Maybe a "Notre Dame Week" . . .

UND Night Sets Record

Scientific achievements of the University were highlighted as clubs everywhere met on April 25 to observe the 26th annual Universal Notre Dame Night.

Doubtless, it was the outstanding UND Night of them all, surpassing even the brilliant record set by the clubs on the same occasion a year ago. Written reports as printed in the club section of this ALUMNUS, many letters from club officers and other alumni and comment from the 28 speakers from the campus who addressed clubs,—all these add up to "biggest and best" And reports are still coming in!

In fact, so intensive and extensive has Universal Notre Dame Night become that this suggestion has been advanced: "Why not have Universal Notre Dame Week?"

Maybe we should.

For the vast majority of clubs, UND Night was observed on schedule, on Monday, April 25. But the national radio broadcast, over WGN, Chicago, and Mutual, could not be arranged for that Monday night and so was held over for Tuesday night, April 26. In Philadelphia, where UND Night was "born" 26 years ago, the observance was also held on Tuesday night, with an attendance of 800 in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel and an address by Rev. Robert H. Sweeney, C.S.C., assistant to the president.

And some other clubs held their observances later in the week, or even the following week, to meet local conditions. In Youngstown, for instance, the club observed UND Night, along with the club's 25th birthday, on Thursday night, April 28. The chief address for a brilliant and significant dinner was given by Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., president of the University.

Also observing their 25th birthdays, but

on April 25, were the clubs in Syracuse (Central New York) and Washington, D. C. The Western Washington Club (Seattle) is going to observe its 25th birthday next fall, on the occasion of the Washington-Notre Dame game in Seattle. (But note the challenge of these Far Westerners as to the percentage of membership present for their UND Night dinner this year.)

The practice, begun a year ago, of recognizing the Notre Dame "Man of the Year" in a club community, was vastly extended this year with the presentation of many scrolls by clubs all over the country. As you'll read in the club notes and see in the pictures in this ALUMNUS, the clubs brought to public notice a significant number of outstanding Notre Dame men.

The Chicago Club continued its practice of recognizing a Notre Dame faculty member for his contributions to the field of learning. The recipient of the club's Faculty Award this year was Dr. Eugene Guth, director of the high polymer physics laboratory at Notre Dame, the first such laboratory in the United States. Dr. Guth, who came to Notre Dame in 1937 from the University of Vienna, is known as a top authority on the development of synthetic rubber and cellulose products. His research at Notre Dame is concerned primarily with the study of the physical properties of rubber and plastics.

Contributing notably to the success of Universal Notre Dame Night was the work of the Department of Public Information at Notre Dame, directed by Raymond J. Donovan, '42. Ray and his associates prepared skillfully and sent out to all club presidents, and to other persons concerned with club observances, a "kit" of suggested radio scripts and publicity material, as well as background material for speeches.

Two of the University's most prominent alumni were speakers at the Baltimore Club's UND Night observance. They are Tighe E. Woods, '33, Federal Housing Expediter (standing), and Edward M. O'Connor, '32, Commissioner, President's Commission for Displaced Persons (next to Woods). Others shown at head table are Rev. David Fosselman, C.S.C., and Mrs. Roy O. Scholz, wife of last year's club president.

With this aid, many clubs were able to get unprecedented cooperation from local newspapers and radio stations.

A new type of cathode (source of electrons), which for a fraction of a second will generate nearly six times as much power in a vacuum tube as the largest power station in the United States, has been developed by Dr. Edward A. Coomes, professor of Physics at Notre Dame.

Dr. Coomes' research and other scientific achievements of the University were highlighted April 26 in the nationwide radio program over the Mutual Broadcasting System originating from Washington Hall on the campus through Station WGN in Chicago.

The cathode, the most powerful low-temperature source of electrons ever developed, is used particularly in radar tubes and in all places where microwave power is used. Dr. Coomes was on leave of absence from Notre Dame during World War II to work on cathodes used in radar tubes and recently received a governmental citation for his war-time research.

The powerful cathode developed by Dr. Coomes is approximately 600 times more powerful than existed prior to the outbreak of World War II. Before the war, the most powerful cathodes were used in tubes capable of generating approximately 10 kilowatts. The new cathode worked on by the Notre Dame scientist helped to make possible the development of electron tubes capable of generating approximately 6,000 kilowatts.

Dr. Coomes hastens to explain, however, that this cathode is usable only in situations in which the power is turned on and off within much less than one second. Otherwise, he explains, the power generated would melt the tube in which the cathode is used.

Father John Cavanaugh, speaking on the Mutual Broadcasting System program, pointed out that "the ultimate object of every Catholic school is the development of the individual to know God, to love Him, and to serve Him in this world so as to be happy with Him in the life to come." Father Cavanaugh, stressing that Notre Dame has never veered from this objective, declared that "to know God, to love Him, and to serve Him in this modern age means among other things to develop in the individual the greatest possible talents and skills in secular knowledge."

For Additional UND NIGHT PICTURES See Pages 18-19

The Notre Dame president explained that "it is not our goal to be a university known only for excellence in the physical sciences," but he emphasized that "it is our goal to be great in the physical sciences, so that Notre Dame will develop great scientists, as well as great teachers, and lawyers, and doctors, leaders in business, influential men in press and radio." He explained that "tonight we are turning the spotlight on science because that is the area of most urgent demand and most immediate promise on the campus."

Father Cavanaugh, after tracing the early scientific research and the war-time research conducted in Notre Dame laboratories, said: "The war is over, but the challenges in science increase. In Notre Dame's laboratories eminent scientists are busy during the day and well into the night working with the young men who tomorrow must take the lead. In the sciences as in the arts tomorrow's leadership is today's challenge. In accepting the challenge, Notre Dame is determined to give the best in the sciences in a moral and religious atmosphere, so that the trustworthy, responsible scientists, using the vast resources at their command, will work for the benefit of mankind and help stabilize order and true peace in the years ahead."

The dramatic presentation over the Mutual Broadcasting System traced Notre Dame's notable contribution to science from the early days when Dr. Jerome Green, professor of Electrical Engineering at Notre Dame, sent the first wireless message in America from the Notre Dame campus in April, 1899, through the discovery of the basic formula of synthetic rubber at Notre Dame by Rev. Julius Nieuwland, c.s.c., and pioneer work in aeronautics by Dr. Albert Zahm, down to the present day research.

In addition to the aforementioned research of Dr. Coomes, other important Notre Dame scientific research dramatized in the broadcast included research toward peacetime applications of atomic energy using Notre Dame's electrostatic generator (atom smasher), and the research being conducted in the field of synthetic rubber and plastics in the Physics Department.

The program described isolation by Dr. Charles C. Price, Head of the Department of Chemistry at Notre Dame, of four compounds capable of neutralizing the Rh factor in human blood. Research now is being conducted by Dr. Price to determine the structure of the compounds, which if successful, will enable a synthetic production which may be used in treatment against the Rh factor and prevent many stillbirths and miscarriages in pregnancies, jaundice and other serious blood diseases.

The program told of investigation also in the chemistry department, to develop anti-malarial drugs. Research in the chemistry department at Notre Dame has been successful in the development of four new anti-malarial drugs. These drugs have been selected for clinical trial at government-designated civilian and military hospitals, and although still of a confidential nature, this research is understood to have resulted in other discoveries of value in the fight against malaria.

Popular-type experiments in the Laboratories of Bacteriology at Notre Dame (LOBUND) also were described on the Mutual program. Under the direction of Prof. James A. Reyniers, unique experiments involving the rearing of germ-free animals are being conducted. Experiments being conducted in LOBUND are expected by many scientific observers to suggest new methods of approach in such problems as immunity, virus infection, tissue degeneration, radiation injury, dental caries and heart disease.

Some of the notable members of the Notre Dame Club of Western Washington get together before the banquet of the Notre Dame Club of Western Washington on Universal Notre Dame Night in Seattle. Left to right are George Nyere, '03, Frank J. McHugh, '11, first president of the club, Morris E. Starrett, '21, Harry A. Able, '07, and Ed O. Brown, '24.

The 67th Distinguished American . . .

Laetare Medal to Irene Dunne

Miss Irene Dunne, prominent movie actress, was announced on March 27 as the 1949 recipient of the Laetare Medal.

Miss Dunne is the sixty-seventh distinguished American to receive the Laetare Medal, the oldest American Catholic medal, which is called the Laetare Medal because the award is announced on Laetare Sunday, the fourth Sunday of Lent. It was founded by the Rev. Edward F. Sorin, c.s.c., founder of the University of Notre Dame.

Father Cavanaugh, in announcing the award to Miss Dunne, said: "Miss Dunne is an example of talented Christian womanhood in a profession and community unfortunately publicized for the briefness of marriages and careers. She has never subordinated her conscience to her art, but from the outset of her career has insisted on wholesome pictures. Throughout fifteen years as a top-ranking star she has remained an exemplary wife and mother while winning the admiration and respect of high and low in the film industry and in the world at large."

Five times nominated for the Academy Award during her long career on the screen, Miss Dunne has received many honors. Last year she was honored with the American Brotherhood Award for Distinguished Service by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. She also was honored by the American Mothers Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation with an award for the "most outstanding portrayal of a Mother on the American Screen by an American actress in 1948," as a result of her leading role in the film success "I Remember Mama." The Society of Norway Playwrights presented a jeweled crown to Miss Dunne for outstanding ability as an actress with special reference to "I Remember Mama," and she received a statuette from the Woman's Voice Award.

Miss Dunne is Chairman of the Field Army American Cancer Society, co-chairman with Harold Stassen of the American Heart Association and co-chairman with E. Roland Harriman of the American Red Cross. She has donated generously to numerous charitable organizations, established a scholarship in St. John's Seminary built by Archbishop Cantwell and at present is planning a scholarship to be raised for special research in well known Catholic girls colleges.

Miss Dunne often has been praised by her associates in Hollywood for the very simple and devout life which she leads in her private life. As the wife of Dr. Francis Dennis Griffin, she is called an "ideal mother" to their adopted daughter, Mary Frances. In spite of the fact that activity on the Hollywood set begins at 7 a.m., she attends Mass each morning before reporting to the studio.

Of Irish descent, Miss Dunne was born in Louisville, Ky., December 20, 1904, attended Loretto Academy in Louisville and studied music with her mother. She studied voice and piano with private teachers, and after a year's study at a music conservatory in Indianapolis she accepted a position as music and art teacher in an East Chicago, Ind., high school.

Miss Irene Dunne

Miss Dunne won a competitive scholarship at the Chicago Musical College, graduated with honors and received the Gold Medal of Honor from the College. She moved to New York City and became the choice of Ziegfeld for the lead in "Show Boat." She was immediately recognized for her ability by the movies and signed a contract with the RKO Company. She was married in 1927 to Dr. Griffin, a New York dentist.

Generation Club

The Generation Club (composed, you will remember, of the current students who are sons of alumni) topped its year of activity with a banquet, the first annual, in the Capitol Restaurant in South Bend.

They enjoyed, according to Scribe Bill Kennedy, "one of the finest steak dinners ever offered to a campus organization." Ed McCarthy handled the evening's program, which included "salutes to the different athletic teams of the club and the showing of the movies of the 1948 Purdue-Notre Dame football game."

