FROM STONE TO STEEL

THOUSANDS of years ago, a skin-clad workman pounded away with a cobblesone on a slab of hard rock. In a few years, that slab might be passably square and smooth.

Today, busy machines, supervised by trained workmen, pare off crisp, curling ribbons from whirling blocks of steel, as one would unwind ribbon from a spool, shaping the metal to a thousand purposes—to an accuracy within a few ten-thousandths of an inch.

CARBOLOY—a modern tool material developed by General Electric research—has made possible this speed, this precision. It cuts materials hitherto unworkable—cuts faster and holds its edge longer than steel tools—can be run at red heat without losing its temper.

CARBOLOY is only one of the contributions made to improved industrial processes by G-E research—research that has saved the public from ten to one hundred dollars for every dollar earned for General Electric.

CHANGED CAMPUS WELCOMES STUDENTS AS 94th YEAR STARTS

Concrete Sidewalks Laid; Part of Street Car Line and Roads Torn Up; Postoffice Moved; Addition Built to Howard Hall Chapel; Infirmary Construction Progresses.

A changed and changing campus welcomed a substantially increased student body of approximately 2,700 students when they returned to Notre Dame in late September for the opening of the University's ninety-fourth year.

That section of the old Dore road from the Dining Hall east to Notre Dame Avenue had been torn out by a relentless steam shovel, trees had been taken up along the road and all through the new southern end of the campus long, broad concrete walks, crossing and inter-crossing, had been laid and were being laid, preparatory to the actual landscaping already planned.

Even the Notre Dame car line (or the Hill Street car line, if you will) had lost out in the changing scheme of things. No more did the old puddle-jumper uncertainly skid up almost to the old postoffice. Instead it stopped modestly just short of the new law building at the southernmost end of the campus. And workmen were tearing out the tracks and the ties of the unneeded section of roadbed at the end of the line. The adjoining section of concrete at the northern end of Notre Dame Avenue had already disappeared.

The Summer just past had seen the moving of the old postoffice from its traditional spot at the end of the car line to a new site just north of Chemistry Hall. There, connected with the Hall, it is being used as a much-needed library for the Department of Chemistry and, in particular, for the extensive book collections of Father Nieuwland.

Under the direction of Contractor Tom Hickey, the new infirmary was rising fast back of the Main Building. Electricians were at work in the same Main Building installing new wiring and, alongside them, were plasterers and painters doing extensive repair work.

Over in Howard Hall an addition to the south chapel was nearing completion after a couple of months of construction. The former north chapel is to be converted into student residence rooms.

It was indeed a changed and changing campus that the returning students found. And yet it's always the same Notre Dame.

The halls and many of the rectors, for instance. In historic Sorin, the genial Father John Farley is still rector and Father Charles Doremus and Father Edwin J. Schneider, S.S., are prefects.

Father George Marr continues his magnificent influence as rector of Walsh and Father Raymond Murray, Father Cornelius Hooyboer and the new Professor James Corbett are the prefects.

Father Ed Keller is the new rector of Howard Hall and with him as prefects are Father Peter Forrestal, Father Charles M. Over, Professor Frank O'Malley and Professor John Whitman as prefects.

Father John Ryan has transferred his rectorship from Lyons to Corby and with him in the latter hall are Father Dennis O'Shea and Professor Ed Coomes as prefects.

Alumni Hall has Father Henry Glueckert, last year in Howard, as rector (succeeding Father Tom McAvoy who is in Washington, D.C., for special study) and the following as prefects: Father James Stack and Father Peter Hebert.

Father Joseph Muckenthaler continues as rector of Badin and Father Tom Brennan and Father William Carey are the prefects.

Father George Holderith likewise continues as rector of Morrissey with Father James McDonald, Father Philip Moore and Acting Dean T. Boyer Campbell as prefects.

Father Tom Kelly, back from a year of study, is the new rector of Lyons and Father John Kelly, Father James Quinlan and Father Eugene C. Moriarty are the prefects.

In St. Edward's Father John Reynolds succeeds himself as rector with Father Joseph Luttmann, Father McClellan and Brother Prosper as prefects.

Father Maurice Rigley is the new rector of Freshman Hall and Father George Welsh the prefect.

In Dillon Hall Father James Fogarty is the new governor and his lieutenants are Father Norbert Hoff, Father Frank Cavanaugh, Father William McNamara, Professor Tom Madden and Professor Ed Kenefake.

The traditional Brownson again has Brother Justin as rector with Brother Aloysius, Brother Severin and Brother Albert as prefects.

Brother Maurilius likewise continues as rector of Carroll Hall with Brother Columbanus, Brother Leander and Brother Idelphonse as prefects.

Among the new important new appointments is that which assigns Father Matthew Walsh, former president of the University, to the newly-

DR. FRANCIS J. POWERS, '94, DIES; UNIVERSITY PHYSICIAN FOR 25 YEARS

One of Notre Dame's most devoted servants through two scores of years, Dr. Francis J. Powers, died in St. Joseph hospital, South Bend, on Sept. 17, just as hundreds of students were returning for the first day of registration. He had recently suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Dr. Powers, a traditional campus figure for generations of students, had been attending physician at Notre Dame continuously since 1910, when he returned to South Bend after a year in Florida where he studied typhoid fever and tropical diseases.

He received from the University the degrees of bachelor of science in 1894 and of master of science in 1899. From 1894 until 1904 he was an instructor in the College of Science, teaching botany, zoology and physiology.

In 1904 he entered the School of Medicine of Northwestern university, and made a brilliant record as a student there. After graduation he served an internship at Mercy hospital in Chicago and worked as an assistant to the late Dr. John B. Murphy, world famous surgeon.

Dr. Powers was regarded by his fellow practitioners as an outstanding physician and as an authority on diseases of the lungs and other chest complications.

After his return to Notre Dame in 1910 Dr. Powers taught biology and physiology for a few years until his duties as physician forced him to abandon class work and devote his time to student welfare.

He was carrying the entire burden of work at Notre Dame in 1934 when Dr. James E. McMeel, of South Bend, was selected as an associate physician to relieve Dr. Powers or some of his duties. Dr. McMeel assisted with general student sickness and attended the football teams during all games.

Of Dr. Power's work at the university Sister Gerard, C. S. C., an attending nurse at the student infirmary for a number of years, said:

"The record of student health at Notre Dame is sufficient testimonial to the work of Dr. Powers. His one fault was his conscientiousness. When students became seriously ill, Dr. Powers would frequently spend the entire night in attendance either here or at St. Joseph hospital in South Bend."

Dr. McMeel pointed out that Dr. Powers' chief ambition during recent years had been to supervise arrangements in the new student infirmary, construction of which began last June and which is now well on the way to completion.

Dr. Powers, in failing health for several years, recently sold his home at 1326 East Wayne street, South Bend. He and his wife planned to move into a small apartment in the autumn.

The body was laid to rest on Sept. 20, after solemn requiem Mass in Sacred Heart Church on the campus.

The Mass was sung by Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., president of the University, and burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery, in sight of the University Dr. Powers served so long.

Father O'Hara was assisted in the funeral rites by Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., Vice President of the University, as deacon; Rev. Francis J. Boland, C.S.C., sub-deacon, and Rev. F. J. Wenninger, C.S.C., master of ceremonies. The sermon was preached by Rev. P. J. Carroll, C.S.C., a life-long friend of Dr. Powers.

Pallbearers were Dr. Harry Boyd-Snee, of South Bend; Dr. J. E. McMeel, assistant to Dr. Powers; Dr. Edwin Ryan, of Chicago, and Professors Francis X. Ackerman, W. L. Benitz and E. J. Maurus, all of the University. Mass was chanted by the Moreau Seminary choir.

John Mischker Dies

John F. Mischker, aged 60, for 30 years the kindly director of the tailor shop on the campus, died in St. Joseph's hospital, South Bend, on Sept. 16, after a four weeks' illness with diabetes. He is survived by his wife, one son, two daughters, a brother and two sisters.

Until recent years Mr. Mischker, in his shop above the candy store, handled much of the students' tailor work as well as the Order's work. The construction of a new laundry and cleaning plant on the campus, relieved him of much of the student work, but the shop over which he presided remained one of the busiest spots at Notre Dame. The man who headed it will be greatly missed by hundreds of returning alumni.

Gipp's Mother Dies

Death came on September 9, in Calumet, Mich., to claim Mrs. Matthew Gipp, aged 77, mother of Notre Dame's immortal football hero.

A month before Mrs. Gipp went to Laurium, Mich., where she saw dedicated a community park in honor of her famous son who died in 1920. At that dedication were many of the great and near-great in gridiron circles, together with Notre Dame representatives and friends of the football star.

SUMMER BRINGS ALUMNI FOR CAMPUS VISITS

The Summer brought scores of alumni visitors to the campus. Many of them, of course, especially at the time of the Lay Retreat, didn't get to the Alumni Office to get registered in black and white or didn't happen under the eye of the staff sleuths. We were able to record the presence of the following:

Jim Martin, '23, Chicago; Charlie Grimes, '20, Providence, Rhode Island; Bob Capesius, '28, Charleston, West Virginia; John McLaughlin, '34, Providence, Rhode Island; Bill O'Neill, '28, Cleveland; Tom Owens, '22, now living at 1311 48th Court, Cicero, Ill.; Bill Heineman, '29, Connerville, Indiana; Henry Burns, '29, Buffalo, New York.

Frank Heupel, '29, Auburn, Indiana; John McLaughlin, '10, Alton, Illinois, whose son is at Notre Dame this year; John Ryan, '24, Canton, Pennsylvania; Bill Kelleher, '15, Lorain, Ohio, with Grover Malone, '20, South Bend; Al Ficks, '23, with Mrs. Ficks and their two daughters, Scarsdale, New York; Jim Logan, '18, Denver, with Bernie Voll, '17, South Bend, and Alexis Coquillard, '03, South Bend.

Charlie McCauley, '19, New York City, with Paul Fenlon, '19, Notre Dame; Dick Neeson, '30, Louisville; Harry Zolper, '04, Rapid City, South Dakota, on first visit to campus since graduation; Eli Leonelli, '29, with Mrs. Leonelli, Youngstown, Ohio; Joe Sweeny, '27, and his mother, Cleveland.

John O'Phelan, '04, Raymond, Washington, state deputy, Knights of Columbus, on way to national K. of C. convention, New York City; Henry Frawley, '14, with Mrs. Frawley, Deadwood, South Dak.; John Campbell, '26, Albany, New York, with brother, Professor Dave Campbell, '29, Notre Dame; John Connolly, '32, Toledo; Leo McIntyre, '28, Bethlehem, Pa., with brother and two prospective students; Frank Hayes, '14, Anaheim, California.

Pat Canny, '28, Cleveland; Joe Hartnett, '29, New Rochelle, New York; Jack Kane, '25, Youngstown, Ohio; Tom Cannon, '33, Muncie, Ind., and Frank Sweeney, '17, Cincinnati.

McCarthy on Board

The election of James E. McCarthy, dean of the College of Commerce, to be a director of the First Bank and Trust Company, South Bend, was announced in the early Summer. Other Notre Dame men on the Board are Max Adler, E. M. Morris, president of the bank, and Bernard J. Voll, president of the Alumni Association.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS NEED RESEARCH, PRODUCTIVE SCHOLARSHIP

BY REV. PHILIP S. MOORE, C.S.C.

Head of the Institute of Medieval Studies at the University of Notre Dame.

Graduates of the Summer Session of 1935: Every year thousands of young men and young women finish their college or their university training. On the day of their Commencement the great majority of these graduates have yet to win their places in the many and varied business and professional fields to which they have been looking forward. The commencement speaker, therefore, very fittingly pictures for them these various fields as they appear to him at the moment, the possible places therein for those who are receiving their academic degrees, the things to be done that the winning of those places be assured, the things to be avoided that the chances of failure may be reduced to a minimum, the virtues of courage and perseverance which each graduate will no doubt be called upon to exercise in the attainment of his goal, the contribution which college and university men and women should make to the society of which they are to become active members.

Tonight you of the graduating class of the Notre Dame Summer Session of 1935 join the ranks of these graduates. You come to a terminus in your academic training. Some of you have just received the bachelor's degree—your years in college are over; others have advanced a step higher up the educational ladder and are now masters of your art or science; and finally, a few of you have climbed to the summit of academic achievement and hold in your hands the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Two striking differences, however, distinguish the far greater number of you from the graduates who ordinarily leave our colleges and universities. First, most of you have already your places in society; and secondly, the places which you fill are in one professional field—that of education, most of you being engaged in the instruction of youth. And since the majority of you are not looking forward to positions in the various business or professional fields, I need not speak to you of the opportunities for men and women with college training nor of the pitfalls to be avoided if advantages is to be taken of those opportunities. Since most of you, are engaged in the work of education, I address you briefly on what I believe to be the most important actual need in Catholic education—the need of developing research and productive scholarship in our Catholic universities.

(Editor's Note: The ALUMNUS is privileged to present in its first issue of the new year the text of an excellent address delivered by Father Moore at the Summer School Commencement on July 30. As head of the Institute of Medieval Studies at Notre Dame he is particularly well qualified to discuss what he considers the most urgent need in Catholic education of the present. ALUMNUS readers will find his address both interesting and stimulating.)

Mankind has been slowly and laboriously acquiring a store of natural knowledge over a period of several thousand years. Truths searched out, discovered, and established by one generation of men have become the heritage of all subsequent generations. This is well, but in the enjoyment of the fruits of others' labor we must not forget that we in our turn have a sacred obligation to advance intellectual frontiers, search out, discover, and establish new truths—or where there is need, rediscover and reestablish old truths—so that the people who succeed us may be intellectually richer than we are, just as we are intellectually richer than were our immediate ancestors.

Today the university is par excellence the institution through which the store of acquired knowledge is preserved and transmitted to succeeding generations. This is its first function. The university should also lead the way in searching out, discovering, and establishing new truths and in rediscovering and reestablishing old truths which have been lost. This is its second function, quite as important as its first function.

For the performance of this twofold function in regard to human knowledge, the modern university has evolved within itself two schools—the undergraduate school and the graduate school. The primary purpose of the undergraduate school is to impart acquired knowledge. The graduate school is for advanced or superior education, and its primary function is to search out, discover, and establish new truths and to rediscover and reestablish old truths. In other words the primary concern of the undergraduate school is to teach students the accumulated truths which are his intellectual heritage, whereas the primary concern of the graduate school is to initiate students into methods of research and to direct them in their search for new truth still undiscovered and for old truths which have been lost.

Thus far all of our Catholic educational institutions have devoted their efforts almost exclusively toward the preservation and transmission of acquired knowledge. They have engaged very little in the search for new truth. They have not carried on any very extensive research projects, and hence their productive scholarships, that is the scholarship which contributes new knowledge, has been very limited. To put it in another way, as did a prominent Catholic educator during the past year, the development of our graduate schools has not kept pace with the development of our primary and secondary school systems.

