General Romulo Will Speak at . . .

Natural Law Institute

Brigadier General Carlos P. Romulo, LL.D., '35, president of the General Assembly of the United Nations, will address the third annual Natural Law Institute to be held Dec 9 and 10 in the College of Law at Notre Dame.

General Romulo will speak on "The Natural Law and International Law" at the last session of the two-day Institute. Other speakers on the program include the Honorable Richard O'Sullivan, of London, England, former King's Counsel of Great Britain; Dr. Edward S. Corwin, retired Princeton University authority on constitutional problems; and Dr. Stephan Kuttner, noted canon law expert at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

The United Nations president, a native of Manila, P. I., was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Notre Dame at the same convocation in which the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt received an honorary degree.

General Romulo was elected this fall on the first ballot as president of the fourth General Assembly of the United Nations meeting at Lake Success, N. Y. His election on the first ballot is a tribute never before paid any United Nations president.

A former Manila newspaper editor, General Romulo received the Pulitzer prize for Distinguished Correspondence in 1941. He has authored a number of well-known books, including four since the outbreak of World War II. The latter include "I Saw the Fall of the Philippines," "Mother America," "My Brother Americans" and "See the Philippines Rise."

The establishment and history of the Natural Law Institute will be commemorated by a bronze plaque to be unveiled at this year's Institute. Separate bronze tablets will be placed beneath the plaque to record the program, speakers, topics and sponsor of each of the Institute's annual sessions since its establishment in 1947, when it was sponsored by the Notre Dame Club of New York. The plaque is being presented to the Institute by Alvin A. Gould, Cincinnati, O., businessman, who sponsored the 1948 Institute and who also is sponsoring the 1949 sessions. It will be placed in the foyer of the Law Building.

A Natural Law Library, believed to be the only one of its kind in the world, will also be founded during this year's Institute. It will be known as the Alvin A. Gould Collection.

The Gould Collection will consist of a complete and representative group of books and materials on the Natural Law doctrine, and will be accessible to scholars and students of the Natural Law. A plaque commemorating the founding of the library will be placed on the door to the section of the Notre Dame law library where the books will be housed.

A total of 106 titles of volumes on the Natural Law already have been selected for the collection by a committee composed of speakers on the 1948 Natural Law Institute program. The committee consists of Prof. Maurice Lebel, of Laval University, Quebec; Dr. Ernst Levy, of the University of Washington Law School; Dr. Gordon Hall Gerould, of Princeton University; Dr. Heinrich A. Rommen, of the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn.; and the Honorable Robert N. Wilkin, Federal District Judge, Cleveland, O.

RUNNING IN TWO SECTIONS

In effect, if not in practice, the November-December issue of the "Alumnus" is running in two sections—both "different." This is the first section, and it is made up, you will notice, of class news, mostly.

The second section, if the printer and the post office meet schedules, will greet you before Christmas. It is a special picture booklet published by the University. A copy of it is going to every alumnus, and to a lot of other people.

The "Alumnus" will of course return to its regular form with the January-February issue.

Additional Faculty Members

Through an oversight, the names of priests who joined the faculty for the present school year were omitted from the September-October ALUMNUS. These priests are:

Rev. Charles C. Miltner, C.S.C., philosophy; Rev. Robert W. Woodward, C.S.C., philosophy; Rev. Regis H. Riter, C.S.C., philosophy; Rev. Philip H. Schaerf, C.S.C., English; Rev. William J. McAuliffe, C.S.C., liturgy; Rev. Robert S. Pelton, C.S.C., religion; Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, C.S.C., religion; Rev. Paul B. Rankin, C.S.C., English; and Rev. Jerome J. Wilson, C.S.C., accounting.

Prof. Edward J. Cronin, '38, now a member of the English faculty at Notre Dame, taught for six years in the University of Minnesota, as well as for a year in St. Thomas Military Academy, St. Paul. The ALUMNUS in the September-October issue noted only the latter connection.

In a class note in the September-October issue, the ALUMNUS said that Rev. Jerome M. Boyle, C.S.C., '35, had received his doctorate in philosophy at the Sorbonne. Actually, Father Boyle received his doctorate in the Higher Institute of Philosophy in the University of Louvain, Belgium.

Fendrich Gift Received

John H. Fendrich, '84, president of H. Fendrich, Inc., Evansville, Ind., has presented a gift of $10,725 to the University to cover the cost of the Auxiliary Organic Research Laboratory in the proposed new Science Building at Notre Dame.

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., president, in making the announcement of Mr. Fendrich's gift, said that the new laboratory made possible by Mr. Fendrich's generosity will be a memorial to the late Herrmann and Mary Reitz Fendrich, parents of the Evansville business executive. Mr. Fendrich attended Notre Dame from 1880 to 1884 and was personally acquainted with the Rev. Edward F. Sorin, C.S.C., founder and first president of Notre Dame.

Another important gift is that of $25,000 from the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research to support the germ-free research being conducted at Notre Dame in the Laboratories of Bacteriology under Prof. J. A. Reyniers.

Deaths

Raymond J. Eichenlaub, '15, Columbus, O., president of the Alumni Association in 1940-41 and one of the most widely known and popular of all Notre Dame men, died of a heart attack in Columbus on Nov. 9. He had also suffered a severe heart attack two years before and at that time was confined to a Columbus hospital.

"Eich"

Recognized as one of the nation's and Notre Dame's outstanding football players of all time, "Eich" gained his greatest fame as the Notre Dame fullback in the first Notre Dame-Army game, played at West Point in 1913. There his crushing of the Army line, and the threat of it, made possible the sensational forward passing attack staged by Rockne and Dorais.

Of "Eich," Arthur Daley wrote in the "New York Times" on Nov. 16: "And what a fullback he was! He was good enough to be named on Walter Camp's second All-America team at a time when that patron saint of Yale football rarely bothered to look beyond the Big Three for candidates and practically never went digging down in the depths where Notre Dame was then located. So he must have been twice the performer he even was credited with being."

A notable weight man on the track team for three years, "Eich" won three track monograms, as well as four football monograms.

When his own playing days were over "Eich" continued in the football world, not only as an ardent Notre Dame fan, but also, until 1933, as an official in the Western Conference. His business was insurance and he operated his own insurance agency in Columbus for 30 years.

Engaged in innumerable activities, and with his own splendid family to care for, "Eich" always found time to give innumerable hours out of his days to the service to Notre Dame. Always a leading figure in his local Notre Dame club, he was its president for many years. One of the deeper joys of his life was the Ohio State-Notre Dame football series played in 1935 and 1936 and no man was happier than he when Notre Dame won both games, and particularly the ever-memorable game of 1935 in Columbus.

"Eich" is survived by his wife and five sons at 100 N. Stanwood Rd., Bexley, Columbus, O. The youngest son, Rupert (named for the late Rupert Mills, '15, "Eich's" Notre Dame roommate and close friend) is at present a sophomore at Notre Dame. The other sons are Raymond J., Thomas A., and Albert J., who also were students at Notre Dame, and Richard E.

Rev. Eugene P. Burke, C.S.C., professor of religion at Notre Dame, and a longtime friend of "Eich," was the official University representative at the funeral in Columbus.

Philip P. Paschel, of the class of 1889, San Francisco, Calif., died on March 3, 1949, after an illness of two months. Word of his death reached the University only recently.

A native of Council Bluffs, Ia., Mr. Paschel moved to San Francisco in 1900 and in 1910 became associated with the real estate firm of Baldwin and Howell, of which he became president in 1925. He was well known as one of the Bay Area's large tract developers and as an expert appraiser.

His survivors include his sister, Mrs. Hugh Gallagher, as well as a number of nephews and nieces.

Dr. William J. Johnson, of the class of 1890, a Philadelphia dentist for more than 50 years, died on Aug. 3. He was graduated from the Baltimore Medical College after attending Notre Dame. Dr. Johnson is survived by his wife.

William T. Flynn, Chicago, student at Notre Dame in the 1890's, died on Sept. 22. He is survived by a niece and four nephews. Mr. Flynn was a well-known realtor and investment broker on the northwest side of Chicago.

Thomas M. Healy, Fort Dodge, Ia., attorney and brother of Rev. Kerndt M. Healy, C.S.C., '15, died suddenly on Sept. 11, victim of a heart condition. Mr. Healy was a student at Notre Dame, in the "preps" and in the University, from 1912 until 1917. In July, 1918, at the time of World War I, he enlisted in the Army.

A lifelong resident of Fort Dodge, Mr. Healy was admitted to the bar there in 1921 and became associated with his father in the practice of law. Since his father's death in 1929, he had practiced alone.

Surviving Mr. Healy in addition to Father Healy are four sisters.

John F. Gleason, of the class of 1920, Shaker Heights, O., died of a heart attack on July 5. He is survived by his wife, two sons, his parents, two sisters and five brothers.

One of the best known insurance men in the Cleveland area, Mr. Gleason was a trustee of the Insurance Board of Cleveland and a director of many corporations. He was a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

Gyan C. Sharma, Ph.D., '27, died early in 1945, according to word recently received from the Tide Water Oil Co., Calcutta, India, where he was employed.

Linus C. Niemeyer, '29, Ottumwa, Ia., died suddenly on Aug. 25 following a heart attack in his room in the Mayer Hotel, Peoria, Ill.

Mr. Niemeyer was president of Niemeyer Bros., wholesale distributors of paper products and manufacturers of paper boxes. Surviving him are his wife, two sons and a daughter and his mother.

Carl L. Sabo, '39, Los Angeles, died there on Sept. 12 after a short illness following an appendectomy. Surviving him are his parents, two sisters and a brother.

Born in New Jersey, he resided in South Bend until three years ago, when he moved to Los Angeles.

James William Bellis, Oradell, N. J., a graduate student in the University and a resident in Vetville, died on Oct. 12 of polio.

Receiving his A.B. from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and his master's from Emory University, Emory, Ga., Mr. Bellis was working on his doctor's degree in chemistry at Notre Dame at the time of his death. Surviving him are his wife and young son, as well as his parents and two brothers.

The "Alumnus" extends sincere sympathy to Raymond J. Angsten, '29, Philip J., '33, and Edwin F., ex-34, on the death of their father; to Edwin A. Berkery, '27, on the death of his mother; to James H. Brennan, ex-20, on the death of his mother; to Robert E. Brooks, Jr., '43, on the death of his father; to Louis C. Coleran, '47, on the death of his infant son; to James C. Curran, '34, on the death of his wife; to John W. Davis, '32, and DeLancy J., '37, on the death of their father; to Rev. William P. Evans, C.S.C., '41, on the death of his father; to Rev. Arthur J. Hope, C.S.C., '20, on the death of his brother; to Earle C. Hurley, '24, and James D., '24, on the death of their mother; to Daniel C. Leary, '48, on the death of his father; to Rev. Thomas McAvoy, C.S.C., '25, and Rev. Bernard L., C.S.C., '29, on the death of their aunt; to Varnum A. Parish, '08, on the death of his daughter; to Rev. Joseph M. Rick, C.S.C., '24, on the death of his father; to Rev. Chester J. Schneider, C.S.C., '43, on the death of his mother; to Frank Walerko, ex-47, on the death of his mother; to Rev. Jerome J. Wilson, C.S.C., '32, and Francis J., '28, on the death of their mother; to Adam J. Wolf, ex-39, and Robert N., ex-44, on the death of their mother; to Henry M. Woods, ex-52, on the death of his father.

Personals

1905 — 1909

While in Europe recently, Maximilian St. George, Chicago, ran across Pierre de Lunden who was at school in 1907 and thereabouts. His address is 72 Ave. de L'Armee, Brussels, Belgium.

1910

Rev. Michael L. Moriarty, St. Catherine's Church, 3443 E. 93rd St., Cleveland, 4, O.

From Father Mike:

Anticipating a nod from some part of the country and from some member of the class of 1910 we have delayed the sending of this little gem of secretarial work until the last moment. It is designed merely to keep the 1910 class in good order even if not good perspective.

The efforts of Vice-President Buckley have impressed me most favorably. Great credit is due him but in this particular instance the various techniques have failed to produce. Just try to fancy lack of production—in these days.

This does not in any way resemble a class letter, but assuming that several 1910 men read the ALUMNUS, it is obvious that a committee of one can institute impeachment proceedings and secure—perhaps—the more or less frantic efforts of a brand new secretary.

Strange enough we recently mailed Christmas cards to the membership. What to say? No response, and it is quite unthinkable to mention names in connection with my reaction because after all is said and done we might be sued for libel or closed for business.

On second thought—presuming on the existence of the first—that Christmas card idea was not so good. The boys—men now—might have considered it visionary, impractical, ideological and, in a sense, a waste of money for the missionary cards for which we paid coin of the realm.

Bliethly hoping for credit in this new system of secretarial accounting and with best personal greetings to the head skipper and the staff,

Yours for the success of the 1950 reunion which could—indirectly—be a part of the Holy Year.

Fred L. Steers, 105 S. LaSalle St., Chicago 3, Ill.

Fred Steers has passed on to us a letter received from Ed Lister, Box 595, Blue Jay, Calif. Ed says in part: "Looking over the picture (in the 'Alumnus'), I see Father Moriarty, who was prefect when I was at Walsh Hall, also Claude Sorg. . . . So kindly remember me to them if they recall me.

"Should your footsteps ever be pointed out my way up here at Lake Arrowhead, a mile high in the skies, the latch is always off to you and anyone else we mutually are acquainted with."

Ira W. Hurley, 231 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.

Clarence Derrick is now president of the Board of Public Works of Los Angeles, Calif. His address is Room 173, City Hall.

Charles Fahy is an alternate member of the United States Delegation to the United Nations General Assembly. He was once solicitor general of the United States and also served at one time as a member of the Petroleum Administrative Board and as general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board. He was also legal advisor and director of the legal division of the Military Government in Germany.

1915

James E. Sanford
509 Cherry St., Winnetka, Ill.

From Jim Sanford:

We are starting to organize our committee for the 1915 35th reunion next June. The plan is to have groups in the Chicago and Notre Dame areas meet periodically and lay out a tentative program and submit it to the members of the class throughout the country. The committee at present consists of Al Kuhle, Norman Ranstead and L. D. Keeslar. This committee, with additional members, will meet and the class can expect more information after the plans are discussed.

Starting in this issue we will endeavor to bring class news as to the present activities of the members. Al Kuhle, Chicago regional representative of Federal Security Agency, Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance, is responsible for this operation in four states and supervises 600 people. In 1949 his regional unit will disburse $85,000,000.

Al's daughter, Kathleen, recently received her degree from St. Catherine's at St. Paul. She is now with the Armour Research Laboratories. Another daughter, Mary Ann, has just entered Clark College as a freshman. Al's home address is 117 S. Sunset Avenue, La Grange, Ill.

L. D. Keeslar retired some years ago after an active and successful career in the purchasing department of Peoples' Gas, Light and Coke Co. He has now joined an Illinois Utilities Service, where he is also carrying on successfully.

Norman Ranstead is on the engineering staff of Universal Oil Products Co. and has decided to be present next June.

Saw Bill Mooney of Indianapolis recently and we can count on him as a member of the national 1915 reunion committee. He will work with John McShane to round up our members in the Indiana region. John was the lone representative of our class at Notre Dame last June, so we are counting on him to be present for our anniversary party.

The secretary takes this opportunity to extend congratulations on behalf of the class to Louis F. Buckley, vice-president of the Alumni Association, who is in charge of class promotion. His enthusiasm and constructive suggestions helped to arouse this secretary and many others to a realization of the importance of more class notes and frequent communication with the members, particularly with a reunion in the offing.

An effort will be made to have Joseph Scott, prominent attorney of Los Angeles, talk to us at our class luncheon or some other gathering during the reunion.

As the class will remember, he delivered a stirring talk the day we received our diplomas. The theme, as I remember it, was "Swimming Against the Stream." Some of us might have learned something about this in the years since we listened to this silver-haired and silver-tongued orator. To hear him again will be an inspiration.

Be assured that between now and next June, you will hear from us frequently, and a letter will soon be in the mail, notifying the classmates as to the membership on the nation-wide committee to attain a 100 per cent attendance next June.

Mark your calendar now for reunion dates: June 9, 10 and 11, 1950.

Bill Mooney, president of Mooney-Mueller-Ward wholesale drug firm in Indianapolis, served as chairman of the finance committee in Butler University's recent drive for a new $750,000 College of Pharmacy building. Appropriate ceremonies were held on the site of the proposed building, with Bill digging the first spadeful of dirt. Bill is also a member of the Notre Dame Foundation Committee in Indianapolis.

Governor Chester Bowles of Connecticut announced that George Shuster, president of Hunter College, New York City, had accepted appointment to a six-year term as a member of the State Board of Education. George resides in Stamford, Conn.

