UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS

CENTENNIAL

Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., general chairman of the Centennial, reports that much progress has been made on the plans for the observance of Notre Dame's 100th Anniversary.

Opening officially with the Commencement of 1942, the Centennial program will move in a majestic series of events to its close with the Commencement of 1943.

Sub-committees made their plans and reports to the general chairman during the summer just ended. The General Committee is now making from these colorful pieces the pattern that will bring world attention to Notre Dame next year.

Announcement in detail of the Centennial program will be made soon, and alumni and friends acquainted with the development of the many splendid phases under consideration.

In the meantime, Father Cavanaugh urges any alumni with suggestions for making the Centennial memorable, to submit these to the Committee while there is yet time to fit them in. Once the program is announced, time will demand such intensive attention to its performance that new features will be practically impossible, no matter what their merit.

RADIO BROADCASTS

Certain restricted commercial broadcasts of Notre Dame home football games will be allowed this season for the first time in several years, it was announced by the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., vice-president of the University and chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics.

Permission for broadcasts will be granted, up to the limit of existing facilities, on the basis of the size of networks or stations requesting such permission, and without respect to whether the broadcasts are commercial or non-commercial.

The University will maintain strict control over the number, type, and length of commercial announcements; and the products and services advertised must be in keeping with the dignity and propriety of the University, Father Cavanaugh said.

While no charge will be made for unsponsored broadcasts, stations making commercial broadcasts will be charged a fee, these revenues to go for the construction and maintenance of radio booths. No exclusive rights will be sold to any station or sponsor. Any profits in this connection will go into the general fund of the University along with other athletic profits, to offset partially Notre Dame's lack of large endowment, and to help fulfill the more existing needs of the University, Father Cavanaugh stated.

BULLETIN

Dean Dugald C. Jackson, Jr., of the College of Engineering, a major in the Coast Artillery Reserve, will be called to active service about Oct. 15 and assigned to special production work in Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia. He has been granted a leave of absence by Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president of the University.

Raymond J. Schubmehl, '21, professor of Civil Engineering, has been appointed assistant dean of the College of Engineering and will be acting dean in Dean Jackson's absence.

Benjamin G. DuBois, professor of French, a lieutenant-colonel in the Army Reserve, was called into active service within the summer and assigned to duty in Panama.

ENGINEERS' CODE

During 1940-41, D. C. Jackson, Jr., dean of the College of Engineering, conducted, for senior engineers and senior architects, a series of weekly lectures and discussions. During the second semester of the year, the students considered the subject of Professional Ethics, reviewing the Codes of Professional Ethics established by the national professional societies corresponding to the curricula in the College of Engineering.

It was apparent to the seniors that these codes are generally of greater value by far to men who have been in the practice of their profession for 10 years or more than to the recent graduates. As a result, the students devised a simple code for their guidance during the first five years after their graduation.

This code follows:

The Engineering Profession, as all other professions, must have a general but efficient standard of ethics if there is to be any unison between the practicing engineer and his neighbor. Moreover it is only proper that the young engineer should have a definite course to follow in his future relationships with clients and fellow professional men. Therefore, we, the graduating class of 1941 from the Engineering College of the University of Notre Dame, propose the following code as a guide along our selected path in life.

As young engineers we will:

1. Demonstrate honesty, sincerity, fairness, and honor in all of our professional dealings.
2. Abstain from all actions which, either directly or indirectly, would detract from the reputation, prospects, or professional undertakings of a fellow engineer.
3. Place our qualifications as engineers before the public in a dignified and conservative manner.
4. Consider information which concerns technical data, methods, or processes and business affairs, as well as all information which is not common public knowledge, to be strictly confidential and not within our rights to divulge.
5. Direct our actions toward the best interests of public welfare and supply our knowledge, skill, and training for the use and benefit of mankind.

N.D. AND FRED ALLEN

Sophomore James McDonough, of Chicago, monologist, was chosen by the Notre Dame student body to appear with Fred Allen on the Texaco Star Theatre's first 1941-42 broadcast over the Columbia system Oct. 1. A $200 cash prize and all expense paid trip to New York, with the opportunity of appearing on a major network, were given Mr. McDonough. John J. Rider, of class of '30, a representative of the Fred Allen show, conducted the competition on the campus. Runners-up to Mr. McDonough were Jack Molloy, of New Rochelle, N. Y., pianist, and Anthony Donadio, of Baltimore, Md., tenor.

HOWARD JONES' DEATH

The death, on July 27, of Howard Jones, football coach at the University of Southern California, was a shock to many at Notre Dame. He had been Southern California's coach since 1925. His teams broke four times long victory runs of great Notre Dame squads.

The coach of the Trojans stopped at the University last year and participated in a presentation of an oil painting of the late Knute Rockne. He also watched Notre Dame spring practice and wished Coach Leahy luck.

Notre Dame Begins 100th Academic Year

Capacity Enrollment Finds Naval R. O. T. C. and Defense Training Taking Spotlight; Father John Burke New Prefect of Discipline

Ninety-nine times this path to lasting values has echoed to the tread of young men.

Drums and bugles have accompanied them before.

Sometimes wages have been high. Other times wages have been low.

Sometimes values of education have been questioned. Other years the boys came with confidence.

Some have come in the prosperous years for the dollar-sign value. Others for the social trade-mark. Still more throughout the years for the mental-sign.

All have found, any year and all years, the highest benefit, the soul-sign of Notre Dame.

Another filled campus this Fall... boys living in the hotels and private homes until vacancies on the campus are definitely established... defense occupying a key position with the Naval R. O. T. C. uniformed staff mingling... Father Trahey the new defense coordinator... a new P. of D., not as easily seen, Father John Burke... football fervor fanned early by the short time between opening classes and opening game... new students enjoying a pleasing orientation under the able guidance of Father Putz and his active Catholic Action upperclassmen... Dean Pat Manion doing a fine job with a Law School somewhat riddled by the old-age insecurity of its advanced students... Manager Jim Connolly of the Dining Halls commuting to the Candy Store, now an annex after the chain-store theory... Dean Francis J. Boland, C.S.C., back at Arts and Letters after a spring and summer of Washington politics, with an academic P... the Missions under way with the Church jammed... Father O'Brien and Dr. McMahon back with their vital and interesting presentations of isolation and intervention... Father Carrico being officially assisted this year by Father J. J. Lane... boys filling all the playgrounds limbering up for the Interhall Renaissance... tickets for most of the games going or gone with the added 1941 impetus of curiosity.

Notre Dame is open again, for its 100th academic year.

Speaking to the students at the opening Mass, the reason for schools like Notre Dame in a world like ours was beautifully analyzed by Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., '16, president of the University. Summing up a description of the false philosophies of today's chaos, he said:

"With such ideologies rampant in the world, the sword of battle has replaced the sword of the spirit. The Moloch of war arrays might against right; evil against good; man against man. Man's artistry is ridiculed as he becomes only a means to operate the engines of iniquity. Planes battle in the air; tanks clash on the ground; battleships and submarines send salvos and torpedoes on the sea, as men ruthlessly destroy to attain an earthly objective. These constitute the sword of battle. No thought is given to the innocent, as hunger, starvation, and pestilence follow in its wake. And all this has happened because the peoples of the world have forgotten their God and brought down upon themselves His wrath...."

Present at this opening student Mass was also Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., D.D., '11, former president of Notre Dame, now guiding the spiritual destinies of the Catholics of the armed forces of the U. S. Bishop O'Hara celebrated, quietly and with no interruption of his many duties, his 25th anniversary in the priesthood in New York in mid-September. He also celebrated a Mass for the Notre Dame Club of New York on Sept. 15, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the arrival of Father Sorin in New York from France.

The full house in this Fall of '41 is augmented to the congestion point by the offering on the campus of 60 college grade courses in defense to industrial workers in the St. Joseph Valley. Engineering, science and management comprise the basic objectives of the courses, which will be offered in three 12-week groupings. This program is headed and coordinated with other campus defense measures by Rev. James Trahey, C.S.C., '30.

Operating costs of the University, intensified by the necessity for many skilled workers in the maintenance of the plant and the costs of materials, will be offset to some extent this year by the $50 raise in price for the resident student ($25 for the off-campus resident). Ability to secure summer employment at good wages reduced this hardship for the students. And alumni will be interested in the repetition here that Notre Dame costs, even with the new increase, are still well below the level of those of other private universities offering comparable education and facilities.

REV. JOHN J. BURKE, C.S.C., '32
New Prefect of Discipline

Few faculty members have been lost through the defense program, although the number is up for some, and there is some uncertainty as to the months ahead. Students were not taken in the numbers anticipated, and it is the hope of the majority discussing the problem that the Government will not take needlessly boys who are in the process of completing their education, and for whom interruption at this time would work serious economic hardship and professional training handicaps. It seems to be the consensus of opinion that most of the draft boards have been very fair and intelligent in the handling of this admittedly difficult problem.

Announcement that the Brothers of Holy Cross will assume operation of a high school in Long Beach, Calif., was the high light of the annual meeting of the Congregation held at the University July 24 at which assignments for the coming year were made public by Rev. Thomas A. Steiner, C.S.C., '99, Provincial.

This is not a year in which general changes are made and the number of priests and brothers given new obediences was not numerous, but several appointments were of special interest.

Lane, C.S.C., '30 becomes assistant director of studies, a newly created post; and Rev. Arthur J. Hope, C.S.C., '20 returns for special work after three years in New Orleans, La. During the last year Father Laskowski also was faculty adviser of the Scholastic, and Father Beichner an assistant prefect of religion.

Among changes in South Bend and vicinity are the following: Rev. Michael A. Mathis, C.S.C., chaplain at St. Joseph hospital, succeeding Rev. John F. DeGroote, C.S.C., who will reside at Notre Dame. Rev. Joseph Brannigan, C.S.C., chaplain at St. Joseph farm; Rev. Bernard Niemier, C.S.C., assistant pastor, St. Hedwige's church; Rev. NOTRE DAME BOOKS

Two books by Brother Ernest, C.S.C., '25, are to be published this fall. One of them is entitled The Boy Who Saw the World, a story of St. Francis Xavier. The other is also a juvenile.

The Curé of Ruillé, the life of the Very Rev. James F. Dujarié, founder of the Brothers of Holy Cross and the Sisters of Providence, by Brother Ephrem, C.S.C., '24, is to be issued soon by the Ave Maria press. The biography of 268 pages is the story of "a great and noble priest whose zeal for souls made him a veritable apostle." In writing the book Brother Ephrem had access to the archives of the Congregation of Holy Cross as well as to other primary sources.

Dr. Gonzalo J. Restrepo, a Notre Dame student from Colombia, South America, in 1916-17, has presented to the University library an autographed copy of his book, Contemporary Crisis, written in French, published by the University of Bolivia.

Naval R.O.T.C. Organized on Campus

Captain H. P. Burnett Commands Unit of 165 Notre Dame Men in Rockne Memorial Headquarters; Rifle Range in Stadium.

With the start of Notre Dame's 100th year, the University has for the first time in her history a unit of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps. Preliminary organization work on the new unit was carried on during most of the summer. First formal inspection was conducted Sept. 18 by Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the ninth naval district with headquarters at Great Lakes, Ill. Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president of the University, entertained Admiral Downes at luncheon.

Captain Henry P. Burnett, U.S. Navy, commandant of the Naval R.O.T.C. unit at Notre Dame, is a native of Kentucky and has served 31 years in the Navy, of which 20 years have been spent at sea. He served on the staff of the commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Fleet during World War I, and has since served as navigating officer of the U. S. S. Chester, a heavy cruiser; executive officer of the U. S. S. New Orleans, also a heavy cruiser, and has been commanding officer of submarines, destroyers and the U. S. S. Pyro. In addition to his duties as commandant, Captain Burnett is professor of Naval Science and Tactics.

The executive officer of the unit, Lieutenant Commander M. T. Farrar, U. S. Navy, was appointed to the Naval Academy in 1919 from North Dakota and graduated in June, 1923. He has served on battleships, mine sweepers, a destroyer tender, the aircraft carrier Lexington, a submarine and a destroyer. He served last year with the Naval R.O.T.C. at Northwestern University.

Lieutenant W. S. Howell, U. S. Navy, assistant professor of Naval Science and Tactics is a native of Illinois. He was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1933 and had served on destroyers and a heavy cruiser before reporting here for duty.

Lieutenant T. Black, U. S. Navy, assistant professor of Naval Science and Tactics, is from New York State. He also was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1933, and his first duty was on the battleship Oklahoma of the U. S. Fleet. He had three years experience on destroyers and duty on the light cruiser Boise prior to joining this Naval R. O. T. C. unit.

In addition to the officers, there are several chief petty officers of the fleet reserve who have been recalled to active duty as instructors of Naval Science and Tactics and who will assist in the various practical works and drill of the unit. Their names and ranks appear with the picture accompanying this article.

The quota for the freshman class this year is 150 Naval R.O.T.C. students, regularly enrolled, plus 15 naval science students to make a total of 165 in the initial class. With four classes organized, the quota set by the Navy Department for this Naval R.O.T.C. unit is 300 students.

The headquarters of the Naval R. O. T. C. are in the Rockne Memorial Building at the west end of the University plaza. The class rooms in the Rockne Building have been made available for the Naval R.O.T.C. students, in addition to an armory and store rooms also in the building.

The University now has under construction an indoor rifle and pistol range beneath the Stadium. This range is for the instruction and training of the Naval

R.O.T.C. students in the small bore rifle and also the caliber pistol. Equipment for the unit includes a four-inch naval gun and many other nautical and training exhibits.

Notre Dame's unit will be one of 27 in operation in this country during the coming year and is one of eight beginning its work this fall. Accepted freshmen must pass the rigid examinations required of Annapolis students. Students will be furnished complete uniforms by the Navy Department, along with books and other supplies connected with the course.

Naval R.O.T.C. freshmen will recite in classes three hours a week, in addition to two drill periods each week. The subjects studied the first year will include Naval Organization and Administration, Seamanship, Naval History, Elementary Navigation and Gunnery and Naval Communications. The drills will include infantry drills, marlinspike seamanship, radio code and signal drills, gunnery drills and rifle and pistol instruction.

A Navy Board of medical examiners

Two hundred and seventy-eight years of active naval service are represented by this group of 12 officers and sailors who comprise the corps of instructors for Notre Dame's Naval R. O. T. C. unit. Left to right are: first row — Lt. William S. Howell; Capt. H. P. Burnett; Lt. Commander M. T. Farrar and Lt. Thompson Black, Jr. Second row — E. D. Miller, Chief Gunner's Mate; C. McCombs, Chief Quartermaster; J. F. Williams, Chief Gunner's Mate; W. J. DeZatter, Chief Machinist's Mate. Back row — N. J. Vecchio, Yeoman First Class; T. F. Devlin, Chief Yeoman; C. H. Tolra, Chief Gunner's Mate, and S. M. Rinchart, Gunner's Mate, Second Class.

from the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes convened in the Rockne Memorial Building on Sept. 15 to conduct the physical examinations of the freshman applicants for the Naval R. O. T. C.

The Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps is composed of all Naval training units now operating in 27 universities. Six units were established in 1926 at Harvard, Yale, Georgia School of Technology, Northwestern, California, and Washington. Later others were begun at the University of California at Los Angeles, Tulane, and Minnesota. More recently additional units have been established as follows: Brown, Colorado, Holy Cross, Marquette, Michigan, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Duke, Pennsylvania, Rensselaer, Rice, Southern California, South Carolina, Texas, Tufts, Virginia, and Notre Dame. The enrollment in the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps is limited by law to 7,200 students which number is distributed by quota between the 27 universities mentioned above. The unit in the university is known as the Department of Naval Science and Tactics and is an integral part of the University.

Purpose

The primary object of the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps is to provide systematic instruction and training in the essential naval subjects for a group of selected students so that they may be qualified and available for duties as deck officers in the United States Navy. The work supplements other courses taken in the University so that the graduates commissioned as ensigns in the Naval Reserve or second lieutenants in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve will possess:

1. A good general education.
2. Sufficient knowledge of such naval subjects as seamanship, navigation, ordnance, military and international law, engineering, strategy and tactics, communications and theoretical aviation, to be qualified to perform duties as a junior officer of the Naval Reserve.
3. A well-disciplined mind and body together with leadership in organization.
4. A knowledge of the value of naval ideals, customs, and traditions.

Admission

Enrollment in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps is entirely voluntary. Application for enrollment may be made in advance. Enrollments are limited to freshmen, but in some cases and at the option of the Professor of Naval Science and Tactics, others who intend to remain at the University four full years after enrollment may be admitted.

Applicants must be unmarried, citizens of the United States, not less than 14 nor more than 24 years of age. They must pass a physical examination given by medical officers of the United States Navy. All applicants must agree to be immunized from typhoid fever and smallpox, unless a satisfactory certificate of immunity from these diseases is furnished.

The study of navigation and other subjects included as a part of the course requires a basic knowledge of mathematics, including algebra, plane and solid geometry and plane trigonometry. Applicants must agree in writing to complete these subjects before entering the advanced course in their junior year.

Outline of Course

The course in Naval Science and Tactics is a four-year course and runs continuously. Each semester's work is a prerequisite for the following semester's work. The course is technical to the extent that it makes available to the student sufficient knowledge of naval subjects, which, combined with a background of naval experience, tradition and custom acquired both in his academic work and in his practical cruise at sea, will qualify him upon graduation to serve as an ensign in the Naval Reserve. The four-year course is divided into the basic course and the advanced course. The basic course comprises the work of the first two years. The advanced course comprises the work of the final two years and is open only to juniors who have completed the basic course.

Each summer, unless some emergency interferes, Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps students are permitted to make a cruise of three or four weeks on ships of the United States Navy without expense to the student, except for personal spending money. The advanced course cruise made by the students at the end of their junior year is a requirement for a commission. The students receive pay for this part of their shipboard training.

Obligations After Graduation

Satisfactory completion of the four years of training and the required cruise during the advanced course will qualify the student for a commission as ensign in the Naval Reserve or as a second lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps Reserve, provided he applies for the commission, obtains a degree from Notre Dame, is recommended for and passes the physical examination.

Draft Status

Under the existing laws, students regularly enrolled in the advanced N. R. O. T. C. course are not subject to the Selective Service and Training Act.

Special Opportunities

Each year three members of the unit may be selected by the president of the University to take the examination for appointment to the United States Naval Academy. Twenty such appointments are available and students are in competition with those of other universities where Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps units are located.

A limited number of graduates may be nominated for commissions in the Supply Corps of the United States Navy and in the United States Marine Corps Reserve.

Graduates, after one year at sea as ensigns in the Naval Reserve, are eligible for a commission in the line of the regular Navy, provided they are recommended by their commanding officers and pass the prescribed physical and mental examinations.

Although the selection of students for special instruction in the Naval Air Corps is not limited to unit members, preference is given to graduates of Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps units.

The training provides an excellent background for those who may desire to secure employment in the Merchant Marine, and students who have successfully passed the course should find it comparatively easy to pass the examinations for papers as third mate.

OLD FRIENDSHIP RENEWED

By Capt. John V. Hinkel, '29

Colonel William R. Arnold, chief of chaplains of the United States Army, is one of the most beloved officers in the Army. Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, D.D., in his capacity as auxiliary bishop of Catholics in the armed forces of the United States, has frequent contact with Colonel Arnold. Their friendship is of long standing. They met some 40 years ago when Father Arnold, then a newly ordained priest, was assigned as an assistant at St. Charles' Church at Peru, Ind. One of his parishioners was a young boy named John F. O'Hara who frequently served Father Arnold's daily Mass.

Shortly afterwards, Father Arnold was commissioned a regular Army chaplain and young O'Hara went with his family to live in South America. Their paths did not cross again until years later when Father Arnold visited Father O'Hara at Notre Dame. They met only once again after that until Father O'Hara was consecrated bishop.

Father Arnold is one of Notre Dame's staunch friends. He is a native of Muncie, Ind., and is attached to the diocese of Fort Wayne.

A Case for Notre Dame

BY REV. JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C. S. C.

Vice-President of the University and General Chairman of the Centennial Committee.

Not so long ago a certain college graduate almost decided to send his up-and-coming son to a correspondence school in order to avoid added contacts with alumni associations and with the drives which have become an established practice for the raising of funds. You alumni understand that man's attitude. You know that requests made by colleges usually come to desks already groaning under bills for household expenses, for insurance premiums, for club fees; to desks thickly covered with saccharinic notes asking for bundles to be sent to this or that country or requesting assistance for starving and persecuted refugees. Men of moderate means are today justly alarmed at the increasing burden of taxation which they, in the future, must bear. There is, too, a feeling of embarrassment among loyal alumni if they are not able to write out a considerable check in favor of their university whenever the call comes. They think to themselves, "I can't give a decent amount, so I won't give anything at all." In the light of this general assault, many alumni develop a defensive state of mind and challenge the purpose and management of colleges and of their general need for funds. One hears this challenge expressed by students at universities. "My father paid my way through school and they've got all they're ever going to get out of me".... "I might have given them something if I hadn't run into so-and-so on the faculty. Why he doesn't even know my name."

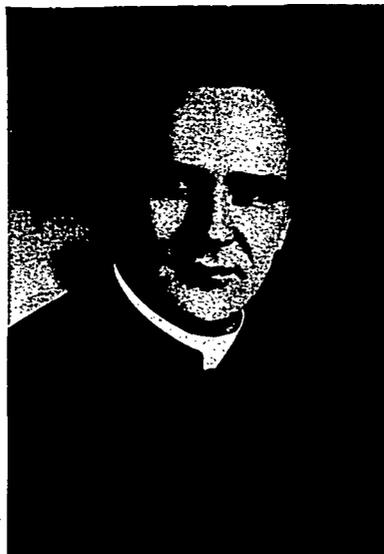

N. D. Men Convinced

I take for granted that Notre Dame alumni are convinced, beyond the need of demonstration, that the philosophy behind education at their University is singularly capable of preserving all that is best in the American form of life. There seems to be a feeling abroad that, great as Notre Dame has been through her years of struggles, she is today at the threshold of her golden era of influence. I wonder, however, if there is an intelligent unity of opinion among Notre Dame men as to just what is required if Notre Dame is to fulfill her special destiny?

