

Roemer tells HPC meeting-- alcohol abuse serious concern

by Dan Letcher
Staff Reporter

"The thing that concerns me most is serious alcohol abuse," Dean of Students James Roemer told the Hall Presidents Council (HPC) last night in Zahm Hall. He also discussed in loco parentis and student's rights at the meeting.

Concerning alcohol problems, Roemer stated that "something has to be done about the wild compulsion to go out and get drunk on Friday nights. I would like to stand up and say something effective concerning alcohol abuse."

Roemer was blunt with council members and told that he hears a lot of lip service from students but little follow-through in solving the problems. "I'd like to see some groups show responsibility and get behind some positive programs in terms of alcohol abuse," he said.

Legality and liability were two main ideas Roemer stressed when asked about existing rules concerning the use of alcohol. "The law of Indiana is very clear and the University can take no action to permit underage drinking in common rooms," he explained.

Jim O'Hare, Grace Hall president, suggested that there may be a way to redefine some areas in the dorms as private residences. However, Roemer stated that this would be taking too much of a chance, saying, "If the University condones the underage drinking some particular room, they could be held responsible."

When discussing in loco parentis, Roemer said that "every administrator is going to have to speak for themselves." He added that he really does not look upon students in a family relationship.

Jose Morrero, Pangborn Hall president, stated that "the main gripe of students is that we are too often treated as adults in some instances, but when it is not for the benefit of the University, we are treated as something less than adults." He cited as examples the "Sorin seven" and parietals.

Roemer replied by relating the "Sorin seven" story and said it came down to a question of who would run the hall. When asked by the rector of Sorin if he would back up the transfer of the students, Roemer agreed. "I will always back up the rector," he stated.

Concerning parietals, Roemer rhetorically asked, "Why don't I put clear rules out concerning parietals?" He continued by stating that there were clear rules; "The first infraction sent to me is a work offense. The second offense is transfer off campus," he said.

Other business included Joe Guckert, Homecoming chairman, who asked the HPC for feedback on the king and queen issue. After some discussion, it was decided to give up the idea.

Campus Life Council representative Bill Vida asked for the council's reaction to one solution of dorm overcrowding-the lottery of seniors off-campus. Chuck Del-Grande, HPC chairman, stated, "it is the feeling of the HPC that this solution would be a last resort."

Next week's meeting will take place at 6:30 p.m. in Sorin Hall.

Affects passengers and freight

Train strike halts 43 lines

WASHINGTON [AP] - Freight and commuter rail service rolled to at least a temporary halt across most of the country yesterday as a clerks' union on strike against a Virginia-based railroad expanded its picketing to 43 other lines.

The striking Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks said early morning picketing had shut down or curtailed operations at two-thirds of the nation's major railroads, affecting every part of the nation except the heavily-traveled Northeast corridor. Service there was reported normal.

State Affected by Strike

The strike has shut down or limited railroad freight and passenger operations in Indiana.

Amtrak passenger service in the state has been curtailed. And in the southwestern part of the state, Louisville and Nashville facilities in the Evansville area are affected.

Richard Bunton, manager of passenger services for the Chicago South Shore and South Bend Railroad, said the line operated at full service Tuesday.

According to union estimates, more than 330,000 of the nation's half-million railroad workers honored picket lines and stayed off the job, leaving more than 100,000 morning commuters stranded and idling millions of tons of freight.

Amtrak, the national rail passenger line, said service was normal along its Boston-to-

Washington routes, but all other morning train service was canceled except for one West Coast train. Amtrak said about half of its 52,000 daily riders were denied service.

Only Conrail Avoids Pickets

Conrail, the nation's largest freight carrier, was not picketed, reportedly because it had obtained a temporary court injunction banning such activity last week. Conrail, which is concentrated in the Northeast, also operates a few commuter lines.

The hardest hit area of the country appeared to be in Chicago, where picketing of passenger lines forced up to 100,000 commuters to find other means of getting to [Continued on page 2]

Threat of war shadows Argentina and Chile

SANTIAGO* Chile, [AP] - A century-old dispute between Argentinian and Chile over ownership of three tiny islands off the tip of South America has heated up to the point that many on both sides fear war.

Negotiators for the two South American neighbors held a round of talks recently in Santiago, working against a backdrop of rumored troop clashes, an accidental incursion by Argentine soldiers two weeks ago, a sharp decline in bilateral trade and expulsion of many Chileans working in Argentina.

The islands of Picton, Lennox and Nueva, south of Tierra del Fuego, have been held by Chile since the last century. Argentina has claimed them almost as long.