The "News Bulletin" of the Institute of International Education carried an article in the October issue with the title "Education and Wisdom." It was another of George's many brilliant writing achievements.

Grover F. Miller, 612 Wisconsin Ave.,
Racine, Wis.

Joseph LaFortune, vice-president of the Warren Petroleum Co. in Tulsa, Okla., and a Lay Trustee of the University, has been named a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory by His Holiness Pope Pius XII.

1917

Bernard J. Voll
206 E. Tutt St., South Bend, Ind.

John Cassidy, Peoria, Ill., is a member of the board of public welfare commissioners recently appointed by Governor Stevenson of Illinois to review administration of welfare institutions and services in the state.

1918

George E. Harbert, De Kalb County
Abstract Co., Sycamore, Ill.

After many years of devoted duty to the class, John Lemmer in October asked to be relieved as class secretary. The Alumni Office reluctantly agreed to accept his resignation, expressing to him at the same time the gratitude of the University, the Alumni Association and the class for his magnificent help over wide spans of time.

George Harbert has generously taken over John's work as class secretary and George's first contribution of class news will appear in the next issue of the "Alumnus." Needless to say, you could help his cause immeasurably by tossing off a note in his direction to tell him, and your classmates, about your grandchildren and other people.

From John Lemmer:

Rev. Francis J. Boland, C.S.C., has been named president of Stonehill College in North Easton, Mass. The college, founded by the Congregation of Holy Cross last year, began its second year of operation in September and boasts of a 580-acre campus, a new science building and a growing student body. Father Boland takes over his new job with an invaluable career in education behind him.

After receiving his A.B. in 1918, he began a course of teaching and study that led to a Ph.D. at Catholic University, the vice-presidency of St. Edward's University in Austin, Texas, and a return to Notre Dame as prefect of discipline. Prior to the war, he was head of the Department of Political Science and dean of the College of Arts and Letters. In the early war years he was special advisor to the Navy on academic problems involved in the establishment of the NROTC at Notre Dame. He entered the service of his country as a navy chaplain in 1942 and his war record included participation in the initial assaults on Iwo Jima and Okinawa. He returned to Notre Dame after four years of service and resumed his duties as head of the Department of Political Science, a position which he filled until his appointment to the presidency of Stonehill this summer.

A native New Englander, Father Boland returns to home soil to assist in fulfilling a long standing dream of the Congregation—the development of a strong Catholic college, modeled on the pattern of Notre Dame, in New England.

Theodore C. Rademaker
Peru Foundry Co., Peru, Ind

Magnificently responding to the "influence" exerted upon him at the class reunion last June, and to the invitation of the Alumni Association, Ted Rademaker has taken over as secretary of the class of 1919, succeeding Clarence W. Bader, resigned, better known nationally as Chick.

While welcoming Ted to the ranks of the class secretaries the Alumni Office thanks Chick for splendid aid. Ted's first news will be in the next issue of the "Alumnus."

Leo B. Ward, 458 Spring St.,
Los Angeles 3, Calif.

Thirty-year Class Reunion the week-end following Commencement, June 9, 10, and 11, 1950.

CLASS REUNION CHAIRMAN: Edward J. Meehan, South Bend Tribune, South Bend, Ind.

SECRETARY: Leo B. Ward, 458 South Spring St., Los Angeles 13, Calif.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS: Rev. Arthur J. Hope, C.S.C., Rev. Francis P. Goodall, C.S.C., Vincent F. Fagan, Mishawaka, Ind., Michael Edward Doran, South Bend, Ind., William Francis Fox, Indianapolis, Ind., Harry A. Richwine, South Bend, Ind.

Religious, please arrange with your superiors to get out this week-end. Married men, get permission from your wives to attend. All others make such arrangements as may be required under your particular circumstances.

As plans develop you will be notified.

I spent the weekend of the Tulane game on the campus and was pleased to note that Michael Edward Doran, like Barnum and Bailey's Circus, is bigger and better than ever. Those of you who remember Mike as a tall, slim lad would never recognize him with all his estimated 240 pounds, fit and healthy looking.

I also saw Si Degree (the elder) with his son who is at least six inches taller than Si.

Bill Fox was present in the dressing room after the game, representing the "Indianapolis News." Other than his grey hair, Bill has not changed.

The St. Joe Valley Club had a smoker before the game at which was present Walter "Hick" Sweeney, the two-miler, still selling real estate and insurance and looking in condition to go two miles on short notice.

Father Frank Goodall, until recently was vice-president of Portland University, has been transferred back as pastor of Christ the King Church, just out of South Bend.

Vince Fagan was around and still appears to be the number one architect in Northern Indiana.

Father Art Hope is stationed at St. Joe Farm and, as the historian for the University, recently reissued his revised one-hundred year history of Notre Dame, now brought down to the beginning of Father John Cavanaugh's regime.

I recently saw Father Pat McGuire, now Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick McGuire, stationed at Salt Lake City and apparently thriving inasmuch as I am advised that he has the finest parish in the Salt Lake City diocese. Msgr. McGuire spends a few days in Los Angeles at rather frequent intervals.

I understand from Lyle Musmaker's brother that Lyle's latest efforts in the military service convinced him that it was time to settle down to a happy married life. He is now married and a parent. I forgot to inquire whether it was an heir or heiress to the Musmaker millions.

Bill Jones of the Alumni Board reports that the Hon. Joseph Patrick O'Hara, congressman from Minnesota, finds time away from his arduous duties representing his constituents to get in a golf game with various members of the Supreme Court, the Circuit Court of Appeal and other dignitaries in Washington.

A number of agreeable surprise visits and communications have been received in the past few months. Those of the class of 1920 will undoubtedly remember "Dog" White, now Mr. Richard M. White, o.s. 07-19, Pacific Coast manager of Frank's Manufacturing Co., well servicing and drilling units. Dog, or Dick as he is now known, advised that he has a son now attending Notre Dame. Since leaving Notre Dame he attended Tulane University and went in the oil well supply business, with offices in Houston, Texas, Tulsa, Okla., and now in Los Angeles.

I have had a number of communications from Morrie Starrett, Port Townsend, Wash., postmaster. Morrie was chairman in charge of entertainment for the weekend Notre Dame and Washington played in Seattle.

I also received a letter from Ed Dundon, practicing law in Iron Mountain, Mich.

George (Obie) O'Brien has been quite ill and had to give up theater management. He is now engaged in the stationery and printing business in Glendale, Calif., which business keeps him busy but does not have the long and confining hours of running theaters.

I also received a visit from Jim McCabe and Bill White. Jim, of course, lives in Los Angeles. Bill was visiting his son in Los Angeles. He returned to Ottawa, Ill., where he is a farmer, showing that the agricultural course at Notre Dame does produce results.

I also had visits from Conroy Scoggins of Houston, Texas, and Bill Jones, of Washington, D. C., both of whom are directors and members of the committee on revision of the constitution and by-laws of the Alumni Association.

Rev. Stanislaus Lisewski, C.S.C., was formally installed as pastor of Holy Trinity parish, Chicago, at a solemn high Mass on Nov. 6. A banquet honoring Father Lisewski was held the evening of Nov. 13.

Father Lisewski was born in Chicago and attended Holy Trinity grammar and high school there. Later he received his bachelor of arts degree from Notre Dame. After finishing college, he entered the novitiate of the Congregation of Holy Cross. After his novitiate year, he was sent to Rome, where he completed his philosophical and theological studies at Gregorian University. He returned from Rome a doctor of philosophical and theological science, and a priest.

In 1934 he went to Jagiello University, Cracow, Poland, after serving as curate at St. Casimir's church in South Bend. After his return to this country in 1936 he was professor of philosophy at the University of Notre Dame, and was president of St. Edward's University, Austin, Texas.

Father Lisewski succeeded at Holy Trinity parish the late Rev. Casimir Stuczko, C.S.C., who had been pastor there for 52 years.

Dan W. Duffy, 1101 N.B.C.
Building, Cleveland 14, Ohio

Jim Huxford was a recent recipient of a golf trophy presented him at the wind-up dinner of the Skaneateles (N. Y.) Country Club. Jim, who downed his opponent on the 18th green in the senior flight of the club's tournament this summer, is the first to receive the new award. Jim's son, Dave, is married and has a daughter and is back at Notre Dame for his law work. Dave spent three years in the Marines.

1922

Gerald Ashe, 39 Cambridge St.,
Rochester 7, N. Y.

From Kid Ashe:

God has summoned another 1922 man—John E. Mahoney of Enid, Okla., who died recently. Details of his death are not now available. At N.D., John was registered in Commerce. He was a mighty fine chap. All who knew him were much impressed with his character, his personality, and all valued his warm friendship. We of '22 extend our sympathy to a surviving brother—A. G. Mahoney, and to his sisters—the Misses Mary and Frances Mahoney.

Here is a letter from our good friend Charlie Hirschbuhl, grand mufti of the 1922 class for the Northwest territories:

"You are a very poor manager for not having arranged your duties so they would have carried you to Seattle for the Washington game on Oct. 1. You missed a grand game and a grand occasion, and I will try to put forth some of the highlights as I saw them.

"First and most important is the fact that Jerry Jones and wife Marion came to spend their vacation with us, arriving Sept. 27 from Dixon, and staying until Oct. 4. Pat (Mrs. Hirschbuhl) and I had a chance to show them a part of our country out here, went to the game in Seattle, and returned to Portland for a couple of days before they had to return home. You can well imagine how much we enjoyed their visit, which was altogether too short, but did allow time for some real visiting and fun.

"In Seattle we saw quite a few 'old-timers,' Duke Hodler, '23, Frank Lonergan, '04, Roge Kiley, '23, Bill Schmitt, '10, Hugh Lacey, '14, and John Kilkenney, '23. I had a dandy visit with Herb Jones and Bill Schmitt the night before the game, and were guests at another occasion of Hugh Lacey, and again with John O'Donnell, ex-24. We went to the Seattle alumni luncheon at the Edmond Meaney Hotel, from there in a bus to the game, and afterwards to the usual round of celebrations, etc. Others at the game were: Gene Murphy, '23, Natt MacDougall, '31, Ivan Sharp, '23, and many other Portlanders of later days.

"The weather during the visit of Jerry and Marion was near perfect, and were we glad! Right after they left conditions changed; the rains came and now Portland is back to normal. At Timberline Lodge, where we spent one night, there are now several feet of snow, although the ground was absolutely bare when we were there just two weeks ago. It was the grandest treat in the world to have the Jones' with us, and not since our reunion in '47 have I had so much news as Jerry was able to give me, regarding our former classmates, teachers, etc."

If you should happen to see a giant tackle (weight 268 pounds) playing on the Nevada football varsity team next season, chances are it will be Tommy Atkinson, son of Doctor Hank Atkinson of Green Bay, Wis. Tommy is now on the Nevada freshman squad.

Chet Grant, who is getting much favorable attention for his publication "Under the Hat"—a weekly letter on the Notre Dame football team for Notre Dame fans—paid Buck Shaw a fine compliment in his Oct. 4 issue. After mentioning an anecdote involving Buck in his playing days, Chet had this to say:

"... the same Buck Shaw who now coaches San Francisco 49ers—in his day an 185-pound gentleman and scholar and as fine a lineman as ever I've played with or watched play."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Kearns of Terre Haute upon the occasion of their 20th wedding anniversary celebrated on Oct. 9. Also, to the Al Scotts of Los Angeles for their 20th anniversary on Oct. 28.

Joanne, daughter of the Charlie Hirschbuhls of Portland, Ore., was the bride of Bradley Quinn of Portland on Sept. 3. We congratulate the newlyweds, and extend our best wishes, also, we felicitate the bride's parents—Charlie and Pat.

D. Worth Clark of Idaho, former senator, announced recently that he will be a candidate for the Senate in 1950. He previously served one term in the Senate and two terms in the House.

Aaron Huguenard was recently toastmaster at a kickoff breakfast for the South Bend Community Chest campaign.

Earl "Curly" Lambeau resigned as head coach of the Green Bay Packers whom he had directed for the past 28 years. He'll work with them as vice-president and general manager.

James Metcalfe, who is famous for his "Portraits," presented in many papers, was in South Bend Oct. 3, 4 and 5 giving lectures to the South Bend Rotary club, St. Mary's College, Notre Dame journalism classes and the Eagle's lodge.

William A. A. Castellini is a trustee for the Robert Gould Research Foundation of Cincinnati. Bill is giving a lot of his time to promoting the Natural Law Institute at Notre Dame, sponsored by Mr. Gould.

Will you particularly in your Masses and prayers remember Jack Miles, '47, son of Frank, '22, who, as this is written, is still in an iron lung in St. Joseph's Hospital, South Bend, the victim of polio? Stricken early in September, Jack has been in critical condition ever since.

Paul H. Castner, 1305 W. Arlington Ave.,
St. Paul, Minn.

Les Logan visited the campus Sept. 13. Three of his sons are all in school at Notre Dame now.

1924

Rev. Thomas A. Kelly, C.S.C.
Cavanaugh Hall, Notre Dame, Ind.

Again not much news of the class of '24, the response to appeals being meagre. First, however, the congratulations of the men of '24 go out to our classmate, R. Conroy Scoggins, on his election as a member of the Supreme Board of the Knights of Columbus for a term of three years, starting Sept. 1, 1949. Conroy, as a director of the Alumni Association, made a recent, albeit hurried, call on his Alma Mater the week of the N.D.-Tulane game, but had to rush off to Canada to a meeting of the Supreme Board of the K. of C.

Among other recent visitors to the campus was T. Cliff Noonan. Your secretary had the pleasure of a surprise meeting on the stairway of Cavanaugh Hall with Cliff and Mrs. Noonan, and the still further surprise that Cliff's son, Edward, resides in Cavanaugh. Another son, Tom, was also here; Tom is entering Maryknoll Seminary to prepare for the foreign missions. Cliff already has another son studying for the priesthood at Our Lady of the Lake Seminary, Mundelein, Ill.

John N. Stanton, Gary, now chief deputy prosecutor of Lake County, Indiana, has a son, John N., a sophomore, also resident of Cavanaugh and another son, James F., a freshman in Zahn.

John Gotuaco, now in the Philippines, has a son enrolled as a freshman at N.D. Did you see the son's picture in the ALUMNUS before this one?

News of other '24 sons here or '24 daughters at St. Mary's will be welcome. Your secretary hopes to complete the roster for the next issue. How about some help?

Bob Rink on Oct. 26 last lost his ten-year-old son, Michael, who died of head injuries sustained in a fall off his bicycle. The youngster was on his way to school for afternoon classes, when he lost control of his bicycle and fell in the path of an oncoming truck. The truck driver swerved and avoided hitting the fallen boy. Bob has the heartfelt sympathy of all his classmates in his sad bereavement.

Four days after our Commencement in 1924, Walter R. Rader, son of the founder of the Buckeye Clothing Store of Coshocton, O., lost his father; Walt took over the management of the store, which is now celebrating its fourtieth year of service to its community. The Buckeye Clothing Store has long been a great figure in the civic and athletic life of Coshocton and the congratulations of all his classmates go out to Walt on his successful management of a great enterprise.

Ben Ong's latest address is Paramount Motors Co., First Floor, 8 F Po Ai Road, Taipei, Formosa, China.

Conroy Scoggins was honored at a dinner in Houston, Texas, in recognition of his election as a supreme director of the Knights of Columbus. He is the immediate past state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, having retired from that office on June 30 after serving three terms.

Frank Kelly, of the Department of Speech at Notre Dame, spoke at the postgraduate college of the American Legion in Indianapolis in October on "Public Speaking."

In the September issue of "The Houston Chronicle Magazine" there was a picture of Buck Hennes and an article entitled "He Remembers 'Rock'." Buck was "the first official trainer" at Notre Dame and is now a professor of government in the University of Houston.

John P. Hurley, The Toledo Parlor
Furniture Co., Toledo, O.

From John Hurley:

Twenty-five years is a long time, and the boys will have a lot of territory to cover at next June's reunion. In case you missed the list in the last ALUMNUS there are ten fathers who have sons as first-year students at the University. Edward Ahlering, Herman Centlivre, James Chisholm, William Clemens, August Fipp, Irving Lammers, John Lightner, George Ludwig, William Merriman and Armando Porta.

Bill Cerney will be a grandfather by June, and Elmer Layden is the father of a varsity player.

Jim Armstrong just received word that Bernie Livergood is in a hospital with a serious heart attack. Remember Bernie and the rest of your classmates in your prayers. This brings up a point that Jim and some of the boys I've talked to this past month thought was a good start for our reunion year.

Let every member of our class pin a dollar bill to a note about himself, his family, and any other information he may have on his fellow '25ers. These dollars will go into a fund for Masses for our deceased classmates, as well as the living ones. These Masses will start in November—as the '25ers in Toledo have already started the bills rolling. If you don't have time for the note send the "green note" anyway. The Mass stipends will go to the Bengal Mission priests.

