CAMPUS
SUPPLEMENT

The Notre Dame Carnival For War Charities.

Long months the boys have planned it.

Now, you enjoy it.

The War Charities will profit!

Three Big Carnival Nights beginning tomorrow, Thursday in the Fieldhouse. Be ready to join the torchlight parade starting at 7:15.

There's some interest, some fun, some game or prize for everyone of you - and your guests if you bring them. The boys describe it as "stupendous, even terrific!" They are sure that once there you'll stay. They are so confident that they announce:

"Admission is Free! Yes, Free!"

Get over there even if down to your last cent. There are games even at that price.

Get over there even if you're flat broke. There's entertainment and a door prize with admission free. You can't lose!

Can You Win?

There are prizes for every event and game, prizes purchased and prizes donated - N.D. jewelry, clothes, lounging chairs, food, sporting equipment, radios, blankets; everything except automobile tires, and you don't need those at N.D. anyway.

Other details are military secrets.

The profits go to Red Cross, to Navy Relief, to your own N.D. Student Commission for Scholastics and other services to Notre Dame men, and to other charities of student selection and approval.

It's your affair. By and for students. For you and your guests. For war charities and that may mean for you, yourself later.

Can You Help?

There are a few groaning excessively about the "tough break" they face in army service immediately after graduation. If you think it is such a "tough break" then try to help others already in. Here are some suggestions:

1. Be sure we have the address of any N.D. man you know is in service.
2. Help collect and mail Scholastics.
3. Donate any unused books, technical or otherwise, to the Army Camp Library Collection. Leave them at Library circulation desk.
4. Attend the Notre Dame Carnival for War Charities. Some of profits will be used for Scholastics and other services for Notre Dame men.
