Russians smash through siege of Parliament

By BARRY RENFREW

Associated Press

MOSCOW

Thousands of anti-government protesters armed with rocks, clubs and macnhine guns smashed through the siege of parliament Sunday, and sent police fleeing in battles across Moscow. It was the worst political violence in Moscow since the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

more on RUSSIA, page 7

Authorities said at least 24 civilians and soldiers were reported killed, and as many 100 were injured.

A column of 40 armored vehicles loyal to President Boris Yeltsin rolled into central Moscow early Monday, taking up positions outside the Kremlin and Defense Ministry. It was the army's first major show of force during the nearly 2-week-old crisis between the government and hard-line law-makers barricaded in parliament.

Yeltsin, rushing back to the Kremlin by helicopter from his country home, declared a state of emergency, giving police and troops wide power to crack down on unrest.

Thousands of unarmed Yeltsin supporters took to the streets to support the president, who dissolved parliament Sept. 21 in an effort to end his long power struggles with the Soviet era parliament bent on hobbling his reforms.

The protesters, an odd mixture of communists, fascists and extreme nationalists united by their opposition to Yeltsin, struck suddenly and fiercely on Sunday, beating young riot police in vicious street fighting and seizing Moscow's City Hall.

They attacked the country's main television complex with rocket-propelled grenades. Government paratroopers in armored personnel carriers sprayed them with machinegun fire. Three TV channels went off the air and fighting raged into Monday morning.

At least 20 civilians were killed and more than 100 were injured, excluding casualties from the broadcast station, said Igor Nadezhdin, an official with Moscow's main medical authority. In addition, fighting killed four soldiers and injured dozens, city officials said without elaboration. Exact figures were impossible to gather.

The Interfax news agency reported eight people were killed in fighting at the TV complex, but there was no immediate confirmation.

Hard-line lawmakers urged their triumphant followers to seize other installations and take control of the government. They chanted "Yankee Go Home" and called for Yeltsin's overthrow and the "liquidation" of his government.

"We have to take the Kremlin," parliament speaker Ruslan Khasbulatov told the parliament, referring to the government seat of power where Yeltsin was in his office.

In addition to the armored vehicles that arrived early Monday, government forces were guarding the Kremlin, and pro-Yeltsin supporters erected barricades near the Kremlin and at City Hall.

"The fate of Russia and the fate of our children is being decided today," Yeltsin said in a statement distributed by the ITAR-Tass news agency. The agency itself was freed by a police commando unit after it was seized by rebels who burst into its office with machine guns.

U.S. supports Yeltsin amid violence

By JIM ABRAMS Associated Press

WASHINGTON

President Clinton said Sunday the United States must not waver in its support for Russian President Boris Yeltsin as his battle against conservative forces erupted into violence on the streets of Moscow.

"I still am convinced that the United States must support President Yeltsin and the process of bringing about free and fair elections," Clinton told reporters on the White House lawn about two hours after Yeltsin declared a state of emergency in Moscow.

Yeltsin informed the U.S. government Sunday he would "do what is necessary" to end the rebel uprising in Moscow, Strobe Talbott, the president's chief adviser on Russia, told The Associated Press later.

As elite troops moved on the capital, Yeltsin also notified U.S. Ambassador Thomas Pickering that "they are going to use as little force as possible," Talbott said.

White House press secretary Dee Dee Myers said Clinton was kept abreast of developments as he flew to Sacramento, Calif., on Sunday afternoon and "is greatly for the restraint that (Yeltin) has shown so far."

Talbott said the administration supported Yeltsin from the beginning of his struggle with hardliners in parliament "because of what he stands for — democracy, reform and building a civil society."

Australians face government change

By JOHN RYAN News Writer

Australians will soon have to confront issues that will possibly change their form of government, and also help to ease relations with the native aborigines, according to Father

Miscamble, associate history professor, and Dirk Moses, history graduate student.

discussed the Bill Miscamble situations at hand for Australians, and what possible avenues of action the nation might take in his Fireside Chat on Friday.

One of the main issues that Australians face today is the possibility of a change in their form of government, said Miscamble.

Currently the Australians utilize a parliamentary democracy, which is somewhat of a "hybrid of the British Parliamentary system and the United States' Constitutional system," he said.

Many Australians, however, urge to sever the nation's ties to England, he said.

"I believe that part of Australia's evolvement into a nation involves of the cutting of the umbilical cord to England," said Father Miscamble.

Australia has had close ties to England since its early years, but "as it becomes more ethnically diverse, the ties to England are being loosened," said Moses.

Australia must decide what type of government it should adopt, said Moses.

One possibility is a republic similar to that of Germany, with a president and a chancellor to handle the political leader and figurehead roles. "It is necessary to push ahead for a republic, but in a cautious manner," said Father Miscamble.

Another issue that Australians are currently dealing with is that of a settlement with the native aborigines, said Until the 1960s the aborigines had been the victims of "some pretty savage treatment," said Moses. But since then the Australians have come to address the mistreatment of the natives, and have made efforts to come to terms with them, he said.

Aborigines represent two to three percent of Australia's total population, said Miscamble. Today, many aborigines live in the outback, but many have moved into the urban areas, he said.

"Those that live in urban areas live on periphery and in poverty," said Father Miscamble.

Aborigines are currently struggling to regain some of their property rites, and also to overcome some residual racism, he said, adding that it is a problem similar to that which Native Americans faced, but not nearly as bad as the problems that exist in South Africa.

As Australia faces these issues, it will find a new identity, and also find new roles in the world, said Miscamble.

Committee on women's center holds open house

By JULIE BARRETT

Associate News Editor

The Women's Resource Center committee is holding an open house for the new center today from 1 to 10 p.m. in the Notre Dame Student Government office on the second floor of LaFortune to answer questions about the center, its hours, purpose and goals, and to gather ideas for future programs and seminars.

The committee has also sent in an application to be recognized as a student group after their proposal to become an official University organization was recently rejected by the office of Student Affairs, according to junior Katie Glynn, a member of The Women's Resource Center committee.

"All Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students, faculty and staff are invited to attend the open house and are asked to help out with the center in any way they can," said graduate student Patty O'Donnell, a member of the committee. "Even the local media has been invited to cover the opening of the center."

A list of resources from the Notre Dame and South Bend communities and several pamphlets regarding specific women's issues and concerns will be available during the open house, as well.

"Information from ND Health and Counseling Services and the Drug and Alcohol Awareness Center will be available, along with a list of some names and numbers of groups offering services to women in the South Bend area," O'Donnell added.

"Eventually, [the Women's Resource committee] will be building up a library of resources dealing with women-related issues," said committee member Linda Chalk. "The Graduate Student Union (GSU) has given the center approximately $500 that they made at ty. But now, two years later, it's time to move on to another phase—a full-time center that offers not only service opportunities, but educational and post-graduate ones as well.

There is a plan in the very tentative stages of development that would create the Christian Service Center, a replica of Notre Dame's Center for Social Concerns. The development of the center could not come soon enough or fast enough for the Saint Mary's.

The plan is an initiative of the Sisters of the Holy Cross. They see the center as a way that they can remain a vital part of the College they founded 150 years ago. The College should see the center as a vital part of their mission as a Catholic institution.

In the surrounding community, Saint Mary's is elusive. Many people know that the College exists, but their knowledge of Saint Mary's ends there. A center that provides a consistent and necessary community link would not only benefit the image of Saint Mary's, but it would impact the community and students in a positive way as well.

Support of the center should in no way belittle the efforts of students who have formed S.U.R.V. They have spent countless hours in the office working and rethinking ways to make the center every thing that a center for service should be, but S.U.R.V. will never be the CSC.

It lacks the full-time staff that would provide continuity and direction from year to year. It does not have the financial resources or influence to provide career development opportunities. It does not coordinate all service opportunities or clubs under one roof. It is time to move forward with the base provided by S.U.R.V. to form a center for students that truly fits their

The College is in a position now where oppor tunities to serve are fragmented and uncoordinated throughout campus. A person who wants to learn about service opportunities can look to S.U.R.V., Campus Ministry, the Justice Education program, Circle K, residence hall projects... It is unclear for the Saint Mary's student just where to turn.

Following the course of what students at Notre Dame did more than 10 years ago to patch together and coordinate their countless service activities. Saint Mary's should invest in the founding of their own version of the CSC.

Through the initiative of Notre Dame's Mary Meg McCarthy and other students, a wellplanned and researched proposal landed on the desk of President Emeritus Father Theodore Hesburgh and eventually was approved by the Board of Trustees to bring together what has evolved as the pinnacle of service opportunities and education at Notre Dame.

