Prayers.

A sister of Father John Ryan, C.S.C., was seriously injured in an automobile accident Sunday. Adrian Lopez asks prayers for his father who is near death. Five special intentions are recommended. A cousin of John McMahon died Friday.

Holy Communion Tomorrow.

If there is an open-air Mass tomorrow morning there will be no opportunity at it for the reception of Holy Communion, so your attention is again directed to the facilities offered all morning in the Sorin Hall chapel.

"Et Tu."

Last week's Ave Maria saves us this clipping from the Southern Cross, of Cape Town:

"Father," said a convert, do you know that I and my family are in the Church because of a chance meeting with a practical Catholic? I was going to one of our medical conventions. There was a banquet on Saturday night, and another doctor and myself had planned to take the 8 o'clock train next morning. It was midnight when we reached the hotel, and I was requesting the clerk to have us called at 7 o'clock, when my Catholic friend quietly named 5:30, so that he could hear Mass at 6 o'clock. I protested that it was already 1 o'clock, and that he needed his sleep. He smiled at me good-naturedly, and that was all. I heard him slip quietly off to Mass, and instead of enjoying an extra hour and a half of extra sleep, I lay there thinking that this man's religion must mean something to him. That started me in my study of the Catholic Faith. Father, had that man been a moral coward and stayed in bed, my family might not now be in the true Church of Christ."

"Are You Boys From Notre Dame?"

A nun in Pittsburgh asked that question of the members of the Dayton University football team as they left the church after receiving Holy Communion. That's a nice reputation to have.

Take A Survey Home.

The rack at the door of the Sorin chapel will be kept supplied with copies of the recent Religious Survey report. Take one to your pastor if you have not already sent him one.

"Que Vaya Con Dios."

"May you go with God," is an old Spanish salutation equivalent to our "God be with you, or Goodbye. It carries our full sentiment for the Summer vacation -- and for life -- and the response is perfect for Notre Dame men -- "And with the Blessed Virgin!"

"Y Con La Virgen."
