

The Observer

VOL. XVI, NO. 73

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1981

Nerri Barriento spoke on Human Rights last night in a lecture sponsored by Amnesty International. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

Non-Christian courses

Theo dept. clarifies policy

By KAREN MCCLOSKEY
News Staff

Controversy surrounded theology course pre-registration recently due to a misunderstanding of department policy.

Students were reportedly told that non-Christian theology courses could no longer be used to fulfill the theology requirement.

Juniors Jim Coggins and Karen Miranda told The Observer that when they registered for certain non-Christian courses, they were referred to Associate Professor of Theology Fr. Edward Malloy.

Fr. Malloy reportedly informed them that because of pressure from alumni, faculty and other staff members, the Theology Department was imposing new standards on students. Because of this, he reportedly told students that the non-Christian courses would not fulfill the department requirement. When questioned further, Fr. Malloy reportedly told the students that any request for requirement credit would have to be reviewed by Department Chairman Fr. Richard McBrien.

According to Fr. McBrien, the faculty of the Theology Department became concerned about the issue when a theology professor entered her classroom a few days after pre-registration. Written on the board was the following: "This course no longer fulfills the second course requirement."

This incident led to a discussion at a regular faculty meeting the following week. At this gathering, the question was raised as to Fr. Malloy's actions, which seemed to contradict departmental policy.

The policy in question is entitled "Collegiate Requirements in Theology at Notre Dame." Enacted in December of 1979, this document remains the guide for undergraduate theology requirements.

The document states the following with regard to second theology course requirements:

"Second courses build on an intelligent grasp of tradition to show how theological understanding can further the liberal education of students in all four undergraduate colleges, as well as open ways of understanding how Christians can contribute to today's world."

The section dealing with non-Christian courses states that such courses examine "another religious tradition in an historical and systematic fashion, opening students to a cross-cultural theological perspective."

According to Prof. Robert Wilken, several members of the faculty were upset that Fr. Malloy acted in a manner contrary to the policy of the department.

Assistant Prof. Phillip Devenish stated that "nobody is required to go to Fr. Malloy to get permission to take a non-Christian course."

In confirming these incidents, Fr.

McBrien said that Fr. Malloy acted on Fr. McBrien's authority. The department chairman explained that he and Fr. Malloy were concerned that students were not receiving an adequate background in Christian theology.

They felt that it was their obligation to advise students in these matters. However, Fr. McBrien stressed that this does not mean that non-Christian courses do not fulfill theology requirements.

According to Fr. McBrien, "The department reserves the right to advise students" about an adequate

See THEO, page 4

South Bend police decentralize program

By KATHLEEN DOYLE
News Staff

In an attempt to improve resident and neighborhood protection, the South Bend Police Department has been restructured into a new sector system which may benefit off-campus students.

This new community oriented policing program, which began in late November, is based upon the idea that the crime problem is the joint responsibility of the community and police, according to a report from the office of Bro. John Campbell, head of off-campus student housing.

Each sector contains a community policing center. The police center in the Notre Dame area is located in the east sector at 420 N. Frances Street. The purpose of the center is to provide police presence visibility and to serve as a distribution center for crime prevention information.

Sector officers are stationed at these centers to enable off-campus students and South Bend residents to communicate their crime-related problems.

Lieutenant Switalski of the east sector of the South Bend Police Department said that the new system benefits both residents and police.

The new police model provides students and citizens with an increased opportunity to participate in their police department. The sector police centers give the members of the community a place where they can obtain service directly from their own neighborhood police, as opposed to officers they do not know.

According to Switalski, this familiarity may make citizens more apt to report incidents. Police officers are better able to become acquainted with the people in their sector and become an integrated part of the community.

Switalski pointed out that officers are able to respond more quickly to calls because they are stationed at various locations throughout South Bend rather than at a central area. This decentralization is intended to promote confidence and mutual respect through a coordinated effort by the police and residents.

Notre Dame students living off-campus have reacted well to the new sector system. Kathy Jurado, off-campus commissioner, said that the students feel that it is "good

See COPS, page 4

Reasoner meets Hesburgh for 'Sixty Minutes'

By JOE RODRIGUEZ
News Staff

For the past two days the cameras of the CBS news magazine, "60 Minutes", have been rolling here on campus.

"60 Minutes" had originally planned to do a segment on the retirement of Notre Dame President Fr. Theodore Hesburgh. But when Fr. Hesburgh agreed to remain in the position for five more years, "60 Minutes" continued with its plans to profile the 65-year-old university patriarch.

Harry Reasoner, currently on campus to anchor the segment, talked about his job at "60 Minutes."

Reasoner praised the opportunities for creative journalism that are offered by the program. In addition, he commented on the "60 Minutes" staff. "To put out a quality show, week after week, takes a team effort by a dedicated group," he said.

Reasoner particularly enjoyed working on this segment. The anchorman, who first met and interviewed Fr. Hesburgh eighteen years ago, called the University president "one of the most fascinating personalities I've dealt with in my years of journalism."

Reasoner emphasized that the aim of the segment is not to profile Fr. Hesburgh not only as the president of Notre Dame, but as an individual as well.

Scenes for the show, which will air sometime in February, were shot at various spots around campus, as well as at the annual football banquet, held last night at the ACC.

Reasoner has recently appeared on several talk shows while promoting his recently published book, Before the Colors Fade. The book chronicles Reasoner's public as well as private life.

During the mid-1970s, Reasoner teamed with Howard K. Smith to bring ABC News a number of highly-rated seasons. Then he moved to CBS, where he joined the "60 Minutes" staff as one of the four co-anchors. For the past several seasons "60 Minutes" has been among television's highest-rated programs.

Exam detects effects of Agent Orange

By JERRY HARKAVY
Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The questions go back nearly 15 years, recalling images of forgotten places like Cazone, Dak To and Quang Ngai Province.

The processing clerk logs dates and places, setting the stage for questions about possible contact with Agent Orange, the toxic herbicide used during the Vietnam War to clear jungles and destroy enemy food supplies.

Any direct skin contact with the spray? Ever drink contaminated water? Were eating utensils affected by the spray?

The interview by Mike Baker is the first step in my Agent Orange screening examination, a two-hour physical now being given to veterans who served in Vietnam.

Like hundr

eager to allay any health concerns and contribute to the pool of information being gathered by the Veterans Administration about possible health damage resulting from the widespread use of the defoliant.

FRIDAY
FOCUS

In 1967, I was 24, serving as with the 173rd Airborne Brigade and later the Americal Division. Although I spent most of my Vietnam tour at brigade or division headquarters, I occasionally went out with infantry companies to take pictures or accompany TV crews.

As I recall, most troops were aware that we were using defoliant but if anyone had any health concerns about sprays they were well-kept secrets.

Not surprisingly, time had dulled my memories of Vietnam, leaving uncertainties about how to respond to some of Baker's questions about contact with Agent Orange. He assured me that was not unusual. "The only ones who really remember are the ones who were sprayed on directly," he explained as he entered my responses on a coded form.

See ORANGE, page 4

This will be the last issue of the semester. Happy holidays! Publication will resume Jan. 14

The Notre Dame College Bowl final matches were held Wednesday, with the team captained by Ed Bylina repeating as champions. Scott Jacobs, Mike Kunesh and John Davenport completed the team which twice defeated Mike Kristo's team in the double elimination program. Bylina's team won 185 to 165, and 195 to 135 in the championship match. — The Observer

Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, announced his retirement as chairman of the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation, effective June 1, 1982. Dr. Clifton R. Wharton, Jr., chancellor of the State University of New York, will replace Hesburgh. The 65-year-old Hesburgh is stepping down according to a mandatory retirement age clause. A member of the board for 22 years, Hesburgh became chairman in 1977. — The Observer

Notre Dame Food Service has announced the formation of a new deli line for the spring semester. Situated in both serving squares of the South Dining Hall, the new service will feature made-to-order sandwiches and self-serve soups. Students may select from cold cuts, meat salads and an assortment of breads and relishes. The deli service will begin in early February and will be offered only during lunch periods Monday through Friday. — The Observer

The Notre Dame Alumni Association is planning its annual hall visitation program. Scheduled for Jan. 21, the program will feature campus-wide conferences enabling alumni members to brief students on the association and its activities. Students may also air any questions or comments concerning their expectations of the association. Of particular interest to many students will be a thorough discussion of the alumni association's annual summer job placement service. The tentative schedule features three or four alumni board members available at each of six sites across campus. — The Observer

Professor Kasimierz Braun, winner of the Badge of Merit for National Culture in his native Poland, will travel to America next month to serve during the spring semester as visiting faculty member and guest drama director at the University of Notre Dame. The appointment was announced by Mitchell Lifton, chairman of the ND-SMC Department of Communication and Theater. Braun presently teaches at the National School of Drama in Cracow, at Wroclaw University and serves as artistic director and general manager of Teatr Wspolozesny in Wroclaw. One of his duties at Notre Dame will be the direction of a Shakespearean comedy, the selection to be announced later. His Shakespeare credits include Twelfth Night, Hamlet, and Romeo and Juliet on Polish stage and television performances. Braun will teach "Acting III, Advanced Topics: Polish Drama and Theater," and "Advanced Topics: Shakespeare Production" during his stay at Notre Dame. He is the author of six books, including The Second Reform of the Theater, The New Theater in the World 1960-1970, and Notebook of a Director. — The Observer

Members of a church in Elkhart are inviting students who will not be able to go home for Christmas to their homes for Christmas dinner. Any students interested in a home-cooked Christmas dinner should call the Office of Student Affairs at 8411 and leave their name and phone number. Student Affairs will pass the information on to the church, and a member will then contact the student. — The Observer

A man pleaded innocent in New York City yesterday to federal charges that he illegally transported and sold rare books taken from a college library in London. The defendant, John M. Papanastassiou, entered the plea before Judge Lee P. Gagliardi in U.S. District Court. Papanastassiou was arrested last Oct. 2 on a complaint by U.S. Customs Service agents after he allegedly sold four volumes, including a 1638 edition of Galileo's "Discorsi." A request for his extradition has been made by United Kingdom authorities. Agents said 19 of 95 books seized at the Papanastassiou's New York City apartment were listed as missing from London's University College library. — AP

A former chief deputy in New Iberia, La. has been accused by a federal grand jury of providing protection to marijuana smugglers. Jim Desormeaux was arrested Wednesday night, said Sheriff Erroll "Romo" Romero. Desormeaux allegedly received about $100,000 in protection money for activities that took place in Louisiana coastal regions from about April 1 to about June 1, 1979, said a spokesman for U.S. Attorney Gerald Bertinot. The indictment charged Desormeaux with conspiracy to import marijuana, importing of marijuana, possession with intent to distribute marijuana and with violating a federal extortion law. — AP

Increasingly cloudy and warm today, high in the mid-30s. Mostly cloudy tonight. Tomorrow, little temperature change, with a high in the mid-30s and a 60 percent chance of snow. — AP

Cable TV Time?

One sticky issue that has been dormant for a while at Notre Dame is the question of whether or not the campus should be wired for cable television reception. To the best of our knowledge, only two dorms on campus currently are equipped with an integrated cable system: Flanner and Grace. At the time of their construction in the late 60s, the possibilities presented by cable were apparently very much on the mind of administrators and the architects. However, there are two prime considerations which seem to have cooled that enthusiasm.

First, there is the cost factor. Wiring each dorm room or suite in each hall at Notre Dame would be a very costly proposition. Secondly, and more intangible in nature, is the concern among some members of the administration that access to the plethora of cable stations and pay TV alternatives would serve as a serious distraction to students' work and study habits. Both of these concerns are well warranted, so why resurrect a seemingly dead issue?

It is essential that we recognize the fact that our society is on the threshold of revolutionary technological changes — most of which center around the home television set and the personal computer. The days of simply sitting in front of the "boob tube" and mindlessly absorbing sitcoms and game shows are dying a quick death for many Americans who are cashing in on the benefits of the cable revolution. Twenty-four hour sports and news networks are already well established, and in some test cities, households are now receiving traditional newspaper information via the television set instead of on the doorstep through experimental arrangements with their city newspaper.

Columbus Ohio is the most striking example of the possibilities of cable. In that city, cable subscribers are offered a system known as QUBE which in essence is a two-way television hookup in which viewers can respond instantaneously to public opinion polls, trivia questions, and other queries. Banking and retailing functions are also being performed right now in test households — all via the television cable hookup.

But what does cable have to offer Notre Dame and could the benefits of its contribution be enough to outweigh the negative aspects mentioned above? We should at least look at the possibilities before rejecting the concept out of hand.

In addressing the first concern, cost, the possibility of reaching an installation arrangement with potential cable companies should be investigated. In return for granting a franchise to one of the potential bidding firms, the University could demand free or cut-rate installation charges. No additional bureaucracy would be needed by the University because the decision to receive cable service or not would be up to individual students, and all billing and servicing would be performed by the cable company.

John McGrath
Editor in Chief

Inside Friday

One other stipulation in any potential franchise agreement would call for the provision of at least one public access channel exclusively for the Notre Dame campus. This is the key in addressing the study distraction concern.

This public access channel would serve two purposes — both educational. First, programming on this channel could consist of special class-related on-air review sessions. One very popular "show" would undoubtedly be a Thursday night chemistry review session in preparation for Friday's "Emil." Close to one thousand freshmen are enrolled in this class, and even if a fraction of the total tuned in, there would still be a substantial number of students deriving educational benefit from the system. The sessions could be presided over by teaching or graduate assistants, or even advanced students in the class.

Other possible candidates for air time consideration on the public access channel could be Economics 123 and 124 — both classes with over 700 students traditionally enrolled. Organic chemistry, accounting, engineering, and many other large classes could also be covered in reviews or update programming in a manner similar to that proposed for freshmen chemistry.

The other educational benefit to be derived from a student access channel would accrue in the field of communication studies. Access to even the modest facilities of proposed channel would enhance the instruction students now receive in the Communication and Theatre and American Studies departments. Telecommunications and broadcast internships are now offered through both departments, but enrollment is severely limited.

Although the channel would only broadcast on campus via carrier current, all the basic functions of a TV station could be roughly duplicated, including experience in producing news and sports programming.

The carrier current nature of the operation would also benefit WSND-AM, which currently suffers from poor reception around campus. Broadcasting its signal through the cable system to student's stereos would dramatically improve reception — while still not competing directly in the South Bend market with the two University-owned radio stations.

The Observer

Design Editor.....Maura Murphy
Design Assistants.....Jim Keyes
Layout Staff.....Paul McGinn
Typesetters.....Al Novas
Ron Joe
News Editor.....Tim Vercellotti
Copy Editors.....Rich Adam Tim Neely
Paul McGinn
Features Layout.....Gregory Swiercz
Sports Copy Editor.....Chris Needles
Typists.....Dodee Carney
Laura Degnan
Systems Control.....Bruce Oakley
ND Day Editor.....Paul McGinn
Ad Design.....Fran & Mary
Photographer.....Cheryl Ertelt
Guest Appearances.....S. Chuckerzaa
Christmas Spirit
From all of us here to all of you there, good luck on finals, and a safe and happy holiday season.

The Observer (USPS 598 920) is published Monday through Friday and on home football Saturdays except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $25 per year ($15 per semester) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

E.F. HUTTON & COMPANY INC

Discusses

Career Opportunities in the Securities Industry

- Corporate Finance
- Operations
- Research
- Sales
- Trading

And Other Areas of Specialization
Within Hutton Will be Discussed on Thursday January 14, 1981 at 7 P.M. in The University Club, Upper Lounge.

Varied reaction

O'Meara speaks on Frese suit

By VIC SCIULLI
Staff Reporter

Provost Timothy O'Meara's statement with regard to the out-of-court settlement of the Dolores Frese suit sparked varied reaction among members of the Notre Dame faculty. According to Provost O'Meara's statement on the sex-discrimination case, which appeared in full in yesterday's Observer, "The settlement agreement acknowledges that there has been no determination that the University has violated any law or regulation on discrimination, and the University denies any such violation of law."

With regard to the statement, one professor who asked to remain nameless, commented that "the people who have made this decision have not been made accountable. Nobody knows what went on. I certainly don't want to keep a fight going on over it. I agree with Provost O'Meara in that we must now put aside our differences."

Another professor, who also requested anonymity, offered strong remarks. "The University won. She (Dolores Frese) won. The only people who lost is the English Department."

Professor Robert Lordi, who has spoken out in the past with regard to the Frese suit, spoke to The Observer about O'Meara's statement.

"The Provost's statement on the Frese case confirms precisely what I pointed out in The Observer (November 20), namely that the University's expedient reason for settling the Frese case was based on the class action aspects of the suit, and not on the professional merits of any individual case, including that of Ms. Frese."

"His statement also re-affirms the validity of the University processes by which individual cases of promotion and tenure are professionally decided." Prof. Dolores Frese replied "no comment" when asked about the Provost's statement.

Reagan asks for U.S. citizens to return home

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan asked Americans working in Libya to come home yesterday to keep them from becoming pawns in any showdown with the radical Arab state. The government said 1,500 U.S. citizens, many of them oil technicians, stand in "imminent danger."

The State Department also banned travel to Libya by U.S. citizens.

With border guards alerted to be on the lookout for alleged Libyan assassin squads trying to infiltrate this country, officials implied that yesterday's decisions were only first moves in a cold war with the Libyan strongman Moammar Khadafy.

The government still is considering an embargo against oil from Libya, which supplies about 4 percent of U.S. imports, according to officials who spoke privately.

"The steps taken early today by President Reagan are in response to the problem of Libyan lawlessness," Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. told reporters in Brussels, Belgium, where he conferred with European allies.

Haig added, "I don't rule out potential further steps, but the actions taken are justified by the prevailing circumstances."

