COMMENT

One more!

And for three reasons:

1. Justice to the alumni who have paid dues which the Association specified would include the alumni magazine.

2. Credit at the Ave Maria, which they can ill afford, but which we accept in the conviction that some future generation of alumni will not only subscribe to the ALUMNUS but to the Ave Maria.

3. Urgent letters from two groups of alumni, those who have paid their dues and those who obviously are sincere but can't pay their dues, both asking definitely that this one contact with Notre Dame be maintained.

President Manion and the Editor have gone over the situation thoroughly with the University and have been forced to appeal for temporary aid, which, at this writing, looks probable.

But what a time for 6,000 able bodied sons to run home to Alma Mater's farm. Because the problem of "farm relief" hasn't been solved much better here than anywhere else.

This isn't aimed at the possible 1,500 alumni who were just getting themselves economically entrenched and are trying desperately to hold their positions now.

It isn't aimed at the 1,500 whose dues are paid or who, by vocation, are exempt from dues.

It isn't aimed at an outside 1,500 who are unemployed or working part time.

But the Editor can't help but estimate another 1,500 who are in that class the national administration has labeled "hoarders." These people, with a conservatism that, if moderate, would certainly find justification in present conditions, carry it beyond that point, and to preserve a fancied individual security are permitting institutions that are essential to their continued well being to collapse about them.

These people, like the ostrich with head in the sand or the possum feigning sleep in the glare of the hunter's torch, will awaken to find their plumage gone to Paris or their succulent meat lying on a platter of sweet potatoes. The Church, Catholic education, society, culture, must be maintained. Not perhaps in the style to which legend had it they had become accustomed, but to a degree of effectiveness that will again stop Attila at the gates of Rome.

I realize that I presume in aligning the Alumni Association with the far greater factors from which it is but one of many offshoots. But the alarming lack of appreciation of the principles and potentialities contained in the Alumni Association of the University of Notre Dame is an indication of the lack of interest of men educated in a Catholic university in these activities for which the University stands, and as such involves them all.

Those of you whose dues are unpaid, please give this matter your serious consideration, and, if possible, prevent the University from suffering another burden to be added.

The ALUMNUS this month is one-half the usual size. You are of course getting essentials. But I assure you, as an Editor who has tried to be sparing of space in the past, that you miss much of interest when this curtailment exists.

1200 Attend Testimonial Banquet

Many Notables Present; Jimmy Crowley Brilliant As Toastmaster; J. A. Farley Principal Speaker

"In 1913 on the plains of West Point, Notre Dame became the recognized leader of new football; and since then the fame of your University has grown by leaps and bounds until now throughout the length and breadth of America the destinies of your elevens are followed each year by a gridiron fandom, the very ranks of which have been greatly swelled because of the genius shown by your football leadership."

One thousand of this "fandom" heard Mr. James A. "Big Jim" Farley, national democratic chairman speak these words of tribute, while assembled at the 13th Annual Civic Testimonial Dinner given by the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley in honor of the Notre Dame football team of 1932 and its coaches. Mr. Farley paused long enough in his strenuous schedule of duties to come to South Bend and deliver his address at the banquet which began at seven o'clock on Monday evening, January 16, in the University Dining Hall.

With the exception of three addresses of serious theme and a speech of welcome by Mayor W. R. Hinkle of South Bend, good-natured bantering, humorous quips, marked the series of fine and varied talks presided over by Toastmaster Jimmie Crowley whose quick wit belied his nickname "Sleepy" as the audience and those who heard the banquet broadcast afterward affirmed. According to Warren Brown sports editor of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, who presented a completely humorous address, "Insult was the order of the evening."

Following an excellent full course dinner, musical selections by the Notre Dame Band directed by Joseph J. Casasanta, and continued migrations of alumni from table to table for the purpose of greeting old friends and schoolmates, Presiding Officer Edward J. Meehan opened the program. Mr. Meehan introduced the toastmaster, who then took over the reins for the evening.

Toastmaster Crowley at once launched an offensive of wit against the speakers on the program, who in most instances proceeded to give Mr.

BY THOMAS PROCTOR

Crowley a taste of his own medicine. After the speech of welcome by Mayor Hinkle, Noble Kizer and Gus Dorais, football coach of Purdue and director of athletics at Detroit University respectively, both Notre Dame alumni, were introduced. Kizer concluded his remarks by saying, "May the best team win next November 11th," referring to the Purdue-Notre Dame game of that day. The University's versatile band aided in the introduction of the next speaker, James A. Farley, by playing "Happy Days Are Here Again" the Democratic Anthem. Toastmaster Crowley transformed himself into political character to give the famous manager of boxers and politicians a real political introduction, flowery and oratorical.

In his address Mr. Farley praised the team and coaching staff, the late Knute K. Rockne, his friends in the Middle West, the Fathers of the Holy Cross Congregation, and the system of Catholic education. He referred to himself often as one of the "subway alumni" of Notre Dame. "Big Jim" concluded his remarks with a plea for support of his party in this time of distress, showing the importance of "blocking" obstacles in national affairs as well as in football.

With the playing of "Indiana" by the band, Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana was introduced. The impressive executive stressed the point that the "spirit of Notre Dame" should be carried into the world in this hour of its need. He then congratulated the team as a group of upstanding, fighting men.

pointed out the present proper status of football as a game and nothing more, and the relation of college alumni to their football team. Using Molokai, the leper colony as an example, Father O'Donnell told of the worldwide devotion toward Notre Dame and its representatives. The president interspersed his address with many humorous remarks and with expressions of gratitude to those who had managed the affair.

Harry Kipke, coach of Michigan University, national football champions, Warren Brown, Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune Sports Editor, Jesse Harper, director of athletics at Notre Dame, Clarence Manion, who paid a glowing tribute to Rockne, and Coach Heartley W. Anderson, were on the speakers program. "Hunk" introduced the members of the 1933 Varsity and Coaching Staff.

Many notables, including Major John Griffith, commissioner of the Big Ten, Senator Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana, Frank Walker, democratic national treasurer, Charles Hand, Washington correspondent, and others were introduced in the course of the evening.

The hall was decorated with large pennants and flags, the speaker's table being arranged in the form of a football field with yard markers and goal posts. At one time in the evening a bust of Rockne was illuminated by floodlight and the audience arose to pay silent respects, while the band played "Notre Drame Our Mother." Reverend Eugene Burke, C.S.C., was winner of the autographed football drawing. The banquet concluded with the playing of the "Victory March."

Urges Garnishment Changes

Amendment of the existing garnishment laws to provide exemptions for single persons whose salaries or wages are less than $15 a week is proposed by Judge John F. O'Connell of the Municipal court in a recommendation sent by him to Gov. Horner recently.