The nations are more concerned about the surrounding ocean than the islands because there are unconfirmed reports of petroleum resources nearby.

An arbitration commission to resolve the dispute was appointed by the British government in 1971. It ruled last year that under the 1881 limits treaty between Chile and Argentina the islands belonged to Chile.

Argentina argues that while the 1881 treaty does concede all Pacific islands south of the Beagle Canal to Cape Horn are Chile's, the disputed islands are in the Atlantic and therefore belong to Argentina. But it is not clear if the islands are in the Atlantic or the Pacific.

Argentina rejected the island arbitration decision early this year and sent its entire navy sailing through the area. And it was doubly irritated when Chile said it planned to claim a 200-mile territorial limit extending east of the islands, well into the Atlantic.

Bishops Denounce Potential 'Suicide'

The Roman Catholic bishops of Chile and Argentina met for two days recently in Mendoza, Argentina, then issued a joint plea "to avoid whatever confrontation, which besides being absurd, would be suicide."

Brazil was brought into the dispute recently when Argentina prohibited for several weeks the passage across its territory of Brazilian-made trucks sold to Chilean dealers. Brazil reacted by blocking a reported 200 Argentine cargo trucks from entering Brazil with fruit and other goods for sale.

Presidents Rafael Videla of Argentina and Augusto Pinochet of Chile, both army generals, held a summit meeting last February in the southern Chilean lake region and agreed to appoint negotiating commissions to discuss territorial sea limits near the islands.

But Pinochet said the discussions would not include the islands, which he said were not negotiable. Videla said Argentina was not changing its position.

So it is not clear what high level negotiating groups have been talking about in their frequent sessions here and in Buenos Aires. After each round they issue brief statements which say little.

Argentine military officers have been making strong off-the-record remarks to Argentine newspapers calling for seizure of the islands.

Egypt seeks Arab backing

CAIRO [AP] - Egypt launched a diplomatic campaign yesterday to win Arab backing for the Camp David agreement with Israel, telling Arab ambassadors in Cairo that the accords are only a step toward a comprehensive Mideast settlement. Though Jordan and Saudi Arabia, two moderate Arab states, have refrained from endorsing the Camp David agreement, they have not joined the hard-line arab nations, led by Syria, in plainning active steps against Sadat. Diplomatic sources in Riyadh said Saudi Arabia is expected to continue its moderate oil policies, material support of Egypt and its special relationship with the United States.

Jet crash hearing begins

WASHINGTON [AP] - "Two unusual situations"-a light aircraft ascent and the switching of radio frequencies-might have combined to cause the midair collision in San Diego, Calif., that killed at least 150 persons, Elwood T. Driver, acting chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, told Congress yesterday. However, he emphasized that his testimony to a House Government Operations subcommittee was based on very preliminary information about the collision Monday, the worst in U.S. aviation history.

Ticket slowdown planned

INDIANAPOLIS [AP] - Most of Indiana's policemen will participate in a statewide ticket slowdown, intended to gain collective bargaining rights by hitting government in its budget books, the president of the state Fraternal Order of Police predicted yesterday. Vern Tincher, a state police sergeant who heads the 9,000 member Indiana FOP, said the slowdown won't jeopardize traffic safety. Police still will issue verbal or written warnings for traffic violations and may write tickets for flagrant violations, such as excessive speed, drunk driving or driving with a suspended license.

The union said the picketing was aimed at companies that had been lending equipment and personnel to the strike-bound Norfolk & Western Railway, based in Roanoke, Va.

Union President Fred Kroll said in a statement that the picketing was intended to "bring increasing pressure" on the N&W to settle a contract dispute with the union, which struck the railroad on July 10.

Industry lawyers, contending the picketing was illegal, went to federal courts wherever there were pickets. They obtained temporary injunctions in several locations ordering the picketing to stop.

Two of the largest railroads affected by the picketing, the Burlington Northern and Union Pacific, obtained court injunctions that covered the two lines' entire systems, and company officials yesterday said they hoped to have normal operations restored before the day was through.

Industry officials said they hoped similar court bictories for other railroads would bring the picketing to an end before Wednesday.

However, lines providing financial assistance to the N&W under a mutual aid pact - as opposed to other types of assistance - could face more picketing over the financial aid issue.

Chief Justice Warren Burger refused yesterday to block picketing over financial aid, clearing the way for the union to escalate its strike to 73 railroads.

