"The retreat concerning sexuality and spirituality really helped me to escape a lot of immature and unexamined concepts I'd had concerning sex. Dr. Livingstone's division of sexuality into levels of sexual identity, genitality and affect were extremely helpful: I realized that only part of sex is physical."

"I also learned the difference between guilt and shame: basically, that guilt is a feeling from which one learns and grows, and which everyone feels, whereas shame is a self-inflicted feeling of punishment which cripples; it stunts growth and learning."

Tony

"The weekend gave me an opportunity to look deeply into my relationships and see the active roll that I take within each relationship. I began to realize the influence the relationships in my family, both growing up and a present, affects the role which I take. Through this reflection, I was able to seek the needed changes and also better understand myself and the relationships that were of particular concern."

CATHOLIC FAITH SERIES

CATHOLIC FAITH AND DOUBT

The Mind's Search for God

Is the mind to stop asking questions and reason to be "left behind" in the commitment of religious faith? How does the Roman Catholic tradition address these questions in the lives and writings of its holy and great thinkers?

KATHERINE TILLMAN, Ph.D. Associate Professor, Program of Liberal Studies will address these questions on Sunday, January 29 and on Tuesday, January 31, in Keenan Chapel 7 - 8:30 p.m.

Mirror Meditation

Christian Love...(1 Cor 12,13)

Be ambitious for higher gifts.

If I have all the eloquence of men or of angels, but speak without LOVE,

I am simply a gong booming or a cymbal clashing.

If I have the gift of prophecy, understanding all the mysteries there are, and knowing everything, and if I have faith in all its fullness, to move mountains, but without LOVE, then I am nothing at all.

If I give all that I possess piece by piece, and if I even let them take my body to burn it, but all without LOVE, it will do me no good whatever.

LOVE is always patient and kind:
it is never jealous;

LOVE is never boastful or conceited; it does not take offence and is not resentful.

LOVE takes no pleasure in other people's sins but delights in the truth;
it is always ready to excuse, to trust, to hope, and to endure whatever comes.

LOVE DOES COME TO AN END....there are three things that last: faith, hope and love; and the greatest of these is LOVE.
