(An Editorial)

Uncertainty is too often called the keynote of our time.

War? Depression? Draft? Inflation?

It would be ridiculous to say that a college campus has answers that are seemingly inaccessible to the brains of the world.

But we believe that at Notre Dame we have the answers — not inaccessible to the world, but inadmissible by the world, a world that has followed the tragic cycle from God, through His Church, to protest, to neutrality, to militant opposition.

Because we know the answers, and are convinced that the only solution to our problems lies in these answers, we move ahead with a paradoxical calm in chaos.

Notre Dame's work has been summarized in the concept of training young men as moral responsible leaders.

How can we conquer war without morality, without responsibility in our world leaders?

How can we avoid our damaging economic cycles without a responsible leadership that recognizes the obligations of man's stewardship of God's resources?

And in a world that is snuffing out the lives of too many of tomorrow's leaders, the urgency of Notre Dame, and its work of creating this moral responsible direction of the destinies of our coming decades, multiplies.

Disaster is not solved by acceleration. But vision in disaster is essential to the salvage of those things from which the good destroyed can be restored, and from which the prevention of similar disasters may be derived.

That is how we feel about Notre Dame.

We are not immune from the effects of war, of the draft, of inflation, of the changing plans of a world which defied change.

But we feel that every alumnus and every friend of Notre Dame — no matter how deeply drawn into the chaos of our time — contributes to the salvage of the era and to the only course by which a cure can come, when he continues to give, unselfishly as in the past, to the development of the University.

Notre Dame itself may not hold the destiny of the world in its hands. But the destiny of the world is inevitably linked with the principles from which Notre Dame derived, for which it stands.

In the emergency of our present lives, we cannot suspend our efforts. We must multiply them.

Urgency Keynote of 1950-51 Foundation Drive; Live Television of Home Games Tells ND Story

Putting Notre Dame's home games and the Navy game at Cleveland on live television this year gives the University an opportunity never before presented an institution, to tell its story to the public.

The number of viewers is estimated in the millions. The opportunity for encouraging additional good will towards the University is being taken by the Notre Dame Foundation in the form of a stepped-up campaign to tell the school's friends of its continuing and urgent needs.

The Foundation's program for 1950-51 lists these most urgent needs: Equipment for several of the new buildings, $650,000; expansion of the steam plant, extending utilities to new buildings, addition of power generators, $1,400,000; sewage disposal system, $400,000; construction of a maintenance building, $600,000.

These needs, adding up to a sum slightly in excess of $3,000,000, are vital—and urgent. The present steam plant after twenty years of operation, is in need of substantial repair and improvement.

Increasing capacity of the steam plant is an absolute MUST. It is presently capable of handling only two more buildings, and progress in planning four new buildings must depend on this utility increase. The four buildings, described in earlier issues of the Alumnus are the new Science Building, the Fred J. and Sally Fisher Residence Hall, the Notre Dame Inn and the Liberal and Fine Arts Building.

The new student residence hall is the gift of Mrs. Fred J. Fisher, whose husband had been a member of the University Board of Trustees. The Inn is a gift of Mr. E. M. Morris, '06, of South Bend. The Liberal and Fine Arts Building was given by Mr. I. A. O'Shaughnessy, LL.D., '48, of St. Paul. The Science Building is the gift of thousands of alumni and friends of the University, and of the citizens of the South Bend area who made a special campaign to insure its construction.

The necessary expansion of utilities to service these four buildings must be begun by next summer at the very latest. It is no secret that these needs—call them "Operations Digging" if you choose—are not geared to capture the imagination of the public as is a radiation chemistry project or a library building. Yet it remains obvious that these new buildings cannot be constructed without extension of existing facilities and without adequate provision for their maintenance.

Hereby is presented a genuine challenge to the Notre Dame Foundation.

The newest phase of Foundation activities is planned to raise $1,000,000 annually through small contributions from Notre Dame's thousands of friends. The problem of reaching these thousands—or perhaps millions—of friends is a tremendous one.

Fortunately, Mr. Bernard Duffy, president of Batton, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, the top advertising agency in the nation, has been pleased to volunteer his services in this connection. His interest has been so intense and wholehearted, his time and talent so generously granted that the central office of the Foundation has taken to calling this phase of the Foundation's activity not the Mass Appeal Plan, but the Ben Duffy Plan.

One of the obvious and most necessary requirements for success of the Ben Duffy Plan is the actual personal circulation by the alumni of the brochures prepared for the campaign. It was agreed that the simplest and most immediate method of actual distribution of brochures is the direct mailing to each alumnus from the central Foundation Office.

The television shows preceding each game will tell the Notre Dame story. They are shows done by professionals, and a credit to all who participated in preparing them. Besides these shows, a pre-game interview with Father Cavanaugh will continue to tell the Notre Dame story to the nation.

Local Alumni clubs and Foundation groups can aid the program by staging parties of alumni and non-alumni friends on Saturday afternoons the games are put on television. They can arrange with other local groups to hold such parties, with the Notre Dame story (possibly the brochures) to be coordinated.

The special football trips present another means of contact in a select group already showing enthusiasm. And women's groups should not be overlooked. There are many women friends of Notre Dame and of the things for which Notre Dame stands who could be enlisted as contributors.

The job, then, for the Foundation governors, city chairmen and local alumni clubs in the Ben Duffy Plan is the actual personal circulation of the brochures. A direct mailing to each alumnus from the Foundation Office is the simplest and most immediate method of actual distribution.

Rev. John H. Murphy, C.S.C., Vice-President in charge of public relations and James E. Armstrong, Alumni Secretary and Foundation Executive Vice-Chairman recently finished personal visits to Foundation meetings in St. Louis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Davenport, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

They report great enthusiasm for the mass appeal based on the Ben Duffy Plan and a feeling among Foundation and Alumni leaders that the Notre Dame story should be told to the friends of Notre Dame who can spare a $10 gift. These are the people who know Notre Dame as a private school, which has thrived on the gifts from people who can understand that an annual gift of $10 is the equivalent of a $300 endowment.

This is a job for organization, for de-

Ireland Only Contented European Country Today

The people of Ireland today are the best fed and happiest in all Europe.

The people of Italy and France, where Communism made such inroads during and after World War II are very risky insurance in case of a Communist war of aggression on the European continent.

Those are the two major impressions one has after a talk with Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., University President who returned last month from Rome, where the Holy Cross Congregation held its general chapter. There are lighter impressions, too.

Such as that of the surprisingly studious and well read London cabbie who told Father Cavanaugh that Atlee's government unfortunately contains no big-league diplomats to compare with those of former governments. The cabbie also doubted England's present Socialism will ever quicken its pace and become Communism because the latter's basic beliefs, or lack of them are so abhorrent to Englishmen.

The English austerity program makes Ireland seem even cheerier than it is, and the generous supply of food available in Ireland sharpens the contrast more.

Most serious observation Father Cavanaugh noted was the contrast in present day Italy with the Italy he knew while studying at Rome in 1931. Under Mussolini the Italian people were then floating on the high tide of Fascism. Today, despite the aid of the Marshall Plan and a lessening of Communist strength the Italians are a thoroughly beaten and discouraged people. They believe there is no practical sense in resisting an armed move by Russia.

It is extremely doubtful they would defend their once-bombed cities against Russia, particularly when they see the treatment accorded those showing any force against Communism in East Germany, Poland, or Czechoslovakia. France, similarly would offer token resistance if any to a Red Invasion, Father Cavanaugh believes.

Possibly it was with these grim eventualities in mind that Father Cavanaugh asked, before the national VFW encampment in Chicago shortly after his return, that this nation arm itself to the teeth while getting back to the God who guided our nation's founders.

The French nation, Father Cavanaugh says, is like an aging prizefighter, living in the past. The average Frenchman believes Stalin could take Paris by phone.

Mangan Burial Sept. 12

JOHNNY MANGAN

One of the few failures in the long and successful history of the University is about to happen.

They're trying to replace Johnny Mangan.

Johnny, a living legend with a rich brogue and sense of humor to match it, was known by all the great and famous who visited the University in the last 40 years. He began in 1910 with a horse and buggy and ended with a 1950 Studebaker.

His funeral service in Sacred Heart Church Sept. 12 brought as many celebrities and sincere tribute as would an archbishop's. Very Rev. Thomas Steiner, C.S.C., retired provincial was celebrant. Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., University president was deacon and Rev. Michael Mulcaire, C.S.C., was subdeacon. Rev. Eugene Burke, C.S.C., gave the sermon.

Burial was in the community cemetery.

His coming to Notre Dame was accidental. He stopped in 1910 at Niles on the way to visit a friend in Decatur, Ill. He heard of a Catholic university at South Bend and walked down to have his own look.

He didn't get to Decatur until years later, staying at the University to convey its eminent visitors. Pius XII, who visited the campus in 1936 as Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, was his passenger. So was Gilbert Keith Chesterton, the English essayist and apologist.

Chesterton practically adopted Johnny Mangan for the term of 24 lectures Chesterton delivered at the University.

To the end, one of Johnny's favorite anecdotes concerned the night that Chesterton got his 320 pounds wedged in a door of the University car in which Johnny delivered him to Washington Hall for a lecture.

Three years ago he chauffeured Cardinal Mindzenty, the Hungarian martyr prelate when he visited the University.

A complete listing of the great personages he knew would be a cross section of Who's Who, and paper restrictions preclude such.

Heekin, Beardsley on Science Advice Council

Two of the nation's leaders in science and industry have accepted positions on the University's Advisory Council for Science and Engineering, Father John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., University president announced.

They are Charles S. Beardsley, Chairman of the Board, Miles Laboratories, and Daniel M. Heekin, president of the Heekin Can Co., Cincinnati. The 23-man council is headed by Bradley Dewey, president of Dewey and Almy Chemical Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Record for Lay Retreat

The annual Laymen's Retreat held last month at the University was the largest in the twenty-eight year history of the retreat, according to the Rev. Michael A. Foran, C.S.C., Director of Retreats at Notre Dame.

Father Foran reported a total of 1,725 Catholic laymen from all parts of the United States attended the 1950 Laymen's Retreat. This total exceeds by 125 the former record of 1,600, which was set last year.

Joseph P. Grace Dies

Mr. Joseph P. Grace, a shipping executive and generous benefactor to the University, died July 15 at his home in Manhasset, L. I. He was the father of Michael P. Grace, who attended Notre Dame and who has set up the Michael P. Grace Trust, which amounts to $85,500 at present. Another son, Charles, entered the University this fall.

Mr. Grace was buried from St. Mary's Church, Manhasset. Four bishops of the Catholic Church, including the Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, Bishop of Buffalo, were present in the sanctuary for the requiem mass, at which Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, was celebrant.

Eddie Mahan Honored by Chem Society

During the September 1950 meeting of the American Chemical Society in Chicago, alumni of the College of Science held a testimonial dinner honoring Eddie Mahan, veteran chemistry stockroom manager, the genial Irishman who has been at the University since 1911, and who has endeared himself to nearly three generations of Notre Dame students with his quick wit and inimitable brogue, by his patience and the good example of his Christian life, and by his generous nature, both in worldly goods and in good advice.

The dinner, arrangements for which were in charge of Jim Danehy, was held at the Furniture Club of America on Lake Shore Drive. A very pleasant cocktail hour preceded the dinner. Unfortunately, Eddie was unable to attend the dinner; he had been released from the hospital the day before the affair and his physician did not deem it wise for him to attend.

His wife, Ann, and daughter, Eileen (Mrs. Jack Loritsch) represented Eddie and accepted for him the bound book of testimonial letters which had been sent to the committee for the occasion. The presentation of the purse was made later to Eddie on the campus. His plans at present are to use this gift for a trip with his wife to the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre.

The committee had solicited spiritual bouquets for Eddie from his many friends in the religious orders. These were included in the book of testimonials and were most instrumental in boosting his spirits during his convalescence. To all those who took part in this recognition of Eddie's long service to the University and for his own little acts of charity to students through the years, the committee is most grateful and joins with Eddie in expressing sincere thanks.

The faculty of the University were represented at the dinner by Doctor and Mrs. Charles C. Price, Doctor and Mrs. John Magee, Doctor and Mrs. Lawrence H. Baldinger, Doctors Andrew J. Boyle, George F. Hennion, Ernest Eliel, and Brother Columba, C.S.C.

Fathers James Anderson, C.S.C., of Portland University, and Gilbert Bulfer, O.S.B., of St. Bede's College, were present and presided ably for the grace before and after the meal.

itsch, Jim McKenna, Ed Mertz, Dick Norris, Andy O'Keefe, Bob Schuler, Bill Terre, Ed Tomcik, Norb Toussaint, John Verbanc, Jerry Veseley and Bob Witucki.

Since the mailing list which was used for contacting the alumni was incomplete, the committee realizes that many others who received no word of the affair would like to add their bit to the testimonials which have already been sent. These may be mailed directly to Eddie, or to L. H. Baldinger in Chemistry Hall at Notre Dame.

Foundation Governor Dies

John F. McMahon, '28, an Alumnus who led a fight that saved thousands of workers from death in the past 14 years died at his own work.

Mr. McMahon was managing director of the Industrial Hygiene Foundation of Mellon Institute, which had helped find preventives for silicosis, air pollution and other industrial health hazards. He was 47 when stricken at his desk with a heart attack.

Mr. McMahon was a reporter on the New York Sun after graduation and went to Pittsburgh in 1932 as night editor for Associated Press. He joined the Mellon Foundation four years later and in 1940 was appointed managing director.

The Notre Dame Foundation feels his loss acutely, as Mr. McMahon was Foundation Governor for Pennsylvania.

Surviving are Mrs. McMahon and two sons, John and Michael.

Father Toomey Elevated

Rev. Joseph B. Toomey, '26, Director of Catholic Charities for the Diocese of Syracuse, N. Y., has been elevated to the rank of domestic prelate and now bears the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Announcement of Father Toomey's elevation came from the Papal Secretary of State.

Monsignor Toomey has been in his present position since 1943, and in 1947 was elected president of the National Conference of Catholic Charities. After graduation in 1926 he entered St. Bernard's Seminary, and studied at Fordham from 1931 to 1933 following his ordination.

Two of his brothers are alumni—Francis J., '34, and John J., '39.

Lawrence H. Baldinger, Dean of the Science School, handing Eddie Mahan a check honoring Eddie for his 40 years at Notre Dame.

FOUNDATION—(continued from page 3) tail, for follow-up, for check and re-check, but if this is done, new doors will be open for generous gifts in the future that may match those we have already been able to announce.

The Raconteur

(The ALUMNUS has long considered the need for preserving much of the spirit of "old Notre Dame" as it exists in the memory of Notre Dame men old and young—particularly the former. As one effective means to do this, it will now give space in each issue for the retelling of stories of Notre Dame. You are asked to contribute any of general interest from your abundance. The Raconteur will then print these, in the number that space permits. Thus we shall have an accumulating fund of stories to be preserved by the Raconteur of Notre Dame.)

At a dinner meeting of one of the older classes, held at their recent class reunion, Father Matthew J. Walsh, former president of the University, in recounting the experiences of one who had taught history at the University to a second generation of Notre Dame men, found himself adverting to his own similar experience.

Some time ago, Father taught a history class in which were six boys whose fathers also he had taught. He said it was most interesting to observe that these boys had many of the same mannerisms that their fathers before them had. One fellow would lounge in his chair, one would put his hand behind his neck, another would rest his chin on his hand—all startlingly reminding him of their fathers when they were at the University.

During many years teaching, Father Walsh said he had noted that when his classes assembled the first time after the Christmas holidays, the memories of its members were pretty much of a blank on what they had learned the fall previous. The holiday activities had temporarily crowded out history. Most of the boys were inclined just to sit and wait for an assignment while the teacher filled the period with talk on the things they had been studying; from this point, the student expected to go on with the matter, learn the assignment and be ready for the next period.

In order to liven things up a little he sometimes gave them a quiz. So this day after Christmas, when the class assembled with the six students whose fathers he had taught, he said: "Now, boys, I'm going to give you a brief quiz on the Thirty Years' War: when it was fought, who fought it, why, etc." In the conternation that followed, scarcely any question was answered.

After contemplating the papers in silence for a little while, then raising his eyes with a look that meant rebuke, Father Walsh spoke. "Now there are six of you here whose fathers I taught before you, and when you write home, say hello to your dads for me and tell them that in history class the day after Christmas I asked you the very same questions I asked them thirty years ago, and got the same answers."

Father went on to say that after due consideration, he thought he could detect some slight improvement in the second generation of Notre Dame men.

In the earlier years of the University it was not infrequent to make a penalty serve the added purpose of furthering the cause of Catholic education..

Among a group of new students there was the customary sounding out of the professorial patience with the inevitable breaking point. Fixing one of the ring-leaders, the professor issued the imposing (but long familiar to earlier generations) penalty Write 2,000 words on Why I Am a Catholic. The penalty was properly executed and the incident forgotten by the professor.

Some years later, the student visited the campus as an alumnus and looked up his teacher: "You may not recall our first contact. But you gave me a most difficult punishment, when you asked me to write an essay on 'Why I Am a Catholic.'" The professor said, "That shouldn't have been too difficult except for the length." "It wasn't the length. It was the research. You see, I wasn't a Catholic."

Silver Jubilee Mass for Father Patrick Carroll

The ALUMNUS happily salutes an editor who on August 12 observed his 50th year in the priesthood with a solemn high Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

This editor, of course, could be no one but Rev. Patrick J. Carroll, C.S.C., who has served in that position since 1934. Father Carroll has guided the Ave Maria from a circulation of 23,000 to its present 58,000.

Father Carroll first attained literary eminence with his stories of his native Limerick, Ireland. Best known of these is his "Patch" series. Other works include a volume of poetry, "The Bog," "Vagrant Essays" and religion text, "The Man God—A Life of Christ."

Father Carroll was vice-president of the University from 1926 to 1929, has taught at St. Edward's and Portland Universities and for nine years was pastor of St. Joseph's Church, South Bend.

Assisting Father Carroll at the solemn Mass were Fathers Michael Mulcaire, C.S.C., deacon; Thomas A. Lahey, C.S.C., subdeacon, and Felix D. Duffey, C.S.C., master of ceremonies

Strake, Walter Get Papal Decorations

Two Houston Alumni of the University, M. E. Walter, '14, and George Strake were honored this summer by papal decorations.

Mr. Walter, who had been the Houston Club's Man of the Year, is managing editor of the Houston Chronicle. He was made a Knight of St. Gregory by His Holiness Pope Pius XII. Mr. Walter was one of the American newspaper editors chosen to view results of Nazi atrocities just after V-E Day.

Mr. Strake, elected to the University Board of Lay Trustees in 1944, spent the summer in Rome with his family and was made a Papal Chamberlain. Mr. Strake is an independent oil operator.

Roland S. O'Neill, '14, Buys Indiana Newspaper

Ronald S. O'Neill, '14, member of a three-generation Notre Dame family, has bought the Argos, Ind. Reflector. He and Mrs. O'Neil will edit the weekly.

Mr. O'Neil is the son of William P. O'Neill, '06, of Mishawaka and father of two alumni, William Roland O'Neill, '41, and John P. O'Neill, '48. William is an automobile dealer in Cincinnati and former B-29 pilot with 16 missions over Japan in the first act of World War II.

New Superior General in Salute to Alumni Members

The following letter was sent Alumni Secretary James E. Armstrong by Very Rev. Christopher J. O'Toole, C.S.C., newly elected Superior General of the Holy Cross Order. It was in reply to a congratulatory letter from the Alumni Secretary.

"The Alumni of the University of Notre Dame constitute one of the glories of Holy Cross. Wherever they go, their praises are sung. This is a tribute not only to them personally but to yourself and to your fine organization which has united them so closely throughout the world. My prayer is that our Alumni will grow in prestige and influence and leadership in every possible field and in this way become the leaven of Christianity wherever they may be.

"In the name of the Congregation of Holy Cross I thank them all through you, first of all for the splendid way they are carrying on the spiritual and academic traditions of the University of Notre Dame, and secondly for their great generosity in helping Holy Cross to meet the financial problems that arise in any large educational institution."

Placement Director William R. Dooley Outlines Operation of the New Bureau

With the beginning of the new term on Sept. 14, the Notre Dame Placement Bureau, directed by William R. Dooley, '26, former assistant alumni secretary, began its first complete schoolyear of full-time activity.

Alumni know that placement has been part of Notre Dame for many years past. But it was only on Feb. 1, 1950, that it was established as the full-time activity of one office, with Bill Dooley in charge. New quarters for the Placement Bureau were officially opened in the Main Building on April 13, just after the Easter vacation.

Located in the West Wing of the ground floor of the Main Building (down where the Brownson-Carroll refectories, locker rooms and washrooms are a vivid memory for "old-timers") the placement offices consist of an outer office, a private office for the director, a store room (which retains the marble walls of its former shower room glory) and two interview rooms for the use of numerous personnel representatives who come to the campus to interview seniors and graduate students.

In these offices, Bill Dooley and his chief assistant, Jane Pilarski, confer with hundreds of students and alumni.

What's the objective of the Notre Dame Placement Bureau?

"To help a man help himself," said Bill Dooley. "We know that even in the most favorable circumstances we can't get a job for a man. He has to get it for himself; we are glad to help.

"To provide such help, we offer group counseling, individual counseling, appropriate books and magazines, lists of employers, company literature, regional literature (from Chambers of Commerce), sample letters, sample personal qualification records, printing service, mimeographing service, picture service. All such aids are of course in addition to the employment interviews which we arrange for the campus and the employment contacts which we set up by mail.

"The Testing and Guidance Department, headed by Ed Quinn, '28, is right next door to the Placement Bureau and works in the closest association with it. The test scores and other information compiled for the student during his earlier years in the University are on file in the Testing and Guidance Department and are available to the Placement Bureau."

What can the alumnus, reading this article, do to assist the work of the Placement Bureau?

"His biggest help," answered Bill Dooley, "will be his constant, active interest in the fact that we do have a Placement Bureau at Notre Dame and that we are in a favorable position to help many kinds of employers with their personnel needs. If the alumnus will act upon this information at every opportunity, and pass the information along to others, he will give us a tremendous lift.

"Already in the Placement Bureau we've seen the practical working out of this kind of active interest on the part of alumni. Many members of the June, 1950, class are working now because alumni were responsible for additional employment interviews on the campus last spring.

"Individual alumni can aid the Placement Bureau by (a) encouraging business and industry and employers generally to send personnel representatives to the campus to interview students and (b) by encouraging them to communicate with the Placement Bureau whenever an opening for a college man appears."

What can the individual alumnus who wants to change jobs do through the Placement Bureau?

"His first step should be to write to me, asking for a confidential placement registration form," replied Bill Dooley. "With aid of the information provided in that form I will do two things at least: I will give all possible advice and practical suggestions, and I will keep the registration in an active file in the expectation of matching it with a job opening notification. We do, especially in some fields of employment like engineering and accounting, receive a good many calls for experienced men.

"It is of course imperative that every alumnus registering for placement aid keep his registration up-to-date. We have to know, at least every 60 days, that he is still available. If we don't hear from him, we transfer him to our inactive files."

What about the local Notre Dame club placement committees?

"In the large clubs, there is, or should be, one man especially charged with assisting those local alumni, especially the very recent graduates, who need placement aid. Those alumni who register with the campus Placement Bureau should of course register with the local placement chairman also. In the medium-size and small clubs, the president of the club can normally handle placement aid himself during his term of office."

How Does a University Annually Manage to Spend All of Its Income . . . And Then Some?

By REV. JOHN H. MURPHY, C.S.C.

Several months ago a member of the University administration chanced to look in on the Midwest Hotel Show at the Stevens in Chicago. A lady delegate to the convention, startled at sight of a Roman collar in the Exposition Hall, asked her companion what on earth a Catholic priest could be doing in such surroundings. The companion, who happened to have met the priest on a visit to the campus some time before, replied: "Why, that's Father So-and-so from the University of Notre Dame, and I suppose no one in this room has a more legitimate reason for being here. At Notre Dame they lodge more persons than all save our very largest hotels; and they serve more meals each day than the Palmer House."

Grand Hotel . . .

Truly spoken! Approximately 15,000 meals served daily in the University dining halls and "coffee shops"—cafeteria, Huddle, Rockne Memorial. Upwards of 3,500 young men housed for nine months of the year in thirteen separate residence halls. And in addition, the provision of food and lodging for numerous conventions with attendance ranging from a dozen or two individuals to 1,500 men on three-day retreat—or 2,800 youngsters and their chaperons gathered for a Catholic Student Mission Rally.

The customary soda fountains, cigar counters, news and souvenir stands; the auditoriums, Drill Hall, and Gymnasium readily convertible into assembly and exposition halls. And occasionally one of the large dining halls or the Rockne Memorial magically transformed into a grand ball room for Junior Prom or Sophomore Cotillion.

There are the laundry, the maintenance department, the heating plant, the battery of administrative offices, the public relations department, the "reservations" clerks. There is the army of butchers and bakers, cooks and waiters. There are the maids and janitors, the "house detectives" and house doctors, the carpenters and painters, plumbers and electricians.

The food bill comes to $1,017,500 annually, the milkman alone collecting approximately $6,300 the first of each month. Maids' and janitors' salaries for the year amount to $282,300; their supplies add another $114,000 to the budget. The coal bill comes to $102,000, two carloads a day—or more than 100 tons—being consumed in extremely cold weather. Annual operating costs for the paint shop are $39,200, for the electrical department $35,200, and for the plumbing shop $57,600.

Grand Hotel indeed!

. . . or Big Town?

But perhaps it would be more accurate, in view of the many other departments and operations maintained by a modern university, to speak of Notre Dame not as a hostel but as a municipality of upwards of 5,000 individuals.

Here is a listing of some of the operations of the City of Notre Dame, Indiana. The operating costs of the various departments have been taken from the Budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950.

School system .....	$2,496,500
Administrative and general offices .....	690,100
Health service .....	54,700
Libraries .....	263,300
Recreational and athletic programs .....	616,300
Police and fire protection .....	53,300
Laundry service .....	91,200
Postal service .....	30,000
Telephone and telegraph .....	33,000
Heat, water, sewage disposal .....	223,500

Power and light .....	65,000
Roads and grounds .....	50,000
Publications .....	63,700

Overall Budget Picture

The above is only a partial listing of the University's current expenditures. Space does not permit the giving here of a detailed report of income and expense, but the overall picture may be given briefly as follows (again, the figures are taken from the Budget approved for the current fiscal year):

Income (estimated)

Educational and general (incl. all student fees) .....	$5,435,200
Auxiliary enterprises (athletics, public cafeteria, book store, golf shop, etc.) .....	*1,730,000
Endowment and investments interest .....	125,000
Restricted funds (contracts) .....	527,300

* Net income after expenses: $297,200.

Expenditures (approved)

Salaries and wages (monthly payroll approximately $356,000) .....	$4,274,500
Supplies and expenses .....	2,611,600
Repairs and maintenance .....	200,900
Capital items .....	279,000
Restricted funds (contracts) ..	527,300

$7,893,300

Operating deficit .....$ 75,800

It is worthy of note that educational and general income—including all student fees — falls by approximately $2,500,000 to cover operating costs.

The current Budget with its sizable operating deficit still makes no provision for capital or contingency reserves, or for depreciation. Depreciation, if included, would have increased the operating deficit by some $400,000. However, inability to take it into account is not too disconcerting in view of recent gifts to the University for building purposes.

Athletics

Knute Rockne has become the twelfth sports immortal to be admitted to the Helms Hall of Fame in Los Angeles. The announcement was made by W. R. Schroeder, managing director of the institute.

The Hall of Fame Award will be presented to the University for lodging in the Rockne Memorial Trophy Room. The distinguished company of sports greats includes Walter Camp, Dean Cromwell, Dwight Davis (the Davis Cup donor), Baron Pierre de Coubertin, founder of the modern Olympics, William Garland, who brought the 1932 Olympics to the United States.

Connie Mack, A. A. Stagg, Grantland Rice, Dr. James Naismith, founder of basketball, A. G. Spaulding, and James Sullivan, founder of the AAU, are also included.

Injuries Plague Squad

Injuries have been the big IF in the 1950 football picture.

Paul Burns, junior guard, was the first casualty. He suffered an elbow sprain, according to Hugh Burns (no relation), the athletic trainer. Bob Toneff, junior tackle, wrenched a knee, Billy Barrett sprained an ankle and tackle Bill Flynn was out of action with a hip bruise.

Chet Ostrowski strained a neck muscle to end what Hugh Burns hopes is a plague. The injuries were not severe enough to keep any of the players out of scheduled games, but did sideline them for practice.

"It's just the old law of percentages," Hugh Burns explains. "They catch up with you sooner or later, and I guess this is the year. Fortunately, none of the injuries is severe, but they certainly were more numerous than in any year I've been with the team."

Fr. O'Toole Elected New Superior General of CSC

Very Rev. Christopher J. O'Toole, c.s.c., for the past five years Vice-Provincial of the Indiana Province of the Priests of Holy Cross, was elected Superior General of the Congregation of Holy Cross at the closing session of the Congregation's General Chapter in Rome.

Father O'Toole, whose headquarters will be in New York City, succeeds the Very Rev. Albert F. Cousineau, c.s.c., who has served as Superior General of the Congregation for the past twelve years. Father O'Toole was elected for a six-year term.

Other major changes in the Congregation include the election of the Rev. Theodore J. Mehling, c.s.c., who since 1946 has been President of the University of Portland, Oregon, as Provincial of the Indiana Province of the Priests of Holy Cross. Father Mehling, whose headquarters will be at Notre Dame, succeeds the Rev. Thomas A. Steiner, c.s.c., who has served as Provincial for the past twelve years.

Rev. Howard Kenna, c.s.c., Vice-President in Charge of Academic Affairs at Notre Dame, was elected Assistant Superior General of the Congregation. Father Kenna will have headquarters in New York City.