It is well past time for Saint Mary's to follow

Troops killed in Somalia

At least five Americans were killed Sunday during a U.N. military operation against Somali warlord Mohamed Farrah Aidid, the Pentagon reported. Some U.S. troops were also wounded and two U.S. Army Black Hawk helicopters were shot down during the operation, said a statement issued in Washington. Stockwell said the Humvee was about a quarter mile from the United Nations' port complex when the mine exploded.A Blackhawk helicopter was shot at when it arrived at the scene, but managed to land and rescue the survivors, Stockwell said. The Blackhawk and two other helicopters returned fire with machine guns and cannons, Stockwell said. He said there were "undoubtedly" casualties on the other side, but said he did not know how many. The Marines were hospitalized in stable condition Sunday evening with shrapnel wounds and burns. In Washington, U.S. Defense Secretary Les Aspin rejected suggestions Sunday that the United States immediately withdraw from U.N. peacekeeping efforts in Somalia, saying such a move would lead to a return of famine in the African nation."We're all looking for a date certain" to withdraw, Aspin said on CBS' "Face the Nation." "The trick is to withdraw ... in a way in which at least enough security remains behind so that the famine does not return. And that's what we're wrestling with."Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., said on the program that Congress may cut off money for the Somalia mission if the administration doesn't bring home its troops. There are 28,000 troops from 28 countries in Somalia, where the United Nations took over from the United States in May. The U.N. forces came to protect food shipments to starving Somalis, but have become increasingly bogged down in fighting Aidid's forces. Aidid, who says the U.N. troops have become an unwanted occupying force, has been blamed for masterminding attacks that have killed 56 peacekeepers since June. Stockwell said Sunday's attack on the Humvee was the fifth mine explosion aimed at U.S. forces. Four American soldiers were killed Aug. 8 when a mine explosion tore apart their Humvee. The Humvee attacked Sunday was carrying sandbags to protect against a mine attack, Stockwell said."We believe that helped preserve life today," he said

of summer camp convinced him every child should have a chance to go to camp, even if seriously ill. Schwarzkopf announced Saturday he has joined Paul Newman in founding a 125-acre bivouac for boys and girls in Cassia. This is very special to me because it involves children," Schwarzkopf said. Modeled after the Hole in the Wall Gang camp that Newman founded in Ashford, Conn., the Lake County facility will be called the Boggy Creek Gang. It will be designed for seriously ill children whose medical needs usually force them to stay at home. Attendance will be free. Newman has pledged $1 million to the Boggy Creek Gang. The camp will cost $15 million and have 40 buildings, including 16 camper cabins, a theater, a farm, a nature center, a dining hall and recreational buildings. The land was donated by the Walt Disney Cancer Institute at Florida Hospital. Groundbreaking is set for February, and the first campers should arrive in 1995.

Chicago teacher talks break off

Talks broke up Sunday without a settlement between Chicago teachers and the school board, and a federal judge will decide whether classes continue past Monday for 411,000 students. The Board of Education asked U.S. District Judge Charles P. Kocoras to extend by 30 more days his order to keep schools open, even though the school budget isn't balanced as the law requires. Schools have been operating since mid-September under two successive restraining orders by Kocoras, the second of which runs through Monday. If he refuses the board's newest request, the schools would shut down Tuesday indefinitely. More talks between the two sides are scheduled for Tuesday, said teachers union President Jacquelyn Vaughn. As talks broke up early Sunday, she said progress was "very small." Board President D. Sharon Grant said she was "very disappointed."

A Washington firefighter weighed in with a huge pumpkin that would make nearly 400 pies, but had his title as grower of the world's largest pumpkin squashed by a factory worker from New York.Donald Black took the title Saturday with an 884-pound pumpkin, the Great Pumpkin Commonwealth said. Black, who works at a slipper factory and grows pumpkins as a hobby, drove 22 hours from his home in Winthrop, N.Y., to the contest in Windsor, Nova Scotia, with his monster pumpkin loaded in the back of his pickup truck."It's just good seed, good luck," he said.Black pocketed $4,000, a free weekend in California and $1,250 for each weekend his pumpkin can be exhibited in California until Halloween. Joel Holland, 44, of Puyallup, Wash., set the previous record last year with a behemoth that weighed 827 pounds. The giant gourd he grew this year, 3 feet high and measuring 13 1/2 feet in circumference, tipped the scales at 792 pounds at one of six weigh-offs sponsored by the Great Pumpkin Commonwealth."It was a mean little pumpkin, right from the start, so I knew it had potential," Holland said. He estimated his entry, which at its peak gained a pound a day, would make almost 400 pumpkin pies

"I go zoom!" was all a 3-year-old boy had to say after grabbing his parent's car keys and taking a wild joyride. Florida Highway Patrol troopers remain stumped as to how Mikey Sproul, who stands just 30 inches tall, was able to hit the gas pedal and maneuver at the same time. The toddler's steering was a bit suspect. He hit three cars in less than a half-mile during the ride Friday. But no one was hurt, including him."It never dawned on me he would drive a car," said Paula Sproul, his mother. "Not as a 3-year-old anyway."Mikey's trip started just after midnight when, as his parents slept, he climbed their 5foot bedroom dresser and snatched the keys. Dressed in nothing but his underwear, he hopped into the 1979 Mercury and fired it up. While backing out the driveway and shifting into drive, he hit two cars at an auto repair shop next door.

SMC multi-cultural week starts today

By NICOLE MCGRATH Saint Mary's News Editor

The first Saint Mary's Multicultural week begins today with a student panel discussing different foreign study programs, according to the Office of Multicultural affairs director, Maricela Ramirez.

"I expect greater participation since the office has been here for five years,"said Ramirez. "I hope that the students will see this as an opportunity to learn from each other.

Ramirez said, in years past. the Office of Multicultural affairs (formerly the Minority, International and Non-Traditional office) had sponsored panel discussions but they did not organize a multicultural week.

"There's a difference this year because there is more publicity and more student involvement which includes traditional and non-traditional students,"said Ramirez.

According to her, student involvement has varied between Resident Advisors talking up the event in their dorms and student clubs organizing events.

"The different student clubs have been very involved by preparing food, setting up the fashion show and organizing meetings,"said Ramirez.

Thursday's lecture should prove to be an interesting one. according to Ramirez."It's not very often do we get to learn the contribution of American-African women in our country,'

"It's a great opportunity for both campuses to learn about a particular group of women who have been excluded from our community and our society." added Ramirez.

The rest of the week's events include:

Nominee requests confidential documents

By RICHARD KEIL
Associated Press

WASHINGTON
While awaiting Senate confirmation, President Clinton's nominee to oversee the government's savings and loan cleanup requested confidential investigative documents involving a Florida thrift executive he has known for years.

The ethics rules for the Resolution Trust Corp., the S&L cleanup agency, mandate that all agency employees avoid even the "appearance of conflicts of interest" by recusing themselves from cases involving individuals they know.

In an Aug. 20 memo, which was obtained by The Associated Press, RTC president-designate Stanley Tate asked the agency's top lawyer to provide him a detailed status report on the investigations and lawsuits against Miami-based CenTrust Savings.

"In order to better understand how the RTC initiates and manages action against directors, officers and professional firms, I would like to use the CenTrust case as a starting point...," Tate's memo said.

Tate requested details on "suits against individuals and professional firms" and said he recognized "some of this information may be privileged and confidential," according to the memo.

"I would be willing to sign a confidentiality agreement," Tate wrote in the memo to RTC acting general counsel Richard Aboussie.

Tate, whose nomination is pending before the Senate Banking Committee, said in an interview with the AP he decided not to read the material after he received it because the package was marked "private and confidential."

He added his relationship with former CenTrust president

David Paul had no bearing on his request.

"I would never involve myself in something privileged," Tate said. "I've tried very hard not to interfere in policy matters or deal with things like that before I am confirmed."

Paul, a Florida banker and developer, goes on trial Wednesday in Miami on criminal charges he diverted $3.2 million in CenTrust money for his personal use, falsified his tax returns, and lied to federal regulators.

The RTC still has pending litigation involving Paul and CenTrust, whose failure cost taxpayers $1.7 billion.

Tate said he knows Paul primarily because the two served together during the mid-1980s on the board of Miami's Jackson Memorial Hospital.

But two sources familiar with Tate's previous service on an RTC regional advisory board in Florida said Tate once organized a luncheon for his board colleagues at Paul's office.

One said Tate also talked about eating lunch with Paul on a weekly basis. Both spoke on condition they not be named.

A former RTC official, also speaking on condition of anonymity, said Tate also attended — as a spectator — a RTC hearing against Paul this past spring in Florida.

In the interview, Tate declined to answer whether he attended RTC proceedings involving Paul. "I've been involved in so many RTC activities," he said. "Why don't you fixate on some of the good things that I've done."

He denied eating lunch with Paul on a regular basis and said his dealings with the CenTrust head have been limited to occasional get-togethers involving their service on the hospital board and other charitable endeavors.

The Women's Resource

The Women's Resource Committee is still having the open house despite recent problems they have had in getting University recognition of the center.