I am not criticizing adversely what has been done. It has been logical and natural that our attention be given first to the imparting of knowledge. Circumstances and special difficulties, with which you are all fairly well acquainted, have made it almost impossible for us to do more. And in view of these circumstances and difficulties we can all be justly proud of the fine things which have been achieved. But the fact is that real graduate education, with its research and productive scholarship, has remained comparatively undeveloped in our Catholic universities. The need of developing this research and productive scholarship is the most important actual need in Catholic education.

Why, it may be asked, is this need so important—even imperative? There are several reasons. First, our Catholic universities share with other universities the obligation of leading the way in the search for new truth and in the recovery of old truth, which will further enlarge our human science. And, therefore, it is important that our Catholic universities fulfill this obligation.

A second and more practical reason is the fact that in the United States today the highest academic standing is recognized only for those universities in which there are research and productive scholarship of considerable quantity and excellent quality. And if our Catholic universities—or at least a proportionate representation of them—are to take their places among the universities of highest academic standing, we must develop in them more and better research and productive scholarship. And it is imperative that at least some of our Catholic universities achieve this highest academic standing and recognition.

A third reason, which I consider the most important of all, should appeal to all Catholic educators. Research and productive scholarship bring a prestige and leadership which nothing else can bring. In every field of learning, the leaders, the men who are influencing the thought of others, are the men who are not satisfied merely with what is already known but who are blazing new trails into unexplored territory. Now, it is very important that there be a great many Catholic scholars among these leaders. This is true in every branch of knowledge. It seems to me especially important that Catholic leaders, who by their productive scholarship have become recognized authorities, be numerous in those fields wherein the knowledge is bound up with Catholic tradition and culture. Such Catholic leaders of thought are not nearly so numerous as they should be in America. In the special fields to which I have just referred the leadership rests with those outside the Church but no matter how excellent those gentlemen may be, they are not fully qualified to understand and appreciate the truths they discover. Yes, we are allowing those not of the faith to conduct nearly all of the investigations of Catholic tradition and culture, in history, in literature, in law, in archeology, and even in liturgy and in philosophy, whilst we for the most part stand by as mere onlookers. And what is true in these fields, is pretty true generally. The consequence is that Catholic scholarship has not nearly the influence it should have on the American civilization and culture of today. In Europe, on the other hand, Catholic scholarship is making its influence felt, because Catholic scholars, by their researches and their productive work, are leading the way in almost every art and science.

From what I have just said, I do not mean to imply that scholarship and the search for human truth should be primarily apologetic. No, in seeking truth we must be disinterested. But our scholarship can and should have a secondary apologetic value.

Having seen the more important reasons for more and better research and productive scholarship in Catholic education, we may well ask what is to be done to supply this need. Two things to be done are rather obvious. The first is the preparation of more students for research scholarship. These students should be sent to centers of learning, at home and abroad, for the best training in particular arts or sciences. Their period of training should be measured not in terms of years or credit hours but in terms of complete formation. The best policy is to place such students under the direction of the most eminent professors available in each field of learning and leave them there until those professors are satisfied that their formation is complete, that they are ready to continue their work alone and to direct the work of others. This graduate training, needless to say, must not be a mere continuation of undergraduate schooling. It must acquaint the student with the methods and means of research. It must, furthermore, give him a vision of productive scholarship which, once seen, will make him forever dissatisfied with merely studying and teaching what others have discovered for him, with merely learning and imparting what is already known.

It is not enough, however, that we have scholars adequately trained for research scholarship. We must provide for these scholars the time and the facilities for research investigations. Without this provision the best-trained students will be unable to discover and establish new truths.

These first two means toward the development of research and productive scholarship are immediately and directly ordered to the end to be accomplished. They are, therefore, the concern of those charged with the administration of the graduate schools of our universities. There is a third means to this same end which is the concern of everyone in Catholic education, whether or not he be in a position to engage personally in research or to take part in graduate instruction or administration, because it is nothing other than the arousing of a real and vital interest in research scholarship among Catholic educators.

How can the creation of such interest be a means to the development of research and productive scholarship in our universities? First, it would lead to a better understanding of such scholarship and to the conviction that the need of it in Catholic education is a very serious one. From this better understanding and conviction should result that every teacher be on the alert to discover students with an aptitude for advanced training and be able to give them a correct idea of what this training is and intelligent direction toward it, as preparation for their later graduate study. I have said that we must train a larger number of scholars for research work. This would seem to be a simple matter, but it is not, because most students begin graduate work with little or no idea of what research scholarship really is. And at this late period in their formation it is no easy matter to give them this idea. Worse still, they often have false ideas about advanced scholarship, which are hard to correct. The result is that not more than one out of ten students who have had the advantage of complete graduate training, becomes a research scholar, that is a scholar who has a passion for productive scholarship. A vital interest in this matter among Catholic educators generally would, I believe, help much to improve this condition, because it would assure us in the future students much better prepared for advanced study than we now have.

This interest might also be of help in the betterment of our graduate instruction itself, which, is not always what it should be. It is all very well that in graduate courses the teachers give the students the fruits of their own investigations of a problem or even fill their notebooks with facts already available in print. This imparting of the results of previous research, whether it be one's own or that of others, is, it is true, an essential part of graduate instruction, but the graduate teacher must go much further than that. He must thoroughly drill his students in the research methods proper to his field; he must teach the student how to attack new problems; he must acquaint him with the tools—the instruments de travail the French call them—with which he is to work, and lastly he must communicate to his students an enthusiasm for productive work, he must inspire them with an ideal or vision of productive scholarship so that they will count as lost the day on which they have not made some progress into the region of truth yet undiscovered. And when a teacher in the graduate school fails to teach his students the research methods of his art or science, or when he fails to inspire them with a vision of productive scholarship, he has in large part failed of graduate instruction.

Finally, one other way in which this interest in research scholarship among all Catholic educators may be of help. Research scholarship most often does not pay for itself. No matter how valuable it may eventually be for the cultural, and even the material, advancement of the race, it is not immediately appreciated. It has no market value. It has no box-office attraction. Its published volumes, however much of new truth they may contain, do not ordinarily become "best sellers." Hence, research projects must be endowed, and the lack of such endowments is one of the chief reasons why research scholarship has not developed in Catholic universities. But if Catholic educators become zealous in the cause of research and productive scholarship, we shall perhaps be able to interest in this cause an ever-greater number of Catholic and even non-Catholic men and women of

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Not "Just Another Year"

To the Association:

We are launching, practically, another Association year.

The ALUMNUS, bringing the one contact between Notre Dame and all Notre Dame graduates, makes this possible. But by the same token, we have lost, to some extent, almost a quarter of our actual fiscal year, between the June and October issues. Therefore the pushing of our program during these ensuing nine months is imperative in the face of this handicap.

I do not intend that this shall be 'just another year.'

We are not groping for a way. We are not lacking in objectives. We are not endowed with problems of heterogeneous membership. We are not a new organization. We are not working for a new and untried cause.

We are beginning another link in a chain of alumni loyalty that was first forged for the Silver Jubilee of 1869.

And we are inspired by the same motive—the love and admiration for Notre Dame—that was even then matured by 27 years of effort and guidance on the part of Father Sorin.

Development of the Greater Notre Dame, so familiar now to us and to the world, has brought corresponding growth to us. Not only in numbers, but in responsibilities, in privileges, and in prestige.

We are no longer the small, loyal, happy band that gathered once a year in the Old Refectory for a more or less social expression of sentiment, albeit sincere.

We are a numerous, though scattered, group, wielding great potential power.

To utilize it properly, for mutual benefits, remembering our purposes and our limitations, is the constant problem confronting this, as every preceding, administration of the Association.

I have inherited, as President, certain mechanical aids to an effective alumni program. But I am completely aware that the success of these agencies lies entirely in the men in whose hands they rest, and of the men who comprise the great majority of our members, who follow the programs these agents present.

The District Governors represent a small but comprehensive group of men, organized to familiarize the Districts with the possibilities and the problems of the Association, and in turn to present to the Alumni Board a localized, accurate picture of the several Districts. It is my hope, as I have already expressed it to the Governors, that they will play a prominent part this year in every project of the Association.

Next to the Governors in immediate possibilities for activity are the Clubs. For the most part a Club reflects the activities of its officers. Therefore, I have charged the Club officers this year with the responsibility of local leadership that will be translated through their cooperation into a picture of national progress for the Association. Obligation of the members generally is obvious.

Powerful in preserving the personal ties that keep Notre Dame men united with each other as well as with Notre Dame are the Classes. I am asking the Class Secretaries to work this year for comprehensive representation of their fellows in the personal columns of the ALUMNUS.

In addition to the work of these agencies officially, and the personnel which directs them, you and I know that much of Notre Dame's success and glory of our alumni has been derived from the individual Notre Dame man, frequently standing against a world alone. So I am superimposing over my approach to our auxiliaries, a charge upon you individually, to keep up the good fight that is so rich a part of our heritage and so splendid a page in our history. Follow your leaders on the one hand, but on the other, when opportunity arises, lead your own group in the various ways of our progress.

I would be breaking our unhappiest tradition if I did not somewhere in this message to you mention money.

You are familiar with our experience of the last few years. You know how the University has generously advanced us some $15,000 and more to enable us to proceed without sacrifice along the path that has undoubtedly been leading us in the right direction.

Notre Dame has not hesitated over this sacrifice or expressed either regret or concern.

I cannot be so passive. I believe that, recognizing all of the handicaps of our members—financial reverses still common and still serious, family obligations, distance, carelessness, grievances, and so on—we are numerous enough to pay our own way in full, with the existing dues of five dollars annually.

With this in mind, I have asked all your officers, and here ask you individually, to work this year for a doubling of last year's dues. This amount, approximately $12,000, would pay our costs—the ALUMNUS, the services and personnel of the Alumni Office, Club and Class program maintenance, and the increasingly frequent and important individual services to alumni the Office is called upon to render.

Our record in every other field of our activity is one of which we can be proud. Let's round it out as a matter of independence and our self-respect as an Association.

One thing I particularly wish to avoid. That is the loss of any of the enthusiasm, any of the concrete support, any of the outstanding activities of the Clubs, any of the remarkable cooperation that has met the Association's program for contacting students for the University, or any single Notre Dame Man's interest.

If I have conveyed to you what is in my mind and the minds of your Directors, there will be no such loss.

BERNARD J. VOLL, '17.

DEATH TAKES BROTHER CYPRIAN, C.S.C., TEACHER OF ACCOUNTING, WASHINGTON HALL HEAD

Brother Cyprian, C.S.C., the beloved "Cyp," aged 78, for 36 years a teacher at Notre Dame and for 40 years director of backstage operations in Washington Hall, died on July 29 in the Community infirmary.

Brother Cyprian had not taught for the last four years because of partial paralysis caused by three successive heart attacks which forced his retirement in 1931. Since that time he had busied himself at the job he had held since 1895—that of director of backstage operations in Washington Hall.

Thousands of Notre Dame men learned methods of bookkeeping and accounting from the Brother and in several instances he taught two generations of the same family. Though he taught what was generally considered one of the "toughest" courses in the University, Brother was universally admired and loved by his students. Each alumni reunion saw a large group of his "boys" seeking him. Whenever a campus representative met with N. D. men anywhere in the country almost the first man asked about was Brother "Cyp."

As chairman of the executive committee of the former Philopatrians and as Washington Hall executive, Brother Cyprian came into close contact with many distinguished men. Among his personal friends were former President William Howard Taft, Alfred E. Smith, William Jennings Bryan, William Gibbs McAdoo, Eamon De Valera, and a number of papal delegates.

Brother Cyprian—James O'Hara before he joined the Congregation of the Holy Cross—was born in Covington, Kentucky, Nov. 2, 1857. He was professed July 22, 1883, and received the habit of the order Feb. 16, 1879.

In 1895 he came to Notre Dame as associate professor of accounting. While preparing for his 37th consecutive year of teaching in 1931 he suffered a heart attack and was forced to retire.

Funeral services were held on July 29 in Sacred Heart church on the campus, and burial was in the Community cemetery.

CHRISTOPHER HOLLIS ARRIVES FOR YEAR'S COURSE

The first of six European educators to teach and lecture at Notre Dame this year, arrived on the University campus on Sept. 8. He is Christopher Hollis, English economist, lecturer and writer, who will conduct courses for students in the economics department and who will deliver public lectures in Washington Hall.

Mr. Hollis, his wife and two children, came to South Bend directly after landing in New York. They reside at 1114 Belmont avenue, South Bend.

The distinguished Englishman, although only 33 years old, has established a reputation as a monetary expert and writer. Born in 1902, the son of George A. Hollis, Anglican bishop of Taunton, he was educated at Eton and Balliol college, Oxford, and is an ex-president of Oxford union. In 1924 he was converted to the Catholic church and became assistant master of Stonyhurst college, near Blackburn, England.

In his most recently published book, "The Breakdown of Money," which appeared in 1934, he attributed the American slump to the fact that previous to 1929, although there was undeniable prosperity, wages were too low. Despite the fact that there was much money in circulation, too little of it was in the hands of the consumer, the man in the position to buy what manufacturers produced.

Mr. Hollis has written extensively for American, English and Australian periodicals. Among his published books are Glastonbury and England, 1927; Dr. Johnson, 1928; European History, 1929; Monstrous Regiment, 1929; St. Ignatius, 1931; Erasmus, 1933; Dryden, 1933.

Senior is Killed

John Sweeney, of Indianapolis, an able and popular Senior, was killed and John Ford, also of Indianapolis, co-captain of this year's basketball, was injured, in an automobile accident near Logansport, Indiana, on September 16 as the boys, with Ford's father, were returning to Notre Dame for registration. The senior Ford was also injured, but both he and his son have recovered.

Retreat Attendance Increases

In increasing numbers alumni returned this year for the seventeenth annual Laymen's Retreat conducted at the University from August 1 to 4. Organized efforts in the Chicago Club, the St. Joe Valley Club and the Berrien County (Michigan) club produced results. And with the alumni movement toward the Retreat well started, Father Patrick J. Dolan, C.S.C., director of Laymen's Retreats, hopes for an even better showing next year on the part of the alumni.

Retreat masters this year were Father John B. Delaunoy, C.S.C., and Father William A. Bolger, C.S.C.

N. D. ALUMNI-DEMOS HAVE LUNCHEON-MEETING

The national convention of the Young Democrats in Milwaukee in the late Summer produced a Notre Dame luncheon, no less, on August 24. It was arranged by a committee of Notre Dame delegates headed by Joe McNamara, '29, of Indianapolis. Assisting him were Leo McIntyre, '28, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania; Jack Robinson, '28, Waterbury, Conn., Tom Traugher, '30, Clarksville, Tenn., and John M. Keefe, '31, New Richmond, Wis.

