Alumni Board Report

It is always a source of regret that the tremendous contribution made to you by your Alumni Board, the officers and directors of your Alumni Association, cannot be brought to you in detail. But since you might not read it, experience suggests, we prefer to compromise with both space and experience and give you only the summary, with the sincere hope that each of you will read properly, and extensively, between the lines.

Because a football weekend is so complicated, the Board met on Saturday night, for a buffet supper and meeting after the Southern Methodist game. It was a progress meeting, basically, reviewing the work of the 12 standing Committees of the Board.

The Executive Committee, headed by President Scoggins outlined the many problems of policy involved in University relations, the new Inn, football tickets, Clubs, Classes, and the ALUMNUS. The conclusion: "There is a temptation to assume, because so much alumni activity is now blended with University activity, that we have lost ground. The contrary is almost unbelievably the case. The combined strength of the University and alumni programs has advanced far beyond the individual capacities of either."

The Foundation Committee, headed by William J. Sherry, reported marked improvement in alumni participation, an emphasis the Board agreed to pursue. (New figures are in a separate story in this issue.)

Class Activities, headed by Edward J. Beckman, followed through with suggestions stemming from the Class Secretaries first Conference last June. Some of these are still to be inaugurated, waiting on time and clarification of detail, but all forward steps.

Harvey Foster, chairman of the Club activities program, reported the results of several surveys, and an overall progress in Club activity, reflected in the Club news pages of the ALUMNUS each issue.

William R. Dooley and Chairman Edward Beckman reported on the existing placement programs and the proposed Career Clinic adaptation. Outstanding was the increase in 1950-51 of the number of organizations interviewing students for jobs, to 122, from the 58 total of 1949-50, and the outstanding national character of the majority of these organizations. The Career Clinic idea, now in operation through the Notre Dame Club of New York, is being studied for possible campus and other Local Club adaptation.

Dr. Matthew Weis, chairman of the Religion and Citizenship Committee, urged emphasis on the block and family rosary and other parish participation by N.D. alumni, and the Committee endorsed the Spiritual Bouquet for Father Cavanaugh's administration as a part of the Testimonial Year. Extension of religious programs to other Catholic alumni was urged by Dr. Weis, also chairman of the Inter-Alumni Association Committee.

Increasing publicity, not only in the ALUMNUS, but in the general press, was the principal exhibit of the Prestige Committee, headed by William B. Jones, who is also chairman of the Budget and Finance Committee, not reporting at the Fall meeting.

Richard J. Nash, chairman of the Preparatory School Relations Committee, reported the completion of a brochure for prospective students, prepared by Father Thornton and the Alumni Office, and the imminent preparation of a manual to accompany this for alumni use.

Judge Luther M. Swygert submitted the proposals of his Resolutions Committee, and the Nominating Committees submitted the current Ballots as their report. The Resolutions, adopted, follow: (see page 5)

John Burns III

John P. Burns, '34, assistant alumni secretary and managing editor of the ALUMNUS, suffered a nervous exhaustion as the current issue began to shape up (no, the cause goes back to World War II) and has been hospitalized for several weeks. We hope by the time you read this that John will be back in harness, but a prayer or two won't hurt for complete convalescence.

How About the Five Per Cent?

By JAMES E. McCARTHY, Dean,
Notre Dame College of Commerce

Many alumni have sole or partial influence in the disposition of corporate philanthropy, encouraged by government tax exemption to the extent of 5% of corporate income.—Ed.

THE executives of many American business corporations are coming more and more to realize that they are being presented with a grand opportunity to prevent the encroachment of the federal government upon still another field of activity—a field of activity which has hitherto been quite decentralized. This is the field of higher education. The clamor for federal aid to colleges and universities has been mounting steadily in recent months and years, and the constantly increasing pressure upon Congress to come to the assistance of higher education probably cannot long be withstood.

That the financial plight of a great number of colleges and universities is desperate is a fact well known. Although many institutions have long spent more money per student than the student has paid in tuition and fees — bridging the gap by drawing upon every possible source of miscellaneous revenue and even using endowment funds — the skyrocketing costs of operations of the past decade have made it all the more difficult for them to remain solvent. On one side, the mounting costs have to be met — but on the other, it has been impossible to raise tuition charges and fees commensurately — impossible, that is, unless a college education is to be made prohibitively expensive for the great mass of young men and women.

That the business corporations of the country have a vital stake in higher education as it is organized at present, is also a generally accepted fact; indeed, it is a fact so largely taken for granted that we are inclined to give it little thought. Not only do such corporations recruit a great number of college graduates for their administrative and technical personnel, but they also gain many direct benefits — often substantial ones in the financial sense — from the research and thinking that go on in college classrooms, laboratories, libraries, and offices. Their stake is in research and thinking that remain unregimented — and they must, therefore, fear that federal aid to higher education may turn out, in time, to be federal management of higher education.

But there is a price which business corporations must pay if they wish to prevent federal encroachment — if they wish to continue to enjoy the benefits of the freedom of research and thinking which at present characterizes American colleges and universities. If free colleges and universities are to survive, they must have money to overcome the financial difficulties with which they are now struggling; if the money is not to come from the federal government, it must come from other sources. And much of it, presumably, should come from business corporations. Much of it indeed, should come wholeheartedly from business corporations, for as Beardsley Ruml and Theodore Geiger have put the matter—

“A dollar wisely and soundly invested in worthwhile educational, scientific and welfare activities comes back manyfold over the longer term. Expenditures which contribute to these ends are neither an unnecessary burden nor a tiresome obligation. Like investment in new plant and equipment, they more than repay their cost in the future and can be among the most productive and remunerative forms of business expenditure.”*

The amazing thing about corporation support for higher education is that it need not be particularly expensive. The financing of the deficits of colleges and universities does not mean a cost to the corporations equal to the amount of the deficits. Far from it. The reason for this paradoxical conclusion is that corporation contributions can be substantially offset by tax savings. The federal revenue laws permit business corporations, in computing net income subject to the income taxes, to deduct contributions for educational, scientific, and welfare purposes up to five per cent of net income — a concession which is extraordinarily important in these times when corporation tax rates are so very high, and which becomes even more important now that the Revenue Act of 1951 has boosted the combined normal and surtax rate to 52 per cent, and has placed the combined normal, surtax, and excess profits rate at 82 per cent. Thus, if a corporation with sufficient income to put it well into the 52 per cent brackets were to contribute, say $100,000, for educational purposes, the net cost of its contribution would be only $48,000, for the remaining $52,000 would have to be paid out anyway—to the tax collector if not to the educational institution. Even more dramatically, a corporation which finds some of its income spilling over into the excess-profits category could contribute, say $100,000, in the full realization that it would thus be incurring a cost of only $18,000!

Although corporations have been permitted since 1936 to deduct contributions made for educational, scientific, and welfare purposes, they have exercised the privilege only moderately! Such deductions, for example, amounted to only .41 per cent of net income in 1936, to .46 per cent in 1939, and to .35 per cent in 1941. Before the war, however, the tax-saving feature was not very significant, since the corporation tax rates were quite modest. But the leap in tax rates of the war and postwar periods should have changed the attitude of corporation managements much more than it did. It is true that contributions reached a high of 1.24 per cent of net income in 1945, but they fell off to .84 per cent in 1946, and still further to .70 per cent in 1948, the latest year for which statistics are available.

In pondering upon the question whether or not to step up the amount of their contributions to take advantage of the bargain-basement prices of good will and other benefits, as cited above, corporation executives must of necessity have in mind the fact that, should they ignore the opportunity that is offered them, they may well be called upon to foot the bill for the deficit in higher education anyway. For if a program of federal aid to higher education is launched, corporations may be expected to bear much of the burden via the tax-route — it hardly needs to be argued that corporations are the happy hunting ground for tax gatherers when new programs of expenditure are decided upon.

What is more, the legal aspects of contributions by corporations appear to offer little in the way of difficulties. According to section 23 (q) (2) of the internal revenue code, contributions up to five per cent of net income may be deducted if made to corporations, trusts, community chests, funds and foundations that are organized and operate exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes or for the prevention of cruelty to children; and there is the additional provision that no part of the contributions may benefit private shareholders of the recipient and no substantial part may be used in carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation. Under the state corporation laws, the question sometimes arises as to whether directors can prove specific benefits to their corporations when they spend corporation funds for educational, scientific, and welfare purposes; but, in ordinary circumstances, it should not be difficult for directors to justify such expenditures. At least 12 states, indeed, have adopted laws which are generous in interpreting what benefits corporations making contributions; for example, the New York law sanctions expenditures for "activities conducive to the betterment of social and economic conditions" without requiring a proof of direct benefit to the corporation. It might be added, too, that in case of "family corporations," questions of corporate benefit are not likely to be of much importance, since the directors and stockholders are very likely to be the same people, or at least people who are in close accord in their viewpoint.

To employ the five-per-cent deduction provisions of the federal revenue laws most advantageously, corporations should presumably have well-designed plans as to what they want to do and how they want to do it. It is sometimes said that the motive for corporation giving has too often been the fear of criticism rather than the expectation of advancing specific interests and making a positive contribution to the general welfare. Because they have given haphazardly, corporations have often exerted little influence upon the beneficiaries of their donations. But the number of corporations having positive programs is constantly growing. Thus the Ford Motor Company inaugurated this year a plan of providing annually for children of its employees 70 scholarships for full four-year undergraduate courses in accredited colleges and universities as chosen by the beneficiaries themselves. A significant feature of a Ford scholarship is that it not only covers most of the tuition and living expenses of the student but also includes an additional grant of $500 per year to the educational institution selected by the student if it is a private one — this in recognition of the fact, mentioned above, that present tuition charges and fees are not enough to cover the costs of education per student. Sears, Roebuck and Company annually finances nearly a hundred undergraduate scholarships for students in land-grant colleges who plan to make agriculture their life's work. The Bulova Watch Company has established and supports a vocational school for training disabled veterans in watch repairing. And many distinguished corporations — including the Aluminum Company of America, the American Tobacco Company, the Proctor and Gamble Company, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the United States Steel Corporation, and the Westinghouse Electric Corporation — have contributed to the atomic research program of the University of Chicago.

One final aspect of corporation contributions remains to be mentioned, namely, urgency. The urgency of need of institutions of higher learning has already been indicated, but there is also urgency in having corporation managements come to a decision as to the nature and dollar value of their objectives. The matter is urgent because contributions are deductible only if expended within the taxable year, or, at most, within two and a half months after the close of the taxable year if authorized within the taxable year. Contributions cannot be carried forward or backward to reduce the tax liability of other years. Thus little time remains in 1951 for the executives of calendar-year corporations to decide what they are going to do — yet great care in the formulation and execution of plans is necessary for wise giving, and speed in giving can be reconciled. Messrs. Ruml and Geiger, in the pamphlet cited above, suggest that corporations which want to establish sound programs of contributions individually set-up tax-free corporations for educational, scientific, and welfare purposes, make their contributions to them, and then permit them — taking as much time as may be necessary — to work out their plans of "wise-giving."

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, many local alumni clubs have utilized and are planning to utilize the occasions provided by Notre Dame athletic contests held away from the campus, to contact alumni, to stimulate local club spirit and to promote the interests of Notre Dame by holding pre-game smokers and post-game dinners and dances, by sponsoring television and radio programs and through other similar means, now therefore

Be it resolved, the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association express the Association's gratitude to these clubs for their activities in this regard and for thus providing a wonderful forum to spread the story of Notre Dame in different sections of the country.

Be it further resolved, that all other local clubs should be urged to undertake similar activities where appropriate and in keeping with the scope of the particular occasion.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, our fellow alumnus Richard Sullivan has written and published recently NOTRE DAME, a book about the University and some of those who influenced its beginnings and growth, now therefore

Be it resolved, the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association express upon behalf of all Notre Dame men their appreciation to Mr. Sullivan for his splendid book about our Alma Mater and particularly for his translation into words that unique Something which every Notre Dame man comes to know and never forgets—the Notre Dame Spirit.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, an art collection of classical pictures by old masters and of tapestries having great value and beauty has been given to the University of Notre Dame by Mrs. Fred J. Fisher, who has also made possible the new Fisher residence hall, now therefore

Be it resolved, the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association extend to Mrs. Fisher the appreciation of the Notre Dame alumni for her generous benefaction, which will add greatly to the cultural life of the University and be a treasured collection in the Liberal and Fine Arts Building.

Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Spotlights Many Activities and Draws Strength From Their Advance

On November 15, 5893 alumni had already made a financial contribution to Notre Dame for the Ninth Annual Alumni Fund. This is for the calendar year 1951. Since July 1, when gifts have been credited, in addition, to the 1951-1952 Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Fund, 2246 alumni have contributed. Non-alumni total 1099, for 1951.

Hundreds of Masses, Communions and Rosaries, and many prayers of non-Catholic alumni have already been pledged for Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday, for the success of Father Cavanaugh's program for Notre Dame.

Very significant, too, of the endorsement of his plans, is the sharp increase in the average gift from alumni, since the July 1 opening of the Testimonial Fund.

The Program Advances

On every hand, as those who returned from home games this Fall have seen, Notre Dame is enjoying evidences of the splendid administration of its present President.

New buildings are only a part of the program, although they loom as the major physical change which alumni and friends see from the minute they reach the campus entrance.

A student spirit in activities, in hall life, in classroom and laboratory is being heralded by faculty and administration as a fitting accompaniment of the general advancement of Notre Dame. Clubs, athletics, debate, drama, music, all are sharing the belief that Notre Dame has reached a new peak of achievement, but a peak which provides a solid base from which to build anew.

The Morris Inn

In traveling this Fall — and the Foundation and Alumni staff have been traveling among many of the Foundation City Committees and Lo-

REV. JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C.

His Achievements Keep Ahead of the Testimonials cal Alumni Clubs in the East and Middle West, — one of the key questions is "What about the Inn?"

Obviously, from the pictures and your visits, you can see that the beautiful gift of the late E. M. Morris, '06, is shaping up as an attractive welcome spot at the campus entrance.

Policies, in the absence of precedent, are not shaping up so rapidly. The Inn will be completed and dedicated sometime in the late winter or early Spring. And in the meantime, the new Inn manager, Mr. E. H. Hunt, experienced hotel man himself, is seeking the counsel of those experienced in similar problems, to give Notre Dame alumni and friends the best possible service, in every way, from the very start of operation.

In a 92-room Inn, with 200 potential alumni for each room, and (on the basis of our non-alumni list of parents and friends) some 160 potential friends for each of these same rooms, the conflict on some of the highlight days of the year is inescapable. But the general feeling is that in the 12 months of the year, most of the days will provide alumni, parents of students, and other friends of Notre Dame, with the long-awaited opportunity to spend a day or two or three in the atmosphere of Notre Dame, which is as difficult to describe as is the spirit of Notre Dame which it generates.

The Science Building

Not until the New Science Building began to loom as a giant between the Old Gymnasium and the old Chemistry Hall were its proportions appreciated. Now, faculty and students are increasingly anxious to launch in the new structure the advances in chemistry, physics and mathematics which have been almost impossible to achieve in the crowded facilities of their present buildings. The rich tradition in chemistry, and the modern impact of both physics and mathematics progress at Notre Dame make the completion and use of the New Science Building — now tentatively set for the Summer — a matter of anticipation for all alumni and friends, and for the great fields to be served, as well as for those who will personally occupy its facilities.

The Fred J. & Sally Fisher Residence Hall

On a campus which is crowded, and at the same time on which the life of the residence hall is the key to its objectives, the rising walls of the new Fred J. and Sally Fisher Memorial Residence Hall on the site between the Dining Halls and the Rockne Memorial has more than the ordinary steam-shovel-watching interest for students, faculty and administration. On the basis of this Fall enrollment, the new facilities will mean that just about all of those who wish campus residence next September can be accommodated, a vital factor in Notre Dame's program.

And those who watch this Hall go up cannot forget that Mrs. Fisher has also, by her generous gift of $250,000 for a Student Loan Fund, already enabled many boys to complete an education which rising costs might otherwise have halted. Nor can they be any less appreciative that her latest gift of an art collection valued at $1,200,000 will be a part of the new Liberal and Fine Arts Building which will enrich the cultural lives of all who visit Notre Dame, and the lives and memories of all students.

The I. A. O'Shaughnessy Liberal and Fine Arts Building

Fourth of the great new buildings is the I. A. O'Shaughnessy Liberal and Fine Arts Building, already at a construction stage which indicates its appropriate facing on the East, across the long and beautiful plaza of the Rockne Memorial.

And to all who cherish the oldest traditions, the deep roots of the liberal arts, from which the University derived its life and its strength, this is one of the great assets of the years ahead, and one of the most valuable safeguards for the future contributions to a moral responsible leadership. All of the Colleges, and especially the many departments in liberal and fine arts, will benefit from the modern housing which Mr. O'Shaughnessy's generosity is providing.

Other Programs

The program of the Natural Law Institute, presented in a separate story in this issue, reflects the great progress in the Institute itself, and its increasing contribution to the legal profession and the nation-wide understanding of the roots of the American system of law.

The meeting in November of the Associate Board of Lay Trustees, together with the Fall meetings of the Advisory Councils on Commerce and Science and Engineering, have re-emphasized the great progress which Notre Dame derives from the generous participation of leading American business and professional men. The Fall meeting of the Alumni Board was similarly reflective of the guidance of a vital segment of Notre Dame activity through the unselfish efforts of alumni.

The accompanying chart of the Foundation figures, at the time of going to press, is perhaps the most tangible yard-stick of the endorsement by friends and alumni of the faith in Notre Dame's program and progress as a continuing bulwark of strength in the increasingly vital field of leadership based on moral training. Never has the Notre Dame story been so widely told by such a large number of loyal friends and alumni to so receptive a national audience. There is, of course, a long way to go before next July if we are to achieve the $3,000,000 objective. But we feel that the story is being told, and that the truth, laid before the maximum number of alumni and non-alumni, will produce the means whereby Notre Dame will continue to realize its tremendous ends.

Father Cavanaugh's sermon on the Church of the Air on November 25 is only a symbol of the personal leadership he has contributed to this progress. Press, radio and television have increasingly reflected both his personal achievement and the fruits of the program he has fostered so ably.

Publications, and increasing representation of Notre Dame in various national learned societies, increasing recognition of the University's own publications in the academic field, are satisfying evidence of the balance inherent in the program.

The Alumni Association and the Notre Dame Foundation appeal with confidence to alumni and friends to seize this year-end opportunity for giving, with the added benefits of individual and corporate tax deductibility, so that 1951 will top any previous record for participation and amount; and the last half of the Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Fund in 1952 will see the immediate objective achieved, and the long-range program moved into the subsequent pattern of the succeeding administration.

Peace Contest

A University of Notre Dame senior has been awarded first prize in the 1951 national contest of the International Peace Speech Association.

Joseph Conwell, of Greensburgh, Pa., a senior in the College of Arts and Letters, was named national champion in the contest for an oration entitled "If You Should Go to Youngwood." Conwell qualified for national competition by winning the Indiana state crown last spring. He was coached by Prof. William J. Elsen, head of the department of speech.

Conwell's oration was one of 11 selected by the Ohio Council of Churches as a basis for the declamation for their Prince of Peace contests. The prize was contributed by the Board of Peace and Social Concerns of the Five Years Meeting of Friends, Richmond, Ind.

More Awards for N.D.

The University of Notre Dame has been cited by the Institute of International Education in New York for an "outstanding contribution to the advancement of world understanding." And Father John J. Cavanaugh, c.s.c., has been awarded a certificate by the Institute for "bettering the foreign relations of the United States through the medium of the international exchange of persons."

The citation was given because of the University's acceptance of foreign students on the campus. Notre Dame is a member of the Institute.

NOTRE DAME

By Richard Sullivan

A book review by Walter Trohan, '26, appearing in the Chicago Tribune
Magazine of Books, Sept. 9.

For a little while, all too brief as the days of man go, some of us are part of a university. We walk under great trees tossing feathery branches or wearing sleeves of snow. We enter a confraternity of exuberant fellowship. We reel to the impact of ideas and beauty — sometimes, though we would be the first to deny it, we absorb something of them.

We discover the arts; either to swell that mystic company which, generation after generation, has delighted in discussion of them; or to join that larger company, which has learned to avoid them. Galaxies of thought swirl about us. Now and then we are touched with their celestial fire.

Few of us are able to tell what our university means to us; some never try. An exception is Richard Sullivan, who took the fire in his scholastic days and now carries the torch as a professor of English and a nationally known author to kindle younger minds.

In this book he looks to a larger audience in interpreting his University to those who know it and those who know it not, except as a favored residence of victory in football. To him, Notre Dame is the endurance of a culture, a blend of all that has gone before from the dark paganism of the Druids to the academia of Plato, the facets of revealed truth and the lightnings of thought that flash across the brain of man.

At Notre Dame, Mr. Sullivan caught a feeling of life and of human fate and of learning and of the spiritual which he deeply admires and which has become a part of him. He develops what Notre Dame means to him, aware that this is what it has meant to others less fluent than himself, as one realizes that an old tune is familiar even if forgotten.

The result is not altogether a bad one, to paraphrase the late Father Joseph Leonard Carrico, that master of understatement who pleased and inspired Mr. Sullivan and this reviewer.

Those who seek tales of heroism on the football field will be disappointed, although there is a vignette of stadium excitement before the kickoff that is an essential of the Notre Dame story. But those that seek heroism will find it aplenty in the Rev. Edward Frederick Sorin, c.s.c., and the founding fathers who came from France more than a century ago bearing culture as though it were some sacred fire.

This they nursed through fire and cholera to build an enduring institution.

All of this history is mood rather than detail. It is part of what makes Notre Dame different, as Mr. Sullivan finds religion makes Notre Dame different. But it is only part of the difference, because other schools have history and other schools have religion. In his search for the answer to the spirit of Notre Dame, Mr. Sullivan takes us to the feet of inspired teachers like the beloved Charlie Phillips; the inquisitive Jerome, first American to send a radio message; and the Rev. Julius Nieuwland, c.s.c., the chemist who threw his life into the retort so that the flame of knowledge might glow the brighter.

He takes us to the great presidents like the Rev. John W. Cavanaugh, c.s.c., and to the inspirational drive that was Knute Kenneth Rockne. He walks us around St. Joseph's and St. Mary's lakes and into the mystery of Lobund, the only germ proof laboratory in the world. He takes us into residence halls and their robust way of life and into the serenity of the chapels and the vaulted dimness of the spired church.

Mr. Sullivan, in the modesty of true ability and deep affection, is frank to state he doesn't know the answer to what is Notre Dame. Yet, he has revealed far beyond his own expectations the Notre Dame the men of Notre Dame know and love. He has lit a literary candle with devotion and ability that does himself and his alma mater proud.

The Soviet Union, Background, Ideology, Reality, a Symposium. Edited by Waldemar Gurian, (University of Notre Dame Press. $3.50).

This volume of 216 pages, comprises the significant proceedings of the widely publicized Symposium on Soviet Russia held at Notre Dame under the Notre Dame-Rockefeller-sponsored Committee on Interantional Relations. Ably edited by the experienced and scholarly Dr. Gurian, the book presents: (1) The Development of the Soviet Regime from Lenin to Stalin by Dr. Gurian, (2) Historical Background of Soviet Thought Control by Michael Karpovich of Harvard, (3) Results of Soviet 5-Year Plans by Naum Jasny of Stanford, (4) Soviet Exploitation of National Conflicts in Eastern Europe by Philip E. Mosely of Columbia, (5) Methods of Soviet Penetration in Eastern Europe by Stephen Kertesz of Notre Dame, (6) Aims and Methods of Soviet Terrorism by Vladimir Petrov of Yale, (7) Religion in Russia 1941-1950 by N. S. Timasheff of Fordham and, (8) Church and State in Central Europe by Francis Dvornik of Harvard. This outline of subject matter and scholarly source is all the understanding reader needs to grasp the richness of the Symposium and the great contribution these proceedings have made in this timely and challenging field.

Europe Between Democracy and Anarchy, by Ferdinand A. Hermens, (University of Notre Dame Press. 291 pp. $4.)

This second book published by the Notre Dame-Rockefeller Committee on International Relations is the work of Dr. Ferdinand A. Hermens, Notre Dame faculty member now on leave of absence in Europe for further studies. Dr. Hermens is a graduate of Bonn and studied in the London School of Economics and Political Science. He is a recognized author and contributor to many political periodicals. In this volume he strives to secure for the democratic efforts of continental Europe a "political Marshall plan" which will enable them to establish their democratic principles. He contends that these governments, separately, are now stymied in these efforts and lie perilously between the democracy we wish them to achieve and the anarchy from which new chaos and possible invasions of new tyrannies might well arise.

For the football follower of Notre Dame, still, we accept, numbered in larger companies than those who follow the political or the scientific, there are several recent treats of N.D. significance:

Dementia Pigskin, by Francis Wallace, '23, (Rinehart & Co. $2.75) is the latest contribution of the widely known former president of the Alumni Association to the football lore of the United States. If your Christmas menu includes assorted nuts, Wallace contributes a delightful handful in the various outbreaks of enthusiasm which accompany the following of football among the top teams of these United States. He does it with the rich sympathy and the interpretative philosophy of one who not only understands, and who has promoted these manifestations, but who has for 30 years been an ardent participant. It goes without saying that Notre Dame is not infrequently mentioned, along with those sung and unsung heroes who have made up the broader patterns of Notre Dame football. Frank also indicates the broader pattern of his own career in the equally fascinating tales from the campus and dressing room of most of the other leading elevens of the great pigskin parade. It is a pleasant book to read, full of happy highlights, a book for which Dad and Junior can well flip a coin to read first.

With Rockne at Notre Dame, by Eugene "Scrapiron" Young, '27. (G. P. Putnam's Sons. $3.75.) To all who remember the colorful Scrapiron Young, student, iron man of track, trainer, and for many years, 1929 to 1945, a philosopher of the athletic department, this book will be a delightful experience. It is, as one reader expressed it, "definitely not ghost-written, it is Scrap himself." It is actually, in spite of his relatively young status, an autobiography of Eugene Young, in which Rock and the parade of celebrities who moved across the Notre Dame sports horizon from 1922 to the present (when Scrap is trainer at the U. of San Francisco) provide a vivid and intriguing series of contacts and comments. For trainers and athletes interested in the secrets of staying in shape, there are text-book benefits, but the ALUMNUS recommends its different and colorful saga of sports as seen through the stripped and steaming atmosphere behind the scenes by an enthusiastic participant.

The Rose Bowl Game, by Rube Samuelson (Doubleday & Co. Inc. $3.50). This book is of interest to Notre Dame men and their friends for the "Last Ride of the Four Horsemen," the colorful account of the Rose Bowl game of 1925, when Notre Dame defeated Stanford 27-10 in its only Rose Bowl game. Samuelson also features an Appendix in which the line-ups, statistics, scores by quarter, etc. of the famous Series are listed.