"Student Affairs rejected our proposal for University recognition," Glynn said, "but the committee sent in a proposal last Thursday for recognition as a student club. Because our group is now in this application process, that's considered enough to be able to open the center."

Although as a student organization the center will receive a certain stipend from the University, the committee sees their recognition as such a group as only a stepping stone in the process to becoming an official University organization.

"Being a student organization is only a stepping stone to becoming an all-inclusive one also involving faculty and staff and funded by the University." Glynn said. "Because [the Women's Resource Committee] has received support from all components of the University—the Faculty Senate, the GSU and ND Student Government—the group should not only be limited to being a student group."

Student Affairs could not be reached for comment.

The committee is in the process of forming an advisory group for the center which will be comprised of two University administrators, two faculty and one staff members, and two students.

Eileen Kolman, associate provost of the Freshman Year of Studies and one of the administration representatives, has already been nominated as the group's official advisor.

The advisory board members will be chosen and organized by the end of the week and will hold a meeting then to discuss future plans and ideas, according to Glynn.

The center office hours planned for now will be from 3 to 7 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesday.

Encyclical offers moral guidance

Associated Press

VATICAN CITY
The release of the Vatican's long-awaited encyclical reaffirming traditional church precepts was timed to offer clear moral guidance amid growing challenges to the teachings.
Pope John Paul II suggested
Sunday.

"This document, much waited for and elaborated at length, is only being published now because it appears convenient to make it precede as the catechism of the church rather than holding a complete and methodical Christian moral exposition," the pope said in a sermon at St. Peter's Basilica.

He said the Roman Catholic Church feels obligated to guide followers who are "disoriented between so many discordant voices."

The encyclical was started six years ago and is considered one of the pope's defining documents. It sets an uncompromising tone against theologians and others questioning fundamental church teachings such as bans on birth control, divorce and homosexuality.

It urges the world's bishops to adhere to strict church tenets and warns theologians they have "a grave duty to train the faithful" on them, according to a text published Sunday in The New York Times.

The Vatican plans to officially release the 180-page encyclical on Tuesday, but details of the document "Veritatis Splendor" (The Splendor of Truth) have been published in the media.

The pope said Sunday that the church cannot remain silent or alter its message "in order to favor transient ways."

"A church that would indulge in this logic would no longer be the 'faithful spouse' of Christ'," the pontiff said.

The pope said the encyclical would "contribute to the best comprehension of the exact message of the Gospel" and he urged Roman Catholics to accept it with "quick and cordial adherence."

The encyclical reportedly tells bishops they have an obligation to censure dissenting theologians and remove the word Catholic from the names of universities, schools, hospitals and social-service agencies that do not reflect papal teaching.

The pope does not invoke papal infallibility in the encyclical, but strongly reasserts the church's ability to identify and teach basic morality.

"No damage must be done to the harmony between faith and life: the unity of the church is damaged not only by Christians who reject or distort the truths of faith but also by those who disregard the moral obligations to which they are called by the Gospel," the pope wrote, according to the text published in the Times.

DALLAS

Two senior government officials who were accused in a report of lying and misleading the public after the botched Branch Davidian raid have resigned.

Dan Hartnett, 53, associate director of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, and Dan Conroy, 50, deputy associate ATF director, quit Saturday, The Dallas Morning News reported Sunday.

Hartnett, a 24-year agency veteran, and Conroy, with the agency for 26 years, were the top ATF officials in Waco after the Feb. 28 raid.

They were among five ATF officials placed on administrative leave last week after release of a Treasury Department review into the raid. The Treasury Department oversees the ATF.

The report said the raid should have been canceled when an undercover ATF agent told commanders that cult leader David Koresh knew that agents were coming to arrest him and search for illegally stockpiled weapons.

The report said that Hartnett and Conroy, along with others in Washington, failed to take into account the inexperience of raid commanders in planning the raid, and did not recognize the need for less risky contingency plans.

Peronists win in Argentina

Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES The ruling Peronist Party appeared headed to victory Sunday in congressional elections that could affect President Carlos Menem's chances of running for a second term.

Early exit polls conducted by Argentine TV stations indicated that the Peronists would win as expected in Buenos Aires province and run close with the opposition Civic Radical Union in the city of Buenos Aires, traditionally an opposition strong-Voters were electing half of the 257-seat Chamber of Deputies, nearly 400 members of provincial legislatures and more than 3,000 other local officials. Polls closed at 6 p.m. (5 p.m. EDT).

The campaign focused on Menem's efforts to reform the 140-year-old constitution to allow him to run for re-election in 1995. The charter limits presidents to one six-year term. but can be amended by a twothirds vote in both houses of congress.

Even a convincing victory Sunday would not give the Peronists the seats they need for a re-election amendment. But Menem hopes a strong showing will give him political momentum and force the opposition to agree to constitutional reform.

More than 21 million people were to vote in this country of 33 million, where everyone aged 18 to 70 is obligated by law to cast a ballot.

Army stops looting in quake-damaged area

By VIJAY JOSHI Associated Press

KILLARI, India

The Indian army cracked down on looting in the country's earthquake-stricken southwest on Sunday, taking control of police and civilian authorities and blocking outsiders from shattered villages.

Tremors continued to shudder through Maharashtra state, where as many as 30,000 people died in Thursday's earthquake.

In the days following the disaster, looters have slipped into villages in the guise of volunteers, stripping corpses of jewelry and wrecked homes of any valuables that could be carried away, relief workers said.

"I'm not allowing anyone today to work in the villages unless they are cleared by the army," said Col. S.K. Joshi, head of the relief effort for Killari and four surrounding villages.

"We are allowing only genuine voluntary groups in. They are being issued identification cards to avoid the thieving which has been going on the last two days.'

The army barricades brought more hardship to victims driven from their homes by the earthquake.

"I do not understand these men in uniforms. They won't even let me into my own house," said Jagannath Kumble, a 65-year-old farmer who was stopped from entering his village.

Helicopters dropped food in isolated villages, and medical teams began a massive operation to inoculate survivors against cholera. Officials fear the disease may spread through water contaminated by the putrefying bodies of people and livestock.

Authorities decided to set up new townships for survivors, abandoning many devastated villages. New sites will be found within two weeks, said Anil Pawar, a local administrator.

Dozens of volunteer groups have arrived in Maharashtra state, bringing food, drinking water and temporary shelters to earthquake victims. But many remote villages off the main roads remain without aid, Army vehicles, private relief workers and tens of thousands of curiosity seekers jammed the region's roads. The heavy traffic combined with a steady rain to churn muddy streets into slippery slush.

Volunteers gave uncooked rice to refugees who had no pots to boil it or firewood to cook with

We have to drink water with our cupped hands," said Jainab Sheikh. 30, whose village was demolished.

Survivors swarmed relief vans whenever they stopped. Without organized distribution, the weak went hungry.

More attacks amid ceasefire

ZAGREB, Croatia At least one man died when Muslims attacked Muslims in northwestern Bosnia, just hours before Bosnian Croats and Muslims signed a new cease-fire for embattled Mostar.

The man was killed and two people were wounded Sunday in Velika Kladusa, in the Bihac region, when supporters of Bosnian President Alija Izetbegovic stormed the local radio station, said Col. Thierry Boutillier, commander of a French battalion of U.N. peacekeepers.

He said police loyal to Bihac rebel leader Fikret Abdic managed to restore order, but the station remained in the hands of Abdic backers.

Lawmakers in Bihac, a Muslim pocket in northwestern Bosnia, declared regional autonomy last Monday. Abdic has good relations with neighboring Croats and Serbs and is credited with sparing the enclave from Bosnia's war.

Three other Muslims were wounded Saturday in the village of Skokovi, also in Bihac, when Abdic supporters manning a roadblock fired on government soldiers.

The violence overshadowed a Croat-Muslim agreement to stop the fighting and protect civilians in the Mostar area. The pact was signed Saturday at Medjugorje, 12 miles southwest of Mostar, news reports said Sunday.

It was not immediately clear when it was to take effect. However, many truces have been declared and violated in Bosnia's 18-month war.

The Croat-Muslim accord also provides for the evacuation of wounded and the exchange of prisoners, Croatia's Hina news agency reported. Both sides also agreed to let Spanish U.N. peackekeepers monitor its implementation.

Kenya accused of failure to protect Somali refugees

NAIROBI A human rights group has accused Kenya of failing to protect Somali women refugees from rape.

The government has shown an appalling lack of concern for the plight of Somali refugees," the New York-based Africa Watch said in a report released Sunday.

Victims of rape and sexual assault in and around Kenya's refugee camps ranged from 4year-old girls to 50-year-old women, the report said. Most victims were also robbed, beaten, knifed or shot, it said.

Refugees have been attacked by Kenyan bandits and Somali raiders from across the poorly guarded border, the report said. Some women have reported being raped by Kenyan police or military personnel.