The wages of heads of families are now exempt from garnishment by judgment creditors to the extent of $20 a week. For months past Judge O'Connell has presided over one of the garnishment branches of the Municipal court. The depression has so largely increased the volume of such court business that it was necessary recently to apportion the work to two judges, O'Connell and Lupe.

"In many cases the salary of a son or daughter is the sole income of families, where the father is unemployed. Often the income of a younger member of the family is all that keeps the group from being objects of relief."

Buckley Arrives--'28, A Little Late

I was inspired by a letter from HOWIE PHALIN from New York and one from ART DENCHFIELD from Uruguay to begin to make definite plans for our five year reunion in June of this year. They both feel that the initiative must come from the '28 men who are here at Notre Dame and South Bend. I have called a meeting of the '28 men in this vicinity to cooperate with me in making plans that will be so attractive that you all will be back. A report of this meeting will be found in next month's issue. How about giving us your aid by dashing suggestions regarding the kind of program you want will be of great assistance. The following note from Denchfield will probably encourage you far better than anything that I can say to you:

Querido amigasso:

I sincerely hope that you will get to work and make our five year reunion a complete success this coming June. For my part the muscles in my right hand are dancing and jumping around in anticipation of again grasping hands that once worked together for a common goal.

Remembrances to all and best personal regards,

As ever, yours in '28,

Arthur Denchfield.

The National City Bank of New York, Montevideo, Uruguay.

The following letter from HOWIE PHALIN from Hotel New Yorker, New York City should be of interest to most of you:

Dear Louie:

I have decided that the duties of paternity hang very heavy as it seems I am not going to hear from you at all. We are enjoying our stay in New York very much. I run on to the fellows ever so often. One night the Mrs. stopped in a Doubleday-Doran Bookstore and after we were there about ten minutes and I had talked with the fine young gentleman in charge I discovered it was none other than BERNIE GARBBER. He is getting a very metropolitan appearance. I met TURK KELLY scurrying along at Times Square. Believe he told me he was teaching. Have been in to see WATTS EICHER a couple of times. Guess he will go along with F. D. to Washington. You probably remember EDDIE BOURKE. I was at a dinner party at his home. Also saw EDDIE FALLON who is running his Dad's Law Book store down town. Met KANE on 34th headed east. During the Army game we entertained BERNIE BIRD. He is Probation Officer of the Children's court in Buffalo. He told me that BILL DOWDALL is married and living in Buffalo where he is taking charge of that territory for his Dad in the packing business. Saw Big JOHN McMANMON the week end of the game. Also LEO MCINTYRE, BILL HEARN, HANK BURNS, JIMMY COOGAN, JIM HARTLEY, TOM RUCKLEHOUSE, GEORGE DAPSON, CHARLEY JUDGE. Guess I told you about being to a N. J. Club meeting over in Newark last month. Saw RED RILEY, BERNIE and JACK WINGERTER, TOM PURCELL and the rest of the New Jersey crowd. They certainly have a peppy bunch there.

What are the plans for the reunion at graduation? I sure plan to make it but no one knows where I may be by then. I might be in Alaska or South America by that time. Hope things get straightened around this year so we can get set somewhere and really live. I am awfully tired of travelling. I have driven about 30,000 miles this year.

AS ever,

Howie Phalin.

BILL JONES of Helena, Montana fame spent New Year's with me here in South Bend. Bill was making his annual pilgrimage to Detroit. Yes, she has moved from Mishawaka to Detroit.

"Charley's Aunt" is Big Hit

Overflow audiences on the nights of Jan. 21 and 22 enjoyed excellent performances of the old favorite farce-comedy "Charley's Aunt" by the University Theatre in Washington Hall. Casting and direction by Prof. Frank Kelly were evident in every phase of the play and the work of the cast was considerably above even the high average of the Theatre's history. Dave Powers as the "Aunt" was popular with an audience most of whom had seen the part done by both professionals and amateurs. Tighe Woods and Roger Beirne as the two older male characters, Chesney and Spettigue, were good in parts that always tax young men. The Misses Chisholm, Maurer, Gustafson and Tate, guest artists in the feminine roles, contributed ability and charm to their several parts.

Tom Hearnden Married

Tom "Red" Hearnden, former captain of the football team, '26, was married in the Log Chapel at Notre Dame Jan. 28, to Miss Marion Moore, Green Bay, Wis. Rev. W. P. McDermott, principal of St. Catherine's High School, Racine, where Hearnden is coach of all sports, married them.

Secretary Visiting Fifteen Local Alumni Clubs in East

Cincinnati	February 2-3-4
Dayton	February 5
Columbus	February 6
Youngstown	February 7
Akron	February 8
Cleveland	February 9
Buffalo	February 10-11
Rochester	February 12-13
Syracuse	February 14
Albany	February 15
New York	February 16
and	to
New Jersey	February 20
Philadelphia	February 21-22
Washington	February 23-24
Pittsburgh	February 25

Above is the itinerary prepared by James E. Armstrong, Alumni Secretary of the University for the largest personal contact campaign in ten years. And this time, instead of endowment, the objects are simply to visit the Local Alumni clubs and see that the present critical situation on both sides is thoroughly understood and arrange for the mutual benefits that can be secured from these evil days.

Two activities of the Alumni Office formed the nucleus of the present trip. One is a convention of the alumni association officers of District Five of the American Alumni Council, which is to be held at the University of Cincinnati Feb. 3 and 4. The other is the meeting of the executive committee of the American Alumni Council which is to be held in Buffalo Feb. 10 and 11. The local Secretary was Director for Conventions last year in the Council and as the California convention was cancelled because of the depression that seems to have affected alumni associations generally, the job was held over for the 1933 convention which is to be held in Chicago during the Century of Progress observance.

The trip will also be the occasion for visiting four District Governors of our own Association—Gerald Ashe, Rochester; John Murphy, Cleveland; Ambrose O'Connell, New York, and John Neeson, Philadelphia.

In addition to these alumni activities, a number of high schools from which Notre Dame has drawn students during the past few years have extended invitations to the Notre Dame Alumni Secretary to speak to their students interested in Notre Dame. The same information and general subject matter will be available for any parents or young men contemplating attending Notre Dame, whom the Local Alumni clubs may know.

The territory to be covered makes the stops necessarily brief, and the volume of material to be handled at each stop will necessitate missing a great deal that the ordinary visit would permit, but opportunity is not to be questioned these days and the secretary jumped at the chances however slight. Club officers have been asked to avoid inconveniences to members as these visits will be most informal. Get your questions ready as to how is so and so and where is so and so and what is so and so, and to the best of the limited ability of your proposed visitor they'll be answered. The dialectic system seems to work out most satisfactory for the secretary who usually leaves a couple of good written speeches at home before going on any trip.

