

Way of the Cross.

Halls not yet equipped with Station of the Cross (Cadillac, Lyons, Howard, Brownson, Carroll and Sophomore) are invited to assist at the Way of the Cross in the church at seven o'clock this and every Friday evening during Lent.

For Mexico.

From Nazareth College, Nazareth, Michigan, comes this beautiful plea, which should have a wholehearted response:

"Dear Students of the University of Notre Dame: Moved by a deep sympathy for the persecuted Church in Mexico, and the desire to see right triumph over might, we have begun a crusade of prayer for our suffering neighbors. It is our hope that this crusade, which will culminate in Mass and Holy Communion on the Feast of St. Joseph, may extend to all the Catholic colleges and academies in the United States. We should appreciate, therefore, having the powerful intercession of your prayers added to ours. Hence we ask that ~~XXX~~ on March 19 you join us in offering Holy Communion for this intention. At the same time, while we petition for mercy, let us remember the necessity of reparation for the crimes committed against our Holy Faith in unhappy Mexico.

"We students of Nazareth, being especially devoted to St. Joseph, proffer this invitation as an act of homage to him, the Patron of the Universal Church. We trust that we can rely on your cooperation, for the strength of the petition will depend on the number united in prayer.

--- Nazareth College Students."

Three Intentions Tomorrow.

St. Joseph, who was on earth the model husband and father, who alone had the happiness of dying in the arms of Jesus and Mary, and who is invoked as Patron of the Universal Church, should be addressed tomorrow for these three intentions:

1. The grace of purity and a happy marriage;
2. The triumph of the persecuted Church in Mexico;
3. The inestimable blessing of a happy death.

Off-campus students are reminded of their opportunity to go to confession during the day in the Sorin chapel. If they make use of this opportunity today, there will be less delay in the administration of Holy Communion tomorrow morning.

The Irish Are All Over.

Truly, the Irish are a cosmopolitan race. Just as last year and the year before and every other year, they gathered at this ancient seat of Irish learning for a proper religious commemoration of the Patron Saint of their race. Among the more prominent Gaels present were the following: Obligato, O'Boyle, Canty, Kankowski, Moloney, Moroni, Foley, Fogarty, Frillici, Frit., Holdampf, Hogan, Holle, Ouellette, O'Leary, Saith, Schmidt, Sullivan, Schwartz, Philbin, Paciotti, Nulty, Nolan, Novak, Norman, Burke, Berkheimer, Bonini, Colarusso, Woodka, Williams, Wilson, Doekendorf, Dougherty, Krall, Kroha, Kelly, Kraker, Kirwan, Keefe, Kasher, Kavanaugh, and others ad infinitum.

"The Lost Books of the Bible."

The mail is cluttered with goofy circulars under this title. Don't let Doubleday Page kid you. The Christians of the second and third centuries were not fooled by these compositions, mostly heretical. Our own library has most of these apocryphal books, which are not "lost". Call at 141 Sorin for information on any one of them.