Another club scribe, John E. Armstrong, tells about the organization's suddenly-inspired bowling team, an entry in one of the student bowling leagues:

"Led by team captain Lee Sheridan, keggers Chuck Cauley, Dick Sheridan, Jim Adler, John Armstrong, Walt Clements, and Joe Harmon 'bowled over' the majority of their spring competitors. Within the space of a few weeks this revitalized team had jumped from the subcellar to eleventh place in the Blue League, copping 17 straight points along the way. The Generation Club team was by far the most improved team in either league during the spring semester, and it continued to improve as the season progressed.

"It is heartwarming to note here that four freshmen and three sophomores comprised the team, all of which means that there are very nice prospects for the team in the next three years or so. It is entirely possible that the club will have a championship contender within a year."

Capt. Lee Sheridan of the Generation team won the trophy for the high single game, 236, bowled in the league this year.

George C. Witteried, Jr., '49, Chicago, was the first president of the club and its ever-enthusiastic sparkplug. George served in addition as national vice-chairman of the Foreign Student Relief campaign.

Contributors Multiply

A total of $233,817.87 had been contributed to date in 1949 by alumni and friends to the University of Notre Dame, it was announced on May 17 by Rev. Robert H. Sweeney, c.s.c., executive assistant to the president.

Father Sweeney said that of the total amount contributed, $138,532.87 was given by Notre Dame alumni and $95,385 by non-alumni friends of the University. The 1949 total to date will be applied to the new $1,750,000 Science Building to be erected as soon as funds are available.

The $233,817.87 total contributed to Notre Dame in 1949 is nearly three times that received by the University at the same point in 1948.

Professors to Europe

Two faculty members of the Department of History will visit Europe this summer to carry out "on-the-spot research."

Prof. William O. Shanahan will leave June 10 for a three-month tour of libraries and archives in England, France and Switzerland. His primary research findings will be incorporated in a book entitled "History of the Mercenary Army," tracing the role of "hired soldiers" in the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries. Another object of Dr. Shanahan's studies will be the German Protestant social movement in the late 19th century.

Prof. John J. Hooker will begin his trip through England, France and Belgium on July 1. His topic of research will be the economic and historical geography of 18th century Flanders.

The UNIVERSITY TODAY

A WORKSHOP IN GUIDANCE to study problems and construct needed programs of guidance in schools will be held from June 28 to July 26. The workshop will be designed to aid teachers in elementary and secondary schools, guidance workers, counselors and class sponsors, research workers in guidance and curriculum, supervisors and principals.

DR. PHILIP E. MOSELY, as one of the men who argued with Vishinsky over the conference table, predicted that Vishinsky will be "on the phone every half hour to keep V. M. Molotov posted." Dr. Mosely, professor of international relations of the Russian institute at Columbia University, gave his own interpretation of the top-level shuffle in Russia while here for a lecture.

THE COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING has been accepted for membership in the Engineering Research Council of the American Society for Engineering. Membership is limited to colleges and universities that have engaged in engineering research for at least three years and have spent more than $10,000 on research. Here the engineers are doing research in aeronautical, civil, chemical, electrical, and mechanical engineering, and in metallurgy and engineering mechanics. Sixty projects are under investigation on the campus.

A BOOK has been published containing the talks given at the first annual Natural Law Institute at Notre Dame. A second volume, covering the second Institute, is being prepared. Inquiries regarding the first book should be addressed to the Notre Dame Press.

Attorney General Addresses Lawyers

Less than one-sixth of one percent of the 2,000,000 federal employees already checked during the recent loyalty test against Communists required further investigation, according to Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

Attorney General Clark made this statement when he addressed the annual Hoynes Banquet, sponsored by University of Notre Dame law students to honor the graduating seniors of the Law School, on May 13. The banquet also was attended by attorneys and legal officials who attended a Practicing Law Institute held May 13 and 14 at Notre Dame.

The attorney general told the group that of this small group who required further investigation, some were dismissed and some resigned in the course of the inquiry. All others, he said, were cleared.

Attorney General Clark told the students and attorneys that although there are those who say the government is "honeycombed with subversive elements . . . no witchhunt has blotted, or will blot, our record of equal justice to all. We are as determined to protect the innocent as we are to prosecute the guilty."

"America's destiny is clear," the attorney general observed. "It is to lead the world in humanity and kindness—in happiness and security—and in good will toward men. Anything less than the fulfillment of this holy mission would make for an unhappy America."

He continued: "Two devastating world wars in our own generation taught us that our heritage is not alone material things—not brick and mortar that go into buildings—not a vast body of land—not mountains or plains, cities or hamlets—not even gold, power or fame. It is something more than all these that we must defend, preserve and foster. It is that intangible something that is accepted as the real and true soul of our America, containing all of our priceless freedom and our aspirations. They are mankind's rights—human rights.

"When our forefathers drafted the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, our basic documents of human rights, they determined to seek a secure foundation for the liberty of all the people. They wanted no tyranny. They had tired of it. They could bear the yoke no longer. They learned that every day was judgment day, and they quickly made the most of it."

Attorney General Clark pointed out that our forefathers concluded that the "inalienable rights of man are rooted, not in the State, not in a legislature, not in a majority, not in a dictatorship, nor any other human power. They were convinced that those rights stemmed from Almighty God. And thus the American system has its foundation of liberty and opportunity in something abiding and permanent. The divine rights of man were indelibly recorded in sacred documents. They became not merely a concept of government, but the bedrock upon which our government was established and upon which it rests. These rights are as inseparable from our democracy as is the heart of man from his body."

At the Practicing Law Institute, attended by nearly 400 attorneys and Notre Dame law students, Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert, '27, of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Indiana, discussed "Federal Rule of Civil Procedure." Former Judge of the Appellate Court of Indiana Dan C. Flanagan, of Fort Wayne, reviewed "Indiana Pleading and Practice," while Notre Dame law professors William D. Rollison and Jack R. Miller dealt with "Will Clauses and Their Tax Consequences."

Notre Dame law students John Witous and James White, both of Chicago, served as co-chairman of the Hoynes banquet. James Cassidy, law student from Peoria, Ill., son of John E. Cassidy, '17, served as co-ordinator for the Practicing Law Institute and the banquet. John Hyland, of Penn Yan, N. Y., is president of the Notre Dame Law Club, sponsor of the banquet.

The STUDENTS TODAY

By MARTIN BROWNE

Spring at Notre Dame is like spring anywhere else in the world, and different from spring anywhere else in the world. Alumni fortunate enough to visit the campus saw the magnolias in their perennial loveliness, heard the crack of the softball bats over by the Chemistry building, and the voices of students singing May hymns at the Grotto after supper.

A Notre Dame family program was inaugurated by the campus radio station WND during the spring. Six nights a week—Saturday is the exception—the President of the University leads the students in their devotion. In his absence, another administrative of the University substitutes.

A sculpture by Donald H. Birren, a graduate student at Notre Dame, was awarded first prize in sculpture at the Northern Indiana Art salon. Entitled "Summa Logica," it is a carving, from plaster of paris, of two wrestlers in action.

Bucks for Bengal

On the lighter side, the Bengal Bouts, held annually during the Lenten season for the benefit of the Holy Cross missions in India, were an outstanding success both as entertainment and as a financial boost to the missionaries. They were once more under the supervision of Prof. Dominic Napolitano, '32, who has, with the exception of his three years of service with the Navy, been associated with the bouts since they were begun in 1931.

Interesting people are always to be found at Notre Dame. A few who have come to notice recently are:

Dr. Stephanos Kolupaila, distinguished Lithuanian scientist who specializes in hydraulics, is teaching in the College of Engineering at Notre Dame. Dr. Kolupaila, during the World War II and the "cold war," had a number of dramatic escapes from both the Russians and the Germans, and for a time taught school "underground" in Lithuania. He has published over 200 scientific books or articles in ten different languages. One volume is dedicated to his friend, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Dr. Jacques Maritain, renowned Catholic philosopher, delivered two talks at the University in conjunction with the Mediaeval Institute Lecture Series and the banquet honoring the tenth anniversary of the Review of Politics.

Evelyn Waugh, distinguished British novelist, charmed the student body with his spring lecture on three well-known English convert writers. And he delighted the interviewer for the Scholastic when he advocated the placing of "great tankards of wine or liquor at the end of the cafeteria lines instead of these teetotalling liquids."

Music for Easter

Easter vacation tours were undertaken by both the Band and the Glee Clubs. The Glee Club made a highly successful tour of seven Eastern cities, including New York and Pittsburgh. In the latter city, tickets were sold out five weeks in advance of the concert.

The 55-member concert Band piled into two buses and set off for the South playing 22 concerts in 13 cities in nine states. A memorable feature of this trip was a detour to Warm Springs, Ga., where the Band played for the patients at the Infantile Paralysis Foundation at the request of the 20-year-old mother of Tommy Sexton, an ardent fan of Notre Dame. Another patient, John Joyce, '41, of Spartanburg, S. C., was also honored at the concert.

Alumni considering the sponsorship of a Band concert in their cities next year will be interested in the new promotion booklet developed this year under the direction of H. Lee Hope, director of the Band. This booklet contains suggestions for the local committees on staging, publicity, tickets, radio, advertising, complete press releases, programs, personnel and pictures.

Honors for Talking

Honors in many fields continued to pour into Notre Dame. The Notre Dame debating team, coached by Prof. Leonard Sommer, won the Midwest debating championship at the West Point National Invitation Debate Tournament held in the last week of April at the United States Military Academy. Thirty-four teams, selected from more than 300 colleges and universities, competed in the tournament. Notre Dame also rated as the number one Catholic university debating team, second in the United States on individual speaker ratings, and fifth in the United States on the position which includes both speaker ratings and won-and-lost records. Frank Finn, senior of Denison, Tex., and William Carey, sophomore, of Pittsburgh, Pa., represented Notre Dame at West Point.

Notre Dame students raised $22,817.20 toward the current Foreign Student Relief Drive conducted by the National Federation of Catholic College Students. This includes income from the Mardi Gras carnival, the car award donation, and a dollar-a-man drive.

F. A. Miller, president and editor of the South Bend Tribune has established an annual award in the Department of Journalism at the University. Known as the "F. A. Miller Prizes for Excellence in Practical Journalism" the $100 award is divided into five $20 prizes presented for excellence in makeup, news writing, feature writing, editing and photography to Notre Dame journalism students who publish "The Journalist," experimental newspaper sponsored by the department. The winners this year were Joseph Scheidler, Hartford City, Ind., Raymond Fitzgerald, Westfield, Mass., Lawrence Flaherty, Maumee, O., Harry Monahan, San Diego, Calif., and John McGoldrick, Forest Hills, N. Y.

Art for Your Village

Notre Dame art may yet grace your village. First prize in an architectural roadside sign contest, sponsored by the Te Deum International Society, was won by Willoughby Marshall, architecture student from Apalachicola, Fla. Entries by Vincent Boyle of Milford, Mich., were awarded both second and third prizes, and three other Notre Dame students received honorable mention for their designs.

The proposed roadside signs will indicate to passing motorists the proximity of a Catholic Church. The winning designs will be submitted to the hierarchy of the Catholic Church for selection and approval, after which signs of stamped metal will be made and distributed for use by parishes throughout the United States.