Wurzer Firm Grows

The old established law firm of Wurzer & Wurzer, of Detroit, last year suffered the loss by death of its junior, Henry C. Wurzer. Announcement is made of the reorganization of the firm by the admission thereto of John T. Higgins, who has been associated with it for seven years past. Mr. Higgins is a native of Shelbyville, Ind., took his arts degree at

JOHN T. HIGGINS

Notre Dame and his law at Georgetown University. In Detroit he was first associated with the law firm of Clark, Emmons & Bryan, going to Wurzer & Wurzer several years ago. Mr. Higgins is a member of Notre Dame Council, K. of C., and was for several years lecturer in Corporate Finance in the Evening College of Commerce of the University of Detroit. Mr. Higgins will also be remembered as the author and broadcaster of a series of Sunday Evening talks in 1932, on the Knights of Columbus hour, relative to Catholic social, cultural and benevolent activities in the diocese of Michigan. The late F. Henry Wurzer was a leading Notre Dame graduate. His surviving brother, Louis C. Wurzer, is, like his new associate, Mr. Higgins, also a Notre Dame graduate.

Brother Bede, Former Prefect, Dies In India

Brother Bede, C.S.C., for many years a prefect in Brownson and St. Edward's Halls, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, died in Bengal, India, January 14. He was born in Tralee, County Kerry, Ireland, August 24, 1884, and educated at the Academy of the Irish Christian Brothers in his native town and at Notre Dame. In 1905 he was clothed in the habit of the Brothers of Holy Cross, and made his final vows, December 8, 1909. Besides serving as a prefect, he was for some years assistant-superior of the preparatory school for the Brothers, Sacred Heart College, Watertown, Wisconsin, and also assistant to the Master of Novices, St. Joseph's Novitiate, Notre Dame.

In 1926 he volunteered for the Diocese of Dacca, Bengal, India, which the Holy See has entrusted to the care of the Congregation of Holy Cross. There he was stationed at Ranikhong in charge of the numerous catechumens, converts from among the Garo tribe, and at Mymensingh. When his fellow-missionary, Father C. Brooks was attacked by a tiger in 1929, Brother Bede rescued him from a painful death by killing the brute with the first shot. The incident received considerable publicity in the Catholic press.

Pro and Con Haynes

The letter in the last ALUMNUS from Harold Haynes, '23, has brought several others to the Office. Vince Cavanaugh, '23, Syracuse, believes that the letter merits more serious thought on the part of the University, a thought shared by Bruce Holmberg. Norb Skelley, '25, Tulsa, believes that the individual is responsible for the application of his education in the business world.

Athletics

The signing of Heartley (Hunk) Anderson for another year as head coach of football takes the spotlight in this month's athletic show at Notre Dame. Since Jesse Harpers' contract as director of athletics does not expire until May, no announcement has been made in his case, nor have the assistant coaches for next year been announced.

The basketball team, battling against an injury and illness jinx, has showed definite signs of a comeback and our prediction is that Coach George Keogan will finish with a percentage of .700 or better, despite the fact that the season is more than half over with six games won and six lost. Also despite the fact that Butler, Pitt, and Marquette, three of the teams to defeat Notre Dame are on schedule for return games.

After winning three straight from Albion, 41 to 20; from Illinois Wesleyan, 24 to 12; and from Northwestern, 28 to 25; Captain Johnny Baldwin, Al McGuff, and Leo Crowe managed to get sick or injured so that Purdue won a 36 to 31 game and started the downslide. Keogan finished with four forwards and a center in that game.

Three more games went to the opposition—Ohio State, 30 to 24; Northwestern, 33 to 29; and Marquette, 35 to 32 in the overtime—before Notre Dame chalked up a 36 to 19 victory over the Michigan State team which so far has a .667 percentage for the season. Then Butler won a 27 to 25 contest in which Notre Dame tied the score eight times but never went ahead after the middle of the first half; and Pittsburgh took the lead with a minute and a half to play to win, 29 to 25. Redemption for these two defeats came in the form of impressive victories over Minnesota, 30 to 22 and Toledo, 42 to 14.

The main weakness of the team has been defensive failure. Keogan's old axiom says that to hold the opposition to 19 points is to win most of your games. Injuries and illness has robbed Notre Dame of its full guard strength, and all three of the guards, Baldwin, Crowe, and McGuff are short men. Notre Dame has scored at least 24 points in every game and has lost while scoring 35 (against Pitt). Having lost four regulars and two reserves from last year's team, and three more guards for some games this year, Keogan is to be congratulated that his team has even come close to the teams he chose to play this year.

W. B. Yeats Lectures Here on The Irish Renaissance

"Some day we may have a great literature; perhaps here and there we have it already," so spoke William Butler Yeats, famed Irish poet, essayist, and dramatist, to a houseful of Notre Dame students and faculty members in Washington Hall Monday evening Jan. 9. Mr. Yeats had been speaking about the Irish Renaissance, that admirable right angle of 30 or 40 years duration during which Ireland has introspected a bit and found something wrong with itself as well as with England.

Before going into detail in regard to the Renaissance proper, Mr. Yeats gave first a brief sketch of Irish literature and the Irish mind during those centuries which produced such figures as Berkeley, Swift and Burke. He spoke of the influence of the French Revolution, the deep-seated Irish affection for liberty, the facetious appraisal of England as "the origin of all evil."

Getting to the body of his lecture, the speaker talked of the changing attitude of intelligent people in the latter part of the nineteenth century toward their own country. "Give a rough tongue to Ireland for once," was the slogan which best typifies the new outlook. A thriving romantic, theater-going, self-contemplative age was setting in—the era which produced the magnificent writings of Lady Gregory, with their simple, elastic, quietly dignified style, the era of John Synge's plays which were more exciting than a Democratic convention, the era of free thought, of exhausted police forces, and the most rebellious of rebels.

As if they depicted more accurately than did anything else the mind of Ireland during this Renaissance period, Mr. Yeats constantly referred to the Irish plays. Long associated with the famed Abbey Theater, he himself is unquestionably a firm believer that the stage in particular and literature in general give the truest cross section of a nation's life.

Now 67 years old, 1923 Nobel Prize Winner, co-founder of the Irish Academy of Letters, a well rounded scholar, William Butler Yeats lectures leisurely, every now and then humorously, and likes his audience to ask him questions. Himself a non-Catholic, Mr. Yeats speaks of an indigenously Catholic country with an admirable broadmindedness, but with some decidedly set views which must not always mesh perfectly with the more developed Irish Catholic mind.