General suggestions would include for the religious Father Patrick Peyton's Ear of God; for the lovers of good fiction and clean satire Vern Sneider's Teahouse of the August Moon; for the young lad Frank Leahy's books on the T-Formation. For the non-Catholic friend the works of Rev. John A. O'Brien, distinguished popular apologist of the Notre Dame faculty, make an invaluable gift. What's the Truth About Catholics, and Sharing the Faith are Father O'Brien's latest volumes, Our Sunday Visitor Press, Huntington, Ind.

THE JUGGLER OF NOTRE DAME

Most of you who are reading this will remember what we're talking about when we speak of the student publication The Juggler. Quite a few of you have written for it while a student, and surely most of you have read it.

The Juggler of Notre Dame is intended to provide an outlet for the creative work of the embryonic artists of the University. It provides an incentive for young writers, and helps them to truly and objectively acquire an evaluation of their own work. The publication is issued three times yearly.

Because the publication is "literary," however, its circulation is sometimes low. The present is one of those times. The Juggler is in trouble — financial trouble. Because of the quality of the stories and the interest it can have for the reader, the situation should be altered. And the Juggler editors are asking the alumni for help. They are announcing that subscriptions can be obtained by sending $1 to The Juggler, Publications Office, Notre Dame, Ind.

Basketball

Coach Johnny Jordan has cut his squad to 18 men, a squad which promises to give Notre Dame a thoroughly interesting and possibly very successful season.

The ALUMNUS calls particular attention of the Notre Dame Clubs of the Twin Cities, Madison, Indianapolis, Louisville, Milwaukee, Lansing, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, Baltimore, New York and Philadelphia, to the opportunities afforded them on the occasion of the visits of the basketball team to their communities. In several instances, this is not necessary, because the Clubs are old and valued hands at making these oc-game dishonest, but it's really something that could have happened to any sport. . . ."

Like the football squad, Jordan's starting lineup indicates at this writing three members from the 1950-51 freshman team — Joe Bertrand, forward; Ray Rosenthal, center; and Entee Shine, guard. Leroy Leslie, forward; and Don Strasser, guard, are the current starting choices to round out the team, with McCloskey, Lewinski, Neumayr and Gibbons of last year's squad pressing for top billing.

The Pennsylvania and Michigan State games, during the holidays, will permit home crowds other than the students to see the Notre Dame team in action.

Basketball Schedule

casions enjoyable for the squad, for the alumni, and for many friends of the University.

Commenting on the critical era in basketball, especially in its games in public arenas, Johnny Jordan said recently: "Notre Dame has benefitted a lot from basketball, just like she has from football, and we owe it to the sport to keep it on the same high plane. We're going back to the big arenas the same as Irish teams have done for years. . . . We aren't branching out any, but it's just that our schedule calls for games in Madison Square Garden, Chicago Stadium and Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis. There'll be a few who will stay away or call the and creditable way, fast. In a world like ours, we should be willing to save our miracles for more difficult days. We believe you feel that way, and that you join the ALUMNUS in appreciation of the work the coaching staff has done, and the spirit with which staff, team and school have continued to pursue the wholesome aims of intercollegiate athletics.

The schedule, with scores of games to date:

Sept. 29	. . . .	Indiana, 6; Notre Dame, 48
Oct. 13	. . . .	So. Methodist, 27; Notre Dame, 20
Oct. 20	. . . .	Pittsburgh, 0; Notre Dame, 33
Oct. 27	. . . .	Purdue, 9; Notre Dame, 30
Nov. 3	. . . .	Navy, 0; Notre Dame, 19
Nov. 10	. . . .	Michigan State, 35; Notre Dame, 0
Nov. 17	. . . .	North Carolina, 7; Notre Dame, 12
Nov. 24	. . . .	Iowa, 20; Notre Dame, 20
Dec. 1	. . . .	Southern California vs. Notre Dame

The ALUMNUS operates its sports section on the present theory that sports are of general interest, a common denominator of experience for all alumni, but also on the theory that so much information regarding Notre Dame sports is available in other channels that the infrequent appearance of the ALUMNUS makes such data non-news and simply late duplication. But if you would like to have us build a special department around the sports and the angles on sports that are not to be found in the public press, let us have some indication of this interest, and the Editors will assure you of a try.

For example, Alex Wilson, track coach and one of Notre Dame's all time great runners, led his cross-country team to the Central Intercollegiate Conference title in Chicago on Nov. 16.

The Notre Dame B team, which tied Purdue, but was knocked over badly in Memphis by the powerful Tennessee B eleven, lists as members such familiar and promising names as Wynne, Metzger and Rigali, sons of Chet, Bert and Joe, respectively.

Veteran Baseball Coach Jake Kline (Clarence to the careless), has taken some very moderate seasons to heart and has had his candidates out for a busy Fall.

IMPORTANT BULLETIN

The Notre Dame Club of Cincinnati is having a cocktail party for all Notre Dame alumni coaches attending the N.C.A.A. convention there, Wednesday, Jan. 9, 6:30-8:30, in the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel.

Football

Your Editor is taking over this page for this issue, with a purpose. Notre Dame football had what, for Notre Dame, was called a "bad season" in 1950. And in the current season of 1951 (at this writing) Southern Methodist and Michigan State, with crowd-thrilling displays of skill and power, have defeated Notre Dame. Southern California may do the same thing.

The purpose is simply to call attention, to you and any interested non-alumnus, that Notre Dame — too often charged with spearheading big time football — is showing none of its undesirable fruits.

Crowds still make the ticket problem difficult. The confidence of our alumni is the confidence that can only come when the University administration is alumnus, when an alumnus is the head coach, when a number of sons of alumni are on the squad; in other words when you feel that your best interests are being served in football, no matter what the Saturday scoreboards show. This lack of hysteria is one of the great assets of Notre Dame, one of the personal compensations for Frank Leahy, a genuine source of deep appreciation for your Alumni Office.

You know more about football, most of you, than the Editor. You are well aware that many freshmen are holding down key posts on this 1951 team, freshmen in the older order, 18 and 19 years old. Our schedule is a schedule for experts. They have come a long

A part of the Notre Dame law alumni, attending the 3rd annual luncheon in conjunction with the American Bar Association meeting. President William B. Jones introduced a galaxy of talent, including His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman; Very Rev. Christopher O'Toole, C.S.C., superior-general of the Congregation of Holy Cross; Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., and prominent Notre Dame lawyers and judges from throughout the nation.

N.D. Man to High Post With W.S.B.

Thomas F. Coman, a journalist graduate of 1925, was sworn in on August 30 as a public member of the National Wage Stabilization Board. This 18-man Board is composed equally of the public, labor, and industry. Its main purpose is to carry out the purposes and intent of the Defense Production Act insofar as it requires stabilization of wages and salaries coincident with the stabilization of prices. In addition to its recommendation of policies and formulae, the Board also administers to the extent that thousands of cases are submitted for approval. The agency has a limited delegation of authority from the President to deal with labor disputes which affect the production of national defense materials and essential civilian goods.

The appointment is the recognition of an outstanding newspaper career, which included the "covering" of three of these Boards in the last 10 years. For many years Coman was an able newspaper man, working first with the South Bend News-Times, later with the Associated Press, and still later with the David Lawrence publications. Father, and grandfather, Coman was, in a quiet and modest way, one of the most respected members of the Washington press corps, in the difficult field of labor reporting before this high stamp of government approval.

St. Edward's U. Observes Diamond Jubilee

St. Edward's University of Austin, Texas, observed Founder's Day on Oct. 13, feast of St. Edward, patron of the University, and of its founder, Rev. Edward Sorin, c.s.c.

This year's celebration marked the seventy-fifth observance of the day at St. Edward's; the institution having been dedicated to St. Edward in 1876 when the first school buildings were erected and classes begun at what was then St. Edward's Academy.

The present university charter dates from 1925, in which year the name of the school was changed to St. Edward's University. Since then colleges of arts and sciences, commerce and engineering have been established; and this fall evening classes for men and women in the Austin area were inaugurated. St. Edward's also offers junior and senior high school courses for both day and boarding students.

While St. Edward's is a Catholic school, it, like Notre Dame, welcomes students who profess other religious beliefs. About twenty per cent of the present enrollment are non-Catholic.

Cdr. Sigmund Bobczynski, USN, the present Executive Officer of the N.R.O.T.C. unit on the campus, is being replaced by Cdr. Raymond Payne, USN. Commander Bobczynski goes to the Armed Services Staff College at Norfolk, Va.

THE UNIVERSITY TODAY

Natural Law Institute

The 5th Anniversary of the Natural Law Institute, one of Notre Dame's great contributions to modern legal thinking, will be observed on the campus December 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15. The first three days will be devoted to public panel discussions, featuring the speakers from previous Institutes. The last two days will be devoted to an outstanding group of speakers, treating the natural law philosophy in the non-Christian tradition. Dr. Hu Shih, former Chinese ambassador to the U.S., representing Confucianism; Rabbi Solomon Freehof, Pittsburgh, for the Jewish faith; Prof. Khalifa Abdul Hakim, Institute of Islamic Culture, Pakistan, representing the Moslems, and Prof. Daisetz T. Suzuki, Claremont College, Calif., representing Buddhism, lead the program of the two-day Institute proper. The Institute is under the sponsorship, for the 4th year, of Alvin A. Gould, prominent Cincinnati business man. The first Institute, in 1947, was made possible by the Notre Dame Club of New York City, an alumni organization.

Faculty in Politics

Librarian Paul Byrne has a letter dated March 14, 1850, from the faculty, to Henry Clay, congratulating him on his famous Compromise Speech of 1850, and taking the opportunity to stress the Americanism of the Catholic population of the U.S.

New Commerce Council Member

Mr. Eugene Hynes, New York City, chairman of the board of Wilson Brothers, was announced as a new member of the Advisory Council of the College of Commerce at its September meeting. Mr. Hynes is also president of the Sheboygan Chair Co., Chairman of the Board of Wright's Underwear Corp., New York City, and Chairman of the Board of the Enro Shirt Co., Louisville, Ky. He began his career in 1921 as an investment banker.

Dr. Calcott Heads S&E Council

Dr. William S. Calcott, assistant chemical director of the organic chemicals department of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., a long time friend of Notre Dame and associate of the late Father Nieuwland, is the new chairman of the Advisory Council for Science and Engineering, elected at the Fall meeting October 12-13. His post as vice-chairman was filled by Arthur J. Schmitt, president of the American Phenolic Corp., Cicero, Ill.

At the same meeting it was announced that the Council had secured the membership of Julius F. Wolff, Duluth, Minn., recently retired as general mining engineer for the Oliver Mining Co., which he joined in 1908.

Faculty Members Impressive

Sir John E. Lennard-Jones, professor of chemistry at Cambridge University, was the Peter C. Reilly lecturer in chemistry to the faculty and students of the Department of Chemistry during the week of Nov. 12-19.

John H. Sheehan, '37, head of the Department of Economics, was recently appointed to the foreign commerce department committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S.

"France, along with the world, is looking for a genius who can interpret the social justice principles of the Popes in terms of a workable system," according to Dr. J. B. Duroselle, Dean of the University of Saarbrücken, visiting French History professor at Notre Dame.

Seventeen members of the Notre Dame History Department are engaged in active research, and 11 have had recent publication of their works, several with multiple media.

Prof. Kenneth Campbell, of the Department of Chemistry, has been awarded a $3,000 grant by the Microbiological Institute of the National Institutes of Health. He is seeking chemical cures for amebiasis and schistosomiasis, diseases of the intestine.

New U.S. History Text

Two Notre Dame historians, Rev. Thomas McAvoy, c.s.c., head of the Department, and Dr. Aaron Abell, have collaborated with two Fordham historians and one from the Cardinal Hayes High School, to publish a textbook for use in colleges and universities. The book, A History of the United States, was published by the Fordham Press in October.

N.D. Medievalist Publishes

James A. Corbett, of the Department of History and an author in the Medieval Institute series of publications at Notre Dame, has published recently in Belgium a second volume of medieval manuscripts on alchemy, largely a catalogue of such documents to be found in the public libraries of France outside Paris. His first volume in this field, in 1939, listed the Paris libraries material.

Art Gifts from Dr. Busch

Dr. M. L. Busch, director of the Mission Hospital, Huntington Park, California, has given three lovely paintings to the Notre Dame Galleries. Latest is "The Madonna With Saints," by Matteo di Giovanni di Bartolo 1435-95, which is now hanging in the west gallery. The painting was brought to Notre Dame by Dr. Maurice Goldblatt.

The first gift from Dr. Busch was a portrait of Madame Brabant by Joseph Highmore, and the second a portrait of Lady Grenville by George Henry Marlow.

The Giovanni is a small one, 18 by 19 inches, valued around $1,000! The artist was of the Siennese school, the best of his time, and is represented in the National Gallery in London. The Siena Cathedral also benefitted from his art.

Rare Volume Given to N.D.

A rare and historic volume entitled A Short History of the Diocese of Cincinnati, has been presented to Notre Dame by Joseph Gregorich, Oak Park, Ill., an engineer interested in the study of the Catholic history of the Mid-West. Written in German and published in Vienna in 1829, the Notre Dame copy is the only known one in the U.S. and is not even listed in the British Museum. The book was influential in setting up the Leopoldine Association in Vienna to raise money for American Catholic Missions. Since Notre Dame grew from the interest of Father Stephen Badin of the Cincinnati diocese, the volume has special significance.

Danforth Foundation

The Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, has announced the inauguration of a series of Graduate Fellowships for college seniors and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of teaching, either at the college or the high school level, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1952, for their first year of graduate study.

Father Cavanaugh has named Mr. B. J. Kohlbrenner, head of the Department of Education, as the liaison officer to work with the Danforth Foundation on the selection of candidates. The qualifications of the candidate as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are:

- a) Evidence of superior intellectual ability in college record.
- b) Good record of health and emotional stability.
- c) Outgoing personality and the concern for people, essential for successful teaching.
- d) Choice of vocation of teaching as form of Christian Service.
- e) Deep religious convictions and growing religious perspectives. (Foundation is looking for candidates who are seriously examining their own religious life, and are seeking a maturing faith and a social outreach.)

The Ford Scholarships

Five of a total of thirty-seven boys who won scholarships under a unique Scholarship Program for Sons and Daughters of Ford Motor Company Employees have elected to study at the University of Notre Dame.

The five Ford Scholars attending Notre Dame are pictured below with the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, c.s.c., President of Notre Dame, who before entering Notre Dame as a student was himself an employee of the Ford Motor Company.

The students receiving the award at Notre Dame are: Robert G. Nouhan, of Detroit, Mich.; Philip C. Chinn, of Royal Oak, Mich.; Bernard J. LaLonde, of Dearborn, Mich.; Forest E. Brown, of Louisville, Ky., and James J. Cennane, Chester, Pa.

Recipients of the four year scholarships were selected following nationwide competition among eligible children of Ford Motor Company employees. All winners receive full tuition and customary academic fees, and for scholarship winners choosing a privately-endowed college or university, such as Notre Dame, the Ford Motor Company makes an additional $500 annual grant to such schools for each scholar in attendance, in recognition of the fact that at privately-endowed colleges and universities the student's tuition and fees do not cover the entire cost of his education.

Ed Mowery, '28, Honored

Edward J. Mowery, who attended Notre Dame in 1924-25, and came back in 1927-29, a reporter on the New York World-Telegram, has been receiving a sensational number of citations for a newspaper man in recognition of his brilliant and timely cracking of the vicious dope-peddling ring that was preying on minors. His effectiveness is the reward of a long hard route from the Lancaster, O. Eagle, through many newspaper jobs of interest and merit, to the King Features and the metropolitan dailies. His path produces many interesting evidences of creative ability, good writing, and reporting of the Notre Dame school of Frank Ward O'Malley and other illustrious alumni-journalists. Look, The March of Time, the American Legion and its magazine, have given Ed deserved publicity. But most satisfying is the active nation-wide program of law enforcement driving the teen-age providers from the scene.

Prof. Frank O'Malley On 'Review of Politics'

Mr. John Burns
Editor, The ALUMNUS
Notre Dame, Indiana

Dear John:

From what you said the other day in the Huddle, I know that you are interested in helping us get the support of the alumni for The Review of Politics. From talking with a good many of them, I gather that they are practically unaware of its existence. I also gather that they are quite anxious to subscribe, once they understand the nature of our journal. As an alumnus myself, it is pleasant for me to think that the editors of The Review have this genuine good will and concern. Like many other serious periodicals today, The Review can use a lot of subscriptions. So we hope that our friends among the alumni will implement their good will by subscribing regularly.

The alumni-at-large need to realize that The Review of Politics is not confined to narrow questions of political science or action. It is actually very broad in its point-of-view and in its subject-matter, for it thinks of politics as embracing every event and achievement affecting the life of man in the human community. Taking our stance in the Christian theological and philosophical tradition, we publish articles on international problems of every sort, on various aspects of American civilization, on the origins and backgrounds of modern culture, and on religious approaches to conditions in contemporary society. And they are written, for the most part, by the ablest thinkers in the present world. Among the regular contributors are distinguished faculty members known to generations of Notre Dame students. Our alumni, in every vocation and profession, will, I am certain, find a variety of ideas and information of value in each issue*—and a great deal more insight into and understanding of the crises and directions of contemporary life than the ordinary newspaper or popular magazine provide.

In the thirteen years of its existence, The Review has won the praise and cooperation, not only of scholars in all the great centers of learning in this country and abroad but also of men of affairs in every land. We would like to keep up the good work. And our alumni can aid us simply by sending us a subscription — $3.00 the year — to the editors, P.O. Box 4, Notre Dame, Indiana. (If it seems preferable, they can just put their name and address on a penny postcard—and we will bill them later.) We are grateful to those alumni who are listed, some of them from the beginning, as subscribers. But we would, naturally, like to see many more of them listed. I am particularly grateful to you, John, for your willingness to do what you can for us through the pages of THE ALUMNUS. In your own good work for Notre Dame and for Notre Dame men everywhere, you have our sincerest wishes for ever-increasing success.

Cordially,

N. D. Aids N.F.C.C.S.

In these days of the U.N., NATO, and ECA, it should not come as much of a surprise to find students uniting to further their common objectives.

Such is the case at Notre Dame, whose undergraduates are all members of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. The Federation, formed by students in the New York area in 1937, now includes in its membership over 200,000 students in virtually all the Catholic colleges and universities in the country. Notre Dame joined the NFCCS in 1941.

Through the NFCCS, students at ND can learn what other schools are doing in the various fields of interest, and vice-versa.

NFCCS is also a proving ground for young leaders. And the important part played by Notre Dame in the Federation's activities is reflected by the work of the many men who have thus been given a chance to put their ability to use.

For years, Notre Dame led the nation in aid to foreign students, mainly through the efforts of Lou Burns of the Class of '49 and the participation by the student body in the annual Mardi Gras Carnival.

Tentative plans for this year's pre-Lenten festivities call for the use of a sizable portion of the proceeds to set up partial scholarships for deserving ND students.

Notre Dame also is the seat of the NFCCS National Commission on Catholic Action Study and of the Fort Wayne Region's Inter-American Affairs Commission.

Federation affairs at the University are coordinated by the local NFCCS Council, headed by a junior and a senior delegate and including representatives of those campus organizations working with the NFCCS commissions.

Out of this council thus far this year have come such projects as the Mardi Gras and the new student-faculty round table discussions on controversial topics of current interest.

The growth in stature of NFCCS on the Notre Dame campus, especially in the last year has been remarkable, and is expected to receive another boost should the University's bid to host the Federation's national Congress next summer be accepted.

James Bacon, class of '37, and Charlie Soldani, student in '14 and '15, pose with a friend on Hollywood movie lot. Gary Cooper (left) brought the Notre Dame men together in the set for "High Noon." Bacon is now Hollywood, Calif., correspondent for the Associated Press. There's more on Soldani, an Osage Indian, below.

N.D. Reporter Finds Ex-Washington Hall Star

By James Bacon, '37,
Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 9.—At first, I thought Gary Cooper was kidding me.

"Hey, Jim," the lanky actor yelled when I first walked on the set of "High Noon," on the western street at Columbia ranch. "I want you to meet Notre Dame's first all-American.

Cooper pointed to an Indian actor and then introduced me.

He wasn't kidding.

The Indian was Charlie Soldani, a student at Notre Dame in 1914 and 1915. Old-timers around South Bend and the campus will remember him in the senior class play of 1914, "The Girl of the Golden West."

"I was only a freshman," Charlie recalls, "but I got in the play because I was the only one on the campus who looked like an Indian."

Charlie said a Norwegian from Chicago played his squaw in the play.

"He later became quite well known around South Bend," said Charlie, jokingly. "His name was Knute Rockne."

Charlie said his memory of Notre Dame goes back to the days when Walsh hall was the finest on the campus. I told him there have been a few changes on the campus since.

He asked about many of his old priest friends, Father Farley and others, who have long since died.

Charlie, of French-Indian descent, came to Notre Dame from Ponca City, Okla.

"I never graduated," he said, "because I became of age at the end of my sophomore year. That meant I started receiving royalty checks from oil wells in Oklahoma. I just couldn't see getting $400 a week from the oil wells and going to school."

He moved to California and admits he spent most of his time playing golf until the crash of 1929.

"A lot of my golfing partners were producers and directors so when I had to go to work for a living, I went into the movies."

He has been making a very good living for more than 20 years playing Indian roles in westerns and other movies. Now 58, he has been happily married for 20 years to the former Joyce Cooper, who was on the stage in such hit musicals as "Hit the Deck." They have no children.

Cooper then suggested that we pose for a picture and send it back to the Notre Dame ALUMNUS.

"Notre Dame?" retorted the photographer. "You mean Carlisle, don't you?"

Heads Morris Inn

EDWARD H. HUNT

Edward H. Hunt, veteran hotel manager, has been named Manager of the Morris Inn. Mr. Hunt, who has arrived at Notre Dame to assume his new duties, has been a hotel manager for the past twenty years. A native of Syracuse, N. Y., he is a graduate of the Goodyear Business College in that city.

Before accepting the position as manager of the Inn, he had served as Manager of the Langren Hotel in Asheville, N. C., for the past three years. Previously he had spent seventeen years as Manager of the McCurdy Hotel in Evansville, Ind.

"This volume represents the most up-to-date and reliable brief introduction to the complex problems of Soviet ideology and reality. It combines expert scholarship and considerable judgment with an awareness of the urgent issues facing all people in the non-Communist countries today."—Professor Hans Kohn.

"It is a phenomenon nowadays when a symposium lives up to its name and really is a conversational feast. Waldemar Gurian gathered a group of experts on Russia and Eastern Europe and has edited their papers. The volume will give the reader sound and clear views on the development of the regime since 1917, on the difference between thought control under the Czars and Stalin, on Soviet policies in Eastern Europe, on the Soviet system of terrorism, and on religion in Russia since 1940."—America.

EUROPE BETWEEN DEMOCRACY AND ANARCHY

Ferdinand A. Hermens

$4.00

Europe's energies are stymied by constitutional difficulties, Professor Hermens holds. What he explains in this book has often been in the news in recent years.

When, in France, Prime Minister Plevin chose to have his cabinet fall rather than abandon the attempt to bring about electoral reform, he addressed the deputies in the National Assembly in terms strikingly similar to what Professor Hermens says in his two chapters on France.

When, in the fall of 1948, the Parliamentary Council met in Bonn to draft the new German constitution, its chairman, Adenauer, now the Federal Chancellor, was so much impressed by lectures given during the preceding semester by Professor Hermens at the University of Bonn that he had them printed and distributed to all of the members of the assembly over which he presided.

"With its extremely well-documented analysis pointing to P.R. as the chief institutional handicap to the stability of democratic government, Europe Between Democracy and Anarchy should at last destroy the many fallacies in which even seasoned observers of the European scene have persisted to this day. I consider Dr. Hermens' work one of the most useful books that has been published since the Second World War."—Professor Joseph Dunner, Chairman of the Dept. of Political Science, Grinnell College.

"Professor Hermens' book is of great value to students of modern European history, comparative government, political parties, legislative assemblies, and recent political theory. Through a wealth of information and analysis not elsewhere available, he documents the importance of electoral systems in the democratic process."—Professor Franklin L. Burdette, Department of Government and Politics, University of Maryland.

ALUMNI CLUBS

Aurora

Following are a few notes pertaining to the Notre Dame Club of Aurora which pulled out of the Fox Valley Club. We cover Aurora and a radius of about 15 miles. We have 25 active members, and have instituted a scholarship plan whereby we hope to send a boy to Notre Dame each year.

In our first project we gave away four tickets to the SMU game and $50. The winner was Jerry Swanson—2½-week-old baby, son of Henry, a convert. About $400 was added to the scholarship fund. This will increase annually.

A Christmas party is being planned for members, wives and friends.

A yearly golf outing is held at the Crystal Lake Country Club where the Aurora Club is invited annually by the Crystal Lake gang.

Officers of the Club were elected and the results are:

President—Bill Chawgo.
Vice-President—Dick Reedy.
Secretary—Bob Rowbottom.
Treasurer—Bob Thumm.

There is a new club in existence under the Notre Dame Alumni Association. A group of alumni around Aurora, Illinois, have withdrawn from the Fox Valley Club and formed their own organization. From the first reports of their activities, and from the names of the members, it is evident that they will constitute another successful addition to the many clubs now in existence. To all the members of the Notre Dame Club of Aurora, congratulations and good luck.—Editors.

Baltimore

The Notre Dame Club of Baltimore celebrated the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Navy-Notre Dame football series on November 2-3. After the 1948 and 1949 starts we decided to enter the race for a third time in 1951 and threw a Rally and Cocktail Party in the ballroom of the Hotel Emerson.

The weather was against us on Friday night and as a result the ballroom wasn't as full as it had been in the past, but the several hundred who were there had a big time. The same program was followed as before: movies, speaking and dancing. Eleven halves of refreshments were consumed as were 100 cans of potato chips and pretzels.

Participating in the speaking program were: Rev. Robert J. Sheehan, C.S.C., '21, representing Father Cavanaugh; Frank Leahy; Bob Williams, now with the Chicago Bears; Commander Joseph Dougherty, U.S.N. from the Naval Academy, and Captain Arthur F. Spring, U.S.N., presently with the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Captain Spring scored the first touchdown against Notre Dame while playing on the Navy team in 1927—the first game of the series. The Captain came over at our invitation and brought his wife and son to the Rally.

The Mayor of Baltimore, Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr., welcomed the crowd and accepted his honorary membership in the local Club. Our Mayor has never missed one of our public functions since the Club was organized in 1946.

Acting as Master of Ceremonies was our own Hugh Burns, '39. To say he was terrific would be to insult the man—words have not been coined to express the hit that he made in running the show. We are still hearing about his job from the public who listened in over WCBM which broadcast the program for an hour.

We had to break the speaking program in two parts since Frank Leahy was not on deck at the appointed hour and was written off as not coming. He showed up an hour later, after we went off the air, having been delayed en route from another hotel.

Bob Williams flew from Chicago to Washington and had a car waiting for him at the airport to bring him to Baltimore. The weather held up both plane and car, but he made it by 10:20 p.m. and went on just ahead of Frank. Their appearance gave the Rally a second climax that saved the night.

