J. Fendall Froning, '37 .....	15.00
Henry D. Hinton, '30 .....	50.00

"... This particular gesture of building a field house in his beautiful memory has made a profound impression over the entire country. In this busy world of today people as a whole forget too easily the great men of the past whose great accomplishments are generally forgotten a year or so after death. I am glad to see that two wonderful men such as Rockne and Will Rogers were remembered with such grand memorials. America needs more men like the two above instead of the great number of radicals now trying to run the country."—From a letter written by a recent subscriber to the Rockne Memorial Fund.

Four Generations of Notre Dame Coquillards

Grandson of First Student is Present Sophomore; Will Receive Notre Dame Degree in Centennial Year of 1942; History is Told.

Coming events cast their shadows before them. Is it a coincidence, or is it the completion of a pattern in the history of an institution and that of a family, that Notre Dame, anticipating the celebration of its first hundred years in 1942, finds the name of Alexis Edward Coquillard among its prospective graduates for that year?

The young man of whom we speak is a sophomore in the College of Commerce. He is 22 years old, having been born October 1, 1915. He is six feet tall, blond and blue eyed like that first Alexis, one of South Bend's founders, typical Frenchman and his great grand uncle. Young Alexis is an ardent football and basketball fan. He was graduated from the South Bend Central High School and won several junior tennis championships in the northern Indiana territory during his high school career.

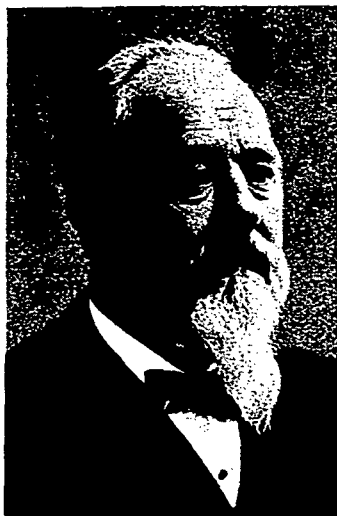

History has a way of repeating itself. The ambition of the present

Alexis is to be a C.P.A. accountant and lawyer. One hundred years ago, the saintly Father Sorin planted the seed of the great institution of Notre Dame when he took the grandfather of this lad, whose name was Alexis Coquillard also, and unfolded to his mind the rudiments of a practical education. The College of Commerce is looked upon as being a recent addition in the curriculum of the University, but here again if we go back to the beginning, we find that Father Sorin began his University with a School of Commerce. Father Sorin was a famous teacher, and his pupil, Alexis Coquillard, developed into a no less famous business man; the University has developed beyond its founder's dreams, and so to the present Alexis, good luck!

The young man's other grandfather was also one of Notre Dame's illustrious sons. He was the late Honorable George E. Clarke, a noted orator.

He received the degrees of LL.B. in 1881, B.A. in 1886, and in 1891 he was awarded the degree of Master of Arts. Mr. Clarke was for some years connected with this institution as a professor of mathematics, history, and oratory, and later taught in the School of Law.

For more than a hundred years Notre Dame and men bearing the name Alexis Coquillard have been walking hand in hand. To understand this one must turn back the pages of history even before Notre Dame itself had a being and the site of the present University was known as the mission on St. Mary's Lake. About 1832 Father Badin's mission was taken over by Father Louis DeSaille, who ministered to the Christian Indians and the French families living in the vicinity, among whom was that of Benedict Michel Coquillard and his wife, Sophie Andre Coquillard, parents of Alexis Coquillard,

First Student.

Later Student.

ALEXIS COQUILLARD, III

first student, who lived on the south bank of St. Mary's Lake, not far from the present log chapel. It is needless to say that there was a strong bond of affection between the pioneer French family, who had come to this vicinity from the settlement of Detroit, and the young missionary from far off France. So much so that the artist who has depicted the death of the pioneer missionary on the walls of the Log Chapel, depicted the devotion of his friend, Benedict Michel Coquillard, father of Alexis Coquillard, who was to be Father Sorin's first student, showing him supporting the dying priest in his arms.

It is not easy to follow the story of the Coquillard's and what was, at one time, known as Father Badin's mission or merely the mission on St. Mary's Lake. To do so one must revert to the last of the great French fur traders, namely Alexis Coquillard of Detroit, who came to the vicinity of South Bend in 1823 as a representative of the Astor American Fur Trading Company. The life of this man reads like a romance; he was almost a giant in stature and physical endurance, and had the vision of a superman for trading with the Indians, acting as interpreter and mediator for the government in making treaties; opening up the country for commerce; promoting institutions of learning, Christianity, and culture in this valley of the St. Joseph. His career began as a boy in the frontier village of French Detroit when, in the war of 1812, he acted as a scout under Major George Croghan, the younger, and, as a scout, brought help to the American garrison under General Harrison, then in defense at Fort Stephenson.

This Coquillard developed the trading post on the banks of the St. Joseph into the village that he afterwards helped to incorporate into the town of South Bend. And it was to him that Father Edward Sorin, a young missionary from France, came with a letter of credit for a little more than two hundred dollars and about three hundred more in cash, from the Bishop at Vincennes with instructions to take over the land previously bought by Father Badin. The date was November 26, 1842, and snow covered the fields and the land looked cold and forbidding, but Father Sorin was full of enthusiasm; and, having settled his business affairs with Alexis Coquillard, the trader, he was keen to see the land that he had bought. Looking about for some one to send the two miles distant to the mission on the banks of St. Mary's Lake, the trader turned naturally to his nephew and namesake. The first Alexis Coquillards were uncle and nephew, the boy being the son of the trader's brother Benedict Michel (or Benjamine as he was known) who had been Father DeSeille's neighbor and friend.

The pioneer priest, Father Sorin,

GEORGE E. CLARKE, '81
Grandfather of Present Student.

and the pioneer boy, Alexis Coquillard, became fast friends from that cold November day when they traveled together across the ferry at Colfax Avenue, owned by the older Alexis but operated by the nephew. Out to the mission they went, the boy showing the young priest the site of the future Notre Dame and the priest taking the boy as his first pupil. The fortunes of both developed together. The priest became the founder of a great university and the boy, the manufacturer of the once well known Coquillard wagon, which business he established in 1865. Later in life when his pupil married Miss Maude Perley in 1881, it was Father Sorin who performed the ceremony, and later when their two sons, Alexis and Joseph were born, it was Father Sorin who baptized them acting as godfather and giving him his own name to the older. Thus the name of Alexis Edward Coquillard was given to the son of Father Sorin's first pupil and friend. When still more years had passed and the first pupil lay dead in 1890, it was Father Sorin who said the requiem Mass and the beloved Father Thomas Walsh, president of the University, who preached the funeral sermon.

In 1888, at the age of six, Father Sorin's god-child and namesake, Alexis Edward Coquillard, Sr., alumnus (class 1903), entered the institution in the minim department under Sister Aloysius and Brother Cajetan and remained at the University until 1901. Since 1905 he has conducted a general insurance agency in South Bend and was president of the Indiana Association of Insurance agents in 1932. He is at present recorder of St. Joseph County, Indiana, to which office he was elected on the Republican ticket in 1934. It is perhaps another coincidence that Notre Dame and South Bend are both located in St. Joseph County, Indiana.

Time marches on; Alexis Edward Coquillard, Jr., is a student in the College of Commerce at the University; his father, Alexis E. Coquillard, Sr., carries on the traditions in the business world in South Bend and in the shadow of the golden dome of the University. In Cedar Grove cemetery rest the bodies of the Alexis Coquillards—fur trader and co-founder of South Bend; his brother, Benedict Michel (or Benjamin) and Alexis Coquillard, Notre Dame's first student, and at the University, itself, rest the pioneer priests, Father Badin, Father DeSeille and Father Sorin.

KNUTE KENNETH ROCKNE

IN MEMORIAM

(Knute Kenneth Rockne, director of athletics of the University of Notre Dame, outstanding coach of football, idol of youth, was killed in an airplane crash near Bazaar, Kansas, March 31, 1931. He was born in Voss, Norway, March 4, 1888.)

*"Into the game he stormed his way,
And he moulded the men to his need.
A million boys are men today
That their hearts have known his creed.
Hit hard! Live clean! Heads up! Shoot square!
Don't alibi! End what you start!
That was the stuff that got him there—
Knute of the Fighting Heart!"*

(From a verse written immediately after his death by Meigs Frost.)

NBC Program Heads 15th Gala U.N.D. Night

National Hook-Up, Supplemented by 100 Local Stations, 100 Local Group Meetings; Campus Program at New High; Watch Local Press for Details.

A half-hour national broadcast, most of it emanating from the campus of the University of Notre Dame, has been arranged with the National Broadcasting Company for Universal Notre Dame Night, Monday, April 25. This fifteenth annual universal tribute to Notre Dame is most fittingly made available through this medium to every alumnus, whether he be in one of the 100 Local Club group meetings or whether he be isolated from his fellow Notre Dame men.

Time of the broadcast is 9:15 to 9:45 central standard time. Daylight time will be in effect, so the ALUM-NUS urges all alumni to watch the local papers for details.

An integral part of the Night, in the several communities, has become the cooperation of the Local Radio Stations. Again these invaluable agencies for a fitting local observance have been most generous in their cooperation with the Alumni Association in a project which brings mutual advantage.

Campus speakers and other entertaining features have already been announced by many of the Local Clubs, all planning for the Night — Monday, April 25, the Fifteenth Annual Universal Notre Dame Night.

JUDGE WILLIAM M. CAIN, 66 years old, distinguished associate professor of law at Notre Dame since 1930, died suddenly in his home in South Bend on February 1 after a heart attack.

Judge Cain came to the campus as a teacher after practicing law in Nebraska for many years. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, he had served as prosecuting attorney of Butler county, Nebraska, as city attorney of Fremont, Nebraska, and as a member of the Nebraska supreme court commission.

Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., vice-president of the University, sang the solemn requiem funeral Mass in Sacred Heart Church on the campus. The law students attended the Mass in a body.

(A reaction to the Judge's sudden death, typical of the viewpoint of the many students who knew him well, will be found under "Campus Notes" in this issue.)

JUDGE JOHN P. McGOORTY of the Cook County Superior Court, Chicago, was appointed to the faculty of the College of Law for the second semester as the result of the death of the late Judge Cain. Judge McGoorty, the father of John P. McGoorty, Jr., '24, comes to Notre Dame once a week to conduct the course in trial court procedure. He has not relinquished his judicial duties in Chicago.

BY MEASURING the sun's light, Dr. Arthur Haas, professor of physics at the University, has found that the sun ought to be burned up in 20,000 years, he recently told scientists at the American Physical Society's meeting in New York City.

But the sun does not burn at this rate, Dr. Haas explained. Some now unknown mechanism of manufacturing energy within the sun, he declared, must be found to explain its radiation.

WITH THE ADDITION of Canon Georges Le Maitre to the faculty, Notre Dame can well claim the distinction of being among the foremost among the universities of the country in field of mathematics and physics.

Canon Le Maitre's work has been invaluable in the scientific world.

The Belgian priest expounds the theory that the entire universe originated from one atom in which was conserved all energy. Canon Le Maitre and Dr. Einstein have been friends for many years, and the young priest is rated in excellence with such men as Dr. Einstein, Sir Arthur Eddington, and Dr. De Sitter. Canon Le Maitre is but 42 years old, and the youngest of the distinguished group of mathematicians.

In 1922 Canon Le Maitre went to Harvard to study with the aid of an endowment from the funds of the American Commission for the Relief of Belgium. While professor at Louvain University, Belgium, he won the Francqui Prize of 500,000 Belgian francs (about $23,300). This famed prize is given annually to the Belgian who has brought honor to his country through advancement in science.

FEBRUARY lecturers included:

Bishop James Edward Walsh, superior general of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of Maryknoll, New York; Frank J. Sheed and his wife, Masie Ward Sheed, (in separate lectures); Dean Howard Higgins, of Emerson College, Boston, in an exposure of the methods of mediums and fortune tellers; W. McNeil Kennedy, regional administrator of the Securities and Exchange Commission; Arvid L. Frank, president of the Studebaker Export Corporation; Dr. Frank N. Speller, director of metallurgy and research for the National Tube Company.

REV. FRANCIS J. WENNINGER, C.S.C., dean of the College of Science, talked on "The Biologist's View of Life" before the South Bend Business and Professional Women's Club in late January.

PROF. RAYMOND A. HOYER, of the Department of Sociology, was a speaker at the formal dedication of the Franklin Settlement in Detroit on January 25. The Settlement co-operates with the University in providing field work training for graduate students in social service.

THE DEATH recently in Dubuque, Iowa, of Dr. J. J. Brownson at the age of 81 years, had a particular significance for Notre Dame. Dr. Brownson was the grandson of Orestes A. Brownson, famed Catholic-convert apologist who lies buried beneath the basement chapel in Sacred Heart Church on the campus.

DR. JOSEPH CATON, a student at Notre Dame in 1930-31, is the new assistant medical director on the campus. He is carrying on, in addition, a private practice in the Associates Building, South Bend. Dr. Caton finished in medicine at St. Louis University in 1936.

Dr. James E. McMeel continues as chief University physician.

WILLIAM SCHUYLER, instructor in French, was added to the staff of the Department of Modern Language with the beginning of the second semester. Mr. Schuyler was graduated from Dartmouth in 1931 and received his master of arts degree from the University of Chicago in 1934. He succeeded Father Charles Doremus, C.S.C., who is on leave of absence because of poor health.

CHRISTOPHER HOLLIS, English economist and author, has returned to Notre Dame for his fourth term as a professor of history and economics. After teaching at Notre Dame last year—and previously—Professor Hollis returned to England for research work during the first semester.

PROFESSOR HENRY C. STAUNTON addressed the Catholic Forum of South Bend on "The Roman Index of Forbidden Books" on February 21. John W. Gibbons, '30, presided at the meeting.

"MALAGAS," a painting by Professor Stanley S. Sessler, head of the Art Department, was recognized in late January as the second best submitted to the the fourteenth annual Hoosier Salon in Chicago by a teacher of art in an Indiana Catholic school. Sister Rufina, of Lafayette, Indiana, won the first prize in this group. Professor Sessler contributed three paintings in all to the exhibition.

The prizes in the Catholic school classification in the Salon are the award of Peter C. Riley, of Indianapolis, a lay trustee of the University.

THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE

By William E. Cotter, '13

From several hundred dollars and a log cabin in 1842 to the present University of Notre Dame is a story that can only conclude with a tribute to the administration of those first meager resources and the additions which time, not without tribulation, has brought.

No one, therefore, has ever questioned the business policies of Notre Dame. No one has doubted the foresight and the acumen of those in whose hands these policies have rested through the years.

This universal respect has resulted however, in a lack of knowledge of conditions which transition has created, particularly in recent years. Through the pages of the ALUMNUS, we hope to clarify Notre Dame's position so that alumni and, through them, friends of Notre Dame, may have a more vivid picture of the needs of the University in its modern status. We hope to present Notre Dame in such a way that none of its past laurels are lost, but in such a way that the laurels of new victories may continue to be the mark of a march of progress that so richly deserves perpetuation.

The University's fiscal year of 1936-37 seems most logical as Exhibit "A."

Endowment Income

First of all, and very significant in a presentation of needs, is the fact that only 2% of the University's income is derived from its permanent endowment.

So that 98% of the annual income is derived from sources that are subject to considerable fluctuation — enrollment, athletics, and miscellaneous sources such as gifts and bequests.

This situation does not make for stability of personnel, or those extra-curricular projects of research and broad academic significance which are the marks of the great universities.

Students Pay 64%

Alumni, and present students, who have attributed the rapid growth of the University to a more than adequate compensation from student fees, may be surprised to learn that the Notre Dame student pays only 64% of the amount required to give him his education. In spite of its needs, and in spite of its growth with resulting improvement in educational facilities, the present student costs at Notre Dame compare most favorably with institutions offering comparable advantages.

And, from the total income of the University from all sources, 8% is returned to the student in student aid, and 4% in scholarships and prizes.

Nor does that 12% include $45,000 in NYA funds which were distributed among the Notre Dame students last year.

Athletics Return 18%

Very fortunately, in recent years, fortune has not only smiled on Notre Dame athletics, but has risen substantially from them.

While maintaining a broad physical program in keeping with general student welfare, and the best academic traditions of American colleges, Notre Dame's spirit has caught the fancy of an American public which is willing to pay for its pleasure, so that the University's competitive, intercollegiate program has returned revenues equalling 18% of the annual income.

We believe that, in the absence of an alumni body rich in material resources, Notre Dame men should lean backward to facilitate conditions which, in exchange for a sound program of athletics for all, have enabled the University to enjoy low student fees and a continuing program of intellectual and physical progress not otherwise possible.

Miscellaneous Income Totals 16%

Income from miscellaneous sources, the bookstore, candy store and other campus facilities, interest on investments other than permanent endowment, and gifts and bequests, totalled 16% of the annual income.

We do not believe that public interest in Notre Dame athletics will fade. We subscribe to the theory that Notre Dame spirit produces winning teams, and not that winning teams produce Notre Dame spirit. But there is always the possibility that public interest in athletics generally may fluctuate under changes in economic and social conditions.

Similarly, in another great source of income, student enrollment may respond to conditions beyond the University's control. The last five have witnessed a 22% drop in student enrollment from the peak figure. Happily this has been largely restored to what is now arbitrary capacity, but the experience confirms the possibility of income recession from this source.

And in the third source of income other than permanent endowment, namely the miscellaneous gifts and bequests, unless there is a continuous program and a constant effort on the part of alumni and friends to strengthen this supplementing of the University's resources, there is a hazard to the progress of the University which the administration is bound to face with increasing qualms.

Boarding, housing, laundry and infirmary demand 45% of the annual expenditures.

Instructional costs require 21%.

Administration and maintenance now total 16%.

The athletics-for-all program, much of it non-revenue activity, uses up 12% of all expenditures.

Scholarships and prizes exhaust 4% (the 8% student aid is included in these general expenditure percentages and is distributed among them).

The libraries alone cost 2% of the total yearly outlay.

And last year 16% of the annual income was made available for new buildings.

Complexities Require Aid

It is obvious, in considering the above figures, that Notre Dame is no longer a simple institution where unpaid teachers provide education; where a college-owned farm feeds the personnel; where the plans and labor of modest buildings come from the members of the Community; in short where the Notre Dame man in all walks can continue to capitalize on the vow of poverty of the Congregation of Holy Cross, freely and wholeheartedly as this service was given.

Logically, Notre Dame must and can look for aid to those men, alumni and present students, who in the past, as well as today, have been the beneficiaries of those contributions which have enabled Notre Dame to offer a thorough Catholic education at much less than actual cost. The Notre Dame student now receives his education at a cost from $100 to $500 less than at most of the institutions comparable to Notre Dame.

There Are Two Channels

In previous articles we have said, and we here repeat, alumni have two great ways open to return this concrete evidence of their appreciation of the needs of Notre Dame.

First is personal giving. We may also repeat again, to advantage, that the University, as well as the Asso-

CAMPUS NOTES

BY JOHN J. LECHNER, '37

EXPLANATION OF CONDUCT

The 93rd commemoration of the day of Washington's birth, February 22 (according to Winchell February 11 was his natal day), at which the senior class presents an American flag to the University, was enacted with the solemnity due an occasion which has endured for four score and ten plus three. The Scholastic, however, through the medium of one of its columnists, reported that after the exercises the Gentlemen of Walsh engaged the Gentlemen of Sorin in an encounter, with snowballs as the weapons utilized. It is our theory that the urge which expressed itself in snowballing might well be traced to a previous frustration or disappointment in either the senior's previous social life or scholastic life here at Notre Dame.

PASSING OF A GENTLEMAN

It was 11:30 p.m. The next day the new semester would begin. Sixty-six year-old Judge William Morley Cain, distinguished jurist and practicing attorney for 34 years, and for the past eight years a professor of law at Notre Dame, wearily noted the grade for legal ethics examination paper he had been grading in his class book. The Judge felt tired and spent, as he always did after hurdling each semester's bugaboo of the professor, the correction of examination papers. He prepared for bed and, with little or no tossing or turning, went quietly to sleep.

During the night Judge Cain left this world, and Notre Dame had lost a distinguished educator, and Notre Dame's law students a loyal and trusted friend. Judge Cain's philosophy of life and his viewpoint on the application of Christian principles in the practice of law must have made his career a happy one. And in his teaching of the law the Judge was endowed with those characteristics which command respect and admiration, with the consequence that he succeeded in his goal, namely, that of impressing upon his students his philosophy and his principles.

A recital of his career and accomplishments might well be made but they will soon be forgotten—it will be through those students whom he inculcated with his code of ethics that he will live and be remembered.

EXPANSION

We noted in one of the Metropolitan gazettes that students at Michigan employed in local malt-milleries have formed themselves into a federation to promote the use of the name "Fountainers" in describing themselves, rather than "Soda-jerkers." Here at Notre Dame in the "Huddle" (you old-timers knew it as the candy store) the "Fountainers" have formed a chapter with Hank Theis, Newburgh, Indiana, as president. The Soda—pardon us—the Fountainers—are very natty at the Huddle, with blue coats piped with white, as uniforms.

THE MONTH IN BRIEF

Forty hours devotion prefaced Lenten devotion on the campus . . . Semi-weekly talks during Lent are to be delivered by Father Edward Misch . . . After many lines of type concerning student dramatic activity we are happy to report that the newly-formed Dramatic Club, under the sponsorship of speech professor Thomas E. Mills, presented three one-act plays in Washington Hall . . . They were "Refund," a comedy, "Dark of the Dawn," a melodrama whose action takes place during the last 10 years of the Thirty-Years War, and "Moonshine," an opus dealing with a hill billy's attempt to evade a federal whiskey tax on liquor . . . Washington Hall first-nighters applauded the offerings lustily.

WHITE TIES AND TAILS

Judge John Peter McGoorty, of the Cook County Superior Court in Chicago, who has been engaged to take the late Judge William Cain's class in practice court, taught each Friday evening from seven until nine o'clock, had his first session the evening of the Junior Prom . . . The judge must have been impressed with the sight of students attending a class in white tie and tails . . . The annual Bengal Bouts Boxing show is being readied for March 18 by Scholastic Editor Gene Vaslett, Brooklyn, New York, and assistants . . . Tom Proctor, Elkhart, Indiana, and Robert Schmelzle, Freeport, Illinois, senior law students, engaged the Kent college of law in a radio debate over a Chicago station . . . The question was "Resolved: That the United States should extend armed protection to foreign investments" . . . The boys had to fight hard for listeners, since they were spotted the same time on the air that's allotted to Charlie McCarthy.

MOPPING UP

Up at Manchester college Coach Bill Coyne's varsity debaters mopped up most of the opposition with the

"A" team winning 11 out of 12 while the "B" team won seven out of 10 . . . They debated the question, "Resolved: That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes" . . . 17 colleges and universities competed . . . The campus radio studio is expanding, having been granted more time on the air by the South Bend stations WSBT-WFAM . . . A maximum of 20 programs are given each week . . . Walter Hagen, Jr., Detroit, Michigan, son of the noted golfer, has been appointed program director . . . One program conducted by Buchanan, Michigan's, Morry Frank, junior lawyer, has been well received . . . It is called "Music of the Nations" and the last time we heard the program Morry was heading south towards Naples. . . .