Note from U. Monday in Washington Hall at Notre Dame. The program will be varied, including religious, classical and popular numbers."

And spring, as you will recall, brings many other things at Notre Dame, among them farewell banquets for departing seniors, recitals by departing seniors and innumerable this - isn't - such - a - bad - place - after - alls by departing seniors. But especially there are banquets.

These are some samples of the spring tonic of 1949:

The Notre Dame student branch of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences had Major Alford J. (Al) Williams, 30-year veteran of aviation, as the chief speaker at its annual spring banquet. This was Al's second trip to Notre Dame. He was here in January, 1935, along with Eddie Rickenbacker, Billy Bishop and Will Rogers, to address a conference on the advisability of starting an aeronautical curriculum in the University.

Harry G. Hogan, of Fort Wayne, addressed the first annual banquet for faculty members and students of the Department of Political Science.

The Notre Dame Symphonette orchestra of 55 men played its second concert of the year in Washington Hall on May 5. Directed by Prof. Charles A. Biondo, the orchestra has been developed from last year's chamber group of 35 men. Featured in the spring concert was Mozart's Bassoon Concerto with the solo by Andrew Fairlee of Atlanta, Ga.

Charles E. Lienhart, Wakarusa, Ind., Lawrence Metcalf, Valley City, N. D., Roy J. O'Neill, Aurora, Ill., and Richard Blaumeiser, Massillon, O., participated in the spring music recitals.

The freshmen had heir "Spring Tonic" (dance, that is) in the campus Drill Hall on May 14. The week before the juniors had their Prom, and the week after the seniors had their Ball.

Notre Dame in the spring! The world at its best.

Entertainment for All

Entertainment of high quality was offered by the University Theater. A program of three one-act plays was presented in March, under the direction of Prof. Francis J. Hanley, and in May the outstanding drama, "Shadow and Substance," by Paul Vincent Carroll was brought to the stage of Washington Hall under the same director.

A new idea in entertainment on the campus was the presentation of a series of seven foreign films, arranged by Prof. Walter M. Langford, head of the Department of Modern Languages. Russian, French, German and Spanish films were shown in order that students might hear dialogue in the languages they are studying, and enrich their understanding of the civilization and culture of various countries.

Students will again be able to matriculate at an American type university in Mexico this summer when the Department of Modern Languages sponsors the annual Notre Dame summer session at Mexico City College from June 15 to August 23.

The "Notre Dame Summer Session in Mexico," which will be conducted in conjunction with Mexico City College, will provide interested students with a three-fold opportunity to develop a fluency in the Spanish language in the real-life atmosphere of that language; broadened education by residence in a foreign land; and better inter-American understanding.

Though planned primarily for Notre Dame students, the special summer session is open to other students, both men and women, provided they indicate a certain background in Spanish studies or a desire to pursue such studies through the opportunity afforded by the Notre Dame Summer Session in Mexico.

Student leadership had its special stand-up-and-take-a-bow day when the Scholastic appeared on May 20. And then the Scholastic announced the six Dome awards for the year, given by the yearbook to "graduating seniors for out-

ATHLETICS

By RAYMOND I. DONOVAN, '42

Late Sport Results

After spotting the Old Timers a 14-to-0 lead in the first quarter, the prospective 1949 Notre Dame varsity football team came back to win a 49-to-21 victory in the annual Old Timers-Varsity game before 22,000 spectators in the Notre Dame Stadium.

For the first time in eleven games—over a four-year span—the baseball team edged past the University of Michigan, 5 to 4, in ten innings. The Irish also jumped on three University of Chicago pitchers, including major league prospect Don Borowitz, for a 14-to-3 win and the track team registered a major upset by defeating the strong University of Missouri team, 67 to 64, in a dual meet at Missouri.

The tennis team split a pair of matches, defeating Western Reserve, but losing a 7-to-2 decision to Michigan State College. Two more wins were recorded by the golf team. The Irish beat St. Ambrose, 41 to 4, and Michigan State, 22 to 5.

FOOTBALL

Concern over capable performers at the guard and tackle positions continued to be the main source of worry for Coach Frank Leahy as his 1949 version of the Fighting Irish football team closed six weeks of spring practice with the annual Varsity-Old Timers game in Notre Dame Stadium on May 14.

Coach Leahy's chief cause for concern during the spring drills centered around the loss by graduation of such stalwart linemen as Bill Fischer, Marty Wendell, Jack Fallon, Frank Gaul and Ted Budynkiewicz. And the gaps left in the Notre Dame line by the departure of the aforementioned stalwarts resulted in much experimentation by Coach Leahy and his staff during spring practice.

As the Varsity-Old Timers game wound up spring drills, Co-Captain Jim Martin manned one of the number one tackle berths after being switched from his end position, while Bob Toneff, who will move up from the freshman team next fall, apparently had a firm hold on the other tackle spot. Behind Martin and Toneff were Ralph McGehee and Gus Cifelli, both of whom won monograms last season.

And at the guard positions, replacing Wendell and Fischer, were Frank Johnson, who saw considerable action last season, and Fred Wallner, whom Coach Leahy moved to guard from his erstwhile fullback position. Pressing these two for first team berths, however, were Steve Oracko and Bob Lally, two holdovers from last year's varsity. Paul Burns, another member of last year's frosh team, also is expected to see a lot of action.

Co-Capt. Leon Hart naturally has the inside track for one end berth, while Bill Flynn and Doug Waybright from the 1948 squad, and freshman Jim Mutscheller and Chet Ostrowski are battling for the other end spot. Also to be kept in mind, however, are lettermen Bill Wightkin and Ray Espenan, who have gained considerable experience during their varsity careers.

Walt Grothaus and Jerry Groom are expected to share the center duties. In the backfield, Coach Leahy's problems are not quite so acute as at guards and tackles. Replacing Frank Tripucka at quarterback will be Bob Williams, who understudied Trip during his sophomore year last season. Behind Williams, it looks now as though John Mazur, a sophomore next fall, will take his place as the No. 2 signal-barker.

The rest of the first string backfield might well read something like this come fall—Bill Gay at left half, Emil Sitko at right half and Mike Swistowicz at fullback. And pressing the regulars for their jobs will be such seasoned gridders as Jack Landry, Larry Coutre, Frank Spaniel and Ernie Zalejski, to mention only a few. Most promising among frosh candidates in the backfield are Billy Barrett and John Petitbon at the half-back berths and fullback Del Gander.

That's the approximate picture at the end of spring practice. It is subject to change, of course, as fall drills resume late in August. If the tackles and guards improve beyond Coach Leahy's expectations, it could well be that the old argument about Michigan and Notre Dame will be started anew.

BASEBALL

"In like a lamb, out like a lion." That time-honored phrase apparently sizes up the 1949 Notre Dame baseball team. After dropping the first three games of the season, Coach Jake Kline's Irish nine has displayed plenty of classy baseball to win 12 of its last 15 contests.

The Klinemen took to the road to open their season and returned to the campus after absorbing 8-to-7 and 8-to-5 defeats at the hands of Indiana, the first defeat coming in a ten-inning game. After dropping the home opener to Iowa for their third straight loss, however, Notre Dame rebounded with a 4-to-3 win over the Hawkeyes and then on an Easter road trip broke even by downing Ohio State, 4 to 1, and losing to the Terre Haute Phillies, 5 to 3.

In the next eleven games, the Irish dropped only two, a 9-to-8 loss to Michigan and a 7-to-5 defeat at the hands of Michigan State. Wins over this eleven-game period include two over Wisconsin, 11 to 7 and 7 to 6, two over Minnesota, 8 to 6 and 4 to 0, two over Illinois, 6 to 1 and 5 to 1, and an 8-to-2 victory over the University of Chicago, a 3-to-2 win over Western Michigan and a 10-to-5 drubbing of Northwestern.

Coach Kline, fairly well set in pitching, was faced at the beginning of the season with the twofold task of uncovering capable catchers and outfielders. The former he did uncover in junior Dick Maher, son of Western Michigan coach Charlie Maher, and sophomore Tom Boland. The outfield, after much experimentation, has been handled capably by Tom Martin, Don Grieve and Co-Capt. Ray Petrzela, for the last three years regular Notre Dame first baseman.

Around the infield, veteran Gene Lavery has had things pretty much his own way at third base, Co-Capt. Benny Kozlik has been in the lineup all season at second, while sophomore Dick Giedlin ousted Petrzela from his regular first base post. Giedlin, who has attracted much major league attention, currently is the leading Irish hitter and features a long hit ball. At shortstop, Coach Kline has had more than his share of trouble. Regular shortstop Pete Koblosch has been able to play only part time due to injury, and his place is filled alternately by Emil Garofalo and Joe Judge.

As heretofore mentioned, the pitching staff has been very steady. Coach Kline has been able to call with success upon veterans Walt Mahannah, Jack Campbell, Dick Smullen and Tony Lipton as starters, while sophomore Bob Nemes has proved valuable both as a starter and in relief chores.

TRACK

After a successful indoor season, Coach Elvin R. (Doc) Handy's Notre Dame track team opened the outdoor campaign by splitting a pair of duel meets.

The Irish tracksters opened the outdoor season by losing an 85-to-66 decision to arch-rival Michigan State, this year considered one of the strongest teams in the United States. After participating in the Drake Relays, in which no team title is given, the Notre Dame team returned home to dispose of the University of Pittsburgh, 86 2/3 to 44 1/3, in its only other meet to date.

Coach Handy also has had his share of trouble with injuries. Hurdler Bill Fleming, considered one of the top collegiate hurdlers, has been hampered periodically with an ankle injury. Pole Vaulter Jim Miller probably is out for the rest of the season as a result of injuries suffered at the Drake Relays. And javelin tosser John Murphy was injured shortly after the outdoor season opened, thus putting three of Coach Handy's key men out of action.

Outstanding performers for the Irish, however, have included Bob Smith and Steve Provost in the dashes, Fleming and Bob McDavid in the hurdles, Pat Kenny and Paul Schwetschenau in the middle distances, Bill Leonard and Jim Kittell in the mile, and Jim Murphy in the two-mile. In the field events, John Helwig broke the Notre Dame outdoor record for the shot put against Pittsburgh. Miller, before his injury, had vaulted 13'9", Ray Espenan and Tom Worthington have shared the burden in the broad jump, Fleming in the high jump and Helwig in the discus.

TENNIS

Four monogram men are forming the nucleus of Coach Walter Langford's Notre Dame tennis team as the Irish won three out of their first five matches.

Juniors Gene Biittner and Bob David and Bart O'Brien and Jim Rodgers are the monogram men around whom Coach Langford has built his current court team. Conspicuous by their absence, due to graduation, are the Evert brothers, Jimmy and Jerry, who paced last year's strong team.

In addition to the aforementioned monogram winners, Coach Langford is counting on help from sophomores Jim Hennessy, Bob Hoene and Al Tonti, and seniors Ralph Witucki and Ray Keys.

The Irish opened their season with a 5 to 4 victory over Purdue, but were blanked by Northwestern, 7 to 0, in the home opener. After defeating Western Michigan, 5 to 4, and Detroit, 7 to 2, the Notre Dame netters journeyed to Michigan to drop a 7 to 2 decision to the strong Wolverine squad.

