Stewart Robin Stumpf Ryan Sweeny Jen Swize Dave Tarantino Joe Theby John Thurston Kimberly Tracy Joe Turbyville Ann VerKamp Scott Walker Mike Warmerdam Kenna Weidner Eddie Wetzel Ken Wincko Jenny Witt

Andrea Cavanaugh	Sarah Fitzpatrick	Mike Kane	Katle McDride	Matthew Seng	Jenny witt
Kris Cebulla	John Foley	Daniel Kavanagh	Dennis McCann	Beth Seymour	Andrea Wong
Patti Chern	Chris Ford	David Koo	Karl Nass	Jason Shaw	Tony Yang
Dana Ciacciarelli	Justine Fortier	Al Kozar	Keith Nicholson	Chris Shea	Glenn Zubryd
Tina Clark	Ron Freeman	Dave Kuhn	Paul Noonan	Shannon Shea
We also wish to thank and congratulate the following Assistant Rectors who are graduating this year.					aduating this year.
	Elizabeth A. Ahern	Mary	S. Hatch	William A. Pifher
	David J. Bianchi	Patric	ia S. Hug	Mary E. Reilly
	Andrew H. Curoe	Timothy D. Kaiser		Ann M. Schlaffman
	Patrick M. DeLong	Matthew C. Keating		Timothy J. Schorn
	Maria T. Fleming	James	F. Malloy	Mark G. VanRyne
	Jacqueline A. Galko	Laura K. Manzi		Mary I. Yu
	Richard S. Goode	William W. Matthews
	Thomas J. Guinan	Michael J. Messaglia
Our deepest gratitude to the following Rectors who are leaving us this year. Thank you so much for your service and caring commitment to the students of Notre Dame.
Rev. Andre Leveille, C.S.C.– Rector, Cavanaugh Hall
	Sr. Mary Louise Gude, C.S.C.– Rector, Farley Hall
		,	ector, Pasquerilla West H

Four Years in Review

Friday, May 14, 1993

Top 10 News Stories from 1989 - 1993

page 8

"Swim Team Bus Crashes"

Two members of the Notre Dame swim team were killed early Jan. 24th when a United Limo bus carrying the team overturned on the Indiana Toll Road. Freshmen Colleen Hipp and Meghan Beeler died and over 30 others were injured, including freshman Haley Scott, who remained in the hospital with serious back injuries for six weeks.

January 24, 1992

Nov. 20, 1991

"Sculptures ignite debate

Panel criticizes status of American pointers

Although drawing heavily from Catholic social teaching, D e m o c r a t i c presidential candidate Gov. Bill Clinton's Friday speech at Notre Dame was marked with prochoice references directly opposite that of the Catholic Church.

March 22, 1993

Sept.14, 1992

"Faculty, administration negotiating agreement"

The Observer 😤

93 - 4468-051 - 661 9 46 1949 - 1954 - 1974 - Faculty and a d m i n i s trative representatives agreed to an April 15 settlement that will help resolve faculty concerns about their participation in the academic governance of the University.

Jan. 17, 1990

April 22, 1992

Although Marcia Kaplan's controversial sculptures have been removed from Le Mans Hall lawn, the pieces continue to evoke questions about art exhibition on Saint Mary's campus.

Sept.7, 1992

Editor's Note: Selections were made by members of The Observer news department.

Friday, May 14, 1993

The Observer

Gender relations report presented to Trustees

By SARAH DORAN Associate News Editor

In separate reports presented to the Board of Trustees on May student government suggested ways to improve both gender relations on campus and the quality of undergraduate education at Notre Dame.

The gender relations report, "Striking a Balance," incorporated information gathered from surveys of the students and rectors and made recommendations to improve gender relations in academics, athletics, campus ministry, health and safety, social life and residence life.

"The report was met with a positive response from the trustees," said Maureen Connelly, committee chair of the gender relations report. "They were supportive of most things in the report that we want to accomplish."

The report suggested that the University allocate more funds for the Notre Dame Encounter (NDE), which has proven to be a valuable factor in improving gender relations.

'Expanding NDE had a very positive response and the University is more than ready to recognize the proposals," said Thomas Magill, an ex-officio trustee. "But it is important to remember that there was no proposal in terms of time scale to put the recommendations into action.'

The trustees also responded favorably to a recommendation that the University progress more quickly toward fulfilling the goals of the NCAA's Title IX, which calls for a proportional percentage of female and male athletic scholarships.

The report also recommended increasing the amount of 24 hour space on campus, which received a positive reaction from trustees. The board was opposed to a recommendation to implement co-residential housing as a five-year pilot project beginning in 1994-1995 in Siegfried Hall, Knott Hall, Pasquerilla West, Pasquerilla East or Grace Hall.

"The trustees wanted to see more student support for the co-ed housing proposal, perhaps in the form of a campus referendum," said Connelly. "They fell back on Notre Dame being a special place where coed housing did not belong. It was the only thing that we wanted to accomplish but couldn't."

Other recommendations included:

Congratulations Laverne Yazzie Best wishes for the future! Thanks for working. -Educational Talent Search

•Increased marketing of female athletics;

•A push for gender equality in the coverage of athletics by both on-campus and off-campus media groups;

•Expansion of University Health Services to include more gynecological care.

•An extensive Health Services publicity campaign to inform students of the services they provide and the confidentiality of their care;

•The construction of an expanded student union housing movie theaters, bowling alleys, and a sit-down restaurant on campus:

•Opening the first floor of LaFortune 24 hours a day and increasing 24-hour space in dorms.

The report on the future of undergraduate education, "Futures Invention," was pre-sented in an attempt "to create a link between a desired future and a factual present in order to find new ways to meet the challenge of improving undergraduate education at the University," according to the report.

"The trustees were very receptive of our findings, especially the recommendations for improving teaching through increasing faculty size and establishing a center for teaching," said Matthew Umhofer, committee chair.

The report was the third on undergraduate education in as many years. All three came to similar findings, according to Umhofer.

"It established the continuity of students' concerns for undergraduate education," he said. "It showed that regardless of the approach, we came up with the same report."

Compiling the report involved two workshops in which students described their perfect undergraduate education. It addresses components of an education, including classes, professors, graduate assistants, advising and the teacher-course evaluation system.

According to the report, the future of undergraduate education should include:

•Smaller classes as a way to facilitate interaction between ciplinary courses offered;

•Removal of the DART system and implementation of ing system; •A greater number of profes-

- In which dorm were Bookstore signups taken over the phone? Which room?
- Which team has made 11 Sweet 16 appearances?
- 7. Two Bookstore players were selected for the Olympic Basketball Team (different years). Who were they?

Find out in:

Look Out For The Manhole Cover A History Of Notre Dame's Bookstore Basketball Tournament

Available NOW in the Hammes Notre Dame Bookstore for $14.95

50 pages of the BEST TEAM Names from 1972-1992! *Over 50 photographs! *Championship teams, award winners! *Fifteen years of the women's tournament! *Useless Bookstore trivia! *And More!

Graduation breaks-up Sister Chain, but not bonds

By MARA DIVIS News Writer

After two years of musical sisterhood, the women of Sister Chain, the campuses' first allfemale band, are graduating and moving on to take different paths. After their final performance today at the Century Center, the campus band will branch out, although their friendships will last after graduation, according to band members.

The members of Sister Chain have been together since they studied in Ireland their sophomore year. Because of their mutual enthusiasm for performing music and the friendships they formed, they decided to channel their energies toward performing as a group, according to Meghan King, who sings and plays guitar.

King and Kate Beck, who also performs vocals and guitar, were friends in high school, and after playing music together their freshman year at Saint Mary's, planned to form a band when King returned from Ireland her junior year. In Ireland, King and seniors

In Ireland, King and seniors Erin Hardin, Michelle Godwin, Erin Grefenstette, and Maureen Richerson realized they all played together really well when they would play Irish folk music at church masses. When they returned their junior year, they joined with Beck to form Sister Chain.

"We always just played for fun," King said. "It's all timing and luck and hard work. We've been so lucky.

Since the group's start as a substitute for the opening act at the grand opening of Clarissa Dalloway's Coffeehouse in the fall of 1991, they have performed at various functions at Saint Mary's and Notre Dame, in addition to area clubs and bars, Beck said. This past spring their work led them to a third place award in Notre Dame's Nazz band festival.

The wide exposure led them to hire Manager Mary Beth Barger and Publicity Director Bridget McCourt as managerial staff.

"We've gone way farther

IN THE ARMY, YOU'LL TAKE CHARGE IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE.

There's an added dimension to being a nurse in the Army. You'll have increased health care responsibilities. tige that come naturally to people who serve as officers in the Army Nurse Corps. You'll be a respected member of an exceptional health care team. Your opinion and counsel will be actively sought and listened to. And you'll have the opportunity to practice nursing in a variety of environments, from high-tech military hospitals to MASH units, from flight lines to field hospitals, in the United States or overseas. Here are some of the reasons to consider becoming an Army Nurse: good pay and benefits, opportunities for continuing education in your chosen specialty, seniority that moves with you when you do, and job experience you can't put a price tag on. Discover the Army Nurse Corps difference. Talk to an Army Nurse Recruiter today.

than we ever thought," Beck said. "We've had so much help from friends. So many people have called us about doing benefits."

Sister Chain's sound is different from the average campus band's heavy alternative twist, King said. Because they started in Ireland, they were influenced by the folk sound they encountered there.

Their sound encompasses folk, country, alternative, traditional Irish music and cover songs. In addition members write many of their own songs, although none of their work is copyrighted.

"We have a different sound," she said. "It's a lot of traditional Irish music. (Our different tastes) all intertwine, but we all have our own tendencies," King said.

This musical blending has taken place in their friendships, as well, according to Grefenstette, who sings and plays percussion. The presence of the friendships in this allfemale band on campus has brought a sense of unity to the campus.

"We used to work as individuals, now we work as a band," she said. "The Irish music has really affected me. It's given me the confidence to go out and play music."

Beck said that because they are the first all-female band at Saint Mary's, they have brought a new tradition and identity to campus.

Sister Chain has given me a sense of accomplishment," she said. "I thought that not enough people were taking a risk by trying something new. I never knew I could be a songwriter. I never wrote songs until Sister Chain."

Although the band has brought feelings of unity and friendship to campus, the bonds that brought the friends themselves together will last beyond graduation, although the band will no longer be together, Beck said.

"We have such a good chemistry," Beck said. "I do realize we have to move on. We're going to split off and do different things, but we may get back together and record."

King, an English major, hopes to continue with music after moving back to her home in Pittsburgh.

"I don't think I could survive if I weren't playing music," she said.

Grefenstette and Beck plan to move to Ann Arbor, Mich. to look for work and to explore the city's music scene. Saying goodbye to their time together on campus will be hard because of the strong friendships they've formed and the good times they've had playing together, King said.

"It's really hard because we all love what we do and we all love music," she said. "But we're friends first and we will get back together. When we do, we'll probably play."

Her friends in the band will be the hardest thing to leave at Saint Mary's, Beck said.

"The five of us have become really good friends," she said. "I'm ready to leave the school and the classroom and the campus, but not the friends I've made. When I'll look back on Saint Mary's, I'll think about Sister Chain."

Hard to believe it's graduation time already.

Good Luck Class of 1993! PLANE AND ADDITIONAL ADDITICA ADDITICA ADDITICA ADDITICA ADDITICA ADDITICA ADDITICA

(219) 844-3990

ARMY NURSE CORPS. BE ALL YOU CAN BE."

SMC seniors honor Walsh with azalea

By JENNIFER HABRYCH Saint Mary's Editor

The Saint Mary's Class of 1993, along with friends and family, have planted a living memorial in honor of Catherine (Kate) Walsh member of the class who died on April 4, 1993 of cardiac arrest.

The class, family, friends and residence halls made donations to the fund an azalea garden near the stone benches in the rock garden next to Lake Marian to serve as a living memorial to Walsh.

A group of Walsh's friends along with Joanne MacKenzie, director of planned giving and special gifts, worked together to fund the garden which cost $250 for the planting and future upkeep.

"We met as a group and wanted to do something up here for Kate that we could visit since her grave is down in Texas," said Robin Cochrane, a friend of Walsh who was in charge of the group who worked to fund the memorial. "We wanted something tangible that would commemorate Kate and that we could visit when we came back to campus.

The garden has been planted, but the plaque has not arrived, according to McKenzie. She said that the plaque should be in place for tomorrow's commencement so that members of the class of the 1993 can visit the memorial before they leave the campus.

The Observer

Fishing for knowledge Notre Dame graduating senior Ken Kaechka fishes in Saint Mary's lake on campus.

The Observer/David Hungeling

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES!

Good Luck in all your future endeavors ! Thanks for all you did over the years to help us fulfill our mission !

> Support Services: MARTIN PULICO

Mail Distribution Services:

MATTHEW DAVIS ERIC ESCHINGER ANDREA LEBEIDZINSKI MICHAEL MORELLI ANDREA PIETRASZEWSKI MARK TERZOLA STACY WALDRON

> Maintenance: KEVIN BRISSON

Best Wishes From All Of Us in FACILITIES OPERATIONS

Seniors help Broski

Bv SARAH DORAN Associate News Editor

The senior class is selling a lithograph of the Notre Dame Campus with all profits to go towards Todd Broski's medical bills, according to Joe Huston, senior class president.

Broski was recently injured in a rugby game and is paralyzed below the waist. He is currently patient in the Metro Rehabilitation Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

"It was the classes' idea to do something for Todd and we thought that this would be the best way to help out," said Huston. The lithograph sale idea was also used by the class of 1990 as a fundraiser, said Huston.

The watercolor was painted by fourth year architecture stu-dent David Colgan.

1000 signed and numbered copies of the watercolor showcasing the Golden Dome, the Sacred Heart Basilica and a portion of Sorin College will be on sale at tonight's graduation dance and at the La Fortune Information Desk through the weekend for $10 each or by mail order.

Congratulations to all of our newly commissioned ensigns and Second Lieutenants.

Fairwinds and following seas.

NROTC STAFF

Irish studies chair named

Special to The Observer

Seamus Deane, professor of literature at University College in Dublin, has been named the first Donald and Marilyn Keough Chair in Irish Studies at Notre Dame.