Don Miller, our class president, sent this fine letter: "I was delighted to hear from you regarding our class reunion next June. You may rest assured that I shall do everything in my power to plan a successful reunion. In my opinion we had the finest class that ever graduated. I believe that the 1925 group accomplished more and had more spirit than almost any other class.

"... I have two of our classmates, Frank Steel and Jack Kane, on my staff in the United States Attorney's Office. . . . We have six children—five daughters and the youngest, a boy, who is entered in the class of 1961.

"As you perhaps know, I worked along with Tom Clark in his juvenile delinquency program as chairman of the sports writers and broadcasters group through the country for the past four years. I was also elected national secretary of the United States Attorneys' Association and in 1948 was elected president.

"I received a call from Joe Boland and he informed me that the Four Horsemen will meet in New York on Oct. 24, and will be on the "We, the People" program on Oct. 25. Our week-end reunion for the '24 team will be at the Southern California game."

In Bill Cerney's letter accepting the chairmanship of the executive committee he said the list of thirty in South Bend was certainly larger than he realized, and if all made the reunion, it will be 25 years since he will have seen many of them.

I recalled that there were half a dozen '25ers in Toledo and that I hadn't seen some of them in quite a while, so I gave them all a call. This plan seems to be a "painless" way of getting news, and after the "dollar for Masses" drive is over, I will call on someone in the big cities to contact the boys on the 'phone.

Ben Kesting's two sons are finished at Notre Dame. Jim, his younger one, graduated in architectural engineering last June. Ben is with the Comte Construction Co. He saw Paul Hartman in Pittsburgh this summer. Paul has one son and a daughter. He is still in his father's business, the Pittsburgh Empire Oil & Gas Products.

Paul Dooley couldn't talk on the 'phone and we had a "pad and pencil conversation" the last time I saw him, a few months ago. He had a serious operation on his vocal cord but he came through the ordeal in good shape. Paul has two boys . . . Dick, eight, and John P., seven.

Ray Tillman has a married daughter, Kathleen; then Barbara, Lawrence, Sherry and baby Judy. Ray is assistant secretary of the Unitcast Corp., here in Toledo. Reunion week will be a "red letter" one for Ray. If you remember, Ray "jumped the gun" on the rest of us so he is celebrating his 25th wedding anniversary on June 8, and then comes our reunion the following day. He hopes to be in good shape for both!

T. Frank Murray is the manager of the Toledo Cartage Co. Frank's swell family ranges from Tom, 15; then Frank, Caroline, and Veronica, the youngest, is three and one-half.

Carl Schaffer is with Owen & Owen, patent attorneys. Carl's oldest, Ann, is attending Toledo University; then John, 16, and Mark, seven.

Your class "sec," John Hurley, is still in the furniture business with his brothers, and is proud of his two daughters, Moira, 15, and Patty, 13.

Don't forget to send the dollar—a check or a bill—for the Masses that will start in November, and continue (we hope) till our reunion Mass on June 10, 1950.

Wally Cyr has been appointed assistant trade sales manager for the Yale and Towne Manufacturing Co. Walt joined Yale and Towne in 1926 after he was graduated from Notre Dame. He resides at 17 Hillside Ave., Stamford, Conn.

The fall issue of the "Trailways Magazine" carried an article by Elmer Layden, entitled "Football."

At a recent meeting of the South Bend chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, A. J. Porta gave a talk on "Accounting as a Tool of Management." He is comptroller of the Studebaker Corporation, and has a son at Notre Dame.

At a recent management conference meeting of the Calvert Distillers Corp., it was discovered that three Notre Dame men were there. John Roach is Calvert's director of trade relations; Joe Friel, '29, is assistant treasurer and assistant secretary; and Walt Houghton, '26, is advertising manager. A picture of these three will appear in a later issue of the "Alumnus."

Bill Hurley writes regarding the reunion:

"Just recently I had lunch with John Snakard in New York, and he too is planning on being present. I looked up Frank Howland in Detroit about a month ago, and had a very interesting gab-fest with him. He'll be there. I saw Dr. Frank Kowalski the night before the Notre Dame-Michigan State game, and I believe he will be among the present. I ran into Jack Courtney at a Kiwanis meeting here a week ago, only to find he has been getting in town about every two weeks, and we hadn't seen each other in 25 years. He'll be there."

1926

John J. Ryan, 1415 W. Thome Ave.,
Chicago 26, Ill.

From John Ryan:

In the September-October issue of the ALUMNUS we reported that the class roster would be in your secretary's hands in time to get cards out to request some life histories. It did arrive and proved my estimate to be on the low side.

The class roster, which includes all who received degrees in 1926, plus elected members of the class, breaks down as follows: living, 298; dead, 37; missing, 26, or a total of 361. So it looks like the 25 I scheduled as contributing editors will have to be beyond the 30 (to which I changed when I got the roster) to 35 or 40 for each issue. Reason for the increase: so that we get everyone before the issue just ahead of our reunion in June, 1951. So fellows, when you get that card from me just remember I'm writing a stack of them, and come right back with your own writing.

Now for a report of progress: 30 cards went out—11 answers came back. And a telephone call from Mrs. Joe Rigali to say that Joe's letter was on the way (we'll get that in the next issue). That response (almost 40 per cent) is a pretty good start, but the other 19 fellows can disregard the deadline shown on the card and send their stories at their earliest opportunity. They will be used in the next issue.

But let's get to the stories:

Rollie Berry writes from Milwaukee on the letterhead of the Cramer-Krasselt Co. (advertising) that after a year with the late "South Bend News-Times" he moved into advertising with Studebaker, then to Chicago for five years and to Milwaukee and his present connection, where he is an account executive. To some the fall of '29 recalls "Black Friday" and the market crash but to Rollie it means the time of his marriage to Mary Watson of Mishawaka. Rollie reports their 12-year-old son, Bob, as a likely prospect for the football team of '56. His experience on a visit to the campus a year ago indicates a need for Seeing Eye dogs for returning "old" grads. Don't worry, Rollie, enough of us will need guides in '51 that the University will see the wisdom of providing them.

It looks like a little difficulty in the Dallas home of Bill Defferari ('22-'24) around Dec. 3—his 21-year-old son is a student at Southern Methodist. Bill writes that after he left N.D. he spent many years in the educational publishing field. Five years ago he went with Hiram Walker. (We should get him and Uncle John (Calvert's) Roach together—how many volunteer judges can we get?) Bill is now located in Dallas as the Walker Texas manager.

Many years ago Phil Donovan proved a friend in need when I got my signals mixed and failed to meet my gal (and still my gal) on her arrival for the Prom. So he comes through again in answer to my call. Phil writes from his country home at In-gomar, Pa. (and it's a lovely one, as I remember it) that he has returned to Recordah Corporation in Pittsburgh after four years in the Navy, most of which was in North Africa, England and on the Continent. But I'll bet he didn't serve in the "black gang," as he did on that summer cruise to the Orient.

"Bert Dunne Productions" is the letterhead carrying a very complete story of the old reporter's life. Most of you remember Bert standing up to the plate ready to take his cut at that ball. But I remember Bert for his reportorial duties. Get him to tell you the story of that Penn State trip. I still think they wouldn't have stopped the train up there in the Pennsylvania hills. Bert was at N.D. in October visiting his son, Patrick. He has four other children, two of whom should appear at N.D. in '56 and '63. Bert spent some years with Campbell-Ewald (advertising agency), then went into advertising and public relations work for three years and for the past five years has been producing motion pictures. Probably many of you have seen some of his work or read some of his books. Bert reports that he sees Ed Fallon and Jim Dwyer when he gets to New York and also sees Red Conroy in San Mateo. We'll be seeing you, Bert, in '51.

Father Isidore Fussnecker, O.S.B., who got his M.A. with us, writes from Florence, Ala., that he established Blessed Martin de Porres Church and has built a congregation for colored people in Florence. He sent a picture of his little church and another of his converts. If any of you want to help in his work, his address is 648 West College St., Florence, Ala..

Father William Green writes that he has been on the faculty of Loras College at Dubuque, Ia., since 1930.

Bernie Hurlay of Ponca, Nebr., says he hears from Gerry McGinley in Ogallala, Nebr., once in a while. He must have a pretty fair law practice for he planned to see the Southern California, Southern Methodist and one other game this fall. He'll have a son ready for N.D. in about four years. His two daughters, ages six and one, will wait a few years yet for their college education. And Bernie is another who says "will certainly plan to make the '51 reunion."

How Pete La Cava even found time to answer my card is more than I can figure. Listen to this: Member of St. Joseph Bar Association, justice of the peace in Mishawaka for 21 years, choir director, leader of family orchestra and quartette, proprietor of "Casa Maria" at Lake Wawasee, Ind., which is an outgrowth of private catering in his home; and father of four daughters and one son. He reports seeing Irving Hurwich, Art and George Farage in South Bend and Gene Brown and Alex Sievers in Elkhart.

Harold Neu reports from Des Moines that he has celebrated his 20th anniversary and that the municipal bond business—Ballard-Hassett Company—produces the groceries for his family which includes a 12-year-old daughter and a nine-year-old son. He expects to see the Southern California game. What about the reunion, Harold?

Brother Stanislaus Rusilowski, C.S.C., wrote a nice letter telling of his teaching work. For 18 years he was stationed at Holy Trinity High School in Chicago. For the past three years he has been at St. Anthony's High School in Long Beach, Calif.

Look back for a second at Pete LaCava's story. See that "justice of the peace." Here is one of his customers. Allen Travis reports that back in 1933 Pete put that "through the power invested in me by the State of Indiana I now pronounce you" stuff on him for ilfe. As this is written, Allen is preparing to take the California Bar exam. He practiced for years in South Bend, Mishawaka and East Chicago, until the Army beckoned in 1942. After his service, which included 15 months in New Guinea, he did what so many guys in the Army said they were going to do—he settled in California (at 1334 14th Street, Santa Monica). Eddie Duggan and Harold Neu, please note address. Allen said he'd like to hear from you. He will try to be on hand in '51.

The members of the class for whom we have no current address are: Norbin Arehart, J. Cullen Brown, Lester J. Clarke, Dr. Fred R. Davis, Francis M. Esch, Dwight L. Field, Harold J. Gallagher, Edward J. Gebben, Linsung Hahn, Joseph P. Harvey, John W. Keelin, Harold J. Kiley, Gerard D. Left, John B. Lenihan, William D. Minter, Rev. P. Herman Mossman, O.S.B., Leon J. Pallanck, John E. Probst, William J. Regan, Emmett T. Rohwer, Manuel V. Sanchez, Joseph W. Tatham, Gerald L. Timmins, John H. Wagner, Maurice P. Welsh.

If anybody can give us a missing address, or even any clues as to how to get it, we'll be mighty grateful. Write to me or to Bill Dooley.

Well, fellows, there it is. I hope Bill Dooley loses his blue pencils and uses it all. Sorry I couldn't just send your letters on and say "Print in." For the rest of you who couldn't make the "deadline"—forget the date and send in the dope. It will go in the next issue.

"Remember '26—Prepare for '51."

Clem Crowe, former line coach of the Buffalo Bills, was named head coach.

Dan Kelly, South Bend, who has one of the largest collections of historical newspapers in the United States, had his papers on exhibit in the public schools in South Bend and Mishawaka from Oct. 1 to Oct. 8. Dan accompanied the display to the various schools and told about items of outstanding interest.

Rudy Goeprich, South Bend, has been appointed chief engineer of the automotive brake department in the Bendix Aviation Corp. Rudy has been with Bendix since 1927 and headed the new brake development section from 1935 to 1943, when he became assistant chief engineer.

"Man Around the House," published by Prentice-Hall, New York, is Norb Engels' latest book. More about it later, after the Professor lets me read a copy. For the present, all I can say about it is that it concerns the simple business of making—yourself, that is—Chippendale chests, hurricane lamps and other such pieces of this and that—WRD.

Joseph M. Boland, Radio Station WSBT,
South Bend, Ind.

From Joe Boland:

Somewhere the sun is shining . . . and somewhere secretaries are safe . . . but, with Lou Buckley on the prowl, these sections of the ALUMNUS have to come-through with readable material or we're likely to lose our franchise. So, brethren, check-in with the Sec. whenever possible—in person; by mail; dog-team; or carrier-pigeon. I'll accept anything but collect-wires!

Don Wilkins . . . now, a colonel in the Army Air Forces . . . showed-up on the campus for the Tulane-game week-end, in charge of the AAF headquarters detail handling the ABC broadcast of the game, which was aired in the interest of AAF recruiting. Don, air-and-chair-borne, not only likes his assignment . . . but it evidently likes him, because the job he's doing is a good one.

Regis Lavelle did the right thing: while in South Bend, he called me and left word that he was in town from his native Pittsburgh . . . even though we failed to get together (my fault) his name gets in here.

Ralph R. De Leo, sales manager for (hold your hats on this one, boys!) the Anne Alt Brassiere Co., Compton, Calif., was a station-caller after the Indiana game—he was en route to New York on business. Looks fine, feels better . . . said "hello" to everyone via this space.

Frank Pendergast's father died recently in Galesburg, Ill., . . . according to Lou Buckley, who belongs in the next room but who has just come in for a visit with this item, and a few more to follow.

Lou adds that Bill Coyne is with the legal division of the Atomic Energy Commission and living in Joliet, Ill. Buck spent an evening with Bill and Dr. Ed Mayer. The Coynes have one boy.

Mike McDermott — who lives at 1895 Oakdell Drive, Menlo Park, Calif., got far enough off home-base to see the Washington-Notre Dame game in Seattle and we held-up the corner of the Olympic Hotel there for hours while we batted-out flies about '27 and adjacent years. Mike is west-coast representative for Hill-Rom Furniture . . . and, naturally, had "business" in Seattle the week-end of Oct. 1!

Mike passes on the word that Dave Hickey is living at Millbrae, Calif., working for the California Power and Light Co. and that Ray Sullivan is a native now of Manhattan Beach, one of Los Angeles' many suburbs. Pat Heney and Byrle Grose-close were somewhere in the throng at Seattle, both McDermott and Herb Jones agreed . . . because they had met, and talked: but I missed connections with both, sorry to say.

Ed De Clercq is now making his home once again in his native South Bend—after Chicago, Peoria, and war-time sojourns in the Army. Ed is planning to return to the wholesale-grocery field: his activity before the war. He's feeling swell . . . ready to roll once more, after a long siege of illness that followed his military service.

From the Alumni Office came word of the death in 1945 of Dr. Gyan Sharma, Ph.D., '27. Remember him in your prayers.

That's about "thirty" for now; but remember . . . Buckley's looking over that fence, inspecting the growth of pasture here . . . so keep that stuff coming in for proper plant production!

Art Bradley is recreation director at the Newark School, Newark, N. Y.

Elmer Marchino announced the opening of his law offices specializing in the law of taxation and related matters at 529 Circle Tower, Indianapolis 4. He lives at 125 East 51st St.

James Griffin Jay, 302 N. Alpine Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. writes the story for "Chip Grant" in the "Catholic Boy," published at Notre Dame. The Jays have three children: Bob, a Jesuit scholastic; Anne, a candidate for the Sisters of the Holy Cross, and Mike, aged 13.

Lyle Meroency is with Knouse Foods at Peach Glenn, Pa.

Vic Lemmer, '26, writes that he took care of Tom "Red" Hearden and his St. Norbert football team while they stayed at an Ironwood, Mich., hotel for several nights. They played and beat Northland College (54-0) at Ashland, Wis. Red and his players attended Mass in a body and received Holy Communion. Red had his usual top team.

1928

Louis F. Buckley,
4700 W. Adams St., Chicago 44, Ill.

From Lou Buckley:

I spent a very enjoyable evening with Father James Gallagan, C.S.C., recently in Watertown, Wis., where he is pastor of St. Bernard's Church. It was like old times getting up early to be present at his Mass: I was unable to give him any recent information on Ed McGauley. Ed, by the way, recently moved to 1058 Main St., Leicester, Mass. How about a report from you, Ed? Father Gallagan mentioned that Swede Schroeder has a son at St. Thomas College in St. Paul. The deceased members of the Class of 1928 are continuously remembered by Fr. Gallagan, and especially during the month of November.

A business trip to LaCrosse, Wis., gave me the opportunity to see Augie Grams and Joe Doyle. It seemed like only a few years ago when I saw a picture of Augie's four little daughters in "Life." When Augie informed me that one of his daughters is now in her second year of college at St. Mary's, I realized that the "Life" picture appeared some 12 years ago. I was sorry to hear that Augie's father died very recently. Augie has a feed mill in LaCrosse and a farm near the city. Although Augie is as modest as ever, I heard from a number of people in LaCrosse of the outstanding work he has done in religious, civic and Notre Dame fund and club affairs.

