Welcome Back!

Things are pretty much the same since you left the campus a month ago. The Navy is still here, as you have seen, and at this moment there are 1100 happy Navy hearts in Badin, Howard, Morrissey and Lyons; and the reason -- the final exams for the Midshipmen were completed today. During your absence, a small group of Notre Dame priests received commissions as chaplains in the Armed Forces. Their names will be announced soon. Even one of your rich sources of griping showed that it has not changed: We mean the Indiana weather. Until doomsday it will carry on its old tricks. The heavy snow and cold did a good turn for you, nevertheless, by bringing into sharp relief the golden dome and she who always warms your heart: Our Blessed Lady. She, too, is glad you are back.

Later Bulletins will give you detailed information about the death of Matty Byrne, '42 and Con Hannigan of Dillon last semester.

Four Confessors Can't Hear All The Confessions on Sunday . . .

. . . so go to confession tonight or Saturday evening in Dillon, Cavanaugh or Zahm Chapels. Press the buzzer. There is never a rationing of God's grace. You approach the sources of grace and it is given to you. Holy Mass and Communion are the great sources of God's grace. This year resolve to care for your soul as you never cared for it before. And start with Mass in the morning.

Incoming Freshmen!

1. Remember your conference with Father Sheedy in Zahm Hall Chapel immediately after the first movie Saturday night.
2. Pick up a Vicious Circle Chart in Father Sheedy's office, 109 Zahm. This chart makes it easy for you to lay out your class and study schedule.
3. The men of Brownson assist at Mass on week day mornings in the Basement Chapel.
4. The Missals you will find in the pews of the Church are for your use. If you wish to buy one, call at the office of Father Sheedy. If you don't know how to use a missal, bring that to the attention of Father Sheedy too.
5. The Sunday Masses are usually crowded. Plan to arrive five minutes early. Take a seat near the front of the Church and prepare for Mass by prayer and arranging the missal.
6. Don't miss the Freshman Smoker. Look for the time and place on your Bulletin Board.