John E. Miller Joins Architectural Faculty

John Edward Miller of Cleveland, new member of the faculty of the University of Notre Dame in the department of architecture took up his duties Feb. 1, at the opening of the new semester.

Miller was born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio, where he attended Glenville High school. He received his bachelor of science degree in architecture from Catholic University, Washington, D. C., in 1928. He taught at Catholic University his last two years as a student.

He also studied at the Fontainebleau Academy of fine arts in France in 1926. He was an instructor in architecture at the Cleveland School of Architecture for half a year in 1931. The Cleveland school is connected with Western Reserve university.

Recently Mr. Miller has been associated with the firm of Walker and Weeks in Cleveland, architects for the Cleveland Municipal stadium, in which Notre Dame played Navy in football last fall, and for many of Cleveland's fine municipal buildings. He worked recently on the buildings and grounds contained in the beautiful Cleveland public mall.

Mr. Miller will reside in Lyons hall on the campus.

ALUMNI CLUBS

CINCINNATI

Clem Crowe, the able Captain of the Notre Dame Football team in 1925, who is now assisting Chief Joe Meyers of Xavier University, is not only becoming famous for his athletic strategy, but is also advancing with rapid strides as a speaker. The secretary has had the pleasure of introducing Clem to several K. of C. Councils, and Clem has "done himself proud" by his oratory—thus demonstrating the versatility of Notre Dame men.

John Botts Crowley is being kept quite busy these days. John is a busy salesman for the Cincinnati Athletic Goods Co., and also finds time to referee several basketball games during the week.

Jack Elder blew into Cincinnati last month to hold the role of principal speaker at Joe Morrissey's banquet for the victorious Roger Bacon High school team—twice City Champions. The speakers' table looked more like a Notre Dame banquet. Besides Mr. Elder, there were seated: Joe Morrissey, Hogan Morrissey, Leo Dubois, Clem Crowe, Joe Meyers and Botts Crowley.

We see Jack Van Lahr almost every day. Jack, however, keeps bankers' hours as he is handling cash for the Provident Savings bank, one of Cincinnati's largest banking institutions.

The Notre Dame club of Cincinnati, in co-operation with the Cincinnati Campus club, enjoyed a very fine evening of dancing and entertainment at the famous Cincinnati club during the Holidays. The old secretary was unable to attend due to a previous appointment; however, some 70 or 80 couples danced to the strains of the Victory March, etc., until the wee hours of the morning.

We are very happy to announce that Mr. Edw. McHugh, former president of the Cincinnati Notre Dame club, is making rapid strides on the road to full health. Ed has had a pretty tough time, but plenty of fight to get well.

Our traveling member, Leo Dubois, visited you on his last trip to South Bend, is starting for Baltimore, Maryland, next Tuesday to the National Real-Estate meeting.

Bob Hughes, our dapper little president, went hunting over the Holidays. Hunting what? Must have been BEARS from the stories Bob handed out on his return.

The news is a bit late, but smiling Joe Morrissey came through with the City Championship in football—the second straight season for Joe and his Roger Bacon boys—and what a gang he has for next season! Try to stop him!

Harry Crumley and his brother, William Crumley, have just been awarded contract to dig some several miles of sewerage. These men are brothers of Father Thomas Crumley, and of course, both graduates of Notre Dame.

Don Dixon, son of the famous Judge Dixon, greatest vote getter in Cincinnati, is studying law at the University of Cincinnati. Don spent a couple of years at Notre Dame.

Bill and Al Castellini have about cornered the fruit business in Cincinnati. I called Bill the other day and Al chimed in on the 'phone, singing: "Yes, we have no bananas!"

Lou Baden is doing office work at the Fenwick club. Monsignor Baden, Director of the club, is Lou's uncle. Lou must have a drag.

KENTUCKY

Dear Jim:

I am sorry that I must start this letter with an apology because of its tardiness, but due to the laxness of the Club, nothing has occurred of any interest to the Notre Dame ALUMNUS.

The election of officers took place a short time ago, of which the following were elected:

Mr. Randall Dempf, president; Mr. Marion Heffernan, vice-president; Mr. Charles Henry Bushmeyer, treasurer; Mr. Wm. A. Reisert, Jr., secretary.

Several weeks ago the picture of the Notre Dame-Southern California football game appeared at the National Theater, and the club sponsored a Notre Dame night at the Theater. Some of the old time spirit was shown at this affair, as the Notre Dame bunch had a section to themselves and probably a hundred members and their friends turned out.

In all probability, there will be a meeting about the first part of February, the date which has not been decided yet, and after which I will write you and let you know just about the procedure of the club for the coming year.

I know nothing else of importance just at present. Wm. A. Reisert, Jr.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Dear Jim:

With considerable alarm I view your carefully worded mandate to the Alumni Association relative discontinuance of the ALUMNUS. Instead of retrenching in such propaganda media as the ALUMNUS, we should expand the program and include a quarterly review, edited by Notre Dame men. Some method must be devised of selling this idea to the Alumni Association. I realize that it is a devilishly-hard task to get money from anyone these days, but the ALUMNUS should be continued. Suppose every Alumnus able to do so would contribute one dollar—would that help you? Or suppose you break your association into regions and zones and have a group appointed to entice delinquents to pay up. If the Alumni in difficult financial circumstances cannot pay the required fee, why not permit them the option of paying $3 or $2 or even $1. (Ed. note: Buddy, can you spare a dime).

Some news from the Coast: John F. Dunne, '28, has been appointed general manager of athletics at the University of Santa Clara. This gives Santa Clara almost an all-Notre Dame athletic department, with "Clipper" Smith and "Buck" Shaw coaching football. John has charge of all athletic operations—John handled publicity for Santa Clara last fall. It may be noted here that Santa Clara increased its net gate receipts last fall 25 percent! Can you tie that in a year of depression? Year, did I say? . . . Bob Lane, Cascade, Iowa; N. D., '29, is teaching Biology at Santa Clara and attending Stanford Medical school. . . . Daniel Sullivan, now an attorney, Notre Dame, '09, formerly director of dramatics at Notre Dame was one of the speakers at the Santa Clara Passion Play rally on Jan. 12. This Santa Clara Passion Play, written by famed Clay M. Green, a Santa Clara Alumnus, was first produced in 1901. It has been repeated every five years.

