Lee's holds benefit for Camarda

by Tim Joyce
Staff Reporter

A benefit party will be held for Joe Camarda tomorrow night to help defray some of the costs of his recent hospital stay. Camarda was hospitalized for almost six weeks as a result of the Dec. 11 shooting in his home. The party is being sponsored by Lee's Grill and Barbeque, 1132 South Bend Avenue.

The benefit was the idea of Gale Lighthall, an employee at Lee's. According to Lighthall, Camarda was a frequent patron of Lee's and when he heard of the shooting, he wanted to do something for him.

"I was talking with a friend of Joe's, Jim Modic, and I asked him for Joe's room number at the hospital so that I could send him some flowers. Then I said 'Hey, let's have a big party for him instead'."

The party will be held from 5 p.m. to 12 midnight at Lee's. There will be a one dollar charge at the door and happy hour prices will prevail. Pitchers of beer will be $1.60 all night with all proceeds going to Camarda.

In addition to the reduced beer prices, there will also be a raffle with prizes given away throughout the evening. Raffle tickets will be five for a dollar. Prizes include beer mirrors, signs and other assorted beer paraphernalia.

"It's going to be a good time. The beer companies helped out a lot for the party," Lighthall commented, adding, "We're going to raise a thousands dollars for Joe."

Donahue to speak

by Neal Patterson

Noted television talk show host and Emmy Award Winner Phil Donahue will speak this evening in Washington Hall at 7 p.m. Admission is free.

Donahue, an ND alumnus, graduated in 1957 with a degree in Business Administration. He began his television career with WNDU-TV while still a student here. He is, at present, host of the "Donahue" show which originates at WGN-TV in Chicago and is syndicated nationally.

Tomorrow's television program is of special interest because it will feature an hour-long interview with Fr. Hesburgh in front of a studio audience. The show will be broadcast live at 12 p.m. over WGN-TV and shown subsequently over other stations syndicating the program.

This evening Donahue will speak briefly, after which he will answer questions from the audience. He is utilizing this format so that he can address himself to the topics of greatest interest to the audience.

This event is being sponsored by the Student Union Academic Commission. An official of the commission expressed the group's appreciation to Donahue, pointing out that he is foregoing his usual fee of approximately $5,000 for a speaking engagement.

despite a total mobilization of police.

"We've raised enough corn, but not enough hell!" came the battle cry, as several separate cauldrons of farm vehicles poured into the city in a traffic snarling demand for higher government price supports for their crops.

Police arrested at least 14 farmers and impounded more than a dozen vehicles, many of which were left abandoned in key intersections.

Several police cruisers were rammed, and tires slashed and windows broken on others. One officer was injured when a tractor was driven over his foot, Police Chief Burtell Jefferson, who called out his entire force, was personally involved in a shoving match.

Tear gas was fired at one driver who allegedly resisted arrest after blocking Independence Avenue near the Agriculture Department.

Another tractor driver was clubbed and dragged to a paddy wagon; officers said he had brandished a baseball bat at them. In another episode, a vehicle was destroyed by fire near the department.

The demonstration was launched by the American Agriculture movement, an organization seeking full implementation of existing authority to guarantee farmers prices of up to 90 percent of parity for their crops. Full parity would give them roughly the same purchasing power that farmers enjoyed early this century. Prices now are around 70 percent.

President Carter said that "I don't know of any group that's suffered more from the effect of inflation than farmers." But, in remarks to the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture, he said net farm income had increased 40 percent in the last year, though more should be done to ensure that all farmers share that prosperity.

"The Farmers Are Here!" Declared banners trailing from many of the 2,000 tractors and trucks that entered the city at a crawl just before dawn yesterday.

Several of the vehicles-cars, trucks and even mobile homes-had several farmers aboard, and American Agriculture claims their ranks will swell to 30,000 over the next several days.

Tens of thousands of exasperated commuters found themselves arriving at their offices up to four hours late - if at all - due to the huge traffic tie-ups on principal freeways and streets. Many, hearing of the chaos via radio and television, simply stayed home.

SMC board discusses sports festival

by Beth Huffman

As time winds down for this year's Saint Mary's Board of Governance they are hastily completing plans for upcoming events and projects. Topping the discussion at last night's board meeting was a progress report on the Winter Sports Festival which began last night. The festival will continue through Monday with daily events.

A cross-country skiing clinic highlighted yesterday's festival activities. On the agenda for today's events are a faculty-staff volleyball game at 12:15 p.m., a running and jogging clinic at 4 p.m. and the lacrosse clinic set for 5 p.m. All the events will be held in the Angela Athletic Facility.

The last event, a "Synchronized" swimming clinic held at Regina pool, will begin tonight at 8. Various other events will be held through Monday, including a recreational evening of volleyball slated for Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students on Friday. Angela will be open for the volleyball match-ups from 8-12 on that day.

