Cotillion Triduum

Too late for the Monday Bulletin the sophomores requested an announcement of the customary triduum for the safe arrival of the Cotillion guests. Those sophomores who failed to start a triduum this morning because there was no earlier announcement can begin at the 5:10 Mass. Make it a triduum of Masses and Holy Communion. The Mass is a perfect prayer.

The triduum is a beautiful tradition. Lucky the young lady whose sophomore host thinks enough of her to make it.

Mass Schedule

By now everyone should know the Mass schedules, but there seems to be some confusion.

The Sunday Masses in Sacred Heart Church are at 7:00, 8:00, 9:00, 10:00, 11:00 (High Mass) and 12:15. These Masses are for all sophomores, juniors, and seniors. (Please take note, residents of St. Ed's and Zahm.)

The Sunday Masses in Stanford-Keenan Chapel are at 8:00, 9:00, 10:00, 11:00 and 12:00. These Masses are for freshmen only.

The Sunday Masses in the Crypt are for members of Sacred Heart parish. Students are requested not to attend these Masses on Sunday. The parishioners need the seating space.

Weekday Masses in Sacred Heart Church are at 11:30 a.m. and 5:10 p.m. The Mass in the Crypt at 5:30 is a parish Mass, but students are not unwelcome guests.

Masses always begin promptly. Being late is discourteous to your Divine Host. You wouldn't think of being late if Pope John XXIII granted you an audience or if J.F.K. invited you to the White House. And they are both only human. And leaving early -- the less said the better. A Notre Dame student who leaves Mass before the celebrant leaves the altar deserves our pity and our prayers.

In Your Charity

Please pray for the following. Deceased: John Law, '30, captain of the 1929 football team; mother of Russell Cramsie of Cavanaugh; Guy (Red) Mackey, Athletic Director at Purdue and friend of Notre Dame; grandfather of John Gueguen; mother of Dr. O. T. O'Meara and mother of Dr. A. E. Ross, both of the mathematics department; James S. Hurley, '54; Dr. Robert P. Flynn, '43; William F. Sullivan, '27; Leo R. Boyle, '38; William T. Slader, '32; Thomas C. Byrne, '37; John J. Reddy, '40; Elton E. Richter, '26; Malcolm K. Hatfield, '27; Hunter M. Bennett, '97; John H. Humphreys, '32; Edgar Kobak, '16. Ill: uncle of Pete Dennison of Pangborn; Pat Haustma, friend of Joe Clark.

Today's Saint

Today the liturgy observes the feast of St. Margaret Mary, the Visitation nun to whom the Sacred Heart appeared and made the promises which have given rise to First Friday Communion. A prayer to St. Margaret Mary today may help you persevere in your resolution to receive Holy Communion on nine consecutive First Fridays.
