

The Observer

VOL. XXI, NO. 44

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1986

the independent student newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's

Have a Shake with lunch

Rich Gund, right, received a surprise for his 20th birthday. Tim Cummins, left, and a group of friends arranged for the belly dancer to visit Gund at South Dining Hall Monday.

The Observer/Fred Dobie

Student Senate debates divestment proposal

By ROB HENNIG
Senior Staff Reporter

The Student Senate, after nearly an hour of debate, voted to table discussion of recommending changes in Notre Dame's divestment policy at Hayes-Healy Monday night.

Parietals, the agenda for the Student Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees, and RASTA were also discussed.

Student Senator John Gardiner proposed the Senate vote on a proposal to recommend divestment to the Board of Trustees.

Hall President's Council Co-Chairperson Sheila O'Connor questioned the level of student concern on the issues of apartheid and the possibility of divestment. "I just can't see how we should take this vote," O'Connor said. Other leaders also voiced concern.

"Has there been a serious effort to get student opinion for this semester?" asked Coordinator Bruce Lohman.

"I feel that I don't represent the students on this," said Senior Class President Dave Miklos.

Gardiner replied that "as a representative body of students, we have a right to vote on it if the students are not well informed."

"We've been elected by the people and if we're all against divestment why don't we just vote on it," Gardiner said.

Brian Holst, student senator, said, "We're here as the student leaders, let's lead them somewhere."

Student Body President Mike Switek said that taking a vote on divestment to the Board of Trustees from the Student Senate without broad student support would be ineffectual.

Gardiner said that divestment "is a moral issue (and) maybe we should go on our own ideas."

"I think that's an elitist attitude," said Student Body Vice-President Don Montanaro.

Gardiner said the Student Senate needed to do something to rally the students. "The people are apathetic right now. Let's get rid of the student apathy," said Gardiner.

Student Body Treasurer Rebecca Cussen motioned to table discussion of the divestment issue and "devote ourselves to a campaign to inform students." The motion was seconded by Montanaro.

see DIVEST, page 4

Former hostage pleads for release of other captives

Associated Press

WIESBADEN, West Germany - David Jacobsen told Monday of his great joy in being released from more than 17 months of captivity but said other Americans still held by Lebanese kidnappers "are in hell" and must be set free.

Jacobsen, 55, arrived at the U.S. military air base in Wiesbaden one day after being freed by his Shiite Moslem captors. Anglican Church envoy Terry Waite accompanied Jacobsen, who was serving as administrator of the American University hospital in Beirut when he was abducted on May 28, 1985.

Waite, who has negotiated to free the hostages since last year, said he would keep on seeking the release of five other Americans who are among 19 foreigners still missing in Lebanon.

They include Terry Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent of The Associated Press, and Thomas Sutherland, acting dean of agriculture at the university, who also have been held since early 1985.

Jacobsen, from Huntington Beach, Calif., was examined at the Air Force hospital. Col. Charles Maffet, hospital director, told a news conference that, "although he is tired, our initial impression is that he is physically in very good condition. It also seems that he has dealt with the stresses of his captivity remarkably well."

Maffet said the medical evaluation would be completed in a few days. "Initial evaluation did not reveal any evidence of physical abuse," he said, adding that Jacobsen was eating normal foods and even had some wine.

"It appears he has lost very little weight. Again, he is fit," the colonel said. "He has had no medication since he's been here."

Jacobsen's family is to arrive today.

In an emotional statement soon after arrival, he said his happiness was greatly diminished by the continued captivity of the others.

"The best things in life are free," he said, "and, by God, they are."

Parties vie for U.S. Senate control

Associated Press

The candidates submitted their case to the voters Monday in the tense struggle for control of the Senate, the shining prize in Tuesday's elections to pick the nation's 100th Congress and three dozen governors.

President Reagan played his role as Chief Campaigner to the end, stumping for GOP candidates in two western states in a bid to keep the Senate from falling into hostile Democratic hands in his final two years in office.

Visiting Nevada for GOP senate candidate Jim Santini, the president said, "It's time we got the facts out about Jim's opponent. I don't think the fiercely independent people of Nevada want as their senator a tax-and-spend liberal who is against a balanced budget amendment."

Then it was on to Costa Mesa, Calif., where the president holstered his partisan rhetoric in favor of a sentimental speech marking the end of what he termed "the last campaign." The real issue, he said, is "that future that all of us want: a future of prosperity, of freedom for the individual; above all, a future where America is safe and secure."

Leaders of both parties in the House of Representatives made their final forays of the nation's costliest mid-term campaign and one of the nastiest. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan, who chairs the Republican congressional campaign committee, headed for Maryland, Ohio, Michigan, Texas and North Carolina. His Democratic counterpart, Rep. Tony Coelho of California, had a stop in Annapolis, Md. on his schedule.

Most of the attention nation-

see ELECTION, page 4

Grants instituted for A/E students

By LISA DAVISON
News Staff

The John J. Reilly Scholarship Program has been instituted for students in their fifth year of the five-year Arts and Letters/Engineering curriculum.

Students entering the second semester of their fourth year of the A/E Program are automatically considered for the scholarship. A group of faculty members and administrators involved with the A/E Program will select the Reilly Scholars. Those selected will be announced annually in the spring, said McKim. "To become a Reilly Scholar is purely academic, but to get the scholarship involves a need factor," said Vaughn McKim, associate director of the Reilly Center for Science, Technology, and Values.

"The decision is based on academic performance for the last four years," he said. Then, the chosen Reilly Scholars are evaluated on the basis of financial need to determine if they qualify for a scholarship, according to McKim. "It is crucial to submit the FAF," he said, adding, "They need this record at the financial aid office."

There is no specific limit on the number of scholarships available, he said. "Nothing is cut and dried. We want to find as many deserving students as possible. The idea is to reward

see A/E, page 3

In Brief

The names of the four Notre Dame students arrested at the Halloween party at 617 St. Peter St. Friday night were released Monday. James E. Dowd, 20, Grace Hall, was arrested on charges of selling alcoholic beverages without a permit, according to Lt. Rick Kilgore, public information officer at the South Bend Police Department. Hugh J. Wade, 20, Cavanaugh Hall, and Xavier Y. Zang, 21, 54631 Irish Way, were both arrested on charges of resisting law enforcement agents and public intoxication, said Kilgore. John G. Klinge, 21, 617 N. St. Peter St., was arrested on charges of violating the city's anti-noise ordinance, said Kilgore. - The Observer

They're picking on the regents at the University of Colorado. Angry about tuition increases, students created the "Dial-a-Regent" program, urging others to call board members to voice their opposition. One student paid the $817 tuition in quarters. Students say the legislature is their next target. - The Observer

Christian missionaries were rarely seized and eaten on impulse by savage tribes, contrary to myth, according to a University of Pennsylvania researcher. Dead relatives or enemy captives were much more likely fare. "The taboo comes with who you eat and how you eat them," said the researcher. "You couldn't just eat anybody." - Associated Press

Nancy Reagan's personal maid had munitions smuggling charges against her dropped Monday in Richmond, Va. Anita Sanabria Castelo, 45, was arrested after federal investigators found 70 cases of .22-caliber ammunition aboard a Paraguayan freighter docked at Richmond's Deepwater Terminal. - Associated Press

Of Interest

"How to Conduct a Successful Mail Campaign" will be presented by Paul Reynolds of the Career and Placement Services office tonight at 6:30 in 124 Hayes Healy Center. The talk will be repeated Wednesday night at the same time and location. All interested students are invited to attend. - The Observer

A coffeehouse sponsored by the Overseas Development Network will be held tonight from 8 to 11 at the Center for Social Concerns. Nicaraguan and Tanzanian coffee will be served while the student band of Rossi-Bower-Stevens-Griffy will supply entertainment. - The Observer

An aerobathon for the United Way campaign will be sponsored by the Hall Presidents' Council on Saturday, Nov. 22 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Registration for the event will be held today, Wednesday and Thursday in the dining halls. Forms also will be available from hall presidents. - The Observer

Weather

Singin' those South Bend Blues. It will be partly sunny and very cool today with the high in the middle 40s. Increasing cloudiness with a chance of light rain tonight. Cool with the low in the upper 30s with a 50 percent chance of rain. A 60 percent chance of rain is likely Wednesday with very cool temperatures in the middle 40s. The Observer

The Observer

Design Editor Alice Kroeger
Design Assistant: Michael 'Moj' Mojica
Layout Staff Kathy Behrmann
Typesetters Shawn Sexton
News Editor Jim Riley
Copy Editor Karen Webb
Sports Copy Editor Margie Kersten
Viewpoint Copy Editor Pete Gegen

Viewpoint Layout Heidi Traxler
Accent Copy Editor Tie Wimmer
Layout Carey Gels
Typists Colleen Foy
ND Day Editor Alison Pivonka
SMC Day Editor Theresa Harrington
Ad Design Sharon Emmite
Photographer Fred Dobie

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $40 per year ($25 per semester) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

Patriotic politicking more exercise in marketing than governing

Today is election day and for the candidates seeking the contested gubernatorial and congressional positions, it marks the end of frenetic hand-shaking, smile-flashing campaigning.

Politics is, in the final analysis, a matter of selling one's self. The winners will be those salesmen shrewd enough to capture public opinion in support of their individual commodities.

Ronald Reagan was one such winner, a man politically astute enough to gauge what would sell, design his product to meet these specifications and then peddle his brand of American patriotism to an eager constituency.

In the midst of a nation suffering from the malaise of the Iranian hostage crisis, Reagan tailored his campaign to evoke images of American glory and strength. After all, America was a big seller; one look at the country's euphoria when a bunch of American kids beat the Russians in the 1980 Winter Olympics hockey final indicated the emotion such a campaign would tap. Americans were winners again, and the public loved it.

And Reagan, the personification of such flag-waving fervor, was also a winner. His political philosophy, his ideology, his specific economic plans in the campaign were eclipsed by his patriotic message. Riding the wave of nationalism to victory, Ronald Reagan the president became secondary to Ronald Reagan the image.

The "coattail effect" is a term describing the power of a President's election momentum in sweeping other candidates in his party to victory in other offices. When applied to Reagan, this phenomenon has applications far beyond the scope of Capitol Hill.

Because it is based more in successful marketing techniques than in issue politics, the influence of Reagan's brand of politicking naturally spilled far beyond the political arena, washing over the entire consumer market and dying it red, white and blue.

One need only look at the vast array of products packaged in patriotic wrapping to see validation of Reagan's success. Chevrolet preaches "The pride is back, Born in America"; Coke makes the consumer a part of the flag with its "Red, White and You" slogan; Miller Beer is "made the American way, Born and Brewed in the U.S.A."