Notre Dame has enjoyed for the last 15 years almost unique success in football. Our teams have been supported by hundreds of thousands of spectators, and successive generations of students have gone away from the campus strongly suspecting, I fear, that from the football revenues gold bullion was being hoarded in some hidden vault on the campus. A program of building, amounting to more than seven million dollars, had to be carried on in order to make the transition within 15 years from a smaller institution of learning to a large university with an enrollment that tripled within a period of 20 years. The building program became for many merely another link in the chain of evidence that Notre Dame was rich and getting richer year by year. In the face of these conditions the case for endowment at Notre Dame must be explained thoroughly to every member of the Notre Dame family. It doesn't matter so much whether the member of the Notre Dame family is in a position to give, but he should at least have the facts and be disposed to speak out when necessary.

Has Notre Dame been making a million dollars a year on football? The year just ended is among the best we ever had. Gross receipts were slightly less than $525,000, and actual expenses for carrying on the intercollegiate and inter-hall athletic programs amounted to slightly less than $313,000, leaving a net to the University of approximately $212,000. Far from getting a million dollars from football, Notre Dame, then, actually received $212,000, or something less than a quarter of that amount. But is there not, besides, some net return on the general operations of the University exclusive of football? There is. The net is something like $160,000, for the last fiscal year; which means that altogether the entire net was about $372,000. Out of this entire net there is a depreciation reserve set up for the replacement of buildings and equipment, which are either becoming obsolescent or wearing out through daily use. This reserve amounts to something like $150,000, leaving only about $222,000 available for the construction of new buildings, for the development of research and of the graduate departments, and for carrying on the various forms of social security which have already been introduced.

Where Has Money Gone?

What has actually been done with such an amount of money year after year for the last 15 years? Along with the building program amounting to seven million dollars, Notre Dame has continued, from its annual resources, to strengthen all undergraduate departments and, at the same time, has developed seven graduate departments at the University. Anyone familiar with educational work understands immediately that graduate departments, with relatively high-salaried professors who teach comparatively few students who cannot themselves pay their expenses, are a heavy financial load. For this important reason, Notre Dame's policy, like that of the California Institute of Technology, has been to concentrate on few departments in which the doctor's degree is offered and to make these departments the best possible with the men and money available. Since the success of graduate work depends very largely upon the quality of the professors and of the staffs devoted to research, I may mention certain outstanding men on the various graduate faculties at Notre Dame. The faculty of philosophy is especially notable for the variety of training which its members have received. These members have been trained in the principal Catholic universities of the United States, Canada, France, Germany, Belgium, and Italy. Professor Yves Simon, the author of several significant works is an outstanding Thomist. He was formerly on the faculty of the University of Lille in France. Father Leo R. Ward, C.S.C., Doctor Francis McMahon and Doctor John Fitzgerald are rising young philosophers of note on the faculty. This current year the University has added to the staff, Professor Paul Vigneux, internationally known for his studies in the history of philosophy, and until recently director of the School of Higher Studies at the University of Paris. On the faculty for graduate work in politics there are Doctors Waldemar Gurian and Ferdinand Hermens, both authors of several important works. Professor Hermens' latest study in proportional representation is very soon to appear. On the faculty of biology there is Doctor Theodor Just, outstanding botanist, editor of The Midland Naturalist, which was founded by the late Father Nieuwland in 1926 and which is today acknowledged in most countries of the world as one of the better learned journals in the field of botany. On the faculty for graduate work in physics there are Doctor George Collins, now engaged in government research, Doctor Eugene Guth, Doctor Edward Coomes, and a Holy Cross priest, Father Henry Bolger. Busy in metallurgy are the experienced and scholarly Doctor Edward G. Mahin and his gifted young assistant, Doctor Alexander R. Troiano. In mathematics there is Doctor Karl Menger, formerly head of the department of mathematics at the University of Vienna and acknowledged as one of the great mathematicians of the world. Working under Professor Menger are Professors Arthur Milgram and Paul Pepper, young American mathematicians of extraordinary promise.

Research in Chemistry

I might go on to tell you of the important researches which are being carried on under the able leadership of Dean Henry B. Froning in the Department of Chemistry. The researches which were begun by Father Nieuwland in Organic Chemistry are now being advanced by Doctors Vogt, Hennion, and Campbell, and the researches in Inorganic Chemistry are being developed by Doctors Hamill, Baldinger, McCusker, and Brother Columba, C.S.C. I might allude to the problems in micrurgy, in germ-free research, and in research on cross infection, occupying much of the attention of Professor Reyniers and his skilled assistants. Research is costly. Doctor Collins has constructed a huge gun for the smashing of atoms. The gun cost about $40,000 in material and labor. There are important researches in economics being conducted by Father Keller. One report on these researches in economics, that on National Wealth, has been published. Other studies are to come later.

Four Learned Publications

May I develop a little further one point I am trying to make? The salaries of professors of graduate work are high; researches are costly; scholarships must be offered for qualified graduate students; certain expensive publications must be fostered by a university engaged in graduate work. Notre Dame finances four learned publications out of current funds. These publications are The Midland Naturalist, the Publications in Medieval Research, edited by Father Moore, The Review of Politics, and The Mathematical Colloquium. It is not healthy, even if it might be done, to continue graduate work out of current funds because the salaries of graduate professors, necessary scholarships, research projects, and learned publications demand annually a huge, definite sum of money. When they are carried on out of current income which is sensitive to wars and other changing factors, the whole program rests on an uncertain foundation which may be shaken seriously even in the next few months.

There are 134 colleges and universities in the United States which possess two million dollars or more of endowment. Among these 134 colleges are some that you have hardly ever heard about. Yet Notre Dame, possessing a national reputation, is not among the 134. Notre Dame's endowment is $1,010,000, as compared, for example, with Harvard's $144,000,000, with Yale's $101,000,000, with Columbia's $70,000,000. Is Notre Dame's position clear? Besides the needs of the graduate departments and of the expensive projects undertaken in research, Notre Dame must within the next 10 years go much further in such matters as group insurance for protection, in case of sickness and death, of both faculty members and employees. Notre Dame must do more in lay teacher pensions, and in other forms of social security. The remodelling or replacement of the huge main building, the construction of a residence hall for graduate students a structure for the College of Arts and Letters hardly need be mentioned to establish the urgent case for endowment at Notre Dame.

All Notre Dame alumni know that already phenomenal results have been obtained chiefly because thousands of well-trained religious have in the last century taught and worked at Notre Dame, without salary. Their combined effort has counter-balanced the almost unrequited need for cash. Notre Dame enjoys good will, precious and world-wide; a matchless spirit inspires faculty men, alumni and students; Notre Dame has advanced far in her building program, in attracting outstanding men to the faculties. The next significant step in the natural order, in the history of Notre Dame, will be, it seems to me, the acquisition of a large endowment. There must be intelligent unity and constant cooperation on this point. A neighboring university has within 20 years increased its endowment by $40,000,000. With an accurate understanding on the part of Notre Dame's faculty members, alumni, and students, with the united effort which will follow such an understanding, a similar amount of endowment can be attracted to Notre Dame within the next 20 years. If it comes, all of us know what an influence Notre Dame will exert in this land of America which we love. The opportunity of Notre Dame must be spread abroad, that this institution may continue to reach out to its goal as the educational pride of America and the strongest bulwark of defense for the American and Christian way of life.

PLACEMENT STORY

The advantages, in several directions, resulting from a placement program are exemplified in the following letter, thoughtfully written by Edward J. Tracey, Jr., '40, 512 Western Ave., Joliet, Ill., to John T. Balfe, chairman of the Placement Committee of the Notre Dame Club of New York City:

"During the past month I have been transferred from the Martinsville Nylon Plant to the Kankakee Ordnance Works.

"The work here is much more of a chemical nature and very interesting. The work is not only the type I like to do, but the Company is just about the best there is to work for. For your efforts, those of Mr. Lawless and the Notre Dame Alumni, I owe my deepest appreciation and gratitude for getting me associated with the duPont organization.

"How to express my thanks is difficult, but I will do my best to uphold the name and spirit of Notre Dame, and in turn to assist any Notre Dame men that I might be able to help.

"I wish you and yours the best of health, happiness and all that goes with it."

"Mr. Lawless" is William F. Lawless, M.E., '21, superintendent of construction at the duPont plant in Martinsville, Va.

Campus Has Active Summer (As Usual)

Summer School and Lay Retreats Lead Program.

The twenty-fourth session of Notre Dame's summer school opened June 24 with an enrollment of 1,103 religious and lay students. 823 priests, brothers, and sisters coming from 27 religious communities for women and 12 religious communities for men were registered.

Some of the outstanding visiting professors were Prof. Francis Tschan, of Pennsylvania State College, in history; Dr. LaRoy W. Wilkins, clinical psychologist of the Milwaukee public schools, in education; Rev. William C. Havey, C.S.C., of St. Edward's University, Austin, Texas, in philosophy; and Rev. W. Michael Ducey, O.S.B., secretary of the Benedictine Liturgical Conference, Newark, N. J., in religion. Twenty-five visiting teachers augmented the regular faculty.

Lay students attending the summer school were housed in Zahm, Breen-Phillips, and St. Edward's halls. The sisters occupied Badin, Lyons, Walsh, Morrissey, and Howard halls; and the brothers and priests of the Congregation of Holy Cross, Alumni and Cavanaugh halls. Visiting priests, brothers, and seminarians were lodged in Sorin hall.

The College of Engineering offered a special eight-week course which began June 1, with 79 students registered for classes in metallurgy, geology, mechanical, electrical, and civil engineering.

Another engineering defense training program enrolling 150 men from South Bend and the vicinity was inaugurated at the University June 23. Evening classes in machine drawing, shop mathematics, and shop processes were under the supervision of Prof. Pasquale M. Pirchio, head of the Department of Engineering Drawing. The course lasted 12 weeks and the only cost to students was for textbooks and supplies.

Colorful pageantry high-lighted the summer session for the religious, when the feast day of Our Lady of Mount Carmel was celebrated with a day-long observance. The climax of the observance was an evening candle-light procession in which 1,500 religious participated. At dusk there were prayers in Sacred Heart Church, following which, a procession made up of the Moreau Seminary Choir, priests, brothers, seminarians, and nuns carrying lighted tapers wound their way across the campus to the Grotto of Lourdes, where the service ended with a solemn benediction.

The 24th annual retreats for Catholic laymen were conducted this summer at Notre Dame; the first retreat extended from August 7 to 10, and the second from August 10 to 12. The theme for this meeting of more than 1,200 Catholic laymen was spiritual preparedness in time of national emergency. Rev. Wendell P. Corcoran, C.S.C., conducted the first retreat and Rev. Michael A. Foran, C. S. C., the second. A special Mass dedicated to former retreatants now serving with the nation's military forces ended the spiritual defense program.

Those attending the summer session enjoyed several outstanding events. The first was in the form of a daredevil show, which occurred when two steeple-jacks climbed 275 feet above the ground to attach a lightning rod to the top of the cross on Sacred Heart Church.

The second was the out-door performance of the ancient Greek tragedy, "Agamemnon," staged by the University Summer Theatre, which took place July 23, on the steps of the University library. Paul B. Lillis, 1941 football captain, was in the title role.

And the third was the overnight encampment of a convoy of United States Army trucks and men in a parking lot near the Notre Dame stadium. Two hundred and fifteen trucks and more than 400 men composed the unit moving from Pontiac, Mich., to Camp Forrest, Tenn.

The summer session ended August 5, with Commencement exercises in Washington hall, at which Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president of the University, awarded 37 baccalaureate and 61 graduate degrees. Rev. William C. Havey, C.S.C., paid high tribute to the accomplishments of women in science, literature, and education in his memorable commencement address. "It is to Christ," he said, "that woman owes her intellectual and social freedom. Had it not been for Him, she would never have had a chance to cultivate the noblest powers of her soul or to enjoy any personal dignity." Your guide, said Father Havey, "is the girl of Galilee, who is your tower of ivory and queen of wisdom. She is the Immaculate Lady who is Notre Dame—Our Lady."

Alumni Directors Meet

Harry F. Kelly, '17, opened his presidency with an official bang on August 16, with a meeting of the Board of Directors at Notre Dame.

With Vice-President Fred Mahaffey, '17, and Directors Rev. M. L. Moriarty, '10, and Edward F. O'Toole, '25, Secretaries Armstrong and Dooley present, joined by Director of Public Relations Arthur Haley, '26, the meeting represented both the new leadership and members older in service.

The program of the Association was subjected to full and searching analysis. Many of the loose ends that the years have piled up were gathered together in a new organization pattern.

The relation of the Association program to the University program was thoroughly studied with Mr. Haley and later with Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., '16, president of the University.

There is no need to go into detailed account of the meeting, since it dealt largely with these studies, and since the conclusion was the need for a much improved and stepped-up program, about which much more will be heard during the year.

On Oct. 3, the Board will hold a second meeting to discuss in more detail a plan for extending the activity, the influence, and the effectiveness of the Association.

The basic conclusion of the Board was that the Centennial finds the Alumni Association lagging behind in its potentialities. And every effort of the Board is being directed toward speeding up this program to present a more appropriate picture during 1942-43 and subsequently.

After this meeting, it became apparent that the leadership of the Association this year is ready and anxious to function. Success, as always, depends upon response. But the Board's program, in part, has already been presented to some of the leading Clubs, and the response is most encouraging. This would seem to be a year for seizing an obvious opportunity to capitalize on the work of previous years, and our natural possibilities.

PRISON TRUSTEE

Frank T. Flynn, Jr. head of the Social Work Department of the University, was reappointed, July 19, to the board of trustees of the Indiana State Prison, Michigan City, by Gov. Henry F. Shricker. Mr. Flynn was first appointed to the board in July, 1937, by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend.

Spotlight Alumni

DURING the baseball season just closed, Sherb Herrick, '36, of Albany, N. Y., was presented with a trophy by the Sporting News, baseball publication of St. Louis. The reward was a result of a poll conducted by the Sporting News wherein Sherb was selected by the baseball fans as the outstanding baseball announcer in Class A baseball.

Dick Conners, local representative of the Sporting News, was the master of ceremonies at the presentation which preceded one of the night games in Hawkins Stadium, Albany baseball park. The presentation was made by Herman F. Hoogkamp, mayor of Albany, on behalf of J. G. Taylor Sprink, the publisher of the Sporting News. The other speakers were Sherb's boss, Harold E. Smith, president of WOKO and WABY, Albany radio stations; John J. Murray, president of the Common Council of the city of Albany, and George Toporcer, manager of the Albany Baseball Club.

After graduation from Notre Dame in 1936, where Sherb was connected with the campus radio studio, he entered the employ of WOKO and WABY in Albany. In 1937, upon the death of Doc Rand, Albany's first baseball announcer, Sherb succeeded him, and, together with Gren Rand, took up the job of broadcasting the baseball games to the Albany fans.

The trophy was a just reward for four years of splendid service to the Albany Baseball Club, the local radio stations and the Albany fans.

ATHLETICS

BY JOSEPH S. PETRITZ, '32

(Since the first two games on the football schedule will have been played by the time this ALUMNUS reaches most of its readers, any preview of the season, written now, would be practically valueless. On that account we are publishing in this issue only the always-interesting squad roster, together with biographical sketches of the new assistant football coaches.—Eds.)

Playing important parts in the development of the 1941 Notre Dame football team are the three assistants of Head Coach Frank Leahy: Edward Clark Timoney McKeever handles the backs; Joseph Andrew McArdle supervises centers and guards; John Francis Druze directs play of ends and tackles.

McKeever was once a Notre Dame man, attending the University as a freshman and again in the fall of 1931. He won frosh numerals in both football and basketball. He left to enter Rice Institute, but arrived too late for enrollment, and then went to Texas Tech. He played in 1932-33-34 under Pete Cawthorn, one of the better known coaches of the south.

The new Irish backfield mentor coached the backfield at Texas Tech in 1935-36-37-38. Attending a summer coaching school as an instructor in backfield play at Lubbock, Texas, in 1938, McKeever first met Leahy, then line coach at Fordham, who was lecturing on line play. When Leahy was named head coach at Boston College in 1939, he hired McKeever, who was with him again in 1940.

McKeever measures 5 feet, 10½ inches and weighs in at about 178 pounds. He has wavy brown hair and gray-green eyes. He holds the distinction of having coached teams that participated in four straight bowl games, Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl in 1938; and Cotton bowl in 1939; Boston College in the Cotton Bowl in 1940, and the Sugar Bowl in 1941. He has the ball from Sugar Bowl game in which B.C. defeated Tennessee, 19 to 13.

Both the mother and father of McArdle were born in Ireland, so association with the Irish at Notre Dame provides no burden for "Captain Bligh," as he is known.

weighed but 170 pounds, and stands only five feet, 10 inches when fully stretched out. He played under Major Frank Cavanaugh in 1932 and under Jimmy Crowley and Leahy as a junior and senior. He entered Fordham in 1931, winning freshman numerals in football. He won letters in each of his three years, although he

Following graduation in 1935, McArdle worked for the New York World-Telegram as advertising solicitor and promotion man, playing with the Stapleton professional team in the American Association nights and Sundays for one year. He sold insurance in 1937 and 1938, going to Boston College as coach of centers and guards when Leahy became head coach in 1939.

The red-faced, brown-eyed husky en-

Druze is Russia's contribution to the football squad. Both his mother and father are of Russian descent. He attended Madison Junior High School in Irvington, N. J., and then Irvington High School, where he played offensive full-back and defensive end as a freshman, and end for three more years. He played four years of basketball at forward, and four years of baseball at first base, winning 12 letters.

He entered Fordham in 1934, where Ed Hunsinger, end with the famous Notre Dame Four Horsemen of 1924, was freshman coach. He played under Leahy and End Coach Hughie Devore, 1933 Notre Dame co-captain, the next three years. He was a regular all three years and captain of the 1937 team which won seven games and tied one. Druze played 60 minutes in almost every game Fordham played. As one of the famous "Seven Blocks of Granite" he played 180 minutes in three years against Pitt.

Druze played left end, and he starred as a blocker and defensive man, since Fordham does not employ many passes, comparatively. He stands six feet tall, and is slightly over the 193 pounds he weighed as a senior with the Rams.

Druze was graduated with a bachelor of science degree, having majored in economics. He played for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1938 under Patsy Clark. The following spring Leahy hired him as coach of ends and tackles at Boston College, the post he will also fill at Notre Dame. Druze has straight, black, thinning hair, and gray-blue eyes.

GLIDERS

A training glider built at Notre Dame by Prof. R. S. Eikenberry, of the Department of Aeronautics, in collaboration with Prof. F. N. M. Brown, head of the department, recently remained aloft for more than six hours in a test flight at the national soaring meet at Elmira, N. Y., in July. Both men attended the meet and assembled the glider after its trailer trip from South Bend. Mr. Eikenberry reached an altitude of 2,000 feet, and devoted most of the six hours to "slope soaring." Despite poor weather the performance of the glider was reported to have been satisfactory.

John Lane Connor, teacher of Public Speaking at the University from 1900-02, died at Santa Monica, Calif., September 10. For years Mr. Connor was a leading man in the Burwood Stock company, Omaha. He gave Harold Lloyd, noted screen comedian, his first part.

Stresses Declaration of Independence

N. D. Law Students To Study Document

America's Declaration of Independence, as the spirit of our entire governmental structure, will henceforth be the basis of law student instruction at Notre Dame, according to Dean Clarence E. Manion.

Dean Manion, recently named head of the oldest of Catholic law schools in the United States, contends that without full appreciation of the "God-given rights" of man outlined in the declaration, this country's entire legal framework is without foundation, and that one of the nation's serious troubles today is that "our persistent denunciation of the things we are against has left us with a most confused notion of what we are supposed to be for."

In his program announcement he adds:

"The impact of the war upon our American constitutional system has revealed an appalling general ignorance concerning the basic principles of American democracy. Our persistent denunciation of the things that we are against has left us with a most confused notion of what we are supposed to be for. The unpleasant fact is that we are definitely losing our battle against the totalitarian ideologies, communism, nazism and fascism, for the simple reason that we cannot beat something with nothing.

"The defense of American policy is now at the crossroads. Unless the cause of Americanism is once more and immediately identified with the elemental principles of its birth certificate, namely, the American Declaration of Independence, we will soon be forced to make a Hobson's choice between one of the forms of pagan totalitarianism. The glittering generality of 'democracy' falls far short of the requirements for a positive program of American patriotism. We must accurately define the peculiarities of Americanism before we can insure their defense.

"One of the greatest contributions that law schools can make to the stabilization of American civilization in the middle of this shaken world is the projection of our law in its true God-related perspective. Too many of us have forgotten that in the United States law is an agency for the protection of God's gifts. This is to say that in American jurisprudence rights are from God, and their exercise is limited only by the duty that God has imposed upon each of us to respect the equal rights of others. Our laws are merely the fence lines drawn by the government between the God-made fields of rights and duties. It is not the province of the law to enlarge or contract these fields. The law merely marks the place where one begins and the other leaves off. The fields are laid out by God Himself just as the American Declaration of Independence says they are.

"Strictly speaking, there can be no such thing as a purely secular study of law in the United States. Religion is the major component of our legal blood stream. Thus, legal ethics, which we have frequently regarded as a mere branch of the law, is really the warp and woof of our entire legal fabric."