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Unconscious humor in the Scholastic: "At their last meeting the St. Louis club decided to curtail their immediate activities until they have replenished a weak treasury. Because of the enforced inactivity the members spent their time in reviewing past accomplishments" . . . The Little Philharmonic orchestra, George H. Shapiro conducting, presented a program in Washington Hall . . . The Monogram Absurdities are being whipped into shape for an early airing . . . Students are praying steadily for Father John Farley, C.S.C., beloved "King" of Sorin Hall. As this is written, he is reported improving at Mayo brothers after his leg amputation . . . But "Pop" is having a tough fight. Remember him in your prayers . . . The weather has been very balmy, also as this is written, helping out in our campaign to convince out-of-state students that Indiana should be known as the "Paradise State" . . . So far, not much progress. . . .

THE IRISH SING

The Glee Club presented a concert in South Bend under the sponsorship of the Scottish Rite Masons . . . Luis Montero, a graduate of the College of the Sacred Heart, Santiago, Chile, spent three days as a guest on the campus . . . Mr. Montero was awarded a trip to the United States as a first prize in an essay contest . . . He is a nephew of Juan Esteban Montero, former president of Chile . . . James Graham, Tulsa, Oklahoma, is the chairman of the third annual Knute Rockne memorial program to be held in Washington Hall

John T. McGovern Compliments Notre Dame

Finds On Campus Exceptional Achievements of Administration and Faculty; Defends Alumni
Aid to Athletes of High Scholastic Ability.

(An Address at the Football Banquet on January 11, 1938.)

I am most happy to be able to address the Notre Dame alumni upon the magnificent achievements of Father O'Hara and his faculty. The progress he is making in the organization and extension of your aeronautical course, of your institute of bacteriological research, and in the composition of your higher mathematics faculty demands the highest respect and compliment.

I am also impressed by the success being achieved by so many of your alumni, particularly in literary fields: as editors, authors, publishers, and journalists.

While you are enjoying your football success, it is a most reassuring fact that many of your younger football player alumni are going into the literary field or are continuing in fields of research to improve material human comforts, and to aid other universities, for example, Johns Hopkins, to eliminate infectious diseases.

And that thought leads me to make some observations upon the relations between your alumni and the boys who are about to enter college.

Purpose of a University

The only justified purpose of a university is to turn out into the world graduates consisting of higher than average types of men, talented, trained, and inspired to perform services which will improve the general health, happiness, and usefulness of human beings. To secure that result, alumni must see to it that there is supplied a steady stream of applicants of higher than average scholastic types of boys, many of whom already have hitched their wagons to the stars.

The alumni of Notre Dame are apparently doing this. The public achievements of their graduates indicate it; the high scholastic standing of their football squad is impressive testimony. An average of 83 per cent plus for the whole squad, with All-American stars grading over 90 per cent for three years straight, is one of the most comforting signs that I have seen in recent years.

Alumni should now be still more careful what boys are helped so they do not break down this record. An only passable or low average scholar should not be helped, athlete or no. It is damaging both to him and the University to admit him, in all but a few exceptional cases where individual quirks may disclose a boy of the specialty type who is dull in one branch but shows evidence of genius in others.

High Percentage Scholars

But where an alumnus finds in a boy an exceptionally high percentage scholar, ambitious for a career of high service, who has a well defined purpose, and a wish originating in him to go to Notre Dame because it can best give him the instruction he needs, that needy boy can be helped by an alumnus, provided the nature and source of the help is fully disclosed for faculty inspection. It makes no difference whether or not such a boy is an athlete.

On the other hand, no alumnus of Notre Dame who has the best interests of his Alma Mater in view, will approach an athletic youth low in scholarship, or who wishes to enter some other university, or exercise any influence on that boy to wean him away from the other University "Mater" he has himself chosen. Boys constitute too much of the hope and faith of the future to be bid for, bargained, and sold on the basis of their athletic assets.

I am glad to see that the records show that the Notre Dame alumni and faculty so rigorously prune down the prospective applicants for entrance, so that those who are finally received are those who have themselves sought for the opportunity, and whose conspicuous high scholarship and definite aspirations indicate their worthiness.

While I believe in football as a recreation and, when properly supervised, as a worthy symbol of the spirit of the university, my mind always works back to the conclusion that here in Notre Dame, and in other educational communities, it is the intellectual and spiritual emotion which founded, and the integrity and intelligence of the faculty who carry on the purposes of the university, which compel our permanent admiration. The deeds of Ghengis Khan, Alexander, and Caesar are not today recalled so definitely as are the teachings of Moses, of Confucius, or of Christ. All the thrilling exploits of Notre Dame Four Horsemen may justly remain object of praise and marvel, and the quiet, capable and most attractive personality of Elmer Layden may long be the topic of admiring observations. But as in the theatre "The Play's the Thing," in the university the teacher is the seed. The undergraduate is only the thallophyte; the well taught alumnus is the fruit and the grain.

Artists and composers of music and verse have always understood the fact that a great teacher of youth represents the topmost flight of human endeavor.

While I was writing this assertion I had a visual illustration before my eyes, for I sat at a desk where, when I lifted my eyes from time to time, I gazed at a replica in bronze of the Hermes of Praxiteles. I remembered that the original, now safely housed in the Museum at Athens, is the only existing authentic example of the work of the great Periclean masters. I knew, also, that the solitary little masterpiece is considered by all judges of beauty in art to be the nearest approach to the miraculous in conception of human beauty and in the rendition of that emotion into material form.

Protection of Youth

Why, said I, did this subject arouse in this master the very highest pitch of artistic and emotional exaltation? Then, I noticed the maimed fragments and scars of the other figure of the infant Dionysus which had originally been placed upon the shoulder of Hermes.

Now the legend came back to me from my school day memories. Hermes had carried away on his shoulder the infant Dionysus to protect the child from the jealous wrath of the spouse of Zeus.

The miraculous touch of the sculptor Praxiteles came naturally from his emotions, for he was seeing externally not only bronze and marble and face and figure, but also with the eyes of his soul he saw Hermes represented the highest type of human effort:—the unselfish protection of youth. It was because that effort is the highest of all human ambitions that caused Praxiteles to make his Hermes surpass, in terms of critical valuation, the Venus of Milo, the Victory of Samothrace, or the Apollo in the Vatican.

Times change, but the underlying spirituality of good men is constant. Every good teacher today is another Hermes protecting other Dionysian youths from exploitation and from spiritual and intellectual destruction.

The old Greek legend came to me very vividly out here at Notre Dame, for your faculty is quietly and unostentatiously doing those things each day in the joint intellectual, spiritual, and physical development of your boys, which inspired the Athenian master to his glorious accomplishment.

So long as Father O'Hara and his associates continue to mold and deliver out into the human world these hundreds of young graduates, humble through the grace of prayer and consecrated reflection, strong through the discipline and healthy shock of lusty physical games competition, and mentally equipped through sound teaching and study, Notre Dame will grow in fame and enduring service to mankind.

Three things stand out in my mind as I conclude my address: the high public services now being rendered by Notre Dame graduates, the growth of strength and promise in your faculty, and the extraordinary high grade of scholarship shown individually and collectively by your present glorious football team. I have to bow to the achievements of Father O'Hara and of Coach Layden; and to the determination of the Notre Dame alumni to preserve the high scholastic traditions of their University.

SPANISH RELIEF

Relief for the stricken Catholics of Spain is a worthy cause, whatever our views on the Spanish conflict. To co-ordinate this relief and to secure its maximum benefits to those for whom it is solicited, America, through its editor, Father Francis Talbot, S.J., has organized the American Spanish Relief Fund, 342 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y. The Fund is sanctioned by the Church in this country as a national and diocesan movement, and is registered with the State Department, Washington.

Your contributions can be sent directly to the Fund at the above address.

1938-39 National Officers Nominated

(Because of the shortness of time between receiving the data and going to press, the ALUMNUS herewith prints only the nominations as reported by the Nominating Committees. These Committees consisted of Raymond J. Scanlon, '09, New York City, chairman, William J. Granfield, '13, Springfield, Massachusetts, and Peter G. Dwyer, '10, Potsdam, New York; John F. O'Connell, '13, Chicago, chairman, Peter J. Meersman, '13, Moline, Illinois, and William P. Downing, '14, Decatur, Illinois. (Judge O'Connell also appointed, as advisory members of his committee, Norman C. Barry, '21, Chicago, and Leo B. Ward, '20, Los Angeles.) The personnel of the nominees for the several offices is proof enough of the efficiency of the Committees.)

HONORARY PRESIDENT

Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, c.s.c., '03, Notre Dame, Indiana (Unanimous)

PRESIDENT

Terence B. Cosgrove, '06, Los Angeles, California
Ambrose A. O'Connell, '07, Washington, D. C.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

Joseph B. McGlynn, '12, East St. Louis, Illinois
William A. Walsh, '97, Yonkers, New York

SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT

John J. Kennedy, '09, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
James M. Phelan, '17, Seattle, Washington

DIRECTOR (FOUR-YEAR TERM)

Edward F. O'Toole, '25, Chicago, Illinois
Wendell T. Phillips, '12, Boston, Massachusetts

N.B. The ALUMNUS for May 1, the next issue, will carry short biographical sketches of the above candidates, together with election procedure.

BASKETBALL

Notre Dame's fourteenth victory in as many starts against Detroit recently brought to a close Coach Keogan's fifteenth season as head man of the Fighting Irish basketball team.

His 1937-38 record matched identically with 20 victories in 23 starts, the mark set by the unofficial national collegiate champions of the previous season. Perhaps you might have expected more, with the entire cast back from last season, but senior teams, as we've mentioned before, don't jell as fast as sophomore and junior teams. Considering how we lucked out on Wisconsin and Northwestern in early games, perhaps we should be satisfied with the record as it is. It leaves Notre Dame well up near the top in the national cage picture. It ends more or less brilliantly a definite era in the Notre Dame picture—as definite as the period around 1908 and 1909 when the Irish went a-touring all over the South and East to knock over some of the best teams of its day, or the "Victory Five" era before Keogan became head coach in 1924, or the Johnny Nyikos et al. period of 1925 to '28 inclusive when the Irish won 56 out of 62 starts, or the Ed (Moose) Krause period which was crowned in 1933-34 with Keogan's first 20-victory season—against only four defeats.

Despite the presence and assistance of a fine all-around cast, the period just closed, in which the Irish won 62 games, lost eight, and tied one with Northwestern—remember?—the night the managers couldn't count to 20 by ones and twos, will be known as the Johnny Moir-Paul Nowak age of Notre Dame basketball.

They have ended their Notre Dame careers, along with seven other seniors who formed the backbone of the teams of the past three seasons. Let's look 'em over:

Moir, Scotch-born boy who never saw basketball played until he came to America at the age of eight, and never played the game seriously until he had finished high school, holds all Notre Dame's individual scoring records. All were formerly held by Ed Krause. The single game mark is now 25, set against Pitt Moir's sophomore year. The single season record is 290 set last season. And the three-season record is 780. Had he not missed two games last year and one this year with injuries, he would have passed the 800-mark with his eyes shut. He set his single-season mark as a junior while leading the Irish to a national title. He had opened the season by cracking his right cheekbone, and the injury slowed him down considerably. He has twice been named all-American, and he's a cinch to make it this year. He was voted the best man in his position to appear in Madison Square Garden during the past season. And the New York writers who made the vote also watched Mr. Hank Luisetti, the eminent Stanford operator.

While Moir was crossing the ocean and traveling many miles by rail to wind up the scoring star just described, Paul Nowak came to school on a street car. Born and reared in South Bend, he was one of hundreds of kids who lived for the day when they could play for Notre Dame. Of course, a lot of these kids later went to Purdue, Indiana, Northwestern, Michigan and sundry other spots, but that's beside the point. Nowak stuck to Notre Dame, for which thanks to the fates. He has been the key man of the Irish offense and defense for three years, twice all-American, thrice the best center of the year in the Garden, a cinch, like Moir, to get all-American ranking again, and the man to whom the team looked for leadership, for the ball, and for the wisecracks that would relieve the tension of the tightest situation. And while he was doing all these duties commendably, he still found time to rank second to Moir in scoring each year, and, of course, in the totals. His three-year total of 478 is not so far off Ed Krause's old mark of 547.

CAPT. RAY MEYER

Tommy Wukovits, like Nowak, is a South Bend boy. He was a sub as a sophomore, but a regular the past two seasons. He was fourth in scoring as a junior with 95 points. He was third this year with 161, just a step or so behind Nowak. And while he was slashing through enemy defenses to get all these points, he wasn't forgetting the more important business of throttling opposing colleagues with envious eye on Notre Dame's basket.

Captain Ray Meyer, as plucky a leader as ever wore the blue and gold, will be missed more than the cold figures might indicate. He made the team as a junior, even though a knee injury as a sophomore slowed him down and kept him with the subs. You could glance up at almost any moment to see Ray sprawled on the floor, tenaciously holding the ball in his outstretched iron grip, and shaking enemy players off his back like chips of wood. The day after his mother's death in his junior year, he was back in the game—at his mother's request—leading the team that had named him captain. He broke two blood vessels in his foot that night, but he came back again to lead his team in later stages of the campaign. When at the outset of the current season he suffered a dislocated right elbow, he still led his team. He was on the bench most of the time of necessity, but his heart was on the floor, and his teammates knew it. He's been able to return to action recently, and he's raised many a lump in many a throat as he fought on with the "Green wave" the shock troops, diving, driving, battling, always for Notre Dame.

Regarding the Crowes

Mike Crowe, sixth of the seven Lafayette, Indiana, Dutch-Irish boys to exercise for the honor and glory of alma mater, is through with his career, having brought the total of Crowe letters and sweaters since 1923 to 17. He has been an important part of the picture, particularly this year when Moir hit a bad slump. Mike was the smallest of the Crowes, but one of the most able. They might ask him where the other six dwarfs were and accuse him of doing roadwork in an upper berth, but he was mighty comforting to have around in the late stages of several games this past season.

Tommy Jordan, of the Chicago basketball Jordans, is another senior we all hate to see leave. Fast, tricky, colorful, and a great "trouble shooter" with his late-game long shots which won three major games, he is all his older brother Johnny, 1934-35 captain, might have hoped he'd be.

Jim Carson and John O'Connor, forwards from Indianapolis, and Lyman Shields, center, make up the rest of the diploma contingent. They played but little—but they were out there every day heckling the varsity in scrimmage, and keeping their more talented mates from going Hollywood on us. They, more so than some of the regulars, may be said to have the true amateur spirit—and this has nothing to do with subsidization—for they have played four years of basketball in private, simply because they love to play the game.

Of the returning players, more a year from now. They include Eddie Sadowski, forward, and Earl Brown, Jr., guard, with the regulars; Rex Ellis and Mark Ertel, sophomore centers; Gene Klier, sophomore guard; Lew Wagner, sophomore forward who showed a lot of promise toward the end of the season; Paul Ducharme, forward; and Frank Gaglione, guard, both juniors—as are Brown and Sadowski. But don't let anybody tell you that the nine sweet boy graduates won't be missed.

A glance at your file of your favorite magazine will show that in the February issue we took you through the first Butler game, by which time the Irish had won 12 games and lost two. We had accounted for the Illinois over-time victory and the Minnesota victory over our boys.

It is our unpleasant duty now to record the 45 to 43 defeat Marquette handed us at Milwaukee. We told you last month that of the nine games then to be played "Marquette at Milwaukee is the stiffest test remaining." Perhaps we should just shove out the old chest another notch, take a bow or two, and let it go at that.

Here's what happened, as we saw it. Marquette got 45 points, which is more by nine points than the Hilltoppers ever before scored on the Irish. It is more by four points than any other team scored on Notre Dame this year. Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh was the only other team to get more than 38, and the Panthers got 41.

Defense Is Down

All these figures imply that there was something lacking in the Irish defense that night. Keogan had beaten a sub-par Pittsburgh team twice by using a man-for-man defense all over the floor; that is, covering the Panthers under their own basket and in their half as well as in Notre Dame territory. The first Pitt game worked out all right, Notre Dame winning, 51 to 41. The second one, at Notre Dame unfortunately worked out even better, 51 to 17. So Keogan used this defense against Marquette at Milwaukee.

After puzzling a while, Marquette began to fast-break on the Irish. Being as fast as Notre Dame and with the added advantage of knowing where they were going—while the Irish defenders had to guess—Hilltop stars got loose time and again for set-up shots.

It is true that Marquette's winning goal came after Paul Sokody had committed a double dribble, but the officiating was eminently fair. More fouls were called on Notre Dame than on Marquette, and strictly speaking the game was lost on free throws, but since the Irish were frequently a half step or a full step behind the Hilltoppers in the race for the basket, Notre Dame had to do a lot of over-the-shoulder guarding, drawing fouls.

The same men, Johnny Getchell and Ike Craig, worked the game at Notre Dame which the Irish, using their customary defense, won by a 39 to 28 count. So don't give the boys too much rap for that one at Milwaukee. I give them all the credit in the world for not trying to make my prediction come true.

And now, with that out of the old system, we can get on to pleasanter things. St. Louis U. provided only a mild workout as the Irish rolled up a 50 to 25 victory. The Pitt return game was a breeze, 51 to 17, as we've said. The same goes for the return Butler game at Indianapolis, in which Wukovits led the scoring from his guard post with 14 points. The score was 45 to 22.

Michigan State Victory

Michigan State was welcomed back to the schedule after a four-year absence with a 48 to 32 defeat. Then the boys went to New York to show off before the New York sports writers. With the N.Y.U. Violets playing their best game of the year, the Irish made it look tough by speeding off to a 10-1 deficit. Moir, Nowak, and Wukovits got most of the points as soon as the plot to "feed" Sadowski, for the benefit of the Westfield, Massachusetts, visitors, was abandoned, and the Irish won, 50 to 38. The next night, the Red Raiders of Colgate discovered, 49 to 38, that Red is no more pleasing than Violet to the Wearers of the Green—we mean you, Nowak, Moir, Wukovits, Brown, and Sadowski.

Came the return game with Marquette, which was taken care of neatly and with dispatch by Moir and Nowak with 25 points between them, and Wukovits and Sadowski with another seven. Wukovits was relieved at the half carrying extra weight of three fouls. Jordan filled in very nicely, helping to run a 16 to 15 lead into a comfortable margin. That would have been nice to know at Milwaukee. The band played "Auld Lang Syne" after the game while Coach Keogan shook hands with his nine seniors, and the home season was over, Notre Dame having won 18 straight at home over a two-year period. It was a year ago last December when Northwestern last turned the trick, 39 to 18.

Graduation losses, however, have made it easier to get home games next year, and they have also made it easier for visiting team to do something about all these local victories—so don't expect too much. I'm now turning the team back to the coach for spring practice, but I'll take 'em over again next winter.

Before going, we'd just like to mention that the Detroit team Notre Dame defeated, 45 to 31, was the best in Titan history having won 16 out of 19 going into the final at Detroit.

TRACK

Balance and power characterize one of the greatest indoor dual meet track teams ever thrown together at Notre Dame. Comparatively light graduation losses left Coach John Nicholson with a good nucleus for 1938, and several sophomores have come through to plug the gaps.

"Nick", whose ability and record have been recognized by the Drake relay committee which recently named him referee of the 1938 meet, has seen his team win three dual meets and tie with Drake at Des Moines.

An idea of the aforementioned balance and power is shown in the fact that in only four meets at least one man in each event on the program has already won his monogram. Ten men have won letters. At this writing, it appears that no more than eight more will get them during the rest of the indoor season and the approaching outdoor season. Thus, it can be seen that Irish strength is concentrated in a small group of men whom Nicholson has developed to their maximum efficiency.

In four meets this year, the Irish have set one Notre Dame gymnasium record, one Drake fieldhouse mark, two Notre Dame all-time indoor records (tying another), and they have set or tied 12 meet records.

The record follows:

Notre Dame, 73; Marquette, 31.
Notre Dame, 80; Illinois, 24.
Notre Dame, 55½; Indiana, 29½.
Notre Dame, 52; Drake, 52.

JOHN FRANCIS

Notre Dame has won 31 first places, opponents have taken only 13 firsts, and two ties for first have occurred.

Included on the 1938 team are five men who have set or tied seven all-time Notre Dame records.

Against Marquette, the Irish took nine firsts, tied for another, and gave up only two to the Hilltoppers. Bob Shurilla, Marquette sophomore, got both firsts in the hurdles. Dan Gibbs was high man with 13 points. He set a meet record of 13 feet in the pole vault, and an automatic meet mark of 22 feet 7½ inches in the broad jump, which had not been run before. Greg Rice lowered the mile mark to 4:24.3, while Steve Szumachowski set a two-mile record of 9:39.7 for the meet. Biggest surprise was the performance of Ted Leonas, Chicago sophomore, against Eddie Burke, world record holder for the indoor high jump. Leonas tied Burke in the former's first intercollegiate meet, going 6 feet 3 inches, and taking fewer tries than Burke to reach that height.

The fact that Illinois and Notre Dame have met every year since 1916 indoors—and that the meet records have been set by the cream of both teams over a period of 22 years—meant nothing to Bill Clifford, senior sprinter, and to Gibbs. The former tied the meet and Notre Dame indoor mark of 6.2 seconds in the 60-yard dash, and the latter turned in the best performance of his career to win the pole vault at 13 feet 8¾ inches. It was an all-time Notre Dame indoor, gymnasium, and meet record. It is 2¾ inches better than the former meet record and the Notre Dame all-time outdoor mark. We again voice Nick's prediction that Gibbs will clear 14 feet this year, barring injuries. The Irish took first in 9 of the 12 events, slamming five of them to give Illinois the worst defeat it has ever suffered at the hands of a Notre Dame team. John Francis, senior middle distance star, incidentally, was only one-tenth of a second over his own meet record of 1:57.5 in winning the 880-yard run. Gibbs turned in the best broad jump of his career, after setting the pole vault mark and taking third in the low hurdles. He hurtled 23 feet 4 inches, only 3¾ inches off the meet record and the same distance from George Meagher's all-time Notre Dame indoor record.

Considerable apprehension filled the Notre Dame camp before the Indiana meet. The Hoosiers had opened their season with a 5-point victory over Ohio State. The Irish appeared strong, but doping the meet, all Nick could see was either a 10 point victory or a close defeat. He said that if the Irish were hot, they'd run off and leave Indiana in the lurch, but this was not likely. Fair pre-meet estimates gave it to the Hoosiers by a margin of from four to 10 points. It looked like Notre Dame's field event men versus Indiana's great runners.