Deputy Secretary of State William Clark announced the moves, but refused to link them to the administration's belief that Khadafy has sent an assassination squad to this continent to kill Reagan or other top government officials in retaliation for the American downing of two Libyan MiGs Aug. 19.

Reagan said Monday he had evidence of the assassination plot, but none has been made public. Clark said the steps were taken in view of the overall pattern of Libyan behavior over the past six months.

"A reliable source indicates that a six-man assassination team ... may attempt illegal entry into the United States via Mexico during early December 1981," said a notice posted at the crossing on the U.S.-Mexican border south of San Diego, Calif.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker said Reagan's decision clearly is to get the Americans out of Libya first and then decide whether further action is called for.

Said Baker: "That's my interpretation: let's not have another Iranian situation. Let's get our Americans out. Let's see how the situation unfolds and develops. Let's see how Col. Khadafy reacts and let's decide what if any additional steps are necessary."

Conway explains escort service statements

By TIM VERCELLOTTI
News Editor

Contrary to a report in Wednesday's Observer, Student Government Security Commissioner Brian Conway did not resign as head of the escort service.

Conway explained that he went before the Hall President's Council on Tuesday night to discuss the lack of participation by hall volunteers in the service. He asked the hall presidents to assume greater responsibility in staffing the service. However, Conway did not step down as head of the service.

According to Conway, volunteers have failed to show up at their appointed times at the Memorial Library in the past few weeks. "There was a lack of communication somewhere along the line," Conway explained. As a result, Conway was forced to staff the service himself.

Conway concluded that the halls would have to assume more of the burden of operating the service. Each of the sixteen men's dorms will staff the service on a rotating basis. Escort leaders in each dorm will report on the night's work to Conway.

This system will be used in the first three weeks after the semester break. At the end of that time, Student Body President Don Murday, Student Body Vice President Tara Kenny and Conway will evaluate the escort service, and its future.

Conway explained that this period will determine whether the service should continue to be staffed by the halls, staffed by a student government task force, or face cancellation.

The escort service was placed on a trial basis in mid-November. Due to a poor turnout, the on-call portion of the service was cancelled. Next semester escorts will be available in the lobby of the Memorial Library from 10 p.m. to 11:45 p.m., Sunday through Thursday.

Notre Dame art graduate students are holding a Christmas pottery sale today from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in O'Shaughnessy. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

Sale runs thru school yr.

Shear Dimensions
EDISON & IRONWOOD
hair design for the aware man and woman

COUPON

STUDENT SPECIAL
10% Off WITH COUPON
ON ALL SERVICES

COUPON

REDKEN
FREE HAWAIIAN VACATION
Come in for details regarding Redkens Sweepstakes today.

HOURS: MON-8:30-5:00 Thurs-8:30-8:30
Tues.-Wed-8:30-5:30 Fri-8:30-5:30
Sat-8:00-4:00
Phone 234-6767

PINOCCHIO'S PIZZA PARLOR

Hours Fast Delivery Service
Mon-Thurs 11 am-12 pm 277-4522
Fri-Sat 11 am-1:30 am
Sun 4 pm-11 pm

Beer Specials
Every Nite 8:00-10:00
$1.75 Pitcher $5.00 Mug

HAPPY HOUR
Mon-Fri 4 pm-6 pm
Fri-Sat 8 pm-12 am
4 ft wide screen TV

PLEASE- one coupon per pizza

This coupon good for one LARGE PIZZA $1.00 OFF expires 12-31-81

This coupon good for one MEDIUM PIZZA $.75 OFF expires 12-31-81

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME
UNITED WAY 1981

THANK YOU to all who contributed to the overall success of the 1981 campaign.

This demonstrates that Notre Dame truly is "A CARING PLACE"

SPECIAL THANKS TO THE STUDENT BODY WHO RAISED $8700

Brian Walsh
Walter Miller
Co-Chairmen
1981 ND
United Way Campaign

MASS followed by supper every FRIDAY at the 5:15 pm

Matt Feeney, Notre Dame law student and former Holy Cross Associate, explains the preparation process to Joe Regotti and Maggie Brett, candidates for the Holy Cross Associate program in Santiago, Chile, for 1982. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

Introducing the "T.N.T." (Tasty New Trio) Roast Beef, Turkey, & Ham

Buy a single or double-meat T.N.T. (or any of our fine sandwiches*) at regular price and get a cup of hot delicious SOUP for only 5¢!

No refills, please! Offer expires Dec. 24, 1981. All sandwiches qualify for 5¢ Soup.

the Sub Machine

259-8110 2426 Lincoln Way W. Mishawaka
233-8878 277-6355
941 N. Bendix (LaSalle Square), South Bend 52313 US 31 N. South Bend

Protest shooting

Blacks riot in Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Black youths pelted motorists and pedestrians with rocks and bottles yesterday in an area where about 250 people rampaged the night before to protest the shooting of a black teenager by a white policeman.

Police said the disturbance at midday yesterday was far more limited than Wednesday night's outbreak in this North Florida city of 81,000, home of the state's largest campus and one of its few black police chiefs.

"We're responding to it. It's not as big a group at this time," police Lt. Don Dean said.

Dean said the number of black youths participating in the disturbance was "about 10 or 15," compared with the estimated 250 who rampaged for 90 minutes following the shooting of 16-year-old Columbus Williams by an officer trying to make a drug arrest. He was reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital yesterday.

More than 60 riot-equipped police were called in to quell that disturbance.

Police Chief Atkins Warren was in his former hometown of St. Louis when the disturbance broke out. He rushed back to Gainesville yesterday, toured the troubled area, then met with his staff.

The investigation of the shooting was in the hands of the state attorney's office.

Police said Williams had grabbed the service revolver of undercover officer Ernest Bridges as Bridges tried to arrest him in a drug investigation and Bridges shot him in the chest with a backup weapon.

But witnesses claimed that the youth had fallen on the curb and the officer was in no danger when the shot was fired.

"(Williams) was lying on his stomach. He was physically helpless," said Joseph Bryant, an insurance agent.

"He was getting up. Boom! He shot him," said Sharon Alexander, 21.

One black community leader expressed surprise at the violence and said he did not think it was "symptomatic of any racial problems in Gainesville."

... Orange

continued from page 1

"At the end of each month we send this code sheet in to Washington, and it's fed into this computer, called the Agent Orange Registry," Baker added.

My appointment for the screening, at a sprawling VA hospital complex in Togus near Augusta, was made through James Tukey, who heads the state's Agent Orange Information Committee.

Luckily, I have had no medical problems since my tour in Vietnam ended in early 1968. But Agent Orange, the toxic defoliant used extensively during the war, has been suspected of causing birth defects and ailments ranging from skin conditions to cancer.

As of last month, 65,000 veterans nationwide have undergone screenings, and 10,500 have filed claims for disability, VA officials say. About 1.6 million Americans served in Vietnam. Nearly 800 Maine residents, out of an estimated 16,000 who served in Vietnam, have been screened at Togus. The percentage taking the exam is "considerably higher" in Maine than in most other states, said Donald L. Wert, medical administrative officer at Togus.

Wert said various groups in Maine, including the VA and service organizations, have been taking part in well-publicized campaigns to alert Vietnam vets about Agent Orange.

... Theo

continued from page 1

theological education. This includes a fairly well-based knowledge of the Christian tradition.

Fr. McBrien added that students would not be restricted from taking non-Christian courses to fulfill their second course requirement.

Fr. McBrien stressed that there was no change in departmental policy. The 1979 document is still the guide to undergraduate theology education.

... Cops

continued from page 1

having a policeman in the neighborhood who can respond quickly. They like having someone watching out for them."

When asked what brought on this modification in the department, Switalski said that it was not city growth or an increase in crime in the Northeast neighborhood that caused the change.

"It was time to try a new concept," he said.

The South Bend police chief and division chief examined the police departments of other cities with this type of program before initiating the change.

NUCLEAR ENGINEERING

$24,100—$44,800

JOIN THE MOST SOPHISTICATED NUCLEAR ENGINEERING PROGRAM IN THE WORLD.

IMMEDIATE OPENINGS FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS WORKING TOWARD A BS/BA IN ENGINEERING, MATH, PHYSICS, OR CHEMISTRY. INCLUDES A FULL YEAR OF GRADUATE LEVEL NUCLEAR TRAINING AT OUR EXPENSE WITH A $3,000 BONUS UPON COMPLETION.

EARN A STARTING SALARY OF $24,100 THAT INCREASES TO OVER $44,800 AFTER FOUR YEARS. PLUS FREE MEDICAL AND DENTAL CARE, UNLIMITED SICK LEAVE, THIRTY DAYS ANNUAL PAID VACATION, AND EXECUTIVE CLUB PRIVILEGES.

PERSONNEL WILL BE ON CAMPUS December 7 and 8, 1981 or call number below

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY
575 N. PENNSYLVANIA STREET
OFFICE 646 OPO
INDIANAPOLIS, IN 46204
317-269-6183 OR 1-800-382-9404

Connecticut ND-SMC Students

Holiday Alumni-Student open house

Sheridan Hartford Hotel

Jan. 6, 1982 5-8 pm

- free admission and beer for students.
- Students, alumni, families, and friends welcome.
- CAREER and SUMMER JOBS DISCUSSED.
- Wheeler hockey game available at 8:00 pm.

Holy Cross program

Associates accept applications

By MARGARET FOSMOE
News Staff

The Holy Cross Associates will be accepting applications for their domestic Volunteer Program until February 12, according to Matt Feeney, Staff Manager.

The domestic Volunteer Program is for post-graduate students at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's who are interested in participating in a variety of social work at one of four sites within the United States. The Holy Cross Associates also sponsor a similar international program with sites in Santiago, Chile and Nairobi, Kenya.

The domestic program was founded in 1978, when five Notre Dame graduates traveled to Portland, Ore. to participate. While there, they performed various types of social work, such as teaching school and working with juvenile delinquents.

The program has expanded since then, moving to other cities where Holy Cross Associates now work. The four current sites are located in Colorado Springs, Colo.; Haywood, Ca.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and the original Portland site.

While students from the Portland area also participate, Notre Dame and Saint Mary's graduates comprise 85 percent of the program. Generally, there are five volunteers at each site. The volunteer ratio is about 50 percent male, 50 percent female. The domestic program runs annually, from August through July.

Feeney, presently a Notre Dame law student, participated in the program from August, 1979 through July, 1980. He taught grade school while at the Phoenix site.

Feeney emphasized that the program is open for all graduates. "No specific major is necessary to join. We are simply looking for students interested in a variety of social work," he said.

For each volunteer in the program, $4,000 is placed in a common house budget to pay expenses. In addition, volunteers are given $50 a month as spending money.

There is a Christian aspect to the program as well. Participants remain close through such activities as group mass.

Feeney described the flexibility of the program. "Basically, the volunteers can do what they want on the local front. There is a Holy Cross priest present at each site to coordinate the program. There is a great deal of flexibility involved," he explained.

The international program involves a two and one-half year commitment. Thus, the overseas group that left this past August will return in December of 1983.

Those interested in either of the programs should contact program coordinator Fr. Don McNeill at the Center for Experiential Learning.

Dining ball checker Dave Enderly is caught in the act of slipping a late-night snack into his pocket. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

Haig speaks on U.S. measures

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said yesterday that new U.S. actions against Libya were in response to "terrorist activity" but that most of America's European allies probably will maintain normal relations with the Libyan government.

Referring to a U.S. request yesterday for Americans to leave Libya, and invalidation of U.S. passports for travel to Libya, Haig told reporters, "The steps taken early today by President Reagan are in response to the problem of Libyan lawlessness."

But Haig said the steps were primarily to protect Americans and that the United States was not "engaged in victimizing Libya."

In recent weeks U.S. officials, speaking privately, had spoken in terms of punitive actions against Libya, such as banning imports of Libyan oil to the United States. The Reagan administration alleges Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy is plotting to kill the president or other high U.S. officials.

"I don't rule out potential further steps, but the actions taken are justified by the prevailing circumstances," Haig said. "It should be read precisely that way."

NOW
BIG BUS
TO...
O'HARE-MIDWAY SPECIAL
$25 ROUND TRIP
6 TRIPS DAILY
Ask Your Travel Agent
For The Big Bus To O'Hare
Or Call 234-3108
Indiana Motor Bus

Almost Free Travel
Drive - No Rental Fees
Reservations & Info for Cars to AZ, FL, TX
Most Major Cities/States
CALL NOW
Chicago...312-939-3600
Elkhart...219-264-4105
Split Gas with Friends!
MUST BE AT LEAST
21 YEARS OLD
AUTO DRIVEAWAY CO.

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME UNITED WAY 1981

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I officially announce that the Notre Dame United Way Campaign was a success! Over $119,000 was raised from the students, staff, and faculty of the Notre Dame Community.

I want to publically thank the following individuals for their personal involvement in the Notre Dame campaign.

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Ron Anderson | Mr. Charles Linster |
| Rev. Leonard N. Banas, C.S.C. | John R. Lloyd |
| Sister Judith Ann Beattie, C.S.C. | Robert Loeffler |
| Cathryn Beczkowski | Mike Mancuso |
| G. Thomas Bull | Mr. Thomas Mason |
| Richard Conklin | Jack McGann |
| Theodore J. Crovello | John M. McGrath |
| Carson Daley | Rev. Donald McNeill, C.S.C. |
| Dr. James M. Daschbach | Bro. Joseph McTaggart, C.S.C. |
| Sister Elain Desrosiers | Joseph O'Brien |
| Sean Digan | Mr. Bazil O'Hagan |
| Hanna Eldred and Staff | Professor Timothy O'Meara |
| Fred Freeman | Mr. Richard Phelps |
| Josephine Gladura | Dr. Morris Pollard |
| Mr. Mark Heller | Earnestine Raclin |
| Herman Hirl | William Sexton |
| Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C. | Thomas Swartz |
| Professor John W. Houck | Kathleen Weigert |
| Monica Jeffers | Terry Wilkins |
| Josie Jeffries | James Wruck |
| Jay Kane | |

Also a thank you to all who contributed in any way to the success of the campaign.

Brian Walsh
Walter Miller
Co-Chairmen

1981 ND United Way Campaign

EARN $1,000 AND

 TRAVEL FREE *****

Do you want to make more money this school year? Are you willing to spend 1-2 hours per day for 12 weeks? Would you like to go to Daytona Beach during spring break FREE? If you answered yes to all 3 of these questions, become our campus rep.

An unbelievable offer! Be our Daytona Beach rep. Promote our low cost tour on campus with the help of our easy-to-use promotion kit, and join your friends and classmates on a Daytona Beach adventure with plenty of expense money in your pocket.

Call or write today for more information.

Travel Associates • 777 East Wisconsin Avenue
Milwaukee, WI 53202 • (414) 276-3070

Christmas Eve at Sacred Heart

This is your invitation to join us in the traditional walk-in choir for Midnight Mass and 11:00 Vigil.

Rehearsals, Dec. 21, 22, 23 from 5:00 to 6:00 pm.

Rehearsal Hall, Crowley Music Building.

Instrumentalists also welcome! Please contact us at 7511 for further information.

The Underground Theatre last night presented a pair of original one-act plays. Here Joe Musumeci gets "His Just Desserts." Later, "The Girl's Room" appeared. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

U.S.-Soviet arms talks continue

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — While progress in U.S.-Soviet arms talks is being made, it is too early to predict there will be an agreement in time to head off planned deployment of American missiles in Europe, the chief U.S. negotiator told the NATO allies Thursday.

Paul H. Nitze told foreign ministers from 15 NATO countries that "both sides were getting down to real issues in the negotiations" that opened Nov. 30 in Geneva, according to a senior U.S. official.

Nitze flew here to provide a progress report on the talks with the Soviets. The United States wants NATO to endorse the U.S. negotiating position and also to reaffirm NATO's decision to go ahead with deployment of 572 U.S. missiles, beginning in 1983, if there isn't an agreement.

The senior official, who requested anonymity, said that following Nitze's remarks to a closed session, the NATO foreign ministers praised the U.S. effort in the Geneva negotiations.

"Ambassador Nitze was able to report that the negotiations have been undertaken in a very serious vein and...the atmosphere between the two delegations has been a very positive one," said the official.

Sources and spokesmen for several other delegations indicated they were generally pleased with what Nitze reported.

One conference source who did not want to be identified quoted Nitze as saying the Soviet position in the first 10 days of the negotiations had not changed. The U.S. position, a "zero option" favoring a ban on all nuclear missiles in the European area, also apparently had not changed either.

Lothar Ruhl, spokesman for the West German Foreign Ministry, said his delegation was pleased the talks were focusing on matters of substance. Mark MacGuigan, the Canadian foreign minister, told reporters, "It's quite clear to us from what Mr. Nitze said that the United States is very serious in these arms control negotiations."

A source in the British delegation was quoted as saying Nitze's report was "not unencouraging."

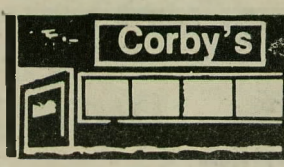

Nitze's appearance was part of a U.S. effort on several fronts to bolster European resolve to go forward with deploying the nuclear missiles — if there is not an agreement — to confront Soviet missiles which are already in place.

The U.S. delegation, headed by Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., wants the NATO communique, which will be issued at Friday's close, to declare that deployment along with negotiations "are important and the deployment's scheduled time in 1983, in the absence of an agreement, will go forward."

Some of the European countries, especially West Germany, are expected to face domestic pressure to forgo deploying the missiles on their territory in the absence of an agreement.

The Observer announces promotions

The News Department announces the following promotions to the position of staff reporter: Juniors Mary McInerney and Gus Tamborello; Sophomores Cindy Coldiron, Katie McDonnell, Molly Ryan and Tom Shaughnessy; and Freshmen Mark Boennighausen, Vic Sciulli and Mike Wilkins.