It was a pleasant surprise to meet Joe Doyle of Sparta, Wis., who was with us in Freshman hall, on the staff of the LaCrosse district office of the Wisconsin State Employment Service. Joe lives in Sparta and has three girls and two boys. Two of his daughters are in nurses' training. Joe inquired about Vince Carney and about the Evansville gang with whom he roomed in Freshman Hall.

I had an opportunity to talk to a number of the '28 men in Milwaukee recently. Art Slavin, who is married and with the Soil Conservation Service, mentioned that he saw Gus Jenkins recently in Milwaukee. Since Gus seems to travel more than most of us, I think he should give us a report for the next issue. Let's hear from you, Gus. Paul Brust and his brother have an architectural firm in Milwaukee. Paul has five children. I enjoyed having the opportunity of spending some time with Frank Holdampf who is doing structural engineering work in Milwaukee. Frank is married and has three children. He is quite active in K. of C. affairs and makes a number of trips throughout the country in K. of C. bowling tournaments. I was unable to reach Bill Brown, another Milwaukee '28er; however, I have seen Bill recently in Cleveland and Chicago at Catholic Economic Association meetings. Bill is in the legal department of Allis-Chalmers.

I met Jack Lavelle at the Chicago airport not long ago. He had been in this area attending some games. Jack tells me he has lost weight, which was not evident to me since I had not seen him in some time. He promised to send me some news soon. I understand from the N. Y. fellows that in addition to his C.Y.O. work in N. Y., Jack is kept busy as an after-dinner speaker and as a scout at games throughout the country.

A recent trip to New York did not allow time to see many of the fellows there. However, I did have an opportunity to see Bernie Garber and Steve Sherry. They are working together with the Corbin Co., 33 W. 60th St., N. Y. 23, in fund raising activities for Catholic organizations. Bernie mentioned that Dan Verrilli, who is in business in Morristown, N. J., stopped in to see him a short time ago. Steve Sherry, like Bernie, retains the youthful appearance of campus days. Steve was in service during the war and had taught in California prior to that time. I discussed plans for our 25-year reunion in 1953 with Bernie. I am hoping he will take over the job of promoting that reunion as he did so well in 1948.

Bill Murphy called me recently to let me know that Bill Cronin had been in Chicago to attend the funeral of his father-in-law while I was out of town. Bill Cronin previously had been at Notre Dame where his son, Vaughn, began this year as a freshman. Bill Murphy is in sales work for a chemical concern in Chicago. He is still single. Bill reports that Bill Armin is in public accounting work in Chicago.

Bill Jones and his wife and daughter stopped in Chicago on their way from California to Washington. Bill reported that my old Freshman Hall roommate, Joe Brannon, is now with Sears Roebuck Co. in Los Angeles, Calif. The address of Joe's store is 4550 W. Pico Blvd. Joe is married and has a family. He was in the Navy during the war.

I met Vince Ducey's brother in Chicago who told me that Vince is with the California State Employment Service in Sacramento, Calif. His address is 1421 - 16th St. there. Vince was in service during the war. It was good to get a report on Vince and I understand he is still single.

The other day I met Frank Meyer in the loop. Frank lives in Hammond, is married and has three daughters. I see Father Mark Fitzgerald, C.S.C., quite often, as he comes into Chicago to do research work on his Ph.D. thesis. He has completed his class work at Chicago University on his Ph.D. I met Ed Keenan at the Labor Day Mass at Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago. I understand that Joe Doran of Lafayette is now in Atlanta, Ga., with Sears Roebuck & Co.

Leo Walsh wrote from Grand Rapids, Mich., where he is a member of the law firm of Carmody, Geib, Walsh & Block. Leo married his St. Mary's girl friend of campus days, Mildred Ronan. They have three children, two boys and a girl. Leo has attended the annual Notre Dame Retreat for the past 12 years and has seen Henry Hasley and Spike McAdams at the retreats. By the way, Spike is very much in the news in Chicago these days as attorney for Preston Tucker in the case before the U. S. District Court here. Spike was a most successful campaign manager a year ago for Senator Paul Douglas.

Joe Horan reports from Fort Wayne where he is with the General Electric Co. Joe is married and has a 16-year-old son. Joe mentioned that he sees Frank McCarthy, who still looks fit enough to play on anybody's team, and Frank Metrailler, '29, who is with General Electric.

Father Andy Mulreany writes with his usual enthusiasm over his parish work at St. Mary's Church, 209 E. Tenth St., Austin, Texas. Father Andy feels like a real Texan, as he starts on his sixth year there. He visited his brother, Al, in Laurence this summer. Al is active in Notre Dame Foundation work there. Father Andy mentioned that he called Frank Creardon between trains in Chicago and that he heard from Fred Wagner of Tiffin, O. Andy reports that Brother Patrick, C.S.C., is on the staff at St. Edward's University. Keep up the good work, Father, and please continue to remember us in your prayers.

Vince Stace came through with a newsy letter from Dearborn, Mich. Vin is still with the Detroit Edison Co. as assistant purchasing agent. He spends a good share of his time placing their major construction projects. He sees Joe Simonin quite often in their construction engineering department and Art Scheberle who has rejoined that same department after being away for quite a few years. Vince was in the Air Force fighting the Battle of the Pentagon during the war years. He observed that his civil engineering gang will get a laugh to hear that his primary classification was finally listed as an "Electronics Officer." He was chief of the Guided Missiles Branch of the Research Development and Production Division of the Army Air Force.

Another Michiganan from whom I have not had a report for some time, Dr. Guy L. Loranger, wrote from 250 Rayson St., Northville, Mich. I was sorry to hear that Guy has been quite ill during recent years, which accounts for his inability to attend the 20-year reunion. He was in New Guinea and the Philippines two years serving with the Fifth Field Hospital. Guy was married in 1935 and has six children, five girls and a boy.

I assigned Joe Morrissey the job of roving '28 reporter for the football games. Joe saw the following at the Indiana game, in addition to regulars Pat Canny and John Frederick: Bob Graham, George Coury, and Bert Korzen. Joe's coverage of the Purdue game included Frank Donovan, Vince Walsh, Bob Mohlman, Francis Meyer, Pat Canny and John Wallace. Joe noted that the little man from Indianapolis, Bob Kirby, was conspicuous by his absence. How about that, Bob?

Joe's report also mentioned that he talked to Marion Heffernan recently in Louisville. Marion is at the First National Bank there and is still single.

Fred Pfortner is with the Indianapolis Power and Light Co. in Indianapolis.

Former Congressman Bob Grant has joined the public relations firm of Grant, Ploeser, Dixon and Murphy with offices at 111 West Washington St., Chicago. Bob will remain in South Bend where he is also a member of the law firm of Voor, Jackson, Grant and McMichael.

Dr. Frank Ford is a resident surgeon at Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

Jim Shocknessy, Columbus, O., was named chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission by Governor Lausche. The Commission is organized to determine the location of the estate's first super toll road.

F. X. James O'Brien is a securities specialist for the government and is located in Tokyo, Japan. His address is ESS/JAC-GHQ, SCAP-APO No. 500, San Francisco, Calif.

George Coury visited the campus on Oct. 8 and delivered lectures to two sections of Father McDonagh's labor-management class in the Department of Economics. On Nov. 5 he delivered another lecture to the finance majors in the College of Commerce.

The body of Capt. Tom Ruckelshaus, Indianapolis, Army Air Force officer who was killed in a plane crash in a mountainous area of India on a wartime flight, has been returned to Indiana. Memorial and burial services were held at the United States National Cemetery, New Albany, Ind.

The Purple Heart awarded to a Marine Corps hero, Lt. Col. Joseph P. McCaffrey, who was killed leading a Raider Battalion on Bougainville in 1943, was presented to his nine-year-old nephew and namesake, Joseph Patrick McCaffrey, son of the late Lt. Col. Hugh McCaffrey, who was also killed in the war. The ceremony was held on board the destroyer U.S.S. McCaffrey at Pier 26, Hudson River, New York City.

1929

Don J. Plunkett, Biology Department, Notre Dame, Ind.

From Don Plunkett:

Here are some letters and news bits of interest to 1929.

Rev. Theo. J. Mehling, C.S.C., president of Portland University, writes: "I have just been reappointed for a second three-year term as president. Before being made president in 1946, I was dean of studies for eight years. The following members of the class of 1929 are on the faculty at Portland University: Rev. Regis H. Riter is head of the Philosophy Department. Rev. Cornelius Hooyboer is a member of the English Department. Rev. George L. Dum is teaching philosophy and is active in the School of Music. He also has charge of a very fine cultural series of lectures and concerts. Rev. John A. Molter is head of the Department of Biology. Rev. William Coughlan is head of the Department of Mathematics. Rev. John W. Scheberle is head of the Department of English."

Doc Dougherty writes: "My wife and I dropped in on James 'Red' Curry and family at Broad Lawn Harbor, Kings Point, Long Island, early in August. Red as you know is doing nicely in the real estate business. Red sees Jim O'Connor, Bill Cronin (N. Y.), and Jerry Crowley occasionally.

"We also visited with Tom Mahaffey and family. Tom is the father of three and is in business in N. Y. and lives at Scarsdale, N. Y. He sees John H. Flanagan, attorney of Newburgh, N. Y. Tom would like to hear from John Dorgan and Ralph Zimmerman.

"Saw Joe Timlin who is in advertising and lives in Scarsdale. Lou Bestin (Louisville) is now working for Revere Copper and Brass and living in Manaroneck, N. Y. John Polisky, John Niemiec and Paul O'Brien make the Ohio Valley Notre Dame Club meetings regularly. Bill Yaeger, brother of Lou and Jack, is president of the club. Francis Wallace, alumni president, also attends these gatherings.

"I missed Charley E. McDermott at the reunion in the group of steel plant metallurgists and operators including Walt Mullfur, Bill Johnson, Clyde Atchinson and myself. I would like to know the whereabouts of Phil Tompkins and John Patrick O'Conner."

Tony Kopecky (Lawndale National Bank, Chicago) writes: "My Corby Hall bunk-mate, Irv Corcoran, even though not present at the Oliver Hotel party when we needed a piano player, is still the big noise at the Acme Furnace in Chicago. Air conditioning needs in July kept him from attending the reunion.

"Bill Dowdall invited me to see Niagara Falls on my 'second honeymoon,' so I may take him up on this in the near future. Saw Fred How at the I.A.C. here in Chicago some time ago. Fred can be reached at 4911 West Washington Blvd. I would like to hear from Bill Donelan of Colorado Springs." (Bill is with the Manufacturer's Services Co. and has a son enrolled at Notre Dame.)

Saw Larry Stauder on the campus recently. He is using some special laboratory equipment developed by Elmo Moyer, E.E. '29, who for the past year has been doing research and teaching at R.P.I. Larry has been counselor for the active Notre Dame branch of A.I.E.E. Recently Larry was elected to office in the Catholic Forum, South Bend. Francis Jones is a charter member and past governor of the Forum. He or Larry would be glad to acquaint interested readers of the ALUMNUS with this Catholic activity.

We regret to inform you of the death of Linus C. Niemeyer, '29, who died Aug. 25. He is survived by Mrs. Linus C. Niemeyer who lives at 222 S. Market St., Ottumwa, Ia. The class of 1929 extends our sincerest sympathies to Mrs. Niemeyer and had a month's mind celebrated on Linus' anniversary.

Mickey McMahon writes: "I was extremely pleased that so many of our class could attend the reunion and I only hope that even more will be able to be back five years from now. The picture I have including Walt Mullfur, Larry Moore, Bob McVety, Father Otie Winchester, Don Schettig, John Cushman, Hank Burns and Doc Dougherty, while not a photographer's dream, is one I hope can be used as a pattern for taking a duplicate of this group at our 25th reunion."

Rev. Bernard McAvoy, C.S.C., writes that he celebrated the reunion Masses for deceased members of our class during the early part of August.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Bertschi on the arrival of a son, Robert Louis, born July 29.

Twenty-five Masses have been celebrated by priests of our class for deceased members of 1929. If you wish to increase this number let me know.

MIDSEMESTER REPORTS

The Prof would like to have the following men turn in their written duties this week—the midsemester pink slips will soon be out: Pat Greene, Bill Dowdall, Roy Shulze, Art Morley, William S. O'Connor, Elmo Moyer, Ed Garrity, Rolly Schlager, Joe Fitzgerald, Tom Jordan and Frank Betting.

An ultra-modern $12,500,000 expansion program has recently been completed by the Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, Wis., under the direction of Fred Miller, president. The dedication was celebrated in the presence of state and city notables, as well as representatives from other Milwaukee breweries.

Hugh McManigal, Miami, Fla., was here over the Tulane weekend. Hugh has two daughters, both married, and is the proud grandfather of one grandchild, with another grandchild due momentarily.

Paul Bartholomew and Fred Baer, '33, took part in a panel discussion sponsored by the St. Joseph County League of Women Voters, South Bend, at its first general meeting of the season. Paul's topic was "Tools of Town Government" and Fred discussed local forms of government. Paul teaches political science at Notre Dame and Fred is city attorney in South Bend.

Murray Glasgow, president of the Glasgow Brewing Co., Inc., Norfolk, Va., recently entertained about 80 members of the crew of HMS Glasgow in the tap room of the brewery—it was "Glasgow Day" in Glasgow.

Harold E. Duke, 4030 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Louis Hasley was honored at a meet-the-author party in the Aquinas Library and Book Shop in South Bend. Her new book, "Reproachfully Yours," has just come off the presses and is the first collection of her articles to appear in book form. It is published by Sheed & Ward.

Dan Cannon reports both by letter and by word of mouth (he and the managing editor had two quick conferences in New York on Nov. 11 and 12) that plans for the 1930 reunion next June are progressing admirably. Dan expects, as this is written, to be up for the Southern Cal game on Nov. 26 and will at that time get together with Devere Plunkett, local class chairman, and the Alumni Office staff to do more planning. The heavy firing on arrangements and mailings will of course start after the first of the year.

But remember now—the dates are June 9, 10 and 11. Round up your best pals and be sure they'll be here with you for that weekend.

Walt Langford, head of the Department of Modern Languages at the University, was guest speaker at a Knights of Columbus Communion Breakfast in Connersville, Ind.

Fred Schoppman was elected president of St. Mary's alumni at the annual picnic of the organization in Fort Wayne, Ind. (Ed's note: We're not referring to St. Mary's College, Notre Dame.)

Ed Conroy, San Antonio, Texas, is executive vice-president of the Planning Board of San Antonio, Texas, and Bexar County and as director of the Bureau of Governmental Research, which is an activity supported by the Planning Board to conduct research in problems of local government.

Walter F. Philipp, 4 Pickwick Lane, Newton Square, Pa.

Rev. Thomas J. Culhane, C.S.C., pastor of St. Helen's Church, Georgetown, Texas, has been unanimously chosen a director of the newly formed Georgetown Community Welfare Association. Purpose of the association is to co-ordinate all relief organizations in the city so that there will be no duplication of charity. Father Culhane was also selected as a director of the newly formed Williamson County Tuberculosis Society.

The "Chicago Tribune" carried a picture with the caption, "Sons get football tips from famous dads." Bert Metzger and Hank Bruder, former Northwestern-backs, were giving Bert, Jr., and Hank, Jr., some valuable tips.

James K. Collins, 17 Triangle Ave., Dayton 9, O.

From Jim Collins:

Bill Waltz reports from behind the Cashier's desk of the Ohio-Merchants Trust Co. of Massillon in a manner that touched me deeply. He wrote:

"My heart went out to you and the '32ers when I read your terrific 'four-line' account of the old men in our class in the Sept.-Oct. issue of the ALUMNUS. The obituary did not show it, but I guess that old writing spirit has died. Otherwise they are all alive and kicking.

"You have probably heard that the N.D. Glee Club (of happy memory) gave a splendid performance in Canton under the auspices of the Canton Club during Holy Week last April. One of our own Massillon boys, Dick Blaumeiser, performed as soloist. The concert was well received but next time we hope to have the choice of a better date.

"My job at the bank is still taking the majority of my time what with auditing, comptrolling and purchasing. Next week I hope to renew acquaintances with several '32 fellows as I am flying to Philadelphia to the national convention of the bank auditors and comptrollers. I am also president of the Holy Name Society here and recently organized a Catholic Action committee."

Bart O'Hara brought me up to date on his activities with a fine letter. After taking his law degree at Catholic University, he returned to Denver and has been practicing law there since. He was public administrator for several years, until 1943, when he became assistant U. S. district attorney. In 1947 he resigned that to concentrate on private practice.

Bart is married and has five little red-heads, three boys—Bartley, Daniel and Thomas, and two girls—Halley and Kearin.