In the United States Province of the Brothers of Holy Cross, Brother Ephrem O'Dwyer, c.s.c., was reelected to a six-year term as Provincial. Brother Ephrem became the first Provincial of the United States Province in 1946. His headquarters are at Notre Dame.

Father O'Toole received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Notre Dame in 1929, his Bachelor of Philosophy from the University of Louvain in 1939, his Master of Arts from Catholic University of America in 1942, and his Doctorate of Philosophy from Catholic University in 1944.

Father Mehling received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Notre Dame in 1929, and his Master of Arts degree from Notre Dame in 1935. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1933.

The new Assistant Superior General was Director of Studies at Notre Dame from 1944 until 1949, when he was named Vice-President in Charge of Academic Affairs.

Brother Ephrem, a native of Tipperary, Ireland, came to the United States in 1906 and entered the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1907. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Notre Dame in 1923, and his Master of Arts from Notre Dame in 1924.

Alex Wilson, slim as ever and youthful-looking for his 43 years, looks ahead to the indoor track schedule with Val Muscato and Jim Kittell.

Alumni Clubs

Boston

During the weekend of July 14-16, a small group of men attended the club's first retreat, a closed affair conducted by the Holy Cross Fathers at Stonehill College, Northeaston, Mass. Present were Joseph Gartland, Chairman of the Retreat Committee, Jim Dooley, Tom Reid, Dick Herlihy, Neil Fowler, Si Kellett, John Riordan, John Vaughn, Cummings Giardino, Chuck Colton and Harold Noonan. Everyone was much impressed with the arrangements at Stonehill College, and everyone was grateful to Joe Gartland for his large efforts as head of the Retreat Committee.

In a different mood and with a different intent, club members gathered together with their families a month later—on Thursday, August 17—at Riverside Recreation Grounds, Auburndale, Mass. They found that Committee Chairman Mike Manzo had done an especially fine job of making ready for them, assisted by Dick Herlihy (who was in turn assisted by his fiancée, Kathleen, a charming vocalist and a young lady with business acumen—she was the only one present who thought to pick up the cup containing the beer money at day's end.) Several families arrived in time to take advantage of golf facilities and swimming facilities, but the majority began the picnic with supper on the porch of our rented hall overlooking the Charles River. The long-awaited softball contest between Alumni Youngsters and Alumni Old-Timers turned out to be a fairly snug pitchers' duel for two innings, as indicated by the 3-2 score, in favor of the Old-Timers. But in the third double disaster struck the bearded ones: Pitcher-President Jack Duffey suddenly lost his stuff, and the defenses behind him collapsed rather completely. This could only have resulted, and it did result in the kind of thing that happens when the Red Sox engage the St. Louis Browns. The game was soon called because it was too dark, and because the Old-Timers were, apparently, too old.

In attendance at the Picnic were the following families: Mr. and Mrs. Gartland and three children; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Crowley and one child; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marr and six of their seven (attendance prize); Mr. and Mrs. John Moran and three; Jack Nye Duffey; Dick Herlihy and his fiancée, Kathleen; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kelly with their three children and mother-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Marah and three children; Dick Lamere and his younger brother, Jack, who is currently a junior at Notre Dame; Charles Burke, Bill Weir, Louis DiGiovanni and girl friend, Peggy; Mike Conley; Mr. Quigley and son, of Chicago; Chairman Mike Manzo.

—Chuck Patterson, '44, Secretary.

Buffalo

Transit Valley County Club was the scene this year of the Buffalo Club's annual golf party Aug. 29. A heavy morning rain and threatening afternoon clouds cut the crowd total somewhat, but a nice turnout made the tournament anyway.

Chuck Novak won a leg on the club trophy with a low score of 71. Maurice Quinn came in second, one stroke higher than Chuck.

Most of the Old Reliables, like Dan, Paul and Joe Sheedy, Jack McKendry, Jack Kuhlman and Chuck McCarthy were on hand. Coming out for the chicken dinner which followed the golf were Joe Dunn, Tony Brick, Carlos Frank, Chuck Nagel, Jim Seymour, Tom Dowd, Joe Ryan and Bus Pfiel.

Chairman Chuck Ernst won a special prize for the most flubbed drives. Dan and Paul Sheedy both won kicking prizes and Bill Castle's high gross score won him a pound of excellent grass seed. Prizes were donated by the Buffalo Club.

Central New York

The first event of a busy summer season was a Golf-Dinner Party held at the Tuscarora Country Club on Thursday, July 20. This annual party has long been a tradition of the Central New York alumni for it was 25 years ago this summer that an outing of this type was first held. The first golf party, in 1925, consisted of Leo Kelley, Jim Huxford, George "Duke" Kinney, and Bill Sullivan. The four pioneers have not only attend every golf party since then but have been outstanding leaders and participants in every alumni affair through the years. No respect was shown for the "Founding Fathers" in the annual putting contest, however, for Jim Huxford, as defending champ, was ousted by Jim Manning.

On August 18, the "Student Send-Off" was held at the Cavalry Club, near Syracuse. The party was open to alumni, present students, students entering ND this fall, and their parents. One of the highlights of the affair was that all had a chance to meet Johnny Lujack, George Connor, Bill Wightkin, Ernie Zaleski, and Johnny Mastrangelo, all of whom were in town for a pre-season charity game between the Chicago Bears and New York Giants. Joe Bach, taking time off from his coaching duties at St. Bonny's, was also in town for the game and joined the gathering. The students proved they were in much better condition than the slightly aging alumni by trouncing the grads in the annual softball game. As president of the student club, Floyd Blair, holds the trophy until next year's "Send-Off." The outing was very well attended and very successful, due to the efforts of Bill Kelley, Ted Kelley, and Jack Terry, who collaborated as co-chairmen.

Meanwhile ticket sales have been going well in the raffle of Michigan State-ND game tickets. Co-chairmen Paul Lonergan and Phil Kelley expect this year's sale to top last year's North Carolina-ND raffle. The next get-together will be for the drawing of the winning tickets, to which all alumni and friends are invited. The drawing will be held Oct. 11, at "The Chateau," in Syracuse.

The club lost one of its most active members, and one of the officers elected for this year when Bill Cate, vice-president, left Syracuse for Detroit. Ed Kenefake was elected by the Board of Directors to serve in Bill's place.

A great honor was bestowed upon one of our club members and officers, when the Rev. Joseph B. Toomey was elevated to the rank of monsignor by His Holiness Pope Pius XII. Word of the appointment was released by the Most Rev. Walter A. Foery, Bishop of Syracuse on Sept. 5. Monsignor Toomey has been Director of Catholic Charities for the Diocese of Syracuse since 1943, and is a member of many committees on charities and social welfare on the state and national level, as well as the local.

In the social news department, Bill Dwyer was recently married to the former Miss Eileen Marie Cappon, in St. Anthony of Padua Church, in Syracuse. Bill has since been recalled to active duty by the Navy, and is now at Norfolk, Va. The engagement of Paul W. "Bill" Kelley, Jr., to Miss Sally O'Byrne, of Syracuse, was announced during the past month. Bob Taylor is accepting congratulations on the birth of a daughter, in August.

Columbus

Recent activities of the Columbus Club:

Summer activities of the local club were climaxed by a fish fry held on September 8th at the City Country Club. The affair was very well attended

The loud shirt belongs to Athletic Trainer Hugh Burns, who has his own two-platoon system now: Kevin and Kathleen, born Aug. 27.

Krause Got a 98 — Hinkle Kept Score

with some 50 members being present. Harry Nester being general chairman and doing an excellent job.

Regular meetings were not held during the summer months but were resumed in September. The Club has concluded all arrangements for the special train from Columbus to Cleveland for the Navy game.

Many of the present students attended the fish fry and the club appreciates their interest and co-operation.

Connecticut Valley

If this club has been absent from the Club Section of the "Alumnus" in recent issues it's simply that we had no summer club activities.

With the advent of cool weather, however, we'll be more active, as witness the current program:

A Sept. 11 business meeting at Hotel Bond in Hartford.

A club outing in New England's crisp autumn air, complete with corn roast, steamed clams, fat man races, etc. Club President Matt Meskell has a proposed program which will be reported on more fully in forthcoming issues.

Dayton

The Dayton club is going to have a chicken-in-the-rough dinner on September 21, at which time we will raffle the five prizes which are four (4) tickets to each of the Notre Dame home games. The purpose of the raffle is to start an Alumni Fund.

Cleveland

The Notre Dame Club of Cleveland has had the most successful and enjoyable summer on record. The Annual Golf Party on July 27th set a new attendance record with 121 for golf and a total of 139 at dinner. Held at the beautiful Elyria Country Club and co-chairmanned by Larry Kral, '31, and Doc Al O'Brien, '33, with the usual fine help from John Chapla, the event will long be remembered for the excellence of weather, golf, dinner and prizes.

Over 60 prizes rewarded golfers and diners, with Tom Kennedy, '47 (ex-Cap't. of the ND golf team) walking with the honors with a 73; and Dr. O'Brien close behind with 75. Ed "Moose" Krause attended the gala affair and made an informal and interesting talk after dinner, explaining rather convincingly why we would lose 5 or 6 football games this fall. Father "Mike" Moriarity showed movies of last year's golf party; and a goodly sum was raised by a benefit for the Notre Dame Foundation.

On Sunday, August 13, from 2 p. m. till shadows fell, and children nodded, the Annual Family Picnic was held at Gilmour Academy. Over 200 Notre Dame men, their wives and children gathered for this increasingly popular affair. There were games and contests, prizes and refreshments for all. Our Lady saw to it that the weather was perfect. The ground crew consisted of Norm McLeod, '29, as Chairman, and Dick Tupta, '43, and Vic Gulyassy, '42.

As a finale of the summer festivities, the Cleveland Club of Notre Dame held their 21st Annual Summer Dance. Advertised as the "Dream Ball" by able chairman George Hammer, it was certainly that. Over 100 couples danced to the music of George Duffy at the Hotel Statler. To club presy Bernie Endres and his student helpers goes a sincere "well done." And Mrs. Jack Elder and her committee of wives were responsible for the large alumni turnout.

Towards the end of July a surprise visitor to the Best Location in the Nation, was Rev. John H. Murphy, C.S.C. He was entertained at an informal dinner at Rohr's Restaurant by the officers of the Club and a group of alumni hurriedly rounded up by telephone. Those who attended were treated to a clear and valuable forecast of the Foundation's work—an ever better Notre Dame. Father Murphy's knack for remembering names—and nick-names—his ready wit and profound knowledge make him a wonderful emissary, a Jim Farley, of Notre Dame. Every alumni club should book him at least once.

NAVY WEEK-END NOV. 4th

The Notre Dame Club of Cleveland welcomes all alumni, wives and guests to our fair city for the Notre Dame-Navy contest. Great plans now being completed assure you of an enjoyable week-end. Tentative plans call for a big rally and informal dance in the Rainbow Room, Hotel Carter, Friday night, November 3. Also, Saturday night, same hotel, an informal Victory Dance.

Out-of-town guest may make reservations, locate old friends or since-forgotten roommates by writing to:

Denver

A pleasant change was sad by the members when they held their July meeting at Ernie's Supper Club. A delicious dinner was enjoyed by all before the meeting. Jim Hanlon, Chairman of the Football Committee, gave a report on the plans being formulated for the Football Special Trains for the Michigan State game at South Bend on October 28 and the Southern California game at Los Angeles on December 2nd.

There will be two tickets for the Southern California game raffled off as announced by Frank Conway, Chairman of the Raffle Committee.

Work on the Club directory, as announced by club president Tom Currigan, is progressing satisfactorily and the finished product should be completed in the very near future. A sound film of all action of the 1949 World Series of baseball between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers was shown by John V. Coyne, club vice-president.

In August the Annual Scholarship Award Winner was announced by the chairman, Charles Haskell. The winner this year is John J. O'Hara, a graduate of Regis High School in Denver, and a nephew of Bart W. O'Hara, Class of 1932. The Scholarship is valued at $500 and will be applied to the recipient's first year expenses at Notre Dame. The fund is established by the proceeds from special trains sponsored by the club to Notre Dame football games.

Detroit

On Wednesday, July 12, the Notre Dame Club of Detroit held its annual golf party at Bonnie Brook Country Club. Tom Sheehan and Marvin Martin were co-chairmen and there were about 50 who played golf and stayed for dinner and the evening.

Guests from the University included Rev. John

H. Murphy, C.S.C., vice-president in charge of public relations; John N. Cackley, Jr., Foundation Staff Director and Athletic Trainer Hugh Burns. Rev. John M. Dupuis, C.S.C., philosophy teacher at King's College, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was also there.

One feature of the evening was the presentation by Louis E. Guise of Detroit to the University of the compass and compensator salvaged from the trimotor plane in which Knute Rockne was killed March 31, 1931.

Fort Lauderdale

New officers of the Fort Lauderdale Club are: Bill Wilkenson, '29, president; Jim Evert, '48, vice-president; John Sullivan, '31, treasurer; George Gore, '48, secretary.

The club holds a regular meeting the first Wednesday evening of every month. These are dinner meetings and every other meeting is open to wives and feminine guests. The club officers extend a hearty welcome to all visiting alumni and friends who are in our vicinity and wish to attend any of our meetings. Just call George Gore at Fort Lauderdale 2-3665.

At the last club meeting president Bill Wilkenson announced the results of a recent election whereby Fred Stewart, '14, was elected Notre Dame Man of the Year for the club. Incidentally friends and classmates of Fred may be interested to know that he is recovering from a five week hospital stay where he had a series of operations. He is now on recuperation in Georgia. Mail for Fred will reach him at Hogansville, Ga., c/o E. W. Hines.

New club members attending the August meeting were Jack Sewell, '49; Bill Burkhardt, '31, and Bob Muncil, '50.

Fox Valley (Ill.)

On Sept. 1, 1950, at the Lake Country Club in Crystal Lake, Ill., the Notre Dame Club of the Fox Valley met for its annual golf and dinner outing. Thirty-five attended. Father McCormack of Crystal Lake was elected chaplain of the Club for the following year.

Father Mendez

Anaya Dead-Pans a Witticism

Frank McCarthy of '06 was recognized as the oldest active member in the club.

Fox River Valley (Wis.)

The Family Picnic highlighted the activities of the Fox River Valley Notre Dame club. It was held at Menominee Park, Oshkosh, on the last Sunday in July and was attended by about 50 members, wives, children and guests.

Largest family present was the James Kraus family, mother, father and 9 little Kraus'. President Bob Bernard wasn't too far behind with his 5 boys. The children had a potato race, relay race and backward race and played softball, while the adults stuck to softball and conversation.

It was Dutch treat, with refreshments available. Among those present were: John Brunke, Fred Christman, John Christman, Fred Heinritz, Russ Skall, Dick Stack, Gus Zuehlke, Richard Dungan, Dan Garvey, William Wenzel, and Tom Frawley of Appleton; William and Joseph Fieweger, Jim Asmuth, Bob Bernard, Ralph Caston, Richard Kelly, James Kraus, and Bernard Leroy of Nennah-Menasha; Tim McCarty and Neil McCarty of Kaukauna; Charles Fiss and James Marheine of Oshkosh. Arrangements were made by Joseph Fieweger, Dick Stack and Chuck Fiss.

The club presented a Spiritual Bouquet to R. J. Fieweger, father of William Fieweger, '36, and Joseph Fieweger, '43, who died September 5th. Each member offered his Holy Communion Sunday, Sept. 10, for the repose of his soul. Mr. Fieweger, president of the Bank of Menasha, was very devoted to Our Lady's school.

Grand Rapids

The Notre Dame Club of Grand Rapids and Western Michigan held its annual summer outing at John Prawdzik's farm and cottage at Stewart Point, Spring Lake, Michigan, on Saturday, July 15.

The affair was a large success and credit should be given Charles Duffy and his committee. Besides the usual outdoor fun at such gatherings extra entertainment was provided in the form of movies of six actual horse races. In each race the guests placed their bets, odds being calculated on a parimutuel basis. Several were winners. The club is indebted to Bob Woodhouse and George Weiss for putting up such a unique program.

Recently the committee headed by Joe Moore to revamp the club constitution met at Joe's home and the proposed revisions were presented the membership at the fall meeting Sept. 19 at the K. of C. clubhouse. Committee members serving with Joe are Ed Dunne, Jim McDermott and Bob Linsey.

From this stronghold of Michigan partisans, the club is chartering four buses to the Michigan State game.

Indianapolis

August 29's golf party at Highland had quite a turnout—85 for golf and 125 for dinner. On the Highland course were quite a few celebrities, including Archbishop Paul C. Schulte, of Indianapolis.

His Excellency was tied with 79 with Leo Barnhorst and John Kiley, the 1948 winner of the tournament. Moose Krause came in at 93, in a foursome that included two other athletic directors: Paul Hinkle of Butler and Guy Mackey of Purdue. Hinkle shot an 83 and Mackey 81.

Bob Kirby was toastmaster at the dinner following the tournament and did his usual fine job. Guests from the University included James E. Armstrong, Alumni Secretary, William R. Dooley, Placement Director for the University and Father James Norton, C.S.C., acting vice-president in Charge of Academic Affairs.

Winner of the P. C. Reilly Memorial Trophy was Paul Schrenker of Anderson. He shot a seven-over-par 77 for the prize. Father George Holderith, C.S.C., University golf coach shot one stroke over Schrenker's 77 to lead the guests who played.

Louisville

Joint Summer Outing was held July 29th with Xavier (Cincinnati, Ohio) Club of Kentucky and was the largest turnout in three years since our merge for a summer picnic.

Colonel Fehr, member of Notre Dame's first football team was present and in good health. He is very active for his age.

Oscar Von Allmen, Club Secretary, left for active duty August 28th with the Marines. John E. Mack, '40, 2041 Tyler Lane, Louisville, will fill the office for the balance of the year.

Plans for North Carolina and Michigan State football train trips are progressing nicely with a sizable number of reservations in for both games.

Orphan Car under supervision of Frank Bloemer has arrangements in hand. This year 70 orphans again representing Catholic and non-Catholic orphanages will make the North Carolina trip.

Memphis

Finally gathered a bit of news about the Notre Dame Club and its members here and some of the activities which have taken place.

First of all the annual Notre Dame Club Picnic was held on August 26 and the Club's new president, Eugene Podesta, '48, arranged a fine party with plenty of beer and barbecue for all. Some of those who attended were Dorsey Mathis and Phil Canale, '40, Jim Welsh, '41, Galvin Hudson, Jerry Foley, Louis Sampson, Pat Burke, Bob Barry, Bob Buzan, Raffey Mulroy, and lots of others. Msgr. F. M. Kearney, Club Chaplain, also was present having just returned from Rome, Italy, where he had a special audience with the Pope and celebrated Mass in many of the famous chapels and churches in the area, including the main altar at St. Peter's. Also at the picnic were several who are entering the University this fall.

Galvin Hudson and P. A. McPhillips, Foundation Fund leaders in Tennessee and Memphis, have called their first meeting for the Fall period to organize their forces to insure continued contributions and support of the Foundation program.

Every Notre Dame alumnus here says he is going to the Tulane-ND game at New Orleans, Oct. 14.

Plans are already underway for a Notre Dame Banquet during the Christmas holidays.

Noteworthy Achievements: Fred Bauer, Jr.—One of five elected to the traffic advisory committee of Memphis. Michael J. McCormack, '99, a member of the new Notre Dame 50-Year Club.

Mexico City

Saludas!

To our south of the border alumni, on their formation, last Aug. 9 of a Mexico City Notre Dame Alumni Club. Prime mover in the organization was Father Alfred F. Mendez, C.S.C., who got the club off to a start with 27 members.

Rafael N. Gomez, '27; Felipe del Hoyo, '05; W. E. Jasper, '27; Ed C. Labatthe, '32; Richard C. Leon, '47; Emilio Longoria, '45; Armand Lopez, '41; John M. McGrath, '07.

G. Alvarez Morphy, '31; Lucio F. Muniaín, '33; Harry Newning, '14; Carlos Palomino, '27; Jorge Palomino, '27; Roberto C. Rosales, '47; Henry J. Sullivan, '46, and J. E. Vera, '10.

Club officers are: Telmo De Landero, president; Harry Newning, honorary president; Vincent I. Gomez, secretary.

Founding of the club was marked by a dinner at Mexico City's University Club Aug. 9. Reports Father Mendez:

"Mr. C. Crowley, dad of Dennis and Charles at Notre Dame, sent the President's 'Mariochi' players to serenade us. They even played the Victory March—did we sing!"

Michigan City (Indiana)

The Michigan City Club's Irish Greens party this year featured, as usual, golf at the Long Beach Country Club, refreshments on the course and a 16-ounce sirloin steak dinner in the evening.

Three hundred played golf, competing for a share in prizes that totalled $1,200 in value. Rev. John H. Murphy, C.S.C., vice-president in charge of public relations, represented the University. Alumni Secretary James E. Armstrong drove his new Studebaker into Michigan City, but arrived too late to play golf.

Prizes were distributed to winners by the platoon system. Alumni Director and second vice-president Joe Boland alternated with John Carmichael, sports editor of the Chicago "Daily News" in the task. The tournament was in the hands of a committee headed by Dr. Cy Wojak, Hugh (Athletic Trainer) Burns, and club vice-president Walt Timm.

Sports publicity director Charlie Callahan, assistant coaches John Druze and Bill Earley and Fathers James Carey, C.S.C., and George Holderith, C.S.C., also represented the University. Paul Neville, South Bend "Tribune" sports editor sampled the golf course during the day.

Our club is planning a trip for the Indiana game at Bloomington, Oct. 21. We expect to have 300 reservations this time. Last year's trip to the Purdue game at Lafayette was such a big success that the club decided to make this an annual affair.

Milwaukee

The Notre Dame Club of Milwaukee has been active during the summer. First we salute and congratulate Glenn Mast of the class of 1949 who was married to Elizabeth Ann Hahn on July 15 in South Bend.

On July 27 the annual Notre Dame Golf Jam-boree, under the able direction of our former president Bill Malanzy, was held for Notre Dame men and their guests at the Port Washington Country Club. A record turnout made the entire day a great success. The golf tournament was followed by a steak dinner at which prizes were awarded. Donations from various members of prizes made almost everyone a lucky winner.

Miami

One of the finest turnouts for a regular monthly meeting heard Gene Ellenson, University of Miami Line Coach, address the Alumni group on Thursday night at the Miamian Restaurant. Those who failed to attend missed one of the most entertaining talks the Club has heard in quite some time. Ellenson pointed out the many difficulties encountered in accomplishing the growth the University of Miami has realized in the football world. Ellenson expressed the hope that ND will be willing to schedule the U. of M. within the next few years and that ND alumni of Greater Miami will assist towards the goal.

The program chairman for the September meeting is George Brautigam and Georgie says he will provide us with a program that will top the August session. An invitation will be extended to the Fort Lauderdale Club to attend our next monthly meeting. This will be the first of a series of inter-club visits by various ND clubs in Florida.

A building is being proposed by several alumni of various universities to house all activities of all Alumni groups in the area. If such a project could become a reality there is no doubt it would be a tremendous success. Probst and Brautigam were appointed as a committee to further determine such a possibility.

Jocko Conlan, Fr. d. Jon's and Dick Sadowski are still working on the Football airtrips for the Tulane and Michigan State games.

The annual Notre Dame picnic was a great success with approximately 60 or so in attendance. A full course meal with seconds and thirds of barbecued chicken was the high spot of the day not to mention all the soft drinks you could consume for free. The kids did a wonderful job on this. (Note: For those who made reservations and cancelled them after reservations had been made with the Caterer the ND Club still had to pay the shot even though you couldn't come and even though you had the best reason in the world. However, if you do not feel it equitable to pay for something you didn't get then please advise it! Freddie Jones and the Club will foot the expense.)

On September 5 at the September meeting the movie "Notre Dame Football Highlights of 1949" was shown and plans for the Fall dance were discussed.

New members to the club roster include: Bob Dudenhaefer, 4021 N. Downer Street, Milwaukee; Gerald Gaffney, 7225 W. Burleigh, Milwaukee; Bob Raaf, 3240 N. 54th Street, Milwaukee, and Maurice G. Olson, 1110 W. Parnell Avenue, Hales Corners, Wisconsin.

We will try to get some pictures for the next issue.

Mohawk Valley

Our organization sponsored a dinner Sept. 7 for this area's undergraduates and those matriculating at the University this fall. The event was held at the Golden Teapot Inn, just outside Utica.

Fifteen of these younger Notre Dame men attended and the evening came off very well, thanks to co-chairmen Jack O'Rourke and Michael McGuire, Jr.

In November we are having a dinner dance for wives and guests of club members. This event is planned to be staged at Twin Ponds. At last year's party we all had a grand time and practically all of the area alumni showed up.

All the club members are looking forward to the football season and seeing those five games on television. We are having a club get together on those Saturday afternoons and will provide the team with a cheering section "in absentia."

Planning for Football Broadcasts in New York

Jim McGoldrick (left), captain of the '38 team, John Hickock, eastern district manager of Hotpoint, Inc., which will sponsor radio broadcasts of Notre Dame games, Norman Boggs, executive vice-president of Station WMCA and New York Club president Jim Sheils conferring on the program for the New York area.

Frank Linehan, club secretary at Schenectady and secretary to the State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus is back in town (Utica) for a short stay working on a class for a third degree in honor of Monsignor McCarthy who has been quite ill the past six months.

Nebraska

At our June meeting it was decided to have bi-monthly business meetings, and, during alternate months, have social meetings. For our first social get-together, Adrian Micek of Fremont invited all members of the Alumni Association as well as the Campus club members to be his guests at his camp for a stag.

On August 25 we attended the party at Adrian's place on the Platte River. The 35 in attendance included alumni members, several campus club members and some of their dads.

One of our most active members, Jack Finnigan, has put his Marine uniform back on and has left us.

New Jersey

What the world needs today is "more good minds and fewer stratospheric intellects," Dean James E. McCarthy of the College of Commerce told a group of new Notre Dame students at the Military Park Hotel, Newark, on Sept. 7. Dean McCarthy spoke at the annual Freshmen Welcome of the Notre Dame Club of New Jersey.

"All the scientific progress of the last five hundred years has not made the world a better place to live in," the Dean declared, "Spiritually we have been losing more than we have been gaining."

Dan McCarthy blamed the threatened failure of American leadership in this period of grave world crisis on the weakened moral fibre of the people themselves. Our leaders, he pointed out, are not a class set apart. Their faults and their shortcomings are a reflection of our own.

Dean McCarthy scored modern education for its neglect in training moral, responsible leaders. Never in history, he said, have there been so many well trained men in the world and so few with proper education in the real meaning of the word.

At Notre Dame, the Dean told the prospective freshmen, they would be linked "with the great tradition of Christian citizenship," which Notre Dame men all over the world have cherished since the founding of the University.

More than 200 Jersey alumni, and new students attended the affair. Parents of freshmen were also guests.

A movie of the thrill-packed Southern Methodist game was shown. Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame football immortal, who now coaches the Paterson Panthers, spoke.

Joseph Abbott, of Paterson, president of the Jersey alumni announced that the club's raffle of tickets to the Michigan State and Navy games would be held on October 23. He also announced plans for the annual Communion breakfast at the Alexander Hamilton Hotel, Paterson, on December 10.

Alfred Zmijewski, of Newark, star tackle on the 1949 team, was chairman of the affair. Elmer Matthews of South Orange was vice-chairman.

New Orleans

TULANE GAME RALLY

This year's Tulane game is the last of the current series and to make the occasion a memorable one for alumni coming to New Orleans a rally on the eve of the contest is being sponsored by the New Orleans Club.

THE TIME: 9 p. m. till midnight.

THE PLACE: Grand Ballroom, Hotel Roosevelt, New Orleans.

THE PRICE: $3.00 per person, tax included. If you or friends are planning to take in the game, make a check or money order payable to the Notre Dame Club of New Orleans and mail it to:

Mrs. Alma B. Pellier, 624 Gravier, New Orleans, La.

Make certain the address to which the rally tickets are to be sent is shown.

The Tulane game has been designated as this season's student trip, and an expected 500 students, including the band will be on hand. The rally will include dancing, entertainment, and a pep session. Ticket orders will be filled as received.

LAST ITEM: Price of admission does not include food or refreshments. Beverage facilities will be available.

New York City

The June meeting of the Club at the Biltmore on June 27th brought to the speakers stand one Frank Leahy—and a mighty meeting it was. Approximately 400 members and guests were on hand to brave the tears and wails of the Fearless One and fire questions in an effort to find out what we have in store come the 30th of September and North Carolina. In all, the meeting was one of the biggest of the year and shows promise of things to come in the way of attendance.

Formal meetings for the summer months were abandoned some time back but various activities persisted. On August 11th 26 of the club's stalwarts went into the real estate business in Tuckahoe and proceeded to move considerable quantities of God's geography from one spot to another in the form of divots at the Leewood Golf Club. Again Jack Hoyt was the affable host, making complete arrangements and seeing to details that all enjoyed. Genial Jack Q. Adams knocked off the low gross honors with a 77, and that, on a rugged long course, is good golf in any man's league. Johnnie Abbatemarco proved to the rest of us that he could swing more often in the course of the day before settling down to a wonderful dinner provided by a fine non-alumnus friend, and president of Leewood.

As this goes to the mails, Frank Conforti is hard at work arranging details of a Pre-School Dance for alumni, students and incoming freshmen from the Metropolitan area to take place at the Biltmore on September 8th. Frank was the overseer of this affair last year and if he does the same job again this year then our worries are over on its being a success.