Other topics discussed included plans for the upcoming Student Governance elections, Saint Mary's campus-wide charity, board finance, and possible athletic scholarships at Saint Mary's.

A revision has been made in election policy to allow out-going seniors to vote for next year's student body officers. Elections will be held on Monday, March 12. Prior to the election, on Monday, a letter will be distributed to each Saint Mary's student explaining offices, nominations, and election procedure. Campaign rules and regulations will be published at a later date in the Observer.

The Board incorporated in its discussion the up-coming projects concerning Saint Mary's campus-wide charity, ST. Jude's Children's Hospital.

The Board opted to donate money to the St. Jude's Hospital charity, a charity whose most famous sponsor and patron is Danny Thomas. The Board has asked each residence hall and class to hold various fund raising functions with all the proceeds going to St. Jude's.

The "topper" for the fund raising project will be a talent show sponsored by the sophomore class. Angela Athletic Facility will be the sight of the sophomore production and the Class President Adrian Trigiani says that she hopes for a large and profitable turn-out. Three nights of campus-wide auditions will be held with invitations extended to both Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students.

Sophomore class members will be asked to serve as hostesses and ushers for the evening. All questions concerning the show can be referred to the Sophomore Class President, Adri Trigiani, or the event's Co-Chairman, Mary Joan Ptassin.

To date, the show's date remains tentative, but further details will be published in the Observer.

Student Body President Gail Darragh has been researching the possible increase of the Board's budget and reported yesterday on her research. At present, the board receives $15 per year for each student. This student allotment has not been increased since the 75-76 school year, while the tuition at SMC has increased. In contrast to schools of comparable size and mean, Darragh said, Saint Mary's budget for the board is excessively low. Darragh plans to work for an increase.

Jagger's 'marriage shatters; Bianca files for divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)-Bianca Jagger, wife of Rolling Stones lead singer Mick Jagger, filed for divorce yesterday asking $14,000 a month in support and half the couple's estimated $25 million in community property. "Although Bianca has been hoping for a reconciliation these past couple of months, the lawsuit was necessary because Mick has made it clear that it (reconciliation) is not possible - because he has been living with another lady," said attorney Marvin Mitchelson, who filed the petition on behalf of Mrs. Jagger, who was in London. "He has failed to support her, sent her bills back and cancelled her charge accounts," said Mitchelson. "The amount provided her is meager compared to his obligations to her." Jagger has been living in Los Angeles with model Jerry Hall, according to the document. He was not available for comment.

ERA stance threatened by revocation proposal

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)-Indiana's ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment could be revoked under a proposal endorsed yesterday by a Senate committee and sent to the floor for debate. The plan, sponsored by Sen. Joan Gubbins, R-Indianapolis, would overturn Indiana's 1977 vote in favor of the ERA if it fails to become part of the U.S. Constitution by March 22. Lawyers who testified before the committee disagreed about whether the move would have any legal effect. Sen. Leslie Duval, R-Indianapolis, an attorney, told the Governmental Affairs Committee that he supported the proposal because Congress had "changed the rules in the middle of the game."

Sara Moore misses again; recaptured after escape

ALDERSON, W. Va. (AP)-Sara Jane Moore, who pleaded guilty to trying to kill then-President Gerald R. Ford in 1975, escaped from a minimum-security federal prison here Monday night, and was recaptured about four hours after she was discovered missing, police said. State police said Ms. Moore and another inmate were taken into custody near White Sulphur Springs, about 10 miles from the prison near here. State police Capt. B.H. Cassell, said the women were arrested while walking along a road. He added that they appeared to be in good condition.

Costello to head Amst dept.

Dr. Donald P. Costello, professor of English at Notre Dame, has been appointed Chairman of the Program in American Studies.

Costello, a member of the English faculty since 1960, assumes direction of an undergraduate academic program created at Notre Dame in 1970 to examine the American experience from an interdisciplinary point of view. He succeeds Dr. Thomas Schlereth, who has resigned to return to full-time teaching and research.

Costello received his undergraduate education at DePaul University, from which he received his A.B. degree in 1955. His graduate training was at the University of Chicago, where he received an M.A. in 1956 and a Ph.D. in 1960. He is a specialist in American literature and contemporary film and drama, and his doctoral thesis on Bernard Shaw and the motion picture was published in 1965 by the Notre Dame Press.

Before coming to Notre Dame, Costello was an instructor in English and American studies at Roosevelt University in Chicago.

His appointment to chair American Studies is effective immediately, and he will retain his professorship in English.

Racquetball Club meets tomorrow

An organizational meeting for the Men's Racquetball Club will be held tomorrow night at 10:30 p.m. in the Grace Hall Pit. If you are interested but cannot attend, call John Mylinski at 6801, or John Schafer at 6934.