Deane, a member of the Royal Irish Academy and editor of the internationally acclaimed Field Day Anthology of Irish Writing, is widely considered the world's foremost scholar of Irish culture and literature. He was born in Derry, Northern lreland, in 1940, and educated at Queen's University in Belfast and at Cambridge University. Deane "is a brilliant lecturer," according to Irish playwright Brian Friel. 'When he hits his form his lectures are events. informative, creative, persuasive, fascinating.⁴

"That an intelligence of such ardor should also be capable of poetry and fiction is not perhaps surprising,' says Irish poet Seamus Heaney. "Seamus Deane's creative writing has the same vertical take-off energy that marks his other work."

"The poetry is never lax-its intense emotional pressure is matched by a personal idiom that combines the intimate detail with a sidereal lexical ex travagance."

The Keough professorship was established at ND with a gift from Donald Keough, chairman emeritus of the University's board of trustees, and his wife, Marilyn.

Tolerance subject of Brokaw's address

By DAVID KINNEY Editor-in-Chief

Tom Brokaw, NBC Nightly News anchor, said he will address the urgent need for tolerance for others in American society during his speech at Notre Dame's 148th Commencement Exercises Sunday.

"I'm very concerned about how we're dividing ourselves up into singleunit groups,' said the Tom Brokaw

University of South Dakota graduate.

Brokaw said Notre Dame's invitation was a great honor. Although he has no formal connections to the University, "it resonates in my childhood" in Webster, S.D., a strong Roman Catholic community. "For them, Notre Dame was a citadel on the hill," he said.

Notre Dame selected Brokaw as principle speaker because of his unique position in the national media, according to Dennis Moore, director of Public Relations at Notre Dame. Past speakers include President Bush, Commonweal editor Margaret O'Brien Steinfels and entertainer Bill Cosby.

He will also speak at commencement exercises at the South Dakota School of Mines and Technology Saturday and at the University of Virginia-Charlottesville May 22.

He has also received honorary degrees from Syracuse, Hofstra Duke Universities, and Washington University in St. Louis, and Boston, Emerson and Simpson Colleges.

Brokaw and "Nightly News" won an Emmy for outstanding coverage of the Romanian revolution, and he won an Emmy for the NBC News special "China in

Mom, Dad

and Mindy

Crisis."

He won the Alfred duPont Award for conducting the first one-on-one interview with Mikhail Gorbachev, and was the only American news anchor on the scene when the Berlin Wall fell. He was the first to report on human rights abuses in Tibet, including an interview with the Dalai Lama.

Brokaw joined NBC in 1966, reporting from California, serving as anchor on KNBC in Los Angeles and later hosting NBC's Today show before becoming nightly news anchor. He began his career at KMTV in Omaha, Neb., in 1962, then served as the late evening news anchor on WBS-TV in Atlanta.

NBC News' White House correspondent during the Watergate era, Brokaw has reported on every presidential election since 1968. He was an NBC floor reporter for the 1976 and 1980 national political conventions, and since then has anchored NBC's election coverage.

Love,

AnnaFred and Jenn

Brian Fought congratulate

Brian on his Graduation Day!

May his working days begin!

The College of Business Administration offers heartfelt congratulations and best wishes to our graduates of 1993

Bachelor of Business Administration Master of Business Administration Master of Science in Administration

Senior profiles "I want people to be involved in trying to make things on-campus better for themselves." - KAREN FORDHAM Binda strives to live life of service Fordham worked to

By MEREDITH MCCULLOUGH News Editor

For Notre Dame senior Kirsten Binda, social service has not been simply an extracurricular activity—it has been an integral part of learning itself.

A psychology major with a concentration in peace studies, Binda strives to make service part of her "daily routine."

"People should see volunteering not as an obligation, but as a responsibility," she said. "It must be incorporated into your life, not separate from it."

This past semester, Binda completed an 10 to 15 hour a week internship at the Center for the Homeless, where she was under the guidance of Lou Nanni, director of the Center.

"It was the most rewarding experience I had at Notre Dame," said Binda.

According to Binda, it was at the Center for the Homeless that she learned the to look beyond the term "homeless," to the people affected by homelessness. "Seeing this first hand," she said, "was more effective than taking a class."

Binda's experiences at the Center combined with a Summer Service project, tutoring programs, and involvement with the Peace Institute, has peaked her interest in "community building.".

She has begun to concentrate on conflict resolution situations, and looks forward to a career in which she can interact with different groups as a sort of liaison to help find common ground between conflicting interests.

As of yet, her plans following graduation have not materialized, but Binda has not lost hope.

"I don't take the fact that I don't yet have a job as a reflection of my worth. All the places I applied are not for profit," she said.

"I'm waiting for grants," she added laughing."That's the story of my life."

By JENNIFER HABRYCH Saint Mary's Editor

When Karen Fordham began her education at Saint Mary's four years ago the campus was quite different. Parietals did not begin until 4 p.m. on weekdays, males were required to leave picture identification before entering a residence hall and students were required to work the parietals desk for an hour on weekends.

Now through the efforts of Fordham and her work on the Residence Hall Association (RHA) things are very different. Involved since its conception on campus at the beginning of the 1991-92 academic year, Fordham has worked extensively on parietal reform efforts at the College.

She has served as RHA president, vice president, fundraising chairwoman, parietals chairwoman and as the student representative for Le Mans Hall. During her time with RHA she has successfully worked to change parietal hours, eliminate the students workers at parietals desks and most recently to end the requirement on a trial basis that male guests must leave IDs at the front desks.

improve campus living

She and RHA have also worked to improve little siblings weekend and coordinated the residence involvement in the all campus event. They have also worked to revise the campus' smoking policy and have begun work on a cable in the residence halls proposal that will be continued by next year's RHA.

"I hope that I've helped make Saint Mary's campus a better place to live," Fordham said.

In addition to her work with RHA, the Management and International Business major, has been involved with the Board of Governance and was a member of the McCandless Hall Council.

She hopes that students at Saint Mary's will remember not only her efforts to improve oncampus living, but also her efforts to get others involved in their community.

"I hope people will remember that I tried to get people motivated and that I tried to get others involved," Fordham said. "I wanted people to be involved in trying to make things oncampus better for themselves."

After a summer vacation, Fordham plans to search for a job in manufacturing.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE 1993 GRADUATES

From the College of Science Faculty and Staff

Dan Alesia Carrie Dwyer Mike Fisk Suzanne Frossard Erik Hanson Mike Hobbes Joanne Jen Pat McCarthy Mary Murphy

Friday, May 14, 1993

Senior profiles "Through what I have been involved in and the people I have met, it (ND) has changed all my priorities." -MIKE GRIFFIN Griffin: A Notre Dame education is all about service

By SARAH DORAN Associate News Editor

After four years of a Notre Dame education, senior Mike Griffin says he realizes that education should be about service.

"Notre Dame has been a total shift in my life," said the program of liberal studies and government major. "Through what I have been involved in and the people that I have met, it has changed all my priorities."

"The biggest change is the

Sule socially concerned by JENNIFER HABRYCH

Saint Mary's Editor

Social issues and social concerns have been the focus of Kerstin Sule's time and energy during her four years at Saint Mary's.

Sule, a senior political science/philosophy major and women's studies minor, has been involved in vast activities while at Saint Mary's. She hopes they have not only benefited her, but the community as well.

"I've really enjoyed my classes at Saint Mary's," Sule said. "I've enjoyed the students, the faculty and staff. I enjoy any opportunity we've had to get together."

Through her work on various projects, Sule has tried to bring together groups of students, professors and administrators to enhance all facets of the intellectual and social life on campus. She said that all of these groups have so much to offer and learn from one another.

Sule has attempted to foster these relationships through her membership on the Student Academic Council, the Popular Culture Group and the recycling effort on campus. She was also integral in forming discussion groups about the Gulf War and bringing lectures to campus concerning war. In addition she took part in the Urban Plunge in Pittsburgh, Pa. and worked with the St. Joseph County Literary Council in a literacy program in the area.

Sule said that while she was not involved in Student Government or other activities that people normally attribute to way that I look at education," he added.

Griffin has been involved in many campus activities through student government as 1992-1993 chief of staff and through the dorms as 1991-1992 Morrissey vice-president.

As chief of staff, Griffin oversaw student government commissions, including commissions of special projects, student life, social concerns, and reports to the Board of Trustees.

He was also involved with the American Med School Curriculum

 Complete Your Education In 37 Months

+ Listed in AVMA Directory.

+ Guaranteed Clinical Rotations in US Hospitals

+ American Veterinary School Curriculum

+ Complete Your Education In 3 Years

ND for the Homeless Week. "It was basically a lot of interaction between Notre Dame and the center," he said. "We had staff members and guests of the center sleep in the dorms and a sleep out with the center, also."

Griffin said serving in Morrissey was his most enjoyable work outside of student government. "It was great to work with people who are your good friends," he said.

Griffin won two awards recognizing his service to the University and outside community:

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

VETERINARY MEDICINE

Approx 2,000 Ross Grads currently in Residencies or Private Practice in The U.S.A.

Accepting Applications for both Schools for July & Nov 1993/Jan & April 1994 Semesters

Ross University International Education Admissions, Inc 212-279-5500

+ We are Affiliated with US Veterinary Schools For Clinical Clerkships.

the Irish Clover Award, which is presented by the student senate on behalf of the student body for outstanding service to the student body, and the John Gardner Award, which is presented by the University for leadership and service to the community beyond Notre Dame.

In the fall, Griffin will begin a one year internship with the National Conference of Catholic Bishops/United States Catholic Conference in Washington, D.C. He will be working in the department of education conducting legislative research.

But he is unsure of his future plans after that. "I think I want to go into public service somehow, but I don't know if I want to go into politics," he said, adding that graduate school might be a possibility for him.

campus leaders, she hopes that she has left her mark as a leader on the campus.

"I hope that people remember me for my abilities to defend my beliefs and to communicate them effectively," Sule said.

In the classroom and outside of the classroom Sule has coordinated efforts between her classmates, faculty and staff in an attempt to bring about communication and debate in the hopes that they to will learn to be confident in their beliefs as well.

Following her graduation tomorrow, Sule will return to Pittsburgh where she hopes to become involved in teaching or in development for a school system. In the next few years, she hopes to return to graduate school where she will study education and education policy.

This watercolor lithograph, by senior David Colgan, captures the Dome, Sacred Heart, and Sorin Hall from a view near Badin Hall. Printed on high quality, low acid paper, this excellent watercolor will be something to cherish for many years to come.

Available at the LaFortune Information Desk PROCEEDS GO TO THE FAMILY OF CLASSMATE TODD BROSKI

• CONGRATULATIONS • TO THE RECIPIENTS OF THE 1993 GRADUATE SCHOOL AWARDS

HUMANITIES

Robin Alan Collins, Ph.D., Philosophy Dissertation Director: Alvin Plantinga, O'Brien Professor of Philosophy

Social Sciences

Peter B. Berg, Ph.D., Economics Dissertation Director: Edward H. Lorenz, Assistant Professor of Finance & Business Economics

SCIENCE

Thomas A. Vihtelic, Ph.D., Biological Sciences Dissertation Director: David R. Hyde, Assistant Professor of Biological Sciences

Engineering

Jean-Pascal Lebrat, Ph.D., Chemical Engineering Dissertation Director: Arvind Varma, Schmitt Professor of Chemical Engineering

The Graduate School Awards were established in 1990 to recognize superior academic achievement and research accomplishment of a graduating student in each of the Graduate School's four divisions.

NCAA LACROSSE CHAMPIONSHIP

Irish lacrosse opens tournament against Cavaliers

By GEORGE DOHRMANN Sports Writer

The return of the Notre Dame lacrosse team and reunion of Irish coach Kevin Corrigan and his former school are the headlines following the Irish as they travel to the University of Virginia for Saturday's opening round of the NCAA Tournament.

The Irish are ranked 15th with a 11-2 record and a No. 12 in the tournament. The Cavaliers carry a 9-4 mark and a No. 5 seed and ranking.

The Observer/Sean Farnan Billy Ahmuty is one of a group of talented midfielders who lead the Irish against the Cavaliers.

Notre Dame has established itself as the class of midwestern lacrosse and has also established itself as a national contender after earning its second consecutive midwestern bid and third in the last four years.

"The Midwest bid to the tournament has definitely done what it was supposed to do-spread the interest of lacrosse across the country," said Willie Scriggs, chair of the NCAA men's Lacrosse Committee. "Based on its play this year, Notre Dame very well may have been in contention for one of the at-large bids. Their level of play is certainly equal to the other five or six teams in consideration for those bids.

Last season the Irish fell to Johns Hopkins 15-7, and in their only other NCAA appearance in 1990 Harvard bested the Irish 9-3.

The game marks the return of Corrigan to the school where he played midfielder for three seasons and served as an assistant coach from 1987-1988. Corrigan was also considered for the Virginia head coaching position when it became available last year.

Dom Starsia was chosen to head the Virginia program and in his first year he has maintained the long tradition of success associated with Cavalier lacrosse. Virginia has made the NCAA field 17 times, winning the title in 1972 and reaching the semifinals eight other times. "Being a No. 5 seed is very exciting for us," commented Starsia. "Everyone agreed that the top four seeds were pretty set. After not making the tournament last year, it is very exciting to earn such a high seed this year."

The Cavaliers 9-4 record is respectable, considering it includes wins over Duke, North Carolina, and Maryland. But the most important record for the Irish is the 8-0 mark the Cavaliers have posted at home this season.

"If we're going to do anything in the tournament we are going to have to learn to win on the road, but it helps having the first game at home," said Starsia.

Notre Dame is 5-1 on the road this season, with the only loss coming April 9 at the hands of Duke, one of three shared opponents between the Cavaliers and the Irish. Notre Dame's 13-7 loss to Duke is countered by a 14-10 win by Virginia over the Blue Devils. Both teams beat University of Maryland-Baltimore County, 16-4 by the Irish and 15-9 by the Cavaliers. Their only other common opponent was Hofstra, a 9-8 loser to Notre Dame but a 7-6 winner against Virginia.

"Three weeks ago I sent one of my assistants down to see Notre Dame play Duke, so we got a first hand look at what they can do," said Starsia. "They are a very young team, but beat a Hofstra team which beat us. It is going to be a tough game.'