Despite the fact that we haven't a game here in New York this year, plans for the coming Fall meetings prove interesting already. Jack Lavelle will again m.c. the "Kick-Off" meeting in September at the Biltmore—and to the fellow in this area who hasn't been on hand to hear Jack recite the lore of football that is his own brand has missed an evening's entertainment incomparable. October will bring about the annual football trip—this year to campus for the Michigan State game on October 28th. November will bring on the Communion Breakfast and December is in the making now . . . but that's for another issue.

Northern California

Club officers and committeemen are busying themselves with two oncoming events. The first is a "listening in" party to be held in the early part of October. Arrangements are now being made for a suitable place to partake of refreshments and food while listening to a Notre Dame game. Club members will be informed by mail just as soon as the date is set.

The second event concerns the ND-USC game trip to be sponsored by the Notre Dame Club of No. Calif. At a recent officers and directors meeting held at Paul Cushing's home, President Bill Daley announced that plans are well under way. A first class trip is being arranged in conjunction with the Southern Pacific Railway. Price of trip will include ticket to game, train fare, hotel accommodations in downtown Los Angeles, bus fare and baggage transfer. In conjunction, a ticket to the University of San Francisco and Loyola game scheduled the following Sunday may be had if desired. Cost of this trip is pegged somewhere around $55. Full information will be announced to members in the near future.

A Notre Dame Pennant has been presented to the club by Joe Beh. Future club meetings and affairs will now be enlivened by the blue and gold.

Some of the members got together for an outdoor picnic at Adobe Creek in Los Altos. Among them were Bill Daley, Jim Rowland, Frank Perez, Joe Beh, Bob Tarver and Don Miller. This group of hearty athletes was spotted on the basketball court, on the football field, in the swimming pool and around the barbecue pit. We understand the women helped the boys into the car and had to assume the wheel home. This once-a-year workout can be rough on the muscles . . . eh?

Northcentral Missouri

Through the efforts of Lowell (Red) Hagan, a meeting of Northcentral, Mo., Notre Dame Alumni was held August 30, 1950, at Miss Morris' cabin five miles north of Mexico, Missouri, for the purpose of entertaining future Notre Dame men, who will enroll at Notre Dame in the fall of 1950. These outstanding boys of northcentral Missouri and their dads enjoyed the afternoon and evening visiting with each other and Notre Dame Alumni. They were served barbecue ribs prepared by Notre Dame's Alumni-at-large, Doc Rhodes, who really turned out a fine meal.

Those present were: Ed Short and son Tommy Short, Moberly, Mo., Vince Sodon and son Jerry Sodon, Hannibal, Mo., Dan Haffner and son Yates Haffner of Hannibal, Mo., and Ed O'Brien and son Bob O'Brien of Mexico, Mo.

The Alumni present were: Orland Yates '35, Dick Heiser '43, Al Heiser '49, Francis Hannegan all of Hannibal, Missouri, Jack Pearl '47, Norv Hunt-hausen '40, Miss Morris '40, Lowell Hagan '34 all of Mexico, Missouri, Bill O'Keefe '27, Moberly, Mo.

Also present were Kenneth Sheau, Hannibal, Mo. '32 and his dad, Kenneth Sheau, Sr., and Bill O'Keefe, Jr. '63.

Northern New York

Our Northern New York Club members are so widely scattered, it makes it somewhat difficult to send along much news.

Our president, Father Don Gallagher, is a very busy man. Along with his many other duties, he was appointed Diocesan Director of those visiting Rome during the Holy Year.

Clyde Lewis, National Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the past year, has done a remarkable job. We are all very proud of him.

Judge Con Carey has returned to private law practice.

Ralph Cardinal has purchased the Northern New York Hardware Co. in Malone.

Paul Patton has his football candidates out at St. Lawrence University. Paul did a fine job last year—his football and hockey teams were terrific.

Larry Hodge of Massena, who attended Notre Dame in the late twenties, is the new president of the St. Lawrence Club, K. of C. Council No. 1141.

The tentative date for our annual election and get-together is Tuesday, October 10th, at the Hollywood Inn, on beautiful Chateaugay Lake.

Ohio Valley

Until recently the local club was more or less a social group, but now we have our sights on a target.

We intend either to send a contribution to the Notre Dame Foundation or to set up a scholarship for some local boy. The club is not as yet agreed to which project it will be. However, we have started to raise funds.

First, we raffled two tickets to the Navy game; sold the raffle tickets at a quarter apiece and made a satisfactory realization on the project. We have not yet decided by membership vote on the next fund-raiser; however, we are mulling over the notion of raffling an automobile.

Next year we plan to add an all-expense round trip to the Pitt game tickets in the annual club football raffle.

Oregon

The July "Alumnus" deadline found six Notre Dame Club of Oregon men making the first annual Club retreat at Loyola House of Retreats, Portland. Four of the Board of Directors—Fred Cunningham, '30, Tom Magee, '32, President Oscar Quoid-bach, '48, and ex-President Pete Sandrock, '39,—were joined by Ken Kirby, '42, and Bob Molin, '40, in launching the Club on this excellent annual spiritual exercise. All are indebted to Rev. Joseph Grady, S.J., for his most helpful leadership.

Another "first" marked with greater success was the Summer Round-Up, held July 31 in the parish hall of the Downtown Chapel, Portland. Sixty alumni and present students and their parents got acquainted and enjoyed the 1949 football "Highlights," narrated by Bill Schmitt, '04, Notre Dame Foundation District Governor, who saw most of the games in person. The response to this "trial balloon" was most encouraging. The interest of students and their parents, who were "anxious to know more of what Notre Dame is like" suggests more of the same.

As a gesture of cooperation with another Catholic agency, the showing was open to seamen-guests of the Catholic Maritime Club. We appreciate the help of Mr. John Curry, club director, Rev. Jerome Schmitt, pastor, and Miss Estelle Callahan, secretary of the Downtown Chapel, in arranging this first Round-Up. In keeping with Oregon's scenic advantages and excellent public parks (C. of C. Adv.), perhaps next year will see this become an outdoor affair.

We welcomed two June '50 graduates, Jim Makris, Phil Meany, and newcomers Bill Meagher, '48, Randolph Rice, '16, and Pete Trinker, '48. Bill is now in the credit department of the U. S. National Bank (Main Branch) and Rudie is an accountant with the U. S. Maritime Administration. Pete has joined the sales staff of Van Camp Seafood and is associated here with his brother, Tom, '47.

Word has it that Francis Dart, M.S., '39, has joined the Physics Department at the University of Oregon and that Ray Martin, '50, has moved from Toledo, Ohio, to Apt. E, 315 Chadwick St., Roseburg, Oregon. Welcome, Frank and Ray! Let's hear from you. . . . Jim Rowland, '48, picks up his mail at the Multnomah Hotel, Portland, between field trips for Gold Seal Wax.

Congratulations to Dick Volkstedt, '50, of McMinnville, on his recent marriage to the sister of Dick Windshar, '51, also of McMinnville. The Volkstedts are making their home in Medford (Vollstedt-Kerr Lumber Co., Medford Hotel) and we're counting on Dick to dig up some more ND men among the tall timber of southern Oregon.

The cigars were on Hugh Lacey, Jr., '49, and the first-grandchild smile on Hugh, Sr., ex '16, on the arrival of Claudia Marilyn on August 8 at Portland. Mother and daughter are well.

Al Gross, '46, has been taking graduate work this summer at Ohio State. He returns to his teaching post at University of Portland this Fall.

Charlie Hirschbuhl, '22, and his Monarch Forge and Machine Works were recently successful bidders on a large U. S. contract for machine tools.

Philadelphia

As usual, another last minute summary from the Philadelphia club.

On Thursday, Sept. 7, we had a nice turnout of students for our Father and Son Night. The high spot of the evening was the showing of the club's new football movie. We had this movie made from the news reel pictures of all the Notre Dame games. Sort of our own Highlights of 1949.

Our purpose is to show it in and around Philadelphia during the current season to create more interest in Notre Dame and particularly the Philadelphia Club. We are sending out notices to various organizations throughout the city informing them of the picture and setting up a schedule of showings. Any other Notre Dame clubs that are interested in showing the film can obtain information by writing the Philadelphia president, AMBROSE F. DUDLEY, 1123 N. 63rd St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dan Young is compiling a club directory and club members are asked to notify Bill Burns, (secretary) at 520 Ott Rd., Cynwyd, Pa., of any address changes. Another addition to club functions is our own listing in the Philadelphia phone directory. Looks good to see that "Notre Dame Club of Philadelphia, 52 N. 2nd St., Market 7-4987." Use the number if you're in town and we'll see if you won't like Philadelphia.

COMING EVENTS

Pittsburgh

The second annual family picnic was held July 20 at the Lodge in North Park. Over 100 attended and enjoyed the day of activity and fun. All facilities of the park were available and special games and contests were provided for the children. A delicious picnic menu was prepared and refreshments were served throughout the day. Eugene Coyne, the general chairman, deserves special credit for his efforts to promote a good party. Since he inaugurated the affair in 1949 as president, he was considered the best man to run this year's event. As assistants, he had Neil Galone, Joe Pops, and Jack Monteverde, who proved to be very helpful.

This family picnic has been so successful during the past two years that it is pretty certain to be continued in coming years. It provides an opportunity for members' wives and families to get together and it brings out members who do not show up too frequently at other events.

The second golf-party and dinner of the year was given on August 17 at the Highland Country Club. This affair was not as well attended as it should have been. Golf started at 1:00 p. m. and about 20 members had a fine day to see what they could do about a fairly difficult course. The best scores were turned in by Joe Totten, Jack Sheedy and Don Fitzpatrick. Two golf prizes, drawn by lot, went to Bill O'Brien and Dick Sheridan. Roast beef dinners were served about 7:30 p. m. to an increased number who had come out later for the dinner. Music was provided throughout the evening and the Highlights of the Pittsburgh Steeler football games during 1949 were shown. General opinion was that this was a fine all-around party and it was only too bad that so many members could not make it. Arrangements were capably handled (as usual) by Carl Link and he was helped by Gene Coyne and Larry Smith.

Those in attendance not already mentioned included Jack Monteverde, John McMahon, Larry O'Toole, Gene Coyne, Mike Sheridan, Dick O'Toole, Bucky McArdle, Pinky Martin, Leo Burby, Lee Kirby, Tom Kirby, George Kingsley, Bob Chamberlain, Sam West, Alex Lesko, Ray Srsic, Bill Steitz, Al Felts, several guests, and R. V. Fulton, secretary. A buffet lunch will be served following the program.

A supper meeting is tentatively scheduled for late October, a communion breakfast for Notre Dame Communion Sunday, and a dance during the holiday season, are the activities that are being planned by the officers.

St. Louis

In June the Club had a very interesting meeting wherein football highlight films were shown and there was a very interesting informative commentary given by Hugh Burns of the University.

There will be a meeting in the very near future to enable the entering freshmen of this area to meet the upperclassmen.

Hank Dahm is chairman of the scholarship raffle this year, and he expects to start his project in the very near future.

The Club picnic for the members and their families was held on September 10, and Bob Concannon was chairman.

Jerry McDermott has been transferred to New York City, as result the Club is losing a very outstanding member who has devoted a great amount of effort to the Club, and at present is a Board member.

Tom Tracy who is also a Board member, and has been very active in the Club during the time he has been in St. Louis, has been promoted to General Sales Manager of the Merck Chemical Company, and is leaving for New Jersey in the near future. We will miss both of these gentlemen a great deal.

The Club is sponsoring a special train to the Michigan State game, we have been informed by Fred McNeill, who is chairman of the committee.

Saginaw

We're pleased to pass along the word that the Saginaw Valley Notre Dame Club is making an earnest effort to stimulate interest in Notre Dame throughout the eastern part of Michigan. Last June we enjoyed a club picnic at Linwood Beach, on Saginaw Bay.

Our sights are now set on Oct. 28, the date of the Michigan State game. Our local club, in conjunction with the local Michigan State alumni is running an excursion to the game and interest in this locality concerning the contest was at fever pitch even before the ticket sale began.

We plan to use the proceeds of this venture to further the cause of the Notre Dame Foundation. From early indications the excursion seems destined for quite a measure of success. Our membership is continually rising and the coming year should be a banner year for us.

Schenectady

At a meeting held in July the new officers for the club were elected. They are: president, Bill Leonard, '49, 1046 Baker Ave.; vice-president, Bob Eckel, '49, 814 Stanley St.; secretary-treasurer, Frank Linehan, '45; Board of Governors, Dr. J. B. Phillips, '37, 783 Wright Ave. All are from Schenectady. An active year is planned by the officers for the club.

The first event that the club sponsored was a Family Picnic on Aug. 26th, for alumni, students, parents and friends of Notre Dame. It was a very successful affair with over thirty families attending. Although rain caused the cancellation of the novelty races and a softball game, indoor games were enjoyed by all. Dave O'Brien was awarded the door prize, a set of Notre Dame records.

Alumni attending with their families were as follows: Tom McAlister, Dave O'Brien, Bob Eckel, Bill Leonard, Tom Howley, Frank Linehan, George Kristel, Charles Flanagan, Jim Miller, Dr. John Phillips, Ray Rusek, John Huether, John Land, Jack Hurley, and Myles Duffy. Students attending with their families were: Dan Cafarelli, John Carlson, Ed O'Connor. The officers with Tom Howley, '49, served as the committee for the picnic.

Come Tuesday evening, September 26th, the club is going to hold a "Night" for the fathers of students and alumni. A gala program is being planned to honor these men whose hard work and interest made it possible for their sons to attend Notre Dame. The campus sound movie, the Highlights of '49 will be shown, as well as other entertainment.

Sioux-land

Our club is more or less in the formative stage and we have had but two gatherings this year although both of them were very successful. Ed Simonich is our President, Bob Manning, Vice-President and Ray Duggan, Secretary. Universal Notre Dame night was held at the West Hotel where we had dinner and elected officers. Most members were present and included Ed Simonich, Bob Manning, Dr. John Tiedeman, Frank Fitch, Jack Miller, John Mulhall, Charles Engelhart, Ed English, Mike Noonan, Ray Duggan and John McHugh. Most of the wives attended, too.

Hugh Burns was here June 22 and after a dinner at the West, he showed movies of the So. Methodist and Michigan State games of last year. These were well received and appreciated by everyone.

Toledo

Since his election as President of the Club in the spring, Jack Solon has been keeping the members well-informed by a series of President's Newsletters. Jack attended the Presidents' Council on the campus early in June and picked up a lot of information which he passed on through these letters and at the first General meeting of the Club which was held in the Secor Hotel on August 16.

Among recent announcements:

Committee chairmen for the year have been appointed as follows: Membership and Attendance, George Schlaudecker; Religion and Citizenship, Bill Syring; Student-Alumni Relations, Frank Venner; Job Counseling, Joe Tillman; Finance, Frank May; Publicity, Joe Hillebrand. These are the committees recommended by the University for each Alumni Club, and Jack Solon has added a General Activities Committee which will be under the chairmanship of Pete Fluge and Harry Detzer.

The Notre Dame Alumnus

The Club in the first year that it has asked dues of its members, now has more than one hundred paid-up members.

Weekly luncheons are to be held again this year, at least through the fall season. The first one was Tuesday, September 19, at the Secor Hotel. A Club Directory is in the process of compilation and publication, a distinctive membership card has been designed and distributed to members, and identification badges are planned for the members to wear at all Club functions so everybody can call everybody else by name.

The first General Meeting on August 16 brought out a good attendance, for vacation time, of more than thirty members. The older fellows were glad to see the Class of 1950 represented by at least some of the eight new members added by the June Commencement. Jack Solon gave a very excellent and informative talk covering all the news from the campus and plans of the University, the Alumni Association and the local Club for the year. Glenn Jackson, Program Director of WSPD-TV, local television station, gave a talk on Planning and Production of a TV show. Harry Detzer then ran the movie on the Christopher movement entitled, "You Can Change the World," which features the founder of the movement, Father Keller, and several Hollywood stars.

It was announced at the meeting that Bill Syring had secured a reservation for twenty members at the Manresa Jesuit Retreat House near Detroit for a retreat over the weekend of November 3, 4 and 5. Bill took reservations from those at the meeting who would be able to attend and asked that others wishing to go should contact him.

Tri-Cities

Lots of news from the Tri-Cities—

The board of directors met recently and set up a full schedule for the coming months. The first big event is a Notre Dame Club Smoker to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Davenport. We are planning on viewing the Notre Dame vs. Purdue game. The main attraction will be the door prizes consisting of a paid expense trip for two persons to the Notre Dame-Michigan State and Notre Dame-Iowa games. Jim Doyle has been appointed chairman of the affair assisted by various club members.

The club secretary has furnished each club member with a roster containing information about the members.

The club as a whole is putting forth staunch support for two of the local boys during the football season—Art Perry (guard) and Jack Bush (back). It also has two promising freshman football players in Bill Martin and Joe Bush. Joe was named tackle on the All-American High School team the past season.

Our Auxiliary is still keeping the club in the limelight with their Last-Wednesday-of-the-Month-Meetings. The August meeting was held on the 30th at the Harms Hotel, Rock Island, with Mrs. Frank Thul and Mrs. Otto Stegmaier as hostesses. It was decided at that time to hold a barn dance at the Saddle Club Barn, north of Davenport, on the 21st of October. The affair sounds like it will be a lot of fun for those who attend. Mrs. Robert Real will be entitled to the credit for the success that the dance will be.

The 27th of September will find the ladies meeting at Jul's Danish Farm on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River. Mrs. Francis King and Mrs. Charles King are making the necessary arrangements.

The month of October will be a busy time for at least one member of the club. Bill Phelan and Miss Helen Schindler have selected the 21st as their wedding date. They will be married in the Log Chapel on the campus.

Members of the club wish to extend the offer to any Notre Dame man who happens to be in the area the eve of the Iowa game to stop in at the Blackhawk Hotel as activity of some form will no doubt be in progress.

Washington, D.C.

The Notre Dame Club of Washington was saddened by the death, in August, of Paul R. Mallon, '46, Doctor of Law. Mr. Mallon was well-known in the field of journalism as a columnist. He was a former member of the national Notre Dame Alumni Board. The funeral was at St. Mary's Church, Alexandria, Virginia, and serving as pallbearers were the following members of the Washington Club: Leo Mullen, '17, Pat Conway, '30, Tom McKevitt, '32, Tom Flynn, '35, Bob Cavanaugh, '36, and Paul Tully, '39. Many of the Club members assembled to say the Rosary for Mr. Mallon the evening before the funeral.

Leo Mullen, '12, has returned from a pilgrimage to Rome. . . . The following Notre Dame graduates have been admitted to the District of Columbia bar: Joe Gall, Bill Mahoney, Larry Winter and Phil Mahoney. Rudy Anderson has become a member of the Virginia bar. . . . Art Sandusky, '34, is a newcomer to Washington. He is an attorney with the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the United States Senate. . . . Phil O'Connor, '50, and Bill Denning, '50, have been welcomed to the Club by President Flynn and are already becoming active in Club affairs.

Paul Tully, '39, is the president of the Catholic Alumni Council of Washington. This group is made up of representatives of many Catholic colleges and universities in the East. Paul has been active in it for some time.

The Washington Club held its first meeting of the Fall season on September 6th at the Carlton Hotel. The attendance was very large, swelled to some extent by the students who had been invited to attend before their return to the campus. The alumni presented a check to the campus group to help in their operating expenses.

Western Washington

Members of the Western Washington Club participating in the annual retreats held at St. Martin's Abbey, during August, were our congenial and scholarly Retreat Chairman William E. Tierney, '01; W. Jerome Kane, Club President; Charles S. La Cugna, Club Treasurer; August Von Boecklin and Joseph H. Manley attended from Tacoma; Harry Abel, Jr. "stood in" for his Dad, Harry Abel, Sr., who is in California. At a later retreat, Western Washington Club was represented by Morris E. Starrett and George Nyere. "Morrie" seldom misses a year.

Western Washington Club members have a devoted interest in the annual retreats held at St. Martin's Abbey. An especial tribute to George Nyere, for his untiring and excellent efforts in starting the retreat movement in the Diocese of Seattle, thirty-seven years ago. He had to personally guarantee any deficit that might occur, before he received permission to continue with plans for the retreat.

W. Jerome Kane, Club President, has recently been appointed Special Agent to Western Washington Agency of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Proof That '45 Made That June Reunion

The "Alumnus" belatedly prints the news of the death of Mr. Fred B. Chute, of Minneapolis.

Mr. Chute, who earned a Litt.B., in 1872, was 77. His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hawley Chute and a son, Frederick H. Chute survive. Mr. Chute was active in civic affairs and a leader in church activity.

He had been a member of the Minneapolis Board of Education, president of the Real Estate Board and president of St. Anthony's Commercial Club.

From Otto A. Rothert, Louisville, Ky.:

"I've visited Notre Dame three times since graduating June 21, 1892. The last time was about 25 years ago. Five years ago, aged 75, I resigned as secretary of the Filson Club, a position I had held for 28 years.

"I have written three books and a number of brochures (1913-1949) all bearing on Kentucky history. A copy of each was sent the University library at time of publication."

1900

Louis C. M. Reed, of New York City, who received a 50-Year Club award at the June reunions has written a story for a recent issue of the Belgian Trade Review. Mr. Reed, who is president of Reed and Richards Transatlantic, Inc., titled his work "Be Kind to Foreign Trade Week."

His friends will be glad to learn that Mrs. Reed has just recovered from a serious illness.

Monsignor William P. Burke, pastor of Visitation Parish, Kewanee, Ill., celebrated his 50th anniversary of priesthood recently.

50-YEAR REUNION
June 8, 9, 10, 1951

Lucien K. Wheeler, a monogram winner in the 1897 football season and former FBI investigator died recently in Los Angeles. At the time of his death Mr. Wheeler conducted his own firm of investigators.

A native of Mechanicsville, Ia., he entered Notre Dame in 1897 and finished his schooling at Iowa State University. He headed the secret service detail at the White House during the terms of Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and Harding. He joined the Bureau of Investigation (later renamed the FBI) in 1923 and was one of the key investigators in the Teapot Dome scandals. He is also credited with sending the swindler Gaston B. Means to prison.

Surviving are two sons, Jackson, an actor and Charles, vice-president of the Citizens National Bank, Los Angeles.

1906

45-YEAR REUNION
June 8, 9, 10, 1951

Carl J. Maher, former district judge in Fort Dodge, Ia., died last month at his home in Hollywood, Calif.

Judge Maher moved to Los Angeles in 1931 and had made his home there since. He practiced law in California but retired a few years ago. His wife, the former Jeanette Stanosheck, two sons, Charles and Frank and a daughter Mrs. Jacque Bellesesville, of Los Angeles survive.

1908

From Robert E. Proctor:

(To the Alumni Secretary) "I appreciate the up-to-date list of names and addresses of our surviving class members. It is rather interesting to find 34 still in the land of the living. These fellows are pretty healthy specimens; I guess it is due to golf.

"By the way, I played nine holes yesterday afternoon and not very good, either. My game inside of the green, within the 25 and 50 yard lines scoring zone, is not so hot, but I am certainly good coming down the fairway—right down the middle."

1912

From James W. Bender: R.R. No. 2, Syracuse, Ind.

Jay L. "Biffy" Lee this summer celebrated 25 years in insurance. In 1925 Biffy, a former football great at the University gave up coaching and entered the equally competitive field of insurance. He founded the Buffalo Alumni Club, and was head of a large agency there before transferring to Detroit in 1937.

Since then his team has written over 30½ million dollars in policies in Detroit. Biffy is past president of the Detroit Sales Executive Club, and head of the Detroit Notre Dame Club three times.

His greatest claim is that he entered Albion (Mich.) College in 1908 with 26 cents and graduated in 1912 from Notre Dame with 80 cents and a wife.

1916

From Grover Miller:

The class is expecting a large attendance for the 35th Reunion next June. Monthly reminders are being sent to all class members and a program is in the making.

The following have already written they'll be there: Al Beck, Ed Beckman, Bill Bradbury, Bob Carr, Hugh Carroll, Russell Downey, Joseph "Stub-by" Flynn, Al Freund, Al Fries, Rev. Pat Haggerty, Tom Hayes, Al Hosinski, Ray Humphreys, Louis Keifer, Cassey Krapewski, Hugh Lacey, Joe LaFortune, Walter McCourt, DeWald McDonald, Pat Maloney, Ed Marcus, Grover Miller, Rev. Vincent Mooney, Emmett Mulholland, Burt Roberts, Dr. Paul Wood, Leon Woodford.

Recent deaths in the class: Rev. Phillip Gallagher (1947); Judge Russell Hardy (February 3, 1950); and Tom Truder (1947).

From London, England, a postcard from Ann and Joe McLaughlin, dropped on their way in a Holy Year Pilgrimage to Rome.

Your class secretary: Grover F. Miller, 612 Wisconsin Ave., Racine, Wisconsin.

From Fred L. Mahaffey (111 N. Pennsylvania Ave., Indianapolis 4):

"I'll send this news item to the Alumni Secretary, since I can't locate the address of the '17 class secretary. [Ed. Note: The '17 secretary is Mr. Bernard Voll, 206 E. Tutt St., South Bend] Baby girl (Maureen) born, and this makes a half dozen. And they are not cheap. Not being a grandchild thought this might be news." [Ed. Note: It is.]

1918

We have been wondering why we don't see more of Allan W. Fritzsche so we picked up Who's Who and found out. He is so busy running manufacturing plants that I doubt if his family sees much of him. Allan is president and general manager of The General Industries Company of Elyria, Ohio, which is one of the largest custom molders of plastics in the country and the largest manufacturer of phonograph and record changer motors in the world. One hopeful thing, Allan belongs to the Rockwell Trout Club.

Dr. Neil J. Whalen has his office at 1515 David Whitney Bldg., Detroit, Mich. He is a practicing physician and has been in Detroit for the past twenty-four years. If you are in Detroit, look him up. (Don't wait until you have to call him.)

Joseph T. Riley, LL.B., '18, is engaged in the practice of law in Muskegon, Mich., makes the football games and occasionally attends the Western Michigan Notre Dame club meetings.

Wonder how many of you knew that Tom King was Director of Alumni Relations for Michigan State College at East Lansing. By the way, Tom, what are you going to do on October 28th?

We offer our belated congratulations to Joseph A. Craven. Mrs. Craven gave birth to a daughter April 3, 1950. This is the fourth child born to Mr. and Mrs. Craven. Joe practices law in Denver, Colo., and is attorney for the Catholic Archdiocese of Denver. He is a Knight of St. Gregory and is chairman of the Denver Notre Dame Foundation.

Just saw a clipping containing a picture of George B. Waage who used to knock them dead in the mile while we were there. George is with the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad in the capacity of the Company's sleeping and dining car representative in the Chicago Union Station. The picture we saw was in a track suit. Wonder if we would recognize George now.

Edmond I. Foley, former export sales manager for A. B. Dick Company, resigned from that company on May 1st to become associated with the Fraser Paper Company of New York City, one of the most important paper companies in the field. Ed has organized a separate company known as the Folco Products Company with headquarters at 6814 Clyde Avenue, Chicago. Before organizing his own company Ed spent twenty-four years with the A. B. Dick Company during which time he was with the sales division and since 1942 has been export manager. Ed is married and has two daughters and a son graduated from Notre Dame in June of this year. As Ed says "Tempus Fugit right along."

Your class secretary: George E. Harbert, 108 N. Main St., Sycamore, Ill.

We of '22 are plenty happy about the glorious 17 to 7 victory of All Stars over the Philadelphia Eagles. Of course, we are elated because the All Stars won their first victory in three years against the pros, but mainly because they were coached by our own Dr. Eddie Anderson who has returned to Holy Cross after a decade at Iowa. Dr. Eddie would be the very first to extend due credit to the wonderful players on his squad, and to his very capable assistant coaches including Marchie Schwartz of the class of 1931, but Eddie himself is worthy of much of the glory in the team's victory.

It was Dr. Eddie's mania for A-1 physical condition of his players which paid huge dividends. Every member of the squad of 50 except one man was certified by combat service against the Eagles, and all entered the fray except the one man, and not a single All Star player was injured in play. We salute Dr. Eddie for his masterful performance in physically conditioning his squad, and for the excellent coaching he gave his men which brought such wonderful results. He is the football coach of the hour, and in addition is a real gentleman, and one who is loyal to the Nth degree to his friends and co-workers.

David Worth Clark, former U. S. Senator from Idaho, who has been sitting it out on the political sidelines for a few years, has entered the list again to unseat Senator Glenn Taylor. In the primaries just completed, Worth appears to have an unofficial margin of 1100 votes over his opponent for the U. S. Senatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket. We hope Worth makes the grade for the nomination, also, that he is elected, and becomes what he is fully capable of becoming—one of the standout men in the Senate.

Our sincere sympathy is extended to Louis Moore of Provo, Utah, over the recent death of his father in Kewanee, Illinois. Also, it is extended to other members of the Moore family. Please remember Dad Moore in your prayers, also, the mother of Clete Lynch, who died some months ago in Meriden, Conn. We direct our sympathy to Dorothy Lynch, sister of Clete, and to others of the Lynch family.

We are delighted to hear from an old friend, Frank Ott, who is Sales Promotion Manager of William W. Fear and Co., Inc., Troy, New York. We quote from Frank's letter:

"I am a cover-to-cover reader of the 'Scholastic' and the 'Alumnus' but I must have missed any reports about yourself because I had you all nicely settled in Rochester. As I pictured you, you were married to one of those good looking St. Mary's girls, or a reasonable facsimile, and you had three daughters. Somehow, however, your daughters never seemed to grow older. They dared not venture beyond your stature in height, so I just kept them small year after year (I have one that way myself) and thus did perpetual youth come to the Ashe family.