GOLF

Father George Holderith's Notre Dame golf team opened the season with two straight victories before dropping the next two matches to strong Big Ten opposition.

The Irish golfers started the season right by drubbing Washington University of St. Louis, 20 to 7, and then swept through Wisconsin, 17½ to 9½, and Purdue, 17 to 10. Indiana and Northwestern upset the apple cart, however, with respective 14½-to-12½ and 15½-to-11½ defeats of the Irish.

Five monogram winners form the nucleus of the 1949 Irish links team. Veteran George Stuhr is captain of the squad and is substantially aided by monogram men Ray Burian, Paul Hudak, Art Arquilla and Jack Quinn.

The outstanding newcomer to the team has turned out to be sophomore Tom Veech. Holdovers from last year's team, although not monogram men, include John Rolfs and Maurie White.

Football Extensions

Extensions of three football contracts for Irish grid teams have been announced recently. All three series are for two years and run through the 1950 and 1951 seasons.

The three series which have been extended include games against the University of Iowa, the University of Southern California, and Michigan State College.

Athletic Director Krause

Edward W. (Moose) Krause, head basketball coach who for the past year had served as assistant athletic director, was elevated to the post of director of athletics at Notre Dame on March 22.

Weight Star Helwig

Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., president of Notre Dame, said that the move had been contemplated for some time and was made on the recommendation of Frank Leahy, Irish football coach, who had been serving as director of athletics.

Father Cavanaugh released in part the letter of recommendation which Coach Leahy sent to the Rev. John H. Murphy, C.S.C., vice-president of Notre Dame, and to members of the faculty board in control of athletics. The letter, in part, read:

"It has been a distinct honor for me to hold down the positions of director of athletics and head coach of football during the last eight years, but it is my firm conviction that with the increase in all athletic problems, it would be prudent to have these two important positions handled by separate individuals. As we both know, Coach Krause has proven conclusively during the last year that he is thoroughly capable of representing this institution, in a most successful manner, as the director of athletics."

Father Cavanaugh, in making the announcement, said: "We at Notre Dame have always felt privileged in having the services of Frank Leahy. To us, he is the finest football coach in the country. He is a leader possessed of sterling mental and moral character. He had in addition served his alma mater exceptionally well as director of athletics. As a result of performing the duties associated with both positions, he has more often than not had to put in working days lasting 16 to 18 hours. We have now come to the realization that too much has been demanded of Frank Leahy. We are also happy that Frank has recommended Edward Krause to assume the position of director of athletics. Ed Krause has been schooled by Frank Leahy in the Notre Dame way of doing things. We know he will be an able successor to Frank as director of athletics."

Krause, a 1934 graduate, joined the Notre Dame staff as line coach in 1942. When George Keogan died in 1943, he took over as head basketball coach.

standing service to the University and to the student body."

Two men received both awards. They are Louis J. Burns, Washington, D. C., national chairman this year of the Foreign Student Relief campaign (which will bring in close to $250,000, of which $22,817.20 from Notre Dame), as well as captain of the fencing team, and Francis F. Finn, Denison, Texas, president of the Debate Club, who all through his college career has achieved top national ranking in debate, discussion and extemporaneous speaking.

Ernest J. McCullough

Other Scholastic awards went to: Frank Cronan, Waterbury, Conn., the man behind campus radio station WND in its first two years of highly successful operation; and to Ernie Huffman, Braddock, Pa., bowling impresario of the campus, who in 1947 formed the Kampus Keglers, an organization completely student in management now numbering 36 campus clubs. Huffman also organized a Notre Dame bowling team and made it a member of the Midwestern Intercollegiate Bowling Conference.

The campus organization which contributed most notably to student life in 1948-49, the Scholastic said, was the Young Christian Students, generally known as the YCS, whose units sparked many a worthwhile achievement.

Other Dome awards went to Ernest J. McCullough, Alberta, Canada, magna cum laude graduate, president of the Wranglers, member of the University Symphonette, an editor of the Juggler, captain of the track team; to John P. Walker, Elgin, Ill., editor of the Dome in 1947, president of the Commerce Forum, secretary of the Student Council; to Leo A. Barnhorst, Indianapolis, outstanding basketball player, president of the Monogram Club; to Kevin P. Harrigan, Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the Student Council and president of the Liturgy Club.

A total of 106 babies, including three sets of twins, were born during the schoolyear into the families of married Notre Dame war veterans, according to the latest available statistics, supplied by the Married Veterans Welfare Council. This unique organization, of which Rev. Alfred Mendez, c.s.c., is the moderator, came into existence last October and has since enjoyed extraordinary success.

The Council raised approximately $2,500 in the course of the year to give the stork a bit of financial aid when he needed it to finance his frequent trips. The Council has also aided vets in housing, in job-finding and by organizing a food cooperative, study clubs, bridge clubs and various social functions.

There were 507 married veterans in the Notre Dame student body during the 1948-49 year. Of these, 177 will be graduated in June and August. It is anticipated that there will be no more than 400 married vets here come next September.

Boy Leadership Program

A comprehensive indoctrination in the principles and methods of youth leadership will be presented at a Summer School of Boy Leadership to be conducted by the Boy Life Bureau of the Knights of Columbus, July 1, 2 and 3, at Notre Dame.

Advance registration or further information may be obtained by contacting Rev. John J. Burke, c.s.c., business manager of Notre Dame, or John J. Contway, M.A., '26, executive director, Knights of Columbus Boy Life Bureau, New Haven, Conn.

Statue of Christ

The largest statue of Christ in the United States, known as "Christ, Light of the World," was dedicated in April in front of the National Catholic Welfare Conference building in Washington, D. C. The statue was created by Eugene Kormendi, formerly of Hungary, now resident artist at Notre Dame. Some 60 sculptors submitted models to the Liturgical Arts Society before Mr. Kormendi was selected for the commission.

Cast in bronze, in three parts, the finished statue represented a year and a half of work on the part of Mr. Kormendi. It was presented to the NCWC as a gift by Our Sunday Visitor, weekly Catholic paper. Readers of Our Sunday Visitor had contributed $115,000 for the statue over a period of time.

Jim Costin Dies

Alumni everywhere will hear with sorrow of the sudden death of James M. Costin, 55, sports editor of the "South Bend Tribune" and sports columnist for "Our Sunday Visitor." Jim, while he never was a student on the campus, was one of the school's most devoted friends over many years. He is survived by his wife and three children.

Notre Dame Books

Live a New Life (Doubleday & Co.) by David Guy Powers, '33.

Those who remember the vital personality of Dave Powers when he was head cheerleader and the sparkplug of other campus activities will have little difficulty in attributing the sparkling quality of a full life which keys this book from his active career.

Columbia and Cambridge universities supplemented Notre Dame training, and Dave is now in the English Department of Queen's College. But his national identity stems from his popularity as a sales consultant for many large industries and advertising agencies, and a lecturer on personality and sales development. Some measure of his success is indicated by his status as instructor of the instructors of Dale Carnegie's famous Institute.

Packed with illustrations of success formulae from the world's secular leaders of the present and the past, the book is a stimulus to the qualities of material leadership. The book is clearly outlined, patterned for both absorbing and transmitting ideas. —J. E. A.

The Church Today—Growth or Decline. By Emmanuel Cardinal Suhard. Fides Publishers, 325 Lincoln Way West, South Bend 1, Ind. $1.25.

This book, now in the second edition with a revised translation, is the Pastoral Letter which has had such a tremendous impact on American Catholic thinking. It has been acclaimed in the pages of Commonweal, Integrity, America, Today, Concord, Orate Fratres and in dozens of other Catholic periodicals. Reviewers call it one of the most important documents of our age. Well over ten thousand copies are now in print.

The book has added interest for Notre Dame men because its translation from the French is the work of a Notre Dame professor of history, James A. Corbett. Too, the publisher of the book in this country, Fides Publishers, is a "Notre Dame organization," made up of Notre Dame alumni interested in the lay apostolate.

McBride, who coached at Mt. Carmel high school in Chicago before assuming his new duties, won the Byron V. Kanaley Prize for 1947 which is awarded to the senior monogram winner exemplary as a student and leader of men.

A native of Logan, O., McBride spent 122 days in a German prison camp during World War II.

Boston

The club celebrated UND Night at the Harvard Club. Chairman AL BIRMINGHAM had arranged for dinner, preceded by a pleasant social hour, in the Library Room. President JOHN V. MORAN discussed the Alumni Fund, particularly the newly-suggested "Budget Giving." The guest of honor and principal speaker was Dr. CHARLES A. HUFNAGEL, '37, who at present is an Arthur Tracey Cabot Fellow in Surgical Research at Harvard Medical School and an associate in surgery at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. His work has been so outstanding that last year the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce selected Dr. Hufnagel as one of the nation's ten outstanding young men of 1948. It was rather fitting that this leader in scientific research should speak to us on the theme for Universal Notre Dame Night "Science and Notre Dame." Following the talk President Moran awarded a scroll and gift to Dr. Hufnagel as Boston's Notre Dame Man of the Year. An interesting question and answer period followed led by TOM KINNEALLY. A banquet was held at Kingsley's Inn on UND Night with 106 persons present. It was the most successful Universal Notre Dame Night ever held in Louisville, due particularly to the efforts of PAT GREEN.

That night the following officers were elected for the coming year: JAMES CARRICO, president; OSCAR VON ALLMEN, Jr., first vice-president; JOHN BANNON, second vice-president; RAY NOLAN, secretary; and LAWRENCE WILLENBRINK, treasurer.

The Notre Dame Band held a concert in Louisville on April 11 and the club sponsored 250 orphans at the afternoon performance.

The club observed Universal Notre Dame Night with a banquet at the Beverly Shores Hotel, Beverly Shores, Ind., for club members, their wives and guests. The principal speaker was Rev. THOMAS A. LAHEY, C.S.C., assistant editor of "The Ave Maria."

Everyone enjoyed Father Tom's reminiscences of the early development of Notre Dame and the "characters" (Col. Hoynes, Brothers Bruno, Polycarp, Crispinian, et al.) who are scattered through the school's history like raisins in bread pudding.

Included among the guests were five N.D. alumni from LaPorte, who buried the hatchet of our inter-city rivalry long enough to help us celebrate the

The club will have its annual "Irish Greens Party" on July 27 at the Michigan City Country Club. General Chairman HUGH BURNS promises that the days' festivities will at least equal, and probably surpass, the top record set at last summer's similar event.

Milwaukee

The club celebrated UND Night at the Milwaukee Athletic Club. After dinner, the newly elected officers were installed by Father RACE, chaplain of the club. They are: WILLIAM MALANEY, president; MARK PFALLER, vice-president; RICHARD BALLIET, secretary; ROBERT SANFORD, treasurer.

CHARLES O'NEILL, the retiring vice-president and recipient of last year's award, then made a post-humous award to CLIFFORD BUCKLEY as the outstanding Notre Dame man of the year in the Milwaukee club. Cliff, his wife Rosemary, and their only child, Michael, were all killed in February when their automobile collided with a train. John Buckley, Cliff's father, and Mr. Dineen, Rosemary's father, were present as guests of the club, to accept the award.