Just before the Leahy-Williams entrance, word came up front that "Martin Kane" was in the house. Bill Gargan stood up and took a bow and immediately was flooded with autograph seekers. This was a surprise that was totally unexpected.

Fortunately the weather cleared up for the game but the teams still played in a sea of mud. After the game was over, 700 people found their way again to the Emerson ballroom for what has come to be a traditional party—the Baltimore Club's Post-game Cocktail Party. There, from 5 to 8, old friends found one another and new friends were made.

All in all the weekend was a great success! Several Club members helped to make it so—to them go laurel wreaths. They were: Rally Chairman, Jim Murray; Cocktail Party Chairman, Frank White; Decorations Chairman, Dan Sullivan; Reception Chairman, Frank O'Connell; and Reservations Chairman, Bill Hartman and Publicity Chairman, Hal Williams. No small thanks go to our President, Gil Prendergast, who was in there pitching every minute.

Buffalo

The Autumn season and the natural interest in the sport of football, particularly ND football, among the Alumni has had its effect upon the activities of our Buffalo Club. On September 11, John B. Kanaley of New York City, ardent worker for the National Foundation, visited the city and a Foundation Regional Luncheon Meeting was organized by our Local Foundation Director, Bernie Bird, while luncheon was attended very well by all Club Officers, Directors and members here in Buffalo. The place was the Sheraton Hotel, and a very factual and inspiring resume of current Foundation activities and results was given by Mr. Kanaley, which, no doubt, inspired our efforts in this area.

The Second Annual Golf Outing was held at Brookfield Country Club, a few miles outside of Buffalo, under the Chairmanship of Maury Quinn. In spite of threatening weather in the earlier part of the day, it developed into a happy affair with a delicious roast beef dinner and a pleasant evening. 'Bus' Pfel walked away with the coveted 19th Hole Award and, strangely enough, Chairman Quinn copped the ND Golf Trophy.

The Fall season has also witnessed the resumption of the Club's monthly meetings at the Sheraton Hotel, on the third Monday during which great social and money-raising ideas are being developed for the coming year. Tony Brick, our Vice-President, has been appointed Chairman of the forthcoming Annual Communion Breakfast for December, '51.

Central New York

During the past summer, the Central New York alumni got together for two outings. The first was the annual Golf Outing, held at the Cortland Country Club in Cortland, N. Y. In spite of threatening weather, the largest crowd in the history of this affair turned out for golf and dinner. President Ed Kenefake presided at a business meeting which followed dinner. Through the efforts of Justin Corcoran, who is a director of the country club, the outing was a great success.

On September 6, the alumni, students and prospective students gathered at the Cavalry Club for the third annual Student-Off. Phil Kelley, who carried the ball for the students, did a great job in arranging the program. The students successfully, and almost effortlessly, retained the softball trophy for the coming year, by trouncing the spirited, but aging, alumni.

The winter program calls for the Communion Breakfast to be held on Sunday, December 9. Plans are also being laid for Universal Notre Dame night, in the spring, as well as another meeting at which the film for the current football season will be shown.

Chicago

A meeting of officers and board members of the Chicago club ran late into the night of September 10. This gathering will serve as well as any to underline the efforts and energy expended by these club officials to put on an attractive program for the club members and to make the club a live and useful organization benefiting not only Notre Dame men living in the Chicago area but the University itself.

As a "test case" let's consider this meeting for a bit, to illustrate the hard work being done—the work which must be done—to keep the club successful. The meeting was kicked off by president Al Stepan at 5:40 p.m. From then until 10 p.m., right through dinner, all present concentrated in a very serious manner on the problems of the club. Deserved credit was first paid to John Coyle for the very attractive and rewarding program he put on the night on September 5 as chairman of the "Fathers and Sons" reception, staged for the incoming freshmen of the Chicago area and their Dads. Some 67 of the future ND men and 45 of their fathers were present. Dean McCarthy of the University and Father John J. Murphy, C.S.C., v-p in charge of ND public relations, gave inspiring talks. Your correspondent (Joe McCabe) acted as toastmaster. The event was the first of its kind, and was notably worth repeating. It has been decided that it will be an annual affair.

In Dan Gibbs' absence, a report was read from him as chairman of the annual golf outing. About 300 attended—half of them golfers, the rest for the dinner—and the outing was a great success—financially as well as socially for more than $200 profit was netted—a rare thing indeed.

John Montague, honorary president and chairman of the annual Chicago alumni directory then reported. As a necessary preliminary to issuing the directory, return-mailer postcards were sent out to the 2200 members of the club. The return on this mailing was phenomenal. More than 60 per cent have filed returns at this writing—more than twice as high as returns on any other such directory compiled by any other college group in this city. This is an expensive proposition, but the club believes it worthwhile.

Fred Becklenberg gave a final report on Universal ND night. This report was delayed because of circumstances beyond Fred's control. All concurred in commending Fred again on his hard work and thorough preparations on this event. A long discussion followed as those present tried to formulate plans which would enable the next year's chairman to avoid some of the difficulties which made Fred's task so trying.

Bob Eder, as chairman of the forthcoming football smoker, then outlined his plans and preparations. Another long and intelligent discussion followed, with 100 per cent participation by those present. A thorough review of last year's smoker, of which Eder was also chairman, and a comparison with like affairs on the west coast—volunteered by A. C. Stephan—and in New Orleans—contributed by Al Stepan—resulted in a complete renovation of plans. At the suggestion of Terry Dillon, Jim O'Keefe and Bill Reilly, the affair will be made into a football dance, with perhaps one or two speakers and a short film to supply the football atmosphere. By the time this is being read, the affair may be over—but the work will go on.

The success of this year's project will be used as a model for the 1952 event, and ideas and omissions noted will be brought forth as a source of improvement for the affair to follow.

This is only a brief synopsis of the many items discussed and contributions offered by those who attended the meeting of September 10. I offer it in the hope that club members will appreciate more thoroughly the amount of work done by their officers and board members, and respond in return by more enthusiastic attendance at club affairs.

More of this in the next issue—meanwhile, see you at the football dance!

I neglected to name all those present—this is the list from memory, with apologies to those omitted—Al Stepan, Luke Tiernan, Ed Delana, Ben Binkowski, Fred Becklenberg, John Coyle, Terry Dillon, Ray Durst, Bob Eder, Jim Martin, John Montague, Jim O'Keefe, Jay Reynolds, Bill Riley, A. C. Stephan, Jack Woods, Emmett Wright, and—

Yours sincerely,

Joe McCabe

Cincinnati

We had one of our most enjoyable and successful meetings in recent years on October 16. The club succeeded in obtaining Mr. Waite Hoyt, former New York Yankee pitching star and currently the local announcer for the Cincinnati Reds baseball games, as our guest speaker. In addition, we had a last-minute surprise visit from Fr. Hesburgh who was in the city for the National C. Y. O. convention. We are all gratified that Fr. Hesburgh took the time to visit the club and to bring us up to date, first hand, on the University.

Plans for our Sixth Annual Scholarship Ball are practically final as of this writing. The dance this year is to be held on Friday, December 28, at the Hotel Netherland Plaza. This year's Chairman is Bill Grafe who is being assisted by John Fead, Bob McCafferty, Bob Leonard, Ed Mersman, Bert Schloemer, Frank Peluso, Dr. Ed Glaser and Jim Burke. We are all hoping for another big success this year. All of the net proceeds of the Scholarship Ball go to our Scholarship Fund and we are beginning to see some very satisfying results. We now have two boys from the Cincinnati area, Don Crowley and Bob Fleming, at the University as a result of our efforts in regard to the Scholarship Fund.

Although the football season wasn't perfect, we want to congratulate Coach Leahy and the team and to let them know we, here in Cincinnati, are, as usual, solidly behind them.

Cleveland

Many thanks to Chairman Bob Stack for his highly successful handling of two tickets to the ND-MSU game plus $100 for the benefit of our scholarship fund. H. J. Kress was awarded this year's tickets to the game. Incidentally, people will line up next year to get their tickets from Frank Naughton. He sold last year's successful ticket as well as this year's. Sarge Raleigh sold the most books of tickets—27. Thanks to you, Sarge, as well as to all our Alumni here. The scholarship fund is $1200 richer.

There were free refreshments and pretzels at Chuck Rohr's during the Navy-ND game for the Alumni after which the drawing was held.

December 9, Sunday, is the day of the annual Communion Breakfast for the alumni and their families to be held at the Cathedral at 9:00 with breakfast at the Allerton at 10:15. Ray T. Miller promises a good speaker and another well-planned affair. Ray wants to stress the fact that this is a family affair so let's all turn out for it.

Plans are progressing for our Christmas Dance with co-chairmen, Sarge Raleigh and John Collins, already signing up the Grand Ballroom at the Statler. If this dance follows the pattern of the previous years, another success is assured.

The Club welcomes Father Baydick to Cleveland. Joe Shea takes over as resident manager of the Statler in New York City, January 1. Thanks, Joe, for the many favors we received from you as resident manager of the Statler here in town.

Columbus

Mr. John N. Cackley, Jr. and Mr. Jim Frick, both from the University, attended the Club's October meeting to discuss the Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Fund. They showed the sound movies depicting campus life which were shown before the televised 1950 Navy-Notre Dame football game.

Following the movies, John Fontana was named chairman of the Notre Dame Foundation in the Columbus area. He succeeds Ed Cantwell who has done a fine job in this position during his tenure of office.

New members were introduced to the Club and were given a hearty welcome. They are Carl Eifert, Joseph L. Pert, and Edward Faust.

President Joe Ryan announced the appointment of John Igoe as alumnus-in-charge of the arrangements for the Notre Dame Universal Communion Sunday to be held this year on December 9.

The alumni of this area were grieved to hear of the death of their fellow alumnus, Francis H. Stroh, of Delaware, Ohio. They have arranged for a Mass to be offered for him.

Dallas

The evening of October 11 the Notre Dame group left on the special cars on the Notre Dame-SMU special train, including the following club members: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haggard, the Joe Haggard, the James W. Simmons and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Fleming, Jr., Jim Crow and Bernard J. McNeel.

Others of the club who came by some other means of transportation were the following couples: the Frank P. Crowleys, Felix Dorans, Jim Haggard, John F. Giles, Jr., Raymond A. McGarrys, James P. Swifts and daughter, James J. Sheas along with John F. Giles, III, Arthur T. Simpson, John H. Brogan, Jr., Arthur Hughes and Pat Shea.

Everyone had a good time on the train, which arrived in Chicago at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. From the train we went to the Notre Dame Club of Dallas suite at the Stevens Hotel where a cocktail party was given for all the members and their friends. The special entrained at 2 o'clock Saturday morning for South Bend, arriving on the siding for that day and immediately after the game those on the train returned to Dallas. Everyone agreed they had a wonderful time and it was good to be back on Notre Dame soil.

The next big function for the Notre Dame Club of Dallas will be the annual Christmas Dance. Charles B. Lohr, '42, is in charge of arrangements and will let us know specific details at a later date.

Twenty-two attended the October 3 luncheon which was followed by the "Football Highlights of 1950."

Dayton

The Notre Dame Alumni Club of Dayton just lost a very good member and representative Notre Dame man in Robert F. Raney, who has served the club for the last two years as secretary. He was in the class of 1948.

Bob died very suddenly of polio. He was stricken with what was believed the flu, and on the following day he was removed to the hospital. Three days later he passed away, Sept. 16, at 10:30 a.m. Sunday. Survivors include his wife, Ruth; a daughter, Carol Ann. Bob was only 27. Any and all prayers will be greatly appreciated.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

December, 1951—Annual Dinner Dance.

January, 1952—Monthly Smoker.

February, 1952—Monthly Smoker. Would like to have prominent Notre Dame speaker, any suggestions?

March, 1952—Communion Breakfast.

April, 1952—Universal Notre Dame Night, Elections, etc.

The Notre Dame Club of this area also procured station and found a sponsor for the local broadcast of Notre Dame Football games during this coming season.

Dearborn

The deadline of this issue is too early to report the successfulness of our second annual Feather Party Nov. 14, at the K. of C. Club House. This is the club's one-project to raise funds for the Scholarship Fund.

Among those at the head table at the Baltimore Club's pre-Navy game Rally, Nov. 2 at the Emerson Hotel, were (left to right): Rev. Robert J. Sheehan, C.S.C.; Hugh Burns; Capt. Arthur F. Spring, USN, (who made the first touchdown in the first game with Navy); "Gil" Prendergast, Club President; Cdr. Joseph Dougherty, USN, Naval Academy; and Franklyn C. Hochreiter. (Edwin H. Perkins Photo)

Club notes . . . Thomas Patrick Dore, '49, of ND golf fame was honored at a party on Oct. 29; two days prior to his call to active duty in the Naval Aviation Cadet program at Pensacola, Florida . . . Gerry Sarb is the father of three boys, the latest being named Thomas Patrick after the above T. P. Dore.

Denver

The regular monthly meeting of the Denver Notre Dame Club was held September 30th at the Leyden-Chiles-Wickersham Post No. 1 of the American Legion. A dinner preceded the meeting held in the dining hall.

The next meeting of the club will be held November 15 at the Leyden-Chiles-Wickersham Post of the American Legion. A dinner will be held for club members before the meeting. A color sound film on Mexico and Guatemala will be shown to club members by a Denver Travel Agency. Jim Hanlon, Chairman of the Football Train Committee announced that a special Football train will be run to the Southern California Notre Dame football game December 1 at Los Angeles. The special train is being sponsored by the club in cooperation with the Santa Fe Railroad. Tom Gargan, Club Secretary, has obtained statements from the printers for club dues. It is planned to have statements of dues mailed to each club member during the first part of November.

Bob Flynn, Club President, will discuss possibility of a Christmas dance for club members and wives at the next meeting.

Fort Wayne

The Fort Wayne Notre Dame Club held its annual election of club officers on September 26 with the following results:

President: Roy E. Grimmer, Jr., '45.
Vice-Pres.: Francis P. McCarthy, '28.
Secretary: Robert E. O'Reilly, '43.
Treasurer: Robert E. Kearney, '48.

Greater Miami

The August meeting of the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Greater Miami was held at Smith Brothers Restaurant. For the edification of those who do not yet know, the Club meets on the last Thursday of each month, for the present, at the above restaurant, 203 North West 36th St., Miami, Florida.

The Club's entire membership wishes to extend their deepest sympathy to the Probst family on the passing of I. I. Probst's dad. It was God's will and mercy that BJ was taken from this world as if he had stepped into a Heaven-borne plane and taken a seat for his trip—for that was the way he left—he had taken a seat in his chair in the living room of his home and had quietly departed. May God rest his soul.

Bill Burghart, formerly of Fort Lauderdale, recently moved to Miami and is affiliated with Station WMIE. This was Bill's first meeting.

W. D. Rowlands pens a message that he intends to return to the City on Sept. 18. That is good news to all the boys for he has been sorely missed.

Faris Cowart will appear in the Greater Miami Civic Theatre production "Two Blind Mice" as Senator Krueger.

Attending alumni at the September meeting welcomed back Walter Rowlands, Chairman of the Foundation Committee and Board of Directors. W. D. has been recuperating from a back injury.

EXTRA! The impossible has happened and the occasion was viewed with mixed emotions. Many struggled to hold back tears and others sobbed unashamedly. A few voiced their amazement without restriction in the choice of words. The bombshell landing in the ranks of the usually unimpressed Micks of Miami is—George Meister came to the meeting. Hallelujah!

The club voted to purchase six volumes of "The Key to Peace" by Clarence E. Manion, Dean of the College of Law of the University, and the club will then donate one volume each to Barry College, the University of Miami and to the Miami Public Library.

A serious (to them) oversight appeared in the last issue of the ALUMNUS wherein it was stated that Kelly's ball club defeated the CHAMPIONS. Actually, it was just the reverse.

Three football Broadcast Parties have been ar-

anged for the coming season. The first will be held at Fred Piowaty's home on October 27 (Purdue), the second at Walter Rowland's home on November 10 (Michigan State) and the third at Faris Cowart's on December 1 (Southern Cal.)

A gala weekend got off to a good start with the October club meeting at Smith's, followed by the Broadcast party of the ND-Purdue game at the lovely home of Fred and Laddie Piowaty.

F. X. Jimmy O'Brien, '26, is a candidate for the City Commission. Ed Kelly sent a message that he has a new daughter, born on October 25. Walter Rowlands spoke briefly on the Notre Dame-SMU game. He, Dan Rowlands, Don Davis, Bob Cole, Henry Frankel and Faris Cowart flew to South Bend to witness the contest.

The Michigan State-ND Broadcast Party will be at the home of George and Amelia Coury instead of the Rowlands, as originally scheduled, due to the poor health of Irene Rowlands to whom we wish a speedy recovery.

Approximately 25 ND men, wives and friends of the University attended the ND-Purdue broadcast party at the Piowaty's home. This affair was one of the most enjoyable occasions of this nature held in some time.

One of the most important affairs of the year will be held on December 9 at St. Patrick's on Miami Beach at 8:00 a.m. This is the Annual Notre Dame Communion Breakfast. I. I. Probst is Chairman of the event. It is sincerely hoped that ALL alumni, their wives and children will attend this year for this is one day in which all Notre Dame men and their families should join in a common spiritual bond to ask for the blessings of God upon themselves, for others, our beloved University, and for Peace on Earth.

The next meeting of the Club is the date for the election of Officers and Directors for the coming years of 1952 and 1953. It is an important meeting for the advancement and growth of the Alumni Club in Miami. Your attendance and participation in the election will be sincerely appreciated at the November meeting on November 29, at 6:00 p.m. at Smith Brothers Restaurant, 203 North West 36th St., Miami, Florida.

Green Bay

Wallace P. Christian, '44, was married on June 30, 1951 to Miss Rosemary Martin, sister of Pat Martin, '48, in Green Bay at the Church of the Annunciation.

The Green Bay club mourns the death of one of its members, Edmund J. Avery, '09, who died after a short illness on October 26, 1951. The Notre Dame men from the area met in a body and recited the rosary for him on Saturday, October 24, and ten members of the club were honorary pallbearers at his funeral on Monday morning.

On Tuesday, October 30, the Club was honored to have as its guests at a dinner meeting held in the South Room of the Beaumont Hotel, James E. Armstrong, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, and Grover Miller, the Foundation's Governor from Wisconsin. Even though relatively short notice of their coming was received, over fifty per cent of the club members from this area attended. Everyone certainly was glad to see Jim and hear first hand what is doing at the University. After his interesting talk he answered many questions raised by members of the club.

The club is planning a television-radio party for Saturday, the first of December at Pat Martin's home for the ND-Southern Cal game.

Plans for attending Mass and receiving communion in a body at one of the local churches on the ninth of December are being made. A breakfast at the Beaumont Hotel will follow the services. In past years almost all of the alumni in the area were present and the officers feel that this year's gathering will not be an exception.

Houston

On Saturday afternoon, October 13, the Houston Notre Dame Club gathered in a private room of a local restaurant for lunch and a football game. The "football game" we speak of was the broadcasting of the Notre Dame-SMU encounter. Being Texans, this game held forth more than the usual interest, but being ND men first, we were sorry about the loss, even if it was to a Texas team.

A few made the trip to watch the game first hand, but about twenty were present for this "second hand" version, and it proved to be an interesting and enjoyable way to have an informal get-together.

We intend to call a regular meeting the first part of December to make future plans. (If a Notre Dame man in the Houston area reads this, and he is not on the roster, then write John Burns at Notre Dame Alumni Office, and he will inform you how to contact the club.) Until then, we will be keeping the spirit going down here in Houston.

Kansas City

The presentation of the Man-of-the-Year Award, a football luncheon, an all-expense trip to the SMU game and regular weekly luncheons have highlighted activities of the Kansas City alumni since the last report.

On September 19, the Club had the ND men on the Chicago BEARS and Washington REDSKINS as luncheon guests at the Hotel President. Before introducing the pro football guests, the Kansas City Club's Notre Dame Man-of-the-Year Award was presented to Joseph R. Stewart, Chairman of the Jackson County Red Cross, by Richard J. Bowes, club Secretary. Ernie Zalesky of the REDSKINS, George Connor, Johnnie Lujack, Bill Wightkin, Bob Williams and Julie Rykovich of the BEARS were introduced and made short addresses on the subject of football in general and one another in particular. About 100 attended the luncheon. Dick Slattery of the Washington News-Times was also a guest at the luncheon. Russ Farrell obliged with pictures of the occasion. Ernie Mehl, Sports Editor of the local paper, acted as toastmaster. Other guests at the lunch included several local sports figures who really went "all-out" in their pre-luncheon publicity efforts.

The project for the benefit of the scholarship fund had for its award an all-expense trip to the SMU game, October 13th. With nearly all alumni in the city participating, and many out-of-town subscribers, the project was one of the most successful in the club's history. The final awarding was held at the Plaza Bowl on October 3, and the winner was Dr. Al Nigro of Kansas City. Ed Reardon, former club president, drew Nigro's name on the third dip into the bowl. The procedure was closely watched by Ed Aylward, Bob Metzler, Gene Vanden Boom, Sam Richards, Tom Reardon, John O'Connor, Norm Bowes and Bob Pendegast. Chuck Frizell and Bernard Finucane arrived in time to make last-minute deposits in the box. Treasurer Dick Prezebel counted the receipts and deposited the money late the next morning. Frugal, far-seeing Prezebel thus avoided the inclusion of our receipts in the "take" of the bandit who robbed the South Side Bank (adv.) early the next morning. It is the considered opinion of the club's staff that the bandit had no legal right to the receipts if he did not attend the drawing.

The club has been holding regular weekly luncheons on Wednesdays at the Famous Restaurant, on 12th and Baltimore, better known as "Truman's Corner." While the attendance could be improved, the more or less regular "customers"—Ben Oakes, Tom and Ed Reardon, Joe Stewart, Dick Prezebel, Frank Toyne, Dick Bowes, Forrest Cotten and Otto Schmid—are keeping the institution alive and breathing. Once in a while they are joined by John McGrath of Sedalia, who doesn't come up often enough. More alumni in the city on business should follow John's example and "check in at the Famous."

We have just heard a re-broadcast of the Michigan State game, and the alumni of this area have suggested that I recommend we withdraw our ambassador from the State of Michigan.

Kentucky

As a follow-up to the July-August issue, the winners of the essay contest between the two schools are John F. Donnelly, Jr., from St. Xavier High School and Lee Schaffner of Flaget High School. Identical medals were awarded.

The summer outing held at Rock Lake Park, Indiana, on July 28, 1951, was a joint affair with St. Xavier High School and the ND Club of Kentucky. The event was a great success, particularly because the Club won the annual baseball game by a score of 11 to 6. Col. Frank Fehr was among the old grads present.

Forrest Brown of St. Xavier won the Ford Foundation Scholarship to Notre Dame.

The annual orphans football trip this year was the Notre Dame-Indiana game. Approximately 90 orphans with about 250 people from Kentucky made the trip which was enjoyed by all attending.

The bowling league started Sept. 17 at the Broadbrook Alleys. Captains for this year's team are Larry Aubrey, Jim Carrico, Tom Bulleit and Bob Jones.

Communion breakfast was held Sunday, Sept. 23, 1951, at St. Mary Magdalene Church.

Roger Huter is the proud papa of a baby boy born October 12, 1951 . . . his first prospect for Notre Dame.

OLD MAGAZINES?

Brother Felix, C.S.C., class of '33, makes this little appeal: "Sister Madelene of the Congregation of Our Lady of the Missions stationed in St. Mary's Convent, Shillong, Assam, India, requests old copies of Catholic magazines and newspapers. She would like to start a Catholic Reading Room and hundreds of her Kashi Indians can read English well."

Los Angeles

On the night of August 2, the "Old Timers" of Notre Dame, 100 strong, held a get-together at the Nickodell Restaurant in Hollywood.

The reason for the occasion, as if there had to be one, was ostensibly to say "hello" and renew acquaintances with such people as Maurice "Clipper" Smith, Tom Lieb, Jimmie Phelan, and Jess Hill, the newly appointed coach at USC. Incidentally, Jess made a terrific hit with all those present. Strictly Top Drawer in class, both as a man and as a speaker, and we all know that same "class" will be reflected in his team next fall.

We are most sincere in our good wishes for Jimmy Phelan in his new assignment as head man of the N. Y. Yankees.

Tom Lieb, it is understood, will make his home here in the City of the Angels. Welcome home, Tom, we will be seeing you soon and often.

"Clipper" Smith claims he has to sign his name Maurice "Clipper" Smith, N.E.C. The N.E.C. meaning "Non-essential Citizen"—at least until he has a better season at Lafayette. We salute the "Clipper" as one of the truly Notre Dame "Greats" who has never let the University or Alumni down. Lafayette notwithstanding, he is still "tops" with ND men.

Lots of Rockne's boys were present and some of his most famous ones. Among those present were John Wallace, a friend of the immortal George Gipp, and who played regular end on the Four Horsemen squad. John's praise for the line coaching ability of Tom Lieb left little doubt that Tom was, and still is, one of the best in the business—as is attested by his success at Loyola—Los Angeles, Florida, and most recently at Alabama, where he carried the ball for Frank Thomas, another Rockne man. Frank is not enjoying the best of health, for which we are truly sorry, and I know all of us will pray for his speedy recovery.

Among other Old Timers who contributed to the success of the evening, not only by their own personal experience with "Rock"—was "Big Tim" Moymaham, center on the '29 squad who is big as ever and with the generous touch of gray is most distinguished in his appearance. Oh yes, Tim has become quite an after dinner speaker. You should hear him.

Other Monogram men who gave us a verbal picture of some of their own experiences were: Mamie Vezie who said he liked to attend these affairs to see old friends and also to get in a plug or two for Freddie Miller's High Life Beer. In our organization he should even mention it? Ed "Spike" England, of track fame, along with Gene Kennedy of the famous old "Victory Five," took their turns on the floor and added many laughs and incidentally brightened many memories for a lot of us.

Rex Ellis and Bob Keiley, of basketball fame, along with Alex Shellops, tackle on the '40 squad, took bows with very appropriate and timely remarks. Stan Gray, Joe Palmer, "Judge" Carberry and Vern "Tex" Rickard also made their presence known.

Harry Acquarelli of Loyola, Los Angeles, dubbed for Jordon Oliver who was scrimmaging with Virus XYZ and could not be present. Harry really handed us some "knee slappers." If the Loyola Varsity is as versatile on the field as Acquarelli is behind a dinner table, this will be a terrific year for the Lions of Loyola.

Leo Ward was his usual modest self and claimed he just happened to drop in and said, that even though he wasn't an "Old Timer" he enjoyed associating with them. Now Leo! The inimitable Joe Scott, in spite of his approaching 87th birthday, was never in better voice or higher spirits. What a man! "Dog" White of legendary fame and one of our old "lifters" proved definitely that "The Spirit" even went to St. Edward's minims.