The field event men came through, taking 26½ out of a possible 27 points. Bill Faymonville led the shot putters to a slam, and Gibbs and Harold Langton shared first in the pole vault at the meet record height of 13 feet. John Dean, Milwaukee sophomore who took third in the vault, surprised even Nicholson by tying with Leonas for first in the high jump, while O'Reilly tied with Tuthill of Indiana for third. But strength in the field events, as we've said, was expected.

Pete Sheehan, senior 440-yard dash star, put the Irish within striking distance by running the fastest quarter mile of his career, indoor or outdoor, in 50.9 seconds to beat Sam Miller of Indiana. Needing only six points to clinch the meet coming into the 70-yard high hurdles, which were rated a toss-up, Captain Bill Mahoney tied the meet record of 9 seconds flat to win, and Bob Lawrence, sophomore Indian from Oklahoma, was right on his heels for second, to give Notre Dame the winning eight points.

The day's biggest upset, however, was yet to come. Johnny Francis had not come within three seconds of Mel Trutt's best time in the 880-yard run. On the first lap, Francis realized he had broken a shoe lace. "What shall I do?" he demanded of Trainer Eugene (Scrapiron) Young. "Run like the devil," shouted Young. And Francis followed instructions. He kept the lead, fighting off a courageous challenge by Trutt on the gun lap, then sprinting ahead to win in 1 minute 55.4 seconds. This not only broke the meet record by some seven seconds, but it shaved a full second off the former all-time Notre Dame indoor record of 1:56.4 set by Alex Wilson in 1931.

Tommy Deckard led Indiana to a slam in the mile run, setting a field house and meet record of 4:12.8. He also won the two-mile in 9:27.8, another meet mark. Miller got his revenge on Sheehan in the relay, overtaking him on the anchor leg to win by a foot in 3:27.4, another meet record. As a matter of fact, both teams were disqualified in the relay for passing the baton outside the specified zones, but since Indiana won the event and Notre Dame was disqualified first, newspapermen decided to allow the five points for the Hoosiers to stand, when they were unable to find the meet referee to get official confirmation of the disqualification.

That Drake Meet

We almost forgot to mention the fact that Bill Clifford led the Irish to victory in the 60-yard dash in the fast time of 6.3 seconds, his second of four straight victories in the dash.

Came the Drake meet. A first impression might be that the Irish couldn't stand the success of their victory over Indiana. Admittedly there was a letdown after that meet, despite Nick's warnings of Drake's balance, power, and home track advantage. Three Irish pole vaulters, all having done at least 13 feet in competition this year, saw Chick Eivins of Drake tie with Gibbs at 12 feet 6 inches, for example.

Dillon of Drake nosed out Ed Beinor of Notre Dame for second in the shot put behind Paymonville's winning toss of 46 feet 11½ inches. White of Drake tied the field house record of 6.5 seconds for the 50-yard highs, Mahoney taking second.

When it came to the lows, a flip of the coin gave Drake the right to run three men to Notre Dame's two. The hurdles were placed 10 yards apart instead of the 15 to which Notre Dame's timber toppers are accustomed. Drake took all three places. Had Notre Dame been able, on the toss, to run a third man, he would have automatically taken a place, which was all the Irish needed for a victory instead of a tie.

Clifford won the 50-yard dash in 5.5 seconds, an automatic meet record, since the event hadn't been run at this distance before.

Rice came through with a new Drake field house record of 4:23.2 and took the two-mile in 9:40.3. Francis was second in the mile, to give the Irish much-needed points.

But the half-mile was run 25 minutes later, instead of the usual hour, and Francis was unable to place. The time for the winner, Patterson of Drake, was 2:01.1. Allowing for the slowness of Drake's small track, this time is still much slower than Francis' par.

Drawing for Lanes

In the quarter, instead of drawing for lanes by teams—so that the team winning the toss would get the first, third, and fifth lanes, with the others going to the other teams—the drawing was made by individuals, which is the Missouri Valley method. Drake got the first two lanes with Sheehan in the third lane and the first turn only 25 yards distant. Sheehan got a good start, but when a Drake man tried to cut in front of him, judges ruled that Sheehan committed a foul. He took first and was disqualified, with Joe Halpin, sophomore who was second, taking first on the disqualification. Notre Dame got three points here instead of eight—just one more place where the meet could have been won instead of tied.

Underwood of Drake won the broad jump at 22 feet 9½ inches, Gibbs taking second only an inch behind him. Leonas won the high jump for the Irish at 6 feet 2 inches, a new meet record, with Eivins of Drake in second, and Dean third.

The concluding event, the mile relay, found Halpin out in front on the first lap, and the Irish held this advantage until the anchor leg when Sheehan lost a two-yard advantage to Kohl of Drake. The time, 3:31.8 knocked half a second off the Bulldog field house record.

FENCING

Prof. Pedro de Landero's fencing team will close another winning season March 19 against Washington U. at Notre Dame. The Irish broke even in their first four starts, but they have been undefeated in four attempts since then for a record of six out of eight. They should make it seven out of nine for the season against the Bears.

The record follows:

Notre Dame, 12; Purdue, 15
Notre Dame, 12½; Detroit, 4½
Notre Dame, 9½; Chicago, 17½
Notre Dame, 9; Ohio State, 8
Notre Dame, 12; Lawrence Tech, 9

ciation, recognizes the lack of substantial financial resources among an alumni body largely young, largely affected adversely by recent economic conditions. But, through the principle of Living Endowment outlined in the February ALUMNUS, even our present alumni can supplement in a substantial and continuing way the lack of permanent endowment funds.

Second is the passing on, through alumni, of information and stimulus to friends of Notre Dame who are not alumni, but who are in a position to contribute, annually, or by capital gift, or by bequest, to the high causes embodied in that familiar phrase—the Greater Notre Dame.

Here at Notre Dame is Catholic education, the bulwark of the Church which is the bulwark of Christian civilization.

Here is the glory of intellectual seeking and attaining.

Here is youth.

Here is love and honor and devotion to God and His Mother.

Here is the Spirit of Notre Dame.

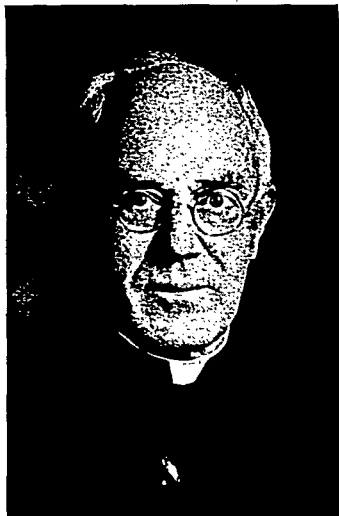

Surely here is challenge, and surely here is opportunity.

PLACEMENT

A nationally-known insurance company is seeking the services of several successful college graduates, now employed at $200 a month or more, who are desirous of changing work. Applicants must be prepared to take aptitude tests. Further information from the Alumni Office upon request.

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNI

REV. JOHN F. FARLEY, C.S.C., '01, is, as this is written, in St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, Minnesota, fighting hard to recover from an operation which took from him one of his legs in the Mayo Clinic. With him are the prayers and hopes and admiration of Notre Dame men everywhere.

One of Notre Dame's most able and best known athletes at the turn of the century, Father Farley played football and baseball for four years, winning eight monograms, and was captain of the football team in his final year. (There was no "freshman rule" then.) He won an additional monogram in track.

Ordained to the priesthood in 1907, Father Farley has since then spent much of his time on the campus as a rector, in recent years as rector of Sorin Hall. His inspirational cheerfulness, unceasing energies and warm friendliness have made him one of the University's most popular figures, among student body and faculty alike. An admiring campus is waiting to welcome him "home."

THOMAS F. BYRNE, '28, Cleveland, Ohio, is in the forefront among those many enthusiastic alumni who have made the annual weekend Retreats of the Notre Dame club of Cleveland the model for other Notre Dame Retreats throughout the country.

Tom was the leader of the Cleveland club committee which promoted the first club Retreat in 1933 at the St. Stanislaus House of Retreats in Parma, a suburb. There were 15 in attendance that first year. The number increased to 24 in 1934, to 33 in 1935, to 48 in 1936, and in 1937 the capacity of St. Stanislaus' was taxed with an attendance of 52—with 24 unable to get accommodations.

This year, under Tom's direction (and using his carefully planned promotional technique, which has proved increasingly effective) the club sponsored two Retreats, one starting on Friday, March 4, the other starting on Friday, March 11. The success of the past was repeated.

Tom is active in many directions in local Catholic activity: he is a member of the St. Vincent de Paul Society; a division leader and a member of the special gifts committee in the annual Catholic Charities campaign; a member of the board of trustees of Merrick House and a member of the National Catholic Alumni Federation.

He is otherwise active, civically, in the Community Fund, the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the Cleveland Welfare Federation and the National Conference of Jews and Christians.

This same Mr. Byrne works—hard and with remarkable success—for the Ohio Bell Telephone Company. Starting as a student engineer in 1928, he was promoted steadily, reaching the position of sales manager in 1933. On March 1, 1937, the company assigned him to a special position on market research and public relations, and he's still on this job.

Tom was married in 1935 to Miss Catherine McGivern, St. Mary's, '33, and he is the father of Tom, Jr., who will be ready for Notre Dame, according to present plans, in September, 1955.

JOHN L. HEINEMAN, '88, Connorsville, Indiana, secretary of his class, will, with Rev. James A.

JOHN L. HEINEMAN

Burns, C.S.C., '88, United States provincial of the Congregation of Holy Cross, lead the golden anniversary reunion of the class on June 3, 4 and 5. Father Burns is honorary president of the Alumni Association this year.

Founder and proprietor of the Connorsville Mirror Works, Mr. Heineman has, while attaining success in business, found the time for a devoted interest in Catholic activities in general and in Notre Dame in particular. In addition to being a life member of the Alumni Association, he is the donor of the Connorsville Scholarships the income from which provides each year tuition for one or two deserving and capable Notre Dame students from the city of Connorsville.

Mr. Heineman's two sons are graduates of the University—William, '29, and George, '30—and his two daughters attended St. Mary's at Notre Dame. One of the latter is now Sister Maria Theresa, C.S.C., a St. Mary's professor.

An ardent liking for literature and history turned Mr. Heineman to historical research in his home neighborhood, with the result that he is the author of The Early Days of St. Gabriel's and other works on the pioneer days of the White River Valley in Indiana.

* The governor is the first name in each case.

President McCurrie planned a St. Patrick's Day luncheon in the Morrison Hotel on March 17 as the first headline event of his administration. This will be followed on April 3 by a Club Communion in St. Mary's Church at 9:00 o'clock, after which breakfast will be served. A large observance of Universal Notre Dame Night on April 25 is in preparation.

The new president plans to have his committee meet the first Wednesday of each month in the Knickerbocker Hotel to discuss and arrange future club events.

CINCINNATI

John H. Heilker, '30, 3444 Stettinns Ave., President; Clarence Brink, '31, 1306 Cryer Ave., Hyde Park, Secretary.

CLEVELAND

George Kerver, '20, 1381 Granger, Lakewood, Ohio, President; Cornelius J. Ruffing, '32, 308 Euclid Bldg., Secretary.

Aye, and this time there IS news! Just when these winter months seemed to be congealed in the chill gray gravy of uneventfulness, along came N.D. night at the Arena. Proving himself no obscure "Throttle-bottom," Vice-President Jack Collins, sensed the tempo of skate conscious Cleveland, secured the Arena, town's new and lavish rink, and staged one of the best parties ever under N.D. auspices here. Conceived to attract by novelty, planned to revive interest in club activities by its informality and popular price, produced to afford maximum entertainment of a new and grand sort, the Skate Dance fulfilled all hopes. It was a merry evening! With nearly 400 skaters circling the rink to the throaty beats of the giant Hammond, there was bound to be fun. For the lesser brave, there was dancing in the Pilsner Cellar adjoining.

Feature of the evening was the broom-ball game between the East and the West side alumni. Riotous! On the ice for East were Larry Kral, Ed Caldwell, Jim Dubbs, Jr., George Kozack, Chuck Rohr, John Begley and Don Miller; there for West were Joey Gavin, Bill Van Rooy, Frank Belting, Jim Uprichard, Doc O'Brien, Dutch O'Day, Mike Crawford, Johnny Butler, and Chuck Mooney. It may well be that Jack McGrath from his vantage point on the ice as referee could estimate what small percentage of players were on their feet at any one time.

Startling news to insurance actuaries is the happy fact that injuries were confined to minor cuts and a veritable duck egg aback Don Miller's head. Alas for the weary eastside winners, sole prize of the evening, a basket of Van Rooy Products, went to Marty Rini and the lucky number. Even from this cursory review you must suspect why that Skate Dance at the arena has been entered on the minutes as thoroughly successful.

FIRST NOTICE

In able hands rests the program for Universal Notre Dame Night. Chuck Mooney promises a round evening, April 25, of which you'll all have due course notice, but DO look now for that appointment calendar and reserve the date.

LOSS

Otie Winchester has left town and just because Toledo, or more particularly the Blade Printing Company there, offered friend Otie management of sales. Deserter Winchester leaves a definite gap in the club roles: who is to keep the secretary informed of engagements, marriages, births and the latest prices at the State Stores?

IN MEMORIAM

The annual Rockne Mass and Breakfast is in charge of Joe Butler for arrangements; decided upon are St. Paul's Shrine, for the Mass; University Club, the breakfast; March 27, the date; not decided upon are speakers.

Capacity attendance at the two Retreat sessions were assured two weeks in advance according to co-chairmen Jerry Reidy and Tom Byrne. At that time, 62 men had already made reservations for March 4, while 50 more had selected March 11. Of that more later!

Two committees are in active charge of the Retreats this year. One, the executive committee, is composed of F. Joseph Butler, Jr., Thomas F. Byrne, Frank X. Cull, John J. Dore, George Hahn, Clayton G. Leroux, Karl Martersteck, John A. Matousek, Dr. H. C. McCarty, Charles A. Mooney, Jerome G. Reidy and Albert A. Sommer.

The other group is the general committee composed of John H. Begley, Roger Brennan, Cleve Carey, Arthur J. Gallagher, Stanley J. Lechowicz, Pierce J. O'Connor, Edward D. Raddatz, John J. Reidy, William R. Ryan, Cletus P. Schneider, H. Louis Stettler, Jr., Frank J. Svoboda, Jr., Matthew Trudelle, John Venables, John L. Weisend, Otie Winchester and Pat Canny.

EASTER MONDAY

May the mere mention of another party not offend the hallowed Lenten season, but on the broad back of Bill Van Rooy rests the burden of engineering to success the annual Easter dance. It would be tripe to mention the chromium qualities of the chairman. Bill's already at work: place, date and committee are already named. Assisting promotion of the event, at GUILD HALL, APRIL 18, are: Pat Canny, Ed Carey, Frank Belting, Jon Beljon, Doc Gannon, Larry Kral, Mike Crawford, Clayt Leroux, Karl Martersteck, Doc Heiman, Jerry and John Reidy, Lou

Stettler and Dick Mahoney! Confident of maximum attendance we've already made reservation for every name on the membership list, so those two or three fellows who can't possibly make the party, better cancel reservations early. Note to the undecided: It's Guild Hall—not the Carter!

ODDS IN ENDING

Housed at Hotel Allerton is John T. Rourke, New York City, '29. Jim Callahan is finding Buffalo territory open for sales. Living the life of Canny while Canny was away, Mrs. Pat Canny refused to miss an N.D. event but likewise refused to don skates at the Arena party last. The Feds have Treasurer Dutch O'Day on the pan for failure to file the club's income tax return, according to GK. Starting Ash Wednesday both Chuck Rohr and Al Grisanti mounted buttermilk vats atop the bars lest Lenten abstainers take their prickly, heated alimentaries to Marshall's for a coke! Aye, it's sack cloth and ashes 'til the next deadline!

Nick Ruffing.

CONNECTICUT VALLEY

William A. Hurley, '28, 70 Montrose St., Springfield, Mass., President; Francis A. Ahearn, '27, c-o Hartford Times, Hartford, Conn., Secretary.

DALLAS

James P. Swift, '24, 1202 Southwestern Life Bldg., Dallas, President; Francis A. McCullough, '30, 917 First National Bank Bldg., Dallas, Secretary.

DAYTON

Eugene Mayl, '24, 400 Irving Ave., President; William Cronin, '29, 418 Crafton Ave., Secretary.

Plans are in the making for the club's observance of Universal Notre Dame Night. One of the features will be a movie showing of a 1937 game.

DENVER

Robert A. Dick, '29, 930 Marion Street, Telephone Bldg., President; Harry Lawrence, '29, 1932 Broadway, Secretary.

DETROIT

Lincoln Wurzer, '35, 758 Atkinson, President; Arthur D. Cronin, '37, 19160 Woodston Road, Secretary.

The February meeting of the Notre Dame Club of Detroit was held on Monday night, February 7, at the University Club.

After tables were set up to take care of the surplus crowd, dinner was served. Between the main course and the dessert John Annas disposed of the regular prize, with the proceeds from which we take care of our monthly mailing expenses. Following dessert President Wurzer called the meeting to order and asked Chairman Harry Kelly to announce the names of the Retreat committee. Harry urged that these men contact those members not attending the meeting and get them out for the Retreat at Manresa. Harry expressed the desire that the Retreat be made an annual function. The club approved of Harry's suggestion and decided upon the first week-end in Lent as the appropriate time to hold the Retreat.

There being no further business the president called upon the guest speakers, the first of whom was Herb Mendelson, owner of the noted speed boat "Notre Dame." In his talk Herb expressed his thanks to the Notre Dame club for the fine tribute to him on Herb Mendelson Night at the Book-Cadillac Hotel at which Father Hugh O'Donnell was the principal speaker. He also expressed the desire of being included in future club functions and that his name be placed on the mailing list.

The next speaker was the former head football coach, Hunk Anderson. He gave a talk on his football experiences and announced that he is making his home in Detroit permanently and will divide his time between his office in the Fisher Building, Detroit, and his coaching assignments at the University of Cincinnati. Captain Joe Zwiers was introduced next but we could not get Joe to give a speech. Later he did plenty of talking in explaining one of the last year's games that was shown on the screen.

Art Cronin.

On December 15 last, the American Legion Post, Michigan No. 5 of Ironwood, sponsored a banquet to which all high school and college athletes of the range, coaches and guests were invited. The principal speaker was Harry Stuhldreher, athletic director of Wisconsin University, who was introduced to the gathering by Victor Lemmer. The following day Harry met with Wisconsin alumni, N.D. men and range coaches at an informal dinner. During his stay, he gave talks before high school assemblies at Hurley, Bessemer and Wakefield.

John Wallack, monogram man, is assistant athletic coach at the Ironwood high school and is enjoying a successful season.

Bob O'Callaghan, last year's president, has recently been promoted to district manager of the Sinclair Refining company.

Joseph Gill and Mrs. Gill are residing at Hagerman Lake Camp at Iron River, Michigan, where Joe is director of the state Emergency Relief Transient Camp.

Mark Mooney, ex. '26, stopped in Ironwood last fall while on a business tour through this district. He represents an air conditioning company, and calls Indianapolis, Indiana, his home.

Katherine Pendleton, St. Mary's, '25, is dean of women at the Ironwood Junior College. She is one of our club's most active members, attending all meetings.

Victor Lemmer, as you probably know, is county auditor of Gogebic County and also has a very successful insurance business in Ironwood.

Frank Vukovich is the personal representative of Walter P. Chrysler and the Studebaker Corporation as is evidenced by the new Plymouth and Studebaker cars he is placing on the highways.

Indianapolis was a highly favored community this past month. The basketball team played Butler and, although it was not too interesting a game, the fellows looked very good in all departments—shooting, passing, defense and floor work. Coach Keogan and the squad deserve loads of credit. There were a lot of Indianapolis rooters for Carson and O'Connor, both native sons. The squad was accompanied by the noted Petriz and Armstrong.

Another highlight of the month was the two-night stand of Joe Boland and the football pictures from last fall. A capacity crowd at the K. of C.'s and Cathedral High School thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment.

Joe Argus is reported to be rather ill with diphtheria. We hope Joe has a speedy recovery. The club is unanimous in wishing Father John Farley, C.S.C., a speedy ride to good health and back to the campus. He is always remembered in our prayers.

Plans for Notre Dame Night are getting under way. The annual meeting of the club to elect officers for the coming year and to join with other alumni in celebrating the Universal Night is always the most crowded of the meetings we have. We are planning a radio broadcast to tie in with the chain of broadcasts and arrangements are being made to hear the key speakers of the evening that will be featured on the radio.

The Notre Dame club of Joliet elected the following officers for the year 1938-1939 at its last monthly meeting held Tuesday, March 1: Thomas P. Feely, '32, president; Joseph V. Kirincich, '33, vice-president; Lawrence J. Dunda, ex. '33, secretary; Joseph L. Adler, '24, treasurer.

President Feely and his aides are planning an active and varied program of events guaranteed to maintain the high standards set by the outgoing officers, Dr. Edward J. Mayer, '27, president, Clarence W. Wilhelm, '18, vice-president; Lawrence J. Dunda, secretary, and Joseph L. Adler, treasurer, to whom a rousing vote of thanks is due for their fine efforts during the past year.

Much credit goes to the various house committees and party committees and everyone in the club who helped in any way to put on our different activities. Thanks are tendered to Joe Adler, Bob Baskerville, Robert E. Duffy, Clarence Wilhelmi, Tom Feely, Ed King, Joe Silk, Charley Lennon, Dr. Mayer, Harold Carey, Ward Loeffler, Jim Hyne, Donald F. Wise, Bill Bossingham, Joe Kirinich, Robert T. Fortune, and Francis A. Dunn. We want to thank every member for his cooperation and hope that we will continue to pull together and even improve in the future.

Plans are now being formulated for the observance of Universal Notre Dame Night on Monday, April 25. A stag smoker will bring the members together for a good, old-fashioned "U.N.D. pow-wow." The fellows cluster around the radio to listen to the usual nation-wide broadcast on that night and to hear one of their own illustrious brethren over the local radio station tell just what makes Universal Notre Dame Night one of the banner events of the year. Needless to say, eats, refreshments and smokes are well-nigh indispensable features of the evening. Other features, now pending, may be added between now and April 25.

William J. Bossingham, '25, has local Democratic support in the primaries for state representative in the Illinois general assembly from the 11th congressional district. Bill conducts a successful law practice in Joliet and Chicago and is well-known to both the people of this vicinity and to the Notre Dame alumni.

A fine, large size, autographed picture of the "Four Horsemen" now proudly embellishes the walls of our clubrooms along with the many other pictures of Notre Dame "gridiron greats," including "Rock," the present coaching staff, and several campus scenes. The picture of the "Four Horsemen" is the gift of Francis A. Dunn, '37.

A very enjoyable party was held January 22, with about 15 couples present. Music, dancing, refreshments and entertainment made the evening go by in a hurry and a real chicken supper was served later. Clarence Wilhelmi and Charles F. Lennon, '30, put on this affair.

A "repeat performance" of this party was held on Washington's birthday, February 22, with 47 persons in attendance. Everyone testified that "a good time was had by all" at this successful gathering. Robert J. Baskerville, '31, and Larry Dunda were the promoters on this occasion.