Besides this noble quintet the following were recorded as having been present at the luncheon: Charlie Cash, '28, Anamosa, Iowa; Maury Fadell, '25, Gary, Indiana; Mike Swygert, '27, Hammond, Indiana; Joe Dunn, '27, Brainerd, Minnesota; Frank McCarthy, '25, Indianapolis; Joe Sexton, '26, Indianapolis; Bob Kirby, '28, Indianapolis; Joe Deeb, '31, Grand Rapids; John Manley, '31, Des Moines; Bill Frawley, '30, Eau Claire, Wisconsin; Jack Jaeger, '33, Chicago; Larry Sexton, '32, Indianapolis; Mike Reddington, '26, Indianapolis; Ed Fenlon, '27, St. Ignace, Michigan; John Stackpole, '29, Detroit; Deon Sutton, '31, Detroit; Clarence Donovan, '31, Bedford, Indiana; Marshall Kizer, '30, Plymouth, Indiana; Joe Nyikos, '23, South Bend; Joe Howard, '24, Indianapolis; Leo O'Connor, '25, Indianapolis.

Two or three others of the attendants at the luncheon got away without signing the register, according to Leo McIntyre, who with his brother and a couple of friends stopped at Notre Dame going to and coming from the convention.

And Indianapolis got the convention for next year.

BOOKS

Late in August a monumental volume of 900 pages entitled Survey of A Decade was published by the B. Herder Company of St. Louis and London. Its co-authors are Paul R. Martin, A.M., '09, and the Rev. Maximus Poppy, O.F.M. It is a history of the Third Order of St. Francis in the United States and forms a veritable library of information on the Franciscan social movement.

This is the third book published since 1932 having Paul R. Martin's name on the title page. The first was The Gospel in Action and the second, The First Cardinal of the West, which is the story of Cardinal Mundelein's work as Archbishop of Chicago.

ARCHBISHOP HURTH, C.S.C., DIES AFTER LIFE OF SERVICE TO MISSIONS IN INDIA AND PHILIPPINES

(Editor's Note: The ALUMNUS presents here the story from The Herald, Catholic paper of Calcutta, India, regarding the death of a member of the Congregation of Holy Cross who was a world figure. Archbishop Hurth was a student at Notre Dame in 1877.)

A cable from Manila on August 1, announced the death of Archbishop Hurth, who was Bishop of Dacca, for 15 years (1894-1909). At the time of his consecration as the second Bishop of Dacca, Msgr. Hurth was said to be the youngest bishop in Christendom. Gifted with prodigious vitality, he labored strenuously to build the Church in the vast territory of the Diocese of Dacca, which in his day included also what is now the diocese of Chittagong. Broken in health, he was obliged to leave Bengal in January, 1910.

After a few years spent at his home in Treves, Germany, and in Rome, Mgr. Hurth's health was sufficiently restored to enable him to accept the See of Neuva Segovia in the Philippine Islands in 1913. As the president of a College of the Holy Cross Congregation in Austin, Texas, for a period of ten years, Bishop Hurth had qualified in the Spanish language. This acquisition of his youth served him well in his apostolate in Neuva Segovia, where the population mainly Spanish-speaking, numbered more than 900,000 souls.

Bishop Hurth loved the Spanish Americans, and his attachment to his Philippine flock lasted till death. After an apostolate of 13 years in Neuva Segovia, Mgr. Hurth felt obliged to tender his resignation owing to chronic ill-health. This was in 1926. He would not, however, leave the Island. By a special favor of the Holy See he was permitted to reside in Manila where after a protracted illness, he died on Thursday last in his 77th year.

Mgr. Hurth was a member of the Congregation of Holy Cross and bishop for 41 years. On the occasion of his retirement in 1926,, Mgr. Hurth was made titular Archbishop of Bosra and Roman Count.

Catholics in India will remember the great interest Mgr. Hurth took in the organization of the first and second Eucharistic Congresses held in this country. He had the honor of presiding over both of these celebrations. Devotion to the Eucharistic Presence had been specially dear to him from early days and it was he together with Father Maler, O.S.B., who had arranged the first Eucharistic Congress held in America, at Notre Dame, Indiana, in 1894. In the Diocese of Dacca he introduced Eucharistic processions in all the missions presiding at them personally, and he affiliated the diocese with the Perpetual Adoration at Montmartre, Paris. Though far from India His Grace kept in touch with India through The Herald.

M'CUE, DONAHUE AWARDS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR N. D.

The memory of two men closely identified with the development of the University of Notre Dame will be perpetuated in scholarships which have been announced by Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., president.

Two gifts of $15,000 each by relatives of the late Martin J. McCue, former dean of Engineering at Notre Dame, and of the late William E. Donahue, former advertising manager of the Chicago Tribune and special lecturer at the University, make possible the scholarships.

The Martin J. McCue Fellowship is the gift of Miss Anna C. Slavina, a niece of Professor McCue, who spent 42 years of his life as a member of the University faculty and who was dean of the College of Engineering from 1905 until his retirement in 1927.

The William E. Donahue Scholarship is the gift of his widow, Mrs. Mae Donahue. The income from the fund will be used to defray the expense of a full scholarship in the College of Commerce.

The Donahue scholarship will be awarded annually to a member of the Annunciation Parish, 1650 N. Paulina St., Chicago, who has graduated from an accredited high school. Mr. Donahue was reared in the parish and it is his widow's wish to continue, through this scholarship, the training of young men to which her husband devoted so much of his time. In addition to his lectures at Notre Dame, he supervised a training school for all young men entering the advertising department of his paper.

In awarding the scholarships, character and ability will be considered as well as scholastic merit. Selection of the recipient will be made by a committee composed of the Rev. Thomas L. Harmon, pastor of the Annunciation Parish; the president of the Notre Dame Club of Chicago; Mrs. Donahue, and James E. McCarthy, dean of the College of Commerce at Notre Dame.

The McCue Fellowship will be used to encourage graduate research in the field of engineering.

ROGERS AND POST

"Will Rogers was the great American apostle of common sense, and his kindly wit helped immeasurably to keep American public opinion on its proper level. The taciturn Wiley Post was one of the great pioneers of aviation. He was the intrepid pilot, and Will Rogers was the intrepid passenger, and I feel a great sense of personal loss in their tragic passing. They were friends of Notre Dame and it is our prayer that God will grant peace to their souls."

Such was the comment of Father John F. O'Hara, president of Notre Dame when he was told about the tragic death on August 15 of Will Rogers and Wiley Post.

Will, of course, had been the "star" of the football banquet on Jan. 16 of this year and a leading figure at the aeronautical conference at the University on the same day. A close friend of Rock's, he had also been well acquainted with the late Father Charles L. O'Donnell, C.S.C., and with Father O'Hara and Elmer Layden. Through all of these and others he had come to know and appreciate Notre Dame and was one of the school's firmest supporters.

Wiley Post was likewise a Notre Dame supporter and his visit to the campus is well remembered by students of recent years.

C.S.C. BROTHERS JOIN STAFF OF VINCENTIAN INSTITUTE

Four Brothers of the Congregation of Holy Cross took up their duties as members of the faculty of the Vincentian Institute, Albany, New York, with the opening of the Fall school term. Brother John Baptist, C.S.C., has been appointed superior. He will be aided by Brother Eymard, C.S.C., Brother Lawrence Justinian, C.S.C., and Brother Joel, C.S.C., all graduates of the University.

The Brothers will conduct the classes for boys registered in the first year high school at the Institute, and will assist with some of the classes in the Technical High School.

It is the intention of the Rev. William R. Charles, principal of Vincentian Institute, to increase the number of teaching Brothers each year until separate faculties are established for boys and girls attending the Institute.

Registered for 1941

John J. O'Connor, Milwaukee, Wis., brother of William J., '35, is registered to begin his Notre Dame course in pre-medics in 1941.

CENTRAL OHIO ALUMNI PLAN BIG OHIO STATE WEEK-END

The Notre Dame Club of Central Ohio with headquarters in Columbus is planning several special entertainment features for visiting alumni at the Notre Dame-Ohio State game there November 2, Ray Eichenlaub, club president, has announced.

On Friday preceding the game a giant luncheon party at one of the downtown hotels to which both Ohio State and Notre Dame alumni are welcomed will be held with speakers of both Notre Dame and Ohio State attending.

Friday evening the University Club of Columbus is having a dinner at which both Elmer Layden and Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State will be the featured speakers. This dinner, while under the auspices of the University club of Columbus, will be open to alumni of both Ohio State and Notre Dame.

Later in the evening the Notre Dame club of Central Ohio will hold a stag party at the Knights of Columbus home at which both alumni and friends of Notre Dame will be welcome.

Plans are also under way for a dance Saturday night in Columbus after the game, which also will be open to friends as well as alumni of Notre Dame.

Anyone interested in reservations for any of these entertainments may secure additional information by writing to the Notre Dame Club of Central Ohio in care of the Knights of Columbus home at Columbus, Ohio.

With prospects for a sell-out for the game, which means a crowd of at least 90,000 in Ohio's huge stadium, those planning to attend the game are urged to secure all reservations and tickets early as possible since hotel space probably will be taxed to the limit.

PRE-GAME SESSIONS

Beginning its Fall program of pre-game meetings under the direction of President Francis Jones, the Notre Dame club of the St. Joseph Valley on Friday evening, Sept. 27, had a smoker for its members in the College Inn of the LaSalle Hotel, South Bend. Head Coach Ad Lindsey of the Kansas team was a special guest and the 1935 graduates in the club's territory were introduced. Norman Hartzer and Giles Cain were the chairmen in general charge of arrangements.

Prexy Jones has planned similar meetings for the Friday evenings preceding the remaining home games and he extends a special welcome to all returning alumni to be present. The operator of the University switchboard and all the downtown hotels will have information as to the time and places of these sessions.

GIPP PARK DEDICATED

The Gipp Fountain

It was the privilege of the editor on Saturday, August 3, to participate in the dedication of a memorial park in Laurium, Mich., designed to honor George Gipp, '21, All-American athlete of the University of Notre Dame.

Notre Dame men are familiar with the circumstances which have prevented the University and Notre Dame men from erecting a tangible memorial to Gipp. But they are also familiar with the permanent place he occupies in the traditions of the school.

The park is a triangular piece of ground at the corner of Lake Linden Ave. and Tamarack St., in Laurium. Near the center is a rock fountain 15 feet high. On this fountain, built of rocks from the shores of Superior, is a simple bronze plaque, with the inscription "George Gipp—All-American," and below the dates of his birth and death, 1895-1920.

One of the features of the dedication was the presence on the platform of the mother, brother and sister of the deceased hero. Mrs. Gipp has since died, making the honor to her son seem even more a timely expression.

Dominic Vairo, '34, football captain at Notre Dame, and Larry Danbom, full back on the '35 squad, were also on the platform.

Many beautiful floral tributes, including a gold and blue wreath from Notre Dame, were placed about the monument. Mrs. Gipp was presented with several memorials by civic organizations.

The park and the project itself were the results of efforts by the Laurium Commercial Club. The Daily Mining Gazette of Houghton issued a very interesting Gipp Memorial edition. The dedication ceremonies, attended by several thousand persons, were also broadcast over the local radio station.

MSGR. JOHN J. BURKE, '83, OBSERVES HIS GOLDEN JUBILEE

The golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood and the silver anniversary of his pastorate at St. Mark's Church in Peoria, Illinois, were observed on July 2 by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Burke, '83.

Chief among the several observances, religious and civic, marking the two events was the solemn high Mass celebrated by Msgr. Burke, assisted by Father Patrick J. Carroll, C.S.C., editor of The Ave Maria. Father James A. Burns, C.S.C., former president of the University, now United States provincial of the Order, was also among the hundred priests present for the Mass and for the luncheon which followed it in the Pere Marquette Hotel, Peoria.

In 1931, after many years of outstanding accomplishments in Saint Mark's Parish, and in other parts of the Peoria diocese, Father Burke was raised to the dignity of a monsignor by the Pope. His investiture took place on Nov. 3, 1931, with impressive ceremonies.

The ALUMNUS extends to Msgr. Burke, a loyal Notre Dame man through many years, its felicitations and its best wishes for fruitful years ahead. This opportunity should also be taken to acknowledge appreciation for the volume Fifty Golden Years in Central Illinois, by Mrs. Nelle C. Donovan which is the excellent story of Msgr. Burke's 50 years of service to God.

75,000 See Campus

With the aid of a guide service arranged and directed by the Alumni Office, an estimated 75,000 persons, varying from college administrators and statesmen to members of carnival troupes visited the Notre Dame campus during the Summer just past. In each of the previous two Summers it was estimated that upwards of 150,000 persons, mostly those going to or coming from the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, had visited the University.

Visitors came this year from China, Hawaii, Canada and from every state in the Union. Nearly all of them expressed amazement at the size and development of the campus, according to Chief Guide John Lechner, '36, and his assistants, Harold Goebel, '35 and Frank Timney, '35.

President Talks at Eucharistic Congress

Father John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., president of the University, was one of the principal speakers on Sept. 24, at the National Eucharistic Congress in Cleveland. He addressed a gathering of clergy on the subject "The Eucharistic Priest and the Catholic Action of Young Men."

Changed Campus Welcomes Students

created post of student counsellor of the University. Father Walsh, who spent last year in Washington, D.C., will reside in Alumni Hall and will conduct several classes.

Curriculum changes and additions make special note of the new Department of Engineering and the new Department of Politics in the College of Arts and Letters. Of the former department the new head is Professor F. N. M. Brown, an experienced aircraft engineer, connected with the Allison Engineering Company, Indianapolis, just before he came to Notre Dame. Mr. Brown was graduated from the University of Michigan with a master's degree in 1932. Previously he had spent several years in the airplane division of the Ford Motor Company. He had also acted as consulting engineer for the Goodyear Zeppelin Company, the Stout Engineering Laboratories, the Bendix Aviation Corporation and other concerns.

Father Francis J. Boland, prefect of discipline, is now also head of the newly established Department of Politics. Though new as organized into a separate department of study at Notre Dame, politics is, of course, by no means new in the Notre Dame curriculum, since in various forms, changed to meet changing needs, it has been a subject of study for years past. Until this year politics was included in the Department of Economics and Politics.

To assist the able Father Boland in his double-duty program Robert H. McAuliffe, '18, has been appointed assistant prefect of discipline and will, according to present plans, assume a substantial part of Father Boland's work. For several years past Bob has been assisting the department in supervising off-campus student activities and has, as well, been promotion manager for The Ave Maria. Now, however, he has given up his former Ave Maria duties.

Christopher Hollis, noted English economist and writer (of whom more will be found in another part of this issue) is an outstanding addition to the faculty. He is conducting classes in history and economics and will, in addition, offer public lectures in Washington Hall.

James Corbett, an archeological scholar recently returned from Turkey, is to teach in the Institute of Medieval Studies and will also direct important research work in the Notre Dame archives.