The Cavaliers are led by senior attackman Kevin Pehlke with 53 points including 30 goals. He is joined by six other Virginia players scoring in double figures, the most prominent being freshman attacker Tim Whitely with 28 points, featuring 12 goals.

Notre Dame relies heavily on the skills of junior attacker Randy Colley who leads the team with 45 goals and 66 points. Rob Snyder is second on the team with 30 goals and 41 points.

"In a game like this, if we can keep a check on this kid Collev and play hard and well for 60 minutes I think we should have a good chance," Starsia said.

NCAA

The defense has been the strong point for both squads. Virginia boasts the skills of junior goalie James Ireland with a .710 save percentage. As a team they have allowed 8.6 goals per game. Ryan Jewell is set in goal after splitting time earlier in the year with senior Chris Parent. The sophomore has a .608 save percentage and has led Notre Dame to only a 7.1 goals against average.

Aiding Notre Dame is the fact that Virginia is in the middle of exams and has had difficulty scheduling practices. The Irish finished exams last weekend have had the benefit of an open slate.

Thanks for all your great work and good times. We wish you the very best in the future. -Team Commissary

CONGRATULATIONS FISCHER, O'HARA-GRACE GRADUATES (Ph.D.s, Masters, J.D.s, MBAs)

From, FR. JENKY, SR. TRISH AND THE REST OF THE FOG STAFF

$

$

$

$

$

17

$ 9

$

NCAA LACROSSE

₹₹

P 3

3

$

$

$

8

9

$

₹

$

P

NCAA

LAC	ROSS	E RES	SULT	S
and and a second	CANISIUS	W, 21-5		GEO'TOWN	W, 13-10
Mar. 6	at Hofstra	W, 9-8	Apr. 9	Duke	L, 7-13
Mar. 9	Mt. St. Mary's	W, 15-11	Apr. 15	AIR FORCE	W, 12-9
Mar. 13	New Hamp.	W, 17-7	Apr. 17	OHIO-WES.	L, 8-13
Mar. 20	UMBC	W, 16-4	Apr. 24	Ohio State	W, 11-7
Mar. 27	HOBART	W, 15-14	May 1	Mich.State	W, 13-11
Mar. 29	BUTLER	W, 22-11

Congratulations To The Huddle's Graduating Seniors

🎙 David Appel, Charles Aragon, Laura Butman, ø $ $ Jeff Cabotaje, Diana Cespedes, $ John DaCosta, Christian Darlington, ₹₹ হা Eric Eschinger, John Flanagan, $ $ Amy Hallenbeck, Deborah Johnson, Ð $ Jason Kaull, Erin Kenny, Amber Loyd, 9 3 🗣 Juan Martinez, Darcy Mehling, Joe Reichert 49 Jaime Ruiz, Christine Strick, Lisa Tako, 17 Agnes Taylor, Pat Thomas, Yolanda Turner, Geofrilyn Walker, and Kathleen Ziegler ₹₹ GOOD LUCK!

经存存存存存存存存存存存存存存存存存 Ś

Marcia Steffens

(219) 282-4457

2102 South Michigan St.

Dennis D. Berry

Casey M. Brown

Ellen Cierzniak

Darrell J. Clark

Bernard P. Hund

Diane Abbey Filipinas Aquino Kathryn Albertini Kirsten Binda Frances Biolchini Kelley Campanaro Bridget Carroll Elaine Cassidy Peggy Crooks Susan de Mink Tyelise Dorsey Julianne Feck Sarah Fitzpatrick Tara Gentile Gabriela Gonzalez Ann Marie Gravo

Amy Hallenbeck Amy Hardgrove Jahnelle Harrigan Karen Harris Jennifer Kadlec Christine Kavanaugł Karen Kenney Christina Kerger Kelly King Susan Kurowski Joleen Littig Suzanne Lochner Melissa Lucke Kathy McDonough Alison McGarry Mary McNeil

Kathleen Meanev Angela Pearson Ellen Pertraitis Laura Pfouts Christina Prask Heather Rakoczy Sara Remick Marta Roemer Jennifer Schuster Laurie Sessa Margaret Smith Robin Stumpf Kristin TePas Ann Verkamp Elizabeth Vida Diane Wong

Luck!

MAY YOU BE BLESSED.

Congratulations to all.

From the Women of Lyons Hall

HIGH William M. Jones Gerald R. Andersen Michael L. Keltos Karen P. Kenney Edward L. Mazuchowski Richard J. Campbell Erin M. Monson Kenneth P. Novak Marc A. Dauteuil Leslie C. Palmer Thompson M. Faller Elena M. Quirk Dennis M. Feerick Peter A. Sanchez Matthew J. Garberina Jason R. Schrader Jeffrey A. Simerville Kerri L. Sterling

Notre Dame heads to third straight NCAA Championship

Notre Dame players ranked.

16 slot. Coleman (No. 49) and Schmidt (No. 62) round out the

In team doubles competition

Mississippi State is led by the team of Courcol and fellow

Frenchman, sophomore Laurent Miquelard. The duo is ranked second in the country

behind the Georgia doubles team of Bobby Mariencheck and

Wade McGuire. Notre Dame will counter with Forsyth and

Coleman who carry a No. 14

Dame played during the regular

The difficult schedule Notre

Eric Danapilis

Ed Hartwell

David Sinnes

Alan Walania

Matt Adamson

Majenica Rupe

Jennifer Finn

Angela Jones

Mary Malone

Tyler Moore

Darin Prado

Darin Sipe

Dan Wagner

Taeseok Yoo

Bernard Baez

Per Johnsson

Richard Kurz

Jeff Piper

Brian Ray

Geoffrey Pechinsky

James Taliaferro

Kathleen Vogt

James Guerrera

Justin Hall

Jordie Halter

Craig Hentrich

Adrian Jarrell

Lance Johnson

Matt Johnson

Matt Lahey

Edward (Jr.) Bryant

Ryan Roberts

ranking.

Baseball

Men's Basketball

Cheerleaders

Men's Fencing

Women's Fencing

Football

Women's Basketball

By GEORGE DOHRMANN Sports Editor

NCAA

The Notre Dame men's tennis team looks to equal its performance of years' past as it heads to its third straight NCAA Championships in Athens, Ga.

Last season Dave DiLucia, ranked No. 1 in the nation, led the Irish on a miracle finish highlighted by a trip to the NCAA finals and an eventual runner-up finish to Stanford.

DiLucia is gone, but a new cast has emerged bringing Notre Dame into the tournament with a No. 10 seed and national ranking as they begin second round play against Mississippi State Saturday. Both teams received first round byes. The Bulldogs carry a 19-6 mark and a No. 5 ranking.

The two team should be familiar with one another as they have met three times in the past three seasons, including the opening round of last season's NCAA's, a 5-3 win by the Irish.

Earlier this season Notre Dame edged Mississippi State 52 in the Blue-Gray National Classic. Although they fell in doubles, five of six singles wins propelled the Irish to the win. Senior Will Forsyth led the charge, beating Dan Courcol the nation's top-ranked player at the time.

Forsyth's feat is even more impressive considering that Courcol was the most dominant player in collegiate tennis during the first part of the season. Courcol won both the ITA National Clay Court and the Volvo Tennis/Collegiate Championships, the first two legs of the ITA Collegiate Grand Slam.

Chuck Coleman, Ron Rosas, and Mark Schmidt also posted wins earlier this year against the Bulldogs and will be looked to repeat their performance. Todd Wilson and Micheal Sprouse will round out the singles participants for the Irish.

Courcol (No. 3) and teammate Per Nilsson (No. 69) are the only Bulldogs ranked in the top-100 in the latest ITA Intercollegiate Rankings. Forsyth heads three Irish players ranked at the No.

The Observer/Jake Peters Mark Schmidt had won his last thirteen singles matches heading into the NCAA Championships.

CONGRATULATIONS MORRISSEY SENIORS!

Softball

NCAA

season should begin to pay tion, Notre Dame will be well dividends, as the team has represented in the individual faced the majority of teams it competition. Forsyth will try his will face in Athens. Along with hand in singles and will team Mississippi State, the Irish have with Coleman in the doubles. faced No. 1 USC, No. 3 Georgia, Coleman is loaded with experi-No. 6 LSU. No. 8 Alabama, No. ence in NCAA doubles competi-9 Tennessee, and No. 11 Peption after playing with DiLucia perdine. Notre Dame also for the past two years. Forsyth teamed with Andy Zurcher in played Texas, Florida, North Carolina, Kentucky, Minnesota, the 1991 doubles competition. The winner of Saturday's match will likely face topseeded USC. The Trojans faced Notre Dame in the semifinals a year ago as the top seed, but fell 5-1.

Best Wishes to Graduating Student-Athletes From the Office of Academic Services for Student-Athletes

Karl McGill

William Pollard

ing in the NCAA's.

San Diego and New Mexico all of which are ranked in the top-

25. All but three are members of the 20-team field participat-

Following the team competi-

Brian Ratigan Irv Smith Nick Smith Men's Golf Chris Dayton Joe Dennen Women's Golf Kathleen Phares Hockey Sterling Black Eric Gregoire Curtis Janicke Dan Marvin Carl Picconatto Daniel Sawyer Lacrosse Tom Carroll Patrick Finn Edward Lamb Charles Lonsdal Thomas O'Brien Christopher Parent Vito Perriello Peter Senger

> Staci Alford Veronica Alvarez Deborah Boulac Heather McMurray Lisa Miller Sheri Quinn

Men's Soccer Brendan Dillmann Mario Tricoci Women's Soccer

Denise Chabot Margaret Jarc Men's Tennis Chuck Coleman Will Forsyth Ronald Rosas Mark Schmidt Christopher Wojtalik James (Andy) Zurcher Women's Tennis Eniko Bende Men's Track James Burke Iohn Coyle Ed Lavelle Nicholas Radkewich Stuart Tyner Women's Track Tylise Dorsey Lisa Gorski Karen Harris Tricia Joseph Volleyball Andrea Armento Marilyn Ctagin Cynthia May Alicia Turner

Men's Swimming

Women's Swimming

Ed Broderick

Colin Cooley

John Godfrey

Susan Bohdan

Kristin Broderick

lennifer Stumm

Tanya Williams

Gregory Cornick

Thomas Whowell

When you make a habit of cnoosing high-cholesterol foods, you're choosing a dangerous course. One that could lead to a high cholesterol level in your blood and countually to a heart attack. Remember that the next time you browse through a mena. And place your order as though your very life depended on it.

American Heart Association WERE FIGHTING FOR YOUR UFE Tavares Williams Azikiwe Chandler Matthew Leyser Dennis Feerick Edward Wetzel Patrick Brennan Divid Neville Christopher Rey Robert Gephart Montoya Clemmons Keith Nicholson Eugene Christopher Todd Rice Matthew Cenedella Patrick Smyth David Lopez Thomas Looby Matthew Johnson Warren Shea Mario Borelli Charles Lonsdale Robert Quintos John Donlan Thomas Fogarty Stephen Macmanus Gregory Knapp Carl Christensen Atandji Gabiam William Hall Richard Sacher

Senior profiles

"This continual struggle to balance academics and culture made me stronger as a person." - YOLANDA KNIGHT Knight: ND experience a social and cultural struggle

By SARAH DORAN Associate News Editor

Unlike the response that many of her peers will render when asked to sum up their "Notre Dame Experience," Yolanda Knight describes hers as a struggle-not academically-but culturally and socially.

"It was a struggle for cultural affirmation through isolated events that I experienced at Notre Dame," said Knight, who is an African American and a psychology/african american studies major. "But this continual struggle to balance acastronger as a person.³

"When I came to Notre Dame, there were a lot of things about my history that I did not know, and I learned them here. although Notre Dame did not specifically help me," she said. Knowledge of your history makes you work for a change, which is what I have tried to do during my time here."

Knight has been involved with the African American Student Allaince (previously the Black Cultural Arts Council) since her freshman year, including serving as the Allaince's vicepresident and president during demics and culture made me her junior and senior years, and was a co-founder of Habari Gani, the African American student newsletter. She was also active in the Students United for Respect (SUFR) sitin in the administration building during her sophomore year and was a member of the task force on cultural diversity.

"My opinion of the University does not include hate for it, rather a sense of betrayal," she said. "I feel that they elicit a lot of hypocritical rhetoric regarding their intent to become culturally diverse.

Knight spent the spring semester in an exchange program at the predominantly African American Clark Atlanta University in Atlanta, Georgia.

"I was fed up with Notre Dame," she said. "It had gotten to the point where I needed a different experience and it was one that I really enjoyed.

"My experience at Clark Atlanta was great, especially when combined with my experience at ND," she said.

Knight cites Ken Durgans, exdirector of minoritry affairs, and the African American Studies Program as the most instrumental forces in her development at Notre Dame.

"They both have contrubuted to my growth at Notre Dame quite a bit," she said. "But, like most areas in the school, it (the African American Studies Program) still needs to be developed.'

Nest year Knight will participate in a rotating internship at the Providence Saint Mel High School in Chicago as a teacher, councelor, and researcher. She plans on a career in education, but is unsure if she will work as an administrator or teacher.

"I will be doing different things in the internship, including working under a principle," she said. "This way I can get a feel for what I want to do.'

For Young, college has been an Congratulations Stacey & Dave! experiment with diverse activities and varied, but she said that Alliance, Collegiate Choir and a this, along with the classroom member of SMC Real Groovy By JENNIFER HABRYCH

Saint Mary's Editor

College is a time to experiment with a little bit of everything- a time to become involved in a variety of projects to discover who you are.

Developing these diverse interests is exactly what Renee Young, an English literature and English writing major, has done during her time at Saint Mary's. Young's list of activities and accomplishments is long

(219) 255-5274

512 S. Spring Street

this, along with the classroom experience, has taught her a lot about life.

You experiment with a little of everything in college," Young said. "You make a lot of mistakes and you learn from all of them-that's what college is all about."

While at Saint Mary's, Young was involved in the start up of the Avenue, a campus magazine that serves as a forum for opinion, literature, art work and poetry. She has served as the editor-in-chief of the Avenue, the co-editor-in-chief of Chimes, the campus literary magazine, and president of the English club. Young was also involved with Student Government for three years, was a representative for the English department on the Student Academic Council and served on the Board of Regents Development Committee.

Through all of her involvement she hopes that she has provided a forum for Saint Mary's students to voice their opinion as she has.