Charlie Erb, of California "Wonder Team" fame, joined in wholeheartedly with the occasion and left a tid-bit for all of us to mull over, namely: "If it doesn't hurt to lose, then you don't deserve to win." Yea! and Yea! again.

Last but not least of those present were the members of the press—Sid Ziff of the Mirror and Chuck Johnson of the L. A. Tidings. The press is always welcome, as is their public praise and criticisms, as we gain from both.

The hardest working of all those present was the Club President, Ben Alexander. During his football days as center on the '30 squad he was known as a "team" player and this same

A part of the large group of Alumni and friends who greeted Foundation Representatives John N. Cackley and James Frick, on a recent trip to Columbus to discuss the Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Fund with that active Alumni-Foundation area.

The Fox River Valley Notre Dame Club held their Family Picnic in August under the chairmanship of Jim Siddall and Fred Heinritz. From the looks of this report, the Fox Valley Club will continue for a long time. It looks, however, like there's a Wisconsin rooter sitting second in the first row. (Avenue Photographers Photo) spirit is manifest by his activities with the local ND Club. Ben did a marvelous job at MC-ing the entire affair and was 100 per cent responsible for one of the most successful and enjoyable evenings the writer has had the privilege of attending. And that has been all of them.

Also present as always were Tom Ashe, Charlie Gass, Gene Calhoun, Roland Gaupel, Baden Powell and many others; incidentally Baden Powell is doing a swell job for Father Peyton's Family Theatre. Y.s., it was quite an evening.

Our next big event will be a Rockne-Jones Memorial dinner scheduled for November 14. This is the 25th anniversary of the first meeting between ND and SC; and in paying our respects to those two football greats, Rockne and Jones, we are also honoring the first Trojan team to meet the Irish.

Jeff Cravath, SC's ex-coach who captained the SC 1926 team will again lead his teammates in a friendly meeting with their Notre Dame friends. Jeff, as well, will tell us a few intimate stories about Howard Jones. Tom Lieb, who probably knew Rock better than any other ND man out here, will take us behind the scenes and talk about Rockne, the Man and Coach. Then, too, we will show films of the 1931 ND-SC game; and through the efforts of Lou Berardi we will show some sound films of Rock talking to his boys.

Mark Kelley, a local sports figure and motion picture executive, who was instrumental in bringing ND and SC together back in 1926, will tell us the "how and why" of that first game. George Murphy of screen and radio fame will emcee the affair for the expected 400 guests.

The Trojans' "Man of Destiny," Jess Hill, and his present coaching staff will be on hand to pay tribute to Rockne and Jones and the splendid relationship between our two schools. Jess is a wonderful man, friend and leader, and we all hope his team is undefeated until Dec. 1.

Two other sports figures who knew Rock as a player and later as a coach will be there as unofficial representatives of their alma mater—Army. Brig. Gen. Ludson D. Worsham, USA (Ret.), was Director of Athletics at "The Point" when Rockne and Dorais taught the Cadets a thing or two about the forward pass, and Capt. James C. Waddell, USA (Ret.), who played center for Army against ND in Rock's days, and who is local prexy of Army's Alumni Association, will be glad handed by both ND and SC men in attendance.

Working on the Rockne-Jones dinner with Baden Powell, chairman, are John Wallace and Art Parisien, the only two local club members who played against SC in that first game, and Tim Moynihan, Spike England, Judge Carberry, Bill Fulton, Ed Mehren, Jack Mahoney, John Alexander, Jerry Conway, Gene Calhoun, Ed McArdle, Leo Ward, Jim Bacon, Ed Tobin, Ben Sheerin, Charlie Murphy, Joe Mansfield, and Bill Hearn.

Father Pat Peyton, C.S.C., '37, producer of Family Theatre's radio show heard on the Mutual network each Wednesday night, has had a script written especially for broadcast that night, Nov. 14, about Rockne, The Man. Pat O'Brien, of course, will again play the part of Rock. The program is directed by Joe Mansfield, '36. Dick Stenger, '43, and Cally Curtis wrote the script.

The next big attraction is the Rally to be held at the Biltmore Hotel the night before the SC game. It is expected that this affair will even surpass the one held in 1948 which was a terrific success.

Judge Carberry is engineering the Rally with the help of Vern Rickard, Mike Corcoran, Gene Calhoun, and another dozen or so to be named. The Dec. 1 game will probably be the first chance ND has had to hit an unbeaten SC team in many a year, so we expect an overflow crowd. All visiting Alumni, their wives, and friends are specifically invited to join us the night of Nov. 30 at the Biltmore. Gene Calhoun is in charge of tickets and can be reached through Local Loan Co., 7th and Spring, Los Angeles.

Our annual Communion Breakfast will be held Dec. 9 at St. Ambrose Church. Fairfax at Foun-

(Editor's Note: Out there where things are colossal and city limits counties apart, the ALUMNUS hopes you will forgive the two or three stupendous errors that concentrated on Los Angeles in the last issue. First was listing Club news under Louisiana (L.A. to L.A. on our copy, if you want a warning from the experience). The second major mistake was the caption which called "Clipper" Smith, "Buck" Shaw. (Honest, Marge, I know better but I missed the caption in the proof entirely.) And of course, some Club events have been timed so that the ALUMNUS, like this issue and the Old Timers Party, comes out too late to boost, too early to report. May the advent of Father Cavanaugh on Universal Notre Dame Night bring peace to a troubled land. And to us. J.E.A.)

tain, in Hollywood, at 9:15 Mass. Bob Kelley, chairman, has invited Bishop Timothy Manning of the Archdiocese and John J. Burke, President of the Board of Education in L.A. as the principal speakers. More than 200 are expected.

The early deadline of this issue comes before our three big events of November and December so credit, unfortunately, cannot be given to all who deserve it.

Ben Alexander, in behalf of the Monogram Club, presented a scroll to the father of Orv Mohler, the great Trojan All-American who was killed in a plane accident two years ago returning to his Army post after attending the ND-SC game. The banquet, honoring the memory of Mohler, was sponsored by the Pasadena Sportsmen's club and was held late in October. Ben was the principal speaker.

For the benefit of the Los Angeles club members who failed to find anything about our activities in the Sept.-Oct. issue, you can find the article listed under "Louisiana." The ALUMNUS decided to move our city limits to take in the whole state of Louisiana.

Mid-Hudson Valley

Our first fall meeting was held in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Tom Walker, of Newburgh, deserves high praise for contacting the Newburgh men and seeing to it that they came to our meeting, which was a business session.

Our second meeting was held at the Pine Tree Inn and was a combination dinner and business meeting. At this gala affair, we again had a splendid turnout by the club members and it was easy to see this year will be a great year for the club in the Valley. Ed Blake of Newburgh was in charge of arrangements for this meeting and a "well done" was extended to him . . . and to Tom Walker and Joe McCabe who saw that we had a good turnout.

Club items . . . The club lost their former President, Francis J. Sanfilippo who put our club on its feet. He has moved to the Glen Falls area where he will be working for Morton Salt Company. If there are any ND men in that area we are certain he will organize them into a club.

A former Kingstonian, Howie Murdock, is back at work as a "spotter" for Joe Boland on the Saturday afternoon broadcasts of the games.

Speaking of football, one of our club members, a student at ND in 1887, saw the FIRST football game ND ever played. He also saw Rockne and Dorais swamp the Army with the forward pass way back when. His name is William Blake, of Newburgh, and he has quite a few yarns to spin about the school when it was on its way up as a football power.

Dick McCabe, of Poughkeepsie, made that fatal leap not too long ago which leaves only a handful of bachelors in the club. As it looks now, our next big project will be the "auxiliary" for the club.

The club has cut out a few projects for the coming year and work is being started on them.

Oregon

After several months of inactivity, during which Notre Dame Club of Oregon President Oscar Quoidbach has been catching his breath after being re-elected to his office unexpectedly, the Oregon group has again swung into action.

Directors of the Oregon club met November 9 with Bill Schmitt, Portland's current contribution to the board of governors of the Notre Dame Foundation, to map their program for the year. One aim, Schmitt stressed, is to secure 100 per cent participation in the 1952 Foundation drive, regardless of the amount contributed by the individual.

First club session of the year will be held December 1, at Bill Schmitt's offices in the Schmitt Steel Company, Portland, with the ND-USC game broadcast as principal feature. Although Bill will be host to the gathering, he won't be on hand at all—he's planning a dual-purpose trip to Los Angeles to see the game and his aged mother, now 88.

Father Michael J. Early, C.S.C., principal of Columbia Preparatory School, has invited the club to hold its Notre Dame Communion Sunday gathering at the prep school on December 9.

Father Early will read the 8:30 Mass for the alumni, who are also bringing their wives and families, and will be host later at the Communion breakfast. This will mark the first visit of many of the ND alumni to the new site of Columbia Prep, now located high in the West Hills area of Portland, after being for many years on the same campus with University of Portland, the Holy Cross Congregation's Oregon College. Columbia Prep is currently observing the 50th year of its operation.

Also planned for Oregon Clubbers, Quoidbach announces, are two "smoker" sessions in January and April; a special "Irish Night" at St. Mary's Home for Boys, near Portland, with movies and a "feed" for the kids being sponsored in February; the Notre Dame Night banquet and election meeting; and an after-Easter social event for alumni, wives and parents of ND students from this area.

Bob Molin, who was one of the principal planners for the recent Northwest Jewelers' convention held in Portland, has been teamed with Ken Kirby to handle the ND Communion Sunday planning.

Married at St. Thomas More church on Saturday, November 17, were Warren J. Hans, '43, and Florine Elizabeth Latta. Warren is with the Fred Meyer organization, big Portland food store chain.

Still talking out this way is Ed O'Meara, this year's Oregon Club secretary. He was toastmaster for the November 15 "Father and Son" banquet of Columbia Prep School—an event which had been designed as grand finale of the football season for Father Early's high school students. But Father Mike's Preps upset a larger rival and became the only Oregon Catholic school team to go into second round play for the state championship, so they went back to gridiron action the night after the big feed.

Here's a new activity for NDers: Hugh Lacey, Jr., is serving as model for men's autumn wear at a "fashion meeting" of Portland's Multnomah Athletic Club!

On the scholastic front: Arnold Peterschmidt, '27, has been named controller at University of Portland, and stepping up to fill Pete's old spot at U. of P. is Ed Sandstrom, '39, now acting dean of the school of Business Administration there.

Traces of ND men being "lay leaders in Catholic Action" show out here once in a while. Pete Sandrock, '39, former Oregon club president, has been named secretary of the St. Rose parish Holy Name Society in Portland. Ed O'Meara, '40, is president of the Ascension parish Holy Name unit in Portland and recently served as archdiocesan chairman of the Holy Name Society's October Rosary Rally.

New Jersey

Our annual Freshman Welcome Party was held September 6, and due to the efforts of Chairman

Gene Dean, it was a tremendous success. Approximately 200 attended including 48 Freshmen and their fathers.

Assistant Dean Smith did a wonderful job of describing to the students and their parents the life at the University.

Our program plans for the year 1951-52 are progressing rapidly with the following programs definitely set:

Football Rally—Oct. 15—Military Park Hotel. Jim McGuirk, chairman.

Universal Communion Breakfast. Chairman, Ray Geiger; Vice-Chairman, Jack Regan.

Universal Notre Dame Night. Chairman, Don Dugan; Vice-Chairman, Tom Greene.

It is also our intention to have regular general meetings each month we do not have a scheduled event.

New York

From the many notices and very informative bulletins received from the club by the ALUMNUS, this is the run-down on the latest activities.

The Scholarship Fund Drive to raise the $1400 tuition cost, and to award scholarships to two worthy youths next year closed on October 31 with a big get-together in the Hotel Biltmore.

The University and the Club is grateful to all who have remembered to make their annual donation. To those of you who have not remembered, please note that the current list of donors from the Club is 50 per cent below 1950's number of donors. Contact Jim McGoldrick for details.

Several of your fellow members have been unselfishly devoting much time to the Club's Job Placement Program, which includes the Career Clinic, sponsored as a free public service, where instruction is available in the scientific approach to job-finding, to business advancement, and to general self-improvement. Sessions are every Thursday at 7:00 p.m., Cathedral High School, Lexington Avenue at 50th Street. Bill Hughes, '34, who attended the early sessions of the Clinic, and later became a prime mover in the program, benefited so well from the course that he has resigned an executive position with Savings Bank Life Insurance Co. to go to a better job with a Mid-Western competitor. Good Luck, Bill, and many thanks.

Word from Herb Giorgio, Retreat Chairman, tells us that the Annual Retreat will be held at the Monastery in Jamaica, Long Island, on the week-end of March 28-30, 1952. Arrive 6:00 p.m. Friday and stay until 6:00 p.m. Sunday. The reservations are limited!! So put it on your calendar well in advance to get in touch with Herb. Easter Sunday in '52 is on April 13—the retreat is two weeks before, thus you can take care of your Easter duty at the same time. Ask the fellow who has been on retreat with us—they're the biggest boosters and will give you the straight story on the value and pleasantries of such a date.

Jack Hoyt not only took care of a thousand and one details connected with the Golf Date on August 28, and made it a terrific day but he also provided the best weather possible, and 40 would-be Ben Hogans rearranged the topography of beautiful Leewood Golf Club on that day. Again and again, our thanks to Jack for being the best host a golfer could ask for. Charlie Metzger either didn't bring all his clubs or he's just good anyway, he waltzed off with the low gross prize and was last seen heading towards his car counting bills.

Greg Rice has been appointed Chairman for this year's Communion Breakfast on December 9; and a phone call a few minutes ago obtained the information that the guest speakers were saying "yes" to invitations, and we'd have the best Breakfast of all. Mark that date down also—December 9—Notre Dame Communion Breakfast.

Peoria

The Peoria Notre Dame Club held its October meeting under the chairmanship of Fred Vico and Bob Murphy at the University Club. Forty-two members and guests were present to hear Forddy Anderson, basketball coach at Bradley University, gave a very interesting talk on college sports in general and Bradley's outlook for the coming year.

Tom Zosky and Forddy were honored by the local group in recognition for what they have done for the University and our club, by making them honorary members of the Peoria Notre Dame Club.

The program for the coming year was presented with Al Gury, Ray Wichmann, Tom Geselbracht and Ed Snell taking charge of Communion Sunday. The Christmas Dance, December 22, will be at the Jefferson Hotel, and handled by Alex Sloan, Dick Walsh, Dan Hecht and Bill Holbrook. Our next dinner meeting will be on February 12, at which the wives will be our guests. Pete Vonachen, Ray Watson, Bill Wombacher and Bernard Ghiglieri will be in charge. The committee for Universal Notre Dame Night will be Roy Gustafson, John Carmody, Elmer Gury and Eugene White.

Bill Motsett, city chairman of the Foundation, spoke briefly on the current aims of the Foundation.

We are trying to reach all alumni in this area. Anyone who is not receiving notices of the meetings please contact Louis F. Crystal, 1010 Norwood Ave., Peoria.

Pioneer Valley

Editor's Note: Our apologies to the club for this belated report appearing below. It was held back in hopes that we could procure a picture of Club President John F. Shea as he was presented a plaque in recognition of the popular march he and his brother, Michael, composed in undergraduate days at Notre Dame—the Victory March. However, no picture was available from the suggested sources.

At the spring concert presented by the Notre Dame Band under the club's sponsorship, Lee Hope gave us a most enjoyable evening of music at the John M. Greene Hall, Smith College, Northampton.

The committee in charge of the concert was composed of the following: John F. Shea, Ulrich Ruel, James Regan, Henry Padden and John F. Sullivan, Jr., all of Holyoke; William Hurley of Springfield, and Hubert Crane of Northampton.

Of further interest to alumni is that Rev. James J. Moran, '27, is chaplain at Westover Field, Massachusetts, only a few miles from Holyoke. He is a frequent visitor at the Sullivan household. Father Moran is the recipient of the Silver Star, awarded for heroism at Luzon. He is desirous of hearing from Mike O'Keefe of Niles, Ohio, a former mate of his on the ND boxing team.

Pittsburgh

On Friday, October 19, a regional dinner meeting of the Notre Dame Foundation was held at the Royal York. Arrangements and promotion of this were initiated by Joe Farrell, Pennsylvania Governor, and John N. Cackley of the Foundation Staff. The latest reports on contributions to the Foundation were given, and all details about the Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Fund were explained. The great stride forward which the University has accomplished was clearly outlined by Father Theodore M. Hesburgh, who officially represented the University, and John B. Kanaley, City Chairman of New York, who represented Frank Walker, National Foundation Chairman. John Cackley made a summary of all funds so far received, and Joe Farrell very convincingly presented Pennsylvania's part in past activity and plans yet to come. Represented at the dinner were western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and eastern Ohio by the following: Ed Dean, Gene Cavanaugh, Joe Wehrle, Mike O'Connor, Jack Kennedy, George Martinet, Bill Rockenstein, Jack Monteverde, Leo Vogel, Bob Fulton, Judge John J. Kennedy, and Dr. Leo O'Donnell, Pittsburgh City Chairman. Following the dinner, the group attended the big pre-game rally also held at the Royal York.

Accompanied by J. E. Armstrong, NDF Gov. Donahue spoke to Vincennes friends at a meeting arranged by James D. McQuaid, NDF Chairman. Seated l. to r. Rene Dognaux, Gov. Donahue, Ralph Heger of Evansville (m. c.) Armstrong, and Leo Schulteis; 2nd row, Lyle Miller, Jim McQuaid, Rene Dognaux Jr., and Joe Riley.

The Pitt pre-Game Smoker held at the Royal York was well attended. There were about 150 people at one time or another but only about 70 stayed for the meal which was served after midnight. Ed Krause was with us most of the evening and renewed his acquaintance with Pitt Track Coach Carl Olson. It would be impossible to mention all the people who attended but we did notice Judges Kennedy and Boyle, Dr. Paul Anderson from Duquesne, such stalwarts as Jim Devlin, John Gutowski, John Crimmins, Vince Burke, Gene Coyne, Larry and Dick O'Toole, Bill Magarrall, Jack Monteverde, Joe Pappa, Ed Rafferty and Earl Brieger whose friends from Texas are still calling him to tell him the SMU score. We were pleased that the younger fellows turned out so well and hope that they will continue to do so for they should be running the club.

At the luncheon last Thursday Pete Flaherty passed out cigars. His "baby" was a cherished letter from the State Board of Law Examiners telling him that he had passed. Sid Baker and Cy Vidra were recipients of that same good news. They tell us that it was a three for three year—or 1000 per cent batting average for the Law School graduates; where can you go from there? Congratulations, men, and if you need any help you have two Judges and eleven other attorneys with Notre Dame affiliations.

Rochester

The ladies have organized an auxiliary group headed by Mrs. Joseph P. Flynn and will meet six times a year. Information of these meetings may be had by calling Dorothy Connelly at GL 7598m or Mrs. Richard Sullivan at GE 5829m.

Items . . . Dick Corcoran, '47, and Betty Campbell are engaged. Marty Bayer is the father of Judy, and Art Curran, '50, has a new son.

Vic DeSimon has been admitted to the Bar; Capt. Emmett O'Neal, '47, has been recalled to the Marine Corps; Marty Lally, '49, is being recalled to the Air Force; Joe Thelen, '39, has taken a new position with the Wage and Hour Div. of the Dept. of Labor; Bob Skipworth, newest grad of Law, is now associated with American Surety Co.

The club's June 8 summer dance at Locust Hill was a tremendous success socially and financially. Chairman Jack Hedges is to be commended along with the auxiliary and student groups for stirring up much interest, the result of which was obvious. It is thought that future club officers will continue to make this an annual affair.

More items on club members . . . Mr. and Mrs. Bob Beikirk are the parents of a boy, as are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Curtin. Mr. and Mrs. N. Lee Hastings also have a son as do Mr. and Mrs. John Dorschel. Vic Yawman, Jr., is soldiering in Paris. The club welcomed 1951 grads Eugene Myler, Jack Landry, Robert Wallace, James Blum, Jack Curran and Francis Knopf.

Another successful and enjoyable family picnic was held Aug. 12 at the Island Cottage Hotel. Highlight of the day was the student-alumni softball game in which the "Oldsters" subdued the "Youngsters," who displayed less energy and more weight than the Morrison-led grads. As usual, Arnie Morrison's antics and Pete Connelly's witticisms contributed greatly to the general good time.

Co-chairmen Paul Pukish and Vic DeSimon deserve a "Thank You" for their efforts as well as student chairmen Vic Tallarida and Gus Falcone.

Two more boys were born (one each) to club members Hugh Good, '48, and Francis X. Connelly, '34. Our heartiest wishes for happiness and success to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reidman, married Sept. 8 in St. Monica's Church. She is the former Mary Kay Klee. Donald J. Corbett, '28, is a candidate for Surrogate's Court Judge in Monroe County, N. Y. Gerald J. Flynn, '40, is a candidate for City Councilman in the City of Rochester, N. Y. Edward H. Lomber, Jr., '49, was recently appointed City Clerk of the City of Canandaigua, New York.

Saginaw Valley

The summer outing this year was held in Saginaw at Riverside Park with twenty-five members in attendance. Credit for a fine time should be given to Roger Hendrick, '41, chairman this year. Chairmanship for the summer outing seems to stay in the Hendricks family, what with brother Bill, '44, chairman the preceding two years. Rodge and Bill are in the contracting business, associated with their father.

The Valley is building up a friendly but closely contested coaching rivalry. Joe Flood, '48, coach at Sts. Peter and Paul, Saginaw, John Nusskern, '49, St. James, Bay City, and Francis Curran, '46, Alpena Catholic Central. All have good records, with an unbeaten season for Catholic Central.

The club was grieved this summer by the death of one of its best known and liked members, Joseph Mulhall of Owosso. He was very active in church and community affairs. His untimely death was felt by all of his many friends.

The Quarterback Club of Saginaw, which meets Monday noon during the fall at the Hotel Bancroft, was sponsored on October 14 by the Notre Dame Club. Father Murphy, Vice-President of the University, was guest speaker with up-to-date information of campus activities and films of the Detroit game.

Present officers of the club are:
President: Paul A. Brysselbout, '29, Bay City.
Vice-President: Harold Lappin, '32, Saginaw.
Secretary-Treas.: Vincent Boyle, '49, Bay City.
Board of Directors are:
Carl Doozan, '39, Saginaw; Albert Baumgarten, '48, Saginaw; Charles Kretschmer, '31, Saginaw; Robert Herrington, '43, Bay City; Neil Barnett, '36, Saginaw.

Future plans call for the Communion Breakfast on December 9 at St. Andrew's of Saginaw and the annual football banquet honoring the Valley Parochial League champions and members in January.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. James Kavanaugh, '38, a girl, Margaret Jean, their third.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirchman, '38, a son, Peter John, their third.
Mr. and Mrs. Gene Matthews, '51, a girl, Jean Marie, their first.

MARRIAGES

Thomas Carroll, '41, to Virginia Burns of Saginaw at St. Mary's Cathedral, Saginaw, on June 2.

Gerald Carroll, '39, to Phyllis Wenglikowski of Bay City at St. Valentine Church, Beaver, Michigan, on June 2.

Vincent Boyle, '49, to Maureen Kirchman of Bay City, sister of Frank Kirchman, '38, and Edward Kirchman, '42, at St. Mary's Church, Bay City, on October 6.

St. Joseph Valley

The Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley has set up a tentative date of December 12 for the Testimonial Banquet for the 1951 football team.

As yet, we do not have any definite commitments on the toastmaster and principal speaker but our club president, Bob Holmes, has several outstanding personages lined up.

Listed below are the various committees for this banquet.

General Chairman: Paul Fergus, '35.
Tickets and Finance: Joe Hannan (chairman), '39; Bernard Voll, '17; Albert McGann, '25; William Voll, '48; Gerald Hickey, '41; Ray Ruetz, '44; Francis Messick, '30; Robert Grant, '30.

Publicity: Paul Neville (chairman), '42; Joe Doyle, '49.

Pre-Banquet: Benny Sheridan (chairman), '39.
Program: (co-chairmen) Karl King, '37, and Jerry Claeys, '37; Ed Krause, '34; Charles Callahan, '38; Louis Chapleau, '30; John Jordan, '34; Joe Boland, '27.

Food and Arrangements: (co-chairmen) Dan Youngerman, '36, and Kurt Simon, '35; Frank Sullivan, '49; Karl Fulnecky, '36; William Ryan, '35; Nelson Vogel, '39; Charles Petretic, '32; George King, '26; Guy McMichael, '37; Edmund Chartier, '49; Harry Poulin, Jr., '37; Stanley Bailey, '49.

San Diego

The Notre Dame Club of San Diego has been so active during the last few months that I overlooked the all-important news of our Notre Dame Man of the Year for 1950. Our personable, hard-working President, Win Day, was the unanimous choice by the Board of Directors to receive this highest honor of the year.

Win is a charter member of the club and has been indispensable to the organization from the very beginning. He is the manager of the Local Loan Office in San Diego, and is quite active in civic affairs. His most recent contribution to the city has been in prompting an annual $10,000 Open at the San Diego Country Club, where he is on the Board of Directors. Win was Captain of the Notre Dame Golf Team in '36, and so naturally has been burning up the local golf courses since his arrival in San Diego. All in all, Win Day is a real Notre Dame man, and we were all happy to hear that he was chosen for the award.

A very successful club picnic was held on the last Sunday of June at Balboa Park. The horse-shoe champs were Ugo Rossi and Win Day, who took on all comers. We all had such a great time that another picnic has been planned for our next get-together on October 21. Al Stewart was the able chairman of our first picnic and Jack McClaren will head the committee for the next one. Al had planned an affair that will be hard to beat, so Jack will have something to shoot for.

On August 29, we were the guests of Comdr. George O'Malley at the Camp Kidd Officers' Club for an enjoyable evening of dinner and bingo. The first winner was none other than George himself. Mrs. Jack McClaren won a second prize. Howard Beilstein was the third club winner of the evening, getting a special prize for having the most keys in his pocket. His wife helped a little.

An important business meeting was held on September 27 at "Red" Davis', where plans were made for the disbursement of tickets for the big game at USC this year. Club events for the next six months were also arranged.

Schenectady

The Schenectady Club held its annual Family Picnic Sunday, August 26, at Turners Park. A large group of alumni and their families, as well as many students and their parents, attended and an enjoyable day was had by all.

On September 12, a large delegation of club members attended the Solemn Funeral Mass of Lt. William P. Finch, '49, U.S.M.C., who was killed in Korea on March 2. Two alumni served as pall bearers: Robert Eckel and Frank Linehan. Father Bernard F. McCaffery, C.S.C., was present in the sanctuary.

The second annual Fathers' Night Smoker was held on Monday, Oct. 22, and it was a huge success. Many alumni and fathers were in attendance and heard short talks by Father Edward L. O'Malley, Father Bernard F. McCaffery, C.S.C., and President Bill Leonard and viewed the '50 Highlights. In conjunction with the smoker, we held the awarding of two Navy-Notre Dame tickets and expense money. This promotion proved to be a financial success for the club.