He writes that John Humphries is with Travelers Insurance, married and has four lovely children, one boy and three girls. Bart and John see each other almost daily. Bart further wrote,

"Tex Simmons, who still lives in Dallas, gets up to Denver during the summer. We always have a splendid visit. Tex is married and at the last session had four children. His wife is a very charming Texas girl and we always enjoy the visit.

"Phil Dunleavy was stationed here during the war and when it was over he set up a law office in Albuquerque, New Mex. He is now deputy attorney general of New Mexico with offices in Santa Fe. He is married and had two children at the last reading.

"Bill Vaughn lives in Denver now, married a Denver girl, and has four children. He has a uniform business for nurses, chefs, etc., and I see him at the N.D. club meetings regularly.

"I am going to the S.M.U. game in Dallas and will see Tex, and I hope many others, there. I have not been able to get to any of the reunions but I hope to get to the next one." Bart's home address is 2065 Fairfax St., Denver 7, Colo.

Lieut Bob Lee is the legal officer on the staff of the Chief of Naval Air Training, and is living at 210 Payne Road, Warrington, Fla. He wrote in part,

"I hit my 40th birthday last month, and it is hard to believe that all of us are getting to be old timers. Our twin daughters are 13 now and in the eighth grade.

"Things are going along pretty well for me in the Navy, and the work is very interesting. I expect to get a promotion soon which will be quite welcome. I travel around some on the job, getting to Washington, Chicago, Memphis and Corpus Christi regularly.

"I helped entertain the NROTC boys from N.D. when they were here this summer, and we also took in the N.D. Band concert when the boys were here around Easter. Outside of that, I've had very little contact with N.D. people—and, as you can imagine, I read every word in the ALUMNUS for news.

"When I last saw my brother Maury in June, he and his fine family were in good health, and things were going fine for him in the law business.

"Sorry I have not more news for you but I just found out that I am the only N.D. alumnus in northwest Florida. You might print that and maybe someone will pop up around here to prove it is not true."

Ernie Hechinger, from his office with the Central Architectural Iron Works, 4227 N. Knox Ave., Chicago, gives a fine report as follows:

"Frankly, news regarding fellows in our class is about as scarce as corn picker orders. For your information, I am purchasing agent of the above concern and also the Farm-Rite Implement Co. of Chicago, and we are in the farm implement business. Only I regret to advise that business at this writing is very, very slow.

"I recently had a phone call from Barney Bernhardt. He reports everything is fine and dandy in Sturgeon Bay, and is looking for four tickets to the Northwestern-Wisconsin game. No doubt, I'll see him over that week-end.

"I might also report that Bud Dyniewicz is going great guns with the Deep Rock Oil Co. and has recently been appointed their general advertising manager. I am also in correspondence with Benny Salvaty and Dick Roney, both of whom report business conditions very favorable, and I might also add that each has recently announced the arrival of his fourth child."

Thank you, gentlemen, for those fine letters. Maybe the idea will finally catch on and I shall hear from someone else before another issue goes to press.

Congratulations to Bill Hall—he is the first member of the class to have a son enter the University as a student, according to all the information I have.

Col. C. D. Jones has been transferred to Headquarters, Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

The Alumni Office is without the present address of several members of the class, and this information is desired. Anyone knowing the address of any of the following is asked to send it to the Alumni Office. They are, Louie Brennan, Bob Briggs, Jim Carmody, William Cronk, George Cullinan, Frank Emerick, Tom Finnegan, Larry Fischer, Bill Fitzgerald, Tom Gately, Bob Gerharz, Bill Glass (Law), Bob Hartman, Arthur Hoctel (Law), Gerry Hodges, Morris Hull, Marty Kennedy, Jim Koons, John LaDame, Bill Langenbahn, Don McManus, Frank Maas, Myles Mullen, Maurice Neville, Louis Orgera (MA), Mike Papas, Tom Rossie, John Rush, Bill Ryan, Richert Schneider, George Seelinger, Rabbi Maurice Stiskin, Doroteo Sumabat (MA), Jim Williams, Willie Willigan, and Aziz El-Araj. Mail has been returned unclaimed from each of the above.

Frank O'Malley, of the department of English in the University was one of the principal speakers at a luncheon discussion meeting of the Chicago Institute for Religious and Social Studies.

His Holiness Pope Pius XII conferred the papal honor of domestic prelate on Rt. Rev. Msgr. Loras T. Lane, according to an announcement by the Most Rev. Henry P. Rohlfman, archbishop of Dubuque, Ia. Monsignor Lane is vice-chancellor and defender of the matrimonial bond in the archdiocese.

Joseph D. A. McCabe,
Rosary College, River Forest, Ill.

From Joe McCabe:

Dear '33s: Never saw such a group of bashful guys! Look, if you're too modest to write me about yourself, send a few words about the other ND's you know. (Then they may write about you, and we can fill this column with names instead of my typewriter's aimless prose.) I do have a few names this time for a change—not all '33s, of course, but in that neighborhood. The postcard program fell down, but I met a few people and heard about a few more. Here's hoping the next column will do better.

Introit: Thought I'd put the spiritual ahead of the factual this time—more as a reminder to myself than anyone else. November is the Poor Souls' month, and if you have the same trouble I used to have in remembering whose poor soul to remember, maybe you'd like to have a simple solution to the problem: offer all your prayers and intentions to our Blessed Mother and let her do the remembering. There's no one that can do it better! If you get yawning off at all these plugs for the poor souls, and wonder why the aitch they can't take care of themselves, I've re-phrased a well-known traffic safety slogan to read like this: "Pray carefully—the soul you save may be your own." Not good, but maybe true.

HEARSAY: Here's the result of a few chance meetings and conversations: Frank (Francis X.) Fallon has moved into a nice spot—litigation chief for one of the nation's big corporations . . . General Electric, I think. Spike McAdams and Bill Kirby are getting newspaper space out here in Chicago as representatives of Preston Tucker, the no-auto magnate.

Doing a swell job, too. This is no plug for the nation's biggest former nickel-a-copy magazine, but they did have a swell profile on Marchie Schwartz—a NDer makes tradition at Stanford. Good luck, Marchie—hope you beat 'em all, except the home team, of course. Speaking of Schwartz brings to mind Nordie Hoffman—who at last reports is still in Washington, representing the CIO. Talked with Tom (Kitty) Gorman shortly after the Tulane boffo. Kitty says he never saw any team anywhere explode the way this year's club did in the first quarter against the Suthners, sah. He expressed his regrets, in which we joined, that it had to happen to Andy Pilney. But we were both consoled by the thought that it could have been worse—Andy could have been head coach!

Kitty is Chicago zone sales manager of the Chevrolet Division of General Motors . . . and is happy to be relieved of those Sunday morning blues connected with coaching jobs. Kitty has an eight-year-old daughter. Near him in Oak Park lives Martie Linskey, who is in the advertising department of Sears Roebuck Co. in Chicago. Martie and Mrs. L. have four children. (His wife is a Rosary College grad, by the way—Adv.)

Another NDer Kitty sees often is Joe Thesing, who is a district manager for Chevrolet in Kitty's zone. Norm Greeney met by chance in the Stevens Hotel not long ago, is associated with an industrial heavy equipment firm in Cleveland. Chatted with Neil Hurley—wanted to get his opinion on the new movie, "Come To The Stable," as I had heard Neil had just bought a horse. In common with a lot of other ChiAlumni, Neil's planning to attend the Iowa game.

Speaking of Chevrolet, Ben Salvaty just won one —7,000 contestants in a raffle, and they pull Ben's name! He's parking it outside his home in Alhambra, Calif. Ben is also a member in good standing in the New Baby club, as is Dick Roney. That makes four each for the Linskeys, Salvats and Ronneys. Dick is now eastern sales manager for the "Plant Production Directory," a Conover-Nast publication, and lives in Philadelphia. To wind the whole paragraph up, Ben is a West Coast representative of the Independent Pneumatic Tool Co.

Another representative of the same firm is Bill Shakespeare, who used to pass and punt as well as his namesake from Avon wrote plays. Bill recently returned from the Caribbean, and will soon head for the Middle East. Business . . . no Bowl games in either of those spots. Heard an interesting locker-room chuckle about Terry Dillon. Seems Terry went to White Sulphur Springs recently to play a few rounds with his good friend, Sam Snead. (That's not the giggle—I understand they ARE good friends.) Terry got there bags, baggage and extra tees—only to find Snead had left the day before. FORE!

Us residents of River Forest saw Fred Snite's new hus rolling away for the south recently—first time Fred has gone all the way to Florida in it. We were speaking of parents-of-four up yonder: here's a topper . . . Dr. Henry Asman, in Chicago to attend the American Surgeons' Convention, is a five-timer. Mrs. Asman gets her share of the credit for the quietest too, of course. Henry does his surgeoning in Louisville, Ky.

Jim Igoe is with Inland Lithographing Co. Jack Duffy ran a football special to the Purdue game from Long Beach, Ind. Ed Kelly is in the brokerage business in New York. Paul Host is with Wieboldt's stores in Chicago. "Goose" Gosselein is in the hotel business in Aurora, Ill. Clayt Duerr lives in Hinsdale, Ill., and is with Sears Roebuck. When you mention Ray Fox, you may safely think of the Fox Brewing Co.—and also, now the Patrick Henry Brewing Co., which I understand Fox has bought.

Mea Culpa: After all my pleading for classmates to write me, I have to publicly confess the sin of overlooking a communication in the Vital Statistics department. Last Spring I got a notification from Cmdr. Bill Hawkes announcing the birth of Susan Marie. She's of age now to snub me coldly for such neglect, but I'll make this apology, anyway—to her and her parents, Helen and Bill. Worst part of it is, her birthday's the same as that of my younger daughter, Erin—Feb. 20!

Just got a letter from Bart O'Hara of Denver. He says he's going to be in Chicago in a few weeks—so perhaps the next column will have some news about Points West. Bart is lawyering in the Symes Building in Denver, if you're as anxious as we were to hear from him.

Ray Geiger is in the novelty-calendar printing business in New Jersey; Bud Groves is with the FBI, and is it true that Ed Rhatigan is now managing a large convalescents' home in New York? Heard something like that about Ed—and that it was a good spot. Heard also that John Maguire, of some years behind us, is glad to be back in Aurora, Ill., after spending some time in Lake Geneva . . . the country life is not for him, and he found business a little off up there. Pete Trolio is an architect, and Frank Prichacek is with Universal Wine & Liquor Co. Ed Ryan is with the insurance plan division of General Motors. 'N that's all for now, folks!

One last ave before the vale . . . hope youse guys who started saying the Rosary daily during October will keep it up November, December, and always. It's like taking vitamins . . . it doesn't take long, doesn't taste bad, and there's a lot of unseen good gained by it!

Theodore Buczynski, Chicago, is a substitute teacher in the Chicago public high schools, and is preparing to take the teacher examination in Polish for the same schools. Ted received his M.A. in Polish from DePaul University and an M.A. from the University of Chicago.

Ed Sargus, Bellaire, O., is now attending law school at Notre Dame and resides in South Bend with his wife and two-year-old child. They reside at 325 Lincoln Way West.

John McNamara, director of personnel and publications for the school city in South Bend, gave the first in a series of talks before the local Catholic Forum. His subject was "The Catholic Teacher in the Public School." The talks will stress the role of Catholics in different professions. Larry Stauder, '29, secretary of the Forum has announced that "The Catholic Home and the Delinquent Child" will be discussed by a panel of Tom Tearney, '42; Al Doyle, '27; Anthony Kuharich, '35, and Dr. Sherman Egan. Aaron Huguenard, '22, will discuss "The Catholic in the Legal Profession" and Rev. Michael Mathis, C.S.C., will end the series with a summary of the obligations and opportunities of the Catholic professional man.

Edward F. Mansfield, 6575 Glenwood,
Chicago 26, Ill.

From Ed Mansfield:

"Mr. SRO of '49," Bob Cahill, knee-deep in thanks and threats this snake-pit period at the football ticket office, won't like to hear this, but it does appear that we'll have to bugle for another reunion at once. That's the only way we can bring in another stack of news notes from men of '34. Chairman Cahill, can you hear us behind that pile of mail?

Business at the mailbox has been bad since the last time page forms were locked gently around your obedient servant's prose. We are particularly anxious to hear from that part of the roster absent from the reunion and the mailbag.

Through such divers devices as the Indiana and Tulane games, a convention encounter, phone calls, a trip to Louisville, and a pair of news letters, the following words have been lined up for you this month:

The two games brought not one encounter with a man of '34. Maybe Iowa and USC will bring 'em out. Ed Stephan, '33, "Scholastic" editor of our time, was about the only first cousin of '34 to whom we gave the Father Farley salute.

A Louisville trip did allow a pleasant chat—with Carl Zimmerer, a journalism graduate actually still doing business as such on 3-to-midnight hours. Carl is a ten-year veteran at the esteemed "Courier Journal," now resplendent in a plant that must be the finest in the land. He has a transferred South Bend wife and a two-year-old son, and reports that brothers Mark and Leo of earlier classes are with Kingstons Products in Kokomo. Carl reported a minimum of activity with the fine N. D. Club of Kentucky because of his night hours, but he had good words for their good works—particularly their trips to N. D. games for Louisville orphans.

Phone calls failed to reach Bill Veeneman, former golf team member now heading the George Gould wholesale drug firm in Louisville. Bill's dad has been headlined frequently since the passing of Col. Matt Winn, Mr. Derby. Mr. Veeneman, Sr., is now chairman of the American Turf Association and its co-run Churchill Downs group, and was frequently quoted during the selection period leading to Bill Corum's new job in Derbytown.

At the first Bear-Cardinal game in Comiskey park, I almost bumped heads in the low Sox dug-out runway with Ray Morrissy of Delavan, Wis. He was looking for the Bear dressing room, and such a veteran Sorin porch playmaker would undoubtedly be loaded with x-and-o battle blueprints for guaranteed TD's.

Welcome copy came from County Kennedy, area surrounding New Hampton, Ia., was penned by William J. Kennedy, Bunk the Barrister. He warned all traveling law men that he would come a-dustin' into Dallas for the SMU round-up.

In the sports sections some few of you may read, you have no doubt seen that Jim Leonard has a "representative" team at Villanova, and that Hughie Devore is doing well against a tough lineup of St. Bonaventure foes.

A quick encounter with Jack Lacey didn't lead to any '34 news, but it did show that Jack is busy with insurance, very happy with his new family, and keeping the lichens off his colonel's wings with air reserve flying.

The American Gas Association convention at the Palmer House led to pleasant tones from a voice long unheard. Owner of the voice: Stew Osborn, ex-New Yorker now in Shreveport with the Texas-Eastern Transmission Corp. (big pipe-liners). Sorin Stew is married, has one child, and has seen Frank Nary, Judge John Logan, Jack Hagen, and Jack Quirk in the recent past. Smiling Stew looks good, likes Shreveport, likes his job. He also liked his lunch—a birthday meal. On the somber side, he felt that many of the class would be saddened to hear that his brother, Phidell, died last year.

Dr. Robert Nachtwey, now on the Mayo staff, will undoubtedly hear from Stew's brother, one-year N. D. man now doctoring at Rochester, Minn. (Bob, how about news from medics Gannon, Gabreski, Murphy, Tobin? See the reunion story for Kenney's latest).

Osborn would like to play pen pal with Paul Kane, Johnny Carr, and Bill Mackey as a starter. He's at 216 Arthur Drive, Shreveport, La.

And now the Smiling Irishman! Last month, Jim Fitzpatrick was a big help with a fine letter from Paris (Seine et Oise, that is). Now another Fitz, Hugh Fitzgerald, brighten's the secretary's mail-less gloom with good copy from 2 Rector St., New Yuk-New Yuk. He reiterated his disappointment over missing reunion trips with Bill Sheils, Jim Reville, Harry Burchell.

The ex-Wrangler and suave debate master was last at Notre Dame in a popular type of blue and gold uniform in '44. He's now back with Coudert Brothers law plant after four Navy years. From here on it's body-type by Fitz-Hugh:

"I had four full years in the Navy, from '42 to '46, and wound up in command of an LST in the Pacific. I remember meeting Dan Brick in Pearl Harbor in January, 1945. . . . John Montedonico at Iwo Jima (light commander in charge of the Moore, a destroyer escort)

"Back here I see Tom Dalton once in a while—although I'm ashamed to say not of late. You all know about his condition, I'm sure. Oh, yes, I used to see him, too, in the old days. We spent many happy hours together in Miami in 1943. I saw Bob Jaynes regularly in Miami while he was in training—but not a word since. Do you have any idea where he is? [We'd be glad to get an address for Bob; haven't had one for several years—Ed.]

"About those three children—I married a wonderful Florida girl in 1942. She and the first two waited out the latter part of the war with her folks in the land of sunshine. We have one boy, 5½, a candidate for the Wranglers if ever I saw one.