Roger Knittel, C.P.A., an experienced accountant, has been added to the accountancy staff of the College of Commerce.

Desmond Fitzgerald Arrives

Desmond Fitzgerald, prominent Irish statesman and writer, was to arrive on the campus on Oct. 1 for a six weeks' course of lectures on economics and international policies. As the second of a group of six illustrious European figures who are to come to Notre Dame this year, Mr. Fitzgerald joined Christopher Hollis who arrived in South Bend early in September. Still to come are Jacques Maritain, Etienne Gilson, Arnold Lunn and G. K. Chesterton.

The University and, especially, the College of Arts and Letters will miss for the year the inspiring direction of the scholarly Father Charles Miltner, who is to attend Louvain in Belgium for special study in philosophy. Acting in Father Miltner's place for the year is Professor T. Bowyer Campbell, of the Department of History.

Father Tom Brennan, the much-admired professor of philosophy, has succeeded Father Miltner as head of the Department of Philosophy.

Professor Al Doyle has succeeded Professor Frank Kelly as head of the Department of Speech.

Absent from the campus for the year is Professor John P. Turley, of the Department of Classics, who is the exchange student from Notre Dame at the University of Pavia in Italy. Ugo Schilke, of Italy, will attend Notre Dame as part of the arrangement.

New appointments among the priests and brothers of the Congregation of Holy Cross were announced in of Notre Dame, sent to alumni.

RELIGIOUS TREASURES SHOWN IN CHURCH AT NOTRE DAME

In the sacristy of Sacred Heart church on the campus at Notre Dame, there have been placed three exhibition cases of religious treasures, including a silver chalice used by Pope Pius IX, a solid bronze crucifix presented to the Church of Napoleon III of France, and a monstrance given in the name of the Prince Imperial.

These treasures, which have accumulated since the founding of the University, came through the personal solicitations of the Rev. Joseph Carrier, C.S.C., who was commissioned in 1866 by Father Corby, the University President, to go to Europe to solicit gifts for the struggling University. After seven months he shipped to Notre Dame 20 crates of contributions for the church, library, science, and natural history departments.

Besides these, the exhibition contains precious hand embroidered and painted vestments, chalices, croziers, ciboria, monstrances, and other objects pertaining to divine worship. Among the vestments are some of cloth of gold from the major college of the Congregation of Holy Cross at Neuilly, near Paris, which was closed on the expulsion of the religious from France in 1910.

A gold ciborium with cloisonne ornamentation marks the foundation date of the Priests' Eucharistic league in the United States, and another, less ornate, presented on the silver jubilee of the same league.

At the time of the reception of the other gifts, the Empress Eugenie gave a gold crown studded with precious jewels, which, unfortunately, was stolen in 1866 along with another less valuable crown originally designed to surmount the statue atop the gold dome.

Father Carrier, who obtained most of these gifts for the University, was one of the seven army chaplains from Notre Dame who served in the Civil war, and his proudest boast, after his priesthood was his American citizenship. Although born in France, he became a citizen of the United States, later to die in the house of the Congregation at Montreal.

Dooley Has Additional Job

William R. Dooley, '26, Managing Editor of the ALUMNUS and Assistant Alumni Secretary, has assumed in addition the duties of Graduate Manager of Publications. In his new capacity Bill will direct the business activities of the Scholastic, the Dome and Scip, the three major student publications on the campus.

EIGHTY-NINE DEGREES GIVEN AT 1935 SUMMER SESSION

Thirty-seven advanced and 52 baccalaureate degrees were conferred by the University at Commencement exercises on July 30 marking the close of the seventeenth summer session.

The Commencement address was delivered by Rev. Philip S. Moore, C.S.C., secretary of the graduate school at Notre Dame and head of the Institute of Medieval Studies.

The summer session just closing showed a continuation of the trend toward graduate work by grammar and high school teachers. More than one-half of the entire enrollment represented students seeking advanced degrees. Doctor of philosophy degrees were conferred on two members of the graduate school. They were:

Willard Joseph Croxall, '32, of Aberdeen, Wash., whose dissertation subject was: "Organic Reactions with Boron Fluoride," and Carroll John Wilson, '31, of Buchanan, Mich., whose dissertation in the field of physical chemistry was: "Electric Moments of Some Organic Compounds."

FATHER MOORE'S ADDRESS

means to contribute of their wealth toward the endowment of our graduate schools.

From what I have said some of you may conclude that the graduate schools of our Catholic universities have this far accomplished nothing or that no Catholic research scholars have been developed in America, whilst others, knowing something of the research work done in Catholic schools, may feel that I have exaggerated this deficiency in our Catholic education. I grant that we have had and have today a few Catholic scholars, eminent in various fields of research and productive scholarship. To these men of the past or of the present we pay tribute. Then too, the work of a few young men is beginning to attract attention. To these young scholars we should give the utmost encouragement. But I venture that these scholars themselves would be the first to deny that I have overstated the need, for research scholarship in Catholic education.

In conclusion, I congratulate you, members of the graduating class of the Notre Dame Summer Session of 1935. God's blessing on you and on your future work. May He deign to illumine us all with His uncreated light that we may advance valiantly in our search for truth. And may our search for created truth in every art and science redound to the greater honor and glory of Him who is uncreated Truth.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

By John J. Lechner, '36

TRIBULATIONS OF A DEAN

Registration days brought their usual hurly-burly to the campus with wild-eyed freshmen wandering from building to building, sophomores viewing proceedings with blasé unconcern, and juniors and seniors worrying about getting their schedules arranged so that all their classes should be in the mornings. The best story on registration concerns the freshman who approached T. Bowyer Campbell, acting dean of the college of Arts and letters during Father Miltner's leave of absence.

"I'd like to have all my classes in the morning," explained the freshman. "I have a job working down town in the afternoons."

"Get a letter from your employer stating that you are employed and I'll see what I can do," promised Mr. Campbell.

An hour later the freshman returned, the desired letter clutched triumphantly in his hand. Opening it the astonished Dean read:

"To whom it may concern:

"This is to introduce John Blank who has served us well and faithfully the past three years as an employee in our mailing department. He is of the highest character and we are proud to recommend him."

CHINESE AT N. D.

Two of the most interesting newcomers to the campus are the Li brothers, Allan and George, of Hong Kong, China. Both boys are sophomores, having transferred from Michigan State. Allan is pursuing a Fine Arts course and hopes to do art work for the various campus publications, while George is a Physical Education major. Notre Dame is quite well known in China, they said, and to quote Allan, ". . . In China, Notre Dame is thought of as being the football center of the Universe. . ." They have been in the United States for four years, having taken their high school work at the Rodney Wilson high school at St. John's, Michigan. What particularly appeals to them in the American scholastic system is the greater freedom allowed the student. In China, they explained, boarding students at the Catholic colleges are only allowed to leave the campus but once a month. As for American customs and dances—

"We love dances," chorused the brothers Li.

OBSERVATION

One thing we'll wager will be gone from the campus scene next spring and that is the "Please do not walk on the grass sign that popped up whenever a corner was turned. In accordance with the University's "Campus Beautiful" program new cement sidewalks have been placed at strategic points so that to stray from the beaten paths now means only a loss of time. It's a mighty tough break, though, for Johnny Moran, editor of the Scholastic. In previous years, whenever the Scholastic dead line was too close for comfort and another half-column was needed to fill out the editorial page a stirring plea to keep off the grass . . ." (. . . "after all, you wouldn't want people tramping across your front lawn, would you, fellows? . . .") could always be counted upon to fill the gap.

It looks like a mighty thoughtful year for Johnny Moran.

"SPIRIT OF NOTRE DAME"

A special showing was held the night before classes started of the motion picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame," "Freshmen Only," read the bulletin boards yet many a frosh, arriving late, found what should have been his seat occupied by some upperclassman anxious to once again hear Rock's dynamic voice and to see his great stars in action.

However, we can't help wondering how many 115 pounders, after seeing the picture, reported to Coach Jake Kline's freshman squad the next day.

Guest-masters, guides, painters, construction workers, secretaries—these were but a few of the various types of jobs held down by some 40 students who were employed on the campus the entire summer. The construction gang, who worked both at laying sidewalks and at erecting the new Infirmary, all resembled dusky Tarzans after their summer of daily working in the broiling sun. The painters, however, under the direction of B Team Coach Bill Cerney, also absorbed plenty of heat in their seat-painting job in the Stadium. The guides handled some 50,000 visitors competently, the guest-masters answered several hundred questions courteously, and the secretaries did whatever secretaries do. All in all everyone had both a pleasant and profitable summer.

Hoyer in Peoria

Professor Raymond A. Hoyer, head of the Department of Boy Guidance, was one of the speakers at the annual state conference on the prevention of delinquency held in Peoria, Illinois, on Sept. 11.

"PROSPECTS WORSE THIS YEAR", LAYDEN SAYS OF '35 SEASON

"Prospects were bad last year; this year they may be described as worse."

This was the message Honest Elmer Layden had for humanity on the occasion of the opening of fall football practice at the Alma Mater—September 10. It's just as well he wasn't asked the same question the next day, for he probably wouldn't have been able to answer at all, the reason being that Harry Becker, his only right guard, and a made-over tackle at that, took ill with a sinus infection and matriculated at St. Joseph's hospital for an indefinite stay after completing just one day of practice.

Those of you who pass off your school's football future with arching the eyebrow, shooting the cuff, and saying, "Well, it ought to be a pretty good year," should lend an ear to your coach.

Sad enough it was that Capt. Dominic Vairo and Rocco Schiralli, right end and left guard, respectively, had to get their diplomas, along with George Melinkovich, the best halfback on the team (he made the most points, the most total yards and the most average yards last year). The situation became worse when Jack Robinson, all-America center was ruled ineligible for having played five minutes or so of "B" ball as a sophomore. Real tragedy struck the squad when Captain Joseph Sullivan, left tackle, was taken on March 20 after an amazing battle against a complication of diseases. Maybe his spiritual leadership will make up for his absence on the field, but you'll have a hard time convincing the players and coaches that they haven't lost a grand player, an inspiring leader, and a warm friend. Taken only as a player, Joe's absence is bound to be felt. Following his passing, Bill Smith, plucky little right guard, was lost to the squad for the season when he underwent an operation for the removal of kidney stones the middle of August.

You may add to the loss of these six varsity stars of 1933, the graduation of Sturla Canale and Irwin Davis at the ends, Fred Weidner, Paul Schrenker, and Dick Shamla at right guard, Dan Hanley at right half, Bud Bonar at quarterback, and some 48 reserves who couldn't scrape up the credits, who got sick, or who were graduated, and what do you have? You have 60 men missing out of last year's squad of 110.

And what do you have left? In the line you have two 1934 regulars, Wayne Millner, brilliant left end, and John Michuta, a steady right tackle. In the backfield you have more material than you can conveniently use, fellows like Wally Fromhart, Frankie Gaul and Bill Bruno at quarterback; Bill Shakespeare, Andy Pilney, Mike Layden, Tony Mazziotti, Bob Wilke, and Vic Wojcihowski at the halfbacks;

BUFFALO

Robert Moore, '30, 2574 Main St., President. Robert Measer, '34, The Amherst Bee Co., Main & Rock Sts., Williamsville, N. Y., Secretary.

Three splendid affairs brought together Buffalo alumni and Buffalo students during the past summer. Two of the sessions were held at Alhambra-on-the-Lake and were featured by dancing and various entertainment. The third was a picnic at Stella's Grove on July 13, with free beer and free lunch predominating. The beer was furnished through the courtesy of JOHN UEBBING.

BOB MEASER, active secretary of the active club, was a prime mover in promoting the get-togethers. Alumni Office note: the policy of bringing in the students for club functions is ideal. Congratulations! And keep it up!

CHICAGO

John W. Scallan, '25, 79 E. Adams St., President. Al C. Stepan, '31, 365 E. Illinois St., Secretary.

The annual golf tournament was the summer's chief club activity in Chicago. President JACK SCALLAN appointed TOM DONOVAN as chairman of the party and as committee members the following: GEORGE DAILEY, BERT METZGER, BILL REDMOND, GEORGE McLAUGHLIN, JOE RIGALI and TY BULGER.

The Maywood Country Club was the place and the members and their guests teed off between 12:00 and 2:00 o'clock. Dinner, prizes and entertainment were on the docket for 7 o'clock. Incidentally, the date was Thursday, July 25.

An interesting line-up of speakers for club luncheons in September was made known early in the month by PAT CROWLEY, general chairman of luncheons. Warren Brown, sports editor of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, was scheduled for September 10; George Donoghue, superintendent of the Chicago Consolidated Park System, for September 17; and Wilbert Crowley, assistant state's attorney on September 24. The luncheons are being held each Tuesday in the Ivory Room at Mandel Brothers store.

JEROME J. CROWLEY and RICHARD PHELAN were the luncheon committeemen for September.

CINCINNATI

Albert Castellini, '24, 1001 Atlas Bldg., President. George Aug. '33, 4335 Ridgeview Ave., Secretary.

July 22.

The Cincinnati Club staged a BILLY SULLIVAN Day at the Ball Park on July 21, and presented Billy with a traveling bag before some sixteen thousand spectators. The only other activities planned by the Club for the summer months are a picnic and a soft-ball game against a first rate team composed of a group of young business men.

ALBERT D. CASTELLINI,
President.

CLEVELAND

Clayton Leroux, '27, 3356 Daleford Road, Cleveland Hgts., Ohio, President. Otis Winchester, '29, 2968 Meadowbrook Blvd., Cleveland Hgts., Ohio, Secretary.

August 26.

We held our annual golf tournament August 1 at Ridgewood Country Club. There were quite a few in attendance, both at the tournament and at the banquet in the evening. DICK McMONIGLE won the club trophy with a 74. We don't know whether he used his own clubs or not. BOB LEONARD won the student's trophy donated by Halle Bros. AL GRISANTI was a hot favorite for the booby prize but he didn't show up. LARRY GAERTNER won the great trophy donated by RAY MILLER. JOE SWEENEY was the master of ceremonies and he did quite well with the sound system.

LARRY KRAL did a splendid job in promoting this party and all thanks are due him and his committee.

JOHNNY BELJON will be visiting you soon for a wedding ceremony in the Log Chapel.

HARRY BLACK is the custodian of all the CCC money and has been attending quite a few of the functions.

RAY O'MALLEY is now connected with Muzak Corporation and going great guns.

JACK COLLINS is one of the latest lawyers in the town, having passed his bar examination in June.

BILL VAN ROOY, JIM CALLAHAN and CHUCK ROHR spent a pleasant week in the wilds of Canada.

GAYLORD HAAS is the proud father of a baby boy.

JOE GAVIN was a little disappointed when his wife presented him with a baby girl but he was determined to make up for it and they named the baby Patricia so he could call her Pat.

Father JIM MORAN is having a great time down in Lowellville trying to get the people to church and running a bazaar on the side.