In recent months some of our members have left this area: James Gibbons, George Corwine now in Lynn, Mass.; Bill Dwyer, with the FBI, in Baltimore, and Dr. Dan Rourke, serving as a Lt. (jg) in the Navy. We have two additions to the club in Larry Goebler and Paul Dee, both on training programs at General Electric Co.

Tom Howley, Warren Schultz, Tom McAlister and Frank Linehan were some of the alumni that cheered the Irish to victory over Navy at Baltimore.

A testimonial dinner was given Father Patrick J. Peyton, C.S.C., of Family Rosary, by a group of Catholic laymen in the city on Oct. 30, with over 300 men present. A number of alumni served on the committee: Frank M. Linehan, '45, was general chairman, Robert E. Eckel, '49, was secretary of the committee, with Dr. John Phillips, William Leonard, Dr. Charles E. Welsh, Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer, John J. Meehan, John J. Huether, John F. Hurley, William B. Mackay, Lawrence L. Weiss, Raymond Fitzgerald, Thomas A. Howley, and Paul Dee rounding out the ND men on the committee. It was quite a reunion for the Holy Cross Fathers in the area; present were: Father Peyton, Father Quinn, Father John J. Murphy, Father Bernard F. McCaffery, Father Albert Heinzer.

We in Schenectady are preparing for two big functions: annual Communion Breakfast and the Holiday Dance. The committees for both affairs are working very hard and it looks as if both functions will be as successful as they have been in previous years.

South Jersey

A football huddle was held at Kenney's Restaurant in Camden to watch the SMU game. Football tickets were awarded as follows:

1. All-expense paid trip for two to Navy game in Baltimore.
2. Two tickets for Penn game in Phila. (1952).
3. Seller of ticket selected, two tickets for Navy game.

We're happy to welcome Matt Campanella of Hammonton into the club. Matt is an electrical engineer (1949) and at present is in the RCA engineering dept. in Camden.

Plans are going ahead for our Communion Breakfast and Christmas Dance in December.

May we repeat again—any ND men in the South Jersey area who are interested in joining the club may attend any of the regular meetings held at Kenney's, in Camden, on the third Thursday evening of each month, or contact John C. Murphy, 4617 West End Ave., Merchantville. Phone ME-8-2019.

Toledo

The Notre Dame Club of Toledo has two big events coming up on its calendar of activities. The first is Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday, December 9, when 100 alumni and their wives are expected to attend Mass and receive Communion in a body at Holy Rosary Cathedral, and then have breakfast at the Hillcrest Hotel. Dr. George M. Bates is chairman.

The second big event in the making is the annual Holiday Dance. This year's affair will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Commodore Perry Hotel, Friday, December 28. Jimmy Rohr's orchestra will play. Dick Donoghue will serve as general chairman. He will be assisted by Art Suder, Bud Malone, George Korhumel, John Schmitz, Frank Venner, Joseph L. Tillman and Charles Schira. Invitations have been sent to over 400 Notre Dame alumni and friends in and around Toledo.

The Notre Dame Club's first printed directory was sent to members early last month. It listed 98 dues-paying alumni, 25 dads who are associate members, a short history of the school, a letter from Father Cavanaugh, and pictures of the officers and board members.

Two very successful social events were held during the past eight weeks. Four bus loads of alumni and friends made the trip to Briggs Stadium in Detroit, Friday, October 5, to witness the University of Detroit-Notre Dame game. Bob Timmerman was chairman of this event, with assistance from Jim Malone. Due to careful planning and wide publicity, the trip was a money maker for the Club.

Several weeks ago, Mrs. John R. (Ellen) Malone and a group of ND wives put on a square dance for club members at The Barn. More than 50 couples attended, making the party a social, as well as a financial, success.

During the months from September to December, inclusive, the Club has been meeting every other Tuesday at the Elks' Club for lunch. Interesting programs have been arranged each session, under the general chairmanship of Bob Schramm. Some of the individual meetings have been headed up by Bill Syring and John Hurley.

Some forty members of the Club attended a Party in the Synod Hall, November 16. Bill Maccani, program chairman, showed motion pictures to the group.

Tri-City

The Notre Dame Club of the Tri-Cities got the fall social season off to a good start with their annual Stag Fish Fry on the 14th of September. Approximately 200 members and their friends enjoyed a wonderful Mississippi catfish dinner at the Swedish Olive Singers Club in Moline, Ill. The entertainment during the evening included a football movie, card games, etc. The hard working committee, headed by George Vander Venet, deserves credit for a job well done.

The entertaining "Moon" Mullins—Athletic Director at Kansas State—stopped in at the K. C. Grid Club in Davenport during October. "Moon" stated he missed coaching and the personal contacts he used to have with the boys.

Our club was honored by the presence of Jim Armstrong and one of his very capable aides, Tom Carroll, at our October business meeting. Jim gave us a splendid idea of the workings of the Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Fund, which we agreed to support. Tom Carroll showed a Campus film and gave us current remarks covering Notre Dame—1951.

We still feel that we have the best ladies' auxiliary in the entire Alumni set-up. As busy as our wives are, they took time out to entertain (or torture) us at a square dance party at the Barn in Davenport one beautiful evening under the Iowa Harvest Moon. Mrs. George Vander Venet provided us with a very enjoyable evening, highlighted by our picnic movies—with Ralph Ehr as operator.

Twin Cities

A schedule of Fall activities for the club promises a good program for these next months. Events yet to come are:

Dec. 1—Mid-afternoon TV party for the ND-Southern Cal game, with refreshments, etc. At 8 p.m., the ND basketballers play St. Thomas at the St. Paul auditorium. A block of tickets have been reserved for members and guests and may be ordered from the Business Office at St. Thomas College.

December Christmas Dance—more details later.

Dec. 9—Annual Communion Breakfast. This is for the whole family; a traditional event which has always been well attended. We know that this one will be no exception.

Publication of a Membership Roster will be distributed to club members this Fall.

A Cana Day for married couples was held November 11, at Mendota. It was a one-day retreat of high spiritual value conducted by Father Richard T. Doherty.

Notre Dame Auxiliary meetings are held every second Monday of each month. All alumni wives are invited to attend these meetings.

Washington, D. C.

The weekly luncheons at the Touchdown Club are resumed, after a slight disruption due to the fire. . . . Come around Tuesday at noon and enjoy a session of good food and good gab with some good fellows. . . . The new club directory, already far along the processes, will make its appearance soon under the labors of Clint Watson.

The Annual Football Award contest is now underway. . . . Cliff Letcher is directing this year's show and asks everybody's cooperation to sell tickets and more tickets. . . . The first two prizes, featuring the North Carolina ducats and hotel reservations in Chapel Hill, are an especially attractive offer. . . . Hotel space will be hard to get down there. . . . Remember that this activity is an important factor in promoting other club activities throughout the year.

The Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., Bishop of Buffalo, and former University president, attended the dedication of the Archbishop John Carroll High School. . . . John Hinkel edited a special publication for the dedication in which was carried a greeting from the club members and the Holy Cross Fathers.

Bill Jones, back from a trip to the West Coast, reports that he saw Father Robert Sweeney, C.S.C., former club chaplain, now president of Portland University, who sends everybody his best wishes. . . . Ex-prefy J. R. "Pat" Gorman, Jr., will head the Speakers Bureau for the coming Community Chest Campaign. . . . Matt Merkle has been promoted to the rank of Lt. Col. in Uncle Sam's Air Corps.

Rudy Anderson is now with the legal department of Johns Manville in New Jersey. . . . Ed Fenlon is studying at the National Law Law School where one of his profs is Harry Boisvert. . . . Joe Russo is working in the Times-Herald accounting department while studying at Georgetown University. . . . Good news is that Gay Haas has recovered from a recent sickness and will chairman the Navy game rally.

Charles Gainer has been appointed city chairman for the Notre Dame Foundation. . . . Leo Mullin is Governor of the Foundation for the Greater Washington area. . . . Joe Gall is with the FBI in Philadelphia. . . . James S. Mitchell, former executive secretary of the National Council Catholic Men, is now Associate Director of the reactivated USO. . . . Led by Father Vincent J. McCauley, C.S.C., club chaplain, a group of members recited the rosary for John D. Himebaugh, ex-ND'er, who died of a heart attack while swimming. Harry Kirk has been re-elected treasurer of the National Conference Catholic Charities.

HOUSTON, TEXAS

Western Washington

Three members of the Notre Dame Club of Western Washington have been active in speaking before groups during the past months. Charles S. LaCugna, professor at Seattle University, has delivered many excellent addresses on the United States' foreign policy. He is a well qualified speaker for the United Nations' and does a fine job in holding his audiences.

Bernard Lenoue is outstanding in Catholic Action for his activity with the Narberth Movement. At the present time he is Narberth chairman for the state of Washington. He has given much time to an impressive speaking program as well as to news releases.

Pat Goggin, secretary of the local club, was guest speaker at the quarterly meeting of the Holy Name Society. His subject was "Highlights of Notre Dame Campus Life."

Western Washington Club is proud to number among its membership one of the very few holders of the Notre Dame Alumni Fifty Year Club medal. Will Tierney of the Class of 1901 received the distinctive gold emblem signifying fifty years membership on the Notre Dame Alumni Association.

Club rolls have been boosted considerably by the addition of seven new members from the class of 1951. The following men are employed in the Engineering Department of Boeing Aircraft Company, Seattle Division: John Cleary, Ed Sheridan, Brandt Hackmann, Robert Hoard, Joe Lato and Jack Noyes.

We hope to have an unusually good attendance at the Fourteenth Annual Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday. It will be held at St. James Cathedral, Seattle, December 9, 1951, at 9 a.m. We are asking special prayers for the repose of the soul of Joseph B. McNerthney, our late club member from Tacoma, who died very suddenly October 31, 1951. Prayers also are requested for Mrs. W. H. Tierney, wife of Will Tierney, who passed away July 16.

Williamsport

The Williamsport (Pa.) Notre Dame Club resolved this year to raise a special fund for the ND Foundation. To effect this goal, William R. Downs, president, set up the organization for a Notre Dame card party and a football ticket sale.

As the result of efforts of the members and their wives, both events were highly successful. A total of approximately $250 was raised, and a check to the Foundation will be in the mail.

John B. Williams, secretary of the club, handled the football ticket sale, which culminated in a Notre Dame Night at the local council of the Knights of Columbus. Approximately 75 persons attending the pictures of the highlights of the 1950 ND football season.

Mrs. Leo C. Barland was general chairman of the card party, attended by 150 persons. Her committee included Mrs. Frank C. Hayes, Mrs. William R. Downs, Mrs. Peter Somerville, Mrs. Harry Krimm, and other volunteers.

Before both events were held in Williamsport, a group including President Downs, Mr. Hayes, and Mr. Willmann attended a special Notre Dame Foundation dinner-meeting at Kingston, Pa., where the objectives and needs of the Foundation were outlined to ND men from a number of Central Pennsylvania communities.

To All Notre Dame Men:

You should know from our history that Notre Dame, and your Alumni Board, consider alumni to be the bulwark of strength in the great Notre Dame programs away from the University's own campus.

It is my hope, and confidence, as the President of the Alumni Association, that in this final year of the great administration of the Reverend John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., alumni will produce programs setting new records in an already deeply appreciated and highly creditable story of achievement.

This 1951 observance of Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday, December 9th, should be our biggest and best in the 13 years experience. Keyed this year by the great all-alumni Spiritual Bouquet for the purposes of Father Cavanaugh's regime, alumni have added opportunities in local observances to tell the story of Notre Dame as he has developed it so well.

In cooperation with the University of Notre Dame Foundation, the alumni have the force and the opportunity to bring much nearer to our goal the 100 per cent participation by alumni in this vital and tangible implementation of the University in the pursuit of its unbroken history of training young men for moral responsible leadership—a contribution to our way of life that has been multiplied in its significance by the current chaos of our times.

Local alumni, by their cultivation of friends of Notre Dame and the things for which the University stands, and by the interpretation of these things to the schools and parents of the many communities, can insure for Notre Dame the enrollment of young men who reflect the backgrounds and who will embody the qualities essential to our survival with all our rich heritages.

Each alumnus is, in an increasingly important reflection, Notre Dame itself.

I have utilized the physical economies of an impersonal approach. But if you could sit with us in the meeting of the Alumni Board, you would realize how personal my feeling is at this moment—whether you are alone in some distant city, or whether you share the vast potentials of the metropolitan clubs.

The Alumni Board, the Alumni Office, the University administration, sharing with you some of the limitation of rapid expansion, are still and unqualifiedly anxious and willing to offer you our fullest cooperation in realizing our mutual aims.

Very sincerely yours,

(Sig.) R. CONROY SCOGGINS, '24,
President

Death Strikes Crowe and O'Toole Families

Two great Notre Dame families have been grieved by deaths that should find reflection in your prayers.

In the recent obituary of Judge James L. O'Toole, '21, Pittsburgh, the ALUMNUS regrettably lost sight of the fact that the O'Toole family had sent 7 sons to Notre Dame, including the late Robert O'Toole, '39, a World War II casualty. We had listed only the 5 surviving brothers.

This error was brought more forcibly to mind by the death of Mrs. Minnie Crowe, Lafayette, Indiana, who also was the mother of 7 Notre Dame sons who survive her — Clem, Ed, Emmet, Francis, Norbert, Leo and Michael. Mrs. Crowe died on October 16.

ALUMNI CLASSES

Fifty-Year Club

From Frank Kinsella
7054 South Western Avenue
Chicago 36, Illinois

"It was a great pleasure for me to receive the notification of my being formally elected to full membership in the Alumni and that I shall receive the ALUMNUS. This was an even more happy occasion since it has come to me just as I have finished celebrating my 90th birthday.

"I graduated from the University in 1882. I was a senior while attending school, receiving my diploma and first honors. I am anxious to know if any of my classmates are alive today, and what they are doing at this time.

"I shall treasure highly my new election and you can rest assured you will always have my continued loyalty and interest in my school."

THE RANKS THIN

Francis Joseph Vurpillat, '91, of South Bend, Ind., former Dean of the Law School, died Oct. 26.

In 1915 Mr. Vurpillat joined the law faculty of the University and was dean of the School of Law from 1917 until 1923. He then went to Chicago as assistant corporation counsel for the city. This post he retained until 1933 when he was named attorney for the Federal Works Administration in Washington and Chicago. He retired in 1935 and made his home in South Bend.

Among those surviving is his son, Dr. F. Jennings Vurpillat, '20, of South Bend. Pallbearers at the funeral included J. Clifford Potts, '25, Edwin Fredrickson, '20, Dr. L. F. Fisher, '38, and John Wilfred Niemiec, '23.

1902

From J. M. Jenkins, M.D.
117 S. Main
St. Charles, Mo.

"Early this year I accompanied my son to Notre Dame for his registration. As we approached the campus a lump came in my throat with a not unpleasant nostalgia.

"Flashes of memory:

Fathers Morrissey, French, Reagan, Zahm, Cavanaugh. Corby Hall, Brownson Hall, Sorin Hall, St. Edward's Hall. Football and the shirt-tail parade in South Bend when Notre Dame defeated Michigan.

"These and many recollections, rare and clear, and as indelible as the paintings of Columbus, Ferdinand and Isabella, Father Corby and others of the fateful past half century?"

"It is with great satisfaction that my son has been privileged to attend Notre Dame, and there to have instilled in him the principles of Christian living.

"I look in vain in the ALUMNUS for the names of other '02 men. Am I the sole survivor of the fateful past half century?"

The Alumni Office hopes that every member of the Class of 1902 is getting ready to be on hand on the campus next June 6, 7, 8, to be inducted as a "freshman" in the 50-Year-Club, and to receive the beautiful commemorative medal which the Association is proud to present on this great occasion.

1904

Mr. Thomas P. Gerraughty, ex 1904, of Spokane, Washington, died Oct. 15. He is survived by two daughters and a son, all of Spokane, to whom deepest sympathies are expressed.

Mr. Gerraughty was the Man-of-the-Year in 1950 for the Spokane Club.

1907

Plans for the 45th Reunion are not yet detailed, but set aside June 6, 7, 8 now. The first and most important part of the reunion is your presence. Contact your Classmates on this score now, and the arrangements for a pleasant weekend will be completed in the months ahead, stimulated as fresh attendance news is cleared.

DEATH

Mr. Anton A. Rosenberger, '07, of Wichita, Kansas, died on Sept. 26. He was buried in St. Mary's Cathedral, Wichita, with a most outstanding tribute by the Bishop and clergy to honor this saintly man of the Church-laity.

Mr. Rosenberger was a Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus, and a member of the Third Order of St. Francis. He was most active in the Alumni Association, affiliating himself with the Kansas City Club.

DEATH

Mr. Edmund J. Avery died in Green Bay, Wis., on the 26th of October. He had been an active member of the Green Bay Alumni Club. Rosary and a solemn requiem Mass were offered by these alumni for the repose of his soul.

1912

Your Editor had the pleasure of a ride to Chicago with Joseph B. McGlynn, immediately following the Southern Methodist game. The discussion naturally got around to the 40th Reunion next June 6, 7, 8. The first step is to talk up the return of the Class. If everyone comes back, the program is bound to be a success, and plans will be made to make the weekend interesting to all.

1917

Bernard J. Voll asked your Editor the other day, "What about the Class of 1917—35th Reunion?" Well, in a subtle and diplomatic way I reminded Bernie that he had been the key man in the Class reunions on the local scene, but that I would gladly sound the first alarm in this issue, and then we could begin working out the pageantry for June 6, 7, 8 in the months between. In reviewing the previous Reunions, it seems incredible that any living member will not start packing his ensemble and his traveling kit as of now.

1918

George E. Harbert, Secretary
108 N. Main St.
Sycamore, Ill.

The Wage Stabilization Board announced recently the appointment of a special regional board to assist in speeding up the processing of wage cases. It is composed of a tripartite group of four representatives of management, labor and public. These members will decide cases in Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Wyoming.

Of the four representatives of management is James P. Logan, managing director of the Mountain States Employers' Council. Congratulations to this distinguished alumnus.

Father Ray Murray (Law, '18), head of the Department of Sociology at Notre Dame, reports that Sociology is "booming." The department has 25 graduate students working for Master and Doctor degrees. Articles by staff members in the last two years have appeared in all the leading American and British sociology journals. Father Murray's "Sociology for a Democratic Society" (Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1950) has been adopted in 60 colleges to date.

Frederick J. Slackford. Fritz represents the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Cleveland. Between Notre Dame-Navy every other year and the Cleveland Browns every year, Fritz has retained his dyed-in-the-wool interest in football.

Allan W. Fritzsche writes that his Company (the General Industries Company of Elyria, Ohio) is expanding rapidly, employing about 1500 people. His business keeps him tied down but he does visit with Hughie O'Neil in Cleveland. Looks like we will have to borrow one of his derricks to pry him out of Elyria for the Class Reunion in 1953.

Thomas H. King. Tom doesn't know whether to cry with us or celebrate with his adopted Alma Mater. Tom is Vice-Chairman of the Athletic Committee of Michigan State. I hope he took care of the boys Saturday night when they were feeling low.

Joseph Thomas Riley is proud to report that his son, James, entered the University of Notre Dame as a Freshman in the Summer session this year. He collected a group of Western Michigan Alumni and flew to Baltimore to see the game November 3.

How about the rest of you fellows? We have heard from 6, leaving 87 to be heard from.

1921

Alfred R. Abrams, of Atlanta, Ga., has recently returned from an eight-day visit to the bedside of his son, Bernard, who was wounded in Korea. Abrams cut through red tape to arrive in Osaka, Japan, three days after his son received very critical injuries. He had literally hitch-hiked thousands of miles with only a letter to the hospital commander as identification. We are happy to find that his 26-year-old son, a graduate of West Point, holder of the previously awarded Bronze Star for valor, and the Purple Heart for wounds received in May, is now well on the way to recovery.

Aloysius D. Schmitt of Decatur, Ind., is traveling to Mexico for a six month stay.

DEATH

Mr. Frank E. Coughlin, Chief Deputy Attorney General of Indiana, died in St. Vincent Hospital, Indianapolis, on Sept. 8. In addition to being honored by the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, and the Elks, rosary services for him were sponsored by the St. Joseph Valley Monogram Club and officiated by Rev. Leo L. Ward, C.S.C.

1922

Gerald A. Ashe, Secretary
39 Cambridge Street
Rochester 7, New York

The last issue of the Alumnus carried to the men of our class the very sad news of the death of a wonderful friend and classmate—Doctor Tom Keefe—following an operation in St. Mary's Hospital, Mayo Brothers, Rochester, Minnesota. Doctor Tom was exceedingly popular with his classmates because he radiated friendliness, and because he was so well mannered and soft spoken. Who of '22 was not a friend of Tom Keefe? Only two months previously, Tom's beloved wife, Inez, died. Four Keefe children are left by the death of the parents, including twins four years old. All of the children will be brought up by the Keefe family. Frank Bloemer and Jim Forem visited Tom in St. Joseph's Hospital, Logansport, before he went to Mayo's; also Father Bob Sheehan. We of '22 do tender our sympathy to relatives of Doctor and Mrs. Tom Keefe and ask prayers for the deceased.

To Frank Bloemer of Louisville, we express our sympathy in the death of his beloved father, Frank Bloemer, Sr., and ask that he, too, be remembered in your prayers.

Ralph Coryn must hold some kind of record by the distinction of having three sons attending Notre Dame at the present time, one engaging in post-graduate work. We as a class are again highly honored in having one of our members selected as a candidate for office of director on the Alumni Board, and the last so honored is Ralph Coryn, who would be a worthy addition to the Board, if elected. Ralph and his wife visited their sons on the occasion of the SMU game.

From Dan Young, on closing day of July, comes a letter from Chuquicamata, Chile. Just about a year ago, Dan was in the same location on business. Dan writes in his usual plrasing and informative manner, as follows:

"We are building a copper smelting plant here for the sulphite ore of the Chile Exploration Company. The ore will be mined underground. At the present time, the oxide ore plant is producing about 800 tons of copper a day. The oxide ore is obtained in an open pit mine. We are living at an altitude of around 9300 feet and a slight exertion reminds us sea-level people that we are not built with the proper lung capacity to do much hard work in the altitudes. As long as I am able to confine myself to driving around and slow walking, I am able to put in a 10 or 12-hour day, but by night I am tired. We are in the Atacama desert, which extends from the sea coast to the range of mountains separating Chile from Bolivia and the Argentine. Separating us from the sea coast are the famous nitrate fields now all but abandoned, and as I drive to Antofagasta—140 miles away, it is through deserted nitrate mining camps which are now ghost towns. We have another job at Coquimbo, which is about 300 miles down the coast from Antofagasta, where we are building an iron ore ship-loading plant for the Bethlehem Steel Company. Also, we have a job 125 miles inland from Belem, Brazil, where we are locating and then designing a railroad for the transportation of manganese ore discovered in the jungle country of that nation. The railroad will bring the ore 125 miles to a tributary of the Amazon where it will be loaded on ships and transported to the States. That job is practically on the Equator. This one here is about 21 degrees south of the Equator, and although this job is in the tropics, we do have a coating of ice in the mornings on the pools of water left from our sprinkler trucks as they cover the roads on the previous day in an effort to settle the dust.

"Chile is tremendously interesting with lovely people; and, although this country was settled by the Spaniards and the people here are their progeny, there do not seem to be many Catholics. Emilio, who is writing this letter to you, corrects me to say there are plenty of Catholics here. I asked if he is Catholic. He replied that he came from a Catholic family. I asked if he attends church. He said that he does not attend. So, apparently there are plenty of Catholics hereabouts, but they do not go to church, and Emilio says: "That is right." Anyhow, you see what I mean. . . . When driving across the desert and you reach an oasis, the chances are you will happen upon a church about two or three hundred years old. The church may have a dirt floor, and the statues are garbed in the dress of this country handed down through the centuries. The Jesuits are to be found out on these places and they are militant, for, even if the people have sagged in their faith, the priests remain faithful to their vows, and are insisting that the remaining faithful be good Catholics. As you may know, the Pope has just recently rescinded the age-old Spanish privilege of eating meat on Friday, and I have always believed that such a concession removed a cause of strong faith, for those who make sacrifices for their beliefs, are strengthened in their faith. You don't make sacrifices for nothing.

"When passing through Panama, I wanted to get in touch with Vince Hanrahan but did not arrive there until 1 a.m., and I was not sure Vince would be home for he travels quite extensively. I did not call him lest perhaps I might have aroused his family and made them apprehensive about whom was calling. However, on the plane, I got into conversation with a man who, much to my surprise, turned out to be Joe Harrington, whose address is Box 821, Ancon, Canal Zone—a graduate of Notre Dame about 1939. We, of course, talked about many things, but mostly of Notre Dame and her men."

We are pleased to report that Dan Young has since returned to his native Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania.

Rosemary Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Jones of Rochester, New York, became Mrs. William Laragy on September 15 at Holy Cross Church, Rochester, New York. We extend our best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Laragy—and our congratulations to the bride's parents, Jim and Bern. By the way, Jim writes that his oldest boy, Jimmy, is now a senior at Aquinas Institute, Rochester, and another son, Mike, is a sophomore at Charlotte High in the same city. Both are taller than the "old man," according to Jim.

Heartley "Hunk" Anderson, who has been inactive in the football coaching profession this fall, was the recipient of an offer from owner George Marshall of the professional Washington Redskins football team to serve as Head Coach. Commissioner Bert Bell refused to permit "Hunk" to leave the Chicago Bears team on grounds he was still under contract to them, even though inactive. There was a happy ending when George Halas, owner-manager of the Bears, agreed to match the salary offered by George Marshall. "Hunk" is on the firing line for the Bears once again. . . . Nice going, Hunk!

Charlie Hirschbuhl writes from Portland, Oregon to express sympathy in the death of Doctor Tom Keefe and wife, also to inquire for more

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

MR. FRED V. LAUGHNA

Dayton, O. — The appointment of Fred J. Laughna, Notre Dame '33, as assistant sales manager of the Airtemp Division, Chrysler Corp., was recently announced by J. F. Knoff, Airtemp general sales manager.

A native of Detroit, Laughna joined the Chrysler Corporation in 1933 as a clerk in the factory time office. Three years later he was promoted to assistant manager of the Corporation's Australian export division.

In 1940 he moved to the Airtemp division as an assistant to the merchandising manager. He remained at this position until 1943 when he was named priority director and staff assistant to handle government contracts.

By 1947, when the plant had increased its postwar production of heating, air conditioning and commercial refrigeration products, Laughna was manager of the Dayton region. In 1948 he was transferred to Detroit as regional manager and later was named manager of the Chicago region.