Friday--  Christmas Party

2:00-7:00

You won't want to miss it

ENGINEERS

Gulf Oil Corporation, a major energy company, has job openings for all types of graduating engineers who are interested in building a career in crude oil and gas producing operations.

Duties include drilling, equipment installation and maintenance, subsurface reservoir studies, economic evaluation of producing properties, well stimulation and reconditioning, and enhanced oil recovery operations.

Training courses will be provided to accelerate career development in oil and gas producing and drilling operations. Positions are located in Gulf Coast, Mid-Continent, Rocky Mountain, and West Coast areas. Excellent employee benefits.

If you have interviewed with a Gulf Recruiter or have sent us a resume, thank you very much. If you have not, please send your resume and transcript to:

J. R. Ligon, Jr.
GULF OIL EXPLORATION & PRODUCTION COMPANY
P.O. Box 1166
Pittsburgh, PA 15230

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

Town & Country 1 2 3
2340 N. Hickory Rd 259-9090 now showing show times: 2:00-4:00-6:00-7:45-9:40

"UPROARIOUS!"
—CUE Magazine

"Sex farce, sensual and funny"

"...it has been years since anybody beamed such delight on the screen"

—NY Times

Starring JANE BIRKIN

"a joyous experiment!"
N.Y. Post

"A SEX ROMP!"
Rex Reed

Mary Poppins she ain't!

Catherine & Co.
"IT IS ALL FUN AND GAME!"

Rated "R" because "SEX" doesn't have to be "X"

Directed by JANE BIRKIN - PATRICK DESBAERS - JEAN PIERRE AMBROIT
A LEO L. FUDIS and VALLEY Productions Production - TECHNICOLOR
Distributed By S.I. International Pictures

Sakharov's daughter-in-law

Alexeyeva receives visa

MOSCOW (AP) — Andrei Sakharov's daughter-in-law said yesterday she has been summoned to the Soviet visa office, apparently to receive her long-awaited exit papers. But she vowed not to leave for the United States until she is sure Sakharov has abandoned a hunger strike on her behalf.

"I feel happier now. I feel much calmer," Liza Alexeyeva said after receiving the summons to appear today at OVIR, where exit visas are issued. "But I still have a lingering fear that it's not quite true and that it might all turn out terribly."

The apparent decision to permit her to emigrate seemed to be a major concession by Soviet authorities, who have been under intense international pressure to meet Sakharov's demands to let Miss Alexeyeva, 26, join her husband in the United States.

The Soviet government has not commented officially on the case since last Friday, and repeated attempts by The Associated Press to reach the KGB (security police) for confirmation have been unsuccessful.

Miss Alexeyeva, the focus of a bitter struggle between the banished dissident and Soviet authorities, said she was told to bring her passport, two photographs and 210 rubles (about $300 at the official exchange rate), which is the normal price for a Soviet exit visa.

She told reporters that the summons came in a form letter that arrived at Sakharov's Moscow apartment last evening, shortly after she received word that Sakharov and his wife Yelena Bonner had voluntarily ended the hunger strike they began Nov. 22.

Miss Alexeyeva, however, said she has no intention of leaving the Soviet Union before seeing the Sakharovs. She said the KGB told her earlier in the day that she could visit them next Monday.

"I will not have peace of mind until I go to Gorky on Monday to prove to myself that the Sakharovs are all right," she said.

Sakharov, winner of the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize for his work on behalf of human rights, was banished to the Volga River city east of Moscow nearly two years ago to limit his access to foreigners.

Miss Alexeyeva married Alexei Semyonov, who studies at Brandeis University near Boston, by proxy last summer in a ceremony performed in Montana. The Soviets do not recognize the marriage.

Soviet media have been silent on the case since last Friday's blast against the Sakharovs and Miss Alexeyeva in the government newspaper Izvestia. The report accused Sakharov of beginning the hunger strike to fan "anti-Soviet sentiments" in the West.

Reagan aides consider taxes to fight deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget planners hope to push the federal deficit to under $70 billion in 1983 and to $40 billion or less in 1984, and are considering tax increases to get there, administration sources said yesterday.

The new revenues might come from withholding taxes on interest and dividend income, imported oil fees, taxes on employer-paid health insurance benefits and a windfall profits tax on deregulated natural gas, administration officials said.

One source said the administration is looking at plans to raise $80 billion to $85 billion in 1983 and 1984 to reduce a deficit now projected at more than $150 billion in 1984.

That is a significant increase from the $22 billion in new tax increases through 1984 that President Reagan proposed in September.

Reagan also has been reluctant to make significant cuts in his record defense budget plans, despite urgings from budget director David A.

Stockman and other advisers.

The sources, asking that their names not be used, also disclosed that widely published deficit figures prepared a week ago already have been revised downward, though they still paint a bleak budget outlook.

According to the sources, Stockman told Reagan earlier this week that without more budget cuts or tax increases, the deficit will surge to $107.5 billion in fiscal 1982, $147.9 billion in 1983 and $152.4 billion in 1984.

The earlier estimates showed deficits of $109.1 billion for the current fiscal year, $152.3 billion for 1983 and $162 billion for 1984. Fiscal 1982 began in October.

"These (deficit) numbers are so shaky, it's incredible," said one source, who noted that the figures do not reflect the spending cuts and tax increases Reagan will seek when he sends his 1983 budget plan to Congress late next month.

It's hats off to the person who did the really knit job of decorating this tree. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

ENJOY A HERTZ FOR CHRISTMAS

7 DAYS ONLY $98
UNLIMITED MILEAGE

Subcompact manual-transmission car

FOR RESERVATIONS, CALL:

219/234-3712

21 DAYS ONLY $294.00
OR $15.98 PER DAY
UNLIMITED MILEAGE

Larger cars available at higher rates.

This year, forget the homeward-bound hassle... and hustle down to Hertz. We'll put you on the road in style at a rate that's hard to beat. Just $98 for 7 full days with unlimited mileage for a manual-transmission subcompact car. If you are 18 or older, and have a student ID card, and a valid driver's license, that's all you need. Tell us what size car you would like, and we'll have it ready for you starting December 17. So call now for reservations and let Hertz make Christmas a happier holiday.

Rates are not discountable. Gasoline, applicable taxes, optional Collision Damage Waiver and Personal Accident Insurance are not included. No charge for mileage. All cars subject to availability. Cars must be returned to the renting location no later than January 1, 1982 or higher published Hertz Daily Standard Unlimited Mileage Rates will apply to the entire rental period, and a drop charge will also apply. Ask for complete details.

#1 For Everyone.

HERTZ RENTS FORDS AND OTHER FINE CARS

With finals approaching, many students will be staying inside and missing the natural beauty of winter. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

Council discourages use of preservatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Processors should reduce nitrite preservatives in bacon and other meats and end most uses of a related compound, even though health effects of the chemicals are largely unknown, the National Academy of Sciences said yesterday.

The academy's National Research Council said it would be "prudent" to cut exposures to nitrite and nitrate food additives until further study determines whether they have a link to human cancer.

Neither nitrate nor nitrite, used to decrease bacterial contamination and add color in meats, appears to cause cancer directly in animals or man, said the 500-page report commissioned by the Agriculture Department and the Food and Drug Administration.

However, compounds called nitrosamines can form from the additives and many of these are known to cause cancer in animals, the council said. Therefore, nitrosamines are suspected of causing human cancer.

The committee pointed out that meat preservatives account for only a small portion of the total human exposure to nitrosamines. Tobacco smoke, agricultural chemicals, cosmetics, beer and other foods account for even larger exposures, it said.

Nitrate can be converted to nitrite and then to nitrosamines in foods and in the body. The committee said there is evidence Vitamins C and E block conversion of nitrite to nitrosamines, but it did not address whether dietary supplements would provide any protective effect.

"The elimination of nitrates from cured meats will probably not have a major effect on health," said Maclyn McCarthy of Rockefeller University, chairman of the committee that wrote the report.

But McCarthy said at a news briefing that use of the preservatives should be curtailed in any case to reduce risks, even if no one is sure exactly what the risks are.

The committee said nitrite use in bacon, ham and other meats should be reduced "to the extent that protection against botulism is not compromised."

The committee also called for nitrate, a related compound, to be eliminated from all poultry and most meat products because there is no evidence it has any direct preservative effects.

Nitrate "may be necessary" in dried meats, such as country ham and jerky, and fermented sausages, such as salami and pepperoni, and use in these products should continue, it said.

Nitrite has been added to meat for decades to give it a reddish-pink color, improve the flavor and inhibit bacteria growth. Nitrate is a similar compound that changes into nitrite. In meat, it acts as a reservoir of nitrite for longer preservation.

An estimated $12.5 billion worth of food, about 7 percent of the food supply, has nitrite added to it. The food industry opposes any ban of the additive, saying it would increase spoilage, raise costs and possibly increase food poisoning cases.

DuPont uses coal sales to reduce debt

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Du Pont Co., owner of the nation's second largest coal producer, is preparing an "aggressive" campaign to dump coal reserves to reduce a $3.8 billion debt incurred when it purchased Conoco Co., industry analysts say.

The company's plan is to unload high-sulfur coal reserves, while holding onto its reserves of more valuable low-sulfur steam coal used to drive power plant generators, they say.

Earlier this week, Du Pont officials said the Delaware-based chemical giant planned to sell about $2 billion of its "natural resource assets" in the next three years to reduce the debt incurred in buying Conoco Co. last summer.

Du Pont's acquisition of the nation's ninth largest oil company cost $6.8 billion, including $3.8 billion in cash. Du Pont Chairman Edward G. Jefferson said the deal raised the company's debt to an uncomfortable level.

When it bought Conoco, Du Pont gained control of Consolidation Coal Co., West Virginia's largest coal producer and the nation's second largest. Analysts said Du Pont probably would try to keep Consolidation's valuable, low-sulfur coal reserves of West Virginia, but one analyst said the company might find it hard to reach its financial goals by selling just high-sulfur coal reserves.

Low-sulfur coal usually costs an average of $1 to $2 more per ton than high-sulfur coal because it burns cleaner and requires less pollution control treatment, said Terry Iden, vice president of administration for the West Virginia Coal Association.

Du Pont Vice Chairman Ralph E. Bailey said some of Conoco's coal assets, held under its Consolidation subsidiary, would be included in the sale.

"We intend to pursue an aggressive asset disposition program. With coal reserves exceeding 14 billion tons, Conoco is well positioned to sell reserves for which we have no development plans in the foreseeable future," Bailey said on the last day of a two-day seminar for financial analysts at Du Pont headquarters in Wilmington, Del.

Industry analysts said they were not surprised by Du Pont's announcement. "They obviously don't need 14 billion tons of coal," said Leonard Bogner, a research analyst with Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc., a New York brokerage house.

Mark Cohen, an analyst with Kidder, Peabody and Co., another New York brokerage, estimated that Du Pont could sell about 12 billion tons of coal reserves without touching its operating mines or those planned for the future.

"The committed coal properties are far more valuable than the uncommitted reserves. They probably have limited profitability. What they're really saying is that we are selling off reserves that are probably worth very little," Cohen said.

This would mean that Du Pont would seek to dispose of properties for which it had no immediate plans, while holding onto active mining operations and those close to development.

Cohen said he believes Du Pont would try to hold onto its West Virginia and Pennsylvania reserves. "The higher quality, low-sulfur Appalachian coal, those are the gems. That's not going to go," he said.

Another analyst thought Du Pont would have trouble if it tried to sell lower quality reserves while keeping its more valuable assets.

Ohio investigator calls drug story 'a hoax'

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — An Ohio investigator says a scare about drug-laced stickers being distributed to Midwest school children is a hoax.

In a copyright story in yesterday's editions of The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel, Jack McCormick of the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation called the LSD-stickers story "the craziest rumor I've ever heard in my life."

McCormick said the story started last summer when a memo he wrote about the possibility of such stickers in Delaware state schools was intercepted by newspaper and broadcast reporters in Columbus, Ohio.

The investigator said parents in the town of Delaware, Ohio, had heard rumors about the stickers and thought the stickers were being circulated in their town and not in the state of Delaware. McCormick wrote the memo after checking out the town of Delaware and finding no evidence of the stickers.

"We checked it out," McCormick said. "First of all the rumors were originally about the state of Delaware, not the town of Delaware. Second, it was just a hoax."

Shortly after the memo was written, McCormick said, "I got a call at 1 a.m. from a reporter who said the police found 5,000 tabs of blotter acid in the car (of a man arrested in Columbus, Ohio). The blotters were covered with cute little blue stars.

"The reporter wanted to know if this bust didn't confirm the rumors... but it wasn't true," the investigator said, adding that the stars didn't contain any LSD.

Officials in Muncie, Gary, Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and Hammond have warned parents and children about tattoo transfers possibly laced with LSD. The stickers were said to be in the design of Walt Disney cartoon characters like Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, as well as in a blue star design.

Ray Golarz, an administrator for Hammond schools said he originally received reports of the stickers from Michigan and Chicago school administrators. He said Thursday that Hammond narcotics detectives told him they had confiscated some of the drug-laced tattoos.

Jimmy Lawson, the Hammond detective who said the drug stickers had been confiscated, could not be reached for comment yesterday.

The News-Sentinel said the drug stickers were reported in Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

"I'd think it was funny, but I worry some fruitcake will read all the newspaper stories about feeding acid to school kids and decide to try it," McCormick told the News-Sentinel.

N.D. PARTY HEADQUARTERS

2128 SOUTH BEND AVENUE

PHONE 277-3611

Castillo Rum--white
1 Liter.....$5.89

Cases of Budweiser

24 to a case.....$6.89

Jim Beam Blend
1.75 Liter.....$9.99

American Vodka
liters.....$4.81

PABST Case of Quarts
BLUE RIBBON$8.99

The Observer
★★★★★ Party ★★★★★

Saturday, December 12
10:00pm - 1:30am

Get Tix Today

Beer, Drinks, and Munchies
Bring a guest

Dodging The Real World

For most undergraduates at Wake Forest University here, "current events" would seem confined to the upcoming holiday basketball tournaments and midyear exams.

Such matters as the opening round of U.S.-Soviet arms discussions in Geneva or the next budget showdown in Congress would draw blank stares here as at most other colleges.

"Civic illiteracy" threatens our democracy like never before, warn Ernest Boyer and Fred M. Hechinger in a new report for the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. And the blame can't be placed solely at students' feet: Educators and the media aren't helping to foster good citizens.

"Unless we find better ways to educate ourselves as citizens," Boyer and Hechinger write, "we run the risk of drifting unwittingly into a new kind of Dark Age—a time when small cadres of specialists will control knowledge and thus control the decision-making process."

"These high priests of technology will understand, or claim to understand, the complicated issues, telling us what we should believe and how we should act. In this new age of growing confusions, citizens would make critical decisions not on the basis of what they know, but on the basis of blind faith in one or another set of professed experts."

Of course, mediocre voter turnouts and chronic distrust of public institutions have been questioned, debated and bemoaned in an endless number of books and broadcasts.

But, as Boyer and Hechinger note, colleges have seemed either unwilling or unable to counter this dangerous indifference. On the contrary, faculties have tended to shy from discussion on controversial issues and to rely instead on simplified, accepted prescriptions to complex questions. In an increasingly unpredictable world, they have helped institutionalize predictably.

Specifically, the best-read publication here is surely the newspaper sports section; no one lines up for copies of The Economist. One of the librarians told us that perhaps one-tenth of the 4,000 strong student body subscribe to the local Winston-Salem Journal or Sentinel newspapers.

But she also suggested one reason why this is so: Professors don't sufficiently encourage their students to supplement class work with extra reading of current events. The lack of student interest, in turn, may discourage faculty members from keeping up themselves. (Discovered in the college library, one economics professor conceded that he hadn't read the Atlantic Monthly magazine interview with Budget Director David Stockman, let alone assign it to his class. And he added that most of his colleagues had probably not read it either.)

When a student's only reality is that which links schooling to a post-graduate economics paycheck, he or she will inevitably leave political and social issues to the dreaded special-interest community. And that lead to the blind faith that worries Boyer and Hechinger. In the name of civic competence, the authors suggest lacing courses "from literature to nuclear physics" with relevant issues and questions pertaining to those fields.

Of course, endemic civic illiteracy will be difficult to overcome. Colleges across the country, bedeviled by a shrinking pool of teenage applicants and financial woes, will be filling classrooms with students who are older and more geared to specialized training. Professors will also be hard-pressed to temper their "publish-or-perish" maxim which may help to guarantee tenure but often obfuscates their larger mission: a well-rounded student.

We must make every effort to foster informed debate on impending choices between guns and butter, increased industrial production and clean air, active government and libertarianism.

While the 70's saw colleges increasingly bend to society's demands, the 80's require them to provide direction. As the Carnegie report concludes, the academic community must not only prepare the young for productive careers, but...enable them to live lives of dignity and purpose...not merely...increase participation at the polls, but...help shape a citizenry that can weigh decisions wisely and more effectively promote the public good."

Maxwell Glen and Cody Shearer

Here and Now

This mandate may seem optimistic at first, making American youth feel part of the process might not be possible. But any movement towards a more informed populace will be better than the rut of ignorance and the vicious cycle of indifference that are currently leading us nowhere.

P.O. Box Q

Professor questions Kung

To the Editor,

Hans Kung was invited to Notre Dame to speak about theological matters. Notre Dame purports to be a Catholic University and one might think that a Catholic University would work to teach Catholic doctrine. Is it proper to do so by inviting speakers determined by the Church to be teaching contrary to Catholic doctrine? As most know, the Catholic Church has said that some of the positions which Hans Kung holds on theological matters are incompatible with Catholic doctrine, i.e., that they are false. Why was Hans Kung invited to speak at Notre Dame?