"Now to find you a free soul! To think that Elaine in the Tower to the East never encompassed you! As for me, it all began at the Northwestern-Notre Dame game of '20 when Gipp got pneumonia. Ward's shipped me out here in '29 as Eastern Advertising Manager, and here I am today holding the door open at 233 South Main Avenue, Albany, awaiting the day when you arrive in Albany and can make your headquarters in our quonset. I'll give you a choice of 6 bedrooms and throw in a private bath as an inducement if you will stop over. I'll even turn over a place up in the mountains to you if you will stop off. It would be a great thing to see you again.

"I have written to Ric McCarty and asked him if he wasn't in the engraving business. That was my recollection. No reply to date. As for Mr. J. Dooley, I see that one man is not the one of Wynwood Mills."

Your scribe had luncheon in early July with Harold McKee, Jerry Dixon, Tom McCabe and Joe Farley in the Chicago Union Station. Later the same day, the Western Springs McKees and the LaGrange Farley consolidated for a picnic roast on the Farley back lawn.

Harold McKee and wife Ellen, daughter Loretta and son Earl, have just returned from a train trip to San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, the Canadian Rockies, Winnipeg, and the Twin Cities. By far, the high spot on the trip was their visit with the Charlie Hirschbuhls in Portland, Oregon.

From Bob Shea, lawyer at 25 Broadway, New York City, a postal card from Switzerland. Bob is, your secretary believes, the first Rhodes Scholar the University produced and naturally the men of '22 are proud of him.

MR. MALLON

Paul R. Mallon, '23, former Alumni Board member and recipient in 1946 of an LL.D. degree, died July 30 in Alexandria, Va.

One of the nation's best and most widely read newspapermen, Mallon was best known for his daily column on Washington, "News Behind the News." Early in his career he established himself as a "newspaperman's newspaperman" and was twice honored with the presidency of the White House Correspondents.

Mr. Mallon, only 49 at death, began his writing for the Louisville Courier Journal, then for the South Bend Tribune, and later the United Press. He was assigned to Washington where he twice defied senate committees by refusing to divulge news sources.

His last column from the national capital was written Sept. 16, 1947. He ended it with "Don't you think a lot more people should go fishing?" and had lived in retirement since. His wife, the former Viola Jane Wingreene survives.

1923

Dan Culhane broke into print recently with a section in a book "Marriage and Family Relations," published by the Catholic University Press. The book is a compilation of some of the better papers delivered at 1948 and 1949 workshops in marriage held at Catholic U.

From California, comes the news that Harry Flannery is a candidate for the U. S. Congress from his district.

And from Phoenix, word that Al Ficks has recovered from major surgery and is back at his job in the Benton M. Lee, Ficks & Tompane Investment Securities firm.

Your class secretary: Paul H. Castner, 1305 West Arlington Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

SYMPATHIES

To Miss Lula Daly on the death of her brother, Joseph L. Daly, who died Sept. 6.

After our grand 25th Reunion I suppose it's only natural that there would be sort of "a breather" and there would be a lack of news. It would be nice to hear from the fellows who couldn't get back like Walt Haecher, Harry McGuire, Eustance Callinan, Tony Gonzalez, Hayes Fuller, Bob Hurley, Anne Miller, Charlie De La Vergne and any of the others who just couldn't make it.

A nice note from Brother Melaric, C.S.C., writing for Father Ray Norris, C.S.C.—'25.

"Dear John—Father Norris and I wish again to thank you for your kind visit and gift and also for your generous help in obtaining the wonderful collection of autographs of the members of the class of '25. Our sincere greetings to you and all the family. Father Norris includes his blessing with our prayers and best wishes." (As mentioned in the last issue of the "Alumnus." Father Ray has been in bed for eleven years and Brother Melaric has taken care of him for a good part of that time. Remember Father Ray in your prayers and when on the campus, drop in to see him at the Community Infirmary across the lake, or drop him a line.)

Bill Voor of the South Bend law firm of Voor, Jackson, Grant & McMichael, writes, "That the reunion is still a topic of conversation around these parts . . . those of us who played minor roles by helping Bill Cerney, enjoyed our work very much and were delighted over the success of the enterprise."

The South Bend committee did a great job. Many thanks again to all the committees of our 25th reunion.

Now let's talk about future plans. Here's a letter from your president, Don Miller, which tells of the new class organization which applies to all classes as well as our own:

"As you know, a new plan has been formed in organizing the classes as far as the Alumni Office is concerned. This plan will take away a lot of the work that now falls on Jim Armstrong. I have set up a committee: Barrie MacNab in charge of the Far West; Ray Cunningham, in charge of the Middle-west; Dan O'Neil in charge of the East, and Charlie De La Vergne in charge of the South. All will have the title of vice-president. John Hurley will act as secretary and Henry Wurzer as treasurer.

"In addition to the program set up by the Alumni Office, I believe this will be a great move for our class individually in keeping in better touch with each member. For example, this fall in New Orleans. I believe it would be a good idea for all the '25 class to contact Charlie De La Vergne and arrange a luncheon during the week-end of the Tulane-Notre Dame game. It would be nice to get our particular group together. That is merely a suggestion of the possible moves under this new plan.

"With kindest personal regards and best wishes, I am, Sincerely yours, DON C. MILLER."

Hank Wurzer, your new treasurer, has a splendid plan for keeping the class together by expanding our Mass Fund so that in the future he could be notified immediately upon the death of anyone of our class in order that the Mass could be sent to his survivors as soon as possible. (Hank's address is Henry C. Wurzer, c/o Blackhawk Hotels Co., Davenport, Iowa.)

If our fund got large enough, Hank suggests we might try to incorporate an idea, trying to get the anniversary for the various members of our class who have died and also set up an anniversary Mass for them. (A great idea, Hank.) At least to start with, we can have an annual Mass said, possibly on our Commencement Date when we can annually remember our deceased classmates, wherever we are. Hank, Don and I would like comments and suggestions from the rest of the class on this idea. . . . Also give us news about yourself, and any of our classmates—write today.

Word from Julius J. Danch of 1164 Pierce St., Gary, Ind. . . . Julius is branch manager of V.F.I.A. (I think the insurance men will know what the initials mean). He is with the Dobis-Danch agency dealing in real estate and insurance.

He and wife, Gizella, have six daughters, one married. Julius is also a deputy prosecuting attorney for Lake County (Ind.). He has been active in Holy Name Society affairs and the Notre Dame Laymen's Retreat. It's good hearing from Julius . . . how about some more of you sending news of yourselves and families?

Maurice Yema is now Frater M. Cornelius, O.C.S.O., and is at the Trappist Cistercian Abbey, Our Lady of Gethsemani, Kentucky. The item comes from the University Placement Director,

Mr. Bill Dooley, although he denies handling the transaction which put Mr. Yenn in the Trappists.

The letters O.C.S.O. stand for Order of Cistercians of the Strict Observance. Dooley looked it up.

From Tom Coman (Bureau of National Affairs, Washington, D. C.):

"Hated to miss the reunions but was there with you in spirit.

"I wanted to get back to make a few comparisons with our classmates on certain vital statistics by which we measure our progress. 1—amount of hair remaining on the skull, 2—dimension of the waistline, and 3—number of grandchildren.

"Figured I would do pretty well on the terms outlined since I have all my hair, approximately the same waistline and two grandchildren."

News from the coast concerning A. W. McMullen. In National Cash Register he's been upped from Pacific Division manager to Branch Manager at San Francisco. He started with National in 1929.

25-YEAR REUNION
JUNE 8, 9, 10, 1951

Class Secretary John Ryan writes:

REMEMBER '26 — PREPARE FOR '51

Time runs along and the days before our 25th reunion become shorter. Your Secretary has been somewhat derelict in his duty but, as usual, has an alibi. If business had not gone so crazy in the past two months we would be able to announce in this issue of the ALUMNUS several interesting matters in connection with our reunion. If any of you fellows really want to help the Class please write to your secretary and let him know where he can buy thousands and thousands of feet of railroad car lumber. With that business problem out of the way there would be more time to devote to the affairs of the Class of '26.

During the summer your secretary was fortunate in having the opportunity of visiting for a few hours with three of our classmates. During July on a flying business trip to Portland, Oregon, I arranged my time to coincide with that of Norb Kavanaugh and thus spent a very enjoyable evening with him. In spite of the fact that he is pretty badly crippled with arthritis Norb has been able to head one of the most successful law firms in Portland. Norb is still a bachelor. He expects to return for our reunion.

We'll get his story in full a little later. Having spent a few days in the Douglas Fir territory around Portland it was only fair that your secretary give the Yellow Pine territory the once-over. In August during a week spent around Birmingham, Alabama, one evening was spent with Nig Crawford and his lovely wife. Nig is planning now to return in June of '51. At his home he showed me some snapshots of the May 1923 snow. Remember?

In between those two trips I was pleasantly surprised by a visit to my office by our Eastern Vice President, Doc Gelson. Doc was visiting Chicago as the representative of Leahy-Wolfson Associates, Inc., the Leahy end of it being Frank Leahy. Their insurance business takes them quite a way afield from their Park Avenue, New York, headquarters. Incidentally, fellows, if Doc could find my office in Chicago so can you. Any time you are near 310 S. Michigan Ave. in Chicago, how about dropping in to Room 1401 for a visit?

But enough of personal experiences, happy as they were for your Secretary. Let's get to the letters received from our classmates. As usual forty cards went out (and as usual with a quick deadline) and the response was fine, but could be better. Three or four holdovers from the last mailing, received after the deadline, help to keep it from looking like your secretary quit working.

First of all, let's have a report from two of our oldest classmates. From Holy Trinity High School in Chicago Brother Victor, C.S.C., writes that for nearly 40 years he has been teaching General Science and Language. He meets a few classmates now and then but his school work keeps him pretty busy. He says that when one gets close to 70 it is necessary to slow down and conserve strength for the job at hand. I'll bet he could give most of us a pretty good race right now. From Creton High School in Saint Paul Brother James Walter writes

Dies September 3

Father Frederick T. McKeon, C.S.C., known to many students and graduates of an earlier generation, died Sept. 3 in the Community Infirmary. He was 76.

Father McKeon was a native of Mt. Carmel, Conn. He was ordained July 23, 1907 and last served in 1937 at the University as an instructor in Modern Languages. In that year he retired.

During the Mexican Border warfare in 1917 he served as an Army Chaplain because of his knowledge of Spanish. After release from the Army Father McKeon taught physics at University of Portland until 1920, when he returned to Notre Dame.

From 1937 until 1948 he served as confessor to the Sisters of Holy Cross at St. Mary's College.

that the Christian Brothers have kept him busy for 50 years teaching in their various schools. While Brother James keeps in touch with the doings of the Twin Cities ND Club he does not have much opportunity to take part in them. Both Brother James and Brother Victor received their M.A.'s with us.

In one of those letters which your secretary appreciates (missed the deadline but sent it in anyway for use in the next issue) Ed Burke writes from Perth Amboy bragging about the Mercury. Ed spent a few years with his father in the wholesale lumber business and then went into the finance business with Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp. until he took over the Perth Amboy agency for Mercury in 1946. Ed lost his father a few months ago. Among those who attended the wake were Tom Farrell, Kernan Wingerter and Jim Waldren. Russ Riley of '28 was also there. Ed sees Jim Quinn '27 and Frank Milbauer '25 now and then. Ed married 16 years ago and has a daughter in high school, a son finishing grammar school and another son, 3 years old, who rules the roost. Ed says he hopes to be back for the reunion.

Another holdover letter is that of Dick Donnelly written from Fort Worth where he is Manager of Industrial Relations for Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. Dick left us in '23 and returned to Cleveland and Western Reserve where he graduated in '26. From 1926 to 1943 he was with F. H. Hill Co., Cleveland casket manufacturers and then went with G.M. for two years, going to Convair in 1945. Dick's son, Jim (21) is a pre-law student at ND, Tom (18) is a freshman at St. Edward's, Jane (17) and Patsy (15) are high school students while Joe, Judy and Dick, Jr., attend parochial school. It looks like seven give Dick plenty of training so that the 19,000 employees would just be play.

Norb Engels uses an expression that cropped up a couple of times in current letters—"a quarter of a century." During that time Norb has been teaching English at school except for the war years when he taught Engineering Drawing. He says he has gotten away from the music business except for an occasional New Years Eve toot of the horn. Norb has had several books published and the Catholic magazines have carried hundreds of his stories, poems and essays. Norb has two sons at ND and his daughter is a high-schooler in South Bend. Believe we can count on him to be present at the reunion. Perhaps, since he is right at hand we can put him to work.

Since 1932 Lou Franke has been in the real estate business with Baird and Warner of Chicago, in recent years as District Sales Manager of their Uptown office. In the early years after '26 Lou roomed with Bill Dorgan, Bob Dolezal and Frank Ness. Lou spent a recent weekend with Al Greenwald who was with us for three years, and finished at Oklahoma University. Lou is married (since 1929) and lives at 1611 Albion Ave., Chicago.

After a few months of law practice Jim Glynn went to the glass container industry starting first with Turner Glass Company in Terre Haute. That company was taken over by Anchor Hocking Glass Co., including the big red head. Several years in Lancaster, Ohio, were followed, in 1943, by assignment as Sales Manager of their two west coast plants. In 1948 Jim returned (with his wife Mary Virginia and 8-year-old Mary Anne) to the mid-west as Midwestern Sales Manager for Thatcher Glass Mfg. Co. At the first of this year Jim left the glass industry but stayed in the container field being now in charge of the Indianapolis territory for the Wabash Fibre Box Co. He plans to be back for reunion and hopes to see the classmates he has missed through the years. Jim wants it to be a swell reunion and offers his help, both personal and financial. Both can be used, Jim.

From the land of cotton Austin Hall of Memphis writes: "Yes, I remember 1926 but when I take a look in the mirror, I think 1926 forgot me. Fat. Forty and Grey Headed." Aus, where do you get that forty stuff? Surely you haven't gotten to the stage where you are counting backwards on those birthdays! Or else, you were smarter than the rest of us and graduated at a more tender age. First of all, Aus says he expects to be back for the reunion. After graduation Aus returned to Memphis where he worked in various architects' offices and during the depression days did a stint with the U. S. Engineers on the expansion of the levee system. In 1945 he formed the firm of Hulsey and Hall which is one of the outstanding architectural firms in Memphis. Married to Elizabeth Forester in 1939 the Halls have two girls and a boy. Aus manages to get back to school for one game each fall but has not had much luck in bumping into classmates. Next June it will be different, Aus.

The Post Office made no money on my card to Ray Keiser, having hauled the card from Chicago to Phoenix and back to Detroit. For the past 17 years Ray has been with the Associated Press and is currently chief of the Detroit bureau. Prior to that he was chief of the Phoenix Bureau. What would be the news value, Ray, of an AP dispatch that the Class of 1926 was planning on having a big reunion in June of 1951? Ray is married and has three daughters and one granddaughter. Our Grandpas Club is growing. In the course of his travels Ray has seen Joe Navarre and Syd Bower. He says that in Phoenix he worked with Les Hegele after having lost sight of him for 18 years.

John Kelly is a Philadelphia lawyer, with offices in the Liberty Trust Bldg. He was married in the Log Chapel in 1937 and the Kellys have a 12-year-old daughter and a son, 10. He sees Charley Dougherty quite frequently. With the remark "If the Navy does not beckon again I hope to attend the 1951 reunion" he both promises to get back to ND and brushes off his Navy career. Hope he doesn't have to brush off his uniform.

Larry Krieger writes from Saint Joseph, Mich., that he occasionally sees Frank Deitle, Art Scherer and some of the South Bend boys. He would like to see his old roommates, Dave Stanton and Joe Dawes at reunion time. Larry is married and has a daughter and two sons. He is Director of Public Relations for Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co. of St. Joe.

The New York Central Railroad is fortunate in having had for the past 24 years the services of Ward Leahy. On the other hand maybe Ward should have given that time to them to pay for all the use he made of that annual pass when he was in school. The NYC can figure to haul Ward from Cleveland to South Bend and return next June for he says he will be back for reunion. In the 24 years with the Central Ward has had 14 different jobs, in six different states, in 10 different cities and is at present Superintendent in Cleveland. He says he likes the job and the city better than any previous ones. Ward married his childhood sweetheart in 1929 and two daughters round out their family. Ward sees Joe Shep and Chuck Mooney in Cleveland.

Too late for the last issue but in plenty of time for this issue is El Mahoney's letter from Indianapolis, where he lives in the old homestead with his two sisters. El recalls our 15th reunion and plans to be back for the 25th. During the tail end of the roaring twenties El lived in Detroit with several other NDers and their place was headquarters for all ND men who hit town.

Then the depression and back to the Hoosier capital (or is it "ol"). Having joined the Army Reserve Corps while in Detroit, Pearl Harbor found El, as he says, one of the oldest 2nd Lts. in the Army. They bounced him all over the western states and at one time he commanded a colored truck company where he says he found himself giving orders "By de lef' flank." All went well until a staff car tangled with some trees and El got a broken back and a fractured skull. As a result in El's words "I am now a bald, slightly shrunken and bent one-eyed retired captain." But he still has all his humor. He'll get away from his job as accountant for Reilly Tar and Chemical Corp. to attend the reunion next June.

"Several of John F. O'Donnell's friends in Maysville, Ky., lost money on him in 1943 when they bet he wouldn't pass the physical tests for Selective Service in the late war. The Navy got him and the betting fraternity is excluding him from their thoughts on wagering for the next war which seems just around the corner" is the way John starts his letter. Married and childless John is the night editor for the Daily Public Ledger in Maysville. He has been with the paper since 1934. The years previous he spent trying to find a place as satisfying as Maysville. He complains that whenever he makes a trip anywhere he returns to find a copy of the Alumnus listing someone a stone's throw from where he was. John, if your Secretary can ever get a few thoughts together and do a little lining up of preparations for our reunion one of the first things you can expect is a copy of the class roster which you can carry in your hip pocket on those trips away from Maysville.

Jerry Smith writes from Denver that he spent 10 years in advertising work in Rochester, N. Y., and then went with Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. They bounced him around several cities until 1941 when they made him Manager of their Kansas City agency where he stayed until February of this year when he went to Denver to reopen the Denver agency. Jerry was another Log Chapler, in 1934. His son, Danny, is 11, and Stephanie will be 5, come Christmas. In the years and various places Jerry has been active in ND affairs, K. of C., Serra Club and many other Catholic activities. In all of his travels he has seldom seen any '26ers. Come back in June '51 and see them all, Jerry.

All of the past 24 years have been spent by Art Suder in keeping "Suder the Florist" as Toledo's leading florist. Being the third generation in this 80-year-old business there is no doubt but that Art is doing a fine job. Art's daughter, Carol, enters Toledo U. this fall and his son, Bill enters high school. That leaves 2 1/2-year-old Susie at home to see that pop gets his slippers when he gets home at night. Art has gotten a first-hand report from John Hurley on what '25 did at their reunion and hurries to offer his help to beat those old men. Among other things he wants to arrange is a "session" with George Hartnett and Jerry McDermott neither of whom he has seen since third floor Sorin days. Art, with possibly one business session, our class dinner, and our class Mass I think that the rest of the time will be devoted to "sessions" like you suggest.

With this new system of only one mail delivery a day it's not at all out of place that the U. S. Post Office Dept. should be last on this report. From Algona, Iowa, we have a letter from the Post Master, our old friend, Wade Sullivan. After a stint of newspapering Wade became P.M. at Algona in 1935. He is married and has two daughters, 10 and 14. Wade doesn't see many classmates but does play golf every summer with Harold Klein of Des Moines when they meet at Lake Okoboji on vacation. He is bringing his family to the Purdue game this fall.

Wade also plans definitely to be on hand for the reunion.

Among those your secretary saw this summer was Joe Bach on the evening of the All-Star game. A card went out to Joe for a report on his activities but he is probably too busy lining up things at St. Bonaventure where he took over from Hughie Devore. Joe, we'll give you a pass for the Fall and the creamed chicken and peas season but will expect to have some word from you for an early 1951 column.

That about covers the reports received. There were a couple of offers of help with reunion planning, both personal and financial. We can use both. We plan mailings, several of them and that will entail postage expense at the least. So, if you have any loose change to help defray the expenses shoot it along to our Treasurer, George Hartnett, 221 N. LaSalle St., Chicago. If you have any ideas send them to your secretary. We want everyone to help in making our reunion a memorable affair and that "we" means all of us.

REMEMBER '26 — PREPARE FOR '51.

Bill Dooley, former managing editor of the "Alumnus" and now University Placement Director just can't stay out of these columns. One way or another, he comes up each issue with something. This time it's news from a chance interview with Bob Stephan, general sales manager for U. S. Gypsum, 300 W. Adams, Chicago.

Bob reports that Joe O'Donnell is suffering again from a leg fracture and is laid up at his Chicago home (5609 N. Sheridan Rd., Chicago 40). Joe is the O'Donnell of O'Donnell's Food Products, "Purveyors to Chicago's Gold Coast."

Another Dooley-sent item concerns Tommy Green, of Conroe, Texas. Tommy lately became the male forebearer of number eight—named John Stephen Green.

To Bill Dooley, thanks.

1928

I visited Denny Daly, my old roommate of Corby Hall days, in St. Paul. Denny has two boys, ages 6 and 8. He is practicing law in St. Paul and teaching tax law at the University of Minnesota. I had a good lunch session with Tom Hart in Minneapolis. Tom is Resident Manager for the Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation with offices in the Northwestern Bank Building in Minneapolis. Tom has one child. Neither Tom nor Denny show any bad effects from their years in service during the war. Both of them have put on considerable weight. Tom had just returned from the funeral of Joe Benda in Collegeville, Minnesota. He mentioned that John Wallace of Calumet City also attended Joe's funeral. I also saw Tom Mahon, who is special agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company in St. Paul. Tom has two children. I talked to Bob Fogarty who is teaching history at St. Thomas College. He also taught a graduate course in history at the University of Minnesota this year. As you know, Bob received his Ph.D. from Minnesota several years ago. He has two children. I was sorry to hear that Bob's father died recently.

Although time did not permit my contacting all the '28 men in the Twin Cities, I did manage to get a report on them. Tom Mahon mentioned that he meets Jerry Bigge and his wife at church. Jerry is with Brown and Bigelow Company at 1286 University Avenue in St. Paul. Bob Fogarty has an office near Ray Mock at St. Thomas College where Ray handles placement work. Ray has two children. Jim Hayward, who received his M.S. in 1928, is director of nutritional research with Archer-Daniels-Nudland Company in Minneapolis. Jim received his Ph.D. at University of Wisconsin. Tom Hart sees Jack Doyle regularly. Jack, who is with Juster Bros. in Minneapolis, has four children. His oldest boy is in high school at St. John's in Collegeville, Minnesota. Tom mentioned that Butch DeVault is personnel manager for the Muncie Gear Company in Muncie, Indiana.

Bill Kirwan and his wife visited us when he was in Chicago for the Furniture Show. Bill has his own furniture store in Iowa City, Iowa. The Kirwan's have a son, 12 and a daughter, 17. Bill mentioned

Portland Will Miss the New Provincial

Portland alumni at the farewell dinner tendered Very Rev. Theodore F. Mehling, C.S.C., Sept. 14 in Hotel Benson, Portland. Father Mehling left the presidency of Portland University on becoming Provincial of the Indiana Province of Holy Cross. Rev. Robert Sweeney, C.S.C., former vice-president of Portland succeeded to the presidency.

A 25-Year Grin at Studebaker's

Armando J. Porta, '25, comptroller of the Studebaker Corporation, getting a grin and a pin from H. S. Vance, chairman and president of the corporation. Porta has spent 25 years with Studebaker, was comptroller of Studebaker Pacific Corp. in 1939 and entered his present position in 1947. Other Studebaker officials are in background.

that he sees Charley Cash of Anamosa, Iowa, where Charley is postmaster.

John Fontana sent me a clipping from the Columbus, Ohio paper announcing the marriage of Joe Kinneary. Joe is first assistant in the office of the Attorney General of Ohio. His new address is 2378 Kensington Drive, Columbus, Ohio. Congratulations, Joe, and thanks to you, John, for sending in the news. This leaves only Jim Shocksnessey on the eligible bachelor list of '28 men in Columbus.

Frank (Duke) Duquette recently moved from White Plains to 70 Westway, Mt. Kisco, New York. Frank, who has been with General Electric since 1928, transferred to New York in 1937. Since then he has traveled in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut as meter specialist selling through the G.E. local sales engineers all types of electrical measuring equipment. Duke is married and has one son, 9 years of age who looks forward to going to Notre Dame. Duke sees Ed Broughel who is now in New York as rectifier specialist for General Electric. Duke mentioned that he hopes to see Bud Topping in Rochester and Dick Green in Syracuse on one of his business trips soon. Duke worked with Mac Brule on many jobs with Western Electric Company. He also sees Charlie Duffey who is manager of transmission and distribution for the Long Island Lighting Company, Mineola, New York. Duke was inquiring about Tom Noon and Pat Canny.

Dr. Bernie Crowley is now located at 1147 South Minnesota, Wichita, Kansas where he is with the Medical Department of the Veterans Administration. Bernie spent three years as Lieutenant Commander in the Navy at Pearl Harbor. After the war he resumed his dental practice in St. Louis for three years. He has been in Wichita since 1948. Bernie is married. He assured me that he would be present for our 25-year reunion in 1953.

Rodolfo B. Garza Amaya wrote from Juarez Ote, 200, Saltillo, Coah, Mexico. Rudy is still farming part time and producing wax, which is being exported to the States. This year he is planting cotton in the Matamoros section of Mexico, which is across from Brownville and the Rio Grande Valley. Rudy is married and has three children, two girls age 8 and 12 and a boy, age 10. I was sorry to hear that his boy had polio. He, accordingly, has had to make trips to Warm Springs about every three months.

On business trips to New York, Rudy has seen Frank Duquette and Frank Galardy, who is with the Automatic Telephone and Institute Company, at 62 West 47th Street, New York. He has been back to Notre Dame on three occasions and attended the last Army game. Rudy mentioned that at a party the night before he wrote he met Bill Jasper, '27, who is now working with the International Harvester de Mexico, at Mexico City.

Pete Gallagher writes from 934 Center Street, Freeland, Pennsylvania, where he is on the faculty of the Freeland High School as head of the English Department. Pete married sixteen years ago and has two boys, one fifteen and one ten. He hopes to take his family back to Notre Dame for the 25th-year reunion in 1953 as his elder boy will enroll that fall as a freshman at Notre Dame. Edward Conlin, another classmate from Freeland went on to get his medical degree after leaving Notre Dame and is now practicing in the vicinity of Chicago according to Pete who saw him two years ago. He also reports that another Freeland, Maurice McMenamium, is in New York City with the Walgreen Drug Company. Pete said he often thinks of the fellows he never reads about in this column such as Bob Ward and Jim Cullen. I wrote to Bob for news in November, 1949, and Jim, in June, 1950, but received no response. How about a report from Bob and Jim as well as the many others who have not responded to my requests for news. Remember news is welcomed at any time irrespective of deadlines.

Frank M. Flanagan reports from Miners Bank Building in Pittston, Pennsylvania, where he has been practicing law since 1933. Frank planned to attend the class reunion in 1948 but his mother died just at that time and necessarily changed things. He saw the Navy and North Carolina games last year but did not see any of the classmates. Frank's concluding note was, "if I am around and the world is not a burning cauldron, I hope to be back for '53." Since almost everyone I hear from promises to be back for our 25-year reunion, I am sure it will be even better than the one in 1948.

I heard from Thomas Shay Collins at 166 New Boston Road, Fall River, Massachusetts. Tom is still with the Sagamore Manufacturing Company in Fall River as overseer of spinning, spooling and slashing. I was pleased to hear that Tom expects to be married early next year. Don't forget to give us a report on your wedding. Jim Coogan, '27, who formerly had a cleaning business in Fall River, is now in Los Angeles. Tom sees Frank O'Neil, '30, and Walter Goff who live near him. He met John Burke, '29, in Boston recently. John, who was with the Glee Club, is in the advertising business in Boston. Tom attends the meetings of the Providence, Rhode Island Notre Dame Club as often as possible. Tom concluded that he hoped to hear from Joe Daley and Eddie Cunningham. I last wrote to Joe Daley for news in December, 1949, but had no response. I have tried several times without success to get news from Eddie Cunningham. My last try was in February, 1949. Possibly some of you on the West Coast can help me on that project. How about surprising me with a letter, Joe and Ed?

You will be pleased at the fine responses I received from our medics. Not a one of them contacted failed me in my requests for news this month. Dr. Marcus Farrell reported from 512 West Main Street, Clarksburg, West Virginia, where he is practicing pediatrics. Marcus mentioned that his two boys are getting close to the time they will start for Notre Dame. Our roving reporter, Joe Morrissey, called Marcus one morning when Joe was on his way to the Navy game last year. Marcus expects to attend the Navy game at Cleveland and hopes to see some of the '28 men there. I trust I will see you, Marcus, when you are in Chicago in October at the Academy of Pediatrics meeting. Marcus said he continues to have frequent fond memories of the 20-year reunion. Dr. John E. Franklin wrote from 56 East 76th Street, New York 21, N. Y., where he is practicing pediatrics. John is married and has three boys. He teaches at Cornell University Medical School and Memorial Hospital. John mentioned that he sees Bill Cronin and Bill Kelly. My request for news reached Dr. Frank Hegarty at Port Chautauqua, New York, where he and his wife were on vacation. Two of his girls were at camp there. The third girl was at home and the fourth girl (?) will be coming along sometime in the fall according to Frank's report. Frank mentioned that Dr. Dave Solomon is in obstetrics in Johnstown, Pennsylvania, and that Dr. Dick Wehs is Medical Director of DuPont in Rochester, New York. Frank is doing dermatology in his home town, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ed Finn wrote from Saleda, Colorado, under the letterhead "Golden Rule Mercantile Company." Ed is a partner in the dry goods and clothing business there. He is married and has a girl nine years old and a boy five. Ed mentioned that he is looking forward to the 25th reunion and has every intention at the present time to be there. We will be looking for you, Ed.