"I am all talked out. You are doing an excellent job in your column; the "Alumnus" is well worth while. (I couldn't break up a fine sentence like that—Sec.) If you know of any nice small communities that need a good lawyer, keep me in mind, will you? Crowds and commuting have lost their appeal—if they ever had any."

That is a helpful letter. See how it's done, chums?

As a reward for spelling out the words this far, here are new addresses for your Christmas cards. Use them for a letter, huh?

George J. Blaine, Butler High School, Butler, N. J. . . . Emmett V. Conkling, 8421 Lock Raven Blvd., Towson, Md. . . . Thomas C. David, 126

Hudson, Pineville, La. . . . Russell J. Leonard, 37 Clonavor Terrace, West Orange, N. J. . . . Nicholas P. Lukats, 5406½ Franklin, Los Angeles. . . . John L. Ruppel, R No. 5 Box 465-D, Enchanta Vista, San Jose, Calif. . . . C. F. Sausville, 302 Mecken St., South Orange, N. J. . . . John E. Tobin, 106 Lansing St., Madison, Wis.

Don't forget to talk about yourself in writing to the ex-Sorin night watchman, now your message center chief. Where else can you write to 340 classmates for three cents? See you 'round.

Father Bernard Shanley moved from his post in Strool, S. D., to St. Patrick's Church in Lead, S. D. St. Pat's is the second largest parish in the diocese and has just recently opened a high school.

J. Albert Smith, vice-president, trust officer and a director of the Fidelity Trust Co., was appointed a member of the Indianapolis Redevelopment Commission. Al has three children.

Clyde Lewis was on the radio "Town Meeting of the Air" on Nov. 8. The subject of his talk was "Should Communism be Outlawed in the United States?" As national commander of the VFW, Clyde was in South Bend and at Notre Dame for the Indiana game weekend. A glimpse of him was also caught at the North Carolina game in New York.

Frank Reilly, '37 class secretary, reports recent contact with Dr. Paul Sartoretto of the W. A. Cleary Co., New York City. Frank and Paul work and reside in the same buildings.

Franklyn C. Hochreiter, 1327 Pentwood
Rd., Baltimore 12, Md.

The motor is humming, the wheels are moving! Bill Ryan and Joe (Pat) Lynch were out to the campus in mid-November for a general discussion of 1935 reunion plans. They're the boys, you'll recall, who are going to carry the local burden for you.

Bill and Joe went back to town pledged to get the reunion program all lined up, as to planning, that is, by the first of the year. Then, they'll start feeding you mailing pieces in early January. One of the first of these pieces will be a roster of the class, with current addresses, for everybody.

Hochreiter got sunk in a sea of gold braid at the time of the Navy game in Baltimore—he's president of the Baltimore N.D. Club, you'll remember—and hasn't been heard from since. But we guarantee that he'll be dredged back into action for the next issue of the "Alumnus." Meanwhile, carry on, especially by way of urging your special pals in the class to meet you at Notre Dame on June 9, 10 and 11, 1950.

Father Vincent Thilman, C.S.C., pastor of St. Augustine's parish, South Bend, was elected president of the Clergy Conference of the Midwest on Negro Welfare at the recent semi-annual meeting held at St. Edward's parish, Cleveland, O.

John T. LaForge, Jr., has just finished as president of the National Renderers' Association. He has been in the rendering business for 20 years, associated with his father in the John T. LaForge Co., Freeport, Ill. He is also a director of the National Hide Association and has been president and director from the fifth regional area of that association for the past several years.

Joseph F. Mansfield, 349 Weaver St.,
R.F.D. 4, Greenwich, Conn.

Joe Schmidt is associated with the Greshoff Advertising Agency, Inc., 406 East 149th St., New York 55.

Jack Joyce, formerly of Chicago, now resides at 6754 Richard Ave., North College Hill, Cincinnati 31, O.

Joe McGrath is teaching in the University of Washington in Seattle while working for his doctorate.

Pete Nemeth has resigned as supervisor of the vocational rehabilitation area of the state department of education and has opened offices for the practice of law at 201 Tower Building, South Bend. He has two children.

Henry Pojman is personnel director for the Thor Corporation (electrical appliances), Chicago.

1937

Frank J. Reilly, 1651 Metropolitan Ave., New York City 62, N. Y.

From Frank J. Reilly:

Although mail has been non-existent of late—apparently the three cent stamp went out with gas rationing coupons—I have been lucky in seeing a few of the members of the class. They also passed on word of some of the others. Jack Gillespie of Westfield, N. J., for instance, has been by a few times. He brought tidings of himself and others of our classmates. Jack has just been appointed secretary of the United States Cuban Sugar Council, and is associated with Ivey Lee & T. J. Ross, New York publicity counsel. Jack had previously been with Merck & Co., Rahway, N. J., where he worked in the publicity department. Jack, as was mentioned earlier, lives with his wife and two daughters in their new home in Westfield, N. J.

Paul Biagione was recently spotted on one of this city's streets recently. Paul having been transferred from the Chicago office of Dancer, Fitzgerald, Sample to the New York headquarters of the firm. Paul thought the assignment was temporary but now finds he will be here permanently. He is reported to have bought a home in nearby Englewood, N. J. Paul is continuing his work as a copywriter—on one of the soap accounts, I believe.

Our Mr. Gillespie is also the source of some information on Paul Foley, another copywriter, or is it account executive by now? At any rate, the story has it that Paul, who is with MacManus, John and Adams, Detroit, is writing the copy for Cadillac advertising, which is a most likely place for a former "Scholastic" editor to wind up.

Another recent visitor was Jack Walsh, who makes his home in this hamlet. John Judge, who has been with the Better Business Bureau of New York since 1945, is living in Peter Cooper Village, New York, the abode of Vince Hartnett, among others. Jack is married and has a five-month-old daughter. He reports seeing Bill Foley, who commutes between his New York apartment and Washington job as counsel for the Small Business Committee of the House of Representatives. Another Washingtonian from the class of 1937 is Joe Loftus. According to Jack Walsh, Joe is teaching at Catholic University, where he received his Ph.D. Jack told me of attending Mass one morning at his parish church, the other two people present in the church being Vince Hartnett and Mark Lonergan, who works in the neighborhood.

Frank Carroll of printing ink fame recently was in South America on a business trip. He was to visit the cities of Cali and Bogota in Colombia, Lima, Peru, and Quito, Ecuador. The visit, I understand, was to last about a month. I haven't had a chance to speak to Pinky lately, but I presume he is still living in Hasbrouck Heights, N. J. I believe earlier in the year he visited Mrs. Carroll's home in Salina, Kans.

Father Joe English, about whose elevation to the Maryknoll House in New York, you read in the last issue, called the other day. He seems to be doing very well, the promotion being taken in Joe's calm, modest style.

Another of our classmates in the clergy, Father Cronan F. Kelly, O.F.M., whom you all remember as Bob Kelly of Pittsburgh, returned from his assignment in Rome earlier in the summer. We had a nice visit with him. He returned to Europe in mid-September, following an illness which had him confined to the hospital for about 10 days.

On my way home the other night I ran into Ed Hoyt, whom I see too little of, even though he is a neighbor. Ed and family: one boy, one girl, are moving to Fairlawn, N. J., fairly soon. He told me he was completing his thesis for his master's degree in business administration. Ed has been plugging away at night school pretty regularly since his return from service. His present work is with the export department of Vick Chemical Co.

Vince Hartnett continues to do his free lance writing, I hear and see. He's also added lecturing to his list of things to do, recently speaking in St. Louis, and scheduled to discuss "Reds in Radio" before one of the local councils of the Knights of Columbus. As I mentioned earlier Jack Walsh has put me hept to Vince's activities, since Jack and Vince are neighbors and see each other rather frequently.

Justin McCann is still in the trade publishing field, devoting most of his attention to the interests of "Home Furnishings Merchandising." I spoke with him on the telephone not too long ago. That lunch date we hope to have is still to materialize.

On a golf outing during September I ran into Bill Huisking, brother of Ed and the late Frank of our class. Ed's whereabouts are somewhat of a mystery to me, although occasionally I bump into him at drug, chemical or toilet goods affairs.

Members of the class for whom changes of address have been recorded recently include: Rev. William C. Kunsch, who switched from Chicago to Loras College, Dubuque, Ia.; Dr. Paul F. Mueller from 214 E. 45th St. to 4329 Park Ave., Indianapolis; Nicholas P. Romanko from Perth Amboy to 6 Rutgers St., New Brunswick, N. J.; and Cyril Stroker from Baltimore to Box 775, Salisbury, Md. Cy, incidentally, still continues with Waterman Steamship Co., New York, and is doing very well the grape vine has it. Dr. Paul Mueller, mentioned above, made a quiet departure from this city; the last I heard he was at New York Hospital. Maybe he will write and give us a full account of his present setup.

Jack Hurley called on me one day during the summer when I was on vacation or out of the office at some affair, which is the last word I've had on the boy. He's still with G.E. in Schenectady.

Herb Kenyon is representative for the Associated Hospital Service of New York with his office at 20 East First St., Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Herb lives at 26 Tappan Landing Road, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Charles M. Callahan, Sports Publicity Department, Notre Dame, Ind.

With this issue, Charlie Callahan, publicist extraordinary and super traveler, takes over as secretary for the Class of 1938 replacing Hal Williams, who is in Germany for the "Baltimore Sun." Taking a few minutes from his strenuous job of keeping the 1949 football team undefeated (up to now), Charlie says:

Three hours hence, according to the eminent William Dooley, managing editor of this sheet, will be the deadline for all material to go into this issue. Therefore, dear classmates, you can see that I'm no more ahead of myself than I was almost 15 years ago when I used to be 10 minutes late to morning classes and five minutes tardy to afternoon gatherings.

For this particular issue, I am merely going to write at random with the hope of getting enough copy to beat the deadline. By the time I have to write some jottings for the next issue, the 12-15 hour a day routine demanded of one trying to handle the chores of publicizing the Notre Dame football team will be over . . . and perhaps I can produce a creditable column. I say "perhaps." The rest is up to you fellows. If you have some news, of yourself and others of the '38 brigade, send it to me at the Sports Information Office, Notre Dame, Ind.

Meanwhile, we'll all say a prayer that the noted journalist, Harold A. Williams, Jr., does not stay too long on his assignment as foreign correspondent in Germany for the "Baltimore Sun." His wife, whom I saw in Baltimore at the time of the Navy game, joins in this wish.

You know, I'm really trying to be helpful to these Williams people . . . what between trying to take over this column for Hal and attempting to tell the nation's press about the quarterbacking genius of little brother Bobby.

Since it is doubtful if any other member of our class has had a younger brother achieve the fame of Bob Williams, I will take a couple of lines to tell you about him. And a quick description, understandable only to '38ers, would be to say that he's pretty much a carbon copy of Hal, except in physique and athletic ability. Bob has a bit of an edge in the latter two departments. It may be of interest to record Coach Frank Leahy's statement on Bob: "I wouldn't trade him for any college quarterback in America today." And remember that Hal's little brother has one more year of competition.

Jack Zerbst, on a three-month vacation from his position in Brazil with the Union Carbon and Carbide Corp., was a campus visitor this summer. He's married to a girl from Baltimore and they have one child. During the early part of the war, Jack was in the FBI and then finished up as a Navy officer.

Out on the west coast, I saw Charlie Osborne, a lawyer, Ed Tobin and Jerry Kane at the Washington game. Charlie was general chairman of a combined Notre Dame-Washington alumni dinner the night before the contest and did a wonderful job on arrangements. Jerry, secretary of the club, was a member of his committee.

Johnny O'Connor, Indianapolis, was one of, I imagine, many '38ers at the Purdue game in Lafayette, Ind. I mention John, now a prospering Indianapolis attorney, because I saw him.

The Sunday morning following the Tulane game, I saw Jim Carson, with the telephone company in Indianapolis, for a couple of minutes before grabbing a train to Chicago. While in Chicago that day I bumped into Eddie Brennan, the old infield aspirant on Jake Kline's ball team. Eddie is now an advertising salesman in Chicago. He's one of the few single men left. Brennan has a companion, however, in a fellow Chicagoan, Jack Anton. The Deacon is a bank vice-president and his office is in the Merchandise Mart. Since I'm talking about single men, I should mention Dr. Dan Monaghan, of Denver. I see Dr. Dan almost every weekend for he makes almost every game on the football schedule.

Tom Gorman, the old Badin Hall prefect, who is now another Chicagoan, was a visitor with his wife at the Tulane game. Dan Gibbs, ex-pole vaulter and ex-Holyoke, Colo. (but now Chicago), was at the Notre Dame Club of Michigan City, Ind., golf party this summer.

In New York, at the North Carolina game, I saw Bud Kolp and also Joe Callahan and his bride. Joe was married on the campus (Log Chapel) last spring with my wife and me as the attendants. I was very happy to help Joe along in taking the big step. He was very helpful to me during the years 1934-38. Some of you may recall that Joe was a "magna cum laude" student and it was my good fortune in those classes in which the seating was arranged alphabetically to be stationed beside him.

Many of you are knowledgeable of the fact that Leo Welch met an unfortunate death early in the war, when his bomber crashed in the South Pacific. Therefore, it will be of interest to class members to hear of the recent wedding of his widow, Frances Lapp Welch, former St. Mary's girl, to a Frank Johnson, of Washington, D. C. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles Carey, C.S.C.

And that is that for this month.

Bob Holtz is with the Martin Band Instrument Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Tom Radigan, Gary, Ind., was recently appointed police commissioner of that city. Tom is managing the family furniture store after finishing in law at Indiana University. He has four children.

Frank Cosgrove is teaching at the College of Pharmacy, Loyola University, New Orleans, and is doing work during the summer at the University of Colorado toward his Ph.D. He has just become registered as a pharmacist in Louisiana and has purchased part interest in a drug store in New Orleans.

Way back on Aug. 10, Tom Sheils, 6000 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood-28, wrote to Hal Williams as follows:

"I recently returned from a flying trip to N. Y., Cleveland and Chicago. I had business in N. Y. and Chicago, but my stop-off in Cleveland was for only one reason—to see old Hook Kerwin, his lovely wife, Alice, and their three children, two gals and one boy. Hook is fine. Still living there in Shaker Heights and still with Thompson Products. It was good to see him again, and he gave me a blow-by-blow account of the reunion last year which I was unable to attend.

"Saw Gene Vasslett here in Hollywood some time back. He looked good and has been living in Laguna. He was planning to move up here to L. A. and was going to call me when he did. However, I haven't heard further from him as yet.

"Ed Kavanaugh is doing a Jimmy Stewart on us and after all these years is taking up himself a bride, a gal from South Bend whom I haven't had the pleasure of meeting as yet. The wedding will be on Sept. 3. I'm hoping to get back for the gala affair. I know Hook is planning to be there. . . . "As for me I am still in the music business. I have my own office now out here in sunny California. It's what is known as a personal management set-up. I handle The Modernaires, Clark Dennis and others. I'm not exactly getting rich, but as you may remember it's the kind of work I like and this California climate is great for my boys. Oh yes, I forgot to mention I have three boys, Tom, Jr., Peter and Johnny."

Vincent DeCoursey, 1917 Elizabeth,
Kansas City 2, Kans.

From Vince DeCoursey:

The response to last month's card appeal for news was not exactly overwhelming, but at least did draw some information that would have not been forthcoming without them, so when you get the little yellow card sit down that evening and drop us a line; without news there can be no column.

First it is with regret that we received the news from Bill Dooley that Carl Sabo had passed away, Sept. 12, at Riverside, Calif. The list of those in our class who have gone grows alarmingly long and it might be a suggestion worth considering to have some sort of memorial service at the Communion Sunday in December for those who are no longer with us.

From an old letter-writing acquaintance, Mrs. Tom Clarke of Des Moines (mother of Ed Clarke who was killed in the Pacific) we had a very welcome letter a few days ago, with some much appreciated kind words. Mrs. Clarke reported that Ed's body was reburied in June with his brother, Father John Clarke, officiating and blessing the grave. There was a request as to the whereabouts of Jules Tonsmeire, whose last reported address we have was 69 Kenwood Road, Garden City, Long Island, N. Y. We too would like to hear from Julie; there's a boy who really gets around.

As an aside to those wives who read this column and wonder why there is no news of the hubby and his friends may we offer a little suggestion—inspired through reception of a letter from Mrs. Carl Fricke, Jr. Carl is one of those who had completely dropped from the sight of this column and glad it is that we can welcome him back home, although it took the time and trouble of his wife to resurrect him. Now for a little plea to those wives above mentioned—when you find time (my wife chuckles) either prod the old boy or take pen (make him use a typewriter) and drop a few notes as to where, what, and who. The more information the better—we need news.