Special exception is taken by Mr. Manion to the atheistic attitude of many of the country's foremost lawyers and jurists today who scoff at the idea of "inalienable rights." He says:

"I am not unmindful of the fact that lately a popular school of secular jurisprudence has grown up in America. These secular schoolmen believe that the theory of experimental relativity applies to all things, law and political science included. The seculars do not believe that any attribute of man is inalienable or that any truths are unshakeable and self-evident.

"On the rare occasions when these secular schoolmen read the American Declaration of Independence, they ridicule its resounding affirmations by calling them 'pious absolutes.' With this characterization, both Hitler and Stalin would certainly agree. Sooner or later, many of the so-called defenders of 'democracy' must realize that the only defense in principle of our American polity is to be found in the self-evident truths of the American Declaration of Independence. If these self-evident truths are mere 'fatuous platitudes,' too naive for the consideration of serious minds, then Hitler and Stalin are both right, and we should quit badgering them.

"These are some of the reasons why an exhaustive study of the American Declaration of Independence will henceforth be a 'must' in the Notre Dame law school."

world safe for chili sauce and maple syrup. So they put their heads together as they have been doing for the past four or five summers — and engineered the annual Chicago Club golf tournament.

Thursday, Aug. 7 was the day. St. Andrews Country Club of West Chicago, Ill. (which is just about three miles east of Denver, Colo.) was the place. The greens were all manicured down to the quick and the fairways were shorter than the nape of your neck after Bill Roach has worked on you. There was stuff in the ice box and steaks on the grill.

So what happened? You know what happened. Harry Baldwin won it again. This was the fourth or fifth or sixth time that Southpaw Harry has won the honors and, if the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, maybe it's an even ten he's won now. Anyhow, Harry won it again and the cup belongs to him permanently, and if he wants to spike it down to his mantelpiece that's all right with the club.

But this time it wasn't so easy. Harry finished in a dead heat with Judge Tom Hoban, Ned Jordan and Eddie Melchione. (They had a special foursome at Elmhurst Country Club a few days later and Harry won the playoff.) John Dergan finished fifth, just out of the play-off bracket, and Harold I. Reynolds, sometimes known as the Liama of LaSalle Street, suddenly turned into the lynx of the links and pulled up a neat sixth. There were 51 contestants and 52 prizes and you don't lose votes that way. The Peoria system of scoring was used. Boiled down to its essentials, this system specifies that the guy who was absent from school the day they studied arithmetic and who, on top of that, is willing to beat the truth soft around the ears, can't miss.

Anyhow, it was a swell golf party, one of the best the Chicago Club has ever had, and pith helmets off to Bill Steinkemper (pronounced Chumley) and to Fran Oelerich (pronounced Butch.)

But the golf business wasn't all. Forty members of the Fighting Irish Flying Squadron, who had been in training all summer at Curtis-Wright Airport, Glenview, Ill., were guests of the club at the dinner which followed the golf. Headed by Commander Richard Whitard, U.S.N., and Lieut. Comm. Richard Gaines, U.S.N., the recent graduates who have become attached to the Naval Air Corps delighted the older grads with their presence.

Jack Clark is acting as president of the club, George Brantigan having left Chicago in early May for Miami, Fla., where he will be practicing law come autumn. Bad blow that it was for the club to lose George and his copious capacity for work and co-operation; it was decidedly good fortune that one so able and diligent as Vice-president Clark was available for the driver's seat.

The Chicago Club directory, replete with the names of 1,300 alumni, where they can be found, what they do for a living and what kind of apple pie they like for lunch, was published in late May and mailed to all alumni. It was dedicated to Father Hugh O'Donnell.

Plans are being formulated for an October smoker and a November dance. More of that later.

CINCINNATI

Joseph P. Kinneary, '28, 1717 Fernwood Ave., Pres.; Frank I. Broeman, ex. '35, 3645 Midleton Ave., Sec.

At its annual summer picnic at the Miami Boat Club on Thursday, July 10, the club had as its guests the following prospective Notre Dame men: Raymond Gudenas, Harry Hanson, Robert Huerkamp, and Paul McKee.

Thirty-one, including some of the undergraduates, took part in the festivities, which consisted of a superlative dinner, preceded by a very un-professional ball game.

Emmett Crowe is the new assistant to his brother Clem at Xavier University. Matt Thernes has succeeded Emmett as head coach at Roger Bacon high school in Cincinnati. Hugh Burns has signed as his assistant.

CLEVELAND

Jerome G. Reidy, '30, 17109 Detroit Ave., Lakewood, O., Pres.; Edward D. Raddatz, ex. '35, 2630 N. Moreland Blvd., Sec.

Your new secretary hops to his first duties as your correspondent. I hope that we this year can do as fine a job for the Notre Dame Club of Cleveland as did our predecessors — Nick Ruffing, Jerry Reidy, Bob Mazanec and Mike Crawford. They were swell officers and worked hard for the entire year.

We had our annual election in May and elected the following: Jerry Reidy, president; Jim Uprichard, vice-president; Ed Gough, treasurer; John Murphy, honorary president; Father Ed Seward, chaplain; Bob Stack, membership secretary; Clayt Leroux, chairman of employment service; and myself, secretary. The Board of Governors for the year is made up of the following: Bob Butler, Al Lawton, Val Deale, Chuck Rohr, Marty Rini, Bob Mazanec, Pete Champion, Mike Crawford, and Al Grisanti.

We may as well brag a bit and mention our local boys who made good in the election of officers for the national Alumni Association. Father Moriarity was elected a director; Pat Canny, lieutenant governor; and Clayt Leroux, district governor. We did very well this year.

Bob Stack has gone to work for two good Irishmen who run the Cleveland Hospital Service Association. Joe Mulligan is at Thompson Products. Bob Dowd is one of our big bankers; he's with National City. In case the National City runs out of money some day Bob can just run down the street to the Federal Reserve and see Bob Howley, who says they always have a few extra bucks down there. We take our hat off to our new boys, Vic Gulyassy, who not only ran a swell summer dance, but made a little money at the same time. Making money on a summer dance is a real treat. More power to you, Vic.

Bob Morrissey, our local hotel (Statler), in case you want to know) big shot won the golf cup again this year. The golf party was its usual success.

Fritz Slackford (he's one of the Lounge Club boys at Rohr's with Bill Van Rooy, Gene Kane, and, of course, Chuck Rohr) now has an estate in Vermillion. Al Somer just moved into a beautiful new home this summer. Jack Reidy, John Murphy, and Chuck Rohr all went to Father Moriarity's bazaar in Mentor a few weeks ago. By the way, Father Trahey, from the University, spent the summer helping Father Mike.

Three of our boys have moved up on the ladder. Ed Crockett has been made advertising manager at National Refining. Al Lawton has been made agency supervisor for Aetna Life. Bob Butler is leaving United Air Lines to join the American Airlines in sales promotion. The Butlers now have Bob Jr., their second child, incidentally. Al Lawton and Patsy have another girl, their second.

We were hoping to get a letter from F. D. R. before we sent this report in; we're not sure where all of our boys are in the Army, but we do know that Howard Miller and Jim Dubbs are up at Camp Lewis in Washington. Jack Collins is out of the Army now and back at his law office. Glad to see you back, Jack! Clayt Leroux is in a new law office, Davies and Esehner in the Union Commerce Bldg. John Murphy has also moved his law books to the Union Commerce Bldg. Tom Conley coached the All-Stars for their game with the Cleveland Rams. Cec Hobert is looking for the first snow. He is one of our most ardent skiing fans. He made several trips up to

New York state last winter and is planning on the same for this year. Tom Kiener and Mrs. Tom spent their vacation at Cape Cod and New York City seeing shows. Joe Fitzgerald (he's sales manager for Red Rock Cola) planning some sales meetings at his old stamping ground, the Statler. Tom LaLonde was in town recently and asked to be remembered to all his Cleveland friends — Cleveland friends, please note. Charlie Butler will get his degree in music from Oberlin College next June. His brother, Joe Butler, and family were here from Chicago over Labor Day.

One of the most important things of the moment is the coming football season. Chuck Rohr is going to run a special to the Carnegie Tech game. For further details, get in touch with Chuck at CHerry 1352. Let's have a big turn-out.

The annual football rally will be held at Fischer-Rohr's on Saturday, Oct. 25. The prize will be two round trips and two tickets to the Army game in New York. Hugh Ball and 12 co-chairmen are working out the details, so it is sure to be a bang-up success. We might add here that when you guys get your books of tickets to sell, hop right on the job. Last year the officers of the Notre Dame Club of Cleveland were able to send a check to the University establishing a permanent scholarship. The check was for one thousand dollars — a lot of dough, but we would like to do better this year. It will be an easy job for Hugh and his committee if everyone digs in and sells one or two or three books of tickets.

Not that we are noted for any particular degree of modesty, but for some reason we have let go till the last of what we consider one of the biggest bits of news in these parts — we got ourselves a baby on Friday, the 13th of June — a boy — Peter Dustin.

DENVER

Bart W. O'Hara, '32, 1325 Hudson St., Pres.; Eugene S. Blish, '34, 1550 Oneida St., Sec.

Jack O'Malley was the winner of this year's Denver Notre Dame Club scholarship, according to an announcement by Scholarship Committee Chairman Charlie Haskell. A special scholarship award was made this year to Bob Flynn, who until recently carried the mail to J. Edgar Hoover's desk in Washington. Both boys enrolled as freshmen in Electrical Engineering. Along with them will be six other Denver boys—our biggest contribution to date to a Notre Dame freshman class.

Jack Sheehan stepped into the ranks of the Father's Club with seven-pound Judith Ann.

We had the privilege of a summer visit from Frank Lloyd and Miss Kathleen Lloyd who came the Denver-way to the Pacific Coast. Postmaster General Frank Walker stopped in Denver long enough to take care of official business and then say hello to some 25 local Notre Dames who gathered at the Denver Athletic Club to meet him. Al O'Meara handled the arrangements for the get-together.

President Bart O'Hara was on deck to welcome Head Coach Frank Leahy to Denver on a "between-planes" visit to us. Ed Wurtzback, Father O'Donnell's secretary, brought his wife, Alice, out west this summer to show her the "old home town." Art Sandusky, with the Solicitor General's office of the Dept. of Agriculture, was in Denver last month. Jerry O'Dowd, Herb Westoff, and Jack Denny summer-schooled at the University of Colorado.

Jack Wadden, long-time prexy of the Los Angeles alumni, came to Denver to live. Herb Fairall is flying with the Royal Canadian Air Force. Daniel Pfann was called to service with the Chemical Warfare Service at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. Felix Pogliano is doing "squads-right" down in Texas at Fort Bliss, and Chuck Cassidy is a flying cadet.

The annual summer picnic was held at Herb Fairall's mountain cabin. Among the mountaineers for the day were: Bart O'Hara, Harry Lawrence, Al Douds, Charlie Haskell, Al O'Meara, Jerry O'Dowd, Tom Tierney, Tom Barry, Jack Wadden, Ed Mansfield, and John Humphreys and host Herb Fairall.

Chairman Ed Mansfield, of the Varsity Flyer Committee, says that this year's special football train will head for the Southern Cal game on the campus, with special arrangements being made for an over-flow Varsity Flyer group to the Northwestern game the preceding week. This will be Denver's ninth and tenth running of the Varsity Flyer to Notre Dame football games. The committee, headed by Ed Mansfield and Al Douds, includes John Humphreys, Bill Dick, Louie Hough, Jack Sheehan and Gene Blish. Over 300 Notre Dame fans will be with us on these trips, which enable the club to maintain its yearly state-wide scholarship award.

GREATER LOUISVILLE (Kentucky)

Louis J. Hollenbach, Jr., ex. 37, Glencoe Distillery, Louisville, Pres.; Charles G. Morrow, '38, 2418 Valetta Road, Louisville, Sec.

In July the club held its annual outing at the Monarch Club on the Ohio River, with horseshoes, croquet, softball, and barbecued spare-ribs featured.

In August the club had its fall dance at Gypsy Village. This affair is held mainly for the purpose of providing some Notre Dame activity before the students return to school.

Frank Leahy stopped off in Louisville between planes, but not long enough for a delegation of 25 members to greet him and to wish him success.

Plans for the 1941-42 Bowling League were set forth in detail at the August meeting by Bill Bosler and John Bannon; indications point to a bulging roster and a lot of fun.

The club wishes to extend an invitation to all Notre Dame men stationed at Bowman Field, Louisville, and Fort Knox to attend its meetings, and to join the bowling league.

INDIANAPOLIS

Joseph H. Argus, '35, R.R. 14, Box 70-E, Pres.; William H. Konop, '28, 240 N. Meridian St., Sec.

The annual golf tournament and dinner was held this year at the Hillcrest Country Club on July 31.

This activity was conducted under the chairmanship of Pat Fisher, assisted by President Joe Argus, Treasurer Bob Moynahan, and past President Gus Bondi. Golfers, as usual, registered with George Smith, while non-golfers were enjoying the pool. An excellent steak dinner topped off the day for a crowd of 100. Comptroller Frank Lloyd and his assistant, Ed Murray, were down from the University. Comfortable chairs were in use to a late hour.

MEMPHIS

Austin K. Hall, '26, 967 Shrine Bldg., Pres.; Joseph A. Canale, '38, 1433 Poplar Ave., Sec.

The club had its annual summer picnic. Arrangements were made by President Austin Hall and Treasurer T. F. Dohogne. We had not realized what a terrific toll the draft had taken among our ranks until we noticed the absence of many regularly attending members. The latest departure was that of Phil Canale, Jr., to Fort Oglethorpe. His departure interrupts his legal education at Vanderbilt after one year of law.

After a two-year absence, Bill Whitman, '37, returned to Memphis to embark upon a business career. Bill has spent the past two years in the employ of United Fruit Co., in Guatemala. Incidentally, his friends are enjoying the first opportunity to see young Bill III, who was born in Guatemala in July.

A number of alumni are now employed at the Tennessee Powder Co. Among these who are non-residents of Memphis are: J. M. Bevins, John J. Dunphy, William J. Metrailler, P. F. Rosbach, Jr., M. C. Kirchner, and V. Franseen.

William Collins; vice-president, Brother Venard, C.S.C., St. Charles Boys' Home; secretary and treasurer, John E. Clauder.

The board of directors for the coming year will be appointed at a meeting this month.

Some of the men present at the picnic were, Thomas C. R. Dundon. A definite schedule of events is being planned for the coming year. Our noon luncheons on Thursdays will start soon, and any Notre Dame men passing through Milwaukee should plan on joining us. The Maryland Hotel, where we have all of our meetings, has a club roster at the desk for anyone from out of town to consult.

MINNESOTA

Gerald McKay, '30, 5512 11th Ave., S., Minneapolis, Pres.; Robert M. Tegeder, ex. '36, 7 S. 6th St., Minneapolis, Sec.

Our Minnesota Alumni group got together for two occasions during the summer months. The most important gathering of the year was the Ninth National Eucharistic Congress held in the Twin Cities. Notre Dame men were active on many of the committees: P. W. O'Grady was chairman of the housing committee; others assisted in various capacities, and all participated in the event.

One hundred and five members, wives, and friends of the Minnesota club attended an informal reception for Notre Dame clergy and dignitaries at Dr. John Culligan's beautiful home in St. Paul. Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, Rev. Richard Grimm, Rev. J. F. Voorde, and the Rev. Frank Harrison of Syracuse, N. Y., were present. Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., D.D., conducted a discussion seminar for the Military at Fort Snelling during the Congress but, unfortunately, had to depart before the night of the club's reception. L. P. Chute, '89, and Vincent L. Morrison, '89, were present from Minneapolis; Patrick E. Burke, '88, one of the leading Catholic laymen and Knights of Columbus in the South, came from New Orleans. Tommy O'Regan, of St. Paul, also was on hand; he was fullback on the first team Notre Dame placed in the field.

The annual golf tournament was held July 10 at Westwood Hills followed by dinner. Dr. John Culligan blasted through the fairways for a low gross of 80, winning the club championship for the second successive year. Gene and Paul DeLay, '41, were present for their first Notre Dame alumni function, and we hope to see them often in the future. Francis Flannery was in attendance, along with Rev. Bourke Motsett, of Kewanee, Ill. Fran was recently transferred to Minneapolis from Seattle, Wash. Joe Schroeder, Dick Hyde, Lew J. Moes, C. J. Hallman, James Shiely and Tom Lee all were on hand. Ed Fabey, Arnold Klein and the McDermott brothers, Paul and George, attempted to wrest low gross honors from Dr. Culligan but the Doc's irons were too hot. The club's left-handed foursome, composed of Jack Doyle, Arnold Klein, Bob Tegeder, and Frank Mayer, are improving and will soon challenge others in the southpaw fold. John Petrick, '24, led the community singing in the locker rooms. The event was a splendid success.

Jim and Mrs. Galligan became the proud parents of a baby son on Aug. 21. Bob and Mrs. Madden are boasting of their new daughter. Prv. Frank X. Tully, '39, is located at present at Camp Roberts, Calif., Co. B., 76th Infantry Training Battalion. Jerry Conway, of St. Paul, is at Camp Claiborne, La. Jack Yelland and wife are completing their new home in one of the city's suburbs. All members of the club, along with their wives and friends, are looking forward to an active fall and winter program. Mrs. Robert D. Sullivan is the new president of the Ladies Auxiliary, composed of wives of the alumni.

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Kennedy Jones, '30, Wellington Arms Apts., Harding Road, Pres.; Thomas P. Wall, Jr., '40, 323 Lauderdale Road, Sec.

The Notre Dame Club of Nashville came into being with the mosquitoes in July. And this baby of the Notre Dame family of city clubs is already approaching the walking stage. Inexperienced in parliamentary activity, the members, forming the nucleus of the new group, threw caution to the winds, armed themselves with a determination to form the best and most active Notre Dame Club in the South, and proceeded to hold a series of meetings in which they adopted a constitution, elected officers, and made plans for a vigorous future.

Kennedy Jones, '30, was elected president. John Harwood, one of the city's leading architects, and a former member of the Louisville Club, is vice-president. George L. Haightcock, '39, and Thomas P. Wall, Jr., '40, alumni contact representative, and secretary-treasurer, respectively, are the other officers.

Besides the above named, the organization round-up netted Phil Dougherty, Walter Steffen, Rev. Anthony Van Beersum, Dr. N. A. Wenning, Thomas McNicholas, Kirwin J. Williams, Bernard Lewis, '39, John Lynn, Herbert Johnson. A planned ancillary membership has been started with Philip Kerrigan, Jr.

We pledge ourselves to the ideals of Our Lady and her University.

NEW YORK CITY

Warren S. Fogel, '30, 12 E. 41st St., Pres.; Timothy J. Toomey, '30, Royal Indemnity Co., 150 Williams St. (Claims Dept.) Sec.

The club opened the fall program of events Sept. 4, at the Center Club, Hotel Biltmore, when prexy Warren Fogel welcomed an overflow gathering, including 70 incoming freshmen and their fathers. Warren Kane, Baldwin, L. I., winner of the Club's 1941 scholarship, was present and was introduced to the boys. Greg Rice, '39, now employed in New York City, spoke briefly. The football movie, "Highlights of 1940," furnished by the Alumni Office, was enthusiastically received.

On Sept. 15, Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, D.D.,

celebrated Mass at St. Peter's Church, Barclay St., New York City, commemorating the first Mass celebrated by Father Sorin, founder of the University, at the same church upon his arrival in America 100 years ago. John A. Hoyt, Jr., '32, was in charge of arrangements. A representative group of clubbers were in attendance. Rev. Robert E. Moore, pastor of St. Peter's, welcomed the worshippers and assured those present of the continued bond of devotion between St. Peter's parish and the University.

The board of governors has agreed to sponsor a trip to Baltimore on Nov. 8 for the Navy game and one to South Bend Nov. 21 for the Southern California game. Tim Toomey, '30, is in charge of the Navy trip, and Joe Friel, '29, will handle the details for the jaunt to the Bend. The complete schedule of arrangements for both trips will be announced at the next meeting of the club on Oct. 2.

Plans are being made to honor Elmer Layden, new prexy of professional football, on Nov. 2, at the New York Giants-Chicago Cardinal game to be played at the Polo Grounds on that day. It is hoped that a special Notre Dame section can be provided for Elmer's host of well-wishers.

Dan O'Neil, '25, chairman of the Scholarship Award, opened the annual crusade for funds Sept. 3, by placing in the hands of all members chance books for the 21 pairs of Army tickets to be donated by the club Oct. 29. Dan, who has done yeoman service as chairman of this committee, is confident that the returns this year will surpass all others.

The clubbers, headed by Chairman Bill Daunt, '08, spent the week-end of Sept. 19 at the Passionist Retreat House, Jamaica, L. I., where the annual club retreat was conducted by the Rev. Cosmas Shaughnessy of the Passionist Order.

Chairman Dick Donoghue, '30, of the Reunion and Rally Committee, announces that from all indications this year's program, which is to be held in the Commodore Hotel, Oct. 31, the eve of the Army-Notre Dame football game, will surpass any ever put on by the club. Leaders in the fields of entertainment, athletics and business will be guests of the club. It is expected that one of the major networks will broadcast a part of the festivities. Dancing as usual will follow the entertainment. Reservations are now being received by the committee.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Governors Coleman O'Shaughnessy, '32, was elected to succeed Paul Mabolchic, '35, as a member of the board. Paul was recently appointed U.S.O. director with headquarters in Savannah, Ga.

Death ended a long period of illness and removed from the roster of the club one of its most devoted members when Hugh A. O'Donnell, '94, passed to his Eternal Reward on Aug. 23. The funeral Mass, celebrated at Blessed Sacrament Church, was attended by delegations from all walks of life; educational, athletic, fraternal, theatrical, as well as the field of journalism where Mr. O'Donnell spent the major portion of his professional life.