"I hope in some ways I have provided a voice, especially through the Avenue, for allowing students to voice their opinion," Young said.

Besides her involvement in with campus publications and student government Young was a member of the Women's Women, which organized lectures and discussions that focused on identity, cultural acceptance, sisterhood and selfacceptance. Young, a women's studies and U.S. history minor, was also involved in the coordination of a pro-choice group to defend the Women's Pavillion during this spring's Collegians Activated to Liberate Life (CALL) protests.

'My parents have always taught me to speak up because no one is going to read my mind," Young said.

It is for this quality that she hopes people will remember her most.

"I hope they will say she always stood up for what she believed in and always meant what she said," she added.

In addition to her campus involvement, Young has also excelled within the classroom. She was awarded the SISTAR grant last year to study women poets of the 18th century. Most recently she was awarded the Sister M. Franzita Kane Writing Award, the Women's Studies Prize, the English Prize and the Laurie A. Lesniewski Award for Creative Writing at the College's annual honors convocation.

What she has learned at Saint Mary's has exceeded her expectations, she said.

"I've learned a lot at this school, a lot more than I thought I'd learn at a cornfield college," Young said.

While Young hopes that she has provided a forum for discussion, she does not think that all is perfect at Saint Mary's. She cites that lack of acceptance of gays and lesbians on both campuses as one group that is still unnecessarily hurt "in a community where we preach acceptance and Christian beliefs." Next year Young plans to attend graduate school at Notre Dame to pursue her masters in English with a focus on 18th century literature. She hopes to eventually complete her doctorate in the field. While Young does not plan to end her involvement in activities next year, she does plan on devoting less time to them and more time on academics. "Right now it's 50/50 in the time I spend studying and with my activities," Young said. "I would like to increase the time I spend with my studies to at least 75 percent."

Love,

Mom, Dad & Amy

We're proud of you.

Come and experience a healthy new tasty Korean Cuisine Hot or Mild- any way you like for us to serve you and your partner

> Soom To Fu Kim Chee Chiegae Bool Go Kee Open Tuesday-Sunday!

Specials:

Every Tues-Fri- Lunch Buffet 11;30-2 p.m. $495 all you can eat Every Sunday- Dinner Buffet $850 all you can eat

PATIO NOW OPEN FOR SEATING!

KIM CHEE GARDEN PATIO かオ・중국・미국 Only One In Michiana- Authentic Korean Restaurant Such as:

Mishawaka, IN 46544 Just South of Lincoln Way West Downtown Welcome Parents and Friends!

Congratulations to the Class of '93!
From the Vo Located in	arsity Shop
Hours: Friday, May 14 Saturday, May 15 Monday, May 17	11:30-5:30 10:00-4:00 10:00-5:30

Four student-faculty teams receive SISTAR awards

Special to the Observer

Four student-faculty teams have been chosen for this year's Student Independent Study and Research (SISTAR) Awards at Saint Mary's.

The SISTAR program, supported by a grant from the Miami-based Knight Foundation, is now in its third year at Saint Mary's and awards stipends to students and faculty for collaborative summer research projects. Each selected student receives $3,000, while faculty members are awarded $5,000 each. The program is designed to provide students with an appreciation for academic research outside the traditional scientific areas in the hopes of promoting careers in teaching and research.

This year's winners and their respective projects are:

•Catherine Adams, a junior from Louisville, Ky. and Laura Haigwood, assistant professor of English. Adams' project is entitled "Eliza Allen Starr: The Romantic Roots of a Woman-Centered Art Pedagogy," while Haigwood will explore "The Romantic Link Between Feminine and Feminist: Gender and Ideology in Wordsworth and Coleridge's 'Lyrical Ballads.'"

•Marcie Thorson, a junior from Morris, Ill., and Zae Munn, assistant professor of music. The pair will collaborate on "Composing Two Large-Scale Works: From Creative Inception to Public Access." •Katherine Bumb, a junior from Mandan, N.D., and Patricia Sayre, assistant professor of philosophy. Bumb and Sayre will team up for a study on "Exploring Empathy: Wittgenstein and the Problem of Private Experience."

•Lisa Hardman, a junior from Pensacola, Fla., and Herold Weiss, professor of religious studies. Hardman will study "Paul's Letter to the Romans: Ethical Guidelines in a Diverse Community" and Weiss will examine "The Question of the Sabbath in the Epistles of Paul."

Student-faculty research programs at other institutions usually are restricted to the science areas, according to Saint Mary's associate dean of faculty Patrick White, coordinator of the program. The SISTAR program involves students from all academic disciplines and emphasizes a closer working relationship between the students and faculty members than found in other research programs.

Saint Mary's students and faculty honored by awards

Special to the Observer

Awards for Saint Mary's faculty and students were announced at the College's annual honors convocation, Sunday, May 2.

Anne Loux, associate professor of English, was presented with the Spes Unica Award for excellence in teaching and dedicated service to the College over an extended period of time, Joanne Snow, associate professor of mathematics, received the Maria Peita Award for excellence in teaching freshmanand sophomore-level courses. Snow, who joined the faculty at Saint Mary's in 1983, teaches courses in calculus and analysis.

Melissa Whelan, a junior from Gaithersburg, Md., was awarded the Saint Catherine Medal, presented each year to an underclassman demonstrating high standards of personal excellence, outstanding scholarship and a strong commitment to Christian ideals.

College-wide awards, presented to students, included:

•Sister M. Franzita Kane Writing Awards---Kristi Caudle, Escondido, Calif., Amy Schulz, Winston-Salem, N.C. and Renee Young, Mundelein, Ill.

•Dorothy Manier Writing Awards—Genevieve Barba, Wichita, Kan. and Jan Jenkins, South Bend.

•Helen Carroll Award in Religous Studies—Libby Gray, South Bend.

•Sister Annice Donovan Prize for Philosophical Writing—Helen McGuire, Dunwoody, Ga.

•Women's Studies Prize—Renee Young.

•Art—St. Luke's Award, Frances McMahon, Crown Point, Ind. and Sister Edna Service Award, Susan Wyffels, Geneseo, Ill.

•Biology—Mother Rose Elizabeth Award, Nicole Brunette, Theatre Award, Keri Latherow, Freedom, Pa.

•Education-Mary A. McDermott Award for Excellence in Elementary Education, Jennifer Glogowski, Champaign, Ill.; Grace Sullivan McGuire Award for Excellence in Secondary Education, Julie Beem, Waklerton, Ind.

•English—English Prize and Laurie A. Lesniewski Award for Creative Writing, Renee Young.

•History—Martha Montgomery Schurz Memorial Award, Patrice Starr, Hudson, Ohio, Stephanie Thullen, Seoul, Korea and Julie Vaccarella, Fairfield, Conn.; Blecka-Zatko Essay Award, Cheryl Fortunak.

H u m a n i s t i c Studies—Thomas More Award, Mary Nitsch, Baltimore.
Mathematics—Milko Jeglic Award for Achievement in

Award for Achievement in Mathematics, Mary Pat Sullivan, Valparaiso, Ind.

•Modern lanaguages—French Award, Beatriz Castillo, Cuernavaca, Mexico, Kristina Neville, Sterling III. and Anne-Marie Schommer, Wauconda, III.; Spanish Award, Delia Garcia, Gary, Ind. and Julie Marsh, Naperville, III.

•Nursing—Evelyn McGuiness Award for Excellence in Nursing, Rebecca Sanchez, Chesterton, Ind.; Humanitarian Award, Lucy Haske, Omaha, Neb.; Nightingale Society Honors Membership Award, Catherine Funston, Columbus, Ohio.

David Appel

Joe Ashby

Mike Bartley

Pete Bevacqua

Brendan Blockowicz

Casey Brown

Ryan Brown

SORIN COLLEGE CONGRATULATES

Craig Hentrich Eric Jones Sean Kelley Al Kozar Bryan Krayer Mike MacKinnon Mark Milbocker Doug Montgomery

Granger, Ind., Geoege and Juanda Bick Nature Award, Gretchen Bath, Green Bay, Wis. and Elizabeth Vogel, Red Wing, Minn.

•Business administration and economics-Wall Street Journal and Academic Achievement awards, Dawnella Rose, Cadiz, Ohio; Frank A. Yeandel Service Award, Kimberly Simons, Youngstown, Ohio; Accounting Award, Terri Ames, Reston, Va.; Economics Award, Cheryl Fortunak, North Liberty, Ind.; Finance Award, Jennifer Ray, St. Clair, Mich.; International Business Award, Kristina Perry, Warsaw, Ind.; Management Award, Julie Jedlinski, Wood Dale, Ill. and Marketing Award, Sandra Conner, Sun Prairie, Wis.

•Communication, dance and theatre—Communication Award, Karen Melchert, Bartlett, Ill. and Dina Selman, Merrillville, Ind.; Excellence in

Chris Bruno Jon Capacci Matt Casey Archie Chaney Lou Chappuie John Creel Tim Crowe Shannon Cullinan Dennis Danieluk Steve Deick Bill Deitz Rich DuBrava Chris Estes Jamie Farmer Jim Gerth Sean Goldrick Will Grannan Lou Hall Jordan Halter Darin Harnisch Chris Heller Rob Hendel

Chris Murnen Mike Murphy Ed Policy Bob Reilly Jeff Rhodes Doug Rice Joe Roberts Sean M. Ryan Sean P. Ryan Ron Sarrazine Jason Schrader Ben Schwartz Dan Shinnick Eric Silk Jeremy Smith Jeff Squyres P. J. Stettin Mike Stravino Tony Van Es Doug Viggiano Aaron Warren Mark Woodmansee

OUR CLASS OF 1993

Student leaders receive awards

Special to The Observer

Eleven undergraduates and one graduate student from Notre Dame received awards at the annual student leadership recognition banquet.

Greg Butrus, a senior history major from Birmingham, Ala., and student body president in 1992-93 received an award for his management skills.

Butrus also was student representative on the University

ONE HOUR

MOTOPHOTO®

703 UNIVERSITY PARK

50% OFF

FILM DEVELOPING

With this coupon, receive 50% off the regular price of processing and printing bookstore committee and a member of the Colloquy for the Year 2000 Committee of the Whole.

Mara Fuller, a junior mathelementary education major from Lake Forest, Ill., was honored for her leadership in the area of social concerns.

Benjamin Gonring, a senior government major from West Bend, Wis., received an award for promoting serious dialogue on campus.

Paul Kimes, a sophomore theology major trom Birmingham, Ala., was cited for his service as executive assistant to the student body president in 1992-93

Nicole Lamborne, a senior biochemistry major from Marlton, N.J., received an award for her involvement as a St. Hedwig's volunteer.

Peter Matthews, a senior English and philosophy major from Paramus, N.J., was honored for his four-year involvement with campus radio station WSND.

Reynold Nesiba, a graduate student in economics from St. Paul, Neb., received an award for his "outstanding example to both undergraduate and graduate students."

Molly O'Neill, a senior philosophy major from Cadillac, Mich., and student body vice president in 1992-93, received an award for the work she has done for South Bend's homeless center.

Megan Sullivan, a senior accountancy major from Ladue, Mo., was honored for her service as executive coordinator of intellectual life.

Michael Swanson, a senior communications major from Chicago, received an award for his work as minority student recruitment coordinator for the undergraduate admissions office.

Daniel Wagner, a senior sociology and computer applications major from Strabane, Pa., was cited for his community involvement.

Jenny Witt, a senior government and philosophy major from Omaha, Neb., received an award for her leadership of the class service project at St. Hedwig's Outreach Center.

Concerns

Effort to diversify has progressed in four years

By JENNIFER HABRYCH Saint Mary's Editor

Efforts to create cultural awareness and diversity on the Saint Mary's campus have come a long way since the Class of 1993 entered the College their freshman year, according to Tina Buchanan, a graduating leader in the diversity movement on campus.

The Office of Minority, International and Non-Traditional (M.I.N.T.) students began operation four years ago and with the Office support great strides, have been made according to Buchanan.

'You can tell the College is moving toward the right direc-tion," Buchanan said. "The effort has been there, but it is a long process.'

The students who have taken on leadership roles during the past four years have served as role models for the students who will take their places, said Marcela Ramirez, M.I.N.T. director.

"They have played a critical role in changing the college," Ramirez said.

Buchanan, along with Delia Garcia of the now-disbanded FUERZA, Michelle Hill. of Sisters of the Nefertiti and Janet Yuen, of the Pacific Basin Society have served as leaders and role models for a movement which neither Buchanan nor Ramirez think will die out in their absence.

"There are some really good up-and-coming students who will take over where we've left off," Buchanan said. She added that the ethnic diversity movement has encountered the same problems that other campus groups have.

"You have to keep students motivated," Buchanan said. "The difference is that the base of students to work with is a lot smaller to begin with.

Buchanan and Ramirez both said that in the future M.I.N.T. must reach out all students, not just minority students.

'We want to take a real comprehensive approach to diversity on campus," Ramirez said. "We are not just an office that serves minority students, but we need to serve what you would call majority students as well.'

Buchanan agrees that education is the role of the M.I.N.T. and the ethnic groups on campus.

'Through club activities and discussion groups we are getting people to understand that other groups exist outside of the homogeneous community of Saint Mary's," Buchanan said. 'We want to educate, not separate or cause tensions. We want to create an awareness between all groups of people on campus."

Buchanan said that the creation of M.I.N.T. at the beginning of her freshman year at Saint Mary's illustrated that the administration was moving in the right direction.

The College was at least recognizing the need for such an office," she said. "It has been great to have an office there as some sort of support.'

Ramirez agreed that Saint Mary's has made strides, but she said that nothing is perfect. Through the M.I.N.T. office she will continue to work to educate the entire campus on issues of diversity.

We've done a lot in four years," said Ramirez who cited the increase in minority, international and non-traditional students as one the College's accomplishments.

Buchanan said these efforts need to be continued to carry out the work that has been accomplished during her four

"We need to educate about the differences, but also the similarities," she said. "We need to celebrate and work together. We never make a point

The Staff of The Center for Social Concerns

Viewpoint

page 18

Friday, May 14, 1993

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Observing newspaper's character

Dear Editor:

During the current school year, I have observed the Notre Dame and St. Marv's campuses through The Observer. My subscription comes from my being the father of an ND freshman.