Were we proud a few weeks ago? Naturally, we would be with "Clipper" Smith being very seriously considered for the coaching post at Stanford. "Clipper" did not file an application for the position, nor did he seek out support from any alumni group, nor did he make any statements. He was very gracious throughout all the rumors of his being given the position. "Clipper" is easily the outstanding coach on the Pacific Coast from the viewpoint of a unique personality and a high sense of sportsmanship. (This is no discredit or reflection on the rest, but Smith has a very gracious way in winning and a high-class way in losing that is making thousands of friends for him.) To our mind he ranks with the greatest Notre Dame style coaches in the country. . . . "Buck" Shaw, Santa Clara line coach, is working for the Standard Oil sales department in off-season. (Football, of course. Gas and oil, apparently, have no off-season).

W. M. Packer, one of the big shots of Chevrolet Motor Company, passed the word to us that Dan Brady, '26, connected with the Detroit office of Chevrolet, is one of the brightest young men in the company and Packer expects Brady to become very important in the Chevrolet organization before many years pass. Of course you know that Chevrolet led the country in passenger car sales the last four out of six years! (Please don't be a boy scout, now, Jim, and cut this publicity for a great motor car! And also send a marked copy to Chevrolet, Detroit. Irish politics may land an ad for you!)

We are sorry to report the death of Ernest Duncan, '98. Mr. Duncan was one of the leading business men of San Francisco. He played on the football team of '98.

THE YOUNG MAN ABOUT TOWN SAW: Eustace Cullinan, Sr., '95, at the Bohemian Club, THE club of San Francisco. . . . Keene Fitzpatrick, '12, with a portfolio under his arm, enroute to mail an advertising contract down for the Chicago Tribune group of papers which he represents on the West Coast. . . . John Hogan, '26, former Notre Dame tackle, watching Ernie Nevers' professionals work out at Stanford. . . .

Eustace Cullinan, Jr., '25, skipping around the cool marble halls of our municipal edifice. There was a crafty look in Hughie's eye. He was courting that regal mistress, the law, once more. . . . Vince McNally, '27, basketball coach at St. Mary's, built an excellent five on the Gaels court.

Bert Dunne.

MILWAUKEE

The following notes came from Paul Brust.

Ed Reaume, '26, is keeping Wisconsin folk well informed about the merits of Cyclone Fences. He travels about the state rather extensively, and always seems to be out of town when we have festivities in Milwaukee.

Tom Meagher, '30, played a stellar brand of football at Marquette University this year. Tom played at left end and so distinguished himself that he has been signed to coach the game at St. John's Cathedral High.

Ed Wm. Brown, '28, formerly of Racine, Wisconsin is now connected with the legal department of Allis Chalmers Co. He has moved to Milwaukee and has already distinguished himself by his presence at our bridge party.

James Rank, ex-'30, can be seen most any day in a well known Milwaukee jewelry shop which has his father's name over the window.

Victor Woeste, '29, has been spending his working and leisure hours at Columbia hospital, Milwaukee. He is filling the position of expert staff assistant.

Bill Redden our club president is just back from California. (No good place for N. D. men).

Paul Brust.

WYOMING

Dear Jim:

I promised last month to submit for your approval and acceptance a report on the Wyoming "grads" of Notre Dame, and now I find that, the promise being made, must be kept. I am not so sure that I shall include all of the alumni, but I shall do my utmost. Some, perhaps, are unknown to me.

FRANK MAHONEY, of the class of '14, and who has a sister (Sister Mary Agnes) at St. Mary's, is in the woolgrowing business together with a younger brother, James, who was graduated in '27. Another brother, Phillip, of the class of '24, and a member of the '24 basketball squad, is living in Casper. He, too, is a woolgrower, is married and has a left-end for the class of—let's say '48.

TIM MOYNIHAN is in Rawlins, together with his wife and that future center of his. Tim is making a very serious bid for the head coach position at the U. of Wyoming. We all, of course, are doing everything we can for the big boy, since we would like to see the N. D. system installed at Wyoming.

FRANK BON, of Cheyenne, class of '27, was secretary to Congressman Vincent Carter the last time I heard about him. Guess he is in Washington, D. C. right now.

MIKE PAPPAS, '31, is managing his uncle's restaurant for him here in Rawlins, and is doing a good job at it, too.

BILL LOOMIS, '27, is working for his father in Rawlins. He is part-time manager of the clothing department in his dad's store, and spends the rest of his time in the grocery division. Bill has been married for several years to a home town girl.

BARRY MAHONEY, ex. '27, of Casper, is a go-getting insurance man in his home town, and has built up a good business for himself at the last report.

TOM KASSIS, of Casper, has been coaching the backfield of the U. of Wyoming during the past season. Now that the season is over, he has gone to Cheyenne to manage one of his father's dry goods stores there. He was a member of the class of '31, I believe.

CARL GUENSSLEN, of Green River, a graduate of the class of '32, is living at home at the present time, and is in the dry goods business there.

BOB GRESSER, '28, is married and living in Mishawaka, Indiana. He is an accountant for a tea company, so I hear.

MAURICE SANDERMAN, a student at Notre Dame during the years 1925, 1926 and 1927, is married, the father of two children—a boy and a girl—and is living in Jasper, Indiana, where he is connected with the Buick Distributors of that district.

TOM HAMELINE, '29, is insuring them in the Aetna in South Bend and Mishawaka. Tom recently did a Log Chapel act with a Mishawaka girl, and it's Mr. and Mrs. now.

RAY NOVAK, '30, is trying to collect notes from Iowa farmers for his father's bank at Spillville, but reports that his luck isn't anything to brag about. Maybe he should get in touch with you, Jim, so you could moan about "collections" together.

These are the alumni so far as I know them, Jim. There are, of course, more in our wild and woolly Wyoming, but they must be out playing cowboy. I can't get any information on them.

Hope to be seeing you in June at the reunion of the different classes.

Best regards to the good Father O'Hara and to yourself.

Sincerely,

Edward R. Quinn, '28.

P. S. Yours truly is teaching high school and supervising a rural district of 8 small schools.

DEATHS

FRANCIS J. KILKENNY died at his home in Chicago on Dec. 28.

Francis J. Kilkenny was born in Kilafee, Carrigallen, County Leitrim, Ireland and came to the United States when a boy. He secured his LL.B from the Georgetown University Law School; he also attended the University of Notre Dame. He lectured before the students of Commerce and Administration, University of Notre Dame, in 1925. When General Charles G. Dawes went to Washington during the McKinley administration, Mr. Kilkenny accompanied him, and rose to the position of confidential secretary, which position he held during the administrations of Comptrollers Dawes, Ridgely and Murray. In 1913, he resigned and came to Chicago to engage in the investment securities business. He has made good in his business as well as every other activity with which he has been identified. He served as aide to General Dawes during the World War in France, in recognition of which he was named by the French government as a member of The Academy of Public Instruction and Fine Arts; and is a member of the Evanston Post, Illinois, American Legion. Subsequently he served as assistant to General Dawes who was the first Director of the Budget under the Harding administration. After General Dawes was nominated as Vice President of the United States, Francis was appointed by him as his personal campaign manager. He successfully organized and promulgated the "Back-to-Ireland" movement in 1910, which resulted in inducing over 20,000 Irish-Americans to visit the "old land." In 1929 Mr. Kilkenny was a member of the Dominican Economic Commission. He married Ellen L. Ryan of Chicago, Jan. 26, 1921. They have four children; Francis J., Jr., Catherine Mary, William John and Carolyn Dawes Kilkenny. He has a brother, Thomas J. Kilkenny, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Lynch, both of Chicago, surviving him also.

