

Adams and Desplaines
Streets Chicago.
Harrison & Center, Fulton
Madison, Adams Van Buren
on Halsted Street Car

T. PATRICK'S CHURCH is the most centrally, located and most conveniently accessible of the Catholic Churches of Chicago. It has been redecorated under the direction of Thomas A. O'Shaughnessy, the authority on Catholic ecclesiastical art. It is the oldest religious edifice in Chicago, having escaped the great fire of 1871. Statues of St. Patrick and St. Paladius and other saints carved in wood, some of them of heroic size, adorn the Church.

St. Patrick's is a shrine to the patron saint of the Irish people. It is the first example in America of the renaissance of Irish art in sculpture, in painting and in translucent mosaics. The ancient Catholic art of Ireland has been revived in order to make this shrine representatively Irish.

St. Patrick's Church, Chicago. (Adams & Desplaines Sts.)
Windows in Translucent Mosaic by Thomas A. O'Shaughnessy.

ST. PATRICK AT TARA

ST. BRIGID

St. Patrick's Rectory,
Chicago.
(Adams & Desplaines Sts.)

The Rev. W. J. McNamee, rector

St. Patrick's School
(Girls)

St. Patrick's
Commercial Academy
(Boys)

St. Patrick's Church, Chicago.
(Adams & Desplaines Sts.)

Main Altar and
Section of Sanctuary,
St. Patrick's Church,
Chicago.
(Adams & Desplaines Sts.)