I am not sure what sort of observing mechanism that your newspaper provides. A prism? A peephole? A window? A mirror? A glass darkly? What I have perused has produced a range of feelings from pleasure and amusement to anger and disgust.

The Catholic character of Notre Dame seems to have gathered the most prolific and multi-faceted treatment. Why St. Mary's is not highlighted in the context of its Catholic character, I do not know.

In your issue of April 19, Dr. Eugene Diamond spoke about some politically correct issues that would not receive discussion on the South Bend campus despite the administration's posture of presenting both sides of any argument. I submit that some dogmatic issues would also be excluded: the Trinity includes four persons; Jesus Christ is true man but not true God; the Pope is not infallible when teaching "ex cathedra" on pended, continues to depend, and will forever depend upon its adherence to and projection of a truly Catholic character.

We parents recently received an "apologia" from Father Edward Malloy about the 7.5 percent increase in tuition and living charges for the fall. The increase does not offend this parent. However, I am really disappointed that the letter made no reference to the Catholic character of Notre Dame. That character figured prominently in the decision of my son becoming a Domer. Tell me that the money is needed to make Our Lady of the Lake a better university and a better Catholic university. Anv president of a secular university could have penned Father Malloy's letter.

Notre Dame needs to generate a powerful effort to expand opportunities for its undergraduates. They need the chance to participate in an expanded array of available courses conducted by faculty committed to Catholic as well as academic values.

Notre Dame seems to be embroiled in even understanding what its Catholic character means in terms of its faculty.

A publication of Creighton faith and morals. University, the Creighton Iden-However, I believe that the tity, under a chapter on its besuccess of Notre Dame has de- ing Catholic announces, "A critical function of the Catholic University is to examine values that predominate in contemporary society and to judge them according to Gospel norms. . .the faculty are moral as well as intellectual role models.¹

While Creighton values its faculty who are not Catholic, it also states that the university expects from all faculty "a recognition of and a respect for the Catholic identity of the university. This Catholic identity implies, if not an acceptance of Catholic teaching on faith and morals, at least an expectation of refraining from positive and public opposition to it."

The university could benefit from examining values predominant in contemporary society and judging them according to Catholic faith and morals. The blatant boasting in vulgar and obscene language in your newspaper about drunkenness and sexual activity among the unmarried might be one place to begin the debate.

Notre Dame can be greater as a university and as Catholic. I expect excellence in both realms so that my son can find the help he needs to mature into an intelligent and productive member of society and the Church.

Edward L. Bode Jefferson City, MO

'May Our Lady watch over you in the future'

Dear Graduates:

I would like to take this opportunity to extend my prayers and best wishes to the members of the Class of 1993. Commencement is a time of many mixed emotions. Pride in your achievements, excitement and apprehension about new beginnings, happiness and sadness come together as you prepare to leave.

For those of you who are graduating Seniors, I hope that we have achieved our goal of providing you with an education that integrates the life of the mind with the life of the heart. May your commitment to your faith in God and to service of His people match your dedication to your chosen vocation and profession. Notre Dame has high expectations of its graduates. The tremendous contribution that our alumni make to society and to the Church is a testament to the importance of these high expectations.

For those of you leaving with graduate and professional degrees, I hope that you will carry with you the best of our traditions as they relate to your discipline. If you bring to your chosen field a strong set of ethical convictions and a commitment to justice, you will represent the very best of Notre Dame.

Finally, a note of gratitude to all of you. You not only take from here; you also give. You have made a variety of contributions to your colleagues, to the institution and to those of us who remain behind to assist students who will follow you.

April 28, 1993

DOONESBURY

May Our Lady, Notre Dame, continue to watch over you in the years ahead. We are blessed to have you as members of the Notre Dame family.

Patricia A. O'Hara Vice President for Student Affairs May 11, 1993

GARRY TRUDEAU

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Nobody's ever taught you how to live out on the street. Now, you're gonna have to get used to it."

Bob Dylan

Pass here, you're on the road to heaven: QUOTES, PO Box Q, N. D., IN 46556

Friday, May 14, 1993

Viewpoint

What though the odds be great or small, we are ND

Here it is at last. The end.

This week, in between congratulatory toasts and job applications, I have started to think about what I will remember from Notre Dame. After all, I may not be lucky enough to get those all-important tickets to next year's Navy game. (Navy?)

I've developed something like a mental photo album of this place, and you know what? Most of the pictures I have are pleasant.

I see brilliant sunsets, fantastic fall foliage and a few weeks of sun.

All the typical images are there: the Golden Dome during sunset, of Touchdown Jesus on a football Saturday, of the cherry blossoms on the Main Quad, and of the Grotto on a cold December night.

There are also a few untypical images, like the green "F" that sometimes stood on Fisher Hall, the #1 on top of Grace Hall, and the sight of Moses with a pumpkin on his index finger.

For me, a large part of my memory revolves around The Observer, the semi-independent newspaper for which I slaved for four years. This memory is filled with harassing phone calls, jelly doughnuts, wild rumors about the editors, Shirley trying to figure us students out, and that strange but wonderful feeling you get at 4 a.m. when you're finally done and can go to bed for a few hours.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

God bless and protect this paper and all the people stupid enough to work for it. They could sure use the blessing.

There's sounds, too. Everything from the Alma Mater to the Paul Simon concert to "May I have your attention, please..." The music of Access Denied, Chisel, Dissfunktion, Emily, and all the other obscure campus bands we'll never hear again, but will remember forever, or at least as long as we can.

There are typical "party" songs: "Brown-Eyed Girl," "Only the Good Die Young," and "You Shook Me All Night Long."

And, of course, there are the taste sensations. Macri's big beers, Rocco's thick crust pizza, CJ's half-pound burgers and Linebacker's Long Island iced teas. Food and drink of the gods.

One smell, too: ethanol in the morning. 'Nuff said.

A few scores are in this album of memories, like ND 29, Miami

Paul Pearson Ideas and Ideals

20; ND 39, Florida 28; ND 17, Penn State 16. With that are images of Mr. Ismail running like a rocket, Chris Zorich pouncing on an unprotected quarterback, Lou Holtz giving a referee a well-deserved headlock, and of course, the "Student Salute."

Especially the salute, because, when it comes down to it, this place is about the students, and my fondest memories revolve not around games or buildings or achievements, but around the wonderful medley of people that make the "Notre Dame Family" more than a catchy, pleasant little slogan.

There's Todd Broski and Haley Scott. The caption under them has to be "True personifications of the 'Notre Dame Spirit.'" Well above and beyond the call of duty, guys.

There's the pranks and stunts, ranging from stolen doors to streaking the library to what I call "stunt eating," a sport that can include anything from jalapeno peppers to Cocoa Krispies.

There's the liturgical spirit in all its manifestations, whether it's an Easter Vigil at Sacred Heart or an intimate Sunday night hall Mass.

There's the creative spirit you see in Fisher Regatta boats, Keenan Revue and Bookstore Basketball team names, proving that this place does have a sense of humor, after all.

There are all my friends and roommates, late-night discussion on things like Operation Desert Storm, the existence of God, and who is the greatest guitarist of all time.

Of course, the deaths of Megan Beeler and Colleen Hipp affected us all, but you know what I recall from that? Two things: the sight of scores of students standing outside Sacred Heart because there wasn't enough room, and the sign that hung from the Knights of Columbus Building, "God Bless Our Swimmers."

Through it all, this place has always shown its greatness through its people. I realize that I have made more than a few unkind remarks about this place, but, if I were 18 again, I would choose this place any day of the week and twice on Sunday.

Yes, Notre Dame means putting up with four years of DART, parietals, meatless baked ziti, the bookstore, American Studies jokes and the Commons.

But it also means becoming a part of community that does, at its heart, care about its members.

Through good times and bad times.

For better or for worse.

What though the odds be great or small.

I have never encountered so many people willing to lend a hand or an ear when they are needed. For that, I am truly grateful, and I believe that these people known to the administration as the "Notre Dame Family" have made all the sacrifices and pain that brought me here worthwhile.

Therefore, a toast to the Class of 1993. Here's to our many happy returns to this campus, wearing plaid pants and complaining about how Domers have it so easy compared to when we were students...

As the chant goes, we are ND.

Paul Pearson will graduate from Notre Dame this Sunday with a bachelor's degree in American Studies. He was previously an Associate News Editor for The Observer.

Notre Dame's 'catholicity' rests upon its very own shoulders

Dear Editor:

I am a latecomer to the current public discourse on the so-called "Catholic nature of the University." An outsider to the corridors of power, I find that the question has been answered for me. Apparently the question is now closed, the work of the Colloquy for the Year 2000 concluded. Its report is sealed and ready for presentation to the Trustees.

I doubt whether I will be able to concur with administratively defined "correct" answers, the final report or its slick presentation.

Hasn't the current state of the discussion devolved into a struggle between opposed camps? Where many would eagerly engage in sincere attempt to discern what it is to bear a Catholic identity as an institution in the modern world, few are interested or have rapidly become disillusioned with the attempt by some, within the Dome and without, who have used the public discourse to assert personal power, or self-proclaimed virtue. They have, in effect, wrapped themselves in the cloak of an illconceived triumph, the totalitarianism of a limited and limiting definition of Roman Catholicism. In truth they appear to be cowering in fear from the perception of a encroaching steadily "secularity." If the "catholicity" of the University is but one more buttress to the crumbling authority of its officers and old guard, few would conceivably want to take part in the sham. Where the discourse on the Catholic character of the University was initiated in order to discuss the (real and interesting) connections between catholicity and the project of human wisdom, it has become a struggle to assert one peculiarly limited version of Roman moral essentialism over a similarly limited caricature of "god-less" Secularity.

This is why, I think, that the current discourse on the Catholic character of the University has come to seem so false, so one-dimensional, and so unbecoming of a supposedly Christian institution. We must ask again what it is to be "Catholic" and what it is to be a "University."

The word "Catholic" has a specific ecclesiological meaning. "Catholicity" was decided to essentially mark the Church of Christ by the councils of Nicea and Constantinople. Along with unity, apostolicity, and holiness, "catholicity" resides at the core of what it means to be the Body of Christ before God and in the world.

Only the whole Church, as gins extensively. In an important article on the topic, "Eucharistic Community and the Catholicity of the Church," he addressed the question of how Aristotle's adjective kat'holou came to define the Church.

Catholicity is less an achievement of a human institution, he said, than it is the qualitative description of "being where Christ is" wherever that may be. He continues. "there is no autonomous catholicity, no catholic ethos that can be understood in itself. It is Christ's unity and it is his catholicity that the Church reveals in her being catholic. . .Catholicity is neither an objective gift to be possessed nor an objective order to be fulfilled, but rather a presence" with whom one lives and moves and has one's being.

The university might conceivably be composed of mechanics of chance and uncertainty as in the writings of St. Paul?

Is his presence felt in tenure committee or Faculty Senate, or, heaven forbid, in the office of the Vice President for Student Affairs? The endeavor of the university, entirely dependent upon and derived from the mission of the Church, is not so much to embody Christ as it is to discover him, and discovering him, to make him known. I hope that conservative members of our community will take no comfort here.

I am not advocating that we drop engineering from the curriculum in favor of theology, physics in favor of medieval philosophy. Nor am I suggesting that organic chemistry is somehow redeemed by the perfunctory recitation of a "Hail Mary" at the beginning of class. In our eyes, the practice of organic chemistry lab, in and by itself, in the catholic context, is no less redemptive, no less revelatory of Christ, than prayer or devotion, or else it has not legitimate place here. The catholicity of the university seems to me not to depend upon the exact content of what we discover as a university engaged in the pursuit of truth. The contents of truth have changed, and presumably will continue to change. Nor is the point that we continually crow, in anguished despair, about the loss of a "moral" world that never once existed. The value at stake, the crux from which our catholicity either dies or rises, is what or, better, who motivates our quest of discovery and once having been motivated, with what breadth of vision do we pursue the quest?

questions are answered weighs far more heavily upon the "catholic character of the university" than whether university administrators hinder homosexuals, feminists, racial minorities, or pro-choice advocates with oppressive and discriminatory policies.

Instead, the catholic university in its essential, selfdefining moment (as opposed to the secular institution) challenges its members and its audience, whoever they are, to seek ever more adequate descriptions of who Christ is for them, what ever that may be, wherever he may be found, whose ever life he has redeemed.

I suggest that the criterion upon which students ought to be admitted, faculty and administrators, hired or fired, in a Catholic University ought not to be based on some quota system. Sadly, mere membership in the Roman Catholic Church or notional adherence to its doctrines, besides being ecumenically offensive, does not and can not ensure that students, professors, or administrators are inspired by the values and vision of a genuine "catholicity." Rather, a more adequate criterion for membership in the community which aspires to be "catholic" and "universal" might better be a willingness to enter the contest, to wrestle with Christ, even with a Christ one cannot (yet) believe in, in a contest for Truth. That's what's best about Notre Dame. Notre Dame's Catholic character, it seems to me, rests on their shoulders, or it shall be lost entirely, whether to authoritarian absolutism or to saltless secularity it hardly matters.

page 19

such the Church of Christ, subsisting in the Roman Catholic Church, though not totally encompassed there, can, without idolatry, unequivocally claim "Catholicity."

When we speak of "Catholicity" of an institution like Notre Dame, it is derived catholicity. The catholicity of Notre Dame will always be partial and incomplete. Notre Dame and its administrators ought never pretend to stand in loco ecclesiae in the same way that they already presume to stand in loco parentis.

If we have an idea of what it is for Christ's Church to be Catholic then, by extension won't we have a better idea what its is for a university to participate in that church's catholicity? The eminent Orthodox theologian and ecumenist, John Zizioulas, has researched the term and its oritotally righteous people, hardly a sinner in our midst, everyone publican agreed to every iota of the moral law, yet not at all be catholic, a university of bleached bones, sepulchral. On the contrary, if we are to agree with the early Christian writers, and Zizioulas' description of catholicity is based on an uncomfortably accurate reading of Ignatius and Cyprian, then, in order for the university to be catholic it must, in its depths, in an often inchoate awareness, through its students, its studies and its structures, find and be aware of the personal presence of Christ, the incarnation of Truth, broken in Love and offering Mercy.