Government department sponsors film

The Government Department will sponsor a film, "The Triumph of the Will," tonight and tomorrow night in the Engineering Auditorium at 7 each night. Admission will be free of charge.

Maintenance plows D-1, D-2 parking lots

by Tim Joyce
Staff Reporter

Plowing of the D-1 and D-2 student parking lots was completed Saturday morning by grounds maintenance personnel with very few problems, according to Bill Thistlewaite, superintendent of Grounds.

"It went pretty good--there were a lot of cars left in D-1 which held us up a little bit but the D-2 lot was clear of cars. There was really no problem, but we could have done a better job if all of the cars in D-1 had been removed," Thistlewaite explained.

The plowing was done exclusively with Maintenance Department equipment. A front-end loader, tractors and trucks were employed to do the job. "We used everything that we had," said Thistlewaite.

Because the moving of cars was strictly voluntary, those who didn't move their cars were not ticketed. "As far as I know, none of the cars were ticketed by us," stated Joe Wall, director of Security. Thistlewaite pointed out, however, that the cars that were not moved ended up getting plowed under.

"The funny thing about it is that those cars that were not moved looked like the ones that had been driven the whole time. Most of them weren't even covered with snow," Thistlewaite remarked.

There were some problems Friday getting the cars from the lots so that they could be plowed, according to Wall. "We blew the alternator on our truck trying to jump start the numerous cars that wouldn't start. The breakdown was the result of us trying to get those cars started that had been sitting there for an extended period of time.

"We would sit there while the car owner cranked over the

OCC meets to discuss reps

by Janet Rigaux

The Off-Campus Commission (OCC) met last night in LaFortune to discuss a proposed amendment that would allow off-campus students to have a representative on the Student Government Board of Commissioners and the Campus Life Council.

John Fitzpatrick, Off-Campus coordinator, argued last night that off-campus students should have a representative, saying, "They too must pay a $17 student government fee for which they are getting no services."

Fitzpatrick explained that the proposed representative would give off-campus students a foothold in student affairs so that their specific needs could be better met.

In order for the proposed amendment to be considered by the Board of Commissioners, a petition with signatures from 15 percent of the student body must be secured. A petition drive for the amendment will take place in the dining halls next week.

Persons interested in signing the petition can also do so at a planned Off-Campus Night next week according to Dan D'Antonio, director of the Office of Off-Campus Housing (OCH). The O-C Night will be held in LaFortune and is being sponsored by OCH.

In view of the current disorganization of off-campus students, the committee has decided that for this year it would be best if the representative was appointed by Fitzpatrick and the OCC.

Each applicant for the position must submit a petition with 50 signatures to the OCC. The applications will then be screened and the choice narrowed down to five. Next year, however, this representative will be chosen by a general election.

The idea of altering the shuttle bus schedule was also discussed at the meeting. According to Shannon Neville, a member of the OCC, most students are dissatisfied with the present schedule, complaining that the bus returns to their residences too late at night. Neville expressed hope that more runs would be added to the schedule.

D'Antonio also announced plans to make a room in LaFortune available as a center for off-campus students in an effort to "...give them a place to identify with on campus."

D'Antonio also hopes that all students wishing to live off-campus will use the OCH to locate a place to live. In this way landlords would be forced to have their houses approved and listed by the OCH. The purpose of this listing is to insure that available housing would have to meet the standards established by the OCH.

Currently many houses are not listed with the office and as a result students remain uninformed about potential security problems and the physical deficiencies of many off-campus residences.

'Holy man' Khomeini names head to regime

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Ayatollah Khomeini took a fateful step in his fight for power last night, naming a veteran anti-shah politician to head a "revolutionary" regime rivaling Iran's shaky government and warning the military they risk God's wrath if they try to stop him.

The Moslem holy man called on the people of Iran to obey the new "transitional government" of 70-year-old Mehdi Bazargan, which is to pave the way for an Islamic republic. He urged them to show their support through peaceful marches nationwide.

Khomeini declared the U.S.-endorsed government of Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar "must go" and that "all those who were identified with this regime must go," including Bakhtiar himself, who was appointed by Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi before the monarch left Iran Jan. 16.

Western diplomats said Khomeini's move heightened the danger of a confrontation between his revolutionary movement and the armed forces, whose commanders have vowed to support the monarchy and the constitutional government. But some say a compromise is still possible.

Reacting to Khomeini's challenge, the army sent troops into the offices of government ministries, apparently to maintain discipline among workers and head off a possible takeover by the rival group. For the third day in a row no political violence was reported in Iran.

Khomeini, who made his announcement at a news conference, urged civil servants and soldiers to cooperate with Bazargan, who insisted his was not a "shadow government." He said it was "a real government" that will oversee elections for a new republic.

But the new "prime minister," reportedly the key intermediary in secret contacts between the two camps, also said he did not intend to try to physically move into the Bakhtiar government offices.