Some might say that all viewpoints must be heard—especially in an academic setting. Yet is this an absolute principle to which there are no exceptions? Would we allow a racist or one advocating genocide to speak on this campus? Would we invite one who argues that the earth is flat? We would not invite proponents of these views to speak because they hold views which violate known truth: i.e., that racism and genocide are immoral, and that the earth is not flat. Granted, truth about theological matters is not always as easily accessible as truth about moral matters and as truth about physical phenomena, but Catholics do have a reliable guide in doctrinal matters: the Catholic Church is an institution which claims to have the power to decide definitively and infallibly upon the truth of certain doctrines and thus to have the power to decide which individuals are trustworthy teachers of certain truths. The Church has determined that Hans Kung is not a reliable teacher of Catholic theology. Finally, there is little evidence that Notre Dame holds as an absolute principle the position that all viewpoints must be heard: how often can one hear an invited speaker on the Notre Dame campus who recognizes the authority of the magisterium and who speaks in support of the teachings of the Church?

Some might argue that Notre Dame invites Jews, Protestants, and members of other religions to speak on campus: why should she not invite dissenting theologians as well? Obviously, members of other religions do not speak for the Catholic Church—all those who hear them are aware that have no power to define Catholic doctrine. But we do hear other Catholics who speak against Church doctrine very often on this campus. The Church, however, has not pronounced on their fitness to teach Catholic doctrine. That is not to say that the Church might not disapprove of much that is said in the name of Catholic theology on this campus; nevertheless, the Church cannot be a watchdog for all abuses. But in the case of Hans Kung, a man who has caught the public eye and who publishes a great deal which departs from Church teaching, the Church must make clear to the faithful that this man, a Catholic priest, is not a reliable guide for Catholics in matters of the Faith.

In what capacity, then, is Father Kung speaking on this campus? He remains a Catholic; he speaks on theological matters. Is it not right to view him as one who speaks as a Catholic theologian? Was he invited so that we might see that his views are false? A debate format would have been appropriate for this purpose: the question and answer period conducted on a random basis does not allow for rigorous examination of a speaker's views. Furthermore, how many of us are capable of judging the orthodoxy of Kung's views? And, finally, why need we? The Church has made this judgment.

The public is most certainly going to think that Notre Dame is, in effect, scorning the Vatican with this invitation to Father Kung. Is the view of the public not a reasonable one to hold? In years past such an action by Notre Dame would have been called a scandal. Well, we may not use the term often these days, but the presence of Hans Kung on this campus is indeed a scandal.

Janet E. Smith
Faculty

Jackman replies to critics

Dear Editor:

How amusing that Anthony Walton, who is so often irritated by conservatives who sit back and attack his opinions after they are published—never before—should pounce on my John Lennon column, published well before the anniversary, with a tardy response as incongruous as it was inappropriate. That Lennon was not a "working class hero" in the sense of the original song is obvious, but his ideals, his insight and his honesty are what have made him a hero to the working class. That was my point. That Lennon was not a poverty level millworker is unfortunate, but also irrelevant.

While we're on the subject of Tom Jackman abuse—a fairly popular editorial page feature—I would like to respond to another response with a final note: Virginia's Marshall Coleman is most certainly classifiable as a conservative, and the fact that he does not meet Mills Godwin's definition of conservative (read segregationist) does not disqualify him in the least. Similarly, Chuck Robb, while not a leading left-wing liberal (as I noted) can hardly be labeled a conservative, though his political ideals are subject to constant shifts. Happy reading!

Tom Jackman
South Bend

The Observer

Founded November 3, 1966

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

(219) 283-8661

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief.....	John McGrath
Executive News Editor.....	Kelli Flint
News Editor.....	Tim Vercellotti
News Editor.....	David Rickabaugh
SMC Executive Editor.....	Mary Agnes Carey
SMC News Editor.....	Cathy Domanico
Sports Editor.....	Michael Ortman
Photo Editor.....	John Macor
Editorials Editor.....	Anthony Walton
Features Editor.....	Gregory Swiercz

Department Managers

Business Manager.....	Rich Coppola	Production Manager.....	Michael Monk
Controller.....	Joe Mulflur	Circulation Manager.....	Tom MacLennan
Advertising Manager.....	Chris Owen	Systems Manager.....	Bruce Oakley

Reality loses out to Finals Week

Ouch. A paper-cut on my typing finger. How I hate those little annoyances that make the big annoyances even more annoying.

As I sit here licking my wound, I am faced with the physical evidence of what my labors are being called upon to produce. Textbooks, library books and sheets of notes cover my bed, desk, locker and floor. The daily necessities of life life sleep become luxuries in the face of what my academic responsibilities require. Papers after exams, exams after papers. A never-ending series of pressures that only dissipates slowly as the car, bus, train or plane leaves Notre Dame and her golden dome.

About the twentieth of December, I begin to find the time to reacquaint myself with reality. I discover that I finally have the time and the inclination to read the bestsellers, watch the Christmas specials, and make the phone calls that I never had time for during the semester. Away from the pressures of school, I can find the time for these things.

Time that until then, I couldn't find nor make.

Paper-cuts are there long before I realize their presence. Suddenly, the pain makes me wince and I go searching for a bandage to repair the wound. The things that I face at vacation time are like my paper-cut; there but undiscovered until I have the time to look for them. Vacations and paper-cuts tend to remind me that I am human, something that I easily forget at this time of the year.

During the last few weeks of the semester, I try in a superhuman way to accomplish all of the things that everyone wants of me. At the same time, I neglect to be human enough to act on my human responsibilities. The natural tendency is to relieve the external forces before considering the internal ones.

Any type of relationship is indicative of this tendency. Instead of having time to relax with a close friend for a few moments, we only have time for the necessities. Communication consists of the five pages worth of research material in the philosophy paper or the phone call to get the last assignment. We have time for these things. For others, we don't. The sad thing is that we forget that we can make the time. In our forgetfulness, we stop being human enough.

In the Notre Dame encapsulated environment, we acquire a telescopic awareness of our direction and goals. In our pursuit of stability and security in the future, we neglect the opportunities that the present affords. Our reality becomes a reality of tomorrows, not today's. Our relationship with this university is characterized by education. Academics become our only concern, but that is only half an education. The other half lives in today's, in being human enough.

"December twentieth's" find us possessing only have an education. We try to catch up with the world of today's that became yesterday's before we knew it.

Vacations find me reading newspapers, magazines and junk mail, writing unanswered letters and making long distance phone calls to the very people from school that I didn't have time for during the semester. I try to compress into one short period of time all of the realities that have unfolded around me. If I had been reasonably intelligent, I would have watched reality as it was unfolding. But I didn't. I have caught myself not being human enough.

What if I had been human enough? I wonder.

"What if's are only good for forcing us to become human enough. They are like paper-cuts. They remind us of realities we have let slip by or have taken for granted. They jerk us out of "tomorrow-living" and pop us into "today-living." They require that we be human enough to want the regret of the "what if's" or the pain of the paper-cut to subside.

Perhaps all of this is rather platitudinous. I thought so until I discovered how much I hate regrets and paper-cuts. I recognized slowly, the choice before me, to continue to be superhuman and live with "what if's until December 20 again, or I could nurse a paper-cut, bandage it carefully and allow it to keep me aware of reality while it healed.

I found a box of Curad's and a friend to talk to. We forgot about our exams and papers for ten minutes and took care of the need inside.

I found out that I like today's, and the tomorrows that come out of my today's, more when I am human enough than when I am not.

If anyone would like to join me in being "human enough," I've got plenty of paper and a whole box of Curad's to share.

Taxi Brown

Feature

1981 produces fewer quality films

The task of designating the "top ten" films of 1981 proved to be a rather difficult undertaking, primarily for two reasons: 1) the past year witnessed the release of few exceptional films, and 2) the box office appeal of such films continues to wane.

Film 1981

Pat Mulligan

Unfortunately a majority of the American filmgoing audience prefers the simple-minded adventure yarns of Lucas and Spielberg to the more arcane yet imaginatively superior films of Malle and Resnais. But lest ye despair, a handful of quality films did manage to rise above the commercial pulp churned out by Hollywood this year. Rather than arbitrarily rank these artistic achievements let's review them in alphabetical order:

Five Quality Films of 1981

Atlantic City

(Louis Malle director)

Malle has directed a string of superior films in the last seven years - Lacombe, Lucien, Murmur of the Heart, Pretty Baby - and Atlantic City further enhances his reputation as a film master. This tale of lovers and losers gambling with despair in the title town represents an extraordinary exercise in style and atmosphere. Burt Lancaster deserves an Oscar nomination for his marvelous performance as a loner living on deferred hopes.

Breaker Morant

(Brian Beresford director)

Though produced in Australia in 1979, this film was first released here last winter. Based on the court martial of three Australian soldiers during the Boer War, Beresford integrates a tight narrative form with some stunning landscapes to create a finely textured composition. A watershed for the commercial distribution of films from the Australian New Wave.

Chariots of Fire

(Hugh Hudson director)

Hudson revives the flagging British cinema with this historically romanticized version of English athletes at the 1924 Paris Olympics. A rhythmic and lyrical film about athletic competition and human compassion. The title refers to a line from William Blake's preface to Milton.

Mon Oncle de Amerique

(Alain Resnais director)

Somewhat of a departure for a filmmaker who has remained in the forefront of innovative cinema since the French New Wave of the 1950's. Resnais explores relationships between three central characters whose lives become entangled by chance in a witty and insightful film laced with commentary by behavioral scientist Henri Laborit. Resnais' consistent production of quality films over two decades continues.

Prince of the City

(Sidney Lumet director)

An uncompromising exposition of moral relativism in modern America. Lumet's camera conveys a pristine sense of urban bleakness which buttresses a fine performance by Treat Williams as Det. Danny Ciello, an undercover cop willing to sacrifice anything for self-catharsis. Undoubtedly the best American release of 1981 (thus far).

Though not in the same class as those listed above, several films deserve honorable mention:

Altered States Ken Russell's journey into the realms of human consciousness suffers from the director's self-indulgence but the hallucination scenes are terrific.

Blow Out Brian DePalma pays homage to Hitchcock in this suspenseful tale of political assassination and cover-up.

Body Heat Lawrence Kasdan's steamy reworking of Double Indemnity.

Gallipoli World War I epic given a massive injection of style by Australian Peter Weir. †

Lili Marleen R.V. Fassbinder continues his domination of the New German Cinema.

Man of Iron Andrzej Wajda's "fictional" documentary of Poland's Solidarity labor union won the 1981 Grand Prix at Cannes.

Of course 1981 was a year filled with disappointments as well as surprises. After lengthy reflection several films stand out as unsatisfactory exercises in competence:

Five Overrated Films of 1981

Arthur Dudley Moore is not only unfunny, he's repulsive. Here he is at his worst as a millionaire drunk. Ha Ha Ha.

Le Dernier Metro (The Last Metro) Francois Truffaut continues to sacrifice substance for accessibility.

Raiders of the Lost Ark Perhaps what is most disturbing about this George Lucas/Steven Spielberg collaboration is the graphic violence (gun shots in the head, mutilation via rotating propellers, etc.) aimed at an adolescent audience. But wasn't it a "fun" movie?

See FILMS, page 11

Questions of Christmas

Because...just because.

That was always the bottom line, the last word.

Throughout, that's what they said to get me to shut up.

"Why this mom?"

"Well, because of that."

"Why that?"

"Because such and such."

"Why such and such, mom?"

"Just because!"

I can remember playing that game

Paul Kosidowski

Second Thoughts

alot — regarding the trivial and the profound, with friends and strangers. Last night, while watching the snow quilt itself to the Norfolk pine outside my window, I decided to play it again. "Why Christmas?"

That phrase is new to the "Christmas" word association game — Merry, White, Blessed but never "Why?" We spend much of our lives either looking forward to or reminiscing about this time of year. Perhaps the answers are too obvious.

Why, for example, Christmas Cards. Hallmark style? I spend hours searching for the card that says exactly what I want to say. I can't just say it, write a note, or even worse say it, live and in person. Next year I'm going to buy "personalized" cards, which means a machine will stamp my name on them, which means they are mechanized, which means they are "personalized."

Why Kris Kringles? When I was little, I thought that those name-picking gift exchanges were for practice, so that when we found someone we wanted to give a present to, we would know how to go about it. Now they're even more worried that we'll break the rules of gift giving etiquette — pick a name, find out who he or she is, buy four "small" gifts (about a dollar) and one large gift (about ten dollars) and give them at 3 or 4 day intervals. And don't forget your "Thank You" note.

Why Christmas bonuses? Who do you send the "Thank You" note to. Dear Mr. and Mrs. McDonald Douglas...

Why crowded, noisy, overblown and overdecorated midnight masses with zealous, mink-clad parishioners (excuse me for being a bit zealous myself there) each trying to sound like a choir of angels? Why use timpanis, harps, trombones, glock-enspiels and countless voices and instruments to perform a song that was composed for one guitar and one voice — a song about a silent night, when all was calm?

But these are all Christmas trivia. I suppose that I throw these up first because I am putting off the tough question. The one that really shows us what kind of lunatics we are dealing with here.

To ask "why Christmas?" in the most basic sense is to discover pure lunacy. Why would someone send his son from up there to down here? Why would he even consider going? I am being voluntarous about doing going to the Chicago ghetto for a weekend. What a picnic.

When He was here He showed us that He was as crazy as His Father was. The things He said and did were so crazy that we only hear about them in a room that is unlike any other in a room. The room's uniqueness tells us that we are listening to crazy things; that they should be taken tongue-in-cheek. If we are outside that room and hear people saying things we usually hear inside that room we ignore them or chuckle or get annoyed or say things like "self-righteous" or "pretentious." We tell them to mellow out.

But the ultimate lunacy is, I think, our doing. Why do we celebrate Christmas? Perhaps to show our gratitude, to return the favor. Perhaps because we hope to somehow understand all this. I will go to mass and give gifts in the name of Christmas, maybe even give some money to charity. Then, as if I have paid my gratuitous debt or finished my requirement in Christmas 101, I will say "that is enough. No more of this Christmas stuff." How absurd.

I hope to meet a Christmas Lunatic this year. I already have anticipated the encounter.

I will see a man — a bell-ringer — perched with a frozen moustache, on a crowded street corner. His red bucket will be empty and I will not give for fear of standing out among the crowd. But I will talk to him.

"Why do you do this?"

"Why?" he will repeat.

"Yes...Why?"

"Oh...just because."

With this, I will feel a little less absurd, but a little more like a lunatic. Merry Christmas.

The cup I left behind me

The cup I left behind me was the chalice I used at my first Mass. It was a gift to me on the day I was ordained. I didn't expect, when I became a priest, to have a chalice of my own. It was on the altar, waiting for me that first day, a handsome gold cup with my name on it. It would be as personal to me as a friend for the rest of my life.

Chalices, in those days, were specially made. Before being used, they were consecrated by the bishop for liturgical service, for it was considered a great honor for a cup to be used as a vessel of the Sacrament at the supper of the Lord. The cup had to be worthy of the dignity of the daily occasions when the wine poured into it would be blessed as the Precious Blood of Jesus. There was a golden plate that matched the chalice called a paten; it was used for the Eucharistic bread. It was as lovingly made as the chalice, and was its partner in the service of the altar.

I loved dearly the chalice I was given at ordination. I used it every day, rubbing it carefully with a flannel cloth after each Mass to keep it gleaming. The wine I used was as golden as the cup itself, and I would sometimes imagine God's presence as having the brightness of sunlight as it is captured in light-bearing things. One does not, of course, worship a cup, no matter how beautiful he thinks it is. Yet, for a priest, a chalice might represent his inexperience that seemed like innocence, and his participation in the mystery of an ancient ritual whose truth was sung in Eucharistic hymns. My chalice, I always felt, would always be a young priest's chalice, no matter how long I used it. It would always remind me of the sweetness of the springtime in the year I was ordained, when I woke up in the morning, happy with the thought I would be saying Mass.

A sobering day comes in marriage, they say, when people realize that the honeymoon is over. For a priest, the first fervor fades, the hurts begin, and the fencing with pain starts for the rest of a lifetime. You can blame yourself, you can blame the world, but something unchangeable has happened, and experience loses its innocence. You cannot say: "The highlight of my day is to offer Mass." You need victories more than sacraments; and in the battles you face, you win a few, and you lose a few, as the saying goes.

Every chalice has a personal symbolism for the owner. None of us ever expects to see the Holy Grail. We may even doubt that there was so magical a cup, having such an identity of its own that it would appear in mystical vision to pure-hearted knights. Without believing the folk-lore, a priest might think of himself as needing to be worthy of a cup he respects as though it were given to him as his own personal grail. He needs to like himself before serving an immaculate sacrament from a golden cup and a golden plate; otherwise he feels mocked by the very things he touches.

One September, in the eleventh year of my ordained life, more trouble came to me than I could handle. I moved away from a family I could no longer help. I moved away from friends whom I love too much. There was a place I cherished where I no longer belonged, and there wasn't anything I could do about it. I left my chalice behind me.

For nearly seventeen years, it remained in the sacristy of the chapel where I used to say Mass, representing me, or at least reminding people that I had been there as a priest faithful to the altar. I wanted my chalice there, rather than here, because of all the past times it represented. I refused many times to take it or have it brought to me.