In 1950, Laughna was promoted to administrative assistant to the vice president, from which position he moved into his present post. He is married and has three children.

particulars. Charlie reports he is a grandpop again due to birth of grandson, David Drake, in August. Charlie indicates he is very highly pleased that Ralph Coryn has been selected as a candidate for office of director of the Alumni Board and is "pulling" for election of our fellow classmate who is most worthy of the honor of being selected a candidate, and one who would be a great credit to the office of director. Doctor Matt Weis of St. Louis, a fellow classmate, is now rendering fine service on the Alumni Board. Another item mentioned by Charlie, informs us that Mrs. Jones of Dixon, Illinois, wonderful mother of three Notre Dames, Jerry, Herb, and Willard (deceased) has been in impaired health of late. Mother Jones has been exceedingly kind to countless Notre Dame men who have visited the Jones family home in Dixon. If anyone of '22 expects to attend the So. California game in Los Angeles, December 1, he may happen upon Charlie munching a hot dog in close proximity to the football battlefield.

All that is necessary to get action from this '22 outfit is to have a blank or a near blank column under the '22 caption in the ALUMNUS occasionally, then the boys realize that they are the only class reporters and really give Uncle Sammy's mail carriers some work to do.

Doctor Dan Sexton, also, writes words of sympathy in death of Doctor Tom Keefe and wife. Doctor Dan and Mrs. Sexton expect to be in Dallas on November 3, for the SMU-Texas game which is homecoming for SMU. A medical convention takes the good doctor to Texas.

Father George B. Fischer, C.S.C., our nomadic chaplain, who as a member of the Holy Cross Mission Band, Eastern Province, helps keep the faith glowing brightly along the Atlantic Seaboard from Capt Cod to the Delaware Capes. Father George expects to finish an assignment in Staten Island, October 28. From there he goes to his headquarters—North Easton, Mass., for one week, thence to Sugar Notch, Pennsylvania and White Plains, N. Y. Father George says he expects to attend our 30th Anniversary Reunion, if it will be worth-while. We accept the challenge, Father George, and we aim to produce something on a par with our gala 25th Reunion—at least in good fellowship. Those who attended it will need no sales talk for this coming meeting of the clans.

From many other sources come inquiries about our 30th Reunion. Your scribe resigned as class secretary some months ago, to pave the way for the election of a new secretary and other officers of the class, since the Alumni Board decreed that elections be held. It is now felt that due to the close proximity of our 30th reunion, that would be the proper time and place to hold the '22 elections. Your scribe has agreed to serve as acting secretary from now until commencement time, at which time elections are to be held for offices of president, vice-president (about four to be selected with geographical location in mind), treasurer and secretary. Your present acting secretary is starting the 30th Reunion ball rolling right now by appointing a Public Relations Committee whose function it is to sell the 30th to all '22 men in your respective areas, also, to sell it to your boss, at the office and at home. Indeed, very little selling will be necessary to the '22 men who were at Notre Dame on the occasion of our 25th. The Public Relations Committee is as follows:

Of the Priesthood: Fathers George B. Fischer, C.S.C., P. J. Haggerty, C.S.C., Robert Sheehan, C.S.C., Robert Gallagher.

Notre Dame and St. Joe Valley: Fred Dressel, Aaron Huguenard, Pat Manion, Bernie McCaffery, Paul Paden, Tom "Sarge" Owens, Walter Shilts, Gene Smoger, Harold Weber.

Chicagoland: Al Carroll, Jerry Dixon, Joe Farley, George Heneghan, Tom McCabe, Harold McKee, Chet Wynne.

Twin Cities, Minnesota: Dan Coughlin, Dr. Wallace Kreighbaum, George McDermott, Paul McDermott, Clarence Smith.

Wisconsin: Doctor Hank Atkinson, John Paul Cullen.

Northwest: Hon. D. Worth Clark, Charlie Hirschbuhl.

California: Gene Kennedy, Jim McCabe, Hon. Al Scott, "Buck" Shaw.

Tri Cities: Ralph Coryn, Al Rhomberg, Joe Rhomberg, Clarence Zwack.

Kansas City: Joe Shaughnessy.

Nebraska: Jerry Barrett.

Illinois (except Chicago): Steve Carmody, Jerry Jones.

Iowa: Jim Shaw.

St. Louis: "Cy" Fites, Doctor Dan Sexton, Doctor Matt Weis.

Indiana (except South Bend area): Ray Kearns, Walter Stuhldreher.

Near South: Frank Bloemer, Louisville.

Far South: Eddie Byrne, Natchez, Harry Mehre, Atlanta.

Cleveland: Pete Champion, George Kerver.

Cincinnati: John Hart.

Dayton: Frank Blasius.
 New York City area: Eddie Gottry, Jud Hyland, Bill Murphy, Bob Shea.
 Upstate New York: Robert Galloway, John Huether, Dr. John Kelley, Jim Jones, Clint Lintz, Francis Ott.
 New England: Eddie Anderson, Chuck Crowley, Jim Dooley, Cy Kellett, Hon. Jim Murphy, Art Shea.
 Pittsburgh: Morgan Sheedy.
 Philadelphia: Ed Bailey, Dan Young.
 Detroit: "Hunk" Anderson, Jim Forcn, Jack Higgins, Walt Matthes.
 Arizona: John Hilkert.
 Texas: Commander James Barry Holton.
 Canal Zone: Vince Hanrahan.
 South America: Luis Bustamente.

It is expected consultation will start immediately with Aaron Huguenard, who performed so admirably as director of our 25th Reunion, to formulate plans for June. We hope that he can be persuaded to assume a major role in the direction of our 30th. Also, Pat Manion, Bernie McCaffery, and Harold Weber must be consulted, for we are deeply indebted to these men for their wonderful hospitality the last time. A near rebellion would be under way if it were even hinted these men would not be guests of the Class of '22 on this occasion! A reunion director will be chosen, and the director will select his various working committees to cover arrangements, publicity, transportation, etc. In the meantime, we exhort all men of '22 to offer suggestions on what should be done to make our 30th a grand success. Can anyone come through with some original ideas to match the performances of Ed Bailey, Robert Galloway, Harold McKee, and Dan Young, in publicity for our Silver Anniversary gathering?—Wouldn't Bill Castellini (God rest his soul) do everything possible "to top" his grand work of five years ago, if he were alive today.

John P. Hurley, Secretary
 1218 City Park Avenue
 Toledo, Ohio

Mr. Walter J. Cyr has been advanced from assistant trade sales manager to assistant to the general sales manager of the Stamford, Conn., division of Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co.

George F. Fitzgerald of Olean, N. Y., has been promoted to assistant refinery superintendent of the Olean refinery of Socony-Vacuum Oil Company.

1926

John J. Ryan, Secretary
 2434 Greenleaf Ave.
 Chicago 45, Ill.

Bert Dunne of Los Angeles has been appointed as sports counsellor of Don Lee Television and station KHJ-TV. Mr. Dunne, a sports picture producer, has written seven books on football, baseball, boxing and other sports and has produced 10 visual education pictures on sports subjects. While at Notre Dame Bert served as publicity director for Knute Rockne and his famed Four Horsemen.

"DO YOU REMEMBER?"—is what was produced from your secretary's cry for help carried in the September-October column. From Elkton, Maryland, Bob Andrews wrote: "After reading your sad tale in the last issue of the ALUMNUS it seems as though you thoroughly drained the well on your pre-convention round-up of news. It's my thought that you might be able to get some space filling data by asking for some 'I remember' notes of happenings during the class years."

That looks to your secretary like a very good idea. So, how about it, fellows? Send them in. We'll print 'em in the column and perhaps your "Do you remember?" will bring forth one or dozens from other classmates. But one word of caution—they'll be put into the column just as they are written, so for the sake of the happy marriages among our classmates, please don't send in anything that might start a family row. As a matter of fact, why not send a copy of your letter to anyone you mention and tell him that unless he gets off a "Don't Print" to your class secretary at once it will be written as you send it.

Since the idea is from Bob Andrews perhaps he can start the ball rolling—and, those of you who

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

PAUL E. NEVILLE

The South Bend Tribune recently announced the promotion of two alumni in its Sports Department.

Paul E. Neville, '42, sports editor since June, 1949, was appointed managing editor effective Oct. 13.

Joseph A. Doyle, '49, sports writer since September, 1949, was appointed sports editor effective Oct. 13.

Prior to serving 42 months in the army during World War II, Neville was Notre Dame correspondent for the Tribune. After his discharge he returned to the South Bend paper where, in 1949, after the sudden death of Jim Costin, he became sports editor.

Doyle, who has been a farmer, a gasoline station operator and a newspaper reporter, served in the Army from 1943 through 1945.

JOSEPH A. DOYLE

have "Do you Remember?" involving Bob could send them along. Let's start the year 1952 with memories of the years 1922 to 1926. Hopefully, your secretary says "Watch for the column in the January-February issue."

From Wooster, Ohio, comes an announcement of the marriage on Sept. 1 of Miss Gertrude Lucille Reis and Arthur J. Klise. Some of us were lucky enough to meet Art's charming fiancée at Reunion time, and we all offer our best wishes to both of them.

Speaking of weddings—Bill Dooley reports that he became a father-in-law last summer when his son, Terry, married Miss Kathleen Hughes at Hudson, Wis. Terry graduated at St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., last spring and is now attending the University of Illinois.

Among classmates your secretary has seen at various home football games this fall are Pres. Ray Durst, Mons. Joe Toomey, Bud Barr, and Joe Quinlan. Also saw John Tuohy from a distance, but did not get to say hello to him.

You may have heard of the death in Korea of Lt. Col. Henry J. Dillon. According to word from Bill Fookey which was verified through Girard Smith of Denver. Hank, who graduated in Chemical Engineering, later attended medical school and has been practicing in Denver. Say a prayer for the repose of his soul. A Mass will be said on the campus for him.

According to the newspapers Clem and Ed Crowe lost their mother recently. She gave Notre Dame some mighty fine sons. Our sympathies to them.

"Give to Notre Dame"—have you sent in your contribution to the Father Cavanaugh Testimonial Fund? If not, please take this as a reminder to be sure to send it before the end of December.

I'd like to end this short column on that note, but being just a little selfish I'll use my usual ending "Send that dope in for the next column."—plus (a secretary's license) "A VERY HAPPY CHRISTMAS TO ALL."

1927

Frank Moran
 633 East Monroe St.
 South Bend 1, Ind.

Members of the class will be glad to know that our president, "Mike" Swygert, has recovered his health and is again active both judicially and executive. One of his signal achievements so far has been the securing of the services of Herb Jones as reunion chairman, an appointment that alone almost guarantees the success of the reunion. Though Herb will probably not get into action fully until after Christmas, he undoubtedly will welcome suggestions at any time. There are many local '27 men whom he can call on for the necessary committees.

When I suggested doubts about the feasibility of carrying out Tom Dunn's suggestion that a class roster be sent to every member of the class, I was speaking out of a background of almost complete ignorance of Alumni Office services. Jim Armstrong graciously assured me that his office would gladly take over here. As a result, you have received the presidential letter, the class roster, and a questionnaire, the model for which was sent me by John Brennan of Detroit.

The questionnaires, filled out, are coming in at the rate of about five a day, a gratifying return. These furnish much welcome information and save me a lot of time that would otherwise be spent in writing begging postcards; but they are, after all, necessarily skeletal, and so, no adequate substitute for newsy letters. It would be very helpful if those who have not yet made their returns would use the blank side of the sheet for further news about themselves and classmates, and perhaps some indication whether they are likely to get back for the reunion.

We have to report the sad news that the Reverend Frederick J. Schulte, C.S.C., pastor of Holy Cross church since 1946, died in early October. Father Schulte, who was ordained in 1931, received the bachelor of arts degree in June, 1927. All members of the class will wish to remember Father Schulte in their prayers.

A couple of months ago I ran into Ray Hunt on Michigan St., where we compared notes for an hour or more. Though Ray lives in South Bend, I had not seen him for twenty years or more, so deeply do we wear our individual ruts. After having been a newspaper man on several papers in South Bend, Detroit, and Chicago, he is now with the Research Institute of America, Inc., working the local territory. Ray has two children, a son, married and living in South Bend, and a daughter.

We had a brief visit from Father Jim Moran, now a chaplain in the Air Force. Father Jim was about to leave for Idaho, whence he expected to be dispatched to Korea or Africa. I insulted him unconsciously by referring to his service as the Army, not being properly sensitive to the modern service distinctions. Those who remember Jim as varsity lightweight will realize that he would not let this pass without challenge, though, fortunately for me, he was content with an apology. Since re-enlisting Father Jim has spent about two years in Alaska.

In September, Bill Clarke wrote that he is still in the Realty and Insurance business in Toledo, and that business is good. Bill's daughter, aged twenty, lives with him in the family home-stand. Bill reports seeing Ed Hagerty, '28, an attorney, often; also Norb Scharf, who left ND in 1926. Norb has four children and is credit manager for the Toledo Edison Co. Among others that he sees occasionally are Walt Wilcox, Tony Krause, and Don McColl. Bill promises to be back in June (he has missed only one of the June get-togethers at ND since he's been back in Toledo).

From Baltimore, Bill Blewett writes that he is Director of Safety for the Baltimore Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation. Bill is married but has no children, and says that he seldom sees any classmates. He does not at present expect to get back for the reunion.

Dan Cunningham sends several pieces of news, about himself and classmates. Dan has been with Blair Holdings Corporation for the past three years, is married, and has two daughters, nineteen and fifteen, respectively. Dan says that he enjoyed the twentieth reunion so much that he'll surely try to make this next one. Of classmates, he writes:

"I see a couple of the '27 fellows here in New York occasionally. Jimmie Jones (the well-known James A. J.) is living in Lynbrook and the Cunninghams and Joneses see quite a bit of each other. Jim is in the hospital at the moment, having been operated on for two ruptured discs yesterday. Laura Kennedy Jones (St. Mary's '27) reported the operation successful and Jimmie resting comfortably when we talked with her last night.

"Mark Nevills lives about two blocks from me in Forest Hills. He is now with Boeing. Unfortunately, Mark spends a great deal of time in Washington, D. C., and in traveling about the country; as a result I do not see nearly as much of him as I would like.

"Jim Brown is Treasurer of the South American Minerals and Merchandise Corporation. We are both doing some work with the Career Clinic run by the Notre Dame Club of New York and so we see each other rather frequently.

"Brick" (W. W.) Smith is now Red Smith of the New York Herald-Tribune. The Smiths used to live in Malverne, Long Island, which is the next town to Lynbrook, and the Smith, Joneses, and Cunninghams used to get together occasionally. However, Brick recently moved to Connecticut and we haven't seen each other in the last three or four months. Brick is doing a fine job on the Herald-Tribune and is, without doubt, the best sports writer in the town.

"Jack Gruning is practicing law in Brooklyn. The last time I saw Jack was at a Brooklyn Prep (where we both went to school before Notre Dame) sports dinner. Jack had his son, John, Jr., with him and if the perfect example of the proud father. With good reason, I must add.

"If there is anything I can do to help you keep the 1927 column in existence, or help in any way to make the reunion a success, you have only to tell me what you want and I shall be glad to do what I can."

Needless to say, such letters help the column immensely. Joe Reedy responded to Tom Dunn's innuendo, reported in the column of the preceding issue, with alacrity. Joe's answer, which I transcribe, should be a complete and convincing answer, even to a former roommate.

Joe writes:

"I must admit I have been driven out of my hutch by Tom Dunn's reporting that the last time heard from, I was a major in World War II and that, 'I'll bet even Joe can't explain that.' Of course I knew Dunn as only a roommate could, and knowing that he considered sarcasm as being impolite, I would like to hasten to explain that the reason I was a major was solely due to slow promotions and a short war!!! That answer your question, Dunn?

"Now that my honor is redeemed I'll tell all, so as to possibly get on a Christmas card list or two of some of the '27 pals who used to help me keep eligible for the third team before this was a 'page one' news item.

"After having won the war, I became associated with a Chicago concern for five years, and then took a franchise with the Washmobile Corporation.

"The success that followed in the Missouri and Illinois area encouraged a move, and so I took the state of Florida and have been active here since Sept. 1. Although I have established an office here I have not yet taken a permanent residence, and, still being a bachelor, (that's two of this species so far reported in this column), I will delay that decision until I get a cross section of the size of the families some of the classmates intend to bring along with them come snow time! (Dan Moore is automatically ruled out—the last time I heard of him he had five children and no one ever hears of Dan Moore the last time.)

"Recently I attended the American Association playoffs in Milwaukee with the president of U. S. Washmobile, and as he formerly owned the 'Brewers,' we visited with Charlie Grimm and his right hand man 'Red' Smith. Before my hand had stopped pulsating from Gentle Richard's handshake, we bumped into John Roach, '25, who is now national sales manager (I believe) for Schenley's Whiskey—whatever that is!"

I dropped a card of inquiry to Chuck Beretz and got a reply from Paul, who is apparently the corresponding member of the family. According to Paul, Chuck lives in Yonkers, is happily married, and is a high-powered salesman of Cadillacs and Oldsmobiles in White Plains and vicinity. Chuck saw action with the combat engineers in Patton's army and returned safe (with souvenirs). Paul says that one might be fooled by Chuck's Hitler-like mustache, unless one watched him perform in a game of pocket billiards or on a violin.

Paul is also happily married, has two boys, Paul, 13, and Robert Charles, 2. He lives in Great Neck and since 1943, has worked for the W. C. Gilman and Co., public utility engineers and financial consultants. He reports having met over the last several years Frank Klaas in Chicago, Red Reidy and John Igoo, '28, in Cleveland, Norb Scharf in Toledo and, recently, in New York, and Carl Feske in Indianapolis. Finally, he says that "both Chuck and I have already received the 'if you promise to behave' permission of our respective wives to 'stag' (or stagger) attend the 25-year reunion."

Joe O'Donnell sends notes on several of the '27 men he has run into lately. At a meeting of the ND Club of Chicago, he met Bill Halloran, recently moved to Chicago, with a son just starting at Notre Dame. Bill Corbett is vice-president of Burns, Corbett and Pick, dealing in municipal bonds and doing investment counselling work on LaSalle St. Bill has been married twenty-three years and has six children, three boys and three girls, his oldest boy graduating from Notre Dame next June, and the next boy entering next September. A commander in the U.S.N.R., Bill has recently returned from a "warm-up" at Treasure Island in California.

John (Jack) Patton is president of the Mitchell National Bank, Mitchell, South Dakota. Jack is also on several sub-committees of A. B. A. and as such travels quite considerably. He has been married about seventeen years and has two daughters and one son.

Ed Ryan is with Sears in Chicago, in personnel work. Ed has been married twenty-four years, has three boys and one girl, the oldest boy graduating from ND in June. Ed is reported to be still sore at Father Pat Hagerty for telling him he stayed out all night and so couldn't get up for morning prayer.

Bob Stephan has a fine job with the U. S. Gypsum Co., is married, has five beautiful daughters, and lives in Park Ridge, Ill. According to Joe, Bob is perennially youthful, still a freshman at heart.

Joe met both Bob and Willie O'Keefe on the way back from the SMU game, the latter having his nine-year-old son with him. Bill is in wholesale grocery work in Moberley, Mo., and doing very well. Finally Joe mentions occasionally seeing Jerry LeStrange, Tom Nash, Joe Della Maria, Frank McGhee, Freddie Deutsch, Ed Garrity, and others. Herb Schwartz, from Dunkirk, wants to know how Bill Finucane is.

Joe himself has been married for twenty-four years, has three sons and a daughter: No. 1—ND in '51, now U. S. A., Finance School; No. 3, U. S. A. in Baltimore; No. 2, graduated from N.R.O.T.C. at ND. Joe is in the specialty grocery business in Chicago. He is still looking for a siren to liven him and would like to have it returned by the reunioner that snagged it.

Ted Berkery, now living in Scarsdale, N. Y., vice-president and counsel for the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank in New York City, sends along the suggestion that the class of '27 make a substantial contribution to the Father Cavanaugh Testimonial as part of its reunion activity. The idea has been passed on to President Swygert and you'll probably hear more about it.

Ed McKenna writes from Kingman, Kansas, that he has spent some time in building up a cow-herd of which he is proud and finds the ranch an ideal place for raising his three boys. Now if Ed could throw a couple of sides of beef over the saddle before he rides in for the reunion, we could perhaps revive the old homecoming barbecue.

Tom O'Connor, also with three boys, lives in Bellefontaine, where he carries on a real estate business and farms. Tom suggests that it might be well if each man would write to a few friends about their activities, and the prospects of their getting back next June, in order to kindle some enthusiasm.

John Harwood, of Woolwine, Harwood and Clark, architects, in Nashville, reports a family of "very young youngsters." He writes: "We live in the suburbs, have a house that is too small, two lawn mowers that never work, and two dogs that always eat. Present work consists mainly of housing projects and schools, also have built a College Library, and a variety of other stuff too numerous to mention." John plans to be on hand for the reunion.

One of our most regular reunionists of the past, John Wallace, now in the Far West, hopes to keep his record unblemished. John says: "I can't say at this time that I'll be able to be on hand for the reunion, but I'll do the best I can to work it out. I have a daughter in the convent at St. Mary's, and can use that as an excuse to get back! I also have another daughter in the convent in nearby Santa Barbara, who will probably give me her permission to make the trip. And by the way, those two should put me among the leaders of the class of '27 who are parents of children following religious vocations."

Several addresses have been furnished for members listed on the class roster as unclaimed. Earl Worthington is a highly successful architect and member of the firm of Hadley and Worthington, Springfield, Illinois. Emmett Kirwan resides at Avondale Estates, Georgia, P. O. Box 64. Frank Andrews is an architect in Cleveland with an office in the Hanna Building. The address of Thomas D. McMahon is 2528 S. W. Ravensview Road, Portland, Oregon, and that of Champ C. Vaughan is 2912 S. E. 76th Ave., in the same city. William O. Bradenburg, a public accountant, lives at 215 Seebirt Place, South Bend, and Alton Crofoot has an insurance agency and lives on Bremen Rd., Mishawaka. John Reidy believes that Joe Murray, who left ND at the end of his freshman year, would be interested in making the reunion, but John doesn't know his address in Cleveland, whether he is with the Donnelly or O'Donnell Real Estate firm.

Many of the returned questionnaires will have to be taken account of in the next issue. Meanwhile, several have remarked on the number in the class listed as deceased. Many of these should have appeared in the unclaimed category. To correct your roster transfer the following names to the "unclaimed" classification:

John W. Congdon, Alton Crofoot, Eugene H. Edwards, Michael P. Farrell, Ned H. Fenlon, Paul Flores, Richard L. Flynn, James F. Foley, George W. Guettler, Daniel J. Harvey, Thomas L. Hogan, Jr., Paul J. Johnson, Raymond J. Kasher, Nicholas J. Kauffman, Joseph M. McCarthy, Leo J. McCauley, Francis C. Miller, John P. Mountbarn, Lyle E. Morency, Edward Moriarty, Thomas D. Murphy, Basil L. Stanley and George L. Wallner.

Leo R. McIntyre, Secretary
3004 Turner St.
Allentown, Pa.

From Louis F. Buckley:

Our Treasurer, Bernie Garber, suggested when I saw him recently in New York that the class should arrange for a Mass to be said for our deceased classmates. Father Jim McShane, S.J., has been selected to offer a Mass for the thirty deceased members of the class of 1928. Father Jim wrote to me from Sacred Heart Church, 2760 Larimer St., Denver 5, Colorado, advising that he would be pleased to sing a High Mass for the deceased classmates in November. As you are aware, three classmates were added to the list of deceased members during the past year, John McMahon, Bob Knox, and Joe Benda. Please advise me immediately whenever you hear of the death of a classmate, as the class is now in a position to arrange for a Mass for individual classmates at the time of their death, as well as annually for all deceased members of the class.

Two of the '28 men in Chicago Ed Rafter and Bill Goelitz, lost their mother during the summer. I visited the funeral home in each case and extended the sympathy of the class.

Mrs. Buckley, my son, and I spent a very pleasant vacation with Denny Daly, his wife and their two boys at Rice Lake, Wisconsin. Denny, as you know, is practicing law in St. Paul and is teaching tax law at the University of Minnesota.

Bill Jones, his wife and daughter visited us in Chicago on their way to Montana and California for a six weeks' vacation this summer. Bill is practicing law in Washington and is kept busy as President of the Notre Dame Law Association and as a Vice-President of the Alumni Association.

I spoke at the Class Secretaries' Conference at Notre Dame on June 6 on "The Care and Feeding of the Class Secretary." I regret that Leo McIntyre was unable to attend. The class was represented at the meeting by Joe Morrissey and Bill Jones, who were also attending the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. Joe is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Monogram Club.

It was good to see that Superior Judge John Cullinan was selected Southwest Connecticut Club's "Year Man" and Pat Canny was chosen "Man of the Year" by the Cleveland Notre Dame Club. Pat is Assistant General Counsel for the Erie Railroad. The Pittsburgh "Man of the Year" scroll was awarded posthumously to John McMahon. His sons, John, Jr., and Mike, accepted the award in behalf of their father.

Two of our vice-presidents, Jim Canizaro and Art Canty should be commended for the letters they are writing to '28 men in their regions. I trust the classmates give their letters the attention they deserve. Also don't forget that Bernie Garber, our Treasurer, will be pleased to receive contributions for the class treasury at 33 West 660th Street, New York 23, N. Y.

I saw a number of '28 men at the Southern Methodist game, including Swede Schroeder, Vince Walsh, Bill Murphy, Augie Grams, Joe Morrissey and Bill Jones. They all indicated they would return for the twenty-five-year reunion in 1953. It is the first time I have seen Swede Schroeder since graduation. He is practicing law in Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, and has five children. I met Swede and his son, who is attending Notre Dame, at Gate 4 before the game. Joe Morrissey has two boys at Notre Dame this year. Frank Donovan's son is in his senior year at Notre Dame. Will he be the first son of a '28er to finish at Notre Dame? Frank has a daughter at St. Mary's and another son at St. Thomas Military Academy in St. Paul.

A few days in Akron, Ohio, on business gave me the opportunity to visit Art Gleason and his family. Art is superintendent at Goodrich Tire and Rubber Co. and does some farming at his home near Stow, Ohio. Art has a son at the Goodrich Co. and a daughter at Kent University. He also has a son in grade school and a daughter at home. I was pleased to find that his wife has completely recovered from a broken neck suffered in an accident last year.

I noticed in the paper where Joe Breig of Cleveland spoke in Chicago recently on the subject "How to Go to Heaven—Easy."

Bernie Garber passed along some information about three classmates from whom he had heard recently. He sent his earlier letters to our Secretary, Leo McIntyre. Leo J. Rozum wrote to Bernie under the letterhead Rozum Motor Co., Mercury, Ford and Lincoln, Mitchell, South Dakota. Leo has two boys, 9 and 12, who expect to go to Notre Dame. Leo said he would try to attend the 25-year reunion. Harold Miller wrote from Anaheim, California, where he is office manager for C. W. Wise & Sons, a trucking firm specializing in citrus hauling. Harold indicated he would like to hear from Art Stenius. He hoped to see some of the classmates before the Southern California game, and indicated he will be sure to make the 25-year reunion. Ed Finn wrote from Salida, Colorado, that he hopes to see a lot of the fellows at our 25th reunion.