The Officers, Board of Governors, all recent past presidents and a large number of club members represented the Notre Dame Club, which Mr. O'Donnell helped to found and to which he gave so much of his time and energies.

With Mr. O'Donnell's passing the club has suffered an irreparable loss. He was a loyal Notre Dame man, and many graduates have him to thank for advising them to matriculate at the University and for the assistance they received in securing employment upon graduation. He could always find time from his crowded day to listen to the story of some Notre Dame man and give him a bit of fatherly advice and many times physical aid.

Requiescat in Pace!

Plans were made last meeting to contact every alumnus in the territory to see if some projects could be found to awaken interest in local affairs associated with Notre Dame or its alumni. We start the academic year with firm faith in the motive power of concerted Notre Dame spirit. Harry Burt in his new Richmond, California, newspaper plant is busy printing a local alumni roster to be sent to every member now on our list. This, it is hoped, will be the means of bringing the members closer together.

Bernard Abrott, LL.B. '27, Pacific coast spotlight alumnus, starts the year with a civic duty well done. Berney was chairman of the Native Sons Committee for California's Admission Day celebration, in which 25,000 people participated. Berney is practicing law with Bernard Sheridan (Honorable by the way), son of the late Tom Sheridan, '86, in the Latham Square Bldg., Oakland, Calif.

Lieut. Walt Phillip went and did it this summer with a swanky military wedding. Dan Young acted as best man. There are few bachelors left, to name Frank McManus, Joe Wackerman, and yours truly. When does the season open on these guys?

Our sympathy goes to Harry Francis who lost his wife, Alice, recently. Those who knew Harry will appreciate what this loss must mean to him. Johnny Moran, of Chicago, a classmate of Harry's and Charlie Conley also asked to join with us in paying our respects.

Dave McCaffery recently joined the Dry Dock Associates. Lieut. Bob Ducey is also a newcomer to the club and is likewise located at the Navy Yard in a supervisory capacity on inspection and design.

Jack Neeson is an attorney in Washington with Uncle Sam, and J. Edgar Hoover has Jack Mathews and Charlie Dougherty. Bumped into Tom Magee in Wanamaker's. He expects to be in town for a permanent stay after touring the country.

Bill Castellini, who opened his own publicity bureau not long ago, reports progress. If he decided to give that up, bet he could make a nice living by charging a fee on the jobs he gets for Notre Damers. Bill has the real spirit — the willingness to help the other fellow.

Random thought — Wonder what Charlie McKinney would look like wrestling Pete McClure. Cliff Prodehl.

RHODE ISLAND AND S.E. MASS.

John J. McLaughlin, '34, Mendon Road, Cumberland Hill, R. I., Pres.; Russell L. Hunt, '39, 45 Olo St., Woonsocket, R. I., Sec.

On Sept. 2 Babe Ruth made what may be his last personal appearance in Providence at the opening of a state baseball tourney, through the efforts of two members of the club, Leo McAloon and Jack Brady.

Sam Neild, '41, one of Notre Dame's outstanding golfers, was honored at a banquet in August upon the occasion of his marriage and induction into the U.S. Army. The event, attended by many N.D. men, was highlighted by a discussion of current campus activities.

On Sept. 11 the club officers gathered at John McLaughlin's, '34, warehouse to give seven new students a send-off.

Ed "Moose" Krause, assistant football coach at Holy Cross College, spent a week-end with McLaughlin recently and both boys had a grand time discussing undergraduate days. Incidentally, Krause and McLaughlin would like to hear from Frank Jehle and Jim Leonard through the "Alumnus" or otherwise.

Frank Gaul, grid head at John Carroll, Cleveland, paid his semi-annual visit to "Mc" recently. During his stay he watched Hugh Devore put his Providence College charges through their paces.

Preparations for the annual Notre Dame-Army game trip are advancing rapidly, and a large crowd is expected to make the excursion.

ROCHESTER

Frank X. Connelly, ex. '34, 135 Spring St., Pres.; John F. Hurley, '37, 1018 Commerce Bldg., 119 Main St., Sec.

A picnic was held at Manitou Beach, stronghold of the Odenbachs, John, '36, and Bob, '41. Attendance was small, but members present hurried around a few basepaths and a number of steaks.

A few more of the gang have left to train for Uncle Sam. Jack Gore, '39, is a member of the Army air corps and, according to his father, is now stationed in Hawaii. George Ball, '36, is a private in one of the southern camps.

We have welcomed a few of the class of '41 to the ranks of the club including Frank Dowling, Bob Odenbach, John Torney, and Jim Hurley. All but John are employed locally. John, with one of those terrifically high averages in engineering, left recently to do graduate work at M.I.T. Another Notre Dame man who has recently moved to Rochester is Frank Oberkoetter, '32, formerly from Illinois.

It is fitting that two of the older members of our organization receive an orchid in this column. First to Joe "Stubby" Flynn, '16, present grand knight of the Knights of Columbus. Joe is the architect for the new St. Mary's Hospital, a million-dollar project here in Rochester. Joe is a leader in everything Catholic in the city and as a Notre Dame man is very active in the alumni club.

Our second orchid also goes to an architect, Frank Quinlan, '13. Frank is the architect in charge of the new buildings for Nazareth College, which is being moved from its present site to a new location. Frank rarely misses a meeting of the alumni.

By the time this hits the street the club will probably have held a meeting for the election of new officers. I have enjoyed doing my bit as secretary. To Frank Connelly, I would like to pay a vote of thanks for his really sincere effort to make the club an active one. Praise also should be showered upon the treasurer, Jerry Farrell, the only man who found a way to get out of the Army, and the guy who calls on all my good insurance prospects just before I do. As for our silent vice-president, Larry Carpenter, "Dat Bum" never invited me down to his lakeside cottage this summer.

SOUTHWESTERN CONNECTICUT

John Molloy, 809 Norman St., Bridgeport, Pres.; David Meskill, '39, Long Hill Acres, R.F.D. 4, Bridgeport, Sec.

Early in the summer the club held its election: the new officers are John Molloy, '29, president; Bill O'Brien, '34, vice-president; Dave Meskill, '39, secretary; and John Devine, '34, treasurer.

The club held monthly meetings during the summer, with our annual outing the highspot of the season. Over 50 members and guests attended, and a softball game was featured. Long-distance visitors included Greg Rice, '39, Julian Tonsmeire, '39, and Jim Tansey, '39, with three undergraduates from New Haven. The ticket activity for the Army game was the opener for our fall program.

Our ex-president, Pat Rooney, '30, is in the Army, but is expected back by Christmas under the new age ruling. Tom Schmid, '40, Tony Benedetto, '41, and Dick Scannell, '38, all left for the Army recently. Remington transferred Frank Toyne, '40, back home to Kansas City.

New recruits for the club include five members of the '41 class now working in Bridgeport: Larry Schmidt and Tom Rice, at G.E.; and Joe Lawler, Noel Wilkins, and John Monaghan at Remington Arms.

ST. LOUIS

Dr. L. Vincent Gorrilla, '21, 3115 S. Grand Blvd., Pres.; Bernard P. Crowley (Dr.), '28, 1139 Bellevue Ave., Sec.

The club elected new officers last spring as follows: president, Dr. Vince Gorrilla; vice-president, Valda (Dutch) Wrape; secretary, Bernie Crowley; treasurer, Jerry Arnold; directors: Ed Buddy, John Corley, Bert Coughlin, Bill Cronk, Paul Fehlig, Tom Glynn, Jack Griffin, Bob Hellrung, Fran Kennedy, Joe McGlynn, Dick Muckerman, Bill O'Connor, Al Phaneuf, and Al Ravarino.

Our annual picnic was held July 13 at John Corley's farm. Jack Griffin headed the committee composed of Dutch Wrape, Al Phaneuf, Jerry Arnold, Bernie Crowley, Bill Cronk, Don Gilliland, Tom Glynn and Al Ravarino. We had 85 door prizes rounded up by Bill Cronk, Marty Lucas, and Jack Griffin. Doc Matt Weis supplied 40 cases of coke, Al Ravarino, the spaghetti, Dutch Wrape delivered the meat and ribs, and Griesedieck Brothers, through the father of Ed Griesedieck, Jr., '42, provided the cheer. Al Phaneuf did a noble job at the door. Don Gilliland handled the bingo, and a better "hog-caller" there isn't. The club presented the generous and hospitable hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Corley, with a lawn table and umbrella.

The weather broke just right and when the final tally was in 195 people had registered. We played bingo, softball, tennis, darts, horseshoes, and about half the crowd cooled off in the outdoor swimming pool.

Jim Armstrong was down for our luncheon at the Hotel De Soto on Sept. 10, honoring the returning students. That same evening the club held a meeting at the University Club. A buffet supper was served. The meeting was the official launching of the annual scholarship fund drive. Books of tickets will be sold and those holding the lucky numbers will win two all-expense football trips.

We also heard about our regular football trips, with Bert Coughlin as chairman, for the Illinois, Northwestern and Southern Cal games.

We want to welcome Frank Itzin to our midst. Frank has just joined the faculty of the School of Social Service, St. Louis U., and brought a one-week-old bride with him. Doc Bill McGuire has been called up by the Naval Reserve Medical Corps and is at the Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, Ill. Pat and Mrs. McLaughlin welcomed their first child, May 17, and the boy has taken the clans by storm. His name is Douglas Campbell McLaughlin.

ST. JOSEPH VALLEY (Indiana)

R. Floyd Searer, '28, First Bank & Trust Co., South Bend, Pres.; Clarence Harding, '25, South Bend Tribune, South Bend, Sec.

The fall program of the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley got under way with a rush at a directors' meeting held in August at the Hotel LaSalle.

There will be a football smoker the Friday night before each home game, it was decided. These smokers have been so well attended and have brought out such a high calibre of talent that they have become almost an institution.

Chairmen for the various smokers are — Arizona: Edward F. Voorde and John Lechner; Indiana: Albert McGann and Edward J. Meehan; Illinois: Joseph E. Nyikos and Francis Messick; Southern California: Elwyn Moore and William E. Voor. Locations of the smokers and feature attractions will be announced later. Visiting alumni and guests are cordially invited.

Plans for the annual football banquet are in the capable hands of Francis Jones, general chairman. The affair will be held, as usual, in the campus dining hall. It will be on Jan. 12, 1942, instead of in December as in recent years. Mr. Jones has plans to streamline this year's affair. Speakers' time will be cut down, so the banquet will not last so long. Mr. Jones also has in mind curtailing the number of speakers. Chuck Sweeney will act as program chairman for the affair.

John Merlin Guthrie, Jr., a 1941 graduate of Central Catholic High School, South Bend, was awarded the club's first annual scholarship in July following a dinner-meeting of the judges at which all applicants were interviewed. Jack will enter the pre-med course. Impressed deeply by the high caliber of the applicants were the following judges: O. M. Swihart, Fred N. Smith, Frank W. Lloyd, Otto A. Pfaff and Judge J. Elmer Peak. To them the club owes a special debt for zealous and sacrificing work. Acting on the club's scholarship committee were R. Floyd Searer, chairman; Herbert E. Jones, James R. Meehan, Frank Miles, Charles A. Sweeney and William R. Doolley. Mr. Miles has since been appointed by Mr. Searer, club president, as chairman of the committee, and Paul Butler has succeeded Mr. Searer as a committee member.

The club ended a successful year with a smoker at the local Knights of Columbus hall. Tom McKevitt, John Ryan and Jack Kenkle were present at a luncheon of the Manreans Club. Robert O'Hara, brother of Bishop O'Hara, has been made special assistant to the president of the Commodities Credit Corporation. Louie Buckley, former professor of economics on the campus, has become a permanent resident of the city. He is with the Social Security organization in a fine job.

Steve Miller is to be married in October, but so far, I haven't had the opportunity of finding out who the lucky bride is. Herb Jones was in town and had lunch with Bill Cronin and Bill Jones.

Arrangements are being completed for the distribution of Notre Dame-Navy game tickets. They will be available at the Ambassador Hotel, 14th and K Streets, N.W.; William Brown, assistant manager there, is a former Notre Dame man.

Before I say adieu, may I thank the officers and members of the Washington Club. They worked hard last year and, as president, I do appreciate their interest and enthusiasm.

Western Pennsylvania Club Establishes Scholarship

When, in late June, Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., vice-president, and Frank Leaky, director of athletics, were guests of the Western Pennsylvania Club at its dinner in Pittsburgh, Father Cavanaugh received from the club a check for $2,500 to establish a club scholarship in the University. The club will from time to time add to the fund until it reaches the desired total. Meanwhile, the first recipient of the scholarship's aid, Francis Bowman Shipley, is enrolled as a freshman.

Alfred J. Diebold, Jr., chairman of the club's Scholarship Committee, reports that funds for the scholarship were obtained from club activities and from individual friends of Notre Dame, both alumni and non-alumni. Individuals who contributed include D. T. Broderick, Hugh C. Boyle, Rev. Vincent Brennan, J. Vincent Burke, Jr., Joseph Clarke, Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., Robert Fulton, Hugh A. Gallagher, Ben J. Kaiser, Hon. John J. Kennedy, J. P. Monteverde, L. W. Monteverde, C. E. Martin, John J. McGovern, G. Franklin McSorley, John McSorley, Jr., John J. Ryan, W. N. Steitz, George J. Schill, Francis J. Wilson, Philip A. Walsh, John C. Sheedy and John A. Friday, Jr.

Ed doesn't intend to become an active farmer. The O'Briens took an extensive trip this summer, met many Notre Dammers, none of them Pittsburghers. Tom O'Brien, taken ill while serving as a second lieutenant with the U. S. Marines stationed at Quantico, is resting at home. He's still on the Marine reserve list.

The John B. Reardons spent three pleasant weeks touring the New England states. Charles O'Toole is connected with the DiNardi Construction Co. Bill Steitz, hurt by a tractor on his farm, is up and doing well. Jerry Smith, of Forest Hills, now in the U. Graduate News

The Wilmington, Del., area now boasts of having some 25 to 30 Notre Dame men. Informal gatherings have been held from time to time since last spring. Since a large number of the group are former graduate students, notes of these meetings will appear occasionally in this column. The Universal Notre Dame Night meeting was reported in the June issue. Since then, Harold Bowls entertained the fellows at his home. More recently, a picnic at a near-by amusement park was sponsored by the group. More events are in the offing.

Further vital statistics: a daughter was born recently to Dr. and Mrs. Ed Bried, a son to Dr. and Mrs. Fen Froning, and a son to Dr. and Mrs. Carl Irwin. Congratulations!

Paul Sartoretto (Ph.D., '38), who before leaving Notre Dame admitted that Injuns were still being shot in his native state of Wyoming, is starting his second year as professor of chemistry at the University of Portland. Paul is now lecturer for the Portland Council of the Knights of Columbus into which Art Istvanovic (M.S., '39) and Ed O'Meara (M.A., '40) were recently inducted.

In order to answer Uncle Sam's summons, Ed Sandstrom (M.A., '39) recently quit two jobs: (1) instructor in business at the University of Portland and (2) vice-president of the Notre Dame Club of Oregon. Ed is (or was) at McChord apparently with a Ph.D. as his objective.

Martin McLoughlin (M.A., '41) spent the summer at his home in Portland, Ore., but is returning to Notre Dame to continue graduate studies, apparently with a Ph.D. as his objective. He finished his apologetics course in June.

Recent arrivals in Wilmington include: Stan Sheeran (Ph.D., '41) with duPont's Krebs Figments Division, and Carl Irwin (Ph.D., '41) and Chuck Kelly (M.S., '41) both with duPont's Jackson Lab.

At the fall meeting of the American Chemical Society in Atlantic City the following Notre Dame men were present: Father T. J. Deaths

FREDERICK J. FISHER, LL.D. '39, DIES

Frederick J. Fisher, LL.D., '39, vice-president of the Associate Board of Lay Trustees of the University, a member of that distinguished group since 1926, died in Detroit, Mich., on July 14. He is survived by Mrs. Fisher, three sisters, and six brothers.

Mr. Fisher was the head of the famous Fisher brothers, whose family history is so closely allied with that of the automobile industry. Rated a multi-millionaire, Mr. Fisher at his death was director of 15 corporations. He was considered the founder, and was the first president of the Fisher Body Company.

The story of the rise of the Fisher industrial influence and fortune is a saga of America and its opportunities.

In 1908, Fred Fisher and six brothers began in Detroit a small carriage shop that made bodies for another young Detroit enterprise, General Motors Corporation.

The Fisher Body Company, once established as a $50,000 business, after the vicissitudes of a humble beginning, grew to a virtual monopoly of an estimated $208,000,000 value, as an independent business. In 1921, General Motors acquired a majority interest in the business, and the attention of the Fisher Brothers was turned to more diverse business pursuits.

Among the new pursuits of Fred J. Fisher, philanthropy took a prominent part. In 1928 he gave a million dollars to the Little Sisters of the Poor in Detroit. The brothers together gave $700,000 for a nurses home at Providence Hospital in Detroit. The Fisher Home for the Aged was given $900,000, and the Fisher YMCA $500,000. These are but a few that are known, and it is estimated that the unsung charities of Fred Fisher and his brothers would multiply this record.

For his generosity to Catholic charities, Fred Fisher was in 1929 made a Knight of Malta by Pope Pius XI.

Malcolm Bingay wrote a vivid article about the Fishers on the occasion of Fred Fisher's death. It started:

"The brothers were seven in number and the first-born passed away with the ever-faithful six at his bedside.

"Thus there was broken for the first time a brotherhood that has grown into one of the great and tender epics of American folklore, for Frederick John Fisher, as the eldest son, had taken by common consent his place at the head of the famous family when his father died.

"The story starts in a little wagon shop in Norwalk, O., where the father, Lawrence Fisher, plied his trade and taught each one of his stalwart sons how to use their hands and their heads and their hearts and sent them forth in the world to make a better place for their having lived in it.

"The father was a blacksmith and a carriage maker — and more. He was an all-around mechanic who made each son take up a trade as he grew old enough. When times were slack the two oldest sons, Fred and Charles, went into Pittsburgh, Chicago and Philadelphia to work as mechanics. Then there began the stirring of the automobile business in Detroit — and they came, the two oldest brothers. . . ."

The rest is American history. Working for a while for $30 a week next to another mechanic, Henry Ford, Fred Fisher advanced until he and Charles launched the Fisher Body Company.

To Notre Dame, and the problems of growth since 1926, Fred Fisher gave the benefits of a counsel familiar with the problems of rapid expansion. He was admired by his fellow trustees and by all who met him at Notre Dame. His place on the Board, for both his counsel and his friendship, will not be an easy one to fill.

Thomas F. Gallagher, A.B. '76, one of the oldest and most distinguished graduates of the University, and one of the most devoted and active, died on July 5 in his home in Fitchburg, Mass., at the age of 85. For 48 years, from 1892 until 1940, Judge Gallagher was presiding justice of the Fitchburg district court, holding the long-service record among the judges of the state.

Born in Lynn, Mass., Judge Gallagher was admitted to the bar in 1878, two years after his graduation from Notre Dame. He was the first president of the Fitchburg-Leominster Bar Association, and he served for 25 years as a trustee of the Fitchburg Public Library.

Governor Saltonstall, in accepting Judge Gallagher's resignation a year ago, wrote to him: "... You have, in your 48 years, performed the type of judicial service that is typical of the best interests of the Commonwealth and . . . your position will indeed be a difficult one to fill because of the high standard you have set during your term."

Judge Gallagher's wife survives him.

Dudley Morton Shively, LL.M. '92, one of the best known of South Bend attorneys, died, July 9. He had been in poor health for several years and recently had been compelled to retire from active legal practice. He apparently was recovering from an appendectomy, performed in June, when death came.

Mr. Shively was graduated from the University of Michigan with the degree of LL.B. He entered the law department of the University of Notre Dame, receiving a Master of Laws in 1892. He was admitted to the Indiana and the Michigan bars in 1891 and to practice in the United States supreme court in 1900. He became secretary of the Inter State Oil company, of the Inter State Petroleum Oil & Gas company, and of the Bailey Oil company.

In 1906 Mr. Shively was elected to be a representative in Indiana legislature by the Republican party. He was last connected with the law firm of Shively & Shively, with his son, John C. Shively, '31, now in service at Randolph Field near San Antonio, Texas. He was a close friend of the noted authoress, the late Gene Stratton Porter, and a frequent guest in her home. It was he who urged her to write and who corrected many of her early manuscripts.

Surviving are his widow, his son John, and one sister.

J. Joseph Cooke, LL.B. '94, of Chicago, died Aug. 14 in St. Joseph's Hospital of that city at the age of 67. He had practiced law in Chicago for 23 years.

From 1910 to 1918 Mr. Cooke was city judge in Beardstown, Ill., and during that time often sat in the Circuit, Superior, and Cook County Courts in Chicago. He retired from the bench in 1918 to practice law. He had served in the Illinois legislature for two years, and from 1900 to 1910 he was an assistant states attorney in Cass County, Ill. His sister, Mary, and a brother, A. M. Cooke, survive.

Hugh A. O'Donnell, Litt.B. '94, president of the Alumni Association in 1924-25, died in New York City on Saturday, August 23. Father Andrew Morrissey was the new president of Notre Dame when Hugh O'Donnell was a senior. Notre Dame was in the golden flush of its fiftieth anniversary, and giants already walked the campus, of the type Hugh O'Donnell loved and emulated. That perhaps explains his singular devotion to Notre Dame through the almost 50 years that followed, under the long and illustrious leadership of Fathers Morrissey, Cavanaugh, Burns, Walsh, Charles O'Donnell, O'Hara and his present namesake, Father Hugh O'Donnell. In all these years Hugh A. O'Donnell was an alumni constant. To him the University and its administrators turned in the many problems that rose with the growth of enrollment and the spread of the scope of influence. Particularly in his New York career, from 1917, Hugh O'Donnell was the embodiment of the Notre Dame alumnus, the liaison between Notre Dame and a growing host of friends and alumni in whose creation he played a brilliant part.