Even the audio and visual media are jumping on Reagan's Old Glory bandwagon. Bruce Springsteen's "Born in the USA" featured the backdrop of the Stars and Stripes and conveyed the image of a hard-working, all-American

Mary Heilmann
Assistant News Editor

"everyman." Such national packaging would probably have sold few albums during the 1960s, when the American flag was more frequently seen adorning the seat of protestors' jeans than the album covers of popular artists, but in the Reagan '80s, patriotism sells, and so did the album.

A more extreme version of this trend, the contemporary Rambo movies are essentially more of the same. Rambo, the quintessential American power figure, avenges American losses during the Vietnam War. Once again, the public bought the entire patriotic package. Rambo toys topped Christmas lists of kids who had never even heard of the Vietnam War; parents, who had heard the negative side all too often, bought the toys willingly.

On a recent trip to New Orleans, I saw a larger than life statue of "Ronnie Rambo" from a 1986 Mardi Gras float. The figure, clad in camouflage and wielding a semi-automatic machine gun, struck me as significant not so much in its representation of Reagan's military proclivities, but in its merging of a fictional character from the American cinema and the President of the United States. The statue moves Reagan out of the arena of government and into the mythic realm of folklore; he has become a red, white and blue draped figurehead.

Perhaps that's just good politicking. After all, it does produce a "winner."

March of Dimes
Preventing Birth Defects

Anti-Violence Activist

Center for Teaching Non-Violence & NCTV full-time staff. Lodging & $325/mo. Research on aggression, publishing & lobbying against violence in TV, film, war toys, sports, erotica, etc. Non-violent films. Next to U Illinois. Student loans deferrable. 217-384-1920. P.O. Box 2157, Champaign IL 61820

The Fondue Parlor

ALL YOU CAN EAT:
Swiss Dinner
Fondue Style
Tues.-Thurs.
100 Center Old
Brewery Building
Mishawaka
Reservations
293-1524
Tues.-Thurs. 5-9
Fri. & Sat. 5-10

Join us for breakfast, lunch, and dinner...
Brat & Brew Special 100 Center Mishawaka
Mon-Fri 7-8
Saturday 8-9:30
Sunday 9-5
$3.25

GRACE HALL DEBATES

TONIGHT..... Immigration
WEDNESDAY..... Nuclear Power

ALL WELCOME

9:00 pm
Grace Hall Pit

THOMAS MORE SOCIETY

presents

"DISSENT IN THE CHURCH: TWO PERSPECTIVES"

by

RALPH McINERNEY

Director, Jacques Maritain Center
8 p.m. Today

and

RICHARD McCORMICK S.J.

O'Brien Professor of Theology

8 p.m. November 5

both speakers at

LaFortune Little Theater

S. African ambassador sworn in for new post

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Edward Perkins, the black diplomat sworn in Monday as U.S. ambassador to South Africa, said he felt "good will" toward all the people of that country but vowed to take carry with him America's "intolerance of racial apartheid."

"All Americans share the same goals," Perkins told a standing-room-only crowd at his swearing-in ceremony at the State Department. "The American people have forcefully expressed their abhorrence of apartheid and their desire for a foreign policy that works to facilitate peaceful change in South Africa."

Perkins, a 20-year-veteran of the U.S. agency for International Development and the State Department, was selected by President Reagan after a talent search that focused on black candidates. The goal was to drive home, in a personal way, the U.S. dislike for apartheid, the country's racial separation system.

Perkins' appointment sailed through the Senate, where he was hailed by both Republicans and Democrats as eminently qualified for the post, and Secretary of State George Shultz on Monday praised Perkins as a "truly courageous professional diplomat." Perkins said his goal was to represent "all Americans" in his new post.

Nevertheless, Perkins said that as a member of a America's black minority, he will have special empathy for both the black majority and the white minority in South Africa.

Law program instituted in London

By CHRIS JULKA
Copy Editor

The Notre Dame Law School, at its center in London, has instituted a master of laws program in international and comparative law.

The pilot program, which currently enrolls nine students, has received the approval of the American Bar Association and the University's Academic Council, according to Professor Joseph Bauer, associate dean of the Notre Dame Law School.

It is the only postgraduate program offered abroad by an American law school, according to Notre Dame Law School Dean David Link.

Link said that the master of laws program is essential to Notre Dame's development as a research law school. "Fifty-seven of the 176 accredited American law schools have postgraduate offerings, including all of the leading law schools," Link said.

Bauer said a graduate law program was established in London, because "London affords unique opportunities in terms of library resources, faculty resources and attractiveness for graduate students." He added, London possesses resources and facilities pertaining to the study of law which simply cannot be matched in the United States. London was the only site considered for the program, he said.

The Graduate Program will be headquartered at the Notre Dame London Law Centre, at 7 Albemarle Street, in the Mayfair district of London, according to a brochure distributed by the Notre Dame Law School. The site is in close proximity to the research libraries, universities, courts, Houses of Parliament, and lawyers' offices and chambers which comprise "legal London."

The center itself houses several classrooms, offices, and a small library. According to Bauer, the center is not affiliated with any English university, but is entirely controlled and operated by Notre Dame.

According to the brochure, the master of laws program is limited to 20 students who have received a degree in law from a recognized law school. "None of the nine students currently enrolled in the program have a prior degree from Notre Dame. All of them are graduates of other universities," Bauer said. He added, "Of these nine students, five come from the continental United States, one from Puerto Rico, and one each from Great Britain, Italy and Japan."

The master of laws program has been in existence for one year. It is expected to attract students interested in careers in legal education, government service or the practice of law in an international setting, according to the brochure.

The 19-member faculty, according to the brochure, is composed of American, British, and European academicians and practitioners, including Professor W.A. West, an English barrister who is the founder of the law degree program and the director of the Notre Dame Graduate Program. A program involving international law with the participation of law professors from the Eastern Bloc is a theoretical possibility, Bauer said.

"Dean Link has been pushing this program for the last half-dozen years," Bauer said. Bauer guided the program through a 6-month examination period by the ABA and the University before its approval.

Since 1968, Notre Dame has offered a full-year London Law Centre program as part of its sequence of study for the juris doctor degree.

Can't Get a Date?

Neither can we--

That's why we're having a

COMPUTER

DANCE

It's like the Dating Game.... but

Stay tuned to this same Bat Page, same Bat Paper for more details.

LEXIS computer aids law research

By SEAN HICKEY
News staff

Notre Dame's Kredge Law Library began the 1986-87 school year with a powerful new computer-age tool that will greatly assist law students, according to Head Law Librarian Roger Jacobs.

The tool is LEXIS, and it provides the instant researching capability for research that could not, without tremendous time consumption, be completed manually, he said.

"LEXIS is a full text database of court opinions, statutes, law review articles and other material available to lawyers and law students across the country," said Jacobs.

The Mead Data Company is the parent company of LEXIS and pioneered its concept. Mead donated ten terminals and six printers to the law library as well as furniture for a learning center room devoted entirely to LEXIS. "Mead even installed the telephone lines," which are necessary for the terminals to gain access to the Dayton-centered database, Jacobs said.

Previously, the law library had one terminal which students had to pay to use. "Now there are terminals for a greater number of students and multiple opportunities for students to learn databases," Jacobs said.

"Ordinarily commercial rates are $125 an hour, but for us it's free," said Jacobs. With the new terminals, there is unlimited access to the database, including access on Saturday and Sunday.

By introducing law students at universities around the country to LEXIS, Mead hopes the future lawyers will choose their system, Jacobs said. In addition, the LEXIS company can utilize the learning center for their own purposes, such as seminars or lectures.

Learning how to use the database terminal is not too difficult, Jacobs said. "It is designed for in-user use. There are special commands, and it takes a relatively long time to become sophisticated with it, but the students can use it for learning purposes after three or four hours," he added. In addition, there are tax and accounting databases on LEXIS for use in the business school.

With the addition of the LEXIS terminals comes an improvement in Notre Dame's rank in per capita use compared to other law schools. "Currently we're in the top five," he said.

"LEXIS provides to the student body of the law school an opportunity to substantially improve their legal research skills and develop and continue Notre Dame's position in the forefront of activities."

A/E

continued from page 1
and acknowledge outstanding students."

John D. Reilly has contributed a $500,000 endowment for the scholarship fund in honor of his father. A self-made businessman, the younger Reilly graduated from the A/E Program at Notre Dame. "He wanted to make the kind of education he had more available to other students," McKim said.

"There are longstanding concerns within engineering education as to how to combine technological education with liberal education," McKim said. Notre Dame's solution is to offer the five-year A/E program.

There are many advantages for those in the A/E Program, said McKim. They receive a bachelor of science degree in engineering and a bachelor of arts degree in liberal arts. Also, as members of the College of Arts and Letters, they have the option of going to London. "However, the drawback is cost," explains McKim. "Not only do they have another year of tuition, but they are forfeiting a year of work as an engineer."

Therefore, the Reilly fund concentrates on assisting the student in his fifth year. "The scholarship fund will be a reward and will attract highly qualified engineering students into the program," McKim says.

"To become a Reilly Scholar is to achieve a certain status," McKim said. "This will also increase recognition for the program."

Correction

The name of a Notre Dame student in the front page photograph of Monday's Observer was misspelled. The correct spelling of his name is John Padgett.

An inaccurate news item concerning the meeting on parietals revision appeared in the In Brief column of Friday's Observer. The brief was mistakenly recycled from an earlier edition.

Fire away

Mike Paese, speaking for the proposition team, makes a point about gun control at the Grace Hall Debates. The opposition team of (left to right) Jim Grace, Mike Millen and John Stoepler prepare to make their case.

The Observer/Fred Dobie

Hasenfus to appeal for mercy from tribunal

Associated Press

MANAGUA, Nicaragua - Former U.S. Attorney General Griffin Bell, who is assisting in the defense of American mercenary Eugene Hasenfus, said Monday the prisoner will appeal to the People's Tribunal for mercy.

Bell told a news conference that Hasenfus, charged with terrorism, will make a statement to the revolutionary tribunal Tuesday afternoon and added:

"We hope it will help him by mitigating the charges against him. We hope it will cause the Sandinista, the Nicaraguan, government, to be more merciful."

"As for what he will plead to, that's up in the air," Bell said, "but he has thrown himself on the mercy of the court."

Bell, from Atlanta, returned to Nicaragua on Sunday. He said he had not been able to talk directly to Hasenfus.

SMC Boards question editors at meeting

by SHARON HEGG
News Staff

At Monday night's joint meeting of the Saint Mary's Board of Governance and Programming Board several editors of The Observer were present to answer questions posed by members of the student government.