Jack Donahue of 5232 Westpack Lane, Clifton Heights, Pennsylvania, stopped in to see me on a trip through Chicago recently. It was the first time I had seen Jack since we were graduate students together at the University of Wisconsin in 1936. Jack is resident inspector in Philadelphia for the Office of Reclamation, U. S. Department of Interior. Jack taught at the West Allis, Wisconsin High School in the 1930's and was with the Allis-Chalmers Corporation in Minneapolis prior to going with the Interior Department. He is married. Jack is looking forward to attending our 25-year reunion in 1953. Although he was unable to make our 20-year reunion, he obtained a complete report on it from Turk Meinert.

I had the pleasure of being the chairman of the session of the College Workshop on the Teaching of Catholic Economic and Social Principles held at Notre Dame in August at which Bill Brown of the legal department of Allis-Chalmers Corporation spoke on "Problems of Management." Bill did his usual good job on this subject. Father Mark Fitzgerald, C.S.C., also gave a very fine paper on "The Problem of Nationalization" which I intend to assign as required reading in the course in Government and Business which I will teach next semester at Loyola University. It was good to have present at the conference our professor of economics, Father Michael Malcaire, C.S.C., who was responsible for our interest in economics. John Q. Adams, '26, also gave an excellent talk on Employers Associations at the conference.

While at Notre Dame in August, I met Marty Ryan and Gus Jenkins from Buffalo on the campus. Gus was on a business trip with the Dunn Welding Company, Inc., manufacturer of automobile convoy trailers. Marty was on vacation and traveling with Gus. Marty is still single and is with the American Express Company in Buffalo. Gus has four children. He expects that his son, who is a senior in high school this year, will be at Notre Dame a year from now. I also saw Dr. Andy Boyle, Administrative Head of the Department of Chemistry, who has two children. I stopped in to see Ed Quinn while on the campus. Ed, in addition to his student testing work, is associate professor of education. It is always good to see Bob Gresser when I visit the West End State Bank in Mishawaka. Bob is head of the Loan Department there. He has a daughter 17 years of age.

My neighbor, Ed Rafter, tells me that Bob Rigney has four children, the oldest of whom finished high school this year. Ed heard from Phil O'Connor of Rochester who was visiting in New Orleans and from Bill Dowdall from Buffalo.

I regret to report that Frank (Spike) McAdams underwent an operation recently for the amputation of the lower portion of his right arm. The arm has been useless since three nerves were severed during a Pacific island landing seven years ago. Although Spike was not in our class, many of you will remember him. Spike has made a tremendous reputation for himself in the legal and political fields here in Chicago.

The name of Joe Benda has been added to the list of our deceased classmates. An account of his death was reported in the 1927 column in the last "Alumnus." Please remember Joe and the other deceased members of the class of 1928 in your prayers, especially during the month of November. I wish to extend to Joe's widow and four children our most sincere sympathy.

Frank E. David of New Orleans is the first of our classmates to re-enter the armed services as far as I know. Frank has gone on active duty with an engineer battalion.

Bill Jones tells me that Joe McNamara was in Washington in August on two weeks service in the War Department in the Pentagon Building as a reserve officer. As you know, Joe is with the Bridgeport Brass Co., Bridgeport, Conn. No doubt, there are a number of other classmates who are now on active duty. Please keep me advised accordingly.

I visited Father Galligan who is in Mercy Hospital in Chicago for observation by Ed McKeown's doctor. Howie Phalin was visiting Father while I was there. Howie and his wife were leaving on Sept. 13 for Rome.

The Class of 1929 congratulates two of its members who were recently elevated to high offices at the closing session of the Congregation of Holy Cross General Chapter meeting in Rome.

Father Christopher J. O'Toole, C.S.C., for the past five years Vice-Provincial of the Indiana Province was elected Superior General for a term of six years. Father O'Toole, who is originally a native of Alpena, Mich., will make his headquarters in New York.

Father Theodore J. Mehling, C.S.C., who since 1946 has been President of the University of Portland, was elected Provincial of the Indiana Province. Father Mehling, who came from Fremont, Ohio, will make his headquarters at Notre Dame.

During the Reunion weekend in June a number of the '29ers were back on the campus, some as presidents of alumni city clubs and others to take part in the festivities. I talked briefly with Emmett McCabe (Consolidated Aircraft — San Diego); Joe Friel (Seagrams, New York); Harold Steinbacher (Circuit Judge—Battle Creek); Jack Elder (Sinclair Oil—Cleveland); Guy Haas (Army Signal Corps—Washington); Don Schettig (Hardware—Ebensburg, Pa.); Tom McDougal (Judge—Antigo, Wis.); Mickey McMahon (North American Insurance—New Orleans); Dr. John Vaichulus (U. of Illinois); and Cap Grothwohl (Attorney—Niles). A number of South Bend delegates were on campus: Francis Jones (Attorney); Jim Keating (Asst. U. S. Dist. Attorney); Jim Skelly (Studebaker Exec.); George Beamer (Attorney) Dick Haugh (U. S. Dept. of Labor); Father James Norton, C.S.C. (Asst. Director of Studies); Dave Campbell (English); Larry Stauder (Elec. Engineering); George Driscoll (Civil Engineering); Paul Bartholomew (Politics) and George O'Brien (drug stores).

Mickey McMahon had his son, Tom, 18, up for his first visit and to have a talk with Father Lou Thornton. Son Tom looks like an excellent basketball prospect. Joe Friel carried greetings to all from Joe Lenihan (Fromm and Sichel—N. Y.). The two Judges Steinbacher and McDougal were enjoying

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

MR. TRAYNOR

JOHN P. TRAYNOR, '25, has been appointed vice president and manager of real estate-mortgages for The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York.

The 50-year-old Tuckahoe, N. Y., resident has been a second vice president of The Mutual Life since December, 1947. He joined the company in 1943 as manager of real estate. Two years later he was advanced to be assistant manager of the real estate mortgage department. Prior to joining the insurance company, he had been deputy superintendent of the New York State Insurance Department for seven years.

Following his graduation from Notre Dame, Mr. Traynor joined The New York Title and Mortgage Company and became assistant to the treasurer in 1929. Three years later he transferred to Nyameco Associates, Inc., a management and real estate subsidiary of New York Title and Mortgage, where he devoted his entire time to real estate problems.

He was appointed a special deputy superintendent of the State Insurance Department in 1936 in charge of the New York Title and Mortgage Company and its subsidiaries, which the Insurance Department had taken over earlier. Shortly after this appointment, Mr. Traynor was advanced to be deputy superintendent under Superintendent Louis H. Pink. In 1938, when the Insurance Department merged 77 insurance and title and mortgage companies into a liquidating Bureau, Mr. Traynor was placed in charge of that Bureau.

good health. Jack Elder was here as president of the Cleveland Club, McCabe as president of San Diego and McMahon, president of New Orleans Club. Gay Haas was here to represent the Combined Military, he also brought greetings from Larry Moore, John Dudas, Dave Fields and John Hinkel of Washington, D. C.

Here are excerpts from letters that have recently been received—but Donelan (owner of the Donelan Co., a manufacturers service company of Colorado Springs, writes about his family, activities and interest in the Colorado College Coaching School). Secy—Bill, Jr. recently took his Zoology under my direction and he is a "spitten image" of his pop. "After knocking on the doors of the Army, the Navy and the Marine Corps, I joined up with the American Red cross in late 1944 . . . got through the invasion of Okinawa by the grace of God and Father Briedensline, C.S.C., Chaplain of the 7th Infantry Division Artillery. Eleven months in occupation of Korea and then back stateside in August 1946. The family I had left in New York City, December 1944, son Bill, just finishing his sophomore year at ND, daughter Marion, 16, a high school senior next year and then on to St. Mary's across the road, and wife Mary Juanita had settled themselves in Colorado Springs, Colorado, one of the most delightful spots on God's lovely earth. In January 1947, I started this business of representing manufacturers of various products made in Colorado Springs and brought out-of-state items into the Rocky Mountain Region for distribution. Today three-fourth of my energies are spent in promoting Heller-Gro, The Complete Liquid Plant Food, produced in Colorado Springs and is without equal in the plant food-fertilizer field.

"As to interests, Don, I do quite a little ND Foundation work locally, mostly interest arousing. I am City Chairman for Colorado Springs, and have a Committee of fifteen, most of whom are "synthetic alumni." Outside of Don Alexander, Jr., '29, Bob Arnberg, '51, Dr. James Johnson, '39, Owen McHugh, '28 and Frank Casack, '23, there are no other Notre Dame men in this vicinity. Annually we hold a football trip raffle, proceeds from which go to the University Foundation. This year's trip will be to the Southern Cal game.

"Last year I was appointed Campaign Director for the Colorado Springs Community Chest. A member of the Local Chamber of Commerce, I am chairman of the Winter Sports and Recreation Committee. I am a member of the Kiwanis Club, Past President of the Downtown Quarterback Club and a member of the Cowhand-Cowbelle Association, a booster organization of the Annual Colorado Springs Rodeo which is held in August.

"In closing, may I say that I have had a hand in the Colorado College Coaching School, in that Frank Leahy, Ed Krause and myself dreamed up the idea at Lincoln, Nebraska, in October of '48 when the team played there. I sold the College on the idea and last year marked the first school. June 5th saw the opening of the second Clinic at C.C. with Leahy, Joe McArdle and Bernie Crimmins for football instruction, along with Coach Forest Anderson, Bradley University for basketball. For my interest in Colorado College, I hold an honorary membership in the Colorado College Association. Regards to all '29ers through your column."

Father Otey Winchester (St. Luke's Church, Lakewood, Ohio) writes: "I have been transferred to St. Luke's Church, 1212 Bunts Road, Lakewood, Ohio, and am just getting around to my correspondence. Clete Schneider's mother died a couple of months ago and was buried from the church to which I have been transferred. Remember her at Notre Dame, Don. I have heard from Judge Scotty McDougal a couple of times and he seems to be enjoying himself on the august bench of Wisconsin.

"Larry Mason also has written me but owes me a letter right now. Just in passing, one of the reasons you haven't heard from me is that I was in Rome for the Holy Year. I also visited France, Spain, Portugal and ended up with my relatives in Ireland. It was a grand trip and I hope some day to repeat this same trip."

George Schmidt (President of ND Club of Fox River Valley—Elgin, Ill.) writes: "For the past several years and at the present time, I am engaged in buying and sell real estate and divide my time between my home in Elgin and a summer home at Lake Geneva, Wis. My wife and I have not been blessed with a family. My hobbies include refinishing antique furniture, fishing, golf, photography and I have a very great interest in my dog, 'Clipper,' a German Boxer which I have raised from a pup.

Here is some news of the other boys: Dr. Philip Hemming has his American Board in Gynecology and Obstetrics and is now practicing with the Walker Clinic in Eugene, Oregon. I am sure he would be happy to hear from any Notre Dame man in that vicinity. Phil has three children at the present time—Ann, Mike and Larry. Phil is one fine and capable man. Speaking of fine, capable men naturally brings to mind Drs. Jim '28 and Paul '29 Tobin. These two brothers operate a very successful clinic in Elgin and are highly regarded in the community. At the present time, Jim is attending a medical convention in San Francisco. Roland Schlager is an attorney for an insurance company whose legal department is located in Chicago. He is the father of a daughter. For several months, Rol, who still makes his home in Elgin, has been doing a major remodeling job on his home and from the results to date it is conceivable that he may one day become a very famous architect and contractor. Edward Phelan has proven himself to be quite a handy guy to have around. Ed, who is a safety engineer employed by the Continental Insurance Co. of Chicago, has displayed his talents and energy in remodeling his home. A professional craftsman could not have done better. Sign me up for the 25th Reunion in June '54."

Keizer is chief accountant and purchasing agent for the Wrenn Paper Company at Middletown, Ohio. The Keizers live at 414 Gleen Lane and have one daughter. Earl reports his major hobby—promotion of horse shows. Clair J. Blackall lives at North Baltimore, Ohio, and is Professor of Mathematics and Mechanics at the University of Toledo.

Francis Jones (Attorney—Jones, Obenchain and Butler—Odd Fellows Bldg., South Bend) sends a fine letter about his family and activities. Francis is one of the most active of '29ers in alumni work.

"Your request of July 3rd makes me feel as though I were writing my own obituary, however, I will do what I can to be of assistance. I was married in August of 1939 to Miss Mary Ann Frash of South Bend, Indiana. We have three children, Kathie, aged 9, Pat, aged 8, Danny, aged 4, and we reside at 1611 East Washington Street, South Bend.

"At the present time I am practicing law as a member of the firm of Jones, Obenchain & Butler with offices at 800 Odd Fellows Building, South Bend. "At the present time I am secretary and on the Board of Directors of DeGroff Laboratories, Inc., an organization engaged in the manufacture and sale of photographic equipment, and I am on the Advisory Board of St. Joseph's Hospital in South Bend. The above contains about all the information I can give you in the form of an obituary, and I trust it is not conducive to an early demise."

Dr. John Simones (Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist—LaCrosse, Wis.) sends this note. "ND news is scarce in this locality. . . . We attended the Tulane game last fall with Ceil and Joe Mulhall and are planning to possibly see the Mich. State game this year. Plan on me for the Silver Jubilee Reunion in '54." Secy.—Dr. John received his M.D. from Iowa in 1934, interned at St. Francis Hospital, LaCrosse, and is active in A.M.A., LaCrosse Medical Society, Wisconsin Ophthalmology Society, Phi Beta Pi, Serra Club, War Vets, Elks and K. of C. Fishing is a Wisconsin hobby. John and Grace have two children, Paul, 8, and Bruce about two years.

Dr. Anthony Denman (Industrial Surgeon, Helper, Utah) writes: "Am planning to see the Southern Cal game this year as I did a year ago . . . there are no other '29ers in this district. . . . I'd like to hear from Fred Weiss, my old roommate, and also Pete Burkhardt and Vince Doyle. John Galivan, '37, (1017 Kearn Building, Salt Lake City) is our club president and Foundation Chairman. . . . We plan to vacation in Mexico and do some fishing. Keep up those plans for the Silver Jubilee. I'll be there." # Bernie Crimmins Meets Chattanooga Club

James L. Fitzpatrick recently moved from Kirkwood to St. Louis (7532 Warner Avenue) Mo., where Jim has a drive-in business. The Fitzpatricks have one daughter who is a recent graduate of Marquette University.

Clare Jans (7024 N. Ridge Avenue, Chicago) sends this note via Hyp. Heupel—"The enclosed check covers the contribution of Joe (S.) Sullivan, 9111 South Damen, Chicago. He is in very good health; in fact he claims that he still plays ball now and then. (A slight bread basket belies the fact.) He has a lovely home in Beverly Hills and four lovely children. He is definitely a successful Notre Dame man."

Lou Niezer (Attorney—Niezer and Niezer—Fort Wayne) writes:

"I am engaged in the general practice of law in Fort Wayne. My best customer is Tokheim Oil Tank and Pump Company and I am vice-chairman of the Board and general counsel for that company. I spend about half my time at Tokheim and the other half downtown in general practice. I am married to Rosemary Callahan Niezer and we have three boys and three girls—Mary Frances, 11, Louise, 9, John, 7, Charles, 6, Elizabeth, 3, and James, 1. I like to play golf and do some sailing and fishing on Lake Wawasee."

Dr. Edward J. Delahanty, Jr., (Neuropsychiatrist—Majestic Bldg.—Denver) sends this information about family and interests:

"After leaving ND I graduated from U. of Colorado, interned at Colorado General Hospital and am practicing in Denver. My major research interest is alcoholism, am a member of Nu Sigma Nu, AMA, Amer. Psychiatric, and Colorado Neuropsychiatric societies. At state meetings, I see Freeman Longwell, '31, occasionally and you will recall that I roomed at ND with Harry Lawrence (1312 Broadway, Denver).

"We have two children, Edward, III, 16, and Carolyn, 15, and my extra-curricular hobbies are golf, photography and aviation. If at all possible and God willing I will be at our 25th Silver Jubilee reunion."

Frank Sloan (Sloan & Whitfield—Tax Consultants—Pontiac, Mich.) writes:

"Following graduation I did some reporting for the Ohio News in Toledo, Columbus, and Cleveland.

From 1931 to 1935 I worked for the Tax Commission of Ohio and also taught at St. John's University in Toledo. In 1935 I married Geraldine and moved to Detroit with the Bureau of Internal Revenue as an Internal Revenue Agent. In 1936 I was assigned to the Pontiac, Michigan, Division of the Bureau; in January, 1944, opened offices with Thomas J. Whitfield as tax consultants.

There are no children and hobbies, if any, are confined to fishing, hunting and golf. Clubs are Rotary, Elks, Pine Lake Country Club, Wabe-Maquaw Hunting and Fishing Club in Quebec and Woodland Springs Trout Fishing Club in northern Michigan."

Don Baldwin (Attorney—Acton, Acton, Baldwin and Bookwalter—Danville, Illinois) writes:

"I have been engaged in the practice of law here in Danville since leaving Notre Dame, have enjoyed its practice and my fair share of success. I am unmarried and do not have chick or child. You can see that my existence has been more or less of a humdrum one out of which no 'copy' could be squeezed. It might be of some interest around Notre Dame to learn that two Notre Dame men have just recently been victorious in long and bitter primary fights for nomination as candidates for public office in this county and locality.

"Frank J. (Bus) Meyer, ND Law, '38, was nominated as the Republican candidate for County Judge in this county, which is a position of some importance in this locality, after a knock-down, drag-out battle with two strong opponents. His brother, Johnnie Meyer, who attended Notre Dame Law School was nominated as one of the Republican candidates for Representative in the Illinois State Assembly from this district."

Karl Kaschewski, recent president of the New Orleans Club, is now in New York, at 433 E. 51st St., New York 22, Apt. 1-C.

George Monroe (Monroe Chevrolet Sales and Dairy Farmer—Freeport, Illinois) writes an interesting letter on his activities and alumni:

"In 1940 I married Dorothy Barnes of Bushnell, Ill., and we have two lovely adopted children, Mary Therese, 2½ years old, and John Martin, 15 months old. Since 1934 I have owned and operated a Chevrolet agency, first in Bushnell, Ill., and for the past eleven years here. In addition I have a 200 acre dairy farm stocked with 90 head of purebred Holsteins for milking and sale of calves.

"Operating these two projects has taken most of my time except for the 3½ years spent in the Army as a major in the Ordnance Dept., two years of which were with the 1st Army from Normandy to the Elbe. For outside activities I am a member of the Lions Club, Elks, Freeport Country Club, 4th degree K.C., past vice-president of the Holy Name Society of St. Thomas Aquinas Parish, director of the Notre Dame Club of Rock River Valley, vice-president of the Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Rockford, president of the Stephenson County Auto Dealers Association, member of the Freeport Board of Education, commissioner of the Freeport Mosquito Abatement District.

"These various activities draw heavily on my time . . . but I find sufficient hours to have become a gardener and thoroughly enjoy the raising of 600 hybrid tea roses. I don't get to see many '29ers as there are few near Freeport. When I took my first Army assignment at Jackson, Miss., I rented a house and who should be my landlord but Jack Canizaro.

"Jack is one of the South's leading architects. We have seen him several times since along with his lovely wife Helene and their children.

"Harry J. Porter, '29, wife and baby dropped in on us at Christmastime last year. Harry was building a dam in the Ozarks so that the fishers and bathers would have a vacation spot. At Notre Dame I lived off-campus at 325 North St. Louis Blvd. with Harry and Joe E. Morrissey of Portland, Ore., Joe and Louis Whalen of Macomb, Ill., and Milton J. Wagner, '28, of Dearborn, Mich. Am sure sorry to read the sad news of Milton's death.

"I hear quite often from Joe Morrissey who lives at Coos Bay, Oregon and still works in Salem in the office of the State Division of Unemployment. Have lost track of Louis Whalen but see Joe Whalen in Des Moines occasionally. I see Vince Carney of Rochelle, Ill., quite often. Vince recently returned from a Holy Year trip to Rome.

"Do you have news of some of the '29ers I've lost track of? What happened to my old roommate George Jewett of Roswell, New Mexico, and Joe Hiss of Los Angeles, Bernie Bird of Lake Charles, La., Don McColl, John and Charles Hoover, Wm. (Pinkie) Cassidy, Frank Mettrailer, Ted Labedz and Jack Kearns?

"I often see, every Sunday in fact, Tom Lawless, '29, who is with the W. T. Rawleigh Co. here in town and doing very well. I occasionally run into Father Jim Mulcaire, '29, who has a fine parish near here at Hanover, Ill. I do get to ND for the Layman's Retreat each August but Father Foran keeps us so busy we don't see much of the campus. Twenty-one years has brought as much change in the campus as in us '29ers. I'm eagerly looking forward to the 25 year reunion which I see you are planning."

Dr. Wm. Neff (Supt. of Schools—Mandan, N. Dakota) sends this note:

"Tell the '29 boys that I will be glad to serve as hunting guide for a limited number in case any of the fellows desire to invade North Dakota during the hunting season this fall for some of the finest grouse and pheasant shooting to be found in the country."

Reynolds Seitz (Editor and Director of the International Travel Exposition for the Chicago "Daily News" and Director of Northwestern Univ. School of Journalism—Chicago Division) writes an interesting letter on his work, his family and some '29ers:

"For the last seven years I have been associated with the Chicago "Daily News." For half of the time I was director of advertising promotion and market research. In the more recent years I have served as travel editor and director of one of the News' special event promotions—the annual International Travel Exposition. Just recently I have been appointed Director of the Chicago Division of Northwestern University's School of Journalism. (I will continue to retain my connection with the Daily News.)

"My association with Northwestern University is not entirely new. For a number of years I have taught in the evening divisions of the School of Journalism and the University college. My courses have been "Law for the Journalist," and "Labor Law." Even under the new arrangement I will continue to handle "Labor Law" in the University college. In one form or another I have worked in the field of education ever since graduation.

"While I was getting a couple of graduate degrees, including a law degree, I taught in a high school in Evanston and served as a university debate coach. Later I taught law on a full time basis for three years at the Creighton University Law School, Omaha.

"I served in various administrative posts in the Omaha Public School system. Part of such work was as assistant to the superintendent of public schools. When my boss was appointed as superintendent of public schools in St. Louis, he took me with him to that city.

"The chance to become senior attorney for the National Labor Relations Board in Washington, D. C., took me out of St. Louis. After experience with the Board, I joined the legal staff of Montgomery Ward and Company in Chicago as labor relations attorney. Not long thereafter I was invited to join the Chicago Daily News. In 1939 I married a wonderful Omaha girl, a graduate of Duquesne College. We have four beautiful daughters—Eileen, Kathleen, Dianne and Louise. The oldest is eight years and the youngest six months.

"I see two members of the class of '29 frequently. Frank Siudzinski is real estate editor of the Chicago Daily News. Frank Smola has his office a half block from mine. He is educational director for the National Dairy Council. From time to time I see John Dorgan, Allan Moore and Ray Draymalski.

Joe Dorgan is in the advertising department of the Daily News. During my last business trip to New York City, I had some fine visits with Joe Hartnett, '29. He is a trust officer with the Irving Trust Company.

"I also saw Joe Lenihan, '29 (Christian Bros. Wines). I was sorry that business required me to be in Arizona last year during our class reunion. I do hope that I will be able to make the next get-together in '54."

A number of post cards about vacations, fishing, etc. have arrived from Bob McVety (Remington Rand, New York), Norb Berghoff (Wayne Pump, Hoff Brau—Fort Wayne), John Dorgan (Hubbard, Hubbard & Dorgan—Chicago), Vince Carney (Carney and Longenecker—Rochelle, Ill.), Fred Wagner (Insurance—Tiffin, Ohio), Moritz Dieter (Construction Engineer—Tulsa), Bill Cronin (Frigidaire Sales Corp.—Oakland), Claude Horning (Horning Lumber Co.—Akron), Bill Loughran (Dept. of Education—Baltimore), Russell McGrath (Real Estate and Mortgage Banking—Providence), Murray Glasgow (Glasgow Brewery—Norfolk), Dr. Corrin Hodgson (Mayo Bros Clinic), Norm Hartzler (Frederick O'Brien Co.—Los Angeles), Dr. Ed Post (Vet. Hosp. Camp Custer), Dr. Charles Baum (Dentist and Civic Leader—Hamilton, Ohio) and Bill Kreig (Buschmann, Kreig, DeVault and Alexander—Indianapolis).

In the next issue this column will carry some interesting letters and news notes from—

John B. Sullivan (Director of Education—Executive Dept., State of New York).

Stephen J. Schneider (Manager—Federal Security Agency—Tucson, Arizona).

Your secretary and Devcre Plunkett (1930 Class Sec'y.) drove to the Red Sox this summer to see the Tigers vs. the Detroit Sox. We stopped in Quincy, Mich., and saw Bill Crotty (pres. Automotive Products Corp.) toured his two plants and had an enjoyable lunch with Bill at the Arlington Hotel in Goldwater. Bill reports that he sees several '29ers who are doing a fine piece of work in their various fields of endeavor, John T. Higgins (attorney at law—Detroit), Paul Isvold (Acme Steel Co.—Kalamazoo), Eddie Gage (Oldsmobile agency—Royal Oak), Eddie McMahon (Mechanical Trucks—Syracuse, N. Y.), Bob Ward (attorney at law—Marshall), Louis Sinclair (news editor—Battle Creek Enquirer and News), Harold Steinbacher (Judge—Battle Creek) and Ed Baum (Insurance—Battle Creek).

Here we go—one issue closer to our 25th reunion. Notes and cards are still coming in, commenting on the last reunion of our class and requesting seats up front for the next big gathering in 1955.

Under the heading of old business the record must be set right on who was here for the 20th reunion. Through faulty checking of rosters here, your correspondent missed a number of fellows who had registered at the Law Building or the Alumni Office, and not at our headquarters in Morrissey Hall. Here are the names omitted from the mimeographed list sent all class members:

Ed Blatt, residing at 836 Greytown Road, Cleveland Heights, proud father of three daughters (hope to see you at the Navy game, Ed!); Charlie Esola, 3410 Michigan Ave., East Chicago, Indiana (got some news from Charley spotted below); Joe Friel, Rockwell Center, N. Y. (the fellow writing the column above says you are a '29er, but anyway you were in distinguished company last June).

And then we missed a large part of the South Bend contingent, Father Bill Scanlon, Prof. Walter Langford, Bob Holmes, Fran Messick, and Dave McDill; Ed Mulick, vice-president and general manager of Kathryn Cosmetics, Inc., whose business address is 540 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago; Dick Neeson, who lives at 806 S. 8th, Springfield, Ill.; Tom Purcell, 141 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago; Jim Ranier, Fowler, Ind.; and John Voss, Elkhorn, Wis.

Father Jim Rizer sent along a fine letter from Danville, Va., and enclosed a circular showing the Catholic Motor Chapel which he and Father Chester P. Michael were using throughout the diocese of Richmond. Here's Father Jim's letter:

"Many thanks for your good wishes and enjoyable news. I even enjoyed the gentle bite you put on me for some interesting news items. I only wish I could respond with a load of them, but it has not been my good fortune to have had much close contact with many of the 'boys.' I used to see a great many of them when I was working in and out of New York, but those wonderful times became fewer and fewer during four years in the Army and the same number in the Seminary. The latter were an improvement on the former inasmuch as we had summer vacations, which I used mostly for traveling.

"I could fill a volume if I began concentrating on the ones I haven't seen. Even that ole faithful Harley McDevitt stopped sending me reports two or three years ago.

"One great thrill I had shortly after my ordination (May 18, 1950) happened during a few hours visit to New York. Tim Toomey graciously arranged for me to say Mass at Our Lady of Victory Church, and, unbeknowns to me, contacted many of our ND friends. Imagine the kick I got out of seeing Johnny Burns, Eddie Bourke, Tim O'Rourke, Joe Brophy, Ed Arthur, Ed Fallon, Warren Fogel, Henry Frey, Cy Kelleher, Larry Cronin, Joe and Jim Friel, Ed Ellsworth, Joe Linehan; also Rita Shea of Manchester (Tom's wife) and Honey Friel (Jim's wife): to say nothing of my good friends from the Charlie Flanagan Association, the headquarters of which is at Bill Tynan's Restaurant, 179 William St., where many enjoyable hours are spent in good fun.

"I recently had a wonderful letter from Bus Redgate who is improving rapidly, thank God! And a note of surprise came from John Carleton Sullivan, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who is to be married August 26 to Claire Pelt in South Orange, N. J. Doc Tom Shcen used to say "if you chase 'em long enough, one of them is going to catch you." Incidentally, I managed to spend a few days with Tom and his wife, Holley (they have three attractive young daughters) at their summer home in Easthampton the past four summers.

"I recently received a very kind letter from Dan O'Neil (AT&T, NYC), Jack Heilker of Cincinnati, and Jack Folks of Long Island, all prospering very well. John Law is doing a splendid job of teaching and coaching at Mt. St. Mary's College.

"I'm writing this letter at Danville, Va. We have the motor chapel on the outskirts of the city and have been having large crowds nightly. Tomorrow we move to a small place outside of Suffolk. The enclosed circular will tell you something about the work.

"My very best wishes to Father Broughal and all the Plunketts."

Thanks, Father Rizer, for your nice letter. I know everyone in the class will remember you in the difficult work you are now in.