Hugh O'Donnell was 67 years of age when he died. But in the minds of Notre Dame men these years rested lightly on him. He was young in mind, young in thought, and young in the vigor of his appearance and habits. He sought youth to stay young, and repaid it with an energy in placing young people on the paths to jobs and careers no one will ever measure adequately.

"Call Hugh O'Donnell," or "See Hugh O'Donnell," were the Open Sesames of many of the men who pursue their work in New York today, many of them given added aid because they wore the Gold and Blue.

Hugh O'Donnell was an actor of more than ordinary talent and aspirations. A professional career followed his years at Notre Dame, with such stage favorites of the Nineties as Fanny Davenport, Blanche Walsh and Charles Coghlan. The glamor of the new journalism won him from the stage, and he pursued a colorful career in Minneapolis and St. Paul, later in New Orleans and Philadelphia. Then, for 16 years, he was assistant business manager of the New York "Times," in which capacity he was the contact man between that great paper and the constant flow of celebrities who were won by his keen mind and his diversity of background and interests.

In 1933 he retired from this trying work but sought activity in many other fields as a cushion for the spring which had not escaped with the years. The Fusion Party claimed his talent and attention. The Boy Scouts found in him a staunch friend.

Needless to say, the Notre Dame Club of New York, long dear to his heart, found him a regular patron of its rapid progress, and a ready sharer of its increasing burden of responsibility.

Hugh O'Donnell was buried from the Church of the Blessed Sacrament in New York City, in the presence of a crowd which fixed in this last tribute the broad scope of his career. Priests of Holy Cross, whose cause he had so valiantly served through half a century; many men from the Notre Dame Club of New York, members of the Catholic Writers Guild, which he founded and served as president; leaders in the business, journalistic, literary, political, fraternal, and cultural interests of New York, were there.

It was, in a sense, a sad tribute to the inevitable physical separation that must come for friends like Hugh O'Donnell. But it was tempered with the consolation, to the three sisters and the brother who survive him, that men like Hugh O'Donnell do not die.

At Notre Dame, by the terms of his will, the "Hugh A. O'Donnell Award," will bring a gold medal each year to the outstanding senior journalist, a prize established as a tribute to a deceased brother, James F. O'Donnell. The bequest of $2,000 establishing this award perpetuates love and loyalty of the donor.

James F. McKinney, Latrobe, Pa., of the class of 1897, died on May 22, according to a recent notification from John Pavlick, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Club.

Rev. Stanislaus J. Gorke, C.S.C., 1899-1900, pastor of St. Casimir's Parish, South Bend, died suddenly of a heart attack, Aug. 22, in St. Joseph Hospital. He had been in poor health since Sept. 10, 1940, when he suffered an earlier heart attack. He had been pastor in St. Casimir's Church since 1915, with the exception of six years as assistant pastor of the Holy Trinity Parish, Chicago.

One of Father Gorke's greatest achievements during his pastorate at St. Casimir's was the building of a new church, which was dedicated in 1925.

Alumni of many eras will learn with sorrow of the death, on July 12, of James F. Hines, Ph.B. '10, 66 years old, until his retirement four years ago a professor of history at Notre Dame. Professor Hines died in his home in Kewanna, Ind., after an illness of nine weeks. His wife and one son survive him.

Rev. Bernard J. Ill, C.S.C., and Rev. Joseph A. Maguire, C.S.C., of the University assisted in the solemn requiem funeral Mass celebrated for Professor Hines in Kewanna on July 14. Dean Emeritus Thomas F. Konop, Dr. John M. Cooney, Professor William L. Benitz (retired), Professor William H. Downey, and Professor Benjamin G. DuBois of the lay faculty and William R. Dooley of the Alumni Office were honorary pallbearers. Burial was in Logansport, Ind.

Professor Hines was graduated from the Indiana State Normal School in 1901, attended the University of Indiana and was superintendent of schools in Akron, Ind., and Roann, Ind., before he came to Notre Dame. Here he was a member of the faculty from 1910 to 1937, one of the earlier band of lay teachers who, out of uncomplaining self sacrifice, gave so much to the upbuilding of the school.

A history scholar of the widest and deepest proportions, Professor Hines was an inspiration to his students and one of the best loved figures on the campus.

The news of the death of Rev. James J. Stack, C.S.C., Litt.B., '13, at St. Mary's hospital in Rochester, Minn., July 2, will be felt deeply by many alumni. Father Stack had been in poor health for some time, but seemed to be recovering when stricken with the heart attack which caused his death.

He was ordained as a member of the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1918 and was assigned to the history faculty of Notre Dame in 1919. From 1929 to 1931 he was an assistant pastor in Austin, Texas; this was the only period of his later life spent away from the Notre Dame campus. In addition to his teaching duties, Father Stack acted as rector or prefect of various student halls, and during the 1940-41 schoolyear was a prefect in Zahm hall.

Father Stack did graduate work at the University of Chicago and at Harvard University. He received his M.A. from Notre Dame in 1926. He was born in Springfield, Ill., Nov. 22, 1892, and entered the novitiate on Aug. 15, 1913.

Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president of the University, was the celebrant of the requiem Mass at the funeral in the Sacred Heart Church on the campus. Surviving are two brothers, Thomas Stack, of Detroit, and William Stack, of Springfield, and two sisters, Miss Mary Stack, a twin of Father Stack, and Miss Anne Stack, both of Springfield.

Dr. Frederick Bonine, LL.D. '19, the noted eye specialist, died in his home in Niles, Mich., Aug. 22, after an illness of three years. He was forced to retire from practice in 1938 at the age of 74, after an illness of pneumonia aggravated by a stroke.

It is estimated that during his nearly four decades of practice Dr. Bonine treated 1,500,000 patients from the United States, Canada, and foreign countries. They came to his humble, old-fashioned office in the upstairs of a Niles business building, and often waited in line for hours to see him. He often treated 200 persons in a single day. Dr. Bonine never made appointments. No one was charged more than two dollars for a treatment. If the patient was needy the doctor would accept no fee at all.

In 1919 the University of Notre Dame conferred on Dr. Bonine the degree of Doctor of Laws for being "... a distinguished specialist in a delicate and difficult department of medicine, whose professional labors have brought fame to his city and whose benefactions to the poor through gratuitous service have endeared him to his fellowmen. . . ."

Ronald J. McNamee, Litt.B. '24, manager of the Ballston Spa Woolen Mills, died on June 17 at his home in Ballston Spa, N. Y., after a long illness. Ron is survived by his wife and three small daughters, and by his father and mother, two sisters and one brother.

The Sexton family of Indianapolis was made to bear additional sorrow when Joseph F. Sexton, LL.B. '26, an Indiana state senator from 1937 to 1941, died on June 26 in St. Vincent's Hospital, Indianapolis, after a two-day illness. Another brother, John T., '33, died on Nov. 27, 1940. A member of the football squad of Notre Dame, Joe was for the three years following his graduation coach of Cathedral High School in Indianapolis. He practiced law for many years, since 1937 with his brother W. Lawrence Sexton, '33, and his father, Timothy P. Sexton. He served for a time as trust officer of the Fidelity Trust Co., Indianapolis.

Besides his father and brother, Joe is survived by his wife, two sons and four daughters, and by his mother and a sister.

Alfred A. Vignos, ex. '96, sent word of the death of his son, John A. Vignos, Ph.B. Com. '26, in August. Surviving John are his wife and two children.

Sister Mary Phillip Mulvihill, S.C., M.A. '27, College of Mt. St. Joseph, Mt. St. Joseph, Ohio, is dead, according to a postoffice notification.

George W. Guetler, Ph.B. Com. '27, an auditor in the Detroit office of the Michigan Sales Tax Commission, died Aug. 25 in Detroit after a brief illness. He was an active member of the Notre Dame Club of Detroit.

Surviving are his wife, his mother, and three sisters. The burial was in Monroe, Mich., where George was born.

News of the death of Albert J. Flynn, Chicago, a former student elected to the Alumni Association in 1928, was sent to the campus by William J. Flynn.

Albert Hanson, 1931-32, was killed in a fall from the top of a box car, Aug. 21, while at work as a switchman at the Chicago and North Western Railroad yards in North Fond du Lac, Wis. Bert attended Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis., for two years after his year at Notre Dame.

Surviving are his widow; his parents; one brother, John H. Hanson, '31, Waterloo, Iowa, and a sister.

The "Religious Bulletin" carried in its first week of 1941-42 the sad news of the death, on Sept. 16, of Joseph C. Foley, A.B. '37, of Dallas, Texas. Joe was killed in an air crash at Randolph Field, Texas. His brother, Dan, is a present student, a member of the class of '44.

Cadet George W. Weber, of Cleveland, a member of the class of '40, was killed recently near Brookfield, Texas, when his Army plane crashed and burned. George, in pilot training since last December, was the victim of a wing which crumpled during a power dive. He was buried in Cleveland.

John A. Gibbons, St. Paul, Minn., a student in 1938-40, died on Aug. 29 as the result of an infection resulting from a foot injury.

Brother Florentius, C.S.C., former assistant superior general of the Congregation of Holy Cross, died Aug. 4, in New Orleans. For 25 years he had been vice-president of Holy Cross college, New Orleans.

Brother Florentius was born Thomas Murray, and entered the Congregation at Notre Dame in 1888. He made his final profession at Notre Dame in 1899. He was active here as a teacher and school administrator for many years, and was an outstanding Shakespearean scholar. He was superior of DuJarie Institute at Notre Dame and the first director of the St. Charles Boys' Home in Milwaukee. No immediate relatives survive.

Brother was buried in the Community Cemetery at Notre Dame.

A beloved former member of the Notre Dame faculty, Richard H. Seidel, died July 31, in Evanston, Ill., after a two-year illness. Mr. Seidel taught music at Notre Dame from 1930 to 1936, and during many additional summer sessions, and for 25 years was a violinist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. He gave private instruction in violin at St. Mary's College and in the South Bend Conservatory of Music. Surviving him are two sons and two daughters.

Many of the boys and their wives are looking forward to seeing each other at one of the Notre Dame games this fall. A reunion at one of these football games was suggested, but this plan involved a great deal of work and was not felt practical if attempted at this time but it would be an excellent idea for next year.

Scores of letters have been received by the secretary suggesting that class of '16 have a reunion again next June when the class of 1917 have their 25th reunion, as we know practically everyone in that class. If you are in favor of such movement, write your secretary. The boys are still talking about the wonderful time they had when 35 of us lived together for four days last spring.

DON'T LET HITLER OR HIS ARMY STOP YOU

from attending the 25th reunion of your class next June. Write Bernard J. Voll, General Reunion Chairman, 206 E. Tutt St., South Bend, Ind., for details.

From Bernie Voll who, by popular acclaim, is the new secretary of the class of 1917:

Come June, 1942, and we celebrate our 25th year of graduation. This is a milestone in anybody's life, and because of a coincidental circumstance it is even more important in ours.

When we graduated we were ticketed for the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps to fight the war to make the World Safe for Democracy.

Only the Almighty Himself knows what our assignment may be in June, 1942, but it looks as though we are embarking upon another adventure to again make the World Safe for Democracy — only this time they call it The Democracies against the Totalitarian States.

No matter what our job, we should all be able to get together for a three-day reunion, not only to celebrate our own jubilee, but also to help the University launch its 100th anniversary program.

We had a 20th Reunion in 1937, and perhaps some of you who didn't attend, heard about it. I don't know that we can improve upon that one except in having a larger number of our classmates return, but a group of us are already at work on plans, and I am quite certain we can guarantee you plenty of fun and an opportunity to visit with men you may not have seen for 25 years.

The notice above this letter is going to run in the "Alumnus" this year. Take your pen in hand immediately and advise us you will be here and make your plans accordingly so that nothing will interfere.

1918 John A. Lemmer, 901 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba, Mich.

1919 Clarence Bader, 650 Pierce St., Gary, Ind.

1920 Leo B. Ward, 1012 Black Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

1921 Dan W. Duffy, 1600 Terminal Tower, Cleveland, Ohio

1922 Gerald Ashe, 46 West Avenue, Hilton, N. Y.

From Gerald Ashe:

Rev. Father Marcel Keliher, who was a freshman in our class, is editor of "The True Voice," a Catholic weekly publication of the Omaha diocese. Father Keliher is pastor of St. Saviour's parish in Omaha.

According to latest reports, Vince Hanrahan is doing geodetic survey work near Raleigh, N. C. Joe Farley is with the Chicago Board of Elections.

The bachelor club of 1922 took a terrible beating during the summer. Two of our ablest men — Dr. Daniel Sexton of St. Louis, and Cletus Lynch of Peoria, Ill., have forfeited all rights of membership in the club. Elsewhere in this issue the formal marriage announcements may be found. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch went to the West Coast for their honeymoon, and Dr. and Mrs. Sexton started for Murray Bay, Quebec. Hearty congratulations to both couples.

We regret to report the illness of Cyril Gaffney of New Britain, Conn. Gaff underwent an operation to relieve pressure on a nerve. He has been away from his law practice since mid-July.

James Murphy of Bridgeport, Conn., resigned his position of executive secretary to the governor of the state to receive a judgeship appointment. Jim's success is our pleasure.

Your secretary had a surprise meeting with Jim Shaw at luncheon in Council Bluffs, Iowa, in late August. Jack Rahe is with the Shea Employment Agency in Chicago. Our congratulations are heartily extended to Prof. Pat Manion for his appointment as Dean of Law at Notre Dame, and to Judge Al Scott of the Superior Court of Los Angeles on the election to the office of second vice-president of the Notre Dame Alumni Association.

Already the boys are climbing on the 1922 bandwagon which is starting its journey to the gala 20th anniversary celebration of our class next June at Notre Dame. Jerry Barrett, of Omaha, who has not seen Notre Dame since he was graduated, promises to be on hand. Judge Al Scott writes: "Now, as far as returning to Notre Dame next June is concerned, I am honestly, sincerely planning on this visit, as I have not visited our Alma Mater since the 1923 homecoming."

E. Franklin Miller is affiliated with the Bank of America at Pasadena, Calif. John Paul Callen, chief of the adjudication division of the U.S. Veterans Administration located in suburban Chicago at the Hines Memorial Hospital, has been honored with the office of vice-president of the Federal Bar Association, Chicago Chapter. Recently he spoke to the Chicago Bar Association seminar on the matter of practice of attorneys before the Veterans Administration. This address was printed in the John Marshall Quarterly Review, issued by the John Marshall Law School, Chicago.

1923 Paul H. Castner, 137 South Ave., New Canaan, Conn.

1924 J. F. Hayes, 393 7th Ave., Room 1515, New York City.

Al Boehm writes that he was married, June 11, in Chicago, and his new address is 5600 Dorchester Ave., Chicago.

Raymond A. Heyer, M.A. '24, formerly a faculty member of the graduate department of social work at Notre Dame, is stationed in Tullahoma, Tenn. He is serving as a federal recreation co-ordinator in the area of Camp Forrest, Tenn.

Ray Brady was recently notified of his promotion from captain to major in the Judge Advocate Department of the Reserve Officers of the U. S. Army. Ray's in Salt Lake City.

Rev. Paul Heller, acting USO chairman and priest co-ordinator in Norfolk, Va., has announced that Forest "Fod" Cotten, '24, has been appointed director of USO Club to be operated by the NCCS. Since his Notre Dame days, Fod has been football coach at St. Ambrose College, Davenport, Iowa, and line coach at Catholic University.

1925 John P. Hurley, 2035 Brookdale Road, Toledo, Ohio.

1926 James A. Ronan, 127 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

On Aug. 26, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bolger, of Detroit, visited the campus. Their grand family consists of four girls and two boys. Frank is the brother of Father Henry Bolger, C.S.C., '24, head of Physics Department.

Victor Lemmer was recently appointed to the Gogebic Junior College Advisory Board. Vic is also secretary-treasurer of the Ironwood "Times." Ironwood, Mich.

A card from Alton C. Velis reports that he is married and has three children. He is an engineer for the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New York. His home address is 91-30 193rd St., Hollis, N. Y.

1927 Joseph M. Boland, Field House, Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.

From Joe Boland:

Bill Holland dropped into the Purdue Field House, and found me gone, whereupon he left his card from the Suburban Motor Freight, Inc., of Indianapolis. On his next trip through, I hope to catch him in person.

Clayton Leroux checked in during the spring with the announcement of the move of his law offices to 1180 Union Commerce Bldg. in Cleveland, and John Dailey recently suffered nostalgic twinges, which manifested themselves in the letter I am enclosing in whole. I make only one comment: in his first paragraph, John makes mention of "strict censorship" agent '27 doings: John, that isn't censorship — it's sabotage! I'm hoping your letter will start a string of reports coming my way, to be included in this column.

"While enjoying a recent illness at home, I ran across a copy of the 'Alumnus' for April, 1941. Noting the strict censorship as to the affairs of the class of '27, I felt that I perhaps might help a little, and at the same time satisfy my curiosity.

"Could we have an accounting as to the personal whereabouts, health, matrimonial status, etc., of some of the lads whose names I have not seen in the 'Alumnus' in many years?"

"Does Bernie Ahrett, of Berkeley, Calif., still wear red neckties? Has Eddie Broderick become a married man? Where does Ferrest M. Cawley live? How about Harold Cosgrove?

"I haven't heard of Lawrence Crowley, of Roseville, Ohio, for many, many years. Is Tobe Gish practicing law in Kentucky? A few years ago I tried to locate Charles Robert Goslin, alias 'Goose' around Bemidji, Minn., to no avail. He is urged to report. I presume that Dan Harvey is in Chicago, but what happened to Maurice Henry, of Kansas City?"

"Tom Hearden's name hasn't appeared recently, to my knowledge, but this may be due to a lack of close reading on my part. There are a good many others, such as Don Laskey, John Loftus, Phil Lopresti, Mike McDermott, McMahon from Oregon, Frankie Masterson, John Scanlon, who might be encouraged to give an accounting of themselves.

"Marc Fiehrer, of Hamilton, Ohio, who like myself is the proud father of three girls and one boy, dropped in last summer. But I haven't seen Clarence Ruddy since he deserted bachelorhood."

And now, John Dailey, here's some partial answers to your questions: I don't know about Bernie Abrott's red neckties, but he's now a dignified lawyer, practicing from the Latham Square Building, 18th and Telegraph Ave., San Francisco.

Tom Hearden is coaching at his old high school in Green Bay, Wis., where he has piled up an enviable string of victories to indicate surely that fine football coaching is done in the high schools, and that our Tom is leading that parade.

Phil Lopresti is — or was, at my last hearing — in the state legislature of his native Pennsylvania, representing the district around Johnstown, where he practices law successfully. Don Laskey, I personally got out of bed in Shreveport, La., last Christmas holiday, but it was so early in the morning all I did was testify to the fact that both of us were barely alive! We know his family includes at least ONE young lady, for she answered the phone and roused her pa out of the hay.

The other lads I'd like to have a personal report on myself — said report to include address and business connection, all of which helps, plus state of the family.

And now — to all you old N.D.ers, it's "bully for old Purdue" as your scrivener dives into another football season down here at Lafayette, on the banks of the Wabash. Or, haven't you heard?

Carlos Tavares sends us word that he is a contractor and civil engineer with the Tavares Construction Co., Los Angeles, Calif. His home address is 520 S. Serrano Ave. in that city. It was good to hear from him since the previous alumni mail sent him was returned from Shanghai, China, in 1931.

Edward J. Flynn is practicing law in his home town of Jacksonville, Ill. According to a letter from his sister, he has four young sons who are better as a wrecking crew than as young lawyers.

1928 Louis F. Buckley, 3051 Idaho Ave., N.W., Washington, D. C.

From Lou Buckley:

As the beginning of a new school year rolls around, your Secretary feels about the same as most of you did in September, 13 years ago when you were away from Notre Dame for the first time. I am now with the Social Security Board as a legislative adviser in the Bureau of Employment Security, Washington, D. C.

I lived with Bill Jones for two months this summer while his wife and daughter were away. Those of you, such as Andy Boyle and Jim Allan, who know the Jones-Buckley combination, can appreciate the fine sessions held in Bill's apartment. We had the pleasure of entertaining such distinguished '28ers as Father Mark Fitzgerald, Frank Donovan, George Coury and Pat Canny. Father Fitzgerald was at Catholic University for the summer session. Frank Donovan was in town several times lining up defense orders for his company in Muskegon, Mich. George Coury was a frequent Washington visitor in search of government orders for his self-stoking stove which he manufactures in Chicago. Pat Canny was here several times representing the Erie R. R. before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

One highlight of the summer was a fine session at a Notre Dame party in which several '28ers participated, including Bob Grant, George Coury, Bill Cronin and Bill Jones. It ended in quite a political argument with the line-up of Grant and Coury vs. Cronin, Jones and Buckley. Another big event took place when Herb Jones and Bill Coyne were visiting Washington and we got together with Bill Jones, Bill Cronin and Tom Coman. Tom, by the way, is handling labor news for the A. P. here in Washington. Bill Cronin, as you know is executive assistant to Postmaster General Walker. I hope you all saw the two-page spread that Congressman Grant received in "Life" for Sept. 1. The '28 men will be particularly interested in one picture taken while Bob was visiting with "Lawyer-Banker" Floyd Searer, who was painting the kitchen in his wife's absence.

I want to thank George Coury for the fine job he did in the June issue. We will be expecting another report next June, George, on our 14th reunion with complete plans outlined for our 15th year reunion in 1943. All of you should keep in mind that the centennial opens in June of 1942 and closes the following June, which will be our 15th year reunion. Make your plans accordingly.

Those of you who began your college days in Freshman Hall in 1924, as I did, with Father Stack, will be very sorry to hear of his death. We certainly are going to miss him whenever we return to Notre Dame.