Kathleen Daily, public relations commissioner questioned why the big events at Saint Mary's always seem to get published the day after they occur instead of generating interest beforehand.

"If you want an event covered you should call The Observer beforehand so we can get a reporter to cover the story," said News Editor Tripp Baltz. The availability of the person to be interviewed and the time and amount of effort needed are all taken into account, according to Editor-in-Chief Joe Murphy.

"What kind of control does Notre Dame have over The Observer and who do you answer to?" asked Patty Curran, senior class president. Murphy answered, "We answer to the students. The moment we slant news or lose our objectivity the students will get upset. We strive for professionalism."

"There is no University, College or administrative control over the content," added Margie Kersten, Saint Mary's editor.

Rebecca Hetland, Christian life commissioner, voiced another concern, "I think people know you exist but don't know how to approach getting things in The Observer." Hetland suggested that the situation be clarified by putting instructions in writing.

Kersten added, "If Saint Mary's students do want to get involved with the paper, they can ask me, and I will point them in the right direction."

All the editors present stressed the importance of involvement of students "especially from Saint Mary's," said

Viewpoint Editor Scott Bearby. "We only have one regular viewpoint columnist from Saint Mary's. We'd like to see more Saint Mary's (students) get involved."

In other news, Sarah Cook, vice president of student affairs, announced that the Programming Board will show St. Elmo's Fire Friday and Saturday night at 7:30 and 10. The Programming Board is also sponsoring Brian Huskey Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Chameleon Room.

Cook discussed several events that will take place Oct. 27 through Nov. 14 for the United Way campaign. A series of movies will be shown at Carroll Hall including The Way We Were on Nov. 9 at 3 p.m.; Rebel Without a Cause on Nov. 10 at 9 p.m.; and Grease, Nov. 11 at 9 p.m.

Cook said the thrust of this year's campaign is awareness on what United Way is about.

Jeanne Heller, student body president, said Gloria Chelminiak, director of health services, would like to start a program to drive Saint Mary's students to the hospital and to doctor appointments when needed. "She thinks it's a service we should provide to the students," said Heller. Student government voted unanimously to support the proposed service.

Heller also announced that student government will conduct a survey on Nov. 11 about student government awareness. She said this will help determine the level of awareness and how effective the student government publicity has been. The survey will also take suggestions for speakers for the next lecture series.

Divest

continued from page 1

The motion failed. Gardiner then proposed another motion to table discussion of divestment until next week. The motion was passed unanimously.

In other business, the Senate unanimously approved the agenda for the Student Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees.

Prepared by Lohman, the agenda included a review of the parietals issue. "We are not, however, going to the Board of Trustees for the parietals issue," said Lohman.

The agenda also included a discussion with foreign students, reflection on student leadership and trustee responsibility and a preview of reports for the spring meeting.

According to Lohman, so far there will be two spring reports. One dealing with residentiality in cooperation with the Hall President's Council and the other on financial aid and admissions considerations.

"We are using this opportunity to just tell them what's going on," said Switek of the agenda.

Also, the Senate discussed the alternatives in revising the parietals proposal. The proposed changes in parietals was set aside for discussion until after fall break in a closed meeting of the Campus Life

Council on October 8.

According to Holst, a hard line of redefining what parietals is or a middle ground of moderate changes could be taken. Holst indicated he would prefer the hard line approach saying, "I'm willing to risk it."

"Just because you spent all night in a girl's room never warrants suspension or dismissal," Holst said.

"With parietals, it's all or nothing," said Tim Salmon, Carroll Hall president.

"My feeling is that the Administration is not going to give up suspension or dismissal as a viable alternative to parietals violations," said Lohman.

Maria Cintron, judicial coordinator, said it was very difficult to understand all the issues surrounding parietals and disciplinary action.

"The decisions that are made are very fair decisions," Cintron said. "We don't have all the facts on the case," she added.

In old business, Switek reported on his meeting with Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson concerning the RASTA incident.

"To me, it seemed pretty fair," Switek said. "They were dropped from being abolished to just suspended for just a year," he added.

David Kinkopf was in attendance for his Senate meeting as freshman advisory council representative.

Election

continued from page 1

ally was focused on the Senate races. Republicans hold a 53-47 edge in the current Senate, but are defending 22 of the 34 seats on the ballot.

Democrats said they would gain more than enough seats to end six years of Republican rule. The GOP sounded less confident about predicting the outcome.

The final straw polls seemed to swirl in the wind rather than blow in any discernible direction. One new survey had the race for the Georgia Senate seat tightening, another said the Republican incumbent was lengthening his lead.

Democrats said their best chances for gains are in Maryland and Nevada, where Republican incumbents are retiring, and Florida, where GOP Sen. Paula Hawkins is trailing.

Don't be shy
PAULA MAE,
Smile and have a happy day!

a time for HEROES

Trident Naval Society
24 HOUR RUN
for Special Olympics

1 pm Friday, Nov. 7 -
1 pm Saturday, Nov 8

Pledges accepted Tuesday, Nov 4 at Dining Halls.

run sponsored by:

Ad paid for by ND Student Government

Knights of the Castle
Men's Hairstyling

$6 student cut $8.50 complete style

MINUTES AWAY FROM CAMPUS
272-0312 277-1691

DISCOUNTS FOR ALL STUDENTS

We also feature the Royal Bronze Sunbanning Center
See a tan in minutes... Not Hours
Ironwood & St. Road 23 (behind Subway Sandwiches)

PART TIME SALES HELP WANTED AT GOODWILL
PLAZA STORE
on Howard & Eddy at five points.

FLEXIBLE HOURS, WEEKLY PAY, AND STORE DISCOUNT.

Call Mrs. Daughtry 234-1661

Theodore's fills gap in undergrad social life

"There's nothing to do at Notre Dame on weekends."

That complaint had been a common one here at Notre Dame for the past few years. The alcohol policy restricted the hall parties that used to be plentiful and the South Bend police department has made off-campus parties an endangered species.

Eric M. Bergamo

here's to future days

For those over 21, the solution has been easy. Just go out to Bridget's or to Senior Bar.

For those under 21, the solution isn't so easy.

Shut off from the bars, minors have no place to go regularly and socialize with their friends. No place to dance and just have fun.

In the past, dances have been held outside on the Stepan basketball courts or in one of the dining halls. That helps to drive the one point home. Undergraduates had no place to call their own. No place where they could go to "hang out," dance and meet their friends.

That is, until Theodore's opened.

Theodore's is the new undergraduate club situated on the second floor of LaFortune. Theodore's opened this past Friday night and if the number of students who attended then is any indication, Theodore's is a welcome addition to Notre Dame.

I was invited to attend a "sneak preview" of Theodore's last Wednesday evening and was, to say the least, very impressed with how it looked. The furniture was classy and added to the atmosphere of an elegant nightclub. The sound system was the best I had ever heard on campus. The service was friendly and helpful. This was class.

I talked with Chris Nye, the architect who designed the renovation of LaFortune, who told me that the plans for an undergraduate club had begun four years ago, even before the alcohol policy. The time put into those plans was evident by just looking around Theodore's.

I went Friday night to the grand opening of Theodore's with just a slight gnawing uncertainty that the student reception to this new club would be cool.

I was afraid that the students would decide that it just wouldn't be worth it.

The crowd grew as the night rolled along until Theodore's was packed and rocking. Everybody was having fun dancing in what was now "their" place. The number of people there meant that Theodore's was a success.

That excitement didn't slack off on Saturday. A live band performed to another packed house.

Theodore's will serve to fill a vacuum in the social life of those under 21. Good bands and some comedy acts have been lined up to perform at Theodore's. The club will also help to give campus rock bands a regular place to perform. It is a place to have fun.

The complaints that there is nothing to do for those under 21 at Notre Dame will hopefully die down.

Theodore's is by no means totally complete. They are still waiting for an oak bar that will go in a room along the north hall. The bar will be just like those found in off-campus bars.

A lot of time was put into Theodore's by many people. These people all have the same idea: to provide those under 21 with a place to go. Congratulations to Joni Neal, Adele Lanan and Ciel Paulsen in Student Activities for putting their support into Theodore's.

Much of the congratulations should also go to the student managers who run Theodore's. They have put the most time and effort into the club. Vince Fillis, Tom Utter, Laurie Bink, Martine Beamon and their assistants put so much work into making Theodore's successful. Every day I've gone into The Observer office and seen Willis in the Student Activities office waiting for a meeting. Believe me, your hard work is greatly appreciated.

Only one thing bothered me at the opening of Theodore's. Some students were dancing on the tables, the chairs and the piano, which costs close to $7500. That furniture can't be replaced cheaply and such abuse of the club could be detrimental. Hopefully, the students will treat Theodore's with care. It is "their" place to go. With student input as to what they want to see at Theodore's, the club should be a very welcome success.

Eric M. Bergamo is a junior government major and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.

P.O.Box Q

Letter ignored gospel in attacking pacifism

Dear Editor:

In response to Dean Robert Waddick's letter of Oct. 19, we feel compelled to respond to his rash and unfounded opinions. First, Waddick believes that ROTC students are volunteers in the same sense that Peace Corps and Holy Cross Associates volunteer. True, those who join ROTC do volunteer for military training and service, but in doing so they receive a college education and opportunities for future employment. Those who volunteer for the Peace Corps or Holy Cross Associates receive only the experience and satisfaction that comes from serving humanity.

Second, Waddick contradicts himself. He first states that "Commissioned officers... can have a positive influence if trained in a Catholic university." Later in the same paragraph he states that it makes no difference if a warrior in time of war is Catholic or not. Does he mean that once war starts a soldier can forget his Catholic education? Waddick seems to state that as long as you are defending your country, it makes no difference what values you impose upon the war.

Third, Waddick slaps the faces of all those who see in the Gospel a call to pacifism by implying that either you fight in a war for your country or you are a coward. We would argue, and history has demonstrated, that those who oppose war and its accompanying slaughter have displayed and continue to display a great deal of fortitude. As John Yoder states in his book "Nevertheless": "'Thou shalt not kill' is as absolute, still immeasurably more human, more personalistic, more genuinely responsible than the competitive absolute 'Thou shalt not let Uncle Sam down'."

We think it is sad that someone in such an influential position at Notre Dame as Waddick cannot express his view without insulting those who genuinely seek to end war.

*John Tanner
Peter Jarret
Moreau Seminary*

Lecture on sanctions comes at perfect time

Dear Editor:

For the first time in his administration, Ronald Reagan has been overridden by Congress on a matter of foreign policy. Why did so many members of the House and Senate feel so strongly about the legislation imposing economic sanctions on South Africa?

This Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in Washington Hall, Dr. William Minter will shed light on the issue of sanctions against South Africa and the divestment drive within the United States. Through the efforts of the Student Activities Board, Notre Dame will have the privilege of hearing insights from the editor of Africa News Service concerning the impact of the recently passed Congressional sanctions on South Africa. A good deal of hard-hitting politicking went into this legislation; now we will have an opportunity to understand just what it all means.

Another aspect of the anti-apartheid movement in the United States has involved divestiture by universities and local governments from companies with links to South Africa. In light of the Nov. 14 Board of Trustees meeting at which this option will again be considered for Notre Dame, it would be wise for all of us to hear Winter's presentation. With such a weighty decision being made in our name, we ought to make every effort to understand fully its impact.

I urge everyone to take advantage of this tremendous opportunity.

*Margarita Rose
Chairperson - Anti-Apartheid Network*

Doonesbury

Garry Trudeau

Quote of the day

"Democracy substitutes election by the incompetent many for appointment by the corrupt few."

*George Bernard Shaw
(1856-1950)*

"Maxims for Revolutionists"

The Observer

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 239-5303

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

General Board

Editor-in-Chief..... Joe Murphy
Managing Editor..... Kevin Becker
Viewpoint Editor..... Scott Bearby
Sports Editor..... Dennis Corrigan
Accent Editor..... Mary Jacoby
Saint Mary's Editor..... Margie Kersten
News Editor..... Tripp Baltz
News Editor..... Mark Pankowski

Business Manager..... Eric Scheuermann
Controller..... Alex VonderHaar
Production Manager..... Chris Bowler
Photography Manager..... James Carroll
Advertising Manager..... Anne M. Culligan
Systems Manager..... Shawn Sexton
Graphic Arts Manager..... Mark Weimholt
OCN Manager..... Francis X. Malone
Ad Design Manager..... Mary Carol Creadon

Founded November 3, 1966

Accent

From one dome to another...

MARK MELLETT
features writer

A few years after graduating from Notre Dame in 1940, the current Secretary of Agriculture, Richard Lyng, entered politics at the local level.

Licking envelopes and sweeping the cluttered floors of headquarters, he recalled, were his first responsibilities. Since that time Lyng's responsibilities have grown.

As a member of the President's Cabinet and head of the United States Department of Agriculture, he presently oversees the employment of more than 100,000 people and handles a budget of $40 billion.

What brought you to Notre Dame back in the 1930s?

Oh my goodness! That was a long time ago. I lived in California at the time. I finished high school and I was looking for the excitement of a school that had an active football team and all that. I suppose I hoped that I'd get a chance to play football although I wasn't any good in high school. Coming the long way from California was an exciting thing also. I can recall the pastor of my church was a great Notre Dame fan and he influenced me a little bit. The Rockne era was still alive around then.

What did you major in?

I majored in philosophy and took a commerce course. I got one of those degrees called a Ph.B. I don't know if they still have them anymore. It's a bachelor of philosophy in commerce. I took a lot of philosophy.

Did you participate in any extracurricular activities?

I wasn't very active in college. When I was in high school I was terribly active. I was president of student body and played in the band and on the football team. When I got to Notre Dame, I was kind of frightened. I wasn't sure I could keep up with all those kids from Catholic high schools who very much impressed me. I studied pretty hard particularly the first couple years I was there and I didn't get too involved with school activities. I played a lot of Bridge and I did a lot of reading.

What did you do after college?

I went back to my father's seed and bean business immediately after graduation in 1940 and then of course in 1941 Pearl Harbor came and I went into the service. I spent two and a half years in the South Pacific. I was at Guadalcanal and Bougainville. My father's business was a small farm supply and marketing business and after the war we began to specialize in seeds and dried beans. He died in 1949 when I was 31. So I took over then and I got my first taste of managing a business alone. We were successful. It was around then that I became chairman of the Republican Central Committee of my county.

“When you enter politics at the local level you rarely begin by addressing the major issues. You usually end up licking envelopes and sweeping the floors...”

What prompted you to enter politics?

I became active, to be quite honest with you, because I'd done some work with the California State Association. I went to Sacramento and I became discouraged with what I saw in the way the government was functioning. Well, I thought if you weren't going to active you couldn't be critical. So I became active in a deliberate sort of a way. When you enter politics at the local level you rarely begin by addressing the major issues. You usually end up licking envelopes and sweeping the floors of headquarters. I did a little of both. I also was fundraising chairman for a number of candidates. We're talking of both small and large campaigns. Mostly what I did was get the Republican vote out during party organization.

When did you meet Ronald Reagan?

In 1966, that's when he ran for governor the first time. I was county chairman then. I think I met him at the State Committee. After his appointment I was named to the California State Agricultural Department.

What were your responsibilities?

First I was deputy director and not long after I was named director, which was the top job in the California Department of Agriculture. I handled such things as milk marketing, meat and poultry inspection, and chemical registration. It was a big regulatory agency.

And now what are your responsibilities at the federal level?

The Federal Department of Agriculture is a gigantic agency that has over 100,000 employees and a budget of over 40 billion dollars. It includes such diverse things as the forest service where we have 190 million acres of land in the United States and the Food and Nutrition Service where we put out 12 billion dollars worth of food stamps and billions more for school lunches and other child nutrition programs. We handle international trade matters. I just got back from spending a week in Punta del Este, Uruguay, in negotiations for the new General Agreement of Tariff and Trade (GATT). We will now have the Notre Dame graduate a.k.a. Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng.

the story of Richard Lyng

Uruguayan Round which includes over 74 countries. It was quite a thrill to be one of the delegates. I handled the agricultural negotiations and we were quite successful in getting a go-ahead with negotiations on agriculture on an international basis. I'm Chairman of the Commodity Credit Corporation and of course I'm a member of the President's Cabinet. I'm also a member of the Cabinet Council and a member of the Economic Policy Council.

The Farm Bill that was passed in 1985 has made U.S. farmers more competitive internationally through a form of subsidy. What has been the reaction of other countries to the subsidizing of U.S. farmers?

Countries who view our lowering of the support prices as subsidizing will be very critical. We're trying to get at any problem in the negotiations by building some rules. We wouldn't like to be up against the unfair subsidizing of other countries. We offered to put our subsidies on the table in the negotiations. We hope that as the years go by we can bring this under some sort of control.

Since the Soviet Union has refused to purchase American wheat, what is going to be done with the surplus?

We're plagued with a surplus of almost everything. We're disappointed that the Soviet Union did not live up to their agreement to purchase 4 million tons of wheat during the year that ended on Sept. 30. They purchased over 6 million tons of corn and we're pleased about that. They had claimed that the reason they were not living up to the agreement was because our prices were not competitive. So we announced on Aug. 1 a subsidy on the wheat that we did not previously have with the Soviets. We haven't had any sales so we'll sell it somewhere else.

In what ways does your department concern itself with third world nations?

Here at the Department of Agriculture, we have an Office of International Cooperation and Assistance. Through that office we offer technical and educational assistance to developing nations all over the world. We also have Public Law 480 which is a program for giving food and commodities for local currencies to developing countries. This is called the Food for Peace Program. It's about 30 years old. It's a hallmark in terms of aid programs. We sell or give non-fat dry milk to countries like the Philippines or Mexico. The program serves literally dozens of third world nations; Africa is heavy with recipients, what with Ethiopia and the Sudan.

What does holding the position of Secretary of Agriculture mean to you personally?

It's a great honor to be asked to serve the President of the United States as a member of his Cabinet. It's a challenging opportunity to be given a chance to direct an organization like the Department of Agriculture. It's a very fine organization with a long tradition of excellence. It's a great honor.

Has the education you received at Notre Dame been essential to your success? In what ways has it benefited you?

My education at Notre Dame has been certainly helpful. Once in a while you wish you had been a better student and learned more. But the fact is I remember a lot of things I learned at Notre Dame. Particularly, the whole blending together of a Catholic education in an atmosphere of vigorous intellectual and physical activity was very good for me. I made some friends that I continue to have. This side of it is very important. The philosophy of life that Notre Dame espoused is a great value to me.

DOME - OPOLY

...it makes a great Christmas gift.

CHRIS SHANK

features writer

"I'll tell you what, I'll trade you Stanford, Walsh, and Holy Cross for the Senior Bar."

"Get outta here. You still own the Credit Union plus Morris Inn. If I gave you Senior Bar, I'd be paying a fortune when you put credits on 'em. Anyway, you're stuck in the Library studying for exams, while I hold a Procrastination Card. How much are you willing to pay to get out of the Library now?"

"Just roll the dice, buddy."

Tio, creator of Dome-opoly, graduated from Saint Mary's with a degree in marketing in 1984, went on to receive an MBA degree, and introduced her game this year in both campus bookstores. She doesn't plan to retire on the sale of her new enterprise, but does hope to break even by Christmas.

Forming her own company, JTO Enterprises, Tio hired artists and printers, while working with other game companies, and assembled her product, Dome-opoly. Happy with sales thus far, Tio says that her entrepreneurial venture has been "quite a learning experience," taking her 18 months to get it produced.

Do you know the Notre Dame fight song? Could you be placed on Academic Probation? Can you afford the Phone Bill or a University Donation? Will you go on a Panty Raid to Regina Hall?

Jennifer Tio makes all this possible in Dome-opoly, the board game made just for those of us at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's who live in the shadow of the Golden Dome. You don't have to be a multi-million-dollar-bank-account, benevolent philanthropist to buy halls for your favorite university, you just have to play the game.

The only complaints she has received are from people who expected their hallowed halls somewhere on the board. But they must also consider that not all the streets and avenues of Atlantic City are in "that other game."

Originally hailing from LaGrange Park, Ill., Tio now lives in Chicago, working for McMarketing Services Inc. in advertising and sales promotion. "But Dome-opoly gives me something to do outside of my job. I can assemble the games together while I'm watching TV," she said.

So how did Jennifer Tio get her idea to work? "It just happened - really... Don't forget to say it makes a great Christmas gift."

Christmas? Wait, here's a "Celebrate the end of exams" card. "Advance to Senior Bar and buy a round for the house. Pay $200."

Oh, No! "Go to the Library. Go directly to the Library. Do not pass Registration. Do not collect a $200. scholarship."

Only a game? Dome-opoly seems like real life around here, under the Golden Dome.

BANDAIDS

and red shoelaces

CATHY STACY

features writer

Stonehenge may be only a few months old, but its mystic supremacy on campus has already been challenged by the unique and somewhat bizarre projects of Prof. Kleinman's freshman architecture class. These "campus transformations" began to appear in mid-September - a gigantic Bandaid on the new LaFortune Center and paper ivy taped to the barren stones of the Law School addition - but most of them remained standing for only a day or two.