It is a little late and almost out of season to mention the annual and always successful Christmas party held for the children of club members, but the one held on the Wednesday afternoon before Christmas was a repetition of those past merry occasions. There were about 17 children present with their mothers and altogether about 40 people present. Dr. Mayer, Ed King, Jim Hyne, Clarence Wilhelmi, Joe Silk and Larry Dunda were the "big kids" who were behind this party, which "had everything" that such a party should have.

Alfred M. Landon was to be the chief speaker at the memorial service for Knute Rockne at Bazaar, Kansas, on March 4, according to an announcement from Dr. D. M. Nigro, president of the Knute Rockne Club, sponsor of the event. A cavalcade was to form in Kansas City at 7:00 A.M. on that day, following Mass in the Visitation Church and breakfast in the Park Lane Hotel. Upon reaching Strong City, Kansas, the members of the cavalcade were to attend Mass at 11:00 o'clock celebrated by Rev. E. J. Albers, local pastor. Luncheon was to be served in Ryan's Restaurant, Strong City, afterwards.

Former Governor Landon was to speak at the Rockne monument near Bazaar, the scene of Rock's death, in the early afternoon and place a wreath on the monument.

The purpose of the dinner meeting at the Mona Lisa Restaurant on Monday, February 21, was threefold: 1) to remind the fellows of our annual Retreat at Sierra Madre, Passionist Monastery overlooking the Santa Anita race track, on March 18, 19 and 20; 2) to appoint a committee for Universal Notre Dame Night on April 25; 3) to arrange for the annual Rockne Memorial Mass on Sunday, April 3.

Two Passionist Fathers from Sierra Madre delivered gentle reminders about the necessity of annual Retreats, and they were promptly followed by Tom McKeon, '90, and Frank J. Barry, '03, who signified their intention of joining the movement this year as usual. Tom was with the Notre Dame group last year and the previous year, and was always first into the chapel and the dining hall.

The recent meeting produced a number of new faces with a good sprinkling of the old faithful like Gene Kennedy, '22, Eddie Cunningham, '28, Jim McCabe, '22, Leo Ward, '20, Oscar Sidenfaden, '20, Doctor Frank Breslin, '13, Charlie Kennedy, '29, who accepts full responsibility for the success of the Retreat; Robert Dockweiler, '29, Ed Ashe, '25.

There were more than 50 at the dinner, despite the fact that notices were mailed just a few days in advance. This, however, cannot be blamed on the secretary, who means well but was not notified of the intention to hold a meeting until less than a week prior to the 21st.

Jimmie Navarre, '29, still with Sears, Roebuck & Navarre, was much in evidence at the meeting, and he brought with him Bob Heintz, '26, and the brothers Tom Clarke and William Clarke, '27. The Clarks are from Toledo, and Bill, who came here last July, is now a California insurance merchant.

Jimmie O'Toole, '29, now with MGM, was on hand with Charlie Murphy, '28. Another of the alumni present, also connected with the celluloid citizenry, was Neil Rau, '31. Neil is doing publicity work with the Warner Brothers, uncovering new stars with a mere flick of the pencil. Leo Banes, '33, of El Paso, Texas, attended his first meeting, and, if he succeeds in connecting with anything on the coast, he promises to make all of them—including the Retreat.

Some one left the door open and in stepped "Judge" John Carberry, '31, who has been around these parts for some time, and is occasionally seen running in and out of studios. I did not get a chance to find out just what the "Judge" is doing, but his sartorial splendor betrayed the fact that it is something lucrative.

Others who signed the guest book were: James Marr, '35, connected with a local bank; Charles McIver, '18, manager of the Hollywood branch of the Crane Company; P. J. Swanson, '23, a Beverly Hilltopper who has attended all recent meetings; F. B. Hughes, '03, Oldsmobile dealer from downtown LOUISIANA, who promises to renew interest after a fairly long absence; Edward J. Peil, '02, who made the same pledge as Frank Hughes, and J. W. Mullin, Jr., '18. Harry Denny, '22, was also there, and with Larry Friel, '22, and others of the early twenties, was swapping yarns with Frank "Kid Galahad" Wallace, '23, after the formal session had adjourned. Roland Gaupel, '15, was at his first meeting, and Albert Krug, '02, had to call this his first in a long time. Doc Molony, '23, has retained his good record. From the late twenties and early thirties were: Charlie Cass, '30, Joe Hiss, '29, Tommy Mistry, '33, (where has he been all the time?);

Reggie Bittner, '29, who joins me in comprising the Huntington Park brigade; Frank Cushing, '29, now residing in Long Beach, and Bob Snell, '27. New faces also included D. J. McHugh, '36, and John McArdle, '35.

I did not mention Carroll O'Meara, '29, because he is to receive publicity in this paragraph as first assistant to Frank Barry in forming plans for our celebration of Universal Notre Dame Night. Carroll, formerly with KHJ, is now connected with Young & Rubicam where he directs a nightly serial which is released from San Diego to Seattle over the Mutual-Don Lee network.

Frank Wallace was speaker of the evening, and he did a good job of it by reviving many traditional yarns about Notre Dame, its Rockne, and its football. Frank discussed modern collegiate football rather thoroughly, giving his opinion of N.D.'s status in the game as organized today. He was neither optimistic nor pessimistic about the outlook for next fall, but was high in his praise for Elmer Layden.

John Paul Cullen, '22, now connected with the Veterans Administration at Los Angeles, could not be present because of his failure to receive a notice on time; however, he expressed his willingness to attend all future gatherings, and his regrets at being unable to be at the latest one.

I traveled all the way through this letter without saying that the meeting was in charge of Doug Daley, '30, president of the local club. Sorry to omit Doug, who is an old hand at the toastmaster trade, but I guess everyone knows that one of our meetings is not complete without him. Doug is still with his father in the printing business.

One of the Sierra Madre priests at the dinner was Father Dominic (Callaghan), and, though I believe he is from Notre Dame, I did not find out when he was there. The other priest was Father Angelo, annual director of the Retreat Movement.

Bill Hawkes, '33, of New Jersey, is located with the Aircraft Battle Force of the United States Fleet, with headquarters at San Diego. Bill has asked to be notified of future meetings; perhaps he can borrow the Admiral's plane and fly to the next one.

When mentioning the name of Reggie Bittner I neglected to state that he lost his mother about three weeks ago, and as a representative of the club I wish to extend our sympathy to Reggie on her death.

Tom Ashe.

As usual, we held our monthly meeting on the first Monday of the month, and the crowd in attendance was larger than we ever had at a February meeting.

Jack Winberry told us that he had started to work on the plans for Universal Notre Dame Night to be celebrated on April 25. He has asked the following to serve on his committee: Bob Phelan, Bill Carter, Arch Duncan, Frank McDermott, Ed Dugan, Bert Daniels, Russ Reilly, Bob Huetz, Dick Purcell and Jack Blanda.

Ray Geiger distributed ticket application blanks for the Notre Dame-N.Y.U. basketball game. Ray Broderick came up from Philly to help Tom Flynn and me enjoy this game.

Pete Quinn read a letter from Jim Armstrong concerning Army game tickets, and this letter proved to be a bombshell, for immediately a very lively discussion on the method of ticket distribution started. Dr. Bucky O'Connor has been gathering data on this situation, but he was unable to attend the meeting. However, many good ideas evolved from our discussion, and I believe they will be forwarded to Jim Armstrong soon.

Bill Carter announced his final plans for the pre-Lenten Dance held at the Canary Cottage, and Bill's hard work made it one of the most successful dances we have had. It was particularly gratifying to see so many fellows who haven't been to a dance or meeting in years in attendance. We had a professional "Big Apple" instructor lead us in that dance, and we'll never forget his most adept pupils—Frank Milbauer and Tom Farrell. Bill Fay, of Memphis, dropped in at the dance and discovered that he and Harvey Rockwell had been living next to each other at the Essex House for two weeks without being aware of each other's presence. A few of the strange faces at the dance were Bill Walsh, Bus Griffin, Johnny Fisher, Frank McCann, and the Wingerter brothers.

We are trying to find out why so few of the fellows from the classes of '36 and '37 come to the meetings and social affairs. It is to their own advantage to be present when we assemble, as, for example, one member of last year's class received a job through coming to one meeting.

Here are a few of those I can remember seeing at the dance or meeting: Don Sullivan, Bill Moritz, Tom Treacy, Bob McDonough, Johnny Hopkins, Frank McDermott, Bill Smullen, Jack O'Keefe, Murray Booth, Jack Neubauer, Sal Bontempo, Ed Hargan, Andy O'Keefe, Jack White, Jack Driscoll, Hank Prendergast, Joe Minarick.

FATHER WILLIAM A. BOLGER, C.S.C., '07, and FATHER JOSEPH E. HART, C.S.C., '24, will give a two-weeks' mission in St. Malachy's Church, 49th Street, between 7th and 8th Avenues, New York City, starting on March 27.

On January 25, John Hinkel, Francis Shapiro, Ed Neaher, James McDevitt, William Walsh, members of our Study Club team, gave a demonstration at the Centre Club. Monsignor Lavelle and Monsignor McIntyre presided. Priests, organizers, directors and leaders of religious study clubs throughout the New York City diocese were invited. Over 500 people attended, and the Notre Dame boys showed the guests just how to conduct a religious discussion group. The portrayal received high commendation from the clergymen present.

The Discussion Club movement has taken hold throughout the city and Notre Dame men are coaching groups in parishes every week.

On February 23, Bob Hamilton and Jack Lavelle addressed the club on the new rules in basketball. Their talks were very instructive and had the reaction of a pep meeting for the Notre Dame-New York University basketball game held in Madison Square Garden February 25.

The night of February 25, New York City was proud to be host to the Notre Dame basketball team. What a night! What a team! Over 17,000 people witnessed the game in Madison Square Garden. The speed, ease and grace with which Notre Dame overcame N.Y.U. was a spectacle to behold! Paul Nowak is easily the smoothest-working center to visit the Garden this season. Johnny Moir lived up to all the press notices received in advance.

The New York Club arranged for an announcement over the loud speaker system of an informal gathering of all Notre Dame men and their friends at the Centre Club after the game. The response was splendid! It was a pleasure to see Father Vincent Mooney, C.S.C., Elmer Layden, James Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. William Cotter, Mr. and Mrs. John Balfe, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tighe, Bill Gillespie, Al Ficks, Lou Wagner, Bill Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lantry, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Callagy, Mr. and Mrs. George Winkler, the Walsh Hall team of Redgate and Murphy, Lou Thornton, Bill Corr, Dan Halpin, Jerry Parker, Al Howard, Joe Friel, John Hinkel, Victor Fischer, Ed Hoyt, Thomas Hughes, James O'Donald, Joseph Loftus, Dick Donoghue, John Moran, Joseph Schmidt and a host of others.

The Centre Club had a newly-purchased beautiful blue and gold Notre Dame banner flying outside the building in honor of the team. Let us mention here that this Notre Dame flag will adorn the front of the Centre Club building one day each week throughout the year.

The next business meeting will be held March 21, at the Centre Club. The nominating committee will be elected to select next year's group of officers.

Arrangements are now being made for the Rockne Memorial Breakfast to be held March 27, 1938. This memorable occasion will be followed on April 25, 1938, by Universal Notre Dame Night.

Reserve the dates and watch for announcements concerning these events, as no Son of Notre Dame would knowingly not be present.

A dinner meeting was held by the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Peoria, February 12, at the Endres Hotel. We were indeed fortunate in having as our principal speaker, Mr. R. B. Fitzsimmons, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for this district. In his talk to the club members he related how the aspiring young G-man undergoes a test, more difficult to pass than any ever encountered in his college career. His narration of the solution of several headline kidnapping cases, came, as we understand, from personal participation. Chief of Police, Leo Kamins introduced the speaker of the evening. The success of the evening was aided by the diligent work of its chairman, Leland Kramer, and Bob Rainey, who assisted him. Joseph Langton was appointed chairman of the next meeting.

No definite announcement as yet has been made for Universal Notre Dame Night, although we are expecting a very successful evening under the chairmanship of John E. Cassidy, who is now working on the plans for the occasion.

John Sloan, Jr.

FROM THE EDITORIAL OFFICE:

Clarence E. Manion, '22, professor of law and former president of the Alumni Association, will be the campus speaker in Peoria on Universal Notre Dame Night, according to later word from Pat himself. With the traditional Manion eloquence to build upon, the club would seem to have the success of its meeting assured far in advance. Pat's services for the Night are widely in demand; the club displayed admirable foresight in getting its bid to him first.

Thomas Collins, '28, 166 New Boston Road, Fall River, Mass., President; John McLaughlin, '34, Smeeth Pond Road, Cumberland Hill, R. I., Secretary.

Last month some happy news was received by all the Notre Dame boys in this locality. It was the fact that a fellow alumnus of ours, as well as a classmate of Johnny McKiernan, Vin McAloon, and myself, was appointed head football coach of Providence College, a Dominican institution in the capital city of Rhode Island. Needless to say, we welcome Hughie Devore, '34, into our fair state, and we sincerely wish him abundant success. We do hope that Hughie's work at his new post will not keep him from showing up at our meetings, nor from making an occasional social visit to his friends. Devore did not forget his Alma Mater upon his appointment for he has selected Nick Crotty, '36, of Danbury, Connecticut, to assist him in his coaching duties.

In attending a testimonial banquet in honor of Devore, Father Robert Quinn, O.P., director of athletics at P.C., and Joe McGee, former coach, I met the following at the table reserved for the Notre Dame club:

Rev. Thomas Duffy, C.S.C., '20. Father Duffy drove over from North Easton, Massachusetts, where he is superior of the eastern mission band of the Holy Cross Fathers.

Charlie Grimes, '20. It would have been unusual were he missing at the event, and likewise if John McKiernan, '34, young attorney had not been present.

Adam Walsh, '25. As he was one of the guest speakers of the evening, we felt our stock rise to greater heights after he interested the 400 present with some of his experiences while studying within the "shadow of the golden dome." Adam is coaching at Bowdoin College in Maine and we hope that the proximity will bring him into "Little Rhody" more often.

Leo McAloon, '30. Had a previous engagement, otherwise we know he would have been with us, as would Bob Powers, '28, Tom Collins, '28, Tom Murphy, '36, and other N.D. men in these parts.

Our plans to date for U.N.D. Night are incomplete, but we expect to have an enjoyable evening arranged by the committee.

Jim Bowdren, '36. Three weeks ago, Jim stopped off for a couple of hours. We had lunch together and a pleasant conversation. He is doing mighty swell by himself with a Boston firm. He informed me that his Boston Club is making preparations for a gala Notre Dame time on Universal Night.

While up in the "Bean City" two weeks ago, I had dinner at the Fox and Hounds Club, where I ran into Paul McManus, '34. He is assistant manager of the club.

Just a few quick notes from the Texas front:

Had a pleasant visit from Rev. Patrick Haggerty, C.S.C., shortly after he assumed his duties as president of St. Edward's University, Austin, Texas. Along with him came Fathers Duffy and Culhane, of St. Edward's, and Father James J. O'Brien, lieutenant colonel, U.S.A., pastor of St. Mary's Church, Austin.

Rev. Paul Foik, C.S.C., of St. Ed's, came over with Father Haggerty for the national Knights of Columbus convention, which was also attended by Ray Miller, of Cleveland, and Tim Galvin, of Hammond, among others.

Rev. Frederick Mann, C.S.S.R., is a Redemptorist missionary here and an "expert" on San Antonio's six missions which are over 200 years old.

Rev. Edward V. McCullough, pastor at St. Joseph's Church, Cleburne, Texas, here recently, states that of his brothers, Felix, '24, is in Sherman, Texas, and Frank, '29, is assistant state's counsel for the HOLC, in Dallas, Texas.

George Burkitt, Jr., '02, Houston, Texas, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. E. B. Crane, formerly of St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, dropped in on Christmas Day for a pleasant visit.

William V. Dielmann, Jr., '25, is at present a member of the Bexar County grand jury. Leonard Mark Hess, '25, bought a new home here at 224 Belvidere Drive. Michael A. Needham, Jr., '25, is the used car manager for a new Ford agency here. (Emil Mueller Motor Company).

Harold Tynan is still with the Public Service Company. Kirwin Williams has twins. He is with the G.M.A.C. John A. Bitter, Jr., is a practicing attorney here. He had an arrival in the family recently. Dan Sullivan, III., has taken his race horses to some of the country's leading tracks.

Ed Conroy, police radio station broadcaster, is at present in Minnesota on a fellowship. Steve Wilhelm opened an advertising agency in the Majestic Building here. Joseph Gastreich is with the Bull Steamship Company. Dudley Walker, Jr., ex. '38, just out of Santa Rosa Hospital, here.

J. Melvin Rohrbach, '24, Crown Point, Indiana, writes of another arrival. Al Heck has offices in the Smith-Young Tower here. He is an attorney. Clem Hagerty is around, but I have not seen him lately. My old neighbor in Walsh Hall, Fred Link, just breezed in from Detroit, accompanied by his mother and his aunt. One of the biggest boosters Notre Dame ever had anywhere is Rev. Dr. Henry M. Kemper, in Kerrville, Texas, who dropped in to see me recently.

SANDUSKY, OHIO

Charles M. Mouch, '25, 925 W. Washington Street, President; Russell R. Smith, '28, 2117 Monroe Street, Secretary.

The February meeting of the club was held on the 3rd, and Charlie Mouch provided the meeting place and what. The secretary has a hunch he was paying off for those votes he got for club president. Anyway, the door prize wasn't a Chevrolet given away by the Mouch & Mouch Sales.

The proposed hockey party, with all the added attractions, has been history since February 9, when Joe Singler and committee more than fulfilled their promise. I hear that the Pilsner Gardens of Cleveland are a wonderful place and every Notre Dame club should pay them a visit. And as for those boys with skates on and sticks in their hands, who chase around until some other fellow blows a whistle, well, they were fine. Ask John Millot, if you doubt it. The secretary has to report this by hearsay because there happened to be a convention of the State Society of Professional Engineers in Columbus on the same date, so the hockey game was out.

Our neighbors, the Cleveland Club, invited us to its party, February 24 at the Cleveland arena. Skating, dancing and what not are on the program.

As yet we have no program arranged for U.N.D. Night, April 25, but you can rest assured the club will make an honest effort to come through in keeping with the occasion.

R. R. Smith.

Scranton

(new club)

Robert A. Golden, '32, 216 Colfax Ave., President; Thomas F. Leahy, '23, 415 Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Secretary.

This is "another country" that you are hearing from!

The writer has been a resident of Scranton for the last eight years and all during those years he has regretted the fact that there has never been much activity on the part of the alumni in this section. There are quite a few alumni and old students living in this district, but until recently no one seemed to have enough initiative to do anything by way of bringing the group together. However, we are happy to be able to announce now that some very definite steps have been taken.

The Notre Dame Club of Scranton was organized at a meeting held in the directors' room of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce at 8:00 P.M., Tuesday, February 8, 1938. Full credit for the organization of this club should be given to Bob Golden, '32, who brought the boys together for the purpose of making arrangements to pay respects to Father O'Hara when he comes to Scranton to be the guest speaker of the Irish-American Society of Lackawanna County at their annual St. Patrick's Day banquet.

James D. Jordan, '07, presided as chairman of the organization meeting. Following the adoption of a motion to form a permanent club which will meet regularly every month, the following officers were elected to serve for a term of one year: president, Robert A. Golden, '32; vice-president, James J. Jordan, '07; treasurer, Anthony F. O'Boyle, '37; secretary, Thomas F. Leahy, '23.

The charter members who were in attendance at the organization meeting include the following: Gerard J. Battle, '37, 922 Front St., Scranton; John E. Boland, '31, 1402 Linden St., Scranton; Robert A. Golden, '32, 216 Colfax Ave., Scranton; William F. Greavy, '24, Elks Club, Scranton; James D. Jordan, '07, 1612 Capouse Ave., Scranton; Thomas J. Harrington, '34, 407 Drinker St., Dunmore; Thomas F. Leahy, '23, 415 Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Scranton; Joseph F. Manning, '29, 405 State St., Clarks Summit, Pa.; Vincent J. McCoola, '37, 322 Main St., Dupont, Pa.; Anthony F. O'Boyle, '37, 323 Quincy Ave., Scranton; Joseph F. O'Hara, Jr., '31, 1402 N. Washington Ave., Scranton; Charles P. O'Malley, '30, 1412 Linden St., Scranton; Edward T. Shean, '31, 312 Quincy Ave., Scranton.

By-laws prepared by a committee consisting of Jim Jordan and Jack Boland were unanimously adopted. The by-laws make all alumni and former students now residing in Lackawanna County, of which Scranton is the county seat, eligible to membership, and it is hoped that the membership will soon be increased to at least 25 members.

The first function of the club will be a luncheon to be held at Hotel Casey, Scranton, at noon, March 17, 1938, in honor of Father O'Hara, who has already accepted an invitation to be present. Other guests at the luncheon will be the bishop and the chancellor of the Scranton diocese.

cese, the president of St. Thomas College, and Frank Walker, prominent Notre Dame alumnus and member of the board of trustees of the University.

This is all for the present, but you will be hearing more from Scranton. Before closing, I would like to say that we hope that the organization of our club will be the means of keeping the alumni in this section in closer touch with the Alumni Association with respect to payment of association dues and other matters.

SOUTHWESTERN CONNECTICUT

John M. Murphy, '27, 86 Liberty St., Bridgeport, President; Edward P. Monahan, '34, 304 Beechmont Ave., Bridgeport, Secretary.

SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS

Charles G. Corcoran, '17, 1134 W. Monroe St., President; Paul D. McConnell, '32, 120 S. Walnut St., Secretary.

The club had a monthly luncheon at the K. of C. Club on Thursday, February 17, with about a dozen in attendance. A letter from Bill Coer, president of the Central Illinois club of Notre Dame, a campus organization, was read. Bill requested the cooperation of our club to help his organization put over a dance here in Springfield during the Easter holidays. Of course, we agreed to do our stuff. In fact, we have already made most of the arrangements, and we are very happy to be in a position to assist Bill and the boys.

We plan to have an election of officers Tuesday, March 1, with Walt Bernard, Bob Knox, Harold Stone, and Charles Chutney in charge of the election. At this meeting we will plan our Universal Night program.

Phil Dant, '22, from Louisville, is a new member of our Springfield club. Mr. Dant is now located at 406 South 6th Street in Springfield.

ST. JOSEPH VALLEY (Indiana)

Louis C. Chaplenu, '30, 301 Union Trust Bldg., South Bend, Ind., President; Clarence Harding, '25, South Bend Tribune, South Bend, Ind., Secretary.

Judge J. Elmer Peak, '12, was the principal speaker at the annual joint meeting of the Notre Dame Villagers and the St. Joseph Valley club. The dinner and meeting was held Monday, March 7, at the Columbia Athletic Club. More than 100 attended.