I took advantage of Bill Cronin's good humor and asked him to be one of the guest writers for the column this month. Although Bill is one of the busiest men in a very busy city, he came through in fine style with the following:

"Your classmates are happy over the prospect of Buckley sitting on the Social Security Board, comes about 1970 when some of our cases will be coming up.

"The nicest thing that has happened to me this past month was my participation in the wedding of Larry Culliney. There really ought to be a special edition of the 'Alumnus' about Larry's wedding, but regardless I think I should report to you on one of this season's sweetest marriages. You know, there never was anyone who gave more serious and sober thought to this Holy Sacrament than this grand Green Mountain Stater, Culliney. And his efforts bore fruit, as you will see when you meet Mrs. Lawrence J. Culliney, the former Kay Gillen, a New Yorker. The wedding took place at Our Lady's Chapel in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, on July 4, and Bishop O'Hara performed the ceremony. None of us will ever forget our first glimpse of Bishop O'Hara wearing his mitre that day. If there ever was a bishop who looked like a bishop it was he.

"Bob Hamilton, and Bert Kelly (who didn't go, but should have gone, to Notre Dame) were the ushers, and I was the carrier of the ring. Bernie Garber and Ollie Schell were among those present. Bernie and Dorothy Garber invited Hamilton, Ollie Schell, and me to their home for the post mortem and we had a grand visit.

"Bob Hamilton, by the way, had more than all these reasons to celebrate the Fourth of July because he had just become the father of another lovely baby girl. You ought to tell him we are proud of him.

"On July 30 I enjoyed a visit from our president, Father Matthew Walsh. He looks fine and is back in harness doing special research work which brought him to Washington.

"A couple of months ago Pat Canny was undertaking some curricular and extra-curricular activities for the Erie in Washington, and he gave a dinner at O'Donnell's Restaurant for Mr. and Mrs. John Hinkel, Don Wilkins, Al Henry, and me.

"I had dinner with John 'Red' Cavanaugh from Chicago a couple of times when he visited Washington. John is the assistant president of the South Bend Lathe Works, and practices law on the side.

"Bill Duffy, of Watertown, N. Y., is practicing law in Washington but I haven't seen him lately.

"Jim Comney is one of the fellows you had better check up on. He went out West for a visit and just didn't come back. Bud Callagy also went into hiding in Albany right after he was married, and you ought to make him check in with you.

"If you have any influence with your classmates I wish you would get my old room-mate, Eddie Rafter, to write me a letter. If there is another Sergeant York in this war I am betting on Eddie because he has just the right philosophy and temperament.

"Incidentally, these past few years in New York I renewed my old friendship with Dr. John E. Franklin, whom we know better as Benny. Dr. Franklin is now practicing as a pediatrician in New York, and he is one of the finest. He is one of those nice guys with a passion for anonymity but you will be hearing great things from him.

"Tom McNicholas, who is secretary and treasurer of Silliman Evans' newspaper, 'The Tennessean,' of Nashville, is in town today and we are having lunch. He told me that a story about our own Bill Jones, of the Department of Justice here in Washington, got all the way down to Nashville. It seems that a motor cop found Bill stopped along Massachusetts Avenue about 7:30 P. M. with an empty gas tank. He asked him what was the matter and Mr. Jones said, 'Well, I'll tell you, Officer, I was just going along trying to help defend America and I guess I overdid it.'"

Bill and I used our influence on our '28 draftee, Ed Rafter, who came through with a fine letter from Fort Custer, Mich., where he is with Company "I," 2nd Infantry. Ed gives up the dope on the classmates from Chicago as he knew them back in civilian life, as follows:

"Bill Goelitz, who beat the draft age requirements by a couple of days, recently was 'selected' to donate his blood in an emergency operation. You can picture Bill's unbounded happiness when they informed him that of all the people present, he alone had the right type of blood. He is now on his feet again and is usually surrounded by a group of feminine admirers who never seem to tire hearing of his daring experience.

"Ray Mulligan, who not long ago lost his mother, drew a high draft number and may be saved by a change in the age qualification. He continues to exercise his legal talent in the interest of the same organization with which another well-known lawyer — one Dick Phelan — is associated, the Chicago Title and Trust Co.

"Bob Trotter recently completed his twelfth year with Great Lakes Dredge and Dock. He has handled many fine engineering jobs, and is now in charge of a bridge construction job over the river near Peoria. He, too, had a high draft number.

"While in Chicago on a furlough, I met another army eligible, Bill McEllen, whom I had not seen in a long time. Bill is a buyer for Sears. He's not married, but after hearing that we dig trenches, carry heavy packs, and sleep outside on a hillside or street or any place while on problems he switched from a side part to a middle part in his hair.

"John Lyons, who started with the '28 class but finished in law, is still stringing along with the Republican party. I don't know whether that has anything to do with the disappearance of his frontal hair. John's charming wife says that, in trying to save it, he rubbed it all off. John is doing very well in the legal profession.

"Danny Considine has acquired no draft deferment, but continues to give the Internal Revenue Department the benefit of his observation. Eddie Keenan, politician and husband, would make a fine anchor man on the tug-of-war team with which I pull every Wednesday afternoon in 'organized athletics.'

"Bob Rigney smiles handsomely whenever he has an opportunity to present Mrs. and his two additional deferments. Ed McGuire, the S.E.C. lawyer, is married, but up until April could still have a few minutes to visit with friends at the Atlantic Grill after a tough Saturday morning. Judge John Wallace, Eddie McLaughlin, and Bob Irminger, also Ray McClory, like to eat in that same place.

"Those two esteemed former softball players, Bert Korzeneski and Bill Kearney, are respectively chief of the title department for the county and assistant states attorney. Bert has his wife as a deferment, and Bill has two deferments.

"From what I hear through feminine acquaintances of his wife, Charlie Schuessler should be about the very best bomb-proof shelter engineer in the country. It seems that when they want a good tunnel built Charlie does it. He has two deferments.

"Joe Daly's relatives told me Joe is a very successful printing executive in Los Angeles. Mart Conley, who is the backbone of a major trucking organization, was surprised when he called my home and found that the draft board had snatched me. Mart has a fine family.

"You, of course, know all about my good friend George Coury, president of the Self-Stoking Stove and Furnace Corp. and partner in many other enterprises. Bernard Epstein, the Bosch Co. travelling representative, is also proprietor of a hardware and paints store on North Ave. near Crawford.

This is being written in the day room which is used only in the evening. The life of a private is about as private as Carroll Hall. Our unofficial marching song is the tune of the 'Victory March.' I had nothing to do with that — the words are different."

I am sure the '28 men join with me in extending our thanks to the Cronin-Rafter combination which made it possible for me to get the column off to a fine start this month. I am asking Pat Canny and Joe Langton to give us a hand next month in keeping up the record. Please help them out by sending on some news today. Pat's address is 14700 Clifton Blvd., Lakewood, Ohio, and Joe's is 1111 W. Wilcox, Peoria, Ill.

Jack Lavelle was on Aug. 1 appointed athletic director of the C.Y.O. of the New York archdiocese. He will supervise athletic activities in the 258 parishes of the archdiocese, holding a job similar to that of Jack Elder, '29, in the Chicago archdiocese.

John Thomas Cullinan is a judge now. He is one of the youngest men to be named to the Common Pleas bench in Connecticut. John is associated in law practice with Senator Albert L. Coles, in Bridgeport, Conn.

1929 Joseph P. McNamara, Attorney General's Office, Indianapolis, Ind.

From Captain John Hinkel:

I have been in the Army since the first Army maneuvers of Aug., 1940. I was ordered to the

The visit of Capt. John V. Hinkel, '29, Washington, D. C., to Camp Lee, Va., was the occasion of this Notre Dame gathering. Left to right are: Capt. Hinkel, Pvt. Joseph Novak, '34, Cpl. Joseph Schmidt, '36, and Pvt. Roland G. Schlager, '29.

War Department last September and am serving now as an assistant to the director of the Bureau of Public Relations. Our bureau handles all contacts between the War Department and the newspapers, radio stations and magazines of the United States. Needless to say, my work is tremendously interesting.

The only other Notre Dame man in the War Department is my classmate, David Lehman, of Denver, Colo. Dave is chief clerk of the Atlantic Ferry Command which directs the flying of military planes between this country and Great Britain. He is doing a grand job. Another classmate, Walter Greer, is next door to us at the Navy Department. Walt is a naval architect. Lieut. Bill Hawks, '33, is on duty in the Bureau of Aeronautics at the Navy Department. Both Walt and Bill are doing themselves and Notre Dame proud.

Don Wilkins, '27, has been in to see me several times. He is under consideration for a commission as captain in the Specialist Reserve. In Chicago, Don has made a fine name for himself as one of the leading public relations counsels of the middle west.

On a recent visit to Camp Lee, Va., I had the pleasure of meeting another classmate, Roland G. Schlager, of Elgin, Ill., and two other Notre Dame men, Corp. Joseph Schmidt, '36, and Pvt. Joseph Novak, '34, who are serving there as trainees. All three are assigned to the headquarters of the Quartermaster Replacement Center at Camp Lee. Joe Schmidt is an assistant to the Intelligence Officer, while Joe Novak is an assistant to the Athletic Officer. Rol Schlager is in the Classification Section. It was more than a pleasure to renew my friendships with these boys, and I am looking forward to seeing them again in the near future.

I had the privilege of attending Secretary Knox's press conference at which he announced that a Naval ROTC had been established at Notre Dame. In making this announcement, he spoke very highly of Notre Dame. You can imagine what a thrill I got out of it.

L.L. Joseph V. Lenihan, as a reserve officer, has been called into active duty with the Navy and is now stationed in the District Supply Office, Third Naval District, New York City.

Lyell E. Buzick, of Hettinger, N. Dak., stopped in the office on his way to Chicago . . . his first trip since graduation.

Robert Foss, who for the last 10 years has been editor of the University of Wisconsin news bureau, has been named director of sports publicity for the University in fulfillment of a plan to combine the two services.

Reynolds C. Seitz has resigned as professor of law at Creighton University, Omaha, to accept a position as assistant to the superintendent of instruction in the St. Louis Public Schools.

1930 Richard L. Demoghus, 310 Riverside Dr., New York City.

From Dick Demoghus:

Bill Dealey's notice for copy for the October "Alumnus" has caught us without news. It's a terrible way to run a railroad, so you and you and you had better come to the aid of the party, lest he call for a new boy in this job. Tim Toomey, secretary of the N. D. Club of N. Y., sends a message announcing a meeting Sept. 15, and he says that Jim Armstrong will be the guest. Your correspondent will mail his alumni dues tomorrow morning, so he can look Jim in the eye with a clear conscience tomorrow evening! If you and you and you haven't sent your dues in, do so at once, because Armstrong might pop in to your club meeting, and will your face be red if you are delinquent? And besides, the Alumni Association is making elaborate plans for 1942, and needs the money. Keep 'Em Flyin'!!

A friend of Charlie Powers, of Savannah, Ga., visited N. Y. recently, and he relayed Charlie's greetings to us; it was pleasant to hear from you, Charlie, and write soon. My former roommate, Chuck Bohrman, describes a sinister-looking person doing considerable rug-cutting on the golf course at Fulton, N. Y., and it is our conviction that we have located the mighty mite, Jim Schaeffer, of engineering fame. Who can add a clue?

We are attempting to contact Charlie Schwartz of Naperville, Ill., Al Shipcase of Cleveland, Pete Wacks of Jackson Heights, L.I., N. Y., and Jack Yelland of Minneapolis, for a few vo-doo-deo's about themselves and those of the class whom they know about, and in our next issue, maybe we can report success.

John J. Rider, of Hollywood, Calif., vice-president of the Los Angeles Club, was on the campus for a couple of weeks. He is directing college participation in the Fred Allen show, which guest stars one college student on each program this fall. John organized the series of try-outs and student elections to choose a Notre Dame representative for the first of such shows, broadcast Oct. 1.

Timothy J. Toomey, secretary of the New York City Club, writes to correct a mis-impression: "You might announce that it was my illustrious namesake, Timothy (Ted) A. Toomey, and not I, who joined the 'Dan Cannon Marriage Club' last June. Advise Dan to forward the two crisp banknotes and the loaf of raisin bread to Ted, and also announce that all of the blessings showered upon me in error, I happily bestow upon Ted and his bride, together with my own belated good wishes for happiness."

1931 John Bergan, 838 E. Colfax Ave., South Bend, Ind.

From John Bergan:

Starting off our seventh year as your correspondent reminds me that 10 years have flown with nary a word from some members of the class. Unfortunately, they did not return to either five- or 10-year reunions or our informal gatherings in off years. This year it will be our aim to contact these men and carry something about them in subsequent issues. Also, to have news every month from every sector of the country, if you will assist us.

Joe Beyland, the Grand Rapids flash, is special agent for the Royal Indemnity Insurance company with headquarters in Detroit. He makes all of the southern Michigan towns in quest of new business. Dr. Joe Hughes of Columbus, in addition to his practice of medicine has found time to do some important case work for the State Compensation Department in Ohio. Both Joe and Mrs. Hughes have made an early reservation for the Southern Cal game. Alex Petrauskas is another '31 addition to the University faculty and will teach physics. He recently taught at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and moved to South Bend in August.

The call of the draft board threw such a scare into Bill Leahy that the subsequent action of Congress on age limits caused him to vacation in Bermuda to forget it all. Bill is now back in the Chicago offices of Victor Adding Machines. Hobie Shean, the Worcester, Mass., department store executive, has made a fine set of informal poses of the class reunion and has promised to keep them for the '46 get-together to show how we have changed, if we do.

Don McDonald is co-owner and general manager of Flint's largest furniture store. Jack Laux is stationed in the aviation corps at Scott Field, Ill. Congratulations to Jim Keating, of South Bend, who was recently appointed assistant Federal district attorney for the northern Indiana federal court. The three Chicago Black Horse troopers, Jim Doyle, Jim Rich and Bob Pendergast, spent a quiet week at the Pendergast home in Galesburg where they rested and golfed preparatory to a big social season in the Windy city or a sojourn in the U.S.A. cavalry. A daughter, Margaret Marie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mullins of Gainesville, Fla. in August. Francis O'Brien has built up a fine law practice in Mansfield, O., and was married in 1939. Miss Ethel Daniels was married to Rolland J. Poulin at St. Joseph's church, South Bend, on July 12. The Bob Neydons are settled on Detroit's east side. Bob Marshall is supervising engineer for the Indiana State Highway Commission. The Arcola (Ill.) Homecoming was a tremendous success this year due to the untiring work of its chairman, Tom Monahan.

Leon Reyniers is general manager of a tool and die plant on Chicago's north side. The New York section of our class is holding a get-together at the Friday night rally preceding the Army game. Bob Massey, Ed Cunningham, Dick Lacy, Al Touhy and Ed Mahon are the committee in charge and promise a great evening. Speaking of the Army game, Ben Oakes is in charge of a swell trip from Chicago to New York via TWA for the week-end. He plans an all-expense tour that is a knockout. The Frank Leahys are now settled in South Bend and are living at 2415 Miami St.

Dr. Jim Biggins is coroner of his county and resides in Sharpville, Pa. Harry Kennedy is back again in the states after a three-year sojourn in Buenos Aires. Ed Murray, after a great summer on the fairways, where he subdued most of his campus rivals, is now in the midst of a busy season in the comptroller's office at the University. Ed, as you know, is the supervisor of student employment. Dean Satton, Ann Arbor lawyer, Bob Baskerville, Joliet mill supervisor, and George Costello, Chicago accountant, were South Bend visitors this summer.

Sympathy of the class is extended to Jerry Crowley, upon the death of his son; Austin Boyle, upon the death of his father, and Lieut. Jack Shively, upon the death of his father.

Tom Golden sends us this letter from Pearl Harbor, T. H., dated July 3, and written on U.S.S. Phoenix stationery: "My ship is leaving Hawaii tonight for the states. While in Honolulu I met Tom P. Quinn, ex. '31, who is a deputy fire marshal for the Territory of Hawaii. He has a lovely wife and three beautiful children.

"Bill P. Metts, ex. '32, my roommate while at school, is in Hilo on the island of Hawaii, but I was unable to get leave so didn't see him. Bill is also married and has two children. He is in probation work there."

1932 Dr. Myron E. Crawford, 6718 Franklin Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Typesetter Igoe having claimed that a combination of circumstances forced his resignation as secretary of the class of '32, the populace concerned were practically unanimous in shouting for Mike Crawford as his successor. And so, with a bow of thanks to Igoe, we give you — you'd never guess! — Crawford:

There's nothing like perseverance. In early May, 1931, after a hard-working Leftist party went down to defeat in a vote-gathering skirmish with the Giorgio-Connelly-Kramer-McCarthy, etc. machine, I resolved that some time of mine would be spent in an attempt to undermine that machine. It was my plan to flood these men with work, preventing their application to class affairs. Two years ago I retained Herb Giorgio as my New York counsellor, and within the last month have engaged Jim Igoe to handle the printing of all my statements that go to Illinois — now they are too busy to handle this job. Because I had ONCE made a deadline for Dooley, the job was mine, and therein lies the story of my success.

Of course I had no idea that this job would fall to me in the year of our tenth reunion, to be held in conjunction with the school Centennial, but after all my undermining tactics, and in behalf of that down-but-never-out Leftist party, I accept the honor and pledge to have my copy in on time, double-spaced, newsy, and not too lengthy.

Now, you members of that Leftist party who have found it difficult or impossible to have your copy printed by our worthy opponents, Giorgio and Igoe, flood me with your news and rumors — I promise to give voice to you all.

To get myself off on the right foot, I ask for letters from my fellow officers — Gene Connelly, Flo McCarthy, Tom Burns, and Ollie Powers. Forget your animosity, boys, and delete the congratulatory phrases (tho' I know I deserve them). Let me know what's what and inform me of any plans or ideas you may have made for reunion — that is, before I came into power! We have to have a chairman, preferably someone at or close to school; we'll have to have a program, and we'll need a pitcher and nine fast outfielders willing to work in short shifts. Necessary also will be a good-sized, strategically located committee to talk up our week-end and to arrange trips from key cities. A special committee should be appointed and charged with the duty of having present the one and only Johnny Perone.

There's a skeleton of the job that confronts YOU, my classmates and political opponents. Incidentally, a feature of our reunion will be the election of a permanent class secretary, or should I say just secretary?

Of course I have no news other than of Cleveland, but that gives notice of Jack Collins' recent release from Uncle Sam, for whom he toiled six months at Fort Knox, and under whom he rose to the ranks of corporal. It was an honorable discharge (years over 28) and granted just prior to the completion of arrangements for the induction of Clyde McCoy and his "Sugar Blues." Howard Miller is waiting for his release. Hugh Ball has been granted his private pilot's license, and is at present busy with plans for another big Cleveland Club football rally. In behalf of the class, I extend to Hugh our condolences upon the death of his father. John Kiener has a local defense position as co-ordinator of amateur radio stations in event of future attack, and is patiently awaiting the same type of event, the foretelling of which resulted in Igoe's being ducked in a pool last year. I just won't talk.

To conduct this column successfully it will be necessary for you gentlemen to send me from time to time information regarding your whereabouts, your doings, and your meetings with '32 friends. To stimulate a flood of mail, I hereby solemnly promise that I will declare ineligible for the office of class secretary any '32er who writes to me at least one letter before April 15, 1942. There you are, my laddie bucks, either you write to me or your name automatically enters the list of those seeking the office of class secretary. If this be blackmail, make the most of it.

And — as Igoe would say, "put away a dime a day, and be with us in '42."

Tighe Woods wrote early in the summer: "On July 3, Rev. John Wilson, C.S.C., did his first baptism on my daughter, Frances Hope. Paul O'Toole acted as godfather by proxy and Harriet Wilson O'Toole, St. Mary's '33, acted as godmother by proxy, — a complete Notre Dame-St. Mary's job." Tighe is in general real estate sales and management in Chicago. He is married and has three children. And, if you don't know it by now, Tighe is the new '33 class secretary.

Gerry Conway, one of the numerous draftees, sends this letter: "I just finished a stretch in the hospital for athlete's foot, and I had Lt. Fortunata from Newark or Jersey City. He was in Lyons Hall in '32; and is first lieutenant in charge of the dermatology ward here.

"Saw Joe McKeon for a few minutes in Shreveport. He, with his wife and baby, drove me around the city. Joe has just moved into a new home, and is doing well at Lee Dry Goods Co.

"Charlie Crockett, of Alexandria, was out to see me, and had me over to the house. He is working for the Guaranty Trust Co." Thanks, Jerry. We have your new address: Security Detachment, Co. F., 164th Inf., Camp Claiborne, La.

Cliff Hyland, of Rockford, Ill., and the Willis Hubbard and Clifford Hyland, Architects, sends in this news: "The Internal Revenue department here in Rockford is well-manned with three Notre Damers — (Red) Harold J. O'Connor, Jack Hitchcox, '38, and Al Monti, '30.

"Charley Vaughan, ex. '33, just took over a few days ago as U.S.O. director here. He's still well within the draft age, but the two junior Vaughans keep him in civilian clothes.

"Alderman Bob Joyce, ex. '34, wasn't too happy about our election of a Republican governor in Illinois, but he still wields a heavy stick in the city council.

"Tony Crowley, '35, is on the trail of black gold in the Illinois oil fields at Salem and is doing o.k. for himself as vice-president and manager of the Illinois branch of his company. They manufacture something-or-other in the line of tanks, but I can't remember the company's name."

Clay Adams is now manager of the western division of Pathe News, in Culver City, Calif.

1933 Tighe Woods, 7944 Ellis Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Tighe Woods, the noted, takes over at this point for the gentlemen of '33:

My first bow as a class secretary will have to be an inauspicious one. Having been appointed only a couple of weeks ago, I haven't had much time to develop my nose for news, but if you fellows who receive letters from me the next month will cooperate, I'll promise a whole column for next issue.