The embattled Bakhtiar told Iranian television that as long as the new "government" was a "matter of words, it's possible."

"But if it comes to action, it's a different thing. I will have no objection to the announcement of a temporary government provided this government plays the role of a shadow government or future government.... There is one government," he said.

THINK ABOUT TOMORROW. ON FEB. 8 & 9

That's when our General Dynamics team will be on campus to talk to you about your future. We're probably best known as a leading American defense contractor. But we also have wide-ranging programs in many other high technology fields as well. We offer qualified graduates broad corporate career paths in many diverse areas: Aerospace. Data Systems. Marine. Building Products and Resources. Telecommunications and Electronics.

There are truly outstanding opportunities in nearly every engineering and scientific discipline with particular emphasis on the computer sciences.

Disciplines:

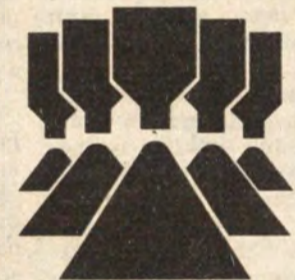

Aeronautical, Chemical, Civil, Computer Science, Electrical, Electronic, Industrial, Mathematics, Materials, Manufacturing, Metallurgical, Mining, Marine, Mechanical, Nuclear, Optics, Physics, Reliability, Welding.

Be sure to inquire about Co-op and Summer Intern programs with General Dynamics.

There will be an orientation meeting held the evening before our visit. Be sure to check the Placement Office for details.

SMC Celebration

Margie Brassil

At Saint Mary's College the Residence Director, Resident Advisors, and Hall Council of Holy Cross sponsored an open house in celebration of the hall's 75th birthday. This was the first time Holy Cross Hall had celebrated its anniversary by opening its doors to anyone who wished to take part in the "very special tradition here at Saint Mary's and that tradition of which Holy Cross is so much a part of", according to senior chairwoman Cindy SoFranko. The idea of a 75th birthday was triggered by a book dealing with SMC history called Panorama and a discussion at a RA meeting.

Throughout the afternoon visitors wandered comfortably through the dorm snacking on birthday cake and studying archaic photographs of Holy Cross Hall from the Saint Mary's Archives, tracing its rich tradition while at the same time sharing present-day student life. Photos of Holy Cross and identification of the rooms' previous use were taken care of by senior Rosemary Serbent.

The residents supported the event by baking cookies and inviting guests to take part in their lifestyle, and "to see how we live," as one resident stated. Visitors included faculty, administration, and staff, all of which received personal invitations hand-delivered by the hall's RA's. The Sisters of the Holy Cross were the honored guests of the celebration. Hall President, sophomore Chip Dornbach expressed the residents' of Holy Cross Hall and the SMC student body's special thanks to the Sisters of the Holy Cross: "We feel the Sister's of the Holy Cross are a special part of Saint Mary's tradition, and the open house was just one way we could thank them and have a chance to meet them."

SoFranko expresses the hall's patronage in saying, "We are very proud of our hall's tradition. That's why girls live here for two, three, and four years. Through the open house we had the opportunity to share that tradition."

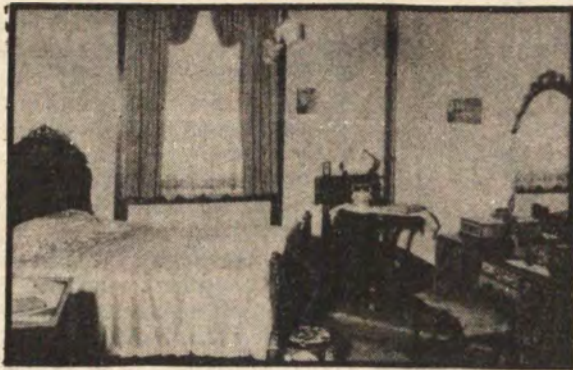

The tradition of which SoFranko speaks of is the rich history of Holy Cross Hall. The hall's cornerstone was blessed on October 25, 1903. The first students arrived in the year 1903-1904, seventy five years ago. In 1904 the building was called Collegiate Hall; it was the entire college housing administration, staff, and faculty offices, the dining and rec rooms, infirmary, classrooms, students and convent.

In the year of 1924-1925 LeMansy Hall was completed, and was thus called The New College where the entire college was moved. From 1925-1945 Holy Cross was an all girls boarding high school called St. Mary's Academy.

Holy Cross Hall again became an active part of the St. Mary's College campus in 1945 when it became a freshman dorm and housed classrooms once again. As a result of a fire in a lab on the second floor main on Holy Thursday 1955 the Science Building began construction. By the end of '55 Holy Cross Hall became total residence as it is today.