Sr. Jane Sculley to speak today at library Auditorium

Sr. Jane Scully, R.S.M., president of Pittsburgh's Carlow College since 1966 and the first elected woman member of Gulf Oil Corporation's Board of Directors, will discuss "The Private Citizen in the Public Good" at the first Cardinal O'Hara Memorial Lecture at 3:30 p.m. today in the Memorial Library Auditorium.

Scully was appointed in 1973 to the President's National Commission for the Financing of Postsecondary Education and has served on several Pittsburgh and national educational task forces, committees and advisory boards.

The Cardinal O'Hara Lectures honor a former Notre Dame president, 1934-1940, who served as the first dean of the College of Business Administration. Leaders in the fields of education, government and business are guests of the University each year and present classroom as well as public appearances. Dr. Salvatore J. While denouncing Japanese Dupont vice president shows optimism in business graduates

by Tom Jackman

One of the top vice presidents from DuPont Corporation, Gomar Ward, speaking to business and marketing students yesterday, warned that "imports are killing us" but noted that today's college graduates can rectify this situation.

Ward expressed optimism for graduates entering the business field and also endorsed the textile industry, noting that 42.6 billion pounds of fiber per year are moved around the globe. He said that of the three fundamentals of life--food, shelter and clothing--textiles are involved in the latter two. This is an "extremely exciting business," he added.

Ward listed four things which must happen in the next ten years for the textile industry to continue its growth. He first declared that since less material is being used in clothing today, the competition in the field is higher than ever.

"Look at Cosmopolitan magazine these days," he said. "Do you see the amount of material in the kind of clothes they're wearing?"

He said that other industries (such as the camera industry) may claim the same problem, but added, "Have you ever seen a Japanese without a camera? Well, I've seen them without sweaters, and I'd like to see more of them with (sweaters)."

Ward said that, secondly, new sources of energy must be developed. He also spoke of the need for better automation and distribution, in order to export the great number of products produced in the U.S.

According to Ward, restraints on the growth of the industry can be solved by new entries into the business field. Commenting on one such restraint--Japanese imports--Ward said, "Don't you think it's strange that the two countries (Japan and Germany) we just finished whipping (in World War II) are already ahead of us economically? They must have figured that if they can't win on the battlefield, they'll win in business."

Three other factors restraining textile business growth are government regulations, a need for modernization and a lack of creativity.

"We have become creatures of copying the other guy," Ward told his audience. He stated that creativity in the American textile industry is heading toward a standstill.

Ward concluded his speech by quoting from a Roper Survey of college students, the majority of whom, Roper said, felt pessimistic about the future of the U.S. Ward expressed his hope that the students of Notre Dame did not feel that way and that they would take advantage of the bright future ahead of them.

"You are well-fed, well-housed, and well-educated. You cannot fail, in my opinion," he said.

Ward's talk was the first of this year's Gilbert Lecture Series, sponsored by the Marketing Club.

NCAA defends policies

WASHINGTON [AP] - The National Collegiate Athletic Association takes the offensive for the first time today in the year-long probe by Congress into the amateur sports organization's enforcement of its rules.

J. Neils Thompson of the University of Texas, NCAA president, and Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, will be the first to testify in the two-day hearing, which will close out the probe of the House Investigations and Oversight Subcommittee.

Arthur R. Reynolds and Charles Wright of the NCAA infractions committee will head the list of witnesses testifying tomorrow.

The subcommittee, at the instigation of Rep. Jim Santini, D-Nev., has been investigating whether the NCAA policies violate antitrust laws, whether its investigative methods provide for due process and whether the penalties assessed to member institutions, athletes and coaches are fair and equitable.

Santini called for the investigation into the NCAA's enforcement of its rules in the summer of 1977 after the University of Nevada-Las Vegas basketball program was placed on two years' probation for recruiting and other violations.

For the past year, the subcommittee has taken testimony from representatives of several universities, including Mississippi State, Minnesota, Michigan State, Oklahoma State, Denver University and Nevada-Las Vegas, all schools placed on probation for alleged violations. Most of the testimony has been critical of the NCAA policies.

Until now, however, the NCAA has not been able to give its defense.

In a letter to Thompson last August, the committee asked that the NCAA respond at the hearing on 46 recommendations made during the previous seven days of public hearing. The NCAA is expected to do so.

Reforms Recommended

The committee's recommendations include the following:

The member institution should be informed at the time a complaint is lodged with the NCAA and provided with a description of the nature of such complaint.

The member institution should be informed at the time a complaint is lodged with the NCAA and provided with a description of the nature of such complaint.

Investigations of potential NCAA infractions should be parallel and contemporaneous between the involved member institution and the NCAA enforcement staff.