There are some of our class whom the Alumni Office has lost in the shuffle. If any one can throw any light on the whereabouts of the following, we'd appreciate hearing from you: John Barbanette, Paul Blouin, George W. Bryan, Rollin Bunch, William L. Darrow, Joseph F.

Dempsey, Mervin R. Ellis, Jack (Rusty) Finneran, John F. Gill, George J. Gru. Leo Hodel was among the missing but he has been found, quietly browsing among his books at 2354 E. 70th St., in Chicago. Leo even tips his hat to cab drivers these days. Wonderful institution, — marriage!

Also missing: Nurdy Hoffman (West coast papers, please copy!), Jim Kraus, Bob Lewis, Jack (H.) Lynch, Patrick B. McCaffary, Joseph P. McCarthy, John B. Nichols, Owen O'Neill, Willard Pollard, Robb Purcell, John Ruberto, Dr. Jerome Surdyk, David Troy, and Wilbert Wyne. You will help the Alumni Office and your secretary if you can give us any detail on the whereabouts of any of these.

I have always felt that this column should do something besides tell who has been elected to a vice-presidency in his old man's vinegar works. Now that I have the chance, I'll volunteer to be of service to my fellow classmates. For example, if you are going to Florida this winter, write and let me know so that I can make out an itinerary for you so that you won't have to buy one meal between home and Key West. For a little consideration on the side, I will even throw in the names and addresses of a few "fresh ones" that wouldn't even hear of you stopping at a hotel for the night.

It is going to take me a little time to connect up some of the names on the list with some of the gangs I remember, especially when they throw in some of those middle handles like Aloysius, Marcus and Pasquale that were kept successfully buried until graduation day, but as fast as the incidents come back to memory I'll pass them on to you. And if you in turn will pass on any bit of news you hear, I will be deeply grateful.

By the way, what's your priority number?

Laurence Richard Smith was recently married to Miss Amelia Iacovetti.

Richard S. Smith, '37, of Los Angeles, writes: "I recently drove up to Toronto, Can., to be with my brother, Lionel V. O. Smith, for a few days before he joined the R.C.A.F. as an observer bomber pilot. He is still in Canada training and hoping that it won't 'all be over' before he gets a chance at it."

John Logan, Fort Wayne, Ind., is now grand knight of the K. of C. Bob O'Brien, also of Fort Wayne and deputy grand knight of K. of C., will be married this month to Miss Mary Margaret Hueber.

1934 Robert M. Cahill, Athletic Association, Notre Dame, Ind.

From Bob Cahill:

Things have me pretty pushed for time so I'm asking several of you to help me out on this issue. However, here are a few items I have scrambled together. Jack Hayes, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and his wife dropped in to see me on July 25. Jack has 3 children and is with the Addressograph Co. in New York City. He told me that Al Pavella is with the Abbott Laboratories, Conn. He was married about a year ago and has just bought a new home.

Paul LaFramboise, his wife, and his father and mother dropped in at the campus Aug. 26. Paul is with the Quebec Power Co. in Quebec. He has a very charming French wife, and he told me that at the time they were married she could speak no English. At first I thought that that was the answer to LaFramboise getting such a charming person, but she told me that at the time they were married she could understand English although she couldn't speak it! Paul is apparently doing very well and put in his bid to have the ten-year reunion in Quebec. We now have offers from Chuck Littly in Buenos Aires and Paul in Quebec. Do I hear anything from Paris?

I will now return to my ticket counting and let Vincent J. Reishman's letter entertain you for a few inches of column.

"First of all, the oil and gas business has been taking all of my time; then I had an accident which necessitated about 20 stitches being taken in my hand, then my boy arrived, and while Dorothy was still in the hospital — (1) rain leaked on the wall paper, (2) I forgot to tell the milkman to desist, and (3) the newspapers piled up on the porch and the grass went to seed. In the midst of this upheaval I had to be out of town for a few days, and when I finally got back to the office I found that you had delegated me to assist you by writing your column because YOU are too busy. Is it any wonder I've lost weight and hair the past few days?

"Naturally, the outstanding fact I have to report is the birth of John Vincent II on Aug. 31, both the youngster and his mother are doing fine. Really Bob, I don't have any knowledge of what anyone in the class is doing. Bill Kenny very obligingly offered this bit of information, and I quote, 'Nothin' never happens to me.' I do know that my ex-roomie, George Shields, got married and that you were made assistant manager of athletics, but if that's news, so are last month's war communiques.

"I'll see you this fall, at least at the Southern Cal game when we run our special from Charleston. Maybe I'll be out before that."

Thanks, Vince, that helps and we'll be looking for you. And, now I'll give you some of Bill O'Brien's very welcome letter from Bridgeport, Conn.

"We pappys are busy guys — my Billy and Patricia take up nearly all my spare time, so I haven't much news, but I'll give you what I have. Jack Hagen of Youngstown called me up. He's selling for Stainless Steel Corp. out of the N. Y. office. He's doing right well for himself, but he's the same Jack. He plans to marry soon, he says.

"Our local N.D. club has acquired about 15 new members lately through Mid-Westerners coming here to work. We ran an outing a couple of months ago which had a tremendous social success. Greg Rice came up from N. Y.; he's a regular ball of fire.

"Bob Devine of Norwalk is now up at Camp Devens, Mass. He had been doing well as a lawyer until Uncle Sam called for him. Frank Rooney, '31, is also an army man, after being a mainstay in G.E. for years.

"Ed Monahan has just left John Galla in the Bpt. Bd. of Welfare and has gone to Norwich as a State Service Welfare worker. Galla keeps the local situation well in hand and is one of our most active alumni.

"Frank McGee, '33, is in N. Y. working as a Fed. Bank Examiner and is the proud father of a year-old daughter. Joe Regan, Washington, D.C., also has a fine year-old daughter. Elmer 'Harky' Harkabus, '33, has a four-months-old son. Jim Cole has 3 children now and is doing well in Washington."

Paul Maholchic, formerly of New York City, is a regional director of the National Catholic Community Service. He has been assigned to the Southeastern area, including the Carolinas, Georgia, and Florida.

Tom Dalton is now assistant trust officer in the Lafayette National Bank of Brooklyn, N. Y.

James F. Conway, Jr., is candidate for election to the Board of Education of Cincinnati. Jim resigned as assistant city prosecutor to go into private practice last January.

Joe Voegel was named athletic coach of Fort Wayne, Ind., Central Catholic High School recently. He succeeds John Levicki, '37, who resigned last spring to accept a coaching position at Ignatius in Cleveland.

1935 Franklin C. Hochreiter, 340 Rosedale Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

From Hoch:

The news is all fragmentary. The important items are births and marriages. It would seem that the class of '35 has confined itself to marrying and propagating, both noble enterprises.

Bill Schroeder and the Mrs. welcomed a little stranger into their home last April 10. And Art Conrad (our Korzie) is now a father. Carol Ann was born in Passavant Hospital, Chicago, June 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Sigmand John Sluszka announced the birth of their second offspring, Mary Alexandria, at Mercy Hospital in Hempstead, N. Y., on May 12. Congratulations to all.

Along in May came a letter from Jim Bowdren, who, among other things, told us of his marriage two years ago to Mary McAloon of North Andover, Mass., and Trinity College.

Phil Heinle joined our ranks June 7, when he married Janet Laurissa Kridel in Our Lady of Sorrows Church, South Orange, N. J. Luke Francis Kelly walked down the aisle with Mary Alice A'Hearn in native Albany, N. Y., in the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes, July 1. And Jim Reville and Elizabeth Jane Bishop were joined Aug. 30, in New York City. The Revilles live in Apartment 726, Arlington Village, Arlington, Va. Looks like Jim is on that government work. Congratulations again!

We appreciated the kind remarks about the column, Jim Bowdren. Sometimes we wonder if it is worth the time and effort, but a note like yours perks us up. Jim writes that he has been with Bourjois Parfumerie, Inc. of New York for the past four years. We don't blame you for wondering why you took Phy. Ed., Jim, since you are tied up with perfumes. The entire New England territory keeps Jim on the road most of the time. He makes his home at 111 Whitney Road, Medford, Mass.

According to our correspondents, Fred Solari's wife joined the church on Easter Saturday last. Jim and his wife, Mary, are the Godparents. Jim says he seldom sees any of the old crowd, but he did catch Jim Nolan of Philadelphia down at Sea Island, Ga., last summer. Jim was honeymooning in those parts.

Sig Sluszka sent the program for the third annual spring convention of the Nassau School Press Association held at Adelphi College in Garden City, May 7. We noticed among the names one Jordan T. Hargrave of Arthur Kudner, Inc., Advertisers. Sig said that it was our Jordan. He was to have handled the advertising program at one of the sectional meetings, but was vacationing in Florida and could not make it the last moment.

Sig was listed among the officers as adviser to the president. In a note, our friend said that he also had charge of the sectional meetings and speakers.

Prexie Tom Proctor wrote enclosing a clipping about his latest dollar a year achievement. He was elected president of the famous Knife and Fork Club of Elkhart. This Proctor boy does get around.

That's it for the first time this year, gang! Now how about all pitching in with a little news to build up this column for the rest of the issues.

Gerald Henry Cowles is now Father Benedict, O.C.S.O., in the Trappist Abbey of New Melleray, Peosta, Iowa. As a freshman at N.D., he won the gold medal for general excellence.

John Pottingill, well known swimming coach of the Cristobal, Panama, division of schools, has been named coach and manager of the Canal Zone aggregation on the tour to be made this year. His handling of touring teams reached a new high, recently, when he sent his small squad to the International Tournament in South America. His team of merely five men fought to the final event and emerged only five points away from first place.

John Norton, still in the insurance business, sends this bit of "Norton" news: "My younger brother, Charles, '39, is now in New York City working for the American Locomotive Co. Frank, '32, is teaching at Niagara University and still single."

1936 John Moran, 61 E. 95th St., Apt. 2, New York City.

From John Moran:

Here's what we have picked up here and there during the late lamented summer.

Howie Cusack sent us an announcement of his wedding to Madeline Blake on June 14. The place was the Lady Chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York City. Best wishes to you and the new Mrs. Cusack, Howie.

Bud Goldman reported that he had left the advertising business in Pittsburgh to become assistant editor of the South Bend "Shopper News." While he was in town, Bud and your secretary hooted down to the Hotel New Yorker to see Andy Hufnagel who is now keeping things running smoothly at that hostelry. Andy is in line for congratulations, for he will say "I do" sometime next April.

Jim Kirby has entered government service and is now in training in Washington, D. C.

Here's how the national emergency has effected the 1936 gang. This list is as complete as we are able to make it. If you are in Service and don't see your name here, let us know. If you have been shifted to another outfit in the meantime, drop us a line.

Jim Sherry was inducted a few days after returning from reunion. He is at Camp Davis, N. C. Ralph Cardinal is answering the bugle at Camp Edwards, Mass. At Fort Bragg, N. C., are Joe Prendergast, Joe Bandurich, and John Desmond...

Mike Tackley is doing the manual of arms at Camp Blanding, Fla. At Camp Forrest, Tullahoma, Tenn., the boys are saluting Lieut. Jack Gleason, while Alan Donovan is at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., and Bob McDonough is at Camp Shelby, Miss. Fred McNeill is doing his bit at Camp Robinson, Ark. Joe Schmidt is a corporal at Camp Lee, Va., and Justin O'Toole is with the 11th Cavalry at Imperial, Calif. John Ryan, who will be remembered for the grand job he did singing at the Class Smoker during reunion, was inducted shortly after he returned home and is now at Camp Callan, Calif.

In the air department we have Lt. Lou Hansman in the Army Air Corp at Patterson Field, Fairfield, Ohio; Jim Sidall, who has rejoined the U. S. Navy as a pilot, and Jack Britton, who is training for his Army wings at Selma Field, Ala.

Reported in service, at various times, have been the following who have kept their whereabouts something of a military secret: Ray Kenny, Jack Robinson, Chris Matthews, Joe Waldron and one or two more. John Flynn is a pilot officer with the R.A.F., and his last address as given to us was "Somewhere in England."

The recent passage of the 28-year limit for inductions will save a goodly number of the brethren who have not been called as yet, but meantime we will appreciate hearing from any of you in the Service.

We note that John Sheehan is with the Household Finance Corp. in Ridgewood, L.I., N. Y., and is living at 7112-69 Place, Glendale, L.I. John reports that the Batrow brothers, John and Pete, are with General Electric in Bridgeport, Conn., and that John Whittaker is with the Whittaker Wire Company.

Jack Skelly is assistant director of personnel at Republic Aviation Corporation, Farmingdale, N. Y., while Paul Doyle reports that he is associated with Union Carbon & Carbide in the big city. Bill Gillespie is with the Port of New York Authority.

That pretty much winds up the doings for this month. Keep us in mind occasionally with a bit of information about yourself. We need your letters to fill this column: so let us hear about yourself, about your job, your youngsters, and the classmates you meet.

1937 Paul Foley, 910 Hawthorne Road, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Joe MacIntosh, formerly with the Texas Company, is now at the duPont Dye works in Wilmington, Del.

Tom Prendergast, who is working in Father Flanigan's Boys Home, Boys Town, Neb., writes: "Charlie Meyer received a degree of Juris Doctor from Northwestern University in June, '40; he has passed the Illinois Bar exam, and is now working in Chicago assisting in the compilation of a legal textbook.

"Bob Weaver, '38, is practicing in his home town of Coshocton, Ohio, and was married to a former St. Mary's girl in June. Charlie Meyer was one of his attendants.

"Bob Waldeck has moved from his home in Lakewood, Ohio, and now lives in Alhambra, Calif. No report on his fiscal operations, but they must be lucrative, as he travelled from Los Angeles to Lakewood via Luxury liner, plane, Panama Canal, West Indies, etc., last year.

"Joe Repine, '34, is a case worker on the staff of the Intake Department of the Juvenile Detention Home in Chicago, after much experience with the Chicago Relief Administration, and the Illinois Department of Old Age Assistance. Jim (Harold) Wilson is also working at the Intake Department, having acquired an M.A. in social work at the University of Chicago last year.

"Nick Sutton, graduate school in '37, is chief probation officer in Dubuque, Iowa, and still enjoys single bliss. Dick Delaney, '37, was married to an Indianapolis girl in August, 1940, and is now working as an engineer in his father's cookie factory in Burlington, Iowa."

C. Glynn Fraser has been appointed director of the New England Regional office of the U.S.O., in Boston. Before this appointment, he was executive assistant of the Boston Council of Boy Scouts and formerly program director of the Burroughs Newsboys Foundation of Boston, and the Boston director of the National Youth Administration.

Don Sconfiotti, of Rochester, N. Y., sends us this information: "George McDermott just landed a new job with Hickok as salesman for the state of New Jersey. John Odenback is doing well. He's a family man with one child. Received a note from Joe English; he is now studying at Mary-kroll for the priesthood. Jerry Farrell had on a soldier's uniform. I ran into Dr. Leo Hofschneider, '36, at a dance; he's looking great."

Fred Mott was awarded his M.D. at the University of Buffalo in June.

1938 Harold A. Williams, 308 East Lake Ave., Baltimore, Md.

From Hal Williams:

Well, here we are back at the same old stand starting our fourth year. The boys must have been busy this summer on national defense jobs for there isn't much news to pass along. Here's what we have:

This from Ed Grogan (16205 89th ave., Jamaica, L.I., N.Y.) and Chuck Daly (116-06 227th st., St. Albans, L.I., N.Y.): "Chuck and I are having a solitary get-together in my apartment while my wife slumbers. I was married on Nov. 30, 1940. We have been perusing the June "Alumnus" and decided to drop you a line. Reading so many names has awakened many fond memories. Although we are not officially designated as '38 we feel that we belong there. . . ."

"Leon Lancaster is in the anti-tank division at Fort McClellan. He was drafted and his brother, Arthur '40, volunteered. Bob Derengoski is at Wilmington, Del. Joe Nigro is now in Colorado. Fenton Mee visited us about a month ago. He is in the U.S. Marines parachute battalion at Lakehurst, N. J. Art Selna is somewhere in the wilds of Arizona. Jack Deane is in the F.B.I. Johnny O'Connor and Johnny Wilson are also said to be in the F.B.I. It's hard to split that combination. Jack O'Leary is married. Of course, we should mention ourselves so with all kinds of apologies: Chuck is working with a New York law firm, and I have a swell wife. . . ."

Thanks to Chuck and Ed for taking time out to drop a few words.

Ed Cronin wrote this letter on June 2 and it arrived a day too late for the June "Alumnus," so here it is now: "Not a little has happened since that June Sunday three years ago. For one year I did all sorts of odd jobs, then I taught summer school (English, of course), got a Master's degree in English at the University of Chicago last Aug., and am now head instructor of the English department at Bryant and Stratton College, Chicago. I am to be married on Aug. 16 and then begin working for the Ph.D. next year at the University of Chicago. The Army doesn't want me.

"I went to school last year with Carl Jansky, and also saw Bob Mullen on the Midway. I've also seen John Bourke, and, occasionally, Ed Mann and Ed Brennan. Perhaps you could pass the word along to Dick Scannell, Tom Mulligan and Jack Dean that I'd like to hear from them some time."

Ed's address is, or was, 7823 East End Ave., Chicago. Thanks, Ed, for the letter and by all means congratulations on the marriage. You forgot to tell us what the girl's name was, though.

This, on very patriotic looking stationery, from that old Muscovite, Pvt. Russ Fitzgerald: "It's beginning to look like an N.D. clambake in the U. S. Army. Now if Don Hickey and his hamburger stand could be drafted we could take a finer stand with the mess sergeants. I am stationed at Camp Wheeler, Ga., but this week we are moving to Camp Blanding, Fla. (43rd Division). Don't feel too bad if you're drafted. It's better than things in Moscow when they caught me toasting the Czar. . . ."

Nick Lamberto, the Westbrook Fegler of the Sioux City "Tribune," early this summer wrote that he had a wedding announcement from Phil Kirch, and that Jonnie Beer is, or was, now at Camp Forrest, Tenn.

My old roommate, Bud Sherwood, wrote that Paul Schaub is now in the Army and is stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis. He also said that Ivan Ivancevic (now known as Vance) was in Tarrytown, N. Y., about Aug. 1. Ivan is still living in his hometown of Midland, Pa., and happily married.

On Sept. 2, I received word that John Cleary was to be married to Mary Josephine Cronan on Sept. 13 at Taunton, Mass. Jack, as far as I know, is still in the Army.

Robert "Tiger" McGrath was married to Annabelle Charters on June 4 in the chapel at N.D.

I spent one week of my vacation in the Midwest during the first week of July. Stopped in Goshen, Ind., for a night and saw Tom Hutchinson, his wife and baby. Yesterday Joe Semczyszyn '39, stopped up to the office to see me. Joe is in town looking for a job. On my way back to Baltimore from Chicago this summer, I bumped into Luke Tiernan and Jack Morley, '35, sitting in the diner of the Capitol Limited. We spent the evening refigting the Ohio State-N.D. game. Luke said that he was getting married this summer. Roger Sullivan is now working for the Maritime Commission in Washington.

Rog is living at 733 24th st., Arlington, Va. Jim McNeilis was in town recently. Bob Wilke is living in Baltimore. According to the newspapers he is now quite a golfer. And that's about all the news.

Dan Ryan is working on the Rushville (Ind.) "Republican."

John Berteling was, in his class, the first winner of the William S. Knudsen award, having qualified at the Grosse Ile training school.

George Sullivan completed his advanced training at Pensacola, Fla., in June. He was commissioned with the rank of Ensign, U.S.N.R., and was assigned to the U.S. Naval Air Station, Pensacola.

John R. Tobin, Jr., now a senior at Rush Medical College, Chicago, has been elected to the Alpha Omega Alpha, the national honorary fraternity comprised of medical students of exceptionally high scholastic standings. John was in the Alumni Office recently.

1939 Vincent DeCoursey, 4540 Jarboe, Kansas City, Mo.

From Vince DeCoursey:

Another year of toil and trouble and draft boards has passed — so far as this column is concerned — here it is beginning the third year of liberty in this nice, warm, friendly world for the class of '39.

I'd like to hear from everyone in the armed forces of this country. Most of those I know are either eating the dust at Fort Riley out in Kansas, trying to keep their feet warm and dry at Fort Leonard Wood down in Ozarks, or else trying to prevent the Blue Army from crossing the Red River. Personally we're carrying a 3A, and glad of it. So far as I know, the draft has blown over all the Kansas City contingent of Notre Dame men. Ben Sheridan makes the "Kansas City Star" every once in a while trying to get games with some college team for his boys at Fort Riley. If anyone is scheduled to pass through this town on his way anywhere, drop a line a couple of days in advance and we'll see what can be done.

Two letters that came too late in the spring to be included in last year's news, a birth announcement, one letter, a few whisperings, and that is about the story. Before we forget it, we have a new address, a palatial mansion of some 35 rooms (of which we have four) at 4540 Jarboe, Kansas City, Mo. Don't forget the address. Please, please, don't use that old address in the student directory. The family gets tired of forwarding mail.

We had a very successful and enjoyable get-together of Notre Dame men at Doc Nigro's farm. Looked to us as though there were about 200 in attendance. Jim Armstrong came down for the affair.

At this session I saw Frank Toyne for a few minutes; he's back in town after a training period at Remington Arms somewhere in Connecticut. Tom Reardon is still in the insurance business; Al Nigro, about to shove off for med school. I'm still trying to peddle ice cream to the people.