The visitors' reaction to the birthday celebration was positive to all aspects. The sisters' reaction to the open house can be summed up in a word all of them said, "Wonderful!" Dr. Duggan, President of Saint Mary's College attended the open house and responded to it by saying, "Marvelous. It is a typical St. Mary's reaction to their rich history and tradition." The president added, "It is very nice...it makes for a cohesive community."

Perhaps the best description of Saint Mary's Holy Cross Hall can be seen in a woman who has been at SMC since 1915, Sister Maria Consolata. Sister Maria stated, "There is something in Holy Cross Hall that is no where else on campus...knowing that people have lived here."

Battling with Betrayal

Fr. Bill
Toohey

Notre Dame students live constantly under the threat of betrayal. It can come from any of us: teachers, rectors, campus ministers, fellow-students.

It happens when any of us engage in the subtle conspiracy to hide the truth or to forget it; when we fail to help students confront and probe necessary tensions; when we attempt to conceal from them the fragmentation and disorganization of our political institutions, the opportunism of our national leaders; and, worst of all, when we present to them a Christianity that is detached and empty, a veritable opiate for the people.

Some time ago there was a series on public television entitled "Religious America." The series viewed various church groups and individuals. The spiritual experiences are mostly private moments when the individuals feel they are in personal contact with God. For many of them these experiences are in the nature of direct zaps from heaven—emotional floods of the heart occurring on schedule every Sunday. Exactly how these experiences influence them later in the day or the following week doesn't seem to have much to do with what these people are looking for.

Many of those interviewed emphasized that the value of a spiritual experience is precisely that it "turns you away" from the world and mundane happenings. For example, a stylishly dressed parishioner in Manhattan is seen walking from church, as her voice in a narration explains that Jesus helps her rise above the ugliness and misery of the city.

There is a wonderful story in Kazantzakis' spiritual autobiography, called Report to Greco. Father Joachim, a wild monk on Mount Patmos, tells of a dream he has had:

I saw myself as a great sage in Jerusalem. I could cure many different diseases, but first and foremost I was able to remove demons from the possessed. People brought patients to me from all over Palestine, and one day Mary, the wife of Joseph, arrived from Nazareth, bringing her 12-year-old son Jesus. Falling at my feet, she cried out tearfully, "O illustrious sage, take pity on me and heal my son. He has many demons inside him."

I had the parents go outside. When I remained alone with Jesus, I caressed his hand and asked him, "What is the matter, my child? Where does it hurt?"

"Here, here..." he replied, pointing to his heart.

"And what's wrong with you?"

"I can't sleep, eat, or work. I roam the streets, wrestling."

"Who are you wrestling with?"

"With God. Who else do you expect me to be wrestling with?"

I kept him near me for months, addressed him ever so gently, gave him herbs to make him sleep. I placed him in a carpenter's shop to learn a trade. We went out for walks together and I spoke to him about God as though He were a friend and neighbor who came in the evening to sit with us on our doorstep and chat. There was nothing impressive or difficult about these talks. We spoke of the weather, of the wheatfields and vineyards, the young girls who went to the fountain.

At the end of a month's time, Jesus was completely cured. He no longer wrestled with God; he had become a man like all other men. He departed for Galilee, and I learned afterwards that he had become a fine carpenter, the best in Nazareth...

Do you understand? Jesus was cured. Instead of saving the world, he became the best carpenter in Nazareth!

That may be the most subtle temptation we face: to relieve the struggle when we should nourish it and help one another identify the challenges for what they are, encouraging enthusiastic involvement in transformation. It is tempting (and so much easier) to support people in their efforts to get academic training so as to "make it" in a narrow little world, instead of nurturing the incentive to change the world.

Students will be "cured," like Jesus was in Father Joachim's dream, when they are fed a notion of Christianity as something smoothly assimilated and comfortably established within an already existing order of very limited horizons. A Christianity that simply fits in and blends and soothes appeals to many, and conveniently conforms to their superficial needs. The attitude is one of compromise, and the blessed absence of questioning. This watered-down Christianity frequently offers a superficial escape from predicaments, whereas the real nature of the Christian message is to confront persons with the radical nature of their predicaments.

People who want religion to comfort them usually appraise their problems in terms of maladjustment to life, personality difficulties, health, or economic need. They are seeking peace, plenty, and happiness. They are willing to see whether or not God can fill the bill.

Years ago, Mary Pickford wrote a book entitled, Why Not Try God? A critic, in a devastating rebuttal, asked the question, "Why not try aspirin?" Christianity is not a pill or soporific. It is really an intrusion: a revolt against the existing reality, demonstrating how much the world needs transformation.

The gospel is a call to rise up against the indifference and apathy and unlove in our own lives, and is also an insistence that we bring testimony against the world, that much of what it does is evil. As Chesterton used to say, "Don't just try to get on with the world; get it on."