Emphatic students may have noticed up to 60 of these creative concoctions, handmade in different fabrics - paper, rope and tape. According to Kleinman's outline, the prospective architects had only two restrictions - their projects had to be temporary and non-destructive - allowing them to be as outrageous as they chose. Working in pairs, about 120 students designed and installed their transformations across campus.

After evaluating a place with regard to its building elements and natural setting, they were instructed to transfer either the positive or negative aspects of the particular setting into a physical installment. By creatively representing their relationship to the campus in such a way, the architects' opinions could also be of significance to other people.

The implications of most of the projects were obvious - the hopes for a quick recovery for LaFortune and the "traditionalization" of new buildings on campus. The infamous sprinkler system was the subject of Marcus McAllister's project. By leashing a sprinkler to a tree with a "Beware of Sprinkler" sign, he translated a relationship common to most students on campus. The project was enjoyable, McAllister said, because of the freedom for expression and creativity.

Still climbing the bricks of the Band building are Mike Beaton's and Doug Smith's red tape shoelaces. The inconsistency in the pattern of the bricks makes the back of the single building look like two separate buildings. By lacing the two different patterns together, Beaton and Smith intended to unify them and "re-join" the building. These shoelaces are the last of the freshman projects on campus but who knows what is to follow?

The Band building is left in stitches by two first year architecture students.

Tired of the old routine?

Join

The Observer

The Accent department is accepting applications for:

● Features Copy Editor

For information contact Mary Jacoby at The Observer (239-5313), 3rd floor LaFortune.

Sports Briefs

Tickets for Sunday's men's and women's Blue-Gold basketball game are on sale now at the ACC. Prices are $2 for adults and $1 for students. Proceeds from the games will go to Logan Center and the Neighborhood Study Help Program. The women's game begins at 6:30, followed by the men's game at 7:30. -The Observer

Observer Sports Writers will have a meeting at The Observer offices in LaFortune tonight at 8. The subject of this meeting will be winter sports assignments. -The Observer

WVFI-AM 64 airs "Speaking of Sports" live tonight at 10. Hosts Rudy Brandl, Frank Mastro, and Kevin McCormack welcome Irish pitchers Bryan Tucker and Mike Harmon to discuss various topics, including baseball, NBA basketball, and Irish football. Call 239-6400 to participate in the discussion. -The Observer

Off-campus hockey players should sign their name to the roster in the NVA office and call Mike Kirk (277-1280) or Dan Gendreau (272-3867) for further information. The deadline is Friday. -The Observer

The ND Tae Kwon Do Club will begin practice tonight at 7:30 instead of 7 due to a conflict with fencing. -The Observer

The ND judo club participated in the Wisconsin Judo Open Sunday. John Fox and Paul Jackson tied for fourth in the men's middleweight division. Kathy Brienza took first and Sara Harty placed fourth in the women's lightweight division, Anne-Marie Reidy took fourth in the women's heavyweight division. And Charlie Hooks, coach of the club, won the master's heavyweight black belt division. -The Observer

The ND water polo club will hold its final practice of the fall season tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the Rolfs Aquatic Center. All members are encouraged to attend. For more information contact Dave Patchin at 4502. -The Observer

Interhall football equipment should be returned to Gate 9 of the Stadium according to the following schedule. Today: 5:30 -Pangborn; 6 -Fisher; 6:30 -St. Ed's; 7 -Carroll; 7:30 -Morrissey; 8:00 -Zahm. There is a late charge for a team per individual. -The Observer

The Trident Naval Society of Notre Dame has organized a 24-hour runathon this Friday and Saturday on the Notre Dame campus for the purpose of raising funds for the International Special Olympics. -The Observer

The Buffalo Bills fired Head Coach Hank Bullough yesterday and replaced him with former Kansas City Chiefs' head coach Marv Levy. -Associated Press

NVA Calendar

Special to The Observer

Non-Varsity Athletics has announced the following deadlines for upcoming events:

Tomorrow is the deadline for the following NVA events:

Hockey: 20-man rosters, interhall event, $35 entry fee and insurance consent forms required.

Basketball: interhall men's and women's, grad and club events are planned.

Squash: student-faculty open tournament.

Raquetball: mixed-doubles tournament.

Table Tennis: singles tournament open to students, staff and faculty.

Swimming: 50-yard sprint tournament with head-to-head competition.

In addition, a Nov. 14 deadline has been announced for an upcoming Turkey Shoot.

No advanced registration is required for a Nov. 11 Kayak Clinic at the Rolfs Aquatic Center.

Classifieds

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Saint Mary's office, located on the third floor of Haggar College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. The charge is 10 cents per five characters per day.

NOTICES

TYPING AVAILABLE
287-4082

TYPING/WORDPROCESSING
CALL DOLORES 277-6131.

EXPERT TYPING SERVICE. CALL
MRS. COKER, 233-7009.

JAZZ, NEW WAVE, CLASSICAL, THE BEST STAFF IN THE WORLD, WSDN RULES. (and by the way we're having a fund drive.) Nov 2 -9.

Wordprocessing Call LaVonne 287-
9024

AIR FORCE IS RETURNING TICKET
BOOKS ON WED 5 NOV. BASEMENT
OF LAFORTUNE 5-7 PM. QUESTIONS
CALL TOM 21888

Want to listen to the BEST BLUE'S
BAND in South Bend? THE BULLDOG
BLUES BAND THE BULLDOG BLUES BAND THE BULLDOG BLUES BAND is playing on WEDNESDAY at CHIP'S

"Cause even Domers get the Blues sometimes..."

LOST/FOUND

FOUND. H.P. BEFORE BREAK, CALL
TO IDENTIFY. 1412

FOUND: CALCULATOR IN 224 CUS-
HING. CALL DAN AT 1154.

FOUND: Guy's Swatch In D2 parking lot on 10-29-86. Call Mark at 4113 to claim.

LOST-CLASS RING!!!!!! J.A.B 87
BLUE STONE WITH GOLD N.D.
$100.00 REWARD CALL JOE 30793101 lost: student Id. card--SSC381-88-3703. If found, please call Susan at 289-3647.

LOST Friday night near Theodore's:
black women's Guess watch with white face call 3491

TO THE PERSON WHO TOOK THE FOOTBALL HELMET FROM STAN-FORD ON 10/31: You can leave it outside the door of 332 Stanford anytime.No questions asked.

LOST KONICA CAMERA AT 107
CAMPUS VIEW 1031.IF FOUND
PLEASE CALL 284-5073. NO QUES-TIONS ASKED. REWARD!!!

LOST: 6 KEYS ON A RING THAT SAYS
KYOTO. I DESPERATELY NEED
THEM!! ANNETTE 284-4372

LOST: BLACK, RAY-BAN
"BEWITCHING" SUNGLASSES.
REWARD!!! LOST FRIDAY AT THEODORE'S. ANNETTE 284-4372.

FOR RENT

Two room furnished apt. private entrance utilities paid 288-0955 mornings.

Guests coming for game need place to stay? Silverbrook Bed-Breakfast in Niles. Clean, quiet, reasonable. 616-684-2323 evenings.

2 room efficiency private entrance utilities paid 288-0955 mornings

WANTED

want a ride, buster? The beigemobile is on the road again, looking for RIDERS or a RIDE to PURDUE the day of NOVEMBER 8, 1986. For more information, or clearer information call Gertie, 284-5125.

FULL AND PART TIME WAITRESS
NEEDED. MUST BE 21. APPLY AT SMITTY'S CONEY ISLAND TAP, 125
NO MICHIGAN, SOUTH BEND, IN 46601

COMPUTER STORE SEEKS RELI-ABLE PART-TIME HELP. NEAR
CAMPUS. 277-5026.

I NEED RIDE TO COLUMBUS, OHIO
THIS WEEKEND. CALL TODD AT 1050.

THE BEIGEMOBILE TO PURDUE is leaving at high noon on Friday, November 7, instead of 8 as earlier stated. If you'd still like to ride along (return Saturday afternoon/evening) give Gertie a call at 284-5125. Thanks.

Ride needed to Nashville or B'ham for T-Giving call Tim 3306

DESPERATELY NEED RIDE TO PURDUE THIS WEEKEND, SHARES.
CALL STEVE AT 1087

WANTED DOMINO'S PIZZA DELIVERY
PERSONNEL $500 AN HOUR
GUARANTEED YOUR FIRST TWO WEEKS! FLEXIBLE NIGHT-TIME
HOURS. APPLY IN PERSON BE-TWEEN 4:30PM AND 9:00PM AT 1835
SOUTH BEND AV 277-2151

FOR SALE

Is it True You Can Buy Jeeps for $44 through the U.S. government? Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142
Ext 7318

FOR SALE: 2 Round trip UNITED LIMO
tickets to O'HARA $45-value for $25.
Call 232-8246.

TICKETS

2 ND-SMU GA's 4 SALE; CALL 512-
735-2164

I NEED SMU & PENN ST GA's.272-6306

NEED 2 SMU TIX
CALL JAY AT 22174

NEED 6 SMU TIX
CALL JAY 22174

NEED ONE SMU TICKET -STUDENT
OR GA -CALL 2985

NEED SMU GA'S AND STUDENT TX
PAUL-2364

MEGA $BUCKSS are awaiting the person who will sell me 4 PENN ST GA's for my family so I can come home for Christmas! Call Andy at 1243.

You want em, I got em. 1 student ticket for SMU and PENN STATE!!Best offer.
Jeff 3178

HELPI! HELPI! I need PENN STATE
TIXS. Help me show Ma nd Pa that my bro goes to the wrong school. PENN
ST. TIXS for TODD at 1310 or 1306

I'm asking you nicely -
Please sell me PSU tix (stud. or GA)
Call Michelle B. at 4570

BAREFOOT KENTUCKIANS need stud. or GA tix for SMU!!
Let my backwoods buddies see a game!
Call Dave at 3293
MOONSHINE to all who help!!

BUBBLE BUS IS COMING!! BUBBLE
BUS IS COMING!! THIS IS ONE BUBBLE I DON'T WANT TO BURST...PLEASE HELP ME...NEED 28
1/2 TIX STUD OR GA WILL DO...PLEASE CALL BONEHEAD AT 1245 OR 1352.

BIG BUCKS FOR 3 PENN STATE TIX
-CALL TJ -283-1899

I NEED 1 PENN ST GA. WILL PAY BIG
$$$! CALL TIM 3314.