Mr. O'Neill, in his presentation speech, pointed out three things: 1) Cliff was the unanimous choice of the club for this award; 2) he was chosen, not because of his untimely death, nor because he had done any one great thing exceptionally well, but because of his loyalty to the club, and because of the exceptional way in which his Notre Dame training showed forth in his everyday life; 3) an award was made to his wife Rosemary, because when a man marries, his wife becomes in a sense, a part of him.

Father HENRY BOLGER, C.S.C., head of the Physics Department at Notre Dame, was the guest speaker. He spoke on "Science at Notre Dame," stressing the importance of having good Catholic scientists.

Rev. JOSEPH D. BARRY, C.S.C., assistant director of student welfare, stressed the importance of spiritual guidance in education in a talk delivered to the 100 members and guests of the club at its observance of UND Night.

Rev. VINCENT BRENNAN, C.S.C., and JACK CANNON delivered a powerful "one-two punch" to members of the club and friends at the annual Knute Rockne Memorial Communion breakfast in Monessen, Pa., on March 27.

The former All-American guard spoke for an hour, recounting many of the humorous incidents that provided deeper insight into the life of the great ROCKNE.

Father Brennan painted an exceptionally accurate picture of Notre Dame's dependency on the Foundation and the generosity of friends in the University's plans for the future. He was especially effective in discrediting the false assumption held in many quarters that Notre Dame realizes a huge profit from its football season.

It was unquestionably the outstanding event yet staged by the Mon Valley ND group, which is gradually expanding.

—BOB WOOD

The club held its annual UND Night banquet at the Monongahela Valley Country Club, with about thirty persons in attendance.

Speaker for the Evening was Dr. A. John Goetz, University of Dayton alumnus, and prominent Catholic layman. Special guests were Father Owen J. Kirby, pastor of St. Leonard's Church, Monessen, Pa., and Father William J. Maher, club chaplain. Retiring president JIM DEVLIN, '32, was in charge of the affair and acted as toastmaster.

Club officers elected for the coming year are: GEORGE C. MARTINET, president; J. VINCENT SOISSON, vice-president; CHARLES MONTGOMERY, secretary; and ED SENDEK, treasurer.

Prof. JOHN H. SHEEHAN, head of the Economics Department, was the principal speaker at the club's UND Night observance. Football movies were shown after the dinner.

New Jersey

Almost 125 members and guests attended the UND Night observance in the Essex House in Newark. Rev. ROBERT SWEENEY, C.S.C., spoke at the celebration, as did Capt. Howard H. Caldwell, athletic director of the U. S. Naval Academy, his assistant, EDGAR "RIP" MILLER, and Head Coach George Sauer.

Capt. Caldwell said that there was no truth to the published reports that Navy was considering following Army's move of discontinuing the annual football game with Notre Dame. "We do not care to lose, but we will always meet the best, which must mean Notre Dame as far as football is concerned."

Among the other speakers were JOSEPH M. BYRNE, Jr., a member of the University's Board of Lay Trustees, and RAY GEIGER, the New Jersey State Foundation Governor.

EDWARD KIRBY was chairman of the committee in charge of arranging the celebration.

The Nominating Committee announced that the candidates for club officers, to be elected in June, are: president, TOM HOGAN and BILL SMALL; vice-president, RAY TROY and JOE PARNIEGRAU; secretary, ED NEAGLE and BILL WALDRON, Jr.; treasurer, GENE FARRELL and CLARK REYNOLDS; directors, HANK BORDA, HARRY CLEMENTS, DICK DERRICKS and FRANK GARIBALDI.

The club held its mid-winter get-together in February, which was attended by 150 members, wives, friends and children. The committee, under the chairmanship of JOHN Q. ADAMS, presented a musical program.—BILL WALDRON

New York City

The two weeks after Easter brought about a number of activities in the club, notable of which was the resumption of the annual visit of the Glee Club to New York. An excellent concert took place on April 19 and was attended by well over 1,100 people. The reception at the Biltmore following the concert was reminiscent of the Army game rallies and it was agreed by all that we will have to make it an annual event again and get our bid in early this year for a definite date the next time the Glee Club comes East.

The annual celebration of UND Night had been long planned and well handled by ED FALLON for months previous, but a general strike at Ruppert's caused a last minute cancellation and put all Ed's fine work to naught. However, about 200 alumni gathered at the Biltmore that night and combined the observance with the annual club meeting. From this meeting came the election of officers of the club for the coming year: JORDAN HARGROVE, '35, was elected president; TIERNEY O'ROURKE, '30, vice-president; AL FERRINE, Jr., '41, secretary, and JIM SPELLMAN, '41, treasurer.

UND Night was celebrated at the Franklin Hotel, Malone, N. Y., with speeches, movies, and the presentation of a scroll to an outstanding alumnus. JOSEPH BRANDY of Ogdensburg, former football star of Notre Dame, and PAUL PATTEN, football coach of St. Lawrence University, were the speakers and movies of the 1947 football season were shown.

Joe Brandy, member of the famous football team in which Notre Dame's immortal GEORGE GIPP starred, spoke of his experiences under the regimes of Jesse Harper and KNUTE ROCKNE. Paul Patten, of later vintage at Notre Dame, compared FRANK LEAHY to Rockne and he called the latter one of the greatest coaches of all time. He paid great tribute to the industry and humility of Leahy.

Rev. DONALD GALLAGHER, '24, was elected president to succeed the Hon. CORNELIUS J. CAREY, Jr. Father Gallagher, who resides in Lyon Mountain, is a former Navy chaplain, and one of the North Country's staunchest Notre Dame supporters.

Attorney CLYDE A. LEWIS, class of 1934, was singled out as the club's outstanding man of the year. He was presented with a special scroll in recognition of his high position—that of national senior vice commander—in the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Pittsburgh

On April 22 the Notre Dame Glee Club appeared at the Antonian Hall, Mount Mercy, under the joint auspices of the Notre Dame Club of Pittsburgh and The Mercy Hospital Auxiliary. This concert was arranged largely through the efforts of Dr. LEO O'DONNELL, of the Mercy Hospital Staff.

FRANK MCSORLEY and MIKE SHERIDAN worked hard in selling tickets, securing partons, and generally aiding in making this event an outstanding success.

UND Night was celebrated with a gala banquet at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. The featured speaker was Dr. L. H. BALDINGER, Dean of the College of Science, Notre Dame, who covered some plans of the University, especially concerning science.

Among the guests at the banquet were the Honorable David L. Lawrence, mayor of Pittsburgh, Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, D.D., rector of Sacred Heart Church, Pittsburgh, and Dr. Thomas Parran, dean of the newly-planned multi-million dollar School of Public Health at the University of Pittsburgh. VINCE BURKE, past president, did a well-rounded job of introducing all of the above and keeping things moving. Also prominent at the speakers' table were Dr. LEO O'DONNELL and JOHN McMAHON.

More than 75 guests and members were present for the banquet, and since the theme of the evening was on the scientific side, it was good to see so many alumni physicians present, among whom were Drs. O'TOOLE, HEGARTY, DINEEN and the McDONALD brothers. Also among those in attendance were the following: VIN SWEENEY, JOHN MCGRAW, JIM DEVLIN, Dr. JOHN MCLEAN, Judge HUGH BOYLE, and E. J. O'BRIEN.

The scroll denoting the Notre Dame man of the year was presented to Dr. LEO D. O'DONNELL, for his outstanding success as surgeon and physician, for his fine Christian qualities and loyalty to Notre Dame.

New officers for the coming year were elected following the banquet. They are: president, EUGENE COYNE; vice-president, REGIS LAVELLE; treasurer, GEORGE KINGSLEY; secretary, BOB FULTON. President Coyne plans an active year for the club and urges all to give him their support. A note of thanks was extended to the old officers for a job well done during the past year, VINCE BURKE, president; JACK MONTEVERDE, vice-president; GEORGE KINGSLEY, treasurer, and BOB CHAMBERLIN, secretary.

Members of the Pittsburgh Club who attended the Club Retreat gather in front of St. Paul's Retreat House in Pittsburgh. The retreat was held from Jan. 7 to 9.

The club had the largest turnout in its history for the UND Night observance at the Mallory Hotel. The cocktail hour before dinner was honored by radio station KGW's "Musical Cocktails" show featuring the "Victory March." Our thanks to Program Director Homer Welch, Maestro Abe Berkowitz and tenor Brad Reynolds. Also to "The Oregonian" and "The Oregon Journal" for good press coverage; to Johnny Carpenter of KOIN, Program Director Tom Swafford of KPOJ, Larry Keep of KEX, Rene Bozarth of KWJJ, all of whom helped to give N.D. the best airing short of a national hookup.

With motif by HANK PEAR, and motive power dispensed by OSCAR QUOIDBACH, the proceedings got off to a good start. Thanks go to the Arrangements Committee, headed by DORWIN PALMER. Retiring president ED SANDSTROM hurried the boys along in the necessary business. BILL SCHMITT, Foundation Governor, enlightened us on the Washington game football ticket setup.

DUKE HODLER, toastmaster, did his usual excellent job. HARRY WRIGHT, football coach at the University of Portland, and Line Coach Neil Green, spoke.

Feature speaker of the Night was Father JOSEPH S. McGRATH, C.S.C., dean of the College of Science at the University of Portland, who recounted the earlier achievements of Notre Dame in science and spoke from personal knowledge of much of the later work. Father McGrath reminded us of our good fortune in receiving the highest science from Notre Dame, a "sound philosophy of life."

The annual Rockne Memorial Communion Breakfast was held on Laetare Sunday, March 27, at the Carlton Hotel, following Mass at St. Matthew's Cathedral, at which the club chaplain, was the celebrant.

The regular weekly luncheons on Tuesdays from 12 to 1 p. m. are gaining in popularity. Feb. 28 was an especially interesting session with Father ROBERT H. SWEENEY, C.S.C., attending and renewing friendships with about 55 club members.

Western Washington

The club celebrated UND Night at a banquet in the Pompeian Room of the Washington Athletic Club, Seattle, attended by the largest group of Notre Dame alumni ever to assemble in this area.

A feature of the evening was the gathering of four "Old Timers:" WILLIAM H. TIERNEY, '01, GEORGE NYERE, '03, HARRY ABLE, '07, and Dr. CLARENCE SHANNON, '02, (Minims). Unable to attend but nevertheless, sending their written regrets were two other "Old Timers:" Judge JOHN O'PHALEN, '04, of Kent, and R. P. (BOB) BROWN, '99, of Vancouver, B. C.

The official program got underway when JOHN ENGLISH, '33, president of the club, introduced Father PHIL DUFFY, '31, club chaplain, who spoke briefly on the spiritual meaning of UND Night. Father Duffy was followed by MORRIS STARRETT, '21, of Port Townsend, chairman of the club's Board of Directors. Morrie gave an interesting history of the N.D. Club of Western Washington and introduced Old Timers present who were among the organizers of the club. These included JERRY HAGAN, '23, of Seattle, FRANK McHUGH, '11, first president, ED BROWN, '20, of Anacortes and LES FURLONG, '11, of Tacoma, one of the current directors of the club.

President English announced the new annual alumni club award of "Man of the Year" and conferred it on LEO CUMMINGS, '33, of Seattle, for his fine work during the past year as chairman of the successful football contest which netted the club approximately $1,350 to be used for entertainment of the football team and alumni who attend the ND-Washington game this fall in Seattle.