We live, for example, in a country with its priorities tragically confused. We live in a country with a swollen defense economy, an almost autonomous military establishment, continuing unemployment, a growing white-black polarization and rotting cities. The record for our Congress shows they cater to the rich, big business and big oil while doing nothing for the poor, who, in our newly-proposed budget, are asked to bear the brunt of the fight on inflation.

The danger of nuclear war in the 1980's is awesome; there is a growing number of scientists who state flatly that nuclear war is now inevitable. We feel powerless to alter the course of events, and so we deny both the danger and our responsibility to confront it. In the midst of this, it is incredible to realize that, even though a SALT treaty is but a small, small step towards disarmament, there are ugly forces conspiring to defeat its ratification.

Students who escape betrayal and who realize what Christianity is all about, will rise to these challenges. They will realize that, as with Jesus, a Christian is still an alien in a strange land. They will know that society has to be changed if they are to have a future worth living...and if their children are to have any future at all.

engine and some of the cars took quite a while to get going, I had to limit the amount of jumps that we were giving to those who really needed them because of the problem, Wall said, adding, "It cost us over fifty dollars to get the truck fixed."

The Maintenance Department has been experimenting with a new type of attachment to their plows, a rubber blade on the bottom as opposed to the normal steel plate, and Thistlewaite feels that this has been a problem.

"We are probably going to go back to the steel plate soon. We had hoped that the hard rubber plate would help us in that it doesn't chew up the sidewalks and pavement as much, but it hasn't worked very well for us," Thistlewaite pointed out.

"We are also beginning to use a new material on the hard packed snow and ice around campus. It's a type of sand, treated with slag, and right now we are using it on the road between the stadium and D-2," explained Thistlewaite. We have tried to cut down on the use of cinder because it's a mess—it tracks in and it's hard to clean up," he added.

With regards to the past weekend's project becoming a regular practice, both Wall and Thistlewaite were enthusiastic that it would.

Thistlewaite said that he would be glad to do it all the time, while Wall said that it should be finalized and made a formal action.

"It is a good idea and we should get together to print it up. It went off very easily, and worked very well, to my knowledge," concluded Wall.

tournament, DiSabato broke the team record for most takedowns in a season, his total of 86 this year eclipsing the mark of 81 he set last year.

Senior George Gedney, seeded first at 118 finished second for the third year in a row. Although he came close to pinning his opponent several times, Gedney lost by one point of riding time in overtime of the championship bout. The score was knotted at 2-2 after both the regular and overtime periods, at which time George's opponent was awarded the decision. Gedney's two weekend wins, however, vaulted him into a tie for 6th place on Notre Dame's career win list with 50 victories.

Unseeded freshman John Iglar surprised the field at 167 with his outstanding performance. Iglar finished second, dropping a 10-8 decision to top-seeded Dennis Hareza of Carroll. Iglar recorded 10-9 and 6-3 en route to the championship bout.

Irish wrestlers finished third in three weight classes, and all three won relatively decisive consolation final decisions.

Irish wrestlers finished third in three weight classes, and all three won relatively decisive consolation final decisions.

Junior Dave "Wild Man" Welsh scored a fall at 2:45 of his preliminary match before succumbing in the championship semi-finals. Dave went on to win by default in the consolation bracket before registering an 11-5 decision in the consolation finals to capture third at 142.

Then with the vocal assistance of Welsh, junior Mike Wilda scored a 10-3 win in his consolation match at 150 to capture another third. Because of a low bracket draw, Wilda had to win four matches instead of the regular three to place. He open on Friday night with an 8-6 decision over the number two seed and followed with an 8-2 win later on that evening to advance to the semis. After losing his semi-final bout, Wilda pinned his Seton Hall opponent at 3:25 to advance to the consolation finals.

One weight class later, senior Bill Moore scored a 5-2 win in the 158-pound consolation finals to give the Irish their third straight third-place finish. Moore lost his first match to the top-speed and eventual tourney champion before winning 10-3 and 10-5 decisions in the consolation matches leading up to the finals.

Notre Dame's final place-winner was freshman heavy-weight Jeff Morris who lost to John Carroll's Marion Alekmagno in his first and last tourney matches, thus earning fourth-place honors. Between those two losses Morris scored 8-2 and 10-7 consolation bracket decisions.

"I was really pleased with our performance this weekend," remarked Irish coach Ray Sepeta. "I think everyone did as well as expected, if not more so, particularly considering our generally poor position in the brackets."

Two - mile relay squad returns from coast with impressive win

by Mark Perry
Assistant Sports Editor

With strong performances from all four runners, Notre Dame's nationally ranked two-mile relay team took a giant step towards an NCAA bid, as they won their event at the Los Angeles Times Track Invitational last Friday.

Rick Rodgers, Chuck Aragon, Pete Burger, and Jay Miranda, running as a team for the first time ever, combined to propel the Irish past some top competition in their first trip to the prestigious indoor meet.