SMU & PENN ST. GA'S FOR SALE 277-
0296

NEED 2 SMU STUD. TIX. CALL JANICE
272-8919

CASH for 2-3 GA or Stud Tix for PennSt 2551

I need 2 Penn State GA's Kelly 284-4455

Need 4 SMU tix. Will pay top $ I Call 23487

HAVE 4 SMU GAS NEED 4 PENN ST
GAS CALL CHIEF 21838

NEED 2 SMU GA'S CALL 2266

I NEED 2 SMU GA'S. CALL CHRIS AT 2742

NEED PENN ST. TIX
CALL JIM 289-3482

I DESPERATELY NEED 4-6 USC TICK-ETS! IF I CAN'T GET THEM, I'M DEAD!
PLEASE HELP! CALL CHRIS X2542

NEED PENN G.A.'S-CHRIS 1738

NEED 1 SMU STUDENT TIX CALL JOE
21888

I need SMU ticket. Doug-2514

I NEED 6 PENN ST. G.A.'S. CALL
TODD AT 1050.

I NEED ANY PENN STATE TIX. CALL
RICH AT 272-8923.

NEED 2 SMU G.A.'S. CALL LAURIE
1254.

NEED 2 PENNST STUDTIX CALL
CHRIS 234-5807.

NEED 10 PENNST TICKS MARIO 1173

I NEED 2 SMU GA's. CALL 239 5370
or 284 5105. THANKS.

I need 1 Penn St. stu. tic. $$ Call Jon
22065

NEED 4 SMU GA'S Call RICH 1218

I GOT SMU GA'S. CALL THE DUDE,
232-6153.

NEED 5 PENN ST GA'S BAD!! FRED
289-9225

need 4 SMU stud tix-call 4215 or 1709

HELPI! I NEED 2SMU STUD OR GA'S
& 4PENNGA'S. THERESA 4027.

NEED PENN STATE GA's -CALL 283-3848.

NEED 2 GA'S FOR SMU CALL SHEILA
284-5250.

PERSONALS

OUR HOUSE: COLD BEER & LIQUOR,
CARRY OUT TO 3 A.M. U.S. 31 N., ONE BLOCK SOUTH OF HOLIDAY INN.

SENIORS: IF YOU DON'T WANT IBM,
PROCTER & GAMBLE, THE BIG 8 -
INVEST IN AN ALTERNATIVE CAREER WHERE VALUES ARE OF ESSENCE IN WHAT YOU DO. EX-PLORE HOLY CROSS ASSOCIATES
PROGRAMS: USA & CHILE.
CONTACT: MARY ANN ROEMER
(CSC) OR JANE PITZ (HCA OFFICE).

DESPERATE TEXAN WILL DO AL-MOST ANYTHING FOR 2 SMU TICK-ETS. -STU OR GA-CALL CAROLYN-3831

PANDORA BOOKS HAS MOVED TO 808 HOWARD BY NOTRE DAME AVE.
SELL YOUR CLASS BOOKS FOR $$
OPEN 7 DAYS FROM 10-5:30. 233-2342.

ATTENTION ALL OFF-CAMPUS STU-DENTS!!
O.C. FORMAL TIX ON SALE WED., 11/5
& THURS., 11/6 IN LAFORTUNE (1st FLOOR) FROM 3:30 TO 5pm
$10 COUPLE
ANY QUESTIONS? CALL RACE 234-
0982

R.E.M FANS We've got rare tunes and they're yours for the price of one album. Hear "Femme Fatale"
"Bandwagon" "White Tornado"
"Voice of Harold" and more. Plus many favorites LIVE. Most studio quality on a TDK sa-90 tape. Only 57 shopping days till Christmas! Call the Hindu Love Gods at 2495 or 2550 and get them before we run out.

JUNIORS!JUNIORS!JUNIORS!!
JUNIOR NITE AT MACRIS
WEDNESDAY, NOV. 5, 8-9pm -BE
THERE!!!!
$2.99 SANDWICH & SOUP SPECIAL
-COUPONS AT DOOR!!
JUNIORS!JUNIORS!JUNIORS!!

Are you running a D&D campaign and need the help of a powerful and experienced Magic User? If so call 4278 after 5 pm.

SARG IS COMING!

SARG IS COMING!

Look out Polish boys & 2nd fl.couches-she won't do it for $30, still it's Piglet's bday!No Rose,Tim Kempton is NOT in my living room,& his name is BILL.Hey South Quad,It wasnt a bookbag,It WAS a Weds.,& it definitely was Herrmann-she couldnt stand or walk,but she sure could shout & sprint!Oh yeah?Well-uh...Don't bleed in Zahm(that is VERY wicked),watch out for Quasimoto & pre-trial conversion, and happy bday!Love,your fellow Fallen Angels.

Happy B-Day JENNY HATFIELD
JENNY HATFIELD!!! lots of love, the other women of REX

QUOTE OF THE DAY: TOM, BEFORE
IDIE, I WANT TO DO A STEWARDESS.
JUST ONE.

ROSES ARE RED VIOLETS ARE BLUE
IF I HAD A ROOMMATE SHE'D BE JUST LIKE YOU. HAPPY LATE (but not for that less sincere) BIRTHDAY KAREN HALL. (Instead of roses, how about I give you a cookie?) LOVE, the one next door

John J. Is it possible to be 6'9 and still have a small ego?

WADE AND HOMER-thanks a bunch for the flowers. I'm ok, but it's hard being a FRB without my love MIKE!
Remember...CAESAR RULES!

HEY CAPP MAJORS REMEMBER THE MEETING TODAY AT 7PM 210
O'SHAG BE THERE

OCN HALL Reps
pick-up for: Lemans, Fisher, Off-campus, and Badin. Tonight after 6 pm Wednesday.
Due by Thursday (11/6) at 8 pm.

-For those who understand, MARIA With everyday that passes without seeing her, the fear grows from deep inside Afraid that today is too late and yesterday was not soon enough Still keeping hope when there is no reason to believe Doing everything that can be done, but knowing that it is not enough Nothing compares to the hurt when you lose before the fight has even begun Keep smiling pretty lady

Bowling Ball.Cake(s).Heinekin."Walk this Way."Tatter tois.Satchel o'fun Matlese.Dull, boring Leon. All these will be my 21st b-day for the rest of my life.Thanks guys,for a great night,great memories, and thanks
Dave for taking it easy on me.
Love&fishes, Jim PS.Crack f-rules

COME JOIN US!!!

COME JOIN US FOR LUNCH!!!
Thursday, Nov. 6; 11:30-1:30 at the Center for Social Concerns
Proceeds to benefit BIG BROTHER/BIG SISTER

HAMLIN HAULS IN THE HARDWARE
Congrats on your debate showing
-your roomies

CONGRATULATIONS MARY
REYNOLDS!!!! on your Rotary scholarship. "SEHR GUT GEMACHT!!" Observer Innsbruckers

SENIOR TRIP T-SHIRTS! Call 3851 soon

Hungry? Call The YELLOW SUB-
MARINE at 272-HIKE. Delivery hours:
Monday -Thursday 5pm-12am; Friday
5pm-2am; Saturday 5pm-1am; Sunday
4pm-10pm.

FROMTHELOWESTLOWBACKTOT-
HEIGHTESTHIGH Let it b known that Bote/Jager is back in formation, having FINALLY aborted Suicide Mission J12. Better friendly flak than enemy deception and abuse.Maintain Integrity. Welcome back to the floc, Cmdr.TrueFriends

HELPI! I need a ride to IU Bloomington this weekend. Will share cost. Call Laurie 4012.

FARLEY CALLING Thanks for the inspiration, ENGLAND. WE DID IT!!!
We're waiting for you to make it four.
Miss U. From the FINEST with love.

COMRADES! Come one come all to the next meeting of the Little Stave World fan club. Meeting to be held in the Red Room of LaFortune Student Center. Workers of the world unite!

MAGGIE, MARGRET, MAGS, MAG-
GOT; Call her what you will, it's her birthday!!!! Call 4451 and tell Miss O'Connor Happy Birthday. Love,
Jack's new girlfriend P.S.-No split2aol!tr for a week. this is your present.

RIDE NEEDED TO MARQUETTE, OR CHICAGO NOV.7-9.WILL PAY GAS
$284-4130

AP Photo
Arizona running back David Adams breaks loose in last weekend's game against USC. Both teams are ranked in the Top 20. Story at right.

SMU falls

AP Poll top three unbeaten, untied

Associated Press

Miami, Penn State and Michigan, the only three unbeaten and untied teams in major-college football, held onto the top three spots yesterday in this week's Associated Press poll.

All three are 8-0 after weekend victories.

Oklahoma remained fourth but Auburn and Washington fell several positions while Arizona State jumped from seventh to fifth.

Miami, which defeated No. 20 Florida State, 41-23, and knocked the Seminoles out of the Top Twenty, received 53 of 58 first-place votes and 1,153 of a possible 1,160 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. The Hurricanes are No. 1 for the sixth consecutive week.

Penn State, which moved into the runner-up spot a week ago, received four first-place

AP Top 20

The Top Twenty college football teams in The Associated Press poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, this season's records and total points. Points based on 20-19-18-17 etc. Notre Dame opponents are italicized.

1.	Miami	8-0-0	1,153
2.	Penn State (4)	8-0-0	1,076
3.	Michigan (1)	8-0-0	1,053
4.	Oklahoma	7-1-0	953
5.	Arizona St.	7-0-1	921
6.	Alabama	8-1-0	861
7.	Nebraska	7-1-0	793
8.	Texas A&M	7-1-0	740
9.	Auburn	7-1-0	660
10.	Arkansas	7-1-0	639
11.	Ohio St.	7-2-0	535
12.	UCLA	6-2-0	500
13.	Washington	6-2-0	477
14.	So. California	6-2-0	434
15.	N. Carolina St.	6-1-1	343
16.	Iowa	6-2-0	260
17.	Arizona	6-2-0	178
18.	LSU	5-2-0	154
19.	Georgia	6-2-0	103
20.	Clemson	6-2-0	56

votes and 1,076 points following a 19-0 triumph over West Virginia. The other first-place ballot went to Michigan, which swamped Illinois 69-13 and received 1,053 points.

Oklahoma, 7-1, totaled 953 points after thrashing Kansas

64-3 and Arizona State's 34-21 victory over Washington lifted the Sun Devils, 7-0-1, into fifth place with 921 points while the Huskies fell to 13th.

Alabama rebounded from last week's 23-3 loss to Penn State and trounced Mississippi State 38-3. The Crimson Tide received 861 points in climbing from eighth to sixth while the Bulldogs dropped out of the rankings after a four-week stay.

Nebraska moved up from ninth to seventh with 793 points with a 38-0 rout of Kansas State and Texas A&M vaulted from 10th to eighth with 740 points after edging Southern Methodist 39-35.

Auburn suffered its first loss of the season, bowing to Florida 18-17 and dropping from fifth to ninth with 660 points. Arkansas, No. 13 last week, rounded out the Top Ten with 639 points after trimming Rice 45-14.