A letter from HUGH O'DONNELL adds:

"I was shocked to learn of the death last week of Francis J. Kilkenny. He was at Notre Dame in my day and, of course, I knew him well. He deserved much because whatever plaudits he won, he earned for himself. He was ardent in his Irish sympathies and one summer became a hero by sending many thousands of Irish-Americans on home-going tours to Ireland where millions of American dollars were spent.

"Early, by his loyalty, enterprise and devotion, he won the good-will of Charles G. Dawes, not only as General Dawes but later as Vice-President Dawes and even as Ambassador Dawes. He was devotion personified. He was frank and conscientious, exceedingly real, the kind of a man one wishes to have for a friend and he was a true friend to any whose cause he espoused or character he admired. I had an affection for him and I will miss him."

ERNEST C. DUNCAN, monogram football man in 1899-1900, died at his home in San Francisco Jan. 11, after a short illness.

BIRTHS

The ARTHUR SUDERS, '26, whom some prophet mentioned last month didn't disappoint him and are the parents of Carol Agnes Suder, born in Toledo the latter part of December.

REGISTRAR ROBERT RIORDAN, '24, and Mrs. Riordan are the parents of a daughter, Marcia Ellen, born in South Bend, Jan. 15. Bob and his wife now share their time with three boys and two girls.

MR. AND MRS. LEO B. FETTIG, Elwood, Ind., '28, are parents of a son, Dennis Benedict, born Jan. 19. A 7½ pound start in life promises well for Leo's first-born.

MARRIAGES

KENNETH I. HECK, was married Saturday, Jan. 14, in South Bend to Miss Eva Eleanor Mays. Kenneth and Mrs. Heck are at home in the Franklin Apartments, South Bend.

ENGAGEMENTS

Romance and optimism and the Notre Dame fight have combined to bring about the engagement of several N. D. athletes. The two latest are those of Miss Louise Barthman of South Bend to WILLIAM J. SULLIVAN, JR., former varsity baseball star and present member of the White Sox who is completing studies in the College of Law, and Miss Betty Bushnell, Louisville, Ky., to PAUL HOST, captain of the 1932 football team. Paul will be graduated from the College of Arts and Letters in June. Announcement was made several months ago of the engagement of JOE KURTH, and one of the campus Winchells has whispered several more to come from the varsity dressing rooms before June.

PERSONALS

1895

A note received at the University from HUGH C. MITCHELL says, "In addition to my work on the Coast and the Geodetic Survey I am giving a course in Astronomy at the Catholic University. It is a one-semester course but it is a delightful contact."

1908

DR. J. A. CAPARO, head of the department of electrical engineering, has been awarded a Fellowship in the American Institute of Electrical Engineering. The honor is one which is shared by Dr. Caparo and the work of the department under his direction.

1909

FRANK C. WALKER, who was at Notre Dame Jan. 16 with James A. Farley for the Football Banquet, is now Colonel Frank C. Walker as the result of the action of the Governor of Texas. The honor was conferred upon Colonel Walker when he returned to New York from Notre Dame. Mr. Walker was also one of three guests of honor at a dinner tendered by the finance committee. President-Elect and Mrs. Roosevelt were among the guests. Mr. Walker (then) was presented with a fully equipped desk set.

1910

LOUIS PHILIPPE MICHAUD sends a check for dues from France—failing thereby to join in Ed Wynn's new French poem, "Ode to the United States." Mr. Michaud is listed on his business card as Directeur General General Motors France, Section Equipement, 89 a 95 Boul'd. de Lorraine, Clichy, Seine.

1913

Mr. and Mrs. John Costello, Kewanee, Ind., father and mother of JOHN W. COSTELLO, Governor of District II and former president of the Association, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on January 23. The seven children of Mr.

and Mrs. Costello, four girls and three boys, all attended either Notre Dame or St. Mary's. Besides John, the alumni members of the family are DR. JOSEPH P. COSTELLO, '12, St. Louis, Mo., and EDWARD COSTELLO, '10, Kewanee. Sixteen grandchildren participated in the observance.

1914

Newspapers recently carried pictures and stories of the return of the flying Marines from Nicaragua. Prominent among the illustrations was one of Secretary of Navy Charles Francis Adams and General Ben Fuller greeting CAPT. FRANCIS P. MULCAHY who commanded the squad of 22 planes which played such a vital part in the government's activities in Nicaragua.

1916

TIMOTHY P. GALVIN, vice-president of the Association, was among the Calumet District delegations at the Football Banquet.

1917

The change in Class Secretaries (cf. list) must be noted here. JOHN RILEY has asked a number of times to be relieved from the job which has become burdensome through lack of contacts. The Class poll has resulted in the selection of EDWARD J. McOSKER, 221 Hamilton Ave., Elgin, Ill., Ph.B. Journalism, as his successor. Don't destroy the illusions of the new Secretary. With all of the talent in the Class, Ed is urged to take a look at the ingenuity of Kid Ashe in the '22 column and see what can be done by a tired conductor.

JOHN C. SHEA, dean of the law faculty of the University of Dayton, is emerging from a grave illness. On July 27th he had just completed a strenuous campaign for nomination as Judge of Appeals in his district and would have been overwhelmingly elected in November had not this serious illness interfered. With the assurance universally accepted that he would achieve victory at the polls, he was obliged to withdraw his name. With characteristic courage and patience he met this trying ordeal and is again able to be about and rapidly recovering the use of speech and arm.

1918

REV. C. E. HOGAN wrote recently to REV. JOHN F. O'HARA. Father Hogan is pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Boulder City, Nevada. Father Hogan says, "I guess you did not know that I was building the dam out here and that I had a parish here for the past year. I come up in all kinds of out-of-the-way places; nevertheless I cannot forget my friends at Notre Dame . . . I have forgotten all the South American history you put into me but I have at least the pleasant recollection of delightful associates.

DONALD A. LEPORE has been practicing law for twelve years at Hot Springs National Park, Ark. His address is 627½ Central Ave.