CHARLIE OSBORN, '38, of Seattle, ex-officio member of the Board and past president of the Club was introduced and outlined plans made to date for the reception of the football team and alumni at next fall's game here. Charlie is chairman of the reception and has planned a full program for the weekend. All alumni attending are urged to contact the Alumni Information Center to be established in the lobby of the Olympic Hotel, Seattle.

This is an annual event attended by many Notre Dame men in this vicinity. Secretary JERRY KANE, '38, outlined the club activities of the past year which included the following events since the last UND Night dinner in April of 1948: a Summer Informal Dance, July 6, at the Rainier Country Club, Seattle; a football movie in the Washington Athletic Club, Seattle, Oct. 27; a Bingo Party at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Seattle, Nov. 17; Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday celebrated Dec. 5 at the Immaculate Conception Church and the Gowman Hotel in Seattle; and a luncheon at the Washington Athletic Club, Seattle, April 8, honoring ED (MOOSE) KRAUSE, N.D. athletic director.

More than 75 members and guests attended the UND Night celebration of the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton groups in the Westmoreland Club of Wilkes-Barre, April 25.

The span of years covered by the alumni ran from 1903, Attorney JAMES JORDAN, down to 1948, RICHARD ZNANIECKI.

An evaluation of science was given by the guest speaker, Dr. JAY YOUNG of King's College. Likewise present from King's were Father WILLIAM SCANDLON, C.S.C., and Father DUPUIS, C.S.C.

Bits of news about a few of the members picked up along the way: the Scranton club is striving to raise a quota of $700 for the 1949 Science Foundation Fund. BOB GOLDEN, first president of the Scranton Club when it was organized in 1935, is now director of the Catholic Youth activities in the Wilkes-Barre area.

Youngstown

The greatest array of notables to ever attend a club gathering took part in the UND Night celebration at the Youngstown Country Club on April 28.

The principal speaker was the Rev. JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C., president of Notre Dame. Others who spoke were WILLIAM R. DOOLEY, assistant alumni secretary and managing editor of the ALUMNUS; Mayor Charles P. Henderson of Youngstown; and Most Rev. James A. McFadden, D.D., bishop of Youngstown.

CHARLES B. CUSHWA, Jr., chairman of the Notre Dame Foundation for the Youngstown area, and one of the most active alumni in the district, was chosen as "Notre Dame Man of the Year." President CLARENCE T. ("PETE") SHEEHAN presented the scroll to the astounded Cushwa.

At the speakers' table also were THOMAS H. BEACOM, '20, member of the Board of Lay Trustees; Common Pleas Judge John W. Ford, a trustee of Kenyon College, and Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of Youngstown College. Judge JOHN BUCKLEY, '20, chief organizer and first president of the club, was introduced.

There were 205 members and guests at the dinner. A large delegation came from Warren, Ohio, and there were others from Sharon, Pa., Sharpsville, Pa., and from Leetonia, Niles and Girard, Ohio.

Father Cavanaugh aroused a little homesickness by his description of spring at Notre Dame; then he reviewed quickly the progress the University has made in the 25 years that embrace the club's history. He also told of the new projects, planned or under way, at the University.

The main theme of Father Cavanaugh's address was the necessity for recognizing God in daily life. He said that many persons are concerned about Communism, but that he is more worried about its cause, atheism. Germany, Italy and Russia, he said, became easy prey for force and fear because the lack of morality by those in control had brought on chaos.

"Either God becomes a part of our lives," he said, "or we will subject ourselves to force and fear."

(Editor's Note: Modest Professor Fischer wouldn't say so himself in these pages, but it certainly should be known to alumni that he recently was the author of a comment-arousing article in America entitled "Last Newsboy Dies." He expressed the view that "facsimile," already in experimental use, is due to replace the present newspaper, sending newsboys, linotype operators, stereotypers, compositors and pressmen to membership in a vanishing generation. Newspapers will be transmitted directly to the readers by air wave.)

More Outstanding Men

Two additional Notre Dame graduates have been designated the outstanding young men of their cities by Junior Chambers of Commerce. They are EUGENE L. O'BRIEN, '35, South Bend, and RAYMOND MARRE, '37, Fort Smith, Ark.

At the annual testimonial dinner in Kansas City honoring the memory of KNUTE ROCKNE, Indianapolis Mayor AL FEENEY said that his teammate turned his own errors as a player into a successful coaching career. "Knute Rockne fumbled the ball three times in his first college game," said Mayor Feeney, who was a lineman himself on the 1912 and '13 teams. "He seldom fumbled after that and I believe that it was his own misuses as a player that led him to teach sound football as a coach."

Mayor Feeney was termed "above criticism" by Herb Graffis, "Chicago Sun-Times" columnist, in his April 8 column. "An unimpeachable honest man," Feeney was described as having found himself confronted with the "necessity of making a choice between not bearing down on 'the boys' or not having a political machine. . . . There was no hesitancy shown by Feeney in making his choice. He goes without a machine. . . . The old-time politicians don't like it a bit."

Justice John E. Martin

Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice JOHN E. MARTIN, '18, was appointed to the state's highest tribunal in June, 1948, after serving 10 years as the state attorney general. First elected attorney general in 1938, he was re-elected for four more successive terms. In 1946 he led the Republican ticket.

Justice Martin was appointed supreme court justice by Governor Oscar Rennebohm to fill the unexpired term of the late Justice Chester A. Fowler. He will run for reelection in 1950.

It was a natural for Justice Martin to choose the law for a profession. Member of a family long associated with Notre Dame, he is the third generation in his family to practice law, and an uncle also served on the state Supreme Court. Both his grandfather and father practiced in Green Bay, as he did before moving to Milwaukee.

A former Democrat who joined the Republican party, he became an insurgent in 1946 when the party convention failed to endorse him for reelection. Justice Martin ran despite the tactical setback and won a smashing victory. From 1932 to 1934 he was counsel for the state banking commission.

Justice Martin spent 21 months in uniform during World War I, serving with the 32nd Division as a lieutenant in Co. E, 127th Infantry.

"I could not go through there without picking up MATT TRUDELL, and curiously enough, by pure accident we came across WALTER HEMMER, '13, who is living in Phoenix and has a gift store there.

"The eight of us had dinner and we had a great time discussing Notre Dame and picking up information regarding classmates and friends.

From KID ASHE:

The saddest duty of a class secretary is that of recording the death of another classmate. Somehow we feel the class membership of 1922 is woven much closer together than is the roster of the average class. Those who attended our grand silver jubilee reunion in 1947 could not help but notice and make comment upon the real spirit of friendship and admiration each had for his fellow classmate.

Last issue we gave a farewell salute to EUGENE HEIDELMAN. Now God has called KENNETH NYHAN to further augment the 1922 group in heaven. Ken died in his home city of Toledo, March 31. His health had not been good in recent years. He was a former assistant prosecuting attorney of Lucas County, O., and also had retired from active practice of law.

At the time of his death, Ken was practically alone in the world, as far as close relatives were concerned. He was a bachelor. His parents are dead, and there are no brothers or sisters. Ken had made his home in the Commodore Perry Hotel, Toledo. Please do not forget Ken in your prayers. He was one grand fellow, and is surely going to be mourned by his many friends of 1922.

TOM EDWARDS wife and three of five children perished in a fire that razed their Kanawha City, W. Va., home in the early morning of April 25. Tom awakened at 1:30 a. m. to find the seven-room house enveloped in flames. He roused his wife, and while she went to rescue the children, Tom carried two, a six-year-old son and 15-year-old daughter to safety. He re-entered the house but found the upstairs an impenetrable mass of flames. He did not see his wife or children again, although he heard their screams. Rescue attempts by firemen were futile. The dead are his wife, Henrietta, 38, Henrietta Brannon, 13, Thomas A., Jr., 7, and Mary Whelan, 5.

Louis F. Buckley,

From LOU BUCKLEY:

JOHN ROBINSON had been called back to active duty in the Navy prior to the time of our reunion, so was unable to get away. He was stationed in Washington until Oct. 20 when he returned to civilian life. John writes as follows from The Robinson School, 18 Highland St., West Hartford, Conn.

"Having finished my assignment for the Navy, I returned to Connecticut in October and fulfilled my lifetime ambition of establishing a private day school for boys. We opened for the winter term in January. I acquired a large estate in West Hartford. The future looks very bright. The school is for boys from grade five to grade nine. I hope you have a chance to come this way soon so that you can see our place.

"After school gets under way next year, I intend to visit Notre Dame during the football season. The welcome mat will always be out for the men of our class if they come this way. The main house on the campus has twenty rooms so you can see I can take care of a good number.

"You will probably be interested in knowing that I am the father of five children—four girls and one son. I have seen JUDGE JOHN CULLINAN since my return to Connecticut. Where is BILL O'NEILL? I heard he was somewhere in New York State. I am sorry I missed my old roommate, HAROLD RUPPEL, by not getting back last June."

We appreciated hearing from you, John, and wish you success in your new work. Let me know when you have some sons of '28 men in your school. You'll probably be hearing from me when my six-year-old redhead reaches fifth grade.

I was pleased to hear that ART STENIUS is now a professor of education at Wayne University, Detroit. He returned to Detroit over a year ago after a year's leave of absence to do film production work in New York. In response to my request for news which was forwarded to him from New York, Art writes:

"Upon my return to Detroit I became connected with Wayne University on a full-time basis. Previously I had been on the staff as a special lecturer while serving as director of visual and radio education in the Detroit Public Schools. At the present time I am one of those things commonly referred to as a professor of education. I keep my hand in film production work, however, and as a result I get back to New York about once a month. Somehow I fail to bump into any members of our class. I understand that WALT LAYNE has quit his editorial work with one of the bigger publishing companies in New York to give full time to his writing. As this was his aim when he left Notre Dame in 1928, I suppose that he is one of us who can be chalked up as having succeeded in reaching his goal.

"During the past couple of years I have seen FRANCIS STROHM a few times. He is now a C.P.A. with offices in Delaware, Ohio, and doing very nicely, what with every new federal and state statute demanding more audited reports. He is now married and as of a little more than a year ago the father of a very cute youngster.

"I bump into LOU NORMAN every once in a while when I get up in the General Motors Building here in Detroit and rub elbows with the executives. On my last visit I just missed him as he left for New York to help G.M. with its big New York show.

"It was awfully nice hearing from you and I promise that if I bump into any of the other boys in our class I will either heckle them into writing you or pass on to you whatever information I pick up."

At long last I have been successful in getting a response from one of the California '28 men, thanks to BOB NICKELLS, who wrote from 4206 Franklin Ave., Los Angeles 27, Calif., where he is in the resilient flooring contracting business. Bob says:

"My old roommate, JERRY DeCLERCQ, works for the Detroit Division of Standard Brands, Inc., and lives in Royal Oaks, Mich., with his wife and their twins, Kathryn and Tommy.

"My wife, son and I, formerly Chicagoans, will soon have resided seven years in Los Angeles—practically natives now and doubtless here to stay. Our son, Lynn, is in his first year at Notre Dame High, Sherman Oaks.

"VERNON RICKARD and other members directing our Club, including ED CUNNINGHAM, member of our class, did a bang-up job this past year, as did others before them. Anyone who witnessed the Rally on the eve of the ND-USC game will forever applaud the fellows who worked so enthusiastically for its success.