Just after sending in the last batch of copy for the "Alumnus," came two very nice letters. One was from John C. Starkie, late of Topeka, Kans. He came through Kansas City, called, but I was out. So he sat down that night and wrote — and I wish that he'd write again soon so we'd know where and how he is. Said John: "As you know, I, along with a number of other N.D. boys, have been at the Harvard School of Business, and in about two weeks I will be the proud possessor of an M.B.A. with which to ornament the space behind my name. I had a nice job open at the Puritan Compressed Gas Co. in Kansas City on the basis that I wouldn't be drafted. However, with the large number of fellows being deferred. I appear to be on the list for November. I have applied for and received an opening in an officers' training school for the Air Corps, leading to a commission in the Engineering Corps. This class starts on the sixth of October.

"Bob Dieckleman, Ed Carroll, Frank Clarke and I have been at Harvard together. Bob is now with his father's firm in Milwaukee and safe from the draft. Ed Carroll has received an occupational deferment for work with the coal subsidiary of U. S. Steel. He also has one of the best jobs obtained by anyone at the business school. Frank Clarke was being drafted and the last I heard he was flirting with the idea of joining an officers' course in the Navy." [Ed's note: Starkie had one job in South Bend this summer, was about to leave it to take another one with Bendix, then disappeared from the Alumni Office vision. Where is he?]

A few days after John's note, another — this time from Larry Barrett, another convert to the defense of America. Larry wrote a very interesting letter, to quote:

"I have been pretty busy learning to fly in Uncle Sam's Air Corps. I get quite a kick out of your column in the 'Alumnus' (unsolicited). I suppose I should be sending this to Bob Sanford, the secretary for the class of '40, seeing as how I got my degree in '40, but I spent my first four years with the '39ers and so seem more at home with them.

"I am now in the last part of my advance training, learning to fly multi-motored bombing planes at Brookdale, La., having finished my primary training at Parks Air College in East St. Louis and Basic at Randolph Field. We are due for our wings and commissions about the 11th of July and I plan on marrying immediately after. I don't know if you met her or not; she was at both the Junior Prom and Senior Ball. Name is Frances Mulligan, and she's from Detroit." [Belated congratulations].

So I suppose that by this time Lt. and Mrs. Lawrence Barrett are settled down and itching to write with news of the Army. This is to let them know that I am ready for it.

During the summer, I had several nice letters from Dick Anton, and just in the past few days a note that he would be in to see us shortly. We are looking forward anxiously to that visit.

Another visitor who will be welcomed with open arms the day he gets here is star correspondent and able student of Education 314 (which decoded means "A History of Physical Education"), Jim Tansey. A nice newsy little note of some four closely written pages dropped in with the help of two postmen yesterday. Got the right address, Jim?

"Just figured you might be hard up for a little news (Haw!) Perhaps all the stuff will be second-hand by the time it reaches you — our adopted son Dave Meskill — seems to have a bit of the literary genius in him and is doing a pretty good job reporting the news from this neck of the woods — but here goes.

"Went down to the Bridgeport alumni gathering a few weeks back, and it sure was a sight to see Greg Rice and Frank Toyne attempting to devour the very delicious morsels of steamed clams. Dick Scannell was also present but was to be inducted into the forces of old Uncle Samuel a few days later. Julie Tansmeire came up from New York for the occasion and reports that he's doing right well with the Eberhard-Faber Pencil Co. in the big town. Julie's 1B in this regimentation set-up. Tom Schmitt, '40, who is living with Dave in Bridgeport, reported that he expected to be 'in' before the month is over. There's a surprising number of out-of-town N.D. lads now in Bridgeport, and it seems that mutual friend Meskill has taken them all under his wing. Larry Schmid, Dick Loler, Dick Smith and many others I can't think of now are really benefitting by his parental influence.

"John Toomey is up in Hartford working for I.B.M. Paul McCormack is up there also. Paul Lecher is returning to Cheshire Academy very shortly to resume his teaching duties. During the summer he was a camp counsellor up in Massachusetts. Mickey McFarland is still here in New Haven and I hear that Herna Rosenberg, another 'Elm City' product, is now in New York, working for Marlin's Fire Arms Co.

"Brother Phillip, formerly of N.D., and now St. John's Prep up in Danvers, Mass., was a welcome visitor to the Tansey clan one evening.

"I had a peculiar experience a few days ago when a N. Y. car cut in front of me and blocked my path — who jumped out in soldier uniform but Johnny Cella! — he saw the N.D. marker plate — took a chance — and stopped. He volunteered and is in for a few years. Reports that it's not half-bad as he's in the finance department. Tom Walker is also in the Army, stationed at Camp Dix in New York.

"Incidentally, Bill Costello is working for duPont and residing in Bridgeport — the happy father of a charming six-month-old girl. Bill always was attracted by the other specie. To top it off, she's red-headed. I walked down the street with him one night and it's safe to predict a successful political future for him in Bridgeport, as I judge he must know at least three-quarters of the population by now.

"From Dick O'Melia's Connecticut gal friend, I hear he's all set down at Pensacola. Haven't heard from any of the O'Melias in so long I've just about given up hope.

"As for me, I have a new job and a pip. I'm field representative for the K. of C. Boy Life Bureau and will be travelling about the country for them. Just a warning to you lads to keep an extra dinner ready."

And that was all that Tansey had to say. About two or three of those a month and perhaps we'll know something about this class. Before we close though, a birth announcement re-laid from California — August 31, St. Joseph Hospital, Joliet, Ill., Sarah Frances Gaglione. And more power to Frank.

Sweeney Tuck is employed at the Northrup Aircraft Factory in California.

Thomas P. O'Neill, M.A. '39, will teach political science this fall at Aquinas College Grand Rapids, Mich.

Joe Harrington is now stationed at the port of Balboa, Panama, where he boards ships about to enter the Canal. He's a U.S. Customs man.

Jim Green, in the First Weather Squadron, Air Corps, McClellan Field, Calif., writes: "Last month I had the opportunity of attending the summer course in boys training given by the Knights of Columbus at Santa Clara University. The school, which lasted a week, has a traveling faculty headed by John J. Contway, '26. The other instructors are also Notre Dame men: Ed M. O'Connor, '33, William G. Lang, '29, and Frank J. Carr, '30. They mentioned having met the Tierans and Hallorans, both '29ers in Los Angeles before coming north; Frank Olsen, '27, and Charles Vanoncini, '28. Jerome Higgins, '34, the state probation officer in Sacramento, also dropped in for a day. Of course we also met Buck Shaw, head coach of the Santa Clara's football team."

Bill Whelehan is in the army now! But where, Bill? Lt. Joseph B. Moorman, Jr., is an officer in the Army Air Corps. He will join the 118th Observation Squadron, Jacksonville, Fla. Robert McPherson has been drafted and very appropriately, is at Camp McPherson, Atlanta, Ga.

John T. Doyle received his M. S., and is now working at the General Development Lab. of the U. S. Rubber Co., in Passaic, N. J.

1940 Robert G. Sanford, 3934 N. Maryland Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

From Bob Sanford:

Greetings men of '40 and "men of Uncle Sam!" I apologize for not answering any letters this summer, and I promise to do much better this year.

Phil Sandmaier wrote a card saying that he was inducted (via draft) June 26 and is stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, as a member of the permanent personnel. He steers new selectees through the reception center. His address there is Co. C, 1st Receiving Bn., Reception Center, Mike Crowe, '38, is there, too, working in the office.

Last June Frank Pieri wrote a letter and it hasn't received any recognition as yet. Here's Frank in part: "I just completed a very fine week-end in Atlantic City. . . I met two other '40 grads. First was Joe Mulqueen, of the U. S. Marines. He introduced me to Mrs. Joe Mulqueen and she is a very good-looking Irish lassie, formerly Miss Peggie Ruddy from Philadelphia. Later I met Pat Gorman who is working for the government. I am an employee of the B. F. Goodrich Co., working in the budget department, but it won't be for long, because I have already had my physical exam for the draft. My friend, John Joyce, was inducted a few months ago. He's an acting corporal and says, 'Gee the food at N. D. was good.'" Frank's address is 30 W. South St., Mahanoy City, Pa.

The only N.D. man that dropped into Milwaukee during the summer was Harry Martin, an ex-'40 man from Rhinelander, Wis. We talked about old times and would certainly like to hear from or about Jack Cook, Phil Dougherty, Wayne Fencil, Jim Brown, Ed McLaughlin, Ted Jochems, and Bernie Masterson.

Dick Ames wrote the second letter of the summer months. It came from Beaver, Pa., but by now he is working for Uncle Sam. He's in the Army Air Corps, Jefferson Barracks, Mo. Dick says: "In Goshen, Ind., I saw Bud Kerr and he is about the same except for a little weight added to his husky frame. A friend told me that Tom Judge is back on the road again in Texas for the Pope Glasser China Co. Since graduation I have been seismographing for the Texas Company." Glad to hear from you, Dick.

It seems I made a slight error a short while ago. John Webster is not in the Army; he is still working in Milwaukee and now has what he calls a "car?" Neal Gleason is working at Allis-Chalmers and also going to Marquette Law School. Ted Brush received a promotion to "A-C" and will soon be on the top. Dan Hushek is in Missouri in the Army and is expecting a promotion soon.

Jim Casper has announced his engagement to Eileen McGee, of Milwaukee. I'm sure many of you fellows remember her, and are pleased at Jim's good fortune. Congratulations, Jim and Eileen.

As for myself, I just received a 1-B classification because of my eyes. I can now continue my public accounting and hope some day to become a C.P.A.

This column is a little short this time, fellows. Let's really get to work with all those letters. We are way behind the other classes. I really would like to write a couple of issues and not have to beg for news.

John and Tom Ferneding were commissioned as Ensigns in the U. S. Naval Reserve in September, and are expecting a call to active duty aboard one of Uncle Sam's men-o-war.

Walter Sweitzer, Jr., of South Bend, enlisted recently, and is at Scott field, Belleville, Ill., where he will take a course of training for communications officer in the Air Corps.

Bill McNerny has entered law practice in the office of Aaron H. Huguenard, Associate Building, South Bend. Bulletin: For a year, by recent appointment, Bill will be law clerk to Federal judge Sherman E. Minton, Chicago.

Frank Aubrey is an assistant civil engineer for N. Benvenut & Sons, New London, Conn.

Jimmy Cullather, following his year of graduate work at Penn, is working for Dry Dock Associates, in Philadelphia.

Don O'Neill, of South Bend, has been assigned to the Fresno, Calif., air base. And Vic Vergara was one of the aviation cadets graduated Sept. 12, from the Bombardier Training School, Barksdale Field, La. He will receive a commission as a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps Reserve.

Bob Derengoski writes that he was married recently. Following his admission to the Bar of Michigan, he was inducted into the Army, and has been stationed at Camp Davis, N. C., since June. He is with the anti-aircraft unit of the Coast Artillery. He says that Pete Arboit is now playing with the Camp Davis football team.

Paul Borgman, formerly with Bendix in South Bend, is at present on leave of absence from the Jackson Lab. of the duPont Company. Paul suffered painful injuries to his right arm in an automobile accident, but the injured member is now on the mend.

The Flying Irish Squadron

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame had become the Flying Irish of the United States Naval Aviation Cadet Corp when this picture was taken at the Naval Aviation Training base at Glenview, Ill., near Chicago. All of these men are either graduates of the University or undergraduates with at least two years to their credit. They comprise the famed Flying Irish Squadron of the Naval Aviation Cadet corps. Following a month's primary training at Glenview, many of the men were transferred in August to one of the "Annapolis of the Air" bases in the South for advanced flight training preparatory to being commissioned ensigns in the navy and assigned to combat, bombing or other flying units. Within about nine months from the time they went "aboard ship" at Glenview some of them will be wearing Navy Wings.

Lucas, Chicago; J. H. Wiechman, Park Hills, Ky.; J. R. Tinny, Lakewood, Ohio; O. J. Seifert, New Ulm, Minn., and E. J. Mooney, Clark-dale, Miss.

Eight South Bend alumni recently passed the examination for admission to the Indiana bar. They are: Bernard Hiss, Jim Gorrell, Harold Blakeman, Dick Kaczmarek, Ed Minczewski, Bill McInerney, Bob Rodibaugh, and Joseph Pawlowski.

Pete Sheehan, of Youngstown, O., writes: "Bob Fish, my ex-roommate in St. Ed's, dropped in last month while on his honeymoon. He was married to Miss Jean Kenny of Toledo. Bob will continue his medical studies at Michigan, where he is an honor student."

1941 John W. Patterson, Jr., 5530 Darlington Rd., Pittsburgh, Pa.

From John Patterson:

Jumping into the select circle of Sanford, DeCoursey, etc., is a busman's holiday for me. Besides trying to scoop the world on the doings of '41ers, I am one of the little cogs on the enormous wheel of news that is the "Pittsburgh Press."

Reports from classmates have been few and far between. The 600-odd students who grabbed diplomas last June are finding it hard to write letters.

Most consistent of all my correspondents is roomie Ray Pinelli. Some of the "kids" who hooted him just a bit because he only hit .314 last spring will be glad to hear that he did right well in the Eastern League. Ray played with Binghamton, a Yankee farm club. And, in spite of a dislocated shoulder received in mid-season, he played a lot of baseball, winding up with an impressive record.

Just before Labor Day who walked into the news room down here? Certainly, Vern Witkowski! Using stage name Whit Vernon, N.D.'s A-1 gift to the boards, played summer stock at the Cain Park Theatre in Cleveland. He's at the Catholic University speech school now on a scholarship.

Vern had some news, however indefinite, about some of Notre Dame's other thespians. Jack White is in the Navy; Bill Mulvey is working at radio "somewhere;" Johnny Coppinger was in summer stock with the Penny Players at Madison, Ohio.

From operator Witkowski came the word that Joe Mulligan has a job which starts at 6 a.m., ends at 3 p.m. Shades of morning check! Frank McGroder is Army-bound. Bud Pogliano is already marching for Uncle Samuel (he had a fellowship to Catholic U., but—).

Eddie McHugh, fellow-Pittsburgher, is working for the McGraw Wool Co. in our dark city. Charlie Dillon, class president, is scheduled to leave for Army camp. Charlie was in Pittsburgh for a Notre Dame dance during the summer. He is in tip-top shape.

Got a card from Joe Buckler. He's stationed in the East — wearing khaki for the U. S. By the way, Joe's the only one who sent a card unsolicited. More would be appreciated.

Bill Heimbaugh is working near Pittsburgh, and drops in once in a while. He says Jim Champer, prize engineer, is doing well. Bill Hawes is in the traffic department of Carnegie-Illinois here. George O'Connor and Vin Smith are married — have been since before graduation. Undoubtedly there are others, Yes? No?

Bob Fitzpatrick is in the advertising business in New York. I'd like to hear from him. The Gotham and Chicago boys ought to have a lot of news about '41 graduates.

Emery Martin is working on his father's newspaper (business dept.) in Fond du Lac, Wis. Tom Pilgrim is flying (What of D. G. Sullivan, flying editor of the "Santa Maria?"). Bob Saggau, as announced over the radio at the All-Star-Chicago Bears football game, is in the Navy. I haven't heard a word from or about co-"Scholastic" workers McGowan and Newland.

Bob Doran, selling hats in Danbury, and George Greene, at Columbia Dental, came through with letters. Jack Keegan is at Rochester in medicine. Bob had news of Charlie Crimmins who played ball during the summer with Watertown, N. Y. Charlie was a shortstop, and did well. George Greene spent a little time in Cincinnati this summer visiting "Dunnie of St. Mary's." He saw Bob Leonard, who is working for his father. Bill Hoyne of Bengal Bouts fame is a working man in Dayton.

Walt Brodbeck does accounting for the automotive division at Studebaker's. Ed Hultgreen and Bill Dominic are cost accountants for the Studebaker aviation division.

George Ferrick is researching or searching for U. S. Army Air Corps at Fort Benning, Ga. Gerry Fisher came back to N.D. for Law. So did Bill Mooney. Reports have it that Bill's new wife (I quote when I say "new" — never knew he had an old one) is lovely people.

Ed Cousineau is in the Army at Camp Walters, Texas. John MacCauley is bundling for Britain, rallying for Roosevelt with the Student Defenders of Democracy. John is executive secretary. Bill McGannon was on the All-Star squad against the Bears.

Members of the "Fighting Irish Squadron" in Naval Air Corps: Bob Cox, J. J. Reynolds, Frank Santos, (who, by the way has never returned "Native Son" to me), Matt Byrnes, John O'Dea, Erwin Mooney, and E. O. Buddy.

Chuck Schmid is a WPA supervisor in the Recreation Dept. of the Hammond Civic Center. Several other Notre Dame men are working with him. WPA!

Dan Stack will be an instructor for the C.A.A. before much more time passes. Tom Pilgrim and Bill Kramer are not with the Air Corps any more. Another marriage — Tom Walsh of Notre Dame and Marge Hall, '41, of St. Mary's.

Tom Vincent and Jack Nace are working for General Electric in Schenectady. Jerry Ryan, another of the Bengaleers, is using his engineering knowledge to advantage in Baltimore.

Red-haired Art Humby sent in a letter on U. S. Army Air Corps stationery. He joined the day after graduation, has had 135 hours in the air, and expects to get his wings in January. Art has the company of two Notre Dame men, neither of the '41 class, Gene Poletto, '40, and Jim Ford. Bill Spaulding, according to Art, was slated to enter the air corps during the summer. Art's letter was absolutely voluntary, unsolicited. More of the same would be appreciated.

Tom Reis is in Bridgeport with G.E. He sends along information to the Alumni Office that Dave Meskill, '39, Tom Schmid, Larry Schmidt, and Gene Duckworth are also aiding and abetting G.E.'s staff. Says Joe Lawler is an engineer at Remington.

Tom saw Jack Boyle, Ralph Gerra, and Bob Jehring during the summer. Boyle is with W. R. Grace & Co., N.Y.C. (Which prompts the question — Where is Mike Grace?) Gerra is going to law school at Columbia. He'll have George Greene in sight up there. Jehring is with the F.B.I. in Washington and going to Georgetown Law. Jim Behe is also in Washington, but with Equitable Life.

Joe Guitman, Bill Day, Bob Langlois, and Edward Hillis are all draftees. John is at Fort Eustis, Va., but we would like the complete addresses of all of them, and of any other of you men in Army service.

John Johnson is selling group insurance, for Traveler's Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn. Ed Quinn worked during the summer tutoring at Riverdale Country School Camp. He is in the Marine Corps reserve and expects to go in March. Cy Tinsty is back at school to study criminology. And Frank Hopkins is a clerk for duPont in Wilmington, Del. So is Bill Kelleher.

Mike McCaughey is a junior civil engineer for the Sanitary District of Chicago. I hear that Dan Broderick is a Naval reserve officer for the duration of the emergency. Roy Bairley is now a T.V.A. man in Kentucky; Ed Tomcik is back at N.D. for an M.S. in chemistry. Lots of initials there. Joe Callahan is, or was, doing clerical work for Todd & Brown at the Kingsbury, Ind., munitions plant; while Milt Williams is working at Bendix and Law.

Vic Reback, in Detroit, is an accounts payable clerk for the Ternstedt Mfg. Div. of General Motors. Jim Walsh is a cast iron foundry man for Bethlehem Steel. Gene DeLay worked this summer for the Federal Land Bank in St. Paul.

Vincent Sposato is a junior clerk for a New York consulting engineer. Claude Schindler returned to Notre Dame for graduate work in chemistry. Cliff Buckley, like Joe Buckley, is in the army now. Al Del Zoppo expected an early draft call, but hoped to return to N.D. for an M.A. Jim Szychalski is an operator for Todd & Brown at the Kingsbury, Ind., ordnance plant.

Phil McCanna, off for Marquette Med. School, polished up his golf score this summer and forgot about Grey's Anatomy. Dick Ball visited Phil and both of them achieved that golden-brown shade swimming and sailing. Dick will enter Indiana U. this fall to work for an M.A. in economics. I was in Buffalo, Dick's home town, in July, called his home, but the phone just rang and rang.

Paul Vignos is at Western Reserve Medical school in Cleveland. Paul wrote to say that he misses Notre Dame and everything that goes with the school.

As Who Of Us Doesn't!

Eugene Geissler, M.A. '41, has been appointed as assistant executive secretary of the National Catholic Rural Life conference.

Fred Short is now an aviation cadet and has recently been promoted from the Alabama Institute of Aeronautics, Tuscaloosa, Ala., where he received his basic training.

Bill Gwinn writes us that he is working at the new duPont plant in Martinsville, Va. He was helped to his new job by Bill Lawless, '22, duPont construction superintendent.

Brother Rex, C.S.C., will soon leave for Dacca, Bengal, India, where he will fill a teaching position in St. Gregory's High School. He will be in India for 10 years.

Bill Glean is with the Neoprene Division of the duPont Dye Works.

Bob Dakey is a flying cadet at Goodfellow's Field, and is training now for a commission of second lieutenant in the Army force.

College-trained men and women

CHEMISTS, ENGINEERS, ECONOMISTS, TECHNOLOGISTS
SCIENTIFIC, PROFESSIONAL, ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL are needed in the Federal Career Service

GOVERNMENT ACTIVITIES ARE EXPANDING. The national emergency is creating new problems, new methods, new jobs. A Government position offers opportunities for personal advancement and effective service to the Nation, particularly in professional and scientific work.

National Defense, Soil Conservation, Reclamation, Flood Control, Public Lands, Public Health, Taxation, Industrial Relations, Labor Relations, Interstate Commerce, Social Security, Research—these are but a few of the current problems with which Government departments and Government personnel are concerned.

There are positions to be filled at Washington, D. C., and in many of the States.

Have you seen a list of Federal civil-service examinations now open? Have you filed an application with the Civil Service Commission at Washington?

LEARN WHAT THE GOVERNMENT HAS TO OFFER through civil service. Application forms can be obtained from United States civil-service representatives at first- or second-class post offices or from civil-service district offices.