Mr. Harrington plans on being at the 1926 class Silver Anniversary Reunion next June and will play in the Alumni Golf Tournament if he gets a suitable handicap. He claims he cannot break 100.

supplies from San Francisco to Brisbane, Australia via Wellington, New Zealand. In Australia this vessel was converted into a troop ship and for six months carried American and Australian troops from Australia to New Guinea. This ship was finally ordered to South America to pick up cargo for the U. S. The vessel visited ports in Chile, Peru, and Ecuador, and then returned via the Panama Canal to New York. While in New York I met Tom Keegan who was also an armed guard officer in the Navy.

"I returned to San Francisco where I was assigned duty aboard another merchant ship as armed guard commander. While aboard this vessel I again traveled to Australia and from Australia to Bristol, England. While in Bristol I met a classmate from ND, Jim(?) Fitzgerald. "Fitz" was the coach of the famous Lyons Hall football team of 1928 and after leaving ND coached football at St. Bede's College and St. Thomas' College.

"Fitz was one of the officials at a football game between two Army teams at Bristol when I met him, and during the last war was athletic director for the American Red Cross in London. Fitz remembered the game between Fort Wayne and Lyons Hall at Fort Wayne on Thanksgiving Day, 1928. It was at this game that Judge Tom 'Let us be gentlemen' McDougal introduced to the Lyons Hall team for the first time a special gin-flavored water. It was so popular that Lyons Hall broke all local records for the number of rest periods taken during a single game. I understand 'His Honor' is still in the Naval Reserve, so I may have the opportunity to welcome him to San Diego.

"While in England I was transferred to Londonderry, Northern Ireland, where I was stationed for seven months. During this tour of duty I met Pete Hines, a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps. Pete, a nephew of Professor Hines (history), was at ND in 1941, prior to his entry into the Marine Corps. From Londonderry I went to London in January, 1944 where I was assigned duty in the legal office of the Commander. U. S. Naval Forces in Europe. My first legal assignment was Judge-Advocate of the General Court Martial Board of the command. These duties took me to all sections of England, Scotland, Wales, and France after it was liberated. During one of my visits to Scotland, I met Dr. Joe Conway, who was attached to the U. S. Naval Base in Gourock, Scotland. Joe was in our class for two or three years and then went on to dental school at Harvard.

"He did not recognize me when we first met, but when I mentioned the names of Chick Driscoll, Frank and Dutch Holland, and Snubber Murphy his recollection was refreshed. I also met Johnny Lujack at the U. S. Naval Receiving Station, Plymouth, England. Johnny at that time was an ensign stationed at Plymouth. There was another ND man at Plymouth, a namesake of mine, Ensign O'Malley, who had been captured by the Germans and later liberated from a German prisoner-of-war camp.

"In London I ran into Franklin O'Mara, '30, a former athletic manager at ND. Franklin had traded his bearskin coat for an officer's uniform in the U. S. Army. I had occasion to contact Bill Cronin, '28, in London. Bill was in England with the Hon. Frank C. Walker, who was one of the U. S. delegates to the United Nations.

"I remained on duty in London and in September, 1945, became staff legal officer for the Commander-in-Chief, U. S. Naval Forces, Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean. Because this was the top command of the Navy in Europe, my duties enabled me to travel in France, Germany, Italy, Spain and most of the countries bordering the Mediterranean. I managed to spend a week in Eire and visited the birthplace of my grandfather in County Mayo.

"During this visit, through the influence of a priest I met in Cork, I was able to attend the All-Ireland Hurling Match in Dublin. This match is comparable to our World Series. Hurling is one of the national games of Eire. It is a very fast and skillful game.

"In 1947 I transferred to the regular Navy as a legal specialist. Captain Frank Bon, USN, ND, '27, is one of the highest ranking officers of this group. Captain Bon is presently a key assistant to the Judge Advocate General of the Navy. Before I left London in August, 1948, I spent 3 weeks leave in Norway, Denmark and Sweden. These countries are very beautiful and their peoples very interesting. I did have some difficulty finding a Catholic Church in Stockholm. On my return to the U. S. in 1948, I married an English girl whom I had met in London. I have a step-son, James, age twelve.

"He has become fully Americanized and has already expressed a desire to attend ND. I made many friends during my tour of duty in England. I was present in London during some of the minor air raids, the buzz bomb and rocket attacks, and I witnessed the suffering and hardships which these people underwent. I have no other but the highest praise for their courage and fortitude. I live now

And here's the spot to correct some more bad reporting on our recent reunion. I failed to mention one of the most important prize winners, the class winner with the largest family. I received a very welcome reminder on that from Mrs. Jim Leahy, Tiffin, Ohio. To wit:

"While reading the last issue of the 'Alumnus,' I was very surprised and a bit disappointed to see you forgot to list all the prize winners at the famous '30 reunion. Which one? James C. Leahy won the prize for the largest family. Remember? Of course I was interested two ways—first, we're quite proud of our family of seven, three boys, Pat, Don, Tim, and four girls, Susan, Colleen, Shannon and Theresa, all under twelve; and second, the prize was Scotch: I drink it, Jim doesn't. How about it?" Sorry I missed that news item, Mrs. Jim. What a journalist! I had the best human interest item of the reunion, and failed to get it into the story.

Charlie Esola, attorney in East Chicago, Ind., arrived a bit late for our reunion, but moved around rapidly in the hours he spent with us. Thanks for the letter, Charlie, which I am quoting here:

"In reply to your recent letter with regard to news about some of our class members, here goes:

"Ben Schwartz is now the present prosecutor for Lake County, Indiana. Ben is married, has no children. Roger Callahan is a probate commissioner in Lake superior court. The Callahans have four children. Thad Haven is water-board attorney for East Chicago, married, one child. As for myself, I am married, have two children, and am in the general practice of law. I served in the armed forces for about two years and was in the Pacific Theatre. I was in attendance at the beginning of the war trials in Yokohama, Japan. At present I am post commander of the American Legion Post 266 in East Chicago.

"In the brief time that I was present at the reunion it was remarkable to see the changes in classmates after a span of 20 years. As previously stated I will be in attendance at the 25 year reunion, of course if this Korean affair does not take all of us.

"Occasionally I see Raymond Young who lives in Hammond, Ind."

Commander George O'Malley, USN, wrote a mighty interesting letter about his doings, travels, ND contacts, etc. But let George tell the story:

"I received your letter today and I will make an effort to comply with your request for news. My intentions were to send you a note on my return to California. However the trouble in Korea materially increased my work load which left me with little or no time to spare. San Diego, as you know, is one of the chief Navy ports on the Pacific coast and the activities of the Navy in this area have increased considerably since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

"I enjoyed very much your report on the reunion in the last edition of the 'Alumnus.' On the whole your report was very true and accurate. I do, however, desire to correct an impression you might have given in your column to the effect that I felt I was robbed of the prize for the member of the class of 1930 traveling the longest distance for the reunion. I am sure that there was no robbery involved in your choice because of the lack of intent.

"I do feel that as a professor of history you should refresh your memory concerning California on the location of its cities. The San Diego area is well known historically as the birth place of California. Dan Cannon would have no reason to know that LaMesa, California, is a greater distance from South Bend than Los Angeles, so I can excuse him.

"If I can get you interested in California history, especially the San Diego area, my loss of the aforementioned prize will not have been in vain. I did enjoy our reunion and even considering that mistake which was made, the committee should be complimented for their work in making it such a success. This includes Dan Cannon. For the benefit of Joe Kelly, this is not an attempt to 'polish the apple.'"

"In your recent letter you invited me to tell of my activities since graduation, so here goes. I worked for awhile in Dixon and Chicago immediately after graduation and then returned to school. I attended Chicago Kent College of Law and after graduation from that institution I opened a law office in Dixon, Ill., my home town. I practiced law until April, 1942, when I received a commission in the Navy.

"After two months training at San Francisco and San Diego, I was assigned to duty aboard a merchant ship as an armed guard officer in charge of a U. S. Navy gun crew. This vessel carried ammunition and with my family in La Mesa which is about ten miles from San Diego. I am presently District Legal Assistance officer of the Eleventh Naval district. My office is located in Room 248, Hq. Bldg., 11th Naval Dist., San Diego.

"I had the pleasure of visiting with Jim Murphy, '38, who is practicing law in Tucson. Jim is a lieutenant in the Naval Reserve. He was in San Diego on two weeks training duty in the District Legal Office. I frequently talk with Major Fenton Mee, USMC, who is stationed at the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base, Coronado, Calif. Major Mee graduated from ND law school just prior to World War II.

"The night before the ND-USC game of 1948 I met in the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, Fred Peak, '30, and wife, Chuck Rohr, '30, and Bart McCue, who had the news stand concession at Notre Dame and who now lives in Laguna Beach, Calif.

"Since my return to California, I have received cards from Gil Prendergast and Hugh "Sad Eyes" Gallagher. Gil was in Atlantic City and Hugh was on a holiday at the seaside in New Jersey. While enroute to California from the reunion I saw Harry Busscher at a distance in Cody, Montana. As all the male citizens of the town wear ten gallon Stetsons, Harry's attire was not enough to positively identify him. When the person I thought was Harry slowly crawled into a new Studebaker with Nevada license plates, I was sure it was Harry.

"Devere, you have requested the above information, so any complaints should be addressed to you. If any ND men, especially from the class of 1930 are in the San Diego area on government business or personal business or pleasure, I would be happy to meet them and perhaps be of some assistance. Say hello to my fellow townsmen, Herb Jones and Bob Cahill. (Ed. note to Joe Kelly: this is polishing the apple. So, Cal. tickets, you know.) My best wishes to Charlie Callahan. I hope to see him in Los Angeles on or about December 2. Tell Charlie if he gets to San Diego I will give him an All-Navy welcome even if he is a member of the Air Force Reserve."

Here is a news item from Clinton, Mass. Patsy Hastings was married to Mary E. Freel, July 24. Following a wedding trip to Bermuda the Hastings are residing at 32 Dewey St. in Clinton. I believe Pat is still in the garage and hotel business.

A letter from John "Bus" Redgate, gives us some news out of the East. Writing from Gaylord Farm, Wallingford, Conn., he says:

"Many thanks for your letter of Aug. 27. Yes, I did receive the reunion picture from Tim Toomey, and asked him for your address to thank you. It looked like a good time.

"I have heard from quite a few from our class since I've been laid up. Bob Brannon, '30, who was my roommate in Walsh is now County Attorney at Denison, Iowa. He is married to the former Mary Swords of St. Mary's. They have five children, a girl and four boys. He has me beat with the girl.

"Tom Murphy is a frequent visitor. He is personnel director for the Bridgeport Moulded Products. Has two boys and two girls. Nick Lanes, '34, gets up every week. He is now heading a $2,500,000 housing program at Greenwich, Conn.

"The Hon. James L. McGovern, K.S.G., honorary president of the ND Southwest Conn. Club and father of the late Roger McGovern, '32, visits on his trips throughout the state giving speeches for the Associated Press of which he is the president. Father Eugene A. Moriarity, who taught at ND a few years back is a short distance from here as pastor in Meriden.

"Believe me, Devere, when I say everyone has been glad to me since my illness. I have received letters from such ND men as Johnny Law, the Cannons, Jack and Dan, Frank Doan, editor of the "Dome," Frank O'Brien of Motorola, Bob Brennan of Pittsfield, Jack Elder, "Moon" Mullins, Frank Kelly, '28, of Lee, Mass. (old time ballplayer). And of course good old Tim Toomey, who has been ever so faithful with his letters, clippings and current events of the big town, Manhattan.

"The local ND Club in Bridgeport, headed by Frank McGee, '34, and Joe McNamara, '30, formerly of Indianapolis, sent me a magnificent gift some time ago. My wife's cousin, attorney Dan Brennan, '36, gets up occasionally with my cousin Russ Redgate, '36. Russ is working on Mr. McGovern's newspaper as a writer and doing very well. There are many others that we probably have failed to mention, but not intentionally. Of course, I have been hearing quite a bit from Father Jim Murray, C.S.C., and Father Ray Totten.

"Hope you can use some of this, Devere, and let me know when your next issue is due. I may have more news, now that I have so much time on my hands."

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

MR. REYNOLDS

The appointment of C. L. REYNOLDS, '38, as Control Manager for Union Bag and Paper Corporation has been announced by Leonard J. Doyle, Vice President. Mr. Reynolds succeeds Mr. W. A. West who is resigning from the company.

Mr. Reynolds joined the Union Bag organization in 1940. He most recently served as Assistant to the Director of Multiwall Bag Sales.

During the war Mr. Reynolds held the rank of Lieutenant Junior Grade in the United States Navy.

He was born in Newark, New Jersey, and is a graduate of the Harvard School of Business Administration in 1940.

Walt Langford, '30, ND varsity tennis coach, was the tournament chairman of the Western Junior and Boys Tennis Tourney held at Notre Dame in July. No doubt Walt saw some nifty boys that he would like to have on his squad in a few years.

Francis "Bill" Fink, managing editor of "Our Sunday Visitor," was elected president of the Catholic Press Association at its annual meeting this summer. Many of you recall that Bill and his wife received the 1948 award of the National Catholic Family Life Conference.

John T. Rocap, '30, Indianapolis attorney, recently completed his term as president of the Board of Directors of the Gibault School for boys in Terre Haute. This school is operated by the Brothers of Holy Cross and is sponsored by the Indiana Knights of Columbus for the rehabilitation of juvenile delinquent boys from 10 to 16 years of age.

Clarence Kozak stopped by for a short chat during summer school. Kozie had two prospective students with him, and from the size of them I know they are not coming here only to study history.

Danny Sullivan, '30, wrote a card from Baltimore, regretting his failure to make the 1950 reunion after making a reservation. He promises to be at the ring-side for the 1955 go.

Tim Toomey writes in from New York City with a lot of dope on ND fellows down east:

"I am strictly a Red Sox fan so I'll pay little attention to your remarks about the Tigers. O'Neil has his team rolling now and the Bostonians should be tough to beat.

"I'll jot down a few items about our classmates from time to time and send them on to you. Here we go. Howard "Hooley" Smith, brother-in-law of the Columbus Cannons, has been coaching baseball, football and basketball at Mt. St. Michael's here in NYC for the past decade, and he is generally regarded as the most competent all around prep school coach in Greater New York. Many of his star pupils have gone on to greater fame in collegiate ranks and several have made their letters at ND.

"Tom Cunningham is recovering from a serious illness and he was advised by his doctors to remain away from the Reunion to insure a speedy return to good health. Tom makes his home in the City. Warren Fogel is taking his duties of raising a fine family and practicing law seriously, as he seldom appears at the N. Y. Club meetings.

"Don Sullivan, a partner in the famed Sullivan combination (Don and Dan), still resides in Northampton, Mass., where the Sullivans are highly successful building contractors. Don's oldest son is a member of the class of 1953 at ND. Bill Walsh, my old roomie in Corby Sub, is with the Navy department in Washington in a civilian capacity. Bill had a notable record in the Navy during the last war. Patsy Hastings, the pride of Clinton, Mass., operates a hotel and restaurant in that city and is really living like a country squire.

"Joe Palmero was still in Vicksburg, Miss., at last reports and I believe, still a bachelor. By the way I heard the list of bachelors was to be reduced by two. Rumor had it that Onnie Donovan and Joe Reidy were about to take the fatal step. That will leave the field to about 3 more besides myself.

"The 'work pressure meter' is rising, so I'll cut this short and will write later with other info I can gather."

Bernie Conroy (United Engineering and Foundry Co. of Pittsburgh) who did so much of the preparatory work for the reunion dropped a line the other day. He wrote:

"I had a nice letter from Tommy Cunningham and he wrote that he is feeling much better and has obtained a job as sales manager for Cooney Brothers at Tarrytown, N. Y. Tom is very anxious to get back to work and plans to move from Long Island to Tarrytown. He is quite happy about his family which now consists of wife, Jane, and two small daughters. He wrote that his brother, Ed, has been called back into the Navy. He is a Lt. Commander and at present is teaching radar at Norfolk.

"I regret very much that Bo Richards was unable to be on hand for our reunion last June. Just a few days before I left for South Bend I had a very interesting letter from him and he said he hoped to make the reunion. However, he was worried that his duties as Claims Officer and Legal Advisor for the Dept. of Agriculture in Kansas City might keep him too busy. His family now consists of wife, Alice, and two boys; they live at 7231 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo.

"I will try to do better the next time and hope to see a lot of fellows during the football season."

Time to cool off this typewriter. To all the fellows who contributed news this time, thanks. I hope to see many '30 fellows at the home games and at the Navy game in Cleveland. By the way where do the '30 men usually convene in Cleveland after the game?

From Jerry Parker:
"In flying to Chicago last month with Frank Leahy last month we agreed that I'd established some sort of record last season by traveling 23,000 miles in 1949 to see Notre Dame play. Can this be topped?"

The class secretary invites comparisons and in fairness warns that Jerry is now display advertising manager for American Airlines.

And here's some free advertising for Bill Reisiert in Louisville. He and Ruth are the parents of a girl child, Ruth Ann, who weighed in June 24 at 8 lbs. 2 oz. Time, 5:25 p. m. To quote Bill: "How about that!"

June 8, 9, 10, 1951

From the mailbag: Leahy-Wolfson Associates, Inc., in Suite 2092, 100 Park Avenue, New York City, announce the opening of general insurance brokerage offices, with Frank Leahy, of the class of '31 as vice-president. J. Norbert Gelson, of the class of '26 is assistant secretary-treasurer. The firm has branches in Jacksonville, Milwaukee and Birmingham.

Jack Riedell, a '31 architecture graduate, died in Paris, Ill., after an illness of several months. Friends praying for Jack might like to know that he was converted to Catholicism in August, 1940. His wife and a four-year-old daughter, Nancy, survive.

Note a change of address for Roland A. Chiara, Hairdresser, Roland's Maison de Beaute, 1218 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans 13, La.

1932

Al Culver, the Old Rip, comes through with his latest report from the reunion, and it is as follows:

"These years start to roll and in spite of several caustic cracks at the last reunion these attacks come only about once a year and it gives such characters as Bus Redgate, who are waiting out recovery and unable to get back to ND once in a while, a good laugh. It might even give them a renewed interest in old ND.

"The reunion was taken over by the thirsty Thirties and their twenty year sessions. Jack Cannon was on duty day and night, and really put on a roller coaster party. Many '32ers were put in the same hall but the person who did not come with a good supply of reserve sleep was a dead duck.

"For the Badinites, Rev. John Dever, the former rector who spent many years up at Watertown, Wis., spent some time in Corby Hall this spring. When he answered my inquiry at his door as to the number of Father Tom Brennan's room, he said, 'I couldn't tell you, Al. I'm a stranger here myself.' The years have been kind to him, and that twinkle is still in his eye. He used to put the same 'whammy' on me when I would ask for a weekend pass to visit my aunt at Sister Lake, noting that the fishing season had just opened in Michigan and that I would need a non-resident fishing license whether I used it or not.

"Dean McCarthy was doing double duty in front of the Dining Halls after the banquet, wishing his former charges well and had a little time for a pep talk with each and every one of us. The College of Commerce has gone way ahead of the field under his able leadership and may it continue to do so.

"Father John Ryan, who has had serious trouble with his throat in recent months, was in good voice and we spent a pleasant evening together. I finally folded up at the Morrissey Smoker but before I left it was a pleasure to see "Toughy" and Father Mike Mulcaire fanning the breeze with "Waybackwhenners" with as much gusto as if they had just sent the boys on their way with the coveted sheepskin.

"Art Reyniers, the germ-free genius, held open house on the LOBUND Lab steps and had quite a following. Father Galligan was there and his days at Sorin Hall were brought back to light. Few people know of the fine job he did years ago at St. Thomas College during the depression.

"The Monogram Luncheon was a three hour session, and if the tables did not have to be set up for the banquet that evening, time would not have been called until sundown. Bill Sheehan was elected president, and I predict that the hoop that was started rolling a few years ago by Fred Miller and Joe Boland will be given a hearty clout with a tire iron by the new prexy.

"The pre-game football lunches have been opened to the public and even if you do not want to replay a few of the old games with the bearded "pros" of your class, the "All you can eat for $1.25" ought to catch the inner man in a weak moment."

Thanks, Al, for your efforts: we'll expect you to keep us informed on the football team, and the highlights of the season.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The Placement Bureau currently has many calls for experienced engineers and designers of all kinds. At least three years experience is indicated in most cases. Salaries are substantial.

One of the country's largest corporations is seeking experienced auditors, accountants and an outstanding financial analyst. Salaries up to $15,000.

Those interested in and qualified for such openings should communicate at once with William R. Doooley, Placement Director. It is advisable to submit with the first letter an outline of qualifications.

From JERRY CONWAY:

Jack Naftzger, '32, is living at 5518 Lindley Ave., Tarzana, Calif. His wife just presented him with their fourth child, but first daughter, about a month ago. Jack represents a chemical firm and he calls on the aircraft factories in the L. A. area and is going very well. "Nasty" hailed from Sioux City, Iowa. This was the first time I'd seen my old roommate in 17 years.

Joe Sinkule, '32, is head of the Sinkule Motor Sales at Milan, Michigan—a Ford sales and service agency. Joe, wife and three children are living at 384 Orchard Hills Drive, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

I looked up from my morning paper in the dining room of the Hotel Mayo in Tulsa while driving out here and who was at the next table but "Bud" Dyniewicz. Hadn't seen him since graduation in '32. Bud has a very fine position with the Deep Rock Oil Co. Bud said that Ed Malchione is living out here, practicing law, but I haven't even looked up his address in the phone book yet.

When I was here in June I called on the convention dept. of the L.A. Chamber of Commerce, believing that some of those men might have a lead for me. The chap I talked to was Bob Kelley. It wasn't until later that I learned that he was a Notre Dame man, class of '34. So when I was downtown the other day I stopped in to say hello. He has a lovely wife, two very fine boys and a very cute little girl. I invited them to be on our radio show, so they came out the other day and were starred on the program.

Then Kelley told me that he had visited with Ben Salvaty, '32, who is back here working for Neil Hurley's company. Understand Benny intended moving back to Chicago, but decided to stay in California after all. Benny and family are at 508 N. Vega Ave., Alhambra, Calif.

Les Raddatz, '33, has been most helpful to me, as Owens' program is broadcast over NBC and Les is in charge of press for NBC out here—as most everyone knows. Christy Walsh, Jr., is in Les' department, as your readers know from a most recent issue. Christy is doing an excellent job.

Intend to have lunch with Tom Sheils Monday. He's managing the Modernaires. Evelyn Knight, Clark Dennis and others.

Gene Calhoun is still as genial as ever and doing a fine job of running the Local Loan office. As yet I haven't had to put the touch on him.

From Joe Petritz:

"This is a desk-clearing project, so forgive my promptness. Just leaving for training camp in Ripon, Wis., having just changed apartments, so I'm spinning. Doesn't look like I'll hit South Bend this time, but hope to get by there some time this fall. When you're all nice and busy."

(Joe is referring, of course, to the training camp of the New York Yanks of the National Football Conference. He's their public relations expert. Ed.)

J. Raymond Fox has been appointed general manager of Bosch Brewing Co., Houghton, Mich. He was formerly Chicago sales manager, secretary and director of Peter Fox Brewing Co., Chicago, resigning last January.

Frank Horika is now on the sales staff of Whitcomb and Keller, Inc., South Bend realtors. Frank studied music several years before entering the sales field and was in the electrical appliance and retail mail order business before switching to real estate. His South Bend address is 420 N. Frances St.

BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Trolio, a son, Victor Eugene, August 3, in Jackson, Mississippi. Weight six pounds, five ounces.

To Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kiener (Cleveland, Ohio) a daughter, Mary Elaine, June 24.

Your class secretary: James K. Collins, 17 Triangle Ave., Dayton 9, Ohio.

1933

Dear '33's:

We've got big news this time, gents—one of our class John Coughlan, is the father of triplets. An attorney with the Chicago Title & Trust Co., John rushes home each night to fondly count—and help feed and change, we trust—Ellen Catherine, Mary Margaret, and David John, all born on June 14, 1950. Congratulations to the Coughlans from the class of 1933! (And remember them in your prayers, hey,)

We received the letter informing us of this great event from John's brother, Tom Coughlan, of the class of 1931. Many, many thanks, Tom, and we wish other NDs were as good about taking typewriter in hand to forward Vital Statistics to this apple stand. We are thinking of conducting a survey of everyone from our beloved helpmate to our confessor to see if we can learn just why it is that the guys we graduated with refuse to drop us as much as a postcard. The address is easy—Rosary College, River Forest, Ill.—and the name, whatever else you may wish to say about it, is certainly not complicated. Joe McCabe . . . nine strokes of the pen, nine taps on the type keys—or leave the Jo off if you're rushed. So send us the word, men—what you're doing, how many children you have, NDs you've seen—anything you can think of which might be interesting to your old friends. After all, I'm not in a situation where I run into too many Notre Dame men . . . and those I do see are usually the same ones I've mentioned here many times before. So if you want to read a little news in this column—send in a little news! That's one way of cutting down on my chatter.

Sedentary as I am, I have heard a few things about a few people. John Buckley is leaving Oak Park for Midland, Texas. His wife, Rita, is retiring chairman of the Rosary College Alumnae Fund Committee, and says they expect to be there about the middle of September. So, if we have any ND representation there, say hello to the Buckleys.

Bill Lynch, Jr., is out here every day. Reason? He's building the new Rosary College Auditorium and Fine Arts Building, which is currently represented by a yawning pit outside this office window. Bill says he sees Duke Walters occasionally, as well as a number of others whose names escaped the mind.

While driving in Oak Park last week saw Dan Hanley. Dan looks fine, but we had not time to exchange information—motorists behind me were threatening to drive right up the back of the McCabe jeep. Dan promised to drop by the office soon—maybe I'll have a head start on next issue's column if he does.

Saw where George "Mink" Melinkovich was coaching at Utah State, and, according to the report, had infused new spirit into the team. They'll either have new spirit or need plasma when Mink gets to work on them.

That about sums up the roster as far as the undersigned goes. Wish I had more dope to give you. But as I say, the cutting down of postal service only means that there's one delivery a day instead of two on which the postman brings me—nothing. Heartbreaking? Don't sob—write!

The big news of the year and the century is that the Pope is going to announce as church dogma the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

That's an event which should be particularly fraught with meaning for Notre Dame men. I humbly suggest that we all pitch in and do some extra spiritual devotions and exercises in preparation for the announcement on November 1—All Saint's Day. Why? Because, of course, our Alma Mater is especially dedicated to Her; and because, also, to all appearances and by every indication She is the last best hope of keeping the world from disintegrating. Lots of our fellow NDs are already making extra efforts to follow the exhortations given at Fatima: "pray and do penance."

A non-alumnus friend told me last night that Jim Cronin and his neighbors on Chicago's South Side hold block Rosary sessions every night. I haven't called Jim to see whether or not it's true: if not, it would be an idea, Jim. A great many guys are allergic to public demonstration of this kind. There's no need to "gang up" in prayer if you don't like to; but say the Rosary yourself, every day, in that case. And if you already say one round of five mysteries, add another, or say the works every day.

It's only 10 or 15 minutes more a day—and who is to say that your extra 15 minutes of prayer might not save the world? Save the world—I mean save your wife and your children, and all your loved ones and friends. If that isn't specific enough, just take 10 seconds to think what they would look like if the Big Red Atom exploded in the next block. Ten seconds of that imagery should be all you need . . . and for that matter, all you can stand.

John English, of the J. P. English Steel Co. in Tacoma, Wash., was married Aug. 12 to Miss Suzanne Marie Seil in St. Patrick's Church at Walla Walla.

From Douglas Giorgio:

"Here's a little news about myself, if the Sec'y of the Class of '33 would be interested. I am still in the Navy Medical Corps as Commander and head of the Department of Anesthesiology of the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Maryland.

"Living at present in Washington, D. C., at 3819 Van Ness St., NW, with wife and six children, three for St. Mary's and three for Notre Dame. At present we are all sitting tight when more medical officers may be needed on ships or with the Marines in the Korean conflict."

Joe Sheeketski, U. of Nevada athletic director and football coach, has withdrawn from the running for regent of the school. Joe had entered the race to get better consideration for the problems of his athletic department and apparently got his results without the expense of a campaign.

From his mother, we learn that Jerry Ashley is in Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital in Detroit following an operation.

1934

BIG news this time. Not big in volume, but big in the sense that '34 people actually took quills in sturdy right fists and wrote letters.

Seven came in either direct or through the Cahill-Hitchner news room at ND ticket headquarters. When you write the "dear old pal" letters to Bob, be prepared to be quoted, for there's a pipeline to 6575 Glenwood in Chicago.

Alphabetically, John H. Begley is the first of the quill-flourishers, and he quilled like this:

BEGLEY SPEAKS:

"I received your post card of Nov. 15, 1949, when I was residing in Chicago and have been carrying it with me ever since. About that time I decided to accept a position in New York City as manager of the Kohl and Madden Printing Ink Co. (636 11th Ave.).

"My family is now residing in Greenwich, Conn. We have two small children who are enjoying this section of the country very much.

"Have had lunch with Tom Walsh, class of '35 (no charge, Hochreiter-efm), several times. Jim Sheils, commissioner of investigations in New York, was along one day.

"Read with interest in Cleveland that Cleve Carey was in charge of all advertising, radio, and television work for Rexall Drug.

"I saw the NYU-ND basketball game and had a chat with Ed Krause.

"If I run on to any news, I shall pass it on to you."

It couldn't happen to a hungrier column, John H. BEFORE BU

The journalism department was strict on fundamentals of the alphabet, so I'll show this English major that I know BU comes after BE. So Harry

Active Duty Call

Major Jack Scott, '38, personnel manager of the South Bend Tribune, was recalled to active duty in the U. S. Marine Corps last month.

Commanding officer of a Marine Combat Engineer battalion, Jack won the Silver Star for valor in the South Pacific in World War II. He expected to be sent immediately to Korea, where the Marines are reported to be acquitting themselves quite nicely.

