

Remember to return
Prefect of Religion
Books tomorrow.

University of Notre Dame
Religious Bulletin
May 21, 1938

Don't be bashful; put some life in the Credo
tomorrow morning....

Now Clear The Last Hurdle.

The "Indianapolis Plan"

NOVENA FOR EXAMS STARTS TOMORROW

You know what it means, in the hundred yard hurdles, to get off to a quick, sure start. For your novena get set tonight. Confessions in Dillon and Howard 6:30 to 8:15, and in Cavanaugh 8:30 to 10:00.

Clear the last hurdle with distinction for yourself and Notre Dame.

Aids To Chastity.

Father Felix Kirsch, well known Capuchin, friend of Notre Dame, and author of Sex Education and Training in Chastity, will be heard tomorrow afternoon in the fourth of his talks "In Defense of Chastity." Dial WMAQ at four o'clock, campus time.

He will help you to perfect your self-control and to build up a strong reserve against temptations of the summertime. Prepare now.

PRAYERS: (deceased) father of Chas. M. Walsh '27; friend of Frank Lavelle (Freshman); Fr. Aloysius J. Diersen, S.J. (Univ. of Detroit); aunt of Gerry Smith; aunt of Dick Benedict (Dillon); Dr. John McConnell, Ill, relative of Geo. Mulligan (Dil); friend of Tom Walker (How); friend of Ed Huff (Mor); mother of Nick Rinaldi (Fresh); brother of Gene Farrell (Cav); Buddy Turley; Fr. Besinger. One Thanksgiving. 5 spec. ints.

against filthy literature has been developing within the last few weeks. The plan has two distinctive features: one, to proceed by law against distributors of filthy literature; the other, to make the attack not a "drive" but a permanent policy.

The Indianapolis technique has succeeded admirably. This instance illustrates how the plan works: one Halph H. Blair was charged with violating three federal statutes--using the mails to send obscene literature; sending such matter across state lines by a common carrier; and advertising obscene literature in magazines which went through the mail.

Indianapolis distributors soon realized that what happened to Mr. Blair could very easily happen to them. Consequently they went to Val Nolan, Federal District Attorney, to seek advice. Mr. Nolan and the distributors agreed that Father Dugan of the Indianapolis Chancery should be the judge of the objectionable magazines.

Already the Indianapolis Plan is getting results. Publishers from outside the state are promising to clean up. Two offending publications have been modified sufficiently to be reinstated on the white list.

New Catholic Pictorial Appears.

Eileen Corridan, a Catholic journalist of extensive editorial and other publishing experience, has brought out Action, a Catholic pictorial monthly.

The magazine has, according to one of its first editorials, no ax to grind. Its acting theological consultant is Father Hugh Carroll, C.P. of Union City, New Jersey.

Pictures in the first issue, in addition to portraying the religious life of sailors, carry shots of the Passion Play being held at Union City, glimpses of missionary activities all over the globe, two pages of photos illustrating right and wrong behavior in church, and news of Catholic youth organizations.