All individuals, including former student-athletes and representatives of the university's athletic interests, subject to a charge of possible violation of NCAA legislation should have the right to notice of charges and the right to appear with counsel before the NCAA committee on infractions as well as the NCAA Council should an appeal be taken.

The accused party should not have to prove innocence, i.e., when the investigative findings of the institution and the enforcement staff differ, the burden of the proof should not shift to the accused party.

ND-SMC Theatre announces 78-79 schedule

The Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Theatre has announced its 1978-1979 season. The season begins with Preston Jones' Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander, which will be presented October 6, 7, 8, 11, 12, 13 and 14, followed by Edward Albee's All Over on December 1, 2, 7, 8 and 9. Spring's Awakening by Frank Wedekind will be presented on March 2, 3, 8, 9 and 10, and the season closes with Amphytrion '79, a jazz-rock musical production of the ancient myth of Amphytrion and Alkmene. The myth of Amphytrion has been adapted for the stage by fifty-five playwrights, dating back to the ancient Greeks, which makes it the most dramatized story ever. The Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Theatre will present a new version of the story, written by Miles Coiner, and perform it on April 27, 28 and May 3, 4 and 5. All plays will be presented in O'Laughlin Auditorium on the campus of Saint Mary's College. Performances will begin at 8:00 p.m. Tickets for each production are $2.50 ($2.00 for Notre Dame-Saint Mary's students, faculty and staff) and may be reserved by calling 284-4176.

Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander is the second play in Preston Jones' A Texas Trilogy. Its world premiere was in February 1974, at The Dallas Theatre Center, with subsequent productions at Washington's Kennedy Center on Broadway. It is the story of Lu Ann Hampton, her family and friends, and life in a small Texas town. The action of the play spans thirty years in the out-of-the-way town of Bradleyville, and is like a nostalgic trip through Americana. The Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Theatre production of Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander will be directed by Julie Jensen. Last season, Julie directed O'Neill's A Touch of the Poet. Jim Casurella, an ND senior, has designed an imaginative set in which the performers and audience alike are on the stage at O'Laughlin Auditorium. The audience will surround the performing space on three sides, and a band, performing original and standard country & western music, will surround the fourth side. Music will be performed throughout the production. Marie Birou, a Saint Mary's senior, will be the costumer. Please note that seating for Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander is limited to 170 persons for each performance, so there will be seven performances instead of the usual five.

The central character in Edward Albee's All Over is a famous man whose imminent death has summoned the press and public to wait outside his door. Inside, gathered closely around the man we never see, the family and close friends wade in future loss. What will become of them, the Wife, the Mistress, the Best Friend, the Son and the Daughter; what will become of them now that the shadow they have been living under begins to fade? Senior Mark Amenta will direct this production. Last year Mark directed Cocteau's Les Parents Terribles for the ND-SMC Theatre Second Scene series. Scenography and costuming for All Over will be by Jim Houle, also a senior at Notre Dame.

Written in 1891, by Frank Wedekind, Spring's Awakening (A Tragedy of Childhood) is an early model of expressionism which focuses on young people, making it ideal for a student cast. The story is about classically educated school children who are expected to ignore the emotional and sexual stirrings of adolescence. The play is more than a period piece of 1891 Germany because the conflict between the sexual force of teenagers, and their inability to understand, control or channel it, is universal even now. The play has a history of being censored, and was not allowed to be performed until Max Reinhardt produced it in Berlin fifteen years after its publication. Patrick Fanning will serve as director and scenographer for this production. Last year, he directed and designed Genet's The Maids for the Second Scene series. The costumers for Spring's Awakening will be Diana Hawfield and Lisa Turco.

The myth of Amphytrion dates back to ancient Greece, and tells of how the god Zeus, disguised as the warrior Amphytrion, came to Earth and spent an evening with the unknowing Alkmene, wife of Amphytrion. At dawn, the real Amphytrion returns home from battle, himself prepared for a warm reunion with Alkmene. The myth has been adapted for the stage by playwrights including Plautus, Moliere, Dryden and Giroudoux. The ND-SMC Theatre production of Amphytrion '79 will be a composite of many of the previous versions, and presented as a jazz-rock musical. Miles Coiner will be both playwright and director for this production. Last year, he directed The Caucasian Chalk Circle by Berthold Brecht.

Last day to register for Senior trip

Today is the last day Notre Dame and Saint Mary's seniors may register for this year's Senior Class trip. Notre Dame students who have not paid their $235 balance or who have not registered yet may do so from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the LaFortune ballroom. SMC students may register from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on the first floor of LeMans. Persons who have not listed enough names to fill a room or a car will be placed with others by the trip chairmen if they do not register the needed names tonight.