Besides his Silver Star, Jack got a Bronze Star for action on Saipan and a Purple Heart. He is married and the father of two children.

Burchell of Farr and Co., 120 Wall, N. Y., drop your market analyst's devices and tell the class what you told Bob Cahill:

"Robert—I said I would do this—and I will!

"Frank Linton: works in the comptroller's department of Allied Chemical, now that he is an almost-retired colonel of the U. S. Army. Lives in Lynbrook, L. I., with his wife, Jane, and daughter (4), Joyce. Spends all his time on the "back forty" of his property wherein he hires Burchell as a week-end laborer at wages that cry to heaven for vengeance. 'O what a tangled web we weave—when first we bother with the likes of Linton,' say I.

"LIAR OF THE MONTH"

"John Masterson: Lives anywhere but a quiet life in a beautiful ranch house on the banks of Lake Success, L. I. Wife: Ann; sons Bobby and Bill. Works as promotion and sales director of Ronald Press (Gardens of Ancient China?) And here's an ironic twist: textbooks are his specialty. 'In age he sells what in youth he scorned.'

"A. Donald Brice: 'Advertising manager,' etc., of Dictaphone Corp. Has just given me his sacred word to write you—immediately. If he doesn't, publish his picture under 'Liar of the Month.'

(EFM note: my wife chortled over this guy's stuff; threatened not to read my column if I cut a word. Keep going, Burchell.—EFM)

"Hugh Fitzgerald: Has also promised to write. He will, because, like me, he is a man of his word—a not uncommon characteristic of the truly poor.

CAN THEY?

"Eugene Healy: Retired author ('C. Crane's First Case,' etc.) now working for W. W. Norton (publishers of 'The Mature Mind.') Lives in Forest Hills. Wife, Annette; daughter, Christine; son, Eugene Jr. Possibly his greatest distinction: claims to have seen Dr. William Shields during the last four years. Can anyone else make that statement?

"George Rocheleau: This is a fact: lives in Southern France with his wife, Eileen. Occupation: painting. Has done an outstanding job, and is an artist of some reputation.

"Harry M. Burchell: writes market analyses and sells sugar for Farr and Co., New York. Wife: Alice; daughters, Mary-Alice (8), Jane (4). Lives in Lynbrook."

And in the hearts of his classmates for that letter. More—more—.

KENNEY KALLING—

K for Kenney, W. J., comes next. Bill wrote from his prescription pharmacy at 714 Lee, Charleston, W. Va., and we were so pleased that we risked a ticket for a few minutes' quick visit en route to Tar Heelia for a vacation. He'll have a command post at the Hoffman for the Carolina game, and would be speechless if Murphy, Gannon and Nachwey, white-coated medicos from Sorin's third, marched in.

Bill helped Dean Lawrence Baldinger to Charleston for UND Night. He also reported that Townsman V. Reishman clumped around for a while with a cast on his foot. He no doubt broke it kicking the wall in rage after this publication's linotypes garbled his name and his new son's. Linotypes did it, yessir; no reporter or copy editor had a thing to do with it.

O for O'Neil, Jack. Here's a silent guy who would certainly guard the secrets of Oak Ridge: "Hope these applications aren't too late." That's it. No more. Letterhead: Westinghouse, 411 North 7th, St. Louis, Mo.

P FOR PHANEUF

P for Phaneuf, and also from St. Louis—Social Planning Council, 305 N. 7th (Hey, youse are neighbors). Al penned: "Just haven't had a chance to get up to the University for some time. See quite a few of our class around here (those are all Fehligs, Al). Then, too, this is a good stopover town for those traveling. If you're ever near here, plan on stopping over." OK, you fugitive from Fort Monmouth! See you in the army—again.

QQQ for Quinn, Quinn and Quinn, 176 Mincola Blvd., ditto, L.I. They all three sell oceans of fuel oil. The one on the right wrote; that's Charlie. Charlie quit moving tankers around L. I. Sound long enough to say:

"Dear Ed. It has taken me 16 years to write my first note to our class secretary. The urge was prompted by the lack of news in the March Alumnus. So we rally 'round the flag of 1934.

"About two weeks ago, I was out at ND with four prospects: three for football and one for basketball. While on the campus, I met Charley Hafron, taking a respite from his coaching duties at the U. of San Francisco by watching the Fighting Irish "practice." The games next fall will be tea parties in comparison. Charley looked more like an actor's agent than a football coach.

THERE'S ALWAYS L

"Another classmate on campus was Eli Abraham (Shaheen). I've been on campus five times in the past two years and every time I meet Eli. He claims to be running a large and prosperous machine tool plant at Sturgis, Mich.; I think he has it in the basement of the "Caf." Seriously, Eli has saved the day many times when one has walked all over campus after a 900-mile trip, looking in vain for someone you might know. Eli looks well, has changed little from '34.

"At home, I am able to report that Frank LaBorne is L. I. sales manager for Burry Biscuits; doing well, but his heart belongs to coaching, and he hopes to get back to it some day.

"Another popular member of our class, Jack Robinson, has gone into the home frozen food business and is doing well.

FULL HOUSE

"As for myself, someone's good prayers have helped me prosper in the fuel oil business. My family has increased to five; full house—three queens and two jacks. Instead of going to Indiana for my summer vacation, I expect to take the family to Florida to look for a couple of acres in the sun for my old age.

"I'm hoping to go to the football games at Cleveland and New Orleans next fall.

"P.S.: My best to Vince Fehlig when you see him."

The W's come next, and this W-person brought good cheer to four individuals: Moose Krause, who always likes to get mail; Bob Cahill, who always likes to sell tickets; Ed Mansfield, who always likes for someone to write his column; the alumni

"where'd he go?" department, which always likes to find a missing alumnus.

WOLFE CALL

He is John M. Wolfe, 314 W. Pierson, Phoenix, Arizona (get it, alumni office?), and he wrote Ed Krause: "Not having seen you since 1934, and wondering if you remember the second floor of St. Ed's in '32, I now make the usual request of all good alumni for help in getting tickets.

"Left Waterloo, Iowa, in 1946, so I no longer have the opportunity of going to Iowa City, Chicago or South Bend to see a Notre Dame team play. Sitting out here on the desert, one gets mighty lonesome to see a big game (here he put on the bite for 4 USC).

"We follow your progress through the newspapers and magazines and you certainly have done a mighty fine job."

B to W. That's it. How about the rest of the alphabet? Get the hint, you silent illiterates?

PRESIDENTS ALL

A few hours at ND reunion time showed Mike Balog, George Martinet and Vince Fehlig back at city hall for the club presidents' annual council. The first two made the caf look like old times Saturday night, and the last escaped for St. Louis with the alumni golf trophy in his capable hands before we had chance to see him.

(Personal to his three golling ND brothers: it was a 74, Hugh Burns announced, so don't buy any if Vince sells any 64 stock around home!) Not many alumni give more to alumni affairs than Vince, and again the St. Louis club recognized that with the presidency. Nice work, Dad!

At the reunion, we learned Eli Shaheen's secret. Eli has a collection of brass buttons, all legally acquired, and flashes the proper one at the gate each June and moves into hours of remember-whening with one of four classes. He's always good for a '34 note, and like Quinn said, it's always good to see him there along the welcoming walks.

Aside to ex-President Martinet of the Monongahela club: the hat was safe!

ANOTHER PRESIDENT

Does "A. W. Crowley, President, McNamar and Crowley, Inc." do anything to you? That's official for Tony, actually '35 but adopted by '34. He headquarters in Salem, Ill., is the same genial storymaker, and puts more time on steel than story fabrication despite the LLB on the wall.

Many '34 publications men will vote for a reunion time bright idea switched on by Lou Hruby, '35, the ex-Dome domo now a high-ranking GE lamp promotion man in Cleveland. Lou wants to see a publications luncheon during reunions for all ex-ND writers, maker-uppers, and photo-snappers. Here's one vote. Lou looks little different, even after years of staying 48 hours ahead of Phil Spitalny and his no-man orchestra.

AND BILL KENNEDY

Ed Van Huiseling and Bill Kennedy of '35 were other ex-Scholastic men backing this idea in June. Ed's in Chicago, but may be heading overseas. Civilian, fortunately, Bill's in New York; public relations.

Other '35 cousins were Lee Moorman and Art Cronin, who let Detroit run itself while they joined the 173 other men of '35.

KENNEDY AND HUSING

A New York trip brought Walt Kennedy into focus again. He's engineering headlines for the National Basketball League from the 8th floor of the Empire State building, and hit about 18 cities in a hurry when the college all-stars played the Harlem Globe-Trotters at season's end. Walt is still working with Ted Husing, too. Keep that postponed lunch warm, Walt.

Bill Ayres left a phone message at the Commodore as he headed for South Bend and his Studebaker public relations desk. Thanks, William—and how about a letter? You must see numerous '34 characters in your South Bending and traveling. With hotels short these coming fall week-ends, perhaps you hide, wisely, behind a phony house number.

HEAD MAN

Bless Clyde Lewis for becoming head V of the VFW. Even if nothing else happens to '34 people, Clyde can be counted on for a paragraph. Did you see that full-page cut in Life? The ex-football manager looked quite dapper handing that enormous marble-shootin' trophy to champion "Po'kchop." Then he was in the N.Y. press awarding careworn

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

DR. ARTHUR C. STENIUS

Head of Wayne University's Audio-Visual Materials Consultation Bureau is Dr. Arthur C. Stenius, a 1928 Notre Dame graduate. Dr. Stenius went into the Detroit public school system in 1928 as an instructor, took an M.A. at University of Detroit in 1935 and a Ph.D. at Ohio State in 1941.

A pioneer in the audio-visual field, he was one of the developers of Wayne's audio-visual service whose consultation bureau offers advice for concerns producing material for school use. In 1947 he was loaned to the Education Film concern in New York City as production and editorial director.

Dr. Stenius was sent to occupied Germany following World War II to investigate needs and recommend instructional materials there for the Occupation authorities. In 1948 he began producing, co-operating with the Detroit Times, a monthly film strip on current history. The strip is distributed throughout both public and parochial schools in Detroit.

He was president of the Greater Detroit Film Council in 1948 and has authored several dozen articles for magazines like See and Hear, Safety Education, Review of Educational Research and Michigan Vocational Outlook.

Through his initiative a group of Michigan educators met in 1946 in Detroit to determine a policy for classroom use of sponsored, or commercial materials as instruction aids. That policy has since become the most widely accepted guide in regard to the problem.

Dr. Stenius has been a professor of education at Wayne since 1947. He is married and has two children.

Judge Harold Medina a deserved VFW award in a bedside presentation. But when the Chicago convention came around, that's when the printers went under the table for bigger type. The McArthur-Truman-Formosa story popped as Mr. Lewis ran the convention, remember? More people like Lewis should take on those jobs; he worked at it, judging from comments from rank and file members I meet on the road.

Just for luck, we paused long enough in N. Y. Derby Day to send Bill Veeneman a good-wish wire for "Black George." He won the Derby Trial, but I fear he stopped to read our wire before going under the one that counted for the roses. Won't jinx you again, Bill!

TOM DALTON

Paul "Murf" Manoski of the Sunday Visitor staff made his yearly stop in Chicago en route to see Bunk Kennedy in New Hampton, County Kennedy, Iowa.

In New York, efforts to track down Tom Dalton at the Kingsbridge Veterans Hospital were unsuccessful, so we hope that means good news of a return home for Tom. He put in some long months after his WW II hurt in the Navy, and that class of '34 television set was a big help, the underground tells us.

Part of this copy comes from—ssshhh—the camp of the enemy, Tarheelia. The new Carolina series will be good for ND in this area where she is little known because of scattered alumni and about a 99 per cent non-Catholic population (less than 20,000 in more than 4,000,000 persons in North Carolina). People here hope for a long series—and they don't figure on losing them all, either. Chapel Hill is a very interesting spot to visit for the '51 game.

FLASH!

Hey, we need some ideas! Send them to Jim Armstrong on how you'd set up a '34 rally point at the four home games this fall. That old "see you in the caf" routine is now like "see you on Broadway someplace." Think, men, think.

A note of gratitude in passing to the '35 reunion committee for its quick hospitality to a lost '34 cousin at their fine party. Their attendance total was startling: sump'n like 175. That's a goal for us for '54, eager-beavers.

HERE'S WHY

Most of you know the story. The alumni association has put fruitful years of work into better clubs and now brings every club president across the land to ND once a year. The Foundation has certainly been smartly set up and smartly administered—with many of the unsung giving unpaid hours to the work.

Now the classes. We need permanent staffs just for ordinary good business reasons, for better reunions, renewed friendships, more complete class news reporting, kindling of interest among men too far away to come back often—and most important, every-day backing of a University showing marvelous, solid growth.

That's not one-sided. We should never forget that every better teacher, building, graduate, project, and headline for ND increases the value of our own degrees and adds to our own stature, even if we did move on 16 years ago. We're part of today's and tomorrow's Notre Dame, as well as yesterday's.

This doesn't involve dollars (but send them steadily, pray do.) This means ideas, daily conduct, active work with local clubs, keeping abreast of ND's proud march so we can inform the uninformed about her real nature.

HERE'S HOW

Classes back at ND this June started with new officer groups. Interim classes not scheduled for reunions are to put their old permanent officers back into uniform—plus four regional vice-presidents. '35 did a good job of naming those four men from four colleagues. Do you remember x'ing a ballot back in '33 for these four capable leaders (take a look at the Dome; they really looked capable)?

President, the Rev. James V. Moscow, Lewis Memorial Hospital, 3001 S. Michigan, Chicago.

Vice-president, James J. (Red) Forrest, 10 Forest St., Stoneham, Mass.

Treasurer, William J. Powell, Jr., 156 Hampton Blvd., Massepequa, N. Y.

Here's GHQ's suggestion, and it looks good: 1) Put these duly elected four senior class officers back on active duty; 2) Let them appoint four regional vice-presidents pro tem; 3) At reunion time, elect a new slate as this year's classes did.

That's democratic (lower case "d"), economical --and workable.

Until firing day, we'll continue to work as news reporter, unless Father Jim serves notice when I see him for a luncheon session at George DeMetrio's Hoosier Room in the Loop. My election in '49 must have been legal at the Oliver, men, for even Armstrong and Dooley voted through the din of back-thumping, sandwich-chomping, and back-pounding.

SNEER-LEADERS

One last word for this fall: win, lose or draw, why not circulate some of the Foundation's very professional material on ND during the sneer-leaders' season? Try last December's striking copy of "Notre Dame." Use Francis Wallace's "Notre Dame Story" and Father Hope's centennial story to refresh your memory.

Did you ever bother to take some other-school alumnus around ND and watch his admiration grow as you start with the Old College and then walk him bandy-legged around the New University?

Did you ever equip traveling friends with an ND map and a compass zeroed in on the Dome? Did you ever present the real facts to the "football school" scoffers at lunch? Try some of the school's printed material on your upper-bracket business associates.

UNIFORM, PLEASE

It's everybody's job, men. We can't let Francis Wallace, Father Hope, Father Cavanaugh, Jim Armstrong, John Cackley, Art Haley and Ray Donovan play all the games, year in and year out. Let's at least ask for a suit.

Pardon the pulpiteering. The old place really has something—and we can help it get more—and get more for ourselves in the getting.

That's where an operating class can help share the work.

Keep sending your $$$ to the Foundation—and mail your ideas to 6575 Glenwood, Chicago 26. They'll get to the right people—

—But only after I glean your title, wife's name, and nomenclature of your offspring from the letter. We need news, gentlemen, like that here from Begley, Burchell, Kenny, O'Neil, Phaneuf, Quinn, Wolfe, bless their corresponding hearts and hands.

Walk your eyes past this corner next month. We'll have some new addresses for you. Free.

Vince McAloon's new address is the American Catholic Club, N.C.W.C., Via Consolatione 1, Rome, Italy.

DEATHS

John H. Clark, of York, Pa., died July 1 after a heart attack. Mr. Clark was coach of the York Catholic High School football team and played on the 1931 and 1932 football teams at the University.

SYMPATHY

To James E. Fagan, of Glen Ridge, N. J., on the death of his mother.

To Richard Daniel O'Connor on the death of his father, August 2.

1935

John Sluska is now Dr. Sluska, having earned a Ph.D. at Ottawa (Canada) University with a dissertation on "Queen Jadwiga in History and Legend." John took an M.A. at NYU and later spent two years (pre-Hitler) at University of Warsaw in Poland.

Dick Balliett, Milwaukee Club president recently worked at the installation of $300,000 worth of Cutler-Hammer Unitrols in the Coosa River Newsprint plant in Childersburg, Ala. Dick says that the plant produces a mile of paper a minute and is the second U. S. newsprint mill to produce with southern pine.

From Bill Wolter:

"Am now with Union Pacific in Omaha, as claims agent, but don't know how long the new address will be good, as I'm on 24-hour call from Uncle. When an official of UP read my application and saw I'd graduated from Notre Dame he said 'You were indeed fortunate in being able to go to that school'."

Well gang, here we are again, and very little

Alumni Director John Q. Adams, '26, was one of the featured speakers at a workshop held Aug. 7 at the University. The workshop is devoted to the teaching of Catholic economic and social principles.

Mr. Adams, president of the Manhattan Refrigerating Co. of New York, in speaking on "Employer Associations" called for practical application of the grand ideals of Christian social doctrines to the problems of labor and management.

"The task before us," Mr. Adams said, "is the reform of men and institutions. This cannot take place unless we have individuals and institutions dedicated to reform. Individuals cannot effect this reform no matter how powerful their personalities. Organization extends and perpetuates the influence of individuals and compensates for their weaknesses. There is no substitute for organization."

"Employers bear serious responsibilities, both spiritual and economic. Thus in its search for profits, management must be ever mindful of the requirements, both material and spiritual, of labor. God's chief interest on earth is man. Man should be management's chief interest, too. Not profits or wealth, though we do have to make profits to remain in business."

"The profit motive is not harmful. It is to subordinate man to profits that is harmful, to place profits above the common good of society. The source of trouble in our economy is not the profit motive or private property. It is sin; and no class has a monopoly on this commodity."

"The Christian doctrine of ownership as stewardship is sound business. And it is along these lines that I would suggest, as employer organizations, we move. I am sure that many employers are beginning to think this way. But more than organizations, we need more employers with vision. We need less talk and more action, less blueprints and more sacrifice, less meetings and more prayers. If the laity supplies the leaven, the bread of peace and prosperity will rise in our world of industry."

has come through the mill since our last chat together. After we mention the two items before us, we'll return to that Reunion correspondence and in that way give you a rundown on some of the crowd.

Just before Reunion the May issue of "Contact" came across our desk. It had been forwarded by Tom Proctor. "Contact," in its first year of publication, is issued for members of the American International Insurance Groups. In the May number we found in the middle of the magazine, a two-page spread entitled "Venezuela Trade Mission Entertained by American International in Washington." There, in one of the group pics was friend Tom. He was flanked by Manuel Matienza of the Mission and Commanding General of the U. S. Airforce. Hoyt C. Vandenberg.

We have known of Tom's association with Paul V. McNutt for the last two years, but the deadline mail brought us an announcement of the new law partnership of McNutt, Scoll, Longcope, Proctor and Lee. Their New York office is at 84 William St. and the Washington office is in the Barr Building. Congratulations Tom! Our pres. has really done himself up brown.

Also in the deadline mail came another announcement. This one told us that Vince Gorman had formally set up his medical office in Bridgeport, Conn. We told you something of Vince's plans awhile back. But now they are finalized. Vince has opened his office "for the practice of general surgery" at 928 Lafayette St. in Bridgeport. Congratulations to the "little man" who sweated out achieving his ambition. It was a long, tough grind, Vince, but we all hope that at long last you will reap the reward of your struggle.

And now we turn to the healthy folder of correspondence which Bill Ryan sent to us late in July.

Here are a couple of letters that should roll you all in the proverbial aisles. Among the names presented to our Reunion Committee by the Alumni Office was one which did not seem unusual or was not picked up for the first mailing. It brought forth this reply:

"Thank you for including me in the class of '35 Reunion. However, acceptance is still a moot question, for not being flapperish, smoking and cocktail-ing would be a—new situation. You see, in June 1949 I stepped out of a position which was forty years long—an Elementary Principal in one and the same school in Michigan City. Some record?!"

"I am enclosing a dollar to help ease your chairmanship and may I add—Wouldn't Ripley of 'Believe It or Not' fame have relished this situation? Sincerely yours, Elizabeth C. Kachur."

Bill Ryan traced the deal and found a woman had actually been included on the list presented to him. He was told that she "must have taken a summer course in 1935 and received a degree." This he wrote to Miss Kachur, thanking her and bowing out as gracefully as possible. BUT, she replied as follows:

"So—you too are added to my 'pearl string' of raised eyebrows concerning my degree from Notre Dame University!!

"No doubt the other '35ers commented thusly when they read your list—'Gee, those South Americans are fond of naming themselves after celestial beings regardless of sex. Hmm . . . Elizabeth!! Some name for a fellow!"

"Taken a summer course in 1935 to get my degree?????—More summers than a decade to get THAT—It goes way back to the time Clarks gave us chicken dinners at the close of the term under those beautiful elms near the Grotto and Knute Rockne was one of us."

"If you have had as much fun out of this episode as I have, and you think it will add spice to your comments as chairman, you have my consent to get chuckles from the rest of the '35ers."

Our classmate resides at 129 West 5th Street in Michigan City, Indiana. Bill had planned to read these letters at the Smoker but circumstances did not seem right at the time.

Fran Schlueter wrote from Beaumont, Texas: "Your latest communication regarding the '35 Reunion finds me in the middle of a transcontinental move. The lean and seemingly interminable years of training in Boston are at an end and I have chosen Pasadena, California, to begin the practice of Internal Medicine. I regret indeed that this state of affairs will prevent my attending the Reunion which I know will be a most enjoyable affair, for all who are fortunate enough to get to ND." We missed you Fran but certainly appreciated your financial contribution toward the cause. Hope the M.D.ing blooms for you. Let us have your address.

While Jim Pick dropped in for an evening of the Reunion with his charming wife, we want to quote part of a letter which gives you another indication of the trials and tribulations of some of our '35ers, but shows that we have the stuff in us to come through fighting. Says Jim:

"My new office address is given on this letterhead (Suite 230, Carlson Bldg., 636 Church St., Evanston, Ill.). My residence is at 821 Madison St., Evanston, Ill. During January of this year my family moved from Rochester, Minn. I am like a recent graduate, just starting on my career as an urologist, so it would be more like a new commencement this June rather than a Reunion.

"It seems odd that it should have taken me 15 years to train in my specialty after leaving Notre Dame, but I guess time has passed rather eventfully at that. I spent 5 years at Northwestern University Medical School from 1935-40, then interned for 18 months at Cook County Hospital in Chicago. Like most others, I then passed 3½ years of my life in the Army Medical Corps, chiefly with the 297th General Hospital and with the 92nd Chemical Mortar Bn.

"After return from Europe, I started my specialty training at the Mayo Foundation on February 1, 1946. I left Rochester after 3 years, 11½ months, having spent my last year there as first assistant to Dr. Virgil S. Counsellor in general surgery. While I expect a rather stormy two years or so ahead of me, I do hope to continue in practice here in Evanston."

To you Jim, as to Vince and Fran, we send every hope for a fruitful practice. Your road is about ready for a straightening out into a super highway of success.

We told you something about why Jim McDevitt could not return to Reunion in our last chapter. We have now come across his letter to Bill Ryan in which he tells us something of more '35ers. Here goes—and much thanks Jim for your info.

Jack Coogan, 39 Cedar Ave., Farmingdale, N. Y., is on the faculty of the New York Agricultural School at Farmingdale. Jack has two offspring.

Bill Malloy, 94-06 40th Road, Elmhurst, N. Y., an ex '35er, was Jim's old roomie in Lyons, and is now with the N.Y.C. Fire Department. He graduates from N. Y. Law School this year. Bill has a two-year-old to his credit.

Mike Santulli, with whom we had a good but all too brief chat in front of the campus Church Sunday morning after Alumni Mass, is in the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue, Customs House, N. Y. C. Mike was with the Field Artillery in Europe and was wounded several times. He continues his uniform interests by being very active in N. Y. Legion affairs.

Harold May, address unknown but formerly of Peoria, Ill., was in the 338th Infantry Regiment with Jim McDevitt. He was later an Infantry Battalion Commander in Austria with the 193rd Division.

Ralph Gauthier, 474 Rugby Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y., still a bachelor, sells paper mill equipment.

Chet Smith, 23 Columbine Ave., North Merrick, N. Y., is married and has 3 children. He is an executive with Frederick Loerger's Department Store in Garden City, N. Y.

George Krug and Joe Bittner are both successful Long Island attorneys.

And from the files of Joe Lynch, Reunion co-chairman, comes this bit of news from Emilio F. Delia, M.D., 25 Crane St., Newark, N. J. Says Doc "Moe":

"I'll not be able to come as I'm a young G.P. (general practitioner, that is fellas!) only 3½ years even though I got out of med school in 1939. My

THE HOLY SEE AT WORK, by Edward L. Heston, C.S.C., Bruce, Milwaukee, pp. 188, $2.50.

The publisher quite adequately describes this work as "a popular explanation of the intricacies involved in the control and operation of the Catholic Church by the Pope through the Roman Curia." It is exactly that—and you will find by reading it just what the Curia is. You will, incidentally, find out a great deal of other interesting facts about the administrative side of our Church, all set down by one in a position to know: Father Heston has served as a member of the secretariate of the Apostolic Delegate in Washington, has been a resident of Rome for the last fourteen years, and at present is Procurator General of the Congregation of Holy Cross, as well as superior of its international college in Rome.

It strikes us that this book can be put to many uses. The Catholic, lay or religious, will find it a mine of information. It should be in every school library, at least above the elementary level, where it will serve as a valuable adjunct to classes in religion and church history and as a general reference book. Priests should find it helpful in their convert work particularly in dispelling objections born of ignorance and adverse propaganda. Here it could be utilized as a supplement to Brunini's Whereon to Stand which has a similar objective. Most people whatever their creed are interested today in the process of canonization, in the handling of marriage cases, the election of a pope, and other topics treated here briefly and clearly.

"I spoke to Dr. Jim McDonald of Pittsburgh, two weeks ago on long distance, (boy has he a soft spot for you and me and ND.)

"What I'd like to do if I came for Reunion would be to put on a good game of touch football with Bill Lord, Dom Varraveto, and other Badin Hall expatriots—boy did I wow the youngsters in the Army when I played football with them—but we have to watch our coronaries."

Bob Forbes is general agent of the Pilot Life Insurance Co. of Greensboro, N. C. But where is he? Why he's the big man way down there on the Island of Puerto Rico. Bob's address is Cabrer Bldg., Stop 16 1-2, 1105 Ponce de Leon Ave., San Juan, Puerto Rico, P. O. Box 3628. We wish you well, Bob, and appreciated your contribution to the festivities.

Armand Kellogg sent along a check with his note on a very interesting letterhead which told us that he is with "Kellogg and Kellogg—Architects" at P. O. Box 945, Rock Spring, Wyoming.

Bob Pendergast enclosed his expense defraying assist with the word that he could not come. Bob is with Eureka Petroleum Co. in Kansas City, Mo.

Our old friend in Sorin Hall days Bob Kealime wrote from Dubuque, Iowa. Bob was one of the '35 lawyers. Though hopeful of returning until the very last minute, he found he could not make it. Bob, how is Louie Fautsch?

As we look at the next letters turning up in the file we might well go on for again as many pages. But the Ryan-Lynch file will keep us "hot" for issues to come. The stuff will grow older as time passes but we know you will want to hear all of it. In the meantime, how about a few notes from you out there across the nation? We want to mix some current data along with the aging material.

From Thomas G. Proctor, '35, comes the announcement of the formation of a partnership for the general practice of law under the firm name of McNutt, Scoll, Longcope, Proctor and Lee, with New York offices at 84 William Street, New York 7.

Richard W. Snooks, president and manager of the Citizens' Loan & Savings Co., has been elected chairman of the city zoning board of adjustment in St. Joe, Missouri.

15-YEAR REUNION
June 8, 9, 10, 1951

Bill Shakespeare—the same gent who chucked THAT pass in the '35 Ohio State game—is export representative for the Independent Pneumatic Tool Co. of Aurora, Ill. He's just finished a business trip through the Middle East, Spain and the Mediterranean countries.

Vital statistics: two sons, Bill, Jr., 6 and Warren, 2.

Jack Dempsey is distribution engineer for the Puget Sound Power and Light Co., in Payallup, Washington. He was elected this summer to the vice-chairmanship of the Tacoma section of American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

From Fred McNeill:

"No special news but there are several '36ers here in St. Louis and thought I'd send their names in.

"First of all Fred Weber, past president of the St. Louis Club is here. He's now the father of four. Fred is in charge of the chemistry department at Phelan-Foust Paint Co. We might be assuming things to claim Fred as a '36 man as he got a master's in '37 and a doctor's degree in '39. But Fred claims he's '36, so we'll keep him.

"Bill White is O.B. specialist and has quite a family of his own. Another MD we can brag about is Bill McDonald, who is in general practice. Another Bill—O'Connor is in the insurance business. Then another Irishman who can't be overlooked: Thomas J. Treacy, manager of Merck and Co. Chemicals. Tom is a member of the board of the St. Louis Club and a past treasurer.

"As for myself, I'm practicing architecture here and get around enough to see several of the '36 men. One of my finest visits was with Enrique Creel in Mexico City last fall. My wife and I met the Creels and they have four of the most beautiful children you ever saw. Enrique has his own architectural office. They took us every place, even had front row seats at the bull fight.