But back to Mrs. Fricke, a resident of 6340 Middleton Street, Huntington Park, Calif. (someone asked for the address a few months ago)—who brings much in the way of information. The Fricke family has two future Notre Damers keeping things churned up. Carl is selling paper (Taverner and Fricke) and picking oranges. Dick O'Melia was on temporary duty at the Marine Air Base at El Toro and had dinner with the Frickes; Dick was at the time awaiting a fourth child and probably has that third daughter by this time. Dick is still practicing law. George Meeker, '40, has four sons (tie with yours truly), and is in business with the Meeker Land Co. Bob Kiernan is living at Corona Del Mar. Fred R. Stubbins, Jr., wife and three-year-old son are living in San Diego, where Fred is selling radio advertising.

So much for this time. Let's get some information in—after the games this fall you certainly have had conversation with somebody, so let the rest of us know about it.

John Sullivan announces the opening of his own law office for the practice of law at 832-835 Paul Brown Bldg., 818 Olive St., St. Louis 1.

Edwin Pick has collaborated with another lawyer and two members of the law faculty of the University of Wisconsin in writing a new book entitled "Wisconsin Practice Methods." The 1,400-page volume is a "how-to-do-it" manual, outlining procedure for meeting everyday legal problems in Wisconsin.

Jim Raaf was visiting at the University over the Tulane game weekend. He is on leave from his business with International Machinery Co., Bolivia,

S. A., and is visiting in the country with his family.

Bob Schirf is an engineer with the Layne-Northwest Co., Milwaukee, where he is in charge of the pump division. He just purchased a new home and moved in with his family Nov. 1.

Dr. Jim Johnson has opened offices for the practice of medicine limited to orthopedic surgery and fractures at 620 Exchange National Bank Bldg., Colorado Springs, Colo.

1940

Robert G. Sanford, 1103 E. Kensington
Blvd., Shorewood, Wis.

Bob Sanford, recent father—again—writes that plans are perking merrily for the 10th reunion of the class on June 9, 10 and 11. In the next issue of the "Alumnus" he will announce tentative plans for the weekend, the name of the local chairman in South Bend and the personnel of various committees. It goes without saying that Bob will welcome volunteer assistance. Let him know that you will help, especially in the matter of rounding up attendance.

And, right now, start writing to your special pals in '40, urging them to get together with you for the big weekend. This will of course be the first reunion of the class, since the war took away any possibility of a five-year reunion in 1945.

Start beating the drums!

Paul Glass, Los Angeles mortician, visited the campus on Oct. 31. He is planning to return for the reunion.

Bob Mahoney and Jim Daskaloff, '49, have announced the formation of a partnership for the practice of law. They will have offices at 207 Poledor Bldg., South Bend.

Bill O'Brien is vice-president of the C.M.A.C. Corporation, 50 Church St., New York City 8. Until recently, Bill resided in Chicago.

John W. Patterson, Jr., 5530 Rarlington
Rd., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Jerry O'Dowd, Fort Wayne, Ind., was chairman of the credentials committee for the national Young Democratic convention held in Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 17-19.

Don Tiedemann has a new position in the investment division of the general counsel's office of the New York Life Insurance Co. in New York City. The Tiedemanns also announce the birth of their third child, a daughter, Ann, on Oct. 25. John MacCauley and his wife were the Godparents. Don had run into Milt Williams and reports that Milt is with the Arabian-American Oil Co.

Don is active in the Glee Club of the New York ND Club, along with Dr. Bill Clark, '41, who, with Don, lives in Tuckahoe, N. Y.

William E. Scanlan, Pullman Trust & Saving
Bank, 400 E. 111th St., Chicago 28, Ill.

From Scoop Scanlan:

Hats off to the Class of '42. According to a recent survey conducted by Louis F. Buckley, '28, our class topped all the others in the amount of news contributed during the six-year period—October, 1943 to June, 1949.

Communications have been falling off a trifle but now that the post-war relocation, marriages, etc., have just about settled things, let's resume where we left off and get back into the swing of things. This record is certainly a tribute to all the '42ers, and Mrs. Lashbrook, for the faithful work during that period. So, let's hear from you all—the address is up yonder:

Let's start off this issue with a communique from Tom Powers, now of the "Chicago Tribune" and you'll note he is apartment hunting:

"Phoned Paul Neville tonight and he says he's holding up under the strain of railroad trips, pullmans, Friday press parties, Saturday pressbox scrambles and Monday quarter-backing on Sundays—all of which goes with his new job as sports editor of the "South Bend Tribune." No ulcers yet, but Paul says he may get them from the many requests for tickets from classmates. Paul says his personal ticket allotment is no larger than any one else's, just enough to carry his own personal load. Visited Neville and his wife, Lil, at their new home on South Bend Ave. and got a look at Pete. Wasn't able to attend the christening but did Godfather to David Condon's Kathleen here recently. I thought I did pretty well through the ceremony and even translated some of the Latin for the Godmother.

"Neville tells me Dick LaJoi's brother was at the Indiana game. Unfortunately, I've been working football week-ends and missing the South Bend reunions. Had a wedding invitation from Eddie Huff who was getting married Oct. 22 in West Allis, Wis. Met his bride-to-be at the Old Timers' game last spring. Missed a chance to have a party with Emmett Wright and Don Hogan and their Mrs. recently, but think my rain check is still good. Had dinner with John Homan and family recently. He didn't know we were in Chicago and it was a case of word getting around and our finally getting together. Each thought the other was still working in Pittsburgh. John's working for Chicago Blower. Add similarity: John Specht stopped by the sports desk one day and asked me what I was doing here. I answered with the same question and it developed we've both been working in Tribune Tower for some time.

"Have had several calls from Dick McHugh from Manhattan. Missed a chance to accompany him to the Purdue game.

"Saved the best item for last. Got myself engaged and am apartment hunting. Getting married Feb. 18 at St. Adrian's. Her name is Irene Stachura.

At the Chicago Notre Dame club golf outing some weeks ago I ran into Don Hogan, and Bill Hickey. Don said Willie Platt is studying engineering at Armour Institute."

From Seattle, Wash., came an invitation from Rabbi Albert Plotkin to attend a wedding to Miss Sylvia Pincus. Sorry we couldn't make it.

Looks like weddings are in order; I had a nice letter from the newlyweds John F. Dinges' who are now living at 253 Park Drive, Boston, Mass.

IN MEMORIAM

Jane Pilarski, secretary to Bill Dooley, wrote that word had been received of the death of Francis E. Buckley, ex-42, of Saranac Lake, N. Y. He is survived by his wife at 2 Charles Street in that city.

We were sorry to hear that news and hope anyone in that vicinity will take the opportunity to pass on a word of comfort to Mrs. Buckley.

In Davenport, Ia., there is a new accounting firm established . . . James Patrick Doyle and John Emmett Keenan. They are located in the Davenport Bank Bldg.

Well, the time is set for news from Mrs. Lora Lashbrook of the lawyers, '42 version:

For the information of Mr. Scanlan and others, I have not been associated with the Notre Dame "lawyers" since last year, but since I have been invited to contribute to this issue, I shall add that news I have had, and say a fond "farewell" to the "Alumnus" and the alumni at the same time.

If it is true that "no news is good news," then I may begin by reporting that all the lawyers of the 1942 class are highly successful. I telephoned the local barristers and they knew even less than I about their classmates, therefore the report will be short.

Bill Hosinski reports that his house is full of feminine influence, and that it takes a full time practice to keep them going. He has two little girls.

Al Cholis is still holding the whip over the local landlords and is doing some practice at the same time. He is still a handsome bachelor.

Joe Miller is devoting full time to his teaching duties on the campus and doing a good job; I hear. The last time I saw Ernie Timpani he too, was "professing."

Bob Miller and Art Diamond have a flourishing practice in South Bend in the Lafayette Building. Bob was married last June to June.

Charles Cavanaugh is also in South Bend, associated with the Hartford Insurance Co. He was involved in the purchase of a new home the last time I saw him.

Louie Anderson is in town, too, but I have not seen him for months. Tom Tearney, on the other hand, has to bring in his money to the St. Joseph Bank frequently in order to avoid overloading his briefcase, and from my desk in the Trust Department there I see him quite often. He is thin, but obviously in good health. I wish I could think of a lot of superlatives to use in my discussion of him because he is the executive officer at the local Naval Reserve Armory where my youngest is a seaman.

Joe Barr, always good "copy," is with the district attorney's office in Wood River, Ill., and is the father of three, and soon will make it four. Mary his wife, has been seriously ill with what was thought to be polio, but she is reported much improved now.

I had a letter from Judge McNerthney while I was in Washington this summer. Joe is practicing in Seattle, and his address indicated considerable prosperity. Fred Hoover is also in Seattle with the firm of Clark, Stone and Hoover, in the Henry Building.

Tom Mills is practicing in Wisconsin, and John Halleck is living and practicing in Bowling Green, O., and has been teaching part time in the University there. John and Virginia have three lovely children.

Mike Hines spent the past months in Las Vegas, Nev., but is back in Indiana now and is reported to be locating here permanently. We hope so.

Bob Uhl is in law school and is due to graduate next year. Jim Neu is now head of the legal department of Columbia Broadcasting System in Washington, and is living in Alexandria, Va.

Jerry O'Dowd made the headlines a short while ago when he was sent to a national convention of young legislators. Jerry is now Representative O'Dowd and we will doubtless hear from him for a long time in political circles.

Cecil Jordan is a G-man in Cleveland, O. I saw Cecil and his wife in Washington last Easter Sunday morning, but they rode away before I could say "hello."

Leo Linck is married and practices in Michigan. Gerry Feeney and George Stratigos are law partners in South Bend. Gerry is prominent in local Democratic political circles and George was recently named commissioner for the Federal Court in South Bend. Both are married and look prosperous.

Jim and Mike Godfrey are practicing in Illinois, probably in Litchfield. Dean Manion reported on them after the American Bar Association meeting in St. Louis and he tells me they are both fulfilling all the promise they showed in Law School. Tony Girolami is still in school but will graduate in the spring of 1950.

Bob Simon is with White and Simon in Ottawa, Ill. I have failed completely in my promise to get some information about Mike Stepovich for the boys before my "retirement." Bill Hosinski and I spent a considerable time this morning recalling all of Mike's good qualities and wishing for some current information as to his whereabouts. If Mike sees this, I do hope he will get in touch with some of us.

In an effort to confirm Cecil Jordan's address, I talked to Mrs. Bannon, Patricia's mother, and she told me that her son, Barney, is working for the Great Lakes Distributing Company out of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mark is in Minneapolis, Minn.

I shall be in the bank for some time to come, and for any one interested, my permanent address is: Rockport, Ind., R. R., care of Elizabeth Day. The latchstring will always be out for any of you, and perhaps some of those thousands of cups of coffee that I have consumed at your expense may be recovered. Goodbye.

It's brief, but it's about '42ers. Let's have more.

REMEMBER, IF IT'S NEWS, WRITE SCOOP.
IF IT'S ABOUT YOU—IT IS NEWS!

Neil McCarty was awarded a Bachelor of Laws degree from Harvard University on June 23. John Burgess received a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Ohio State University on Sept. 2.

Mike Carr is now assistant sales manager for Paper Art Company, Inc., of Indianapolis and New York City.

Father Simonitsch writes that Vic Assad has joined the Trappist order in Georgia and is now Frater Peter. Also in the Trappists, Father says, is Tom McCarty, '44, now Frater Malachy at the Trappist monastery in Dubuque, Ia.; Jim O'Connor, who attended Notre Dame from March, 1946 to June, 1947, also is at the monastery in Dubuque, and Dave Barnes, here from November, 1945 to July, 1946, now is Frater Longinus at Gethsemani Abbey, Trappist, Ky.

John L. Wiggins,
2108 W. Fullerton Ave., Chicago 47, Ill.

Through the excellent efforts of Lou Buckley, alumni secretary, there has been an attempt made to organize the class secretaries, with the hope of having them produce ample copy for each issue. Lou has given all of us tips on methods of procuring class news. In reality, however, the success of the class column depends upon the contributors. For this issue I mailed two dozen postcards seeking information and received but ONE reply. Not a sharp percentage.

We would like to ask that when you receive such a card you answer with another postcard with information about yourself or any others of the class.

Here are the figures to prove just how simple a task this should be: if I should contact 20 men per issue, you would have to pause only a couple of minutes every two years to send a postcard. My immediate sources of information are limited to classmates in the Chicago area. For that reason you may read some names more frequently than others. This is not by design; I cannot write about those from whom I have no information.

And so, brethren, ends the sermon. Don't forget! Just two minutes each two years. Thank you!

INDIANA GAME NOTES

Bill Lower and Dick Hall came down from Gary, Ind., for the game. Bill is with Sears, Roebuck & Co., Dick with Gary Wholesale Grocers. Dick's cousin, Bob "Buck" Muellman, was married in Danville, Ill., to Miss Lynn Hughes. Lower said that John Bosak is selling Plymouths and Chryslers at Bosak Motors in Gary, that George Carberry is in residency at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, and that Bob Lennertz is selling pharmaceuticals.

Bob Collins of Collins Excavating Co., Blue Island, Ill., was at the game and reported that he saw Bill Kinney at Muellman's wedding. Bob said that Jack Dugan was now in Milwaukee with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co. Jim Delaney told me in the stands that he had left San Francisco to work in Grand Rapids, Mich., with a die-casting concern. San Francisco lost Delaney, but gained as a citizen. Jack Tallett who moved to the coast city the week following the Indiana game. His bon voyage wishers at Gate 14 were Bob McKee, Lee Raymond, Ed Roney and Pete Moritz.

Bob Kuipers nailed me after the game to tell me that Bob "Red" Lonergan was married Sept. 22 in the Log Chapel. Bob said that he had seen Jack Specht who was in the Advertising Department of the "Chicago Tribune." Saw Dick Creevy as he rushed to his seat, and understand that Harry O'Melia was at the game, though I'm sorry to say that I didn't see him.

FROM THE MAIL BAG

The lone reply to the postcard plea came from George Blackmore: "Hope this gets to you in time for the next issue. I am now in business for myself, selling insurance and trying to build my own agency, the George H. Blackmore Agency, 15 Smithfield St., Pittsburgh, Pa.—fire, automobile, and miscellaneous lines. Haven't seen Bill Murrin for some time. I believe he is still going to law school in Pittsburgh. The N.D. club of Pittsburgh has a luncheon each week at "Dutch Henry's" and I plan to attend soon and perhaps get more information for you."

In response to my request, John Powers, of International News Service, will send us a report on the pep rally preceding the North Carolina game in Yankee Stadium. We hope that Bill Tracy will supply information, also.

TULANE GAME NOTES

Practically all those mentioned as being present at the Indiana game were on hand for the Tulane spectacle, and in addition there were these: Charlie

Butler, Leo Lewis, Jack Griffin, Bill Middendorf, Gail Fitch, Bernie Schroeck and Frank Kaiser.

Lee Raymond has left the La Salle St. brokerage firm in Chicago for a transfer to South Bend, where he is on the sales force of Texaco.

Herb Melton was not the usual pessimistic expecter of one in the coaching profession. He predicted a fair share of victories for his Irish fencing team this season. Herb has joined the Notre Dame faculty as an instructor in accounting. By the time this bit reaches the readers the football season will be over, so it's safe to say now that Herb's wife, Kay, is secretary to Herb Jones, business manager of athletics.

The deadline for the next column is December 15. How about marking down that date and dropping us a line here? Your friends would like to hear a word about you.

John Powers gives the lowdown on the North Carolina weekend in New York:

"The pre-game rally at the Biltmore Hotel on Friday night was packed to the chandeliers. My wife and I arrived in the company of Paul Neville, '42, sports editor of the "South Bend Tribune," Cy Donegan, '43, and Jim Ferry and Joe Lane of '42. Cy Donegan is just getting acquainted on his new job, that of selling advertising space on the new "Flair" magazine, due out in January, 1950. We spotted a lot of the boys around the various tables, among them Don Heltzel and his wife, all the way in from Ohio; Bill Herzog and Tom McCreedy, both '43, up from Baltimore and Bill Walsh, '43, formerly of Mineola and now in Levittown. One table was turned over to FBI men exclusively and every one of them having a good time: Tony Maloney, Frank Conforti, Ollie Hunter, Bill Tracy. The Bureau can be proud of them. Bill Tracy's brother, Joe Tracy, was happy too, having just finished his law work at Columbia U. and readying to leap the bar exam.

"Down another aisle, I bumped into Frank Kunkel, '43, talking with Dick Murphy, '42, both of them from Forest Hills. Frank is working for his Ph.D. at Columbia U. these days.

