A Baby Needs Prayers.

"Dear Father: I am imposing on your kindness and generosity by asking prayers and help for our baby. The baby, one of twin boys, was born prematurely last February. The other little one died three days after birth.

"Martin was in an incubator, where he survived pneumonia, for two and one half months. He was home only a week when the hernia he was born with strangulated--three weeks later another hernia strangulated but he survived both emergency operations and is doing very well. In August, however, it was found that his prematurity left him blind--they gave us no hope of vision at all, though four operations will be performed to relieve pressure.

"Special schools, even training for me as well as for him, are in order and I find I need a great deal of help through prayer. We pray, of course, that God will let him see--even only enough vision to get around. But if that isn't His Will, then we will certainly need great help from God. So you see Father, we are asking for a lot. Please help Martin and his parents with your prayers."

Say your prayer NOW (maybe a Hail Mary!) for this baby and its mother and father. And include this case in your Mass and Communion intentions. The thought that Notre Dame students and friends are storming Heaven for their baby will bring a new ray of happiness into the home of its parents at Christmas time.

About Another Child

You are liable to forget-with all the hustle and bustle about vacation, buying gifts and planning parties-that we celebrate Christmas because it is a Birth Day, the anniversary of the day on which God was born. December 25th must have the Christ Child for its center. The Infant Savior should be the motive behind all that you do that day (and every day thereafter).

PRAYERS: (deceased) uncle of John McVeigh (Z); mother of Vince Hogan (Anniv); mother of Brother Wenceslaus, CSC; Uncle of Al Foster (Morr). (Ill) sister of Leo McKillip (F), very serious; Steve Gomolski, friend of Robert Brzezinski (Sor); uncle of Jack Dempsey (Al); aunt of Dan Beaghan (Dil); Ray Eichenlaub, '15, father of Al (B-P) and Dick (Far); Ben Foss. Three Special Intentions. Two Thanksgivings.