The report said 192 refugee women reported being raped in the first seven months of this

The Kenyan government has said it does not sanction rape. The government blames the assaults on criminals who get firearms in Somalia.

About 300,000 Somalis live in refugee camps in northeastern Kenva.

The United States said last week that it will give Kenya $3.5 million to improve security along its border with Somalia.

Africa Watch said the United: States should require Kenyan authorities to spend some of the money on improving security in refugee camps.

Rebels harbor hatred of Yeltsin

By THOMAS GINSBERG Associated Press

MOSCOW

The anti-Yeltsin demonstrators who tore through downtown Moscow had one thing in common: hatred for Boris Yeltsin and willingness to stop at almost nothing to remove him.

Their well-organized assault Sunday on the government's riot police was a dramatic show of unity, if only a day's worth, that must have shaken the confidence of Yeltsin supporters.

But if Sunday's demonstrators ever triumphed and tried to run Russia, their rule would likely run aground on their own differences.

The attackers' leaders were a hardcore group of nationalists, communists and fascists, the cutting edge of a violent, loosely organized coalition against Boris Yeltsin. Unlike many more peaceful protesters, they taunted soldiers, ignored calls for restraint and grabbed any weapons they could.

Yeltsin himself long has dismissed his opposition as aging Communists and political misfits wedded to an outmoded system. Many rallies have been dominated by elderly people waving Soviet flags.

But despite Yeltsin's public assurances, Russia has been seeing the growth for at least a year of a far broader anti-Yeltsin bloc of monarchists, Communists, anti-Semitic fascists and Cossacks, joined at times by bureaucrats, state factory and farm directors, and even some Orthodox Christian groups.

Within this bloc is a hard core of former Red Army soldiers who have fought in conflicts across the Commonwealth of Independent States, usually with the goal of destabilizing independent-minded former Soviet republics. These soldiers are furious at the destruction of the Soviet Union and would like the new nations formed from the U.S.S.R. to fail and fall back to Moscow's control.

They are aghast at the deterioration of the powerful Soviet army into a poorly paid, poorly housed force with little sense of mission, struggling to maintain morale and discipline.

An unknown number of those young, battled-hardened fighters rushed to Moscow during the 13-day standoff between the parliament and the president.

They joined the ranks of selfstyled defenders at the white marble building, whose commanders included Gen. Albert Makashov, who had helped plan Soviet operations in Afghanistan in the 1980s.

Muscovites ignore drama, crowd center of city

By DEBORAH SEWARD

Moscow

For most of Moscow's 10 million residents, Sunday was a glorious autumn day of walks in the city's parks, boat rides on the river and trips to their country homes to pick mushrooms.

Many Muscovites ignored the political drama in the center of the city and crowded the city's outdoor bazaars, buying and selling in a capitalist frenzy that the hard-liners seeking to roll back reforms would deplore.

This Sunday was a golden example of what Russians call "babye leto," or grandmother's summer. The name dates to a time when Russian women, old and young, dressed up in their finest clothes to celebrate the harvest, and Russians still treasure these last warm, sunny days before the fall rains and winter snows drive them indoors.

Several of the city's farmers' markets were packed with shoppers, buying freshly picked mushrooms, apples, pears and plump grapes that had just arrived from the south.

Despite a gathering of hardline protesters near Gorky Park, the Ferris wheel twirled and hundreds of art lovers picked through the canvasses on sale across the street.

Protesters marching past the park toward the center of Moscow urged passersby to join their demonstration, but most ignored the call and just watched the malcontents.

CHARLES RICE

RIGHT OR WRONG?

Catholic character lacking without juridical relation to Church

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops has proposed eight ordinances to implement Ex corde Ecclesiae, the Apostolic Constitution of Catholic higher education which Pope John Paul II issued in 1990. In his August 30 letter to the Notre Dame faculty and staff, the University president, Fr. Edward Malloy, C.S.C., described these proposed ordinances as "legalistic in tone and hierarchical in orientation." He described three of them (5, 6 and 7) as "especially problematic in their approach to the role of the Catholic theologian in the context of a Catholic university.

Fr. Malloy invited comment from members of the Notre Dame community to aid in preparing the University's formal response to the ordinances by Dec. 31, 1993.

The first thing to note about the ordinances is that they are vague and toothless. The Code of Canon Law (Canon 812) provides: "It is necessary that those who teach theological disciplines in any institute of higher studies have a mandate from the competent ecclesiastical authority." Ex corde Ecclesiae (General Norm 4(3)) states: "In ways appropriate to the different academic disciplines, all Catholic teachers are to be faithful to, and all other teachers are to respect, Catholic doctrine and morals in their research and teaching. In particular, Catholic theologians, aware that they fulfill a mandate received from the church, are to be faithful to the magisterium of the church as the authentic interpreter of sacred Scripture and sacred tradition."

Scripture and sacred tradition."

This requirement is an application of Ex corde Ecclesiae's tional fidelity of the university to the Christian message includes a recognition of and adherence to the teaching authority of the church in matters of faith and morals." (No. 27) Proposed ordinance 6, however, reduces the requirement of a mandate to a practical nullity: "Catholic professors of theological disciplines are to be advised by academic officials of the Church's expectation that they request the mandate from the . . . diocesan bishop or his delegate (cf. Canon 812). Accordingly, the bishop is to invite the Catholic professor to request a mandate and, after appropriate review, the bishop is to respond to the request."

Proposed ordinance 5 describes the mandate as "recognition by the competent ecclesiastical authority of a Catholic professor's suitability to teach theological disciplines." Proposed ordinance 7 provides procedures to resolve any "dispute" that may arise.

While Canon 812 says that the mandate is "necessary." proposed ordinance 6 merely provides that Catholic professors of theology be "advised" of the Church's expectation that they request the mandate. The ordinances are silent as to what happens if the university fails to advise the professor of that expectation or if the professor chaeses not to apply for it chooses not to apply for it.

The bishop is to "invite," rather than require, the professor to apply for the mandate. Nor do the ordinances require that the professor's contract with the university include any reference to the mandate. In effect, these vague and unenforceable ordinances are an exercise in empty symbolism. Still, even they are objectionable to the Notre Dame Administration.

Fr. Malloy's description of ordinances 5, 6 and 7 as "especially problematic" in the context of his overall description of the ordinances as "legalistic in tone and hierarchical in orientation," reflects the effort of Notre Dame to maintain a "Catholic" character with effectively no juridical relation to the Catholic Church.

The Land O'Lakes declaration, adopted by Notre Dame and other major Catholic universities in 1967, stated that "the Catholic university must have a true autonomy and academic freedom in the face of authority of whatever kind, lay or clerical, external to the academic community itself." In 1968, Notre Dame transferred its control from the Congregation of Holy Cross to a lay-denominated board of trustees. The most important decisions are reserved to the twelve Fellows of the University, six of whom must be Holy Cross priests. The Congregation itsell, however, does not control the University.

Notre Dame has not liberated itself from external authority. For the authority of the Catholic Church it has substituted the more demanding authority of the secular academic establishment. Notre Dame pursues recognition by that establishment as a great "Research University." The criteria for that recognition are secular. And, despite the professed desire of its Administration to maintain a "Catholic character," the University is so allergic to any juridical connection with the Catholic Church that even the feeble symbolism of the proposed ordinances triggers a negative reaction. This is so because, with no formal tie with the Church, the University's Catholic profession tends itself to become a mere symbol-

In his Aug. 30 letter, Fr. Malloy noted that "the percentage of Catholic faculty Universitywide has gone from 66 percent in 1970 to 61 percent in 1980 to 58 percent in 1992. In addition, new hires in the last three years have been 46 percent, 42 percent and 37 percent Catholic." And those figures include every faculty member who checked the "Catholic" box on the form. "I read the evidence," said Fr. Malloy, "to suggest that we have a problem that needs to be addressed." No kidding.

The problem is that erosion of the Catholic character and presence inevitably follows severance of the juridical connection with the Church. The discussion of the proposed ordinances ought to focus, not on evading, but on strengthening them. And it should include the question of whether it is not time for the Congregation of Holy Cross finally to rouse itself from its torpor to resume legal control of the University and reestablish its connection with the Church.

Professor Rice is on the Law School faculty. His column appears every other Monday.

Notre Dame's 48-20 win Saturday under the blazing sun at Stanford Stadium was revenge, in a big way. Twelve Irish wins ago the Cardinal pulled the upset at Notre Dame Stadium 33-16 and they paid for it Saturday.

"In my four years here we've lost to them twice," said quarterback Kevin McDougal. "We wanted to come in here and beat them on their own turf.

Johnson helps Notre Dame return the favor

By GEORGE DOHRMANN

Sports Editor

PALO ALTO, Calif. Clint Johnson wants it his way. Lou Holtz wants it his. Saturday they found a happy medium, and with it success.