Although acknowledgments have been sent to each, Bernie Garber says "Thank you" again to the 54 men of the '28 class who have contributed $252 to the class fund. Donations have ranged from one to twenty dollars.

Eugene Farrell of Harrisburg, Pa., announced in October that he would leave Harrisburg in the near future to join the executive staff of the Newhouse newspaper group. This would entail work in New York and New Jersey, as well as Harrisburg.

DEATHS

John H. Conlon from Ann Arbor, Mich., died recently following a short illness. He had been with the Monroe, Mich., Paper Co. previous to his death. While at the University John was active and popular in many things including track. He won monograms as a hurdler. He is survived by his wife and two children.

Sympathies are extended to Judge H. Edward Steinbacher after receiving the sad news that his father died on August 17 in South Haven, Mich.

1931

James T. Doyle, Secretary
6457 N. Bell Ave.
Chicago 45, Ill.

Since publication of the last issue of the ALUMNUS, I have received several interesting letters. This is indeed encouraging, and, if this response continues at an increasing rate, we will have no difficulty presenting a top-notch column every other month. Many who attended the reunion dinner promised to write occasionally, so I am looking forward to a large amount of news for the next issue.

Jim McQuaid writes: "Today the ALUMNUS arrived and we read it immediately. I was so glad to hear about so many of the boys who were not able to make the Reunion in June . . . you are doing a grand job of getting news in the 1931 column . . . keep it up. Business has been very slow, but I am hoping it will pick up soon. We are planning to get out letters again about subscriptions, and the lists we got at school this summer will certainly help to bring our file up to date. As I have mentioned in a note to you at the office, Marie and I are planning to go to the SMU game, so look me up if you can . . . I will be in the usual platform for the wheelchairs on the field . . . or perhaps we can manage to run into you at the Cafeteria on Saturday morning. I got up to school again for the Retreat in August . . . that was a wonderful experience . . . I wish sometime you could manage to come down for those four days . . . it is wonderful! Best wishes from Marie and myself, and we hope to see you soon."

I recently received some mail from Jim showing him on the phone soliciting subscriptions for periodicals. I think each and everyone of us can greatly increase his business by sending all new subscriptions or renewals for office and home through Mac's Magazine Rack, 28 North Fifth Street, Vincennes, Indiana.

Martin Wider, Detroit, Michigan, writes: "Just a note on our situation here. We see Matt Garrigan regularly. Matt has his own insurance agency and is an ardent football fan. Joe Carey's ('32) four offspring mix with our eight regularly. We have four in Gesu School, as have the Careys. Other Notre Dame children attending Gesu are Dan Henry, Jack Breen, Art Cronin, Bert Bauer, Mal Knaus, and Bill Storen. Also in the parish are Lou Malone, Jim O'Brien, and several others I can't recall. We have five boys and three girls, four of whom are redheads. Enjoyed hearing of F. X. Murphy, Carl Garmsen, (but what happened to O'Hara—Oh, those summers at St. Edwards), Tex Brieger, Emil Telfel, Bob Newton, Joe Blaney, Bob Cunningham, Morris Leahy, and Frank Holland. I wish I could have seen everyone, but missed the Reunion waiting for Bob, our latest arrival. I'm still with Detroit Edison. My brother "Mac," class of '28, is in Huron, South Dakota, with Standard Oil." Thanks, Mart, for a nice letter.

Thomas Golden, late of Australia, and who is now in Butte, Montana, writes: "I was delighted to see so much '31 news in the ALUMNUS. I have just about lost track of all Notre Dame men. When I was discharged from the Navy in '45, I went back to Notre Dame for a Master's in Education. While I was there, our class had its fifteenth reunion, and I enjoyed seeing the fellows. After I received my degree, I went to Sydney, Australia, to marry the girl whom I met in '42 (down there). Everyone told her that Yank would never come back, but she waited, and we were married in December, 1947. We lived very happily for two years, during which time she presented me with a wonderful son. Late in '49, things began to happen. An old injury which I received in the Navy, when I was blown off the superstructure of the cruiser, developed into arthritis of the spine and Parkinson's Disease, which is incurable and progressive. In May, 1950, my lovely wife died of an acute cardiac disease, and at that time the baby was just over twelve months old. In October of that year, I left Sydney with the baby on the "Oarangi," which goes to Vancouver. Had a great time taking care of the baby for over three weeks. He was fifteen months old, and I had wet diapers from one end of the ship to the other. On the way back from Australia, I radioed to Tom Flynn at Honolulu and asked him to get hold of my old roommate, but he was in the States at the time. Tom took David and me to the Pacific Club for dinner. We met his wife, and after dinner they drove us out to their house, which is certainly a show place. Mrs. Flynn took complete charge of David, which was a relief to me. Tom and his wife are most charming and I am deeply grateful to them for the wonderful way we were received. Tom gave me his mother's phone number, and when I was in Chicago, I called Mrs. Flynn, and was invited out to dinner. It has all turned out pretty well. My sister and her husband have adopted my son, David. I am not too well, having spent some time at the Veterans' Hospital here, and am now supposed to be totally disabled. I plan on going back to Australia."

Tom Golden's present address is 1101 West Broadway, Butte, Montana. I imagine he would like to hear from some of his classmates.

George Kavanaugh from Mansfield, Ohio, announces the birth of his first born—a boy, on September 17th, in Mansfield, Ohio. They have named him Dennis Andrew Kavanaugh.

Henry G., the famous "Red" O'Connell, of Howard Hall, and now living in Skokie, Illinois, is the father of another baby boy.

Ray Collins called to advise that Jerry Desmond is now living in Grand Junction, Michigan. Gil Seaman had as his recent dinner guest, Dr. Maurice Regan. Maurice is in Chicago to attend a special course in surgery at Cook County Hospital. While here, his wife presented him with a baby daughter. They have two other babies. It was certainly a nice way to take care of his best patient.

Bill Bromann, '30, told me that he and his wife had recently entertained the George Winklers, who were in from New York City recently. Bill reports favorably on George—that he has no gray hairs and has not changed since his days at Morrissey Hall. Eddie Ryan reported seeing Ernie McGlove and Father Doremus at the Indiana Game.

While on a recent vacation trip, I stopped to see Tom Monahan in Arcola, Illinois. It was my first visit there since participating in their wedding several years ago. My wife and I had a very pleasant visit with Mary Monahan and their four children. The boys insisted that I take Tom's place on the volunteer fire department, but fortunately it was just a prairie fire and my services were not required.

We stopped at Mattoon and saw Paul Grant and his wife. He told me I had been roundly denounced as new class secretary by the Henneberger, Grant, Monahan committee as a result of the slip-up which resulted in no news in the July issue of the ALUMNUS.

In Nashville, we had quite a visit with Fred Swint. Due to his wife and two children being ill with severe strep infections, we did not get to see them. He sees "Red" Wells—the "Nashville beer tycoon" frequently. "Red" happened to be in St. Louis at that time, and I certainly missed seeing the old flash of Badin Hall. How about a note one of these days, "Red"? Drop us a line.

It is with deep regret that I received a letter from Mrs. Ray Manix, informing of the death of her husband on June 3, 1931. Ray suffered a heart attack on May 2nd, and died at Wayne Hospital nine days later. Please remember him in your prayers. I have written Father Bourke Motsett, requesting Masses for Ray and Thaddeus Goukowski, who died last August. Ray had been connected with the Manix Brothers Construction Company for the last eight years. He is survived by his widow, Mary, and four children.

Last Saturday, I attended the Purdue Game, and made a complete circuit of the stadium between halves. This was the first time that I failed to meet at least one of our classmates attending the game. I would like to have letters from any of you who have attended, or may attend the remaining games, giving news of any people you may or did run into.

Paul Belden was at the SMU game with his wife, and said he would be back for the reunion in the spring.

Baden Powell writes: "Regarding our reunion plans for next year, I'd like to suggest that we invite Bishop Loras Lane to celebrate our class Mass, and have Father Paul Hallinan, Father Frank Gartland, C.S.C., and any other priests from our class on hand.

"Had a swell letter from Bishop Lorry a few days ago commenting on a few words he wrote in my 1932 DOME that I reminded him about. At that time he was president of the Iowa Club, and I was the V.P. He said something to the effect that he would like to have me as "vice-president of my future organization." As you probably know, he is now President of Loras College in Dubuque, so I wrote applying for the job. He wrote that the job would be mine in a hurry, but that I'd have to turn my collar around. Unfortunately, Lucy did not take to the idea, so I declined.

"Ed Mehren is publisher of 'TV-Time,' a local (Los Angeles) magazine for TV viewers; and it's really a slick sheet, the best in Hollywood.

PAUL F. BERGER

Mr. Paul F. Berger of Pasadena, California, and a member of the Class of '20, is the first Westerner ever elected national president of the Tax Executives Institute, Inc. He was elected to this position at the Institute's convention at Bretton Woods, N. H., September 13.

The Institute is formed to encourage closer understanding between government and industrial-business tax officials on tax problems.

Berger, tax specialist at Lockheed Aircraft Corp., is also chairman of the tax committees of the Aviation Industries Association and Southern California Council of the California Chamber of Commerce.

the highlights of the week will be a presentation of Rockne, the Man, on the Family Theatre, over the entire Mutual Broadcasting System. This was made possible by Father Pat Peyton, C.S.C., '37, and Father Jerry Lawyer, C.S.C., '35. Pat O'Brien will play the part of Rock. I think the Family Theatre should be given wider publicity because of the ND flavor of its programs and the excellent productions it presents.

"Jerry Conway has moved his brain and typewriter to KNX-TV, the CBS-TV outlet here, to publicize the goings on of CBS programs, and is doing a very nice job.

"Ran into Bob Leppert and son a few weeks ago at Mass. Bob has not been too well lately but looked fine when I saw him.

"Jack Werner is still in Japanese waters, and is carrying the burden of being promoted to Lt. Commander. Bentley Ryan is busy at his law practice here, and, with Ben Salvaty, Pat Locken, Bill Corr, Jack Naftzger, Leo Schiavone and Jack Skeehan, is expected at our dinner."

Word has been received that Frank J. Kelly, 438 S. River St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is in the Army (Engineers) in Guam.

That about does it for this issue. I'll sign off with another reminder of our class reunion coming this summer on June 6, 7, and 8. If there's any more suggestions like Baden Powell's let's have them. And start making your plans now for our twentieth.

1935

Franklyn C. Hochreiter, Secretary
1327 Pentwood Road
Baltimore 12, Maryland

Here we are again fellas, and there is ABSOLUTELY nothing to report from the mails, as no mail arrived since our last trip in press. "Wha' happen"? Of course we could tell a few stories or make up some tales about you, but that would only cost the Alumni Office newsprint, and wouldn't be particularly informative.

Our one salvation was the Navy weekend here in Baltimore, when at least five of our mob came to town. We can't tell you about more because we didn't see any others that we recall. Charlie Bragg and Arnold Morrison called us at home when they got in, and then participated in the festivities. Your scribe and Mrs. Hoch happened to be together for a few moments at the Cocktail Party, and met Mama Bragg. (Incidentally, Charlie, that was one of the few moments we saw the other half of our family over the weekend.)

Arnold didn't think we would recognize him when we bumped into one another at the Rally on Friday night. Except for a little more weight, there was no change. That Bragg man, however, lost some hair, we think.

Joe Conlon didn't miss a trick over the weekend. Our only regret is that we saw him each time on the run. Wish we could at least have had a full drink together, Joe. Physical change on Conlon—distinctive grey hair! Hope you fellas had a big time in Baltimore. We saw Ned Rowan at the Rally, but had no chance to speak to him; and candidate Jack Duffey flew over for a quick "hello." Hope all '35ers vote for Jack for the Alumni Board.

Frank O'Brien, '34, collared us after the Cocktail Party and passed on some nice words about the '35 column, which we very much appreciated. We didn't know we had any readers outside our own class who would bother to read our dribble. (Mansfield, let's combine our work!)

We wonder if a lot of other '35ers came to the game who didn't show up at either the Rally or Cocktail Party. Frank Holahan had us reserve rooms for him weeks in advance, and then never turned up.

From our own Baltimore crowd there was only Roy Scholz from our class around at the parties. Bob Barry hasn't attended one of our affairs in years. Incidentally, Bob was married about a year ago. We had hoped that might get him out. Gene O'Brien was likewise conspicuous in his absence, though we understand he did some private entertaining at his home Saturday night. Roy, the last time we saw him at the Cocktail Party was drumming up trade for a party at his home. We wonder if Bill Coyne, '27, et al, made it? You all remember Bill—he and wife, Eleanor, and son, Michael, came over for the game. Bill is now with the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, and is fatter than when we last saw him. That means he and your scribe are similar in two regards—frequency of job changes and over-all weight.

That's it, gang! How about a few letters so we can keep this bi-monthly stint alive?

A. H. "Lee" Moorman, Jr., Secretary
1708 Industrial Bank Building
Detroit 26, Michigan

The new secretary has received many congratulatory letters from his classmates on his "election." One of the nicest, a postcard, came from Joe McMahon. Friend Joe stated: "... It was a frame, and I am changing to the Class of 1937." Joe is the FBI representative of Chicago, Illinois.

"Ken" Laws sent in a nice letter, and has promised to help out frequently. He asked about Fred Cox, whom he hasn't seen since completion of their training at Northwestern Medical; also about Ed Daley, reported practicing in Oldenburg, Indiana; Lindell Kinman, Bill White and Bill MacDonald, practicing in St. Louis; and about Ed Owens, who, according to information available, is residing in Denver, Colorado. Ken's address is 501 Lafayette-Life Building, Lafayette, Indiana.

Local experts credit Earl "Dutch" Clark and "Wally" Fromhart with a splendid coaching and rebuilding job at the University of Detroit. The Detroit-Notre Dame game attracted a 56,000 capacity crowd. Father John Cavanaugh was the honored guest at a pre-game reception at the Detroit Athletic Club arranged by co-chairmen Hugh Dean and Art Cronin. On hand to meet Father Cavanaugh, and perhaps talk the President out of a couple of Michigan State-Notre Dame tickets, were Detroit's civic and business leaders. Among those who came to Detroit for the game were Ed Dunn, Luke Teirnan, Art Mulholland, John Cackley and John Burns.

Adelbert "Bert" Baur has been promoted to Eastern Division General Sales Manager for the Uarco Corporation. Bert takes on his new job in January and will be located in Danbury, Connecticut. The word is that he has purchased a 250-acre estate with a manor house and several outhouses. All members of the class are invited to visit him at their earliest convenience. Jim Sherry, Art Cronin and Gene Tobin "relaxed" this summer for 10 days on the S.S. Sykes, the largest ore carrier on the Great Lakes. The sailor boys reported that, in addition to iron, the Sykes was well loaded with corn, rye and vermouth ore.

Bob Ervin, the Assistant Director of LOBUND, Notre Dame, Indiana, and your Secretary are asking for the cooperation of the class in order to establish a Mass Fund for class members, their families and friends; to stimulate interest in keeping abreast of members' activities; and to start planning for a banner turnout for the Twenty-Year Reunion. As those who attended the reunion know, Bob Ervin is the one primarily responsible for arranging the Friday evening buffet and the Saturday luncheon. Handling the details meant a lot of work and worry and deprived Bob of a lot of time he should have had to spend with his friends. This opportunity is being taken, on behalf of the entire class, to thank Bob for his contribution which helped so materially to make the reunion an outstanding success for those who attended.

Belated reunion notes collected by Dr. "Leo" Hofshneider: George Miller, Penn, North Dakota, is the father of five children, and, in addition to such duties, is also the Superintendent of Schools. George would like to hear from Joe Mansfield. Larry Palkovic, looking just the

JOHN A. SCOTT

Congratulations are in order for John A. Scott, '38, of South Bend, Ind., upon his election as Mayor in that city. Mayor Scott, the Republican nominee, came out on top in the election of Nov. 6. His term of office will commence on January 1, 1952. Scott won in a very close race over George A. Schock, '18, the Democratic incumbent.

Scott originally came from Bantam, Conn., and West Sand Lake, N. Y., but moved to South Bend in 1928. There he attended Central High School and received from Notre Dame a degree of bachelor of arts.

He served for five years as a Marine in World War II, and for a year in the present war. He has been public relations director of the South Bend city schools, and personnel director of the Tribune.

Scott was named Man of the Year in 1949 by the South Bend Junior Association of Commerce. He has been active in many and varied local and national organizations. Some of these are the Elks, Sojourners, American Legion, Masons, Marine Corps League, Parent-Teacher Association, Boy Scouts and the Notre Dame Club of St. Joe Valley.

Scott is married and the father of two daughters.

same, is a grocery store owner in Johnston, New York. Leo McFarlane, Lansing, Michigan, is with the Oldsmobile Division, General Motors Corporation. "Woody" Stillwagon is the Personnel and Labor Relations Director of Shelbuer Corporation, Mount Vernon, Ohio. "Connie" Byrne, who has turned out to be quite a golf player, is teaching Accounting at Villanova College. Leon Hufnagel is an architect in Clarion, Pennsylvania. Jerry Vogel has two children and is the owner of a theater in South Bend, Indiana. Frank Kopczak is coaching St. Rita High School in Chicago, Illinois. Al Kolka is a Director of Research of the Ethyl Corporation, Detroit, Michigan. Fred and Louis Gabriel are practicing medicine: Fred in Erie, and Louis in Eldred, Pennsylvania.

Independent Pneumatic Tool Co., Aurora, Illinois, announces that William V. "Bill" Shakespeare has been appointed sales manager of the export division of the company. Shakespeare has been connected with this company since his graduation from ND. He has traveled for the company as an Export Field Engineer throughout Latin America, North Africa and the Middle East. As Export Sales Manager, Bill will supervise all Thor export branches and subsidiaries in England, Belgium, South America, South Africa, and Mexico.

Capt. Ed Fischer, late of the U. S. Army (HG, 5th Army, Chicago) is back on the "Call Me Mister" status after a tour of reserve duty as a Public Information Officer in Chicago. Ed, an assistant professor of Journalism at the University, got a bruising sendoff from the U. S. Army on Oct. 19, when an Army car he was riding in clipped off a furlong or so of guard rails along Chicago's Outer Drive.

The car was wrecked, and so was Ed's right wrist; but nobody had such profuse medical attention, and immediately.

Directly behind Ed's sedan was a busload of Army surgeons who gave him several hundred dollars worth of medical counsel right on the spot. Before an ambulance was even thought of, Capt. Ed thought he was in the midst of a medical convention.

Our fifteen-year reunion will be held this summer on June 6, 7, and 8. We'll have to make it a bang-up affair with 100 per cent attendance. There will be more news on it later, but right now we must form committees and get some plans. If there are any suggestions, send them in. And especially, start making your plans now to attend.

1939

Vince DeCoursey, Secretary
1917 Elizabeth
Kansas City 2, Kansas

Your scribe's report is a little short as we have been a little more busy than usual with the confusion attending our fifth boy who arrived home last week and has demanded no little attention—mostly keeping the four older ones from playing football with him.

Have had a couple letters from Dick Anton; so far the only class officer to come through. Dick's third girl arrived in October to keep his only boy company.

Father Keller addressed a local manufacturers association meeting and made a most favorable impression for the University.

During the Kansas City flood, Dave Meskill was between planes and gave me a ring. It being impossible to cross what was then laughingly referred to as a river, we couldn't get together, but he passed on the interesting information that Don O'Melia had his seventh on the way. Dave is sales manager of G.E. Fan Division.

Saw Frank Parks' name in the Dairy Record as one of the incorporators of a new dairy firm in Rice Lake, Wisconsin, and he replied to my note, congratulating him on leaving the evil of law and embracing a nice clean field in dairying, in most insulting terms. This is the first year we haven't seen Frank at one of the games, and it's my fault; he said he had some refreshment ready at the Southern Methodist affair.

Jim Gillis, '51, passed through here on his way to California. Jim played ball with the Salina (Kansas) Western League team last summer, but was looking for another location when I talked to him.

From Howard L. Lardie: "I'm just about the same except, like everyone else, getting older. My family has been well and growing. Bill, my boy, is now eight years old, and it won't be long until he'll be ready for college. Give my regards to Bob Cahill, Herb Jones and Co. . . . I hope to be back for my 15th reunion in 1954."

Chicago 28, Illinois

To Jim Armstrong:

" . . . Beginning January first we are making our final move. I've taken a position with the Colorado Springs Medical Center, in Colorado Springs, and will do Pediatrics. Rita and I have adopted twin girls . . ." Sincerely, Dom Judge, M.D., Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota.

James F. McVay advises the Alumni Office he has moved to 4 Nookside Lane, Bradford, Pa. They also have a son, Patrick Kevin, born on Sept. 18.

That's all the news for this issue, but there is plenty our class must do. Our reunion will be held this summer on June 6, 7, and 8. There will be lots more words on everything later, but now we have to start forming committees and making lots of plans. If you have any ideas send them in. Especially start making your plans now to attend this, our tenth year get-together.

The football season has brought its usual higher return in the class correspondence, so let's get right to the letters. First, in answer to a plea to Frank Ebner to mail the column a report on the Detroit game, I was the recipient of a newspaper clipping from the Detroit Free Press which described the wedding of Frank to Dorothy Frances Mace on October 6, the day after the Detroit game. Frank and his bride honeymooned in Washington and Virginia.

The next item received was a press release from the Wage Stabilization Board in Chicago. It read: "Appointment of Ray J. Schoonhoven as chief rulings and opinions attorney for the Wage Stabilization Board at Chicago was announced by Samuel Edes, Regional Director.

"He will head a staff of attorneys who will interpret the wage stabilization laws and regulations as they apply to wage increase applications of employers in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

"Schoonhoven comes to Chicago WSB from Seyfarth, Shaw, and Fairweather, 231 S. LaSalle St., a law firm specializing in labor relations."

From Bill Middendorf comes a review of the SMU game. "Went to the SMU game (ugh!) and saw quite a few of the 1943 boys, plus others. Went with Earl Englert to the Oliver before the game; it was full of the Texas crowd—10-gallon hats and all. Ran into John Scherer there.

"On campus I saw Bill Johnson and Don Kutz. Outside Gate 14, I saw Jack Hynes, now a First Looie in the Air Force. Dick Doermer and Artie Hulfman, both Fort Wayne boys, came over for the game. Next, I ran into Frank Kaiser, whose wife Jane was home with their second son, born recently. Frank said that Bill Warnick was somewhere on campus, but I missed him. Frank said that he had seen Charlie O'Leary at the Indiana game. Jack Ries and his wife were up from Indianapolis; Jack is now with Philco. Jim Delaney and Clay Lambert were there, as was Dick Creevy. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lewis up from St. Louis with the news that Leo is now a banker with the Mercantile Trust Company there.

Sam Molter (the legal eagle) still practices in Goodland, Indiana, and I wish he'd drive up to Fort Wayne sometime for a visit. At a recent meeting of our ND Club, I talked with Ed Hoch, Bob O'Rielly, and Jim Pointsatte—all '43 boys.

Had a happy coincidence the day after the SMU game: From a distance on campus I spotted Bill Tracy of New York, but didn't get a chance to speak. On Sunday I went to our corner ice cream store in Fort Wayne, and in walked Bill. We had a brief but enjoyable chat . . ."

Bill Middendorf then went into the conversation he and Bill Tracy had about the game, and some of the classmates. Since Bill Tracy has obliged with a letter this month, we'll lateral the ball to him from Middendorf:

Tracy writes: "I took time out from my duties with the FBI in New York to attend the ND-SMU game. The game was interesting, although the outcome was grim. I ran into Jim Delaney in South Bend, and the old shot putter and I had a nice chat. I believe Jim said he was living in Grand Rapids, Michigan. My trip was a hurried one, but I did see Ed Ostroski and George Sobek. I met Bill Middendorf in Fort Wayne on my way home to New York. Bill looked great; he is with Burroughs. He is the father of four children.

"On my last visit to Notre Dame, in June, I had a long chat with Ed Krause, and I spoke briefly with Frank Leahy.

My brother, Joe, intends to take the step on December 29 here in New York. His intended is Rosemary Guiney, a Mt. St. Vincent gal. Jim Godfrey is flying in from St. Louis to be in the wedding party. Joe continues to do well in the law business. Joe, Frank Kunkel, and I intend to take in the Navy game at Baltimore. I hope to see some of the boys down in Baltimore."

Bill, we hope that you will send another report after the Navy game.

I had a note from Brother Pat, the rector of Brownson in our days. He is now at St. Edward's University in Austin, Texas. You can reach him: Brother Patrick Cain, C.S.C., St. Edward's University, Austin, Texas. It appears as if all these Yankees infiltrating into Texas might be able to re-enter the Republic of Texas into the Union some day!

DIED

FATHER SCHULTE, C.S.C.

Rev. Frederick J. Schulte, c.s.c., class of '27, succumbed to a lengthy illness on October 3.

Born in Detroit, Michigan, Sept. 10, 1902, Father Schulte entered the congregation in 1919 and was ordained in 1931. From 1931 until 1946 he was a member of the Holy Cross mission band. He was pastor of Holy Cross Church in South Bend from 1946 until last July.

To the surviving members of his family, to the members of his parish, and to the many friends who knew and loved Father Schulte, the ALUMNUS offers its deepest sympathy.

Bill Middendorf (2305 Westbrook Drive, Fort Wayne, Indiana) would like to know the whereabouts of George "Rock" McQuiston. He thinks Hans Helland might be able to help him out. If so, Hans, drop Bill a postcard.

First Lt. Robert T. Murnane, formerly a member of the staff of Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, has assumed his duties as an internist at the Air Force Hospital at St. John's, Newfoundland, according to a news release from Pepperrell Air Force Base.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bruce Kunkel, Martha, Oct. 14.

George A. Bariscillo, Jr., Secretary
515 Fifth Avenue
Bradley Beach, New Jersey

Last issue's deadline had just passed when Bob ("WND") Martina's welcome report arrived in to your secretary, so we'll head off the column with Bob's remarks: "The last time you saw me and vice versa, was in Alumni Hall in the Fall of 1948. You met my wife-to-be then, only you didn't know it at that time. She is now my wife, the former Pauline Dougherty, ex-Navy flight-nurse. We have an addition to the family, namely Robert John II who is now 20 months old and doing fine. We arrived at NAS Barbers Point, T. H., on July 23 of this year for a tour of duty. I am assigned to GCA Unit 22 aboard the Air Station. We came from Washington, D. C., where we spent about 3 years. I was assigned to the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

"During the past two years I have heard from George Charters who lives in Oregon. I don't have his exact address with me, but for the moment Oregon is good enough. I also had a letter from Ed Sochalski, "Sock," as he is better known. He has an addition to his family, and has taken over his father's business. His father has been deceased for over two years. I haven't heard from John Beyerle for some time. We invited him down to Washington, D. C., last year, but he didn't make it. He said he was about to buy a car and take a trip east. I don't know where he is at present, but if you contact him in any way, tell him he owes me a letter. I haven't heard from Dan Tomcik for some time; he has a boy now, and I believe that he lives in South Bend.

