Seek Advice.

Some freshmen arrive on the campus with unsolved problems. They may be bothered by bad habits, worries about classes, and other real difficulties. They need advice. If it is a question of sin, the matter should be taken to the confessional immediately. Other problems can be discussed with any priest on the campus. The rule for freshmen as well as upperclassmen to follow is: Seek out a priest if you can't settle your problem by yourself within twenty-four hours. You can't study with an upset mind. And peace of conscience is worth more than money can buy.

Calendars and Study Schedules.

The Prefects of Religion have a handy calendar of the year and schedules which help one in arranging his classes and study periods in a systematic fashion. Plan your day on your schedule. Include study time for all your classes, and arrange for time to take a limited amount of recreation each day. The Prefects of Religion will help you put order into your daily schedule, if you need assistance. Call at 109 Zahm, 107 Cavanaugh or 117 Dillon Hall any evening.

Afternoon Mass Discontinued.

A change in the schedule of the V-7 Navy men makes it impossible for them to be free for afternoon Mass. The 4:45 Mass, therefore, will be discontinued until further notice.

Thanks To Contributors.

The Bulletin is grateful to those who are sending offerings to defray the cost of mailing the Bulletin to them. Many inquiries have been made about the charge made for a subscription to this little sheet. The Bulletin is not in the business of making money, but it does need financial support to keep alive, and so it asks its friends to help pay, if possible, the postage costs which are about $1.50 for the two semester school year. The Bulletin appreciates all the prayers which are being said for its success.

Perplexed Freshmen.

Question: Will I have to go to confession every day, if I want to become a daily communicant?

Reply: The only time you must confess before receiving Holy Communion is when you have committed a mortal sin. The commission of slight, venial faults does not bar you from receiving Christ worthily without the sacrament of Penance. If you are in doubt about the gravity of some of your sins, consult your confessor and he will tell you whether you need daily confession.

The Mission Masses.

The intentions for the Mission Masses offered by Father Marek during the first week are as follows:

- Monday - Joe Foltz, Freshman who died at home in June.
- Tuesday - For the Notre Dame graduates and students who have died in the war.
- Wednesday - For the next student to die.
- Thursday - For Father James Stack, C.S.C. history professor who died last year.
- Friday - For Hugh McGuire, C.S.C. Moreau seminarian who drowned two weeks ago.

PRAYERS: (deceased) sister of Bro. Alderic, C.S.C.; father of Bro. Nelson, C.S.C.; wife of Frederick Laughna '33; wife of M. Emmett Walter, '14; Hon. Rene Weiller, former consul general of France in Chicago; Edward W. Feitas. One Special Intention.