Many victims from plane crash were employees of airlines

SAN DIEGO [AP] - Nearly a fourth of the 150 persons killed when a Pacific Southwest Airlines jet collided with a small plane worked for PSA - a company one official calls "a family operation."

"Everybody knows everybody else It sounds phony, I know, but we've lost family," Don Simonian, assistant to William R. Shimp, PSA president and chief executive officer, said Tuesday.

Simonian said Shimp, who sent telegrams to the families of the dead employees within hours of the crash, "knew a lot of these personally. You see, he worked his way up through the ranks."

The company employs 3,500 persons.

Of the 135 persons aboard the Boeing 727 that collided with a small plane and crashed into a residential area Monday, 37 were PSA employees. Seven of them made up the crew.

Everyone aboard Flight 182, a Sacramento-to-Los Angeles-to-San Diego commuter trip, was killed, as were both persons in the light plane. At least 13 persons on the ground died.

The crash was the worst in U.S. aviation history and was also PSA's first fatal accident in its 29-year history.

Simonian said since Flight 182 is the first PSA plane to leave Sacramento in the morning, it normally carries a large number of "deadheads" - non-working flight attendants and cockpit personnel returning to PSA's home office in San Diego, where all such crews are based. On Monday, the free riders included three pilots, one first officer, two second officers and 12 flight attendants.

Scholastic apologizes for late deliveries

The editorial board of Scholastic would like to offer an apology to the Notre Dame community for the faulty distribution of the Sept. 23 issue of the magazine.

The distribution vehicle broke down in the middle of its rounds and the North Quad and LaFortune received their magazines while the South Quad went without until Sunday.

Prof. David Link, Dean of Notre Dame's Law School, will give a lecture and conduct a discussion Thurs. at 7 p.m. in Howard Hall. The subject of his talk is "How To Prepare For And Get Into Law School". Interested students are invited to attend this event which is being sponsored by Howard's Academic-Cultural Commission.

First lay member joins Campus Ministry staff

by Diane P. Carey

Sally Luna, the first lay female Dean of Students at St. Bonaventure's in New York, is the first lay person on the Campus Ministry staff. She replaced Kevin Kearney this fall as coordinator of the University's catechumenate program.

The catechumenate program provides individual instruction in Catholicism for people who want to be baptized, confirmed, or learn more about the religion.

Luna, "over forty" and just starting her third career, held a number of other administrative positions at St. Bonaventure's over a period of twelve years.

Her previous work in the campus ministry field includes help in establishing the first ministry service at St. Bonaventure's.

Luna noted that after ten years of teaching high school, she had difficulty adjusting to college students.

"At first I thought I'd never understand college students," Luna said. "It's a lot different from high school, where students are so bubbly about everything. But I thoroughly enjoy working with college students while they're integrating personal and spiritual growth."

Luna said she was attracted to Notre Dame because of both the size, which is large compared to St. Bonaventure's total enrollment of 2,000, and the diversity of experience on the Campus Ministry staff.

"Each member of the staff has had a great deal of experience in different areas of ministry, and I know I can learn from all of them," Luna said.

"I was also impressed by the number of theology and ministry professionals on the campus," Luna said. She is currently enrolled in Father Sheedy's "Faith and Tradition" class, which she says is basic to her catechumenate program.

"Since I've never lived outside of New York state, coming here was a big move for me," Luna said, "but I guess I'm always looking for challenges and opportunities to grow."

Fr. Hesburgh spoke to Hesburgh Hall students last night. While he spent most of the session answering students' questions he also talked about other campus issues. These included future construction projects on campus, i.e., the high probability of another tower to house 500 more girls [already approved by the Trustees], and the Campus Fund of Notre Dame which will hopefully be used to hire more top grade professors. the most exciting places on campus," Porter noted.

Porter stressed the need for increased student involvement in museum activities. "If the museum is to be a success, we must have increased interest by the students, especially from non-art majors, such as math and engineering majors," he said.

Porter also looks to increased interest from the faculty and Michiana residents.

In an effort to increase student awareness, Charles Geoffrin, administrative assistant to the director, will distribute a questionnaire to a percentage of the students, faculty and Michiana residents in the near future. The questionnaire will serve as a medium of communication between the museum and its community.

artists include Picasso, Chagall, Degas, Rembrandt and Remington.

In addition to exhibition space, the building will house a print and drawing study room, a library, a conference room and an auditorium for the Fine and Performing Arts.