"I have over seven years in the Navy now, and just recently received a promotion to full Lieut.; railroad tracks to you. As yet I don't know if I will make the Navy my career or not; I am still in the reserves. I have more or less followed the lines of radio to some extent. This GCA outfit is a radio-radar device for talking down pilots to a landing during instrument weather conditions. I am a final controller and maintenance officer. I have been in this business for about six years now.

"I saw Vail Fischke in Washington, D. C., about a year or so ago. He was working as a radio lawyer. He lived in Washington when Saw Ed Watters at Annapolis in May, '49. He was prof of math there at the Academy. He has a youngster—maybe two or three by now. If and when you see any of the boys, please give them my best."

Carroll Hall-ites, and the many Brothers of Holy Cross who were classmates of ours, will be especially pleased to read the interesting message Brother Roman, C.S.C., passes along: "In the September-October, 1951, issue of the ALUMNUS, I think that your statement, namely: 'Remember, that just as you enjoy reading about what your ND mates are doing, they like hearing about you . . . should be written at the top of every page of the ALUMNUS—for that is very true. So to prove to you that I'm taking your plea seriously—here are a few bits of information on '44ers that I'm aware of.

"This summer—as in past summers—the Brothers of Holy Cross from the Notre Dame, Indiana Providence, conducted a summer camp for boys, called 'Notre Dame Camp,' at Bankson Lake, Lawton, Michigan. At the time I did not realize it—but after glancing over our Class of '44 name list—I now know that the Class was well represented during the past summer on the Staff of ND Camp. It included the following C.S.C. Brothers: Anton (now teaching at Holy Cross High School, New Orleans, La.); Francis Regis (now at Notre Dame H. S., West Haven, Conn.); Gerontius (Principal of Central Catholic H. S., Monroe, Mich.); Roman (at present teaching at Holy Trinity H. S., Chicago, Ill.); Wilbert (now teaching at Vincentian Institute, Albany, N. Y.); and Ellis (Principal of Mt. Carmel H. S., Bronx, N. Y.).

"Other C.S.C. Brothers of the Class of '44 and their places of employment are: Adrian (St. Anthony H. S., Long Beach, Calif.); Andre (Holy Trinity H. S., Chicago, Ill.); Benignus (Gilmour Academy, Gates Mills, Ohio); Cyrilac (St. Anthony H. S., Long Beach, Calif.); Eudes (Monsignor Coyle H. S., Taunton, Mass.); Evan (Community Infirmary, Notre Dame, Ind.); John (Reitz Memorial H. S., Evansville, Ind.); Leonard (Holy Trinity H. S., Chicago, Ill.); Pascal (Cathedral H. S., Indianapolis, Ind.); and Arnel (Principal, St. Thomas School, Brooklyn, N. Y.).

"I'm sure that only a few members of the ND Chicago Alumni group know or realize the fact that Holy Trinity Parish and High School are staffed almost entirely by C.S.C. men and Notre Dame graduates. This is the only parish and high school in Chicago that can make that boast. The pastor of the parish is Rev. S. F. Lisewski, C.S.C., former professor of philosophy at ND. The high school staff is headed by Brother Reginald, C.S.C., former teacher of Math. at our Alma Mater. A Notre Dame football great—Steve Juzwik, '41—is the head coach of the Holy Trinity H. S. football program. His chief scout is Steve Kudlacz, '43.

"Looking over the list of personalities in the Class of '44—I'm curious to know what some of the following inhabitants of (visitors to) old Carroll Hall are now doing, and they are: Nick Amato, Matt Bolger, Orlando Bonicelli, Tom Brennan, Kelly Cook, Jim Cunningham, Cyril Desmet, Ed ('Ace Photographer') Drinkard, Bob ('Ace basketball player') Faught, James Joyce, Creighton Miller, Johnny Morrison, Ed Nugent, Larry Schatzlein, Frank Stumpf, Omer Sturm, Frank Vignola, Norbert Wiekilinski, Harry Yeates, and others. (Ed. Note: aforementioned gentlemen, please take note and oblige your scribe with status reports). I hope these gentlemen of the Class of '44 and others co-operate with you to make your column in each issue of the ALUMNUS not only the longest, but also, the most interesting and jam-packed with news and briefs. It is the column of the CLASS of 1944—and as I often tell my students: 'It is up to you to toot your own horn—don't expect others to toot it for you!'"

Many thanks to Brother Roman for taking time from his busy schedule to enlighten us. Trust his closing words will not be taken lightly. Don't freeze me out in Jan. & Feb., men. Earnestly need and appreciate your "coop"; so WRITE!

Rev. Donald (John) Baydik, O.S.B., sends along his best regards to all '44ers and advises: "Last August fifth, my Abbot appointed me as an assistant at St. Andrew's church here in Cleveland (1447 East 51st St.). And the rectory here has two guest rooms. So, if you or any of the other 1944 boys ever step in Cleveland do not hesitate to drop in and share some Benedictine hospitality. The telephone number is HEnderson 1-2057."

FACTS, NOT FICTION . . . John Beyerle was married Sept. 15 to Eleanor Emily Gutsky at Blessed Sacrament Church, Cleveland. . . . Jack and Gloria McKenna are the parents of John Timothy, born Sept. 26. . . . Rev. Lawrence Broughal, C.S.C., is now at Princeton Univ., chaplain at Our Lady of Princeton where ND student priests taking special courses at the Ivy League school reside. . . . "Class Secretary Emeritus" Bill Talbot, whose title is now Editor at Samuel French (play-publishing house in N. Y.) was introduced to the Jersey Shore recently when he visited your secretary. . . . Credit for fathering the following info belongs to said Bill Talbot:

"At the NY Club meeting in September: Jim Gibbons, John Murphy, Jim Brady, Joe Gallagher, Danny Stevens, Andy Barbieri, Bill Rogers, Jack Sullivan, Bill O'Connor, John Duffy, Walter Donnelly ('Bud'), Bill Talbot. About 8 of the lads had dinner together before the meeting. Richard Sullivan, English prof, who attended the meeting to describe his new book, 'Notre Dame,' sat with the horde of '44. Jack Zilly spoke a few words at the behest of Jack Lavelle, toastmaster and raconteur of renown. . . . Bill Tully was eliminated in the national tennis championships at Forest Hills by Gardner Malloy, 6-3, 6-1, 8-6. Bill is one of the first ten ranking players in the east. Incidentally, Tully is the father of Bill, Jr., who checked in not too many weeks ago. . . . Jack Herlihy is with an advertising firm in N. Y., and going places. . . . John Duffy reports his boy, Patrick, was seven full months old in September, and that both Bob and Dan Casey, Jersey Side, have young'uns now a year old. . . . Also that Larry Schatzlein has reentered the Navy, and is now with an intelligence outfit in Japan. . . . Also that nobody has seen hide nor hair of George (Jim) Sullivan since his marriage. . . . Nor of Eddie Dowling for the past nine months. . . . Ed Meagher is on the editorial staff of 'Commonweal'."

Your secretary was pleased to have attended in September the Notre Dame Law Association Annual Luncheon in conjunction with the American Bar Association Convention. This year the luncheon-meeting was at the Biltmore in N. Y. and honored guest and speaker was Cardinal Spellman. The University was well-represented: Fathers O'Toole, Kenna, and Hesburgh; Dean Manion and Bob Sullivan, Law School prof. Joe Gallagher was there, too!

The column is seasoned with an international flavor as Dick "Cactus" Leon fills us in with ND news beyond the Rio Grande: "Was pleased to see that my little boy got his first 'blow' from the ND ALUMNUS. Little Tommy is now three months old and will be started on music lessons (how to sing the "Victory March") shortly.

Some news from Mexico City Notre Dammers—Harry "Red" Sullivan, originally from N. Y., has been living down here for three years, married Mary Jane McGrath of Boston two and a half years ago; they are expecting a baby in December. . . . Dick Bernard, '46, married and has a little girl. . . . Oscar Garza, '27, Leon, Gto. (that's up north from here) plans to attend his 25th reunion (secty. of '27 take note). . . . Met an ND of the class of '50 the other day. Paul Bush, I believe his name is—very nice guy. . . . Certainly get a kick out of reading the column you write and would appreciate news of Frank "Happy" Groves, Tommy "Tex" Shannayder, Pete Ashbaugh, Dick Vanderweegen, Pat Brennan, Andy Murphy, and the other Breephillips boys of 1940-41. . . . Harry Newning, '15, sends his regards to his classmates."

"Cactus" and your secty. met in Manila in 1945 and along with other ND men of recent and not-so-recent vintage were royally feted by the ND Club of Manila, an experience that will never be forgotten, and just one more manifestation of that intangible "something" that binds together the Notre Dame Family, irrespective of race, creed, color, or era.

As sleigh bells begin and Christmas card jingles start jingling, Bill Talbot rings the bell with this pre-reunion jingle:

"Back for more
In fifty-four!"

Signed,
The horde of Forty-four.

Your scribe wishes YOU and YOURS a very joyous Christmas and New Year and hopes each '44er resolves to lighten this writer's column chores with at least one message in the new year!

Signed, Christmas-sealed, and delivered.

George

According to a press release received at the University, Philip E. Ryan, of Arlington, Va., sailed from Germany for New York. With him are his wife, two children and mother-in-law. Phil had been in Germany three years.

William E. Ross has been appointed staff assistant to the Vice-President in charge of RCA Victor's Consumer Products, Camden, New Jersey.

Joe Christen, '44, writes from Pittsburgh that he has recently accepted a position with the Lummus Company in New York City.

"PEACE ON EARTH TO MEN OF GOOD WILL"

Another year has passed and again the Yuletide Season is with us. A Merry Merry Christmas to all you happy gentlemen of the class; greetings to your families and loved ones. May the coming year bring health and success to all Notre Dame men, especially to the men of the class of '45. To all of YOU, from your secretary, a sincere wish for a New Year filled with real contentment, peace, and personal happiness.

DID YOU KNOW THAT . . .

Y. . . . that he and his wife, Jean, are parents of Mary Beth (4) and Michael (2) . . . that Bill spent four years at Marquette Dental School and two years on Guam with the Navy . . . that last year's Michigan State football game saw Bill visiting the campus . . . that Jerome F. Cordes is an instructor in the Department of Internal Medicine at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Michigan . . . that Jerome, who is still as single as a dollar, was surprised to see the new Farley hall, and to find Brownson and Carroll Halls non-existent (Jerry actually belonged with the class of '43 but since he received his degree in 1945 we're happy to have him as one of the honored members!!) . . . that Larry Madigan, '49, who works in my group at the Sperry Gyroscope Company in Great Neck, has been sent to Boston on a temporary assignment of two or three months . . . that he joined Sperry's a year ago and is doing technical engineering writing, preparing Air Force manuals on secret or classified projects . . . that another ND man who has joined the Sperry roster is big John Wiethoff, '44 . . . that John is in the Engine Analyzer engineering group . . . that Doctor Gerald E. Cosgrove is a practicing physician in Klamath Falls, Oregon . . . that he and his wife, Marion, are proud parents of Nancy (5), David (3), and Mary (1) . . . that Gerry was back to ND several times to visit relatives in South Bend . . . that even though Gerry was originally of the '42 class, we're proud to have him in '45 since that was when he received his degree . . . that the facts YOU send in for this section will be appreciated.

LETTERS FROM DEPARTMENT

From Dave Condon:

"I returned to the Chicago Tribune after being on a leave of absence from April 1949 to April 1950, during which time I was in New Mexico. While out there I saw Sam Adelo, class of '45, at Pecos. He has been teaching at Northwestern and was in Pecos for the summer. Met Joe Chandler Ryan in Albuquerque where he is practicing law and where Bruce Hebenstreit, '42, is making a big name as a contractor (he has put up several housing additions): Was at the district basketball tournament in Las Vegas when I bumped into Alfred Ortiz, '44, who had come over to cheer for Santa Fe.

"Around Chicago, I generally see 'Scoop' Scanlan. I talked to my old pals, Bill Brown and Frank Kent (Frank roomed with me) recently, but haven't seen them. Got a soda out at Ziggy Czarobski's one night, and we spent the evening cutting up old touches. Unfortunately, I weigh as much as Ziggy. . . . It really is good to read the ALUMNUS and see how many ND fellows are doing well. Hope that you are having lots of luck, pal, and keep up the good work." (Dave is happily married, and he and his wife, Patricia, are proud Mama and Papa to Kathleen (2½) and Barbara (1). He can be reached at the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. Good luck to you, Dave!!)

From Thomas W. Kane, Jr.:

"Emmitt Jennings was in New York for the World Series last year, combining the trip with a honeymoon. His charming wife, Laura, hails from Los Angeles where 'Em' met her while resident physician at Queen of Angels hospital there. On their trip eastward, they stopped in Lansing, Michigan, to visit Emmitt's old roommate, Dick Borgess, '43, and his wife. Dick's home had been in Toledo and later in Chicago (while he worked for Haskins & Sells). Emmitt has returned to his home town of Tucumcari, New Mexico, where he has started general practice.

"Austin Sharp, '44, has completed Medical School at St. Louis University. When last heard of, he was doing intern work there, and until last October he was still in St. Louis.

"Ernie Rauscher is now married and living in Allwood (Clifton) about eight blocks away from my garden apartment. According to the 'Brewer's Digest,' John Koch, ex '42, is now Vice-President, Treasurer, and Advertising Manager of Koch's Brewery in Dunkirk, New York. The following are still working for Haskins and Sells (auditors) in New York:

At the Broad Street office is Tom Hogan, '39; Jim Mahar, '43; Andy McElroy, '45; Jack Ford, '47; and myself. George Burns is at the Park Avenue office."

FLASH

Thomas B. Hogan, '39, was made a partner in Haskins and Sells effective June 1, 1951. His rapid rise to partnership level in twelve short years is a near-record. Dean McCarthy will be happy to hear this news!! (C.P.A. Tom Kane is married and the father of Thomas III (4½), and Robert Bernard (1½). He is an auditor with the firm of Haskins and Sells, and he and his wife, Mary, are living at 50-C Addison Place, Clifton, New Jersey).

From J. Edward Faust, Jr.:

"I am really quite sorry I haven't written sooner. My office and domestic duties have kept me quite busy this winter. As for my business activities, I am now helping to set up a Group Insurance Department for one of the fastest growing multiple insurance companies in the country. I have just recently acquired my second child—a very nice little girl. I hope to be able to see a football game this Fall. How about a game with Ohio State, then you could come and stay with us over the weekend. Many pardons again for not writing sooner." Thank you very much for the invitation, Ed, but it doesn't look right now as if we will travel out Ohio way this Fall. Warmest regards to your wife Kathleen and the two children, Joseph Fenton (2½) and Deborah Marie (1½). Good luck with Farm Bureau Insurance Company. From Father Mark McGrath, C.S.C.:

U. S. Navy Photo

C. D. (Dave) Holman, Jr., class of '40, was sworn in to the rank of Lieutenant Commander, USNR, by the Commandant of the Thirteenth Naval District at a recent ceremony. Lieutenant Commander Holman is on active duty in the Public Information Office of that Naval District.

Prior to his call to active military service, the Lieutenant Commander was on the advertising department of the Portland Oregonian, Portland, Oregon. He formerly lived in Leavenworth, Kansas, starting in newspaper work on the Leavenworth Times.

"Your letter was very welcome. I saw your mention of me in your column, and appreciated a gratitude still retained for a small favor done so long ago.

"I will be in Rome from October on, and write me the date of your stay in Rome I think a semi private audience with the Holy Father may be obtainable.

"Pardon this hasty note—I am off to a few days' journey here in Germany and I want to answer you quickly, even though more briefly than I like to." (Father McGrath's address is Colegio dell' Anima, via della Pace 20, Rome, Italy).

From Bill Bevington:

"Thanks very much for your letter. It must have been here for some time but I just returned last night from a trip.

"When Mr. Brown said that few of his students remained in the strictly aeronautical engineering field, he made a fair prophecy of our class. Probably Cliff Marks is the closest to that ideal. The last time I saw Cliff, we were both working in structures at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. in St. Louis, Mo. He married a fine girl, of course. Since then things have changed a great deal for me. Just about the time you are in Rome I should be ordained deacon, which is the last step preliminary to the priesthood. Our class at the North American College here (which is a seminary for diocesan students of the American clergy) received the very important subdiaconate on July 16th of this year.

"I have heard a little from Joe Haggart who is a father now. Kenny Schultz, the one-hundredth man from the Aero Department, is doubtless still in some type of engineering.

"In Rome there are several other former ND students, mostly Holy Cross men. We have had a few pleasant visits together. Regards to all the class." (Bill's address is North American College, Via dell' Ulmitor 30, Rome, Italy).

LOST AND FOUND

The addresses of the following four men have been impossible to trace. If this notice of appeal fails, the Bureau of Missing Persons will be notified. Anyone knowing the addresses of any of the following, please report by penny postcard to your secretary: Bill Rabbett, Bill Perry, Lowell V. Ward, and George T. Haley.

THE '45 SPOTLIGHT

This month the '45 spotlight falls on one of the most popular of the class. He was born in Chicago, Illinois, in 1922, and attended Loyola Academy there. His high school friends would know who he is because he was very active in football, basketball and boxing while a student.

In 1941 he came to Notre Dame and immediately began to make friends. Two of his roommates, Jim O'Brien and Dave Condon would know who he is—remembering him in intermural competition in baseball, basketball, and football.

Father Kehoe and Mr. McAuliffe would know him immediately. His pal, Bud Malone, would remember his helping hand, especially after those visits across the way to St. Mary's.

We'll all know he's there at the 10-year reunion in 1955, because he's one of the lively spark plugs of the class. And he already has promised to be there.

At present he's working as the Midwest Supervisor of the Babaco Alarm System, Inc.

He's not married, and he writes that his address is 4305 Drexel Blvd., Chicago, Illinois.

If you still are in doubt who he is, phone

This is the season in which we'll have to start planning for our first class reunion coming this summer on June 6, 7, and 8. We'll have to really get to work on forming our committees so that this will be a bang-up affair. You should be getting a letter in the mail with further scoop, but right now let's everyone start making his long-range plans so that we'll all be present. Contact everyone you know from '47 and we'll have a reunion we'll all remember.

Here's the word on a few of the boys:

Dick Martinek is a senior in the Law School at the University and is working at Studebaker's. I visited Jim Larick this summer. He has an important job with the Security Division of the Atomic Energy Commission at their plant in Los Alamos.

From Frank Cacciapaglia "... 'us' is my wife Kitty, our son Tony, nearly four, and our baby Mary Catherine, nearly two. Another child is expected in a few months. Kitty is a convert; was baptized the day before we were married.

"As you can tell from my address, I'm the Washington representative for Schneley Laboratories, Inc., an affiliate of Schenley Industries, Inc., of the whiskey, beer, wine empire. I've been with them since July after being a chemist in the U. S. Food and Drug Administration for three years."

John Ronan was on campus for the SMU game and tells me he is in business with his father in DeKalb, Ill.

Vere Trinkley is with Ball-Band in Tennessee. He makes Chattanooga his home.

Sorry to hear that John Zilly, while playing with the L. A. Rams received an injury that will put him out for the season.

Luis Beltranena is a practicing attorney in Guatemala City, Guatemala. His family now numbers two children.

Rolando Duarte just returned to San Salvador after studying Commerce in London. He is planning on entering business in New York.

Al Fink is in business with his father at the Efengge Electrical Supply Co. in Chicago.

In Chihuahua, Mex., with the U. S. Department of Labor, is Alfredo Ortiz.

At the SMU game also was Jerry Hendel. He is now working throughout Pennsylvania.

Edward J. Sanders, M.D., "since graduating from Creighton Med. school in 1949 (and finishing up my internship) I've been in the Navy again. I think most of us who were pre-meds at Notre Dame in the 1943-45 era of V-12 are back in uniform as medical officers. At present I'm attached to a seaplane tender, a part of the Seventh Fleet. It supports PBM seaplane patrolling of the Red China Coast. My time is up next June, I believe."

William Budd is now a research engineer for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio.

That's it for this time. Let's have a letter for some of you so we can spread the news about the class. And start talking up our reunion.

MARRIAGES

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Styers, Thomas Joseph, Aug. 25, South Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Barlow, Kathleen Marie, July 3, Bridgeport, Conn.

DEATHS

Robert F. Raney died very suddenly of polio on Sunday morning, Sept. 16, in Dayton, Ohio. He had been ill only four days of what was believed the flu. Bob was only 27 and was active in the Dayton Notre Dame Club as its secretary. All prayers for him will be appreciated.

1949

John P. Walker, Secretary
135 S. LaSalle Street
Chicago 3, Illinois

Edward M. Jordanich was promoted to sergeant in the army. He is stationed with the personnel section of the Fifth cavalry regiment in Korea.

From Celestino "Tino" Sierra: ". . . 'On March 31 I took on a Texan for a wife, Mary Ann Hudson of this city (Fort Worth) . . . Jerry Fisch, who is now with Justin Boot Co. here was my best man and Bernie Bradley, '50, was usher . . .'"

William T. Summers has been appointed an assistant football and basketball coach at Framingham (Mass.) High School.

Emmet "Bob" Dalton is with the Travelers Insurance Co. and is now at the Home Office in Hartford, Conn., as a Group Underwriter.

Capt. Charles R. Wagner of South Bend has been assigned to Craig Air Force Base, Alabama, as Senior Auditor for the Resident Auditor.

Louis G. Jeannot, Muskegon, Michigan, will enter his second phase of training this month in Air Force Officer Candidate School at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Harry Johnson, Walkerton, Indiana, is employed as Assistant Mgr. of the Muskin Mfg. Co. in Walkerton.

Dr. Daniel E. Maloney is one of twenty-eight scientists who recently joined the research staff of the Du Pont Company's Polychemicals

Dept. at the Experimental Station at Wilmington, Delaware.

Pete Kernan advises the Alumni Office of his engagement and coming marriage Jan. 19, 1952, to Ann Schaefer in Detroit. He is getting into a real Notre Dame family. Ann and her mother have both taken graduate work at Notre Dame; her father and two uncles received degrees at ND and her brother attended here before and after the war, but finished in their home city. To add a finishing touch Father Frank Cavanaugh, C.S.C., from the University, will marry them.

From Johnny Walker:

The other evening I had supper with four '49ers, Bob Madden, Jim Howard, Tom McNally and Bill Lyman. Tom and Bill have been junketing about in Europe and have now settled down to working for a living. Tom is with the United Press and Bill with a trade paper, "Modena Railroads." Another member of the fourth estate was Jim Howard, currently working as a reporter for the Houston (Texas, that is) Chronicle. Bob Madden is still in the construction business.

Mac Hardisty sends the following letter: "I am now in Louisville working as production scheduler for Jefferson Qm. Depot across the river from Louisville. I have two children, Mark, a boy, and Melanie, a girl who was born September 13, 1951. I ran into Jim Miller, '49, and Bill Anhalt, '51, in Louisville and we have had a couple of get-togethers. They are in the armed forces stationed near Fort Knox, Ky." Mac's address is 1125 Forest, Louisville, Ky.

And from Tom McGuire: "Just in case anyone of the class of '49 would be interested, my wife and I had a son, August 18—Thomas J. III. Looks like another ND man. Incidentally, my wife is the former Peggy Collins, ex '48, from St. Mary's."

Bob Giachetti announces the arrival of a daughter, Linda Rose, who was born at 8:41 p.m. on September 27. Future St. Mary's class of '73, says Bob.

Mrs. Donald Corcoran drops us this bit of information from Sidney, Ohio: "Don and I would like to enter our new son, Kevin Donald Corcoran, in your vital statistics. He arrived September 11, 1951. We never did send word of the wedding last year, but it's a bit late now, I'd say. Don is working at Klintine Lumber & Supply Co., where he has been associated since graduation. I surely wish your ALUMNUS would put SMC after the St. Mary's girls . . . it would make reading easier for us nosier females." OK Mrs. C., will do.

I got a note quite awhile back from Bill Vangen and it must have slid under the archives or something. Here's what Bill had to say: "First, John, I want to report to you and the world that August 4 I married the most beautiful and wonderful girl in California; Patricia Lee Burkhardt, a graduate of Fresno State College. My best man was Bill Fulton, class of '49 from ND."

Second, I've been recalled to active duty reporting to the Submarine Base at New London, Aug. 24."

Ernie Turich, once a habitue of "Brown's Barn" came through Chicago on a short vacation. Ernie is working with the Goodyear Aircraft Co. down in Akron, Ohio.

Jane Comes writes from Toledo that her brother, Chuck Comes, is married to Ann Schomer. Harold Hoffman, '49, was best man. Chuck is working with the Plaskon Division of Libbey-Owens-Ford in Toledo. Ann and Chuck are living at 2709 Detroit Avenue, Toledo.

Tom Dinges, a long-time friend of mine from the Commerce school, got himself a two-column picture in the Chicago Daily News and five bucks besides. Tom was selected as one of the winners in the News' courtesy driving campaign. A pretty teen-age miss gave Tom the big smile and the cash award. Tom is with the Formica Company in the Chicago Sales office. Mr. Dinges also tells me that Don Huston is with the Prudential Life Insurance Company right here in Chicago's Field Bldg.

ENGAGEMENTS

Louis E. Tracy to Estelle M. Purdy. A December wedding is planned.

MARRIAGES

Richard J. Kopf to Marie Gerhardinger, Sept. 29, Toledo.

Robert W. Jordan to Dorothy Wensits, Sept. 15, South Bend.

1950

2nd Lt. John F. Connor, U.S.M.C.R., Secretary I Co. 2nd Tr. Bn. "A" Barracks Marine Corps Schools Quantico, Virginia

Your secretary was commissioned in the Marines Sept. 8 following a summer training period in the Senior Platoon Leaders Class. Since that date I have been on active duty attending Basic School at Quantico, Virginia.

I have been very fortunate in meeting several classmates and those from other years. As much as I can remember, follows:

At Quantico, Paul Schafly, '50, is finishing his basic as is Jim Black. Ben Blays, Al Bailey and Tom Klett, '51, are all in my company. Willie McMahon is doing well in the finance dept. at Camp Lenord Wood. Heard last night that Bill Moriarty and his wife are living somewhere in Baltimore and that Bill is stationed at an Army camp nearby. Have been in touch with Bob Tuescher who just recently switched from Georgetown to Rutgers law school.

Speaking of law students, Mike Fumo, Vince Sheridan, Tom Weathers and my roommate Bill O'Brien are all doing very well at their respective law schools in Chicago. When I was last home I saw Bud Romano who was headed for O.C.S. at Fort Riley, Kansas. Bud told me that 2nd Lt. John Brodrick, USA, is in Japan and that Roger Brown is serving in Korea. Two other Chicago buddies and classmates Earl Rowen and Ban Ormsby are doing very well in their fields of advertising and insurance.

Regards to all my classmates wherever you may be.

Rodney R. Forbes received his MA degree from Ohio State.

From the Alumni office:

Bob Stock has a series of articles which are interesting and being widely commended on in the Catholic Universe-Bulletin.