"After the game was over on Saturday (and what a game it was) it seemed that half of the stadium converged on the cocktail party and reception at the New York Athletic Club. Everybody was hungry after yelling their lungs out for the team to come from behind and beat the Rebels, and a tray of hors d'oeuvres disappeared in no time. There I bumped into Bill Olvany, '43, another Forest Hills resident just moved to Bayside. Bill was accompanied by his very beautiful wife, Dolores, and they told me of two children at home. Bill Johnson and Jim Cooney, '43, walked up with a drink and I learned that Jim Hubbard was about the premises, too. Jim Cawley, '40, came along with Father Simonitch, C.S.C., whom I hadn't seen since graduation, and I heard that my brother, Father Joe Powers, C.S.C., may be back on the campus next year.

"It was a wild and wonderful weekend, Jack, and I hope I've given you a small idea of some of the guys in it."

Jim Delaney, formerly of San Francisco, is now located in Grand Rapids, Mich., at 347 Briarwood.

William F. Talbot,
300 Main St., White Plains, N. Y.

From Bill Talbot:

Merry Christmas!

And now that we've neatly disposed of that, there is more salient matter at hand, dished up by our Cleveland informer, Tom Bremer. He reports that other lads duly enrolled in the local alumni chapter are Bill Mulligan, Jack Doyle, Creighton Miller, and Dick Hackman. So if you ever get stuck in Cleveland—and that's what you do when you're in Cleveland: get stuck—then you can look up a couple of the lads above.

Since we do not have much copy for the column this time—due to a rascally disinclination on the part of classmates to write—we would like to quote most of Tom's informative letter, being careful, of course, to emend those jolly, earthy expletives which might otherwise impair the high tone of this here article:

"Creighton Miller, besides practicing law on his own, and being assistant attorney general for the State of Ohio, is also broadcasting football games over station WERE in Cleveland.

"Then there's Jack Doyle who is looking for people who want to invest their millions. He claims he can triple your money overnight.

"Bill Mulligan is still slaving for Fisher's Foods here in Cleveland and planning to get married some time in the near future.

"Dick Hackman is working for Hackman Leather and doesn't do much more than [EMENDED].

"As for myself, there isn't much news. Still trying to get a few clients into my office, but I broke my lasso and there went my clients."

Tom, as you may have supposed, is an attorney. That address in Cleveland is: Leonard Frost, Attorney-at-Law, National City Bank Bldg.

From out Wisconsin way comes more good news. Bill Bodden has married and taken off weight. Or vice versa. It's hard to tell in a case like that which comes first. Anyway, writing from his new address of 112 Juneau St., Horicon, Wis., Bill reports that he is a real estate broker and solicitor agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., and that he will probably tie in his law practice with these duties in the near future.

Bill reports that Larry Lenz, a fellow lawyer, lives nearby (which couldn't be far in Horicon), and that Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. O'Neill, '40, have just borne a bouncing baby boy by the name of Brian.

By a bit of indirect investigation we have also discovered that Bill is doing much better than he may let on. For he has achieved two high civic posts, as director of the Horicon Athletic Association and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Word from another lawyer on another front: Attorney Bill Kelly is "bubbling over with optimism." And in the excess of his exuberance he has designed to drop us a line—an act which this column appreciates no end. To wit:

"About the middle of last June, Tom O'Connor spent his honeymoon on Nantucket, and on his return spent two days with me on Cape Cod. I was down with my parents at the time. He has his own advertising business in Chicago, and was doing rather well. However, have not seen hide nor hair of him since.

"Just recently Frank Grover spent some time in Lowell with his wife, and I spent an afternoon with him. He's a salesman for a furniture firm in Elkhart. Same old Frank. . . .

"Frank took his wedding trip through the South, and stopped off in your old home town of Louisville to see Jacques Veeneman. Believe they stayed the night, and hashed over old times. Said Jack had two children now and a Scotty dog. He's with the George H. Gould Co."

Blessings on all guys like Jack Collins. He keeps us all posted on the fellows who entered Notre Dame in 1941 and graduated in 1944. He supplies us, for instance, with information about Bill Grafe, now a chemical engineer in Cincinnati. Bill announced his engagement in August and was married at a formal wedding on the 23rd of November in Cincinnati. Also a word about Dick O'Hearn, who recently completed law school at the University of Cincinnati, and who has already passed the Ohio bar examination.

As for Jack himself, he's still working as a research engineer for the Union Carbide Corp., Niagara Falls, N. Y. His home address up that way is 729 Townsend Place.

Another lawyer. This time it's the old reliable Glee Club man and academic record breaker, George Bariscillo. Here from George:

"I'm leaving for Trenton tomorrow morning (Oct. 12), and I'll be there for the next couple of days taking the New Jersey State Bar Examination, so you can imagine the hectic time I've been having the past months boning up for the event. As you know, I completed my law studies at Notre Dame last January. Since that time I have been serving a law clerkship (required by N. J. law) with one of New Jersey's superior court judges in Jersey City. It's been a most interesting experience.

"Last month I attended the N. D. Club of N. J. (Welcome Party) for the incoming Frosh from this state. It was held in Newark and on hand to greet the new members of the Notre Dame family were such stalwarts from our class as Frank 'Gigs' Giordano, John Bright, and Bill Waldron, among others. Father Frank Gartland, was the principal speaker, and he gave a very interesting and amusing account of his early days at Notre Dame, and concluded his remarks with some very worthwhile suggestions to the new men of Notre Dame from N. J."

And finally we have a treat for all the old gang, a communique from Francis J. Sanfilippo. "Flip," as he was better known as in them days, has this to report anent the North Carolina post-game con-fab:

"Just talked to Dick McCabe on the phone and he too thinks the idea is wonderful. As you probably noticed in the ALUMNUS Dick was recently engaged to a South Bend girl. At present he is in his father's law office here in Poughkeepsie.

"I am with Remington-Rand here in Poughkeepsie, in the Systems division. After finishing at N. D. in August '47, I started selling in the field and finally transferred here in May of this year. . . . By the way, if anyone is interested—it has never been announced in the ALUMNUS—I have two of the prettiest and smartest girls that ever rooted for N. D.

"Andy 'Bull' Murphy is recreation director for the city of Kingston, which is just across the river up here. Nick Amato, after teaching at N. D. for a couple of years, is now up at St. Bonaventure in Olean. The last time I heard from him, Lou Horning was helping his dad in Tarentum, Pa. Lou and his wife, Florence, have a future halfback for about 1967.

By the way, do you, or anyone else, know the whereabouts of Gene Carney? That ex-roomie character of mine has eluded me for too long now and I figure it is about time for me to give him his periodic 'taking down.' Maybe this will rouse him a little."

"Flip" also sends a personal note of congratulation to John Lynch for his wonderful success in the literary field.

One point in "Flip's" letter is disturbing. He reports that, though he is listed as '48 in the ALUMNUS, Dick McCabe's loyalty is still with '44. Now it would be nice if we would all sit down and take a good deep breath and listen: Anyone who graduated in 1944 or who, during any period of his scholastic life, intended to graduate in 1944, may by this very fact denote it as his class. It is entirely a matter for the individual to decide. The Alumni Office does not want to appoint any graduates to a class which is not of their choosing. If you are represented as being a member of a class other than '44, and wish to change; or if you are listed as '44 and wish to change to another class, then simply drop a post card to me or to the Alumni Office.

There's a bit of news out our way, too. Herb Gans, '42, and Jim Quinn, '36, both local Westchester lads, put their heads together and came up with an enormously successful benefit for polio at the Coveleigh Club, Rye, N. Y. Jim was one of the principal sparkplugs of the venture, which drew statewide attention. It happened that all three of Jim's boys were stricken this summer, one of them seriously. It is good to report that all are now well, and recuperating rapidly and happily.

At the Notre Dame Club meeting in New York in October were "Black John" Murphy, John Duffy, Jack Kelly, Frank Kunkel, Chuck Koegler, Tony Earley (an apostate who has switched to another class), and several late arrivals whom I didn't get to meet.

Thanks to the special indulgence of Alumni Secretary Bill Dooley, we are able to overstep the press deadline and bring you a hurried and partial account of events over the North Carolina weekend in New York.

Headquarters for the Notre Dame crowd was the Biltmore Hotel where, on Friday evening, the rally-reunion entertainment got underway, featuring the singing of the sensation of television and Broadway, Kyle Macdonnell—whom, if you ain't seen yet, what have you got eyes for?

Up there real close to the ringside were Jack Kelly and Tony Earley on one hand, and Frank "nylon-is-so-good-to-my-skin" English on the other. Frank and Helen confided that they and baby now make five.

Paying the bill at the same table were Jack O'Neill with a pair of lovely girls; Andy Barbieri, with a girl whose name and phone number I didn't get; and Dave Garroway from Chicago, alias Byron Kanaley and his wife, Sally.

Bernie Bowling never misses. He was there, and so was his old side-kick, Jim Mahoney. Ditto Jack Whitely, who has taken on the stature of Leon Hart. He's that bbbig and robbust! Bill Boss finally showed up to give us all a glimpse of his charming young wife. Joe Pons and Joe Gallagher also showed—the old equalizers.

Of course you know how the game went the next day. Immediately afterwards the Notre Dame crowd squeezed into the New York Athletic Club. Your correspondent had to miss all but the last half hour of the festivities, and probably missed most of the fellows. But those we saw and welcomed were as follows: Chuck Patterson and his wife, together with Chuck Pickhardt; Bill Carey, who is finishing at Harvard Business School; Ted Weber (and wife) and Al Sommer together; a jovial group anchored to the bar, including John O'Hara and Ed Keelan; another group was composed of Jack Sullivan, Red McCafferty, and Bill Rodgers—at which point we bumped into lawyer-at-large Joe Patrucco; the Ed Dowlings and John Murphys, who later went off to dinner together. Several others who, though they are not members of our class, are popular enough to be remembered: Father Simonitsch, Paul Lillis, Jim McVey, Paul Tafel, Bob Sass, and the mighty mite, Greg Rice.

Jerry Brown, Ed Monaghan, Charlie Koegler, Jim Sullivan, and John Duffy made the Wednesday night New York Club meeting and presumably attended the party, though we are sorry to have missed them there.

At the Commencement exercises on June 23, Harvard University awarded master's degrees in business administration to Vince Bitter, John Hickey and Franklin Eck.

Joe Neufeld was a patient at the Hickory Grove Sanatorium, West DePere, Wis., but was to undergo a series of operations at Columbia Hospital in Milwaukee. Pray for him, and keep mail going to him. Letters can be addressed to his home, Whitney Road, P. O. Box 17, Green Bay, Wis.

Emmitt Jennings, Queen of Angels Hospital, Los Angeles, was in Chicago for a medical convention. Emmitt sat in as team physician for the Los Angeles Rams while Bob Snyder, former N.D. backfield coach, was at the helm of the Rams last season.

Jack Coleman reports an address change; he is now working in New York City for the Coleman-Petterson Corp., 521 Fifth Ave. He lives in Bergenfield, N. J.

Ed Altendorf is an accountant for the Red Star Yeast and Products Co., 221 E. Buffalo St., Milwaukee 1, Wis.

John Zwicker, recently married, reports a change of address from Appleton, Wis., to New York City, where he represents the Zwicker Knitting Mills of Appleton. His office is at 303 Fifth Ave. Call him there.

Vail Pischke announces the opening of his private law offices at 724 Ninth St., NW, Washington 1, D. C., for the general practice of law. He is a radio consultant.

business administration from Harvard University on June 23.

Ed Kelly was the principal speaker at a football rally held by St. Anthony's Catholic High School, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in October.

John "Tree" Adams, Washington Redskins tackle, is an automobile salesman in the off season.

Pat Fisher, '35, 616 Indiana Trust Bldg., Indianapolis, writes that he is holding a Notre Dame ring, marked "R.G.K., '45." The ring, found some years ago in the vicinity of Union Station, Indianapolis, was only recently turned over to Pat. He will be glad to hear from anyone claiming it.

1946

John K. Stewart, Nolan Motor Co.,
Garden City, Kans.

From Jack Stewart:

Word has it that Charlie Clauss and Ed Fisher were going to attend the Michigan-Army debacle (I can say it now) at Ann Arbor.

Elmer "Bud" Angsman got off on another successful season as a star in the Chicago Cardinal backfield.

Tom Burns writes from Clovis, New Mex., that he and his brother, James F. (Notre Dame: 1935-37), are continuing their father's real estate, insurance, loans and abstracting business. Tom says that he plans to take in the ND-SMU game in Dallas, and then asks: Can anybody help (get more tickets)? He says that Rudy Lopez is married.

From Madison, Wis., comes word from Charlie Bartlett, barrister and member of the attorney general's staff there. He thinks that he may be in private practice next year—in Cuba City, Wis. He says that Bill Schmid "was working for his father's Crescent Electric Supply Co., and seemed to be happy and doing well."

It is rumored that Art Mosher is somewhere in his New Hampshire hills. Doing what or with whom is unknown: possibly chewing betel nuts.

En route from Washington, D. C., I met Jack Tenge in Kansas City. He has left the advertising post in his father's company and is director of publications at Rockhurst College in Kansas City.

Let's hear from some of you, Navy as well as civilian graduates. Don't be bashful: we're all interested in what you've done, are doing, plan to do.

Bill Young is a student at the Colorado School of Mines in Golden Colo. Bill's home is at 595 Longwood Ave., Glencoe, Ill.

Joseph D. Usina, 219 S. Scott St.,
South Bend, Ind.

From J. D. Usina:

Saw Andy McKay of Algonquin, Ill., who is now in South Bend as a field underwriter for Mutual Life of New York. He passed along the following news: Jack Freeman, Mishawaka, Ind., is with General Mills in a sales capacity; Tom Egan, Torrington, Conn., is employed by Brodbeck Trucking in Detroit in sales promotion work; Jack Dee was in town for the Tulane game.

Talked to John O'Brien who is in the Trust Department of the St. Joseph Bank here in South Bend. According to John, Luke Newbold is assistant physical education director and football coach at Madison School here, and Tom Manuszak, '48, is with the Indiana and Michigan Electric Co.

Among those here in South Bend to see the N.D.-Tulane game by Bob Snee's count were Bob Cronin, John Lavery, Bob Erkins, Paul Heiman and John Caron. It was rumored that Frank Gilligan was also around but that was hard to verify.

John Hosbein writes from Glencoe, Ill., that he sees John Horrigan, recently a father, occasionally. Bob Brown is teaching E.E. in North Dakota. John says he is working in his father's plant at Aurora and keeping busy.

Had a card that Dr. John B. Meyers is located at 2310 Fortieth Place, N.W., in Washington.

Bud Gotta and Bob Erkins are, as this is written, to be married in the next few weeks. Will save the details for later.

As for your correspondent—I am with the Lincoln J. Carter advertising agency here in South Bend, which was formed when the old agency of Carter, Jones and Taylor was reorganized. We have offices in the Sherland Building and I would like to see members of the class passing through South Bend. Maybe it will be easier to extract news in a face-to-face meeting.

Bob Rosenthal received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering from Washington University, St. Louis, in June, 1949. Bob is now working for the Process Engineering and Equipment Co. as a sales engineer.

Joe DeMuro is teaching accounting in St. Edward's University, Austin, Texas.

Dennis Stark is the new assistant physical director of the South Bend Y.M.C.A. He is the father of two children.

Dick Prosche is an engineer with the Schutte-Koerting Co., 12th and Thompson Sts., Philadelphia 22.

Frank Szymanski, in his fifth season in the National Football League, was purchased by the Chicago Bears after four years with the Detroit Lions and Philadelphia Eagles.

Master's degrees in Business Administration were awarded by Harvard to the following: Paul Ames, Jack Alexander, Frank MacCauley, Ted Oppenheim and Forrest Watson.

A grim, but smiling and courageous, fight is being waged in St. Joseph's Hospital, South Bend, by Jack Miles, son of Frank, '22, who in September was hit down by polio. In an iron lung ever since, Jack is still in critical condition as this is written. Pray for him, for his family and for his fiancée, Beatrice Marie Machek, to whom he was to have been married on Sept. 17.

Herman A. Zitt, Foundation Office,
Notre Dame, Ind.

From Herman Zitt:

A number of '48 men have not sent in their '49 contributions to the Notre Dame Foundation. Thus far we wouldn't get much of a room for the $2,844.00 contributed by 339 '48 men. The average this year is above expectations, $8.39 as compared to $4.24 last year. But we need a contribution from everyone, no matter how small.

In passing from the unpopular to the popular I am glad to report that there is some news about our classmates. From the Warren Kanes comes a report that they have moved from Olean, N. Y., to Tulsa. Warren is still working for Clark Bros. Before leaving Olean they spent some time with the Bob Logan's, who have two swell kids and a nice home. Bud O'Reilly is working for EBASCO Services in New York City (and still single). The Bernie LaLones are living in Pontiac, Mich. The last report from Joe Fitzgerald has Joe working in Indianapolis.