SMC soccer drops 2 games

By JANE SHEA
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's soccer team lost two games last week to Michigan State University and Kalamazoo College, dropping its record to 5-10-1.

Last Wednesday the Belles lost to the Spartans in East Lansing, Mich., by a score of 6-1.

Saint Mary's stayed with Michigan State for the first 35 minutes of play and kept them from scoring.

"It was an improvement from the last time we lost to Michigan State," said Head Coach John Akers, "and there was good play by the seniors."

The lone Saint Mary's goal was made by freshman Kathy Revane, with an assist by sophomore Ellen Boyle.

"Michigan State is a very aggressive and fast paced team and we could not hold on for the entire game," said Akers.

Last Friday the Belles lost on the road to Kalamazoo College by a score of 6-0.

"Kalamazoo is not that much better than us," said Akers, "but they take advantages of opportunities and are very aggressive."

The Belles' final game of the season will be played today against Hope College.

Rams edge Bears on 50-yd. FG

Associated Press

CHICAGO - Mike Lansford's 50-yard field goal with four seconds remaining last night lifted the Los Angeles Rams to a 20-17 NFL victory over the Chicago Bears.

It was Lansford's longest field goal of the season and gave the Rams the victory despite a woeful 6-for-25 performance by quarterback Steve Dils.

The game was a rematch of last year's NFC championship game which the Bears won 24-0 on the way to the Super Bowl championship.

The teams erupted for four touchdowns in the third quarter with seldom-used running back Thomas Sanders bolting for touchdown runs of 10 and 34 yards to give the Bears a 17-10 lead. The Rams tied it on 65-yard scoring pass from Dils to Ron Brown with 1:28 left in the third period.

Backup quarterbacks Steve Fuller of the Bears and Dils of the Rams were unable to get either offense rolling until the game broke open in the third quarter.

Fuller was making his second start of the season in place of Jim McMahon, who has an injured right shoulder. Dils got his third starting assignment, replacing veteran Steve Bartkowski.

The Bears took a 3-0 lead on Kevin Butler's 30-yard field goal in the first quarter and the Rams tied it on Lansford's 26-yard field goal with 9:45 left in the third quarter.

ARE YOUR DRINKING BUDDIES THINKING BUDDIES?

Good times mean getting together with good buddies and Budweiser. There's something about a couple of beers with friends that makes for great camaraderie.

Beer is meant to be enjoyed by adults socially. It is also the beverage of MODERATION. Good judgment should be used whenever you drink.

Make sure "your drinking buddies are thinking buddies" and exercise good judgment. Especially if they drive! When they need a good friend think for them! Don't let them get behind the wheel — the outcome could be disastrous.

At Anheuser-Busch, we are concerned about you, our valued customer. We support research, education and treatment programs aimed at combating alcoholism and alcohol abuse.

To obtain your personal key ring guide to responsible beer drinking, send $1.50 which includes postage and handling to:

MODERATION KEY RING
W. 1614 Riverside
Spokane, WA 99201

Anheuser-Busch, Inc.
ONE OF THE ANHEUSER-BUSCH COMPANIES

ND opens swim season with loss to Denison

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Sports Writer

Despite a 119-98 loss to Division III power Denison, Notre Dame head coach Tim Welsh called his men's swim team's season-opening meet last Saturday "very exciting."

"We had some lifetime best times and some freshmen winning events. It was an encouraging meet that we'd like to have won," said Welsh. "If we're still swimming like this in January, I won't be happy. But for the beginning of November, it's great."

Individuals praised by Welsh included junior Pat McManus, sophomores Eric Bodhan and Roger Miro, and freshman Ed Veome.

McManus placed third in the 200-yard butterfly with a lifetime best time of 2:03.61, and Bodhan placed second in the 200-yard backstroke and fourth in the 1000-yard freestyle. Veome, in the first dual meet of his life, won the one-meter diving competition and placed third in three-meter diving.

Other individual winners for the Irish included freshman William Jackoboise in the 200-yard freestyle and the 400-yard freestyle relay team of David Thoman, Mark Lowney, Steve Coffey, and Erick Hendrickson.

Century

continued from page 12

was designed to be a club in which people could exercise in groups. And as the name "Century Club" implies, a person would be given a certificate when they had completed 100 miles.

But the thought of 100 miles - 161 kilometers, 400 laps around a quarter-mile track, 7200 lengths of a 25-yard pool, the distance from the Golden Dome to Rush Street - is enough to discourage more than it would challenge.

So the focus was changed to offer more opportunities for different levels of ability. Steady, consistent workouts are emphasized, and the pledge provides the motivation.

But the name "Century Club" sticks. Derengoski said that as NVA considered changing the name of the program last semester, interest in the club suddenly increased to over 60 members. The name was left unchanged.

Though down to 29 members, Derengoski predicts that interest will pick up in the winter as students look for outside motivation in their workouts.

Rugby Club ends season with three wins

After its first four games, the Notre Dame Rugby Club seemed hard-pressed to have a season even approaching the success of last year's 9-1 squad. But a three game winning streak has given the Irish new life going into the spring season.

In the opening game of the season, the Irish were shut out by Michigan, 26-0. Then, after defeating Dayton, the Irish dropped two games in the Indiana-Kentucky Tournament and watched their record fall to 1-3.

Notre Dame has recovered by winning the last three games of the fall season by a combined score of 51-15. The final opponent to fall was Fort Knox last Saturday, 23-11.

Pat O'Malley, Chris Quigley, and Terry Sigler scored tries for Notre Dame, Sigler getting his on a 60-yard breakaway. Billy Young added seven points to the scoring attack on kicks.

Notre Dame got ahead early, 11-0, but Fort Knox rallied to tie the score at 11 in the second half. The Irish put it away with 12 points in the final 15 minutes.

Other Notre Dame victims during the fall season included Marquette and Valparaiso.

"We had a lot of fun, and that's the most important thing. We have a laid-back attitude," said Club President Quentin Williams. "Our major goal is to have fun, then we try to win too."

Steve Megargee

Club Corner

Notre Dame's 4-1 regular-season record during the fall gives the team a legitimate shot at again reaching the Midwest Regional Tournament in the spring.

"It looks pretty good because we got third in the tournament last year, and we lost only one regular season match. We won't know till the spring, and the spring season also counts."

It was only fitting that the Rowing Club ended its highly successful season just as it had started - with an impressive win for both the men and women's teams.

Just as the Irish had dominated several Midwest schools in the Head of Des Moines in September, they outdistanced many Southern teams in their last regatta held in Knoxville, Tenn., last weekend. The men's lightweight eight placed first, with the 'B' boat placing third, and the women's eight also won their race.

The regatta included teams from the Citadel, Tennessee, North Carolina, Cincinnati, and the Atlanta Rowing Club.

"This season was much better than last year. The men's lightweight boats in the races at Des Moines and Tennessee had the fastest time of anyone," said Club President Joe Brunetti. "The men did relatively the same as last year, but the women won first place in three of five events, which is incredible. You can really attribute that to the coaching."

The women's team was guided by first-year Head Coach Clete Graham, who had previously coached the Irish in the 1970's.

While the club is participating in no more regattas, the novice team will have its first competition in a dual row with Michigan on Sunday at the Notre Dame boathouse. The row is tentatively scheduled from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Playoffs

continued from page 12

plowed in from the one. The conversion was missed, but it was sufficient to account for the game's final margin.

"Going into the game, we knew we were in the playoffs, and Morrissey had to win," said Fitzgerald. "In that game they definitely outplayed us, but yesterday we were able to move the ball and create the big plays."

In the other matchup between the Zahmbies and Howard, the game's events were mostly centered around the defense.

Late in the fourth quarter, Howard, who was riding a three game winning streak, capitalized on a fumble recovery by Rob O'Brien, who returned it from midfield to the Zahmbie 10. That set up the subsequent touchdown run by Steve Ellis, who went off-tackle for the margin of victory.

Zahm had another opportunity for a score when in the first quarter they missed a field goal after recovering a fumbled Howard punt return. The teams then traded punts until the big fumble return by O'Brien.

These two games now set up the semi-final matches that will determine who will play in the championship game at the Stadium. Howard will face seemingly invincible Stanford, while Flanner looks ahead to Sorin.

The Howard game looks particularly interesting because Stanford has beaten its last two opponents by a combined score of 52-0. Howard, while on a four game winning streak, appears to be a heavy underdog, though Brennan isn't so sure.

"Apparently, (Stanford) wasn't too impressed with our performance yesterday," he said. "I don't think they're unbeatable. We're an improving team, and I think the game will be a very competitive one."

It should be interesting.

Seniors and interested underclassmen are invited to attend:

"Investment Banking Financial Analyst Positions: An Introduction"

Date: Thursday, November 6

Time: 8:00 p.m.

Location: Upper Lounge
University Club

Two 1985 graduates from the University will discuss the role of the analyst on Wall Street and provide advice on researching and seeking two-year financial analyst positions.

Sponsored by:

Salomon Brothers Inc

Kidder, Peabody & Co.
Incorporated

All majors welcome.

Erasmus Books
1027 E. Wayne
Tues - Sun, noon - 6
1 block south of Jefferson & Eddy
Used & out of print books bought, sold, searched 232-8444

travelmore

Ask Mr. Foster
Travel Service Since 1888

Travel Agency
NEW LOCATION
lower level-LaFortune
239-7080

SUNSHINE PROMOTIONS PRESENTS

E D D I E M O N E Y

Saturday, November 22 8:00pm
Morris Civic Auditorium

All seats reserved $14.00

Tickets available at the Century Center Box Office, Nightwinds, Just For The Record (Mishawaka), Super Sounds (Elkart). Charge by phone 219-284-9111.

Bloom County

Berke Breathed

Mark Williams

Beer Nuts

NOV. 4 - LET'S PAUSE FOR A BRIEF UPDATE. OUR HERO HAS NOW BEEN "ROTTING" IN A NICARAGUAN JAIL FOR 2 WEEKS ON PHONY SPY CHARGES THAT HE WAS ACCUSED OF WHEN HIS PLANE (THAT WAS SUPPOSED TO BE FLYING HIM HOME FOR FALL BREAK) ACCIDENTALLY STRAYED OVER NICARAGUA. CURRENTLY, HE'S TRYING TO COME TO TERMS WITH HIS OWN MORTALITY...