Vocal selections were given by Morris Frank, in charge of WSBT-WFAM's radio studio on the campus, and Ben Murdock, both members of the Villagers. William P. Howard, president of the Villagers, acted as toastmaster.

William J. Furey, assistant treasurer of the St. Joseph Valley club, and Mr. Howard arranged the meeting.

The annual Mass in commemoration of the death of Knute K. Rockne will be held Sunday morning, March 27, at 8 o'clock at the Shrine of St.

Olaf in Dillon Hall. Mass will be followed by a breakfast in the faculty dining room.

Mal Elward, head football coach at Purdue University, Gus Dorais, head coach at Detroit University, and Cap Edwards, all former teammates of Rockne, have been invited by Bill Sheehan, chairman. Elward and Dorais will speak at the third annual Rockne Memorial program on the same night.

Jack Shively and Burton Toepp, co-chairmen of the club's observance of Universal Notre Dame Night, Monday, April 25, announce that the affair will be a dinner held on the campus, probably in the faculty dining room of the University dining hall. An elaborate program of talks and music is planned. The annual election of the club's Board of Directors for the following year will be held during the meeting.

Members of the club will take part in a 15-minute Notre Dame Night program to be broadcast from the campus radio studio over WSBT-WFAM, the radio stations of the South Bend Tribune. The time of the broadcast will be announced at a later date.

TOLEDO

Edward J. Hagerty, '28, 536 Woodville, President; Raymond L. Tillman, '25, 2027 Bretton Pl., Secretary.

The local club had an informal meeting on March 3 at John Hurley's home (one-half block drive from my home) to meet Frank Maxwell, Phy. Ed. '35, M.A. '37, who is in charge of gym work at Nazareth Military Academy, a Catholic school for boys. We discussed procedures of handling publicity, etc., for the appearance of the N.D. gym team here on March 20 under the auspices of the above-mentioned school. We are calling a formal meeting for next Thursday, March 10, to go into this matter thoroughly and also to make plans for Universal Notre Dame Night. Likewise, we might have a more active secretary after that because we are going to try to have elections.

John Q. Carey came through again with flying colors on the last election for councilman under the P.R. plan of city managership government. Likewise, he was also re-elected vice-mayor of this fair suburb. He is very active in all types of local legislation and likewise state legislation, particularly that part in looking after our unemployed in Toledo. He is very much appreciated here.

I just heard from John Hurley that Otis Winchester, our Ohio district governor, formerly of Cleveland, is now located in Toledo. He is staying at the Y.M.C.A. and works, I believe, at the Franklin Printing and Engraving Co. here.

Joseph Wetli, attorney, is the proud father of a nice girl. And is he lucky, because the new Miss Wetli's birthday is December 25, or Christmas Day. Last reports were that all are doing nicely.

Fred Sprenger is a glutton for work. He is not satisfied with running the three men's furnishings stores under his father, who is now enjoying the sunny south of Florida, but he takes on a LITTLE extra work of sponsoring excursion trains to ice-carnivals in Detroit and Cleveland. So far, I believe, he has sent three train loads to Detroit and one to Cleveland to see Sonja Henie, one to Detroit to see a pro hockey game, and two to the same city to see ice carnivals. He surely has gone across big in these excursions. He was, likewise, the mainstay of the Christmas dance, which, incidentally, was very successfully held at the Sylvania Golf Club on December 28. We had a full house and one excellent dinner.

Ray Tillman.

George Uhlmeier, '23, Peoples' Light Co., Moline, Ill., President; Elmer W. Besten, '27, 1711 W. Sixth St., Davenport, Iowa, Secretary.

Those in attendance at the meeting on February 19 included everyone but Elmer Besten, Ralph Coryn, Leo Herbert, Charles King, Francis King, Henry McCullough, Ed Meagher, Peter Meersman, James Murphy, Myron Murphy, Robert Roach, John Roach, Oscar Smith, Charles Sollo, and R. B. Swift, but even with these stalwarts missing we had a good and enjoyable meeting.

We welcomed into our organization Father Thomas Cleary, ex. '13, who has been appointed chaplain to St. Anthony's Hospital in Rock Island. Father Cleary has been doing some very good work in furtherance of Bishop Schlarman's program of Catholic Action.

Charlie King, '20, is really going up in the International Harvester Co. where he was recently raised to the office of assistant superintendent of the Farmall plant, of Rock Island.

Major W. T. Stevenson, '01, is with the U. S. Corps of Engineers as a consultant in the mechanical engineering department in the station at the Rock Island arsenal.

Leo Herbert has had any amount

Deaths

Thomas D. Mott, '95, died in Los Angeles on February 27 after a long illness. A law graduate, Mr. Mott practiced law in Puerto Rico in his earlier years and was a Federal district judge there. Returning later to South Bend he was appointed to the superior court bench to fill an unexpired term. He left for his native Los Angeles in 1926 and, with his brother, formed the law partnership of Mott, Valee & Grant.

Mr. Mott is survived by his wife, one son, a sister and a brother.

Arthur W. Lydon, '17, died in Geneva, New York, on February 17, according to a note on the daily Religious Bulletin.

Word has just reached the Alumni Office of the death on January 5, 1937, of Albert P. Hoff, ex. '08, in Milwaukee.

Albert A. Browne, 67 years old, for many years mayor of Brownsville, Texas, died on January 8 in his home after an illness of a week, according to a clipping sent by Joseph Menger, '25. Mr. Browne, a student at Notre Dame in 1880-85, was municipal judge in Brownsville at the time of his death. A member of family long distinguished in the area, he was outstanding in civic service and in local Catholicity.

Innumerable alumni will hear with genuine sadness of the death of two Brothers of Holy Cross who gave long years to the service of the University and the students, Brother Willibord and Brother Columbkil.

The reputed inventor and chief producer of the famed Notre Dame buns, Brother Willibord, 65 years old, was head of the University bakeries from 1900 until the new dining hall was opened in 1927. His buns ran well into the millions and their fame, in song and story, circled the earth.

As a University carpenter, Brother Columbkil, 82 years old, was a familiar campus figure through many generations of students. His skill in designing, building and repairing was traditional.

The ALUMNUS extends sincere sympathy to Eddie Gould, '23, upon the death of his wife; John Rourke, '24, upon the death of his father and mother; Louis Carr, '28, upon the death of his mother; Charles Colton, '29, upon the death of his mother; James L. Walsh, '30, upon the death of his father; Ed Redmond, '30, upon the death of his father.

TWENTY-FIVE-YEAR REUNION June 3, 4 and 5

BULLETIN: Father Allan Heiser, C.S.C., will be the local chairman for the 25-year reunion. Plans in the next issue!

Writing longingly of the silver anniversary reunion, Clyde Broussard recalls some of the personages of 25 years ago. He says in part:

"There is Bill Cotter, our Association president. Bill's record should be almost complete in your files, except that you may not find that Bill married the beauty prize holder of St. Mary's of our time, Evarista Brady.

"Then there is Fred 'Cy' Williams. His baseball record crowded the famous Ty Cobb out of the headlines.

"The track records of our classmate, James Wasson, were almost permanent at Notre Dame.

"William 'Peaches' Granfield was twice captain of the basketball team and played baseball so well that the big leagues wanted him. And he went places in the political world and became nationally known.

"Warren Ray Cartier, whose father was the 'wheel horse' of the Alumni Association, during its infancy and adolescence, and the donor of Cartier Field, was a member of our class."

Clyde continues with some rare personal reminiscences of the other days:

"I am sure I was quite a picture when I played the part of a burly soldier and carried a spear in a Philopatrian Society play in which Ally Dwan, the now famous picture director, Alan Dwan, was the star. That spear rattled so from my trembling that the noise could be heard in the rear of the Washington Hall auditorium, which is going some.

"Once I appeared on the stage of Washington Hall and felt at home. A sort of vaudeville performance was arranged for a student audience and Dummy Smith and I agreed to stage a demonstration wrestling bout. That is the time I should have had stage fright because the two of us embarrassed the president, Father Cavanaugh, accidentally. We expected only residents of the campus to be in the audience and came out for our act in our ordinary gym wrestling togs, principally a pair of somewhat abbreviated trunks. We were surprised, and Father Cavanaugh was embarrassed because he had brought a group of visitors, several of them women.

"Probably I might have been benefitted by stage fright that night because it was only a month or two later that Dummy Smith and eight or ten other students were sent home by Father Cavanaugh for creating a disturbance on the campus in celebration of the winning of a spirited three-game series of baseball games between Notre Dame and the Arkansas University team, coached by the great Hugo Bezdek. It was all innocent fun to the boys, but to the president it was breaking the rules, so I had to go home. Maybe he would have been more lenient if he had had more time to forget the Washington Hall performance."

Father James J. O'Brien, C.S.C., pastor of St. Mary's Church in Austin, Texas, as well as national chaplain of the Reserve Officers' Association, was the celebrant of the military field Mass and one of the chief speakers on March 2 in Old Washington on-the-Brazos, Texas, on the occasion of the anniversary celebration of the signing of the Texas Declaration of Independence. Governor James V. Allred of Texas, and Most Rev. C. E. Byrne, bishop of Galveston, were other speakers. Father Patrick Haggerty, C.S.C., '16, president of St. Edward's, Austin, was the celebrant of the Benediction, which closed the day.

1914 Secretary: Frank H. Hayes, 406 Bank of America Bldg., Anaheim, Cal.

1915 Secretary: James E. Sanford, Jam Handy Theatre Service, Inc., 230 Park Avenue, New York City.

Jim Sanford continues to cover the Eastern Front. He writes:

"A letter from Eddie Rogers, old student of 1912, brings the news that he is president of the Layne Northwest Company, 709 North Eleventh Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Eddie completed his engineering course at Marquette but has maintained an active interest in Notre Dame affairs as a member of the Milwaukee Club, which he says is doing well.

"George N. Shuster contributes another of his brilliant articles "Twilight in the Third Reich" to a recent issue of Commonweal. He has been in Germany since May and is now in the orchestra circle of Vienna observing the exciting Nazi drama of the past few weeks. We are informed that he will return sometime in April.

"I seldom comment publicly on such matters but never during my 30 years as a pastor has a mission so successful been held in my parish." This was the enthusiastic tribute of Msgr. Francis C. Campbell of St. Jerome's Church, 138th and Alexander (The Bronx) on the night of February 6 before 1600 men at the close of a month's mission conducted by Fathers Joseph E. Hart, C.S.C., '24, William A. Bolger, C.S.C., '07, Edward R. Fitzgerald, C.S.C., '30, and Frederick J. Schulte, C.S.C., '27. These modest Notre Dame men, members of our Holy Cross Mission Band spreading the word of God throughout America, are under the able leadership of Rev. Patrick Dolan, C.S.C., of our class.

"On March 27, Fathers Hart and Bolger will again come to New York City when they give another mission for two weeks at St. Malachy's Church on 49th Street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues.

"At times we may marvel at the prestige enjoyed by Notre Dame in this great city a thousand miles from the University, but it is no longer a mystery when we learn the esteem in which our missionary priests are held in the parishes and witness the zeal with which they carry on in this little publicized, but very important and fruitful, activity of the priests of Holy Cross.

"An appeal to 1915 men!"

"We are informed that the next issue of the ALUMNUS will be published in May so there is ample time to send in news about yourself or other members of the class with whom you may have contact. Forget your modesty regarding accomplishments in business or professions and tell us the story. Let us know about your family. Your friends and classmates are always interested, so why not take over that May issue and tell the world."

1916 Secretary: Timothy P. Galvin, First Trust Bldg., Hammond, Ind.

Tim Galvin took advantage of some K. of C. correspondence with Joseph P. Flynn, Rochester, New York (Stubby to all of you), to dig out a lot of delectable Notre Dame dope for you.

Stubby's letter to Tim is printed here. The modest author fails to say, though, that he himself, besides being one of the city's finest architects—this upon the word of Professor Kervick, head of the Department of Architecture, who has seen some of Stubby's beautiful structures—is deputy grand knight of the Rochester Knights of Columbus. Stubby's offices are at 154 East Avenue, Rochester. His letter to Tim follows:

"On many occasions when perusing the ALUMNUS, I have recognized your inability to prepare news of the 1916 class without some cooperation from the members themselves, and I am personally glad of this opportunity to offer a brief resume of the Rochester boys of 1916 and also other classes.

"Joe Miller, '16, residing at 202 Flower City Park, is attached to the local branch of the Traveler's Insurance Company in an engineering advisory capacity and is the same Joe in appearance, demeanor, and activity. He has four children, two boys and two girls.

"Tom O'Connor, '14, has been editor of the diocesan Catholic newspaper for many years and 'incidentally' the father of six boys each of them looking Notre Dame-ward. His boarding house is located at 428 Magee Avenue.

"Harold Burke, '16, as you know, is a U. S. District judge and his deserving appointment to this high office for a life period bespeaks his character and fitness for the office. He resides at 30 Lake View Park with his family of two boys and one girl.

"Art Curran, '15, of 34 Vassar Street, who later matriculated at Cornell, but never lost his love and fidelity for Notre Dame, is a very successful lawyer and a member of a local firm with a name which requires hay fever to properly pronounce. He has a family also of two boys and one girl.

"Ray McAdams, ex. '16, has resided in St. Petersburg, Florida, for several years and is grand knight of the council there. He pays an annual visit to the old haunts to check on the welfare of the gang.

"Frank Quinlan, ex. '14, of 141 Normandy Avenue, is one of our outstanding architects and his creations are constantly dotting the community landscape despite the prolonged recession of the building industry. Frank has a family of three boys and two girls.

"Jake Eckel, '16, of Syracuse, is a periodical visitor to Rochester, and, were it not for the responsibilities of his steel business and a family of two boys and two girls, I am sure we would see him more frequently.

"Emil 'George' Reidman, '14, is helping the Eastman Kodak Company devise additional ways and means of making the world Kokak-minded. He hasn't grown any since leaving Notre Dame although he has acquired a family of two children.

"As you know, Father Hugh O'Donnell has visited Rochester on several occasions during the past few years, and only recently entertainingly reviewed for us some of the details of the St. Joe Hall reunion last June.

"During the summer months those of the old Rochester gang located elsewhere in the United States migrate to the old haunts for a few weeks and you can well imagine the enjoyable reunions. Frank Mulcahy, '14, now a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Aviation located at Quantico, Virginia—Mike McGrath, '16, the big brewery operator of Peoria, Illinois—Joe Farrell, '15, the electrical wizard of the G. E. Co.—Freddie Pralatowski, '16, a big part of the du Pont Rayon Co. of Buffalo, New York—and Pete Yearns, '16, the same world itinerant as of old—comprise pretty generally the gang we see practically every year.

"I am sure that any of the 1916 class who can arouse themselves into a reminiscent mood with a letter to any of the local crowd will receive an enthusiastic response for their effort."

The finest wishes of the class will go with Mal Elward in his appointment as head football coach at Purdue to succeed Noble Kizer, '25, who resigned on account of illness. Mal has been an assistant coach at Purdue since 1927. Noble will continue as director of athletics.

1917 Secretary: Edward J. McOsker, 104 S. Union St., Elgin, Ill.

1918 Secretary: John A. Lemmer, 1110—8th Ave., Escanaba, Mich.

TWENTY-YEAR REUNION
June 3, 4 and 5

Father Francis Boland, C.S.C., head of the Department of Politics, will be the local chairman for the 20-year reunion, according to the announcement of the class secretary just before he took off from Escanaba on a two-weeks' business trip.

John promised to "get after things" upon his return. You'll be hearing from him. You can plan now to tell him that that you'll be present on June 3, 4 and 5.

1919 Secretary: Clarence Bader, 650 Pierce Street, Gary, Indiana.

1920 Secretary: Leo B. Ward, 1012 Black Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

1921 Secretary: Dan W. Duffy, 1600 Terminal Tower, Cleveland, Ohio.

1922 Secretary: Gerald Ashe, Buffalo Athletic Club, Buffalo, New York.

Kid Ashe is back again into his customary fine stuff. He writes:

"Elsewhere in this issue is the formal announcement of the marriage of Miss Katherine Maurin, of Gilbert, Minnesota, to John Paul Cullen, of Janesville, Wisconsin. Father Edward Roach, formerly of Washington, officiated at the wedding Mass in the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Thurmont, Maryland, on January 13. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Brown, of Washington, D. C., and many Washington friends of the couple were in attendance. John Paul has been connected with the Veterans Administration in Washington for the past several years. Just recently, he was transferred to Los Angeles in a promotion which places him in charge of claims in the L.A. office. Best wishes to the newly weds, and special congratulations to J.P. on the recent promotion.

"One of our reporters met John Huether, of General Electric, Schenectady, on a Pittsburgh-bound train recently. John said he expected to attend the Notre Dame-Colgate basketball game in Albany, February 26.

"Chet Wynne has resigned as athletic director and head football coach at the University of Kentucky. President Frank L. Vevey in announcing Chet's resignation, commented:

"Mr. Wynne is an effective coach, a pleasant gentleman, effective in his organization of plays and direction of team work. It is with genuine regret that I received Mr. Wynne's resignation."

"It is reported that Chet may establish a law practice.

"Jim Jones, affectionately called 'the Judge' in his undergraduate days, has been acting as referee in a silicosis hearing in Buffalo.

"Hunk Anderson has left the football coaching staff of Michigan to start coaching work at the University of Cincinnati, in the spring.

"We must not forget to mention that Earl Walsh has been doing some excellent work in assisting Head Coach Jim Crowley at Fordham. Earl does not make the sport column very often, but his contribution has done much to put Fordham in the top flight in football the past two seasons.

"A recent issue of the ALUMNUS carried the sad news of the death of William (Bill) Miner, of Endicott, New York. It is repeated for benefit of those who may have overlooked prior mention. Bill, you will recall, took law at N.D. He was one of the happiest men of '22, and all deeply regret the death of this good-natured character, who despite physical handicap, did so much to brighten the lives of his classmates. Bill had a fine law practice in the Tri-City area, and a legion of friends who deeply mourn him.

"Prof. Pat Manion is sick and tired of listening to alibis of friends visiting South Bend and Notre Dame and not knowing the whereabouts of the Manion Manor House. In an effort to eliminate afore mentioned alibis, Pat and Mrs. Pat, or vice versa, sent out some very attractive Christmas cards, elaborate in detail, describing the proper route for the traveler from South Bend to the Manion domicile. Whether by design or chance, no instructions are mentioned as to how to get away from Pat's home, and many witnesses can testify that familiar landmarks very often do not look so familiar on the way back."

1923 Secretary: Paul H. Castner, 17 Cornell Road, West Hartford, Conn.

FIFTEEN-YEAR REUNION June 3, 4 and 5

John Byrne sends this news from Buffalo:

"I was in Cleveland two weeks ago and happened to get there at the time of the 'road builders show' and met Ed Cantwell of the class of 1924. Ed is Ohio sales manager for the Taylor Caterpillar Tractor Company at Columbus, Ohio. We also ran into Joe Sheehan, who is of the same class, and he is with the Ohio Bureau of Roads at Columbus.

"I went from there to Detroit, and while eating lunch at the Detroit Athletic Club, I met Tom Maher, who was at Notre Dame in 1920 and later went to the University of Detroit, where he was captain of the football team. Tom is judge of the traffic court in Detroit and asked for Red Maher, Rod Shaughnessy, John Kelly, Bill Gilchrist and many others. While talking, Howard Fisher walked in. Howard was there at the same time and gave me news of Nels Callahan, Charlie Martin and a number of others around Cleveland."

1924 Secretary: J. F. Hayes, Wm. J. Pedrick & Co., International Bldg., Rockefeller Center, New York City.

The 1924 section is running over with news, as promised! Jim Hayes sent the following world-beating letter to the ALUMNUS in early February:

"In order to cover our class, I sent a form letter to the mailing list I have, and up to the present I have received gratifying response from a dozen or more of the class of '24. One of the most encouraging comments in all the letters I have received is the pleasure expressed in my effort to get the class together again, if only by mail—even a form letter.

"Al Koehler writes me that he is with the Phoenix Chair Company, of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, working out of 666 Lake Shore Drive, and that he is unattached up to the moment. The products of the Phoenix Chair Company must be up to par, because Al tells me the chairs in the Notre Dame dining halls are Phoenix chairs.

"From Worthington, Minnesota, from the Probate Court of Nobles County, and from Hon. Vincent 'Red' Hollaren, comes a page full of news of everyone in the neighborhood, except himself. Red relates that John C. O'Donnell, his former roommate in Sorin Hall, is a prosperous lawyer with the firm Nist & O'Donnell, Mansfield, Ohio. John is tied, with the class secretary, for the class of '24 record in that he is the father of four children. [Whoa! Bob Riordan has eight.—Eds.] Mark Nolan, of oratorical and debating fame at school, is now district judge, with offices in Duluth. Mark was formerly with the Minnesota legislature. It is hard for me to believe what Red tells me, that Mark apparently observes no laws of diet. (Aside to Red: I have never seen Man Mountain Dean, so I won't believe it.)

"Tom Donavan, I am told, is with an impressive law firm, Markman, Donavan & Sullivan, on Madison Street, Chicago. In turn, Donavan relates that Ray Brady (more about him later) is going strong in Salt Lake City. Ed Buckley is married to Tom Walsh's sister, and has one child. Dan Salmon is an assistant district attorney in Cleveland. Tom Walsh papas one boy and one girl. Red Hollaren has his eyes out for 'the one and only Michael Schmidt, the III.'

"A fine letter from Ray Brady, attorney-at-law, in the Ness Building, Salt Lake City, Utah, tells me in the first paragraph that he was in New York last year, but neglected to look me up. He promises a return visit shortly. Ray went to Salt Lake City after graduation, coached athletics for a year, commenced the active practice of law, and was admitted to the Supreme Court of Utah in 1924. He served a term in the prosecutor's office, and also a couple of years in the office of the city attorney, and is now general counsel for the Salt Lake Real Estate Board and the Utah State Realty Association. Ray has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States, conducted his last trial as a bachelor, on September 1, 1937, and was married on September 2, 1937, and at present holds no brief for his former unfortunate state. Ray sends his warmest regards to all members of the class of '24, and invites us, one and all, to visit him in Salt Lake City. From Ray's letter, I feel certain that the situation in Utah is well in hand, as far as the class of '24 is concerned, and that we will be hearing more from him.

"From Jacksonville, Florida, Lester Foley writes me that he is married (Edith Klug, St. Mary's, '25), and that there are two children—Patricia and Jerry. Les is president of the Foley Lumber Company, operating three building supply establishments in north Florida. His director of sales is John M. Hughes, of the class of 1930. To show you how scattered Notre Dame men are, Les tells me that down in Florida he frequently sees Harry Mehre, Frank Thomas, Rex Enright, Rodge Kiley, Chet Wynne and Charlie Bachman. (Is this the new six-man team they are talking about?) Les also was in Vancouver, British Columbia, last summer, to visit his brother, Harold Foley, '20. On the trip out he stopped in Chicago to talk the situation over with his old roommate, Paul McNulty, of '22 and '23. Coming back by way of Texas, Les visited Pat Buell and Jim Swift.

