Prayers.

C. D. McColl, of Morrissey Hall, and Robert Chase, off-campus student, lost their fathers Saturday afternoon; another student lost his grandmother the same day. Ed Meredith, former member of the present senior class, has again reached a critical point in an illness that has lasted nearly two years. Francis Branson, also a senior in this year's class, who left school in February, had an operation recently at Rochester, Minnesota; his physicians report that he will have to remain in bed for a long time. Bernard Murphy reports that his grandmother is dying. Two special intentions are recommended.

Will Father Fare Better?

Fewer than 1300 Notre Dame mothers were remembered in Holy Communion by their sons at school yesterday. Is that treating your mother right?

The Novena for Father's Day begins tomorrow. Offer Holy Communion and recite the Litany of St. Joseph every day for your father. Even if you are squeamish about letting your father know that you think enough of him to pray for him, there is no law against making the Novena. The Novena ends on the feast of St. Venantius, May 18. Venantius is the Boy Martyr the hymn for whose feast begins, "O Noble Athlete of Christ."

The Man Lives.

The hospital reported yesterday evening that the workman who was injured on our front lawn Saturday afternoon was improving. Keep him in your prayers. He has a good chance to live. That's more than any of us could say if we got the same wallop.

Supper At St. Mary's Tonight.

It was announced on the Bulletin last week that supper will be served to students at St. Mary's tonight and tomorrow night at fifty cents a plate. Only ten students have signified their intention of going. Many more will be present. The Sisters want to know for how many to prepare. Give notice of your intention in time.

The Pamphlet Rack.

A deficit of three hundred dollars was announced the other day. It would be eight hundred dollars were it not for the private contributions of people outside the University. Approximately forty-three hundred dollars has been spent on the rack thus far this year. Get in before the books close.
