Thank St. Joan of Arc.

Two years ago and this year St. Joan of Arc was patroness of the Army game. Thank her for what she did for us. No Notre Dame ever deserved to win more than this year's; and no Notre Dame team was ever more grateful for victory.

For the Princeton Game.

St. Christopher whose medal graces the dash-board of your Ford, is the patron for the Princeton game. It is not that he protects against accidents. Learn the legend of St. Christopher, study the significance of his Greek and Latin name, and see for yourself why he was chosen.

From a Senior.

Dear Father O'Hara:

I, and I know a great many others, would appreciate it, if in your daily Bulletin, you would ask the students to renew the custom of not smoking in front of the church and the Main Building.

This morning I noticed that the outstanding thing around the church door was cigarette stubs. This would certainly not edify a stranger. I know that you would only be too glad to ask all the fellows to contribute their share towards keeping the approach to God's house clean and respectable.

Thanking you for your consideration of this matter, I am

A student -- of '24/

Amen.

The point is well taken. It was thoughtlessness. The bushel-and-a-half of cigarette stubs which carpeted the sidewalk in front of the church last week represented the last puffs of hundred of earnest students who were making fervently the best mission we ever had at Notre Dame.

Prayers.

Five Students ask prayers for deceased relatives and friends and four sick members of their families.