"In addition to seeing Ed Cunningham at every club meeting, I also see and chat with CHARLES MURPHY, an auditor with North American Aircraft; also PAT VARRAVETO with Lockheed Aircraft.

"At our Sports Dinner, our guest of honor was Dr. JAMES A. REYNERS, Director of LOBUND, who was in L.A. for a series of lectures. I had the pleasure of chatting briefly with him and reminiscing our student days and hours we and other students spent in the DeClercq home."

Bob, I hope you will follow ART STENIUS approach and heckle any of the '28 fellows you see in California, especially Ed Cunningham, into writing.

Now let's pick up a most welcome and newsy communique by JOHN IGOE from 19386 Shoreland, Rocky River, Ohio:

"It was good of you to send me that card asking for some notes for it spurred me to a chore that I have been trying, without success, to accomplish since my return from the Reunion. I came home full of big ideas about writing letters of thanks to FATHERS GALLAGAN and WALSH for their contributions to our memorable weekend, to JOE MORRISSEY for his pictures and to WILLARD WAGNER for no other reason than to ask how many aspirins he ate and how many hours he slept in recuperating from his heroic efforts for his classmates. But all my intentions became bricks in that well known pavement to the Lower World. So thanks for the card that finally got me to the keyboard of my Corona.

"I have seen a great many of the fellows since last you heard from me and if you do not hold me to any chronological order I will try to bring you up to date on the '28ers from this vicinity. Had lunch in Columbus recently with JOHN FONTANA. John is doing a wonderful job as a lawyer in Columbus, but in so doing has lost none of the clan that made him Gallipolis' outstanding contribution to our class.

"A new resident in Columbus is JOE KINNEARY, who has deserted the hills of Cincinnati for the flats of our state capitol. Joe was appointed First Assistant to the Attorney General—an honor that he wears lightly and with merit. Fontana and I have decided that our class is about to lose its most stubborn bachelor—but Kinneary just grins and goes on living month by month at the Athletic Club.

"Do you remember ALEX DOMBEY (DOM-BROSKI) who lived in our section of Sonomore Hall and had some small ambitions in the direction of replacing Albert Spalding as America's outstanding violinist? Well, I chanced across an article in the Columbus paper telling of a huge settlement (record breaking, no less) adjudged against one of the railroads on behalf of an injured employee and the winning lawyer was our own Alex. I called him and learned that he had finished his law at Ohio State and stayed on to practice in Columbus.

"And now a word to the politicians of our Class—the doughty aspirants for the presidency of the Senior Class who schemed in smoke-filled rooms, took pools, listed friends, possibles, impossibles, perhaps even made a nine-minute novena or two that they would achieve this great office only to find themselves unelected, yeah worse—unnominated. The man behind the successful candidate has in the ensuing years proved that he was no amateur in the great game of politics—and as schoolboys dabbling in the business we were greatly overmatched against JIM SCHOCKNESSY. Jim is in Columbus, a practicing attorney—but more important, the man reputed to be the closest advisor and confidant of our great Governor Frank Lausche. And in the not distant future when and if Governor Lausche takes his "Square Deal" banner into the stage of national politics all of us would-be shapers of Senior Class history may save ourselves with "I politicked with Jim Shocknessy at Notre Dame.

"In Louisville I called our old pal JOHN BUSCHMEYER to find out why he had not put in his appearance at the Reunion. John was all set to be on the campus when he was beset by some neuralgic condition that made movement impossible. I gave him all the details and got his assurance that when we meet again he will be on hand. John has achieved a national reputation for his work as head of the Louisville City Hospital and also, I add with complete surprise, as a judge of bull dogs.

"Yesterday (March 27) the Notre Dame Club of Cleveland sponsored the Annual Rockne Memorial Communion Breakfast, and it was a highly successful function. Among the more than 250 attending were many from our class including JOHN VICTORYN who is one of our town's leading surgeons, GEORGE SMYTH, now a detective of wide repute for his work on racial problems, BILL BYRNE, whose wit is worthy of the air-waves (and it is in no way similar to the alleged wit on them now), TOM BYRNE, still associated with the Telephone Company, EDMUND McCLARNON (one of the few classmates I have been unable to identify immediately on meeting), heading the Claims Division of the Travelers, PIERCE O'CONNOR who is diligently practicing law, and PAT CANNY, whose yeoman efforts made the day a success and who is still giving his all for the Erie Railroad.

"A week or so ago I met SANDY LECHOWITZ at a Catholic Forum on parent-child relationships. He had just left a job handling industrial relations for Eaton Mfg., and was then dickering for another more suitable connection. Last night CHET RICE and his wife stopped in at the house for a short session, during which his wife and mine joined in a brief but thorough review of "What's Wrong With Husbands," while Chet and I secretly pondered on the delights of stag affairs. Chet is a manufacturer's agent and travels the state with a line of builder's supplies.

"We had the Knights of Columbus track meet here during the month and JACK LAVELLE was

[Editor's Note: After writing this letter, JOHN IGOE was critically injured in an automobile accident. He is now recovering.]

I appreciated having a letter from AUGIE GRAMS under the letterhead of A. Grams & Sons, Manufacturers of Feeds, 207 S. Front St., La-Crosse, Wis. Other than a letter from BOB KNOX and the pictures from JOE MORRISSEY, Augie says he hasn't heard from anyone since the reunion. Augie has four daughters, the oldest of whom is at St. Mary's. Are there any other '28 daughters at St. Mary's?

ED McKEOWN is well on his way to recovery from the serious auto accident which I reported last month. At the present writing, March 31, he is home and getting around in a wheel chair. Ed reports that HOWIE PHALIN has just returned from a trip to California and Mexico. Ed also tells me that GEORGE COURY now makes monthly business trips to Chicago from Florida.

EDWARD J. "JACK" McGRATH, Cleveland, has done it with a mirror. He invented a Constant-Light Ray posture analysis machine which is being used by tailors to fit customers perfectly and by Western Reserve University to study and analyze posture. The machine, through the use of a parabolic mirror and a specially developed light, throws a shadow which is not distorted. The silhouette is photographed full face and side view, thus providing tailors with a "dummy" that eliminates the need for any fittings. Jack was director of physical education and head football coach at the University of Louisville, and instructor in physical education at Western Reserve University, where he specialized in posture analysis and working out corrective exercises. He says that the machine "shouldn't work according to physics, but it does."

A book about books, How to Improve Your Personality by Reading, by Rev. Francis B. Thornton, '31, is the May selection of the Catholic Literary Foundation.

The first associate editor of The Catholic Digest, Father Thornton has achieved literary prominence as the editor of the anthology, Return to Tradition, which was published last summer.

His new book has been reviewed as being "an easy, personalized, humorous approach to the subject of reading and to the types of reading which perfect, ornament and make the personality significant. . . . With crisp enthusiasm and a swift humor, Father Thornton has written a book that analyzes completely the practical as well as spiritual reasons for reading, embracing, too, all those types of reading which ought to prove of permanent value and usefulness."

After being graduated from Notre Dame, Father Thornton attended St. Thomas Seminary at St. Paul, Minn. Following his ordination he continued his studies at Oxford and in France. On his return to the U. S. he taught at Duquesne and Manhattanville, and finally was appointed to the position he now holds, that of first associate editor of The Catholic Digest.

From HOCH:

Here we are again, gang, and still we have not been able to "draw blood" from JACK CARBINE! Could it be that his practice before the Supreme Court of Vermont keeps him too busy, or has he just forgot his editorship "daze" when copy was the food of the thing.

We have several communications to report and a surprise phone call. First of all, our apologies to GEORGE FOSS because we fear we neglected to announce his second daughter born July 24, 1948. This one is Barbara Ann. George also has another daughter, five, and a son, seven.

Then we had the following letter from JIM CORRIGAN in February. He wrote from St. Mary's College, Kans. We saw Jim once while we were at St. Louis University (1940-43) and he was assigned there. We appreciated your note, Jim, and we wish you well in your new life to begin June 14.

"I notice in the ALUMNUS that you occasionally pick up a faint signal from some remote soul of the class of '35, so hearing from me should not be a complete shock to you. While speaking of the ALUMNUS let me also remark that your fidelity in keeping our class represented in its columns has not gone unnoticed. I have always enjoyed the column and been edified by your constancy. You will be happy to know that you can depend on my vote for your re-election should anyone be so rash as to challenge your position.

"It may have leaked through to you sometime in the last ten years that I am a Jesuit and have been since 1939. What brings forth this letter principally is the fact that I am to be ordained to the priesthood on June 14 of this year and I am moved to commend myself to the prayers of my good classmates and to assure them of my remembrance of them. My first Solemn Mass will be in Milwaukee on June 19.

"To anyone at all familiar with Jesuit life the details of the last several years are quite usual. Studies in and about St. Louis absorbed about six years, then I taught for a year at St. Louis High School and for the past two and a half years have been boning Theology out here on the prairies of Kansas. During that time the ALUMNUS and your column have been almost my only contact with things Notre Dame so you can see how valuable they were to me.

"My brother JOHN, also of the Class of 1935, is working in Philadelphia for the American Stainless Kitchen Co. and occasionally meets the Notre Dame locals there.

"Recent pictures of your smiling worry-free visage peering over the edge of banquet tables here and there assure me that you are enjoying good health and life in general. Please give my regards to mutual acquaintances, particularly to DR. SCHOLZ whom I often see at your elbow.

"Thank you again for your good work. HOCH."

The middle of April brought us a letter from BEN BEYER, one of the few of our '35 crowd in social work. Ben brings us news of two of the men of whom we have heard little recently. Says Ben—

"You certainly are performing a valuable service to our class by the news that you report so faithfully to the ALUMNUS.

FRANK KOPPELBERGER is still the big boss for the Electric Auto-Lite Co. in Bay City, Mich. He is now the father of a boy as well as a girl.

"Very active in social work here in Florida is ROBERT MOSHER, executive secretary of the Community Chest in Miami and a member of our class, I believe.

"I have enjoyed following your career in social work and would appreciate hearing about your new position with the Housing Authority. One of our professors was with the Chicago Housing Authority for several years. In the April issue of "Public Welfare," I have an article proposing a system of family allowances for the United States. I would appreciate your comment. Our second child is due in August.

"What's the news from TOM PROCTOR?"

Thanks for the letter, Ben, and the news. We'll be looking for the article. The subject sounds like distributive justice.

We have had an addition to our Baltimore Club with the transfer of GENE O'BRIEN from South Bend to the east during the past few weeks. Gene, vice-president and treasurer of the O'Brien Corporation, has come to Baltimore to head up the eastern division of his company, which last year bought out the White Paint Company of this city.

Gene was voted outstanding young man of South Bend for 1948 recently, by the Junior Association of Commerce, and also was voted outstanding young man of the paint industry by the National Paint and Decorators Association.

LOU HRUBY called us the other day while he was passing through the city. Lou, who has spent ten years on the west coast for General Electric, is now back in the native city of Cleveland. He is headquartered at Nela Park, and is retail sales specialist in large lamps with the nation as his territory. Lou has four children—three girls and a boy. It was good to hear from you, Lou, and we await your visit in June.