1922

Dear Jim:

Due to the fact that the '22 section of the ALUMNUS of late has been exceedingly dull and uninteresting I deem it best to bring in a Guest Conductor who might inject a little life and sparkle into the February issue. I believe I have succeeded admirably for Jerry Dixon—the Walter Winchell of the middle west—after receiving payment of a nominal fee, has accepted the challenge.

Let us tune in on the spokesman of the Mississippi basin, who writes as follows:

Dear Friend and Counselor:

Your letter received with reference to my becoming the Editor of your valued column in the ALUMNUS for the February issue. It is with fear and trepidation that I do this, because Ashe is to the ALUMNUS what perfume is to the flower.

The great electorate spoke in Macoupin County, Illinois on November 8, 1932, and chose MIKE SEYFRIT, States Attorney. Everybody, who remembers anything about fun at school during our time, unconsciously thinks of Mike, and everybody liked him. I am sure that all of us wish him the greatest of success during his tenure of office for the next four years. Recently, a prominent fire insurance lawyer told us that not long ago he witnessed Mike successfully conduct a prosecution for arson, as an Assistant States Attorney, and that he thought that Mike was one of the best prosecutors he ever saw in action.

A few weeks ago we were favored by a visit at our office by STEPHEN E. (call me HICK) CARMODY, also a Macoupin County boy now living in a suburban town west of Chicago with his wife and new son, Thomas Timothy. He has been engaged in the road construction business since leaving school but is not working at the present time, or for the balance of the winter. We suggested that he return to Macoupin County during his enforced vacation and become Chief Investigator for the States Attorney. To this he demurred, replying that internecine warfare would occur within the limits of the States Attorney's office not more than a day after the new employment would take effect. In his own inimitable way Bro. Carmody put it "You know, Seyfrit and I always liked to scuffle."

On his way to our office Hick stopped for a four o'clock cup of tea with G. T. (call me MIDNIGHT) MURPHY. The latter is now identified on the telephone as "Mr. Murphy" and is District Superintendent for the Bell Telephone Company of three of the largest districts in Chicago.

At the Northwestern game we met another Macoupin County boy who has made good, DR. DAN SEXTON of St. Louis. It looks as if Macoupin County common is on the bull side of the market.

About the first of November DR. HENRY S. (call me HANK) ATKINSON favored us with a visit. He is Health Commissioner for the City of Green Bay and was attending a meeting in Chicago of the surgeons for the Northwestern Railroad. His wife and family made the trip to Chicago with him. One of the nights during his visit he met up with G. T. Murphy. When interviewed by the inquiring reporter a few days later, the only comment made by Dr. Atkinson was "This Midnight Murphy is bad business for husbands."

A few months ago the dignified atmosphere near the Merchandise Mart in Chicago was punctured with cries of "Police, Robbers." Upon investigation the voice was found to be that of Knight of the Grip, C. E. LYNCH, dean of salesmen. Bro. Lynch had driven to Chicago for the day from Peoria and had parked his car without removing the key. When he returned, the car, together with his pride and joy, the radio, had been taken by dishonest persons. When interviewed by the inquiring reporter Mr. Lynch wept copiously, not for the car, but for the radio. "It was my little companion on my travels" he said, his voice choking with sobs.

We have been informed that AL SCOTT has recently been appointed to the Municipal Court of Los Angeles by the Governor of California. His brother, FATHER GEORGE SCOTT, is still located in Los Angeles.

Seen at random in Chicago (with apologies to O. O. McIntyre) ROG KILEY in court, JIM MURTAUGH the enterprising realtor, DOC HUGHES, more corpulent than ever, talking about hard times. His waistline gave no indication of hard times to us—TONY SCHIAVONE, another enterprising realtor—JOSEPH H. FARLEY, a barrister with a large girth talking about hard times—BEN SUSEN, world tourist about to leave for the Isle of Tahiti and Singapore (no depression there, either) EMMET BURKE, now in the contracting business—DR. EDWARD N. ANDERSON, specializing in eye, ear, nose and throat, and located in the Marshall Field Annex Building.

At the Northwestern game we were disappointed that JIM SHAW and the Iowa delegation weren't there (Editor's note—Corn has been selling at eight cents a bushel in Iowa.) Neither did we see J. PAUL CULLEN with his familiar chew of tobacco. During his recent visit with us, Bro. Carmody recalled that five or six years ago J. Paul called on him in Chicago for the purpose of inducing him to take a trip around the world. Bro. Carmody replied that he was too busy just then to get away, and that, anyway, he wasn't interested in the Gobi Desert or the moonlight on the Nile. According to Hick, J. Paul left in a huff and continued the trek westward to Des Moines where he stopped to induce Jim Shaw to go with him. There he remained for a week and returned to Chicago to announce to Hick that he was as regally entertained in Des Moines as Cleopatra could have done on the Nile. For that reason the world tour ended in Iowa. Hick predicts that J. Paul's next world tour will extend as far as Wahoo, Nebraska.

A few weeks ago we met our old friend COLONEL HOYNES coming down LaSalle Street. He appeared hale and hearty in spite of the fact that he is far into his eighties. He had been visiting in Chicago and was returning to Notre Dame. We have been wondering how many men of his age are able to walk through downtown Chicago dodging traffic, alone and unassisted.

1925

"VINCENT F. HARRINGTON of Sioux City, a "shock trooper" for Knute Rockne in days of the "Four Horsemen" at Notre Dame, will be a claimant for the distinction of being Iowa's youngest state senator in the forty-ninth general assembly. He is 29.

"Harrington, a Democrat, campaigned against a friend to succeed to the seat of another friend. His Republican opponent was Chris Jepson. B. M. Stoddard, legislative leader and chairman of the senate appropriations committee last session, did not seek re-election.

"The issue on which Harrington asked election was reduction of government expense. He served on the Woodbury county committee of investigation in studies of the legislative committee on reduction of government expenditures.

"The program of the committee as presented is an excellent job. I will support at least 95 per cent of their proposals for consolidation, reorganization, and economy," Harrington said.

"Harrington, conferring Tuesday with Democratic leaders at the Kirkwood hotel, said his vote on any prohibition question would be for repeal.

"I campaigned squarely on the national plank of the Democratic party," he said.

1926

WILLIAM "BUD" BARR and JOHN HAMLING, '25, former track stars, were visitors on the campus recently.

1927

WATTS EICHER has been appointed secretary of the entertainment committee of the League of American Citizens of Foreign Descent. Probably the publicity on Notre Dame's cosmopolitan team recommended a Notre Dame man for the job.