Far Side

Gary Larson

Early clock-watchers

Campus

12:00 p.m.: Kellogg Institute Brown Bag Seminar, "The Consolidation of Democracy Project: Some thoughts at Mid-Stage," by Prof. Guillermo O'Donnell, ND. 131 Decio

3:30 p.m.: Aeronautical/Mechanical Engineering Seminar, "Flows and Fractals," by K.R. Sreenivasan, Yale University, 224 Cushing

4:00 - 6:00 p.m.: Exxon Distinguished Visiting Scholar Series, College of Arts and Letters, and the Dept. of Modern and Classical Languages Lecture Theme: Perspectives in Classics. "Reconstructing the Roman Countryside," by Stephen Dyson, Prof. of Classics and History, Wesleyan University, Library Lounge

4:00 p.m.: GTE Emerging Scholar Lecture in Civil Engineering, "New Developments in the Durability and Damage Tolerance of Aerospace Structures," by Margery E. Artley, Air Force Wright Aeronautical Lab., Wright Patterson AFB. 238 Fitzpatrick Hall

4:00 - 5:30 p.m.: SMC Philosophy Dept. Lecture, "the Good," by Rosemary Des Jardins, Bryn-Mawr College, Stapleton Lounge

4:30 p.m.: Mathematical Colloquium, "Statistical Perspectives of Biomedical Problems," by Prof. Anthony M. Schork, University of Michigan, 226 CCMB

4:30 p.m.: Biological Sciences Seminar, "Ecological Consequences of the Projected Sea-Level Rise: Implications for the International Geosphere/Biosphere Program," by Dr. Orie Loucks, Holcomb Research Institute, Butler University, Galvin Auditorium

4:30 p.m.: Physics lecture, "Hegerfeldt's Theorem" by Joseph Godfrey, ND Dept. of Physics, 327 Nieuland

6:30 p.m.: Presentation, "How to Conduct a Successful Mail Campaign" by Paul Reynolds, Career & Placement Services, 124 Hayes Healy

7:00 p.m.: General Meeting, Inventors Club, 222 Cushing

7:30 p.m.: Kellogg Institute, the Depts. of Anthropology, and Communication and theatre Latin American Film Series, "Dona Flor and Her Two Husbands," in 1977, color, 106 minutes, Bruno Baretto, Brazil, Annenberg Auditorium

8:00 - 11:00 p.m.: Overseas Development Network Coffeehouse, CSC

8:00 p.m.: Philosophy Lecture, "Through a Glass Darkly: Plato on the Good," by Rosemary Des Jardins, Bryn-Mawr college, Library Lounge

9:00 p.m.: Debate, "Gun Control," sponsored by the Grace Hall Social Concerns Group, Grace Hall Pit

Dinner Menus

Notre Dame

8 oz. New York Strip Steak
Cheese Macaroni & Ham
Vegetable Quiche
Chicken Patties on Sesame Round Bun

Saint Mary's

French Dip Sandwich w/ Au Jus
Broccoli Stuffed Fish
Spinich Crepes
Deli Bar

The Daily Crossword

- ACROSS
- Electricity
 - "A — Is Born"
 - Enclosure
 - Hilo hello
 - Tops
 - Taj Mahal site
 - Descartes and Lacoste
 - Gr. meeting place
 - Moselle feeder
 - Restaurant fare
 - Baseball's Mel
 - Latin abbr.
 - Papas
 - In a stupid manner
 - Was acquainted with
 - Salad ingredient
 - Theater section
 - Ovine sound
 - Fair
 - Interdict
 - Group of followers
 - Spread to dry
 - Nautical call
 - Ballet dance
 - Donkey sound
 - Turgid
 - Pilot
 - Eng. school
 - Vane letters
 - Restaurant fare
 - Diva's forte
 - Bridge seat
 - Fla. seaport
 - Totes
 - Captain Hook's aide
 - Terry or Glasgow
 - Parisian pals
 - Dispatch
 - Zeus or Apollo

- DOWN
- Container
 - Rubber tree
 - Charged atom
 - Man in the kitchen

©1986 Tribune Media Services, Inc. All Rights Reserved

11/4/86

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

11/4/86

- Over the hill
- Gave
- Detour
- Said
- Public assembly
- Dramatist
- Pirandello
- Ger. city
- Part of a casa
- Spouse for a baronet
- Valley
- 1051
- Favorite
- Before how or way

Student Activities Board presents...

William Minter
specialist on South Africa

With an introduction by Dr. Peter Walshe.
Wednesday, Nov. 5th 8:00pm Washington Hall

"With All Deliberate Delay: The West and South Africa Sanctions"

Field hockey ends home schedule by thrashing Albion College, 9-0

By ANDREA BELEFONTE
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame field hockey team defeated Albion, 9-0, in their final home game of the season.

Left inner Ann McGlinn led the Irish with four goals and one assist.

"We had a lot of problems in scoring in the past," said McGlinn. "But we worked in front of the goal all week, and this time it came together."

McGlinn moved from left link to left inner because of a knee injury to co-captain

Corinne DiGiacomo, along with co-captain Mary Wagner, underwent surgery on Friday. Wagner had her broken nose set and DiGiacomo had knee surgery.

"I had been playing left link and doing a lot of moving around," commented McGlinn. "But when DiGiacomo got hurt I took her place. And Christine Sweeney has done a great job taking my spot at left link."

Other scorers for Notre Dame were Benet DeBerry with two goals and Joanne Marshall, Mindy Green and Stephanie Giggetts each with one goal.

Defensively, goalies Mary Jean Beutel and Suzanne Waters shared the shutout.

The Irish jumped to a 5-0 lead in the first half, including the hat trick by McGlinn. During the second half, Head Coach Jill Lindenfeld used as many substitutes as possible. The scoring drive continued and the game ended 9-0.

The team wraps up its final week of the season by traveling to Calvin College tomorrow and to Eastern Kentucky over the weekend for the Midwest Regionals.

Both Howard and Sorin, shown above in Inter-hall football action earlier this season, are still alive in the playoffs. Kevin McCormack details the action below.

The Observer/Mike Moran

B-ball ticket distribution

Today marks the second day students may pick up their season ticket booklets for the 1986 Notre Dame basketball season. This afternoon Notre Dame juniors only may purchase tickets.

The schedule for ticket distribution is as follows:

Juniors	Today
Soph./Law/Grad Students	Wednesday
Freshmen	Thursday

Students who wish to purchase tickets must bring their application, remittance and ID card to Gate 10 of the ACC between 1:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. on the day specified for your class. Ticket prices are $60 for lower arena and $45 for upper arena seating.

Student basketball ticket applications have been sent out to all students with a campus or local address. Any student who has not yet received his or her application, or whose preprinted application contains an error in class status, should go to the Ticket Office on the second floor of the ACC on a day prior to the one designated for his or her class.

Students should note that the season ticket package does not include the opening game of the Coca-Cola NIT against Western Kentucky on Nov. 21. Tickets for that game will go on sale at a later date.

Howard, Flanner advance to semis by recording identical 6-0 victories

By KEVIN MCCORMACK
Sports Writer

The 1986 Interhall football playoffs commenced last Sunday with first-round games matching Parseghian division rivals Morrissey and Flanner and Howard versus Zahm. Both of the games' outcomes might be classified as upsets as well with Flanner and recent upstart Howard pulling off identical 6-0 victories.

Just two weeks ago in the final regular season game of the year at Cartier Field, The Manor had dominated Flanner 13-0, to claim for itself a playoff berth. In that game, freshman quarterback Joe Fuqua connected on two bombs for touchdowns, mastering the baffled Flanner secondary for the game's only scores.

The Morrissey defense also had held the Flanner offense at bay, keeping them from any scoring opportunities until late in that contest.

This was not the case in Sunday's game. The Morrissey offense did get untracked, but were unable to score.

"Our defense bent, but we didn't break," said Flanner head coach Jim Fitzgerald. "There were so many clutch performances by individuals on our defense, it would be impossible to mention them all."

Several Flanner players were impressive on the field, including Frank Liggio, who had two fumble recoveries and an interception. Another key play was made by Dave Kelly, who intercepted a pass in the endzone with four minutes to play in the game. The Manor was inside Flanner's 10-yard line on that play.

Kelly also hauled in a 50-yard pass in the second quarter, setting up the only score of the game when Kelly's brother Jim

see PLAYOFFS, page 10

SMC volleyball improves to 20-7

By DEIRDRE FINN
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's volleyball team placed third in its invitational last weekend, giving the Belles the top slot in the North area District of Indiana.

The Belles won two of their three preliminary matches, the first against Ancilla College, 15-4, 15-3, and the second against Taylor, 15-11, 13-15, 15-6. Their only preliminary loss was to Franklin College, 15-6, 15-12.

The Belles faced first-ranked Illinois Benedictine College in their semifinal match. The Belles lost in three games, 15-4, 11-15, 15-6.

In the finals, the Belles downed Purdue Calamet, 15-11, 15-0, to give Saint Mary's a third-place finish.

Coach Lampert was happy with the teams performance.

"The girls played very well throughout the entire tournament. The match against Illinois Benedictine was good, but I think the girls realize they could have played better."

Seniors Julie Schroeder and Mary Reidy totaled 44 and 27 kills, respectively, for the tournament. Both players were nominated for the all-tournament team.

These wins improve the Belles record to 20-7 and its league record to 9-1.

The Belles compete in their district championships this weekend.

NVA's Century Club provides motivation

Exercise is not the most exciting thing in the world. Many people would much rather sit around and be lazy than jog a few miles or swim some laps. But if you want to get in shape, or if you want to get rid of a few pounds, you know there is only one way to do it.

Lack of motivation in exercise is the precise problem NVA has addressed through the Century Club. The three-year old club establishes a framework in which a person can choose an activity and pledge to do so many miles or hours of the activity by a deadline.

The participant can choose from jogging, swimming,

Pete Gegen

Assistant Sports Editor

cycling, walking, cross-country skiing, and aerobics. He or she signs a sheet pledging the miles or hours, and then keeps a log of the time or distance accumulated each day. If the goal is met by the deadline, the person wins a t-shirt.

"Our purpose is to promote consistent activity," says Sally Derengoski, assistant director of NVA. "This is just one way for outside motivation."

Currently 29 students have pledged in the fall semester, including sophomore Maggie Sieger, who has chosen swimming as her exercise.

"Last year in (physical education class), I had Michele Gelfman, the women's tennis coach, for conditioning," says Sieger. "She gave the class an NVA handout on the Century Club. I was interested because I like to swim."

Taking out an ambitious pledge, Sieger fell just short of her goal last year. But now she has modified her goal to match her workout.

"I signed up to do 10 miles," she says. "I swim 36 laps (a half-mile) a day, three days a week, so I'm hoping to make it."

Luckily NVA did not stick with the original conception of the club, or people like Sieger would have never had the chance to get involved. Originated in 1983, the program

see CENTURY, page 9