"At first I didn't want to do it (the kickoff return) as coach Holtz said," said Johnson. "I wanted to run it to the side. I found out today what happens when you do what coach says."

What happened was the senior flanker turned in his best performance in an Irish uniform, returning two kickoffs for 179 yards and a touchdown.

But it wasn't a matter of coach knows best. Holtz also inserted a new kick return strategy at the request of his players.

"For years we ran only one return, but a few weeks ago we put in a second. I didn't want to do it, but players convinced me," said Holtz.

They will have no trouble convincing Holtz to try it again. Johnson finished with returns of 79 and 100 yards, the latter being the first kickoff return for a touchdown against Stanford since "The Play" at Cal in 1982.

On Tuesday, Johnson wasn't sure he would be on the playing field, let alone the star of the game. He lost his concentration and dropped a kickoff in practice, a mental error which Holtz doesn't take lightly.

"Coach Holtz was pretty upset with me," said Johnson. "He put somebody else in my place. I think it was a motivational thing."

Johnson did not run with the first unit for the remainder of the week, but on Friday Holtz recognized his hard work in practice and gave him the job.

Johnson thanked him by instrumenting the new return to perfection.

With less than minute left in the half, Johnson fielded Aaron Mills kickoff at the goaline and following the new return plan, jetted to the right. He was hauled down 79 yards later, and two plays later Notre Dame had a comfortable 20-6 lead.

"Before half I thought I was going to go all the way," said Johnson, who also scored on a kickoff return in 1991 against Hawaii. "I didn't think they were going to kick to me again to start the second half."

With 6:30 remaining in the third quarter Stanford sent the ball towards Johnson again. The senior flanker sprinted to the left while his blockers built a wall to to the right, creating the illusion that the return was going that way.

No Cardinal defender came within ten yards of Johnson before he reached midfield. He ran untouched until his teammates mobbed him in the endzone.

"I looked up-field, and all the blockers were to the right and I went left," said Johnson. "I cut inside at about midfield and then it was a foot race."

It was a change from Holtz's traditional return which emphasizes straight-ahead running while looking for a seam in the defense.

"The players thought other teams knew what we were doing," said Holtz about the change, "I really didn't want to do it."

Johnson did, but he had trouble convincing Holtz to give him the shot.

Mike Miller handled most of the Irish return duties, and until the Purdue matchup Johnson wasn't even an option. Against the Boilermakers he got his first chance and returned the opening kickoff 53 yards.

"I had gone into the season working on being solely a wide receiver," said Johnson. "Coach Holtz felt that we weren't getting enough productivity out of our return team, so he gave me another chance."

"Clint really wants to run it," said Holtz. "We just have a different opinion of how it should be run."

But somewhere in between it works out perfectly.

en route to their fifth win of the season.

It was a big day for the big play, and the 5-foot-8 180 pound Johnson came out looking like a giant. He closed the door on any thoughts of Stanford comeback, taking a second half kickoff five yards deep in the endzone and 100 yards later building the Notre Dame lead to an insurmountable 34-13.

It was Johnson's second contribution to the Irish offense, the first coming on a 79-yard return with 47 seconds left in the first half, setting up a nineyard touchdown grab by Derrick Mayes.

Johnson was not the only source of big plays. McDougal had a hand in all three of Notre Dame's rushing touchdowns, scoring twice on option runs of 17 and 19 yards and pitching to tailback Lee Becton for another.

It was fitting that the option attack Lou Holtz declared dead at midweek turned out to be the most detrimental to the Stanford defense.

"We made some good defensive plays, some fabulous plays, but we still can't fathom the option," said Stanford coach Bill Walsh.

"The option is a great play when you can execute it," McDougal said. "We always had confidence in our ability to run it, we just didn't concentrate on it in the past few games. Today, we did."

Tuesday Holtz told reporters that he was scrapping the option because of teams inability to run it consistently. He changed his mind at practice.

"When I said that at the press conference, I was flat serious about it," said Holtz. "We went back into the coaches meeting and I wasn't in a good mood. We decided that Kevin would have to learn to do."

McDougal seemed to have a firm grasp on the concept Saturday, and against the Cardinal man defense he was able to round end untouched on both scoring runs.

The option set up the pass and the inside running game, which got a boost from freshman Randy Kinder, who rushed for 104 yards on 16 carries in his first start.

When Kinder wasn't running McDougal was throwing, and he did with accuracy, finishing 7-of-9 for 135 yards. Backup Paul Failla even etched his name on the stat sheet with an 80-yard scoring strike to Mayes in the third quarter.

Defensively, the Irish fell victim to the Stanford short passing game. Quarterback Steve Stenstrom was 34-45 for 315 yards, but failed to guide the Cardinal to the endzone. Two first half drives stalled inside the twenty, and two Eric Abrams field goals didn't match Notre Dame's three first half scores.

Along with Mayes' catch and McDougal's first scoring run, Willie Clark scored on nine-yard run to build Notre Dame's 20-6 at halftime lead.

McDougal's second touchdown run opened the second half scoring and after an Ellery Roberts score shrunk Notre Dame's lead to 27-13, Johnson went back to receive the kickoff. A minute later the score was 34-13 and Notre Dame had its revenge.

But with the exception of Clint "Cosmic" Johnson the option was the key to beating Stanford. And from that alone, we assume, that Notre Dame's option attack is currently enrolled at the University.

"We got upset on Tuesday," Holtz said. "When I said that in the press conference, I was flat serious about it We went back into the coaches meeting and I wasn't in a good mood. We decided Kevin (McDougal) would definitely have to learn it. We thought it was something we had to do and we made some progress."

More than "some," Notre Dame abused the Stanford perimeter defense, running the option only three times, but each building the Irish lead by

"I'm not to happy about running it but it works," said Mc-Dougal, who scored two of the option touchdowns. "I realized I better get it straightened out if we were going to get the offense straightened out."

McDougal looked like a seasoned option quarterback, pitching to tailback Lee Becton for a third quarter touchdown, just as a Stanford linebacker wrapped him up.

"I knew we were going to run it," said McDougal. "Its in his offense."

Not according to Holtz, not last Tuesday, when all hope was lost and Notre Dame was of all things, out of options.

"We don't run it much, but it is a good thing to have," said Holtz.

Do we have it? We will see it next week?

Receivers make the most of few opportunities

By JASON KELLY

Associate Sports Editor

Lou Holtz is reluctant to fill the sky with footballs, even if it's a sunny California sky.

The Notre Dame quarterbacks threw the ball as often in last week's downpour at Purdue as they did in Saturday's sunbath at Stanford.

Irish co-quarterbacks Kevin McDougal and Paul Failla have been inconsistent passers early in the season, forcing Holtz to keep the ball on the ground.

The Observer/Jake Peters Lake Dawson breaks a tackle on the way to a big gain.

But after the performance of his receivers against the Cardinal, he may think about altering his game plan.

Lost in the shadows of Clint Johnson's kickoff returns and Randy Kinder's 104 yard rushing performance was the clutch play of the Irish receivers.

They call themselves AFROS-"America's Finest Receivers on Saturday.

This Saturday, they lived up to their

Mike Miller leaped high into the air to haul in a 46-yard pass from McDougal to set up Notre Dame's first score.

Derrick Mayes stretched is gluey hands as far as they could reach to snag a bullet from McDougal for a touchdown near the end of the first half. It was the first time this season an Irish receiver has caught a touchdown pass.

"It's all about timing," Mayes said. "It was bound to happen [catching a touchdown pass) sometime with one of the receivers. I'm just happy it was me.'

McDougal also found Lake Dawson with a 32-yard strike early in the fourth quarter to set up another Irish touch-

Then it was Mayes again, running under an 80-yard bomb from Paul Failla to score the game sealing touchdown. It was the longest play from scrimmage

In all, the trio collected seven of nine passes for 211 yards and two touch-

Big results from few opportunities.

"We [the receivers] were one of the big factors in the game because of the type of defense Stanford plays," Mayes said. "We don't think much about how often we throw the ball, we just want to take advantage of the opportunities when they come.

They haven't come very often in recent weeks.

generally off target.

Against Stanford the Irish stayed on the ground not because of the weather, but because it was working.

Kinder's 100 yard performance was the first by an Irish freshman since 1982 and McDougal ran for 42 yards of his

That opened up the passing game, which was used sparingly but very successfully against the Cardinal.

Mayes believes that Holtz is not reluctant to pass the ball. Rather, he is reluctant to abandon an improving running attack.

"If you look at the Michigan and Michigan State games, we threw the ball 22 or 24 times," Mayes said. "It's just a matter of how our running game is going. It doesn't matter how many opportunities we get, what matters is whether or not we take advantage of them.'