Rev. Robert Griffin

Letters to a Lonely God

Last Sunday, while I was in Boston during a blizzard, I decided to bring my chalice home to Notre Dame. My emotions on the weekend surprised me: the chapel where the chalice was kept has recently been retired from use, since the priests and brothers have moved to another place. I realized it was loyalty to my dear friends that made me want to keep my chalice in a home I loved so much. As I packed away the cherished cup, tarnished and dirty from years of disuse, I felt as if I were putting together the pieces of my life. I had gone to Boston for a Mass and Communion breakfast with the Notre Dame Club. The event was cancelled because of the snow. Instead I came home with my chalice. I had the feeling that the Providence that guides our life was writing the scenario, with the assistance of the Notre Dame Club of Boston. I bless the Notre Dame Club for their kindness... I feel that God's blessing was on my trip to the Hub.

As I cleaned my chalice for use at Mass on December 8, Our Lady's feast day, I thought of the ending of Evelyn Waugh's novel "Brideshead Revisited." The Catholic chapel at the country home named Brideshead is again being used for the reservation of the Blessed Sacrament, because of the troops billeted there during wartime. The family that lived at Brideshead has been destroyed through death and tragedy. The estate itself has become seedy and rundown. The place is like the desolate city of the Lamentations, but the book ends on a note of quiet joy, because the lamp is burning before the bronze doors of the tabernacle to signify the presence of the Lord in the Eucharist.

For me, there is a quiet joy in using again the chalice that reminds me of my first years as a priest. Something blue-veined with grace is happening in my life, I think, but what it is, is full of mystery, either of life or new beginnings. Not all of it is in place yet, because the paten given to me is not my paten; it is not the one that belongs to my chalice. It must seem odd to say that after seventeen years, I am anxious for the return of the original plate.

The grail legend remains with us in diminished versions, as one searches as though on a quest to find his way back to original grace.

MANY THANKS TO THE LADIES OF NOTRE DAME FOR THE GOOD THINGS TO EAT THEY MADE FOR THE STUDENTS AT DARBY'S PLACE ON THANKSGIVING DAY.

MANY THANKS TO THE RIGHT TO LIFE GROUP IN PUTTING ON THE CHILDREN'S ST. NICHOLAS' DAY PARTY ON DECEMBER 7.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO EVERYONE FROM DARBY O'GILL AND ME. IF YOU ARE IN NEW YORK, CALL ME AT ST. JOSEPH'S RECTORY, 371 6th AVENUE. Phone: 212-742-1274, or 212-924-2110.

Happy Birthday to Darby on December 17. He will be two years old.

ND giftgiver explains his duties

As finals approach and the semester winds up, thoughts turn to Christmas and its festivities: Parties, big meals, family gatherings, and most of all, gift giving. Everyone loves to do it, even the University wants to get into the act. To see how the school selects and gives gifts, I asked around and finally tracked down the person in charge of it. I located his office in the Ad building and went to pay him a visit.

"Why does the school want to give gifts at Christmas?" I asked, as we settled into chairs surrounded by a sea of boxes, wrapping paper, and packages.

"Well, it makes us appear more human," the official said, smiling. "We don't like people to think we're some impersonal monster with no name. So we have Santa leave them a little surprise under the tree from us."

"Whom do you send presents to?"

"Oh, everybody that's been good...to us. We like to show our appreciation to everybody that gives their little bit to make N.D. great."

He got up and reached into a box, and put something on the desk between us. Unwrapping it, he said "Take this little item for instance. We send these to the alumni." On the desk before us was a ceramic model of the manger scene, replete with wise men and sheep. I also noticed a small slot on the top of Joseph's head and picking it up, it felt hollow.

"What is it?" I asked.

"Holy Family piggy banks," he said gleefully. "The alumni fill them up with money and then send them back to us. See, we put a little note in that says they can only be opened by a member of the clergy, y'know, sacred statuary and all that. Then we keep the money because no one would dare ask for money from a priest." He clapped his hands joyfully. "Isn't giving fun?"

"As if we don't give them enough already," he muttered sullenly. "Yes, they get gifts." He reached into another box and pulled out a doll—sized figure. Upon closer examination I saw it was dressed as a priest which looked vaguely like Father Ted. It also had one of those pull rings attached to its side. Cheering up, the official handed it to me.

"Here, give it a pull." With a wary look, I accepted it and drew the string out, then let it go. In a scratchy recorded voice the doll said, "No kegs allowed on campus! Don't have sex! Go to Mass!"

"What is this?" I demanded, slightly shocked.

"What do you mean? You don't like it? It's so the students know we're thinking of them over the Christmas holidays. Everytime they get lonely for N.D. all they have to do is pick up their Talking Ted and pull the string. They'll be right back at home." He looked at me with a puzzled expression.

"That's o.k., you don't have to send me one." I replied. "What else are you sending?"

"Well, for Gerry and the football team, we've gotten an extra special surprise." He reached under the desk and pulled out a large stack of papers and plunked them on the desk. He did this several times until the top was covered by foot high piles of paper. I picked a sheet up and saw it was a release about the next year's football season.

"I don't get it. What's all this?" I asked.

"Hype," he answered with a twinkle in his eye. "We're giving Coach Faust more pressure next year than he ever dreamed of. We're releasing these bulletins starting Christmas day. They contain all sorts of rumors about him being dismissed, how well we're going to do next year, why we didn't do well this year. It should do him lots of good. He'll love it." Great I thought to myself. "And for the guys on the team, we've got something too." He pulled out one of those Budweiser season schedules for 1982. On it two of the opponents had been taped over and the Washington Redskins and New York Giants had been written in.

"We think they need a little bit more of a challenge. They probably didn't do well this year because they weren't playing worthy opponents. We're also trying to schedule exhibition games against a team made up of wild animals; y'know, bears, tigers, elephants, poisonous snakes. It'll be good publicity to show how tough we are. We'll have it in the stadium, charge a couple of bucks to get in and give it to charity. It won't really be football, but boy will be exciting!" His eyes shone with Christmas spirit.

"Thank you very much," I said getting up to leave. This was a very interesting talk. I made for the door as quickly as possible.

"Wait!" he shrieked, jumping up. "You won't tell anybody will you? This has to be a surprise! Giving gifts has to be unexpected!"

"I won't tell," I promised.

... Films

continued from page 10

True Confessions An erratic and visually dull creation by Ulu Grosbard. DeNiro and Duvall are unable to salvage a lifeless script.

Wolfen Many felt Michael Wadleigh's urban horror film represented a new twist on the Friday the 13th genre. They were wrong. Buried My Heart at Wounded Knee meets The Werewolf.

Notable events of 1981:

Francis Ford Coppola's restoration and release of Abel Gance's Napoleon surely represents the cinematic event of the year. The surprising success of this venture bodes well for similar enterprises in the future.

The re-release of Martin Scorsese's New York, New York played to much acclaim in at least one town. An underrated box office disaster finally garners some recognition.

Michael Cimino's Heaven's Gate proved to be the biggest financial debacle in Hollywood history. Cimino's success with The Deer Hunter propagated this excessive film, reputed to have lost close to $25 million. As a result the studios are now reasserting control over film productions.

Holiday Fare

The Christmas season has traditionally provided for the release of a large number of films hoping to snag some of those shopping dollars. Treat yourself to one or more of the following films over breakfast.

My Dinner With Andre Louis Malle films an hour and a half dinner conversation between a playwright and a stage director. Have faith in Malle - it can't be as boring as it sounds.

One from the Heart Francis Ford Coppola promises a new art form: "electronic cinema." Based on Coppola's track record (The Godfather, The Conversation, Apocalypse Now) one is almost tempted to believe him.

Reds Warren Beatty's ambitious treatment of socialist newspaperman John Reed's life has already opened in many parts of the country. The success or failure of this film may dictate the future of intelligent American cinema.

A FINAL PREDICTION: Prince of the City and Reds will divvy up the majority of this year's Academy Awards next April. Atlantic City may or may not surprise.

(The writer wishes to acknowledge the imperious opinions of Prof. J. Duffy, Dennis Chalifour, and John Mulligan in association with the preceding article.)

The Features Department

Wishes all

Merry Christmas!

Classifieds

Friday, December 11, 1981 — page 12

NOTICES

USED BOOK SHOP HOURS WED., SAT. SUN. 9-7 CASPERSON, 1303 BUCHANAN RD. NILES.

USED & OUT-PRINT BOOKS bought, sold, searched ERASMUS BOOKS. Tues-Sunday, 12-6 1027 E. Wayne (One block south of Eddy - Jefferson intersection)

Watch for The Society for Creative Anacronism right after Christmas break!

ATTENTION ALUMS & CHICAGO BOUND STUDENTS: The Notre Dame Club of Chicago will sponsor their annual Christmas Mass and Brunch on Dec. 13, 1981 at 11am. Mass will be held at St. Michael's Parish in Old Town. Brunch will follow at 12:30 at the Ambassador West Hotel. Please contact JoAnn at the N.D. Club office at 312-263-6063 for reservations.

Need ride to Oklahoma? Leave AM 18th or 19th in 7-passenger van for Tulsa and Oklahoma City areas. $25.00. Call 277-3293.

ATTENTION ALL ST. LOUISANS: Your St. Louis Club is hosting its Christmas Break RIDER LINE!!!! If you need a ride or riders, call Sharon at 6553. Good luck on your finals!

looking for a ride? WILSON DRIVEAWAY has cars. One-way transportation Your cost is gas & tolls (deposit required) call BOB x3185.

Observer Party this Saturday!! Stop up to the office for details and your tickets.

OKLAHOMA
I need one rider for break. $50 round trip. Call Kevin at 234-9709.

LOST/FOUND

LOST: ND CLASS RING OUTSIDE SENIOR BAR FRIDAY NIGHT. NAME INSIDE IF FOUND. PLEASE CALL PHIL PERKINS AT 8338.

LOST: TI-58 CALCULATOR YOU CAN'T MISS IT. CRACKED DISPLAY. IF FOUND PLEASE CALL 277-7794 MY CAREER AS AN ENGINEER DEPENDS ON.

LOST: N.D. CLASS RING. Tuesday morning in the 2nd floor men's room of the admin bldg. Quarter palladium, green, round-faced stone, S.G. Miller, '81-'82 engraved on inside. My mother will kill me if I go home for Christmas without it! If found, please save me by calling Steve at 233-4381 or 232-5352.

LOST: GOLD IRISH CLADDAR RING, i.e. HEART, TWO HANDS AND CROWN ON IT. 14K GOLD. REWARD IF FOUND. PLEASE CALL 5265 SMC LAURA.

LOST: YELLOW PHYSICS NOTEBOOK, IN C LINE. PLEASE CALL JIM AT 3274 OR BRING TO 216 KEENAN. HELP!!!

LOST: 12/9 LADIES GOLD BENRUS QUARTZ WATCH SOMEWHERE BETWEEN ACC & NORTH DINING HALL. REWARD IF FOUND. CALL 7126.

LOST: TI-55 calculator in Cushing Hall, room 209 between 9:00 and 10:00 classes last week. There was an Emil Periodic Table inside the case. I badly need it for finals. Please call Joe at 1427. Reward.

FOR RENT

FOR NEXT SEMESTER HOUSE AND APARTMENTS 234-2626

N.D. Ave Apts has furnished apts. available. Call 234-6647

Available second semester, completely furnished, comfortable house, close to campus, rooms for 1 to 6 people. $500 semester plus utilities. Call 288-3942 after 5:30.

CLEAN 2-BEDROOM MOBILE HOME FOR RENT. 2 MILES NORTH OF ND $270 PER MONTH. LANDLORD PAYS ALL UTILITIES. 272-0116

ROOMMATE WANTED - completely furnished apt. kitchen, bar, cable. call Dave at 283-1169

Share House furnished, good neighborhood. $100/mo and 1/3util. 287-0356

Furn Efficiency $100 month also 1&2 Bed Apts Close to N.D. & town call 255850

WANTED

Need ride to Cleveland for Xmas. Please call John at 8450

Ride needed to Pittsburgh/Wheeling area for Christmas. Can leave Tuesday night or Wednesday. Call Scott at 6931

Need ride to ATLANTA for Christmas. Can leave Wednesday afternoon. Call Dave at 6931

I need a ride to and from the Philadelphia-Allentown, PA-South Jersey-Delaware (you get the idea) area for Christmas break. I can leave Thursday night, December 17, around 6:15 p.m. and can share expenses. Call Tim at 1536

Need a ride to and from Northern N.J. for Christmas break. Right off Route 80. Can leave Saturday morning. Call Mike 1181.

FOURTH FEMALE ROOMMATE NEEDED FOR TWO BEDROOM CAMPUS VIEW APARTMENT CALL 272-1661

TWO ROOMMATES NEEDED FOR HOUSE ON NOTRE DAME AVENUE CALL 232-8301

Ride needed to and from Tampa, Florida for Christmas. Will share expenses and driving. Help Please. TONY 3079 or 3070.

HOUSEMATE WANTED OWN ROOM-100/MO & UTIL. CALL 289-5964 AFTER 5PM

Need ride to and from ATLANTA for Xmas break. Can leave EARLY on DEC. 15 or later. Will share usual. Call Cathy at 4-14424.

WANTED: RIDE TO EAST PA ON I 80 FOR XMAS CALL 1820

Need a ride to CLEVELAND for xmas call Dennis 3452

Need a Ride to Syracuse. Bing area. Anytime after Thursday 17th. Will pay the usual. Call Meg at 6926

Need ride to D.C., Virginia area for Christmas break. Can leave Friday evening. Please call Henry at 1132

STORAGE WANTED: I need to rent a garage or parking space for car over winter. Must be a sheltered space. Call Jack Keitel at 6986 before 16 Dec 81

I need a ride to and from Long Island, NY. Can leave late afternoon of Dec. 18-CALL CHUCK at 8920 Thanks!

RIDE WANTED TO NORTHERN NEW JERSEY (RT 80) ON FRI. 12/18 WILL SHARE USUAL. CALL JACK 277-1185

NEED RIDERS to Terre Haute, IN. Fri., Dec. 18th. Call Joe 1697

NEED A RIDE TO FLORIDA ANYWHERE AROUND THE JACKSONVILLE-DAYTONA AREA FOR CHRISTMAS BREAK. WILL SHARE USUAL. CALL GREG-8222

HELP NEED RIDE TO NORTH JERSEY, anywhere off I-80. Can leave on Thursday night 12/17. Call TOM at 2187

NEED RIDE TO SAN ANTONIO OR ANY MAJOR TEXAS CITY. CALL JOHN AT x1605

FLORIDA RIDERS 287-7157

I NEED RIDE FOR XMAS BREAK TO EITHER NEW YORK CITY, PHILLY OR BALTIMORE D.C. AREA. CAN LEAVE 12/19 WILL SHARE USUAL. CALL WILL AT 8635.

Need ride to BOSTON-To leave between Wed/Nite & Fri.Noon-Have Music- Gib-1628

RIDERS needed to COLUMBUS,OH. for break. Call Mike 288-9892

DESPERATELY NEED RIDE TO CONNECTICUT OR NEARBY FOR XMAS BREAK. CAN LEAVE ON THURS. NITE WILL SHARE USUAL. CALL DOUG AT 8310.

HELP!!! URGENT!!!! TWO guys NEED ride to NJ/NYC/PHIL area for X-MAS. CAN leave FRIDAY. CALL 6802!!!!

RIDERS needed to COLUMBUS,OH. for break. Call Mike 288-9892

DESPERATELY NEED RIDE TO CONNECTICUT OR NEARBY FOR XMAS BREAK. CAN LEAVE ON THURS. NITE WILL SHARE USUAL. CALL DOUG AT 8310.

HELP!!! URGENT!!!! TWO guys NEED ride to NJ/NYC/PHIL area for X-MAS. CAN leave FRIDAY. CALL 6802!!!!

RIDE NEEDED TO BALTIMORE-ANNAPOLIS-WASHINGTON AREA. CAN LEAVE THURSDAY-WILL SHARE ALL COSTS. CALL DAVE 232-3181

RIDE Needed to anywhere near Binghamton N.Y. or Scranton,PA. Will share all usuals. Call Ed at 8886

Need ride to east Pa. for Christmas break. Along I-80 to Danville. Call Dean 8643

RIDE NEEDED TO PENNSYLVANIA-CENTRAL ANYWHERE BETWEEN EX-ITS 12 AND 19 ON PENN TURNPIKE-WILL SHARE USUAL. CALL ED AT 8904 ANYTIME

FOR SALE

SURPLUS JEEP. Value $3196. sold for $44. Call 312-742-1143 ext. 7316 for info. on how to purchase bargains like this!

FOR SALE: 75 watt stereo receiver with equalizer, tape deck, and pair of speakers. Call Cecil Rucker at 8223

ROE FOR SALE: UNITED AIRLINE TICKET FROM LOS ANGELES TO SOUTH BEND ON JAN. 11. ONLY $160! CALL FRANCES AT 283-4233

LOOKING FOR THE PERFECT X-MAS GIFT FOR YOUR PARENTS OR FAMILY? CALL JIM AT 3282

76 FORD MUSTANG II, yellow, am/fm stereo, gd. cond. $1800/price neg. Peter x8603, after 11:00

TICKETS

Two Foreigner tickets for sale. Bleacher seats. Call 272-6802 after 11 p.m.