"Bill Crook writes me from Pipestone, Minnesota, where he is postmaster. Bill was, formerly with the Universal Credit Company, and while there, worked with Don Ryan, '27, and Marty Dolan, of the class of 1930. Don was assistant branch managers, but latest reports make him branch manager in Cleveland. Marty Dolan is assistant branch manager of the Minneapolis office. (EXTRA! All Records Broken, because Bill advises he has four boys and one girl.) [Boy, page Major Riordan to quell this challenge to his position.]

"Louis Navin sends a letter from Mitchell, South Dakota, where he has practiced law for ten years. He was state's attorney from 1933 to 1937, and during his term as state's attorney, the county built one of the finest court houses in the Northwest, and Louis played a big part in its planning. Here is an alumnus who brings a problem: There are 70 Notre Dame men scattered through South Dakota, but they seldom meet. A real constructive job could be done in organizing a state body of Notre Dame men here, and I am sure that Navin will give his support to any movement of this kind.

"Bob Rink, president of the Goshen Manufacturing Company, Goshen, Indiana, manufacturers of toys, play equipment, porch furniture, etc., etc. (see his catalog, 'Summer Glory' for your children, and yours, and yours). Bob is married, lives at 215 West Burdick Street, Goshen, Indiana, and in his eagerness to see more news of our class in the ALUMNUS, calls on all members to support the efforts of the class secretary.

"From Jim Swift, in Dallas, Texas, a member of the firm Hamilton, Lipscomb & Wood, attorneys-at-law, in the Southwestern Life Building, comes a long letter. Jim has been practicing law in Dallas for 10 years, and eight of these 10 he has been married. He has a 19-months-old daughter, and only Jim's modesty prevented him from telling me that the recent Texas celebration was held in her honor. Jim reports that in Washington recently he saw Fod Cotton, of the class of '23. Pat Buell is in the lumber business in Dallas, and Seiggs Scoggins is with the Humble Oil Company at Houston. Nat Powers is practicing law, and oil, in Houston. Matt Rothert is building furniture at Arkansas, and has acquired—or has been acquired by—a very charming bride, formerly of Chicago. Jim reports he saw Tom Hodgson and Slim Lynard in Minnesota last summer, and both are prospering.

"A most welcome letter from Ernest Russell McClure, editor and manager of the Henry County Local, a newspaper devoted to the best interests of Henry County, with offices in New Castle and Eminence, Kentucky. Russell is located in New Castle, and is married, and has a girl eight years old. He would like to hear from the class of '24, although up to the moment he has extended an invitation to the Kentucky Derby only to the class secretary. (The class secretary looks forward to accepting all of the invitations that have been extended to him, when, he does not know, but surely some day.) Russell will be with us at our next reunion.

"Al Castellini, of the law firm, Hall, Castellini, Frey & Jackson, in the Atlas Bank Building, 524 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes that he is married and has two boys, and lives at 1301 Park Ridge Place, Cincinnati, Ohio. Al is honorary Belgian consul at Cincinnati with jurisdiction of 48 counties in Ohio and 3 Kentucky counties. His explanation of this unusual appointment is that his father is of Italian descent, his mother of Irish descent, and his wife of German descent—therefore, he is honorary Belgian consul. He notes that Leo DuBois, prominently identified with athletics at Notre Dame a few years before our time, is now an officer of the Frederick Schmidt Company, a real estate firm in Cincinnati, and that Leo is Belgian and comprises the bulk of Al's constituency, as far as Cincinnati is concerned.

"In his well-filled letter, Al tells me that Elmer Layden was guest of honor at a dinner of the Notre Dame Club of Cincinnati; that Jack Heilker is an attorney-at-law, and is president of the Notre Dame Club of Cincinnati, succeeding Frank Sweeney. Frank is manager of the Kemper Lane Hotel in Cincinnati. Notre Dame men will feel at home there because Frank has permitted the club to maintain headquarters in his fine hilltop hotel. Farrell Johnson and Gene Mayl are practicing law in Dayton, Ohio. Al reports that he had a recent business visit with Charles de la Vergne in the practice of law, at New Orleans, and that Joe Blache, formerly a judge in Hammond, Louisiana, is now an assistant United States attorney there. Al tells me that at the Northwestern game, he met Jack Kevill, who is now with the Palmolive Company in Chicago. He also saw Red Maher, now with the hotel division of Swift & Company. At the Pittsburgh game, he sat with Sam Barry and Eddie Gould.

"Joe C. Ryan is at St. Mary's Hospital, Tucson, Arizona. He is looking forward to a return to Notre Dame some day soon. Joe, I am sure, would like to hear from a lot of us and reports that Father Tom Kelly and Al Serva are faithful correspondents. Joe will hear from the class secretary, perhaps before this is printed.

"An enjoyable letter from James I. Smith, Jr., tells me he is another New York visitor, who neglects to look me up. Jim was with the Bank of New York and Trust Company here in New York for awhile, and took a night course at Columbia. Then he worked with the Detroit Edison Company, left that organization in 1935 to take up the business his father established in 1904. Jim is now president of the Esmeralda Canning Company, of Circleville, Ohio, canners of quality vegetables for all of us. Jim is married for the past nine years, and has two children: a boy, seven, and a girl, three. Jim's letterhead tempts my appetite, and if your local grocer has not his brands in stock you better do something about it. Just write to Jim and I am sure he will tell you what these brands are.

"The class secretary thanks Brother Bernard, C.S.C., for his interesting reply and hopes he will receive permission to tell the class some of the things he told me in this letter.

"Charles O. DeBarry, who is almost across the street from the class secretary, is now associated with Joseph Freedlander, architect, at 681 Fifth Avenue. After too long a sojourn in Washington, Charlie is back in his favorite city. He has just had approved, plans and drawings for the new Supreme Court building to be constructed at Park Avenue and 39th Street. It is one of the city's outstanding projects for 1938. Frank Duffey, also back from Washington, is assistant to Supreme Court Justice Edward S. Dore, and is completing his law work, preparatory to his admission to practice. In other words, Charlie DeBarry is designing the building for Frank to work in.

"As a concluding note, let it be said that the Hayes, of 57 Moran Place, New Rochelle, New York, have recently acquired a pedigreed English bull-dog, now graced with the name, 'Sadie Thompson,' and happy in the reputation of being, without question, the ugliest, but the friendliest, dog in Westchester County."

Recent newspaper reports had John Stanton, a lawyer in Gary, Indiana, as about ready to run for prosecuting attorney on the Democratic ticket in Lake County. John is deputy prosecutor at present.

Ben Kesting, '25, of Toledo, sent the welcome word that Ed Cantwell, of Columbus, Ohio, had been elected president of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at a recent convention in Columbus. Ed is Ohio sales manager for the Taylor Caterpillar Tractor Company. Ben is county engineer for Lucas County, Ohio.

1925 Secretary: John P. Hurley, 2083 Brookdale Road, Toledo, Ohio.

Parlor Furniture Hurley crashes through handsomely again. He sends this:

"To beat the deadline this month, I was forced to send out a few last minute cards pleading for news. All credit and appreciation goes to Clarence W. Harding, who sat next to the Hurleys through four years of Commerce. We had to 'scoop' the very Alumni Office itself for late news flashes. In case I get any belated answers to my cards, we will use them in the next issue. And thanks a million, Clarence. You have 'the spot.'"

"It was a pleasant surprise to receive your card asking about the 1925 men living in and around South Bend. We appreciate the opportunity of giving you the information on 1925's 'Home Guard.' Whether these fellows couldn't get the money to get out of town, or just like it here, we can't say. However, here's the dope on most of them. We trust we haven't missed anyone.

"Let's start with the athletes. A few newspapers in the country have mentioned that Elmer Layden is Notre Dame's head football coach and athletic director. Elmer, of course, lives in South Bend with his family. Joe Boland, '27, is one of Elmer's assistants. He does a swell job of announcing for the South Bend Tribune radio stations, WSBT-WFAM, too. (adv.) Bill Cerney is coach of the "B" team and a popular speaker. Bill acts as commentator on Notre Dame football movies at smokers and meetings in many places. His witty comments on them have made him very popular.

"Jim 'Your Dues are Due' Armstrong you know about. He's the fellow who continually clutters up your mail with those alumni dues notices. He's very popular and a hard worker. Tom Barry is the University's director of general publicity, assisted by Karl Miller, '25, also a former Hearst man. Father Tom McAvoy is the University's archivist (believe it or not). Father John Lynch is assistant prefect of religion. Gil Coty is teaching Spanish. Well, we're finally off the campus.

"Charles Baumgartner, the old glee clubber, very nearly has a glee club of his own. A splendid family of five or six children. Charlie is on the sales staff of the Standard Oil Company. Gilbert Uhl and Wayne Cox work there, too, in the accounting department. Speaking of accounting, Armano Porta is assistant chief accountant of the Studebaker Corporation. He's married, has one child. Bill Braunsdorf is in the general accounting department of the same company. Bill is married and has a daughter. Lloyd B. Shroff is in charge of factory accounting for the South Bend Lathe Works.

"Let's go back on the campus for a moment. Bill Sheehan is helping run the campus candy store, in addition to his tire business. He is also a co-promoter of special trains to football games. Last fall his organization ran specials to the Illinois and the Minnesota games. They'll run a special to the Notre Dame-Southern California game next December.

"Russ Arndt is football coach at Mishawaka High School. He's had some fine teams. Cheerleader Eddie Luther is district manager for a Milwaukee brewery, with offices in South Bend.

"Joe Miller is justice of the peace for Portage township (which includes South Bend). He's practicing law with Frank Coughlin, an earlier Notre Dame football captain and star. Joe Hogan is in a law firm with Bill Voor, Bill Jackson and Bob Grant. Leo Rieder and Cliff Potts, the old drum major, have their law offices together. Cliff was county attorney until January 1. Recently he announced his candidacy on the Republican ticket for the job of superior court judge of St. Joe County. Wilford Walz is deputy prosecutor under George N. Beamer. Charles Glueckert is practicing law, as is Morris Feldman.

"George Koch is teaching at Riley High School in South Bend. Doc Stoeckley, formerly graduate manager of Notre Dame campus publications, is in the printing and engraving business in Chicago. Joe Feingold is running a radio and electrical appliance store. All the deaf bless George Sheeche. He's distributor of Sonotone (adv.) hearing aids. Dick Zilky is in the stock and bond business.

"Your correspondent has long since given up the piano and radio. He's with the South Bend Tribune, writing and selling advertising, and managing the newspaper's promotion. He'd like very much to know what the H-1 became of Joe Harmon, Leonard Hess, Bill Hurley and a few others whose names begin with H.

"See you at Commencement."

"I have been on the sidelines, as it were, for several years—spend about 21 out of 24 hours each day in bed, and have not been out in the car since Dec. 12, 1936, when I came home from the hospital where I spent 12 months out of 35—weak muscles." Such is the unfortunate information in a letter written by Joe Menger, San Antonio, Texas, to Tom Barry on the campus. Despite the state of his health, Joe retains the same intense interest in Notre Dame. Classmates can reach him at 107 Catherine Court.

Recently appointed committees to carry on the campaign against unclean magazines in South Bend contain Tom Barry, on the committee to list the desirable and the undesirable magazines; Paul Butler, '27, on the committee to plan future action; and Father Philip Schaerf, C.S.C., '31, local C.Y.O. director, on a committee to report on progress.

1926 Secretary: James A. Ronan, 127 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Illinois.

Better days are dawning, thinks your secretary, Mr. Ronan. He says: "Mr. Dooley:

"Success at last, Bill, in the form of a letter from Tom Burke, that hard-working Brooklyn barrister. I always told you Tom was a swell fellow—now I'm certain of it. The ice is broken! The first of the far-flung members of the class of 1926 has crashed through with a letter. Let's hope more will follow.

"Tom reports having had lunch with Bob Cahill, whom you will no doubt remember as our capable freshman class president 'way back in 1922. Bob is down on Wall Street, and, aside from a few greying hairs about the temples, has changed very little.

"Our New York correspondent further reports that Ed Fallon, Jim Dwyer, Nick Smith and Bill Reid are all practicing before the bar (in the law business, he means) in Brooklyn, and all are doing very well. Tom Sheridan and Doc Gelson are other classmates that Barrister Burke sees on occasion in the big town. Sheridan is with the Telephone Company. Ed Byrne, says Tom, is living up in Westchester and has not been seen for some time. Maybe Ed will report on his whereabouts in an early issue.

"Now that we have a word from the East, how about a line or two from the South? Don Laskey, Austin Hall, and others please take notice!

"Just the other day we heard that one of the Syracuse (New York) dailies carried a four-column picture of Les Lovier welcoming Harry Stuhldreher to upper New York state. Tell us more, Les.

"Last week the Notre Dame Club of Chicago held its annual dinner-meeting and election. Among the '26 men present were John Tuohy, Joe Rigali, Herb Eggert, Frank Walsh and John Griffin. We told you something of the first three two months ago. Walsh is in the insurance and bonding business, and is going strong. Griffin is making quite a name for himself in the legal profession. Dan Culhane (Boy Guidance, '26) was also in attendance.

"That's all this time, Bill. Keep your eyes on the mail-box. During Lent the boys will have more evenings at home and no doubt will take their pens in hand and give us a hand in concocting this monthly report,—we hope, we hope, we hope!"

1927 Secretaries: Joseph M. Boland, Athletic Office, Notre Dame, Ind.; Edmund DeClerq, 7129 So. Park Ave., Chicago.

Threatened by the prospect of more poetry unless they came through, the '27 correspondents "cracked." Here, therefore, is the Boland bundle of heavenly news for this month:

"Seems as if that little 'pome' of the last issue got some action out of the brethren, and this month your scrivener has something to scry about. And let there be no more snide remarks about the rhyming ability of this operator, since no claims for Kilmer-ish ability have ever been registered from this corner. After that last effort, probably none ever will be.

"At any rate, Tom Byrne cracked through from Cleveland, with word that Benny McAdams is managing the Atlantic Commission Company office in that city. (adv.) They tell me it's produce old Benneh is up to his neck in. Incidentally, Ben, Jr., is almost 18 months old and already is chasing Ben, Sr., around the house.

"Jim Whelan, who used to crack pates against the scribe in prep-school days when he represented Villanova prep along with Jim Quinn, dropped in to the campus recently to arrange details for his own wedding—how's that for efficiency? The event takes place at an unannounced date in April, and we are led to believe Mr. Whelan will take a day off for the occasion from his duties with the Portland Cement Association, for whom he travels the highways of Indiana day after day, from his present headquarters in Fort Wayne.

"Joe O'Donnell, that iniquitous, ubiquitous politician who is partially responsible for the presence of ye scribe in this corner, got conscience-stricken recently and added information to the store for the month about Ed Ryan, who is in the insurance business with Jim Brennan, in Chicago, and who points the dangers that exist in matrimony to Mr. Whelan, above, by displaying marks of recovery from chicken-pox brought to him by one of his three offspring. Bill Corbett is still shuffling municipal bonds for a Chicago concern, and still commuting from his country estate in Glencoe, Illinois. ('country estate' by courtesy of Joe O'Donnell). Bob Stephan checked in to Joe several times this last year, still handsome, smiling and evidently going places with U.S. Gypsum. Ray McClory and Bob Irminger are still hand-shaking and greeting as they go about their business in the fair city of Chicago.

"The scrivener acted as a one-man expeditionary force to Indianapolis recently, and there collided with a number of '27 chappies and others from less-glorious years but whose presence brought pleasure. Jack Glaska sat himself at his trusty desk to act the part of Indianapolis vice-president in charge of collecting stuff, and came up after hours' struggle with the following: Bill Holland rates first position, due to (Glaska speaking) number of offspring. He's with Bates Motor Transport (adv.) in Indianapolis, and has two of his family already set for St. Mary's and one for N.D. Won't that one have a lot of company when he goes over to Sweetbriar-on-the-St.Joe to visit his sisters?

"Tom Conroy is with the Acme Fast Freight, and has one to keep Bill Holland's company at St. Mary's and one to room with young Holland at N.D. B. X. Gremillion is in the Transmission Engineer's office of Indiana Bell—score for the Gremillions: St. Mary's one; N.D., one.

Carl Feske is putting Brother Cyprian's precepts into effect for the accounting division of Indiana Bell; Bob Gavin is travelling for the construction department of the same outfit; and W. S. (Skip) MacDonald is plant engineer, Evansville district, for Indiana Bell, with a 1954 half-back on the way up. Charley Riley, of the nimble wits and nimbler legs, (who is remembered in a not-so-fond way by Howard Jones of U.S.C.) is field auditor, Gross Income Tax division of Indiana. (How do you like that? And ye scrivener has been trying to figure those Hoosier blanks out all by himself). Tom Ruckle-shaus is operating a fleet of Red Cabs on the streets of his native Indianapolis, and, if he's worried about my spelling of his name, we're even after that ride one of his jockeys gave me a week ago. Joe Dienhart is doing a very fine job at Cathedral High, handling all sports at that institution.

"And from 703 Bonnie Brae, River Forest, Illinois, present address of Bill Halloran, said Mr. Halloran throws his weight around the column in the form of a letter in inimitable style. The first portion of the letter is deleted, since (blush, Boland!) it refers to the doggerel of last months in poetic prose such as only Halloran would perpetrate. However, here's the rest of the missive, in parts: 'Am with Sears, Roebuck and Co., where I started in '28, trying to match wits with the 'other' quality gas and electric ranges in the nation. It is absorbing work and holds, I hope, assurance of a fairly comfortable period to come in the day when the race has been run.

"In the office with me is Bernie Leahy, who is attempting to learn the art of store merchandising as well as he learned to knife a good gain off tackle . . . The last trip I made through the Southwest I ran across Tommy Green, at Conroe, [spelling by Boland: why can't Green live in a spellable town?] Texas, an oil town north of Houston. He still retains his versatility as evidenced by the fact that after graduating in Commerce, he started Law and is now leading the oil men of Conroe through the mazes of legislation. In Dallas, I spent a few hours with Don Laskey, who had run over from Shreveport. Don is married and doing very well with a gas company there. Jimmy Cowles is batting high, according to Don. In Wichita, Kansas, I had quite a reunion with Ed McKenna who is doing right well by himself, ranching. I spent a couple of days with Don Hennessy in Vicksburg. He's married now, with two children. His charming wife, a native of Natchez, has one of those yard-wide Southern draws that would have tickled Brother Cyprian's heart. [That's Halloran speaking, Mrs. Hennessy!] Ran across Cyp

Sporl in New Orleans, and, in Memphis, spent a few hours with Bob and Troy Bonner, Austin Hall and Frenchy Dohogne.

"One time down east I managed to get in a phone call to Joe Gartland. Chet McDonald was in the state, but couldn't get any actual dope on him. Joe, if you can manage to get his address I'll forgive you the poetry. [That's not nice, Bill; but McDonald had better write here, as well as to you!]

"Jack Hickok is another from whom I've heard nothing for years. As one might expect, the last meeting with him was consistent with his irrepressible nature. He called me at the office and I met him at the Congress Hotel where we had dinner and spent three enjoyable hours. As I was seeing him off at the station it occurred to me that the pace of the conversation had not permitted one very pertinent question. In response to the query 'what are you doing in Chicago (Jack's business is in Great Falls, Montana)?' he exclaimed in his own original way 'Oh—I forgot to tell you; I'm due at Mayo's tomorrow for an operation. If I come through I'll send you a card.' I got the card, and with it the last word I've heard since."

"So endeth the Halloran excerpts. In vital statistics, Bill has three readying for Notre Dame, and one for St. Mary's . . . and he and his wife have recovered from the loss of their two oldest children—a tragedy that brings forth the heartfelt sympathy of all his classmates, I know."

"On a trip to attend the Chicago club election meeting, ye scribe was able to congratulate Frank McCurrie on his election to the presidency of the Chicago Notre Dame club; Ed Ryan was made secretary, and McClory, Ed McLaughlin, Butch Rogers, Ed McGuire et al. rooted our brilliant young prosecutor home."

"And with that, ye scrivener will sign off. That's enough for the time being, and Dooley's mad at me anyhow for that poetry. But let me warn you, men—you'll get another if that dope doesn't keep pouring in. Adios."

Joe Gartland is an active member of the Catholic Alumni Sodality of Boston, according to information from Jim Sanford, '15. Dick Dunn, '18, is vice-president of the sodality this year and will be president next year.

Al Doyle, head of the Speech Department in the University and an attorney in Mishawaka, is the new attorney for St. Joseph County. He succeeds Cliff Potts, '25, of South Bend. The change, on January 1, was occasioned by a change in the political make-up of the county commissioners, who appoint the county attorney.

Jim Valley, a mining engineer in a copper mine at Kimberly, Nevada, stopped off for a campus visit on January 3, after a Christmas vacation with the folks back in Pennsylvania. Jim had many interesting tales of his life in the great rugged places.

Van Wallace had to be removed from his home at 3 A.M. at the height of the recent Michigan floods, according to word from Father John MacNamara, '97, a resident of St. Joseph's Sanitarium, Mt. Clemens, where Van was taken. Van's home was directly in the path of the water, which washed up into the first floor for three or four feet covering everything with mud and silt. Van didn't suffer any ill effects from the experience and, through Father Mac, he sends his kindest regards to all the boys.

1928 Secretary: Louis F. Buckley, Middleton, Wisconsin.

TEN-YEAR REUNION June 3, 4 and 5

BULLETIN

The local reunion committee of Boyle and Wagner, plus the Alumni Office team of Armstrong and Dooley, got together on March 4 for a preliminary discussion of plans. It was definitely agreed that the 10-year reunion party would be held on SATURDAY NIGHT immediately after the general alumni banquet; and it was tentatively agreed that the party would be held on the campus, probably in the faculty dining room in the Dining Halls building. Further information, with all possible details, will be contained in the May ALUMNUS.

Hard at teaching his course in Personnel Administration, Buck took time out to send these notes:

"Thank you, Dr. Frank Hagerty, for the contribution last month. No doubt, the M.D.'s in the class will make up for their failure to send Frank more dope by being present at the reunion in June. I hope that the engineers gave Louie Carr and John Fagan a little more co-operation than Frank had last month."

"Ed McClarnon has been selected to represent the lawyers in this column for the next issue. Will the law men please drop Ed a line at once at 144 Tyler Street, Highland Park, Michigan, so he will have the necessary information to send in by April 15."

"The following men have been appointed sectional class chairmen for the ten-year reunion for the states where there is a heavy '28 representation. We would like a report from each of them for the next issue, letting us know whom we can expect from his section of the country. Will you please drop a note to your sectional chairman, so he will be able to send in his report on who will be present."

Jim Schocknessy, Ohio; Bob Kirby, Indiana; Dick Phelan, Illinois; Troy Bonner, Tennessee; Martin V. Callagy, New York; Toney Ceres, New Jersey; Jack Doyle, Minnesota; Ed Freitas, California; John Fredrick, Michigan; Frank Holdampf, Wisconsin; Bill Leahy, Missouri; Turk Meinert, Pennsylvania; Frank Reilly, Massachusetts; John Robinson, Connecticut.

