

"BREAKERS AHEAD"

This is not intended as a reminder of Leap Year.
Neither is it a crude satire on prosperity. . . .

Nor a travesty on campaign year.

It is a warning that as the safety of the ship depends upon vigilance, so the life of the soul depends upon watchfulness over your senses. Daily Communion keeps you watchful.

The New Chapels Change The Order Of Things.

Temporary chapels are now ready in Alumni and Dillon Halls. This means that Brownson and Carroll Halls will return to the Basement Chapel for their morning Mass and Holy Communion, and that the new halls will use their own chapels for morning and evening services—beginning tomorrow morning.

Confessions in the Dillon Hall Chapel (not room 117), 6:15-7:00 every evening, and in both Dillon and Alumni Chapels at night prayer.

Prayers

Bishop Noll's father died a few days ago. The 6:30 Mass in the Basement Chapel tomorrow morning will be offered for the repose of his soul. Deceased during the holidays: E. Pozzi's paternal grandmother; the mothers of Paul Ryan, '19, and Bernie Garber, '28; relatives of Bob Sullivan, and Tom Dorris; "Albert," the old workman, beloved of the students of the past twenty-five years. Albert was buried this morning. Bernard Heitz lost his mother last Saturday evening. Leo Fagan's mother is very ill. Fr. Clancy asks prayers for a relative and a friend, both of them ill. Vincent O'Neill's father has been quite ill. Geo. Aug underwent an operation for appendicitis last Monday.
