
Anchors Aweigh.

Before you shove off, check your bearings. Are you headed for an encounter with the Navy goat - or a week-end with a Judas-goat? Start the week-end with Christ, and don't let any Judas-goat butt you overboard. R.O.T.C. Movement Order says, "Don't do or say anything which will detract from the honor of the men of Notre Dame".

The game Saturday will be dedicated to Mary, Queen of Priests in tribute to the Sulpician priests, teachers of the first, and then subsequent thousands of, American priests since the establishment of their first Baltimore seminary.

Religion Isn't Practical?

You're aimless, floundering, stale, discontented? Well-intentioned but wavering youth needs stability, formation of good habits, thoughtfulness and perseverance.

Give a minimum of ten minutes a day to Christ and your soul in thanksgiving after Communion. The best thanksgiving is one made by using the Missal and official prayers of the Church. For those who don't, try this:

1. Adore, offer thanksgiving and sorrow to Christ, maybe as He hung on the Cross or lay in Mary's arms afterward. Our sins put Our Friend there.
2. Plan with Him in detail how to avoid occasions of sin and how you will conquer temptations if they come. A conquered temptation proves love in action.
3. Plan your study (and recreation too) that day and promise Christ to study that certain disliked subject thoroughly at a definite time.
4. Plan some act of charity or kindness, of denial, of patience, of humility toward your comrades, brothers in the Mystical Body of Christ. Members too of that Mystical Body are your parents, the girl, and the student or professor who irritates you. Pray for them.

Plan your day with Christ and stick to Him. He'll never let you down. Don't follow the mob who lets you down whenever you're the least burden.

"I haven't the time for Communion?" Christ gave us 33 years of His life on earth, and gives 24 hours a day now in the tabernacle. "I haven't the time" is the remark of a selfish ingrate who lives 24 hours a day on God's generosity and God's power.

If he is avoiding sin, that is praiseworthy, but if he is slipping because he won't use Divine remedies - except once a week on Sunday - then he is not only selfish but "off the beam".

If you rise late, Christ waits for you to plan the day with Him at Dillon Chapel until noon; at Howard and Cavanaugh till 9:00.

Notre Dame's Dead

At the request of the Naval R.O.T.C., which attended, a Requiem High Mass was sung by Father J. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., President, this morning for the repose of the soul of Ollie Helland '39, former Bengal Bout champion and recent victim in a Naval aviation crash.

This morning there were also several Masses at the request of seniors for the repose of the soul of Bill Coogan, their classmate who died here during his freshman year.

PRAYERS: (deceased) friend of H. McKnight (St. Eds). Ill, uncle of E. Murray (Dil).
5 special intentions.