ROY SCHOLZ, retired as president of the Notre Dame Club of Baltimore on April 25, and was presented with the University's scroll as the "Notre Dame Man of the Year" in the Baltimore Club. Your scribe succeeded Roy to the local presidency.

This is it for now—keep the letters rolling in.

Perhaps his secret of accomplishment can be found in an answer which he gave in an alumni questionnaire of 1945. The question was: "What, after attending Notre Dame and reading reports of its progress and plans, do you believe to be the University's most urgent needs?"

Mr. Breig's answer: "Redoubled devotion to the Eucharistic Christ and to Our Lady, resulting in making Notre Dame a powerhouse of words and works to combat the paganization of the nation."

JOHN PATTERSON wrote regarding the tragedy which took CLIFF BUCKLEY and his family:

"I don't think there are many in our class who didn't remember CLIFF BUCKLEY—this, despite the fact that he was a quiet fellow. He was, as I recall well, one of the best-natured members of our class, always went along on an even keel and was a fellow who thought things out before taking action. He was a faithful attendant at morning prayer, not merely to get the minimum number of morning 'checks' but because he was a devout Catholic.

"His close friends will be shocked by the tragic accident that took his life, that of his wife and his four-year-old son. But they will also be proud to read what a leading member of the Notre Dame Club of Milwaukee said of him—'Cliff was an exemplary Catholic—a real Notre Dame man. Although his death and that of his wife and child was tragic and we miss him deeply, we are comforted in knowing that his life was a success. He was always faithful in the practice of his religion and had grown spiritually throughout the years. I am certain that he was in the state of grace at the time of his untimely death.'"

From JACK WIGGINS:

The most prolific of my informants, BILL TRACY, came through with another highly interesting letter. Bill writes:

"Since my last letter to you in September of last year I have been transferred from the Washington Field Office of the FBI to my home in New York City. I still continue to meet N.D. men wherever I go.

"Prior to leaving Washington I ran into JOE CONDON, '34, in the Department of Justice Building. I understand that he is now stationed in Boston. I have been in the New York office since February and so far I have met ED MONAHAN, '44, JACK DOERMER, '40, TONY MALONEY, '43, and OLLIE HUNTER. Other N.D. men in the office are: AL TOUHY, '31, TOM MINOGUE, and BILL POWELL, '34. It was good to see Ollie Hunter and Tony Maloney again as I hadn't seen them since before the war.

"I attended the N.D.-NYU basketball game and saw HARRY WRIGHT who had just accepted the head football coaching position and athletic directorship at Portland University. FRANK CONFORTI, I was told, was at the game, but I didn't see him. JIM GODFREY is connected with an insurance firm in Chicago and his brother, MIKE GODFREY, works with his uncle, a Peoria lawyer. FRANK KUNKLE is back at Columbia University looking forward to another degree. My brother, JOE, is connected with the Great American Insurance Co. here in New York, and my other brother, Gerard, has forsaken the FBI for Prudential Life Insurance Co."

John A. Lynch,

Rev. ARTHUR DOUGLAS LE BRETON was ordained April 17 in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Springfield, Ill. He celebrated his first Solemn Mass in St. Victor's Church, Calumet City, Ill., on April 24. Rev. ROBERT L. HEINTZ, '42, was ordained the same day. Both are serving in the Springfield diocese.

From JOHN LYNCH:

There are only a few letters, and since they have to do mostly with the reunion, we'll have to skim them (the reunion may well be over by the time you read this, depending on your mail service).

Suffice it to say, reunion-wise, that JIM CUNNINGHAM is handling things in South Bend, with the cooperation of BILL DOOLEY in the Alumni Office. Jim has sent out a class letter, along with an eleven-page list of class members, and we hope contact has been made with all of you. If by any chance you didn't get the letter, and you read this, will you let us know? The class list may still be incomplete in some respects.

CHARLIE PICKHARDT, aware of some confusion among the men of '44, said that he would be on hand for the reunion, if only to make it more successful than our senior year turned out to be. "I don't know about later classes," Charlie wrote, "but '44 had its troubles; no junior pictures in the '43 'Dome,' no '44 'Dome' at all, no Senior Ball, et cetera. In fact, I was in Gullport, Miss., doing KP the night my degree was awarded."

It is good to know that Charlie has improved his position since then. He spent 30 months traveling with the Air Transport Command, then settled down with a year's teaching of English at Portsmouth Priory School in Rhode Island. Charlie is traveling again now, doing statistical work and cost estimating for the New Haven Railroad. He lives in New London, Conn., and he travels about a hundred miles a day, New London to New Haven to New London, six days a week.

Charlie has heard from TOM DUFFY, once of Sharon, Pa. Tom is now with Pontiac Motors and is located at their district office in Atlanta, Ga.

FRANK ENGLISH of New Rochelle, N. Y., is with Jerry English & Sons, Chrysler-Plymouth dealer, in that city. Frank has three children now, which seems to be a note of some importance for a man of '44.

Frank has been in touch with AL FINK of Chicago and JACK O'NEILL who is interning at St. Raphael's Hospital in New Haven. All of them are reunion-bound, of course.

TOM BREMER is practicing law in Cleveland, the Leonard S. Frost office. Tom adds that ELMER SILHA had visited there in March. Elmer is with O'Neil, Larson & McMahon, a Chicago advertising firm.

There is only one letter left now, and it from a man you are going to hear from quite regularly in the future, BILL TALBOT. This column under its present editorship is closing down now, and Bill is going to take over. Bill's first full column will be in the July-August issue, and we ask you to keep him busy with your letters. His address is 300 Main St., White Plains, N. Y., and he is already waiting to hear from you.

As for Bill's current letter to the column, he says that the Notre Dame Glee Club concert in New York on April 19 brought out the crowds. Seen about were LARRY SCHATZLEIN, TONY and Mrs. EARLEY, '45, and JERRY O'REILLY. If I read Bill's letter correctly, GEORGE BARISCILLO was on stage, singing mightily. I didn't know George was still in school, that's all.

Universal Notre Dame Night in New York brought out more of the men: CHARLIE KOEGLER, JIM SULLIVAN, "BLACK JOHN" MURPHY, LARRY HICKEY, JOE GALLAGHER, FRANK KINCANNON, '43, JACK COLEMAN, '45, as well as the above mentioned Schatzlein and Earley.

The New York Club elections passed by the men of '44, Bill says, but JERRY BROWN, already with a foothold, remained on as a member of the board of governors of the Club.

Bill also had word of JACK WOELFLE, a man we haven't had correspondence with for a long time. "He gave me his card," Bill says, "and if I remember correctly he's selling battleships or atom bombs or something. He looks awfully prosperous."

And here we draw to a quiet close, leaving the rest up to you and Mr. Talbot.

We asked JACK STEWART to carry on for '46 as class secretary. His generous response we are happy to print here:

"The proposal that I serve as secretary of the class of 1946 is accepted—with pleasure. . . . I'll surely do my part to bring together some of the fellows for reports on the Class of 1946.

"News now of some of the fellows: CHUCK CLAUSS is secretary-treasurer of the Clauss Insurance Co. in Buffalo. JACK McCOURT is a father. VINCE MELI was married in Grosse Pointe this winter. JIM LARRICK, whom I saw on my way back from Mexico City, is writing and teaching in New Mexico. RIP DeGALLON, Clauss tells me, has a Cadillac dealership in Detroit. TEX SHIPP is with a law firm in Dallas.

"JIM BURNS is tackling Broadway for 'angels' to produce his play. JACK TENGE is working in St. Louis. It's been a year since I saw BOB FINNEGAN, but at that time he was coaching in a high school outside Washington, D. C. Haven't heard from EMIL SLOVAK since I was located in Paris, France, but he was then coaching at a private school near Honolulu. I am carrying on as sales manager in this Chevrolet-Olds-Cad dealership."

CHOOSE YOUR CLASS

In response to numerous inquiries, especially from wartime students, the Alumni Office is glad to say here that:

1. Any alumnus can, as far as the Alumni Association is concerned, belong to any class he wants to belong to. Therefore,

2. If you want to be transferred from one class group to another one, merely drop a note to the Alumni Office. That's all that's necessary.

The Alumni Office ordinarily classifies a man as belonging to the year in which he received his degree (or, in the case of the non-graduate, would have normally received it). But this routine is by no means rigid and can readily be changed at the request of the individual.

Gift From Budapest

Twenty-two large volumes of rare Latin texts have been presented to the Mediaeval Institute at Notre Dame by the St. Stephen Academy of Budapest, Hungary.

The gift was made as a gesture of respect and admiration for the work of the Mediaeval Institute and at the request of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

The books, of various descriptions, deal chiefly with the relation of Hungarian history to mediaeval civilization.

Generous Remembrance

A total of $40,000 was left to Notre Dame in the will of the late William J. Corbett, Chicago.

Mr. Corbett, devoted friend of Notre Dame for many years, pioneer shoe merchant and president of the C. W. Marks Shoe Co. in Chicago, was a member of the Associate Board of Lay Trustees at Notre Dame from 1941 until his death in May, 1948. He was awarded posthumously an honorary doctorate by Notre Dame at the 1948 Commencement last June.

The will specified that the $40,000 be added to an original fund of $34,000, founded in 1934, the income of which will be used to increase the present Mediaeval Institute Library at Notre Dame.

Accounting Course

A special course in accounting, to serve the interests of parish priests and sisters engaged in school administration, will be offered in the College of Commerce at the University during the summer session from June 20 to Aug. 12.

The course will cover basic accounting principles and terminology suitable for parish and parochial school work and will consider the special problems of budgetary accounting, fund accounting, financial statements, and a study of some uniform systems of parish accounting now in use.

Everything except a cookie jar . . .

Lounges Opened in Three Freshman Halls

ALL the comforts of home—except the cookie jar—are provided in the new basement lounges which have been furnished by freshmen in Breen-Phillips, Farley and Zahm halls. Colorful rugs, couches, easy chairs and lamps, plus tables for those with written work to do, provide comfortable and attractive study spots for students living in rooms crowded by the University's rapid expansion. There are current magazines, too, and book shelves will be added later.

The furnishing of each lounge cost approximately $1,400, which was provided, initially, by the University. But this is a students' project and so, over a period of three years, the students (present and future) in the three halls will pay the first cost back to the school by means of individual pledges.

Students are not only financing the new lounges, they are also operating them. Each hall has a house committee which sets up rules. And the rules are obeyed—or else. The student, very rare, who insists on chattering during quiet hours finds himself propelled to the outer regions.

What do the the rectors concerned think of the new plan? (They are Rev. Frederick Gassensmith, c.s.c. (Breen-Phillips), Rev.

Theodore Hesburgh, c.s.c. (Farley) and Rev. Charles McCarragher, c.s.c. (Zahm).

They're enthusiastic, to a man.

"A year ago," said Father Hesburgh, "you couldn't make me believe that a thing like this could work in a freshman hall. Yet, there it is, and students run everything."

Questioned as to the clean, neat appearance of a lounge early one morning, Father McCarragher explained, "This room hasn't been touched since the students left it last night. They put everything in order, even cleaned out the ash trays, before they left."

(Mothers and prospective wives, please note.)

"The lounge was so popular during the colder months," said Father Gassensmith, "that the time which one student could spend in it had to be limited. But everybody cooperated wonderfully."