Our question has now been shifted. In the university's endeavors, in its embrace of truth, can Christ be found? Is the university convinced that Christ is read as much in the quantum

The manner in which these

Jeffrey VanderWilt Off-Campus May 7, 1993

Now Service is success

MUSIC

PTC

Notre Dame Band Lawn Concert, Main Quad, 6:30 p.m. Song Fooley, The Camerata Singers, Elco Theater, 255-5979, $, 7:30 p.m. Jazz Friction, Alumni-Seniar Club, 9 p.mr. 2 and

The Cooler Kings, Madison Oyster Bar, 288 D.m.s

272-9691. $.8.0 Experidance, Colfax Center. D.M.

MUSIC

Tribute To Kiss, Elkari County Community Center, S. 7 p.m. . Notre Dame Glee Club Commencement, Stepan, Center, 9 p.m. The Cooler Kings, Madison Oyster Bar, 288-3776, $,

10 p.m.

EVENTS

M. A

You're A Good Man Charlie Brown, Battell Center, 272-9691, $, 8 p.m. Plain and Fancy, Amish Acres, 773-4188, $, 3 p.m.

and 8 p.m. Volunteer Senior Send-Off, Washington Hall, became involved in various social service programs with the help of the Center For In a mere 48 hours some Social Concerns.

10:30 a.m.

the center and Mike Coman show Chan the men's dormitory.

By CHRISTY FLEMING

2,500 Notre Dame and Saint

Mary's students will be trans-

However, most of the class of 1993 are chasing careers in business. For those who haven't found jobs or simply want specialized education, graduate to forego financial success by focusing on the improvement of those who are less fortunate instead. Quite a few seniors choose post-graduate service for one or two years-some

One Notre Dame graduate found a worthwhile career by "going beyond his own circle of friends and family to reach out

Lou Nanni, 1984 graduate of Notre Dame, is currently the director of the Center for the Homeless. Nanni initially had aspirations for a career in law.

Yet as many freshman do.

In his sophomore year he decided to pursue two majors: liberal studies and government.

During this time he also

Nanni's ideas began to change.

to others who are in need."

even make it a lifetime.

Yet, there are a few who opt school is the primary option.

Assistant Accent Editor

formed into alumni.

Through the Big Brother, Little Brother program Nanni developed a close relationship with an eight-year old, African American boy, an experience which "had a transforming effect on my life," said Nanni.

"Developing a rapport with this child allowed me to open my eyes and my heart even more to those in desperate need-not just in need of my services, but of my support and care.'

The summer between his sophomore and junior year, Nanni had the opportunity to work with the Senate in Washington, D.C. This too had a significant effect on Nanni's life.

"I saw the corrupt goals of many people I encountered," he said. "In order to avoid this same selfishness, I vowed to use the limited talents given to me in order to help others, not hurt them.'

After graduating in '84, Nanni participated in the Holy Cross Associates program in Chile. "I wanted to see the United States through the eyes of shanty town dwellers.'

The Observer/David Hungeling Notre Dame junior Cindy Chan takes her first tour of The Center for The Homeless. Henry Lovell, a guest of

> Two and a half years later, Nanni returned to the United States, "a changed man." In August he continued his service career by entering the Masters International Scholars program, originally started by Father Theodore Hesburgh.

> Under this program Nanni and few other selected students lived and worked together while trying to develop a thesis for a solution to the peace problem.

> After he completed the masters program in June of 1988, Nanni continued to dedicate his life to service by becoming the director of the World Missions Office in Orlando, Florida for the Catholic Diocese.

> [The purpose for this program was to promote global awareness and Nanni did so by associating the Orlando office with a sister program in the Dominican Republic.]

> Three years later he was appointed to the Advisory Council for Church Life at Notre Dame which was followed by his promotion to the Board of Trustees. During one of his meetings for the board, Nanni visited the Center for the Homeless and decided the center would "sufficiently challenge him as a person."

"I felt fortunate to be able to sunday

Manchester Symphony Ofonestre, Manchester College 982-5223, 5, 8 p.m. EVENTS

17

- 4 - 4

Danpes Ci Universal Peace, Elfsi Unitarian Church,

Univ. Park East

Splitting Heirs, 7:15 and 9:30 Benny & Joan, 2:20, 5:00, 7:45, 9:45 The Dark Half, 7:10 and 9:30 The Boy's Life, 7:10 and 9:30 The Crying Game, 2:10, 4:30, 7:00, 9:15 Dragon, 2:15, 4:40, 7:10, 9:45

Univ. Park West

Sidekicks, 7:15 and 9:20 Three of Hearts,7:25 and 9:40 Cop & A Half,2:30 and 5:00

The Observer/David Hungeling

Notre Dame student Molly O'Nell assists Notre Dame alumnus Mike Coman in rolling Penn State posters, which raised over $40,000 for The Center for The Homeless.

attempt to rid our society of the homeless problem and offer compassion and creativity to a solution to the problem," said Nanni.

In March of 1991 he received the job of Executive Director of the Center and has remained ever since. Nanni also works as an adjunct professor, teaching a seminar on homelessness at Notre Dame.

Nanni is a prime example of a devoted individual who choose service not simply as temporary experience, but a life-long career.

"Many people are in great need and are often never afforded the best resources our society has to offer," said Nanni.

"I hope that the recent alumni focus on being faithful to what they believe instead of worrying about being financially successful. It is much more important to focus on what we do and how we do it, than what we have and how we get it."

what?

Just Relax!

Graduates find work abroad

By KENYA JOHNSON Accent Editor

Christine Korchnak preferred working in a pizza parlor in Oxford, London than to have a "real job" in Lafayette, Indiana.

Korchnak is a graduate from Purdue University, and is one of many who participated in "Work in Britain" after college graduation.

"Work in Britain" is one of the many overseas job programs attracting students from all over the United States with a multiplicity of academic and ethnic backgrounds. "Work in Britain" was established 27 years ago as a part of a reciprocal arrangement between the Unites States and United Kingdom.

Participants take a variety of jobs ranging from hotel staff in the Scottish Highlands, to financial assistants in Manchester's business district, according to Nick Mearey, director of "Work in Britain."

Most participants are content with blue-collar or secretarial employment, but in this last year 20 percent worked in career-related positions.

"It's not particularly easy to organize a career-related job in Britain," said Ann Greenwood, a graduate of Wake Forest University."But it's no more difficult than finding similar work at home in America."

Greenwood first participated in "Work in Britain" in the summer of 1990, and then reentered the program after she graduated from college.

She explained that she was not "too fussy" about finding a job the first time, but after graduation she had professional aspirations. Greenwood is currently working in London as a marketing assistant with D'Arcy. Masius. Benton &

"I felt that I achieved full intergration with British life, getting to know the way people live and how they think."

-Jeff Martin

University of Michigan

Bowles, one of Europe's premier advertising agencies. Then again, some students don't mind the "casual" jobs they obtain.

"Although working at a pub might not sound like the most educational experience possible, for me it was more rewarding than my studies," said Jeff Martin, a graduate of the University of Michigan.

"I felt that I achieved full integration with British life, getting to know the way people live and how they think," he added.

Although most have concerns about jobs, some do have to think about being a minority in these different cultures.

Roberta English is an African-American 1992 graduate of Northwestern University's School of Journalism. Although she had aspirations of being a news reporter or editor, English decided to work as a waitress at The Rock Garden in London for a year instead.

After "Work in Britain," she immediately participated in the "Work in Ireland" program. As an African-American travelling abroad, English was worried about racism she might face.

"I always wanted to spend a lengthy time overseas, and working was the best way to really connect with the locals and make the trip affordable," she said.

"But as a woman of color I was concerned about possible discrimination. My concerns were based on what I heard on television or from other people."

English claimed, however, that she hadn't experienced any problems or experienced any discrimination in Ireland or Britain.

"Until you make the effort to learn someone else's culture and likewise teach them about yours, you are as much to blame as they are for any ignorance and fear which exists between the two."

Students may participate in "Work in Britain," or similar programs during the summer, but most pursue work overseas after college graduation.

Details and applications can be obtained by writing to Council on International Educational Exchange, 205 East 42nd Street, New York, New York, 10017.

Sliver Opens May 21

Beware, this is a steamy one. After four years at Notre Dame, you may go into shock. The story is centered around a recent divorcee (Sharon Stone) who becomes romantically involved with a wealthy bachelor (William Baldwin) when she moves to a ritzy place in New York where resident's intimate moments are videotaped. Before cuts, this movie carried a rating of NC-17. What else would one expect from Sharon Stone?

Jurassic Park

Opens June 11

Steven Spielberg has taken Michael Crichton's best seller to the big screen. Essentially the movie is about dinosaurs that are genetically re-created for the ultimate theme park. But of course, something goes wrong and the dinosaurs are on the loose. Starring Laura Dern, Sam Neill and Jeff Goldblum, the movie is sure to be a blockbuster this summer. No other movies are even scheduled to open on the same day. Still, do yourself a favor and read the book first.

The Firm

Opens July 2

If you're the average "Joe-Shmoe" or "Ann-Spann" then you're one of the many who picked up this best seller by John Grisham, and didn't put it down until you reached the last page. Yes, The Firm is coming to the silver screen and it's guaranteed to be a hit. Tom Cruise stars in it, so already there are millions of women waiting on the ticket line. In case, for some odd reason, you've not read the book, the story is about a law school graduate who signs on with a small , but wealthy partnership that turns out to be a law firm for the mafia. The movie also stars Gene Hackman and Holly Hunter.

Other Possibilities

Hot Shots, Part Deux: Charlie Sheen, Lloyd Bridges. Slapstick comedy. Opens May 21.

Coneheads: Dan Aykroyd, Jane Curtin and a variety of cameo appearances. Comedy. July 23.

Sleepless in Seattle: Tom Hanks, Meg Ryan. Romance, comedy. Opens June 25.

In The Line Of Fire: Clint Eastwood, Rene Russo. Actionadventure, secret service. Opens July 9.

The Fugitive: Harrison Ford, Tommy Lee Jones. Drama, suspense. Opens Aug. 6.

For The Love Of Money: Michael J. Fox. Romance, comedy. Opens Aug. 20.

Young musical talent makes it big

By KENYA JOHNSON Accent Editor

As graduating colleges students, brainwashed to pursue "stable" careers, many of you have long forgotten your dreams to be 'a star'. In this world of risk and chance, who would be crazy enough to pursue their hopes of entering the entertainment business?

Well one group of five young adults were crazy enough, and as a result are now touring America and the United Kingdom promoting their latest album release.

Freestyle Fellowship is a new musical group in the Hip-Hop scene, with a revolutionary sound of their own.

But it wasn't easy getting to the point they are now.

"Our first album was cut 'out of the trunk,' but we realized we needed the contacts and help of an already established record label to start off," explained Acey. It was in this realization that Freestyle Fellowship decided to sign with Island Records and produce "Innercity Griots".

And it's a good thing they did, because the cuts they created are worth an album and then some. Freestyle Fellowship successfully mixes an array of music in a way that listeners cannot help but bob their heads and tap their feet. Songs to especially listen for are "Cornbread," "Everything's Everything," and "Danger". Most impressive is their distinct original jazz sound mixed with their raps. None other has accomplished such crowd-pleasing sounds thus far. As for their future, Freestyle Fellowship is ready for anything that comes their way. Already they've discussed more albums, bigger tours and their own record label. "Basically we plan to maintain and keep in the groove of the overall movement." said Mikah. "We are constantly working on new material-we are constantly creating.'

They've just produced "Innercity Griots", which has recently made it to the floors of all major music stores.

Its heard from the East Coast to the West and across the seas in Europe, but what exactly this new thing called Hip-Hop that has swept our country, and others as well.

"Hip-Hop is influenced by all types of music," said D.J. Kiilu of Freestyle Fellowship. "The entire vibe stems from musics such as jazz, blues and acappella—just good, old soul music."

Aceyalone (Acey), one of the rappers in the group, explained that Hip-Hop is on the rise. "It's developing like all other types of music are. Hip-Hop brings everything into it's music; it's mixes music all together."

Rapper Mikah Nine (Mikah) added, "Music is a language, created by putting layer on top of layer. It's never the same as before because with each new song or beat, we're experiencing, trying to broaden ourselves and our music."

Freestyle Fellowship is composed of four rappers , and one D.J. (for the turntables), all in their early to midtwenties. They have been together for about three years.

"As a child and teenager, music and rapping was just a hobby for all of us," explained Mikah. "We did it for years ,out of love for the music, before we even sought out a record deal."

Courtesy Island Records

At one time, when there was no Freestyle Fellowship, all of the members were simply "doing their own thing."

"Our styles may be different, but we just clicked once we hooked-up," said Kiilu. "We had the same vibe all along," Now, as a result of their "clicking," and similar vibes, Freestyle Fellowship is well on it's way to success. The group plans to stay together for a long time, but realizes changes may occur throughout the years.

"Fellowship may be in a situation where a member moves on to something different, or new members come in," said Acev. "We're all working in one unit and, all working in the same spirit."

Perhaps most importantly, they are all still pursuing their dream. In that alone, they are a success. 13

Page 22

Bashers should come to pray, not scoff

When 1 compare Our Lady's University to the City of Emeralds at the end of the yellow brick road on the far side of the rainbow, I'm only trying to warn you that if you come here as a visitor thinking that Notre Dame derives most of its fame from being the home of the Fighting Irish, you could miss getting anywhere near the soul of the place.

Notre Dame's physical beauty is sacramental. Its leafing and flowering signify the "dearest freshness deep down things...Because the Holy Ghost over the bent/World broods with warm breast and with ah! bright wings."

All of Nature is sacramental; to those who love her, Notre Dame could be the flagship of the sacramental universe. So if you're here to judge us unfairly, or have mean-minded thoughts, you should pray to regain the state of grace, because you're probably not spiritually prepared to receive the Eucharist, either.

For millions of American Catholics—most of them subway alumni—Notre Dame is their New Jerusalem, their marriage feast at Cana.

Of course, the place isn't Eden, idyllic with innocence, but neither is it Camelot. Hugh Latimer's great exit line as a Protestant martyr was: "We shall this day light such a candle by God's grace in England as I trust shall never be put out."

Notre Dame was Sorin's candle in the wilderness, and he compassed it about with a great cloud of witnesses which had the strength of a family not limited, from his day to ours, to the Priests, Brothers and Sisters of the Holy Cross Community.