Porter expects that the most popular section of the museum will be the Gallery for the Art of the Americas. The first part of the gallery will feature art of native Americans with some pieces dating from the birth of Christ. The second part will cover the art of the new Americans, beginning with Colonial America and culminating with the art of the Southwest and West.

"We feel we have (art) of interest for everybody. Also, this museum has the opportunity to become a cultural center and one of

by Mark Perry
Staff Reporter

Increased participation is the major goal of this year's United Way campaign at Notre Dame, scheduled from Oct. 1-5, according to Jim Daschbach, professor of aerospace and mechanical engineering and chairman for the fun-raising activity.

"We hope to get at least 55 percent participation in this year's donations," Daschbach said. This figure would mark a ten percent improvement over last year's contributions.

Daschbach stated that they have set their monetary goal at $66,000.

This is $6,000 more than last year's goal which was exceeded by $3,000.

"This year we are coordinating student, faculty, and staff participation in the program," Daschbach said. He met on Monday with representatives from each of these areas to outline the fund-raising goals for the charity group.

Contributions by students may be made through dorm section leaders. Faculty and staff members may contribute by signing pledge cards which will cause their donations to be deducted from their payroll checks.

Tom Soma and Bro. Joseph McTaggart, assistant campaign chairmen, met with the Hall President's Council last week to begin their contact with the students. Meetings with the University staff, including a movie outlining the United Way, are planned for next week. Faculty members will be contacted through campus mail.

Daschbach also noted that 23 out of the 34 United Way agencies in the Michiana area have helped people from Notre Dame or their families through the various programs which are supported by the United Way.

Anyone interested in working on the United Way Campaign should contact Tom Soma (3479), 149 Morrissey Hall.

Snite Museum of Art addition progresses with success

by Tom McSteen

Construction on the Snite Museum of Art, an addition to the Notre Dame Art Gallery, is well underway, with its completion date tentatively scheduled for later this year, according to Prof. Dean Porter, gallery director. "The Front Door of the Campus", as the museum is referred to by its staff, will be located adjacent to O'Shaughnessy Hall.

Porter, gallery director for the past four years, is pleased with the progress of the addition. "I could not be happier. I'm happy for the gallery and for the University. The University will now have a great museum," he said.

"As to the opening of the museum, it is not known at this time whether we will have a grand opening or open a gallery at a time," Porter added.

The primary funding of the museum, which will encompass 54,000 square feet, will consist of a $2 million grant from the Snite family of Chicago. In addition, the museum has a goal of a $4 million endowment as part of the $132 million Campaign for Notre Dame.

According to Porter, the museum will offer the gallery adequate space for the permanent display of a large portion of its holdings.

"We are sitting on a collection of over 7,000 pieces, valued in excess of $10 million. We just haven't had the display space in the past," he stated.

Included in the collection are pieces from virtually all the media including painting, sculpture, drawing, graphics, photography, ceramics and textiles. Featured

Senior Class to raffle one Southern Cal. trip package

by Gregory Solman

The Senior Class will raffle one Senior Class trip package in order to help balance the class budget and give a senior who cannot afford the trip an opportunity to win one, according to Jerry Castellini, class president.

He also pointed out that the raffle will offer a Senior who has already purchased a package the chance to a $285 refund.

One-dollar raffle tickets will be sold to Notre Dame and Saint Mary's seniors through each Senior Class Advisory Council representative at Senior Bar. The winning ticket will be drawn at Senior Bar on Oct. 12.

John Reid, director of student activities, approved the raffle yesterday. He stated that "the money will be placed back into the Senior Class account and turned back to the students through other activities."

explained that the money will help to balance the class budget.

"We took over a big deficit when we started in office last April. We're now trying to make a comeback into the black," he said.

Fair estimates that the class "will have broken even by the middle of October" if the raffle shows a "good" profit.

"We're not trying to solely make money off of the class, as such," Castellini stressed, adding, "Up until now, the events we have held have simply broken even. For this reason, we haven't yet come out of the hole, and we have to do something to make money."

According to Castellini, this year's Senior Class is taking more people on the Southern California trip than any previous class.

"Over 800 people have signed up already, and in 1977 they only took a total of 704 seniors," he noted. A Senior Class trip package includes a ticket to the Nov. 25 Notre Dame/USC game, airfare to and from California, hotel accommodations from Nov. 22 to 26 and car rental to be shared with three other seniors.