"We will also be expecting a further report from the chairman of the local committee, Andy Boyle and Willard Wagner in the next issue. Let us know all about your program at that time, Andy and Wag. I must explain that Wag kindly consented to take over on the local committee when Burt Toepp found that a new job with the Associates Investment Company would demand too much of his time."

"The only news that the dog sleds were able to bring through this month was contained in a letter from Bob Kirby and a post card from Frank Kelly. Bob wrote from the Kirby Mortuary, Meridian at Nineteenth, Indianapolis, inquiring for Connie Ochoa's address, as he is planning a trip to Mexico. Bob wanted to know what a social leper could do to get some information on our forthcoming ten-year re-union. The only report that he gave was that he had four kids when he left home that morning—St. Mary's, three—Notre Dame, one. I believe Bob held the record for having the largest family among the men back for the five-year reunion. Frank Kelly wrote from St. Petersburg, Florida, where he was spending his honeymoon. Frank was married January 11 in the Log Chapel. Needless to say, Frank's praise of the Florida weather and Bob's plans for a trip to Mexico didn't make me feel any better in the zero temperature of Madison."

Lou Carr writes to say that Buck's notice as to the '28 news for this ALUMNUS arrived on the day that his mother died. Under the circumstances it was, of course, impossible for Lou to come through with any general stuff. He does promise, however, that it will "take the impossible" to keep him away from the 10-year reunion and "I hope and think that every '28 engineer should feel the same way."

Lou has two daughters, one two and a half years old and the other six weeks old (at the time of his writing). Pop himself is manager of the Coast Cities Coaches, Inc., a bus line running out of Asbury Park, New Jersey.

John Fagan engineered this potent dose for Lou:

"Well, Louie, you asked for it, so here goes. I haven't seen a '28 engineer in the past five or six years, as I recall, and evidently the boys just don't write letters. It can't be done with a slide rule, you know.

"Yours truly has the Hartford Office of the Clamage Fan Company, a Kalamazoo, Michigan, concern, with Connecticut, Rhode Island and western Massachusetts as the territory. Also cover G.E. at Schenectady, but have met only one N.D. man there, John Huether, '22, who is on top of the pile in the Industrial Sales Division. Understand that 'Duke' Duquette is also going places there. Charlie Topping, I believe, is also still there. Tom and Ray Bov, I understand, were formerly with G.E. but their whereabouts now are a mystery to me.

"That ten-year reunion hits me fine—haven't been out to the Bend since the day I lined up with the benedicts in 1930, the day of the Navy game and the dedication of the stadium. A fast trip that was, but made memorable by good old Bill Kelley and Eddie Bourke. Bill still resides there, and Eddie is a brewmaster of note in Brooklyn. Ed and myself took a mud bath together at the last Army game. Saw a few of the boys at that time, among them Dick Collins, Bill (Turk) Kelly and Larry Culliney. Larry was still unmarried and, believe it or not, bemoaning the fact, if I remember right. It'll be good to see congenial Ernie Rieder again. Dutch was with Detroit Edison way back—don't know about now. Also hope Pearl Moore gets the urge to make it—the old roommate did a real disappearing act.

"These engineers surely keep out of sight and the newspapers—Herb McCabe, Adrian Lopez, Vic Fischer and George Connors at one time could be found around the metropolitan area of New York. When I was in Detroit, again 'way back, that section of the country could account for Ernie Rieder, Al Davis, Rice Simonin, Art Scheberle and Vince Stace. Al, I notice, has moved his base of operations to Cleveland. Recent columns place Jerry Ludwig up in his old home town of Grand Rapids, and Phil Lytle down Pittsburgh way. Jerry, I see, as well as Bill Tousseint and Dick Phelan are doing their bit toward the swelling of future N.D. enrollment. I'm taking care of across the road—two young ladies, one five years old and the latest five months old. Bob Bannon, from latest reports, is now a Jerseyite from old Kentucky.

"Well, let's see if we can line a few of the boys up hereabouts. I may slip a little bit in my dates as to the proper class, but they will be close. A year one way or the other, this late in the game, can't make much difference and—didn't you say you were looking for copy? Tim Murphy is with the Federal Housing here, Frank Laria still likes the old home town, and John Cianci still hands his hat down the road in New Britain. Frank Ahearn, with the local sheet, is riding high in the editorial game. Springfield politicians and friends of Bill Hurley gave Bill a rousing testimonial previous to his recent marriage there. Yes sir, he's sweet William now.

"Johnny Sullivan is also in Springfield and the same goes for John Waters. Joe Jachym and Tommy Ferriter are still in Westfield, Joe still playing a bit of good ball, and Tommy practicing medicine. Frank Kelly of Lee, Massachusetts, is a full-fledged embalmer and doing well. Where can Joe (Tige) Sullivan of Holyoke be located these days? Understand Joe spent a couple of years studying medicine in France. Tommy Shea now lives in Manchester and is well satisfied at United Aircraft here in Hartford.

"Over Providence way Tom Collins is doing a good job with the Rhode Island Club and getting plenty of support from Bob Powers, Leo McAloon and the boys. The '28 chemists will remember Jim O'Connor, '27, of Springfield, who is now in Buffalo, still the chemist. Jim is married and they recently became three.

"Late reports says that Eddie Bourke has transferred operations from Brooklyn to South Bend. Best of luck out there, Eddie."

According to all the reliable political dope Bob Grant, prominent attorney in South Bend, will be the Republican nominee for congressman from the third district of Indiana in the next election.

Corrections from Phalin following that recent volume: 1) Swede Schroeder is not tied with Bob Kirby in the number of offspring; Swede has only one, while Kirby has four. 2) George Coury was not in the hospital when Howie wrote; he was on his wedding trip to Los Angeles.

An article on refrigerants by Anthony Benning is contained in the latest issue of the Catalyzer, campus chemistry publication. Since his graduation Tony has been in the Jackson laboratories of du Pont.

1929 Secretary: Joseph P. McNamara, 231 Wisconsin Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Since—according to his story—he had been tightly tied up for several weeks with an important case, the old Juggler whip-cracker and present deputy attorney general in Indiana sent along several letters from the boys. Here they are:

Vic Hart says:

"I hope that you will accept my apologies for being so late in answering your letter. Your position as class secretary has always appealed to me as being a very thankless task. As a result of this feeling, I am glad to help you fill up spaces.

"Here are the highlights. I went to Harvard Business School in the fall of 1930, where I roomed with Ralph Zimmerman, '29. In the spring of 1930 I broke a leg and was laid up for a year; then back to Harvard and finished in 1932. I went to work immediately with Stevenson, Jordan and Harrison, and am still with them.

"Over these past six years I have been located in New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Atlanta, and now, Nashville. I expect to make another change in a month or two—probably Birmingham.

"I have enjoyed all of this traveling, which is partly due to having no wife, no furniture, no dog.

"Within the last two months I have run into Mickey McMahon and Botts Crowley here in Nashville; also saw Moon Mullins on my last trip to New Orleans. On my next trip to Memphis I hope to see Dave Saxon.

"Since our class has been out of school almost nine years, there should be plenty of the boys coming through here on their way to and from Florida vacations. I would certainly appreciate a visit from any of them."

And from Charley Colton:

"I apologize for not answering your letter sooner. I am greatly pleased to hear from you. I always watch the ALUMNUS for news of old '29 and 29½ (ask Bill O'Connor). I had cards from several of the boys, including Jack Elder, Bob Tyler, Tom Ryan, yourself and others.

"Now, a little about myself. I have been in the hotel and restaurant business since I was graduated. I am now assistant manager, here at the University Club in Boston. Among our members whom I see a lot are Art McManus, Bill Murphy, Joe Ryan, and Smoky Kelleher. I wish you would say 'hello' to Bill Krieg, Bill O'Connor, John Rocap, and others that you see.

"Also tell Jim Armstrong he is by far the best alumni secretary in the country!

"Tell any of the boys from the Midwest landing in Boston to look me up."

From Joe Jackym:

"When I first looked at your letter, I was afraid that the Hoosier State had something on me. But what a pleasant surprise. Nice work, Joe, and my congratulations.

"I got a kick out of your letter; and as soon as I finished it, I started to check up on some of the boys. With the help of John B. Sullivan, '29, in Springfield, I got some information. John is married—working for the State Unemployment Commission—and the father of a four-months-old boy. Met Bob Brennan at the Agawam race track the day I hit the double. Bob was playing the same combination and gave his two dollars to a friend to place it. Bob had his money all spent—too soon. His friend got to the window too late to lay the bet. Yes, Bob was afraid to speak to the wife. Brennan is a salesman for the Liberty Wholesalers of Springfield. He is living in Lenox. The last I knew, Bob had two children.

"Jim Branahan is in New Mexico and in poor health. Here's wishing him luck.

"Tom Ferriter, Westfield, Massachusetts, boy. Went to Taft's Medical School and now practicing at home and doing all right.

"Tom Shea, Chicopee lad, is in New Britain. Married a school teacher. I believe he is a salesman. Saw both of them at the Connecticut Valley Club's dance last June. He knows how to pick them.

"Ed McCauley, Worcester. Old 'Tin Ear' we called him. Ed is in the grocery business with his brother in Worcester. I was to meet him last Sunday, but he didn't show up. You see, I play basketball there Sundays. The McCauleys have one of the best markets in the city. He was at the Connecticut Valley dance in Hartford, also.

"Ray Connors, of Badin Hall, is now a sports reporter in his home town, Great Barrington. Met him and his brother at the Notre Dame-Army game.

"Met Dwight Moore. He's working for the state highway commission. Tom Murphy is married and the last I heard was a beer salesman in Connecticut. Ray Mulroney, of North Adams, is working for a construction company.

"Tim Toomey, of Greenfield, is with the Royal Indemnity Insurance Co. of New York City. He was at the dance in Hartford. He brought his cousin along; she was very nice.

John P. Burke is teaching in Clinton, Massachusetts. The other Burke is in politics and sells insurance. Snubby Fagan was at the Connecticut Valley Club elections.

"I saw many of the fellows at the last Universal Night celebration in Springfield. Bill Hurley, the president of the club, did the honors. We had films of the Notre Dame football games. We had about 80. Father Frank Quinlan, Paul Castner Foote Rule, John B. Shea, Art Parisien, Tim Murphy and yours truly all said a few words. Plans were made for the dance. Joe Delria and John Cianci deserve a good work for the affair.

"As for myself—not much to say. Played professional baseball with Wheeling, West Virginia, where I played against Leo Schroll, who was with Jeannette. Right across the river I met John Niemiec, Bull Poliski, Joe Sheeketski and Jim Harris of Bellaire, Ohio. Met Dave Barry in Clarksburg. Met Andy Sleigh and Red Edwards. I played at Evansville, Beaumont, Tyler, and Wilkes-Barre. Always met somebody in each of the towns. While at Saranac Lake I met Cornelius Carey, who now is a judge. Worked for the A. and P. Co. in Springfield. Coached and played baseball and basketball for them. Then left them for the Westinghouse in East Springfield, but was laid off. Have had very good luck coaching semi-pro basketball and baseball.

"Yes, I was married to Helen Schoenrock, from home, on October 4, last. Haven't missed a Notre Dame-Army game in the last four years, and don't expect to miss another one. At present I am playing basketball in Worcester on Sundays. And refereeing takes up some of my evenings. You know, this is quite a basketball center. One of our boys, Eddie Sadowski, is doing all right out there this year. When Notre Dame plays in Albany we expect to give some kind of a gift.

"Listen, Joe, if I mentioned all the lads I've met I'd never finish. I've missed some no doubt but not intentionally. I'll play detective for a while and will send you another letter or report later."

Joseph Edwin Conboy, South Bend, is the new assistant adult probation officer in St. Joseph County, succeeding Loren Hess, '33, who resigned to take a position in the county welfare department.

1930 Secretary: Bernard W. Conroy, 1109 Kenneth St., New Kensington, Pa.

Lou Stettler is now a member of the public accounting firm of Kay, Naegele and Stettler, 948 Union Trust Building, Cleveland.

Jerry Parker, executive director of the Centre Club, New York City, was a prominent figure in the large Catholic Press Exhibit held recently in the club.

1931 Secretary: John Bergan, 828 E. Colfax Ave., South Bend, Ind.

Here is the typical Bergan contribution:

"Twas a typical Irish wedding in Aliquippa, Pa., when Miss Wendy Kane married Dick O'Donnell on the first of February. Bagpipes, reels of the Emerald Isle and most of the Irish in eastern Pennsylvania were on hand at the ceremony. Dick is in the publicity department of the democratic party in Harrisburg. We certainly wish this couple the best of luck.

"Further news from the East brings the announcement of the engagement of Miss Marguerite Lyons of New Rochelle, New York, and genial Jim Kearney, the Chicago law book editor. This event will take place in the summer. Jim was a visitor in South Bend recently and renewed many associations on the campus. He revealed that he is unusually busy these days with his teaching duties at Loyola and his law book work at Callaghan's. A wedding of early spring will be that Miss Katherine Eisenhauer and Walt Philipp in Philadelphia.

"One of the outstanding events of the class this winter was the informal gathering of the class of the Chicago district in the home of Paul and Don O'Toole on February 21. Most of the members of the class were on hand and a pleasant evening of entertainment was enjoyed. Paul O'Toole, Jim Doyle, Gil Seaman and Ben Oakes were in charge of the affair.

"The classes of 1932 and 1933 were strongly represented as well as a goodly number of '31 men. Steve Driscoll was the only '30 man present. The others were: from '31, Frank Holland, Bill Taylor, Bill Gibbons, Jim Kearney, Tom Coughlin, Ray Collins, Jack Schmit, Vince Ponie, Ray Collins, Bernie Thompson, Jim O'Brien, Don Partlan, Bob Pendergast, Bob Smith, Don O'Toole, John Crimmins, Gil Seaman, Gene Coyle, Eddie Ryan, Jim Doyle; from '32, Tighe Woods, Charley Nash, John Mulhern, Bud Groves, John Poynton, Phil Dunleavy, Paul O'Toole, Jim Lewis, John O'Shaughnessy, Vince Cavanaugh, Bob Gorman, Joel Ostrander, Jim Downs, Bud Mortenson, Dick Roney, Jack Duffy, Tom Duffy, Ben Solvati, Dick Schavone, and a few others.

"Bill Griffin has recently been appointed head of the physical education department of the Chicago public schools, a grand job and a great fellow to fill it. Dave Rusk, happily married, is working under him in one of the North Side schools. We also learn that our old friend, Bill O'Malley, is now master-of-chancery in one of the Chicago courts. Tom Cannon, of Muncie, has recently announced his candidacy for prosecuting attorney of Delaware county, Indiana. He is the present deputy and we wish him lots of success in the May primary. Henry Kopek is engaged in the laundry business with his father in Hamtramck, Michigan. Leo Cook, from nearby Niles, is with the department of justice and is located in Detroit.

"News from the west coast tells us that Tom Ashe is office manager of the Emsco Derrick and Equipment Company of Los Angeles, and was recently joined by his parents from Rochester. Romeo Allard is on the science faculty of Loyola University. Norm Herwit is located in Los Angeles and is progressing in the publicity business. Little news has been heard from Matt Cullinan since his marriage but is still engaged in the vineyard and fruit growing, according to latest reports.

"Gene Vallelee, late of Fort Wayne, is now managing a movie house on Chicago's North Side. Most all of the grievances and troubles of the oil operators of the Twin Cities now come before Joe Schroeder, who is agent and lobbyist for the oil operators of his region in Minnesota. Jerry McKay, also of Minneapolis, earned a very fine trip to Mexico City late in January because of his activity in achieving a membership in the 100 Point club of the National Cash Register Company. Mac is married and has a daughter. Jerry Ball is traveling six central Indiana counties in the interest of the Ohio Oil Company and is planning a trip to Mattoon, Illinois, early in the spring for a reunion with Paul Grant and his merry mad gang.

"Mars Condon, head clerk of the Hotel Morrison, Chicago, was recently named winner of the 'most congenial clerk' award by the Hotel Greeters Association. Frank McGreal has been transferred to the title division of the Chicago Title and Trust Company. Joe Kearney is a salesman for the Frankfort Distilleries out of Buffalo. Gene Coyle is now back in Chicago with the Internal Revenue division after some time spent in Washington. Smiling Bill Chawgo is in the capital income division of the same department and is expected to take a new job with the same department early in the summer. Bill and the 'Missus' are still living in Aurora.

"New addresses: Tim Benitz is now receiving his mail at 225 E. 35th Street, New York City. Tim is with the mortgage department of the state and manages to teach a little contract in one of the downtown hotels in his leisure. Bud Tuohy receives Uncle Sam's representatives at 204-14 42nd Street, Bayside, L.I., while Bob Pendergast has his own law office at 1145 West Sheridan Road, Chicago.

"Jim Keating, deputy prosecuting attorney of St. Joseph county, has tried many of the important cases before the grand jury in South Bend during the winter term. John Roberto, the transplanted New Englander, is now city attorney of Gary, Indiana. Joe Munizzo is in the office of the attorney general of the state of Illinois at 160 North LaSalle St., Chicago.

"Had an enjoyable visit with Frank Kersjes following the Pitt basketball game and Frank is now sales manager for the Glidden Paint Company in Michigan and football coach at Mount Pleasant College. Frank is still single and would enjoy hearing from some of the old gang in Sorin.

"Plans are now under way for a dinner meeting of all members of the class in the vicinity of South Bend on Monday evening, March 21, in the Columbia Athletic club in South Bend. '31 men in northern Indiana and southern Michigan are cordially invited to attend."

1932 Secretary: Herbert Giorgio, 9005 188th St., Hollis, L. I., New York.

Rapid Fire Giorgio sends the following notes:

"John Colville is engaged to Miss Josephine Ford of Mount Vernon, New York. Joe Carey is the proud father of a baby girl. John Cranes is married and living in Winona, Minnesota. Smoky Coyne is still the big, bad boy of Pittsburgh. John Matousek is married to Frank Denney's sister, Marybelle.

"Jerry Wise, ex. '32, is married and is the father of a happy houseful. Jim Gleason is still the boss of Menominee. Bill Newbold is in Washington, D. C., with Tom McKeivitt and Clay Johnson. John Ross was admitted to the bar (legal) in New York. Frank Murnane (Waterbury) is married, we believe. Bill Slader is close to the altar.

"Tom Burns is teaching in Syracuse. Cornie Hayes' candid camera in June failed to operate. Al McEachern and Arnold Klein are married. Bill Murphy is practicing law in New Jersey. Joe Snitzer is playing golf in Florida. Norb Crowe, I believe, is in Washington, D. C.

Frank Donalty is the father of two. Bill Harrington is the same. Terry Dillon is married to Fred Snite's sister. Arch Donoghue was at the wedding. Mike Crawford is interning in Cleveland. My brother, Doug, is interning in Jamaica, as is

George Seelinger. Red Jackson is interning at St. John's Hospital, New York.

Bob Glaser may now be addressed as Dr. Robert E. Glaser, Ball Memorial Hospital, Muncie, Indiana.

John Murphy writes to say that he was married on October 2 in St. Rose Church, Detroit, "to a wonderful Catholic girl." John and his wife are residing at 1205 Lemay Avenue, Detroit. Father Anthony Weber, C.S.C., and John got together for a good visit before Father left for India.

1933 Secretary: Donald Wise, 110 Pleasant St., Joliet, Ill.

FIVE-YEAR REUNION June 3, 4 and 5

BULLETIN

Local Chairman Paul Boehm assembled the available members of the local committee for a meeting on arrangements the night of March 3. Seldom has a committee on reunion gone into serious training for the event at such an early stage. The editor of the ALUMNUS was there in person and predicts a record-breaking program for the lucky members of the Class who are back for the First Five. Friday night was decided upon as best for the Class Party, beginning around 8:30, to allow the nearby precincts to report, with a buffet supper to wind it up. There are a lot of details—watch the May issue—but the early word is PLAN TO BE IN FRIDAY, JUNE 3.

Charles Sheedy, C.S.C., has finished his year of novitiate and is now enrolled in the University for graduate work while residing in Moreau Seminary.

Chuck Jaskwich, since his graduation coach at Holy Cross College in New Orleans, was recently named backfield coach at the University of Mississippi, as assistant to Harry Mehre, head coach and athletic director.

Secretary Don Wise is all hopped up about the reunion and, with Paul Boehm, the local chairman, and the Alumni Office, he is working hard on the plans. Here is an excerpt from his most recent letter:

"The sectional class chairman which I hereby appoint are: New York, Jack Finneran; Chicago, Pat Crowley; Pacific Coast, Leo Cummings and Laurie Vejar, co-chairmen; Southern, Jules de la Vergne. These men can appoint and work with anyone they desire. Whether or not the reunion is a success depends entirely upon the number of the class members that attend, and, if each of the chairmen above named will contact members from the various cities in their locality, we are sure to have a representative group."

1934 Secretary: James Moscow, 2320 N. Lawndale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Localman Bob Cahill reports that Jack Egan was on the campus and in South Bend to spend part of his winter vacation. Jack is assistant traffic manager of a large New York City department store.

Phil Ott is now grand knight of the Michigan City, Indiana, Knights of Columbus.

Phil Trexler will teach bacteriology at Harvard and do research there next year, according to a recent announcement by James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard. Phil has been associated with Professor Reyniers in bacteriology research at Notre Dame.

Hughie Devore, assistant coach and scout under Jim Crowley at Fordham for three years, was recently appointed head football coach at Providence College, Providence, Rhode Island.

More and more the reports come from Hollywood that Nick Lukats is heading toward stardom. His latest releases are (or will be) "Start Cheering," in which he has a comedy role, and "Campus Murder Mystery," in which he has the juvenile lead.

Laurie Vejar is working as a film editor for M.G.M. alongside Cotton Warburton, the former Southern Cal quarterback.

1935 Secretary: Franklyn C. Hochreiter, 11 Brunswick Blvd., Buffalo, N. Y.

That Buffalo boy is here again—all loaded up with dope, as usual. He says:

"Here we are again and this time with a little more to offer. The gang came through with a few letters for this trip to the press, and your scribe will do the best he can to take the chatter more interesting as a result of the 'awakening.'"

"First of all an apology to Tom LaLonde for not using his very fine dope last month. It came in the day after the column left our hands, Tom, and as a result we had to save it for this number. But we are trying to do it justice at the moment.

"Before we get into the month's key-holing we think it proper that a few official notations should be made about the contents of the 'society column' of our last issue. Felicitations are in order for Bob Van Lahr, ex. '35, who took to himself a bride in Montrose, California, on January 25. Lots of luck, Bob, and may all your male offspring come South Bend-ward.

"Then too, we read that Bob Rog- ers finally asked Jean Detwiler the question. Knowing Jean from our year in the 'big town,' we can vouch for Bob's choice. Here's to a short engagement and a place in the 'marriages' soon.