NORTHERN ILL. TIX 3793

PERSONALS

I don't really do this too often, but I feel that I have come of age. I would like to thank all of my dear photographers for a fun, successful, and generally fascinating experience this semester. I would like to specifically thank Rudy, Rachel, Cheryl, Tom, Linda, Dave, Nick, Chris, Greg, Beth, Susan, Gonzalo, Tonia, Carrie, and Carl. Thanks for all of your hard work and patience with my incurable insanity (sorry folks). Merry Christmas to you. Now, for everyone else I know..... Doug and Gabe, it's going to be real strange not having you guys in my classes next semester. I mean, after three and a half years.... I hope we can still get together to party. California here we come, huh Doug. Ann, I am sorry if I act like I don't believe in your plans, but I really think you can do it. I'm not a sexist. More power to you. Peggy, I hope you are here with us next semester, and maybe even next year. Your the sweetest quiet person I've ever met. Dr. Miller, Dr. Pasto, and Dr. Bottel, thanks for your time and help. To all the people at that crazy place called THE OBSERVER: John, Mike, Kelly, Dave, Mike, Monica, Lisa, Suzanne, Dierdre, Maura, Skip, Greg, Tony, Rich, Joe, Tom, Tim, Paul, and all you peeps, especially Bruce, Merry Christmas and a partying New Year. Now to all the people with whom I come in contact with here at N.D., those with whom I share classes, meals, parties, and whatever. Merriest Christmas to all. Now, this is going to sound trite, but it is sincere.....May that peace that has eternally been associated with Christmas find its way into all of your hearts.

The Photographer (JEM)

Tom Brady,
Roses are red
Christmas lights are shocking
It sure would be nice
Finding you in my stocking

Bif's Angel

David,
Roses are red
White is the snow
Save me a kiss
Under the mistletoe

Cathy

Bruce,
Make sure you get that gift for yourself which you so richly deserve. No guts, no glory-GO FOR IT. Have a very Merry Christmas.

Love, Monica

John,
May you fill up on all sorts of good things this Christmas like PDA, alcohol, and your weird practices. (This is meant for McGrath, you couldn't be so lucky Macor!) Merry Christmas, John!

Love, Monica

Monk (alias Prod)
For your Christmas present I hope you get a REAL girl, not just that one which is a figment of your imagination. Come on we all know there is no such person as Jennifer - she sounds much too good for you. However I hope you have a great Christmas. I look forward to a lot of stalking tomorrow night. Thanks for all your support this semester.

Love, Monica

Patty,
It's been one semester without you and ITS BEEN HELL! Get out of the Iron City and come back here where you're really needed. Hope your finals went well. Can't wait to show you a certain pic! Merry Christmas.

Love, Monica

Ruth-Hop in the car with Hullely, we need you too!!!

Sally,
Thanks for the choicest Christmas present I've gotten in a long time. Too bad it couldn't be delivered PERSONALLY. Hope you have a great Christmas in St. Joe and that your new year is PRIME.

Love, Monica

Missy and Marianne,
It's been great this semester. I think we'll have to get together with some people to test our theory on "ways to swim faster" Merry Christmas to both of you

Love, Monica

Lady Di Schunk,
Merry Christmas!!!!

Your happy ham

Orti Say By

To Ed K.
The man with more mail boxes than the post office and more titles than the library. Keep filing, keep writing and keep in touch

Orti

MAC
Try to have a Merry Christmas, even if you do have to spend it in this God-forsaken town. But then, you Hoosiers don't mind this white stuff. Take care and keep in touch. I'm not leaving the country just yet

Orti

PROTECT YOUR CAR Cover it with a durable canvas cover for less than list price! Call Bob Findling at 1463.

DESPERATELY NEED RIDE TO Cincinnati ON SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19. IF YOU'VE GOT ROOM CALL Jim AT 1026.

From LONDON. Handsome GREEK strikes again! To the greatest girl in the whole world, a MARRY XMAS!! Lots of love PAR

ME

Welcome back and Merry Christmas!

J

Mary, Katie, and Sue,
We definitely have to get together on another quarters game. After all a certain statue is in need of a new costume. Have a great Christmas and Happy New Year.

Love, Monica

P.S. Katie-try and remember where you live while you're home. I'd hate to think you would spend Christmas with the wrong family!

Due to space limitations I'll have to mention numerous illustrious friends together in this personal

Shari - a new package of morals, the old one is wearing out

Lori - a boyfriend with a REAL name

Kathy - A BAG New Year that you'll remember!

Amy Jo - Your present will be delivered to the ND campus next semester - PREPARE

Cheryl - More branching out! You're doing good so far

Fitz - Not to be a fag

Dennis - Some real roommates

Jeff - To be a real roommate

Dan - I have a feeling you already got your present - from someone else

Andy - a REAL major with at least one final

My final Christmas wish is for those two dear people who live with me:

Amy and Julie.

It's been a great semester. The story hours, Midnight jam sessions, and general weird happenings have kept the time fun. Look forward to more of the same. Merry Christmas to both of you. I hope you get EVERYTHING you want, you deserve it.

Love, Monica

P.S. I know - sappy!

NLS,
Three months! This is ABSOLUTELY a record!

MAS

To our MGGOC, THOMAS JAMES (CY),
Hope you have a HAPPY BIRTHDAY--we don't see how you can without us! Have a great break too, and have faith - WE'LL RETURN!!!

Your Fan Club

K & D

SPECS,
It's that time again-Finals and your BIRTHDAY!!! Hang in there, it's almost over. You'll soon be home and then - GO WILD!!! HAPPY BIRTHDAY!!!!!!!

We Love You,

K, DD, Mup, Pam, and Brenda

Merry Christmas Rich, Bill, Kevin David, Terry, Pierre, Rob, Keggs, Dennis, Tom, and Mike. Good luck on all your finals. Luv Suzanne

Prod
It's not that I don't want it, but do you deserve it?

Design

John,
If you come with another girl tonite, you pay, but if you come alone or with me, it's free

9 to 5

HMWHC - Get a real cause. Real men don't have to brag about their attributes, just look at the guys from Dillon.

Having dates & having fun

On the twelfth day of Christmas, the Iowa Hawkeyes will give their loyal fans:

15 completed passes (by Gordy Bohannon)

14 dozen yards rushing (by Phil Blatcher)

13 solo tackles (by Andre Tippet)

12 bruising blocks (by Bruce Kittle)

11 diving catches (by Ivory Webb)

9 points in field goals (by Tom Nichol)

5 50-yard punts (by Reggie Roby)

4 quarters of great coaching (by Hayden Fry)

3 interception (by Mel Cole)

2 recovered fumbles (by Mark Bortz) and a Rose Bowl victory!

a loyal Hawkeye fan

Paul--
Get a few less real jobs!!!

Dear Tommie Walsh--
The binoculars are working fine. They are even more powerful than I thought. Where did you get that little mole I've noticed on your ...?

Far in distance but close in heart.
THE SECRET ADMIRER

A CHRISTMAS ABUSE PACKAGE

from Cheryl E.
Dave (alias Herbie), I'll be watching for you on the Rudolph special. How bout them ears! Do you really want to be a dentist?

Orti, I hope Santa brings you a years supply of Mr. Bubble. You never know when you'll be in the mood for some good clean fun! John (the one with the uncontrollable drive), May someone watch out for you on your trip home i.e. let someone else drive, unless of course you can redirect your speed and obey the traffic sign. Chris, I hope you get a Christmas tree that doesn't lose its shape when the needles fall. Tom, May Santa bring you relief of your foot fetish so you can move up to bigger and better things. Paul, May Santa take pity on the rest of us and bring you a bar of soap/dirty mouth), a toothbrush and a belt (or at least a pair of pants that stay up by themselves. Mike Monk, May you find the cheerleader of your dreams in your stocking on Christmas morning. Joe, I hope you get a nicotine fit on Christmas and find only candy cigarettes in your stocking! Shirley, Think of the OBSERVER when you reach for ANOTHER drink on New Years Eve. Diane, With the coming of the new year a blizzard of loving abuse will snow you in Skip. Anyone who can't pass Photo I deserves to have a NEGATIVE holiday season. Perhaps you'll DEVELOP some talent next semester or STOP trying Rachel. Merry Christmas to the Co-President of the JOHN MACOR ABUSE CLUB. May Santa bring us more one-liners and a bigger lens to work with TO THE REST OF THE OBSERVER STAFF WHO I DID NOT GIVE ABUSE GIFTS TO. I WISH FOR YOU ONLY A MERRY CHRISTMAS

German Club Happy Hour Today from 4 until 7pm Grace Penthouse

Nancy, Shawn, Helen, and Meg,
Have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! Hope to see all (including number 2 in the above salutation) at Senior Bar next (and Last) semester. Enjoy the Holidays.

Mike and Rich
P.S. You finally got your personal Ms. Sheff. Which one of the Big 8 are you going to choose? P.P.S. Don't cry Meg Tim G., You can't live without SMCs, but they sure as hell can live without you!!

ND's newest organization!!!
The I am a Gook Club.
for more info, call Timothy G. 3698

Merry Christmas and good luck on finals Richard-you'll owe me dinner and a play in Chicago for sure. Don't call me on X-mas to tell me it's 75 and sunny in LA, that's a cold thing to do and it'll be cold enough in Indiana without that. I'll call and warm up your day instead. Take Care. Love always Cheryl

Rudy, this personal is good for one free professional backrub, even if your back doesn't hurt. Merry Christmas. love Cheryl

Veronica,
I hope your sculpture turns out well. Have a Merry Christmas and don't get too uptight about finals.

G.J.,
One semester is just about Done. You'll return to NY and I to the Sun. Remember however:
A rose will always be a Rose,
If the key remains Auxiliary!
AGAIN, I will say that day One - For me has still only Begun.
So over Xmas, send me a line or give me a Buzz.
Cuz a better GA than you - there never was!

PLUTO
We'd like to get to know some he-men. Where can we sign up for the HMWHC? The ND Fraternity of Gay Males

Carrie,
The term for you is "socially spaced" that at times I wonder if your popcorn has been laced!

But you a good chica - though at times you need a cue. So to Siberia is where I've decided to send you!

Have a great Xmas - Relax and give my love to Mom and Dad!

Guess Who?

CONGRATULATIONS D&H!!
Your engagement is a fine thing. But just remember, when Junior comes along and asks why he is going bald, you'll have to tell him that his uncle is not totally out of the picture.

The Second Great Recession
2000 miles away, but getting closer every day.
a little gift girl, at home soon I'll be there, no longer a care for a time away from the Dome
9 more days til I see her again

Boy, what some people will do to win the good graces of people from California. Dorene has a strange misconception about her High School, but what do you expect from a SMC chick, right guys? But I'm glad we had such a great semester, and I better get to see you some time over break if you know what's good for you! Stay on the plane till you land - have a great Xmas and a Happy New One!!!

Here's to a great gal who runs around playing her flute-o-phone and has her roomie give me the third degree over the phone. It's gregreat to have a related roomie, isn't it (hic) ?! Don't lose the tickets, Marcia, and have a great christmas!!!!

see you on de-plane

This semester I met a really nice young farmer's daughter type who I came to appreciate quite a lot. A super friend and someone who I've had to protect from certain undesirable literary elements, so no names. Say Hi to Phyllis for me when y'all get home. I'll mail you some sunshine (Ho Ho Ho) - see you - Jim

P.S. Just for you, my Best Xmas Joke Ever!

Q: what do Santa Claus and a Little White Mouse have in common?
A: they both have Long White Beards, except for the Mouse!!

a good one, eh?

General Hospital is a program for general lunatics.
Hi Orti!

To all features writers:
I would like to thank Paul Kosidowski and all the other writers who I have had the pleasure to meet and work with. May your Christmas be grand and I hope to see all of you next year

Gregory Swiercz

LITTLE RED-HAIRED GIRL
My life is going to change drastically when you're gone. You see, I've grown accustomed to your face (Yes another ambiguous song) Don't you fret. This is just the beginning. Have yourself a Merry little Christmas.

Love,
Greg

Quard,
Did you know the last time a sports editor left the job at the official end of his or her tenure was Mark Perry in April, 1980? Well, there are only 14 more editions of Irish Items to grace our pages. You'd better start grooming a successor.

Good luck in the future. We both know you'll go far. Merry Christmas to the all-American couple.

Orti
P.S. May K.C.'s lack of a Sunshine Band fill your bucket with happiness.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS:
Orti-get a clue. Dekalb bag!
John-get a life. Sure-Born Lightweight!
Spike-get a town. Boston Brew-Buddy!
Jay-get a major
Frank-uh huh, sure, yeah, right.
Joe-Who is Joe Howard?
Joe-Who is Joe Howard's roommate?
Tim-are those ears really yours?
James-get a humidifier
Dave T-sink clogged?
Brian P-remember Pearl Harbor
Dave-get a state. Sunshine Stud
Brian-late night bed wetting
Craig & Fran-twin sons of Spiman's mother

Spilman-$$!(?!&?)?! Pauline. RETURN MY SOAP!
Dave-take a shower, huh, please?
Javi-I have to kiss my mother...
Mike P-How far away IS that Golf Course?
Conley-Pulled any good boners lately?
Rod-get one
Kary-get (snort!) a real calc (snort!) prof (snort!) (snort!)
Jerry-where do you stick all that Mazola that you rip off from the dining hall?
MERRY CHRISTMAS, CAVANAUGH 1 B

(you too, mooch)
signed, GOOD KID

CONGRATULATIONS JPK!
CLASS OF 81 1/2 AIN'T 1/2 BAD LOVE.

STETZ,
How about my last fling...
love, your little Magnolia Blossom
P.S. No Camaro, but you're still invited to visit me at Tara

ASSOCIATE WITH US !! INFORMATION ABOUT THE HOLY CROSS ASSOCIATES VOLUNTEER PROGRAM AVAILABLE IN VOLUNTEER SERVICES OFFICE, 1.5 LAFORTUNE CONSID

Kentucky forward Derrick Hord (32) is one of the many star players the Irish will be facing on their Christmas road swing. ND faces Kentucky on Dec. 29 (AP Photo)

continued from page 20

Already this season, the Wildcats have beaten handily Ohio State and Indiana. They still will be without the services of 7-1 center Sam Bowie, who has been sidelined with a fractured shin bone, but they have not seemed to miss his presence thus far.

In Bowie's place, 6-3 guard Dirk Minnifield has become the team leader. The junior was the team's co-MVP last season, when he averaged just under 11 points a game.

Minnifield has a strong corps to lead, as well. Ten lettermen have returned from last year's squad, including standouts Derrick Hord, a 6-6 swingman, forwards Chuck Verderber and Charles Hurt, along with guards Dicky Deal and Jim Master.

From Kentucky, the Irish travel to Kansas City, where they'll take on Missouri at Kemper Arena.

It will be only the second time the two teams have met. The last time the Irish met the Tigers was in the NCAA tournament at Lincoln, Neb., in the spring of 1980. Mizzou eliminated Notre Dame from the tournament that day with an 87-84 overtime win.

The Tigers return seven lettermen, with top players at each of the three positions. 6-5 forward Ricky Frazier averaged over 16 points per game last season, but he'll be challenged by Mark Dressler, the 6-6 junior who singlehandedly dismantled the Irish in Lincoln. Dressler missed the entire season last year with a knee injury, but is healthy now, and probably will start.

Steve Stepanovich is the Tigers' big man on the boards. The 6-11 center averaged well over seven rebounds a game last year, and will be a force with which to contend underneath.

From Kansas City the Irish travel east for games with LaSalle in the Philadelphia Palestra and Virginia in Maryland's Capital Centre.

LaSalle lost four starters from last season's squad, and will go with less-experienced players in a rebuilding attempt by Coach Lefty Ervin.

7-1 center Tom Piotrowski is the block on which Ervin is building his team. The junior averaged just under eight points per game last season, and was a tough rebounder. He is the only returnee from last year's starting lineup that went 14-13.

After the Monday night game in Philadelphia, Notre Dame will take on Virginia's Cavaliers in the second half of a home/neutral and home/neutral series.

Last year's game was a classic, as Orlando Woolridge hit a 10-footer with time running out, and the Irish upset the unbeaten and top-ranked Cavaliers.

The story of this team is, of course, Ralph Sampson. The 7-4 center could be the best player in the college game today.

Gone are Jeff Lamp and Lee Raker, prime forces in the Cavaliers' Final Four entry of a year ago. But Othell Wilson, a 6-0 guard, and Jeff Jones, his 6-4 backcourt mate, are coming into their own. Both men averaged over six points per game last year, despite the presence of Raker.

The five-game trip winds up on the west coast, where the Irish take on one of the country's most underrated teams, the San Francisco Dons. Coach Pete Barry returns four starters, including Quintin Dailey, one of the nation's best guards. Dailey, who averages just under 23 points per game, teams in the backcourt with senior captain Ken McAlister, himself an 11 points per game scorer.

Up front, the Dons are led by a couple of Gary, Ind., products. Wallace Bryant, a 7-0 center, is one of the top rebounders in the country, pulling in 10 per game. John Hegwood, like Bryant, a 16 point per game scorer, pulls down eight rebounds per contest himself.

All in all, it will be a tough road for Notre Dame. As Phelps says, it is quite probably the toughest road trip of his career here, and could well be the toughest trip any team takes this season.

WIN A LAW SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIP!

Enter the 1982 National Collegiate Oratory Competition

Sponsored by

THE THOMAS M. COOLEY LAW SCHOOL

Write and deliver from memory a 10-minute original speech defending your position on one of these topics:

- STRIKING PUBLIC EMPLOYEES: Banish them or bargain with them?
- CASINO GAMBLING: Boost to the economy or invitation to the underworld?
- NUCLEAR POWER: A boon to mankind or a threat to our children?
- USURY: Anachronism or extortion?
- PORNOGRAPHY: Legitimate business or licentious blight?

Speeches will be judged first in manuscript form, then in an oral audition, and finally before a live audience and a panel of Michigan court judges.

One overall winner receives a full tuition scholarship to the Thomas M. Cooley Law School. Two runners-up each receive half tuition scholarships, and three semi-finalists receive individual $1000 tuition grants. Total value of prizes exceeds $20,000.

To be eligible you must be an undergraduate student currently enrolled in an accredited four-year college or university. Deadline for manuscript entries is March 1, 1982. For information and competition rules, fill out the form below and send it in today.