BILL KNAPP has also left our midst and is located in Horning, New York.

CLIVE CAREY has just been promoted to advertising manager for the B. R. Baker Company here in Cleveland.

Hoping that we may have the pleasure of your presence at some of our activities this Fall, I remain

OTIS S. WINCHESTER,
Secretary.

This is just part of the large crowd which attended the picnic of the Peoria Club on June 2. Boxing bouts and other events provided the entertainment.

July 8.

You might be interested to know that we have chosen our board of governors for the coming year, and that we are off to a flying start on activities also. Rt. Rev. Msgr. MAURICE GRIFFIN has been elected by the board to be Honorary President. He is of the class of 1904 and has been closely associated with Notre Dame since the time of his graduation. He was recently chosen by the bishops of Ohio to battle for the parochial aid bill that was pending in the state legislature and to say that he did a good job of it would be putting it mildly. Rev. M. L. MORIARTY was again chosen chaplain of the club. He has had his hands full lately with the Catholic Charities of the diocese of Cleveland but he does manage to show up for some of the meetings and activities. GEORGE BELTING, '34, was chosen as membership secretary for the coming year.

The board of governors chosen, are as follows: JOSEPH H. THOMPSON, '21, Chairman. Ever since Joe has been in Cleveland he has been associated with some bank or other and at present he is the chief business getter of the National City Bank, one of the few that weathered the bank moratorium.

JIM DEVITT, '13, is the next member of the board and is at present the chief assistant to the county surveyor and has a nice future in politics in this town of ours.

GEORGE HAHN, '23, is another member of the board. He has been so busy making blankets for the cold blooded people of this and other communities that we have not seen much of him around at the meetings, but he is there when he is needed and has done much to push the club along the right path.

DAN CAMMOH, '25, is another member of the group and is quite active in all affairs. Even so he has been busy making a name for himself in the municipal court as one of the city prosecutors and here is more luck to you Dan.

JOE SWEENEY, '27, is the last of the new members of the group but even if he is last, he is not the least. Joe has been so busy building up a law business in one of the better law offices in town that he also has not been around much, but we are hoping that we will see him often in the near future.

The other members of the board are: BILLY RYAN, GAY HAAS, JERRY REIDY, and PIERCE O'CONNOR, last year's officers.

The first thing that we have tried to do is clear up a little of the fog that exists between our own organization and the Campus Club. The officers of both clubs met and later we met with a representative group of the student body. We have managed to clear things up quite a bit and right now Jerry Reidy is helping them with plans for a summer dance to be held July 19 at the Alpine Shore Club.

Nick Ruffing has had his committee for incorporating the club going strong and within a few weeks we expect to get our papers and we will then be officially "Inc." The fellows on this committee include, FRANK CULL who, I think, first suggested the idea, MARTY RINI, CHUCK KAISER, JOHN BUTLER, and AL GRISANTI.

We had a stag party at Leisy's brewery June 27. There were about 130 fellows of the club and student body present at the party and the success of it was due entirely to the good work of LOU STETTLE, CHUCK MOONEY, JERRY MILLER, PAT CANNY, DICK MAHONY, BOB COLGAN and HOWIE MILLER. But I think that when it comes to being chef, and the best one at that, all honors go to Lou Stettler.

PIERCE O'CONNOR and DUTCH O'DAY have recently been dismissed from the hospital after minor operations. No serious troubles but we are glad that they are out and around.

PAUL CHARLETON is the latest member to be married.

PAT CANNY has gotten himself into such a lather over the race horses that he is on a diet of hydrochloric acid. JOHN BEGLEY is back in town after his stay in Buffalo, but we do not know how long he will be here.

FRANK GANNON is at St. John's hospital interning since his graduation from medical school at St. Louis.

MAURICE WELSH was married last Saturday to Miss Paskert. They will live in Akron.

CHARLIE ROHR'S restaurant boasts a new front and it is the talk of the avenue. JOHN QUINN is training his two week old son in the rudiments of being a successful sports manager. DR. FRANK GUARNIERI has just finished his internship at St. Ann's and is going into private practice in Warren, Ohio. Somehow or other DAN SAMMON succeeded JOE DALEY around to the last party.

It may interest you to know that DR. DAVID MOLUMPY, one of the real old-timers of "Notre Dame", recently married.

The engagement of RICHARD LACEY to Dorothy Bray of Hartford was recently announced.

As you realize, Jim, Club activities during the summer months are very quiet, which accounts for your not hearing from me more often of late.

Relative to the memorandum covering the 1935 graduates to be added to the Notre Dame Club of Fort Wayne roster, I have the following information to impart:

PAUL W. STAUB, whose home address is 352 E. Washington Boulevard, is working in Detroit, Michigan for the Crucible Steel Company of America, 3245 Hubbard Street. He resides at the Fisher Y.M.C.A.

JOHN H. LOGAN, Jr., 2902 Hoagland Avenue, will return to Notre Dame this Fall to work for a Bachelor of Law degree. At present, he is working here for the Belmont Products Company.

EDWARD R. BIGGINS, of 2816 Hoagland Avenue, is better known as E. Richard, so it might be well to change your mailing list to agree. He is working as chemist for the Northern Indiana Public Service Company (Gas Company), and is located here.

In lieu of the above, E. RICHARD BIGGINS is the only name that shall be added to our roster.

Since PAUL STAUB is in Detroit, it would be very nice if you were to notify the Secretary of the Detroit Club to contact him. I am sure Paul will appreciate it.

ED SULLIVAN.

September 5.

The following report is rather delayed but, as it contains information in which you are interested, I am sending it along and you may dispose of it as you see fit.

On Saturday evening, June 9, 1935, the Notre Dame Club of Fort Wayne, Indiana united with the executive officers of the local C.Y.O., to honor Coach John P. Nicholson and members of the Notre Dame track team accompanying him to Fort Wayne with a dinner in the Garden Room of the Catholic Community Center.

His Excellency BISHOP NOLL graced the occasion with his presence. HARRY HOGAN, '04, President of the C.Y.O., presided. Coach John Nicholson, DONNELLY P. McDONALD, '12, Financial Secretary of the C.Y.O., JOHN W. EGGEMAN, '00, and his son, ROBERT EGGEMAN, '30, were seated at the speakers' table. Each was called upon for a few remarks. ROBERT LAUER, '33, President of the Fort Wayne Club at Notre Dame in 1934-35, was also called upon.

Following the dinner, a meeting of the Notre Dame Club was held. President ROBERT EGGEMAN reported on the activities of the past year. The election of officers followed. DONNELLY P. McDONALD was chosen President, PAUL SAGSTETTER was made Vice-President, MAURICE DEWALD drew the Treasurer's position, and I was elected Secretary. HARRY HOGAN, THOMAS McKIERNAN and ARTHUR MILLER were chosen to constitute the Board of Governors for the ensuing year.

A committee composed of THOMAS McKIERNAN, FRANCIS HOGAN, ARTHUR MILLER and ROBERT EGGEMAN was appointed to revise the constitution of the local club. Those in attendance other than those already mentioned were FRANK METRAILER, GEORGE GORDON, FRED SCHOPPMAN, GERALD MORSCHES, MARTIN TORBORG, ROBERT MILLER, WILLIAM KANE and PAUL SHRANZ.

I am sorry to report that EDWARD T. GILMARTIN, 1896, former President of the local club, and President of the Gilmartin Lumber Company of Fort Wayne, Indiana, died last July. Among those who survive is a brother, FRANCIS J., 1901, also a member of our club.

EDW. S. SULLIVAN,
Secretary.

GOGEBIC RANGE (Michigan)

Robert O'Callaghan, ex. '16, Gogebic National Bank, Ironwood, President. Francis J. Vukovich, '35, Ridge St., Ironwood, Mich., Secretary.

On September 9 the Notre Dame Club of the Gogebic Range held its annual meeting at the Curry Hotel, Ironwood, Michigan. This meeting had a two fold purpose, that of election for new officers and the introduction of ED SIMONICH to the members of the club.

The newly elected officers are:

President, ROBERT O'CALLAGHAN, '14-'16, Ironwood; Vice President, JOSEPH GILL, '32, Wakefield; Secretary and Treasurer, FRANK VUKOVICH, '35, Ironwood.

These new officers replaced the following:

President, VICTOR LEMMER, '26, Ironwood; Vice President, THOMAS McKEVITT, '34, Ironwood; Secretary, HAROLD CANNON, '10-'13, Ironwood; Treasurer, FRANK VUKOVICH, '35, Ironwood.

As yet the newly elected officers have not meet to discuss new business, but that will be taken care of in the near future.

FRANK VUKOVICH,
Secretary.

The Gogebic visit naturally accompanied the Hiawathaland. In Ironwood I found that VIC LEMMER and "FELIX" Cannon had made a lot of splendid arrangements. Met JOHN and MRS. LEMMER, whose flight from Escanaba still didn't let them escape the Armstrongs. Had a delightful visit with MARTIN GILLEN, who received his L.L.D. in June, and who has a beautiful summer home at Land-O'-Lakes. Addressed the combined Rotary-Kiwanis luncheon in Ironwood, and that evening at a magnificent summer hotel at Stickleby enjoyed a meeting of the Club. Vic and Mrs. Lemmer, John and Mrs. Lemmer, Joe Gill, his father, and a young lady guest, and SAVINO CAVENDER and his uncle Savino Bonino, Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT O'CALLAHAN, FRANK VUKOVICH, and JAMES JONES, were present.

Bain Cumming, organist who played a Notre Dame radio program on Universal Notre Dame night, gave a delightful organ program for us afterward in the lodge.

Both Hiawathaland and the Gogebic country can confidently look for personal visits again.

JIM ARMSTRONG.

GRAND RAPIDS

George E. Ludwig, '25, 328 Glenhaven Ave., N. W., President. Raymond J. Bonini, '27, 607 Atwood, N. E., Secretary.

When ED FENNEL was down for the Lay Retreat this past summer, he left the welcome news that the Grand Rapids club had begun holding luncheons each Wednesday at 12:15 in the Chamber of Commerce cafeteria. One of the guests at a luncheon in August was Tourist ARMSTRONG who with Mrs. Armstrong was returning, via Grand Rapids and the GEORGE LUDWIGS, from a combined business-vacation trip to the Northlands of Michigan.

HIAWATHALAND (Mich.-Wis.)

Norman Bartholomew, '15, 225 Cleveland Ave., Iron Mountain, Mich., President. Michael S. Corry, '27, 837 Terrace Ave., Marinette, Wis., Secretary.

The Alumni Secretary enjoyed a trip through Hiawathaland, the first visit to that interesting Club, in early August. Being summer, no meeting in the scattered area was planned. But at Marinette and Menominee, on a quick stop I saw JOE and HENRY LAUERMAN and TOM PLOUFF.

I chased GERALD CLEARY through the streets of Escanaba, and even into the P. O., where Mrs. Cleary occupies the Postmaster's chair, but he escaped me, and I had to push on to the North, where I attended the dedication of the memorial park of GEORGE GIPP on Aug. 3. In Hancock I enjoyed a visit with the RUPPE family, whose N.D. background goes back to the '80s, when the elder Mr. Ruppe was a student here. Joe and Art were home (Bob is at Notre Dame). And a younger brother, Dick, was there, together with Mr. and Mrs. Ruppe and Joe's wife and infant son.

In Calumet, an old secretarial custom was carried out by imposing on the hospitality of DOMINIC VAIRO and his parents and sister, for a delightful dinner preceding the dedication in Laurium. JOHN BRENNAN and his younger brother PAT, from L'Anse, came in as did LARRY DANBOM who ought to be heard from this Fall on the squad. Stopped at Brennan's beautiful home in L'Anse for a few minutes the following day and met his parents.

Lunched with NORMAN BARTHOLMEW and NED DUNDON, the latter abandoning clamoring duties as prosecuting attorney for the lunch hour.

It's a great Club in its territory, its personnel and its possibilities. With new students entering this Fall, several boys like STEVE CONDON and LARRY DANBOM carrying on the football traditions, it ought to keep right on with its present progress.

KANSAS CITY (Missouri - Kansas)

Robert Tyler, '29, 3616 Paseo Blvd., Kansas City, Mo., President. Charles E. Meyer, '29, 420 E. Armour Blvd., Kansas City, Mo., Secretary.

The Club had a fine turnout for its July get-together at Quivera Country Club—golf, swimming, softball, beer, sandwiches, etc. It was intended to get the present students together with the alumni. The latter were agreeably surprised to find almost 25 students at the Country Club.

We've resumed our monthly luncheons and have planned a big student-alumni affair for September 2.

GEORGE McCLINEY, '28, has announced his engagement.

FRANK IUEN, '32, was married at the Log Chapel, August 28.

ED SEITER, '30, has also contracted for matrimonial bliss. He married Miss Mildred Arnett on August 24.

HENRY MASSMAN, '28, spends much of his time at Ft. Peck, Montana, completing Government contracts, and brings word that JOE O'DOWD, '28 and his four month bride are happy as ever.

DAN FOLEY, '23, and WHITIE MURRY, '24, spend all their spare time on the golf links, and those two really know the game.

The Club enjoyed seeing JOHN WHITMAN, University law librarian and professor, at one of its summer luncheons. He was the guest of JOHNNY DUGAN, '27, shortly after commencement.

Our Club President, BOB TYLER, '29, has been vacationing in California. It was good to hear something of LARRY MOORE, '29, and BILL SIDENFADEN, '29, and TIM MONYHAN, '30, whom BOB visited on his return, in Rawlins, Wyoming.

MAURICE CARROLL, '19, has just been promoted to Director of Western Missouri District of the Federal Housing Administration, and there's a man that can really handle the job.

FRANK MEYER, '24, spent a few weeks fishing in northern Minnesota.

FRANK TYLER, '23, has a new son—B. F., Jr.

FRED MANCUSO, '21, is busy taking care of things while his boss JIM AYLWARD, Democratic State Chairman, is on his vacation.

JIM HIGGINS, '32, is now located in Tulsa—as Branch Manager for Gustin Bacon Mfg. Co.

JOE O'BRYAN, '29, is one prosperous rancher. He doesn't think meat is high enough, but won't eat it himself. We (1929 contingent—TYLER, BRAY, MEYER) see a lot of him and spend a week-end on his ranch in southeastern Kansas now and then.

HIENIE BURDICK, '08, is always busy saturating Missouri and Kansas with Budweiser beer. He is their District Manager,—yet he always finds time to talk about his old pal, COPPER LYNCH.

CHARLES MEYER,
Secretary.

LAPORTE, INDIANA

A. Gordon Taylor, '18, 1507 Indiana Ave., President. Norman Duke, '33, 304 Niles St., Secretary.

JOE BOLAND was the principal speaker at the dinner, held in the Rumely Hotel, which the Notre Dame Club sponsored on September 4 to honor the coaches who participated in the one-day football school and clinic organized by the LaPorte Herald-Argus. Seventy-five were present, according to the report sent over by NORM DUKE. Mayor AL SMITH of LaPorte was one of the other speakers and GORDON TAYLOR was toastmaster.