"The class of '35 herewith extends to Father Raymond Clancy, C.S.C., profound condolences in his bereavement on the death of his father. It's been a long time since we've seen Father Clancy, but as '35ers gather here and there they often talk of the history professor who stirred us as green Frosh.

"For some time now we have been going to mention a couple of our crowd who have 'gone west' to attain success. 'Bud' Tombregel has been out in Hollywood for a little over a year reading and commenting upon movie scripts.

"A short while ago Bud's sidekick, Bill Steis, joined him out in sunny California. What he is doing out on the coast we do not as yet know, but surmise it is in a kindred line of endeavor. May we anticipate a verification, Bill?

"And now let us turn to the document received from the 'North Michigan Club for Wayward Youth.' That was the terminology that friend 'King' applied to his abode. As you will remember, Tom is living out in Chi with George Demetrio, of the Palmer House promotion staff, and Bob Byrnes. Thanks for the swell material, gang—you've been dependable for three years, and the stuff grows better every letter.

"Bob had seen Fred Brookmeyer about the streets. Fred is completing his last year of law at DePaul. We had heard that you were gathering legal pearls out there, Fred. Hope they prove gems of rare value.

"Our Chicago barrister, Tony Scolaro, has succeeded in cracking the Illinois Bar, and at the present writing is busying himself in making contacts in the 'Windy City.'

"Of Jim Krafthafer we learn little, outside of the fact that he is still located in Wilmette, a Chicago suburb. How about letting us in on your trade, Jim?

"Friend 'Robbin' Byrnes continues to have as his associate at A. C. Allyn, investment bankers, none other than smiling and handsome Jim Howard.

"George Beltemacchi lives in the same apartment building as do the three Michigan Boulevard youths, and is employed by an architectural firm in the loop.

Comes word that 'Duke Walters and Tom Leonard are 'painting the town red' for Sherwin Williams in Chi.

"Here is some good news about

Tom Thompson. Tom has returned to his home in Detroit from the University Hospital at Ann Arbor and is very much improved. Nice going, Tommie—here is to a return to the books next term.

"The mid-western boy who went south—Ray Keating—was in Chi on a visit a short while back and dropped in on Tom. Ray, since his exodus to the southland, has attached himself to an oil company in Houston, Texas, in the auditing department.

"Singing John Ryan dropped in the Palmer House to see George and informed him that at the moment he is taking lessons in voice culture. We'll be hearing big things from 'long John' yet.

"Our dapper sophomore prexie—Bus Breen—is wowing 'em at Northwestern Law School and will carry away his sheepskin at the end of this year. Predictions on Bus—100%!

"Quoting Tom on John Burke we have the following: 'John comes into Chi regularly from Milwaukee for his South Side visits and we've had some grand evenings together. He finished law at Marquette this June.'

"It's been a while since we heard about the Corrigan twins, Jim and John. But here is the latest—Jim Corrigan is working in Milwaukee, while brother John Corrigan is in Quincy, Massachusetts. How about a line from you two birds to let us know what the occupation is?

Evidently this shoe business that LaLonde is in takes him on eastern jaunts for he tells us that he saw Art Carey in his room at Harvard a couple months ago. Again to quote—"there sat a big Kervax hair-growing machine in the corner, but Art looked—well, I guess no balder."

"To recall a quotation of our's a couple years ago—"The carrot-topped news hound of the News in New York—Bill Toumey—is still turning out his daily stint for the metropolitan newspaper. We learn that Bill has been doing the better night spots of the town lately with a charming damsel from Sioux City, Iowa. Wonder who that could have been?

"Returning to the shores of Lake Michigan and Chicago, it comes through that Bob 'Shanty' Hogan, ex. '35, is with the T.W.A. in the Palmer House office.

"For those of us who remember Eddie Callahan, ex. '35, from our freshman year, it might be interesting to observe that he is now finishing up at Iowa University in Iowa City.

"It's been a long time since we heard from Jack Shodron, but the latest info is that Jack is now back in Peoria with the Caterpillar outfit. How about a note one day, Jack?

"Remember Harold May, ex. '35, the swordsman? Well, he is also in Peoria. When last seen, Hal was about a dangerous job and requested no publicity as to its character. We'll keep your confidence, Hal.

"The dairy maids of Wisconsin still have their Jim O'Meara. Jim continues with the Dairy Equipment Company out there, but took a little time off to visit the Chicago boys, recently.

"Fran Schlueter has been seen at Mass at the Cathedral in Chi, but it was impossible to have a word with him, says Tom.

"International Harvester has come through for Bob Scott and has rewarded worthy efforts with a considerable promotion. That's the old stuff, Bob—keep 'em on their toes!

"About 'dapper' Bill Miller we have heard nothing, Tom, except for what we sent through last month—our chat in the Statler garage at an early morning hour Christmas. We would suggest that you do write his Lockport address and pray for a response.

"The Chicago triplets extend a hearty invitation to all '35ers and any other strolling Notre Dame men to visit them for a night (or 10) lodging at 849 Michigan Avenue. The phone number is Superior 8186. If no answer, call George at the Palmer House.

"Just a few days ago we received a real surprise—a long and healthy missive from Bob Maher down Washington way. Thanks a million, Bob, for coming through so well for our feeble task here in the Queen City. You have given us new hope in the gang. You were about a month off on the natal day as it comes January 5. But better late than never! Thanks, anyway!

"Bob is now in his third year of medicine at George Washington Medical School in the nation's capital. And, says Bob, 'all the rumors to the effect that med school is tough are true—but I like the work and am getting along rather decently.' Nice going, Bob. We had you picked for a white gown and mask way back there in freshman days, when you were worrying about Doc Just's insects.

"Doctor Maher received some correspondence Christmas time from several far points. One was a letter from Manila, and the other a card from Hong Kong. The senders? None other than the Dillon brothers. Jim Dillon and his brother Bill, '36, who are attending Pitt Law School, have taken a year off from their studies and are working as deck hands on a 'round-the-world freighter. Some vacation, we'll say—but it's great stuff if you can get it!

"Frank Sinnott stopped off in Washington to see Bob the first week in February. Frank was on his way to Florida to do a little vacationing. Bob writes that they had a real gabfest over a mess of soft shell crabs. A post card later in the month informed Bob that the lucky Sinnott offspring was returning to New York via boat, auto et al. Some people get all the breaks! What are you doing now, Frank? How about a line or two?

"And here comes some dope about friend John Stecker, ex. '35. You all remember the blond master of the scalpel, who stayed with us through the junior chapter of our campus life. John is now completing his medical course at St. Louis University, and he will interne at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh. Nice going, John—lots of luck in the profession!

"Bob was one of those fortunate individuals who danced the night of the President's Birthday Ball. There he saw Al Loritsch for a few moments. Al continues on Uncle Sam's payroll in the capital.

"Writes Bob, 'Matt Brown, ex. '35, is here in town too. Charlie Hill is still battling the medical monsters at Georgetown. I see him at 12:30 Mass at St. Augustus' occasionally. Haven't bumped into Rowan or Henneberger yet this year.'

"The Arkansas flash—'Arky' Fairhead—and Orland Yates are reported as no longer in the capital. Bob says he believes they have headed back into the west. Orland comes from Hannibal, Missouri, you know.

"Bill Murtha continues his sojourn in Washington. We do not know what he is doing at the moment. How about letting us know, Bill?

"While home at Christmas Bob went to the Pittsburgh Club's holiday dance on New Year's Night, but he says that he was the only '35er in the place. Not even faithful Bill Lord was there. One of our ex's, Paul Lesko, was among the crowd, however.

"Quote further — 'Congratulations Bobby Rogers . . . I knew Jean would land you . . . Incidentally I wish Charlie Bragg and Danny Fox would remember they owe me a letter.'

"As a last note of interest, Bob tells us that Vince Gorman is reputed to be in Washington to start the medical course at some institution down there. Quite a jump from previous yearnings, Vince, but here's to you, kid!

"For those interested '35ers, Bob resides at 1513 "O" Street, N.W.,

Washington, D. C. How about a few of you embryo surgeons dropping a fellow medic a line?

"We cannot neglect a terse but interesting letter from our ex. bed-fellow 'Prexie' Proctor. Nice going, Tom. Even if we don't write, we still love you and enjoy your letters. Thanks for the info, kid!

"Tom, as we all know, is absorbing the final legal wisdom that Notre Dame Law School can produce in its third and last year.

"Writes friend Tom—'Leo Hanlon is still about the campus, as are Verbanc and Kranzfelder . . . John Jordan was down for the Pitt basketball game and also the wedding of Fred Mundee.'

"Tom also imparts the valuable info that the Polish Ambassador of Goodwill—Arthur Lucius Joseph Bernard Korzeneski—is in Florida recuperating from some very tough law exams. What a tough time the idle rich have!

"Before we close our monthly chatter we want to express a word of cheer to Father Farley, C.S.C., who had a leg amputated at Mayo Brothers this month, on the 10th, to be exact. Let's all offer a few prayers for the 'grand gentleman' that he may have a speedy recovery. What would Sorin be without 'Hi ya, boy?'

"We've got two more issues coming up this year, gang. What do you say to a bang up finis to this year's whisperings? May will be the next number and really our last opportunity to come through, as June is left largely for Commencement. We'll be looking for a desk full of letters."

1936 Secretary: John Moran, 61 E. 95th St., Apt. 2, New York City.

Here's that Moran man again:

"The blustery March winds may blow and blow, but they have unfortunately blown little class news into your secretary's mail box for this issue. So—the column will, necessarily, be rather brief. I trust that the coming of spring will thaw some of our more frozen brethren, at least enough to drag out the pen and ink for a short note.

"Around New York the biggest alumni gathering of the past few months was for the N.Y.U.-Notre Dame basketball game in Madison Square Garden on February 25. The score, 50-38, clearly indicated Notre Dame's superiority. The Garden was sold out before game time, thus proving that Notre Dame is still the favorite 'son' of New York's sports loving populace.

"Jim Kirby, my brother and I saw the game from up near the rafters. Jim is still doing accounting work in New York, with an occasional assignment that takes him up to Connecticut. On the way out we bumped into Joe Donnino who has been unreported these many months though he lives in Jamaica, Long Island. Joe was for a time working as a director of playgrounds, but at the present time he is seeking another opening. Also met Andy Hufnagel in front of the Garden, but soon lost him in the big crowd.

"At Ross' Tavern, we saw Charley Clark, still studying at Fordham Law each night, Al Carey and Walt Matusevich. A larger representation from '35 included John Donovan, also at Fordham Law, Gerry Doyle, still at the McAlpin and studying art in his spare time, Vince Hogan, Frank Palmisani, Cliff Welsh, and of course, the genial proprietor, Jim Ross, from the class of '34.

"Later, at the Notre Dame gathering at Centre Club, Joe Wade informed me that he is with the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, in the Bayway plant, where he is engaged in chemical research work. Joe stated that Julie Rocca is also with the same firm and is doing an excellent job in connection with the production of one of the company by-products.

"Also at the Centre Club were Bill Gillespie, '36, Jack Gillespie, '37, who is still doing his daily stint for the two hometown papers in New Jersey, Jim McDevitt, '35, Sig Sluska, '35, and Bill Kennedy, another Scholastic scribe, who is on the staff of one of the Long Island papers.

"The mailman usually rings twice—if the saying is true. However, this month he rang only once, with a letter from Mickey Dendler. Mickey is planning on attending Commencement this year, provided the family gets a new car. I'll let you know later whether I can get away at that time, Mickey.

"And that winds up this short column. Your secretary is spending some of his evenings each week seeking further knowledge at the College of the City of New York. However, that still leaves some time to write a longer column—provided some of you drag out the stationery and pen me a few lines. Alphabetically, here are a few who haven't been heard from since the great flood: Neil Barnett, Tom Bott, Chuck Boyle, Jim Burke, George Cannon, George Carey, Nick Casillo, Sonny Church, Sal Commissa, Norman Conley, Louie Crystal, Vinnie Curran, and Leo Cushing. If any of the above read this, how about a short line or two?"

Here's a note from Professor Louis Buckley, who is residing in Middleton, Wisconsin, while doing graduate work at the University of Wisconsin:

"I recently purchased a used copy of a book on business cycles in Madison. Much to my surprise I found the book had belonged to John Britton, 353 Alumni Hall, Notre Dame, Indiana, at one time. It also contained a copy of Mr. Apodaca's exam in Business Cycles given in 1936. I happened to be writing to Professor Apodaca, so I sent the exam on to him in Washington, D. C."

Your pal Lechner, the campus noter, is just about the biggest Catholic Youth around here now. He was recently elected first head of the Deanery Youth Council and was a delegate to the Diocesan Youth Council in Fort Wayne.

1937 Secretary: Paul Foley, 454 Auburn Ave., Apt. 208, Pontiac, Michigan.

Professor Louis Buckley, Middleton, Wisconsin, is particularly eager to hear from those economics majors who took the civil service examination for junior social science analyst. Will those concerned please write to the Professor at once to report upon the grades received?

Charlie Coy sends this fine stuff:

"Perhaps you would like to have a little news from a part of the country which has heretofore been unmentioned in your personals of the class of '37. I'm speaking now of this smoky, foggy city of St. Louis.

"Several of the pre-meds have drifted down here last fall from all parts of the country to join the butchers association of St. Louis University. Among the most notable, perhaps, is Sare Lanzafame (the boy with the mustache.) Sare still thinks Rochester, New York, is the only place to live, and can't figure out himself why he came here. The studies seem to be getting him down somewhat . . . he has dwindled down to a mere 260 pounds, only a skeleton of his former self. Sammy Dileo took a room right next to Sare's, but I think Sare is sore at Sammy because he won't let him go to bed until after nine.

"Then we have those ex-roomies of Alumni Hall, Tom Kelly and Bill Bailey. Tom is still bragging about what a wonderful climate California is, and thinks everybody should go out there to live, but he hasn't been there enough in the last few years to know any more about it than we do.

"I was so impressed with that insurance pamphlet that Jack Hurley sent out to his fellow graduates that he almost had me sold. But I caught myself just in time by remembering that I am also selling insurance, so why should I buy from him? However, I think Jack's idea is a good one, and maybe you can give Jack and me a little free advertising once in a while."

Having survived the local floods and helped put over the local Golden Gloves bouts, the Pride of Pontiac emerges with this:

"Might as well break out the old collection of street car transfers and inscribe the current notes thereon—because the present crop is exceedingly slim. The last six weeks have brought little in the way of mail information, grapevine rumblings or little jail birds with dope on the lads.

"Possibly the fact that this department has packed up its sleeping bag, pancho, two cans of hominy grits and a copy of 'The Bobbsey Twins' to move to another apartment may have slowed up the mails. But careful check at the old address along with practically microscopic glances into the new mail box have been well nigh fruitless. Of course, we hate to be in the position of belittling the faithful correspondents, but the info really has come in a mighty thin trickle—practically a drip. But the new departmental address is at the top (unless the composing room is moving equipment around again) and we really expect a better break in the next six weeks. In fact we are going to go into the direct mail advertising racket and personally solicit those reluctant manuscripts—that is, if a present very complicated scheme comes to pass. But in any event, we guarantee you'll hear from this department before very long. So there.

"While we can't spend too much time bemoaning the lack of mail, we are heartily grateful for one note that slid in past the censors. This one fills an aching void that has been throbbing for lo! these many moons. In short we have right here at hand a real live letter from Delancey Davis (not a facsimile, but the real McCoy). In bold Spencerian, typical of his inner fire, Delancey lets down his back hair and confides that he is still in Schenectady (where German comedians come from) and is gainfully employed by some unsuspecting firm. I quote: 'Frankly I'm just drawing salary down this way.' (Note to employer: This is all in fun).

"Delancey's store of personal squibs are about as lavish as his energies, but he did tell of two of the boys.

"Larry Weiss, ex. of Walsh, is in Schenectady with General Electric and is reported doing right well for himself in spite of the handicap of the area. Al Castineira is also in Schenectady—with GE—as this mag said in the February issue.

"Ever faithful to his trust is John Austin Gillespie, of the Westfield, New Jersey, Gillespies. (That guy's always in this column). But then, John is one of the regular writers whose letters pop in with a high, hard hop. Jack didn't go into the Winchell vein half as much as we had hoped. But then he has two or three newspaper spots to fret about and when he picks up his vacuum bottle and lunch box at the whistle blast—well, enough is just enough we suppose.

"John McGurl, we are given to understand, is attended Penn Law School—which seems a terrible waste for the best left hand in the business. McGurl, we are told, has made a habit of being the big bad wolf amongst the hardhitters of the area with that double-barreled Bengal sweater, a terrific scowl and bi-focal lenses. But he did have a date with a Georgian Court girl from Trenton for a dance in Plainfield, New Jersey, not so long ago. Georgian Court—it does sound aristocratic! And Plainfield! Well—we're simply floored, that's all.

"We are told that there was a clandestine reunion of some of the boys at the Penn basketball game. Among those present, in full regalia, including sword and baldric, were 'Cousin Joe' O'Neill, and John Byrne. We are given to understand that O'Neill is also down at Penn doing something or other besides singing a down-east tenor. We last saw O'Neill leaving Chicago in a phaeton bound for Eagle River, Wisconsin, amidst a flurry of handkerchief waving from an adjoining Y.W.C.A. structure in Chicago's near North Side. Those were the daze.

"Byrne, running true to tradition that holds with an iron hand, is in Phoenixville, land of Snuggies and Quakers.

"From still another precinct comes word that Joe Moore, the phy-ed Moore, was in the vicinity of the Penn game and did some didoes or other. These things are just a mite distorted we feel, but Joe was there and that's a victory for the Penn game.

"We shall be forced to admit that beyond these very few names we have little documentary evidence. But there are rumors—savior of the dull day.

"We have heard that 'Hungry John' Ullman is still in Detroit. We are but a mashie shot from there, but somehow our mocassined tracks rarely cross. No word has been heard in many, many moons, of Joe Gallagher, he who falls through windows—but he survives, we know.

"We understand that George Bon- field is living at the old stamping ground—Lawson Y.M.C.A. (in the shade of Chicago's gold coast and North Clark Street). What firm George is connected with is something of a mystery to us, but we hear everything is decidedly rosy.

"At the same spot, when last heard from, was Tony Mazziotti, who probably belongs in some other yearly chronicle.

"No recent word has trickled through of Bob McCain who, when last heard from, was holding forth on the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

"There are many for whom we have sent out editorial feelers with but scant success—just a few: Vince Hartnett, who must be east of the Alleghenies somewhere unless he's sold his ancestry short [He's doing graduate work at Notre Dame.—Eds.]; Bill Sehlig, who's probably reading training camp news or wagging some new golf clubs; Eddie Gannon, the trickster, all those vows of letters, undying affection and oaths in blood—mere empty shells, they were. We heard of Eddie through 'Rocky' Riley of the Youngstown Vindicator, but then the line stopped, the messages wobbled off—and for all we know Gannon has grown a red beard and is holding forth in some cave, with that trick camel hair overcoat; Gene Ling, who must be president of something by now; Rick Gillis, undoubtedly a ranking sage in Camp Hill, Pennsylvania, after a year with Emil Peter; 'Skip' Cormier, we heard something about 'Skip' but it has long since slipped our mind—which may not be all for the bad at that, at least as far as 'Skip' is concerned.

"By now it should be obvious that there's no end to such a technique. We could ramble along and eventually work in a whole mess of names, and maybe even fill these columns without your doggone assistance. But we just threw together a batch of popcorn balls, so it's off to the couch with a good copy of 'Uncle Wiggle' at the Barn Dance."

LATER

"Comes winging in from Scranton, Pennsylvania, a long note from 'College Parade' Tony O'Boyle and replete with news. 'Tony' himself, the old columnist, spent a summer after graduation in the exotically romantic role of life guard at an unnamed beach. But falling from the romantic to the somewhat rheumatic, Tony went into politics, happily on the Democratic Donkey's side, and is at the moment puffing long cheroots while waiting for a spot in government service. Something to do with the Unemployment Compensation outfit which should prove an interesting item to some of the 1937 grads. See Tony for relief checks, milk orders and a bushel of coal.

"Among the bits of information from the Scranton scribe is that William Hume Fallon is with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, as an investigator. What a spot for the Fallon charm! We take it Fallon will change rackets in the spring when tennis season rolls around.

"Dame Rumor gets a workout in trying to locate Joe English, otherwise known as 'Smiley Joe.' One school of thought has it that Joe has signed up with the Maryknoll Missionary Fathers. It would be a distinct gain for the Fathers, we claim.

"Straight from the feed bag comes word of that lost soul, wit and bon vivant of the Journalism Department, one John 'Zeke' Cackley. He was spotted at the north end of a south-bound squirrel rifle about eighty rod out of Ronceverte, West Virginia. But Zeke has gone bright-light on the lads and is reported swinging a wicked fizz bottle in the local soda bar. In short—a soda jerker. This brings a subtle pang, we must admit. To think of Zeke's untrammelled spirit shackled to the tune of a Double Chocolate Paradise Delight Nut Sundae with cashews—or even without cashews. Cackley is also court news reporter (down in the child marriage), belt and manager of a local basketball team. Heh-heh.

"Jim O'Donnell is holding down the hot corner in the Ivy loop—studying law at Harvard—or at least he was three months ago. Maybe they got waivers on him.

Comes at last the long sought word from Cy Stroker—still keeping track of shipping out of one of the Gotham spots. Probably something exotic and foreign like pig iron, or manganese or bananas. But we are glad to hear of Cy and hope his sparkling tenor is still smooth as deep blue velvet.

"Vince McCoola, the old smoothie, is an English instructor at Dupont, Pennsylvania—which should offer plenty of room for the up-and-coming grammarian.

"Bill 'Lefty' Jordan, is still under the Golden Dome and six o'clock bells, waiting patiently for that Master's degree in education. Well, we didn't stay a Bachelor long—so maybe a Master's is a good idea.

"We forget to mention that O'Boyle is treasurer of something or other connected with alumni in the coal belt—anyway we didn't read further than: Assets—$9.25; liabilities—$80. That life saving job should come in handy."

of good fortune in the past year, since on May 3, 1937 he was appointed city attorney in the city of Rock Island, and in July, 1937, "middle-aided it" with a very lovely young lady from Moline. Leo and his wife were on the campus on their honeymoon trip.

Hayes Murphy and Mrs. Murphy welcomed, on November 6, 1937, a son, Patrick Murphy, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meagher welcomed a daughter, Ann, on December 9, 1937.

Misfortune visited the family of the writer on February 11, when his wife's father, George F. Volz, died.

President George Uhlmeier has appointed a nominating committee composed of John McDonnell, Wells Robison, and Vance Uhlmeier for the purpose of nominating officers for the ensuing year. As has been our practice, the new officers will take charge of the Universal Notre Dame Night program, which this year we are planning to have in the form of a dinner party for the members and their wives, to be closed with a broadcast over station WHBF of a N.D. skit as secured from the campus, and talks by members of the Tri-City organization. We have found this type of appeal to be very good and have received considerable response from outsiders who have heard the program. We will also be on hand Universal Night to listen to the national program.