Please send me information and rules for the 1982 Thomas M. Cooley Law School National Collegiate Oratory Competition. I understand there are no entry fees or other financial obligations.

Name _____
 Address _____
 City _____ State _____ Zip _____
 College or University _____

Send to Oratory Competition, Thomas M. Cooley Law School, P.O. Box 13038, Lansing, Michigan 48901.

NOW
BIG BUS
 TO...
O'HARE-MIDWAY SPECIAL
$25 ROUND TRIP
6 TRIPS DAILY
 Ask Your Travel Agent
 For The Big Bus To O'Hare
Or Call 234-3108
 Indiana Motor Bus

flowers and gifts for all occasions
 Come in and browse.

Lant Floral Co.
 327 Lincolnway

Brawls abound

Icers lose to N. Mich., refs

By RICK CHRYST and CHRIS NEEDLES
Sports Writers

MARQUETTE, Mich. — As if the Notre Dame hockey team didn't have enough to worry about in facing second-place Northern Michigan here last night, the Irish also had to overcome some shoddy "homer" officiating.

It proved to be too much of a burden. Notre Dame battled hard, despite losing three players to disqualification and killing off 11 out of 12 shorthanded situations, but dropped a 3-2 decision to Northern Michigan in a penalty-filled contest before 2,358 at Lakeview Arena.

How bad was the officiating? "We were deeply concerned when we joined the CCHA," said an infuriated Notre Dame Coach Lefty Smith, "about their officiating standards. They were suspect in the fact that they often use local referees.

"Tonight, we had a local man (the head referee was a Marquette resident), and he was extremely incompetent."

The bulk of the penalties came in the second period, which was highlighted by a five-minute-long fight between Notre Dame's John Higgins and UNM's Jeff Tascoff. Both players were ejected from the game at the 11:38 mark, but Higgins was given the greater amount of penalties. The junior right winger received 17 minutes of penalties for high sticking, intent to injure, fighting and grabbing the face mask, while Tascoff received only the major for fighting.

But the ousters were not over by any means. With 26 seconds left in the middle period, Notre Dame's John Schmidt was pinned to the ice by the Wildcats' Charlie Lundeen, who wouldn't let the Irish defenseman get to his feet. As so often happens, the referee saw only the retaliation, which was unfortunate for Schmidt.

Out of frustration, Schmidt stepped on Lundeen, and was ejected immediately and given a five-minute major penalty for kicking.

In all, the Irish were shorthanded for an incredible 17:03 straight in the second and third periods, but the Wildcats were able to score only one goal in that time period.

But that one goal, by UNM's Bill Schafhauser, proved to be the back-breaker. It came with only 10 seconds remaining in the second period, the Wildcats' third goal of the wild stanza, and put the Irish behind 3-1 after two periods. UNM tallied two goals in the first 2:26 of the period, before any of the fireworks erupted, with Schafhauser and Dave Mogush lighting the lamp. For Mogush, it was his league-leading 22nd goal of the season.

Freshman Brent Chapman scored for the Irish with 7:12 left in the game, after ND finally had regained full strength, to make it 3-2. But, lo and behold, just as the Irish were about to make their final push, ND defenseman Rob Ricci was nabbed for slashing to end the threat.

But the clincher, the one bad call that especially set Smith on fire, was the disqualification of Bill Rothstein with 53 seconds left for spearing, Notre Dame's third dismissal of the evening. As a result, all three players — Higgins, Schmidt and Rothstein — must sit out tonight's rematch.

Smith was well aware that his post-game tirade might not sit well with CCHA officials. "I know I'm not supposed to say these type of things," Smith said. "But there comes a time when something has to be said — the officiating was incompetent."

Unlike the referees, the goaltenders sparked in the heated contest. Notre Dame's Dave Laurion tallied 37 saves, including all 20 of UNM's shots in the third period. The Wildcats' Bruno Campese stopped 24 Irish shots in upping his unblemished record to 8-0-0.

Despite the defeat and the recurring nemesis of a breakdown in the second period, Smith was pleased with the effort. "I have to say," he commented, "that I've never been prouder of a group of guys than I was of our team tonight."

The same, it is certain, was not said of the refs.

IRISH ICERS: Rothstein scored Notre Dame's first goal at 6:18 of the middle period, tipping in a slap shot by Jim Brown to close the Irish with in 2-1 A total of 64 minutes in penalties were called, 45 of those against ND . . . The same two teams go at it again tonight at 8:00.

WINTER WELCOME WEEK '82
Start your semester out right

All week:
Snow Football
Coed teams of 6

January 14:
Tubing at Bendix
No charge, transportation provided

Sign up now with the Student Union secretary.
Deadline is Dec. 14

Any questions, contact Steve 7757 or 1748

NICKIE'S
928 NORTH EDDY STREET
234-4959

TAKE A STUDY BREAK

HAPPY HOUR-- 4-7 PM
MIXED DRINKS & DRAFTS
TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE

AFTER 6 PM TRY OUR HOMEMADE PAN PIZZA
BRING IN THIS AD
.50 OFF ANY PIZZA
FREE DELIVERY

DAILY LUNCHEON SPECIALS
SOUP AND SANDWICH $2.00

Off-Campus XMas Break
Storage in Stepan Center
Dec. 14, 15, 16 2-4 pm

The University will not be liable for property stored.

Other storage areas available in your own neighborhood. Call a neighbor or the the N.E.
Neighborhood Association.

Don't forget to lock up before leaving.

O.C. Commission

Some old-fashioned reasons to spend the holidays at our house.

Marvel at old-fashioned decorations from our special house decorating contest.

See a spectacular gingerbread house created by Chef Ray.

Help us make this Christmas special for everyone by contributing at Tippecanoe Place to the Marines' Toys for Tots program.

See our fabulous Christmas tree in the Grand Hall beautifully decorated by community groups.

So start a new tradition for your family this season. Come home to Tippecanoe Place for the holidays.

Special Holiday Events This Week

Fri., Dec. 11 through Fri., Dec. 24
Wassail Bowl in the Grand Hall. Join us in a toast to a happy and healthy holiday season. Free to the public.

Sat., Dec. 12 10 a.m.-1 p.m.
Muscular Dystrophy Charity Tour and Awards Presentation. $2 ticket. Coffee and cake. Informal modeling from Hudson's. Florist demonstrations in various rooms.

Tues., Dec. 15, 1-3 p.m.
Chef Ray Bertschy demonstrates how to prepare an old-fashioned Christmas dinner. Recipes will be given. Class is free, but limited to 15. Sign up now.

Need a gift idea? Give a gift certificate from Tippecanoe.

Be sure to look for this ad announcing our weekly events of the season.

620 W. Washington, South Bend, 234-9077
Reservations available.

THIS PRICE IS WORTH A CLOSE EXAMINATION.

All by itself, $49 is a great price of a complete pair of glasses. With NuVision behind it, it's even better, because NuVision gives you so much more than just a pair of glasses. Examine these facts, and you'll see what we mean:

At NuVision, when we say "complete," we mean your choice of single vision, bifocal, or trifocal clear glass lenses. Whichever ones you need will be prepared for you in NuVision's own precision laboratory under strict quality controls. Then, when your glasses are ready, they will be checked again for accuracy by one of NuVision's trained personnel.

As for the frames — we offer a wide, select group, not just a choice of one or two. These are the latest in fashion frames, with styles for every member of the family.

NuVision care and service have been outstanding for a long time, which is why so many thousands of people come to us for glasses. They know that, wherever they have their eyes examined, their prescription belongs to them to have filled wherever they think best. And they think NuVision is best.

At NuVision, we are dedicated to quality eye care. Whatever you buy from us comes with a money-back guarantee, which is one more reason you can approach our $49 price with confidence. $49 for a complete pair of glasses. There's a lot behind it. Look into it.

And that's not all. Right now...

$35 FOR SOFT CONTACT LENSES.

It's for a limited time only, so if you prefer Contact Lenses, don't delay. These are Bausch & Lomb, don't delay. These are Bausch & Lomb Spherical Soft Contact Lenses, and the price includes NuVision's Introductory Care Kit and 30-day Trial Wearing Plan with Money-Back Guarantee.

For outstanding eye care...$49 for eyeglasses...and $35 contact lenses....

256-1864

McKinley Town & Country
Mishawaka

324-3123

919 Bendix Dr.
South Bend

277-2281

University Commons
South Bend

936-5012

Plymouth Center
Plymouth

TRUST YOUR EYES TO

NuVision®

You Can Charge It

Football 1981 - The Final Chapter

Final Irish statistics

TEAM STATISTICS	ND	OPP	PASSING	G	NO	CO	PCT	INT	YDS	TD
TOTAL OFFENSE YARDS	3609	3228	Kiel	11	151	67	44.4	10	936	7
Total Plays	743	750	Koegel	10	92	50	54.3	4	686	5
Yards per Play	4.9	4.3	Condani	3	1	1	100.0	0	4	0
Yards per Game	328.1	293.5	Bell	11	1	1	100.0	0	1	0
PENALTIES-YARDS	59-584	51-473	Grooms	2	3	0	0.00	0	0	0
FUMBLES-LOST	18-6	25-10	Hunter	11	1	0	0.00	1	0	0
Yards Returned	0	0	Howard	10	1	0	0.00	0	0	0
TOTAL FIRST DOWNS	177	162	Mosley	9	1	1	100.0	0	-3	0
By Rushing	96	100
By Passing	71	48
By Penalty	10	14
THIRD DOWNS-CONV	158-46	176-43
Percentage	291	244
POSSESSION TIME	33:46	32:14
Minutes per Game	30:21	29:39

RUSHING	G	NO	YDS	AVG	TD	LG
Carter	10	165	727	4.4	6	43
Bell	11	92	512	5.6	4	41
Sweeney	10	36	168	4.7	0	13
Smith	7	41	161	3.9	1	22
Brooks	9	24	126	5.2	1	22
Moriarty	10	20	94	4.7	1	18
Mosley	9	16	75	4.7	1	13
Hunter	11	27	68	2.5	1	18
Kiel	11	31	53	1.7	1	31
Adell	6	10	24	2.4	0	8
Swoboda	2	4	21	5.2	0	12
Morris	1	3	20	6.7	0	10
Hilbert	2	2	12	6.0	0	8
Williamson	3	1	6	6.0	0	6
Howard	10	5	4	0.8	1	13
Grooms	2	1	0	0.0	0	0
Koegel	10	14	-66	-4.7	0	7

NOTRE DAME	11	492	2005	4.1	17	43
OPPONENTS	11	507	1829	3.6	12	39

RECEIVING	G	NO	YDS	AVG	TD	LG
Hunter	11	28	387	13.8	2	35
Howard	10	17	463	27.2	3	96
Carter	10	14	57	4.1	0	14
Masztak	6	13	163	12.5	1	33
Bell	11	11	135	12.3	0	24
Sweeney	10	9	124	13.8	1	38
Mosley	9	7	79	11.3	1	15
Condani	3	4	49	12.2	1	21
Boushka	5	3	52	17.3	0	25
Moriarty	10	3	30	10.0	2	20
Brooks	9	3	20	6.7	0	11
Adell	6	2	12	6.0	0	10
Buchanan	9	2	10	5.0	0	6
Kiel	11	2	-2	-1.0	0	1
Mishler	7	1	25	25.0	0	25
Tripp	4	1	10	10.0	1	10

NOTRE DAME	11	120	1614	13.4	12	96
OPPONENTS	11	114	1399	12.3	8	71

INT RET	NO	YDS	AVG	TD	LG
Duerson	2	88	44.0	1	88
Crabbe	2	60	30.0	0	33
Zavagnin	3	27	9.0	0	27
Krimm	2	26	13.0	0	15
Toran	2	3	1.5	0	3
Brown	1	0	0.0	0	0
Johnson	1	0	0.0	0	0

NOTRE DAME	13	204	15.7	1	88
OPPONENTS	15	75	5.0	0	29

PASSING	G	NO	CO	PCT	INT	YDS	TD
Kiel	11	151	67	44.4	10	936	7
Koegel	10	92	50	54.3	4	686	5
Condani	3	1	1	100.0	0	4	0
Bell	11	1	1	100.0	0	1	0
Grooms	2	3	0	0.00	0	0	0
Hunter	11	1	0	0.00	1	0	0
Howard	10	1	0	0.00	0	0	0
Mosley	9	1	1	100.0	0	-3	0

ND	11	251	120	47.8	15	1624	12
OPP	11	243	114	46.9	13	1399	8

DEFENSE	TMTL	YDS	PBU	FR	BK
Crable	167	16-54	3	2	0
Zavagnin	94	6-21	4	0	0
Griffith	63	6-23	5	3	0
Clasby	56	4-14	2	0	0
Duerson	55	3-8	5	0	0
Toran	54	2-9	4	0	0
Marshall	44	9-39	0	1	0
Krimm	38	0-0	7	0	0
Bone	36	0-0	1	0	0
Rudzinski	35	2-13	0	1	0
Autry	30	3-30	2	0	0
Belden	27	6-36	0	0	0
Naylor	26	0-0	0	0	0
Johnson	22	0-0	2	2	0
Gramke	21	2-13	1	0	0
Brown	15	0-0	2	0	0
Gann	12	0-0	0	0	0
Bock	11	0-0	0	0	0
Larkin	10	1-15	0	1	0
Shields	6	0-0	0	0	0
M. Golic	6	0-0	0	0	0
Moriarty	5	0-0	0	0	0
Kramer	5	1-2	0	0	0
M. Carter	5	3-29	0	0	0
Masini	5	0-0	0	0	0
Cichy	4	0-0	1	0	0
Schiro	3	0-0	1	0	1
Liebenstein	3	0-0	0	0	0
Adell	2	0-0	0	0	0
Kieman	2	1-2	0	0	0
Spielmaker	2	0-0	0	0	0
Murphy	1	0-0	0	0	0
Rice	1	0-0	0	0	0
Flood	1	0-0	0	0	0
Mosley	1	0-0	0	0	0
Pozderac	1	0-0	0	0	0

NOTRE DAME	869	65-308	40	10	1
OPPONENTS	813	46-196	29	6	1

PUNT RET	NO	YDS	AVG	TD	LG
Duerson	32	221	6.9	0	23
Krimm	1	5	5.0	0	5
Spielmaker	1	4	4.0	0	4

NOTRE DAME	34	230	6.8	0	23
OPPONENTS	36	213	5.9	0	38

KICKOFF RET	NO	YDS	AVG	TD	LG
Bell	13	371	28.5	1	98
Howard	6	162	27.0	0	56
Duerson	3	75	25.0	0	36
Johnson	1	26	26.0	0	26
Sweeney	1	22	22.0	0	22
Krimm	2	4	2.0	0	3

NOTRE DAME	26	660	25.4	1	98
OPPONENTS	32	627	19.6	0	51

After a No. 3 preseason ranking, Notre Dame dropped a notch after Alabama opened the 1981 campaign with a win over Louisiana State. The following week, the Irish took their turn against LSU and dropped the Tigers to 0-2. That win, coupled with losses by top-ranked Michigan (at Wisconsin) and No. 2 Alabama (against Georgia Tech) and a lackluster performance by third-ranked Oklahoma against Wyoming, propelled the Irish into the top spot. Notre Dame's loss at Michigan in Week 3 quickly pushed Gerry Faust's team downward (to 13th), and the one-point loss at Purdue the following week removed the Irish from the Top 20 for good.

SCORING GTD PA R-PA S FG TP

Oliver	11	0	28-30	0-0	0	6-13	46
Carter	10	6	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	36
Bell	11	5	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	30
Howard	10	4	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	24
Moriarty	10	3	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	18
Hunter	11	3	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	18
Mosley	9	2	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	12
Masztak	6	1	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	6
Kiel	11	1	0-0	0-1	0	0-0	6
Condani	3	1	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	6
Smith	7	1	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	6
Tripp	4	1	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	6
Brooks	9	1	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	6
Sweeney	10	1	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	6
Duerson	11	1	0-0	0-0	0	0-0	6

ND	11	31	28-30	0-1	0	6-13	232
OPP	11	20	14-15	1-5	0	8-14	160

PUNTING G NO YDS AVG LG

Kiel	11	73	2914	39.9	56
Whelan	2	1	44	44.0	44

NOTRE DAME	11	74	2958	40.0	56
OPPONENTS	11	84	3329	39.6	60

Monogram winners

The following is a list of Notre Dame football players who received varsity monograms at last night's awards dinner. Hometowns are in parentheses. A minimum of 30 minutes of varsity playing time during the 1981 season was the sole criterion, except for certain specialty team players.

Seniors
Bernie Adell (Ipswich, Mass.), Tony Belden (Crystal, Minn.), Tom Bock (Hickory Hills, Ill.), Mike Boushka (Wichita, Kan.), Steve Cichy (Fargo, N.D.), Dave Condani (Cincinnati, Ohio), Bob Crable (Cincinnati, Ohio), Joe Gramke (Cincinnati, Ohio), Kevin Griffith (Kettering, Ohio), Larry Kissner (Delray Beach, Fla.), Tim Koegel (Cincinnati, Ohio), Pat Kramer (Colton, Wash.), John Krimm (Columbus, Ohio), Dean Masztak (Toledo, Ohio), Ron Mishler (Metamora, Ill.), Harry Oliver (Cincinnati, Ohio), Phil Pozderac (Garfield Heights, Ohio), John Rice (Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio).

Juniors
Rod Bone (Las Cruces, N.M.), Pete Buchanan (Plymouth, Ind.), Phil Carter (Tacoma, Wash.), Bob Clasby (Milton, Mass.), Dave Duerson (Muncie, Ind.), Randy Ellis (Pearland, Tex.), Mark Fischer (Massillon, Ohio), Tony Hunter (Cincinnati, Ohio), Mike Johnston (Rochester, N.Y.), Neil Maune (Marthasville, Mo.), Larry Moriarty (Santa Barbara, Calif.), John Putzstuck (Arvada, Col.), Joe Rudzinski

(Farmington, Mich.), Jack Shields (Duxbury, Mass.), Mike Shiner (Sunnyvale, Calif.), John Sweeney (Deerfield, Ill.), Tom Thayer (Joliet, Ill.), Mark Zavagnin (Evergreen Park, Ill.).