House approves
Anthony on new dollar coin

WASHINGTON [AP] - To the applause of feminists, the Treasury and vending machine operators, the House gave final congressional approval yesterday to the introduction of a new small dollar coin bearing the likeness of peonier suffragette Susan B. Anthony. The 368-38 House vote sent the Senate-approved measure to President Carter for certain signature. The new coin, which will be a little bigger than a quarter, could be in circulation by mid-1979. The Treasury says 500 million of the coins could be minted by then. The dollar bill will continue to be produced, but the Treasury hopes many will be displaced by the Anthony dollar. When plans for a new dollar coin were first discussed, individual women and feminist organizations mounted a campaign to use the coin to honor the former school teacher who led the drive for women's voting rights in the 1870s. Miss Anthony died in 1906, 14 years before her cause triumphed with ratification of the 19th Amendment to the Constitution. Susan B. Anthony thus becomes the first real woman and the second actual person, other than a president, to be pictured on a U.S. coin for general circulation. Benjamin Franklin, for a time part of the design of the half-dollar, was the first. The Treasury promoted the coin as an economy measure, since one coin will outlast many dollar bills. Vending machine interests said the coin would enable them to broaden their range of merchandise.

Notre Dame dumps Valparaiso, 6-5

by Craig Chval
Sports Writer

Informed sources have confirmed that the Boston Red Sox were kidnapped en masse sometime in August and replaced with imposters. Final confirmation came when it was disclosed that the Red Sox, early runaway leaders in the American League East, have been recently playing under the guise of the University of Notre Dame's varsity baseball team.

There doesn't seem to be any other logical explanation for the recent success of the Irish nine, but Head Coach Tom Kelly tried to put his finger on the reason after his squad scored twice in the bottom of the ninth Tuesday to defeat Valparaiso 6-5 for its third straight win.

"We have more enthusiasm and more confidence now," said Kelly in comparison with last spring's squad that was 12-25-1. "Nobody's willing to say that we're beat. The players are starting to realize that there are seven or nine innings in a game (seven for double-headers, nine for single games), and that we aren't going to get all the runs back at once."

Indeed, the Irish seem to have a very firm understanding of that principle. The Irish started the current win streak with a double-header sweep of Xavier Sunday. Third baseman Mark Simendinger delivered game-winning blows in the bottom of the seventh in each game.

But Tuesday, the Irish outdid themselves. They spotted the visiting Crusaders a four-run lead after three innings, fought back to tie the score at 4-4 in the sixth, and fell behind once 5-4 in the top of the eighth.

That set the stage for freshman first baseman Henry Valenzuela. With runners on first and second and two out in the bottom of the ninth, Valenzuela lined the first pitch to the fence in right-center-field, tripling home the tying and winning runs.

The blast made a winner out of Mark Ladd, who pitched five and two-thirds innings in relief of starter Mike Deasey. Ladd surrendered just one run, which was a result of his own balk. After walking the leadoff hitter in the eighth, Ladd was charged with the violation. "I had forgotten that there was a runner on first," explained the senior right-hander. "And I switched from the windup to the stretch position without taking my foot off the rubber."

A single scored Valparaiso's fifth run, and once again the Irish had to play catch-up.

Notre Dame had tied the score at four with a pair of runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings. Leftfielder Mike Jamieson delivered the key hit in the fifth, tripling to deep center to chase home Rick Pullano with Notre Dame's first run. Jamieson then scored when Simendinger's blooper into short right field fell in for a double.

Dan Voellinger knotted the score with one swing of his bat in the home seventh. The junior designated hitter rifled a line drive over the left field fence while freshman centerfielder Dan Szajko was off and running from first base on a hit-and-run.

Kelly was very pleased with the efforts of Ladd. "Mark makes very good use of what he has," said Kelly. "He isn't an overpowering pitcher, and he knows it, so he gets in front of the hitters and uses his defense."

Ladd was in command of an excellent curve ball Tuesday, and he didn't hesitate to use it when behind in the count. "I felt really good today," said Ladd. "I love throwing into a strong wind like today, because my curve ball really breaks then."

Next on tap for the suddenly formidable Irish are single games with Bradley, Friday and Saturday. Both games are slated for Jake Kline Field.

Irish golfers take Indiana state title

by Paul Hare

The University of Notre Dame golf team is the Indiana state golf champion of 1978. The six-man squad had a thirty-six hole total score of 758 to win the Indiana Intercollegiate State Championship. The team outshot Purdue and Ball State to gain the title.

The match took place on Monday at the State of Indiana Country Club. Golf coach Noel O'Sullivan calls the course a "tough course with lots of water and huge greens." Senior team member Tim Saur's commented that "the course played under the toughest conditions I've experienced. The grounds were hard and the greens were in poor shape." Fifteen of the eighteen holes at the club are obstructed by water. The course has a U.S.G.A. rating of 73.6.