WATCH FOR BUCKLEY'S RE-UNION ANNOUNCEMENTS!

ART DENCHFIELD sends a post-card from Paraguay, asking to be remembered to the Class. Art spent Christmas in Guarni land and if the native on the post-card is a sample Art ought to have some great tales for the Reunion.

1929

CHARLES CASEY, '25, sends the following interesting item of another legal triumph for '29:

"The Democratic landslide put another Notre Dame man into office at Mason City, county seat of a strong Republican county in Iowa. A first degree murder case constituted a busy beginning for M. L. LARRY MASON, who began his term as county attorney of Cerro Gordo county in January. Larry takes the office vacated by a staunch Republican who held the position for six years."

1930

The January issue was right up to the standard—very interesting from cover to cover. I am enclosing a few items in case you find it possible to edit another number in the near future.

All of my room mates are doing well—WATTS EICHER slips us the inside news about the Democrats and it will not be long now until they have things humming.

HARRY FRANCIS was in the city for the Automobile Show and came in to talk things over. Harry is now selling cars for Raymond P. Scott, Inc., of Ardmore, Pa. He also finds time to continue his law studies and during the summer he plays his four or five baseball games a week.

LARRY "PINKY" COTTER of Buffalo has been working with the Personal Finance Company in the Bronx.

TOM CUNNINGHAM is now in the Insurance and Surety Bond business being associated with the John F. Curry Agency on Pine Street.

CON CAREY successfully completed the New York Bar Examination this fall and is practicing at Saranac Lake, N. Y., his home town.

RAY McCOLLUM of Montclair recently married Miss Frances Ennis and they are living on 83rd Street in Jackson Heights, New York. Ray is busy selling coal around this city.

From East Orange we hear that GEORGE HEWSON and the former Miss Eileen Cook now boast of a baby boy. George is completing his medical studies at St. Louis University this year.

ART PARISIEN stopped in for a visit a few weeks ago. Art is going to try to teach some of the New England boys how to toss those touchdown passes.

The news of Eddie Collins in Tucson is very encouraging and Eddie expects to be back in Chicago before long. The team saw him while on their way to the Coast. His brother "CHUCK," '25, was on for the coaches meeting.

HAL LOUGHLIN, ex. '31, and JIM WARD, '32, are stepping along with the Aetna Life Insurance Company here.

The Acme Fast Freight, Inc. has put BERNIE GARBBER on their pay roll. He will be among friends with that organization.

DICK DONOGHUE is going well with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures. He is now in Washington, D. C.

JERRY "RED" HARRINGTON is practicing law in Sioux City, Iowa.

BILL BIRMINGHAM is in business with his father, who is a cattle broker in Sioux City, Iowa.

From Cincinnati the latest news is that BERNARD HUGGER, '29, took time off from his job with the American Airways, Inc. and strolled up the aisle to start a happy married life.

JACK BOEHMER and JACK HEILKER are studying Law at Xavier University in Cincinnati.

BOB HUGHES is passing his time with a brokerage firm in that city.

ED SLICK of Pittsburgh and Miss Ella Block of South Bend were wed recently.

ED MEHREN, '31, is on a ranch in Arizona.

JOHN GANNON, '31, of Pelham is continuing his studies at Columbia University.

JIM RORKE, '31, is selling for the Travelers Insurance Co.

JIM STACK, '26, cut short his internee here when his father died just before Christmas.

ARTHUR C. BERGEN, '31, is studying Law at Fordham

JACK JORDAN, '32, has a job with a brokerage firm here.

JACK ADAMS, '26, has been busy organizing the Mercier Club in Montclair. Jack was one of the James A. Farley party at N. D. for the football banquet, Jan. 16.

CHARLEY SULLIVAN is working for the Frigidaire Sales Corp. His wife, son, and he are living in Yonkers.

FRANKIE BON, '26, is in Washington as Secretary to Senator Carey of Wyoming and is living at the Broadmore Hotel.

DR. JERRY HAYES, '26, is sailing for Europe during March. (Some of the fellows here wonder if it is a honeymoon trip.)

WALTER O'KEEFE took Clifton Webb's place in "Flying Colors" for a short time and made a good hit.

PAUL CASTNER, '23, was in town on business last week.

So long,

Bernie.

A card from HAROLD N. SIMPSON from Ocean Springs, Miss. brings news from the South.

RALPH GARZA, JR., is working as an architect in Monterey. MARCELINO GARZA has a government job in Saltillo. RENE DUNAND is in Mexico City working. ED LABARTHE is an architect in Mexico City. BILL ALVAREZ MORPHY is contracting for the Government in Mexico City. A buddy and I are driving a Ford from Mexico City to Chicago. Started West from Chicago Dec. 10th, to California on to Mexico City and returning to Chicago. Missed seeing some of the fellows in Los Angeles. Did not have their addresses. Some tough roads in Mexico!

HAROLD N. SIMPSON, '30.

W. KENNEDY JONES of Nashville, Tennessee was in the office January 19th on his way through town.

GABRIEL E. MORAN who for a time was employed on the Boulder Dam project has returned to the University to work.

A letter from CHARLES W. CROCKETT, JR., who is with the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co., Alexandria, La., says among other things: "As far as news from this part of the country is concerned, there is none to amount to anything. DICK ESCUDIER is still in Lafayette, doing I know not what. JOE McKEAN is working for his father, while I am associated with the Guaranty Bank which I hope will be permanent."

A Light Beam TALKS

FROM the flickering light of a neon tube on the skyline of New York City, a speech was sent to the S. S. President Hoover, 3000 feet away. The small neon tube changed the electric impulses from a microphone into light waves, which were directed to the ship in a narrow beam. A photoelectric tube in the center of a receiving mirror on the ship changed the light impulses back into sound, and the speech was heard on board.

The use of light that can be heard, and of sound that can be seen, has many applications. It can be used for speech communication; it can serve in fog to guide aircraft on their course and into port; and it can be used for radio and television broadcasting.

The development of future forms of transmission, whether in sound or light waves, will largely be the responsibility of college-trained General Electric engineers. To-day, these men are planning, producing, and testing electric equipment which will help maintain General Electric's leadership in its field.

Why do we throw away 27% of this Leaf?

*Another Reason
why Chesterfields are Milder—*

A LEAF of Bright Tobacco or of Kentucky Burley Tobacco has in it about 27% in weight of stem.

The stem is woody. It does not contain the same ingredients as the tobacco. It does not burn like tobacco.

There would be necessarily a sort of rankness or bitterness about the smoke from the stem. This 27% in weight of stem, therefore, is removed before the leaf tobacco is used in Chesterfields.

Everything is done that can be done to make Chesterfield milder and taste better.