Norm said that the club was making plans for a general Communion for club members and local students on Sunday, September 15, just before the students returned to the University.

August 5.

Glad to tell you that the golf tournament and picnic went over very nicely. Had a nice turn-out and even though it rained a bit the boys played on and on. Am not so sure, however, just what the boys liked best, the golf or the beer and food.

Our next event will be a party at the Westmoor country Club, which has all been arranged by ED ROGERS, who, it is rumored has signed up for Ethiopian air service. Guess these Notre Dame Men like to fight.

BUD McNICHOLS, Chicago, Ill., will be up to-day and will stay for some time. Probably will be the last time I will see him until the good old football games start. He is going from here to Kentucky to work with JACK PURDY, '34, until classes start.

Having been plugging for ELMER LAYDEN in this contest being run off by the Chicago Tribune, but I guess it hasn't done much good.

No other news at the present time. If you know of anyone coming up this way, tell them to stop in and see me.

Newspaper clippings brought further word of the picnic which the Peoria Club held on June 23 at Dr. C. V. Ward's farm, near Peoria. Twelve rounds of amateur boxing, produced by the boxing team from Spalding Institute, Peoria, as well as other sports events, provided a full Sunday afternoon, even though the "honored guest and principal speaker" failed to show up. The following committee handled the picnic arrangements: LAWRENCE PRESCOTT, AL GURY, ERNIE HECHINGER and AL WELZENBACH.

PHILADELPHIA

Gerard Degen, '10 6734 N. 18th St., President. Wm. E. Cooney, '31, 5725 McMahon Ave., Secretary.

August 21.

First, thanks for the bulletin. I was very sorry to learn of the death of Father Maloney, and wish you would express to the Congregation the sympathy of the Notre Dame Club of Philadelphia.

The past year was the most active one the alumni club here ever had, and our new President GERARD DEGEN has been developing plenty of good ideas for the coming year. Among activities for last year, our efforts to build a treasury were fairly successful by holding drawings for tickets to the N.D.-Army game and the N.D.-Temple basketball game. The Christmas Dance, while not a money-making event, brought out more alumni than we ever saw at one of our dances before. On Notre Dame Night we had 45 present at a dinner held at the Penn Athletic Club which broke all previous records. On the spiritual side we held two Communion Sundays—Sunday nearest All-Souls Day and the Sunday nearest Rockne's anniversary—and we brought out 18 club members to join the retreat at Malvern which JOHN NEESON captained.

We will hold our first meeting about the end of September, so I hope to get some news for you at that time, or before.

September 14

There isn't much to offer by way of news of the club. As has been the case in the past, the Summer has meant greatly reduced attendance at the luncheons. JACK SHEEDY, DR. LEO O'DONNELL, ED BYRNES, BILL STEITZ, JOHN RYAN, VINCE BURKE, and AL DIEBOLD were very regular in attendance.

President FRITZ WILSON missed not one session. CHICK SHEEDY always dropped in except for the several weeks while he was in California. He drove out and back—made the return trip in three days; so he wasn't particularly interested in the scenery.

J. Sheedy and Wilson spent time a-plenty on the local golf courses and still they get no better. Likewise Al

Diebold and Bill Steitz. They expected PAT CANNY to stop here for a few holes; but word of the prowess of the Pittsburgh putter-wielders got to Cleveland and Pat stayed there. (P.S. That's Wilson's story, anyhow.)

DR. O'DONNELL is still the best N. D. booster in the neighborhood. Sometime I'd like to know just how many boys the good Doctor has sent to Notre Dame. Quite a fancy number, I'd say; and I nominate him for many, many orchids.

That's about all I have to say, Jim, except that I have enjoyed a bit of success since I wrote last. I've been approved by the New York Stock Exchange as a member of the Pittsburgh branch of Hemphill-Noyes and Company. It's very pleasant work, and I'm hoping to go places.

We've moved our luncheons again. Until last Thursday we met at the Roosevelt Hotel; but have moved to the Commodore at Seventh and Liberty Avenues. The time is the same—every Thursday at noon.

ED O'BRIEN, Secretary.

WOMEN'S CLUB OF NOTRE DAME

Sister M. Frederick, C.S.C., St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind., President. Sister M. Angelice, B.V.M., Secretary.

The Women's Club met for its annual business session on Saturday, July 13, in the University Library. Sister M. Frederick, C.S.C., president, presided.

The report of the Permanent Resolutions committee, headed by Sister M. Eleanore, C.S.C., extended the sympathy of the club to the University in the death of the late Rev. John Cavanaugh, C.S.C., former president; to St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, in the death of Mother M. Pauline, C.S.C., for many years president; and it offered felicitations to Rev. J. F. O'Hara, C.S.C., president of Notre Dame, on his continuing success in office.

The report of the Committee on Literature, also headed by Sister Eleanore, viewed with optimism the present status of Catholic American literature and especially commended the poetry magazine Spirit, organ of the Catholic Poetry Society. It also urged club members to further the cause of Catholic reading and to encourage Catholic Study clubs.

The report of the Committee on Data for the Alumnae Directory revealed that distinct progress has been made toward publishing a directory and that it should appear within the near future.

The Bibliography Committee, headed by Sister Joan of Arc, O.S.F., reported on its constant work in supplying suitable book reviews for the ALUMNUS during the 1934-35 year.

Sister St. Flavia, S.S.J., chairman of last year's Social Committee, read a delightful report on the entertainment given on July 21, 1934 at Notre Dame. And, under the heading of "old business" Sister Teresa Aloyse, S.P., was appointed to fill the vacancy of chairman of the Committee on Data for the Alumnae Directory.

"New business" brought forward the motion that each Mother House donate two dollars towards publication of the new directory, as a supplement to the advertising. It was moved and seconded to amend the motion by adding: "and the rest of the expense be defrayed through dignified advertising." The amendment was carried and the amended motion was carried. The suggestion as to advertising in the directory had been brought forward by J. E. Armstrong, alumni secretary, and had been explained to the meeting by Sister Frederick, president.

New officers were elected as follows: Sister M. Hilda Mary, R.S.M., Third Vice-President; Sister M. Leonella, O.P., Fourth Vice-President; Sister M. Angelice, B.V.M., Secretary.

The annual entertainment of the club was held in Washington Hall on Saturday, July 20. Later in the month all the Sisters attending Summer School were guests of the University at a picnic held along the Lake in the rear of Morrissey and Lyons Halls.

Members of the Women's Club will give a special welcome to the news that Sister Maria Berchmans, C.S.C., '24, has been awarded the Jubilee Medal by King George of Great Britain for her years of service in the Halifax schools.

Job Openings

Young chemical engineering graduates, preferably those with some knowledge of photography, are invited to apply for jobs in the sales department of a dry plate company in the Middle West. Further information from the Alumni Office upon request.

DEATHS

Father FRANK E. DRUMMEY, C.S.C., '28, aged 35, died June 17, in Deming, New Mexico, after five months' illness. He was born in Monroe, Wis., Dec. 26, 1899.

He entered Holy Cross Seminary at Notre Dame in August, 1919, when the late Right Rev. Bishop George J. Finnigan, C.S.C., began his duties as rector. In 1923, he entered St. Joseph's novitiate at Notre Dame and in 1924 was admitted to Moreau Seminary at Notre Dame. Receiving a degree at the University of Notre Dame in 1928, he entered Holy Cross College in Washington. Upon completing his theological studies at Catholic University in Washington, he was ordained to the priesthood in St. Edward's church in Austin, Texas, December 20, 1931.

He leaves besides his mother, a sister, Sister M. Nazareth, C.S.C., of St. Mary's convent, Notre Dame, and two brothers, Ray and George DrummeY, both of South Bend. The family moved to South Bend shortly after Father DrummeY entered Notre Dame.

Funeral services were held at Notre Dame and burial was in the Community Cemetery.

WILLIAM J. McCULLOUGH, Davenport, Iowa, elected to the Alumni Association in 1929, died in Oska-loosa, Iowa, on August 15 after an illness of only a month. He was 79 years old. An outstanding Catholic, a loyal friend of Notre Dame and St. Mary's for many years, Mr. McCullough was the father of Dr. G. F. McCullough, '03, and Harry M. McCullough, '20, both of Davenport. His wife, who survives him, as well as his two daughters, attended St. Mary's. In all, fifteen of the McCullough family and its branches have attended the two schools.

Mr. McCullough was the founder of Loras Council, Knights of Columbus, in Davenport, and its First Grand Knight. He was the first State Deputy of the K. of C. in Iowa and the first Master of the Fourth Degree K. of C. in the same state. He had also served as a member of the Supreme Board of the K. of C.

Most Rev. H. P. Rohlman, Bishop of Davenport, celebrated the Solemn Pontifical Mass for Mr. McCullough on August 19. Representing the University and the Notre Dame Club of the Tri-Cities as honorary pallbearers at the funeral were Vance UhlmeYer, club president, and Richard B. Swift, past club president.

The ALUMNUS has just recently heard of the death, on May 19, 1933, in Eastland, Texas, of HOMER PLATTE BRELSFORD, A.B. '91, A.M., '95.

EDWARD T. GILMARTIN, a student from 1893 to 1896, long a loyal member of the Notre Dame Club of Fort Wayne, Indiana and one of its former presidents, died in Fort Wayne in July. A brother, Francis J. Gilmartin, who was at Notre Dame in 1900-01, is among the survivors.

DR. FRANK ALLPORT, LL.D., '06, noted Chicago eye and ear specialist, died in his villa near Nice, France, on August 2 at the age of 78 years. Dr. Allport had been in ill health since his retirement several years ago.

HAROLD REMPE, a student from 1900 to 1909, died on April 18, 1935, according to word which has reached the ALUMNUS since the June edition.

A complication of ailments, traceable to his 18 months of service in France, resulted in the death on August 15 of JEROME WILDGEN, '14, Hoisington, Kansas. He is survived by his wife, six children and four sisters.

Jerome was past commander of the American Legion Post in Hoisington and a member of the Knights of Columbus. For all of his business career, he was associated with the Wildgen Lumber Company, Hoisington.

After a lengthy illness, RALEIGH STINE, who was at Notre Dame from 1916 to 1920, died at the Yountsville Veterans' Home, Yountsville, California, on August 27. Burial was in Palo Alto, California.

Mike Siegler, '24, very thoughtfully sent word to the Alumni Office of the sudden death, on July 30, of EDWARD P. WOLLENSAK, '24, of Rochester, New York. Mike heard the sad news when he was passing through Rochester recently.

Just three weeks after his marriage to Sara J. Farmerie, ALBAN DEIBEL, '27, was buried in Pittsburgh on August 18. Two of the ushers at his wedding were also pallbearers at his funeral. Al and his bride had been back from their wedding trip just three days when he was stricken with pneumonia. He died a day later.

JOSEPH F. DONAHUE, JR., '36, son of Joseph F. Donahue, os.'09, and Mrs. Donahue of South Bend, died on September 2 in Independence, Iowa, as the result of an automobile accident a few hours earlier. Returning with another South Bend boy, George Wilson, from their summer on a Nebraska ranch, Joe, Jr., was critically injured when the Wilson car skidded on a slippery road and turned over into the ditch. George escaped with light injuries.

The ALUMNUS extends sincere sympathy to: ROBERT DEWEY, '32, upon the death of his father; LEO V. SCHIAVONE, '32, upon the death of his father; CHARLES M. LOUGHREY, '33, upon the death of his mother; Prof. ROBERT L. GREENE upon the death of his wife; JOHN T. BALFE, '20, upon the death of his mother; DANIEL E. HILGARTNER, Jr., '17, upon the death of his mother; Dr. F. J. VURPILLAT, '20, upon the death of his wife; GEORGE SHUSTER, '15, upon the death of his father; HENRY R. FREY, '30, upon the death of his father; J. NORBERT GELSON, Jr., '26, upon the death of his wife.

PERSONALS

Before 1880 Hon. Thomas F. Gallagher, Fitchburg, Mass.

1880-1885 Prof. Robert M. Anderson, Circleville, Ohio.

1886 Michael O. Burns, 338 S. Second St., Hamilton, Ohio.

Back to the campus after 62 years! Such was the happy experience this summer of GEORGE RUDGE, Youngstown, Ohio, who was at Notre Dame as a student in 1872-73 and hadn't seen the University since. Young in spirit and activity, Mr. Rurge was here with a returning student of the present day. (And he'll be back again soon, we hope.)

1887-1888 John L. Heineman, Connersville, Indiana.

Another most welcome Notre Dame visitor, on August 24, was D. J. MCKENDRY, '87, 7836 Drexel Avenue, Chicago. Mr. McKendry looked all over the campus with several members of his family, among them his niece and his granddaughter, and talked with some of his Notre Dame friends.

1889 P. E. Burke, 301 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

1890-1893 Louis P. Chute, 7 University Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

1894 Hugh A. O'Donnell, 1 W. 67th St., New York City.

1896 William P. Burns, 327 Willard Ave., Michigan City, Ind.

1897 Rev. J. A. MacNamara, St. Joseph's Sanitarium, Mt. Clemens, Mich.

With FATHER MAC NAMARA scaled down to fighting trim after his recent "training trip" up through Canada, ELMER LAYDEN has just about decided that the football season can really commence. As this is written, Father is still hanging up his hat at St. Joseph Mineral Baths, Mount Clemens, Michigan, but before the publication reaches the brethren, he will no doubt have checked in at Cartier Field. Bring on Kansas!

1898 William C. Kessler, 9th and Sycamore Sts., Cincinnati, Ohio.

1899 Dr. Joseph F. Duane, 418 Jefferson Blvd., Peoria, Ill.

1900 John W. Eggeman, Old First Bank Bldg., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

One of the important weddings of the summer in Fort Wayne was that in which JUDGE EGGEMAN'S daughter, Mary Elizabeth, a graduate of St. Mary's, Notre Dame, was married to Joseph Clem Fox, also of Fort Wayne. BOB EGGEMAN, '30, was the best man.

Later in the summer the Judge had the misfortune to suffer a serious injury to his back in a fall in his home. Reports from a local hospital, as this is written, say that he is improving.

1901 Joseph J. Sullivan, 1300, 139 N. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

1902 C. C. Mitchell, 110 S. Dearborn St., Box 3, Chicago, Ill.

1903 Francis P. Burke, 904 Trust Co. Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

Inquiring about Notre Dame for his grandson, M. Berkley, 4525 Laclede Street, St. Louis, this summer noted the fact that his sons, FRED, CAROL, and CHARLES BERKLEY had all attended Notre Dame in the early 1900's. It was a pleasure for the Registrar to help in carrying on the Notre Dame story in the Berkley family.