"The guys ran really well," said Irish Head Coach Joe Piane. "All four of them ran a really competitive race."

"We asked Rodgers, who led off, to try and stay with the leaders," Piane continued. "He did just that. He finished his leg in fourth place, only five yards in back of the leaders." Rodgers was running this race for the first time ever, and running the half-mile for only the third time.

"Aragon ran second, and within 80 yards we were in the lead. When he finished, we still held a small lead."

"Then Burger, who ran third, did extremely well," Piane related. "He ran against a fine runner, Greg Jones of the MacCobi Track Club, and held him off for a lap and a half."

"When Jay (Miranda) got the baton and we still held the lead, we knew we were going to win," Piane said.

Aragon added another feather to his cap on Saturday, as he finished third in the half-mile at the Albuquerque J.C. meet. The sophomore, who hails from Los Lunas, New Mexico, trailed only Mark Belger, NCAA defending indoor champ, and Gerald Masterson, NAIA champ. Aragon's time of 1:51.7 qualifies him for the NCAA indoor meet in March.

While their teammates were racing to their wins on the west coast, the rest of the Notre Dame track team competed at the Western Michigan Relays. Details about this meet will be reported in tomorrow's Observer.

Despite turnovers

Irish overpower Ramblers

by Mark Perry
Assistant Sports Editor

Overcoming some sloppy ball handling with strong work on the boards, Notre Dame defeated Loyola of Chicago, 84-66, in basketball action last night at the A.C.C.

The Irish committed 15 turnovers in the first half, but outrebounced the Ramblers, 24-11, and held a slim 40-38 lead.

Notre Dame finally tightened up in the second half, and Loyola came unglued with 13 turnovers of their own, as Notre Dame cruised to the win.

"I wasn't pleased with our turnovers in the first half," Irish coach Digger Phelps commented, "especially since Loyola wasn't pressing. We were just over-anxious, anticipating the way players were going to move. We were just too anxious about trying to score."

"But I really like the way we dominated the boards in the first half," Phelps added. "We pulled down 24 rebounds, and I was pleased with that."

Neither team could get untracked in the early going, as the Irish turned the ball over the first four times they came down the court, and Loyola couldn't find the basket. At 16:25 the Irish lead 2-0 on a pair of free throws.

The two teams traded baskets for most of the half, as the Irish couldn't get up by more than six points. Larry Knight, averaging nearly 20 points a game for Loyola, kept the Ramblers close. The 6-8 forward scored 12 of Loyola's first 22 points.

After the Irish pulled ahead 40-34 with a minute left, scores by Teddy James and Leroy Stampley off Irish turnovers pulled Loyola to within two at the half.

Knight, Stampley, and Kevin Sprewer provided most of the offense in the half, scoring 12, 10, and 8 points respectively. Tracy Jackson led a balanced Irish attack with 10 points.

Notre Dame scored the first five points of the second half on a three-point play by Bruce Flowers and a jump shot by Kelly Tripucka. Loyola could get no closer than seven points for the rest of the game.

Jackson, who was voted the game's most valuable player, led the Irish with 18 points. Flowers and Tripucka were the only other Notre Dame players in double figures, with 13 and 12, respectively.

Knight, who is among the top five players in the nation in rebounding, could only grab six missed shots, but scored 18 points to pace the Ramblers. Stampley and Sprewer ended up with 14 and 10 points, respectively.

Loyola coach Jerry Lyne left the A.C.C. with a lot of respect for the Irish. "No other team has beaten us by more than 11 points. But Notre Dame was able to blow us out in the end."

GAME NOTES: The Irish play their fifth game in ten days on Wednesday, as they travel to Raleigh, N.C., to take on North Carolina State. The game will be televised in South Bend on WNDU-TV, beginning at 9 PM...

Notre Dame leads the nation in two categories. According to the latest NCAA stats, the Irish are on top in field goal percentage, shooting at a .564 clip (.017 points above Maryland's 1974-75 NCAA season record), and in scoring margin at 21.9...Kelly Tripucka has now made 17 consecutive free throws over the last two games. The Notre Dame record is 36, set by Austin Carr in 1969-70.

Notre Dame grapplers fare well in weekend tournament

by Bill Marquard
Sports Writer

Despite the seemingly difficult odds stacked against them, the Irish wrestling team finished a respectable and respected third in the National Catholic Invitational tournament at John Carroll University in Cleveland over the weekend.