The team's outstanding performance was highlighted by the play of Tom McCarthy. The sophomore shot a two-under-par 70 on the first eighteen and came back with a round of 71 to finish at a course-record 141. McCarthy broke the course record by five strokes. Saur's states, "It couldn't have happened to a nicer guy. He just played some kind of terrific golf." The sophomore only had a 36-hole total of 55 strokes on the putting greens.

Coach O'Sullivan expressed his feelings about his team's performance on Monday. "Tom McCarthy had a super individual day for us in the state meet, but the most gratifying thing was that everyone down to our fifth and sixth man had a hand in the victory."

Besides McCarthy, the Irish golfers placed two others in the top ten. Sophomore Tim Sachek shot a 76-75 for a total of 151 and again 5th place. Junior David Knee had a 74-78-152, good enough for an 8th place finish. Other scores for the Irish were: Tim Saur's 75-79-152, John Lundgren 81-85-166 and freshman Steve Dillon 88-79-167.

The match included 16 teams from Indiana with a total of 95 players. Purdue University was the runner-up with a 36-hole total of 760, just two strokes behind the Irish. Ball State University the defending champions, placed third with a 777. The contest was characterized by its shotgun start.

Saur's said, "Everybody got in at jagged times and the match just ended. Our start was the key to our victory." Purdue's Mike Granger was McCarthy's nearest challenger shooting a 147.

The victory marked Notre Dame's first championship in the state tournament. Saur's commented that, "The win is a result of all the work we put in. We knew it was just a matter of time until we would put it all together, especially with five returning lettermen."

Coach O'Sullivan feels that the team needs the same kind of team effort that was shown at the state meet to win again this weekend. A dual match is set for this Sunday against Purdue and the Notre Dame Invitational takes place this Monday.

Purdue University will attempt to defend its title at Burke Memorial Golf Course. Notre Dame is coming off what Saur's said was "a poor performance" in last year's tournament. The 4-year veteran states, "We're expected to win at our home course. If we can play our type of game, we can alleviate a lot of the pressure." If the Irish can pull off the victory, they will have finished the fall season undefeated.

Coach O'Sullivan is very confident as his squad prepares for the tournament. "Getting two more chances to meet Purdue," he says, "is a great way to finish the fall season. I'm sure the play will be just as competitive as it was Monday in the state meet. That's exactly what are kids need: to see where they stand. That will be the key for the spring season."

SMC hockey team loses to Goshen

The Saint Mary's field hockey team lost to Goshen College yesterday, 2-0, in a closely contested match.

Playing at Goshen, the Belles could not capitalize on numerous scoring opportunities throughout the game. Co-captain Mary Tuite commented, "We had a lot of good shots on goal, but we just couldn't come up with a score."

Goshen scored its first goal just minutes into the game and followed with a second score half way through the closing stanza.

The Saint Mary's goalie, Bonnie Welsh, prevented another Goshen score when she stopped a penalty flick which had resulted after a Saint Mary's defenseman had illegally stopped the ball from entering the net.

Last Saturday, the Belles were blanked 8-0 by Taylor College as the visitors scored six goals in the first half and two in the second.

Saint Mary's, looking to raise its record to 1-3-1, will meet the Notre Dame field hockey squad this Saturday on the field next to Madaleva Hall at Saint Mary's. Tuite said, "This will probably be the most important game of the season for us, and we're really looking forward to it."

Last year, the Irish defeated the Belles 1-0 at Cartier Field. Saturday's contest is slated to begin at 9 a.m. with the 'B' team game following the first game.

In the doubles matches, SMC's number one team of Schuster and Daniels was defeated by Giannes and Berning in two identical set scores of 6-2. The number two team for SMC of O'Brien and Smith defeated Gust and Sanders, 6-2, 6-4. With the match tied at 4-4, Bracken and Maenza had an incredible three sets, defeating Harring and Bittman, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, winning the match for St. Mary's. Kathy Cordes, athletic director and co-coach, commended Terri and Carmel on their fine play when the pressure was on. She was also quoted as saying, "The girls did a real excellent job and showed real team sportsmanship as they worked together to beat last year's defending champion."

As of yesterday, Cordes will be joined by a new co-coach, Karen Grummell. She is replacing Tom Selsor, who has run into many time conflicts. Grummell is a graduate of Purdue University, where she played tennis for four years and captained the team her senior year. She is presently a tennis pro at the Lafayette Tennis Club in South Bend.