1904 Robert Proctor, Monger Bldg., Elkhart, Ind.

Among the new men on the campus this year are Joseph and John, the sons of JOHN QUINN, '04. Mr. Quinn is assistant engineer for the New York Central Railroad and has his offices at 15 West 74th Street, New York City.

1905 Daniel J. O'Connor, 10 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.

1907 Rev. Thomas E. Burke, C. S. C., Notre Dame, Ind.

1908 Frank X. Cull, Bulkley Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.

1909 E. P. Cleary, Notre Dame, Ind.

Notre Dame men will find reason for additional interest in the South Bend News-Times now that PAUL R. MARTIN, '09, has joined the staff as associate editor. This well known alumnus has had wide experience as a newspaper writer and author since he left Notre Dame 26 years ago, and JOE STEPHENSON, publisher of the News-Times and one of the University's most loyal former students, has done well in choosing as his associate editor a man of Paul Martin's reputation and ability.

Paul is in charge of the editorial page and his editorial column is always well balanced and interesting. A new feature of the editorial page of the Sunday News-Times is Paul R. Martin's signed column called "Snapshots Along the Way." During his newspaper career this writer has made the acquaintance of hundreds of persons who hold positions of prominence in the public limelight and has been the eye witness of a large number of interesting events. This experience supplies him with much valuable material for an intimate column of this kind. And what is pleasing to all Notre Dame supporters is that about every other week this column is devoted to the Notre Dame Paul Martin knew in his student days. He entered Notre Dame on the bottom rung of the old preparatory school ladder and spent years on the campus. He knew many of the men who helped to make Notre Dame the great institution it is at present. In "Snapshots" he revives memories that should always form a part of the Notre Dame tradition.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin are living in the Washington-Colfax Apartments, 618 West Colfax Avenue, South Bend.

"The High Law," a plea for more graduate work in law, which appeared in Commonweal on June 28, was the contribution of JOHN McDILL FOX, dean of the law school at the Catholic University.

1910 Rev. M. L. Moriarty, 1900 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

1911 Fred Steers, 1635 First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

1912 B. J. Kaiser, 324 Fourth St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Communications to the Alumni Office from the son Walter, Jr., who will be a Sophomore at Notre Dame this year, revealed the fact that WALTER DUNCAN and his family enjoyed a western tour this summer. Glacier National Park was just one of the many spots they visited.

1913 James J. Devitt, 921 Engineers Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.

HARRY KIRK of 3002-25th St., N. E., Washington, D. C., late in the Spring very kindly send in the following intensely interesting note, which unfortunately failed to squeeze into the last issue of the ALUMNUS, in June:

In the February 1935 issue of the ALUMNUS, on the pages entitled "An Earlier Notre Dame," appeared a picture of the 1913 class crew. It will perhaps be interesting to the members of the class of 1913, and others, to indicate a few facts regarding this picture. Reading away from the camera, those in the picture are as follows:

No. 6.—Stroke Oar: HARRY J. KIRK, formerly of Defiance, Ohio, now of Washington, D. C.

No. 5—BERNARD DURCH, Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin. Durch is now working for the Federal Housing Administration, having authority over a considerable area of Wisconsin in the vicinity of his old home, Chipewa Falls.

No. 4—Missing—LOUIS J. KILEY, formerly of Rochester, New York. Now deceased.

No. 3—MANUEL LEQUERICA of Cartagena, Columbia.

No. 2—ERICH HANS DE FRIES of Davenport, Iowa. Now deceased.

No. 1—Bow Oar: JOSEPH LEBLANC of Lafourche Crossing, La.

1914 Frank H. Hayes, 406 Bank of America Bldg., Anaheim, Calif.

Among those who this summer attended the 25th anniversary reunion of the class of 1910 of the old South Bend High School was MARK DUNCAN, of Chicago. Mark is treasurer of the group.

From the job of State Safety Director AL FEENEY has turned to the job of administrator of the Indianapolis milk marketing area, according to an announcement on July 1, by Lieutenant-Governor M. Clifford Townsend, of Indiana. Al had done an outstanding job as director of the state police, according to well-posted authorities all over the state.

DAN SHOVLIN, Springfield, O., made a couple of trips to the campus between issues of the ALUMNUS. July found him conferring with St. Mary's with regard to the entrance of his daughter. And September brought him back to St. Mary's and Notre Dame with the same daughter, who is now a Freshman "across the road." Dan will have a son ready for college next September.

The Cheboygan Daily Tribune, Cheboygan, Michigan, on August 10 carried the big news that the local Hotel Top-in-a-bee, one of the leading resort hotels in Northern Michigan, had been sold to ED MOLONEY, who was at Notre Dame as a prep in 1913-14. Ed later attended the University of Michigan and finished in law in 1924 at the University of Detroit.

1915 James E. Sanford, 1524 Farwell Ave., Chicago, Ill.

With his editorial in Commonweal demanding that Catholics boycott the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin and his address before the Institute of Human Relations at Williams College, GEORGE SHUSTER, as Managing Editor of Commonweal, has been of late conspicuously before the public eye. His editorial opened a fresh discussion of an already warm question and drew a long comment (with his picture) in the Literary Digest. At Williams College, George discussed the question: "What Can We Learn from the Situation in Germany?"

Another editorial worker, MAU-

RICE ANDREWS, sent word that the October issue of his Sport Story Magazine would contain an article, "The Air Route to Victory," by FRANK THOMAS, '23, coach of the more-than-successful Alabama football team. On the cover of this issue (on the newsstands September 13) is a picture of Frank, made from a painting.

1916 Timothy P. Galvin, First Trust Bldg., Hammond, Ind.

Among the comings and goings of the summer recorded in the South Bend papers were those of RUSSEL DOWNEY and his family who have a nearby summer home at Diamond Lake, Cassopolis, Michigan.

1917 Edward J. McOsker, 104 S. Union St., Elgin, Ill.

"Stanco Oil Co., STANLEY B. COFALL, President!" Thus can be announced the fact that Stan has organized his own company in Cleveland, following his association with Standard Oil. His plant's address is East 99th Street and the New York Central tracks. And "only the finest oils and lubricants" is Stan's motto.

Another Cleveland and another '17er is also expanding. MATT TRUDELL, former president of the Cleveland Club, announced early in the summer that five new principals have been added to the Trudelle Advertising Company and that the firm name has been changed to Trudelle & Co. Matt's organization handles publicity, promotion and advertising service, with offices in the Schofield Building.

And, of course, no good '17er would want this issue of the ALUMNUS to get past the presses without, in this column, a special mention of the fact that the president of the national Alumni Association, one BERNIE VOLL, is a member of the class and reputedly in good standing thereof.

1918 John A. Lemmer, 1110—8th Ave., S., Escanaba, Mich.

GEORGE RARBERT of Chicago, is now Past Grand Knight of the St. Paul of the Cross Council Knights of Columbus after serving three years as Grand Knight.

George has been teaching Real Property at John Marshall Law School for six years. He writes that he attended the Illinois State K. of C. Golf Tournament in which JOHNNY BANKS made second low gross and placed on the winning low gross team.

George is still with the Chicago Title and Trust Company.

Jim Logan is Commander of Post No. 1, American Legion in Denver. Jim has 1700 Legionnaires on his hands and is working hard to bring the National Convention to Denver in 1936.

Attorney JOSEPH T. RILEY of Muskegon was one of the delegates to the national convention of the Knights of Columbus to be held in New York City. Joe is as busy as ever at Muskegon and is always glad to see Notre Dame men.

JOHN LEMMER.

1919 Clarence Bader, 650 Pierce Street, Gary, Ind.

1920—Leo B. Ward, 1912 Black Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

A new South Bend law partnership, bringing together two Notre Dame men, ED DORAN, '20, and PAT MANION, '22, has just been announced. Officers will be in the Union Trust Building. Ed is one of the city's most prominent attorneys. Pat has likewise been prominent in city, as well as state affairs, and is at present state director of the National Emergency Council. He will continue as professor of law at Notre Dame.

One of the considerable group of Sound Bend alumni attending the Lay Retreat this summer was DR. MAURICE THORNTON. The doctor has been "making 'em" for the past several summers despite a large practice that draws heavily on his time and energy.

JIM BRENNAN has been appointed general agent in Chicago and lots of surrounding territory for the Fidelity Mutual Insurance Company of Philadelphia. Associated with Jim this summer was ED KRAUSE, '34, and JOHNNY BALDWIN, '33, has made a permanent tie-up with the Brennan organization.

1921 Alden J. Cusick, 1 Park Ave., New York City.

What with going optimistic with the Optimist Club in South Bend, coaching varsity baseball and freshman football and doing his duty as a teacher of the young, JAKE KLINE is still looking for something to occupy his time. The neighborhood fish help in that regard. Ask Jake or ART DIEDRICH, '23, for the details.

As a member of the speaker's committee, AL SLAGGERT of Detroit was super-active in promoting the Marquette Memorial celebration held in Ludington, Michigan on August 9, 10 and 11. Radio was his chief medium. (Alumnor ARMSTRONG who, with Mrs. Armstrong, attended the Marquette pageant which was an important part of the Ludington event, was enthusiastic.)

Al also gave the address at the baccalaureate breakfast of St. Andrew's High School in Saginaw, Michigan, on June 9.

1922 Gerald Ashe, Buffalo Athletic Club, Buffalo, New York.

GEORGE PROKOP, of Youngstown, Ohio, together with DICK FALVEY, '23, of Winamac, Indiana, were two of the former Notre Dame stars who witnessed the Purdue-N.D. baseball fracas on the campus last May. (A little tardy in this news, boys, but we'll improve with age, we hope).

KID ASHE is now called the "the champ" by the boys around the Buffalo Athletic Club, according to the testimony of JIM WHEELER, '17, of Milwaukee, who gets to Buffalo occasionally. Kid, Jim says, is the champion billiard and pool player of the club.

1923 Paul Castner, White Motor Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

RAY GALLAGHER, in addition to his duties as professor of political economy at DePaul University, Chicago, has been a frequent contributor to Commonweal. The May 31 issue of that journal carried his article on "Government Career Service" and in the June 28 issue he presented an excellent book review. Ray also participates in the program of the Chicago Chapter of the National Catholic Alumni Federation.

State Senator DAN LYNCH, of Hammond, Indiana, has recently been appointed attorney for the school city of Hammond.

TOM LIEB, coach at Loyola in Los Angeles, and ELMER LAYDEN exchanged condolences on their forthcoming teams when Tom was East in May and stopped off on the campus for a visit with his host of friends.

LOUIE BRUGGNER is now a roarin' Lion. The head man of one of South Bend's leading newspaper, magazine, confectionery, etc., etc., establishments, Louie was initiated into the South Bend Lions' Club last May. After his first feed of raw meat he jumped with even more Bruggner vigor into the job of chairmanship of the Lay Retreat committee for the St. Joe Valley Club. And, of course, did a great job.

FATHER TOM BRENNAN was one of the leading lights photographed at the head table when the Marconi Club, a new society of South Bend Italians, had its formal opening ceremonies just recently. Yes, Brennan is still the name.

1924 James F. Hayes, Wm. J. Pedrick & Co., Empire State Bldg., N. Y. C.

JIM MEEHAN, after a long period in the East—since 1924, in fact,—is back in the familiar haunts. He's associated in South Bend with the well known Schilling store.

1925 John W. Scallan, 79 E. Adams St. Chicago, Ill.

Your Assistant Secretary and Mrs.

Dooley had the pleasure of eating lunch with Mr. and Mrs. JOHN MORAN in Chicago in early September. A chance meeting in a Chicago hotel provided the opportunity for arranging the later eating session. With his office in Denver, John is the Rocky Mountain district attorney for the Continental Oil Company. He and Mrs. Moran were in Chicago on a vacation trip.

The middle of the Summer brought a card from AL DASCHBACH to say that he and Mrs. Daschbach are now receiving their mail at 221 Third Avenue, Laurel Beach, Milford, Connecticut.

JOHNNY NOPPENBERGER has changed his Peoria affiliation from Spalding Institute to Peoria Central High School, where he is assistant coach.

BOB WORTH is enlightening the South, according to his recent letter. He says: "Have an office in Jacksonville, Florida, and am in charge of sales for the Prest-O-Lite Battery Co. in Florida, South Georgia and a wee bit of South Carolina. Have two children living, one almost five, the other almost one, both girls. Although I travel a great deal I seldom run into any one from N. D. I have seen BOB LEPERT in Miami several times recently and BILL KREIG once at Miami Beach. Bob has chosen Miami as his idea of heaven on earth, while Bill was spending his vacation there with his wife.

"I had a two weeks vacation in Indianapolis this summer, and saw a great many old friends, especially at the Notre Dame Club summer dance. While there I had a nice visit with Senator JOE McNAMARA."

1926 Dr. Gerald W. Hayes, 96 N. Walnut St., East Orange, N. J.

JACK SAUNDERS, '31, reported in Mid-Summer on some of the gang of the late '20s. His Winchellisms follow:

"T. ALOYSIUS FARRELL returned on Wednesday from one of the United Fruit Lines best cruises. The Farrell benefitted much from the change of venue. The coal business kept him on the hop right up until he sailed.

"DAN O'NEILL and the gang will help the Doc JERRY HAYES clan celebrate the christening this afternoon. The Doc is going like a house on fire.

"BIG WINK' plans to follow in the footsteps of Farrell—I mean taking that Puerto Rican trip—not matrimony. JACK WINGERTER (or 'Little Wink') is going to town for the March of Time outfit.

"ART McMANMON is plastering the New England countryside with bits of commercial artistry for Donnelly Advertising. BIG JOHN has gone in for golf in the biggest way.

Hildreth of Louisville builds a special bat for the seige-gun."

JOE WAGNER, late of Tiffin, Ohio, is now in Toledo with the Acme Fast Freight, Inc., and living at 20 Rosalind Avenue. FRANK MURRAY, '25, is manager of the Toledo unit of Acme.

Father KEITH ROCHE should now be addressed at St. Patrick's Rectory, Havana, Illinois, where he's been pastor since early Summer. The Peoria diocese appointments which gave Keith his first pastorate also named as his successor in St. Mary's Parish, Canton, Illinois, Father BOURKE MOTSETT, '31, recently returned from Rome after his theological studies and ordination.

Ladies and gentlemen, Mayor AL SMITH, of La Porte, Indiana! Al's steady rise in Democratic politics was topped a few weeks ago by his selection as mayor of one of northern Indiana's most important cities. The LaPorte city council chose him when a vacancy arose as the result of the death of the former mayor.

Also much in the headlines this summer was your pal JOE BOLAND, football coach and radio announcer. Through WSBT, the South Bend Tribune station, Joe put on for several months a week-day 15-minute program called "Man on the Street" in which, stationed on a downtown corner, he interviewed passing pedestrians on current news topics. His work attracted lots of favorable attention. Joe was also widely employed by the South Bend station as a sports announcer for everything from an outdoor motor regatta to tennis tournaments.