Local businesses help to clothe needy children

By JENNIFER GUERIN

Accent Writer

"Our only goal is to clothe children in St. Joseph County," said Julann Bauer of The Christ Child Society, the South Bend organization currently sponsoring the Clothe-A-Child campaign with the help of various local businesses.

The Christ Child Society, staffed entirely by volunteers, provides new and like-new clothes to some of the over 8,000 children currently living in poverty in the St. Joseph community

When the organization was founded in 1947, the members themselves donated and distributed the clothing to citizens in need

According to Bauer, a volunteer and current board member, the inability of members to meet the growing needs of low income families soon necessitated an appeal to the community at large.

With initiatives like the new Clothe-A-Child campaign, they have targeted the customers of some of Michiana's most frequented businesses, including Martin's Supermarkets, Burger King, Kroger, Sam's Club, and the Kid's Store. Inc

Support from both the businesses and their patrons has been superb.

The Clothe-A-Child campaign, in effect from September 13 to October 11, centers around the sale of paper dolls for $1 each.

Customers who purchase the dolls, which depict young boys and girls bundled in winter clothes, may then write their family or business names on the dolls, color them, and hang them in the windows of the stores.

Because The Christ Child Society is staffed entirely by volunteers, none of the money from donations will be spent on administrative costs.

Along with membership dues, donations and other fund raising projects, all proceeds from Clothe-A-Child will be used to purchase clothing in bulk from select dealers

Bauer said that the goal of this particular campaign is to sustain the supply of funds and clothing through the winter.

Each year, the influx of donations slows down continuously, and by Christmas, the demands simply cannot

With the help of local businesses through the Clothe-A-Child campaign, Bauer and others hope that this decrease in the supply will be eliminat-

Tracie Davis, Advertising Assistant at Martin's, stated that support for community service organizations has become an integral part of this chain's daily business.

The supermarket, a locally owned chain founded by Martin and Jane Tarnow, has always supported efforts similar to Clothe-A-Child.

From the beginning, [the Tarnows] felt their success depended on their customers," said Davis, who has also helped organize fundraisers for the Madison Center and Literacy Council.

"The community made us what we Christ Child has done a fantastic job." are, and we feel a responsibility to give back to the community.'

Groups approach Martin's and other businesses regularly for help in fundraising, but according to Davis, it is creative projects, rather than requests for monetary and product donations, that Martin's chooses to support.

Davis remarked on the unique nature

Burger King, which is frequented by citizens of every economic and cultural background, has played a major role in making Clothe-A-Child visible and successful in the Michiana community.

With eight local restaurants participating, the fast food chain is demonstrating a continued commitment to the children of St. Joseph county.

gram in conjunction with Society Bank and the St. Joseph Care Foundation, and the "You Can Lend a Hand" coupon books sold every February.

We are involved in every school in our retail trading zone," remarked Ladewski, who noted Burger King's continuing commitment to child welfare.

He explained that when calls for donations come in to his office, programs focusing of children always receive consideration and support in whatever capacity Burger King can provide it.

In addition to selling paper dolls, Burger King is providing an extra service in the form of four "benefit nights" on September 15, 22, 29, and October 6.

Twenty percent of all receipts collected between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. at select locations on these evenings will be donated to the campaign.

The location of the next and last benefit night, October 6, is the Burger King at 1113 Ireland Road, South Bend.

The winter coats, shoes and other necessities that will be purchased with revenues from Burger King, Martin's, and other local businesses will be given to clients of The Christ Child Society. which come upon referral from the South Bend Community School Corps, various parish priests, homeless shelters, hospitals, and other agencies.

Sarah Goetz, coordinator of the United Religious Community Advocacy Center, makes referrals to The Christ Child Society on a regular basis.

"I just think the world of it," she said of the program. "They're so sensitive to a child's self-esteem and self-worth."

Unlike many programs that collect and distribute secondhand materials, Christ Child is rare in its concerted attempt to provide new and like-new

"We're dealing with a lot of pride here. . .It's hard enough to be a child and be poor," said Goetz.

People being referred to Christ Child include both married couples and single parents, and all may have personal reasons for being unwilling to accept dona-

Goetz suggested that by improving the quality of the clothes provided, the society indicates a sense of respect for its clients in a way that other organizations may find difficult to prove.

The United Religious Community, which is allowed to make three referrals to The Christ Child Society each week, is one of over 79 other local agencies utilizing the unique services Christ Child provides.

Although the program responds as faithfully as possible, said Bauer, need continues to grow.

Goetz made a similar statement about the United Religious Community, whose services include general crisis response, employment referrals, and resources for low income citizens.

"It's never enough," she remarked. "Community needs are so great, it's impossible to meet them all."

of Clothe-A-Child and the determination of The Christ Child Society in promoting the campaign.

'Most promotions like this are selfsustaining," she said. "It was unique, . . . a new slant on a new program, and

"We like to be a good corporate citizen," said Shelly Myers, Marketing Assistant at Burger King.

Pat Ladewski, Marketing Director of Burger King, named a series of other efforts, including the "Hole-In-One" pro-

Students needed to help solve Saint Mary's murder mystery

By LYNN BAUWENS

A murder has been committed on Saint Mary's campus that can only be solved with your help.

This evening, the Funny Business Agency will present "The Legend of Saint Mary's Dalloway's at Coffeehouse.

The performance by the touring repertory theater relies upon complete audience participation to provide an evening full of intrigue, murder, suspense, and prizes.

'The Legend of Saint Mary's College" revolves around an unsolved murder spree that was committed 25 years ago.

Audience participation ensures that the show is different each time the professional actors perform.

"The total interaction between the performers and students was incredible," said Clark Young, student activities director at William Penn College, about a recent performance of "Murder Mysteries on

Based in Michigan, Funny Business Agency is one of the largest agencies in the country featuring comedy shows for colleges, nightclubs and special events, bringing their performances to campuses throughout the country.

Prizes will be awarded throughout the performance, including T-shirts, squirt guns

"The first person to solve the mystery receives $50 in cash," according to Raquel Mitchell, SAB cultural chairperson and coordinator of this evening's

"Mysteries on Campus" is a direct result of the increased activity fee paid by the Saint Mary's students, according to Marlene Johnson, assistant director of Student Activities.

The improved programming also includes the recent outdoor concert by Oliver Syndrome, Friday's crack-ups comedy cafes and the Screen Gems movies series.

"We're able to underwrite the costs of bringing activities such as this to campus," Johnson

"The Legend of Saint Mary's College" begins this evening at 7:30 p.m. in Dalloway's. Tickets will be sold for $3 at the door. Seating is limited to approximately the first 50 people.

won, but we still have a lot more work to get done," said Hood.

According to Connelly, the Irish are one step closer to their goal they established at the beginning of the season of getting in to the NCAA's. He feels if the team can get some people healthy and run the way they did on Friday, they should definitely be considered for an atlarge bid.

The team hopes to get juniors Emily Husted and Becky Alfieri back into the lineup in the near future.

'We want to continue to work hard and try to get some people healthy who were banged up. If we can get those two in we'll have a great team," said Connelly.

Braves win the West as Giants falter

By TOM SALADINO Associated Press

ATLANTA After winning game No. 104, the Braves waited and watched. And, finally, on the last day of the best pennant race in years, the San Francisco Giants cracked.

The Braves won their third straight NL West title Sunday — but it didn't happen until three hours after their 5-3 victory over the Colorado Rockies.

With players watching on big-screen television in the trainers' room, and about 8,000 fans watching on the scoreboard television in Atlanta Fulton-

County Stadium, the title finally came New York Yankees to win 103 games when the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Giants 12-1 a continent away. Then, after an marathon stretch drive that baseball will never forget, the celebration finally began.

"We showed character," said David Justice, who hit his 40th homer. "They showed a lot of character, too. It's unfortunate one of us had to go home. I'm just happy it's them.'

Atlanta and San Francisco began the day in a tie for first, only the second time since divisional play began in 1969 that teams were even going into the final day. But the Braves made the Giants the first team since the 1954 and finish second.

'It's nice to have a couple of nights to relax and know where we're going for a change," said Tom Glavine, who beat the Rockies for his 22nd win of the sea-

The two-time NL champions needed a remarkable comeback to win the race. The Braves, in a hitting slump through: out the first half of the season, trailed the Giants by 9 1/2 games on Aug. 8.

'It's defintely gratifying to do it the way we did it, chasing them all year, catching them and then finishing it on the last day," Sid Bream said.

Men's cross-country wins invite

By DYLAN BARMMER Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men's cross country team posted an important victory Friday afternoon at the Notre Dame Invitational, finishing with a total of 76

The nearest competition for the Irish came from West Virginia, who finished 10 points behind Notre Dame. Penn State (108), North Central College, (120) and Edinboro University (181) rounded out the top five finishers.

Notre Dame, while victorious, was unable to follow their game plan to the end. The Irish pride themselves on running as a group, and strive to stick together as a group from beginning to end. Friday's meet saw no such finish, as the Irish runners were scattered throughout the finishing order.