I'm not trying to stampede the immediate world into believing that Notre Dame is God's little acre, Domers, in their dotage or still in their salad days as students green in judgment, will tell you with grim faces of the lovers' quarrels they have had or are having with their Alma Mater.

Undergraduates, who come here to grow up, are often in pain. Suffering bitterly from legitimate disappointments, they often cry out against what they perceive to be the hypocrisy of administrators who hype the joint to the point of overkill.

Minority students can spend their years here feeling lost, and out of touch with their roots; unless they can learn to forgive Notre Dame, where they feel like fish out of water, they can leave the place, hoping never to see it again.

All of us at the University have an obligation to be sensitive, and to show kindness to the young and the restless living in this community of faith and learning.

What is offensive are the cheap shots from Dome-bashers who never saw the Dome. Some of them stay so busy asking, "How Catholic is Notre Dame anyway?" the question should be turned in a board game like Monopoly.

The bashers show up here with axes to grind, not even dimly aware that they are standing on the Gettysburg of a battlefield of an ancient Faith.

In March, a group of pro-life activists, members of the national pro-life organization, Collegians Activated to Liberate Life (CALL), came on campus to hold a peaceful seven-hour sitin outside University President Monk Malloy's office.

The chutzpah of CALL founder Peter Heers shows how arrogant holy zeal can become, if it is allowed to run amok. He said: "The University of Notre Dame has not done anything to follow the teaching of the Catholic Church on abortion." Monk emphasized to CALL that Notre Dame is a pro-life institution and always has been. Heers said, "President Malloy has an obligation as a Catholic leader. He must stand in solidarity with the victims of crime."

The only thing they asked of me was to pray at a location where abortions are being performed," replied Monk. "I gave them no commitment." Malloy was polite and kind, according to Heers, but his response was disappointing. "Father Malloy said they are content with the present course. He said he is doing other things in other areas, He will take our advice and think about it. IN OUR OPINION HE HAS CHOSEN A PATH OF FAILURE.

We did what we wanted to do, which was talk to Father Malloy with love in our heart. Praise God we got the meeting, but PRAY FOR FATHER MALLOY."

One wishes that the college student who founded CALL had trusted Notre Dame to be Catholic enough to know what its appropriate response to the abortion crisis should be. If he ever wakes up and smells the coffee, he may wish that he had kept his pompous backside off the Notre Dame campus, and stayed home in bed that March day..

At the end of May, Medjugorites will import alleged visionaries from the Sundance country to speak at a convention in the Joyce Center.

The Grotto is Notre Dame's own doorway between worlds, where moral miracles are delivered nightly, like Domino's pizza, to students asking for help in the darkness. Medjugorje has become famous as the watering-hole of the trusting where rosaries are turned gold.

Even if the likelihood of that impressed me more, I'd still remember what Father Hesburgh told the entire Notre Dame family on closed-circuit television in the springtime he retired. The Mother of God may make visits to Lourdes, Fatima, and those other world-famous shrines, he said, but he has it figured out that Our Lady makes her home at Notre Dame.

If Father Hesburgh believes that, so do I, and so should you. Every night when he was on campus, keeping the night watch as President, he used to visit the Grotto, and I felt it was where he got his marching orders.

Now Monk, as his successor, shows up there too, as though this was a responsibility that comes with being the University President.

The Catholic Church has been waiting for a long time for the Catholic Salks and Oppenheimers able to do homework for the Pope in matters of genetics and human reproduction; so much of the modern research in these fields has become Catholicism's stumbling block.

A campus on which 200 Masses are said every day, generating spiritual energy as a powerhouse of grace, could have a scientific mission to push back the darkness surrounding the human condition.

So why have the bashers mounted a campaign to keep Notre Dame narrow in its service to truth, like a denominational college in the Bible Belt? If any of them should come here this weekend to scoff, I hope that instead of bashing, he will remain here to pray.

The Department of Computer Science and Engineering congratulates Our 1st Senior Class of Computer Engineers

Lise Beudoin Devin Brisson Francisco Carrizo Gary Chirhart John DaCosta Ryan de la Pena Richard Fulcher Jeffrey Gerber Joseph Hayes Christina Krakowiecki Daniel Langrill Stephen Macmanus Stephen Murraine

Peter Obringer Tracy Pycik Timothy Quenan Jason Schrader Robery States Kerri Sterling Anthony Stornetta James Tilton Steven Tompkins Mauricio Valdes John Wiseman Limin Yan Friday, May 14, 1993

SMC

continued from page 40

Raster was named Athlete of the Year from 1986-87 and 1987-88. For the 1988 season was named Scholar Athlete with a cumulative grade point average of 3.55.

Raster played all-district basketball for three years. She served as co-captain for two

Classifieds

NOTICES TYPING 256-6657

Kim and Meg rock the world!

SENIORS

LIMITED EDITION WATERCOLOR LITHOGRAPH

$10

Available at LaFortune Info Desk and at the Graduation Dance tonight 9-1.

Proceeds go to the family of Todd Broski.  SENIORS **

SELL YOUR BOOKS FOR $$ Pandora's Books 808 Howard at the BOOKMOBILE ND ave & Howard 233-2342

LOST & FOUND

LOST: A Ricoh camera on the senior cruise. I think I left it on a bus. If you found it, please call me! Lisa x4707.

Lost at Senior Formal in Chicago 1 roll of completed film with 2 months of pictures EXTREME sentimental value if found, PLEASE call Mary at 4619!

WANTED

Young resume writing company seeks student to assist in special project. Pay involved. Please call Philippe Giron at: (800) 562-0400 or (212) 861-7068

SUMMER JOBS ALL LAND/WATER SPORTS PRESTIGE CHILDRENS' CAMPS ADIRONDACK MOUNTAINS NEAR LAKE PLACID CALL 1-800-786-8373

50,000,000 Babies

Looking for responsible female with car to babysit for summer. Discuss hours/pay with interview. Cail 232-6755.

ROOMATES NEEDED, SUMMER AND NEXT YEAR. PLEASE CALL 289-9353 & LEAVE A MESSAGE.

FOR RENT

BED 'N BREAKFAST HOMES FOR

Summer sublet: furnished 2 bdrm house near campus AC, nice vard, $300 Dave 232-7970 SPACIOUS 6, 2 & 1 BDRM

1987

gories:

Assists

Steals

years and was voted MVP in

In 1987, Raster led district 21

Raster graduated from the

Mayer is living in Grosse

Point, Mich. Mayer teaches

University of Notre Dame Law

School in May 1992 and is now

(NAIA) in the following cate-

• Scoring (329 points)

• Field goal percentage practicing law in Chicago.

HOMES. NEAR CAMPUS. FURN. GREAT RATES! AVAIL. NOW, SUMMER & FALL.272-6306 Students Now renting 1300 sq ft condos at College Park Condominiums. All units include -Security systems, -Hard wood floors. All appliances, -Washer & dryer in unit, -Large balconies, -Gas utilities, -Free covered parking, -2 large bedrooms, -2 full bathrooms, Only 1/4 mile from door of Hesburgh library. For appt. - 272-0691 or see Off-Campus Housing office.

FURNISHED ROOM, AIR, KITCHEN, PHONE, 5 MINUTES NORTH OF CAMPUS. 272-0615

FOR SALE

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

South Bend 4 Bedroom, 1/2 mile north of University in Oakmont Park. $150.00 entry fee. (800) 484-7033 x4856 for details.

ND Ski Team T-Shirts Only $10!! Cail John at (708)304-4226

87 Chevy Nova for sale by senior who is moving to NYC and can't afford to keep it there. Excellent shape, air cond, pull out stereo, 4D. $3000 or b.o.. Call Mike at 271-0157

'89 Toyota Celica, 5 speed, air, power, sunroof maroon, tinted windows, viper alarm w/motion. Asking 7,500. 233-8184.

APARTMENT SALE sofa-sleeper, double beds, dressers, end-tables, kitchen table, desk, TV/stereo stand priced to sell* call mark @ 271-1578

Condo- Walk to Notre Dame!! 3 Bedroom, 2 Bath. Large Unit. $79,900. The Prudential Joseph Dunfee Realtors-Kay Norem 299-0110 or 235-3589.

An APPLE Imagewriter 2, excellent original packing, paper included. $175 negotiable. Call evenings before 9, 272-3019.

 SENIORS LIMITED EDITION WATERCOLOR LITHOGRAPH

$10

Available at LaFortune Info Desk and at the Graduation Dance tonight 9-1.

Proceeds go to the family of Todd Broski

SENIOR

1 WY-TICKET; FEMALE MAY 18, S.BND - TAMPA $125 OBO FRANK 634-4539 Looking for one extra ND

commencement ticket. call 284-5254 Thanks

I need extra graduation tix! Please call Kathryn at x2999

PERSONAL

Adopt: we are truly loving couple who can bring love and happiness to your white newborn. We offer financial security and a great future in our oceanside home. Medical/legal expenses covered. 1-800-438-6599 eves

Good luck Whitney Wilds on final exams. We're proud of your accomplishments. Enjoy San Diego - The Stone Family

ATTN: SUMMER SCHOOL STUDENTS $5.50 Haircuts

VITO'S BARBER SHOP 1523 Lincolnway West South Bend, IN 233-4767

Doctor and teacher will make dreams for your baby come true. Full-time parenting. Best of the city; summers by the beach. Your baby rocked to sleep by a cozy fireplace in winter, and by ocean waves in summer. Art. music. the best education, endless love. Call Franny or Stephen collect. (212) 369-2597.

Dear Stephen. I have been longing for your luscious cheeks ever since you walked out of my restaurant in Chicago. When you walked out of Ed's. vou walked out of my life. Come back, come back I want to check you out!

-Riker

SENIORS Class Watercolor Lithograph

Created by David Colgan

On Sale Now

$10

The Observer

elementary school and coaches men and women's tennis at Mayer's was the No. 1 singles and doubles player for two of her four years at Saint Mary's.

She compiled a career win-loss

Mayer received a NCAA

Nationals Singles top-35 ranking at No. 1 singles. She is the only Saint Mary's College tennis player to hold a national Liggate High School.

record of 66-13.

NCAA ranking.

at LaFortune Info Desk

Buy Now, You won't want to graduate without it!!!

SENIORS

Thanks for the memories Pat, Hyer, Harry, Crotch and all the other Freshmen.

Dear Sloan and Cesar, The Observer misses you. Please come back! Love.

The Systems Dept.

pat is poop.

MOM, DAD and Grandmother; Thank you so much for coming here all the way from Seattle and California to be with me on this great day - it wouldn't be the same if you weren't here. Well, here's where your $60,000 went - Thank you so much for all your love and support over the years. I hope I made you proud. Thanks again for being here to share this with me. I love you all very much Patrick

To everyone who's missed seeing their names in the paper since my retirement: LADIES: Nelldog Hey Niff MARGE Lushy & KT Heidi Ho Ho & Karen Marguertie Carot Top Shropp Joyful, Jules, Mo (both of you), Margaret HaughHaugh, Hey Hey Paula, Susan Pollution Sattan, Amy & MC Ann Marie & Mary Gents: Raff Eric (always one of us) Goose Dog & Robert Joe (legs) & Sappy GPB & McCarthy Zahm Guys, Flanner Guys and everyone else I don't the money to mention I wish you all the best in luck and

(i've been trying for two years) gee

The Observer Sports Staff congratulates its graduating seniors

> Jim Vogl Assistant Sports Editor Rich Kurz Associate Sports Editor

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Notre Dame office, 314 LaFortune and from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m. at 309 Haggar College Center, Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. The charge is 2 cents per character per day, including all spaces

Sarabelle - I will miss you so. Have fun across the sea and write often, my pet!

Dianita - Good luck next year, whatever it is you decide I will miss you very much!

Goober, We made it! I want to thank you for all the shared laughter, tears and joy. You can't imagine how much you have meant to me all these years. I love you very much and don't you forget it! Love, Jellybean at Pitt Med!

Jen -

Amy,

Love, Tracy

UNITED 19J

It's been a great 4 years. Good luck to you and Mario! I'll see you in Conn. in July. Love always, Tracy

Lish

Who'd have thought we'd get this far? Don't forget KVL, KCL, and branch element equations! Take care and good luck! Love, Tracy

It's been the best of times and the always been fun. Best of luck to you Received your message. Thanks for expected and I was in Atlanta for worst of times. But it's and Rich and good luck calling. Ad ran later than I rear-view mirror.

I love your big red car.

lesbians were all wash and go.

6. Merchants never fear gay people for looting. It would brought hair spray.

women if you weren't gay?

everything in the store.

men and none of us

Hurry up! I thought you

Gay myth #9: We all have take us too long to try on

I can't believe this - three gay

Do you think you'd respect

That's "Mr. Faggot" to youl

Oh my god - Notre Dame is

We're here! We're queer! Our

9.

8.

3.

2.

1.

here!

good taste

the week. Can't quite get you out of my head. I relocate to Boston for work June 1 and could use a guide. Please call again and leave a number if you get my machine. (502) 894-9994. Bill 20J TOP TEN QUOTATIONS FROM THE 1993 March on Washington for Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Equal Rights and Liberation: 10. There's no better sight than South Bend in the love in the real world, and will miss you like an itchy rash. Thanks for the memories — Mony DFK: don't know how to say it so i won't. means more than quantity. I have a lot of good memories from these last few weeks to keep with me over the summer. I'll miss you. Love, Amy

page 23

To the women of 34/7 London Spring '92:

To Ann, I leave rice sculpting recipes and a great year out west. To Andrea, a pillow from Cong and a rug to rip up with all those dance moves.

To Margaret, a mean 'ol piece 'o paper.

To Bukolt, a weekend in Wales with Kenneth Branagh. To Tini, a bottle of Woodpecker and a hot date. To Soks, a tulip from Regents Park.

I'll miss you guys!

Love, Mad Dog

LAST WILL & TESTAMENT OF SBOX:

I leave the following to the following Cheeseballs: MCV, a box of lenders; JE, a cactus; AMM & EH, Def Leppard; ST, a damned banana place; JH, whipped creme; AL, closed for grooming; LH, who's your daddy!; and to SR, senior frog & a deck of cards. Enjoy the gifts and good luck!

To Each of Our 242 Accounting Graduates. Wishes for Continued Success! The Faculty and Staff of the Department of Accountancy, College of Business Administration.