Registrar BOB RIORDAN sends up word that CHET McDONALD, 310 Lafayette Street, Salem, Massachusetts, has asked to have his Notre Dame credits transferred to the Law School at Boston College.

Among the late Spring visitors in the South Bend area were Mr. and Mrs. LES GRADY who were in Mishawaka at the home of Mr. and Mrs. AL DOYLE. Mrs. Grady and Mrs. Doyle are sisters.

To his varied interests JOHN McMANMON has recently added the parks of Lowell, Massachusetts. John was on June 4 elected by the Lowell city council as a member of the local Park Commission.

ART CANTY has announced his association with ED DUGGAN, '26, in the practice of Law. The firm's offices are in the Federal Trust Building, Newark, New Jersey.

HENRY BAUM writes that he is employed by the Battle Creek Biscuit Company, of Battle Creek, Michigan and is living at 15 Burnham Court in the same city. Henry was married a year ago to Mary Louise McCarty, of Battle Creek.

Commencement last June brought about thirty of the '28 men back to the campus. REV. MARK J. FITZGERALD, C.S.C., had just finished his year at the Novitiate and was with us at the Alumni dinner. It seemed great to see Mark in his Holy Cross habit.

JACK DONOHUE was a fellow classmate of mine at the University of Wisconsin this summer. Jack is teaching in the Vocational School in West Allis, Wisconsin. We had some sessions together in Madison, talking over the undergraduate days at Notre Dame. RON RICH and GEORGE HENNION, '32, were other members of the Notre Dame faculty who were attending Wisconsin this summer.

I saw REV. ANDREW MULRANEY, C.S.C., at Holy Cross College in Washington, where he has two more years before he finishes his theological course. While in Washington I heard that BILL DUFFY was there with the A.A.A. I tried my best to get in touch with him and BILL CRONIN, who is private secretary to FRANK WALKER, but was unable to reach either of them.

It was impossible for me to drive through West Virginia without stopping at Sistersville, of SEXTON and DAVIS fame. I found that JIM SEXTON is located in Texas where he is connected with an oil company. HENRY DAVIS hasn't gone so far away from the home town. He is living in St. Mary's, West Va. Both Jim and Henry are married.

After seven years of silence, I finally heard from REV. JAMES McSHANE, S.J., who is teaching this year at St. Louis University High in St. Louis, where he holds down the chairs of Greek, Public Speaking, and Commercial Law. ROSCOE BONJEAN, according to Jim, is doing well at the bar (Law) in Springfield, Illinois.

FRED FAUST, Texarkana, Texas, just recently wrote the Registrar to have his credits transferred to the University of Texas Law School.

The Saturday Evening Post tractor stories have apparently captivated LEO SCHRALL. Leo is now with the Caterpillar Tractor Company in Peoria.

Father JOE BARRY, C.S.C., has been relieved of his duties as assistant pastor at St. Joseph's in South Bend and assigned to the local Catholic Youth Organization in which he is assistant to Father VINCE MOONEY, C.S.C., '16, director.

OLLIE SCHELL wrote on June 8: "I am receiving a master's degree from New York University on the 12th after several years of night study in accounting, and next year I hope to gratify an old ambition to study third year accounting with Professor Kester who's book we used when Brother Cyprian taught us accounting. A trip back to Notre Dame in the fall is another thing I am planning and it will be my first visit since graduation in 1929." Ollie is living at 310 Riverside Drive, New York City.

1930 Bernard W. Conroy, 1109 Kenneth St., New Kensington, Pa.

JIM WALSH wrote in July expressing his regret that he hadn't been able to get back for the class reunion in June because of the pressure of his work. Jim since February has been First Assistant Division Counsel of the HOLC in Dallas. His law offices are in the First National Bank Building.

JIM McDONALD has changed his address from Los Angeles to 1534 South Western Avenue, Chicago.

Dr. RALPH AUGUST (formerly Augustovitz) received his degree in medicine from the University of Michigan in June and is now interning in Hackley Hospital, Muskegon, Michigan.

"Wonderful time" was the message which JOHN HEALY inscribed on a postcard send to the Alumni Office from Heidelberg, Germany, this Summer.

WILLIAM V. SNELL, who spent two years at Notre Dame with the class of '30, was ordained to the priesthood in Davenport, Iowa on May 12 and sang his first solemn Mass in Clinton, Iowa, on May 19.

The news just recently reached the Alumni Office of the marriage last October 3 of GEORGE HEINEMAN to Eileen Heffernan. George and his wife toured Ireland on their wedding trip.

Late last May PAT GOGGIN wrote thus: "TOM MONAHAN, '31, relays the information this week-end that JACK YELLAND, '30, will not be able to attend [the Five-Year Reunion] on account of a certain Miss Monley on June 4. While in Chicago last week, the 'o and o' MART DOWNEY and the writer spent a few brief minutes ironing out our own personal difficulties, in general." Pat wrote from the "o and o" Arcola, Illinois.

1931 John E. Boland, 1402 Linden St., Scranton, Pa.

In addition to his former job as head football coach at the University of Texas, JACK CHEVIGNY is now Director of Athletics there, according to press dispatches.

With his dues for the year, JOHN ZUBER sent along word that he is now Vice-President and Credit Manager for the Murphy & O'Hara Company, dealers in general house furnishings, Saginaw, Michigan. John hopes to see some of the home games with a delegation of his friends this Fall.

DAN WILLIAMS, according to word from the Cornell Law School, was one of a two-man team which last April argued and won the final first-year moot case for the 1934-35 year. Presiding on the bench for the arguments were three justices of the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court.

LOUIS GODOY, in San Salvador this summer with the Cuban Olympic team for the Central American Olympic Games, remembered FATHER O'HARA with a postcard just before returning to Havana.

Sending in his dues ART KANE asked to have his address changed to 4020 Dickason Avenue, Dallas, Texas. Art is in the advertising department of the Sears, Roebuck store in Dallas. He said that DICK LAUGHLIN, ex-'29, is now the district advertising manager for Sears in Dallas.

BUD TUOHY is practicing law with the firm of Paltrow & Rice at 41-27 Bell Avenue, Bayside, L.I., New York. He announced his connection on June 1.

Professor LOUIE BUCKLEY, while vacationing in Galesburg, Illinois, this Summer drove down to Canton to see Father BOURKE MOTSETT who is assistant in St. Mary's Parish there. According to local opinion, says Buck, Bourke is just as successful in promoting parish dances as he was as chairman of the K. of C. Formal in 1931.

BUCKY O'CONNOR finished at Yale Medical School last June and is now interning in the Newark City Hospital, Newark, New Jersey.

While GEORGE VLK has transferred his coaching activities from the Catholic University, Washington, D.C., to the University of Tulsa, at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

MAURICE GOODEVE wrote 'way back last May from 2110 Fourth St., W., Calgary, Alberta, Canada, that he had been employed for two years past in the offices of one of the local trust companies. He wanted especially to hear from some of the boys. Maurice reported that JOE CRONIN, '33, had taken the job of coaching the Calgary senior rugby team and was to report August 1. KOA in Denver connected up Maurice with the Universal Notre Dame Night radio program last Spring.

lis, L. I., New York.

BILL BROWN, formerly of Danville, Illinois, writes that he is now working for the National Tile Company in Anderson, Indiana, and living at 2407 South Main Street. He adds that GENE HOWERY is married, but doesn't include the name of the bride.

CHARLIE CROCKETT writes and sends in his dues from Alexandria, Louisiana. He says: "BOTTIS CROWLEY, '28, has been in this section of Louisiana for the greater part of the summer umpiring baseball for the Evangeline League. PHILLIP JACOBS, '35, is now working for the same institution that I have been since graduation, namely, the Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. TOM DAVID is working on an engineering project in the southern part of the state. I saw him and JOE MCKEAN at a dance a few weeks ago when Bernie Cummins played here. Someone told me that JIM GUILFOIL had been married during the summer, but I would not verify that statement."

MARCHIE SCHWARTZ, on top of being head football coach at Creighton in Omaha, is now athletic director. The announcement of his new job was made July 1.

JIM COLLINS has been transferred from Chicago to Indianapolis by his company, Pure Carbonic, Inc., manufacturers of dry ice. He's living at 6210 Washington Boulevard in the state capitol.

BILL BLIND writes: "I've seen VIC SCHAEFFNER, '33, once or twice when he dropped into the office to visit his uncle, who is associated with the firm. GEORGE ROHRS finished at Harvard Business School this June.

"Also saw SAL BONTEMPO a couple of times this summer. He's getting along fine on his job with the City of Newark, and is planning on being married this Fall some time. He's shooting a fine game of golf, which is something that he could never do at N.D. I haven't seen JOE BYRNE since April, but plan to drop down to do so the first chance I have.

"Will you please give my regards to PAUL FENLON?"

JIM MEEHAN asked the Registrar in June to forward the Meehan credits to New York University.

A note from JOHN LAMBERT says that he is working for the Relief Works Division of Fayette County, Pennsylvania.

And an announcement from BEN-

EDICT WILLIAM HARRINGTON formally tells of his graduation from the New Jersey Law School, Newark, last June.

FRANK MORRISON writes from 373 Grand Avenue, Rochester, New York, as he sends his dues. He says: "I am starting my second year of teaching at Industry, New York, this Fall. I spent the last month and a half at the University here working towards a principal's certificate in conjunction with my master's degree.

"My brothers, ARNOLD, '35, and REGINALD expect to return to Notre Dame this Fall. Arnold will study for his master's degree and Reggie will begin his third year."

Gentlemen, may we present your class secretary, elected in recent post-card balloting. He is the eminent library worker, debater and cigar smoker, Mr. FRANKLYN C. HOCHREITER, whose home address is 11 Brunswick Boulevard, Buffalo, New York, but who is at present attending Columbia University Law School. We'll give you his New York City address in the next ALUMNUS.

For director of the Alumni Association for one year you elected your Senior Class president, Mr. THOMAS GRATAN PROCTOR. Tom is back at Notre Dame for his law work and thus, much to the advantage of the Alumni Office, will be readily accessible for Alumni Board meetings. We'll give you Tom's local address later.

Your Living Endowment Agent is Mr. THOMAS K. LA LONDE, whose permanent address is the Ridgeview Hotel, 901 Maple Avenue, Evanston, Illinois. Tom is traveling through several of the Middle Western states for a shoe company and is meeting many of the fellows. We hope to have an account of his travels for the next issue.

By devious means and from various points of the compass the following dope regarding present doings of '35 men has been gathered, sorted, and is hereby presented, with apologies for probable errors:

1935 FOOTBALL PROSPECTS

Don Elser, Fred Carideo, and Steve Miller at fullback. Most of the promising replacements from the reserves and freshman squad of last fall are, unfortunately, backs. Elser's gloom is so sincere that the backs have caught it and are convinced that they are going to need a line after all. The returning monogram linemen besides Millner and Michuta are Marty Peters, rangy right end; Matt Thernes, left end; the afore-mentioned Steinkeper, Stilley, and Pfefferle left tackles; John Lautar and sunny Church, left guards; Fred Solari and Henry Pojman, at center. But no right guards.

When Elmer heard that Joe Boland, his trusty line coach, had lost 20 pounds during the past summer, he told him to get up in his studies and try out for the job. He would be unopposed. The rest of the varsity coaching staff remains the same: Chet Grant, backfield coach; and Tom Conley, end coach. Jake Kline, freshman coach, will be assisted by Jack Robinson, Kitty Gorman, Paul Schrenker, and Irwin Davis.

The schedule follows shortly. You have probably heard that Kansas and Ohio state have replaced Texas and Purdue.

A hard schedule. A team that will play interesting ball. Some victories and some defeats. There you are.

Sept. 28—Kansas at Notre Dame
Oct. 5—Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh
Oct. 12—Wisconsin at Madison
Oct. 19—Pittsburgh at Notre Dame
Oct. 26—Navy at Baltimore
Nov. 2—Ohio State at Columbus
Nov. 9—Northwestern at Notre Dame
Nov. 16—Army at New York
Nov. 23—Southern California at Notre Dame.

Four on All-Star Squad

Nine out of every ten probably know it, but for the sake of the record it should be stated here that four Notre Dame football players of last year, Jack Robinson, Rocco Schiralli, George Melinkovich and Dan Hanley were selected for the College All-Star squad which played the Chicago Bears in a night game in Chicago on August 29. Because of a recent appendix operation Robinson couldn't accept the invitation to join the squad. Schiralli was the only one of the remaining three who got into the game and he for only a few minutes.

N. D. Softball Team

New Rochelle, New York, has a softball team made up entirely of Notre Dame men, according to information passed along by Vail Cliff, '35. And the team has had a successful season.

HOLY CROSS CONGREGATION

ESTABLISHES NEW HOUSE

Rev. Stanislaus A. Gruza, C.S.C., and Brother Theophilus, C.S.C., assistant superior of St. Charles Boys' home, of Milwaukee, Wis., were appointed in August to go to Poland to assume duties in the newly established house of the Congregation of Holy Cross in Czartorysk, in the province of Volhynia.

The announcement was made by Rev. James A. Burns, C.S.C., United State provincial of the congregation at Notre Dame, following a conference with the Very Rev. James W. Donahue, C.S.C., superior general, and Rev. Casimir Sztuczko, C.S.C., pastor of Holy Trinity church in Chicago, the community's emissary in Poland this year who selected the site for the new house.

The appointments were made upon a receipt of a contract from the Right Rev. Adolph Szelazek, bishop of the diocese of Luck in Volhynia, upon whose invitation the congregation has accepted to take over the parish of Czartorysk.

Only two men are being sent at the present time, Father Burns said, but others are to follow.

Coaching Appointments

Bud LaBorne has been named assistant to Ed Krause, athletic director and coach at St. Mary's College, Winona, Minnesota. Emmett Murphy, last year with Krause at St. Mary's, is now coach at De LaSalle High School, Chicago, and has as his assistant Abe Zoss, the noted Abe who first carried water for the Notre Dame football squad and then played on it. Dan Hanley, of last year's team and a member, incidentally, of the recent All-Star squad in Chicago, is now backfield coach at DePaul University, Chicago.

The Notre Dame Three

The board of arbitration formed to settle hour and wage disputes between union street car motormen and the Northern Indiana Railways, Inc., in South Bend and Mishawaka is composed of three men with Notre Dame affiliations: John W. Schindler, '09, of Mishawaka; Al W. Johannes, ex-'26, South Bend; and Dean James E. McCarthy of the College of Commerce at the University.

South Bend Forum Elects

Aaron H. Hugenard, '22, and John W. Gibbons, '30, have been elected directors of the Catholic Forum, South Bend, succeeding Francis Jones, '29, and Bernard J. Voll, '17. Devoted to discussion of current topics from the Catholic viewpoint, the Forum has dinner-meetings monthly through the winter season. Many of its members are Notre Dame men.