The Irish runners finished second, sixth, 12th, 24th, 32nd, and 107th. While not exactly a tight grouping, the runners were spaced just far enough apart to claim the victory

Leading the way for the Irish was senior captain Mike McWilliams, who finished second with a time of 24:21.9. The consistently stellar McWilliams finished second for the secondstraight week. Junior Nate Ruder, who finished first overall at the previous meet, finished sixth with a time of Senior All-American Mike McWilliams finished second in this weekend's Notre Dame Invitational, won by the Irish.

24th with a time of 25:13.1, junior John Cowan finished 32nd at 25:21.8, and J.R. Meloro finished 107th.

The Irish were hurt by the loss of freshman Matt Althoff, who fainted during the last 300 meters of the race. Althoff was running very well, and would probably have finished the race fifth for the Irish, ahead of eventual fifth-place finisher John Cowan, who finished 32nd overall. Thankfully, Althoff was not seriously injured, and will be running again this week in

One of the reasons that the Irish team was not able to stay as a tight group after the first few miles is that the competition level was much higher than the previous few weeks. Due to this fact, the runners were forced to compete at their own individual level.

The concentration of this race was so much steeper that everyone had to race at their own level," said Ruder.

They ran well, not great," said Irish head coach Joe Piane. "In terms of things to come, we are right on track for reaching the NCAA's."

The next test for the Irish will come on October 17, when the team travels to Michigan to compete against thirteen other teams in the Michigan Invitational. Until then, the Irish will be working hard during practice to prepare for this important race.

We will be focusing mostly on workouts this week," said Ruder.

Irish women's golf team takes fifth in Huskie Classic three rounds. She finished eleventh overall with a score of 248. The rest of the team shot consistently in the mid-eighties to clinch fifth out of a field of seventeen

"We held our position throughout the tournament. After the first round, we were only one shot behind Illinois State in fourth. I was hoping. we might catch them," said Coach Tom Hanlon.

Even though they were on their home course, the best

Northern Illinois could manage was third. Iowa State dominated the tournament with Beth Bader and Maureen Roushar finishing medalist and runner-up. Ohio State finished second, with Illinois State earning fourth place.

The winds were getting to everyone's shots. If any ball was hit with spin, it was going to be pulled," said Hanlon.

The Irish underclassmen also continued their consistent play. Juntors Katie Shannon and Katie Cooper shot in the 250's with the wind. Sophomore Julie Melby shot a 264, but got in to early trouble with the hazards on the course.

"Julie had trouble with the hazards early on, and most of the golfers had problems putting on the slick greens. It was an adjustment for most of the teams," said Hanlon. "But overall, I was pleased with the way we played. We played well against the teams I thought we would and we are continuing to make progress that will show up in the spring."

The women will begin again in March where they will golf over spring semester break.

Montana injured, Rocket back

By DOUG TUCKER

KANSAS CITY Three starts into his new career in Kansas City, Joe Montana is 3-0 in games won and 1-2 in games finished.

The Chiefs (3-1) have won every game Montana has played, including a 24-9 victory Sunday over the mistake-prone Los Angeles Raiders, who also were without their No. 1 quarterback.

But only once has Montana stayed injury free. He was sidelined again Sunday after injuring his left hamstring on Aaron Wallace's late hit.

Montana was sharp, hitting 7 of 9 passes for 68 yards and two touchdowns, when Wallace hit him from behind out of line in the second quarter.

Montana said Wallace did not fall on his leg.

They said it happened when I got pulled back (by the defender) but I don't remember," Montana said. "They say it happened when he grabbed me but I don't remember. All I know is right before I got to the sideline, just as I was going out of bounds, I felt it go. I was going to keep running so I didn't get hit. It was a little pop. It just got stiff."

The only bright spot for the Raiders (2-2) was the debut of Rocket Ismail. The former Notre Dame star caught a 43yard scoring pass from Vince Evans in the fourth quarter.

After Wallace's hit, the Raiders drew a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty.

Saint Mary's volleyball beats N. Central, Carroll

By KILEY COBLE Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's volleyball team's home court advantage came through for them this weekend, as they conquered North Central College and Carroll Mary's now has a 12-6 record after their impressive hold on these two teams in Saturday's Triangular match. This is the first time coach Julie Schroeder-Biek's team has beaten North Central.

"We didn't play up to potential, since we (were) saving it for our next match (against Carroll)," said Schroeder-Biek. 'But we played as a real unit.'

The coach also commented on how the team's passing wasn't up to par against their first opponent. However, she did compliment senior setter

Michelle Martino on mustering enough offensive power from what she had.

Senior tri-captain Kim Branstetter stated that the Belles offense played aggres-

"Everyone swung away and was real smart," said Branstetter. "On defense we covered everything. We had a lot more digs than usual and they were hitting at us really Carroll turned out to be the tougher of the two opponents. They beat Saint Mary's earlier this season in their opening tournament at Kalamazoo.

'They are very tough defensively and offensively," said Schroeder-Biek.

Senior Andrea Salazaar had an excellent showing against Carroll with seven service aces in a single game.

Other players who racked up impressive statistics were: Martino with 92 assists, junior Erica Freitag had 24 digs and 26 kills, tri-captain sophomore had 9 blocks, senior Mary Wheeler had 8 blocks and Branstetter had 50 digs, 22 kills and 17 points.

The Belles go up against DePauw University at home on Tuesday at 7:00 pm.

Saint Mary's soccer crushes DePauw

The Saint Mary's soccer team scored a 5-0 victory over DePauw this Saturday, to up the team's record to 5-4.

Saint Mary's and DePauw have played similarly against other teams all season, which makes the Belles' win that much bigger

"It was an extremely tight match-up going in to the game," said coach Tom Van Meter, who was pleased with the team's execution on Saturday and hopes it will continue to improve as the season progresses.

Senior co-captain Megan Dalsaso, and Tina Raczynski each scored two goals, while Brigid Keyes also scored for the Belles.

"Everyone played well as a team," said Tina Brockman. "The offense and defense worked together and never let

According to senior Mandy Eiler, the great weather and presence of many parents visiting for Senior Dad's Weekend added to the spirit of the game. "It was an all-around great effort," added Eiler.

Van Meter noted that Saturday was also a success because everyone got an opportunity to participate. However, Van Meter is especially concerned with a knee injury sustained by senior Patty Hand.

Although the team is excited about Saturday's victory, they are focusing on Thursday's game against Calvin, as Calvin is a game the team cannot afford to look past. However, Van Meter is optimistic.

"We still have the future in our own hands," said Van

Men's soccer upsets South Carolina

By MIKE NORBUT Sports Writer

The mangled turf of Alumni Field was a good symbol of the four hard-played matches this weekend, as four of the nation's finest men's soccer programs squared off during the Notre Dame Classic.

Though No. 3 Indiana, No. 12 Penn State, and No. 14 South Carolina were all considered to be favorites of the tournament, it was the unranked Irish that entered the final game with a chance to take home the tournament championship.

Tim Oates

Notre Dame entered Saturday night's game against Penn State coming off an impressive 2-0 victory over the Gamecocks. The Irish were able to withstand an onslaught of offensive pressure in the second half to preserve the shutout.

"Our defense had a great game," said junior Tim Oates, who recorded both goals in the contest. "It's a real big win for

The Irish jumped out to the lead only 1:57 into the game when Oates knocked in a loose ball from in front of the net off a Mike Palmer corner kick. The goal gave Notre Dame a 1-0 advantage.

Notre Dame took this lead well into the second half despite constant pressure by South Carolina, who finished the contest with 18 shots on goal compared to only 12 for the Irish. Strong defensive plays were turned in by freshman Peter Gansler, who used his height to win the battles for air balls, and junior Chris Dean, who effectively shut down Gamecock scorer Chris Faklaris. Goalie Bert Bader had nine saves in his second full shutout of the season.

The final goal of the game came with :23 to play in the contest, when Oates scored off a penalty shot to give the Irish a 2-0 victory a 2-0 victory.

"It's naturally a confidence booster," said Notre Dame head coach Mike Berticelli. "We're getting better every week."

Notre Dame's title hopes were snapped, however, when they lost to the Nittany Lions 1-0 Saturday night. The Hoosiers were awarded the tournament victory after posting a 1-0-1 record, while the Irish took third place behind Penn State. The Gamecocks finished the tournament with a disappointing fourth place showing.

The lone score of the Irish-Nittany Lion contest came at the 77:02 mark, when Penn State senior Bill Bucy was able to thread a shot through several defenders and past the hands of goalie Bert Bader to make the score 1-0. The goal came off of a corner kick, a category in which the Nittany Lions held an eight to four advantage.