Sophomores
Jon Autry (Fort Wayne, Ind.), Greg Bell (Columbus, Ohio), Chris Brown (Owensboro, Ky.), Cansel Carter (East St. Louis, Ill.), Mike Kelley (Washfield, Mass.), Blair Kiel (Columbus, Ind.), Tim Marshall (Chicago, Ill.), John Mosley (West Des Moines, Iowa), Rick Naylor (Cincinnati, Ohio), Stacey Toran (Indianapolis, Ind.).

Freshmen
Joe Bars (Farmington, Mich.), Mark Brooks (Cincinnati, Ohio), Mike Gann (Lakewood, Col.), Mike Golic (Willowick, Ohio), Joe Howard (Clinton, Md.), Joe Johnson (Fostoria, Ohio), Kevin Kelly (South Bend, Ind.), Mike Larkin (Cincinnati, Ohio), Chris Smith (Cincinnati, Ohio).

Service Awards
Tom Burger (Farmington, Ohio), Parvez Chand (South Bend, Ind.), John Flood (Tulsa, Okla.), Steve Hilbert (Colorado Springs, Col.), Keith Marrero (New Orleans, La.), Mike Masini (St. Joseph's, Mich.), John Murphy (Grand Rapids, Mich.), Don Pawelski (Evergreen Park, Ill.), Brian Whelan (Savannah, Ga.), Greg Williamson (Langhorne, Pa.), Dan Stone (Seattle, Wash.), Dave Swoboda (Birmingham, Mich.).

Each week The Observer sports staff has matched wits with the nation's handicappers. These will be the final picks of the season. Records listed are results against the spread.

Molarity

Michael Molinelli

Campus

Friday, Dec. 11

- 10 a.m.-4 p.m. — Christmas Sale, hand-crafted pottery by ND art graduate students, O'Shaughnessy Great Hall, all are welcome
- 10 a.m.-10 p.m. — Christmas Sale, arts and crafts benefiting Sr. Marita's Primary Day School, Memorial Library Concourse, all are welcome
- 12:15 p.m. — Meeting, Italian Club, All Italian-speaking professors from ND/SMC invited, Faculty Dining Room
- 4-5 p.m. — Spanish Club Tertulia, south alcove on main floor, LaFortune, Venga para hablar con nosotros y practicar el arte de conversar!
- 7, 9, 11 p.m. — Film, "Nine to Five", Engineering Auditorium, sponsored by Student Union, $1 admission
- 8:15 p.m. — Concert, ND Glee Club, Washington Hall, admission free

Saturday, Dec. 12

- 1:30 p.m. — Basketball, ND Men vs. Northern Illinois, ACC
- 4 p.m. — Basketball, ND Women vs. Northern Illinois, ACC
- 7 p.m. — Film, "My Way", Memorial Library Auditorium, Sponsored by Chinese Association
- 7, 9, 11 p.m. — Film, "Nine to Five", Engineering Auditorium, $1 admission

Sunday, Dec. 13

- 2 p.m. — Mass, Community with mentally retarded, Moreau Seminary, all are welcome
- 2-5 p.m. — Meeting, Ladies of Notre Dame Children's Holiday Party, Saint Mary's Club House
- 7:30 p.m. — Concert, Foreigner, ACC, $10.50 and $9.50

Television Tonight

Friday, December 11

- | | | | | | |
|------------|-----------------------|------------------------------|------------------------------|------------------------------|--|
| 7:00 p.m. | 16 MASH | 22 CBS News | 28 Joker's Wild | 34 The MacNeil/Lehrer Report | 46 In Touch |
| 7:30 p.m. | 16 All in the Family | 22 Family Feud | 28 Tie Tac Dough | 34 Straight Talk | 16 NBC Magazine |
| 8:00 p.m. | 22 Dukes of Hazzard | 28 Benson | 34 Washington Week In Review | 46 Lester Sumrall Teaching | 28 Bosom Buddies |
| 8:30 p.m. | 34 Wall Street Week | 46 The Renewed Mind | 16 McLain's Law | 22 Dallas | 28 Darkroom |
| 9:00 p.m. | 34 Enterprise | 46 Today With Lester Sumrall | 34 Ben Wattenberg | 16 The Devilin Connection | 22 A Tribute to Mr. Television: Milton Berle |
| 9:30 p.m. | 28 Strike Force | 34 Firing Line | 46 Jimmy Swaggart Weekly | 16 NewsCenter 16 | 22 22 Eyewitness News |
| 10:00 p.m. | 28 Newswatch 28 | 34 The Dick Cavett Show | 46 Praise the Lord | 16 Tonight Show | 22 Behind The Screen |
| 11:00 p.m. | 28 ABC News Nightline | 34 Captioned ABC News | | | |
| 11:30 p.m. | | | | | |

Swamp Brats

Simon

Jeb Cashin

The Daily Crossword

- | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
|---------------|--------------------|----------|---------------|---------|------------|-----------------|-------------------------|--------------|----------------|-----------------|----------|-------------------|----------|------------|--------------------|----------------------|-----------------|----------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------|--------------|------------|-------------|-----------|-------------------|-----------------------|-------------|----------------------|------------------------------|-------------------|------------|--------------------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|---------------|----------------------|--------------------------|-----------|---------|---------------------|-----------------|------------|------------|-------------|----------------------|--------------|----------|-------------|--------------------|---------------|-------------|----------------------|--------|--------------------|----------------------------|---------------|--------------------|--------------------|-----------|---------------|--------|-------------|---------------|
| ACROSS | 1 Opposed to long. | 4 Bistro | 8 More of 53D | 14 Fuss | 15 Parched | 16 Genesis peak | 17 Well-used, as a book | 19 Hardships | 20 Oil country | 21 Buffalo coin | 23 Feats | 25 Printer's word | 26 Kazan | 30 Do sums | 31 Friend Francois | 33 Taken by surprise | 35 Strike water | 37 Lofty abode: var. | 38 Richard's epithet | 41 Friend Francisco | 43 Group of three | 44 Procedure | 47 Blemish | 48 Mandible | 51 Sommer | 52 Zilch to Zorro | 54 Apian queen's mate | 56 Talisman | 58 "Bus Stop" author | 59 Worse than Alice's hatter | 62 Short of snout | 65 Give in | 66 Relative of 43A | 67 Chihuahua cheer | 68 United | 69 Tiller | 70 Sleep land | 18 Terminus of films | 22 Gulager of Honky-tonk | 24 Tallow | 27 Amin | 28 Affirmative vote | 32 Homo sapiens | 34 Slow up | 35 Willful | 36 All — up | 38 A — and a promise | 39 Framework | 40 Inlet | 41 Consumed | 42 Brooks or Blanc | 45 Accustomed | 46 Coolidge | 48 English dramatist | 49 Ben | 49 Boxing's Dundee | 50 Removed the undesirable | 53 Profundity | 55 Branco or Bravo | 57 Ancient Iranian | 59 Gullet | 60 Honor card | 61 650 | 63 "— Blas" | 64 — de plume |
|---------------|--------------------|----------|---------------|---------|------------|-----------------|-------------------------|--------------|----------------|-----------------|----------|-------------------|----------|------------|--------------------|----------------------|-----------------|----------------------|----------------------|---------------------|-------------------|--------------|------------|-------------|-----------|-------------------|-----------------------|-------------|----------------------|------------------------------|-------------------|------------|--------------------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|---------------|----------------------|--------------------------|-----------|---------|---------------------|-----------------|------------|------------|-------------|----------------------|--------------|----------|-------------|--------------------|---------------|-------------|----------------------|--------|--------------------|----------------------------|---------------|--------------------|--------------------|-----------|---------------|--------|-------------|---------------|

Thursday's Solution

© 1981 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc. All Rights Reserved

12/11/81

12/11/81

Tonight is the LAST NITE
Senior Bar will be open for the semester--
Thanks for your patronage. tonight's special-- all types of Schnapps!
open 9:30-2:00
HAVE A MERRY CHRISTMAS!

* Attention Skiers!! *
* SATURDAY NIGHT SWISS VALLEY *
* SEINC STARTS Jan. 10, 1982 *
* Bus departs main circle 5 pm. *
* Returns 11 pm *
* presale bus fix: $2.50 At circle: $3 *
* Plus: reduced: lift tickets.....$5 *
* * lessons.....$1 *
* rental.....$4 *

Graduating senior cornerback John Krimm received two awards at last night's football banquet. For details, see story below. (photo by Cheryl Ertelt)

In college sports

Hesburgh addresses ethics

By MICHAEL ORTMAN
Sports Editor

Notre Dame President Theodore M. Hesburgh called on his fellow university administrators around the nation to take charge in cleaning up collegiate athletics. Hesburgh, not known for becoming involved in the athletic forum, spoke at last night's Notre Dame football banquet in the ACC.

"It is difficult to keep up with the schools that are on disciplinary probation," Hesburgh admonished. "Allegations of cheating, rules violation, improper recruitment, academic improprieties in admissions and in receiving credit without attending class — all of these are fairly widespread."

Addressing athletics is something foreign to Hesburgh. Throughout his tenure as university president he has referred virtually all athletic matters to the executive vice president, Fr. Edmund P. Joyce. But Hesburgh acknowledged at the outset that he was "filling in" for Joyce who is touring mainland China.

Hesburgh recognized the fact that coaches are under tremendous pressure to produce winning teams capable of raking large sums of money into university coffers. But it is the job of the university president, according to Hesburgh, to ease that pressure first by placing athletics in their proper perspective, and then supporting their athletic programs through thick and thin.

"A president must ... not yell at the players," he said, "as a harried coach was said to have done, 'What do you think it is, a game?' It is a game. No more. No less."

Then, in what can be construed as a major vote of confidence for Gerry Faust and Notre Dame coaches in all sports, Hesburgh asserted, "It is insecure coaches who cut corners. Their position and tenure should not be at the mercy of last week's score or the vagaries of a single season. They should have reasonable security in their jobs, and the full confidence and support of the administration. Alumni should not badger them, nor should the vociferous fans.

"Of course, they will suffer a certain amount of static from those who judge anything less than total victory as a dismal failure. But the pressures should not come from the administration. (Coaches) have a difficult enough task, and if they are doing it with honesty, integrity and competence, they should never have to be worried about being blind-sided by those who appointed them."

Of his own university, often regarded as the leader in collegiate athletic ethics, Hesburgh was hope-

See TED, page 15

Five-game odyssey

Irish travel coast-to-coast

By SKIP DESJARDIN
Associate Sports Editor

While most Notre Dame students are relaxing over Christmas break, the Notre Dame basketball team will be in the middle of a grueling road trip that will spell the difference between a successful season and a disaster.

"The next month is going to make or break us," says Coach Digger Phelps. "We know we have a long road ahead of us, but we have to make the most of it."

"This may be the toughest road trip Notre Dame has had since I've been here. We play some of the top schools in the country between now and the time the second semester begins. Now is the time for us to grow up and become the basketball team I know we can be."

"There are a lot of problems with the team right now," Phelps admits. "But we are making improvements anyway. Every game we get a little better in some areas. We've got to improve a lot in a number of areas if we want to succeed over the next month."

"Most of all, we have to keep up our intensity. Mental mistakes are hurting us at times. That, too, is a matter of inexperience. We have a very inexperienced ball club here."

"We've got to improve underneath and on the boards. We still aren't getting the offensive rebounds we need to be competitive."

Tomorrow, the Irish play Northern Illinois at the ACC, then take on Valparaiso a week from Tuesday in the last home game before the long road trip.

"Northern is a very deceptive basketball team," Phelps said at his press conference yesterday. "They play very well. They've got good size, and I like the things they do. We are concerned about Saturday's game. We are having trouble against big teams."

"Northern is patient, as well. We have to control the game tempo and the boards against them. Again, controlling the boards will be a key. We haven't been able to do that all year. So that's our big concern."

Phelps is not at all pleased with the way the team played in Monday's loss to Murray State, and had heavy criticism for his players.

"In the game against Murray State we did everything you can possibly do wrong in basketball," he said. "Turnovers, foul shooting, rebounding, missing easy shots, layups, shots within ten feet, we did it all wrong."

"We're due to explode. We're due to put it together, and that's what we're looking to do. We've got to get it together."

Phelps refuses to write the season off, though he acknowledges that others have done so already.

"We are the underdogs now, and we're going to learn to play like underdogs," he says. "We need game experience as a unit, and before this season is over, we're going to knock some people off."

The goal for the Irish coaching staff right now is to gear the team toward January. They look at the upcoming road trip as a means of learning the things they need to learn to become a contender by the end of January. They point to the late-season success of teams like last year's Indiana club, and the UCLA team of two years ago as models on which they are basing their season gameplan.

The first game on the road trip is Kentucky. The Wildcats have signed a new two-year contract with Notre Dame. This year's game will be played again in Louisville, but next year things will change. For the first time since 1950, Kentucky will travel to South Bend.

Zavagnin, who many feel has been living in Crable's shadow for three seasons, finished second only to Crable in tackles this year with 94. He led the Irish in interceptions in 1981 with three.

Crable was named the team's Most Valuable Player for the second consecutive year. Pozderac was recognized as the Outstanding Offensive Player and Krimm was honored as the team's Outstanding Defensive Player.

Crable was one of the four finalists for the Lombardi Award which was presented last night (to Texas Longhorn defensive tackle Kenneth Sims) in Houston, Tex. Crable became the first finalist in the 12-year history of the award to miss the banquet. He elected to stay on campus for the Notre Dame dinner. Athletic Director Gene Corrigan represented Crable in Houston.

The two-time Irish captain already has been named a first team

See AWARDS, page 15

See DEATH MARCH, page 14

Tri-captains chosen at football banquet

By MICHAEL ORTMAN
Sports Editor

Juniors Phil Carter, Dave Duerson and Mark Zavagnin have been elected tri-captains of the 1982 Notre Dame football team, it was announced at last night's football banquet honoring the 1981 squad. All-American linebacker Bob Crable, offensive tackle Phil Pozderac and cornerback John Krimm shared the top honors for the 1981 season.

Carter will be serving his second season in the leadership role. Although injuries have hampered his three seasons with the Irish, the halfback now stands 13th on the Notre Dame career list with 1,649 yards.

Duerson has started 20 games in the Notre Dame secondary over the last two seasons including all 11 this season. The Muncie, Ind., native led Irish defensive backs in tackles this season with 55 and picked off two passes, returning one 88 yards for a touchdown at Miami.

Grooms to leave ND; will coaches follow?

By KELLY SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

The 1981 football season officially ended with last night's awards dinner, but talk concerning the return of coaches and players in 1982 has already begun.

Though he emphasized that rumors about the firing of any of his coaches are premature, Gerry Faust will not deny the possibility that changes may take place among his staff in the near future. The implication that shake-ups might occur has been printed in several newspapers recently; however, Faust insists that no decisions have been made as of yet.

"At this point, yes, we're assessing the situation," he admitted yesterday. "But nothing's been done about it."

"And nothing may be done," he added.

The attentions of Faust and his assistants have been turned towards recruiting recently, according to the head coach, so no formal announcements have come from his office since the season ended. Speculation centers around changing the assignments of some assistants, and replacing others. Several reports indicate that administrative assistant Joe Yonto, the defensive line coach for 17 seasons before taking a desk job last spring, may in fact return to the field.

One of Faust's players, however, definitely will not return to the field in a Notre Dame uniform. Reserve quarterback Scott Grooms is transferring to Miami (Ohio) University beginning the spring semester this year.

Grooms, a sophomore out of Greenfield, Ohio, will be allowed to practice during spring drills at the Oxford, Ohio, campus, though he'll have to sit out the 1982 fall campaign. A concensus prep All-American after succeeding Ohio State's Art Schlichter at Miami Trace High School, Grooms reported that Miami University's current quarterback is a sophomore walk-on. "The situation looks pretty good for me," he acknowledged. "I'm excited about the opportunity to play."

Two graduating seniors, specialty-teams captain Tony Belden and defensive tackle Joe Gramke, are returning next fall as additions to the coaching staff. The pair will assume duties as part-time assistants while pursuing their master's degrees.

Lady Irish lose 67-58 at Butler

By MARK HANNUKSELA
Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS — The Notre Dame women's basketball team traveled to Butler last night, but getting here didn't stop them.

Six second half travelling violations — four of them in succession — spelled doom for Notre Dame, which lost for the second time in four outings, 67-58, to Butler University.

The Irish came up short despite a furious second-half rally which saw them pull within six, 58-52, with 3:59 left. A 14-3 Notre Dame spurt wiped out much of a Lady Bulldog 17-point lead, but the Irish could come no closer than six points the rest of the way.

Freshman Ruth Kaiser scored 12 points, six in each half, to lead Notre Dame. Junior Jan Crowe added nine points, but missed eight key free throws in the contest.

"They (Butler) won because they deserved to win," said Irish coach Mary DiStanislao. "You can't play 8 minutes out of 40. It doesn't work. We made freshman mistakes, but it was all our upperclassmen that made them."

"They are an awfully good team. They totally dominated us and they played to win. I hope they are happy because they played very well."

Next for the Irish is an afternoon game tomorrow with Northern Illinois, which is also 2-2 on the season. Three Huskies, led by guard Doreen Zierer (22.3 points per game), are averaging in double figures. The game will be played immediately following the men's game between the same two schools, and will start at approximately 4 p.m.