

Religious Bulletin.
October 8, 1923.

Second Anniversary Number.

Two years ago the Religious Bulletin was inaugurated in order to abolish the following abuses during the Mission:

1. Sunday night "dates" for Seniors;
2. The attempt of four hundred intelligent men to go to confession to four priest in thirty minutes;
3. The line outside the cafeteria during the morning Mass;
4. The early-morning assault on the news-stand.

Judge for yourself whether the game was worth the candle.

High-Hat Catholics.

The Mission is bound to be a bore to Class Three, to whom death is merely an interesting experience. God help them if their Prefects don't get them out to church. There is some chance for them if they hear the sermon on "Sin" tonight: otherwise, quien sabe?

Yourself and the Team.

You have been asked to pray for the team this week; the team will appreciate your prayers. Nothing will do more for their morals than the knowledge that they are remembered in 1800 Holy Communions every morning this week. You don't want the team to lay down: don't lay down on the team.

Why St. Joan of Arc?

You are asked to pray for St. Joan of Arc for the team. Why? St. Joan of Arc was a brainy soldier. Write your own commentary.

Train Her While She's Young.

If your sweet damosel in South Bend can get you to miss a Mission sermon for an evening in her delightful company, she'll have you washing the dishes for her later on while she shoots craps at a quilting bee.

Salvi.

Salvi plays tonight at 8:30. Don't try to go to confession and hear a harpist at the same time. Go to confession after supper.

The Miraculous Medal.

The round medal you find at the pamphlet rack is known as the Miraculous Medal. Those who are enrolled in the Association can gain a great many plenary indulgences (all these of the Way of the Cross and many others) by the simple recitation of six Our Fathers, Hail Marys and Glory be to the Fathers. If you have a Miraculous Medal be sure it is blessed and that you are enrolled. See the Prefect of Religion for particulars.