Penn State was able to use their height and speed to keep constant pressure on the Irish, as indicated by their 15 shots on goal, compared to five for Notre Dame. Bader and David Smith held their own in goal, however, combining to notch ten saves on the evening.

The Irish had the inside track to the title thanks to the early game Saturday night, as Indiana and South Carolina finished in a 1-1 double overtime deadlock. Though the Hoosiers were able to keep the ball in the Gamecock end with strong midfield play, South Carolina would not bend, as goalkeeper John Mills tallied ten saves, including five in the two overtime periods.

Indiana held a 27 to seven advantage in shots, but it was the Gamecocks that got on the board first. At the 74:19 mark in the second half, senior Bret Kurland scored off a Sigmar Scheving cross pass to make the score 1-0. The Hoosiers answered almost immediately, however, when forward Harry Weiss booted in a Steve Keller direct kick to even the score at Indiana had entered Saturday's contest with a 1-0 tournament record after defeating Penn State 4-1 in Game One Friday night.

The Hoosiers took an early lead with 14:03 to play in the first half, when Nittany Lion goalie Mike Barninger's goal kick was deflected off a defender to Wane Lobring, who scored to give Indiana a 1-0 lead.

The Hoosiers added another goal only 6:07 into the second half, when junior Brandon Ward booted a Craig Ginsberg cross pass past Barninger from inside the goal box to make the score 2-0.

Penn State answered late in the game, when Chris Kelly headed in a Neil Piper cross pass at the 81:27 mark to cut the lead to 2-1.

But Indiana quickly turned the momentum back in their favor when Harry Weiss scored from the left side with 6:25 to play in the game to give the Hoosiers a 3-1 advantage. Junior Jeff Bannister was credited the assist on the play. An insurance goal was added less than a minute later, when Brian Maisonneuve rocketed a shot through heavy traffic to make the score 4-1.

"Penn State works hard to the ball. I thought we withstood their pressure and intimidation quite well," said Hoosier head coach Jerry Yeagley.

Indiana improved their record to 8-1-1 on the season, while the Nittany Lions improved to 7-2. South Carolina dropped to 6-3-1 on the season following a 0-1-1 tournament record

Penn State's Chris Kelly was awarded the tournament offensive MVP award, while Indiana's Brandon Ward was recognized as the defensive

Other selections to the All Tournament Team included Scott Coufal, Mike Clark, and Harry Weiss of Indiana, Michael Coll and Joe Carapi of Penn State, and Heigi Bjorgvinsson of South Carolina. Chris Dean and Tim Oates were Notre Dame's representatives on the All-Tournament Team.

The next contest for the Irish will be next Friday, when they travel to Cincinnati for a conference match against Xavier.

Senior Molly Stark registered 17 kills and 15 blocks in the Irish's win over Ball State on Friday.

14th-ranked volleyball posts two wins

By TIMOTHY SEYMOUR Sports Writer

The No. 14 Notre Dame volleyball team got a taste of the pressure of being the team to beat this weekend, as it endured a difficult match against Ball State before finally dismissing the Cardinals 10-15, 14-16, 15-8, 15-7, 15-13.

The Irish also posted a 15-6, 15-1, 12-15, 15-3 victory over Western Michigan to improve to 13-3 on the year.

Playing an inspired and experienced Ball State squad, the Irish were in a position they had faced only once before, needing to win three games in a row after having dropped the first two. This time, Notre Dame prevailed, relying on its talent to return to the fundamentals that have led them to national prominence.

"We anticipated that Ball State would be a good team, but we didn't think they would be that good," said Irish head coach Debbie Brown. "They deserve a lot of credit, they played very strong service game that pressured the Irish into losing the first two games, as their active defense gave Notre Dame problems.

However, it was just a matter of time before Notre Dame regained its composure and turned the match around. "Ball State was playing above what they were capable of," noted Brown, "And we didn't think they could continue the pace."

Notre Dame began its rally in the third game, relying as it has so often lately on the play of senior middle-blocker Molly Stark. "Molly was definitely a factor, as we relied on her and Jenny Birkner to carry the offense," explained Brown.

Stark's net play served as a catalyst to the rest of the squad, as her blocking and quickset kills changed the tempo in favor of the Irish. Birkner also proved a spark, as her error-free play made her a favored option in the attack.

Stark continued her impressive performance as the Irish travelled to Western Michigan on Saturday, blocking a career high 15 total balls to go along with her team high 17 kills.

In a match that saw almost every Irish player see action, the Notre Dame starters dominated play, limiting the Broncos to only 10 points when they were on the floor

The Irish also saw the continued improvement of some of its younger talent, especially in freshman outside hitter Kristina Ervin, who is steadily making her bid to enter the starting rotation.

Ervin, whose playing time and hitting opportunities have increased steadily in the past few weeks, had the best night of her young college career, hitting .727 with eight kills and no errors in 11 attempts. She also had a solid defensive effort, including seven digs and two blocks.

"Kristina played very well, probably having her best match since she's been here," stated Brown. "Again, it's valuable experience for her, and should help the team down the road."

Next up for the Irish will be Illinois State, which travels to the J.A.C.C. for a 7:30 game Tuesday night.

Stanford hands Irish women's soccer its first loss

By BRYAN CONNOLLY Assistant Sports Editor

All good things must come to

The Notre Dame women's soccer team lost its first game of the season Friday night, snapping its 14-game winning streak and falling to its first ranked opponent since late last

The 10-1 Irish fell to the ninth-ranked Stanford Cardinal 3-1 in overtime, before rebounding on Sunday for a 4-0 victory over St. Mary's College of California.

Michelle Sophomore McCarthy gave Notre Dame a 1-0 lead twenty minutes into the first half against the Cardinal when she drilled home a 30-yard pass from fellow midfielder Ragen Coyne.

The lead stood until Stanford's Sarah Rafanelli tied it up with just under thirty minutes left in the game.

Tied at the end of regulation, the team's began two halves of overtime where the Cardinal netted two goals to wrap up the

The game marked the first time that the Irish have ever lost a game in which Coyne scored at least one point. They were 16-0-1 over that span.

Stanford, now owning an 8-1 record, outshot Notre Dame 23-13. Freshman goalkeeper Jen Renola made eight saves for the Irish.

The squad responded to the loss by rolling over the Gaels yesterday in its final match of the Cardinal Classic Soccer Invitational.

Coyne led the Irish again by scoring the first and final goals of the contest. They were the sophomore's first two goals of the season.

Her first goal came with only 2:57 expired in the game, and her second came at the 68:06 mark in the second half. Both scores were assisted by freshman midfielder Cindy Daws. Sophomore backfielder Ashley Scharf garnered an assist on the last goal.

Junior midfielder Jodi Hartwig then netted her sixth of the season 9:16 into the first half with McCarthy assisting to give Notre Dame a 2-0 advantage.

Freshman attacker Stacia Masters put the game out of reach with 7:45 remaining in the first half. Her third goal of the season was assisted by Irish tri-captain Alison Lester.

Renola made three saves as the Irish outshot the Gaels 20-

"We still have a ways to go said Coyne, who leads the Irish with seventeen assists. "After Friday's game we know we have to come prepared to play each and every game."

Lester's assist brought her career point total to 107. She needs six more points to surpass 1991 graduate Susie Zilvitis, who has 112 points, on Notre Dame's all-time leader chart. She has already taken the lead on the assist chart.

Sophomore forward Rosella Guerrero battles a Stanford defender in the Irish's 3-1 overtime loss on Friday.

The Notre Dame women's cross compete with the nation's top teams by capturing the title at their own Notre Dame Invitational on Friday, squeaking past 11thranked Alabama by two points.

In a field composed of twenty teams, three ranked amongst the top twenty in the nation, the Irish displayed their true potential. Five finishers for the Irish broke their personal records in the meet.

"It's definitely the best team performance we've had," said junior Kristi Kramer. "Everyone ran towards their personal best.'

Junior Sarah Riley led the Irish with a strong performance, finishing fourth overall with a time 17.47. Freshman Emily Hood and Kramer rounded out the second and third spots by placing fifth and ninth, respectively, in the invi-

Alabama had runners finish at the top two spots overall but with the depth of the Irish, Notre Dame was still able to secure the 66-64

"It's really rare for a team to beat a team that has runners finish first and second. But, that just shows how good our five have to be," said Kramer.

"I was real pleased to see the girls respond to the challenge,' said coach Tim Connelly. 'Hopefully it will give them the confidence that they can go out and run with these teams.

While Alabama finished two points behind the Irish, Baylor and Auburn finished third and fourth, respectively.

Defeating some top teams has brought a lot of confidence to the team. "I was really surprised (about the victory)," said Hood. "Going in we knew we were up against some ranked teams and we weren't ranked. We knew we'd have to run very well.

The team's next big meet is October 17 at Michigan. For the next couple weeks the team plans to work hard and stay focused. "Michigan is going to be a competitive meet. We're happy that we