TONY GENTINE

Congratulations on your upcoming marriage. You better not run away from the wedding the way you ran away from us Wednesday night. THE GUYZ

HAPPY BIRTHDAY & GOOD LUCK.

To Marty..these 4 yrs have been great, I wouldn't trade them at all.

Nicole- no more probation, now you're the queen of the school.

Veronica- you always gave the best advice. Beth- I will learn E-mail for you. Pat- again that reminder that looks don't coorelate w/age. Chip-

Jen B.- we'll be fantastic MDs.

free drinks with every engagement.

Congrats Rock! To Perry and Gibb

(Group hug, everybody)

MONICA,

I'LL MISS YOU.

LOVE, SHIRLEY

219-291-7153.

3 bedroom, 4 blocks south of N.D. $490. Laundry. 674-6046, 234-1883.

3-5 person furnished house, sec system, wash/dry, beach V-ball, prime location. $500. 109 N. St. Peter, 233-9947.

ROOM FOR RENT, Privacy, Util. incl., Must see, Male preferred, ph 291-9093

1 blk from ND Apts. Safe, affordable, furnished apts. At 755 South Bend Ave .: STUDIO: $215 1-BDRM: $245 2-BDRM: $330

At 607 E. Corby 1 BDRM: $265

At 519 E. Corby: 2 BDRM: $280

SUMMER OR FALL. Dep. & References. 1-800-582-9320.

SMC approved LOFT in great condition for sale at BEST offer !!!

Call Mara at 284-5254

**** *****

incusbus-the campus CD is on sale at the Info. Desk in LaFortune

the disc only costs $8

Get yours now-it's good stuff!

(sponsored by SUB) **********************

WEDDING GOWN, "DEMETRIOS", SIZE 6. GORGIOUS. NEVER WORN. $500. 271-5632.

TICKETS

Sess, Di, Pfouts, Tini, Aimo, Chrissy, TePot, REM, Gab, Fitz, Ann, Mony, Kathy, Kelly, Melissa, P.I, Susie, Tara, Bridget, Dora, Margaret--Thanks for the memories! I'll miss you! -Jahnelle

To the guys at 203 E. Marion, Judge, Doug, Tim, Steve and Ed-Bye, guys! I'll miss you! -Jahnelle

Mith, Fith and Steen: Thanks for everything over the past four years-I couldn't have done it without you! Love, Jith

Shirley, Mony, Dave, Kenya, Meredith, Kevin, Ro, Scrudato, Jeanne, Rich, Rock, Marguerite, Dan and everyone else at The Big O: Thanks for everything! Nell

If you are moving to D.C. permanently, join the CLUB!! (The N.D. alumni club of D.C. that is!) Information packets with all you ever wanted to know about life in D.C. are available at the LaFortune Info desk, the alumni office, career and placement, and the government dept. To join the club, call Elsie Kozak Crawford, '90, 202-332-4943. Membership FREE!!

gad-wa.

ps: i will miss you, you know - the fat & ugly & ridiculous one pat is great

WATER POLO STUD You did it! Congratulations, sweetie! I wish you luck and happiness in all that you do. And just remember, soldier boy, I'll be true to you.

I love you, Carrie

IL. couple married 10 yrs. longing for a family. We offer endless love, security, deep Christian family values, education, close extended family with cousins & large group of friends with children just waiting for a playmate. Please call 800-382-8897, We'd love to talk to you.

Dear Sara and Diana,

Mod Quad just won't be the same without you. Hope you have a great graduation and that you come back and visit us ASAP! Arabic Dan parents think we're studying!

AMY NICKNISH.

We have had a blast for the past six weeks and we're looking forward to more great times! Best of luck at Boston U. We'll miss you. Love, Russ and Chippa

Dear Mom and Dad Schropp, Thank you for the four most incredible years of my life. I could have never made it this far without both of you. I love you

Your daughter.

Marguerite

Hey

Your Ho, Schroppwoman, Cavanagh and Gorman have to leave now. But the party will never end! Love, Me

Charles,

Always remember that quality and everyone..I couldn't mention...what an experience it's been. Trish - wait for me and I'll be there. Adios N.D. - I loved every minute. Hasta la vista..Rich

SENIORS

LIMITED EDITION WATERCOLOR LITHOGRAPH

$10

Available at LaFortune Info Desk and at the Graduation Dance tonight 9-1.

Proceeds go to the family of Todd Broski

SENIORS

TO THE SIEGFRIED HALL CLASS OF 1993

THANKS FOR ALL THE TIME, ENERGY AND TALENT YOU'VE GIVEN OVER THE PAST FOUR YEARS. FAREWELL AND BEST WISHES FOR THE FUTURE.

SIEGFRIED WILL MISS YOU.

By NICOLE MCGRATH Saint Mary's News Editor

When it's all said and done, the Belles' Class of 1993 seniors were a crop of leaders and their spots will be hard to fill in the future.

Kristin Crowley

"Whatever season I was in, that was the sport I dedicated myself to," said Crowley.

Crowley started all four years as a soccer forward and a basketball guard. She was co-captain for soccer and basketball and was co-president of the Student Athletic Council.

In basketball, she was nationally ranked No. 3 in three-point shooting percentage by the NCAA Division III. She shot 50 percent from the floor. She was the second highest scorer on the team(286 points) and was the floor leader.

Crowley was nominated for Athlete of the Year. She received the Coaches' Award in Soccer and was voted MVP in basketball. She also won this year's 1992-93 Director's Award.

According to Jo-Ann Nester, director of athletics and recreation, Crowley came back after two knee surgeries. "She's a real leader. She came back from near career-ending injuries," added Nester.

For Crowley, two moments stand out in her mind from her playing soccer and basketball. Beating St.Joseph College in soccer at St.Joseph's because they are Division II, she said. It was a tough battle; a physical game this past year. "I'm going to miss Stacy Winget and Megan Dalsaso. They are good friends and co-captains with me." In basketball, it was defeating Bethel College in overtime. Crowley had her career high in that game. Her junior year, they beat St. Francis in the last five seconds of the game. "The Cougers missed a free throw. A Belles' forward got the ball, passed to me and I shot from the top of the key. Hit the threepointer and we won,"she said.

"The whole senior year will stick out in my mind. I'll miss everyone basically but mostly the seniors like Kim Holmes and Julie Snyder," Crowley added.

Crowley will be going to Hermosa Beach, Calif. this summer and taking physics at U.C.L.A. She plans on taking the MCAT's in September and then applying to medical or graduate schools.

"It's been an excellent four years. The whole attitude of going to an all-women's college benefitted me for going into the 'real world'."

"I'm very happy with my decision to go here. I'm not afraid to go out in the real world. I'm ready. I've been thinking about it a lot. It's been a positive four years at Saint Mary's."

Karen Lorton

"Kristin (Crowley) and I are moving to California after graduation. I want to work somewhere in sports marketing. We hope to have a good time for a few years and then move back to the Midwest," said the business administration major.

As co-captain of the volleyball team, she was selected to the NCAA Division III All-Regional Team. Lorton was also selected to the All-Tournament Team at the Baldwin-Wallace tournament. She was ranked No. 1 in the nation in Division III in hitting percentage and No. 2 in the nation in kills per game.

Lorton set two new school records in hitting percentage and kills per game. She also set new school records with 1243 total kills, kill average, total hitting attempts, hitting percentage, .963 serve percentage and total digs.

Lorton started in every game while playing both front row and back row. She is also copresident of the Student Athletic Council.

According to Nester, Lorton was MVP in volley ball this year. She also was a finalist in the voting for Division III NCAA AllAmerican. Lorton was honored with the 1992-93 Athlete of the Year Award.

As a freshman, Lorton remembers playing a tough Division II St. Joseph College. According to her, the Belles were suppose to lose but they wouldn't give up.

"We came in there and thought we'd get our butts wiped off the floor. We took them to five games and won," said Lorton.

Stacy Winget

"She's a four-year starter and a very talented player. She has always given alot to the program," Nester said.

This year, Winget was the second highest scorer on the team. She also was one of the tri-captains in an overall season of 10-3-1.

For the 1991-92 season, Winget was the second highest scorer and second highest in assists. "It's hard. It's a difficult time commitment," said Nester. see PROFILES page 25

Commissioned through Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps Best wishes for your continued success

> Army ROTC Cadre May 15, 1993

Profiles

continued from page 24

"I'm moving back to Saint Louis and will be in-between jobs. Working at home either in financial services or as a sales representative,"said Winget.

'I've played soccer since I was five years old. I started when I went to private grade schools. Soccer is big in the Saint Louis community.

"I'm not going miss it because I can play in women's leagues in Saint Louis. I will miss the Saint Mary's community. The team was close. I'm gonna miss everyone and representing the school," Winget added.

Cheryl Fortunak

Fortunak was co-captain and was voted MVP for track. She was a Golden Spike Winner at the University of Chicago meet.

Her indoor school records include running the 800m in 2:33 during 1990. Also in 1990, she set a 4:12 outdoor school record in the 4x400m relay along with Heidi Finniff, Beth Seymour and Leslie Tedraw.

For 1991, Fortunak was part of a 14:17 record-breaking distance medley relay which included Sara Gildea, Jackie Buckley and Nicole Hill. This past year, Fortunak set a 8'6'

SAINT MARY'S SENIOR PROFILES

high jump record with Tina Gruber.

"I had tendinitis in my knee which made me drop back from the 800m to concentrating on the 400m," said Fortunak. Fortunak plans on staying in this area and in the future, she wants to coach track. "I have an interview next Tuesday. I would like to work in an investment company or in busi-ness management," she added.

According to Fortunak, running on the track team has always helped her keep things in perspective at school. "It's helped me develop leadership skills. It's been alot of fun.

Natalie Kloepfer Kloepfer, a biology major and chemistry minor, served as the captain of the tennis team. She has played in the top six in tennis singles and top three in doubles for four years. According to Nester, Kloepfer received the Coaches' Award this year.

For Kloepfer, going to Kansas City her freshman year, for the nationals will always be a highlight of her tennis career. "We had so much team unity,"she added.

Kloepfer is a Presidential Scholar who has maintained High Academic Honors (3.8 or better) for four years. She has served on the Biology club, Student Athletic Council and the Saint Mary's College Academic Council.

"Hopefully I'll be working in a hospital for a year. Next, I'm going to reapply to graduate school for genetic counseling,' she said.

Jenny Danahy

Danahy has been co-captain for the past three years of the swimming and diving team. According to Nester, Danahy set the school record in the 200 breast stroke. Danahy is a business major with concentrations in marketing, management and finance.

"I'm going to work for LaSalle Bank in Chicago," said Danahy. "I had to miss alot of practices to find this job. It turned out really well.

Dear Seniors of Zahm,

The past four years, sadly enough, have come and gone. However, the memories that both you and the remaining residents of this hall share with one another will last long after you depart from here, your home away from home. Each one of you has made a lasting impression upon this university, this hall, and those who proudly refer to themselves as Zahmbies.

From the time of Freshman Orientation and those nerve-wracking days and nights spent feeling the wrath of ODIN, through four years of home football weekends (and numerous pre-game festivities, for those of you who can remember them), ZITS, the Decade Dance, SYR's, community gatherings for prayer at Mass in our chapel, Zahm athletic contests, late night conversations with Keenan and Cavanaugh Halls, and other unique activities that are not fit for print, and now concluding with this final and most special weekend, you have been a part of an experience that is unique to Notre Dame and Zahm Hall.

We want to thank you for gladly sharing these special moments with us. Through these moments and your presence in our everyday lives, you have provided us with an example to follow as we continue on our own paths toward commencement. All the advice, time, memories, and fun that you shared will remain with us along the way and long afterward.

All of us hope that as you embark on the rest of your lives, you leave here full of those same memories. We wish you the best of luck in all of your future pursuits, that success and happiness may be found wherever you go. Please remember where you came from and that you will always have a home within the cozy confines of Zahm. Be proud of who you are and what you have achieved thus far. May God bless you. Love, The Men of Zahm P.S. SEE YUH!

page 26

The Observer

Irish athletes looking to qualify for NCAAs

By JASON KELLY Sports Writer

It will be an end for some and a beginning for others when the men's and women's track teams travel to the Illini Twilight Meet tonight in Champaign, Illinois.

For most of the athletes on both teams, tonight's meet will mark the end of the season, but for others it is just the first step on the road to the NCAA Championships.

The runners finishing up their season are just trying to end with their best time," said sophomore distance runner Stefanie Jensen. "But some other runners are looking to improve their times enough to qualify for the NCAAs.'

Jensen is one of those runners. Already a provisional qualifier in the 5000 along with classmate Sarah Riley, Jensen will use tonight's meet as a warmup for next week's Santa Monica Distance Classic, where she and Riley will look to solidify a spot in the NCAA field. Riley will sit out tonight's meet to rest up for next week's race. Both Jensen and Riley have run a 16:42, three seconds better than the NCAA's provisional qualifying time. But the automatic qualifying time is 16:25, so they would like to shave a few seconds off their time to improve their chances of joining the field in New Orleans on June 2.

'We need to run in the low 16:30s to ensure a spot in the NCAAs," Jensen said.

Emily Husted also has an outside chance to reach the NCAAs. She remains eight seconds off the provisional pace in the 1500, and a great race tonight could get her into the

On the men's side, the field events dominate the NCAA hopes. John Smerek and Stuart Tyner each have a shot to join the field in the discus, while Todd Herman is already a provisional qualifier in the high jump.

John Coyle and Nate Ruder will anchor the distance events and John Cowan will look to continue his assault on the steeplechase competition.

The men's team is coming off an impressive second-place finish in the Central Collegiate Championships, where Cowan took the steeplechase crown and Coyle and Ruder eclipsed the competition in the 5000 meter run.

1993 from the

(404) 242-4487

Senior John Coyle will lead the Irish distance runners in today's meet at the University of Illinois.

Good luck and Good dreams to the Seniors of Pasquerilla West. We'll miss you! -Pasquerilla West Community-

FOR THE SIX OUT OF TEN PEOPLE WHO DIDN'T VOTE FOR BILL CLINTON "Not sacrifice for Yours for only the Middle Class sacrifice of the $8, plus $3 Middle Class." shipping and handling. (Regularly $10). Use the order form below or

Friday, May 14, 1993