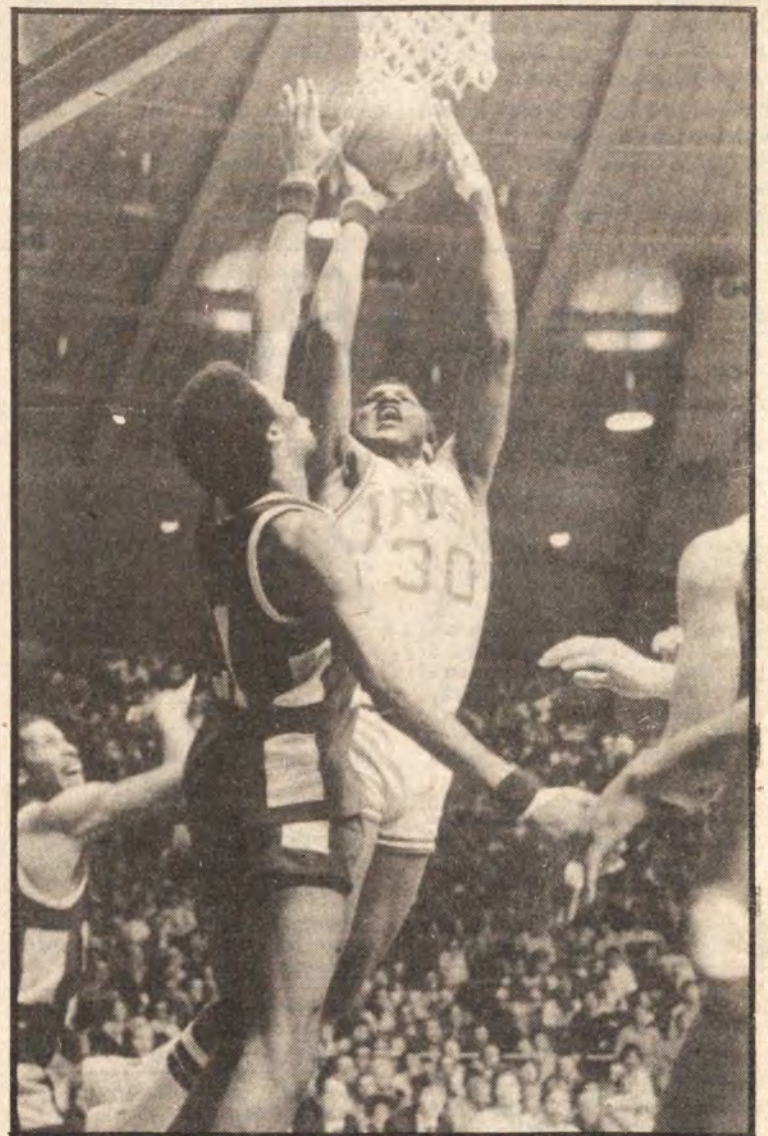

Although pitted against the number one or two tournament seeds in six of their ten preliminary matches, the Irish still managed seven place winners -- one first, two seconds, three thirds and a fourth.

Tourney host John Carroll dominated the competition, easily outdistancing second-place Marquette by 28½ points (84 to 55½), while Notre Dame trailed the Warriors by only two points in the final standings. Carroll's talented Blue Streaks, who downed the Irish 36-9 in a dual meet last weekend, had four individual champions, including the tourney MVP.

Irish co-captain Dave DiSabato, second-seeded at 134, grabbed tourney laurels in that weight class with a 6-5 decision over Carroll's Chad Gross. In reaching the finals DiSabato scored a fall at 3:53 of his preliminary bout and notched 20-8 decision in Saturday afternoon's semi-finals.

Swimmers win on road trip

by Michael Ortman
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame swimmers continued to sparkle away from home this weekend, as they boosted their road record to 4-1, with a 65-47 trouncing of St. Bonaventure. The Irish, now 4-3 overall, took 12 of the 13 events from the host Indians in Saturday's contest.

Leading the Irish attack was sophomore freestyler John Komora. The South Bend native posted two victories, wins in the 200-yard freestyle, the 500-yard freestyle--and was a member of the first place 400-yard freestyle relay team.

Six other swimmers won two events each to join Komora as multi-event winners. Junior Pat Schneider swam on the 400-yard medley relay team and took the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:26.6. Rody McLaughlin swam on both relay teams, the 400-yard freestyle and the 400-yard medley. Campbell joined McLaughlin on the freestyle relay team and also took the 100-yard freestyle on his own.

Several freshman swimmers stood out in the meet with the Bonnies. Irish diver Wally Daniels took both the 1-meter and the 3-meter diving events, while Michael Shepardson, shared the glory of the 400-yard medley relay. Shepardson also won the 50-yard freestyle in 22.5 seconds.

The only other double winner for the Irish was record-holder Donald Casey, the freshman sensation, who has already shaved 1.6 seconds off the varsity record in the 200-yard butterfly. Casey won the 200-yard individual medley and also joined McLaughlin, Schneider, and Shepardson on the 400-yard medley relay.

The Irish will be swimming at home for the first time in over three weeks when they take on Marshall this Saturday afternoon at Rockne Memorial. The meet is scheduled for 2 p.m., and admission is free.