"On our way to Mexico we stopped in Houston to see Paul Doyle who is a big chemical man and well on his way to being a Texas rancher. At another time we saw Salvador Ducaza in Panama City. "Duke" hasn't changed except for some added weight. He still wants nothing to do with temperatures which occur north of the Gulf of Mexico. He doesn't quite look like the high hurdler or slim track man of student days.

"There's just one other '36 man I've had contact with recently. I should say from time to time, and that's Dick Smooks, of St. Joseph, Mo. He's the same fine fellow but getting thin on top."

SYMPATHIES

To George A. Binder for his father who died of a heart attack June 18. He requests your prayers.

Tom is head of the Organic Chemical Research Department of Eli Lilly & Co. and editor of "Research Today." Several of his articles have been published in the "Journal of the American Chemical Society."

This one belongs in the Births section at the end of the column, but the Quinns deserve a bow because we're late with it. On May 16 last they introduced to the world "America's latest crooning sensation," one Kevin Philip, weighing seven pounds, eight and one-quarter ounces. The premiere, according to the announcement by Inez and John took place at Newton (N. J.) Memorial Hospital, but it was really a matinee—time, 2:03 p.m.

1939

Another couple of months rolls around and time again for the meagre class news of 1939. By the time this hits print, most of the news is ancient enough but it would be a lot fresher if some of you would take enough time to drop us a line.

Charles Russell Riley, M.D., is now ensconced in offices for the practice of General Surgery at 932 West Franklin St., Richmond, Virginia, and from a salesman who calls on me, doing a very good job.

Been having a lot of correspondence with a couple of the boys about, as explained elsewhere in this issue, the new plan for Alumni Officers and as secretary for lo these many years trust that you guys will carry on properly and give the new officers a lot of cooperation. This plan is one that will work and will give a lot better picture of the dispersal, well-being, etc., of '39ers than does the present method.

With the football season in full swing hope that there will be more news forthcoming than has been the case. It is my hope to make the Tulane game and the Michigan State affair and would like to be able to report on quite a few of the boys. Am going to be at the Monteleon in New Orleans for a couple of days if you would like to get in touch.

Ernest F. Lavigne, recently appointed manager of the Montgomery-Ward Farm Store at Middletown, O., now lives at 505 Lincoln, Middletown. And J. William Costello, who formerly lived at West Hartford, Conn., is now advertising manager of the Capehart-Farnsworth Corp., Fort Wayne.

Add honors to Jim McKenna, research consultant with Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. He's been made chairman of the Milwaukee section of the American Chemical Society.

Add twins to the Hugh (Athletic Trainer) Burns household in Michigan City, Ind. Mrs. B.—Elaine—introduced the two-platoon system Aug. 27 and this gives them five youngsters, as follows: Michael

1940

Our class news has been very sparse, but it can only improve if "the men of '40 write to Shorty." I failed to make a report covering our class reunion in June, but due to changing jobs I just couldn't get the copy in on time.

The reunion was certainly a huge success, thanks to the fine job the local committee, under the supervision of Bob Sullivan, performed for all of us. We had a fine turnout but missed all of you who were not there. We plan on having an election of class officers with the following offices to be filled: President—to start planning for the next reunion, and handle the 1955 reunion; four regional vice presidents—to assist the president and the secretary in collecting the class news; and secretary—to furnish the regular class news.

I would like to enumerate all those who attended the reunion, but I do not have a list and I'm sure I would miss some of the names. Fathers Dick Fallon and John Payne, C.S.C., both attended and joined in our activities. Tom LeStrange travelled all the way from California. Jim Moore was around at all times as we all well realized. All the men of '40 now living in South Bend worked to make the reunion a success and we certainly must thank Chuck Magner, Bernie Cushing, Bud Teah, Wayne Wahl, George Wallace, Dick Burke, Ben Sheridan, Pat Brennan, Jack DeMoss, John Morgan, Joe Miller, John Poulin, Walt Sweitzer and others whom I haven't mentioned, but who cooperated and worked just as hard as the others.

This is a short and poor report, but I must turn to you, each one of you, for my news; please help us out.

Charlie Pedangno took an M.S. degree from St. John's University, at the summer commencement.

My mailing address is the same as before—Hasson and Hasson, Opposite Courthouse, Ebensburg, Pa.—and it sure would be nice to hear from some of the fellows who started at Notre Dame back in 1937."

A note in from Jack Mies—now father of three and co-owner with his brother of Paramount Mortuary, Paramount, Calif.:

1943

From Jack Wiggins:

Thanks to Nick Gulyassy, Fred Gore, Joe Callahan, and Bill Middendorf we can carry on with the class column this issue. Again this month we will publish a list of new addresses and ask that those listed drop us a line. In that way we can publish a more representative column next issue. The last time we tried this stunt it netted zero replies from a potential thirteen. Football season will be under way when this copy reaches its readers, so I now ask that those of you attending games please send "descriptive literature" after having talked to some of the classmates outside the stadium.

From Nick Gulyassy, M.D., 5117 E. 117th Street, Garfield Heights 25, Ohio: "I have been meaning to write for quite some time now, but it seems there was always something else to do. First of all, I would like to thank all the ND men who offered their prayers for me during my recent illness. I am still hospitalized, but well on the road to recovery.

"Up until my hospitalization, I had a Surgical Residence here at Marymount Hospital in Garfield Heights. Plans for the future are rather indefinite. The stork visited our household April 20 and left us with Anne Marie who weighed in at seven pounds ten ounces.

"Brother Vic Gulyassy '42, was recently elected Vice-President of the Notre Dame Club of Cleveland. Harold "Dutch" Hofstetter is now a registered pharmacist in Toledo, Ohio. The last I heard from John L. Redmond, M.D., he had a residency in Pathology—also was a proud papa. Dick Tupta is now coaching at Cleveland Heights High School.

"Haven't heard from anybody else lately—hoping to see some of the boys at the Navy game in November at the Municipal Stadium here. Will try to keep in touch with you, John, should I pick up some news." Thanks for the letter, Nick, you have just qualified yourself as the Class Reporter for the Navy game!

From Fred Gore (209 S. LaSalle Street, Chicago 4, Illinois): "The Chicago crowd is functioning as usual, although we do miss you every Wednesday noon. August 14 marks the day of the Chicago Club outing, and as usual they are getting a big price for it. With Fred Snite donating the greens fee it's still seven rocks for the steak dinner. Still as times are prosperous, Jack Barry and I will journey out for a round of "club-it." My game is improving tremendously and I am happy to state that shooting in the 80's is a distinct possibility in the none too distant future. (See'y note to Barry: Jackson, now you have every excuse to write us a letter—if nothing else, you can debunk Fred's fantastic claims!)

Bill Meyer may be moving to Chicago in the Fall. Latest word is that his company is transferring him to the Windy City at his request. He has been wanting to make the move for some time, but had to wait for the right opening.

Had lunch with Bill McCauliffe today and at the same time wished him "Bon Voyage." He's off for Hawaii tomorrow for a three weeks' vacation. If he likes it he may decide to stay out there. Well, that's another of the luncheon crowd to move on. Hoorah! we got Rog Cummings at the last lunch. He thrilled us with tales of tremendous wealth being made in the oil fields by his brother-in-law.

Please pass along the word that Rog Cummings, Bob Kuipers, Jack Barry and I will be holding down the fort every Wednesday noon, same place." (See'y note: Toffenetti's Monroe Street Restaurant, Second Floor Dining Room)

From Bill Middendorf (2305 Westbrook Drive, Fort Wayne 5, Indiana): Just a short note for the column, and it is really shocking news! Two staid bachelors of our group have finally bit the dust. Yep! Bill Warnick married Miss Barbara Wooley on Saturday, August 12, and Leo J. Lewis will stagger up that aisle with Miss Kay Lafferty on August 26. I happened to be in St. Louis at the time on business and attended Bill's wedding, but will miss Leo's because I am to be an usher in the wedding of my sister-in-law same day in South Bend.

About three weeks ago I had lunch in Evansville with Steve Essner, Francie Hillenbrand and Bob Hargrave. We shot the breeze about the current conflict in Korea and the possibility of any of us going when Steve said that as a member of the active Naval Reserve he expected to have orders by September 1."

From Joe Callahan (7208 Buffalo Avenue, Niagara Falls, New York): Since writing you in May there have been some upheavals in my plans. I am withdrawing from Union Carbide as of the end of August. So now I'm on my way to New York to see some overseas companies.

I saw Fred Gore about a month ago in Buffalo before he caught his homeward train. Fred was on a business trip in New York State. I was very interested to read Paul Weber's letter in your latest column—he certainly had an interesting experience going to Germany et al. Please pass on my best regards to Paul in the column next chance you get." Thanks for the letter, Joe, good luck in your new venture; and, let us know where you wind up.

The following are the changes of address mentioned earlier in the column:

Julian G. Atwater, 7408 S. Vernon, Chicago 19, Ill.
George H. Blackmore, R. D. 1, Saxonburg, Pa.
Leo J. Blatz, 400 Manor Ave., Cranford, N. J.

Recently Sam McQuaid sent me an announcement of the birth of his daughter. However, my own daughter proceeded to demolish the announcement card—and with it went the vital statistics. How about another copy, Sam?

Of the eighteen names listed above, I hold hopes of receiving eighteen replies—post cards, at least. Why not send that card right now!

We learn that John E. Finnigan, '43, is a First Lt. in the United States Marine Corp. His address is Headquarters Squadron MAG 15, M.C.A.S., El Toro, Santa Ana, California.

1944

Except for the saving letter of Vince Duncan there would be no column this issue. Vince's last-minute communication reads in part as follows:

"I recently received an invitation to Joe Pons' wedding in Baltimore. I understand Al Swann is the proud father of two children and is now living in Los Angeles, California. Last year I attended the S.M.U.-Notre Dame game in Dallas and had quite a time with Pat Kiley and Dan Foley, among other lads."

And from here Vince leads into a suggestion for a reunion of the corps of '44 at the Michigan State game this season. It is a little late for such maneuvers and—take my word for it—the efforts involved are seldom successful and never appreciated. However, any interested parties may contact Vince at 914½ Main Street, Mt. Vernon, Illinois, and take it from there.

Late news bulletin, several months later:

From St. Louis, Joe Costello reporting: "I'm taking a residency in Internal Medicine at the Jefferson Barracks V. A. hospital. Gerry Haddock is in the same group. Ditto Byron Watts, who is pursuing Radiology. Bill Kestner and George Mabe are doing further work in Internal Medicine. Al Klippel is at City Hospital in surgery, as is Al Repetto. Bob Brennan is working as assistant to Dr. Greyson Carroll in G. U."

From George Charters: "Please note the change of address to 85 Carolina St., Lebanon, Oregon. I have been transferred here from West Linn, Oregon, by Crown Zellerbach Corporation to become Plant Engineer of the paper mill in this town.

"Reference your list of missing persons: Mike Stepovich is living in Fairbanks, Alaska. Learned that from him in person six months ago. Just Fairbanks, Alaska, will reach him.

"Will you please send the most recent address of Lt. R. J. Martnia?"—Gladly: 744 So. Florida St., Apt. 3, Arlington, Virginia.

Two men have switched to the class of '44: Joseph T. Mahom, of Ashtabula, Ohio; Charles J. Rogers, of Oak Park, Illinois.

Fifteen men have recently changed address. Drop us a line for their new address; they might be living right in your neighborhood. Lawrence Auspos, William Binet, John Bishop, Robert J. Byrnes, John F. Christman, Franklin Eck, Daniel Hager, John Herlihy, Eugene J. Kelley, John Pedrotty, George Powers, Charles Raley, L. W. Reynolds, Lawrence Stahl, Mandell Ziegler.

Leo Buchignani announces a partnership in law with Eugen Greener, Jr., in Memphis. Joe Gall graduated June 12 from Georgetown Law School. And Dick Brydges has opened his law office at Virginia Beach, Va. You can write him at 18th St. and Atlantic Ave.

Austin R. Sharp got his M.D. from St. Louis U. and Ed Morgan got one from Tulane this summer. Felix McFarland was granted one from Western Reserve.

During the weekend of June 9-11 the class of '45 held its 3-year reunion on the campus. The highly unified group enjoyed a fast whirl through banquets, South Bend hotels, campus athletic programs, and old-fashioned bull sessions. The class was first feted as special guests by the President's Class—1920—at the LaSalle Hotel. Father Cavanaugh, Sherwood Dixon, "Red" Miller, John Balfe and Father Pat Haggerty, all of the class of 1920, were some of the speakers.

The class of '45 wishes to take this opportunity to thank personally every member of the class of '20 for making that night one of the highlights of the weekend. The dinner, and especially the lobster was all delicious.

Saturday saw the group visiting old campus haunts, favorites such as the Grotto, the Rockne, the Huddle, the various college buildings, and of course, Cartier Field. Old acquaintances of "profs," classmates and priests were renewed, and a brisk swim in the pool cooled many off after the 18 holes of golf. Still others preferred the quiet walks around the lakes, or the swimming by the Boathouse. Saturday evening the big Alumni Banquet topped a perfect day. The speeches, the dinner and the unexpected arrival of former classmates and old buddies added to the fun of the whole weekend. After dinner the class met downtown and made the local rounds, somehow getting mixed in with—and becoming a part thereof—of a highly spirited Elks convention at the Hotel LaSalle. Some of the '45ers seen around were Jim Retter, Chuck Sartore, Vince Cushing, Brock Lynch, Edward LaRocque, Dave Cartwright, Mike Gary, Harry Ryan, Jim Donnelly, Joe Ince, Frank Kent, John Fleaka and many others. Joining the group were such well-knowns as Dick Murphy, Frank Mitchell, Tom McGrath and Mr. Frank O'Malley.

The quiet and impressive Sunday Mass closed officially the reunion weekend. During the weekend one thing was voted unanimously: that the 10-year reunion of the class of '45 will be one of the largest, never-to-be-forgotten weekends on record. There are four years and a few months of planning ahead. Toward that end this '45 column will be dedicated; your secretary will not rest until we are all—the whole '45 class—seated together at dinner in the LaSalle Hotel sometime around 8 p.m. in early June of 1955.

DID YOU KNOW THAT: Godfrey Bremer and his wife, Mary, have gone to live in California where Godfrey is going to attend law school . . . that Harry Ryan made all 18 holes (several of them under par) during the reunion . . . that Paul W. Smith and his wife, Elise, are expecting a little visitor around January. They are in Decatur, Georgia, and proudly awaiting the first addition . . . that all of the men of the class of '45 were swell to see again and all were just as full of life and devilment as when "quiet" students . . . that this column hopes to receive items from you for this section, so please write.

MAILBAG—"Letters-From" Dept.: From Harry Ryan: "The campus is in wonderful shape and I was surprised to see all the new construction. It was swell seeing all the fellows at the reunion, although I would have liked to have seen more of "the old familiar faces."

From Dave Cartwright: "The campus was as beautiful as ever. It was good to see several of the priests and professors I used to know. I had a real good time. Al. It was too bad that not more of the old Dillon gang and the buddies from Breen-Phillips did not come to the reunion."

From Chuck Sartore: "My trip home by car was uneventful, but I sure had a hard time keeping my eyes open that Sunday after the reunion weekend. I wouldn't have exchanged anything for our reunion, and you can bet I'll be at the next one too. I sure enjoyed being with some of the old gang and meeting several of my best friends that I hadn't seen in a long time. I had hoped to see Bill Wrape and some of the Breen-Phillips fellows of the summer of 1942."

From Brock Lynch: "It was wonderful to see the 'on-the-campus family' of Vetville, the bigger interest in ND's Graduate School, the Art Department's statues on most of the buildings, and the new fire-house. I had a wonderful time at the reunion talking to Dr. Baldinger of the College of Science; also Don Lundergan ('46) physics; Fr. John Gallagher, music.

"Somehow I missed seeing Joe Ryan, English. On Sunday I explored Vetville and nearly got stamped by the younger generation."

From Jim Retter: "The new residence hall, Farley Hall, is one of the nice additions to campus life. Let me tell you that it was swell to experience the friendly 'hellos' of the fellows you pass on the walks. The banquet speech by Father Cavanaugh was tops!

"I missed Chuck Madden, Ray Baddaur, John Dockweiler, Joe Haggart, Byron Martin and Bud Malone at the reunion, along with Bob O'Toole, Frank Pendarvis, Dick Sayers and Bill Waddington."

'45 CLASS SPOTLIGHT: Each issue this column will spotlight one of the members of the class of '45 with a fairly complete resume of his activities since graduation. If you have any ideas whom you would like to see spotlighted, drop me a card. The next issue of the ALUMNUS will carry the first resume of one of our classmates.

YOUR SECRETARY REPORTS: There is only one reason for having a class secretary, and that is to provide the class with news about itself and about its members. He believes that there are no holds barred in getting such news from the individual. He will use force if need be to get news. Victims will be gouged, burnt, kicked, scratched or pestered until they provide the news that is sought.

In short, YOU are of primary importance to the rest of the class. Where you work, what you are doing, whether you are married, how many children you have, and in general, ANYTHING about yourself, is of utmost importance to all of us. So write me soon.

LOST & FOUND DEPARTMENT: We do not have the correct address for the following people as mail to them has been unanswered. Will they please communicate with me as soon as they read this? Vince Cushing, Edward LaRocque, Mike Gary, Jim Donnelly, Joe Ince, Frank Kent and John Fleaka. If anyone knows the correct address of any of them please drop me a card. We'll have more news for your next issue.

1946

5-YEAR REUNION
June 8, 9, 10, 1951

Father Michael J. O'Connor, who got an M.A. in English from the University in 1946 is one of 20 missionary priests of the Maryknoll Order leaving for overseas duty this summer.

He will join the faculty of Lingnan University in Canton. Father O'Connor is the first Maryknoll missionary assigned to China since it was occupied by Communists.

MARRIAGES

BIRTHS

To Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Murphy (Dallas, Texas), a daughter, Kathleen Marie, July 8.

1947

When in Chicago in August ran into a few of the boys from there—Mark Cronin, Bob O'Toole, John Caron, Jim O'Rourke. Also Jim McCourt, his wife; and Doe and Dave Champion.

Had a note from Bill Howe announcing birth of a boy in July . . . has been named James Cyril. Bill and his wife Lillian are living in Milwaukee, Oregon—address: 4025 Monroe Street.

And Jim Sheridan came through in fine style with a long, newsy letter which follows. Thanks very much for all the latest, Jim.

"Once again it's time to sit down and give the doings of some of Long Island's class of '47—and thereabouts.

I'm still in real estate, Joe, plugging away more than ever what with the birth of an 8-lb. girl, "Cara," Friday, July 21, for inspiration. She is a little beauty!

Recently became sales manager of the Company's main office. The experience is proving invaluable. However, it is hard on the stomach. Used to worry only about myself making sales, now I have to worry about a dozen others.

Before I get too far off the subject of births, congratulations are in order for Charley Koegler and his wife; the proud parents also of a daughter. . . . Don't fail me, Joe; put this on record. Charley owes me a tinner for arriving at the wire almost a week too late. Must see if he wants to make it a standing bet.

Speaking of Charley, he's taking Notre Dame with him. As one of the top brass in Wass Motor Sales Inc., he has Jack Dillon and Jack Wolfe (a father again, for the third time—won't make any bets with him) as side-kicks.

Don't see Joe Dittich, the big plumbing supply man, as often as we would like since he is wearing the socks knitted by a judge's daughter. Must be really smitten for it has been rumored that he attended a card party sponsored by Democrats. Viewpoints sure change with age.

John Dunleavy and his wife, living in Brooklyn, are looking for a home on the island. John is still with the export division of U. S. Rubber. . . . Jim Atkinson, "the old redhead" recently married, is living in Ozone Park. Jim is usually the organizer in any of our frequent get-togethers. . . . Saw Tom Mangano take his walk down the aisle just a few weeks ago. At the wedding I was glad to see Dave Curtin, Bill Dougherty and Eddie Chute. Jack Coleman is working on a big promotion scheme. The first step is lunch with Arthur Godfrey. Let him eat hearty! . . . Despite the distance apart, George Conway and Kevin Carley are frequent beer drinking companions.

Manage to see the men mentioned above, and more, quite often. Somebody is always coming up with an idea at the Notre Dame meetings. It seems too, as you might have gathered, that we are going to a wedding every other week. The next step I suppose is a round of Christening parties. Joe, this is the time for you to make that trip to New York.

Racking the memory for more news but unable to dig up anything more. Will keep you informed of the activity here regularly from now on.

You're doing a great job, Joe. Take care of yourself.

Richard J. Deeb, St. Petersburg, Florida, is heading his own construction firm three years after leaving the University with a Civil Engineering degree. Dick, married in January of this year to Catalina Panayotti, lives in a Deeb-built home at 1444 Fifteenth St.

Dick claims he has guided the construction of over $1.5 million in houses and is "only getting started."

opponents, will not play with the Philadelphia Eagles this year. An injury forces him into the coaching ranks, and he will coach the Paterson, N. J. team, farm property of the Eagles.

Jim Murphy, AB '47, has resigned as news editor at ABC, Chicago, to join the public relations staff at American Legion National Headquarters in Indianapolis. (While on campus, Jim was an English major, a member of the Wranglers, and collaborated with Ed Cashman on the script of "Meet the Missus.")

Holder of a Ph.D. degree from Iowa University, Handy also taught physical education courses at the University. He succeeded to the coaching job when Bill Mahoney was inducted into the U. S. Navy.

"Doc" is succeeded by Alex Wilson, '32, one of the best middle distance stars ever developed at Notre Dame.

Alex takes over after 18 years at Loyola of Chicago where he was track, cross country and swimming coach. As a trackman himself Alex competed in the 1928 and 1932 olympics. His best performance was in 1932, when he finished second to Bill Carr.

1950

Most news of the '50 class comes from job placement and the Armed Services. To start with:

Bill English works for Kawneer Co., in Niles, Mich. Ernie A. Houghton, Jr. is working for Renshaw-Mason Co., Detroit. He lives at 4337 Chalmers, Detroit.

Dick Rosengarten, Director of Public Relations and Personnel at St. Vincent's Hospital, Indianapolis. Joe Fallon has started in the construction business with J. J. Wuellner and Son, Alton, Ill. Tom Martin of Detroit is there in real estate. Bill Gordon to Schenectady for 90-day training in General Electric's Chemist Training Program.

John O'Reilly, now in Lincolnwood, Ill., is an engineer trainee with the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. Elmore Smith, with Harcourt, Brace Co., as a textbook agent starts the new schoolyear assigned to Harcourt's Chicago territory.

Mark down that Gene Thilman, a native South Bender, is still going native and working in South Bend for General Tire and Rubber Co. Ed Bigger is staying in his home town, too—Columbus, O.—to work for Battelle Memorial Institute.

Class Valedictorian Tom Sherer has started in the accounting section of the New Departure Co., Bristol, Conn., and Dick Kempner has moved to Detroit to be closer to his work with Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. He's living at 4869 Ivanhoe, Detroit 4, and will welcome news of classmates. Tom McGuire is at 605 S. Peoria, Dixon, Ill. He's working for the state highway department there.

And here are the '50 graduates who went on extended active duty with either the Marines or the Navy:

Ensigns on active duty with the Navy are: Bill Bradley, Donald Buseck, Stephen Caliento, Victor Chaco, James Creamer, James Curran, John Ferry, August Gentiluoci, Peter Gross, Edward J. Kelly, Kenneth Lisy, James J. Maher, Jr., Richard J. McGoldrick, Allan S. Miller, Charles M. Mouch, Jr., John P. Plunkett, Rufus W. Rauch, Jr., Francis J. Richards, John J. Ryan, Jr., Ronald J. Sanford, John W. Thornton, Bernard L. Weigand.

Only two of the Navy have sent back addresses, and each would like to hear from the Half-Century Class. Jim Maher can be written to as follows:

Ens. James J. Maher, Jr., USS Dyess, DDR 880, c/o Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y. Ronald Sanford is on the carrier Saipan. His official address is Ens. Ronald J. Sanford, USS Saipan, CVI 48, c/o Fleet Post Office, New York, New York.

Names of last year's football greats that ought to make news this fall on pro teams will be of interest, of course, to all football fans but particularly to their classmates of '50.

Here is the latest rundown on who should be playing where:

Leon Hart, Detroit Lions; Ernie Zaleski, Chicago Bears; Emil Sitko, San Francisco '49ers; Larry Coutre, Green Bay Packers; (Coutre was drafted but last time we looked had not signed) Frank Spaniel, Washington Redskins; Jim Martin, Cleveland Browns; Mike Swistowicz, New York Yankees; Steve Houdak, Pittsburgh Steelers; Gus Cifelli, Detroit Lions, but like Coutre he was drafted but has not yet signed; Bill Wightkin, Chicago Bears.

Six of last year's varsity were on Dr. Eddie Anderson's All-Star Collegians that took the Philadelphia Eagles at Soldiers' Field in Chicago Aug 10.

Kevin Christopher O'Shea, brightest Notre Dame cage star in a decade, signed with the Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Association. O'Shea was picked on several All-American teams while still a sophomore, and is the holder of several all-time scoring records. He is married and the father of one child.

Jim Fisher, '50 (June), has accepted a graduate assistantship at Holy Cross College and hopes to receive his M.S. in Chemistry there.

Joe Herrington writes:

"I've accepted a beginning position on the copy desk of the Indianapolis News, starting work on September 4th. It will be excellent experience as long as I'm a civilian. Since I'm a member of the Indiana National Guard that may not be too long."

John Palmer is going in business in Bryan, Ohio, with a public accountant. He has an 8-room house and his family includes four children.

Bob Porter is in the Interior Decorating Department of the Marshall Field & Company in Chicago.

Bob Schell (Jan. '50), from LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is employed at the Chicago plant of the Edwin T. Guthman Co.

Charley Ward, '50, is working in Detroit, Mich., for the American Blower Corporation where John Brennan, '27, is manager of the Hydraulic Coupling Division.

From Jamaica we hear that Don Zwierski thinks highly of that country. Don is with the Frederick Snare Corporation, Contracting Engineers, and his address is Lydford P. O., St. Ann, Jamaica, B.W.I.

SYMPATHIES

To Kevin O'Shea whose father, Mr. Christopher O'Shea, died suddenly in Killarney while on a two months visit to the land of his birth.

QUESTION (continued from page 8)

Over the past twelve months these generous contributions have amply compensated for inability to allow for depreciation in the Budget.

Problems of the City Manager

What does disturb the President and his Council is the realization that, while regular income must be regarded as having just about reached its peak, operating costs will continue to rise. While the prices of foodstuffs and some other items may level off, salaries of both academic and non-academic personnel must be periodically increased. (Incidentally, Chamber of Commerce figures reveal that the University is the fifth largest employer in the South Bend area.) To rising salaries must be added the cost of University contributions to the faculty pension plan, and the prospect of Social Security payments for all other employees.

Completion of the new Science Building alone will increase annual operating costs by approximately $125,000. And before it can be completed, $250,000 must be found to furnish and equip it. Furnishings and equipment for several of the other new buildings will require an additional $450,000.

Heating plant and water system enlargements and improvements—essential to these and to future building projects—will cost $900,000. This work must be undertaken by next Summer at the very latest, the money raised this year and next. And if it is found to be more economical to generate our own power, an additional $500,000 will be required to make the necessary installation.

Within the next two years Notre Dame must alter its sewage disposal system to utilize the new facilities that South Bend shall have. This project will cost a minimum of $400,000. Many of these, and of other problems of maintenance the parent does not ordinarily associate with the cost of giving his son a college education. But has anyone ever run a successful school without taking them into account?

Little wonder that the "City Manager" should sometimes toss restlessly on his bed of sleep!

The Answers to the Problems

The answers to the University's problems lie with her alumni and other friends. If these problems are great—and growing, so also is the generosity of Notre Dame's friends and alumni great—and growing. Each year for the past several years the number of alumni and other friends has increased considerably. This increase has been rivalled by the increase in the amount of individual gifts—gifts that compensate for budget deficits, that provide for building needs, that will take care of furnishing and equipping these buildings, of mounting operating costs, and eventually of endowment needs.

One alumnus, one friend tells another about the work that Notre Dame is doing for the youth of America and the world, for the future of America and the world. He tells, too, how all can help further the education of this youth, help guarantee what this future shall be. And because Notre Dame is doing this work, because Notre Dame has such an attraction for so many different types of people, thousands each year contribute to, associate themselves with, this worthwhile effect to the extent of their ability. Remembering this, Notre Dame feels that in the years since her founding, she has never received a small gift, an insignificant contribution.

Seeing in his mind's eye this throng of friends and associates, each stepping forward to offer his aid, the "City Manager" smiles faintly and rolls over for a last time before dropping off to sleep.

And as he does so, his attention is captured and held by a sign written in the sky! Outside the windows of Corby Hall up over the roof-tree of the Church, the clouds hover low and black. But outlined sharply against the darkening sky is the lightsome figure of the Golden Lady atop the Dome, thrown into sharp relief by powerful floodlights!

No need to worry unduly over salaries and food and light and heat bills, so long as the Lady is up there watching over Her "hotel-manager," his employees and his guests. No need to fear for the operations of the University so long as She stands guard day and night, in stormy weather and in sunshine, over the City of Notre Dame, the City of Our Lady!

A $2,098,000 contract for construction of a new Science Building at the University of Notre Dame has been awarded by the university to the Sollitt Construction company, Inc., 301 South Columbia street. Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., executive vice-president of the university, announced today.

The Notre Dame executive vice-president pointed out that the $2,098,000 award figure is some $348,000 more than Notre Dame originally planned to spend for the construction. Rising costs of material and labor forced the increase since the alumni and other friends of the university contributed $1,750,000 for the new building.

The decision....to telecast football games represents a denial on your part of a dominant commercial interest in the game. I am enclosing my check for an amount equal to four tickets. I do not want any tickets.
